FOREIGN TRADE PROBLEM.

Any Concession Made to Germany Must Be Granted to Other Nations. exporting country on the globe. Any which is to a large extent relying upon our markets. The products which European countries send to us are almost entirely composed of manufactured wares which come into competition with our own manufactured products. On the reverse of the mutual trade situation we send to Great Britain, Germany and other countries of Europe our raw cotton and our foodstuffs chiefly, and these they must have. The situation is not one, therefore, in which Germany or any other European nationality can assume a dictatorial attitude. In any readjustment, whether upon a limited or upon an extensive scale, the United States congress must provide a measure that will meet all emergencies and not simply some special emergency.-Baltimore American.

THINGS OVERLOOKED.

Miss Tarbell's Effort to Make Out

Case Against Protection. It is no argument against protection, as Miss Tarbell seems to suppose, to urge that the duty rates of today are years ago or higher than was thought necessary by Washington, Jefferson,

Hamilton and Clay. In the early days of the republic there was much protection in distance, time and cost of transportation. With the application of steam power to ocean going vessels, with the building of iron and steel steamships, with the increase of speed and of carrying capacity in the vessels that ply the ocean. distance, time and cost of transportation have been wonderfully reduced. Moreover, labor was cheaper in the colonies and subsequent states a hundred years ago than it was in Europe.

The protection that was adequate American labor and industry would be wholly inadequate today, when our standard of wages is twice or three times higher than that of Europe, when the width of the intervening ocean has been reduced by speed fully 80 per Dios, "river of the arm of God." cent and when it costs no more to transport a crate of merchandise from Hamburg to Omaha than it costs to haul the same weight of goods from Trenton to Omaha.

Miss Tarbell has overlooked all these considerations in her eagerness to make out a case against the American system of protection.

LOW NECK CLAMS.

A Joke That Met a Man Who Had a Feeble Sense of Humor.

An ex-governor of Wisconsin, famous as a story teller, once rejoiced a company of friends with an account of his experience at a New Jersey clambake. At the clambake there were plenty of people who enjoyed the speech of the Wisconsin man, but there was one serious minded listener on whom it fell

"I started off," said the ex-governor, telling the story, "by stating that I had eaten so many of their low neck clams that I wasn't in the least sort of condition for speechmaking. At that moment a long faced old man directly across the table scowled at me and said in a stage whisper:

"'Little neck clams, little necks, not low necks!'

"I paid no attention to him and went on with my remarks. After dinner he followed me out of the hall. "'You're from Wisconsin, aren't you?' he asked. "'Yes,' I answered. "'Don't have many clams out there, I reckon? "'Well,' I said, 'we have some, but

Guests' Generosity. A rather parsimonious gentleman got the better of some of his acquaintances, who were continually pestering him about his niggardliness. Goaded to desperation by their taunts, he one day invited his detractors to a dinner. When they made their appearance they were simply astonished at the magnificence of the treat provided. Apologies were tendered, and the miserly individual was warmly complimented as well. "Now, gentlemen," said the host when acknowledging their compliments, "you fluctuation in our tariff schedules is of have put my liberality to a test. A Monument to Her Oath.

In the market place of Devizes, a town in Wiltshire, England, there stands a monument erected by public subscription as a warning to falsifiers and irreverent persons, to commemorate the tragic death of a woman who, according to the inscription on the stone, was stricken dead as a punishment for her blasphemy. The story, as told among the country folk, is that one of the village women, becoming involved in a dispute over money with a merchant in the Corn Exchange, called higher than those of fifty or a hundred on the Almighty, with a fearful oath, to strike her dead if her statement was false. As she left the market place on her way home she fell dead upon the spot where the monument now stands, her perjured gains being afterward found in her tightly clinched hand.

DR. JOHN WATSON SUCCUMBS TO BLOOD POISON CAUSED BY TONSILITIS.

BRILLIANT LIFE CLOSES,

Was Known the World Over as a Philanthropist, Writer, Thinker, Lecturer and Educator.

BURLINGTON, Ia., May 6 .- [Special.]-Dr. John Watson, the noted English writer and lecturer, died at Mount Pleasant today of blood poisoning caused by tonsilicis. He had been on a lecture tour of the United States for some weeks. When he reached this state he secame so ill that on April 25 he was compelled to take to his bed. Mrs. Watson was with him when the end came.

Dr. Watson arrived in New York from England on February last, and the fol-lowing day occupied the pulpit of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, where he was warmly greeted and expressed his gratification for what he termed "An extraordinary tribute to a visiting clergy-man." After leaving New York Dr. Watson went to Ottumwa, Ia., and on April 25 it was announced from there that he had been taken seriously ill with tonsilitis, that he had been removed to a hospital and that all his engagements had been canceled. A sudden change for the worse took place May

En route Dr. Watson became ill and was compelled to cancel the date for the lecture. The illness which was declared to be tonsilitis, progressed favorably. Last Monday and Theselectures which to be up. Tuesday the patient was able to be up and around and transacted some business. Wednesday an abscess formed on the right ear. The system absorbed the pus, and in twenty-four hours developed serious symptoms.

Wife Finds Husband Dead.

Blood poisoning set in and on Saturday other abscesses started to form in the left ear and throat. The patient's condition was aggravated by a bad attack of rheumatism. This morning the doctors sent for a Chicago specialist who arrived this afternoon. Dr. Watson's end was sudden and unexpected and was hastened by a weak heart. His wife, who was his constant companion in his last illness, left the room at 11 o'clock this morning. She was gone about teen minutes, and returning found her husband lifeless.

Life of Dr. Watson.

Dr. Watson or Ian McLaren, as he was popularly called, was born in Manningtree, Essex, England in 1850. He went to the common schools of his village and later to Edinburgh university He was licensed to the church of Scotland in 1874 and his first charge as a clergyman was that of the Free church at Logicalmond Pertshire. In 1877 he went to Glasgow and in 1880 to Liver pool. He had begun to write by this time and when he began his work in iverpool he was known throughout

His Success as a Writer. He became tremendously successful as a writer and his novels such as "Beside the Bonnie Briar Bush," "The Days of Auld Lang Syne," "Kate Carnegie," "A Doctor of the Old School," "Afterwards," and "Rabbi Sanderson." This was Dr. Watson's first trip to America in nine years. Dr. Watson was greatly interested in hospitals. He was also active in educational work of all kinds, lecturing principally at the University of Liverpool and at one of the colleges of Cambridge university. had degrees from the University of Edin burgh, and from several German universities, and even from American Yale.

Nothing in America, judging from his comments on things America, was of greater interest to Ian Maclaren than the American newspapers. He knew their make-up and their tendencies in gather-ing news and placing it before their readers. He knew not a few of the edi-tors of the great American dailies and counted them among his friends. Dr. Watson was a lover of nature, an enthusiastic golfer.

Recently in Milwaukee.

Dr. Watson visited Milwaukee twice the first time being in 1899. His last visit was early in April of this year when he delivered a lecture on 'Books and Bookmen" at the Grand Avenue Congregational church. BRITISH CABINET SPLIT.

LONDON, May 6.—With all the principals in the negotiations bound to secrecy little is known as to the provisions of the Irish council bill, which Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, promised to explain in the House of Commons May 7. TRANS-ATLANTIC SHIPFING TIED UP.

STRIKE OF LONGSHAREMEN IN NEW YORK HAS BECOME VERY SERIOUS.

BIG STEAMERS DELAYED

Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, Hamburg and Coronia Still at Their Docks.

NEW YORK, May 7.-A serious tieup of trans-Atlantic shipping now appears imminent as a result of the strike of longshoremen at this port. Practically every one of the companies which operate big passenger and mail steamers between New York and European ports are affected and in addition many southern and coastwise steamer lines and a large number of docks used by tramp steamers are seriously inconvenienced. The spring travel to Europe was just getting under full headway. All the steamers due to sail within the next few weeks are booked to their capacity and any disarrangement or delay in sailings will cause much inconvenience both to travelers and the steamship companies.

Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse Delayed. The big steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse which was due to sail at 10 o'clock this forenoon had a full list of passengers, among them Capt. von Rebeur-Paschwitz, personal representative of Emperor William to Jamestown exposition. He will make a full report the Emperor of the exposition. The Kaiser Wilhelm did not leave her pier at the usual sailing hour, but a representative of the company declared that she would be delayed only a few hours and that she would get away later in the day. The other big steamers due to sail to-day are the Hamburg of the Hamburg-American line, and the Caronia of the Cunard line. Among the passengers on the Hamburg are Bishop Garvey of Al-

Ten Thousand Strike. According to the strike leaders, 10,-000 men have quit work. There was little change in the conditions on the various docks today. At the Hamburg-American and North German Lloyd piers in Hoboken about 400 men in all reported for work today. This is only a small percentage of the crews ordinarily employed by these companies. It was said that about 75 per cent. of those who reported to the Hamburg-American are new men, but that all the workers who went to the North German Lloyd piers are old hands who have deserted the strikers.

On the New York side of the river the Cunard line had 150 regular men and a few recruits at work. The other piers, however, were practically deserted as were the docks in South Brooklyn, where scores of tramp steamers dock. There it was claimed by the companies that at 1900 new men would be on duty during the day.

The troubles between the strikers and the Southern Pacific company were adjusted today. Under the new arrangement the men will receive 35 cents per hour instead of 30 cents for regular work and fifty cents an hour for night work.

May Delay Andrew Carnegie. The White Star liner Baltic, which is due to sail tomorrow and on which H. H. Rogers and Andrew Carnegie have en-gaged passage, is still being unloaded very slowly.

Four hundred and fifty men employed at the docks of the Savannah line joined the strikers today. The steamer City of Columbus, which was due to sail this afternoon, was still unloaded.

HARRY THAW'S FORTUNE. Accused Murderer Recipient of Second Largest Income of Any of William Thaw's Heirs.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 7.—Four trustees' accounts under the will of William Thaw were filed for audit in the office of the register of wills today. The Fidelity Trust and Title company trustees, prepared the accounts and will present them to the judges of orphans' court on Monday, June 3. The accounts are the second triennial ones which have been made since the trust company took the affairs of the legatees under William Thaw's will into their hands, six years

Harry Kendall Thaw is shown to have been the recipient of the second largest income of any of the heirs, nearly $60,-000 having been paid to him from this source alone. This sum was exclusive of the income which he derives from various other bequests under his father's will. The account of Harry Thaw shows there is due him, under the direct legacy allowed by his father, the sum of $439, 534.46. Fourth Bold Holp-Up.

This is the fourth time the North Coast east-bound has been held up in three years. The other three times this train was robbed near Bear Mouth, about eighty miles west of here. This morning's hold-up was near the scene of the robbery of the Burlington Flyer two years ago, in a section of country very rough and mountainous.

How Clow Met Death.

Engineer Clow was hauling his train at pretty fair speed, when he was signaled to stop. He brought his train to a standstill and immediately a fusillade of shots was heard. Clow knew then what was going on and opened the throttle wide for full speed ahead, but was dropped by a bullet from the gun of one of the robbers. The latter ran to their horses nearby and after firing wildly in an evident attempt to terrorize the trainmen rode away.

Case Full of Dynamite.

When the train was again brought to a stop, the fireman who had seen Clow fall to the floor of the cab, a search of the train was made. On the water tank a suit case filled with dynamite was found, clearly indicating that the robbers intended to get at the contents of

SAYS GOVERNMENT CAN SEIZE ROADS.

JUDGE FARRAR SHOWS PRESIDENT NEW CORPORATION WEAPON.

UNDER THE CONSTITUTION

By Provision Permitting Taking Over of Lands for Post Routes Nation Can Assume Rail Control.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 6.-Judge E. H. Farrar of New Orleans, who held a conference with the President yesterday, with the President's consent, made public a letter which he addressed to the chief executive of the nation on April 2, suggesting a way by which the national government can take over the entire control of all railroads and thus avoid the conflict with state authority in the shape of diverse and conflicting laws.

Judge Farrar, who is a deep student of the constitution, has found the authority for governmental control in section 8 of article 1 of the constitution, which grants to Congress power "to establish post-offices and post roads."

Congress, he says can adopt such means for the execution of this power as, in its judgment, are convenient and necessary. He quotes the constitution and supreme court decisions on this

May Take Full Control. This being the case, he figures, the federal government can assume full control of the railroad corporations and prevent all state authority. It may authorize corporations, he says, for the building and operating of roads to carry the mails of the United States, troops, supplies, etc., and incidentally to transport individuals and freight under the regulations fixed by Congress. These corporations being creatures of the United States and instrumentalities provided by it for the proper and convenient performance of its governmental functions, the United States can regulate them as fol-

3. Their operations down to the remotest particulars.
4. The qualifications of those employes, such as engineers, firemen, conductors, inspectors, brakemen, telegraph operators, etc., on whose capacity depends the safety of life and property. All of these men can be subjected to government control and license, and for incapacity and misconduct, their licenses may be revoked.

Penalties Fixed by Law.

5. The misconduct of officials and employes in the performance of their duties can be restrained by criminal statutes.
6. These corporations can be shielded from all state interference and control.

organize these corporations must be pitched on some grant of power in the constitution which is not only exclusive, but which in its exercise is all pervading.

The power to regulate commerce among the states and with foreign nations is too narrow for such purposes, because there is an immense mass of commerce in this country which is entirely beyond the control try which is entirely beyond the control of the Congress. Transportations as an element of commerce can only be regulated by the Congress in so far as it is interstate or foreign transportation. There is an impose mass of transportation which is also also as the congress of transportation which is also as the congress of transportation which is also as the congress of transportation. nense mass of transportation which is absolutely intra-state, and over which the Congress, by virtue of its commercial pow-er, has no jurisdiction.

But the power to establish post roads is coextensive with the limits of the United States. It enters into every remote corner of the territory of the United States and extends from every point within the territory to every other point therein. It gives the government power to establish a post road from every point to every other point; to nationalize these roads; to provide all the terms and conditions for their use, and operation and to create corporations as instruments to facilitate the government in the performance of this exclusive function.

I believe that the authors of the constitution, in contemplation of the vast distances separating the parts of this republic from each other, granted this exclusive power to the federal government in the expectation and belief that the whole country would be knit together by highways constructed and operated by the central government in the full knowledge that such highways, while having for their primary object the transportation of the mails would necessarily be used, secondarily and incidentally, for the transportation of freight and passengers, just as from time immenorial the stagecoach, which carried the mail, also carried passengers and freight.

CROP SHORTAGE IS BIG

WINTER WHEAT DEFICIENCY IS 100,000,000 BUSHELS.

Corn Acreage, However, Is Largest Ever Known in Kansas and Oklahoma.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 6.-The unseasonable weather which has prevailed throughout the grain sections of the west has radically changed the situation in the grain markets. At the same time the reports from various sections are so contradictory that commission houses are unable to find out how much damage is done. There is, however, the belief that the crop is short compared with last year, both in wheat and oats. The estimates of the deficiency run as high in winter wheat as 100,000,000 bushels. The reports regarding the damage inflicted by the green bug are conflicting. The insect is said to be spreading gradually, but whether or not its ravages will be serious from now on, is a question of which there is a wide difference of opinion.

It is said that the corn acreage in Kansas and Oklahoma this year will be the largest ever known, because of the plowing up of oats and wheat, the ground being later seeded with corn. ST. PAUL, Minn., May 6.-While crop conditions in the northwest are backward so far as seeding is concerned on account of the late cold weather the condition is not by any means hopeless according to reports which have been received in the crop reporting department of the Northern Pacific railroad at headquarters here. In an effort to bring about a peaceful settlement of the strike a committee of the Civic league called upon President Calhoon last night and urged him to sub-mit the differences between the company and the union to arbitration. The reply received was that the cars would so be running again and the committee was urged to see that no opposition we fered to their peaceful operation.

The car men voted to strike after vainly trying to induce the company to grant an eight-hour day and a nat wage The strikers have been reenforced by the stationary nremen, who demand recognition of their union and an increase of wages from $2.70 to $3 per day.

No Trouble Yet. Notices have been posted in all the car barns of the company that all employes will be expected to report for duty on Tuesday morning or themselves discharged. The situation so far has been peaceful and there are mindications of impending trouble. FRIENDS HELP.

St. Paul Park Incident.

"After drinking coffee for breakfast I always felt languid and dull, having no ambition to get to my morning duties. Then in about an hour or so a weak, nervous derangement of the heart and stomach would come over me with such force I would frequently have to lie down.

"At other times I had severe headaches; stomach finally became affected and digestion so impaired that I had serious chronic dyspepsia and constipation. A lady, for many years State President of the W. C. T. U., told me she had been greatly benefited by quitting coffee and using Postum Food Coffee; she was troubled for years with asthma. She said it was no cross to quit coffee when she found she could have as delicious an article as Postum.

"Another lady, who had been troubled with chronic dyspepsia for years, found immediate relief on ceasing coffee and beginning Postum twice a day. She was wholly cured. Still another friend told me that Postum Food Coffee was a Godsend to her, her heart trouble having been relieved after leav-

Blew Up Home of Fellow Countryman Walter Charles Davis Uses Revolver on Mother - in - Law and Wife of Giovanni Family with Whom He Resided.

> SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 7 .-Walter Charles Davis, a carpenter, in a fit of insanity today, shot and killed a family of six persons with whom he resided at 414 Pierre street in this city. The dead:

BUSH, ORSON R., aged 57, his wife and their young son.

BARD, W. S., a carpenter with relatives in St. Louis and Denver.

ZINTON, M. E., a surveyor, recently from New York.

CAROTHERS, MRS. LILLIAN D., an elderly woman who boarded in the house.

Davis is under arrest.

Spared One Girl. One lodger in the house escaped. She was a girl of 17. Davis pointed the gun at her and was preparing to shoot when he said she resembled his daughter, so he spared her life.

Davis and his victims all resided with the Bush family who conducted a boarding house. Davis' home was in Farmersville, near Visalia, this state, where he has a wife and six children. He has been working here as a carpenter since the fire.

Fancied Plot to Kul Him. The shooting was done with a double barreled shotgun. Davis, who slept in the same room with young Bush and Bard, arose shortly after 5 o'clock and after arming himself with the gun, shot his two room mates. Then he visited each room in turn, killing the occupants. The shots attracted a large crowd and a rush was made on as he was attempting to reload his weapon and he was overpowered and turned over to the police and taken to the detention ward of the hospital.

Davis fancied that the people in the house had formed a plot to kill him and take his money.

Police Riot Call Turned In. When the policemen came to arrest Davis he fought like a demon and a riot call was turned in. Seven officers responded in an automobile. Two of the officers engaged Davis in a conversation of the officers of tion while the others got behind him and pinioned his arms. He was then removed to the detention hospital.

Treaty with United States Abrogated-American Newspapers Affected by New Rates.

OTTAWA, Ontario, May 7 .- [Special.] -The existing postal treaty between Canada and the United States expires by limitation at midnight tonight, the Dominion government having notified the Washington authorities of its desire to have the treaty abrogated.

Second class mail matter, including newspapers, magazines and books, is the only matter that will be affected by the change. On this class of matter coming from the United States Canada will advance the rate from 1 to 4 cents pound. The effect will be according to all expectations that the circulation of American newspapers and magazines in the Dominion will be considerably cut down. The real cause for the change, is probably to be found in the loud and continued protest of Canadian merchants that the advertisements of American merchants in the magazines and newspapers so freely circulated on this side of the border resulted in taking vast sums of money out of the pockets of Canadians and putting it into the pock-ets of merchants in the United States to the consequent loss of Canadian mer-

Vito Found Terribly Butchered-Italian Denies Guilt.

NEW YORK, May 8.-Mrs. Maria Vito, and her mother, Mrs. Maria Brignon, were literally slashed to pieces with razors in their east side home early today. Giovanni Vito, the husband of the younger woman, is under arrest, charged with the crime. It is alleged that he killed the women after a quarrel which followed their refusal to give him money. Vito denies that he is guilty, and maintains that the women were killed by two men who broke into the house and with whom he himself had a struggle in do. men who broke into the house and with whom he himself had a struggle in defence of his life. He exhibited to the police a cut on one of his hands which he declares was inflicted by one of the murderers. His story is substantiated by his 3-year-old son. The police give the story little credence. All the doors of the apartment were locked when the police arrived. Inside they found Vito standing in the center of the room. Blood was everywhere, and on the floor lay the body of Mrs. Vito, her head nearly severed. The body was frightfully slashed. M. Kurino, the Mikado's Minister in Paris, Makes Important Admission as to Treaties.

PARIS, May 8 .- M. Kurino, the Japanese minister, in an interview today is quoted as making the important statement that the series of treaties between Great Britain, France, Russia and Japan, guaranteeing the territorial status quo in the far east, implied an engagement to prevent other countries from acquiring territory there.

Minister Kurino denied that the Franco-Japanese entente was in any way aimed at the United States, adding:

"Japan, in spite of the San Francisco incident, has always been most symmeincident, has always been most sympa-thetic to the United States because she was the first to treat the Japanese peo-ple on a footing of equality. If Japan could obtain advantages from an under-standing with the United States it is entirely probable that the government at Tekio would not hesitate to negotiate with Washington."

Continuing M. Kurino said that as Germany had no possessions in the far east, Kiao Chou being simply leased Chinese ground, a treaty with her similar to the one between Japan and France would be useless.

ELECTION IN BALTIMORE.

Democrats Overthrow Republican Administration and Recapture City-Other Elections.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 8.-F. Clay past four years. Timanus, Republican mayor of Baltimore, who, as president of the council, acceded to office when Mayor McLane committed suicide soon after the big fire, was defeated for re-election yesterday by J. Barry Mahool, the Democratic candidate, and the remainder of the Democratic city ticket was victorious.

The returns indicate that the breach in the Republican ranks was by no means healed. Friends of ex-Congressman Wachter, who was defeated by Timanus in the primaries, cut the ticket despite the efforts of Wachter to hold them in line. In the strong Wachter wards there was a large falling off in the Republican vote.

A feature of the election was the victory of Harry B. Cummings, the negro, who seconded the nomination of President Roosevelt at the national convention. Cummings was a member of the city council several years ago. His vote, however, fell considerably below that given to Timanus in his ward.

There was a general revolt among the negroes early in the day. Many of them refused to vote unless they were Many of paid, and learning of this, it is alleged, the Democrats made overtures to them, dealing with them in bunches.

Glass bath tubs are being made in Germany and are said to have advantages over the metal and enamel, the principal one being that they are much cheaper. They are made in a solid piece, and one can be turned out complete in about five minutes.

During excavation near Prospect Park, Reading, England, a workman struck his pick against something hard, and on removing the clay he unearthed a quern, or hand mill, which had probably come from the neighboring Romano-British city of Silchester, which was on the great trade routes. The relic has been deposited in the Reading museum. The coal-testing plant of the Geological Survey, established a few years ago, has proved that much of the present waste from coal-mines can be utilized to great advantage. For example, slack coal and other waste sizes can be formed into briquets, which for power-supplying purposes are usually superior to lump coal from the same mines. Another product of the mines which the miners have always regarded as waste is "bone" coal, which contains more than 45 per cent of ash. This, it has been shown, can be usefully employed in gas producing. It is believed that old dumps will also prove available for this purpose.

The caves of southern France are the most remarkable in the world for their wall pictures, made by prehistoric men, who were contemporary with the mammoth, the rhinoceros and the reindeer in that country. Some of the pictures are engraved in the rock, some are painted with different colors. They usually represent extinct animals, such as cave-lions and cavebears. A faithful representation of the rhinoceros, with its two horns of unequal length, is found in a cavern at Font-de-Gaume. The prehistoric artists made their paint of ocher of various shades, pulverized and mixed in mortars. Keeping an Extract Book.

Everyone who reads a good deal is shocked and discouraged to find how little he remembers of it all. He talks bitteriy about "losing his memory," and sees doddering im"growing old," and sees doddering imof mind and his I must not have my becility just ahead of him.

This is all nonsense. It is only the exceptional mind which in these "giddypaced times" can retain much of what passes through it. Everybody forgets. if any one really wants to remember anything he must take some special measures in order to do

There are, as we all know, memory You can go to them if you like, pay their price, and perhaps derive some benefit. The very fact of their weakness which they profess to correct. It is really not too much to say that we so much to think of in these that nobody is able to remember half that he wishes to. The memory docare sadly needed, and probably they do some good. They might possibly do more if there were more people who had the time and money to spend

The memorandum is an absolute necessity in the conduct of business. By means of it, the general lack of memory is largely remedied. The same method may be applied to our reading; but comparatively few who derstand the use of it only a merehandful are willing to put it into practice.

This is too bad; for, say what you will

The man who does not read lacks the crowning What Dr. Crothers fears is like ly to become "the lost art of reading" must be mastered by the one who would enter the sacred portals of the deep and quiet thought of the best minds. Even if one cannot read much beyond the laily newspapers and the monthly magazines, he can surely read four or five good books each year. Keep one at hand, where you can pick it up easily, and read a few pages at a time. Even a page a day is batter than retired.

and here is something which you can do:
Get a blank book, and, as you read, write down in it the choicest sentiments or most important facts, noting carefully author and page. The quotation, if sparingly and judiciously used, is most useful and illuminating—but most of us can do little with the quotations collected by others. Choose your own—those which fit and explain your own line of thought, yourself adjudge the cream. You will find yourself taking up your extract book—or, as it is often called, your commonplace book-over and over.

You will soon know its contents almost v heart. They will become a part of your own thinking-often helping you on to heights which you could never have reached without them. As Churton Col-lins reminds us, "How inadequately and imperfectly was Shakespeare's message to mankind understood till it found an interpreter in Coleridge, and in those who have since lighted their torches from his! * * * Who of us can ever forget the hour when Carlyle's burning words made the 'Divine Comedy' become articulate to us and revealed what solace, sustainment and inspiration might be found in its stern gospel?"

may light for you a whole tract which you had had to travel and which had been as dark as night. You will love that sentence. Do not fail to keep it near at hand in your extract book. If you really want to get any sort of permanent culture from your reading, and to weave its results into your own thinking, there is probably no way on earth so good as keeping an extract book. Before you are aware, you will have amassed several, and will know them pretty much by heart. And that is well.

What to Plant in Angle of the House and Porch.

Angles, crude exteriors and harsh outlines, all are amenable to the gardener's skill, and the value of vine and shrub in softening the angle in a dwelling is realized by many. The first choice of vine is the Chinese wisteria, producing a profusion of bloom in long, drooping clusters of lavender-blue in late spring and early summer; sometimes again, though less freely, in autumn. Two stands of mefreely, in autumn. dium-sized wire attached to heavy, home-made wire staples driven into the ground, and spreading in V-shape, to a screw ring on either side of the angle above and just under the eaves, furnish support, and the strong shoots, taking hold, afford counter-support in themselves. A lovely curtain of living green is furnished the little south window under the eaves during the heated months, and a charming home for the song-birds, owners by Do You Know right of possession. For an angle created by a porch or veranda, a vine of less rampant growth should be selected. Just the place for a clematis; and Clematis Jackmani, the criterion of hardness in this family, proves most striking, with its immense flowers of intense purple hue, and a success under the most ordinary culture. A trellis of simple, woven wire supports this vine admirably, the leaf-stems taking firm hold of the wires, and, thus supported, its free-blooming habit renders it perfect sheet of most striking color. Supplement this vine with Clematis panculata for the end of the porch, or with Hall's honeysuckle for fine effect. The last is one of the cleanest vines, free from all insect pests, a continuous producer of delightfully fragrant flowers, ducer of delightfully fragrant flowers, and its foliage, evergreen in the south, remains green until Christmas in the north. These vines, supported upon stretches of woven wire, have a very softening effect as a screen for walls, allowing the stems to interlace and mingle their flowers naturally. Their beautifully cut and varied foliage removes the harshness of bare stretches of wood, stone or brick, heightens all good architectural effects and successfully conceals defectives ones. The roots of these vines should be given a protective mulch after the ground remains frozen during the day, usually about December in north, although no arbitrary rules as to the time can be given with the wide variation in seasons and localities. The wistaria requires no laying down, bloom-

Your Public Institutions?

Of course it is very hard to advise clubs which are perhaps 3000 miles apart as to details in such matters, but I shall be quite safe in one suggestion which will apply whether a club be on the Atlantic shore or the Pacific shore or by the side of the Mississippi river. In every county, in every state, perhaps in the town in which you live, there is some public institution in which people are trying to carry out the inunctions of the twenty-fifth chapter of Matthew—There is a prison or a hospital or an orphan home or a home for aged people or a "poorhouse." Still it is not outside the province of a woman's club to see who the official visitors are, and to determine whether they are the best peo-ple for such visitation. In nine cases out of ten, when you are arranging for such visitation, there ought to be at least one woman on the board of visitors. Thus in the formal examinations at prisons or of almshouses or of school houses there certainly ought to be in every place one or more women among the official examiners. Has our club in steady action taken care that there shall be in this region where we live?—Exchange.

What is the most popular quality in woman? "The question was suggested," writes a Parisienne, "by a cosmopolitan reunion of friends in Paris one night this week, and the various opinions supplied food for thought. The European countries were well represented—half a dozen Parisians, four Spaniards (two of each sex), a Russian who had been a famous beauty in the years that are gone by, and one Irish woman, who had to represent the British Empire in her own person. "The Parisians without exception declared that 'esprit' was the quality which glean most love; the Spaniards voted for beauty and the Russian for personal magnetism. The Irish woman tentatively uttered the single word It was a thoroughly enjoyable 'tact. evening, and everyone took part in the discussion with real pleasure, but when 'tact' was the subject matter it was a case of eleven voices to one. They all agreed that this quality, though eminent ly desirable, was too impersonal to at ract love.

"I wonder if readers of this paragraph will also deride 'tact' as a magnet for love. Personally, I think it represents the axle on which the wheel of happy life revolved. Beauty is adorable—the best introduction a woman can have, and one which gives her the right of entry into most places—but it is not enough. 'Esprit' is a dangerous will-o'-the-wisp, which leads its worshippers into uncomfortable positions, for a noted wit can rarely resist the temptation to say clever thing, even when it gives untold to some other person.

"If you think the matter over," continues the critic. "you will see that 'tact' has much to do with the attracting and capturing of the mischievous little biind god! The most beautiful wom-an in the world will quickly become undesirable if she does not take the trouble to rub one's fur the right way: or, at least, if she does not avoid rub-bing it backward! 'Esprit' is a delightful quality in a salon; but do we care to live with it when life is clouded over and when the sun of success refuses to shine? Tact—at its best—is a gift of nature; certainly it cannot be learned. course, we can train ourselves to avoid giving offence, and we can cul-tivate a 'sweet manner,' but the true tact which attracts universal love is born, not made, and of all nature's gifts is the most desirable. "The woman who possesses it will never give or permit one kiss too many; she will never ask undesirable questions; she will never see the things which she is not expected to see

"The woman of inborn tact is a creature of whom men never tire, to whom women turn in moments of trouble, to whom girls cling. If she be beautiful and witty, so much the better; but she will not let either of these qualities leap to the surface. It is a well known fact that forgiveness may follow in the train of physical injury, but never in that of wounded vanity; it is equally true that most persons deeply resent being reminded of weaknesses when the moment is past. The woman of tact sees all—and sees nothing; hears all—

Right here lies a fault so common, so demoralizing, so far-reaching in its effects, that the entire band of American women should rise up to conquer it, first in themselves individually, and then, by continued and active effort, in their fanulies and their neighbors. After that, the

The forgetting habit is criminally care less, and should be regarded as such. Chronic offenders should be forced to use writing-pads, noting down the important promises or duties of the day, and crossing off each one as fast as it has been fulfilled. The effect in the way of achievement would soon be evident and that on the disposition and char acter of the community could hardly fail to be equally marked. > LEWIS HARCOURT, who was recently elevated to the British cabinet, was born April 26, 1863. He is the oldest surviving son of the late Liberal leader, Sir William Vernon Harcourt. Lewis Harcourt was elected to Parliament two years ago and it is said that he would have been included in the cabinet when the present government was formed if he had then possessed a little more par-liamentary experience. But he had not at that time made his first speech in the House of Commons. Since then, however, he has made a most excellent record. He is a first-rate speaker, and he gave good evidence of his skill to pilot a bill through the House last session when he was in charge of the voting bill. It is said he will trusted with the new land bill to be in-troduced shortly. Mr. Harcourt was married in 1899 to the daughter of the late Walter H. Burns of New York.

JOHN ELBERT WILKIE, chief of the United States secret service, was born in Elgin, Ill., April 27, 1860. After graduating rom the Chicago public schools he went to work as a reporter on the Chicago Times, now defunct, but at that time one of the greatest newspapers of Amer-ca. Later Mr. Wilkie joined the force of the Tribune and remained with that paper until 1896 when he resigned and went to London to engage in the bank-ing and steamship business. But within 1. Flying Fish Struck Sailor.

When the liner Korea was bowling along on a smooth sea in the tropics be-tween Yokohama and Honolulu a flying fish struck Second Officer R. Allman as he stood on the bridge and caused him some little injury.

The fish was one of a large school and had flown to an unusual height at the time. Allman was at the moment taking an observation when he felt a blow on his right side. A hasty glance downward disclosed the flying fish, which lay on the bridge stunned from the impact with the officer's body.

Allman was not seriously hurt and he saved the flying fish, which is retained as a memento of his strange experience. The bridge of the Korea, where Allman stood, is about fifty feet above the surface of the sea.—San Francisco Chron-

ARC LIGHT FOR FINE TRAINS. Incandescent Globes Will Be Supplanted by Better Lamps.

Western railroads have begun to plan the installing of arc lights on passenger rains de luxe. These are to be operated on a battery of 50 cells, which will prevent fire or explosion following a wreck. The use of the incandescent electric ights on trains was regarded as a dis-tinct advancement, but the arc lights slow with a light so much whiter and tofter that they will be adopted by proressive lines. A test made in Chicago furing the week by one of the railroads was entirely satisfactory. The battery sample for a 50-hour run.

yesterday threatened to assume serious proportions.

The streets this morning were practically free of crowds. Police prevented the congregating of people.

Thornwell Mulaly, assistant to President Calhoun of the United Railways, said today that the company had a number of affidavits showing that the shooting yesterday was begun by persons in the crowd trying to obstruct the movement of street cars and not by the men who were operating them.

Business Is Paralyzed.

The strike already has seriously injured business. Many of the big retail stores have decided to open late and close early. Several restaurants have closed their doors, announcing that they will not reopen until the strike is settled. The theaters have also seen the advisability of temporary suspension and few places of amusement remain open.

The crippled telephone service adds to the gravity of the situation, which shows no immediate prospect of improvement. Out of the twenty-six men who fell wounded in yesterday's fight one death is already reported, that of James Walsh, who was shot through the head on Turk street near Eddy. Other deaths are expected as six others are in a serious MILWAUKEE STOCKYARDS REPORT.

In the streets made desolate by fire and earthquake a year ago blood flowed yesterday in the first desperate clash of the labor war.

The United railroads attempted to send seven cars through the burned district. One was killed, half a dozen seriously injured and a score received minor hurts. This was the cost of the attempt, which ended in failure after one of the wildest afternoons in the city's history.

He continues "in Helonias we have a medicament which more fully answers the above purposes than any other drug with which I amacquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent." Dr. Fyfe further says: "The following are among the leading indications for Helonias (Unicorn root). Pain or aching in the back, with leucorrhoea; atonic (weak) conditions of the reproductive organs of women, mental depression and irritability, associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women; constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys; menorrhagia (flooding), due to a weakened condition of the reproductive system; amenor hog (surpressed or absent monthly period), at sing from or accompanying an abnormal condition of the digestive organs and how mic (thin blood) habit; dragging sens from in the extreme lower part of the abdomen."

The Prospects for a Large Acreage to Be Sown in Wheat.

St. Paul, April 24, 1907.-Word has been received at the office of the Canadian Government in St. Paul that seeding has commenced at various points throughout Manitoba, Saskatchewan

The heavy snowfall during the past winter has left the ground in splendid shape for successful seeding operations. The fine weather of the past few days has taken much of the frost out of the ground, and during next week there will scarcely be a district in which the seeder is not being operated. The most optimistic conditions exist, and in all districts the farmers are busy getting things in shape. There will be a very large acreage sown in spring wheat, oats and barley. At many points throughout the three provinces the newcomers are busy unloading their stock and effects, working night and day in order to get on their farms and become active agencies in the effort to make the year 1907 the banner year in grain-producing in Western Canada. As compared with districts many hundred miles further south than this, it will be seen that Western Canada ranks amongst the first in the line of seeding operations for the present year. It is safe to say that farmers, who get in their crop before the 20th or 24th of May, will receive magnificent returns. UNUSUAL COLORS AND GOODS.

Some of the new shades are easily recognized by their names. Others can be identified only by a word or two associating them with better known colors.

Cedar brown is in several shades from the color of the bit of wood in a pencil to the richer shade of the cigar box. Leather color, according to Vogue, is taking to itself the yellow tone instead of the reddish shade that it might.

Columbine is a pinkish red and co-quelicot is almost a flame color. The shade of reseda shown this season is fairly bright and very soft and clear; it hovers between sage green and a deep emerald. Gobelin blue is a greenish gray blue, deeper than cadet and very attractive.

Jasper means black and white threads woven to give a steely color that has a two toned or soft effect. Hussar is a light blue, nearly a light navy. Dead leaf brown has a light, coppery glow, as dead oak leaves have with the sun shining brightly upon them.

Westminister gray is neither smoke nor steel gray, and Danish blue is a deep China blue. Orchid is a lovely yellow with a pinkish cast, about as dark as amber yellow. Indian red is a brownish red of a medium tone, and bleu moril is a lovely rale blue toning gray. a lovely pale blue toning gray.

Much confusion ensues often from the differences between the several names given to one color; in some places the French terms will be used and the ma-terials also will be "imilarly designated. In other instances English names will be used for both and in still others coined words of fancy names that are sometimes changed during the season.

Marquisette, for instance, is woven like a very fine grenadine and Mexicana is a sheer, barred muslin with printed floral designs. Spider silk is a silk and cotton fabric in a loose poplin weave, printed also in floral designs. Eolienne is of the same nature. Plumetis is on is of the same nature. Plumetis is on the order of swiss muslin, with a little woven dot or allover design of sort, and this again is printed.

Organdie carreaux is plaided with slightly raised lines and epingline is a chiffon cotton fabric is poplin weave. Jacquard means a woven, brocaded design that is neither allover or else in detached figures; it is often women more lightly in some places than in others. Broche is a woven, raised design, more pronounced than jacquards, and ombre stands for shaded effects.

The ombre stripe, plaids, dots or figures this season, however, means that the stripe or plaid is formed of lines that graduate in size instead of the color graduate in size instead of the color deepening or paling, the lines also placed closer together or further apart to get the effect of shading by this contriving. In the dots or figures, the rim or outline varies in width in some and in others the sizes increase, but no difference is being shown in color, the identical shade being continued in each part.

Positions-Triple Link Notes.

To enforce a due observance of the law requires a knowledge of it and an officer of a lodge must not only have read it, but he must also be thoroughly familiar with it. How can any officer enforce the law if he does not know it himself? We have a great many members who are anxious to pass through the chairs, but do not prepare themselves for the positions, says the Independent Odd Fellow.

What It Means to Supreme Chancellor Barnes-Pythian Briefs.

Supreme Chancellor Barnes has defined Pythian knighthood as "the title assumed by a body of men who voluntarily banded themselves together into a fraternity with the object of elevating themselves and their fellow men in all that goes to make good citizenship in every sense of the word. They are pledged to the exercise of the Golden Rule in all their dealings with each other and to stand for all that will advance morality, virtue, intelligence and happiness. They combat selfishness in all its forms and teach that each is in a large measure his brother's keeper. They stand for all that is good and pure and noble.
