OUR NEW MINISTER.

For good, clean, clever comedy there has been no play presented here in years that can excel Denman Thompson and Geo. W. Ryer's "Our New Minister," which will be seen for the first time at the Gladstone Theatre Monday, September 4, coming direct from its seven month record breaking New York run.

There is a blending of quaint comedy and Yankee wit in "Our New Minister" that always makes a drama depicting life New England so taking with a large class of theatre goers. This characteristic, combined with the excellent manner in which the play is acted, insures its popularity as "Our New Minister" becomes better known. The characters are well drawn and their talk and action are realistically representative of the limited horizon of life that has existence in such a community as Hardscrabble.

The original New York all star cast will be seen, including John Terriss, Jo seph Convers, John Barker, M. H. Harriman, John F. Webber, Calvin Dix, J. H. Lawrence, Fred Clarke, W. C. Tamer Gertrude Perry, Alice Washburn, and Phila May.

CHOICE MISCELLANY

Origin of a Popular Sentence. The Cleveland Plain Dealer, after trying for some time to answer inquirers regarding the occasion of Abraham Lincoln's use of the words, "You can tool all the people some of the time and some of the people all the time, but not all the people all the time," gives it up. Colonel Hay was appealed to, but that biographer of President Lincoln had to acknowledge he never encountered the sentence when making minute investigation of Lincoln's speeches, papers, letters and recorded sayings. An Ohio congressman who had been asked the question referred the inquirer to the library of congress, where if anywhere the information could be obtained. The Washington Post reports the result. Assistant Librarian Spofford made a written reply, in which he says the sentence does not occur in any of Lincoln's writings, adding that Mr. Nicolay, Lincoln's secretary and associate of Colonel John Hay, In writing the elaborate biography of Lincoln, told Spofford the alleged Lincoln saying was spurious. Librarian Spofford says the real author of the popular sentence was Phineas T. Barnum, the famous showman, who "fooled the people" more successfully than

A few years ago such a thing as a thrashing machine was unknown in Canada, and even a fanning mill was considered a luxury. Those were the days of flails, reaping hooks, homemade pitchforks, three cornered harrows and plows with wooden moldboards. Thrashing machines have now been brought to great perfection, and many of the most modern of them are in use

Argentina has the greatest number of sheep of any country, but derives relatively the least benefit from them. This is due in part to the quality not having yet been sufficiently refined, in part to negligence in the care of the sheep and, lastly, to the prevalence of scab, the curing of which has not been made obligatory. In Australia curing this disease was made compulsory thirty years ago.

mons had ample reason to dodge a full test vote and to remain quiet while the other side did all the talking and voting.

The resolution adopted by a vote of 254 to 2 denied the expediency of accepting even in its least objectionable form Mr. Chamberlain's proposal to lay a basis for granting a preference to colonial products from foreign countries. It made no allusion to the project originally advocated by the member from West Birmingham of taxing foreign food staples, but confined itself to setting forth that in the opinion of the house even the imposition of a general duty on all manufactured goods imported from abroad, though such duty should not exceed 10 per cent on an average and should vary according to the amount of labor expended on such goods, would be injurious to the commercial interests of the United Kingdom.

This is an astonishing conclusion in view of the known facts relating to British industry. The report of the Chamberlain tariff commission shows. if anything could show it to the mind of a British free trader, the heavy losses suffered by the iron and steel trades through the competition of protected countries like the United States and Germany-competition not only in the neutral markets of the world, but in the British home market itself.

Thirty years ago Great Britain's share of the world's production of pig iron was 45 per cent against 141/4 per cent for Germany and 15 per cent for the United States. Today Great Britain's percentage of pig iron production has shrunk from 45 to less than 19 per cent, while Germany has increased to 20 per cent and the United States to 39 per cent. In 1903 the United States produced 17,230,000 tons, while the United Kingdom produced less than one-half of that amount, or 8,447,000 tons.

Thirty years ago the United Kingdom led the world in steel production; today she is third on the list, having been passed by both Germany and the United States. In 1902 the United States produced 14,120,000 tons of steel against 6,970,000 tons produced by Germany and 4,875,000 tons produced by the United Kingdom. We lead Great Britain at the rate of three to one in steel production. British production shows a falling off from previous years, while German and American production are steadily increasing. British makers of iron and steel are undersold in their own market for lack of a protective tariff, and they are shut out of neutral markets by reason of the competition of protected rivals. Yet in the face of the facts and conditions made known through the report of the British tariff commission the protectionists in parliament feel compelled to sit quiet while the free trad- a jug handled affair. that are a tax and nothing else. Almost half our tariff revenue is today of this class, and almost half the imports are absolutely free. Personally we do not believe in very much of a free list. Pretty much all imports should, in our

ALL ARE SERVED.

Protection Spreads Its Benefits Over All Industry.

Through an agreement reached between the Master Builders' association and the bricklayers' unions of New York city the wages of bricklayers are to be 70 cents an hour and double pay for overtime. This means $5.60 per day of eight hours and $11.20 for a day of twelve hours.

It would not be possible to pay such wages unless times were prosperous enough to warrant them-times like the present under the Dingley law. These bricklayers are therefore as much the beneficiaries of protection as the well paid workmen of the factories and mills whose product is protected from the cheap foreign made wares. The fact is often forgotten that protection spreads its benefits over all-the farmer, the peddler, the weaver, the carpenter, the bricklayer, the railroad hand, the clerk and the teacher. There is no nonprotected industry; there are no nonprotected workmen. We are all interdependent and all benefited by a protective tariff.

This Country Must Not Fall Behind. Russia Takes.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 29.-Peace between Russia and Japan was practically concluded at this morning's session of the peace conference. In the final struggle the Russians achieved the victory.

For the sake of peace the Japanese, with a magnanimity worthy of their heroic achievements in this war, met the ultimatum of the Czar and abandoned their demands, not only for reimbursement for the cost of the war, but for the repurchase of the northern half of Sakhalin, Russia at the same time agreeing to division of the island.

Withdraw Demands.

The Japanese also withdrew articles 10 and 11 of the peace conditions origder of the interned warships and limitation of the Russian naval power in the for east). For about five minutes the two plenipotentiaries were kept on the porch listening to the incoherent praises of the hotel guests. "Do you pay indemnity?" was the Witte's response. The two plenipotentaries have respec tively proposed to their Emperors the conclusion of an immediate armistice The details of the armistice will be discussed at this afternoon's meeting and immediately after the question of the release of the Russian prisoners.

Agreement in a Nutshell.

Forcing his way to the door, Mr. Witte encountered the members of the Russian mission who rushed forward to shake his hard. Briefly in Russian he gave them the joyful tidings. Then, as he started up the stairs, the newspaper correspondents clamored for information. "What have you done? How is it

What Russia Wanted.

"Russia on the other hand naturally aimed at proving that she had intended all along to restore what was not her own, but had resented the attempt on the part of Japan to humiliate her by compelling her to do so.

"Secondly, she declined to allow the wording of the treaty clauses to convey the impression that Japan was dictating to her while she was obeying. Hence the Russian envoys insisted that their Japanese colleagues should expressly adopt identical self-denying ordinances, which according to the original clauses of the draft of the treaty Russia, and only Russia, was to sign. "Lastly, whenever in dealing with any clause Russia made up her mind not to dispute the substance of the demand preferred she still insisted on the proposal being so worded that she should not appear to sign away rights other than own or connive at a future policy of ab-sorption which she was unable to endorse.'

Malignant Type of Pestilence-

LY ANNOUNCES THAT DISEASE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 .- The surgeon general of the army today received a telegram from Barrancas, stating that the mayor of Pensacola, Fla., has offlcially announced that yellow fever has broken out in Pensacola.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 30 .- Forty cases of yellow fever were unearthed among the foreign population today near the mouth of Harvey's canal in Jefferson parish. The persons suffering are: principally Spanish and Portuguese, but there are also Italians and Chinamen among the victims.

The first case is traceable to the French market in this city. Efforts were-made to keep the facts concealed, fear-ing that the patients would be placed in isolation hospitals. The state board of health has sent a relief expedition into the settlement. The disease is scattered in six or eight different localities where there are no medical facilities. Several deaths have already occurred from exposure.

There was no change in the yellow fever situation today, the day starting with the usual number of new cases and deaths. Natchez, Miss., Aug. 30.—Dr. Was-din, an expert of the marine hospital' service, arrived here yesterday and pro-nounced seven of the suspicious cases discovered Monday to be yellow fever of a virulent form. There are also four suspicious cases. The city is quaran-tined with shotguns by the contiguous country and traffic is suspended. Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 30.—Alabama has placed a quarantine against Pensacola. Fla.

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 30.—Secretary Hunter of the state board of health re-ceived today a report from Dr. Haralson and other local physicians of Vicksburg-that there were two cases of yellow fever in that city, the same having been under observation since 9 o'clock last night. Secretary Hunter has not re-ceived the history of the cases yet.

BOYCOTT ON DECLINE.

Chinese Movement Against American Goods Is Fast Losing Strength.

Pekin, Aug. 30 .- The American boycott almost overshadows the peace negotiations as a topic of interest in China. Accounts reaching Pekin from trading centers indicate that the movement attained its greatest strength early in August, and since then has been decreasing. Nowhere except in Shanghai has American business received a serious blow. The boycott would have been equally successfull at Tientsin, which is a tributing market for American goods second only to Shanghai, except for the de-termined repression of Yuan Shikai, who almost the only Chinese viceroy really ruling his own province. The Pekin government, in response to Minister Rockhill's representations, is-sued instructions to provincial officials which read well, but which the officials construe with the belief that the government sympathizes with the sentiment. against American goods, although obliged formally to oppose the method of its expression. Many important merchants who emsident barked in the boycott now repent of the Your scheme, but it has passed beyond their control into the hands of agitators, the majority of whom are students, many from America, who relate lurid stories of outrages received at the hands of American immigration officials. The agitators have abandoned the original demand that Chinese students and merchants be admitted to America, and now demand the unrestricted entry of all Chinese. The best informed foreigners believe that the boycott has passed its climax and will gradually subside. The end of the Russo-Japanese war, by opening Manchuria, will give a great impetus to American trade. That country practical-ly has been closed to imports, largely because the armies monopolized all means of transportation.

SENSATION AT LA CROSSE.

Statement Leads to Arrest of Turnkey on Charge of Aiding Federal Prisoners.

La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 28.-[Special.] -Love, an elopement, an irate son, looking for revenge upon the man who had ruined his mother and his father's family-these, it now develops, are the causes that led to the arrest of Turnkey Merch Childers of the La Crosse county jail late Saturday night, charged with voluntarily permitting the escape of Andrew Cunningham and Homer E. Trainor from the jail on August 1 and August 5, respectively. The St. Paul Sing. son's information given the secret service through Postoffice Inspector Frazier led to the clues leading up to the arrest. Childers occupies the cell formerly assigned to Trainor.

Were Federal Prisoners.

It was about six weeks ago that Cunningham, Trainor and James C. Crane were arrested at Winona, Minn., charged with holding up a man on a Burlington train and robbing him of $90. The trio corridor and dropping from the third-story window by means of an impro-vised rope made of his bedquilts. It was supposed at that time that saws were sent to him by a mysterious wom-an who had passed bananas in to him by permission of Turnkey Childers.

Used Heavy Tools.

On the night of August 15 Trainor escaped by digging up huge rocks in the his cell, an operation that corner must have taken heavy tools, and passmust have taken heavy tools, and pass-ing down between the parts of the dou-ble floor he made his way to the engine room and out into the world, a free man. The peculiar thing about both escapes was that although heavy tools must have been used in both instances, no trace of them was left behind no trace of them was left behind.

When the second escape was made, Inspector Frazier set upon an investiga-tion. And here the plot involving the elopment came in. He received word lately. from St. Paul that a son of a mysterious woman, who had visited the jail here, had something of interest to say to him. He went there and was told that the woman had told her son on July 27 that she had "arranged" for the release of Cunningham and Trainor by the payment of $400. This statement was made woman on July 27. The son by the woman on July 21. The solution noticed that Cunningham escaped a few days later and then Trainor got away and deciding that his mother had told the truth he informed the department, because, as he put it, he "would like to see Trainor hanged." He did not wish, breaking. however, to have his mother prosecuted.

Inspector Frazier has within the past

Inspector Frazier has within the past few days received news of the burglar-izing of postoffices at Withee, Boyd, Humberg, Warren, Jim Falls, Bangor, Augusta, Hersey and a couple of other places, indicating that the gang of which this trio are supposed to be members, with headquarters in Chicago, are very active throughout the state. Brussels, Aug. 29 .- The interparliamentary congress today resumed the discussion of the American proposition for the establishment of a permanent international parliament. "No international parliament," the count said, "has any chance of acceptance by European na-tions if it interferes with the principle of their sovereignty and independence. The American idea of an international parliament to precisely define interna-tional law is a grand and bold move-ment characteristic of American initia-tive, but American boldness must be combined with European caution. The pygmy race was known to the ancients. Aristotle, Herodotus and Homer wrote of the dwarfs, and probably many of the legends of gnomes and fairy folk grew out of the misty knowledge of these small tribes. "A kinde of little people which are no bigger than Boyes of twelve yeares olde, but verie thicke, and live only upon with Bowes and Dartes," wrote a seventeenth century author.

The pygmies have little or no idea of a Supreme Being. One tribe has been found who in times of danger prayed to "Yer." One traveler records such a supplication.

"Yer, if thou dost really exist, why dost thou let us be slain? We ask thee gists and physiologists who have sufficently studied the subject agree that copper, in the amount used for purification of water, is harmless. A TALE OF TWO SCOUTS. Narrow Escape from a Rattler and a Band of Indians.

In Cyrus Townsend Brady's "Indian Fights and Fighters" is a tale of two scouts Trudeau and Stillwill, who earried to General Carpenter through an Indian infested country the news that Major Forsyth was being besieged in the sands of Beecher's island by a thousand warriors. Here is one incident of their journey:

"During this day a large party of scouting Indians halted within 100 feet of the wallow where the scouts were hiding. Simultaneously with their arrival a wandering rattlesnake made its appearance in front of the two scouts, who were hugging the earth and expecting every minute to be discovered. "In his way the rattlesnake was as deadly as the Indian. The scouts could have killed him easily had it not been for the proximity of the Cheyennes. To make the slightest movement would call attention to their hiding place. Indeed, the sinister rattle of the venomous snake before he struck would probably attract the notice of the alert Indians. Between the savage reptile and the savage men the scouts were in a frightful predicament, which young Stillwell, a lad of. amazing resources, instantly and effectually solved.

"He was chewing tobacco at the time, and as the snake drew near him and made ready to strike Stillwell completely routed him by spitting tobacco juice in his mouth and eyes and all over his head. The rattlesnake fled. He could not stand such a dose. The Indians presently moved on, having noticed nothing, and so ended perhaps the most terrible half hour the two men had ever experienced."

CLEAN UP.

Gladstone is, in the summer, a pretty town; so the summer visitors tell us. The principal blot on the landscape is the rubbish that is allowed to accumulate, both on private premises and in the public streets. Waste paper, boxes, barrels and miscellaneous refuse is allowed to lie where it first falls, to the manifest detriment of the good people of the city. A very small effort would clear away this eyesore and prevent its the approaches to this crossing, and that recurrence. The ladies are the apostles of or- N. der and beauty; their artistic instinct often adds a touch of elegance to the most unpromising neighborhood. In some towns they combine and make neatness compulsory on those who wish to have any dealings with them. They can secure the enforcement of the law against disorder. If the ladies of Gladstone but say that the city shall be externally neat, everybody must comply. The law will not make men orderly any more than it will make them moral; but if the ladies avoid the disorderly spots, the men will soon discover their aversion and hasten to put on their best garments. No lady but prefers to buy her tar roofing and blacksmith coal in a store that looks as if it had just come out of a bandbox, rather than in one surrounded by broken boxes, barrels, straw, waste-paper, ashes, glass and macula innominata. Will not the ladies give Gladstone a boost in this respect? This statement was transmitted to the Russian Emperor through the Amer-ican ambassador at St. Petersburg.

An Associated Press telegram an-nounced that the Czar's reply was "par-tially responsive." It is believed the conference which was held last evening between Messrs. commerce commission can determine that a rate is unjust or unreasonable, it is equally able to determine what rate would be just and reasonable. This does not at all follow. The interstate commerce commission may be perfectly competent to determine that a rate is unjust and unreasonable, while it is unable to say what rate is just and reasonable. The reason for this is that what makes a rate unjust or unreasonable, is its effect upon the commerce of the public, and that is susceptible of proof and relatively easy of determination. But what makes a rate just and reasonable is quite another matter, and involves, besides the negaor impair the commerce of the people, the very important and vital affirmative proposition that it shall give the carrier his full legal compensation, as well as that no rate shall be imposed upon him that will impede or impair his commercial prosperity.

The facts are that all rates are so closely inter-related to other rates that it would not be possible for the interstate commerce commission to lay its hands commerce commission to lay its hands on a single rate or set of rates without upsetting and disturbing hundreds of other rates. It is as impossible to limit the rate-making power, either of the commission or the carrier to the pre-scribed area of a single rate or set of rates, as it would be to confine the influence of a pebble thrown into the water to a less number of circles than the physical force of its displacement would produce. It would seem a much more logical so-lution of the situation to confine the commission to what it can do, rather than impose upon it something that it than impose upon it something that it cannot do. If the law empowers the commission to condemn a rate, and gives it ample machinery with which to compel the carrier to speedily and ef-fectively adjust the rate to a basis that is just and reasonable, the means will be provided for deing mathing which it provided for doing something which it is possible to do, instead of the attempt being made to do something which in its own very nature cannot be done. pressed the judgment that Russia should pay something in the nature of redemption money. It is believed that the Tokio council which is in session this morning is con-sidering this phase of the question.

President Did Nothing.

It is not true that the adjournment which was agreed to last night until Tuesday afternoon was made at the suggestion of President Roosevelt. There is reason for believing that he knew nothing whatever of it, but the adjourn ment was by mutual agreement between Messrs. Witte and Takahira.

Kept Alive by President.

The peace conference is likened to a dying man kept alive by oxygen ad-ministered by President Roosevelt. Yet no actual evidence can be obtained here that the President has made a new ap-peal to the Emperor of Japan. What may have been only a slip of the tongue from Mr. Witte was so interpreted. Speaking of the final decision of the Tokio government he remarked on the fourteen-hour difference of time between Ourteen Pay and Tokia but then between Oyster Bay and Tokio, but then hastily corrected himself and said: "New York and Tokio." Certainly the President Certainly the President has not initiated new representations at Peterhof.

Emperor Nicholas' reply to Ambassador Meyer was of such a nature as to preclude another tentative proposal in that direction at this stage. Later the way might be open but for the moment to offer new advice in the face of what from the Empepar on the subject of in-demnity might be to court a rebuff.

All Eyes on Tokio.

New representations at Tokio alone would. with would constitute a change of his atti-tude. Heretofore he has not acted as mediator, but as the head of a state friendly to both parties tendering his good offices and friendly advice impar-tially and simultaneously to both. The President took good care that this should be distinctly understood. The comprobe distinctly understood. The compro-mise he suggested to Peterhof, he sug-gested simultaneously to Tokio. It would seem probable, therefore, that the President has not attempted to influence directly the question of Japan's responses to the flat refusal of Russia to pay any thing in the shape of indemnity. All eyes turn to Tokio, where the momentous question is being, and indeed, per-haps, already has been, decided. The action of the meeting of the cabinet and elder statesmen this morning was cabinet awaited with feverish anxiety. Mr. Witte frankly expresses skepti cism of the effect of any new proposal Japan may be able to offer. He does not believe Japan will withdraw entirely her demand for reimbursement of the ber of passengers seriously hurt in a expenses of the war and to scale it down or attempt to disguise it in another form he declares would not change the situation.

Mr. Takahira is quoted as having replied in the negative when asked whether any modification of the Japanese pro-posal would touch the question of in-But such a response may only have been technical.

A Possible Solution.

A clear road out of the embroglio by which Japan could obtain a very large sum and Russia stand by her present declaration, can be discerned if Japan will offer in a new proposal to withdraw the price sine places upon the redemption burg government, but indemnity as a from its forerunner.

Dr. Kohnke said that the great damage of yellow fever to New Orleans was not so much its death rate, for it had been shown this year that it was not the deadly disease of ancient times, but to the city's commerce resulting from the panic of outside communities.

In spite of the sudden change during the night from hot to cool weather, the early fever report today showed no vari-ation from the rule of last week, the normal number of deaths and new cases being reported. There were three deaths during the night.

ADMIT WRONG DOING.

Equitable Directors Say That the Charges Against Them Are True, but Dodge Blame.

New York, Aug. 26 .- The officials of the state of New York, in their inquiry in court of the Equitable Life Assurance society, have been joined by the directors of the society, who ask for a full investigation of its directors and officers and their alleged wrong-doings in managing the moneys of the society.

The document which announced this determination was the answer of the forty-nine Equitable directors to charges made against them in connection with a suit brought against the society by the state. This answer was filed with Attorney General Julius M. Mayer. Admission is made that some officials of the Equitable have been guilty of improper and illegal acts. In all thirteen charges are answered by the directors. Among these answers they admit the $250,000 loan to the Depew Improve-ment company. They admit the $685,-000 loan of the Mercantile Trust company, but waive responsibility in this loan so far as the board of directors is concerned and indicate Messrs. POOR GIRL WINS COUNT.

Goes to Italy to Study Music and Receives Honors.

While studying in the conservatory at Milan, Francesca Bisceglia, the accom-plished and comely daughter of a Chicago garment cutter, has won the heart of the Count Edvardo Viancini of Milan, whom she soon will wed. Four years ago Miss Bisceglia went to

Italy to cultivate her voice, which Chi-cago musicians told her was of the rarest cago musicians told her was of the rarest quality. Her father was a garment cut-ter, living in a dingy room at 128 Stave street. But he had an Italian's passion for music and a father's pride for his daughter, and he willingly made the sac-rifices necessary for the trip. In May of last year the girl received one of the greatest honors it is possible for the Italian government to bestow. She was admitted to the Verdi conserva-tory at Milan, being the first American girl to be so elected. Soon after, at a reception, she met the count, who fell in love with her, and after her great triumph in "Traviata," some months later, he proposed marriage. But Miss Bisceglia asked that the be-trothal be delayed until her father could arrive. He went to Italy and gave his consent, and yesterday arrived with his daughter in Chicago. Dear Mrs. Pinkham :--

A somewhat remarkable eye disease is at present prevalent in several parts of British central Africa, northeastern Rhodesia and in Portuguese Zambesia. At first it was noticeable in cattle, sheep At first it was noticeable in cattle, sheep and goats and only recently was it found to have attacked the natives. The disease, according to the London Mail, is at present raging from Port Herald, a British station on the Zambesi, right on toward Tete, a distance of over 200 miles, and at this latter place it is re-ported to be quite an epidemic. William Arnott, a traveler who recent-ly returned from Tete, states that he ob-served hundreds who were suffering from the disease, and a large number were to-

One of the sights of Tete on a Sunday morning is the long lines of blind people who enter the town to beg, on the eyebali and this in a short space of time becomes highly inflamed. The eye then discharges a white, milky fluid and the whole of the eye becomes cov-ered with a white film. This is the criti-cal stage of the malady, and if the dis-ease is very severe the eyeball bursts, thus destroying the sight entirely. It has carried thousands of women safely through this crisis.

Holds Hands Over Boat Leak Until Aid Comes.

By holding her hands over a hole in a rowboat for more than half an hour, Miss Hattie Manley, New York city, saved herself and companion, Mrs. John Hoffman, from drowning in Hennessey lake at Circleville. Crickets Pest Omaha.

A plague of crickets has swept down on Omaha and has made life a burden to the inhabitants. The insects appeared suddenly by the millions. Falling on suddenly by the millions. Falling on the street car track and being crushed by the wheels, they so greased the rails that traffic was badly crippled. That the little pests came hungry is proved by the fact that they destroy all clothing and carpets with which they come in contact. Bushels of them have been swept from the stores. They cause much terror among the women. They almost put out the street lights. We are ready to buy wheat, and as we want to encourage wheat growing, have decided for the present to pay at the mill the price in Minneapolis for the same inspection grades. Minneapolis is always the highest-priced spring wheat market in the country.
