The Way Henry Miller Rendered a Well Studied Line.

In Toronto, almost my first appearance on the stage, I was cast for the Earl of Shrewsbury in "Amy Rob-The title sounded imposing, and I felt quite important, although I had but a single line to speak. In answer to Queen Elizabeth's command. "I charge thee, my Lord of Shrewsbury, arrest that man," I was called upon to reply, "Whom does your grace mean?"

My perturbation over that line was probably more serious than anything in my subsequent career. What emphasis to give, what intonation to use, what manner to assume, gave me greater concern than I felt later over an interpretation of Hamlet. I repeated the line a thousand times, stressing first one word and then another, using this inflection and that, and getting into it every grade and shade of meaning. With what result? So far as I could learn afterward, I did not speak it at all on the opening night. The leader of the orchestra was the first person I broached on the subject.

"How did I speak my line?" I asked him after the play, longing for the encouragement none had vouchsafed to volunteer.

"I didn't hear you say anything at all," was his disheartening rejoinder. And neither did any one else whom I could discover.-Henry Miller in Bohe-

MISTAKEN OCCUPATIONS.

Do Not Continue In a Pursuit For Which You Are Not Fitted.

There is, in these alert days of competition, of quick opening and closing of places where bread may be earned and a path in which to go forward secured, no time for doing anything that one can't or that is of no moment when accomplished. Know for a certainty that never half the harm has come from a firm and dignified refusal to enter upon or to continue in a pursuit not fitted to one as from engaging in such pursuits. What loss the world would have sustained had Handel consented to become a lawyer, Turner to remain a barber, Claude Lorraine a pastry cook, Schiller a surgeon, Pascal paid the penalty of this neighborly a teacher of dead languages, as was intended by relatives. An Earthquake That Rocked the City November, 1755.

On November 18, 1755, "a little after 4 on a serene and pleasant night," Boston was roused by an earthquake which lasted nearly five minutes. A writer of the times gives an account of the catastrophe, and Rev. Henry White quotes it in his "Early History of New England:"

One hundred chimneys were leveled to the roofs of the houses and fifteen hundred were shattered in part. The streets were covered with bricks which had fallen. The ends of brick houses were thrown down.

It was first introduced with a noise like several coaches rattling over pavements, or rather like many cart loads of paving stones thrown down. The first motion was a strong pulsation, which threw my house upward. Immediately after a tremor succeeded; then instantly a quick vibration with sudden jerks followed.

The first view I had was of the steeples of the churches, and I was glad to see them standing, but the spindle and vane of Faneuil Hall market were thrown down.

Many persons ran into the streets, shrieking with apprehension of its being the last day or the judgment, and some thought they heard the last trumpet sounding and cried for mercy. The beast creatures lowed, the birds fluttered in surprise, and all the animal creation was filled with terror. Every face looked ghastly, and many knees smote together. Never was such a scene of disaster in New England be-

WANA FOUND IN SWAMP.

Spot-Lad Had Been Strangled to End His Crying.

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 24,-Hidden away two miles in the heart of a big swamp north of the city the headless body of Walter Lawana, aged 8 years, was found yesterday. The boy was kidnaped by "Black Hand" Italians two weeks ago and held for $6000 ransom.

A week ago one of the kidnapers, fear ing discovery, strangled the child. The body was then carried far into the swamp, where it might never have been found but for the confession today of Ignazio Campisciano.

The boy's neck is supposed to have been broken when he was strangled, causing the head to become separated from the body when decomposition set in. The head was found a short distance from the body. As a result of Campisciano's confession five Italians, two of them women, are under arrest. Campisciano, who had been under suspicion, was taken from his home in St. Rose, twenty miles from New Orleans, at midnight Saturday night and carried into the woods by a combined force of officials and vigilantes, who had the search in the murder. He said that about the time of a massmeeting in New Orleans more than a week ago, held for the purpose of prosecuting search for the boy, these men, who were in a vacant house in St. Rose, became frightened and consulted about what to do with the child. PREMIER ASKS CURB ON PEERS.

Campbell Bannerman Asks Less Power Be Given House of Lords-Commons Is Representative.

LONDON, June 24.-Premier Campbell-Bannerman today before the fullest house of the session moved the adoption of his resolution curtailing the power of the House of Lords. The galleries also were crowded, those present in that part of the house including many peers who were anxious to observe the beginning men were released. of the attempt to reduce their power to control legislation.

The resolution was as follows:

That in order to give effect to the will of the people as expressed by their elected representatives, it is necessary that the power of the other house to alter or reject bills passed by this house should be so restricted by law as to secure that within the limits of a single Parliament the final decision of the House of Commons shall prevail."

Replying to a question the premier said it was not proposed that the resolution dealing with the House of Lords should be moved in the upper house after its discussion in the House of Commons had been completed. He emphasized the fact that the resolution embodies the principle of the predominance of the House of Commons and said that in adopting this course they were following certain historic precedents. certain historic precedents.

The resolution itself, he said, even if carried, would not have the effect of law or procure the desired results; a bill would be necessary and the govern-ment would exercise its discretion as to when it should be introduced. His majesty's ministers now only desired to test the opinion of the house and make sure they had the House of Commons behind them. They held the view that the House of Commons alone was authorized to express the country's sent ments. He declared that the only course open was to recognize ungrudgingly the constitutional authority which resided in the House of Commons.

AWFUL RIDE AT FALLS.

Police Officers Tear Over Niagara in Runaway Balloon-Narrowly Escape Electrocution.

NIAGARA FALLS, June 24.-Detective Callinan and Patrolman Roeder faced death for twenty minutes yesterday 400 feet up in the air in the basket of a captive balloon. The mechanism which brings the balloon to earth went wrong and the gas bag shot skyward. Roeder, crazed with fear, wanted to jump, but Calliman drew his revolver and threatened to shoot him if he attempted to go over the side of the basket. A sudden gust of will came and carried the balloon out over the rapids of Niagara river just above the falls and the anchor went tearing through chimneys and roofs.

As the last effort was being made to bring the wild bag to earth the basket ran against the high power cables that carry electricity from the power house across the gorge, and the men dropped into the basket just in time to avoid elec-

The guide rope threatened to burn in two against the cables, but by careful handling of those on the ground the bag was finally brought down and the two

BUDAPEST, June 24 .- While endeavoring with the assistance of several farm hands to remove a ballocn from the roof of his home in the vicinity of Debruczin, where it had fallen during the night, the owner of the house and four other persons were killed and half a dozen injured by the explosion of gas in the bag. There was no basket attached to the bag and a search was instituted to find it. Finally it was found some fifteen miles away, and in it were three persons, all shooting created dead. Evidently the basket had become financial circles.

Lives of Chicago Bables. Mrs. Marshall Field is to lay aside her social obligations to assume the duties of a Chicago milk inspector. The widow of Chicago's merchant prince, society leader and possessor of millions, has caused a stir among the 400 by accepting a position on a civic health commission appointed by Mayor Busse. All other members of the board are men. Her new duties will carry Mrs. Field into the tenement houses and hospitals of the city and she will doubtless become a rival for sociolog!cal honors of Miss Jane Addams and Mrs. Potter Palmer.

The appointment of the commission is the result of the milk crusade which was waged in Chicago during the winter. At that time it was found that over half of the milk consumed in the city was infected with germs, and that that was the cause of a scarlet fever epidemic.

ALL AFRICANS NOT BRUTAL.

Moundans Bear Farming Tools Instead of Warlike Weapons.

That the native African is not always and invariably a poor, half naked brute has been proved by the reports and photographs brought back to France by the "Moll mission," an expedition sent to the French Congo about eighteen months ago for the purpose of determining some unsettled boundary questions. South of Lake Chad Commandant Moll discovered a peaceful race of agriculturists and shepherds, intelligent and hospitable, ripe for cultivation, living in pastoral simplicity.

Everything about the Moundans is picturesque and interesting. They are a vigorous and handsome race and very brave, but, contrary to the almost universal practice of the Africans in regions where white rule has not been established, they never carry arms. On the contrary, the implement oftenest seen in their hands is a hoe. Nevertheless, they appear to have descended from warlike ancestors and were probably driven southward from their original mountain home by some conquering chief. Reminiscences of this past may be seen in their semimilitary architecture, which does not resemble that of any of the neighboring peoples. At a little distance one of their villages looks like a fortified

The Moundan village, of which Lere is an excellent type, is inclosed by a series of round towers connected by walls from two to three meters in height. Inside, parallel to the inclosing walls, is a circle of cupolas, each one pierced with a single hole. These are the granaries, the most important buildings of the town.

They are erected on piles supported on great stones, which places them beyond the reach of termites and rodents as well as of dampness, and the only entrance is through the hole in the vaulted roof. Between the outer wall and the granaries are the homes of the people, while the residence of the chief faces the entrance.

The Life Plant. Visitors to Bermuda often bring back to this country as a souvenir of their trip the leaves of an interesting plant of the house leek family. It is known as the life plant, and when the leaves begin to shrivel and fade they send out little shoots which in turn bear leaves that continue to grow and remain fresh and green for months. The leaves are about four inches long, rich green in color and of a smooth waxen texture. If you take one of the leaves and pin it to the wall indoors, it will begin to sprout within three or four days, be it winter or summer. At first the top portion of the leaf will begin to wither and shrivel up, and this is likely to continue until the upper half has lost its green color. Then tiny white roots will sprout from the edges, and in time diminutive green leaves ill appear on these. These little offhoots will sometimes grow to be an nch long and contain several pairs of eaves. Five Blocks Will Enable a Man Lift Sixteen Hundred Pounds. If you were commanded to lift 1,600 pounds when your normal lifting strength was equal to only 100 pounds, how would you go about it? How would you increase your strength sixteen times?

It can be done easily. Have you ever studied the effectiveness of pulleys; do you know that the average man may equal a Sampson simply by employing a rope and a few pulley blocks?

As early as the sixtenth century methods of augmenting power through pulleys was demonstrated. Since then this wonderful mechanical aid has proved of vast benefit to man. The man, then, who would rival the feats of Samson must call the humble but powerful pulley to his aid.

Of course, he can do a great deal with the lever, although he may not, as Archimedes believed could be done, loosen old Earth from her moorings. powerfully augmented strength he would turn to the pulley.

Suppose that by the use of two pulleys you were able to lift 100 pounds from the floor, and you wished to lift twice the weight. Were you to take a double block and use it above one single block, you could lift 200 pounds.

By the use of two single pulleys the load is supported by only one rope; by the use of a double pulley, thus doubling the rope back on itself, its lifting power, as well as your own, is increased.

If you used two double pulleys, you could increase the lifting capacity to asked: 300 pounds by doubling the lines around the pulleys. In proportion to the number of ropes supporting the load you can increase the weight.

To lift 400 pounds you would merely have to double your blocks. In draw-

From a purely mathematical standpoint the fine elements which enter into the facility of increasing weight without the necessity of additional lifting force are numerous.

A great deal depends upon the elasticity of the rope. With a stiff rope you would find much more difficulty in lifting a weight than with a flexible one. Even the friction of the rope as it glides over the pulleys must be taken into account.

The use of pulleys was demonstrated by Sevins, a Dutch engineer and physicist, who was born in Bruges in 1548 .-Philadelphia North American.

No doubt you have often seen men lifting great loads and immense boxes by means of pulleys and wondered how it could be done.

In building, the pulley is one of the most valuable pieces of mechanism. While looking at skyscrapers have you not wondered how the great iron beams were lifted to the dizzy heights?

Here, again, the pulley has done almost incredible work.

Still another way of using pulleys is to increase the number instead of doubling the winding capacity of single | that date on he was the most indusblocks.

By using two pulleys you will lift, possibly, 200 pounds. If you add another single pulley, you will be able to lift 400 pounds, twice the weight, without extra exertion.

By the use of four single pulleys you could lift 800 pounds, and with five pulleys 1.600 pounds.

Of course, the facility of lifting a heavy weight and the ease of increasing it depends upon the bearings of the three of a kind.

Orders Were Misunderstood. A misunderstanding of orders is said to have been the cause of the smashup visit for this summer to President and were it not for the fact that the train was not under full speed, a number of passengers might have been killed. The engine crew of the freight jumped and escaped uninjured, but the men in the cab of the passenger's engine were caught in the crash and both hurt.

Freight Was on Main Line.

The passenger train was north bound and was due to pass the freight at Lomira. A misunderstanding, it is said, caused the freight to be put on the main line instead of on the sidetrack. Expecting a clear track, the passenger train was coming out of town and increasing speed each moment when the freight pulled out on the main line coming to ward the passenger. Engineer Henry McCallum of the latter reversed his engine and applied the brakes, but the speed of the train was hardly checked before the two met head-on. men in the cab of the freight engine jumped clear of the locomotive in time to escape being caught, first applying

Judge Kendricks illustrated the wonderful moral and educational results of the fraternal work, the prime object of which is to protect and build up the home; therefore the fraternal organizations are performing a work of patriotism for their country. His speech was an appeal to the hearts of his audience, who received it with enthusiasm.

Mr. Patterson, who is in charge of the work for the peninsula, made a few remarks, with amusing anicdotes, of these gentlemen will be heartily re ceived by the local Maccabees whenever they return.

After the speaking, an excellent lunch was served, and following this ready to handle that little the large company enjoyed a social dance.

A Wayfaring Song. Oh, who will walk a mile with me Along life's merry way? A comrade blithe and full of glee,

Who dares to laugh out loud and free,
And let his frolic fancy play,
Like a happy child, through the flowers

That fill the field and fringe the way

Along life's weary way? A friend whose heart has eyes to see The stars shine out o'er the darkening And the quiet rest at the end o' the day; A friend who knows, and dares to say, The brave, sweet words that cheer the way Where he walks a mile with me.

And who will walk a mile with me With such a comrade, such a friend, I fain would walk till journeys end, Through summer sunshine, winter rain, And then? Farewell, we shall meet again! -Henry Van Dyke.

Pertinent "Don'ts" for the Woman Who Must Be Her Own Defender.

There are a few precautions that women can take to insure themselves against unwelcome instrusion of tramps and "flat workers." Most women are careless about the manner in which they lock windows and doors and leave signs about which the evil-disposed may know that they are easy victims. McClure's Magazine prints the following "don'ts" which are worthy of attention: Don't let mail accumulate in vestibule mail boxes. Have the janitor remove it when you are away, or it will serve as a notice to flat workers that you are out and the coast is clear.

Don't leave directions to your grocer on the back door. This is another tip to the burglar that you are out.

Finnish Women Lawmakers.

The success or failure of the nineteen such a victory when their sisters in lands that are supposed to be more progressive, have failed. But that doesn't detract any from the effect of the victory. It means that women are being recognized for their true worth in some parts of the world at least, and that sooner or later they will be placed on an equal footing with men in other nations. The principles of woman's suffrage are the same the world over, and the measures that the Finnish women legislators advocate Love of the beautiful should be created are identical with those that women in this country are fighting for. onditions over here, however, the men awmakers of Finland are said to be in avor of most of the proposed laws and he passage of all except a prohibition statute is practically certain.

Beauty may be the key to social victory in the ball room and parlor, but woman is forced to face world on her true merits, other qualifica-tions must be taken into consideration. That the people of Finland were among the first to recognize that fact, should raise them in the estimation of the equality-loving persons the world over. In view of the battle being waged in this country for equal rights, the stand taken by the Finnish women in favor of equal wages for both sexes for the same kinds of work, is particularly in-teresting. Indoor life is productive of all the ills induced by ozoneless and vitiated air—the most extreme manifestation being tuberculosis, that scourge of the sunless tenement—and the white-faced multitudes to be met with everywhere should be encouraged for the sake of their morals as well as their physical health to seek the green field and the sea where and go to far athletics of some shore, and go in for athletics of some kind. Cultivate Tact.

Tact is useful and agreeable all along the line; but it is most needed when you meet an old friend after a separation of months or years. Time has been busy with her as well as with yourself. Her hair has probably grown whiter and thinner, her face more wrinkled, her expression sadder. Why not expect all these little changes, and take them for granted? They are universal and omnipresent.

But your tactless friend approaches you with a beaming smile, after the five years of her absence, and says. "Well-it is the same dear Sarah! But how gray i have grown, dear! Haven't you been

You observe that her hair has also changed, and if you have a feline strain one woman actually did in the face of such a greeting. "Oh, yes, dear! Only the natural result of the lapse of time but how cruel that it should have stolen away that beautiful color that you used to have, and have made your temples so bald!"

In a small New England town, a devoted daughter of 50 or 60 took the sole care of her aged mother of 85, making her most comfortable and happy. One day the door bell rang. The daughter was delighted to receive an old lady in the parlor, who said that she had known the aged mother when they were both 16. They had taught school together. Then they had married, and separated; and they had not met in all the years

Ironing should be dispensed with when said of almost any infant. It seems as are usually pleasant things that may be said of almost any infant. It seems as though beauty in even one's own child might be missed or recognized—but it is not. Every child seems to look equally lovely to its fond parents—and they expect every beholder to exclaim with rap-ture at the matchless spectacle when their offspring is presented. Therefore,

There is no need of going to the lengths of the "professional society wo-man," whose vaulting ambition to say of the social machinery—and it is just as much the duty of the conscientious woman to study it as it is to know her alphabet. In fact, there is a theory which has a good deal to support it, that absence of tact is often only the presence of a hateful disposition. PROMINENT PEOPLE.

SENATOR CHARLES A. CULBER-SON of Texas, who is prominently men-tioned for minority leader in the upper branch of the next Congress, was born at Dadeville, Ala., June 10, 1855. His father represented the state of Texas in Congress for twenty-two years. The younger Culberson received his education at the Virginia Military Academy and later studied law at the University of Virginia. Returning to Texas after his graduation, he opened an office at Jefferson and engaged actively in the practice. While yet a very young man he appeared in the United States supreme court and argued the celebrated ease of Le Grande vs. the United States. involving the constitutionality of the Ku Klux act. At the age of 35 he was elected attorney general of Texas, succeeding James Hogg, and two years later he was re-elected. In 1894 he was elected governor, defeating the veteran, John H. Reagan, for the nomination. Two years later he was re-elected. During his term of office one of his con-spicuous acts was to banish the prize ring from Texas. In 1899 he was ele to the Senate to succeed Roger O. Mills. and in 1905 he was re-elected.

Returning to Canada, he devoted himself to agriculture at Alva farm, near Knowlton, and to a thorough study of public affairs. He was one of the founders of the Que bec Fruit Growers' association, and has been an active promoter in numerous agricultural societies and associations throughout his native provinces. With the exception of one session he has been in the House of Commons continuously since 1882, and as was naturally expect 1896, when the liberal government came into power. During the ten years or more that he has been at its head he has worked the department of agriculture up to a condition of high efficiency

ROBERT WILLIAM PERKS, a member of the British Parliament, who recently visited America to discuss the establishment of a worldwide Methodist Brotherhood, was born at Hammersmith, June 13, 1849. He was educated at Bath and at King's college, London. For twenty-five years he was a solicitor in partnership with Sir Henry Fowler, and has been prominently identified with a number of great industrial and engiwas the plan of the late Mr. Yerkes for the electrification of London's ground railways. The son of a Wesley-an minister, Mr. Perks early became imbued with a strong religious zeal and in spite of his numerous duties he has always found time to champion the cause of Methodism. He is credited, too, with being one of the wealthiest members the British House of Commons and has contributed liberally to many religious and missionary movements.

Senator La Follette's two most conspic uous qualities are his ability as an orator and his ability as a political organizer. He received his education at the University of Wisconsin and after his graduation in 1879 was admitted to the bar. From 1885 to 1891 he was a representative in Congress. As a member of the ways and means committee he had a prominent part in framing the McKinley tariff bill. In 1901 he was elected governor of Wisconsin and continued that office until chosen senator. During his term as governor he gave especial attention to legislation affecting railroads and was most active in securing laws in Wisconsin to curb the alleged abuses of the railroads and others big corporations. He was one of the first to advocate the control of railroad rates within the state by a state commission and he brought about the adoption of a measure to tax railroad property by the same system and at the same rate as other taxable property. He also led a movement to nominate all candidates by direct vote, which was enacted into law by the Wisconsin Legislature in 1904.

The Baker's Dozen. The term is much older than the sev enteenth century. It took its origin, doubtless, in mediaeval London, when bakers sold their bread solely or largely through hucksters, or as we should say today, hawkers. It was the custom of the baker in dealing with the huckster to count thirteen loaves of bread to the dozen. The odd loaf was apparently the huckster's sole profit. ently the huckster's sole profit.

How ancient was this practice may be gathered from the "Liber Albus," or White Book of the City of London, that minute code for the regulation of commercial morality in mediaeval London. Here it is laid down: "That no baker of the town shall give unto record." of the town shall give unto regratresses the six-pence on Monday morning by way of hansel-money; but after the ancient manner, let him give thirteen articles of bread for twelve."

The practice of giving thirteen to the dozen has since invaded many other callings, such as the book and newspaper trade, but the ancient trade of the baker and a recognized authority on naval architecture, was born in London, June 15, 1836. He entered the British navy English language.

GOOD FAMILY COOKERY

Rice Croquettes.-Take warm boiled rice and season well with salt, pepper and onion juice. Shape into balls, roll in an egg beaten with one tablespoon of cold water, then in fine break crumbs and fry in deep fat. Serve hot with chicken.

Liver and Bacon.—Do not fry these together, but cut the liver in little slices and cut slices of bacon in halves. String them alternately on long steel skewers and set across a baking pan, then place in the oven to cook until the bacon is crisp and the liver cooked through.

Yellow Tomato Salad .- From the late yellow tomatoes an excellent salad can be made. Drop them into boiling water for a few seconds, then peel, and as they are so small do not cut them. Serve three, four or more lettuce leaves with a highly seasoned French dressing.

Rice Griddle Cakes .- Add one cup of milk to one cup of hot boiled rice, half a level teaspoon of salt, two tablespoons of cream and the yelks of two eggs beaten well. Add flour to make a batter and the whites of the eggs beaten stiff. Bake on a griddle and serve with syrup.

Chocolate Turnovers.-Heat two cups of milk, add two cups of boiling water and stir in one-half cup of grated chocolate and one-third cup of sugar. Cook one minute after the chocolate is melted. Pour into the chocolate pot, add half a teaspoon of vanilla and beat well. Put a spoonful of whipped cream on each cup.

Steamed Brown Bread.-Mix one and ne-quarter cups of corn meal, one cup of wheat meal or graham and threequarters cup of rye flour, one level teaspoon of soda and one-half level teaspoon of salt. Sift twice, then stir in twothirds cup of molasses and two cups of sour milk. Beat and pour into a buttered mold, and steam four hours.

Oyster Salad.-Select small oysters and parboil them in their own liquor. As soon as they begin to ruffle the least bit drain, chill and sprinkle with lemon juice, salt and pepper. Put a cover over he dish and set in the ice chest for an hour or so. To one pint of the oysters add one cup of celery cut in tiny crosswise slices. Mix with French dressing and serve.

MAPLE SUGAR TO BE PLENTIFUL.

G. H. Grimm, an Expert, Predicts Large Crop for This Year.

Gustav H. Grimm of Rutland, Vt. a maple sugar expert, says that the yield of the famous Vermont product this year will be the best in fifteen years. He predicts that the figures will show an average of 4 pounds to a tree. Last season, which was better than the three of four preceding, the yield was a little more than 2 pounds to a tree. Reports gathered in 1906 showed that about 5,000,000 trees were tapped, and that the output was 11,000,000 pounds. so that this season's crop will be, approximately, 20,000,000 pounds.

The Story of a Medicine.

Its name-"Golden Medical Discovery" was suggested by one of its most important and valuable ingredients - Golden

Nearly forty years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered that he could, by the use of pure, triple-refined glycerine, aided by a certain degree of constantly maintained heat and with the aid of apparatus and appliances designed for that purpose, extract from our most valuable native medicinal roots their curative properties much better than by the use of alcohol, so generally employed. So the now worldfamed "Golden Medical Discovery," for the cure of weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, or biliousness and kindred derangements was first made, as it ever since has been, without a particle of alcohol in its make-up.

A glance withe full list of its ingredients, printed on every bottle-wrapper, will show that it is made from the most valuable medicinal roots found growing in our American forests. All these ingredients have received the strongest endorsement from the leading medical exdorsement from the leading medical ex-perts, teachers and writers on Materia Medica who recommend them as the very hest remedies for the diseases for which "Golden Medical Discovery" is advised.

A little book of these endorsements has been compiled by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., and will be mailed free to any one asking same by postal card or any one asking same by postal card, or letter addressed to the Doctor as above. From these endorsements, copied from standard medical books of all the different schools of practice, it will be found that the ingredients composing the "Gold-en Medical Discovery" are advised not only for the cure of the above mentioned diseases, but also for the cure of all ca-tarrhal, bronchial and throat affections, accompained with catarrhal discharges, hoarseness, sore throat, lingering, or hang-on-coughs, and all those wasting affections which, if not promptly and properly treated are liable to terminate in consumption. Take Dr. Pierce's Discovery in time and persevere in its use until you give it a fair trial and it is not likely to disappoint. Too much must not be expected of it. It will not perform miracles. It will not cure consumption in its advanced stages. No medicine will. It will cure the affections that lead up to consumption, if taken in time.

FOOD FAMINE IN CHINA.

Children Are Sold and Drowned to Save Expenses.

Dreadful things have been taking place in the famine districts of China. A missionary wrote early in the present year: "We see children left to die on the road; others stripped of their clothes and deserted; women weeping for their babies whom the husband and father has drowned; others sold for food; families committing suicide wholesale, or dying in batches of starvation. Oh, it is awful! The figures run into millions and our countryside is one big camp and a veritable hotbed of disease and crime. The roads are full of hungry men getting desperate.'

How Accident Occurred. Oliver died from a broken back, being rushed under his automobile after it had jumped off a bridge in Centerville, about four miles from the college. others are suffering from manifold bruises and Colston had his nose brok-

The party was coming into the city ust about daybreak and the machine ap parently skidded off the end of the oridge, which spans a small stream.

Oliver Crushed Under Car. As the machine took its flight into the air it turned over and landed just at the edge of the water, the crushing weight coming upon Oliver, who was driving. The others sought help from nearby houses, and Messrs. Jones, Hudson and Colston programmed into Nam Hudson Colston were carried into New Haven for hospital treatment.

Were on Pleasure Ride.

A story of the accident was told after the survivors had recovered from the shock. The party started out at an early hour to take a pleasure ride in cool air, and intended to go out Whitney avenue through Centerville to Chesshire, a straightaway distance of about ten miles, and then return over a country road connecting with the exten-sion of Dixwell avenue, in this city, which route makes a course much used by automobiles. Oliver's machine was he 30-horsepower racing type, and the party went out Whitney avenue at a Plunge Clear Over Stream.

A mile this side of the bridge where he accident occurred there is a hill, and down this the machine went. In the gray light of dawn it is thought Oliver did not realize that the bridge was narrow and, as he was in the ear tracks he turned out to travel over the space reserved for vehicles, but the swerving of the machine and then the skidding of the hind wheels brought the machine against a fence a short distance from the bridge, and the momentum impelling the machine forward, sent it against a string-piece of the bridge. The machine then went into the air. flight was so great that the racer flew over the stream and landed fifteen feet on the other bank, then turning a somer-sault fell towards the water. The flight of the machine threw out Oliver's com-panions, but Oliver came down with the machine and was crushed.

NEW YESSEL FOR NAVY

SCOUT CRUISER LAUNCHED AT BATH, ME.

Can Maintain High Speed for Long Period in Any Weather-New Type Among Fighters.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 26 .-The scout cruiser Chester, which is to be launched at the Bath, Me., iron works today, is one of a class of three vessels to be known as scout cruisers as authorized by Congress April 17, 1904. The cost of the vessel will be $1,668,194. Its construction is of entirely new type as far as the United States navy is concerned and it will be the first in which English turbines will be used. The contract speed is twenty-four knots and is exceeded only by that of torpedo boats and destroyers. While the speed is slightly less than that of the English scouts, the difference is more than compensated for by the ability to maintain the high speed in all conditions of the weather, and, having twice the coal capacity of the English scouts, the radius pacity of the English scouts, the radius of action is consequently very much greater.

Commodious quarters for the officers and crews are provided well above the water line. Ample subdivision has been made to insure the vessel keeping afloat with no serious result in event of eral of the compartments being pierced. There are five decks. The battery conof two five-inch rapid fire six three-inch rapid fire guns, and two 21-inch submerged torpedo tubes. An evaporating and distilling plant capable of evaporating and condensing 16,000 gal-lons of water per day is installed, and a refrigerating plant of two tons capacity is also fitted. The vessel is heated by steam throughout and lighted by electricity. The fore-mast is being fitted for the installation of wireless telegraph communication and the arrangements of the quarters provides accommodations for a commanding officer. twelve ward room officers, six warrant officers and 340 men.

HOTELS NEAR EXPO RUINED BY FIRE.

Nearly a Dozen Big Hostelries Destroyed at Jamestown, Va.-Loss About $250,000.

NORFOLK, Va., June 26.—Fire early today at Pine Beach, a resort filled with hotels of varying sizes, restaurants, stores and places of amusement, just outside the Jamestown exposition grounds, destroyed frame structures covering a large area, immediately on the outside of west fence of the grounds, extending to a point near the Fine Beach hotel.

loss is placed at between $200,000 and $250,000 with about 20 per cent. insurance.

It is reported that two lives were lost The Inside Inn and the Kentucky state building as well as the negro building and auxiliaries thereto, were threatened for a time, owing to the wind, but the fire reached nothing inside the grounds. The Arcade, Royal Pine, Hampton Roads, Washington house. Outside Inn, Powhattan, Carolina, and Berkley hotels, were among the largest buildings destroped. The States hotel was not reached and the Pine Beach hotel was not in danger. About the only buildings saved within the affected area are the Tourists' hotel, the Greystone inn. and California Franks' buffet, all on 102nd street. The Twenty-third United States infantry was ordered out and the entire district west of the exposition grounds reaching to the States Hotel is under its protection.

Between forty and fifty structures were consumed, and probably 1000 people are homeless.

The blaze originated in the Berkley notel, on One hundred and second street. The destroyed buildings were of tem porary construction, the Arcade hotel with 280 rooms being the largest and costliest, representing an investment, inluding furniture and equipment, of

MAINTAIN CIVIC STRIKE

WINE GROWERS' MOVEMENT SUB-SIDING NEVERTHELESS.

Believed That People Will Gradually Realize Their Misery and Will Voluntarily Give In.

PARIS, June 26.—The government's hope that the return of Marcelin Albert, leader of the winegrowers' movement, to the south after his interview with Premier Clemenceau would result in a change of attitude on the part of his followers has been blasted.

The federated committees have decided to maintain the civic strike and the "Redeemer" or "Apostle," as he is variously termed, has no alternative but to sur render himself to the authorities in accordance with his promise to M. Clemenceau. Nevertheless, the excitement in the disturbed territory continues to subside and the government believes that, barring some unfortunate incident which may again inflame the people, the latter will gradually come to their senses and realize that a prolongation of the present situation will only increase their misery. The government, apparently, is quite as much concerned about the insubordination manifested among troops as the at titude of the winegrowers, for in spite of the efforts to minimize them, new incidents showing the lack of discipline in the army are occurring daily.

The government seems to have awak ened to the necessity of dealing sternly with the demoralization engendered by the Socialistic anti-military propaganda and the press commends the decisions he government to exile the mutineers of the Seventeenth infantry, and to post-pone indefinitely the bill providing for the abolition of courts martial in time of

The position of the cabinet grows increasingly difficult and M. Clemenceau's sole object seems to be to weather the storm until the summer vacation of Parliament affords a breathing spell.

DANIEL L. DRESSER NOW FACES DI-VORCE SUIT.

New York Merchant Who Made Good $1,400,000 Losses Seeks to Regain Children.

NEW YORK, June 26.-Daniel Leroy Dresser, the merchant who failed for $1,400,000 four years ago and got out of bankruptcy several months ago, after paying almost all his debts, only to face a suit for separation instituted by his wife. Emma Louise Burnham Dresser, applied to Justice Blanchard in the supreme court today for an order restraining his wife from taking their two children, Susan Fish, 17 years old, and Daniel Leroy, Jr., 13 years old, out of the country pending the trial of her

It came out that Dresser and his wife parted on September 1, 1906, the wife keeping the children. They have not lived together since. Justice Blanchard said that if it were true the father had gone away and left his wife and children. gone away and left his wife and children the court could not restrain the mother from taking them out of the country.

Dresser denies he deserted his wife and children, but Adrian H. Larkin, counsel for Mrs. Dresser, declared Dresser had announced on September 1 last that he was going to leave, and that he had not contributed to the support ei-ther of his wife or children since. He said Mrs. Dresser was left without means and had to go to her relatives and take the children with her.

Dresser's lawyer said he had lost much money and could not support his family as he had been accustomed to do, but that he had not deserted them or failed to provide for them as far as he was able. The court took the papers.

Explosion in Erivan Square at Tiflis Brings Death and Destruction-Troops Called.

TIFLIS, Transcancasia, Russia, June 26.-A bomb was thrown today into Erivan square in the center of the town, which was thronged with people. The missiles exploded with terrific force. Many persons were killed or injured. Many arrests have been made. The whole city is in great confusion and it is believed that when order is restored it will be found that at least a score have been killed and as many in The police are handicapped and a call for troops has been made to the provincial governor. During the outrage the city was in a panic. Windows and doors were scattered over a large area. The police are preventing all approach to the scene of the outrage.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 26.—During the maneuvers today the torpedo boat Ubedimilny struck a mine which exploded. The damage was slight, owing to the deterioration of the mine.

STANDARD OIL LOSES.

Judge Landis Denies Rockefeller Corporation New Trial in Rebate Cases.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 26.—Judge Landis in the U. S. district court today refused a new trial to the Standard Oil company recently convicted of making shipments at illegal rates between Whit-Ind., and East St. Louis.

After denial of the motion asking for a new trial, Attorney John S. Miller for the oil company entered a motion in ar rest of judgment. This was promptly overruled. Mr. Miller then asked the court to elect a particular count in the This was promptly indictment on which to base the final judgment of this court. This was also denied by Judge Landis.

GLASS WON'T PULL OAR.

Member of Harvard Varsity Crew Collapses in Training-Can't Row Against Yale.

RED TOP. Conn., June 26.-Gordon Glass, the strongest oar and the heaviest man in the Harvard varsity crew, will not be able to row in the Yale-Harvard race tomorrow afternoon. He was taken with a chill last evening and had a high temperature during the night. He collapsed while out with the crew for practice this morning and Dr. Manahan has forbidden him to attempt to row the race comorrow. The loss of Glass is a hard blow to Harvard.

IS OFTEN PREVENTED BY DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

Taken When the First Warning Symptoms Are Noticed Much Needless Suffering May Be Saved.

Are you troubled with pallor, loss of spirits, waves of heat passing over the body, shortness of breath after slight exertion, a peculiar skipping of the heart beat, poor digestion, cold extremities or a feeling of weight and fullness? Do not make the mistake of thinking that these are diseases in themselves and be satisfied with temporary relief.

This is the way the nerves give warning that they are breaking down. It simply means that the blood has become impure and cannot carry enough nourishment to the nerves to keep them healthy and able to do their work. Rest, alone, will sometimes give the needed relief. The tonic treatment by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, however, prevents the final breakdown of the nerves and the more serious diseases which follow, because the pills act directly upon the impure blood, making it rich, red and pure.

Mrs. E. C. Bradley, of 103 Parsells avenue, Rochester, N. Y., says:

"I was never very healthy and some years ago, when in a run-down condition, I suffered a nervous shock, caused by a misfortune to a friend. It was so great that I was unfitted for work

"I was just weak, low-spirited and nervous. I could hardly walk and could not bear the least noise. My appetite was poor and I did not care for food. I couldn't sleep well and once for two weeks got scarcely an hour's sleep. I had severe headaches most of the time and pains in the back and spine.

"I was treated by two doctors, being under the care of one of them for six months. I got no relief and then decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I soon began to feel better and the improver ent was general. My appetite became hearty and my sleep better. The headaches all left and also the pains in my back. A few more boxes entirely cured me and I was able to go back to work. I felt splendid and as though I had never been sick."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are invaluable in such diseases as rheumatism, aftereffects of the grip and fevers, neuralgia, St. Vitus' dance and even partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

WOULD DISPROVE SUPERSTITION. Many Noted Men Born on Friday-Was Dickens' Favorite Day.

Is Friday unlucky? Gladstone, Beaconsfield, Washington, Bismarck, Fahrenheit and Spurgeon were born on Fri-day. Henry VIII. gave Cabot his commission which led to the discovery of North America, Columbus actually dis-covered this continent and the Pilgrim Fathers landed at Plymouth Rock on Friday. Once more: The first newspaper "ad" and the first newspaper printed by steam power (the London Times) ap-peared on a Friday; while the stamp act was repealed in England on the same day of the week. With Charles Dickens

Friday was an especial favorite.

Snake Charmer's Bravado A man named Richards, living at Maesteg, near Cardiff, known locally as "Henry the Snake Charmer," because of his skill in taming snakes, was showing an adder he had captured to friends when it bit his finger.

Richards merely laughed, and by way of bravado placed the adder's head in his mouth. The reptile bit the roof of the man's mouth, and with a cry of terror Richards ran to a local surgery, which he reached in a state of collapse. Subsequently he was carried home unconscious, but is now recovering slowly, both his arm and face being terribly swollen. It was a curious circumstance that Richard's father died from the effects of a snake's bite.—London Globe.

Good Shot at 119.

Francisco Jose, who was born at Paradella, Amares, in 1788, was recently presented to the Medical Congress on Tuberculosis at Oporto as a fine specimen of a perfectly healthy old man of the Lusitanian race. Though 119 years old, he has no symptom of any disease. Jose served in the Portuguese army which in 1810 opposed the invasion of the French under Napoleon I. He was present at the seige of Oporto in 1832.

He is still a good shot and works as a tailor, carpenter, shoemaker, painter and gardener.—London Evening Standard.

The Reason of the Difference. A teacher in an east-end school found great difficulty in getting any answer from an eleven-year-old member of his class.

"How is it." he asked, "that you never knew your lessons. When I was your age I could answer any questions put to me." added the teacher.

"Yes," replied the urchin, "but you had a different teacher to what I have."

Emigration from Ireland. According to a recent parliamentary paper 35,918 persons emigrated from Ireland in 1906, being 8.2 per cent. of the total population. Of the emigrants 76 per cent. came to the United States. The paper draws attention to the fact the paper draws attention to the fact that in the last fifty-five years no less than 1,100,00 Irish have left their country to settle in other lands.

TO READERS OF THE

LADIES' HOME JOURNAL

Did you read the article published by The Ladies' Home Journal in May 1904, attacking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription? Have you seen the statement more recently made by Mr. Bok, the Editor of that magazine that his company "has not paid a single penny to Dr. R. V. Pierce's concern * * * in settlement of any suit"? We wish you to know the truth. The facts are these:

Four days after the article in May 1904, appeared, Dr. Pierce's company sued The Ladies' Home Journal publishers for libel. The trial was had in April last. Dr. Pierce proved that the attack made by The Ladies' Home Journal was false. He proved that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription does not, and never did contain either alcohol or any of the injurious drugs which The Ladies' Home Journal falsely stated it did contain. This was so conclusively shown that the attorneys for The Ladies' Home Journal were forced to admit it. The jury rendered a verdict against The Ladies' Home Journal in favor of Dr. Pierce's company for $16,000.00. This was a complete vindication of Doctor Pierce and his "Favorite Prescription." It judicially established that the libel was wholly false, and without any justification.

Dr. Pierce, however, believed that his company is justly entitled to a verdict for a much larger sum. Through his attorneys he has, therefore, applied to the court for a new trial of the case. For this reason, and for this reason alone, has The Ladies' Home Journal not yet paid "a single penny to Dr. R. V. Pierce's concern." Dr. Pierce has simply chosen not to collect the judgment until the motion for a new trial has been decided.

In the light of these facts does not this boastful statement that it "has not paid a single penny to Dr. R. V. Pierce's concern" look like a cheap and common bluff, a half truth intended to mislead you?

During the trial of the libel suit | ments. In fact the "Favorite Prescripagainst the above mentioned publishers, tion" stands alone as being the only Dr. Lee H. Smith, Vice-President of the medicine for woman's special ailments World's Dispensary Medical Association, stated under oath that the ingrediment of its several ingredients which ents of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription were wholly extracted from the to much more weight than any amount tion were wholly extracted from the following native roots; Golden Seal, Blue Cohosh, Lady's Slipper Black Cohosh and Unicorn by means of pure glylerine of proper strength. He was asked how he knew, as a physician and experienced medical man, that the "Favorite Prescription" was a tore for the diseasee peculiar to women, such as "female weakness," we kinding pelvic catarrhal drains, distables, setting since the diseases of the womanly organish and he stated that he knew such was the fact because of his professional experience and the many thousands of perience and the many thousands of accept a secret nostrum of unknown women whose ills, to his personal composition for this tried and proven perience and the many thousands of knowledge, had been cured by this remedy of known composition. Lead-knowledge, had been cured by this "Prescription."

This experience of Dr. Smith was corroborated by the standard Medical Authorities, of the several schools of practice, endorsing the various ingredients in the strongest terms. Dr. Smith being asked to name some of these authorities as to the curative value of the above roots read from the standard works, such as the United States Dispensatory; The American Dispensatory; Organic Medica, by Professor Finley Ellingwood of the Bennett Medical College, Chicago; "New Remedies," by Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Chicago; Text-Book of Therapeutics, by Dr. Hobart A. Hare, Prof. in Univ. of Penn'a; Laurence Johnson, M. D., Prof. in University of New York; Prof. John King, Author of "Woman and Her Diseases"; Professor John M. Scudder, M. D., Author of a treatise on "The Diseases of Women"; Horatio C. Wood, M. D., Author of a Therapeutics"; Roberts Bartholow, A. M., M. D., Professor of Materia Medica, Jefferson Medical College of Phila.

All these recognized and standard authorities praise, in the strongest possible torms, each and every ingredient.

> Was Vice President Fairbanks born in log cabin? This great question, which threatens to become an issue in the next presidential campaign, is causing excite ment among the sons of Indiana. In "The Life and Speeches of Charles Warren Fairbanks," by W. H. Smith, is shown a picture of a log cabin in which the vice president is reported to have been born.

The author's son, William Wolff Smith, in reply to a recent article in an eastern weekly, has taken up the assertion that the autobiography is inaccurate and that the picture is one of a series of fakes resorted to for the purpose of of fakes resorted to for the purpose of promoting the vice president's political ambitions. William Wolff Smith has issued the following statement:

"Much was made of a picture in the book representing the house in which Mr. Fairbanks was born. As the house was burned a few years after his birth and no picture had been taken of it, Mr Fairbanks at the request of Mr. Smitl (my father) made a rough pencil sketch from memory which was dressed up for publication." This, Mr. Smith says, is all the connection Mr. Fairbanks had with the picture.

In the autobiography Mr. Smith says Mr. Fairbanks was 4 years of age the cabin was burned, and Indianian are pointing to the assertion that Mr. Fairbanks can sketch with accuracy a building that was destroyed when he was 4 years old as a demonstration of Sheridan Twice Married.

There was only one R. B. S., only on bride for the same gentleman. The dou-ble entries are not the result of any plunder on the part of Rev. Mr. Vulcan. The parties were really twice married at Gretna Green. Arriving on a Sunday they were duly wedded, and sped away to Edinburgh. There, however, Sheridan chanced to glance at a newspaper in which appeared the lucubrations of a lawyer. In these plainly stated was the fact that no contract executed on a Sunday. fact that no contract executed on a Sun-day is binding. Clearly, then, the wed-ding was not legal.

Back to Gretna Green they scurried. to be remarried on a weekday, and leave the dual record to perplex later genera-tions of sympathetic searchers of the rec-ords.—London Standard.

TARIFF REVISION.

What the stand-patters have contended for in the past, and what the country at large has indorsed in them, is hat the present period of phenomenal prosperity is not a time for tinkering with the tariff; that no faction of a party is called upon to dictate to anybody concerning party principle; that the national platform is the code by which the party should be guided in its general action, and that not until the party in national convention assembled, with delegates alive to the wishes of City Council met in regular session. their constituents, formulate a policy Present, Mayor Miller Aldermen Cham- in accordance with the best interests of pion, Clark, Eaton, Green and Theri- the country at large, should State orault.
