Arrives at Annex.

Hardly had the President's carriage stopped at the entrance of the Auditorium Annex, when President Roosevelt, tanned and smiling, stepped briskly to the sidewalk, followed by Gov. Deneen, Mayor Dunne and Charles H. Wacker. The President was greeted with cheers from the crowds along the street and overflowing into Grant park. He hurried into the hotel and into a waiting elevator. He was whisked to the sixth floor, where his compartments

A short stop and he was on his way down to the banquet room, where luncheon was served.

DO NOT PRESENT PLEA.

Unions Decide Not to Bother Roosevelt with Their Troubles.

Chicago, Ill., May 10.-Representatives of labor have abandoned their plan of petitioning President Roosevelt while in Chicago today to use his good offices in bringing about a settlement of the strike. This afternoon C. P. Shea, president of the teamsters' union, said: the teamsters' union, said:

"President Roosevelt will not be asked to arbitrate the strike. None of the committee appointed will call on him. We do not see what good it will do labor to ask the President to arbitrate the strike."

CHICAGO IS PEACEFUL.

Lull in Strike Disorders During the President's Visit.

Chicago, Ill., May 10.-Promises of peace and order for today, the President's day, were made by both sides in dent's day, were made by both sides in the teamsters' strike. The Employers' Teaming company decided to reduce its teaming and delivery operations for to-day. The teamsters' joint council has voted against a general strike, and determined that no further sympathetic movements should be made, except in case of teamsters ordered to make deliveries to boycotted houses in which event individuals should walk out.

Employers Leave Him Alone.

"We have no intention of bothering President Roosevelt with our troubles," resident Roosevelt with our troubles, said Attorney Levi Mayer, counsel for the Employers' association, today. "It is likely, however," he added, "that the employers' side will get the President's ear for a quiet discussion of the situa-tion sometime during his stay here." Strike leaders declared that no orders had been issued to the strikers to refrain from violence today, beyond instructions previously given out during the strike, but it was current gossip that secret commands had been passed along the line, ordering all teamsters to remain absolutely quiet and not to attempt the slightest interference today with the teams of the Employers' Teaming com-

Long before the time set for the arrival of the special train bearing President Roosevelt and his party, the police and special guards began to gather around the North-Western railway station. No opportunity was given for the gathering of any crowds within a block of the station. While the police denied that they anticipated any trouble whatsoever while the chief executive was a great of the city, they revertibles took guest of the city, they nevertheless took all possible precautions.

Will Take No Chances.

The police were joined at the railway station by two troops from the First Illinois cavalry under Col. E. C. Young, who were to form the guard of the Presidential party. Stout wooden railings and heavy ropes had been put up within the station itself to keep back even those whose entry had been by special ticket only. The scrutinizing of persons approaching the depot extended closest to those bearing North-Western tickets and who intended to take various trains. The numerous rists during the The numerous riots during strike had made those responsible for the visit of the President determined to take no chance of any mishap.

Receiving Party on Hand.

Presidents John A. Gauger of the Hamilton club, Charles H. Wacker of the Merchants' club and Charles F. Gunther of the Iroquois club arrived at Gunther of the Iroquois club arrived at the station early to see that all prepara-tions were complete for the President's arrival. They were joined shortly by members of their own and other recep-tion committees. Half an hour before the scheduled time of arrival of Presi-dent Roosevelt the last member of the receiving party had arrived and stood waiting. Here and there in and ground waiting. Here and there in and around the station stood secret service men and city detectives, which served to put on edge the nerves of the party. It was only shortly before the arrival of the train that the route was announced which the President and party would follow from the station to the Auditorium hotel, where the Merchants' club lunch was to be served.

Strikers Are Ouiet.

The usual number of police were on strike duty today, with the exception of 400, who were withdrawn to act as guards for President Roosevelt, but there was scarcely any evidence of a strike beyond the presence of the police and occasional caravans of guarded wagons. Sixteen hundred deputy sheriffs have was the pet of the family, and killed it-Sixteen hundred deputy sheriffs have been sworn in for strike duty, and this body of men also was in service today, but there seemingly was little for the deputies to do.

SEVEN BATTLESHIPS RACE.

Missouri Defeats All, Though Maine Looked Better on Paper-Bob Evans Officiates.

New York, May 9 .- Seven battleships of the North Atlantic squadron raced for eight hours on the high seas on Satur-day, with Rear-Admiral Robley D. Evans as starter, official timekeeper and judge. The battleship Missouri won with ease. The others finished in this order: Maine, Kearsarge, Kentucky, Iowa, Massachusetts and Alabama. The race began 200 miles south of Cape

Henry.
The first hour was designated to test the smoothness of the machinery rather than to attain a high speed. The race went on in this way until noon, when the extreme test began with forced draft. More clearly than before in the next four hours under forced draft the Missouri demonstrated its superiority. On paper the Maine was superior.

The report of the junction of Rear Admiral Nebogatoff's division with the main Russian squadron under Admiral Rojestvensky outside of French waters is also considered official. This averts serious apprehensions that their junction near Saigon would conspicuously show two Russian naval forces inside French waters.

Kuropatkin Explains Mukden Disaster-Expects Another Battle.

Gunshu Pass, May 10.-A correspondent of the Associated Press today interviewed Gen. Kuropatkin, who said noching about the reports that he was returning to Russia. The former commanderin-chief believes the Japanese, having again brought all their units up to full strength and having added to them considerable reinforcements, are ready to assume the offensive.

The general expressed regret at the fact that Mukden was not evacuated be-fore March 7, as he desired. He said he deferred so doing on the advice of his generals, who insisted upon holding the place. Even as it was, Kuropatkin's orders to get the transport away in the rear were not executed promptly, and when the final order was given treat the roads assigned to the various divisions were not taken, which caused much confusion. The Japanese could not have driven a wedge across the Hun river east of Mukden at the critical moment Kuropatkin added, had the troops allotted to guard that portion of the line not taken up the wrong positions. He concluded with saving:

Authorities in Fury Over Big Log Booms Started in Maine-Revenue Cutter Prepared.

Washington, D. C., May 10.-A novel condition exists on the St. John's river, the stream which flows through Maine and New Brunswick into the St. Lawrence river. The Canadian government is threatening to send a revenue cutter to Maine for the purpose of cutting out log booms, which, it claims, are obstruct-ing the navigation of the river. The threat is one of invasion if there ever was one.

The threat was regarded so seriously that Secretary Taft asked Hugh O'Beirne, the charge at the British em-bassy, to call on him. JARRED BY MR. TAFT.

International Railroad Convention Is Stirred by the Secretary of War. Washington, D. C., May 10.-There was a sensational clash at the banquet given to the members of the interna-tional railway congress at the New Willard hotel. It took place between Secretary of War Taft and President Stuyvesant Fish, president of the Illinois Central railroad, and was over the railway rate commission.

"Jars" the Railroad Men.

Secretary Taft had just been introduced by Mr. Fish, the toastmaster, and the first words almost of the secretary were a flat footed statement that railway rate regulation must come; that if the railway men of the country wer-wise they would aid and not hinder it who arrived here recently in that the sentiment of the country is such that failure of proper regulation meant a campaign on the subject that would do

> "Wow"-How Cold It Grew. Absolute silence reigned as Secretary Taft spoke his mind. He was positively against government ownership, he said, believing that nothing so deleterious could come to the country as this solution of the question. "But," he continued, "you cannot run railroads as you run private business. You must respond to the public demand. If there is danger of discrimination then you must allow the establishment of some tribunal that will remedy that discrimination. The secretary saw no reason why a tribunal properly constituted should not be competent in every sense of the word to fix a maximum rate.

Fish in Spirited Reply. Mr. Fish was on his feet the instant the secretary concluded. He answered the destruction of the factories by fire would follow.

Peasants Attack Priest.

Tula, Central Russia, May 10.—While peasants today were burning the residence of Count Bobrinsk they seized a length, taking the view that the law to prevent discrimination, double dealing and secret rebates was ample, and he vigorously called for the enforcement of that law. Mr. Fish talked of the vested rights of the money tied up in railways. He applopinged for dence of Count Bobrinsk they seized a priest who tried to persuade them to

> This time was given, and the secretary utilized it in making himself even more positive as to his position in favor of legislation which would create a tribunal with authority to name a maximum rate.
> "The law now is," continued the secretary, "as decided by the supreme court of the United States, that first a commission and then the courts may decide whether a particular rate is reasonable or unreasonable. Now in fixing that, in the mental process of determining wheth> er a rate is reasonable or unreasonable, one has go to fix what is a maximum

Just What Is Proposed. "As I understand it, what is proposed is only that in litigated cases a commission shall be constituted that shall fix a maximum rate—in other words to go through the same process it now goes through to determine what is a reasonable rate. What I am strongly in favor of, though is that we shall have a body that shall decide things and that those things shall be decided within a reasonable time finally by the courts. Mr. Fish again took up the argument, contending it was the question of fixing the price for the seller of goods. YALE STUDENT SHOT DEAD

MORE HEADACHE

GENERAL WEAKNESS AND FEVER DISAPPEAR TOO.

How a Woman Was Freed from Troubles That Had Made Life Wretched for Many Years.

The immediate causes of headaches vary, but most of them come from poor or poisoned blood. In anæmia the blood is scanty or thin; the nerves are imperfectly nourished and pain is the way in which they express their weakness. In colds the blood absorbs poison from the mucous surfaces, and the poison irritates the nerves and produces pain. In rheumatism, malaria and the grip, the poison in the blood produces like discomfort. In indigestion the gases from the impure matter kept in the system affect the blood in the same way.

The ordinary headache-cures at best give only temporary relief. They deaden the pain but do not drive the poison out of the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills on the contrary thoroughly renew the blood and the pain disappears permanently. Women in particular have found these pills an unfailing relief in headaches caused by anæmia.

Miss Stella Blocker recently said: "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did me a great deal of good. I had headache nearly all the time. After I had taken three boxes of these pills I became entirely well." "How long had you suffered?" she was asked. "For several years. I can't tell the exact date when my illness began for it came on by slow degrees. I had been going down hill for many years."

"Did you have any other ailments?" "I was very weak and sometimes I had fever. My liver and kidneys were affected as well as my head." "How did you come to take the remedy that cured you?" "I saw in a southern newspaper a statement of some person who was cured of a like trouble by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. My physician hadn't done me any good, so I bought a box of these pills. After I had taken one box I felt so much better that I kept on until I became entirely well." Miss Blocker's home is at Leander, Louisiana. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists. Besides headache they cure neuralgia, sciatica, nervous prostration, partial paralysis and rheumatism.

The forgetful Mr. Fraenckle also forgot to give the combination of the safe to the man who bought it. But from the moment the safe left in his possession Fraenckle rushed frantically around this city try-ing to locate it. Then, by good luck, he found the safe, and still locked in it were his stocks, jewels and coins.

Vineyard Haven, Mass., May 8 .- With the arrival here today of the tug Patience came news of one of the most remarkable marine disaster in the history of Vineyard sound shipping.

from Boston for New York, was struck night. by the coal-laden barge Glendower, in tow from Philadelphia for Boston, and sunk less than fifteen minutes later, but out of forty-seven passengers and a crew of twenty-nine on the steamer, most of whom were asleep at the time of the collision, only one life was lost. Miss Mamie Keller, 27 years of age, residence unknown, was missing when the roll of passengers was called.

Collision in a Fog.

The scene of collision was about a mile and a half southeast of the Pollock Rip shoals lightship. Although the accident happened at 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning and at a point only thirty-three miles distant from this port, the survivors did not arrive here until early today, the thick fog which prevailed necessitating slow navigation. The disaster was due to the fog.

The Aransas, Capt. Rood in command, left Boston Saturday afternoon and was well across the bay before she ran into. the fog. The steamer rounded Cape Cod and proceeded slowly down the cape shore. It was about midnight on Satur-day when the steamer began to thread her way cautiously across the perilous Nantucket shoals.

At 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning, when about a mile and a half from the Pollock Rip shoals lightship, the tug Patience, with a tow of three Reading railroad barges, loomed up through the fog. The tug cleared the Aransas, but the barge Glendower struck the steamer amidships on the starboard side, opposite the en-gine, tearing open a great hole through which the sea poured like a cataract. The Glendower was uninjured.

Steamer Begins to Sink.

The engine room and fire room of the Aransas were quickly flooded and some of the firemen barely escaped being caught by the torrents of water. It was seen at once that the steamer was sinking and orders to lower the boats were

Most of the passengers and crew were in their berths at the time of the collision, but all were awakened by the crash. They dressed hastily and rushed upon deck. Although there was great excitement there was no panic and the discipline of the crew was excellent, every man taking his appointed station.

Rescue of Passengers. While some of the passengers were being transferred the Patience came alongside the rapidly sinking Aransas and took off those who had not already taken to the boats. Those who had taken to the boats were then transferred to the tug or to the barges in tow.

Among the passengers were five women and one child. All were saved, with the exception of Miss Keller. Mate Crocker remembers distinctly that he as-sisted Miss Keller to the ladder leading the lifeboats, but she was not seen afterwards.

Few of the passengers saved anything except their clothing and small hand baggage.

Vessel Swallowed Up by Sea. As soon as the Aransas had disappeared beneath the waves, the tug Patience with the survivors on board, put about and headed for this port. Some of

She was classed in the government list of merchant vessels of the United States as an ocean passenger steamer. Her home port was New Orleans. She was formerly owned by the Southern Pacific Railroad company and for many years was employed in services out of New Orleans, running from that ort to Havana and also between New Orleans and New York.

HAWAII IS IN DANGER.

Great Lake of Lava May Explode at Any Moment, Dealing Death to Thousands.

Honolulu, May 8 .- The three-mile long crater of Kilauea, a constantly agitated lake of liquid lava, is showing great activity, and fears are felt that the enormous mass may be thrown into the air by an explosion and overwhelm a part of the island of Hawaii and its 25,000 inhabitants.

The burning lava in the great crater, the largest in the world, is steadily rising. Should the pressure increase there great danger of a terrific eruption. Kilauea is the child of Mauna Loa, but has far outgrown its parent in size, although not in the constancy of flow. It is sixteen miles from Mauna Loa and fifteen miles nearer the town of Hilo, whose inhabitants have several times been thrown into a state of terror by the lava flow from Mauna Loa.

Fishermen on the east coast of Hawaii say Kilauea has never presented a grand a sight as in the last few days.

Whole Island in Danger. On account of the relative smaller height of Kilauea, an eruption from it might not reach the north coast, but it is feared Mauna Loa, which is 7000 feet higher and in the center of the island, would be exploded by the eruption of the other and cover the whole island. Hilo is considered safe from a mere overflow of Kilauea, and it is only an explosive eruption that is feared. The overflows from Kilauea usually go down the south and west slopes and away from Hilo. May Change Coast Line.

In any event, it is likely that the activity now begun will leave its mark on the topography of the island. In one of its overflows 100 years ago Kilnuen gave forth 15,000,000,000 cubic feet of rock and lava, changing the formation of the coast for miles.

In one of its later eruptions, that of 1868, Kilauea sent a stream of burning lava sixty miles to the southwest, where poured a flaming cataract over the cliffs into the sea. In the sea the mass formed a pyramid of lava, which, by later accessions, gradually became attached to the mainland and is now known as Kalae point.

Surrounding Country Suffers. The tornado broke upon the town with great force, wrought its terrible havoe within a few minutes' time and continuing on into the rich farming country north of Marquette, caused further damage.

In Marquette many residences were completely demolished, the wreckage being carried away entirely, while others were picked up bodily, moved a short distance away and dropped to earth.

Killed as They Slept.

Many of the victims were killed as they lay asleep; others maimed and bleeding woke to find themselves buried in the wreckage of their former homes. Following the storm came a lull. Soon cries of the injured and frightened peo-ple could be heard on every hand. Men with lanterns appeared here and there among the wreekage and as quickly as possible the work of rescue was begun. Progress was slow because of the darkness and it was some time before any thing like a systematic effort could be made to remove the injured and before aid was asked of neighboring towns.

Many to the Rescue.

It was not until 8 o'clock that physicians and surgeons began arriving from surrounding towns. In the meantime, dozens of willing hands set to work to clear away the debris and extricate the dead and injured. The Swedish Lutheran parsonage and several private residences were turned into temporary hospitals while the dead were taken to the storeroom of Olaf Olson and laid out in Relief Trains Sent from Neighboring Cities to Scene of the Disaster.

Fort Worth, Tex., May 11.-Snyder, Okla., a town of 1000 mhabitants, has been wrecked by a tornado and it is reported that 500 are dead.

The report is confirmed over railroad wires. Relief trains from all points in the neighborhood are being sent with doctors and nurses.

The most definite report was from the Frisco headquarters, where it was aunounced that messages to the train dispatcher of the Frisco at Sapula, I. T., ere to the effect that a tornado struck Snyder last night, wrecking the town and killing 500 people. A message to the train dispatcher sent by the Fort Worth Record asking for information was answered as follows:

"We have same report and are send ing relief train on the supposition that it is true. Wires all down."

The telegraph operator at Chickasha, I. T., states that he talked over the telephone with Hobart, Okla., near Snyder, and that all wires in the vicinity of Snyder are down, but relief trains are being sent from several directions. How the Nutmeg Grows.

"A nutmeg tree," said the New Haven gardener, "looks like a laurel. Such trees are rare in these parts. The nutmeg tree begins to bear at the age of ten years. It keeps on bearing until it ninety. The fruit resembles an apri cot, and when ripe it bursts open, show ing at its heart the black nutmeg, in closed in a network of scarlet. The nut meg after plucking must be dried. It is dried over a slow fire, and the process is tedious. It often occupies two months Before shipping the nutmegs are always steeped in sea water and lime. This is to protect them from insects. They have nothing but insects to fear. In an insect-proof condition they keep—well, they keep practically forever."—Minneapolis Journal

MANCHURIAN CART AS AN AMBULANCE.

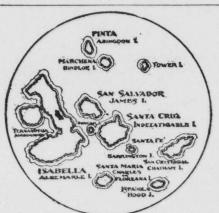

As may be seen from the sketch, the conveniences for transporting the wounded on some of the Manchurian battlefields have not always been everything that could be desired. Owing to the rapid movements of the forces it sometimes happened that the ambulance corps was left far in the rear, and it was necessary for the Red Cross workers to impress into service some of the rough Manchurian carts, which are innocent of springs and afford about as crude a means of locomotion as has ever been devised by the hand of man. They are at best only the most indifferent makeshifts and were used only when there was absolutely nothing else available.

Galapagos Islands to Be Important Pacific Base for Uncle Sam.

The persistent rumor that the United States government has decided to purchase the Galapagos islands has recently derived additional strength from certain semi-official admissions made at Washington. The probability of such action on the part of the government is demonstrated still further by the announcement that diplomatic negotiations of importance are in progress between the Washington authorities and Ecuador, the owner of the property in question. RUSES OF BANKERS.

Devices Used to Either Gain Time or Inspire Confidence.

Some amusing anecdotes are told of the devices resorted to by bankers to the Eighteenth hussars to Miss Elsa gain time and inspire confidence. On one memorable occasion the excited subscribers, much to their indignation, ously and Mayne dropped the journal. were only able to enter the bank one by one except at the cost of spoiled coats, as the cute manager had caused the door posts to be freshly painted.

Another bank prevented a crisis in its affairs by exhibiting in the windows large tubs apparently brimful of sovereigns. These tubs, however, were simply upside down and a small quantity of gold only piled up on their bot-

But the most ingenious dodge of all was successfully carried out in Buenos bank, and for several days subscribers besieged the premises, withdrawing money and placing it in another bank on the opposite side of the road. It happened, however, that these two institutions had a private understanding, and as fast as the 'fe' bank received the deposits they were returned to the "unsafe" one by an underground passage, with the result that every one marveled at its continued ability to meet its demands.-London News.

Spring.

I dreamed today of those far hills, freen spaces that the glad sun fills, seyond the gray of square and street, where spring comes now with hurrying feet, Lavish of bud and blossoming, And stir of soft things on the wing.

In wooded necks and wind-swept hills Spreads the gold glint of daffodils, And wild and white, like scattered snow, The delicate, pale wind-flow'rs blow, And silver chalices unfold "Mid woven webs of rese and gold.

And from those spacious sflences
I hear the sob of swaying trees,
Like magic strains and wind-played lute;
I hear the throstle's fairy flute,
The polymore of the failing pair. The whisper of the falling rain On grawing grass of wold and plain, And murmuring across my dream The music of the swelling stream— Sweet sounds that dull the city's stir -the city's prisoner -Isabel Clarke in English Country Life.

Engagements and Their Keeping.

Some women are bitter in their resentment toward a man who breaks an engagement with them (not a marriage engagement, but social), never pausing to think that there must be some good and sufficient reason for such an act.

The fact of the man proffering any attention to a woman presupposes that he finds pleasure in doing so, it being purely a matter of choice with him.

An invitation to the theater, to dinner, a drive, or the sharing of any pleasure is entirely gratuitous on a man's part, when it is presumable that he realy wanted the companionship of the woman in question, otherwise he would not have invited her. This being the case he would hardly break the engagement did not some good reason exist or arise for so doing. The woman who lashes herself into a rage because she has either been kept waiting or disappointed in toto is both unkind and unreasonable. A thousand and one things nay have occurred making the keeping the engagement impossible, says Kate

Tyson Marr in the St. Louis Star.

ever recorded of this kind was that wherein a high-spirited girl figured, and the circumstances scared her for life. The man was a confirmed bachelor of the most cynical type before he met the handsome girl in question, to whom, although a very busy man, he devoted much attention. On one particular evenng they were to dine together, when he elephoned it was impossible for him to go, deferring the invitation until the next night, when again he failed to appear, and no telephone or telegraph ex plained. In a rage she wrote and mailed a bitterly denunciatory letter breaking the friendship and telling him she would never receive him again. It so happened that the man met with a peculiar acci-dent while on his way to meet her, and at the very moment of her writing his dead body lay in a drug store awaiting removal home. Unfortunately, the letter fell into the hands of the heartbroken mother. The girl went to his home, but was refused 'admittance. Among the man's effects was an unsigned will in which this girl, having little of the world's goods, was most substantially remembered. The family was wealthy and would have carried out his wishes to the letter, but instead the family lawyer was directed to send her copy of this will, together with one of her letter and a note from the brother. They never forgave her. Such tragic sejuels do not always follow yet one can

The man who invites a woman in the hope that she will refuse, or with no intention of keeping the engagement is a cad. He should not invite her unless wishing to have her enjoy with him. As for being on time, there are a thousand and one delays against which it is impossible to guard, and where an engagement is positive, with mutual benefit to each, or a pleasure trip, a lit-tle patience will not infringe the dignity

There is, however, another class of invitations where a man is placed in such position that he cannot decline or away from them without being absolute When a woman forces herself upon a man's notice and insists upon his Such women are not only de void of tact but also of the commonest instincts of delicacy, and yet what can the poor man do? He is martyred to his politeness. A married man who is forced into such a position is to be pitied; that is, of course, when he is free from flirtations proclivities flirtatious proclivities.

is always a matter of good breeding to wait until one has a chance to learn voluntary, and if the latter, an explana tion with expressions of regret should win forgiveness at once. But if no apology or explanation follows the slight a woman is justified in allowing the acquaintance to drop. To show any feeling or pique in the matter is to acknowledge has felt it. Indifference and a firm re-solve never to allow the same thing to happen again is the most dignified To resent in any way shows that a man has power to wound.

The woman who will not listen to explanations or apologies is often very trying. A man may exert himself to the utmost-may strain every nerve, and fairly go the limit of human possibilities to keep an engagement, and fail utterly to do so. If he is welcomed later by a storm of reproaches he feels that he does not deserve it and is angry and embittered. If, on the other hand, the woman whom he loves shows some anxiety, and the fear that something dreadeart and draws him closer to her .- Bos-

A Right Beginning Will Obviate Many Misunderstandings.

If women in engaging a servant would make a definite statement of the duties the new maid is expected to perform, half of the misunderstandings and unpleasantnesses which arise would be avoided. There could be no recriminations afterward. Another thing that should be borne in mind is, when you arrange to take a servant you are making a contract. It isn't easy to get good servants, but, once having secured them it may be a mistress' own fault if she doesn't keep them. And this can only be done by treating them with a certain consideration.

One of the main points to be considered is to try and make your servant comfortable, and do not think "anything" will be good enough for her. A decently furnished room will go a long way toward making a girl happy, and always remember that respect commands respect. To secure the best service a respect. To seeme the best service a girl must feel that the place is her home, that an interest is taken in her welfare, and that it is not a place where she must everlastingly keep her nose to the

A woman who always keeps her servants for years observes a set of rules which she has found to be most satisctory in securing and retaining good

Avoid patronage, fault-finding and inconsideraness; encourage cleanliness, method and tidiness and discipline with considera-tion; allow servants a reasonable time to themselves daily for sewing and reading; give them one night off weekly, and morning, afternoon, or evening, on alternate Sabbaths.

If a servant's work is well done, give a word of praise. A few kind words and a bit of advice from a mistress will go further toward making a good maid than all the grumbling in the world. Never give your servant notice when in a fit of anger. Allow sufficient time to think the matter over calmly before deciding defi-

If something goes wrong in the kitchen, or if the servant oversteps the bounds, pay no attention until the matter has been carefully considered. Then when a plan of action is thought out calmly and maturely definite action is Guard Against Moths.

The eastern housewife has a decided advantage over her sister on the Pacific slope, in that she can put away her furs and winter clothing in May-before the busy little tinea gets in its deadly workwith the assurance that she need not take them out again until the following November.

The California woman, on the contrary, must protect her furs from the ravages of the moth without putting them away, for she is just as likely to need them in July and August as in December and January. As for underclothing, the sensible Californian, in the bay districts, wears the same weight all the year; so there is, of course, no fear of moths as far as that is concerned. the California woman, then, "eternal vigilance is the price of peace." Since her furs and heavy cloth coat cannot be put away, she must frequently and as-siduously air and (except in the case of sealskin) sun and beat them, at least during the moth season, which seems to an unusually long one on this coast.

Where such garments are to be stored it is not enough to hermetically seal the packages containing them; for if you seal up any of Mme. Moth's eggs, the larvae will make sad havoc with your finery. Nor will any quantity of illsmelling moth balls or powders or of cayenne pepper suffice to prevent the eggs already deposited from hatching.

In this case you must rely solely on the "onnee of prevention." See that the furs are well aired (a hot sun is disastrous to a fine seal garment) and thoroughly beaten with a slender switch. It will be to advantage to use a regular fur comb also. Furs will be benefited by the of beauty and a spot of which any house

After sealing up such a package, write the name of the garment and its owner legibly on a label and paste securely to the bag. Where coats or furs must be hung in a closet to which you must have daily access, make bags for each garment a little longer than the article to be protected; stitch closely, turn and stitch again; leave it long enough at the top to be turned and tied down.

tied down. Woolen undergarments, if put away just after being washed, can be considered free from the eggs. Cloth garments must be thoroughly brushed, aired, sanned and cleaned, special attention being paid to the pockets by turning them inside out and getting at every bit of the dust secreted in the corners. An excel-lent cleaning fluid, which I have used with the best results for years, is made

Shave fine four ounces of castile soap (the druggist will do this for you), and let it soak over night in a quart of soft rain water. In the morning set where it will dissolve but not boil; add an ounce of liquid animonia, one-fourth ounce of spirits of wine and one ounce of ether. Shake the bottle, and when about to use, dilute a small quantity of this with four times as much boiling water. Spread the garment to be cleaned on an ironing board whose cover is protected by several thicknesses of newspaper tied on; make soft pad of cloth, dip in the fluid and rub on the spots. Afterward go over the spots with clean hot water.

Put each garment away in a separate newspaper, carefully labelled, and whether they be stored in boxes, chests, bureau drawers or on shelves, if they were perfectly clean and the paper package is not broken, the moths will have to look elsewhere for the means of bringing up their broods.-Table Talk.

Ancient, but Readable.

A farmer recently paid a visit to neighbor, and as he passed along by the side of the fields he made a mental note of the fact that no scarecrows were visible. Meeting his neighbor almost immediately, he opened conversation as "Good morning, Mr. Oates, I see vo ppen, out in the suburbs. But, if you have no scarecrows in your fields. How do you manage to do without them?"

"Oh, well enough," was the innocent reply. "You see, I don't need 'em, for I'm in the fields all day myself."

One on the Admiral. Rear Admiral Casper F. Goodrich,

Connecticut officer, who was the guest of honor at the banquet of the naval division in May, 1904, has contributed to the proceedings of the United States Naval institute some very interesting anecdotes of the late Rear Admiral Goldsborough. Admiral Goodrich prefaces his amusing stories of the old sailor by saying that Admiral Goldsborough was a very large man, reported to be feet 4 inches tall and weighing neary 400 pounds; he was a close student of his profession and a most able officer. As a flag officer he took a keen interest in the midshipmen under his command, had-to them-the reprehensible

Cal bells were ringing in all directions, order-lies were yelled for and sent on the run to the captain of the ship, to the first lieutenant directing the immediate callng of all hands to shorten sail, hasty rders reached the officer of the deck to ake in all canvas at once, put on sea gaskets, and prepare for a gale, etc. n fact, in about two minutes the whole ship was a perfect bedlam and no one outside of the admiral knew what it all meant. In the meanwhile he was pacing up and down the cabin, wanting, in stentorian tones, to know why something was not done before the fearful cyclone was not done before the rearring cyclone should strike us and carry us to the bottom. "God bless my soul!" he ejaculated, 'I never knew such a drop in the barometer in all my sea going. It's horrible. HOW TO LOCATE SPRINGS.

Indians and Frontiersmen Learn Much from Signs and Observations.

There is undoubtedly a practical art of discovering springs. Indians or frontiersmen can find water in the desert where a "tenderfoot" cannot. Mexicans. and experienced prospectors can similarfind ore. These arts consist mainly in the recognition of superficial signs which escape the ordinary observer. It is not necessary that the operator hould consciously note these signs separately and reason upon them. No doubt he frequently does so, though he may not give away the secret of his method to others. But in many instances he recognizes by association and memory the presence of a group of indications, great or small, which he has repeatedly found to attend springs or ore deposits.

This skill, due to habit, is often almost unerring for a given limited district, but under new conditions it breaks down. Old miners from California or Australia have often made in other regions the most foolish and hopeless attempts to find gold, because they thought this or that place "looked just like" some other place in which they had nined successfully. Apart from the magnetic minerals, there is no proof that ore deposits exhibit their presence and nature by any attraction or other active force. With attraction or other active force. With regard to water, however, there may be nabit of calling them into his cabin and submitting them to a close examination as to the working of the ship, the state of the barometer, etc., and laughing at the discomfiture when they were until the discomfiture when the discomfiture when they were until the discomfiture when they were until the discomfiture when they were until the discomfiture when the discomfitur to a close observer than by a direct system. Investigation of the Packers.

Very general interest has been manifested in the government investigation now in progress into the mode of conducting business by the large packers located in Chicago and elsewhere. Much has been written upon the alleged illegal and improper modes of business procedure connected with the packing industry; but it seems that so far no definite charge of any kind has been sustained and no proof of illegal or inequitable methods has been disclosed to the public. While a wave of severe criticism of this great industrial interest is now passing over the country it might be well to remember that the packers have had as yet no opportunity to make specific denial, the many indefinite charges of wrong-doing having never been formulated so that a categorical answer could be

The recent report of Commissioner Garfield, which embodied the results of an official investigation undertaken by the Department of Commerce and Labor of the United States, was a vindication of the Western packers, but this result having been unexpected attempts in many quarters to discredit it were made.

In view of the situation as it now stands, however, attention may properly be called to a few facts that owing to popular clamor are now being apparently overlooked. Fair treatment in this country has heretofore been accorded to all citizens whose affairs assume prominence in the public eye and some of the facts that bear upon the relation of the packers to the commerce of the country may at this time be briefly alluded to. It would be difficult to estimate the benefits gained by the farmers of the country resulting from the energetic enterprise of the packers, for whatever is of benefit to the farmer is a gain to the entire commerce of the country. And connected with their continuous aggressive work no feature perhaps has been more important than their efforts in seeking outlets all over the world for the surplus products of the farmer. Our total exports of agricultural products have gained but little in the past twenty years, and leaving out corn, the total of all other farm products was far less in 1903 than in 1891. But in packing house products there was considerable gain during this period, because an organized and powerful force has been behind them seeking new and broader markets.

Besides the benefits reaped by farmers on account of the enterprise and energy exercised by the packers in attaining commercial results by foreign trade, the great development in the manufacture of packing house by-products has added enormously to the value of all live stock raised in the United States. The waste material of twenty years ago, then an expense to the packer, is now converted into articles of great value and, as an economic fact, this must correspondingly increase the value to the farmer of every head of cattle marketed at the numerous stock yards of the country. Let these facts be remembered while now it is so popular to regard the great packing industry as deserving of condemnation. At least it must be admitted that, so far, there is no adequate reason for the almost unanimous howl that may be heard everywhere in the face of the Garfield report above alluded to which practically exonerates the packers from the obscure and indefinite charges that have been for some time past made the subject of popular comment.

FRANCE STILL NEUTRAL,

St. Petersburg Laughs at the Threats of the Japanese-European Peace in Peril.

Nha-Trang, Annam, May 9 .- Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron, which has been cruising for several days off Vanfong bay, sailed this morning.

London, May 9.—The situation arising in the far east by reason of alleged violation of French neutrality in Indobecoming involved, formed the subject of a question to Premier Balfour in the House of Commons this afternoon.

Statement from France.

Mr. Balfour in reply read a statement supplied to the British government by the French ambassador, M. Cambon, as

"As soon as the French government As soon as the French government was aware of Admiral Rojestvensky's presence at Kamranh bay representations were sent to St. Petersburg, with the result that under the orders of the Emperor himself instructions were telegraphed to the admiral desiring him to eave Kamranh bay at once. The Rusan squadron subsequently was reported be at Hon-Kohe bay, a few miles north of Kamranh bay.

Not in French Waters.

"Admiral De Jonquieres, commanding report. He found Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron there though not inside French territorial waters. Thereupon, the governor of French Indo China, who had eccived instructions to see that French neutrality was duly respected, sent the French resident at Nha-Trang, the nearest point to that place, with directions to ask the Russian admiral to leave. The admiral promised to do so May 3.

Gave Russians No Assistance. 'As regards the reports that the Rus-As regards the reports that the Russian squadron received valuable assistance from the French authorities at Kamranh bay, I am informed there are only two Frenchmen there, neither of whom is an official, but there are holders of concession: from the French government in that place."

England Warns France. Foreign Secretary Lansdowne communicated with the French ambassador in London and to the French foreign office through the ambassador at Paris within a ew days Baron Hayashi, the Japanese minister, said today that it was not alone the question of the Russian ships being within the three-mile limit, Japan just as strongly objecting to the Russian squadron making a base of Indo-China, lying outside the three-mile limit and receiving supplies from French ports. Baron Hayashi laid stress on the statement that the French government had refused to allow press dispatches to be sent from Saigon, and said he understood that to be a contravention of the international telegraph agreement. Must Observe Neutrality.

Paris, May 9 .- Orders have been sent to the civil and naval authorities in French Indo-China not to permit the junction within French waters of the Russian naval forces under Admiral Roestvensky and Rear Admiral Neboga-Instructions have also been sent to Admiral De Jonquieres, the French naval commander, to see that Rojest-vensky fully observes the promise he has lready given to leave French waters. These orders resulted from the receipt detailed dispatch giving an account f Admiral De Jonquieres' meeting with Rojestvensky. The dispatch says the Russian squadron made a four-day cruise on the high sea outside the threenile limit, and then returned last Saturlay, anchoring at Kong-Hai bay, coast Annam, to take on provisions and fresh water.

Promises to Obey.

When Admiral Jonquieres was informed of the Russians' return he proceeded to Kong Hai and requested Admiral Rojestvensky to immediately withdraw outside of the territorial waters. The Russian admiral gave De Jonquieres his word that he intended to leave his anchorage and take to the open sea. He also informed De Jonquieres that in his communications with the land he had not violated any of the neutrality regulanot violated any of the neutrality regulations and that the stops of the Russian squadron along the Indo-China coast were for the purpose of resting the crews. The Russian admiral said he would depart the following day.

He returned to Kong Hai yesterday to see whether Rojestvensky' go had been carried out and found the Russian warships still at their anbut preparing to depart. Adchorage, but preparing to depart. Japs' Threats Laughed At. St. Petersburg, May 9.—The Japanese threats against France are not taken very seriously here. The Russian authorities continue to maintain that Admiral Rojestvensky has not violated neutrality. In view of the excited state of the Japanese over the possibility of the foreity of their previous land and see fruits of their previous land and sea victories being swept away, Japan's pro-tests are considered quite natural, but her attitude toward a chivalarous coun-like France is regarded as a blunder.

England Would Avoid War. While Great Britain is expected to while Great Britain is expected to support her ally and secure fair play, should Japan press France too far Great Britain, it is said, can be counted on to use all her influence to calm the statesmen at Tokio. The interests of Japan could not be served according to an opinion here by an extension of the opinion here by an extension of the stilities unless Admiral Togo is beaten, in which case it is not doubted that Japan will use the pretext of French violation of neutrality to demand the ful-fillment of Great Britain's obligations as her ally. The opinion is held in some quarters that it is exactly this contingency which Japan has in view.

Feeling of Resentment. Tokio, May 9.—The feeling of resentment against France for the assistance given the Russian second Pacific squadron continues to run high and is finding expression in a variety of ways. The nearness of the Russian squadron and the nature of the preparations which Admiral Rojestvensky is known to have made in French waters seem to have suddenly convinced many people that it would have been impossible for Rojestvensky to come to the far east without outside assistance, which has given a sinister tone to the popular resentment.

In the crisis many eyes are turned towards Great Britain for assistance. It is argued that France rescued Rojestven-sky from absolute failure to reach the China sea and that the final aid given to the Russians in Indo-China amounts to an act of belligerency and there are many demands that Japan invoke the alliance with Great Britain.

Formerly a large section of the public China by Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron and the possibility of Great Britain French acts of friendship for Russia, on account of the former's delicate position as an ally and creditor. The suspicion that Rojestvensky was not a welcome guest at Kamranh bay and that he was presuming upon French hospitality also tempered the feeling of resentment, but recent events are removing these attitudes and the national sentiment is uniting in unconditional insistence that France preserve neutrality.

The Japanese government has not taken the people of this country into its confidence. Since the Kamranh bay incident nothing has been officially made known, except that the government was making vigorous representations at Paris while proceeding carefully and cautiously, not desiring to resort to extreme measures while a hope of an adjustment

NATION HAS RIGHT TO FIX FREIGHT RATES.

President Roosevelt Talks on Extending the Powers of Interstate Commerce Commission.

Denver, Colo., May 9.-At the banquet for President Roosevelt last night the President took up the subject of railroad rate legislation. He said in part: poration or individual, sometimes several of them being controlled in combination by or them being controlled in combination by corporations, or by a few individuals. When this is the case in my judgment it is absolutely necessary that the nation shall assume a supervisory and regulatory function over the great corporations which practically control the highways of commerce.

commerce. When you get that supervisory and regulatory power you will not have cured all the evils that existed and you will not equal the expectations of the amiable but ill-regulated enthusiast who thinks that you will have cured all those evils. A measure of good will come. Some good will be done, some injustice will have been prevented, but we shall be a long way from the millenium.

When you give a nation that power remember that harm and not good will come from the giving unless you give it with the firm determination not only to get jusdee for yourselves, but to do justice to others; that you will be as jealous to do justice to the railroads as to exact justice

HANGED FOR KILLING RACINE DETECTIVE.

WILLIAM RUDOLPH IS PUT TO DEATH IN JAIL YARD AT UNION, MO.

When He Was About to Serve Warrant.

Union, Mo., May 8.-After months of fighting in the courts and after every possible effort to save him had failed, William Rudolph was hanged in the jail yard at 10:01 o'clock today.

His neck was not broken and he strangled thirteen minutes before being pronounced dead. His mother and stepfather bade him farewell in his cell, after which Rudolph announced that he was ready to go. Rudolph walked to the scaffold with a firm step and said nothing after leaving his cell. Sheriff Gehlert sprung the trap. About 200 persons witnessed the execution and a large crowd was collected in the street outside the iail the jail.

William Rudolph murdered Detective Charles J. Schumacher of Racine, Wis., on January 25, 1903. Schumacher was on January 25, 1905. Schumacher was a Pinkerton man and was sent to Rudolph's home near Stanton to arrest him and George Collins on a charge of robbing the bank of Union, Mo.

Schumacher rode up to the house and with drawn revolvers ordered Collins to throw up his bands. There was a first throw up his hands. There was a flash and Schumacher dropped dead, shot through the heart.

Collins and Rudolph endeavored to escape, but were arrested and tried for murder. Both were convicted and Collins was hanged a year ago. Rudolph had taken several appeals to the supreme court and was twice reprieved by the governor, once because his execution was set for March 17, St. Patrick's day, and Irish people patitioned the governor. and Irish people petitioned the governor to postpone the hanging and not mar the elebration of the saint's day. Both Collins and Rudolph were expert cracksmen.

Racine, Wis., May 8.—[Special.]— Detective Schumacher for whose murder
Rudolph was hanged today, lived in Burlington, where he was born up to about twenty years ago. He was deputy sher-iff and constable there for several years and then went to Chicago to take a position with the Pinkerton agency. His brother had charge of the Chicago office at the time.

TWO CLASSES OF OAKS.

One Notable for Its Wood, the Other for Its Brilliancy of Coloring.

The great oak family might be divided into two classes: those that ripen their acorns in one season, such as the white, post and mossy-cup oaks, and those which require two full years, such as the red, searlet and black oaks. To the first class belong the chestnut oak and the live oak of the south. This latter tree for generations played an important part in ship building, but has now been superseded by iron and steel. The leaf, which is an evergreen, is entirely without indentations, and is thick and leathery. The wood is very heavy and strong, has a beautiful grain, and is susceptible of taking a high polish. At one time this wood was so valuable that our government paid $200,000 for large tracts of land in the south, that our navy might be sure of a supply of live oak timber.

To the second class of oaks we are largely indebted for the gorgeous colors of our autumn leaves. The red, scarlet and pin oaks, with their brilliant reds, scarlets and browns, are close competitors with the maple in giving our American landscapes the most wonderful au-The great oak family might be divided his experience, as follows: "I became satisfied some months agosrong, involving large tracts of land in daily, to the use of coffee (I had been Virginia and Kentucky, has arrived here. a coffee drinker for 30 years), but I erage.

"I realized that I must give up the harmful indulgence in coffee, but I felt the necessity for a hot table drink, and as tea is not to my liking, I was at a loss for a while what to do.

"One day I ran across a very sensible and straightforward presentation of the claims of Postum Food Coffee, Citizens of Glenwood Springs Refrain and was so impressed thereby that I concluded to give it a trial. My experience with it was unsatisfactory till I learned how it ought to be prepared-by thorough boiling for not less than 15 or 20 minutes. After I learned that lesson there was no trouble. Postum Food Coffee proved to be a most palatable and satisfactory hot beverage, and I have used it ever since.

> "The effect on my health has been most salutary. It has completely cured the heart palpitation from which I used to suffer so much, particularly after breakfast, and I never have a return of it except when I dine or lunch away from home and am compelled to drink the old kind of coffee because Postum is not served. I find that Postum Food Coffee cheers and invigorates, while it produces no harmful stimulation." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

W. I. Douglas $3.50 shoes are the greatest sellers in the world because of their excellent style, easy fitting and superior wearing qualities. They are just as good as those that cost from $5.00 to $7.00. The only difference is the price. W. I. Douglas $3.50 shoes cost more to make, hold their shape better, wear longer, and are of greater value than any other $3.50 shoe on the marketto-day. W. L. Douglas guarantees their value by stamping his name and price on the bottom of each shoe. Look for it. Take no substitute. W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes on the principal cities, and by shoe dealers everywhere. No matter where you live, W. L. Douglas shoes are within your reach.

"The Best I Ever Wore." "I write to say that I have worn your $3.50 shoes for the past five years, and find them the best I ever wore." - Rev. Frank T. Return of the Snuff Box.

There is no telling but what at s not far distant day the modern Beau Brummels will be tapping the gold snufi boxes, dipping the finger tips into the best of rappee and extending the fragrant powder for the use of their friends with that ineffable grace and deliberation characteristic of the gentlemen of the old school. There are now to be seen at a famous metropolitan store some marvelous mechanical devices in snuff boxes. Aside from high priced nov-elties, all varieties of snuff containers re being asked for at the shops-osten sibly for placing in the cabient at home. but the pinch of snuff therefrom may become as essential to the dandy of the Twentieth century as the gold tipped cigarette.—Clothier and Furnisher.

Viridescent Dream of Spring. Here is an ideally green-clad young man for the season, according to the predictions of the tailors: Olive green Trilby hat, Lincoln green flannel suit (like Robin Hood's archers) with sea green stripes, emerald green tie, pea green striped flannel shirt with collar to match, and sage green socks relieved with pale green spots. The boots would be left to the taste of the wearer, but a green whangee cane would be effective.-

A cave 120 feet long by 20 feet wide, which has been discovered in Alfred Conn., he was on intimate terms with Rev. Joseph H. Twitchell. One day Mr. vated and a report made by William Bazley, in Man for January. After digging through several layers of soft soil a stratum of hard material was struck, in which were found many flint core. which were found many flint core flakes and other stone implements, with grinding stones and hammers. Below grinding stones and hammers. Below this, large slabs of stone were found, one of them being 16 feet long and 9 feet wide. On removing these slabs three skeletons were discovered lying side by side, all crushed flat. The height of the skeletons was 4 feet 7 inches, 4 feet 3 inches and 2 feet 11 inches respectively. The shorter one lay between the other two and is presumably that of a child. The bones crumbled to dust on being touched. The level on which these were found was 16 feet below the floor of the cave, and here were found "thousands of the Bible is true; if I could prove to of the Bible, that you ought to go to walk with me would you go?"

"Yes, of course," said Mr. Twain, "but it isn't in there."

"Yes, it is," said the minister, "for the Bible says, 'And whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain," and Mark went.—New York Tribune.

Less Meat, More Fruit.

Director Chittenden, who has had charge of the Sheffield scientific school dietary experiments, recently reported that the men under him grew stronger the less meat they ate. The men under investigation were kept at work in the Yale gymnasium while they were on a diet of less meat and more vegetables and fruit. The gymnasium tests show a growth of muscular development of 35 to 100 per cent.
