PROCEEDINGS IN SENATE.

The Senate, on the 16th, went into executive session shortly after convening, on motion of Senator Cullom, who said he wanted the San Domingo treaty made public. Upon reopening the doors the District of Columbia appropriation bill was taken up and the amendment increasing the appropriation for the municipal building $500,000 was discussed. At 2 o'clock the Swayne impeachment trial was resumed, the greater portion of the time being taken up with arguments on the admissibility of a statement made by Judge Swayne before a committee of the House, involving the construction of a statute which proides that a statement made by a witness before a congressional committee cannot be used against him in a criminal proceeding in a court. Bills were passed authorizing a dam across Rainy river, Minnesota, and regulating the bonds of contractors on public works. At 5:30 the Senate adjourned until 11 o'clock Friday.

Friday.

The Senate, on the 17th, passed the bill appropriating $9,940,000 for the District of Columbia and the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill, carrying $2,156,000. One witness was heard in the Swayne impeachment trial, and an hour was spent in secret session in a further effort to determine the admissibility as evidence of Judge Swayne's statement before a House committee. The Senate receded from its amendment to the agricultural appropriation bill, construing the provision in the Dingley law relative to the drawback on imported wheat. Senator Morgan offered an amendment to the Panama canal bill to prohibit the filling of vacancies on the Panama canal commission during the recess of Congress. A special feature was the ceremonics accepting the statue of Miss Frances E. Willard placed in Statuary hall by the state of Illinois, at the conclusion of which the Senate as a further mark of respect to Miss Willard's memory adjourned.

The Senate on the 18th decided not to admit as testimony in the Swayne impeachment trial the statement made by Judge Swayne before a House committee and then adjourned the court until 2 o'clock Monday. A request of the House for a conference on the statehood bill was received and a sharp debate ensued over an effort to have the conference committee appointed immediately. The opponents of join statehood succeeded in securing a postponement until Monday. Senator Penrose, from the committee on postoffices and post roads, reported the postoffice appropriation bill, and then the special order of the day, eulogies upon the character of the late Senator M. S. Quay of Pennsylvania, was taken up. Addresses were made by Senators Scott, Gallinger, McLaurin, Hansbrough, Stewart, Dubols, Fairbanks, Foraker, Clark (Wyoming), Perkins, Daniel, Nelson, Cockrell, Morgal, and Knox. The Senate at 5:06 adjourned as a further mark of respect to Mr. Quay's memory. The Senate on the 18th decided not to ad-

The Senate on the 20th debated at length the question of whether the Senate con-ferees on the statehood bill should be apferees on the statehood bill should be appointed in the usual manner, or whether they should be selected so as to represent sentiment of the Senate as represented in the bill as passed. The argument was interrupted by the convening of the Senate as a court in the Swayne impeachment trial, when the House managers rested their case and the defense opened. Bill were passed authorizing the construction of a railway bridge across the White river in Indiana and authorizing the award of bronze medals for bravery in saving lives in railroad and authorizing the award of bronze med-als for bravery in saving lives in railroad wrecks. At 6:05, after a short executive session, the Senate adjourned.

The Senate on the 21st passed the military academy appropriation bill and began con-sideration of the Indian appropriation bill. The bill for the government of the isthmian canal zone also came up, and an agreement was reached to meet an hour earlier tomor-row in order to advance it. In response to

The question of the government's ownership of the Panama railroad and its relation to the general question of government ownership of railroads generally was debated freely. A number of witnesses were examined in the Swayne impeachment case. Washington's farewell adly was depated freely. A number of witnesses were examined in the Swayne impeachment case. Washington's farewell address was read. The bill providing for the appointment of an additional circuit judge for the seventh judicial circuit and rearranging the federal court districts of Illinois was passed. At 6:31 p. m. the Senate adjourned until 11 o'clock Thursday morning.

PROCEEDINGS IN HOUSE.

The House, on the 16th, adopted a resolution declaring the Senate amendment to the agricultural appropriation bill, which abolishes the drawback clause in the Dingley bill on wheat imported and afterward exported as flour, an infringement of the privileges of the House, inasmuch as the House has the sole right to initiate revenue legislation, and ordering the bill returned to the Senate. The vote on the resolution was 261 to 5. The naval appropriation bill was then taken up for the discussion of amendments. Bills were passed to provide a government for the canal zone and making applicable to the canal zone all laws feeting imports and the entry of persons. The House, on the 17th, adopted a resolu-

Several hours were devoted to dissession. Several nours were devoted to discussing the naval appropriation bill, after which the House held exercises appropriate to the aceptance of the statue of Miss Frances E. Willard. Addresses were made by Messrs. Foss, Graff, Littlefield of Maine and Rainey, and at the conclusion of the ceremonies at 5:48 p. m., the House adjourned.

The House on the 18th received notice that the Senate had withdrawn its wheat drawback amendment to the agricultural appropriation bill, and immediately voted to reject all the Senate amendments and send the measure to conference. The Senate amendments to the diplomatic and consular bill were also disagreed to and a conference requested. Similar action was taken on the District of Columbia appropriation bill. Several private bills were passed and the House then went into committee of the whole to consider the pension appropriation bill, which was finally passed without amendment. Bills were passed authorizing the President to bestow medals of honor for bravery in saving lives in railroad wrecks and in preventing or endeavoring to prevent such wrecks, and to prohibit the interstate transportation of insect pests and the use of the mails for such purpose. At 5:25 the House adjourned until noon Sunday, when a memorial service for the late Senator Quay will be held.

The House, on the 20th passed the naval appropriation bill, after voting to retain the provision for two new battle ships, reducing the appropriation for contingent expenses of the marine corps from $215,000 to $85,000, striking out the amendment giving authority to build the collier authorized at the last session elsewhere than on the Pacific const. and accepting an amendment the last session elsewhere than on the Pacific coast, and accepting an amendment appropriating $175,000 to equip the Mare Island navy yard for building the collier. During the debate Mr. Baker of New York caused a storm of protest by introducing a resolution censuring the President for sending a message of condelence on account of the assassination of Grand Duke Serguis in Moscow. Mr. Payne of New York announced the death of his colleague, Mr. Otis, and offered the usual resolutions of respect and sympathy. The speaker appointed a committee to represent the House at ed a committee to represent the House at the funeral, and then, at 7:10, the House

THE NEW IRELAND.

By Gilbert Parker. Within the last decade in Ireland politics have shown an inclination to be practical, religion has become more tolerant, the question of education is at last being seriously and anxiously grappled is by way of being evolved.

It was the deep conviction that the Irish character only needed the right appeal in order to put forth a great recuperative vitality that some fifteen years ago Sir Horace Plunkett launched his movement of organized self-help entitled the Irish Agricultural Organization Society.

That society has grown until it now embraces over 8,000 branches and nearly half a million persons; its cooperative creameries, dairies, poultry societies, agricultural banks, and home industries societies have spread all PNEUMONIA MAKES BIG STRIDES. over the island; with the admirable assistance and stim ulus of the Gaelic League it has touched the secret chord of Irish nationality, strengthened the backbone and increased the prosperity of the Irish peasant; it is inculcating thrift, responsibility, and business-like habits; it is founding libraries, reviving the rural arts and handicrafts, and bringing back to the countryside something of old Irish joyousness. All this is an effort to expand the sentiment of nationality outside the domain of party controversies, a conscious attempt of the Irish to develop a civilization of their own. By focusing the energies of the people on the immediately practicable it dissipates the enervating idea that reform can come only from without. It places, literally as well as figuratively, the recreation of Ireland in Irish hands. Overriding sectional, religious, and political divisions, it makes for unity in the solution of problems in which all Irishmen will, in time, realize that they have a common

WHO HAS BETTER TIME MAN OR WOMAN? By Angela Morgan.

Women have a better time in life than men do. Under no circumstances would I choose to be a man. If I had a chance to come to earth again in another incarnation, and were given the choice, I should without hesitation elect to be a woman. Women know how to get the finest flavor from life. They know how simply because they are born to it-not because they acquire the knowledge through effort. To extract the real essence from living one must be endowed with these qualities: Imagination, intuition, sensibility and the capacity to love. Women possess all these requisites to a greater degree than men. For this reason women can lay hold on the subtler enjoyments of life. And as the subtlest enjoyments are the best and most lasting, it is the women who have a monopoly of real happiness in life.

It is in her capacity to love that woman experience her greatest joys. Woman gets a vast deal more out of love than man. Show me the man to whom love means one-tenth what it does to a woman! When a man loves, the external scenery of life does not change visibly to him Life does not become a thing bewitched and gilded. His days and hours and moments are not permeated by love as an influence. Love, to a man, means an exhilarating chase for possession. A woman pleases him, captivates him and leasure—a certain pride and satisfaction—but as for hanpiness, the sort of happiness a woman extracts from lovewhy, he doesn't know the A B C of it! Once in a while, does not live until she does love. Love to her is all-absorb- degree of protection against the disease.

By Dr. William E. Quine, of Chicago.

Pneumonia is the most prevalent of all infectious diseases. Since the year 1860 its destructiveness in Chicago has increased 350 per cent, while that of consumption has diminished 40 per cent.

Since the year 1900, of all the deaths occurring in Chicago one-eighth have been the direct result of pneumonia, this being one-third more than was caused by consumption and 44 per cent mere than was caused by all other infectious diseases combined. Liability to it increases steadily from the age of puberty to death. The male sex contracts the malady twice as often as the female, not because of greater inherent suseptibility, but because of habits of greater exposure.

The disease is twice as fatal among negroes as it is among whites, and the most prolific of all auxiliary causes is the use of alcoholic beverages. Habitual intemperance not only increases the rate of prevalence of pneumonia, but it increases the mortality of the disease as well.

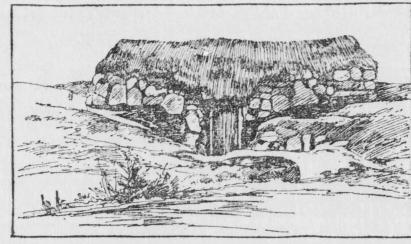

This is shown by the fact that in the charitable hospitals, such as our Cook County Hospital, about one pneumonia patient out of three or four dies, whereas in private practice only one patient out of eight or ten dies. The malady is most prevalent in the months of January, Feb-

If the expectoration be allowed to fall upon the floor or upon the carpet it soon dries and crumbles into dust, and this dust containing the pneumonia germs may be wafted through the atmosphere of the house, and thus spread the infection. The pneumonia germs are widely distributed and are often found entangled in the mucus of the nose and | The Third Russian Fleet Is Anchored Off throat of healthy persons.

Badly ventilated houses or apartments in which cases of pneumonia have occurred are extremely liable to develop other cases in endless succession unless the premises are thoroughly fumigated and ventilated. In relation to the prevention of pneumonia, the most imperative of all requirements is that the expectoration of the patient be promptly destroyed, and in this connection it is not to be forgotten that after a patient has recovered from pneumonia the germs may persist in his expectoration for many

The cut depicts one of the miserable cave dwellings of the poor Irish in the County Galway district of Connemara. This is a poor agricultural district, and the inhabitants are destitute of most of the conveniences of life. Their half underground hovels are squalid and unhealthy. #### EAR A REMARKABLE ORGAN.

Specially Fitted by Nature for the Needs of Man and Animals. The organ of hearing is one of the most marvelous pieces of mechanism in the body. In animals the external ear acts as a trumpet to collect the sound waves. In man it is little more than an ornament. But the internal ear is alike in both. So wonderful is its construction that we can distinguish sounds varying from 40 to 4,000 vibrations per second. This feat is performed by a portion of the ear called the organ of Corti. What a wonderful organ that is may be understood from the fact that it consists of 5,000 pieces of apparatus, each piece being made up of two rods, one inner hair cell and four outer hair cellsthat is, 35,000 separate parts. In some mysterious manner the rods, with other things, are tuned to different notes and, when they vibrate, they cause the hairs to transmit an impulse to the nerve of hearing. To be musical, therefore, is to have a good organ of

> Why is it that scratching a piece of glass with metal causes such an unpleasant sound? Because it is what is called the fundamental tone of the ear, which is very high. What the fundamental tone exactly is would take too much space to explain. But if you blow across the mouth of a bottle, a hollow globe, etc., you get its fundamental tone.

THEY HEARD.

The old saying that listeners never hear any good of themselves was amply verified at the city hall last Friday evening. A great many persons who had no disposition to annex themselves to Mr. Shelley's new party went there out of mere vulgar curiosity; and these were targets of the most violent attack of the amateur politician. Theology when mixed with politics generates an explosive gas like the compound of hydrogen and atmospheric air. The ancient empire of the Romans owed its ful. fall, as Alderman LeBlanc says, not more to the Pretorian guards than to the insane quarrels of the homoousians and homoiousians. The only safe place for the innocent bystander, when the church goes into ward politics, is on the most inaccessible peaks of the mountains of Hepsidam. Of course, until of 5 per cent upon any subordinate Mr. Shelley opened his battery, we did not know what an abandoned set of wretches our most respected citizens are; the information is valuable, if true. No knowledge is so well calculated to improve our minds and hearts as a close inquisition into the faults and imperfections of our fellow worms. It was this prying, meddlesome disposition of the old time Puritans that made them, in old England and New England, such pleasant and estimable neighbors. In that day everything was regulated by law; and the law was enforced. The Puritans were the original Law Enforcement party, and they made the laws themselves. Many of the laws remain to-day, but the Puritans have almost vanished. It was Macaulay who said of them that they prohibited bearbaiting, not because it gave pain to the bear, but because it gave pleasure to the Dual Membership In Virginia-Chips spectator. The Puritan disposition is found still in odd nooks and corners. They still desire to regulate the most trifling acts in the lives of those unfortunate enough to dwell within their sphere of influence; but in the most civilized regions they can only gnash their teeth at the passing pilgrims who wonder at the bones of ancient victims scattered about the mouth of their cave. The pillory and the whipping post are no longer at their command, and the world is sweeter, cleaner and more fit for a gentleman to live in. But the world is wide, even the little world of Gladstone and there is room for all to bustle in. Those who dislike the gentle ways of the Puritan statesmen have but to take the middle of the street. There is room for all and the wise will listen to the words of Solomon "My son, into the counsels of the ungodly enter thou

MASS MEETING.

The mass meeting of the Law Enforcement party was called to order a little after eight last Friday afternoon. The seating capacity of the council chamber was filled, and there were standing room only for those who came in late. Chairman Shelley then made a speech in a clear tone of voice, which reached to the farthest part of the room. He read the manifesto of his party, section by section, and the answer to it, comments. While there was considerable uneasiness in the rear end of the hall, where the friends of the administration had gathered, the only decided interruption was when a prominent citizen declared that the chair was lacking in veracity. Several questions were asked Mr. Shelley, concerning his statements, and he requested those with comments to make to wait until the close of the address.

In his speech Mr. Shelley took up the subject of the city's administration from the first, and brought it down to the present time, with references to various instances of municipal extravagance. He then brought up the subject of the various plans for the financial advancement of the city. He closed his arrangement of the present order of things by inviting all in sympathy with the ends of the new party to enroll their names on the list. A vote was taken for the committee men who are to call the primaries, and the following were elected after much deliberation: J. J. ship. Farrell, chairman: Charles Brant, first ward; P. J. #### HEROISM IN ANIMALS.

It Is Not More Uncommon Than Is

Brute Maternal Affection. A writer on natural history complains that men are prone to regard masculine courage in defense of others as a virtue purely human. In reality self sacrifice for the female sex or for the young is part of the scheme of nature, and every male thing is strong and splendid in appearance because he is the descendant of those who have proudly held and guarded "the privilege of death." Another writer tells a story which illustrates this point. Two entomologists, hunting at night, clam-Prince Albert council of Quebec, in- bered over a gate with their swinging lanterns and found themselves in a field filled with sheep. The result of their coming was panic and a furious stampede. The sheep charged helter skelter twenty-sixth year of service in that away from the lanterns and huddled together at the far end of the field. But there was a ram among them, and as the flock scurried away this creature stood firm, covering the retreat. Then, steadily and majestically, the huge ram advanced with lowered head toward the mysterious lights and pressed them back to the gate. This is only one graphic story of many that might be told of masculine courage throughout nature. Man has some virtues which animals, so far as we can judge, know nothing about; but heroism-the pride of affording protection to the weak and daring death for the security of the flock-is not a human attribute alone, any more than is maternal af-

A WOMAN'S NAME.

Origin of the Custom of Changing

It When She Marries. The custom which makes it proper for the wife to assume the name of her husband at marriage is involved in much obscurity. A recent authority advances the opinion that it originated from a Roman custom and became common after the Roman occupation of England. Thus Julia and Octavia, married to Pompey and Cicero, were called by the Romans Julia of Pompey and Octavia of Cicero, and in later closely studied both the old and the times the married women of most European countries signed their names in the same way, but omitted the "of." In spite of this theory it is a fact that as late as the sixteenth and the beginning of the seventeenth century a Catherine Parr signed her name without any change, though she had been twice married. We also hear of Lady Jane Grey, not Dudley, and Arabella Stuart, not Seymour, etc. Some think that the custom originated with the Scriptural idea that the husband and law as far back as 1268, and it was decided in the case of Bon versus Smith by marriage loses her former name and legally receives the name of her husband.-New York Herald.

WINDMILLS.

Got Them From the East Through the Crusaders.

It is supposed that the crusaders brought the idea of using the wind to grind corn or raise water back with them from the east.

Early writers record their widespread employment in Europe in the twelfth century. Beckmann gives an instance of one at Pipewell abbey, Northamptonshire, in 1143, and we also read of one, about 1190, at Haberdon, in Suffolk. Another early instance of an English windmill is that in which Richard, earl of Cornwall, took refuge after the battle of Lewes in 1264. In the famous song connected with that event the "sayles" of the "mulne" are mentioned, showing that it really was

From "Snow Bound."

What matter how the night behaved?
What matter how the north-wind raved?
Blow high, blow low, not all its snow
Could quench our hearth-fire's ruddy glow
O Time and Change! With hair as gray
As was my sire's that winter day. As was my sale's that winter day.

How strange it seems, with so much gon
Of life and love, to still live on!
Ah, brother! only I and thou
Are left of all that circle now.

Yet Love will dream, and faith will trust, (Since He who knows our need is just). That somehow, somewhere, meet we must. Alas for him who never sees The stars shine through his cypress-trees! Who, hopeless, lays his dead away, Nor looks to see the breaking day Across the mournful marbles play! Who hath not learned, in hours of faith, The truth to flesh and sense unknown. And Love can never lose its own Childish tears dropped upon broken toys rend the little heart as severely as a grown man's bitter sorrow tears is no darkness like the darkness of child-hood. What waits upon the stairs in the gloom rendy to leap out? What horror comes punctually at dusk to haunt the defiles of the long garden? What nameless panic is it that strikes the familiar streets to the likeness of a savenge, threatening wilderness when the child alone knows, and the child cannot tell. He suffers like the dumb animals, and have become so unusued to relaxation have become so unusued to relaxation that we assume a strained attitude in morally speaking, a good-for-nothing; and but for the fact that the wife is as true as steel in all that is noble and good the home would not last a fortnight.

Are Women Better Than Men?

"Are women better than men?" It seems to me that there is but on way to answer this question, and that is in the affirmative.

Some men and some women are, in all conscience, bad enough, but I make bold to say that there are a great many more good women in the world than there are good men.

When satisfied that there was no danger lurking in the immediate vicinity, the mother led the way into the grass, folowed by the cubs, which tumbled along in haste to keep close to her. They tried to imitate her in everything; and when she nibbled a clover leaf they followed her example, and soon the sharp little teeth had learned to cut the juicy leaves.

The real object of their first outing was soon accomplished—that of filling their stomachs—and then they began playing about in the grass, very much like puppies, but the mother was careful not to let them wander far from the entrance of their home, for if her trained ear caught the sound of something ap-proaching she would hustle the little ones into the burrow. The Importance that Attaches to the Care of the Blood If One Wants Bright Eyes and a Clear Complexion.

Every sensible woman naturally wishes to appear attractive. She knows the value of bright eyes, delicate complexion and lively spirits. She knows also that In Case of Another Defeat Russia Would good health is at the basis of her charms, and that good blood is the source of good health.

Miss Mamie Conway has a complexion which is the admiration of all who know her. Asked if she could make any suggestions that would be helpful to others less fortunate, she said:

"My complexion would not have pleased you, if you had seen it two years ago. It was then about as bad as it could be, and it gave me a great deal of dissatisfaction. If you want a good complexion you must take care of your health, especially of the condition of your blood. My health was at that time completely broken down. I was nervous, had frequent headaches, a torpid liver and a great deal of pain in that region. I suffered also from indigestion. It was clear that my blood was in bad condition, for pimples broke out all over my face." "It is hard to realize that, for there isn't the slightest trace of such blemishes now."

"It was unfortunately quite other. wise then, and a long time passed before I found anything that gave me any relief. I became very weak and listless. The doctor's medicine did me no good, and I took a number of highly recommended tonics with no better result. As soon, however, as I began to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People my complexion cleared up, and after I had taken two boxes there was not a sign of a pimple left on my face. My cheeks became rosy, I gained flesh and have had perfect health ever since."

Rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes are merely signs of healthy blood. They have come not only in the case of Miss Conway, whose home is at 1241 East Eighth street, Canton, Ohio, but to thousands of women for whom Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made new blood. There is no surer way for you to obtain them, than to buy a box of these pills from any druggist and try them for yourself. They correct irregularities and banish weakness.

Catholic Protectory Boys' Band to Lead Inaugural Procession as Promised When He Became Governor.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.-[Speeial.]—The Catholic Protectory Juvenile band is to lead the street parade down Pennsylvania avenue at the inauguration of President Roosevelt on March 4. The President wrote a personal letter to the brothers in charge of the protectory, askng them to permit the band to attend inauguration and head the street rade. The invitation was accepted. The invitation was the result of a promise Mr. Roosevelt made to the leader of the band when he was inaugurated governor of New York on January 1, 1809. The protectory band went to Albany at that time and had a prominent place in the parade to the capitol. After he ceremonies the leader spoke up and

"Governor, when you are elected President we want to play in your parade at Washington."

Mr. Roosevelt laughed and replied:
"Boys, if I am ever elected President
your band shall head the inauguration
parade."

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 21.-The first step leading to possible indictment of members of the alleged "beef trust" was taken here today.

A special federal grand jury venire was ordered drawn and deputy United States marshals were sent out with subpoenas for witnesses against members of the alleged trust.

Indictments will be sought on charges of direct violation of an injunction issued some time ago by Judge Grosscup of the United States circuit court, restraining members of the alleged trust from illegal combinations against interstate commerce. The decision of Judge Grosscup was recently sustained by the United States supreme court.

It Is Kept Secret.

Much secrecy was maintained concerning the affair and the deputy marshals were dispatched under orders to serve the subpoenas immediately and to make public no facts concerning the affair. For more than eight months investiga-tion has been carried on secretly in Chi-

Orders came from Attorney General Moody to United States District Attorney Bethea to take up work on the case. Attorney Bethea was twice ordered to Washington to receive instructions in the matter, and he was once acompanied by United States Marshal Ames. Bethea was ordered to place competent men on the investigation and to spare no expense to secure evidence against violators of the injunction of Judge Grosscup.

Clergyman Wishes for Bomb When Booker Washington Was at White House.

New York, Feb. 22.—Criticism of Booker T. Washington and incidentally of President Roosevelt by Rev. Dr. Charles S. Morris in the Mount Olivet Baptist church (African) in West Twenty-third street, caused a great uproar among a large audience of negroes in the midst of which two women fainted.

Dr. Morris is pastor of Abyssinian Baptist church. His remarks, which were frequently interrupted, brought hisses and cries of "ontrage." Later he was denounced by a number of clergymen and laymen.

A committee was appointed to ask him to retract. The church was crowded with negroes in honor of Joseph Hayes, negro orator of Virginia. President Roosevelt sent a letter of regret. Dr. Morris, who was chairman of the meeting then began to talk. He declared Booker T. Washington to be a coward in his way and that since he had become prominent as a leader, five southern states have disfranchised colored voters. When the speaker declared that no great harm would have been done if an Anarchist had made an attack when Washington visited President Roosevelt at the white house, excitement, which had been increasing among the listeners, reaches high pitch. Several of the colored men on the platform started toward Morris, as if to pro-

ANTLERS VS. HORNS.

How Elks Shed and Renew Their Wonderful Protection.

How many persons, among the many thousands that annually visit our zoolog-Ical parks, realize, as they pause to admire the noble bucks of the deer familyparticularly the wapiti, or American elkthat their branching antlers are cast off annually and renewed and well hardened within the short period of seven months? Before describing the manner in which elk shed their antiers, I should like to explain the difference between "antiers" and "horns." All the members of the deer family—the moose, caribou, elk (in Europe the animal which we call moose is known as elk), and smaller deer—possess antiers while the appendages on the sess antiers, while the appendages on the heads of goats, sheep, cattle and the like are known as horns, and, with one exception—the American antelope, or pronghorn—are retained by their owners throughout life.

Elk shed their antlers about the first of February, though much depends upon the locality and upon the age and health of the animal. It often happens that one antler is carried several days after the other has been dropped. The new antlers push off the old ones, and when they appear they resemble scars on the animal's forehad, but soon take the form of two black velvet buttons about the size of silver dollars. As they continue to grow ver dollars. As they continue to grow they gain in length only, and by the first of July they have attained their full size. If you could examine then now, you would find them soft, rather flexible, nourished by blood, and incased in a thick, tough skin covered with velvety. fur. The antlers are now "in the velvet," as the hunters term it, a most critical period for the owner, who seems to realize it, for he is careful to avoid contact with it, for he is careful to avoid contact with anything liable to injure them. Should an accident happen and the skin get broken or the antier disfigured, it might result in the elk's bleeding to death, or in his carrying a deformed antier until the following February. Through a process of nature the blood vessels that have fed the antiers are shut off about the middle of July, and then they begin to harden. A few weeks later the elk may be seen rubbing them against trees or thrashing them about in the brush while endeavoring to rid them of the velvet, and in a few days it hangs in shreds and soon disappears entirely. The elk is now lord of the forest, and is ready to combat with his rivals or enemies.—St. Nicholas.

Truths that Strike Home

Your grocer is honest and-if he cares to do so-can tell you that he knows very little about the bulk coffee he sells you. How can he know, where it originally came from how it was blended-or with what -or when roasted? If you buy your coffee loose by the pound, how can you expect purity and uniform quality?

LION COFFEE, the LEADER OF ALL PACKAGE COFFEES, is of necessity uniform in quality, strength and flavor. For OVER A QUARTER OF A CENTURY, LION COFFEE has been the standard coffee in millions of homes.

LION COFFEE is carefully packed at our factories, and until opened in your home, has no chance of being adulterated, or of coming in contact with dust, dirt, germs, or unclean hands. In each package of LION COFFEE you get one full pound of Pure Coffee. Insist upon getting the genuine. (Lion head on every package.) (Save the Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)

TOM SHERIDAN.

Handsome, Witty and Spoiled Son of Richard Brinsley.

At the east corner of Bolton street (now 81 Piccadilly) there flourished when the nineteenth century was still young a club devoted to dandyism, diners de luxe and high play, or, to speak Minnewasca Block, corner of Ninth Street and cynically, the ruin of mind, body and estate. After a word or two the friends changed places, and before long Brummel rose the richer by £1,500. This sum he couple of weeks ago here for a shattered faithfully shared with his friend, saying, "There, Tom, go home and give your wife and brats a supper and play no more." The action was kindly and the advice good, and, though the words lacked somewhat respect, the pill was Mrs. Hamilton entertained a party of well gilded. Tom was the handsome, friends at Panic Tuesday night. They witty, spoiled son of Richard Brinsley Sheridan. Of Tom it has been said that he was endowed with all the wit of his father, all the charm of his mother and the good looks of both. Few men seem to have been more universally liked, and when George Colman wrote, "I love and esteem Tom Sheridan heartily and wish success to any scheme in which he is interested," he only expressed a general sentiment. A few specimens of Tom's wit have been preserved. None is better than a reply to his foolishly indulgent father when remonstrating with him for some imprudence. The father ended by saying, "Why, Tom, my father Alpha Cole has been afflicted lately would never have permitted me to do such a thing," whereupon Tom replied Meats at prices in a tone of assumed indignation, "Sir, would you dream of comparing your father to mine?" - Longman's Maga-
