SOUTH AMERICAN JAGUARS The Only Animals That Will Purposely Attack Alligators. The most interesting thing about crocodiles and alligators, declares the author of "The Romance of the Animal World," is the way they get their food. This they do mostly and by preference in the water, but they have also a habit of lying in wait upon the mud of river banks until some animal approaches sufficiently near to be within their Lying sunk in the mud and of the color of mud themselves, they may well be mistaken for a log. A wild pig or some other animal fond of rooting in the mud sees the long, shapeless object, but is not disturbed by it as he roots happily among the reed beds. He looks up suddenly to find that the log has moved. One end of it, the longest, thinnest end, the tail, is gliding away in a curve; but, like an arrow loosed, it flies back and meets the body of the pig with a tremendous sidewise blow, and the poor pig falls in a heap. With a sudden swift rush the alligator is upon him, and, seizing the body 3 12 by the skin, which it holds puckered up between its front teeth, it shakes it furiously, as a terrier would a rat, and then half drags, half pushes, it before it as it crawls through the mud to the water's edge. There is only one wild animal, says the author, that will purposely attack 110 00 an alligator, and that is the jaguar of South America. The jaguar springs on the back of the alligator and with all his might tears at the roots of the reptile's tail. This possibly is with the idea of paralyzing that member, thus rendering it incapable of those mighty sweeps from side to side which are more to be feared than even the great armed jaws. The fear of both these weapons may deter the jaguar from clawing the throat of the saurian, for were he to be shaken off in the latter struggles he would be more exposed to either than if he fell farther back. Instances of the jaguar's success in destroying the alligator are given by various observers.

Dog Tried, Convicted and Hanged. William Chambers, the famous English publisher, once related an extraordinary story of a sheep thief hanged at Peebles and buried at crossroads with a stake through his body. The remarkable feature of the case was that the thief's dog was tried for aiding and abetting in the crime, convicted, hanged and buried along with its master. It was proved at the trial that the man when out with the animal used to indicate to it some particular flock of sheep he wanted. After reaching home the dog returned to the place, rounded up the sheep and by devious ways, and only after dark, drove them home. There they were kept for some days and their owners' marks destroyed or "faked." They were then graded with others legitimately purchased

A Briber Was Getting Close to This Honest Man's Price.

Several secret service men were lunching in a downtown cafe the other eral subject of graft and bribery.

"I am reminded," said one of them, "of the story of an individual who was well known in the west about a decade ago as a man of unimpeachable honesty and sterling integrity. And it wasn't just a belief or a general impression, but a matter of cold, hard fact, as the circumstances had proved more than once.

"It happened that about the time I which handled millions of dollars' worth of goods annually wanted a man for a position of the highest trust and after searching the country over lighted on the gentleman in question. He accepted the position, delighted with the honor done him, but only held it for a month, when he handed in his pressed by his employers for an explanation. This he finally gave, as fol-

I refused indignantly. Several days later the offer was raised to $50,000, and some time after it was increased to $75,000. Still I refused with scorn.

"'Last week the well known individual himself again came to see me and offered to make the bribe $100,000 in ducts as can be bought at home. cash and $100,000 in stock, and I refused the offer and resigned.'

"'And why did you resign?' asked his former employers, gazing at him in admiration. "'Gentlemen,' said the man of unimpeachable honesty and sterling integrity, 'my reputation is all I have. There has never been a spot on my name, and bribery and graft and I have been strangers all my life. Such will continue to be the case. Gentlemen I resigned because that last offer

Chimneys. Chimneys constructed on modern principles were almost unknown to the ancients, being used only in the large baths, where great quantities of hot water were needed. Chafing dishes, braziers of glowing coals and bottles of hot water were employed by the ladies of the middle ages to keep their rooms warm, and a curious picture is extant of three Norman ladies chatting together, each with a bottle of hot water placed between her feet. Chimneys are believed to have been unknown in England until the twelfth century, but by the end of the fourteenth were generally employed in domestic architecture. Winners In Life. The people who win their way into the inmost recesses of others' hearts are not usually the most brilliant and gifted, but those who have sympathy, patience, self forgetfulness and that indefinable faculty of eliciting the better nature of others. We have many friends who are more beautiful and gifted, but there is not one of them whose companionship we enjoy better than that of the plain faced man or woman who never makes a witty or profound remark, but whose simple quality of human goodness makes up for every other deficiency.

Well Named. They have named it the American Reciprocal Tariff league. The American Protective Tariff league recognizes the compliment and welcomes the distinction. Shall the tariff be pretective or shall it be reciprocal? There is a wide difference, and the Chicago conference has emphasized it. The sense of the tariff smashers was that the present Dingley rates should serve as the maximum, with reductions of from 20 to 25 per cent as a bonus for "more foreign trade." It thus becomes easy to perceive the wide disparity between a reciprocal and a protective tariff. The former would destroy what the latter has built up.

A COMMUNICATION.

GLADSTONE, MICH., Nov. 9, 1905.

Editor Gladstone Delta: Relative to an article published in your issue of Nov. 4, will say I think Mr. M. E. Sibole is very poor authority as to the attendance at the several Farmer's Institutes held at the out lying districts during Oct. 23 to the 26. Although Mr. Sibole is secretary of the county society, he never attended any of the meetings, not even that in his own home town, therefore is wholly incompetent to give an opinion.

Charles Hose, a resident of Sarawak, India, has been investigating beriberi and has come to the conclusion that the immediate cause of that disease is to be found in race which has undergone certain changes connected with the development upon it of a mold or fungus. His experiments on fowls and monkeys confirm this conclusion.

Gravitation is explained by the new theory of W. A. Nippoldt as due to the motion of matter having the tenuity usually assigned to the ether. All matter is in motion, and the smaller the aggregation the greater is the maximum velocity. Open space contains very minute particles in rapid motion in all directions. The particles are small enough to pass between the molecules of ordinary bodies, and they are stopped or reflected in proportion to the mass of the body bombarded. Two bodies in space shield each other on one side, being thus apparently attracted.

An engineer who viewed the recent eclipse of the sun from his station in Malta thus describes the effect of the darkness on the inhabitants of that island: "The Maltese nearly went mad with fright, thinking the world was coming to an end. All the people in the village where I am living ran into the church, while some rang the church bells and some even fired off large squibs (something of the firework tribe, I mean), but it was all over in about a quarter of an hour and then the Maltese left the church and made their way back to their houses, still looking very much scared."

Experiments aimed at developing the resistance of brass to the action of seawater, with a view to its employment for constructing submarines in France, have shown some remarkable results from the addition of aluminum. The internal structure of the alloy is strikingly changed by a very small percentage of aluminum, and the color changes are surprising. From half of 1 per Several Others Were Fatally Injured cent up to 5 per cent of aluminum gives the brass a deep golden color. If the quantity of aluminum is increased beyond 5 per cent a "superb rose-color" results, which reaches its maximum when the aluminum amounts to 7 per cent. With 10 per cent of aluminum the color turns to a silvery white.

According to information sent to the Department of Commerce and Labor, the swarming population of China has failed to appreciate one of the greatest sources of wealth of that country, namely, its vast areas of hillside and mountain land suitable for grazing cattle, sheep and horses. They use the trees for lumber and the brushwood for fuel, apparently without thinking the immense pasturages which the luxuriant growth of grass would sup- Keown (Dem.), Brooklyn, were reply. It is thought that this may be due in part to the prohibition of meateating by Buddha, but at present almost all classes of Chinese eat meat whenever they can get it. On the other hand, fisheries of all kinds have been carefully developed in China.

The surface of the dry land sinks to a level below that of the ocean in six places, viz.: The Salton Basin in San Diego County and Death Valley in Inyo County, Cal.; the Valley of the Jordan in Palestine, where the Dead Sea is nearly thirteen hundred feet below sea level; two small areas in the Sahara Desert of Northern Africa; and -larger than all others together-the Valley of the Caspian Sea in Western Asia, which is eighty-six feet lower than the Black Sea. The Salton Basin, once connected directly with the Gulf of California, has been gradually closed in by silt from the Colorado River. A complete barrier was formed at last, shutting off the basin from both gulf and river, and separating a lake that soon disappeared through evaporation. In times of heavy rains the silt is sometimes cut through, though only at long intervals. The last flooding in this way was in 1891-92, but in the spring of this year the opening of an irrigation canal left a breach, through which the summer flood has poured a lake of many square miles. With the foothold gained this new body of water may remain a long time before silting and evaporation again leave a dry basin.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 3, The President has issued his proclamation naming Thursday, November 30 as the day for thanksgiving. The proclamation follows:

By the President of the United States of America.

A PROCLAMATION:

When, nearly three centuries ago, the first settlers came to the country which has now become this great republic they fronted not only hardship and privation, but terrible risk to their lives. In those grim years the custom grew of setting apart one day in each year for a special service of thanksgiving to the Almighty for preserving the people a special service of thanksgiving to the Almighty for preserving the people through the changing seasons. The custom has now become national and hallowed by immemorial usage. We live in easier and more plentiful times than our forefathers, the men who with rugged strength faced the rugged days; and yet the dangers to national life are quite as great now as at any previous time in our history.

time in our history.

It is eminently fitting that once a year our people should set apart a day for praise and thanksgiving to the Giver of Good, and at the same time that they arrows their they be the fitter of the control of the express their thankfulness for the abundant mercies received, should manfully acknowledge their shortcomings, and pledge themselves solemnly, and in good faith, to strive to overcome them. During the last year we have been blessed with bountiful crops. Our bustness prosperity has been great. No other people has ever stood on as high a level of material well being as ours now stands. We are not threatened by their thankfulness a level of material well being as ours now stands. We are not threatened by foes from without. The foes from whom we should pray to be delivered are our own passions, appetites, and follies, and against these there is always need that we should war.

New York Life Official Says Rates Are Fixed by Circumstances.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.-After a two weeks' interruption because of the campaign, the executive committee today resumed its investigation of the methods of the life insurance companies. All of the assemblyman members of the committee with the exception of John Mc-

Not to Affect Legality.

A member of the committee said the defeat of Mr. McKeown would not affect the constitutionality of the proceeding of the committee since his term would not expire until the end of the year, when it was hoped the hearings would be ended.

The first witness was Emery McClintock, actuary of the Mutual Life Insurance company. His testimony before has been of a technical character.

Earnings of the Company.

He submitted a statement of earnings and dividends of the company for five years, which showed that in 1904 the realized earnings of the company were $6,624, 677. This, witness said, was exclusive of any loss or gain by the decreased or increased market value of securities. The total dividends for this year were $2,714,549, of which $538,504 were annual dividends.

Mr. McClintock said that the appormr. McCintock said that the apportionment of dividends for 1904 was estimated and made up in November, 1903, before it was known that the earnings of 1904 would be $6.624,677. The earnings of 1903 were $5,563,861, and there was no assumed amount of increase taken into account when the dividends were made up. It was arrived at by taking into consideration the general run of the business.

Mr. McClintock said that in 1904 the Mr. McClintock said that in 1904 the old policy holders of the Mutual Life paid $4,662,055 of the expenses incurred in securing new business. He said that the estimated cost of this new business in 1904 was $9,830,753, and that the amount available toward this expense was only $5,168,698. #### PRINCE AT ANNAPOLIS.

Louis of Battenberg Makes Thorough Inspection of Naval Academy-Visits Jones' Tomb.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 7.-Rear Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg. under the guidance of Rear Admiral Sands, superintendent of the naval academy, made a thorough inspection this forenoon. The prince was accompanied by his personal staff.

He went into several classes and inspected Bancroft hall from top to bottom, declaring it to be one of the finest buildings he had ever seen.

The prince saw the temporary mauso-leum, where the body of John Paul Jones awaits the completion of its final resting place. The hospital, the state engineer-ing building, the administration build-ing, the boat house were all visited. He told Admiral Sands the American nation was rightly proud of such an institution, which he could see was the key to the thorough and broad equipment of the

ANOTHER FAN FOR THE SENATE. Baseball the Ruling Passion of Senator Crane of Massachusetts.

Senator Winthrop Murray Crane, exgovernor of Massachusetts, has a ruling passion which he inflicts on all his friends. Baseball is the senator's hobby and he plays the game with all the en-thusiasm of a schoolboy. Up in the mountains near Dalton, that state, the senator has a large farm, which he bought ostensibly for the raising of crops, out which is really given over to his ball playing proclivities. In a grassy field a baseball diamond has been laid out according to strict league requirements, and in a cupboard in the farmhouse are all sorts of baseball furnishings. ## OPERATIONS AVOIDED

Two Gr. teful Letters from Women Who Avoided Serious Operations.-Many Women Suffering from Like Conditions Will Be Interested.

fering from ovarian or womb trouble, that an operation is necessary it, of course, frightens her. The very thought of the operating table and the knife strikes terror to her heart. As one woman expressed it, when told by her physician that she must undergo an operation, she felt that her death knell had sounded.

Our hospitals are full of women who are there for ovarian or womb operations!

It is quite true that these troubles may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but such cases are much rarer than is generally supposed, because a great many women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after the doctors had said an operation must be performed. In fact, up to the point where the knife must be used to secure instant relief, this medicine is certain to help.

The strongest and most grateful statements possible to make come from women who, by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, have escaped serious operations.

Margrite Ryan, Treasurer of St. Andrew's Society, Hotel English, Indianapolis, Ind., writes of her cure as follows:

"I cannot find words to express my thanks for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did me. The doctor said I could not get well unless I had an operation for ovarian and female troubles. I knew I could not stand the strain of an operation and made not stand the strain of an operation and made not stand the strain of an operation and made not stand the strain of an operation and made not stand the strain of an operation and made not stand the strain of an operation and made not stand the strain of an operation and made not stand the strain of an operation and made not stand the strain of an operation and made not stand the strain of an operation and made not stand the strain of an operation and nervous prostration. When a physician tells a woman, suf- | Hearing how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had saved other women from serious operations I decided to try it, and in less than four months I was entirely cured; and words fail to express my thankfulness.

Miss Margret Merkley of 275 3d Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham:-

"Loss of strength, extreme nervousness, severe shooting pains through the pelvic organs, cramps, bearing down pains, and extreme irritation compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor, after making an examination, said that I had ovarian trouble and ulceration, and advised an operation as my only hope. To this I strongly chiected as my only hope. To this I strongly objected—and I decided as a last resort to try Lydia

HIS INCOME TAX.

Year after year my grandfather would leclare that no power on earth would induce him to pay his income tax. The ollector, a soft-spoken, easy going person, accustomed to giving the soft answer which turned away the universal wrath, knew my grandfather and his name. She lived above on the hill. Now

"Income tax, indeed!" my grandfather would say, with a spiendid sprinkling of forcible words, "I've no income except what belongs to my creditors. If you want to know Rose. And Bob Jones, too; his father where my income is, it's in the pockets of my tenants. Make them pay my income tax. "Sure, its true for you," the Welshman! It was the fault of his collector, whose name was Whelan and dashed name. Rose Aherne's son! He's ought to have been Wheedlin', would waiting outside you say? And there's a ay, turning the whites of his eyes to bitter blast down from the hill. Why, he skies. "Sure it's a cruel hardship on I danced with Rose at her own wedding you. If I wasn't a government official There wasn't an ankle or an instep like myself, 'tis saying Bad luck to their her's in the three parishes. Ask him and acts!' I'd be. "You're a decent felin to have a glass of grog. Rose Aherne's low, Whelan," my grandfather would remark invariably, "I wonder why you checkbook?"—London Mail.

Then the whisky bottle would be prouced and passed around, and my grandfather, taking a sip, would say, "Well, here's health and bad luck to the income tax!" and Mr. Whelan would swallow the toast with the whisky. Up to the last day my grandfather always refused it alone in a chilly, unoccupied drawng room, with the chairs draped in holing room, with the chairs draped in holland over their old chintzes, and would receive massages through Mary Kate Flavin, the parlor maid. Since Mr. Whelan was his uest willy-nilly, why, there were worse ellows than Whelan to smoke a pipe with, and drink a glass of grog with: and my grandfather was very gregarious and a little bit lonely, so many of the old familiar faces had dropped out. Mr. Whelan used to get him to talk of Mr. Whelan used to get him to tak of his boyhood in the glens of Wicklow. That always put my grandfather in a softened mood. To the last moment he would swear that he would not pay. At the last moment, or nearly the last moment, he invariably did. Once I rememper he was moved to pay by Mr. Whelan dropping his face in his hands and benning to weep, "You won't pay," he obbed, "and I couldn't distrain on you. I'll pay the tax myself, although I'm a oor man and I've an old mother and a "Well, I'm dashed!" said my grandather-only he didn't say, "dashed." In an evil hour for the revenue in that earticular district, Mr. Whelan was promoted, and was replaced by an uncompromising youth, with sleek hair parted down the middle of his head, a waxen image of a face, spats on his shoes, and the name of Evan Lloyd Llewellyn Jones. The first time he called for the income tax and my father replied that he wasn't going to pay it he said that he wasn't going to pay it he said promoted, and was replaced by an un-GRIP, BAD COLD, HEADACHE AND NEURALGIA. with an aghast visage, "Then we'll distrain.

He was interrupted by a rat-

"That dashed Welshman again!" my grandfather said, with a glare in his eye. However, it wasn't the Welshman. It was the long-lost Whelan, and the rapproachement between my grandfather and him was touching. My grandfather as simmering, boiling over with the tale of his wrongs at the hands of the Welsh man. #### IF YOU ARE A WOMAN

What Mrs. Ford Says Concerning Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will Surely Interest You.

"I wish I could help other women get rid of certain physical troubles as completely as I have succeeded in getting rid of mine," said Mrs. B. B. Ford, of Pushmataha, Miss., recently. "You know," she continued, "that a woman's health depends chiefly on the regularity of just one function. If she fails to keep that properly regulated she has no end of physical misery. I suffered from that one cause for two wretched years, during one of which I was kept in bed all the time. I tried medicines enough to cure any illness, but nothing gave me the slightest benefit until I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They cured me. Why, I was suffering all the time practically from sickness of the stomach, dizziness or swimming in my head and pain in my back. Now I am entirely free from discomfort of that sort. I am not only able to keep on my feet, but to do my work as a teacher, and to enjoy the pleasures that come through the possession of sound health.

Home Medicine Chest in Danger. The "home medicine chest" is in danger. If certain people have their way, no one will be allowed to take a dose of any kind of medicine in this country except on a doctor's written prescription. The remedies that have been brewed at home for generations will be put under the ban of the law, and the use of so-called "patent" medicines that are prepared in large quantities from the best prescriptions of leading physicians will likewise have to go. What honest reason any person can have for attacking all proprietary medicines few will understand. Most of the standard remedies have been in existence, and in common use for many years, and to deprive the American people of them would be to take away the remedies that every family has almost constant use for, and the use of which they thoroughly

The one who breaks the engagement, except for good reasons, recognized by the law as such, is obliged to pay, not for damaged affections or broken heart, but for material loss. If the bride has given up a lucrative employment in the prospect of marriage she must be compensated, and all moneys spent by parents or guardians for the trousseau, the wedding breakfast, etc., must be made good.

On the other hand, the bride-to-be who jilts her fiance without good cause is required to make good to him any loss he may have sustained through her influence, as in exchanging a good business for one less lucrative, in order to be near her; renting a house in prospect of marriage or entering into any contract in which money is involved. All such claims must be established within two years.

Treatment of Visitors to the Lodge. From Various Quarries.

There is a want of sociability in some of our lodges, and it is a very simple matter to correct. It is often thoughtlessness or timidity on the part of some members and of actual incivility on the part of others. In some lodges there are special committees whose business it is to receive, examine (if necessary) and introduce visiting brethren, to welcome them and make them feel at home. When there are no such committees some thoughtful brother can make the visitor feel at ease by stepping up and giving him a vigorous handshake and telling him how glad he is to see him. Then introduce him to other members and give him a seat well up to the east and not away over in the northwest corner of the lodge, where he is liable to sit all alone until the meeting is over.-Orphans' Friend.

One of the players who acts as keeper of the door between the two rooms asks one of the boys to choose a girl. The doorkeeper then opens the door and calls the girl thus chosen, who must sit down in one of the chairs. If she sits in front of the boy who chose her he kisses her, and she keeps her seat, but if not all the boys clap their trifling, and the rugs will wear twice hands as a sign that she is wrong, and she must leave the room again. The doorkeeper asks another boy to choose, and the game goes on till all the chairs are filled. The boys then leave the room, the girls stand behind the chairs, and the game is repeated. The game is often varied by calling in three or

A Kitten In a Bag.

To insure its comfort and safety while traveling on a railroad a girl sewed her pet kitten in a bag of stout ticking. In this way the kitten's body was free inside the roomy bag and the bright eyes could see the friendly faces about, while all chance of sudden flight was prevented. Care of Piano Strings.

Rust cannot be prevented from accumulating on piano strings, according to an expert, who says that the only way to remove it is by vigorously rubbing each string with a coarse flannel or cotton cloth. By pulling a rough rag briskly around the strings most of the rust will disappear and the metal will become comparatively bright. To do this successfully a long, narrow, heavy piece of cotton or wool should be used instead of a rag, for if the material is bulky it cannot be put between the strings without bending and probably stretching them, which is injurious. #### POLAND PROVES SURPRISE

Enthusiastic Constitutional Mass Meeting Held in Warsaw-Seven Police Killed by People.

NEW CABINET NEARLY COMPLETED

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 7 .- The project for a sweeping extension of the suffrage in elections to the national assembly, promised by the Emperor, is published

After the first days of confusion and doubt following the issuance of the manifesto giving a constitution to Russia and nominating Count Witte premier, the latter's new government appears to be getting fairly under way.

New Cabinet Under Way. The cabinet's task of guiding the nation on its new course of constitutionalism and preventing the radical and agitatory elements from driving it on the rocks of revolution is now beginning to take form. The names of the two Shipoffs, one of them, Ivan, having been Count Wit-te's former assistant in the ministry of finance and his associate at Portsmouth, N. H., and the other, Dimitri, the Moscow zomstvoist, who was president of the first zemstvo congress, are semi-au-thoritatively announced as his selections respectively for minister of finance and comptroller. Gen. M. Nemecheff, president of the Southeastern railway, who is recommended by the railroad men to suc ceed Prince Wilkoff, is now on his way to St. Petersburg to consider tender of the portfolio of ways and communications.

Is a Noted Conservative.

Dimitri Shipoff is a man of sound conservative ideas, who, like the late Prince Troubetsky, dared to make a stand against the sweeping current which car-ried away most of the zemstovists. The selection of M. Nemechaeff is apparently good. He is a practical man of affairs who has had long experience in railroad administration and, as shown by the recommendation of the railroad delegation, has the sympathy of the workmen The former ministers, except four who are not subject to the jurisdiction of the emier, are slated for dismissal. Witte is not submitting much of his new programme to the old committee of min-isters and the project for the extension of the suffrage, though announced and approved by the committee of ministers, was drafted under Count Vitte's direction after consultation with a number of Liberals, including Prof. Kusminkaravieff, who resigned his chair at the academy of military law on account of his liberal opinions, and M. Lazareffsky, one of the editors of the Liberal legal weekly

Votes for Workingmen.

QUAKERS FOR REFORM

Bosses Knocked Out in Philadelphia and Ohio-Gorman's Policy

Defeated.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 8 .-Keen interest in the result of yesterday's elections was manifested today in administration and political circles generally. President Roosevelt and members of the cabinet were informed of the latest returns from the doubtful states and cities, many messages from private sources, as well as news received by the press associations being conveyed promptly to the white house. It is not regarded that national issues entered to any considerable extent in the elections. although in Massachusetts the question of reciprocity figured in a material way. Surprise was created by the tremendous revulsion of political sentiment in Pennsylvania and Ohio and by the closeness of the vote for mayor in New York.

McClellan Elected.

On the face of the returns now in, George B. McClellan was re-elected mayor of New York by a plurality of 3485. Charges of gross fraud and corruption are made by William R. Hearst, the mayoralty candidate of the Municipal Ownership league, who claims nicipal Ownership league, who claims that a recount of the ballots will show his election. #### Reform in Pennsylvania.

In Pennsylvania and in Philadelphia, particularly, the reform wave swept everything before it. Bossism was made the issue and in both the city and in the state at large the Republicans were everwhelmed. It is pointed out here, however, that party politics cuts little figure in the Pennsylvania elections, and the same is said of the elections in Ohio. Yesterday was the first time in a quarter of a century that Philadelphia has registered its votes against the Republican organization. The triumph of More Weaver and the people's party Philadelphia was complete and in The triumph of Maystate, William H. Berry, the candidate for the state treasurer of the Demoeratic, Independent, Lincoln and Prohibi tion parties was elected by a majority of 100,000. President Roosevelt carried the state last year by 500,000 majority.

Pattison Wins in Ease. The result in Ohio appears from pres-

BIG KENTUCKY REPTILE. Its Trail Seen Once More on a Hardin County Road.

The giant snake which is supposed to live in the cliffs of southwestern Hardin county has again made its appearance. A few days since it crossed the Hardin Springs road near Pole Bridge church, leaving a huge wriggling trail in the dust two and one-half inches deep and eleven inches wide. This enormous reptile made its first advent in that section some fifteen years ago, and since that time has crossed the ago, and since that this has crossed the public highway near the same point twice every year, once in the spring and again in the early autumn. During this time it has been sighted by a number of different persons, among them some of the most reputable citizens of Hardin county, who uniformly describe it as a monster reptile, with its great body, almost as large as a man's waist, check-ered over with spots of black and gray, and estimated at twelve or fourteen feet in length. At no time has it ever shown fight or appeared to so much as notice the presence of those who have seen it, except on one occasion several years ago, when, being suddenly encountered by some hunters in the thick underbrush near the roadside, the serpent shook its mammoth head with expanded jaws over the tops of the bushes, and the panic-stricken hunters scampered away. Some years since it was seen on one of its semi-annual prowls by S. F. Faber of Vertrees, one of the prominent farmers of the county, when it crossed the road just in front of his four-horse team and became entangled in a rickety old fence, floundering off several rails in its efforts to disengage itself. It has been noticed that this great serpent crosses the country road to westward every autumn, and it is supposed to have its habitation in some of the numerous large rugged and cleft riven cliffs or deep caverns that abound in the region of Hill's mill, on Rough creek, perhaps hibernating in some covert abode, whence it issues forth at certain periods according to its serpentine habits.—Elizabeth-

Hot Biscuit, Griddle-Cakes, Pies and Puddings. The food that made the fathers strong is sometimes unfit for the children under the new conditions that our changing civilization is constantly bringing in. One of Mr. Bryan's neighbors in the great State of Nebraska, writes: "I was raised in the South, where hot biscuits, griddle-cakes, pies and puddings are eaten at almost every meal, and by the time I located in Nebraska I found myself a sufferer from indigestion and its attendant ills-distress and pains after meals, an almost constant headache, dull, heavy sleepiness by day and sleeplessness at night, loss of flesh, impaired memory, etc., etc. "I was rapidly becoming incapacitated for business, when a valued friend suggested a change in my diet, the abandonment of heavy, rich stuff and the use of Grape-Nuts food. I followed the good advice and shall ai-ways be thankful that I did so.

"Whatever may be the experience of others, the beneficial effects of the change were apparent in my case almost immediately. My stomach, which had rejected other food for so long, took to Grape-Nuts most kindly; in a day or two my headache was gone, I began to sleep healthfully and before a week was out the scales showed that my lost weight was coming back. My memory was restored with the renewed vigor that I felt in body and mind. For three years now Grape-Nuts food has kept me in prime coudition, and I propose it shall for the rest of my days.

"And by the way, my 21/2 year old baby is as fond of Grape-Nuts as I am, always insists on having it. It keeps her as healthy and hearty as they make them." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"So they have quarreled!" thought Miss Dexter, gleefully. "No wonder poor old Jack looked so down in the mouth. I've a good mind to help him along a bit."

The Chinese are not strong on sanitation. Their houses and surroundings are generally dirty, but in personal cleanliness they rank with people of modern civilization.

They bathe every day, their clothes are invariably fresh, and the men shave daily, while their hands and finger-nails are as immaculate as if they had just come from the manicure.

In some parts of the country, however, Chinese neatness is looked upon with doubtful favor. Last summer a number of university students took vacation jobs on a great California ranch, and one of the number recently said that their habits of personal cleanliness were a source of great amusement to the other hands.

"You're regular Chinamen," said one of the hands, with good-natured contempt; "always washing yourselves!"

MRS. CHADWICK NOT TO GET NEW TRIAL.

ONLY HOPE OF CLEVELAND WOMAN IS IN UNITED STATES SU-PREME COURT.

Unless Rehearing Is Granted She Will Have to Serve Ten Years on Fraud Charges.

sie L. Chadwick has lost her last hope and killed Nulda Olivia, his female comfor a new trial unless the supreme court of the United States shall consent to allow a rehearing.

The United States circuit court of appeals today refused her application for a new trial. The lengthy opinion of the court was read by Judge Lurton.

Mrs. Chadwick is now in the jail at Cleveland, under sentence to the Ohio penitentiary for ten years, having been indicted and convicted of conspiring to defraud under the national banking law, the specific case involving the wrecking of the Citizens' National bank at Oberlin, O., whose president has died since the exposure of the matter.

The case was brought to the United States circuit court of appeals on a writ of error, sentence was suspended pending the decision of the appeal and the case was expedited.

Of the large number of errors claimed by Mrs. Chadwick's attorneys, this court found that the lower court did not err in single one.

Judge Lurton declared that Mrs. Chadwick ought to have known it was wrong to draw checks on a bank when she knew she had no money on deposit there, and that the inference drawn by the jury in the trial court that she did the

Some interesting experiments in blasting tree butts with gellignite, a safety explosive, have recently been carried out at Lord Leigh's Stoneleigh Abbey estate, near Kennilworth, England. The usual boring was made and filled with the explosive. An electric detonator was used, which enabled the operator The butts operated on were of various sizes and species, but in each case the method was found to give satisfactory results. It is also claimed to combine efficiency with economy.

Fixing a Watch. "I dropped my watch today, and it has been gaining ten minutes an hour," said a man, at the same time handing the watch to a New York jeweler. The jeweler stuck a glass in his eye, looked into the interior of the watch, poked for most complaints. A regsomething with a small instrument, set the watch by a regulator and, handing it back, said, "It's all right time." "How much?" said the customer, relieved. "Nothing," was the answer. "But I can't let you work for Despite the fact that for the last three | me without pay." "We never charge should we charge you? The hairspring was doubled, and that made the watch Magliabecci had a memory so en traordinary that it seemed to dwarf all his other mental faculties. He read all ancient and modern languages that had a literature and was familiar with the title and contents of every known peat the titles of over 500,000 books written in many languages on a diversity of subjects. His whole life was given to study. He commonly remained at work all night, and when nature could endure no more he lay down wherever he chanced to be, and with the floor for a couch, a book for a pillow and covered with an old tattered cloak he would sleep for a few hours, then rise and go to work again.
