

THE WEEKLY AGITATOR.

ISHPEMING, MICHIGAN, MAR. 20.

The Deer Lake Iron and Lumber company have secured the services of D. L. West, formerly employed at the Pioneer farms, Negaunee, as founder of their Deer Lake furnace. He is said to be a most competent iron maker.

A new thirty-foot boiler is soon to be put up at the Withrop mine, which will double the steam capacity of the two in use at present. The St. Clair brothers are going to "strike the iron while it is hot."

The Cleveland Iron Mining company are making some explorations, by means of test pits, on their property at the foot of the bluff, a short distance southeast of the M. H. & O. R. R. depot, and, it is said, with flattering prospects.

The mining properties round about the Republic mine are being thoroughly explored, or will be during the coming summer. If they prove nearly as prolific as indications would seem to warrant, the iron is not far from what will be among the most thriving portions of the Lake Superior iron region.

ADAMS & FOLEY, proprietors of the Milwaukee mine, have returned from their southern trip, having while absent purchased a large number of horses and other equipments for the mine. The Milwaukee is looming up as one of the solid properties of that range, and with such energetic management as can be accorded it by the above gentlemen will be found to be a distinguished mark.

The Wheat (old Home) mine is said to be looking better at present than at any time since its opening. A new vein of hematite ore was recently struck on the property which carries a width of 30 feet without, as yet, reaching either the foot or hanging wall. The mine employs fifty men, and the lessee, Mr. Amos Wheat, says he could work fully as many more to advantage could they be procured.

The Deer Lake company received during the week two large boilers, 25 feet long, which will be put in place at its furnace at once, together with a 100 horse power engine, which will be used to furnish power in connection with the magnificent water power. Mr. J. C. Hill, of Marquette, who has had considerable experience in the business, is to be chief engineer. The furnace will be blown in about the first week in April.

What is known as the "New Mine," situated on the eastern portion of the Cleveland Iron company's property and just south of the M. H. & O. R. R. track, is being wrought in a strong and energetic manner. The ore is of the hard hematite variety, and of excellent quality. Recent developments lead to the belief that the deposit is greater than has for some years been anticipated, and it is not improbable that the vein may be continuous with the recent discovery made on the Jackson property. In the neighborhood of 15,000 tons have been mined and stockpiled during the winter, which will be shipped direct from the mine, a side track and dock already being provided for that purpose.

Another nine o'clock Wednesday evening last the diamond drill house at the Magnet mine was discovered to be on fire, and by the time the workmen arrived on the scene the roof had fallen in and the entire structure was in flames, which could not be subdued till it was entirely destroyed. There were in the building at the time one of Bullock's diamond drills and boilers, as well as a complete pump, all of which suffered more or less from the heat, the boiler and one of the pumps especially being quite badly damaged. The drill had not been in operation up to the time of the occurrence, but was expected to be in a few days, the standpipe being already 100 feet, a distance very seldom attained before striking the ledge. It will delay work at the mine for two or three weeks, or until such time as another boiler can be procured and got into place.

It is now definitely settled that the American Institute of Mining Engineers will hold a meeting in this country during the coming summer, probably during the months of July or August, though the exact date has not as yet been decided on. This institute is the only one of the kind in the United States, and is probably one of the best to those interested in mining affairs, having for its objects the promotion of the arts and sciences connected with the economical production of the useful minerals and metals, and the welfare of those employed in those industries, by means of meetings for social intercourse, and the reading and discussion of professional papers, and to circulate, by means of publications among its members and associates, the information thus obtained.

The mail carrier, while carrying a heavy load of mail, a few days since, slipped, while entering the postoffice, demolishing one of the large panes of glass in the front.

A leap year party, composed of a number of our ladies, together with their invited gentlemen, indulged in a sleigh ride last evening, going to Marquette, where they spent a few pleasant hours with their friends at that place.

The addition being put to A. A. Anderson's jewelry store is about finished, and although not a very imposing structure, from an outside view, is neat and cozy within, and is well filled with sewing machines, pianos, organs, etc.

March, up to the 17th, has been the coldest month of the winter, the last ten days of that time being regular chills. A change, however, occurred Wednesday, and instead of cold, freezing weather, we are regaled with bright, warm sunshine and slush, with every indication of rain. "Come spring, eternal spring, come."

Mr. Chas. Ham, of Hancock, who lately purchased the business of F. Austin, this city, was here during the week looking after his interests, and took his departure for Copperport on Thursday. He will remove his family to this city during the coming week, and will take hold of the most market the first of the coming month.

The Lake Superior Iron company will, on Monday next, commence the erection of half-a-dozen tenement houses to supply the place of those which will have to be torn down in order to make room for the uncovering of "A" shaft. The buildings will be situated on that part of the company's property in the rear of the Ishpeiming hospital.

The Chicago and Northwestern railway company expect to run about 78 trains per day on the Peninsula division, the coming summer. This will only allow of about 18 minutes between trains. It would not be a bad idea for this company to lay another track on this division. It requires skillful engineering to prevent accidents when trains follow each other so closely.

The Deer Lake Iron & Lumber company are about to commence the erection of a planing and shingle mill, at a short distance from the old mill, on the bank of the lake. The building proper is to be 52x45 feet, in addition to which will be built a brick engine house and boiler room. The plans for the building are being made at Marinette, Wis., and when finished will be supplied with all the latest improvements in machinery, etc. A large tubular boiler arrived for the mill Thursday, and a 40-horse power engine will also be put in.

Those who have not visited Austin's hall lately will be agreeably surprised upon visiting that place at the many improvements which have been made. The walls of the hall have been beautified by a handsome design of Chinese wall paper, and the ceiling has been calcimined and ornamented with fine paper, used especially for such purposes, and represents frescoing. A much-needed improvement in the way of a gallery in the rear of the hall, is to be erected. The dressing rooms are also being calcimined and papered, and will be duly appreciated by those who have occasion to use them. A stairway leading from one of the dressing rooms to the street below, is also being constructed, and is what should be found in every hall in the country. The new scenery, which we presume will correspond with the other improvements, has not yet arrived, but is expected every day. When all the arrangements are completed the hall will be one of the finest in the country, and a credit to the city.

PROMITORY REPORT MEETING.—A meeting of the friends of prohibition was held at Austin's hall yesterday afternoon, and though the attendance was extremely small, probably not more than fifteen persons being present, those who were there were earnest in the advocacy of the cause. The meeting was called to order by Rev. John Russell, of Marquette, and an organization effected by calling Rev. J. Hamilton, of this city, to the chair, after which Mr. O. E. Dowling, also of this city, was chosen secretary. Rev. Mr. Morgan, of Marquette, invoked Divine blessing, when the chairman made a brief but pointed address. On motion of the secretary, Rev. John Russell, of Marquette, Rev. G. W. Messer, of Negaunee, and Mr. Henry Davis, of Ironville, were appointed a committee on resolutions. The committee retired for a few moments, during which time Rev. Mr. Morgan, in response to a call from the chair, briefly addressed the convention. The committee on resolutions then submitted the following resolutions:

THE WEEKLY AGITATOR.

WATER IN THE DESERT.—It has lately been proposed to sink experimental artesian wells upon the now arid public lands for the purposes of irrigation. There are 200,000,000 acres in the arid region, which includes Arizona, Dakota, Idaho, Montana, New Mexico, Utah, Wyoming, Colorado and Nevada and portions of California, Kansas, Nebraska, Oregon, Washington, Texas and the Indian Territory. Not 1 per cent. of this land has yet been sold by the United States, and it must remain unsold for years to come unless some means are found to supply it with water. Government surveys show that 200,000,000 acres of this tract are mountainous, where even with an abundance of water agriculture would be impossible. An equal number consists of lava beds—"bad lands," without soil or vegetation, and desert plains of drifting sand. This leaves an area of 500,000,000 acres of plain and valley land, susceptible of high cultivation and wanting only water. Under the most favorable conditions probably not more than 3 per cent. of this land can be reclaimed by the utilization of rivers and small streams now available. The remainder, to some extent, is utilized for pasturage, but the growth of grass is so scanty that it requires from fifteen to twenty-five acres for the support of each head of cattle, and for this reason, the land, of course, would not be profitably sold. In Colorado alone are 40,000,000 acres of this land capable of producing from 25 to 30 bushels of wheat per acre, if irrigated. The people of the west desire Congress to appropriate $50,000 for boring artesian wells, the land being the property of the government. Private enterprises will not undertake the experiment, but let the practicality of irrigation by artesian wells once be established and private purchasers will be found who will carry on the work of boring at their own expense. Some of the ablest geologists in the country have expressed the opinion that flowing wells can be obtained in many localities on the plains east and west of the Rocky Mountains, and the Commissioner of Agriculture, under whose auspices special attention has been given to the subject, has recommended that artesian wells be sunk.

A LARGE SUN SPOT.—A large spot, which a very keen eye might be able to distinguish without other assistance than a screen of smoked glass, is now visible near the eastern edge of the sun's disc. Any good spy glass will show it well, but care should be taken to protect the eye with a deeply-colored glass held firmly against the eye piece. A smoked-glass screen gives a pleasant view, but is dangerous because the sooty deposit is apt to get rubbed off. The combination of a green glass and a red one is best, as it allows little heat to reach the eye, and shows the sun's disc free from annoying discoloration. An astronomical telescope shows, in addition to the great spot, scattered, double cluster of small spots between it and the edge. The disc is marked, in the neighborhood of the spots, with the bright ridges called faculae, which look like crinkled veins of light on the surface of the sun. The great spot is a very perfect specimen of its class, the vast, cavernous hole in the center, large enough probably for the earth to easily drop through, and with broken and jagged edges, looking almost black, with a slight tinge of purple. Near one end a vein of light projects partly across the gulf, and beyond that, the cavernous center breaks through the whitish border. The penumbra surrounding the black portion is broad and well marked, of a grayish color, and bordered with whitish streaks.

REN HAIR DEFENSES.—An admirer of red hair, who has it himself, glorifies that style thus: "Throughout creation nature appears to delight in red. It predominates in the pleasure of the imagination, for whatever is beautiful, agreeable or sublime, partakes of red. The rainbow, the rose, and the charming lip and cheek of beauty's self, the sun, the source of heat and light, all are red; as is also the fire, the mighty autocrat of the universe. The most brilliant flowers, the most delicate fruits, the orange, the apple, and the peach are red. Through the kingdom of red predominates, as in the king of beasts, the lion. But go further, Adam, the first of mankind, was red. The greatest of Grecians, Jupiter, Apollo and Vulcan, were crimson. Samson, whose strength was gigantic, derived his power from his red hair, and the destinies of the empire of Athens depended on the red hair of Nisus. Queen Elizabeth had red hair; so had Spencer and Shakespeare. Also Defoe, the author of that world-renowned story 'Robinson Crusoe.' Lafayette had red hair. Bonaparte's hair was of that color. Artemus Ward had red hair; so have red Indians, or else why so named?"

Upward of 1,542 persons in the British empire enjoy hereditary titles.

A STRANGE BRANDY FLASK.—A curious habit of English ladies at the theatre is noted by a French contemporary. The fair English women, so says the Galle writer, generally wear a large gold cross at the throat, and this cross is hollow and is filled with some "precious cordial"—sherry, Madeira or brandy. Thus fitted, this religious symbol assumes an unexpected utilitarian aspect and plays a serious role in the existence of the ladies of England. It helps them to satisfy their ingenious instincts of comfort and allows them to take, without scandal, before everybody at a ball or the theatre, one of those tonics which it is said the people of the north need to excite, awaken and stimulate their nerves. This custom can be observed nightly at the opera.

HOW SHE LOOKED.—Recently a well known barrister was concerned in a case where the question involved was as to the mental condition of the testatrix. The witness under examination, herself an aged lady, had something to find in her friend, and childish, and that when she told her something she looked as though she did not understand. Counsel, cross-examining, tried to get her to describe this look, but she did not succeed very well in doing so. At last, getting a little impatient, he asked, "Well, how did she look? Did she look at you as I am looking now, for instance?" The witness very demurely replied: "Well, yes—kind of vacant-like!"—Boston Courier.

A HEATHEN JOURNALIST expresses a suspicion that the joys of heaven may be often embittered by the thought of how much more pleasure could have been got out of the world if proper attention had been paid to life while it lasted, and less time wasted in anticipation of the after world. The same philosopher might now with advantage turn his attention to thinking out considerations of a sort to mitigate the pangs of the other place.

OLD LADY: "I dinna ken what ails folk that canna like folk as folk should like folk, for an folk like folk as folk should like folk, folk would like folk as well as folk ever liked sin' folk war folk." If we catch the old lady's meaning, we are inclined to think she is right.—Rocheater Express.
