GREAT SCHEME FOR REVERSAL OF CONDITIONS.

Plan For Defense Against Hostile Foreign Tariffs.

SPEAKER CANNON'S ATTITUDE

Would First Establish a Minimum That Affords Adequate Protection to Labor and Industry and Then Use the Big Stick to Enforce Fair Treatment.

The adoption of a dual tariff system by the United States seems likely to be forced by the attitude of certain the minimum tariff such that it would be foreign countries in regard to the imposition of increased tariffs upon exports from this country unless the tarbe scaled down so as to facilitate the greater sale of foreign manufactured products in America. Not long ago a convention made up of delegates of commercial and business organizations was held in Washington for the purpose of considering methods for the enlargement of our foreign trade. As the result of this convention's deliberations resolutions were adopted calling for the installment of a dual tariff system for reciprocity purposes, the maximum to be the present Dingley tariff rates and the minimum to be such reductions from these rates as will satisfy the desire of foreign exporters to obtain a larger entrance to this great consuming market. Germany has for some time past threatened to put into operation tariff schedules enormously increased above her normal and protective tariff level, such increase to apply upon practically all of the United States exports to Germany, excepting raw cotton and copper. It appears, however, that Gercopy of said bill and notice of this order; and many has decided not to spring her that in default thereof, said bill be taken as maximum tariff gun upon the United States for some time to come. Latest advices indicate that the present relahowever, evident that the dual system will be forced upon this country. What that dual system should be and is likeremains in control of legislation was indicated by Speaker Cannon in an address on the 16th of last month to the delegates of the foreign commerce convention, who visited him at the house of representatives. On that occasion Speaker Cannon said: When you come to look at it, you hardheaded business men understand it is one thing to amend in general terms, and it is quite another thing to make your schedules. However, speaking for myself, and, if I understand it, in harmony with the consensus of Republican opinion in the country, when I speak about a minimum and a maximum tariff I speak about a minimum tariff that shall run to all nations and to all peoples so adjusted as to afford ample protection to American industries. When I have that then I would be willing to make a maximum tariff 10 per cent, if you want to, or 20 per cent higher. And

I would make it so that if anybody disoriminated against Uncle Sam's children the executive should be clothed with authority to ascertain that fact so that the maximum rate might be applied to such

In other words, that would be the big

I understand that Germany has such a tariff and France and possibly other countries. The minimum tariff of Gertection, and her maximum tariff is retallatory, to be used as an argument in favor of trade concessions to Germany.

I will tell you, however, what country does not have this double tariff system-

Great Britain. Now, Great Britain takes one-half of our total exports. How could you have reciprocity with France or with Germany that would let the French or Ger-man textiles or manufactured products in more cheaply than we let in Great Brit-ain's products? Because you must recollect that Great Britain has in competing products no tariff at all could be very readily managed if with our sufficient protection and then have a maximum tariff with which we could punish somebody who was discriminating

There are people who are for a max imum and a minimum tariff. Many of them now want a maximum and minimum tariff so arranged that the maximum tariff would be the general rule. that it might be reduced to a particular country some 10 or 20 per cent below. That is nothing more or less than a jour ney toward free trade, and that, if adoptwould necessarily greatly harm and strain our relations with Great Britain, who, with her free trade in competitive articles, has nothing to give us for a like concession. So you see there are many things to think about. It will therefore be seen that so long as protection remains recognized as the "cardinal principle" of the Republican party and while the Republican party is dominant in national affairs the attempt to batter down the walls of protection under the pretext of enlarging our foreign trade will fail. The Republican attitude appears to be, as it undoubtedly should be, that we must first see to it that American mills and factories are protected against the cheaper payrolls of foreign mills and factories, and then when such a course may be necessitated by the hostile and discriminating tariffs of foreign countries we shall follow the example set by foreign countries and increase our own tariffs against all those countries which refuse to grant to American exports their lowest tariff rates. This means, in short, a system of minimum and maximum tariffs and not a system of maximum and minimum tariffs -that is to say, the minimum tariff shall be a fixed basis, not to be altered until decreed by the people through their representatives in congress, while the maximum tariff shall be an in-

Safe For Another Two Years. The tariff situation from the stand pat point of view could hardly be better. The demand for revision among Republicans almost entirely petered out even in Massachusetts and Iowa. Foss and Cummins swallowed their dose and kept in line. There will not be a dozen revisionist or reciprocity Republicans in the new congress. It will not touch the tariff. Not that the P. & H. B. Laing, sundries for tariff is perfect or sacred, but that more is likely to be lost than gained Erickson & VonTell, sundries for by agitating the subject just yet. For another two years the tariff is safe. Now keep the wheels humming, the cattle and the crops growing.-Lebanon (N. H.) Press.

The National Capital. It is claimed that Washington is the cleanest city in the United States. If they were so disposed the ladies might wear their best afternoon gowns on the street without having them soiled. The general cleanliness of Washington is due to the noticeable absence of factories with their soft coal smoke, and the asphalt streets are kept so clean that there is little dust or dirt in the $1112 71 air. An almost forgotten fact is that Washington was first called Rome, and $350 00 a creek which flowed through the site 21 38 of the city was spoken of as the Tiber. Oddly enough, the first owner of the 2 15 land upon which the capital is now located was named Pope.-Philadelphia Press.

FRENCH PRESIDENT DEAD.

M. CASIMIR PERIER, FORMER EX-ECUTIVE, DIES SHORN OF ALL HIS POLITIC . POWER.

RESIGNED AFTER INSULTS.

Lost Confidence of Supporters After Rapid Rise-Dreyfus Trial Nearly Caused War with Germany.

PARIS, Farch 12 .- M. Casimir-Perier, former President of France, died suddenly at 11 o'clock Monday night of embolism of the heart, at his residence on the Rue Nitot here. It was supposed he was suffereing from influenza and no great importance was attached to his indisposition. He was not even confined to his bed. He passed away in the presence of his whole family with the exception of his sister, the Countess de Segur, who arrived shortly afterwards.

In the course of the morning President Fallieres, Premier Clemenceau and virtually all the members of the aris-tocracy in Paris, sent their condolences.

Government to Honor Him. The cabinet met at noon and decided on a national funeral for the late president, but regretfully declined the honor in accordance with the wish M. Casimir-Perier expressed some time ago.

The presidents of the Senate and

Chamber of Deputies have decided to move adjournment as a sign of mourn-From Family of Statesmen.

Jean Paul Pierre Casimir-Perier was the son and grandson of statesmen. His father, Auguste Casimir-Perier, was minister of the interior in 1871 and his grandfather was leader of the opposition when Louis-Philippe ascended the throne, and afterwards was premier.

The former president was born November 8, 1847. After a brilliant career vember 8, 1847. After a brilliant career as a student of literature and history he joined the militia during the Franco Prussian war. He was decorated with the cross of the Legion of Honor.

Early Rise Was Rapid. When his father entered the first Republican cabinet of M. Thiers, Casimir-Perier, Jr., became his assistant. In 1874 he was elected to the Chamber of Deputies and re-elected in 1878. After the crisis of May, 1877, he was one of the 368 deputies who refused to pass a vote of confidence in the Broglie ministry. He was under-secretary of state until 1879. In 1883 M. Casimir-Perier was appointed under-secretary of state and in 1890 was elected vice president of the Chamber and chairman of the budget committee. In the summer of 1894 immediately after the assassination of President Carnot.

he was elected President of the republic.

Resigned After Many Insults. He was not popular, owing to his opposition to the agencies which threatened the national security. He was openly insulted in every possible manner and insulted in every possible manner and eventually the government prosecuted M. Girault Richard, who had published libels on the President, for which he was sentenced to six months' imprisonment. This aroused a storm of popular disapproval. M. Girault Richard was elected a deputy and the Socialists demanded that the President be released. Serious differences arose between M. Casimir-Perier and his supporters and eventually,

January 15, 1895, he resigned.

Zola Trial Involved Him. During the Zola trial it developed that the real reason for Casimir-Perier's resignation was the fact that his cabinet concealed material facts of policy from him, so that he nearly found himself in a serious quarrel with Germany, owing to his ignorance of the Dreyfus scandal. It was even said that private documents on the Dreyfus affair from the German ambassador in Paris had been abstracted and photographed while or the way to Berlin, and it was added that, in order to disassociate himself from such acts and to prevent the possibility of war, Casimir-Perier retired from the presidency and from political life.

Minister Thomson consulted with the port admiral, after which he proceeded to the scene of the disaster. All around the Missiessy drydock were strewn pieces of shells and the store shed and other buildings in the vicinity were pierced in many places. The after part of the battleship is completely destroyed.

The party boarded the hulk of the Jena, whose forepart was found to be almost intact, and watched the work of the men who were with difficulty removing the bodies and parts of bodies and transporting them ashore.

Verdict for Dr. Pierce

AGAINST THE

Ladies' Home Journal.

Sending truth after a lie. It is an old maxim that "a lie will travel seven leagues while truth is getting its boots on," and no doubt hundreds of thousands of good people read the unwarranted and malicious attack upon Dr. R. V. Pierce and his "Favorite Prescription" published in the May (1904) number of the Ladies' Home Journal, with its great black display headings, who never saw the hum-ble, groveling retraction, with its inconspicuous heading, published two months later. It was boldly charged in the slanderous and libelous article that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for the cure of woman's weaknesses and ailments, contained alcohol and other harmful ingredients. Dr. Pierce promptly brought suit against the publishers of the Ladies' Home Journal, for $200,000,000 damages. Dr. Pierce alleged that Mr. Bok, the editor, maliciously published the article containing such false and defamatory matter with the intent of injuring his business furthermore, that no alcohol, or other fujurious, or habit-forming, drugs are, or ower were, contained in his "Favorite Prescription"; that said medicine is made from native medicinal roots and contains no harmful ingredients whatever and that Mr. Bok's malicious state-ever and that were wholly and absolutely false. ever and that Mr. Bok's malicious statements were wholly and absolutely false. In the retraction printed by said Journal they were forced to acknowledge that they had obtained analyses of "Favorite Prescription," from eminent chemists, all of whom certified that it did not contain alcohol or any of the alleged harmful drugs!

These facts were also proven in the trial of the action in the Supreme Court. But the business of Dr. Pierce was greatly injured by the publication of the libelous article with its great display headings, while hundreds of thousands who read the wickedly defamatory article never saw the humble groveling retraction, set in small type and made as inconspicuous as possible. The matter was, however brought before a jury in the Supreme Court of New York State which promptly rendered a verdict in the Doctor's favor. Thus his traducers came to grief and their base slanders were refuted.

LEAD LONELY LIVES.

MOST DANGEROUS LIGHTSHIP STATION IN THE WORLD.

That Maintained by Uncle Sam Off Nantucket, Mass., Is Noted-Hardy Sailormen Who Constantly Face Perils in Many Forms.

Probably upon no reef guard station in the world have the lives of brave and bold men been so often hazarded os up on the Nantucket Shoals lightship, which is located forty miles south from Nantucket, Mass. More than half a century has elapsed since the government first stationed a lightship at this dangerous and lonesome spot. Until recently the lightship was a sail equipped vessel, but now it is steam propelled; yet whether operated by steam or sail the dangers and hardships of the men confined on it are one and the same.

Forty miles out at sea, cooped in the little shell that, day after day and month after month, swings and tugs at its 7,000-pound anchor lying in 18 fathoms of water the life of the Nantucket lightship saflorman is one of almost complete isolation from the first of November until the opening of the spring months. During the bitterest six months of the year there are no reprieves or shore leave.

Sometimes for two months or more, during the severest periods of the winter, these dozen men are without communication with the shore save the messages sent to them by wireless telegraphy. Often for days their only visible companion is the great redbrown buoy swinging in the sea half a mile from the ship.

Even this object, which is endeared to the heart of every man aboard the lightship, in particularly bad weather breaks adrift from its moorings or is frequently shut out from sight for weeks by the dense fogs which drift in over the ocean like a pall from the southward, and then the melancholy of the loneliness which pervades these men is not lifted until a close passing vessel or the infrequent advent of the winter sunlight comes to chase away the monotony of their existence.

But loneliness is only one of the hardships of the men on the Nantucket Shoales lightship, though it is the one dreaded. There are the days when the fog settles down over the isolated vessel in a thick, damp cloak, completely enshrouding the hulk from stem to stern-days when only the far off whistle or a sailing vessel's horn, or horn aboard the lightship, is all their

NEW IDEA OF CONSUMPTION.

London Doctor Says the Disease Is Primarily Derived From Cattle.

A London physician, Dr. W. Picket Turner, who has made a first-hand study of the disease for many years. advances the theory that the medical world is attacking the problem of consumption by an utterly false route.

His view, briefly stated, is that tuberculosis is an animal disease primarily derived, in all cases, from cattle. It belongs, he says, to the mycotic group of diseases, diseases in which the original source of infection is a plant. Bovine cattle derive tuberculosis from timothy and other allied grasses by natural affinity. Man acquires the disease by ingestion or inoculation, never by inhalation. It is not hereditary; neither is there any predisposition to it in the individual. The bacillus in a state of nature is saprophyte, feeding on decay of the vegetable world. But the bacillus becomes pathogenic-capable of causing disease-in cattle when they are deprived of actinism or the property of the chemical rays in sunlight. It would, if all this be true, become reasonable to assume that by restoring actinism to cattle the bacillus would again become a saprohpyte, in which case consumption would be extirpated. -Current Literature.

Crocodiles and the Cure.

One does not usually connect crocodiles with a health resort-rather the reverse-but the creatures are quite a feature of the Indian bathing place of Manghapir, about nine miles from Karachi. This town is a place of pilgrimage for pious Hindoos, but it is chiefly famous for the value of its waters in the cure of the dread scourge of leprosy. The waters are hot, and more than 60 per cent of the sufferers who bathe there annually, it is said, are cured. The crocodiles are rather noteworthy in that they live in the hot water, aparently suffering no inconvenience from its temperature or medicinal qualities .- Wide World Maga-

After more than a quarter of a century of continuous service as judge of a La Crosse (Wis.) court, during which time, although he is a Democrat, he has always been elected without opposition by a Republican constituency, Judge G. Besides being justice of the peace he was a circuit court commissioner, United States court commissioner and referee in bankruptcy for the west-ern district of Wisconsin. His decisions were seldom reversed on appeal. In appearance the retiring justice is Woman's Reasoning.

It is a singular fact, affording occasion for interesting speculation, that in the extraordinary intellectual development of woman which has taken place in the past century casuistry seems to have been and still is to be ignored by tacit assent. We use the term, not in its corrupted or secondary sense as indicating subtle reasoning, but in its original meaning as signifying the science which guides the human conscience in the per-formance of its duties. For this task the feminine mind, as generally understood by the judgment of man, seems to pos-sess peculiar adaptation—a fact clearly recognized by the ancients, who added "casuistess" to their vocabulary simultaneously with "casuist;" but there is no record of a woman having justified the theory, even while the science held widest vogue, and the word has now beome so nearly obsolete as to be hardly found in any of our modern diction

The natural deduction would seem to insurmountable obstacle to really effi-cient training in he art; and, frankly, while we hesitate to accept so distaste-ful a conclusion not fully enforced by evidence, we must admit that personal observation tends to confirm that view. We know many women whose faculties easily permit of primary reasoning, but almost invariably when hard pressed they reach a point where the logical faculty gives place to impatience at what is regarded as captious contradiction, change. and instinct prompts a quick leap over intervening obstacles to a congenial conclusion. The goal often is the same as that reached by the slower and more guarded processes of close mental application, but demonstration that it is deed the true one necessarily rests solely upon the hypothesis of intuitive accu-

Mrs. French saw, as hundreds of other people saw, in the opening of the Big Pasture to settlement, an opportunity to become a land owner. and she proceeded to take advantage thereof. She knew she wanted a piece of that particular section of the earth, and she didn't propose to let any little slip or oversight prevent her from securing it. She made a thorough inquiry into the situation and conditions, and then she went to work according to a plan uniquely her own. She formulated a bid for a farm in the "Big Pasture" so extensive and so comprehensive as actually cover every tract of land in the entire reservation. Now, of course, she had no idea of securing all this land; she is no monopolist; but she wanted to be sure of getting at least one quarter section, and she saw sure success in laying her plans as the old darkey set coon trap—"to catch him a-goin' an a-comin'"—so that there should be no chance of her missing out. It must have been a work of great patience as well as an exhibition of industry and de-termination. That bid was almost a "paralyzer" for the officials who had to examine it, as one of them expressed it, but it was found to be in due form and strictly in accordance with the requirements of the prescribed rules and regulations, and was duly received and recorded. If it took weeks for expert of-ficials to properly examine the bid, what a lot of time and careful thought must have been expended by Mrs. French in preparing it so that there should be no flaw or fatal weakness. Uncle Sam has his appreciation of the historic ralue of the remarkable document by ordering that the immense bid shall be cut up into strips six feet long, and shall be framed and preserved in the of-fice of the secretary of the interior at Washington. Meantime, Mrs. Adele French is going on quietly about her Washington. business, perfecting her title to the little piece of the earth this big bid brought her, with no thought of preening her-self over the fact that she went about this particular bit of business with a woman's thoroughness and thoughtfulwoman's thoroughness and thoughness.—Woman's National Magazine.

Christening the Baby.

On the way to church in olden times the nurse gave a slice of bread and cheese to the first person she met, the recipient being expected to present the baby with three gifts and wish it health and beauty. The sponsors pre-sented their godchildren with spoons, with the figures of the twelve apostles inscribed on the handles.

Sometimes a cup was given as well as the apostle spoons, and one writer complains that whereas at one time "gossips," as god-parents were formerly called, gave a gilt bowl and "two spoons at least," at this time they used to "eat more at christenings than bestow." Corals and bells are still popular gifts the godmother used to bring "a gilt coral, a silver spoon and porringer, and a brave new tankard of the same metal." Coral was not only given to help the child to cut its teeth but because this substance was considered a great protec tion against witchcraft and the evil eye For this reason a piece of coral was hung around the child's neck or fastened to its robes, and in Italy powdered cora was mixed with the milk and given to children to preserve them from epilepsy.

It may indeed be said that the great differences in our American homes—differences of condition, differences of privilege, differences of opportunity-will make that question very hard to answer. Hard, perhaps, but not impossible; for the one thing that determines the influence of the home is its spirit, and the spirit is determined by quite other things than mate rial resources, or intellectual or social privileges and opportunities. If you want your feet to look small you must buy your shoes very carefully Shoes ill bought will look big and ugly no matter how small they may be.

It is better to get along without purchased hair if you can. Thick, heavy 'rats' worn under the pompadour are particularly harmful and not necessary to the present fashionable style of hairdressing.

For treatment for hair that has been destroyed by the present practice of "ratting," there is nothing better than calp massage, the application of a good hair grower and electric brushing. Another wild rush found him on the banker's stoop. No one here even. Perhaps—and his heart stood still -perhaps they had already "run!" He pulled peal after peal on the door bell. Mr. Harper's window shot up, and his voice was heard in anxious inquiry: 'What's the matter? Is the house

> "No, sir. I must speak to you at once, this about the bank!" came the firm sir.

Fearing dire calamity Mr. Harper de scended hurriedly, shivering from dread and cold, while Mrs. Harper and a group of little Harpers waited tremblingly upon the landing. When the banker grasped the full import of his midnight visitor's business, he also grasped that visitor himself, and shook him with much vigor. Then the ludicrousness of the situation appealed to him, and he subsided upon the lowest stair, helpless from mirth.

The good man had boys of his own, however, and some little inkling of Jake's vain boastings had reached his ears. The letter which the boy had shown to him completed the solution of the riddle, so he laid his hand on Jake's shoulder in a kind, fatherly way, saying: "Look here, my boy, I think this is a joke on you. Possibly you may have spoken about this money" (Jake flusted guiltly) "and the boys are getting even with you. The bank is as firm as it ever was, sonny, and its been here in Cenducted chimney. Cuba Pines for Cock Fights.

It is expected that Gov. Magoon will refer to Secretary Taft the question that has been raised by the Cuban people of the propriety of rescinding the order made by Gen. Leonard Wood when he was military governor of Cuba, prohib-

Secretary Taft had such an experience as Gov. Magoon is now undergoing when the former was governor of the Philippines, and although he was to prevent cock fighting in Manila, so that he was obliged to refrain from interfering with this ancient institution outside of the capital. Hence every holiday saw a pilgrimage of the citizens into the suburban towns to enjoy the sport. It is said that Gov. Magoon may decide to follow Secretary Taft's example

STORES OF GRAIN LARGE CRASH SPREADS TERROR HEARST MEN FOR GRANT? GOVERNMENT WILL MAKE TORPEDOES.

Plans for the Construction of a Factory at Newport Naval Station Have Been Completed,

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 12 .-Admiral Mason, chief of the naval bureau of ordnance, has just completed plans for the construction of a torpedo factory at the Newport naval station. This will be the first time the government has undertaken to make its own torpedoes on a large scale.

The ordnance bureau has available $155,000 for beginning this work. The appropriation cannot be touched before Defects in Dreadnought.

LONDON, March 12.—Official accounts of the big battleship Dreadnought's behavior on its recent trip to Trinidad are not altogether supported by private letters. The engine and turbines worked admirably, but the heat of the engine room exceeded anything ever experienced by those on board. The staff officers suffered severely. Owing to the ship's great size its maneuvering qualities at slow speed were not equal to those of smaller ships. It cannot keep its station with reciprocating ships at twenty knots, while for night maneuvering without lights in close formation the big fighter is out of the running.

the beginning of the next fiscal year, but to save time Admiral Mason decided to let the contracts at once.

Make All But Steel Shell.

The new factory will give employment to at least 200 skilled workmen. It is proposed to make every part of the tor-pedo except the steel flasks which contain the compressed air used to drive the engines and propel the torpedo.

Material of particular excellence is required for these flasks, owing to the nigh pressure they are obliged to sustain, ranging in the case of the latest torpe does up to more than 3000 pounds to the square inch.

New "Flyer" Type Favored.

The present type of naval torpedo runs 3500 yards under water at the average speed of 26½ knots. But experiments conducted by the ordnance bureau have developed a torpedo that will attain the marvelous speed of 35 knots per hour at a distance of 1000 yards, and it is possible that this type will be adopted when fully developed and turned out at the new factory instead of the present standard type.

Powder Poor; Makers Discharged. As the result of the discovery of seious irregularities in the manufacture of powder for the government, there have been several dismissals of important employes of the Laffin & Rand Powder company at Haskell, N. J. A board of naval officers is now engaged in an in-vestigation to discover to what extent the government has suffered because of these irregularities.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 12.-Frank Rockefeller of Cleveland, O., was witness today in his suit against Henry Goss for the restitution of $250,000 spent by Rockefeller for a mine in southwest

Mr. Rockefeller said that he inspected the mine previous to buying it. "I went down in a shaft," he said, "and my attention was constantly called to bodies of ore. In the center room of the mine was a pillar that appeared to be practically solid zinc ore. The walls of the room had the same appearance. The lights carried by the party made it look like one great crystal palace. The floor seemed to be of solid ore."

Rockefeller alleges he was induced through misrepresentations to buy the mine and will endeavor to show that the 'crystal palace' effects witnessed by him did not faithfully portray the worth of the deposit of ore. He said he paid $200,000 for the mine and spent $65,000

GENERAL BREAKDOWN

A Condition Which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the Great Blood Tonic, Have Been Curing for Years.

There is no more perplexing trouble for a physician to treat than debility cases, especially in women, in which The there is no acute disease but in which the patient every day sinks lower and lower despite changes of medicine and similar experiments.

That Dr. Williams' Pink Pills wift restore health under these conditions is no speculation but the fact has been proved in hundreds of cases similar to that of Mrs. Sarah Ramsey, of 1008 St. John St., Litchfield, Ill. She says

"I never felt well after my first child was born. I had a gnawing pain in my stomach and could not hold any food down. My head ached a great deal and sometimes the pain went all through my body. I had dizzy spells so that I could not stand and seemed to be half blinded with pain. These spells would often last for over an hour. My blood seemed to be in a very poor condition and my hands and feet were like ice. I seemed to be growing weaker and weaker and could not get around to do my work in the house. I was extremely nervous and the least excitement would bring on a dizzy spell.

"For a number of years I was under a doctor's care but seemed to get no better. I had heard about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I began to take them. I soon felt better and gained in weight and strength. My nerves are strong now and I am a well woman

THE MAD MOTORIST.

He dreamed of carburetors, cranks,
And tanks and steering wheels,
And tires and wires and other things
They use in automobiles.
He slept in goggles, I am told,
Stiff leather sheets between,
His favorite tipple, too, they say,
Was dashed with gasoline.

But every time he took a spin, Behold! his madness grew, His sole ambition soon became To make a record new. And so one morning when he left His pleasant villa's door, He pulled the lever back so far That it could move no more.

With speed terrific soon he left
The town and state behind.
And ceased to journey on the ground,
But traveled on the wind.
He skimmed the surface of the sea. The mountains proved no bar, And when he passed the people said: "There goes a shooting star."

When he had circled twice the globe,
Upon the final lap,
He found the edges of the world
Umarked on any map;
And did he stop? Not he, indeed,
But fearless of a spill,
He shot away in space, and there
No doubt is going still.

The Value and Importance of Ethical Remedies.

Remedies which physicians sanction for family use, as they act most beneficially and are gentle yet prompt in effect, and called ethical, because they are of

Known Excellence and Quality and of Known Component Parts. To gain the full confidence of the Well-Informed of the world and the approval of the most eminent physicians, it is essential that the component parts be known to and approved by them, and, therefore, the California Fig Syrup Company has published for many years past in its advertisements and upon every package a full statement thereof. The perfect purity and uniformity of product which they demand in a laxative remedy of an ethical character are assured by the California Fig Syrup Company's original method of manufacture, known to the Company only.

There are other ethical remedies approved by physicians, but the product of the California Fig Syrup Company possesses the advantage over all other family laxatives that it cleanses, sweetens and relieves the internal organs on which it acts, without disturbing the natural functions or any debilitating after effects and without having to increase the quantity from time to time.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of Syrup of Figs, and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent of family laxatives, and as its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well-Informed of the world to be the best of natural laxatives, we have adopted the more elaborate name of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtlessly it will always be called for by the shorter name of Syrup of Figs; and to get its beneficial effects, always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company-California Fig Syrup Co.plainly printed on the front of every package, whether you simply call for Syrup of Figs, or by the full name, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, as Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is the one laxative remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company, and the same heretofore known by the name, Syrup of Figs, which has given satisfaction to millions. The genuine is for sale by all leading druggists throughout the United States in original packages of one size only, the regular price of which is fifty cents per bottle.

Every bottle is sold under the general guarantee of the Company, filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., the remedy is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906.
