* DELTA POLITICALLY ****

The primary election was quiet here. Gladstone's vote was as predicted, returning the following pluralities: Bradley, 8; Matthews, 60; Yelland, 68; Aronson, 46; Smith, 134; Mallmann, 130; Malloch, 104; Norblad, 11. The township of Masonville cast a heavy vote, with the following pluralities: Bradley, 75; Matthews, 70; Yelland, 59; Aronson, 27; Smith, 8; Mallmann, 78; Malloch, 75; Dotsch, 40.

As was predicted, Dr. Bradley carried the cities of Escanaba and Gladstone, by pluralities of 146 and 8 respectively; Masonville township by 126 to 51 as well as Maple Ridge, Brampton, Cornell, Bay de Noc, and possibly Garden. The doctor's run in Delta county was really remarkable; in the peninsula he carried Houghton, Ontonagon, Iron, Alger, and Mackinac counties. The vote is a tribute to the doctor, whose campaign was short and laboring under severe local handicaps.

The run as made by Treasurer Mallmann was far beyone the expectation of us friends, and gives a most flattering proof of his popularity. By an overwhelming majority, he carried every precinct but one in Delta County, having all but twelve hundred majority over his opponent in a vote of thirty five hundred. Mr. Mallmann will serve out his second term with a knowledge that he has the hearty approval of the voters of Delta County.

Henry R. Dotsch was rewarded for goods, better service, and better prices his dignified and quiet canvass of the county by the nomination for prosecutor. Although he used no frenzied methods, he found many friends, and the final poll found him safe by a fair majority ahead of his opponent.

Democratic, Socialist, and Prohibitionist ballots were on hand, but few indeed in the county called for any; more lifelong Democrats were seen calling for the white ballots and proudly placing them in the ballot boxes.

Register Malloch's widespread popularity throughout the county re-elected him. Although his opponent carried Escanaba and Wells, through all the townships of the county Mr. Malloch's friends rallied and gave him four hunired and ten votes more than needed

Adam N. Sinclair died Tuesday mornng at his home at Kipling, in his fiftyfirst year. He had been for some years a victim of rheumatic troubles, which became most serious this summer. Mr. Sinclair, who was superintendent of the kilns and chemical plant for the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co., had been a resident here since 1897, when he came from Uma, Mich. During the past two years, he held the office of supervisor of Brampton township. In 1901 he was married to Miss Elizabeth Hannigan; who survives him, with two young sons. Mr. Sinclair, as a man, was highly esteemed by all whoknew him, and much respected by his fellow-employes of the company. His funeral was held Friday afternoon from the Presbyterian church, under the auspices of Gladstone Lodge, F. & A. M., of whom Mr. Sinclair had long been a member, and was attended by many supervisors. A brother, Albert Sinclair, and a sister, Mary, from Charlevoix, were present.

Friday morning to Saginaw, where the funeral is held Saturday afternoon; they were escorted to the train by Gladstone Aerie, F. O. E., of whom Mr. Mooney was a prominent member since its inception. Horatio Earle was far behind in the running. Many of his supporters gave up his candidacy as hopeless to join the forces of the others. In the copper country, where Earle is well liked, he was strong, carrying Keweenaw county, as well as Calumet and Chassell. In the lower peninsula he carried Kalkaska ounty. There was no opposition made to the lection of C. E. Gallup and T. E. Stom as court commissioners and D. A. Brotherton as surveyor.

The latest returns indicate that Sheriff Aronson has won by 19 votes, with every precinct heard from, and this will probably stand. The interest this drew in the county was remarkable, and the fight was vigorously waged. while from Wednesday until Friday the figures were breathlessly awaited.

The remarkable closeness of the gubernatorial run is still somewhat in loubt, although later returns favor Warner, and the official count will eagerly awaited. The returns, as they came in, were first for Bradley, then for Warner, for Bradley, and for Warner again. The difference will probably average a small fraction of a vote in each precinct.

During the past year the Good Will home took nearly sixty children from various parts of the peninsula; many of them have been placed in good homes, one at Escanaba, two in Menominee. and several recently at Crystal Falls. Every one so placed makes it possible for another to be cared for in the home. Mr. Prosser has been much embarassed of late in his work collecting, by the number of agents of lower peninsula institutions and those from other states who have gleaned the surplus. The people are in sympathy with the work, but there is a limit to their ability to contibute, especially as the most of them have small incomes. In view of this, it would be better for upper peninsula men to reserve their donations for the local institution; which benefits this region and cares for many of its numerous orphans, rather than for strangers. The Good Will farm is charity here at home, and its claim should be looked at first.

INSURANCE IN MICHIGAN.

The insurance department of Michigan collected $484,000 last year; its expenses being $19,402.86. Foreign fire insurance companies pay 3 per cent on gross premiums, and life insurance 2 per cent. Commissioner Barry emphasizes the need for better laws governing the incorporation and operation ance companies. While in theory these are mutual or co-operative societies, says the commissioner, they are in practice proprietary concerns pure and simple. It is suggested that the laws be amended ner of the Diamond sculls for several so as to require a larger membership and increased assets before they may commence business, and a materially increased deposit with the state treasury for the protection of their policy holders. MENOMINEE, Mich., Aug. 28.-An aerial somersault probably saved John Bruyere's 7-year-old daughter from leath when she was thrown from a high farm wagon when an auto struck it. The accident happened four miles from the Bruyere home in Amberg. The girl sat on a high seat and the impact as the vehicles crashed hurled her into the air in a somersault. She struck the ground on all fours without a scratch.

'Why is it that the Republican party is so much more extravagant than the Democratic party in the expenditure of public money? There are two reasons: First, because Republican leaders are more intimately associated with the tax eaters than with the tax payers; second, the Republican leaders have taught the that taxation is an unalloyed doctrine It is not strange that people who good. consider taxation a blessing would be inclined to make the blessing as large as possible.

HEYBURN TO BE NAMED.

Idaho Republican Will Be Renominated Senator-Brady for Governor.

BOISE, Ida., Sept. 1.-The Republican state convention met here today for à two day's session. Practically half the work has been decided on in advance. Senator Heyburn will be endorsed to succeed himself and J. H. Brady, of Pocatello, will be named for governor. Congressman French and Miss Bella Chamberlain, state school superintendent, will be renominated. Aside from that everything is in the air, but the sentiment among the delegates is to make a clean sweep of all other positions in the state house. The platform will endorse the candidates of Taft and Sherman and the Republican national and state administrations and advocate a di-rect primary and local option.

MICHIGAN TRIES PRIMARY.

First Test of New Law Made in Wolverine State.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 1.-Michigan voters cast their ballots today for the first time for the nomination by direct primary of candidates for governor and lieutenant governor. The interest which has attached to the hot fight for the Republican nomination between State Auditor General James B. Bradley and Gov. Fred M. Warner, with State Road Commissioner Horatia S. Earle also actively in the field, is expected to result in a reasonably heavy Republican vote at the primary. Under the Michigan primary law, the failure of any candidate to receive 40 per cent. of the total vote throws the nomination into the party convention, which meets to select the candidates for state officers below lieutenant governor.

He served in that capacity until March 8, 1889 when he returned to Wisconsin to resume the practice of law and to enter actively again into the Wisconsin political arena.

Work as Postmaster General.

While in the cabinet, as postmaster general, Mr. Vilas carried out several pieces of work of great value to his department. He established improved business methods in several divisions and was thanked in an elaborate testimonial from the great importing and commercial houses of New York. He had the postal laws and regulations completely revised; he arranged a treaty with Mexico, and an agreement with Canada, whereby domestic rates were applied to mail service from the United States throughout North America. Chicago Poles in Hand-to-Hand Struggle at Blast Furnace for Possession of Girl.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 29.-Through

he death today of Nicholas Vidovic, the story of a dramatic hand-to-hand struggle on the top of a blast furnace of the Iroquois Iron company for the posses sion of a pretty Polish girl was made known. Vidovic, according to George Detlick, an eye witness, crept up behind his rival, Ivan Mealitch, and attempted to there him inter the George The Statement of the Stat to throw him into the fiery pit below. Both men fell to the narrow platform but recovered and continued the struggle. The news spread about the plant and work was dropped by all hands to and work was dropped by all hands to watch the thrilling struggle with its background of flames. Suddenly Meal-ifch broke away and felled his antagonist with a crowbar. Mealitch then gave himself up to the policeman employed by the company. He declared that his rival had long been seeking a chance to push him into the furnace, and that he owed bis life to having been on bis owed his life to having been on his guard when the attack came.

CAN SPOON IN CHURCH. St. Louis Pastor Makes Arrangement to Open Doors to Young Men and

Their Sweethearts

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 29.-Announcement was made today by Rev. W. F. Andrews, pastor of the Centennary Methodist Episcopal church, South, that on next Friday evening the church parlors will open for the fall season for the reception of young men and their sweet-hearts. There will be music, recitations and refreshments and chaperones will be provided for Friday night gatherings. "A great many young women have no place to entertain their beaus at home or in boarding houses," said Rev. An-drews, "and they have to stroll around the city to enjoy each other's company. Our church parlors will be open to just such young people. Our chaperones will be those whom mothers can have confidence in and girls who come without es-corts will be well looked after."

The expenses connected with the social evenings will be met from the general church funds.

NOTES OF INTEREST.

With his leg broken in two places John Anderson of Little Falls, Ore., was found on Mount St. Helena, in Washington, by a Seattle party of the Mazamas, a club of mountain climbers. To save his life they carried him to the summit of the mountain, at the imminent risk to themselves, and, in an im-provised stretcher made out of a sleep-ing bag, slid him down the north side the great peak for 4000 feet to the of the great peak for feed faither ion Mazamas camp, where medical attention was given him. The injured man was lightning speed, tied to his rescuers with ropes. Physicians say that had not this expedient been followed Anderson have died of his injuries.

Miss Effie Snow and Miss Minnie Utley, belles of Hardinsville, Ark., have been indicted by the grand jury on the charge of disturbing public worship. They gave bond for their appearance in court. It is alleged that the girls talked and snickered as they exchanged gossip in church. Friends of the young women declare that the girls were amused by the appearance of some one in the congregation, and were unable to keep from tittering. They are highly respected in this community.

Driver Brower Kirlin of the Good Will fire company's ambulance in Potts-town, Pa., ran into the funniest experi-ence of his life the other night when was called out to take Isaac Bauerman to the hospital. Scarcely able to walk from threatened blood poisoning, resulting from stepping on a rusty nail, Bau-erman got one glimpse of the ambulance as it stopped in front of his home, and then all his physical disability disappeared. With a bound he reached the door of his home and locked it. All the peared. persuasion of neighbors failed to get him open the door. He had mistaken the ambulance for an undertaker's wagon, for he said that he did not want to be buried until be was dead.

Michael Reilly, a puddler, caused a small panic in Danville, Pa., when he swallowed his false teeth. When Reilly's teeth became lodged in his throat he dropped his puddling bar and without a word dashed from the mill. Workmen standing near by, not knowing what had occurred, and thinking Reilly was seek ing safety from an accident in the mill, joined in the flight. The fleeing men vere joined by the whole mill force.

To sail through a sea of crabs is by no means an everyday occurrence, yet the record of such an experience is written upon the log book of the steam ship Captain Bennett, which arrived at New York from Jamaica. The Captain Bennett was sailing just south of Cape Henry when she ran into the live sea. Hundreds of thousands of crabs, some floating singly, others collected in immense masses, swarmed around the ship. There was no trouble in scooping them up by bucketfuls, the sailors say, and Capt. Olsen and his men had their fill of crabs, prepared by the ship's "doc-tor." It is thought that the crabs were tor.' carried out to sea by recent storms from Chesapeake bay and were unable to reurn to their accustomed waters.

Owing to the continued dry spell, anle worms have become so scarce for ishing purposes in Michigan that a market price of 10 cents a dozen has been placed on them, and small boys are orking nights by the aid of lanterns and garden hose, reaping a lucrative in come. That is about the only bait that bass and trout will bite on at this time. and fishermen have to necessarily tronize the younger set when they plan trip.

Joe Smith is a dog that works. He is a setter and lives on a farm five miles southwest of Ottawa, Kan. Joe carries a tin cup each morning from the house to the barn to be filled with fresh milk for breakfast. He has a quart water pail that he considers his own and has been known to carry it, half filled with water, to the hay field twelve times in a day. The dea has her break a carry day. The dog has been trained to carry berry boxes. When a picker runs out of boxes and calls, "Joe, bring me a box." he goes to the crate, picks out an empty box, and takes it to the picker who called. If any member of the family goes to the door and says: "Joe, do you see any hawks today?" he will make a large circle around the house and chicken yard, scanning the sky, and, per-haps, go tearing down the field under a blackbird or a songbird that happens to be passing. He does not like cows, but will go to the end of the pasture, three quarters of a mile from the house, and bring cows home, walking quietly behind farm when his machine oil gave out. He

He was not warned of the coon's tastes, but thinks he of the coon's learned to imbibe beer at an early age. When the campers went into the woods the other day they left six bottles of beer on a tray, which rested on a chair. When they returned, four of the bottles were lying empty on the path leading to a tree, and the coon was asleep in a hole in the tree. To make sure that the coon was the drinker the Onion club members act a tree for him the next members set a trap for him the next day. From their hiding place, they declare, they saw the coon tilt up a bottle, holding it by his two fore feet, open it and drink the contents. They found his capacity, by test, to be fifteen bottles. Then, not caring to pay for bottled beer to quench such a thirst, they put him on the keg product, and he now haunts the neighborhood of the barrel. The menbers say the coon has other accomplish ments. He can walk the tight rope, they aver, and is so friendly with the camp dogs that he executes a sort of dance when they come near him. Jack Coppinger vouches for this. A week ago, they relate, he left the camp and was away for more than a day. When he came back two other coons were with him. The campers tried to coax them near enough to be caught, but they were timid, and ran back into the woods. The campers did not care much. They say one coon with a beer thirst is all they care to provide for. They are afraid the others would have wanted chamin all pagne.

A young man who was picked up at Grand Rapids, Mich., suffering from a total loss of memory, has been identified as Frank McGlynn of Poughkeepsie. The circumstances under which the identification was effected were peculiar. McGlynn was given a bundle of magazines to read and came across the ad-vertisement of a Cleveland clothing firm, which brought back to his memory a familiar name, and he suddenly cried out, "I've got it, I've got it," and dropped the magazine on the floor. The nurse in attendance rushed to his side, but he was unable to remember what he had read. For an hour the attendant examined every page of the magazine with the young fellow and finally found it. He declared he had a brother-in-law by the name of Schultz with a Cleveland firm. The latter was reached by tele-phone and said he did have a brotherin-law answering the description, named Frank McGlynn, who was injured in a football game in the east and who was subject to loss of memory.

WOOD IN BUILDINGS. A Forecast of the Day When It Shall

Be Totally Banished. In all the comment on the decreasing use of wood in building, scarcely a word has been said about the effect on the carpenter. Concrete, stone, brick and steel are replacing the material that is onveniently easy to cut and fatally easy o burn, and while the general popula-ion of the country increased by 14,000,-000 during the decade between 1890 and 1900, the number of carpenters actually decreased, the figure standing at 618,000 in 1890 and 600,000 in 1900. Some might hink that in the face of these facts the carpenters would oppose the growing use of fireproof materials. We are assured by The American Carpenter and Builder owever, that no such resentment is felt Our carpenters and builders," it says are actuated by a "progressive and open minded spirit." And further: "We all look forward gladly to the time of better and more substantial building. As far as the builders of this are concerned, there was no need of the Boston suburb horror to im-

"We want to take the stand strongly and unequivocally that universal fire proofing does not sound the deathknell of carpentry. We see no reason for the carpenter to be dismayed at the present change and tendency in building construction. The increasing use of concrete and of terra cotta and of steel presents new problems to the carpenter, but it not eliminate him: far from it

True it is, there will be less work for the 'wood butcher,' but more for the skilled woodworker. The fine interior woodwork for a well constructed resi-dence of cement and steel will unquestionably be more valuable to the car-penter than the whole of a cheaply built frame house. His work will of 's finer grade, requiring greater skill, and paying him bigger money than ever be fore. As for the 'wood butcher,' none of us will regret to see him go, nor will we miss him when he's gone. But we must all turn in and dig-to keep out of Satisfaction with present class! knowledge and skill will not do. Condi tions are changing; yet we feel sure that carpentry is here to stay. Our carpenters are the most progressive workmen in the world; they stand ready now to do their share, and more, toward better and more substantial building.

SNAKES IN FLOOD TIMES.

Found in Great Numbers in Trees and Higher Land.

A visitor over in the bottoms now who has not thought about anything but the high water would get a shock of surprise when he landed on any of the high er spots of land which were unsub-merged during the recent floods. On every hand are snakes, wriggling, slimy, cold-blooded serpents, which make one' flesh crawl.

Thousands of these reptiles have taken refuge on these spots of dry land. As is well known, snakes cannot remain long in water, as they are not amphibious, and at this season of the year they soon become helpless with the cold if immersed in the turbid waters of the floods. If unable to reach a dry spot they worm themselves upon the limbs of trees, climbing higher and higher as the water climbing higher and higher as the water advances. Old fishermen traversing the brush land are wary of passing under in extremely doubtful—it was merely meant for European ears. Not even the nighty Habibullah himself would care to brush land are wary of passing under trees now, as the slimy brutes are liable to drop from their airy perches on slight disturbance.

The railroad embankments are favorite would surely overtake him. places of refuge for them, as the steel rails radiate the heat so much desired by the reptiles. Just now there is every lass of them, black snakes, garter snakes, water moccasins, the latter perhaps as deadly as any known to science. Pearson's Weekly. with numerous rattlesnakes, vipers and Cleveland's Apt Phrases.

Cleveland as a phrase-maker, as the uthor of certain terse and unforgetable expressions, will enjoy a fame distinct from, and perhaps as lasting as his renown as a statesman, says a writer in The Dial. "A public office is a public lic trust" we owe to him. "Innocuous desuetude" has long since passed into popular speech, as also "It is a condition which confronts us-not a theory." It was Cleveland who considered "the pension list of the republic a roll of honor. and declared that "party honesty is par-ty expediency." Only four years ago, in his characterization of Judge Parker, then candidate for the presidency, "safe. sane and undramatic," on a happy collocation of adjectives that ran so trippingly upon the tongue as to delight his hearers. In the utterance his opinion on the eligibility of a Presi dent for re-election, he spoke severel of the "horde of office holders, with zeal born of benefits received and fos tered by the hope of favors yet to come;" and he elsewhere referred to the gratitude of politicians as derived from "a lively expectation of favors to come."

Perhaps he had been reading Walpole as quoted by Hazlitt in his "Wit and Humor"—"The gratitude of place-expectants is a lively sense of future fa-vors." And doubtless, also, he was fa-miliar with Rochefoucauld's often re-peated maxim, "The gratitude of most men is but a secret desire of receiving greater benefits." But truisms did not suffer in his phrasing. Like Lincoln, he had a fac-

INFLUENCE OF THE MULLAHS.

No One Dares Lay Sacrilegious Finger Upon Their Saintly Persons.

Ever since the beginning of the now onstant troubles in India a good deal has been heard about the mullahs.

A mullah, or, as it is more properly written, mollah, is a title given in India and throughout the east generally to a religious leader of any description. Thus, the Sultan of Turkey is a mollah, because he is the supreme head of the Moslem world. The hostile Somali leader who caused us so much anxiety between 1901 and 1905, and whose name occasionally crops up even now in the daily papers, was also a mollah. And there are hundreds of others.

To most of the more conspicuous among them we prefix the adjective "mad." This, however, must not be taken to mean that they are insane. the word being used rather in its Oriental signification of "inspired." The influence wielded by the mollahs

An Early Millais Critic.

Sir John Millais tells this story on himself. He was down by the banks of the Tay, painting in the rushes of his famous landscape, "Chill October." which has thrilled us all with the ineffable sadness and mystery of the dying summer. He worked on so steadily that he failed to observe a watcher until a voice said: "Eh, mon, did ye ever try photography?"

"No," said the artist, "I never have." "It's a deal quicker," quoth his friend-critic, eyeing the picture doubtfully. Millais was not flattered, so he waited minute before replying, "I dare say His lack of enthusiasm displeased he Scot, who took another look, and then marched off with the Parthian shot: "Ay, and photography's a muckle sight mair like the place, too."-Everybody's Magazine.

A Yoga's Feat.

For fourteen years' Bava Luchman Dass received from the priests of the Black Caves of Central India the necessary education in order to become a yoga, as a yoga must be capable of taking the forty-eight postures of the Hindoo idols

Perhaps his greatest trick consists in balancing himself on the ends of his fingers while the whole of his body is in the air. Baya stated that in order to obtain the rank of yoga in the Black Caves of India he had to continue in this position on the ends of his fingers under the eyes of the judges, without a second's interval, for seven days and nights!-Strand Magazine.

While 200 members of the summer colony at Ogunquit, a shore resort in Maine, stood on the beach, an enormous whale seventy feet in length, thrashed itself to death in the shallow water of the flats. It is believed that the whale chased a school of fish into the bay and was so intent on a prospective oreakfast that it did not know where it was go-ing. Suddenly, while lurching ahead with terrific momentum, it struck the treacherous sands 100 yards from the beach and ran high and dry. The tide was fast ebbing, and, despite herculean efforts to get into deep water, the whale, churning the sea into a foam, was un able to move.

Lightning played queer pranks in Woodbury, Conn., during a storm the other night. One bolt entered the front door of a dwelling owned by H. B. UNIQUE ASTRONOMICAL CLOCK.

Remarkable Mechanism Shows All the Movements of the Earth. All the movements of the earth are represented by a remarkable astronom-

GOVERNOR GENERAL A VICTIM. WINNIPEG, Manitoba, Sept. 1.-Fifteen passenger trains, besides all freight and stock trains on the Canadian Pacific between Winnipeg and Fort William are held up at way stations and sidetracks between these two points as a result of the cloudburst that flooded the main line between Horner and Ignace late Saturday night. It is stated by railway men to be the worst disaster of the kind that ever happened in western Canada. Thousands Kept Waiting.

Is Impossible.

Not a train has reached Winnipeg rom the east since Saturday morning from the east since Saturday morning and fully 10,000 people are being kept waiting at points along the line. In addition to this eastern mails are all held back for sixty hours, as is the westbound mail going east and all express matter is likewise delayed for this period.

Earl Grey, governor general of Canada, and a party are on board one of the delayed trains and other passengers are made up of business men, commer cial travelers, tourists, and immigrants. As a result of this sudden cloudburst, ditches and cuts along the road were filled almost instantly and the water raced along the tracks at a speed which swept away the surface material and undermined the ties to such an extent as to render traffic impossible.

Cars Thrown in Ditch.

There are two big washouts at Scoville, east of Kenora, besides several smaller ones between that point and Rennie. As a result of the tracks being washed out at Deception, six boarding cars filled with people at that point were thrown into the ditch on Sunday night. Every available man along the line, some thousands, have been put to work to re-pair the roadbed.

Take, for instance, the ingredient hydrastis canadensis, or golden seal. The United States Dispensatory says of this herbal remedy, that it is largely employed in the treatment of depraved mucous membranes lining various organs of the human body.

Another ingredient of Peruna, corydalis formosa, is classed in the United States Dispensatory as a tonic.

STANDS THE TEST. MODEL

Pours Ten-Inch Stream of Buckshot Into Target with Deadly Accuracy.

WORKED BY CENTRIFUGAL FORCE.

The science of war will be revolutionzed and standing armies vastly reduced f a rapid-firing gun invented by William Patten of New York can duplicate in the field the work of a 10-inch model which Mr. Patten has built and is demonstrating, writes the New York Times. The gun is noiseless, and is fired without powder. And this is not all, Mr. Patten asserts that the gun can discharge bullets faster than they can be loaded into its magazine, and that the loading speed is therefore practically the only limit to the number of shots that can be fired. He maintains that 50,000 shots a minute can be discharged from this new weapon, and adds that he'll demonstrate this when he gets a full-sized one in commission.

A Centrifugal Force Gun.

The gun is fired by centrifugal force. All there is to it is a big wheel with a rank for revolving it. In the 10-inch model this can be turned by hand. A motor of 50-horsepower would be rejuired to turn the 6-foot model Mr. Paten hopes to build.

The bullets-not shells such as are used in other guns, but simply balls of lead or steel—are poured into the gun. The operator revolves the wheel, and the bullets begin to pour out in a steady stream. They fly so fast that they have the appearance of one long leaden rib-bon, and if the gun were revolved on its base the stream of lead would sweep around in an arc which would mow down anything in front of it.

The inventor of the new gan got his dea from seing a flywheel burst. That was five years ago in England, where Mr. Patten was born. He came to New York a year later, and eighteen months ago began work on the model of his gun, which he had had in mind ever since aving England.

The gun is of brass, and looks like meat chopper or a cylindrical pencil arpener. Mr. Patten screwed his deharpener. ice to a table, and then poured a handbuckshot into it. At the opposite ide of the room was a target and the inventor pointed his gun toward this. Then he began to turn the handle.

The bullets flashed from the mouth of the little gun in a perfect stream. Each one hit the target. A second test at a

HUNTING WILD HORSES.

A Favorite Sport in New South Wales Mock Attention Paid by Bride's Party -How Animals Are Broken.

Whether "brumby" is a survival of the aboriginal name for a wild horse or a corruption of "unbranded," appears to be a question which philologists have left undecided, but brumby hunting is still a favorite sport in New South Wales.

Districts like the Clarence and Stephens and Manning river watershed are still the home of numerous droves of brumbies, and hunting them is declared to be a very exhilarating pastime. The first step taken is to stake out a corral and make all secure except a narrow entrance, which can subsequently be gated. On either side of the entrance and projecting from it funnelwise a "booby fence" is prepared.

To the simple minded brumby it pre-sumably looks like a stockade, and pieces of fluttering cotton make it look impregnable. When this is ready the young bloods, well mounted, gallop out and round up the wild horses, driving them with shouts and much loud snapping of stock whips toward the mouth of the funnel. In a group of brumbies there is al ways a leader, and when, once the hunters have got the leader heading for the corral they are pretty certain of the rest of the drove. The fluttering cotton rags of the sham fence are sufficient to deter the brumbies from breaking through the corralled and the big gate shut on them. Then they are left for four and twenty hours without food and water to reflect on the situation, and fter that they can be broken in without much difficulty.

timber supply, caused by the heavy de- fight malaria. mand for forest products of all kinds, Americans may see in Japan an example of what can be done in growing wood on small plots.

That country contains 21,000,000 wood their houses. That country contains 21,000,000 wood lots, about three-fourths of which he-long to private persons, and one-fourth to communes. The average size of the plot is less than nine-tenths of an acre. They usually occupy the steepest, rough-est, poorest ground. In this way land so to waste and if unwooded would lose its soil by the wash of the dashing rains. From Japan's woodlots the yearly yield of lumber is about 88 feet, board meas-ure, an acre and three-fourths of a cord ure, an acre and three-fourths of a cord of firewood. In many cases the yield is much higher. More than 500,000,000 trees are planted yearly to make up what is cut for lumber and trad trees are planted yearly to make up what is cut for lumber and fuel. Assessment for taxation is low, aver-aging for the 21,000,000 lots less than $1 an acre. With all the care in cut-ting and the industry in replanting, it is by no means certain that Japan's forests are holding their own. If the preservation of the forests is doubtful there, it is evident that depletion must be alarmingly rapid in other countries which cut unsparingly and plant very lit-tle. On the other hand it is encouraging to see what can be done with rough, steep and poor land. The United States has enough of that kind, without touch-ing the rich agricultural acres, to grow billions of feet of lumber.—Pathfinder.

Biblical Lore in Missouri.

Biblical Lore in Missouri. Col. John Cosgrove, afterward Con-gressman from the Boonville district, was especially distinguished as an ad-vocate before a jury. Defending a client accused of some crime, Col. Cos-grove, in an eloquent climax, shouted: "What does the state's attorney ex-pect? Does he expect my client, like Daniel, to command the sun to stand still, and have it obey?" Judge James W. Draffen, lawyer for the opposition, interrupted:

"May it please your honor," he said, addressing Judge James E. Hazell, who was on the bench, "I object to Col. Cosgrove misquoting Scripture." "I beg pardon," blandly replied Col osgrove. "I forgot for the moment hat it was not Daniel, but Solomon, who nmanded the sun to stand still." And this statement went unchallenged Kansas City Star.

Balancing the Ration. The cow giving eight quarts of milk per day should have for each thousand pounds of live weight twenty-seven pounds of dry matter in which are contained two pounds of protein, eleven pounds of carbohydrates and .4 pound of fat. Four pounds of corn grain, the average feed, and enough pasture grass to make up the necessary amount of dry matter will fall far short of this standard as nearly as can be told. It should be remembered that pasture grass varies with the location, the kind of soil, the condition of the weather and the season. However, it is safe to conclude that a ration of four pounds of corn and enough pasture grass to supply the necessary amount of dry matter would contain .17 pound of protein, 13.6 pounds of carbohydrates and .38 pound of fat. It can be seen that such a ration will be deficient in protein, but it contains an excessive amount of carbohydrates. pounds of dry bran and enough pasture Heating and Sheet Metal work. grass to bring up the amount of dry matter to the required standard contain about 1.98 pounds of protein, nearly twelve pounds of carbohydrates and 5 pound of fat, which is not far from the standard suggested above.-Chica-

Heats the Flatiron.

The operation of heating an iron is a wasteful process for the reason that the heat from the bed of fire is largely lost because of the indirect application to the iron. Sweet milk placed before the chicks a little while once a day is good for them. It takes the place of meat, but it soon becomes impure if left before them long.

Hog Notes.

To the hog man a dipping tank well used is about the most valuable thing on the farm. It is a good idea to clip off the tusks of the newly farrowed pigs that they may not irritate the sow or injure themselves. The farmer with a big bunch of marketable hogs has that comfortable feeling which comes of having money in the bank. Our advice is get the habit.

The Farmer's Resources.

The farmer is the most resourceful person on the face of the earth when he is disposed to help himself. Therefore he need not look to any source outside his land for fenceposts or fuel. A grove of catalpas, black locusts, cotwill in a few years supply all the fence material and fuel needed on the farm.

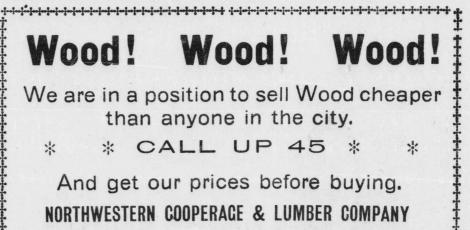

Avoid Waste In Feeding.

Passing along the roads one often sees barnyards strewn with cornstalks and other litter wasted by feeding the cattle outdoors. A great deal of this might have been saved by building a few cheap racks for the cattle to eat from. It seems so much easier for the most of folks to save the penny and waste the pound.
