A. A. FREEMAN MILLS Best Patent Flour

Is now on sale by every grocer in Gladstone. We guarantee it superior to any and all other flours.

We have one more process than any other mill. I purify the flour by air in a machine of my own invention. It lifts out some fine, soft, dead flour that is in all flour and the purified flour has a brighter color, the dough more spongy and buoyant, resulting in a larger and lighter loan from a given weight of dough.

We guarantee absolutely not only a better bread but at least ten more loaves per barrel (196 lbs) of flour used, such as bakers' 5c loaves, and think it will yield 15 more of such loaves than any other flour.

> It is a high cost flour to make but is really the most economical flour to use, as it yields from 50 to 75 cents worth more loaves per barrel than any other

This is due to two facts. First, the inferior flour taken out. Second, the air evaporates moisture and the purified flour will absorb more water. It is somewhat on the principle of a cream separator, taking out the cream from fresh milk leaving skim milk. In our best flour you get the cream.

Ask your grocer for it, take no other until you at least

If the above claims are true the local trade should give preference to the local mill over all outside mills.

Letter Found by Girl Gives Her Back Brother.

Emma Wischnesky is employed by Herman Rubinstein, a junk dealer at Paterson, N. J., to sort refuse taken from the dump heaps. When she came across a bundle of letters taken from the ash heaps at People's Park she picked out one with a surname similar to her own. She laid it aside, and later was able to read enough of it to convince her that it was written by her brother, whom she believed to be dead, and that he was living in Lodi, five miles from Paterson. When she left the old country several years ago her brother was in the German army. As she heard nothing from him, she decided she was the only member of the family living. Recently she hunted up the writer of Recently she hunted up the writer of the Evening Wisconsin, and for Fifty-eight Years Its Editor-in-Chief.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 23.—William E. Cramer, founder and editor-Recently she hunted up the writer of the letter and found her brother alive and well. The brother said he had been injured in the service, and that, after being in the hospital a short time, he "took French leave" and came to this country. He had written to his sister, but, as he never received a reply, he supposed she was dead. Wischnesky also explained that he had written to a friend in Paterson, but how his letter got into the ash heap he could not tell.

It contains the election law of that part of the country. One election precipet exthe country. One election precinct extends from King street, Dawson City on the south to the North pole on the morth. Candidates for office are required to deposit $200 with the proper officials and if they fail in securing half as many votes as the successful cardias many votes as the successful candidate this money is turned over to the treasury and used for the expenses of conducting the election. Treating of all kinds is prohibited during campaigns and candidates for office must not even hire hores and carriages to bring voters to the polls.

An Easy Test.

An Easy Test.

Senator W. Murray Crane, at a Thanksgiving celebration in Dalton, talked about turkeys.

"From November on through the winter season," he said, "it is important to know how to tell a good turkey from a bad one—a young and tender from an old and tough bird.

"A farmer once examined his chore boy in this grave matter.

"Roger,' he said, 'can you tell infallibly a young from an old turkey?"

"Yes, indeed, I can, sir,' Roger answered.

How do you tell?' "'How do you tell?"
"'By the teeth,' the boy replied.
"'Oh, rubbish, nonsense!' said the farmer. 'I am ashamed of you, Roger.
Turkeys have no teeth.'
"'No,' said Roger, grinning, 'but I have.'"—New York Tribune.

Partly to her faithful and oving service in this direction, and party y to his marvelous skill in questioning people into whose company he was thrown, was due his reputation of being able to find out more, on short acquaintances, concerning any place or man or event than could be gathered by most people who are in possession of all of their senses. In 1884 he revisited Eu-rope in a tour through Ireland, England, Holland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Finland, Russia, Poland, Austria, Baden and France and France.

The Editor at Work.

To the time of his last illness Mr. Cramer still wrote for the paper every day, and his interest and influence extended to every detail of the great journal's management. From the youngest reporter to the managing editor, all his employes felt that their work was the object of his immediate observation, and all had the benefit of his experienced suggestions. His work in his special department was notable for consistency, lucidity, accuracy and force. It was the main object of his life to build up in Milwaukee a newspaper and a printing office which would reflect credit upon been ill with pneumonia since March 10.

"My physician put me on all sorts of diet, and I tried many kinds of cereal foods, but none of them agreed with me. I was almost discouraged."

Mr. Cramer came to Milwaukee in May, 1847, at the request of a number of prominent Democrats who thought their party needed able journalistic support. He always had a kind word and a helping hand for the poor and dependent, but the rich he uniformly left to take care of themselves. Careful and prudent in small things, when occasion came to meet his approval he was more than generous —he was prodigal. He was of a religious cast of mind, an unquestioning believer in the evangelical religion of his mother, and a daily reader of the gosmother, and a daily reader of the gospels. He never discussed the abstractions of later science. The good old way was good enough for him, but he was tolerant of the opinions of others. His mental characteristics were of a high order. LUMBER FIRMS AFFECTED SUICIDE FOLLOWS

All but Two in Chicago Forced to Suspend Business.

LOCKOUT IS DECLARED.

Express Companies Will Make No Concession and Strike Goes

Chicago, Ill., May 24.—The strike is general in the lumber districts today, the teamsters of all except two firms having quit work because their employers insist ed upon deliveries to boycotted houses. The planing mills ran short of lumber and some of them closed up. The sash and door mills will be the next to be affected. Owing to the interference with building operations, quite a number of ness, today as if building operations will be seriously interfered with.

his own statement, is about at the limit with police protection. All the men available, including the extras, are now on strike duty.

President Shea of the teamsters' union expects to go to jail, owing to his refusal to answer the questions before the mas-ter in chancery having in hand the injunction proceedings. The executive board of the international union has appointed a man to take Shea's place in the event of his committal to jail.

The managers of the railway express companies still adhere to their determination to take back no striking team-sters, and the lumber firms announced that their discharged men will not be taken back.

Chicago, Ill., May 24.—As a storm center of strikes, the lumber district of Chicago, stretching over miles of territory bordering a wilderness of river slips and railroad tracks, seemed likely today to outdo all previous records there for desperate struggles between employers Strike Becomes Lockout.

The lumber dealers today aggressively transformed threatened strikes into virtual lockouts. A dozen lumber compa-nies were quickly added to those pre-viously involved in the ramifications of the teamsters' strike. In each case, or ders to deliver material to strike-bound firms brought firm refusal from drivers. Discharge of the driver followed instant-

Discharge of the driver followed instantly with quick retaliation ensuing in a strike of his fellow teamsters.

All but Two Closed.

Extension of the strike in the lumber district was much more rapid today than yesterday. It was a sweeping wholesale affair, that sent workmen home in hundreds and closed up lumberyards by the dozen. So complete and thorough was the lockout that in a short time every lumber company in Chicago except two were reported as having practically suspended exercitions of products of people from all parts of the United States who have played away the hot days of summers for forty years in the cool shades of Waukesha county. He was an authority and an expert, in his own way, on fishing, hunting, driving, and the weather.

"I hope it will cloud up and rain a little, so the fish will bite," folks would say as they started out on a fishing trip with Dan Warner—and Dan would look wise, give the skies a critical, sweeping look of omniscience, and say: "Pears to me it can't help but cloud up and rain today. See that cloud over there?"

Defies Federal Court.

International President Shea of the teamsters' union announced his intention today to defy Federal Judge Kohlsaat and Master in Chancery Sherman by persisting in refusing to answer questions at the resumption of the hearing of al-leged violations of the strike injunctions. President Shea based his determination upon the fact that to answer might tend to incriminate him. The strike leader declared that he would suffer himself to be sent to jail for contempt rather than answer the questions.

Not Afraid of Troops.

Relative to the prosective calling out of state troops Mr. Shea said:
"Let them call the troops. That will not alter the situation so far as the teamsters are concerned. The teamsters are not interfering with the operations of wagons on the streets and will not. Neither will the strike be spread to any great extent. We are using our best efforts to keep it within its present limits." In announcing his refusal to be questioned by the master in chancery, Mr. tioned by the master in chancery, Mr. Shea said: "I think they intend to send me to jail. Anyway, I am not going to answer the questions before the master. I will do my own thinking. The law gives me that right. I honestly believe the questions would tend to incriminate me. I might as well go to jail for contempt as for conspiracy. I can run the strike from the jail."

Two United States Marshals Leave for badly swollen. One doctor told me it would finally turn to Bright's Disease.

Would Harm Business.

Continuing, Mr. Shea said: "The soldiers will not affect the strike in any way. Our men keep the peace. It would seem to me that the business men of Chicago would not want the soldiers here. With a lot of young men unaccustomed to scenes of excitement, armed with deadly weapons, life will be in danger. At any rate, thousands of people intending to come to Chicago to buy goods will be frightened away and the effect will be serious to many businessmen. But personally I have nothing to say against the soldiers coming here." Planing Mills Close.

LONG COURTSHIP. GRIP'S UGLY SEQUEL

KNEES STIFF, HANDS HELPLESS, RHEUMATISM NEAR HEART.

Mrs. Van Scoy Experiences Dangerous After-Effects from Grip and Learns Value of a Blood Remedy.

The grip leaves behind it weakened vital powers, thin blood, impaired digestion and over-sensitive nerves-a condition that makes the system an easy prey to pneumonia, bronchitis, rheumatism, nervous prostration, and even consumption.

The story told by scores of victims of the grip is substantially the same. One was tortured by terrible pains at the base of the skull; another was left tired, faint and in every way wretched from anæmia or scantiness of blood; another had horrible headaches, was nervous and couldn't sleep; another was left with weak lungs, difficulty in breathing and acute neuralgia. In every case relief was sought in vain until the great bloodbuilder and nerve-tonic, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, was used. For quickness and thoroughness of action nothing is known that will approach it.

Mrs. Van Scoy makes a statement that supports this claim. She says: "I had a severe attack of grip and, before I had fully recovered, rheumatism set in and tormented me for three months. I was in a badly run-down state. Soon after it began I was so lame for a week that I could hardly walk. It kept growing steadily worse and at last I had to give up completely and for three weeks I was obliged to keep my bed. My knees were so stiff I couldn't bend them, and my hands were perfectly helpless. Then the pains began to threaten my heart and thoroughly alarmed me.

"While I was suffering in this way I chanced to run across a little book that told about the merits of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The statements in it impressed me and led me to buy a box. These pills proved the very thing I needed. Improvement set in as soon as I began to take them, and it was very marked by the time I had finished the first box. Four boxes made me a well woman."

Mrs. Laura M. Van Scoy lives at No. 20 Thorpe street, Danbury, Conn. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are equally well adapted for any other of the diseases that follow in the train of grip. They are sold by all druggists.

It was expected that the two remaining companies would be similarly involved before night.

He declared that further conferences were useless and defended the action of the express companies as "entirely within their right."

FROM WEST HAM TO CANADA.

Emigration Called in to Relieve London of Its Suffering Poor.

Last night saw the departure of the London to Canada, under the scheme organized in connection with The Telegraph shilling fund for the starving poor of West Ham. It was the lawring poor fourth batch of families sent from East of West Ham. It was the largest party of emigrants that has sailed so far, numbering as it did no fewer than forty-nine families-230 in al. It may be noted that of the 220 families emigrating from West Ham, twenty-five have already landed in the Dominion, and thus early encouraging reports have come to hand of the success of the project in the direction of securing employment for those who have been able to take advantage of it Practically, upon landing, the bread-winners of six out of the thirteen fami-lies which left this country on January 23 were placed in situations, while for the remainder temporary work was found, pending the provision of permanent berths. Apart from other reasons, the confidence felt by them as to their future in the new country enabled the emigrants whose departure took place last night to set out on their long journey with light hearts and cheerful faces.

As a matter of fact, thanks to the system adopted, the families going out in the present instance under the care of the Self-Help Emigration society—by whose agents in Canada they will be whose agents in Canada they will be looked after on their arrival there—are assured of work as soon as their voyage is ended. There is conclusive evidence to show that in the country districts Ontario now wants labor badly, owing largely to the fact that the younger people where the protection of the country districts of the fact that the younger people where the protection of the country districts of the country dist ple have been tempted in great numbers to the far west, where better wages obtain—and, proportionately, it should not be forgotten, a higher cost of living also.

Chewing Sunflower Seeds.

Britons chew tobacco, Americans chew gum and Russians chew the seeds of the gum and Russians chew the seeds of the sunflowers. Every man, woman and child of the lower and middle classes chews them, and the expectorated husks little streets, railway carriages, restaurants and often private rooms. The Czarina apparently could think of nothing that would be more welcome to the soldiers in Manchuria, and she is said to have spent over $150,000 in satisfying their craving for sunflower seeds. As the seeds are very cheap, that sum As the seeds are very cheap, that sum | sea sounding boat Albatross.

Marcou, a French bateriologist, points out that the expectoriation involved is highly dangerous to public health. Not only tubercle bacilli, but the micro-organisms of diphtheria, pneumonia and other diseases are freely distributed in this way.—London Globe.

PHOTOGRAPHS WITHOUT LENSES.

With a Little Care Excellent Pictures Can Be Made with Pinhole Cameras.

The taking of a photograph, and a good one, too, with a camera without a lens, may seem to many utterly impossi ble. Nevertheless it is done, and this innovation in photography has become an interesting feature with many lovers of the photographic art.

A piece of tinfoil, through which was pierced a fine needle hole, to serve the purpose of a lens in admitting light to the sensitive plate, was secured to the front piece of a camera, in place of a lens, and the exposure made in the regu-lar manner. Pictures thus made are now popularly known as pinhole photographs. The pictures, however, we wholly satisfactory, owing to the difficulty of getting a perfectly round and smooth hole through this soft, flexible metal, for in this lay the main principle metal, for in this lay the main principle of success. But this has led to the bringing out of a new invention called the "radioscope," which consists of a very thin piece of hammered brass plate, through which is bored an accurately round and smooth hole, and so mounted that it can be quickly adjusted to any camera, or any light tight box that fancy may dietate may dictate.

There is a lack of that extreme sharp ness produced by a regular photographic lens; but, as has been wisely said, this is more than compensated for by a softness of tone equaled only by the brush of an artist.

The interest manifested in this new objective is due to the fact that it is of universal focus-the rays focusing in the stop; the perspective is true, no part of the picture being out of focus, while interior and architectural photographs are rectilinear—that is, without distortion of any kind-for the rays of light fall di-rectly upon the plate without interfer-ence of any kind.

Nor is the work of the pinhole objective confined to any one subject, for with it most pleasing portraits can be made. And it is said that work requiring the sharpest definition, such as copies, reproduction of documents, etc. an be often better done by the pinhole bjective than it can with a fine lens The reason is obvious. A lens focuses often sharper than the eye, giving a start, unnatural effect to the resulting

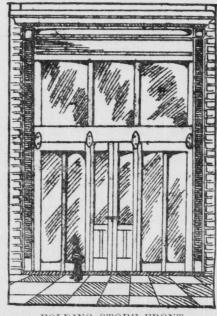

Another singular feature in connection with the pinhole objective is that any size camera may be used. For instance, it will take a picture upon a plate thre inches long or twenty inches long. There fore it will be seen that all one has t do is to arrange his camera for a small or large plate, and with the latter in teresting panoramic views could be se-cured. There is no doubt that a very cheap and satisfactory folding camera, in which to use any of the present series of roll films, could be made for special panoramic work.

Of course, it should be understood that, owing to the small amount of light admitted through a pinhole objective, the time of exposure will naturally be longer than with a lens; and while it is possib to overexpose there is less liability than with a lens.—Scientific American.

REVISED THE TARIFF.

What Moody's Drawback Decision Practically Amounts To.

While there are those who attempt to comment lightly on Attorney General Moody's drawback decision, the consensus of opinion seems to be that he has by interpretation practically reically the decision is that the provision of the Dingley tariff law permitting drawbacks on imports afterward converted into manufactures for export applies to imported wheat made into

Naturally it is concluded that if the clause applies to imported wheat made into flour for export it must apply to imported hides and wool used for manufactures to be exported and similarly to all raw material thus employed. The legal proposition set forth by the attorney general is that the section of the Dingley act which provides for drawbacks and declares that the imported material "shall so appear in the completed articles that the quantity or measure thereof may be ascertained" may be so construed that the term "appear" shall mean "that knowledge which comes to the mind as a result of evidence as well as knowledge derived from the exercise of the senses."

This is freedom of construction with a vengeance; but, however vigorously Mr. Moody's right to so read the act may be combated, it is improbable that congress will so amend the act as to make his interpretation impossible. Meanwhile he has given the tariff revisionists what they want without troubling the lawmaking body. So the New York Tribune observes, and so the facts are, to all appearances. In one sense Mr. Moody's act is not objectionable. It is his duty to aid in a huge fireplace, a table and a few enforcing the acts of congress and, in chairs.-Pilgrim. enforcing, to interpret them. But in another sense he establishes a bad precedent. St. Petersburg, May 24.—The Associated Press has been asked to deny the report telegraphed from Tokio to the London Daily Telegraph, to the effect that the Japanese have cut the railroad to Vladivostok and isolated that fortress.

Gunshu Pass, Manchuria, May 24 .-The situation is very tense. The rival commanders are watching each other like hawks, but there has been no decisive move yet on the part of Field Marshal Oyama. Lieut. Gen. Rennenkampff made a bold reconnoissance at the cost of several hundred casualties, but the correspondent of the Associated Press is not allowed to telegraph the results obtained. It is possible that it was Rennenkampff's cavalry which penetrated southwest of Fakoman.

St. Petersburg, May 23.-The Associated Press was informed at the admiralty today that no direct advices have been received from Vice Admiral Rojestvensky for ten days, when, it is believed, he set out on his long voyage. The report of Rojestvensky's death was ridiculed at the admiralty.

Fortunately the best relations prevail between Rojestvensky and Biri-leff and the latter would be glad to give way to his victorious colleague.

Linevitch Is Ready.

The news from the front continues to point to the imminence of a renewal of fighting on a large scale. Gen. Linevitch is pressing the Japanese center both on the line of the railroad and on the Mandarin road, but whether he is simply feeling out Field Marshal Oyama's strength or has assumed the defensive is not yet clear. There is no doubt, however, that Linevitch has made complete preparation for a big battle. All the Russian sick or wounded who were at Harbin and places south of here have been transported westward to Irkutsk and orders have been given to clear the intervening hospitals. The sanitary trains have also been ordered to the Wild Disorder Over Preferential Tariff Compels British House to Adjourn.

London, May 23.-The House of Commons last night became a mob. After two hours of the wildest disorder, in which no member of the cabinet was ity and energy drove the cavalry in dispermitted to speak, the speaker took unprecedented course of adjourning house. Premier Balfour will face vote of censure on the direct charge that he has violated his pledge as prime minister. Not in a hundred years has the House of Commons witnessed so extraordinary a spectacle.

Begins Over Tariff Scheme.

The crisis was precipitated by a discussion over Chamberlain's preferential tariff scheme. In his recent Edinburgh speech Premier Balfour gave an implied pledge that he would not deal with the subject without first appealing to the country. Last night Premier Balfour, replying to a question, said that he did not consider himself pledged to inaction in regard to colonial preference except so far as parliamentary action was conand the matter might be submitted to a colonial conference in 1906, even though the country had not previously had an opportunity of expressing reply.

This began the tumult. Secretary Lyttelton sat down and waited for the noise to subside, while Premier Balfour folded his arms and sat smiling benignly.

Then Bedlam Breaks Loose. Then, for no apparent reason, the house abandoned itself to pandemonium. Winston Churchill tried to speak, but the Irish members drowned his with shouts for the police. Secretary Lyttleton tried two or three times to continue his reply, but the disturbers would not hear him.

After three futile attempts Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman managed to make himself heard, saying:

"This is a question on which nobody can reply but the premier himself."

He spoke on, but the remainder of what he said was inaudible. When he sat down Premier Baltour arose, wherepon comparative quiet fell on the house. the members expecting an answer to Sir Henry's attack, but the premier's object was merely to appeal to Deputy Speaker Lowther to ascertain whether he could reply. Deputy Speaker Lowther decided that he could reply. His men looked at him in amazement, and stood still. Then a dozen of the bravest climbed the fence and ran after him, and they were followed by the rest of the company. The rebs thought at first the disorderly charge was a great joke, but the young captain rose to the occasion and by audac-

One day he came at the head of his quick stepping company upon a train stuck in the mud. General Nelson was swearing and drivers and mules were nervous. The captain ordered his men to stack arms, and said: 'We are going to get them out. Ten men to a wagon, and out they go.' He put his own shoulder to a wheel, directing his men as he did so. In Memory of Sultana Horror. On or about 3 o'clock on the morn-

The estimated loss of life was 1,500 or more, the greater number of these being paroled prisoners of war. This incident is one of those things that happened during the war that has not been recognized and placed in its proper sphere. For some unknown reason it has been generally overlooked and forgotten by the government at Washington, as well as the soldiers of the war, with the exception of those who are the survivors of that terrible catastrophe, in whose memories it will remain forever.

The larger portion of those who were lost had not only served their country well in battle, but did service in the capacity of a prisoner - the United States government refused to exchange prisoners with the Confederate authoritles for the simple reason that in exchanging a Union soldier for one of the Confederate soldiers (they being on the defense) a man would be of greater value to them than one man would be to the Union force, therefore, the low, overconscientious as to his own government saw fit not to make any The campaign of prayer by the preachers here against the gas lease was carried into Mayor Weaver's office yesterday. About 100 ministers knelt about was laughed at to his own misery, and crease the forces of the Confederate exchanges, but to allow the prisoners army. The prisoners understanding the situation, suffered in that capacity untold horrors without a murmur or complaint, but stood loyal to the country and its cause. In fact, the Confederate government made that as an argument to the prisoners through their officers, if they would enlist in their ranks and take the oath of allegiance to their government, they would be placed in their ranks and treated as their own soldiers. To the credit of those men who were on the eve of starvation, death staring them in the face (with a few exceptions), refused and spurned the offer.

Such were some of those who were lost in that disaster. It was when their hopes were at the highest, that in a few days they would meet their friends and loved ones, this calamity came and they were called into eternity-all through the carelessness of the officers at Vicksburg in placing three times the number of people on the boat that the boat could safely carry.

Railroads and Progress In his testimony before the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce at Washington on May 4th, Prof. Hugo R. Meyer of Chicago University, an expert on railroad management, made this statement:

"Let us look at what might have happened if we had heeded the protests of the farmers of New York and Ohio and Pennsylvania (in the seventies when grain from the west began pouring to the Atlantic seaboard) and acted upon the doctrine which the Interstate Commerce Commission has enunciated time and again, that no man may be deprived of the advantages accruing to him by virtue of his geographical position. We could not have west of the Mississippi a population of millions of people who are prosperous and are great consumers. We never should have seen the years when we built 10,000 and 12,000 mlles of railway, for there would have been no farmers west of the Mississippi River who could have used the land that would have been opened up by the building of those railways. And if we had not seen the years when we could build 10,000 and 12,000 miles of railway a year, we should not have to-day east of the Mississippi a steel and iron producing center which is at once the marvel and the despair of Europe, because we could not have built up a steel and iron industry if there had been no market for its product.

"We could not have in New England a great boot and shoe industry; we could not have in New England a great cotton milling industry; we could not have spread throughout New York and Pennsylvania and Ohio manufacturing industries of the most diversified kinds, because those industries would have no market among the farmers west of the Mississippi River.

"And while the progress of this country, while the development of the agricultural west of this country, did mean the impairment of the agricultural value east of the Mississippi River that ran up into hundreds of millions of dollars, it meant incidentally the building up of great manufacturing industries that added to the value of this land by thousands of millions of were not foreseen in the seventies. The latest claimants for honors in this particular field are two ingenious sarparel and household appliances, and torial artists from the backwoods of most of them do so. An example is Minnesota. The particular function the cake-making machine shown here, which their device is designed to fill is the prevention of the trouser leg from resting against the rear portion of the shoe, and presumably thereby wearing more rapidly than the rest of the garment. Specifically, they obtain this unique effect by means of a spring tackle attached at one end to the upper rear portion of the shoe, and at the other to the lower rear portion of the trouser leg. It is even made adjustable, so as to accommodate itself to all styles of footwear and the varythe invention of a woman of Columing fashions in trouser cuts.

FEDERAL AGENCY FACES CHARGES OF BIG FRAUD.

Pueblo Man Accuses Treasurer of Milwaukee Concern in Denver-Declares Concern Is Insolvent.

Denver, Colo., May 24.-[Special.]-In a petition asking for a receiver for the Federal Agency company of Milwaukee, presented in district court, charges of misappropriating of funds of the company by officers are made. The suit was filed by R. G. Belcher of Pueblo, demanding the return of $1000 which he claims the company secured by fraud.

Belcher claims that Burton O. Smith, treasurer of the Federal Agency company, induced him to subscribe to $1000 worth of the capital stock by represent-ing that his company had secured the exclusive right to handle the premiums for the Federal Life Insurance company of Chicago. Belcher alleges that the Fed-eral Agency company is insolvent, that its capital stock is of no value, and the insurance company does no business in Colorado.

questions between the nations in which, by reason of that guardianship which we maintain over this hemisphere under the Monroe doctrine, we have always claimed a right to be heard. Assuring the world and the state of San Domingo that the United States has no selfish purpose of aggrandizement in intervening, the President concluded a treaty by which, if ratified. San Domingo will go into the hands of the United States as a receiver. The treaty was not confirmed at the last session of the Senate because there were not enough Republicans present to do so. At the next session of the Senate it will be confirmed. The Monroe doctrine is difficult to maintain at aly events, and if we assert it as we do, we should accept the obligations that follow the assertion of the right.

Big Stick and Soft Words

Big Stick and Soft Words.

People are prone to say that a large navy induces bravado, pugnacity and a reckless-ness of peace. In one of the South Ameri-can republics we are at present engaged in attempting to rescue the property of in attempting to rescue the property of American citizens from what is said to be an unjust confiscation by the sovereign under color of judicial sanction. We have asked for arbitration and it has been refused, and we are waiting now only until Congress meets before submitting the facts to it for its consideration. Meantime we are exercising toward this republic all the forbearance that is due to a weaker nation. And so it is with the general policy of Theodore Roosevelt, that while he insists upon carrying a "big stick" he does, in fact, speak softly and exercise a degree of forbearance that the confidence of strength and a righteous purposes justifies.

To Cut Philippine Tariff.

To Cut Philippine Tariff. At present the tariff against the Philippines is 75 per cent. of the present Dingley rates and under this practically no imports reach the United States from the Philippine islands. We shall hold the Philippines, certainly for a generation, probably for several generations, in our effort to lead the people on to education and prosperity and a knowledge of self-government, and during that time we must take those islands to our bosom, so to speak. The high tariff wall must go to do this.

WATTERSON'S REPLY.

Our friend, Col. Watterson, with the pen of vitriol, is a bitter partisan and a Jefferson Democrat who disagrees with many of his fellows; but when he is abroad he is for the United States, America and the old flag every time. He was in Paris last week and made a speech at the banquet given to Gen. Porter. He took up the achievements of John Paul Jones and in his closing words hurried back the taunt of the British press that Jones was a pirate, arousing great enthusiasm.

"It was the hands of Paul Jones," I would like to obtain ten or twelve said Mr. Watterson, "which first loosenhorses to pasture on my west lot, about ed the flag which we adore and which fifty acres of good timothy and clover. carried the flag defiant and triumphant Apply at my farm, south of the Fuhri- into English water, into the Irish Sea, 10 and into the North Sea, yea, into St. Ed.
