Rev. Father J. M. Manning, aged fifty-nine, died Thursday morning at the Delta county hospital, after years of failing health. Requiem services were held over his remains Saturday morning with all preliminary honors; and they were removed under escort of his fellow priests to Republic, where the final service will be conducted by Bishop Eis Tuesday morning, and he will be laid beside his mother and sister.

Father Manning was one of the most widely-known and best-loved men in Northern Michigan. A native of Halifax, Nova Scotia, he came to the upper peninsula in 1889, and held charges at Newberry, Republic, Gladstone, Iron River, Naubinway, and Rapid River, when failing health forced him to give up active work. For seven years he acted as chaplain of the Escanaba hospital. During his stay in this city, from the fall of 1894 to the summer of 1896, he and his sister made a host of devoted friends. Her early death cast a deep shadow over his later years. Father Manning was a man with every quality of head and heart to endear him to those who knew him; of kindly humor, keen and accurate judgment, tempered with deep sympathies; and esteemed by all regardless of creed or condition.

YOUNG'S RECORD. Ishpeming, Mich.. Oct. 12 1908. Gladstone, Mich.

Dear Sir :-The Democratic Convention, which convened at Ishpeming and nominated Mr. O'Brien for Congress, passed the follow ing resolution:

"Confronted with the peculiar conditions of a congressional candidate seeking sup-port from the voters of this district as the friend and supporter of the so-called 'Roosevelt Policies', when as a matter of fact he talked and voted against every measure in Congress in any sense inspired by or applicable of these policies, we appeal to the common sense of practical eitizens, whether it is not time to stop further masquerading of this kind in the affairs of the nation? The "malefactors of wealth" will not be disturbed in their 'malefactions' by rehearsing this burlesque upon representative government another two years."

Although my name is not mentioned. the intent is to charge that I am seekng votes as a supporter of the so-called 'Roosevelt Policies," while in fact I have spoken and voted against "Every measure before Congress in any sense inspired by or applicable of these policies," This statement is absolutely without any color of truth.

I fully appreciate the political exigency ander which any Democratic convention acts in this district and am not inclined to be overcensorious as to its statements, but it cannot be deemed an unreasonable demand even of a Democratic Convention, that it should tell the truth. I may not be so deeply versed in Biblical lore as many, but I have yet to learn that when the Almighty, amid the thunders of Sinai laid down the law "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor". that He made any exception in favor of Democratic Conventions.

The following statement shows the pages of the Congressional Record where the vote upon the principal measure recmmended by the President to Congress in his messages or commended by him in public utterances is recorded. Against none of these measures did I talk, and for each one of them I voted. In some cases there was no record vote, but in most cases where a record vote was taken, the record confirms my statement as to my

TEACHER KEFPS PUPILS WITHIN WALLS OF FIRE

HEAD OF SCHOOL NEAR ALPENA SPENDS NIGHT IN WOODS TO SAFEGUARD CHARGES.

BEARS CREEP INTO REFUGE.

Burning Embers Fall Thick, Many Wild Animals Slink Near, but Brave Girl Saves Every Life.

THEIR HAVEN IS PLOWED FIELD.

ALPENA, Mich., Oct. 21.-Among the most thrilling experiences of survivors of the Presque Isle county forest fires was that of Miss Grace Barber, a school teacher, 19 years old, whose school in Krakow township was in session when the flames swept down upon the building Thursday.

Farmer Gives Alarm.

A terrified farmer had rushed into the building to give the alarm just as the rear of the schoolhouse caught fire. The young teacher marshaled her pupils in a double row, the largest at the head and ordered them to remain in close order and not to break the line. She then directed the leaders to head for a plowed field near by and the column started on a run. Miss Barber bringing up the rear to prevent straggling.

Burning embers fell thick, but the teacher kept the children crowded close together and every ember was extinguished the instant it fell upon any child's clothing. The fire burned steadily for some time as the blaze from the tops of the trees ate its way down.

Animals Creep In. Soon animals began to appear upon the edge of the field and during the night two bears made their appearance. A fox came slinking in, as did also a wild cat, rabbits, partridges and other game. But the animals kept well away from the children, not even the bears offering hos-tile demonstrations. Miss Barber kept her charges in the field all Thursday night and in the morning sent them home in groups, piloting the smaller ones her-self.

Rouses Fires to Renewed Fury and Pco-

STE. MARIE, Oct. 21.-[Special.]—There is no letup to the gate from the southeast which was stronger than ever at daybreak, rousing the forest fires to renewed fury. Detour reports a dozen vessels in the harbor unable to leave on account of the wind. No boats have arrived from down river when last heard from. Fires have broken out on Drummond island, sweeping away timber. Raber, Gatesville and Cedarilla out of the control of t darville are reported filled with refugees from the woods. Sugar island reports several buildings burned, including many cottages along shore. There is no sign of relief, the promised rain not having come. William Bacon's sawmill at Pickford took fire early this morning from sparks from the woods. It was totally destroyed.

Near Donaldson at least forty square miles are burned over. The fire is running rapidly, and cannot be checked until rain comes. James Puller, who re-turned today from Sugar island, says that up to 10 o'clock the northern end of the island is safe. The McKinney mill which was reported burned last night is still safe, the fire at least a mile away. Puller said he could not see what the conditions were on the lower end of the island because of the smoke. Reports from Lake Superior say that last night the view from the decks of vessels was one of grandeur. For fifty miles along the shore the flames rose 50 to 100 feet and seemed to extend back from the lake for miles. Telephone messages from the southern part of the county at 10 o'clock say the fires are beyond control, and the progress of the flames will be limited only by the amount of timber which is left in their path. John Stegman, president of the North from the country around Pickford and says conditions in the woods are beyond description.

Men Work Like Trojans in Fight Near Houghton.

HOUGHTON, Mich., Oct. 21 .- [Spe cial.]-Several hundred men were kept in action throughout the greater part of last night to fight forest fires which drew dangerously near Houghton, and it was only by dint of hard work that a large property loss was prevented. Thousands of trees were destroyed and at times the big stamp mill of the Atlantic Mining company was in dan as were many other large buildings. high wind helped fan the flames, but the men worked like Trojans and by morn-ing had the flames under control. Thou-sands of feet of hose were used in fighting the fire which was one of the worst reported in this section.

Heavy Fall Will Check if Not Quench

Forest Fires. NEW RICHMOND, Wis., Oct. 21.past twenty-four hours. There is a sufficient quantity to check, if not entirely quench the forest fires. The government guage in this city shows a total rainfall of 1.32 inches and more is coming. Forest fires have been program. ing. Forest fires have been raging in the town of Forest, twenty miles northeast of this city, and were headed for Clear Lake. The rain will check it.

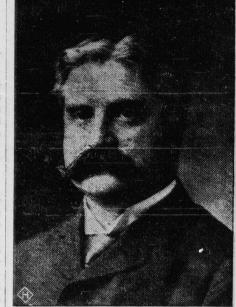

CHETEK, Wis., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—
For the last four days forest fires have been burning east of this village. Large tracts of timber have been totally stroyed and damage was done to Forester and Apker farms. Over 100 men fought the flames day and night for forty-eight hours and the fire is now thought to be under control.

St. Mark's Campanile.

The rebuilding of the famous Campanile of Venice has made rapid progress during the last twelve months, and has now attained a height of 150 feet. By the end of 1900 the main portion of the tower will be finished, and the marble logia which will surmount the colwill be begun. This time ampl precautions have been taken to insure the strength and stability of the new Campanile. The old pilework was found to be in an excellent state of preserva-tion. A gilded statue of the Virgin in terra cotta, which was a special of veneration, and which was reduced to cember.

fragments in the falling of the tower, has been cleverly put together again by experts, and will occupy relatively its former position. It is stated that when the tower is completed it will be impossible to detect any difference between it and the old one. The very bells will ring with precisely the same pitch and tonelity as by a fortunate coincidence tonality, as by a fortunate coincidence the maestro Periso, a short time before the collapse, had noted their intonation. They will be recast in such a way as to reproduce the peculiar sonorous depth of tone which they formerly possessed. The inauguration of the new Campanile will be the occasion of elaborate fetes and carnivals.—London Globe.

TROOPS SEARCH FOR ASSASSINS.

TIPTONVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 21.-Unharmed, save numerous scratches re ceived in a thirty-four hour trip through unfamiliar woods and the fatigue incident to the trip, without food and the mental strain, Judge R. Zachary Taylor reported here today after a miraculous escape from night riders at Reelfoot Lake, who murdered his partner, Capt. Quentin Rankin, night before last.

Judge Taylor's escape is due to a daring dash for liberty while the night riders were disputing among themselves the best way to kill him. During the heat of the discussion, Col. Taylor broke for freedom. Dashing a few yards to the bank of a shallow inlet of Reelfoot lake he plunged in.

Bullets Follow Fugitive.

A fusilade of bullets followed the fugitive, whose figure was dimly discernable in the growing dawn of appriaching daylight. Wading and swimming, the aged attorney pushed forward. Bullets and small shot fell on every side, but none struck him. Near the bank opposite the firing night riders, Judge Taylor threw up his hands and pitched forward heavily over a log and lay inert. Hundreds of shots were fired into the log by the night riders, but not one penetrated far enough to injure Col. Taylor. Satisfied that their victim had met death and fearing that the repeated sound of shots would arouse too many residents in the neighborhood the night riders did not attempt to cross the riders did not attempt to cross the slough to examine the body, but left the scene after about 500 shots had been

Lay Hours in Mud.

Taylor arose and plunged into the under brush to fight his way to a friendly com brush to fight his way to a friendly community. Avoiding paths which might lead to some unfriendly clearing, Col. Taylor pushed his way slowly through the dense woods. All day he traveled in this manner, and when night came, made his couch on a bed of leaves.

About 8 o'clock this morning Col. Taylar, declaring that it would be safe for him to make inquiry at a farm house, followed a path which shortly led into a rough road. Within a few minutes the fleeing man came upon the home of Luther Rankin, overseer for the extensive Harris interests and where the that transportation interests of the country had in all the past placed unjust charges upon them for their transportation.

Magnus household troops. From the station she admits that he is a deserter and asserts drove to the palace through streets that he married Senator Gorman's daughter in Louisville on September 5. When Magnus, or Hartlove, as he was known in the navy, was searched it was found that he had eighteen $1000 government bonds and about $6000 in cash in his possession.

Mrs. Magnus was at the Selbach last night but could not be found today. Magnus, who enlisted under the name of Hartlove, was a first class musician in the navy on board the United States ship Dolphin.

Smoking and the Voice.

It has always been one of the arguments of those who have tried to dissuade us from the habit of smoking that pipes, cigars and cigarettes injured the voice. But on this subject Sir Charles Santley, who may surely be considered an authority, writes that he found smoking in moderation made his voice clear, and that he has never known more than two or three indifferent singers who did not smoke. The only drawback to this statement is that it will tend to increase the number of men who try to sing. It must be remembered, however, that it is only moderate smoking which has no harmful effect on the voice. There is no doubt at all that to smoke excessively is to injure one's chances of singing well. The voice, as a matter of fact, is one of the best possible tests of moderation in smoking.— London Globe

ASK ROOSEVELT TO DECLARE WAR

CALIFORNIA SERVIANS WANT THE UNITED STATES TO INTERFERE IN AUSTRIAN TROUBLE.

SYMPATHY FOR PROVINCES.

Over 1000 of the Exiles in Pacific State Alone Are Ready to Enlist in Fight for Cause.

RUSSIA MAY TAKE HAND SOON.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 20 .-Cheering speakers who advocated war with Austria and the immediate declaration of independence by the country from which they are exiles, nearly 1000 Servians assembled in mass meeting, last night and sent to President Roosevelt a telegram asking the United States intercede with Austria in behalf of Bosnia and Herzegovina, the provinces recently annexed by Austria. From various parts of the state there was received messages of sympathy from the countrymen of those attending the meeting. It was reported that 1000 Servians will be enlisted by the last of this week in preparation for the possibility of hostilities in the Balkans.

Russia May Interfere.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 20.—The proposal that Russia intervene in northern Persia to prevent all of Persia fall-ing a prey to anarchy and to safeguard Russia's commercial and other interests in the country, is considered by ministry of foreign affaire to be premature. The government does, however, contemplate taking the necessary measures to protect Russian subjects and Russian trade. It now contemplates strengthening the guards at the consulate in northern Per-sia and is about to send 100 infantrymen to Tabriz.

Bulgaria Wants Peace.

Russia has been given to understand from a Bulgarian source that Bulgaria, although doing everything possible for the preservation of peace, cannot look with indifference on the military preparations of Turkey; that if mobilization is ordered in Turkey, Bulgaria will be forced to inaugurate military operations herself without loss of time. The Bulgarian diplomatic agent here has urged M. Tcharykoff, the acting minister of foreign affairs, to hasten the convocation of the international congress and secure of the international congress and secure a speedy settlement of a situation, which is imposing a very heavy financial strain on the new kingdom.

Blind Migratory Fish.

Few anglers are aware of the not inonsiderable number of sea trout and almon that are totally or nearly blind. It is no rare occurrence for the bailiff when stepping into the coop box to find that all the fish do not frantically scat-ter about his feet. There are salmon and sea trout which lie perfectly quiet until touched. These when examined are found to have growing over their eyes a scaly covering like the shell of a pea that has been boiled.

There can be no doubt that the fish which have their eyes completely enveloped by this shell are totally blind. There are this season on the Cumberland Derwent a larger proportion than usual of fish so afflicted. Blindness in sea trout and salmon no doubt partly accounts for long sojourns in particular places.— Field.

MICHIGAN FIRE HORROR GROWS

FORESTS BLAZING IN ALL DIREC-TIONS AND SCORES OF TOWNS WIPED OUT.

SURVIVOR'S TERRIBLE TALE.

Bay City Traveling Man Saw Women and Children Perish in a Seething Furnace.

LAKES SHROUDED IN SMOKE.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 17.-Reports of the loss of life from the northern counties of the state which are being swept by forest fires are still incomplete this afternoon and the estimates of the total death list range from twenty-eight to forty-two. Possible duplication of names in altered form from different sources may account for the difference in esti-

The Journal received reports this afternoon of the death of ten persons not reported from any other source, namely, cremation of four members of family of John Sezerski on their farm hear Rogers City. Sezerski and his two hired men escaped and have arrived there. From Cheboygan comes a report of the finding of the bodies of six Dust children near Metz. Alpena this after-noon reports Miss Siebert burned to death in her father's lumber camp at Measures of relief for the stricken people in Presque isle and Cheboygan counties are already under way. Hun-dreds are homeless and many have not sufficient clothing.

REPORT FROM ALPENA.

ALPENA, Mich., Oct. 17.-With twenty-seven people known to have perished yesterday in Presque Isle county and with forest fires still raging uncontrolled through the counties of boygan, Presque Isle, Alpena and na, as well as in other scattered districts through northern Michigan, diligent search was begun today to determine the full extent of the holocaust. It may take many days to reveal tragedies that are likely to have occurred on isolated farms families fighting bravely to the to save their lives and their homesteads.

Property Loss Millions.

The death list may not be fully known for a week. But it needs no elaborate details to determine that the property loss will run into the millions. Whole villages have been blotted off the map and logging camps by the dozen have been destroyed with their entire season's output. Near Turner in Arenac county a flock of nearly 100 sheep were burned alive. In the immediate vicinity of Millersburg in Presque Isle count; one the losses are estimated at half a million dollars.

Forest Blaze Everywhere.

Other districts where bad forest fires are reported are in the neighborhood Elmira, Gaylord and Johannesburg Otsego county, Cadillae in Wexford county, Grayling in Crawford county, where 4.000,000 trees planted by the state forestry commission were destroyed; Grawn, in Grand Traverse county and Caseville and Bad Axe in Huron county, in the "Thumb" district. In the Upper Peninsula threatening for are reported around Sault Marie, Menominee, Escanaba and Calumet and Houghton. At Koss, near Me nominee, eighteen houses are reported destroyed with as many more threatened.

Dense Smoke at "Soo."

Navigation has been practically sus pended at the "Soo," owing to the dense smoke and the Preque Isle fog station signal on Lake Huron was abandoned yesterday by Patrick Garrity, who was obliged to fiee for his life. Long Rapids and Rogers City are re ported in grave danger. At Alpena lass night the common council at a special meeting authorized Mayor McKnight to issue what temporary relief he though best for the fire sufferers. Provisions and clothing will be sent from Alpena to the scene of the Metz disaster and also to needy victims in Alpena county. Alpena citizens will hold a mass meeting Sunday to adopt further measures of re-

Posen Is Safe.

The villages of Posen and La Roque, which last night were in grave dange escaped and are today regarded out danger, barring a decided change o wind, as most of the slashings and un derbrush about them are destroyed Rogers City is in most danger today of any of the settlements in Presque Isl county. A large force of men is working to save the town with expectations of

Both Long Lake and Wilson township also escaped with few losses, although both were in great danger last night. Reports are constantly coming in of the destruction of small logging camps, farms and buildings and isolated groups

Petoskey, on the west side of the state reports that the fire situation in that neighborhood is better than last night. Hastings Heights, a summer resort near Conway, is threatened today as is Riggsville. A cloud of smoke hangs over the Methodist resort at Bayview, but the fire is not yet near enough to cause

SURVIVOR'S TERRIBLE TALE.

BAY CITY, Mich., Oct. 17.—Wesley Irwin, a Bay City traveling man, who was one of the survivors of the Metz relief train disaster, gave a thrilling account of the forest fire tragedy. He said:
"The train left Metz about 6 o'clock of the said of the fire translater evening and real into the fire Thursday evening, and ran into the fire three miles south of that place. A burn ing pile of cedar had warped the rail and into the trap the train leaped, carry ing its human cargo to destruction. Th five box cars immediately took fire an it was with difficulty that the 200 per ple in them escaped. In a deep bodie steel coal car were located the wome and children and as the heat increase they were unable to escape. Men wer forced to seek places of safety and could give no aid.

Terrible to Witness.

"It was terrible to witness and I hope I will never be compelled to go through such agony again. It made one's hear sink as the pitiful cries of the women and children reached the ears of the flee ing men, calling pleadingly not to be left alone in that seething furnace. The women clung to their little ones and begged for aid. Agonizing cries rent the air and caused the blood in one's body to run cold.

Race Miles with Fire.

"A party of seven of us took to the woods and were forced to jump over burning logs and run through fire in making our escape. It was the only cannot to take and we thought it preferable to remaining with the women and children and meeting the same fate. For sidiary properties, has resigned, leaving

Regular Hell of Flame.

Arthur White of Metz, another survivor of the fire, said: "When the relief train reached a point about a mile south of Metz we ran into a regular hell of flame and smoke, which swept over the open car, setting our clothing on fire, and singing our hair. All of a sudden the engine went off the track and we stopped right in the midst of a mass of flames which surrounded us. My brother and his little boy was next to me. I lifted the led over the side of the car. lifted the lad over the side of the car and dropped him and got out myself. I could not find my brother, but I picked up the boy and struggled through the flames and smoke to an open field."

"SOO" REPORTS NO RELIEF. SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Oct. 17. [Special.]—Morning dawned with no relief from the forest fires between Whitefish point on Lake Superior to Detour, at the mouth of the St. Marys river in prospect. The pall of smoke over the lake is heavier than ever. The government lighthouse tender which went to Point Iroquois has not returned. Reports from the country in all directions tell of from the country in all directions tell of fires spreading rapidly. There is sign of rain and it will be many days before the fire is checked. Farmers and residents of small towns sat up all night watching the flames, the wind carrying brands long distances. At 11 o'clock the clouds of smoke were so dense that the sun was entirely obscured. A stiff breeze sprung up which is fanning the flames to greater The steamer Aspen, which went to Point Iroquois in answer to a call for help, has not returned. Fire has started on the lower end of Nebish island and soldiers have been summoned to Special from Eckerman says that fires are raging from the South Shore railway clear through to Lake Superior. Settlers are in danger. Employment Settlers are in danger. Employment agencies are receiving calls from lumber companies for men to go to the woods to fight the fires. One firm is hiring all the men it can get. Passengers arriving on morning trains report fires all along the roads in the woods.

MINE BLAST KILLS TWO.

Premature Explosion in the Champion, Near Calumet, Fatal to Richard Williams and John Minner.

CALUMET, Mich., Oct. 15.-[Special.]-Two miners, Richard Williams, aged 22, and John Minner, aged 19, died today as the result of injuries received in a premature blast last night at the Champion mine of the Copper Range

BISHOP TELLS OF FIRES.

Williams Scores Settlers for Their Carelessness. CHEBOYGAN, Mich., Oct. 17.- [Special.]-Bishop C. D. Williams, Episcopal experience in the forest fires. He said: "Firebound for two days in Hagen ville, back of Metz, I spent the two last evening fighting fires with forest blazing everywhere and a steady southwest wind watching their homes night and day, many families are homeless and many are reported to have perished on their farms, especially in the remote clearings. The whole country is a veritable fire trap with the woods full of falling timber left by lumbermen. There are not sufficient clearings about the towns and no fire protection.

Everything is parched with the drouth and yet people carelessly clear their land with fire. It is simply miraculous that cores of town do not go like Metz. situation first demands reforestration to lessen the frequent and persistent drouths. Stringent statutes should be secured requiring lumbermen to clear for ests of debris now carelessly left, requir ing mills and towns and railways to pro vide effectual protection and wider clear-ings and forbidding, under severe penalty, careless use of fire. Unless we cease our greedy, wasteful ways we shall have many horrors worse than Metz."

SEES CHANLER'S VICTORY.

Michigan Candidate Predicts Hughes' Defeat in New York.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Oct. 14.-[Special.]-Francis T. McDonald, who was assistant secretary at the Denver convention and is a candidate on the Democratic ticket for secretary of state, returned last night from a three weeks' trip through New York. He says Chanler will defeat Hughes by an overwhelming majority and will run far ahead of Bryan. He claims the barge canal issue is the main feature, overshadowing race track gambling.

Bodies Are Recovered.

No sound came from the engine room in the hold of the boat. The captain and the crew knew that their companions must have met a terrible death, but non lared to venture into the engine room on account of the escaping steam. The boat was anchored at once and the bells started going and at the same time a flag of distress was hung up, but no aid came to the vessel.

At dawn this morning Capt. Oleson led the men into the engine room and three of the dead bodies were brought up. The body of the fireman, the last ictim, was found in the fireman's hold The skin was simply cooked from the bodies. After the dead bodies had been laid out as decently as possible on the main hatch the members of the crew awaited the coming of aid and at o'clock when no aid came it was decided to draw cuts to see who should make an effort to reach the shore through the terrific sea. The fate fell to N. C. Thompson, mate: Otto Falk, wheelsman, and Olex Fresstrem, a deck hand.

Two men who are suspected of kidnaping her and keeping her a prisoner are under arrest. Mrs. Meeriongola is 17 years old, the daughter of a well-to-do farmers and the wife of a contractor, to whom she was married six months ago. She was first dragged from her home n October 10. A neighbor saw her beng led to the woods between two armed Three days later, after her father and husband had sought for her in vain, she staggered into her father's home and said that she could remember little that had happened during her absence except that she had been kept a prisoner in a swamp by two men.

A few days later another attempt to kidnap her from her father's house was made but was frustrated by the appearance of her husband. Again last Saturday afternoon, the two kidnapers raided her father's home and, frightening her mother with a revolver shot, again dragged the young wife away. The help of the police was again summoned, and yesterday afternoon two officers found her in the cusody of two men in the woods near Huntington. The girl was lying on a pile of brush while her captors were playing a game of cards The kidnapers gave battle to the police but were overcome and arrested. Alarmed, and apparently half crazed, the girl fled into the swamp. The police pursued her for a short distance but soon rost trace of her. It is feared that she has perished.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 16.—A dispatch to the News from its Millersburg correspondent who returned at 1 o'clock this afternoon from the scene of the wreck says fifteen men, women and children burned to death is the awful fate of the victims of the worst fire that this ection ever knew.

These people were all on a train which WILL RUN INDEPENDENTLY FOR
THE ASSEMBLY.

These people were all on a train which tried to take them out of a town, Metz, most of which last night was a raging volcano. The train was in charge of Conductor Kinville, Engineer Foster and Brakeman William Barrett, and Fireman Arthur Lee. The train was made up at Metz late in the afternoon when the fate of the town was evident when the fate of the town was evident and there was no other avenue of escape. Milwaukee, Marinette, Escanaba and Gladstone Send Aid to Foster City. ESCANABA, Mich., Oct. 16 .- [Special.]-Only a desperate fight by the tire population of the town, assisted by the fire departments of Escanaba and Gladstone, saved Foster city from destruction by forest fires last night. With fires advancing steadily from the south and west sides of the town a great wall of roaring flames swept over the hill back of the village shortly after midnight, and for a time it seemed impossible to save the property. The greatest excitement prevailed in the village, with women and children rushing hysterically about the streets seeking places of safety, while the entire male population engaged in an effort to fight back the flames. A hurried call was sent to Escanaba for a relief train which was immediately sent and a large number of women and children was taken out and brought to Escanaba early this morning.

Appeals for assistance were sent by the Morgan Cedar and Lumber company, which owns a large mill and an entire townsite, to cities as far south as Milwaukee, and early this forenoon fire engines from Milwaukee and Marinette were delivered on special trains at the scene of the fire to supplant the service given by the fire departments of Escanaba and Gladstone. Practically all of the residents of the town have trunks and light household effects under several feet of sand near their homes and if the town is swept something will be saved. With the fire fighting equipment now on the ground, it is believed that the village can be saved in spite of the fact that a heavy wind from the south is continually driving the flames in that direction. The mill and stock of the Morgan Cedar and Lumber company is valued at $4,000,-

NORTHERN GROWN:

That the term, "northern grown" as applied to stock, is coming to be recognized as synonymous with best "quality," and that the cattle, hogs and poultry reared in the upper peninsula of Michigan are more hardy, fatten quicker and afford a richer, cleaner and more delicately flavored food than stock raised in more southern, and less favored latitudes, is the statement made by farmers of this section in general, and by W. S. Pricket of Sidnaw, in particular,

"Sunlight" he says, "as well as fodder and water, have a pronounced effect in the growing of healthy, uninfected stock and we have much more sunlight than the country farther south. ## ARCTIC WEDDINGS ARE SIMPLE RITES

ARE BETROTHED IN INFANCY.

Despite Lack of Ceremony, the Moral Laws Are Enforced Under Penalty of Death.

ESKIMO IS NOT SENTIMENTAL.

With Peary on his way to find the North Pole "sure enough," this time, and with the assurance that he will bring back a good-sized splinter to prove the right of ownership, the Eskimo is put once more into the limelight and one wonders if social forms and social problems are frozen into inertia in the icy regions, or if, as in the happy lands of sunshine and flowers, they lend themselves to rite and festival.

It would seem that the greatest of all problems—how to support life—would appeal most strongly to the mind of the Laplander and the Eskimo. There have been no balmy scented leisure on which ponder, no sayings of Mme. Grundy to fret over, their sole ambition resolving itself into one huge desire to collect sufficient greasy blubber to carry them through the long dark winters.

In the far north, with but few exceptions, they have neither wooing nor wedding. The Arctic marriage is splendidly simple. A man and a woman decide to wage their war of life together, to combine against their common prey of seal or well as on white bear and a seal or well as on white bear and a seal or well as on white bear and a seal or well as on white bear and a seal or well as on white bear and a seal or well as on white bear and a seal of the seal of th seal or walrus or white bear, cold, storm and darkness; they decide to do this, and they do it. With them that is the beginning and end of the marriage question in the zone of snow and ice. "Marriage by capture" is obsolete in Europe, but it thrives as sturdily among the icebergs of Greenland as does the sweet maize in the luxurious soil of the torrid regions. The young Eskimo does not often or violently fall in love; he seeks a wife and selects her chiefly for her strength and health, that she may aid in the terrible toil and endless en-durance compelled by their cold environ-

Drags Bride to Lair.

Having selected his wife he marches to her abode or watches and lies in wait for her as she walks or works, seizes her by her long strong hair or her fur gar ments and drags her to his lair of ice or tent of skin. Some Greenland lads do indeed propose to or for the maiden of their choice, but this proposal is never accepted. A girl may lose her good name and be none the worse of it—in the eyes of the Eskimo—but to accept an offer of marriage is to shame herself beyond repair, to lose caste beyond expiation, beyond the power of any pen-ance to reinstate her.

The Greenland bride-elect, whatever she may be, must appear unwilling and the bridegroom must gain her by force, genuine or counterfeit. In the land of eternal snow there is the greatest matri monial demand, especially for the moth ers of sturdy sons, who can aid in fight ing the wolf from the door and in bring ing the succulent whale under its roof Even the woman with the green badge of shame upon her head, if she be the

Many times children are betrothed in their infancy and after they grow up may live together at any time. There may live together at any time. is no wedding ceremony nor any festivi-ties; in almost all cases if love comes at all it comes after marriage.

Domesticity counts for a great deal; home is a sanctuary from the fury of the elements, while husband and wife crouch peside the cauldron of the bubbling blubber. Men and women at the North pole have very little besides themselves; they do not think much, being neither intellectual nor sentimental. But they feel, for they are human. Grossly clad, unspeakably fed, greasy of skin and all but animal of manner, they are warmed by comradeship. It sometimes happens that two who are intended for each other live together as companions on a term of probation, but the relationship is absolutely platonic. Perhaps the trial develops a want of congeniality or what is called in civilized communities "incompatibility of temperament." Then the two separate and the woman returns to her par-

Moral Laws Are Strict.

It is said that "with the Eskimo hardany but a free and capricious union is known; there is as yet no durable marriage." The statement may be too sweeping, because in the Eskimo nation are many peoples and of their morality and civilization there are many degrees. Among a number of their tribes there are moral laws which are lived up to strictly; death is the immediate pun-ishment of the man or the woman who is false to the marriage vow.

The Eskimo is not sentimental, but as a rule makes an excellent husband, suffering any deprivation, any hardship—risking life and limb—for the maintenance of wife and children. Perhaps them there is music in the hissing, whistling north wind, and as the greatest of all arts is living in peace with those who are nearest and dearest, the barbaric and uninteresting Eskimo may have attained a dregree of domestic perfection of which we in our arrogance of a higher civilization can form no conception.

Grape Delicacies.

This is the grape season. Now, while the delicious products of the vine can be procured by the basket at a moderate price, is the time to think of the long season during which fruit will be dear, and to provide stores of good things that can be drawn upon hereafter. Here are recipes for delicacies that are easily made from grapes: Grape Catsup—This is a delicious side dish with turkey. Take very ripe grapes—wild ones will answer—and cook them until the skin and the pulp separate. To five pints of the grapes add three pounds of sugar, one pint of strong cider vinegar, ground cloves and ground cinnamon to suit individual taste. Boil all together for fifteen or twenty minutes, put up in small jars and seal tightly. Unfermented Grape Juice—A most appetizing drink, said to be a great tonic. Wash the grapes thoroughly, and cook in porcelain kettle. Under no circumstances use an iron pot for this. Cover the grapes with cold water and bring to the boiling point. Strain grapes and juice in cheese cloth bags, and let the juice add one-quarter of a pound of sugar—white. Boil again and skim. While hot put into bottles and seal the cork with wax, so that they will be air

Grape Mousse-Cook enough grapes so that when strained they will make one large coffee cup of pure juice. Stir this into a pint of heavy cream. Add one tablespoonful of lemon juice, and enough sugar to sweeten. Whip this with cream whipper until very thick, and pour into a mold. Pack in freezer, covering with salt and ice, letting it stand four or five hours. Replenish the ice if necessary. Turn out on platter to serve and sprinkle outs over the inverted mold. Grape Butter—Separate the pulp and the skins of the grapes. Do not boil the skin. Boil only the pulp and strain through a coarse sieve. Mix with the skins and then measure together. To each quart of grapes, add one pint of sugar, and cook until thick and jellied.

MEN'S FASHION NEWS.

One of the features of the fall shirtngs that are being shown in many of he shops as forerunners of the autumnal fabrics is the absence of the pin stripe. Many of the fabrics, in fact the majorthey are crossed by stripes quite a quarter of an inch broad. These stripes come in nearly all the shades of the popular colors but blues, greens, browns and pinks are most in evidence. These stripes, too, are embellished with figure or flower designs in self tones or white, some of these diminutive lines of color being extremely decorative in their general effect.

White flannel waistcoats piped with pale violet silk are being shown of the Fifth avenue shops.

New folded four-in-hands are cut with erfectly square ends and have a deided flare.

A great many firms are showing neck wear that is very low in tone but rich in Jacquard designs in self colors. There is a quiet elegance about these early autumn showings that augurs well for the taste of the American man.

One of the shops in the Fifth avenue one is showing a dress waistcoat made of a sheer white fabric, having alternate plain and fancy stripes about a quarter of an inch wide in a self design. In its general effect this fancy stripe has a "crinkly" look that suggests the old fashioned seer-sucker. The garment has rather wide rolling collar and it buttoned by three white composition butons edged with gold.

Various shades of brown and green hose are being shown for wear with the heavy fall tan Oxford ties.

Many men are wearing waistcoats again and straw hats are giving way to the more seasonable soft felts. It will probably be a week or two, however, before much "fall wear" is seen on the streets as it is only just beginning to make its appearance in the shop win-

MARKING ARMY HORSES.

If it proves satisfactory the system is lestined to replace entirely that at pres- batch of Holloway enthusiasts, and is To illustrate t destined to replace entirely that at present in vogue, by which reference nument in vogue, by which reference numbers are burned into the horses' hoofs. She has had such an amination of pupils in the manual traingular reference number disappears completely, owing to the natural growth of the horse's hoof, which brings the number lower and lower until in the process of shoeing it is filed away. It is claimed that by the system which is being tried a number becomes absolutely indelible and could only be removed by such a barbarous act as cutting away a portion of the horse's gum. The operation which the horse has to undergo is briefly this: Its upper lip is drawn back and a portion of the gum above the incisor teeth is deadened to pain by an injection of cocaine. Then the metal pencil attached to an electrical battery is employed. In the pencil is a reservoir filled with indelible ink. At its pointed end is a tiny hollow needle, which under electrical impetus shoots in and out with tremendous rapidity, making tiny punctures in the horse's gum at the rate of many thousands a minute and depositing a minute drop of ink in each. A number containing five numerals can be "written" by an expert in few seconds.—London Daily Mail.

Relic of an Old Tavern.

Mrs. Alvah J. Hildreth of Topsham, has in her fine old ancestral mansion many unique and valuable relics of for mer days and bygone generations which she guards with she most prizes is the representation of a bunch of grapes carved out of wood. The wood has been cracked by the passing years, and long exposure to the weather of many summers and winters has worn away the paint. It is a notable piece of carving for all that, and it has a history which makes it of great value in the eyes of lovers of the antique. The bunch of wooden grapes tique. The bunch of wooden grapes was originally one of a cluster of four bunches which hung as a sign on the famous old Bunch of Grapes tavern in King street, now State street, Boston, as early as 1712. Two of the other bunches are preserved in a steel vault in the Masonic temple, Boston. They were given to the Masons in 1883, when St. John's lodge celebrated its 170th anniversary, as the first lodge of Freemasons in America was instituted in the Bunch of Grapes tavern. It was taken from Boston to Bowdoin-ham on the deck of a schooner about 1810, and was used as a tavern sign by Mrs. Hildreth's grandfather, Adam Patten. This tavern was situated in what is now the town of Bowdoinham, near the Topsham line, overlooking Merrymeeting bay, but was formerly Topsham.-Kennebec Journal.

Home-Made Troubles. People get a certain satisfaction out of trouble; it is such an excellent excuse for thinking about themselves. Also for making other people think about them. Many entertain the delusion that trouble makes them interesting: the more profound the trouble the more they consider it removes them from the common herd. It certainly does. The common herd takes care of that. Does anyone realize how selfish trou-

In times gone by they were allowed to make such a business of their troubles; in fact, they were expected to concentrate their whole remaining years to a round of blankness and regret. The simple fact that they had not gratified one particular desire was accepted as a valid reason for the abandonment of themselves to a state of general useless-It was considered most ness. of gentlemen to give up their careers and pass their declining years in restrospection of the tragedy of their past. If they could manage to decline away altogether they were held up as examples to the race; they had proved their troubles were real. In those days grief was looked on as a positive accomplishment; a fine art; a study in which honors could be taken. Even today one hears misanthropic-looking individuals referred to with a certain respect as people who have kept up their unhappiness for a commendably lengthy period. The onlookers vaguely feel this shows sta bility. A good many men—and women, too—do not get what they want, either in love or their professions, and yet maintain a cheerful interest in life and their fellow beings. But the outsider feels their troubles cannot have been "real" ones. Onlookers reserve their sympathy for those who carry their disappointments about with them; who nurse the sense of Fate's injustice; who feel they deserved better treatment, and let the world know they think so. They are accredited with depth. Cheerful people are always suspected of a lack of profundity. Besides, trouble is held by some to be a hall-mark of superior refinement. When we were little a gloomy expression was promptly corrected as denoting "sulks:" but when we grow up we "sulks:" but when we grow up we should brand such a criticism as "heartless." When one is grown up troubles are considered proofs of sensibility, and

I had magnificent troubles when I was three. I can remember now the passion of rage and injustice that seized me when my sister was carried into the nursery wearing my best bonnet. I can feel that blinding desolation of impotence: that wonder as to why such things should be allowed to be. I had done nothing; and they had taken my bonnet from the drawer and decked my sister in it. A moment since I had been playing with my bricks, good and happy; then nurse entered, I recognized the blue bow, the quillings. My sister had no right to my bound; no constitution of the sister had no right to my bound; no constitution of the sister had no right to my bound; no constitution of the sister had no right to my bound; no constitution of the sister had no right to my bound; no constitution of the sister had no right to my bound; no constitution of the sister had no right to my bound; no constitution of the sister had no right to my bound; no constitution of the sister had no right to my bound. bonnet; no one could pretend she had a right; yet I had no one to stand up for it for years.

I remember another trouble; my hatred of bread and milk. To this day I can recall the monotony of its taste morning recall the monotony of its taste morning after morning. Yet I had always to eat a cupful before the interest of the meal began. One day I struck, I was reproved. I continued to strike. I was kept in my chair till I ate it. Injustice rankling violently, I repeated the strike next morning. I continued it until personal chastisement had to be resorted to. Then I ate the bread and milk again. But nothing was made of this affliction. I never liked bread and milk, but I had to eat it, and as far as I can remember to eat it, and as far as I can remember the rest of the day passed in a normal fashion. I played as usual after breakfast. Nowadays I suppose I should pass my entire time in thinking of the bread and milk that I had put away and the bread and milk that loomed before me, and discussing the whole hopeless irretrievability of the nauseous torture, the hundrum hores, the descriptions of delly

But the worst of it is that a person who started out with quite a small-sized trouble may return to the bosom of his afflicted family with that trouble so enlarged by kind treatment that the poor family is under a blight for days. Covetous Girls. One of the saddest things imaginable is to discover that a girl has a covetous spirit. It robs her of so much that is womanly, charming and sweet. There are girls who see others march ahead ome pursuit, gain step by step in the working world and if they happen to make a success, they withhold the kind words of congratulations or good wishes. Many in places to assist others will never do so. There is a spirit of rivalry very pathetic, for girls should stand to-gether in comradeship and if they do not, who, then, will stay by them? If you know of a girl looking for a position and you can help her secure one, do so; if you know one who might be placed where she will gain a little to her credit, do not keep her in ignorance of the fact. If one has succeeded, offer your heaerty, girlish congratulations. Do it honestly and not enviously. When one of your friends does succeed, and many of them will, do not stand off with others in a group and say: "Oh, I suppose it is merely a case of good luck, for no one ever expected her to amount to anything." When you hear that Loretta is singing nicely, making her success in the world, do not turn up your nose and say, "Audrey could do as well, only we won't push her ahead." Do not think of Audrey just then, for her time is coming, but think of Loretta who gives to the world the value of a Godgiven talent. Be true to your girl friends, be their companions in success as well as in social pleasantries. It you have a natural spirit of covetous-ness, weed it out, for it grows like a stocky weed, and its flowers are never beautiful or fragrant.-Woman's Nation-

The well-groomed woman is the wom an who shows a fastidious care in every detail of her appearance, and intelligence in her selection of clothes. She impresses one with more than style and prettiness, certainly more than the mere expenditure of money. The registration in San Francisco for the coming presidential election, which closed last night, indicates that the people are not taking a great interest The figures are not complete, but the total registration will not greatly exceed 74,000, a reduction of 4000 from the figures of the last municipal election and 7000 less than four years ago. Various explanations are offered for this reduction. The Populisary that for this reduction. The Republicans take the view that the election of Mr. Taft is certain, and this feeling causes the voters on both sides to regard registration as a useless formality. The paign has been marked by apathy which might prove disastrous in the event of a close contest. Little effort was made by the Taft managers to fill the registration lists. On the other hand, the Democrats have not a strong organization in California, because of factional contests

Judge Lawler of San Francisco tenced to two days in jail Charles F. Oliver, a young detective on the staff of William J. Burns, who approached the jurors in the Ruef case to learn their attitude toward the defendant. Oliver admitted that he had talked with two jurors, and was found guilty of contempt of court. He got two days on each count, but the sentences were made concurrent. Friends of Ruef who shouted to jurors in the previous trial when they were walking along the street in custody of the bailiff got five days each in prison.

Upton Sinclair is to be a Californian. The author of "The Jungle" and "The Metropolis" has written that he will make his home in Carmel-by-the-Sea. He has heard of a literary colony down by the old mission in the pine woods that extend down to the white beach of Carmel bay, and he is going to join that coterie.

An oil discovery which promises to be the means of opening up new oil territory was made a few days ago near Antioch, when the drill struck a good flow of high grade oil on a paraffine base. Once more San Francisco is threatened with a strike which promises to be rious and will have some influence on the election. The Draymen's association, which has been for several years working under an agreement with the Teamster's union, has served notice on the union that the agreement will not be renewed unless the men consent to a reduction in wages amounting to 50 cents a day. The present rate of wages averages about $20 a week. The union has so far refused to consider the proposed reduction. If the association persists in its determination to cut wages, the leaders of the men assert that they will go out. The last strike of teamsters, which occurred in 1902, was the bloodiest in the history of San Francisco.

WHALER'S LONG VOYAGE.

New Bedford Bark Twenty Years from Home Ports.

The whaling bark Alice Knowles, Capt. Thomas Scullion, which has just arrived in port from a trip around Cape Horn, has been absent from her home port twenty years.

The Knowles is a fine modeled ship, and has been whaling for about forty years. She was sent out into the Pacific by her owners to pick up right and bowhead whales in the Arctic ocean and Japan and Okhotsk seas. She did fairly well at the outset of her advent into the far northern waters, and it was not until the owners were convinced that there to pay for the risk of fitting out a ship that they decided to bring the old bark to her home port and put her into the Atlantic ocean whaling once more.

The Knowles first tried her luck off the coast of Chile after right whales, but didn't pick up a single bone bearing whale. She got a few barrels of sperm oil in the Pacific and then came around into the Atlantic. She tried the Patagonia grounds without success and came along to the River Platte grounds, where she picked up some oil. In going into Montevideo the Knowles ran on the banks and was nearly lost. Then the whaler, after waiting for Capt. Scullion's recovery from an attack of influenza, came north and to the western grounds, where she had the best whaling since leaving San Francisco, picking up some 900 barrels of sperm oil.

The whales were so plentiful at one time that a dozen were sighted in fifteen days and a capture made each time. She has picked up thirty-two whales since leaving Montevideo. Sometimes the whales were so plentiful that when that it is made in a region far removed from any of the present oil producing districts.

SPERRY DELIVERS ROOSEVELT'S MESSAGE OF FRIENDSHIP AND RECEIVES RESPONSE.

CEREMONY A BRILLIANT ONE.

Emperor, Princes, Officers, Ministers of State and Distinguished Japanese at Luncheon Following.

RECEPTION IS MOST CORDIAL.

TOKIO, Oct. 20 .- The Emperor of Japan at Tiffin today received in audience Rear Admiral Charles S. Sperry, commander-in-chief of the American battleship fleet, the three rear admirals commanding divisions, a score of captains and the chief of staff and flag lieutenants. The ceremony at the imperial palace, which occurred shortly before noon, was one of the most brilliant features of the week's celebration. The American officers in gold braided full dress and the magnificent apparel of the functionaries in attendance upon the court made a glittering and imposing pic-

Honor an Unusual One.

The procession of carriages conveying the officers of the fleet to the palace, through the streets lined with cheering multitudes, most imposing. When the spacious grounds opposite the approach to the palace, what is known as the "double bridge" was reached, the enthusiasm reached its height. Thousands of children were again massed in order that the Americans were about to pay a friendly visit within the grounds of the palace, wherein lives the great Emperor. Only a select few Japanese have ever visited these grounds and few, indeed, have ever been given an audience by the Emperor. The children cheered continuously and presented a beautiful sight in their picturesque costumes as they waved flags and bowed low as the carriages passed. The cheers continued even long after the carriages disappeared within the gates.

The President's Message.

The following is the text of President Roosevelt's message to Rear Admiral Sperry for transmittal to the Emperor of Japan:

Convey to his majesty, the Emperor of Japan, my best wishes for his continued good health and happiness and that of all the inhabitants of his realm. Express to his majesty the high gratification afforded me and the people of the United States at this opportunity which permits the com-mander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet in person to present my appreciation of the friendship which has existed from the earliest time between the United States and Japan, and of the honor to the United tates in this invitation to the United States Atlantic fleet to visit the empire of Japan in its practice cruise around the world. You will express to his majesty, the Emperor, my earnest wish for the strengthening and continuance of the cordial relations which exist and have always existed between the two countries.

Mrs. Thompson, who was alluded to as "Fanny" Thompson, he had come down town to meet Judge D. Coffin of Lake Butler, Fla., who, however, did not keep the engagement. Coffin, he said, was a Prohibition party national committee-

Clawater became intoxicated later, met the Thompson woman, whose photograph he identified, and went with her to the room wherein she was later found dead. He said Mrs. Thompson was Hamilton, as Mrs. Raymond, and at the latter's request, he signed his name as Raymond to the register. The register was produced and Clawater identified his gignature. signature. A key which counsel for Mann said would open the door of Mrs. Thompson's room, witness said was the key to his own room. That it would unlock both doors he said was not remarkable, since it was a skeleton key.

John L. Sullivan 50: On the Wagon to Stay.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Oct. 17.—John L. Sullivan celebrated his fiftieth birthday Thursday by renewing the pledge to remain on the water wagon for fifty years more. This declaration was made in the presence of a large circle of admirers. The ex-champion spurned an invitation for a mixture which had been especially prepared for him with ten especially prepared for him, with ten drops of whisky and a quantity of selt-

When the ex-champion returned to his Boston home last winter after an ab-sence of several years on the road it was noticed that a great change had come over him. In many respects he was the same "John L." as of old, glad to shake hands with his old friends and willing to give his opinion at great length and with oratorical flourish on any subject whatsoever. But before he was many hours in town it was noticed that he was not the spendthrift Sullivan of old. In fact, it was whispered about town that John was becoming somewhat "near" in his old age.

The fact of the matter is that Sullivan, after squandering fortune after fortune, has become strongly imbued with the spirit of New England thrift. Ever since he parted friendship with "John Barleycorn" Sullivan has been making money and some say that he has been making. and some say that he has been making a great deal of it. Some estimate his present fortune as well along in five figures. However this may be it appears unlikely that he will be in need of any of the old-time benefits if he continues to follow his present course.

Sullivan's career, so far as money-making enters into it, has been a marvelmaking enters into it, has been a marverous one. There are few men who have

She has no wireless telegraph on board. The Yankton left Olongapo October 10 for Yokohama, where she is to join the battleship fleet. She was reported as having been sighted at sea at 8 o'clock in the morning of October 15, as she was expected to come into Yokohama harbor sometime during the morning of October 16. The official reception committee headed by Vice Admiral Saito, who is vice minister of the navy department, will leave tomorrow (the eighteenth) for Yo-

After the exchange of official calls, it has been arranged that the American officers shall attend a garden party, followed by a dinner, at which the mayor of Yokohama will be host. In the evening there will be a ball given in their honor by Kimihira Sufu, prefectural governor of Kanagawa. The scene in Yokohama on the eve of the fleet's arrival is of the liveliest. The city is crowded with Japanese and foreigners and every house, however poor, is decorated in honor of the Americans with crossed flags and lanterns.

The spontaneous enthusiasm of the populace is unbounded, even more so than on the occasion of the celebra-tion that followed the close of the war with Russia a few years ago. On every hand are indications that the people of every rank in life will co-operate heartily in the reception to be directed by the official representatives of the nation.

KAISER INVENTS BRAKE

German Emperor Has Auto Axle Clutch Said to Be a Sure Thing for Emergencies.

BERLIN, Oct. 17.-Automobilists will have caused for gratitude to the Kaiser if published statements regarding an invention for which he is responsible are not exaggerated.

The accident on the elevated railroad here the other day called his attention again to means for braking wheeled vehicles in which he was interested some time ago, with the result that he devised an axle brake which affords the utmost security against failure to operate in an emergency.

It is specially applicable to automobiles. It is stated that the Kaiser will patent the invention if the final tests are satisfactory.

They belong to no less than 152,972 named The Coleoptera (beetles) 398,000; the Lepidoptera number (moths, butterflies), 355,767. There are 67,300 species of Coleoptera and 41,210 species of Lepidoptera represented. Yet entomologists believe that the larger part of the insect species of the world has not yet been named or discovered. In a work on a single family of tiny beetles (the Pselaphidæ), Mr. A. Raffray mentions more than 3,000 species, and expresses the belief that these do not represent onethird of the existing forms.

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN

No other medicine has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women or received so many genuine testimonials as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Almost every one you meet has either been benefited by it, or has friends who have.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., any woman any day may see the files containing over one million one hundred thousand letters from women seeking health, and here are the letters in which they openly state over their own signatures that they were cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved many women from surgical operations. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made from roots and herbs, without drugs, and is wholesome and harmless.

The reason why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the feminine organism, restoring it to a healthy normal condition.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

DID TIME IN MILWAUKEE PRISON.

Would you serve one year in the workhouse for $50,000, the salary of the President of the United States, shorn of its social and comfortable surroundings in the white house?

This sum can be made in dealing in 'green goods," provided the offender of he postal laws of Uncle Sam is not caught before his profits reach this large and almost unbelievable figure. Though the occupation is in violation of the penal code of the United States, it has been followed and still is followed by many, who resigned to their fate, are ready o enter a federal prison or other designated place of confinement to serve their time and then enjoy the fruits of "graft' and "theft."

The "green goods" operator may enjoy social distinction when at his work, for few outside of the detectives of the United States and his victims, know the line of work he is following. Remorse s bitter, and it is a great fall from soiety to prison, but then it is only for year, and at a salary, in advance, $1000 per week. In the Milwaukee house of correction re was liberated a few months ago M. Behr, convicted in the United States circuit court for the western district of Wisconsin, a "green goods" op-erator, whose winnings in the game of chance with the federal sleuths and "pocket picking" with "the ready-to-beinned" reached a total of $50,000. This estimate was made by federal inspectors, whose investigation placed them in direct contact with Behr. his methods and next door to his bank account. In pursuit of this evidence, E. E. Fraser, postal inspector at La Crosse. Wis., found that Behr had received over $25,000 in fewer than six months. This was during the time when the mail of Behr was confiscated, opened and the money returned to victims. The investiof Behr was confiscated, opened and the money returned to victims. The investigation allowed the postal inspector to examine the postal and money order records, and the result was amazing. Over $50,000 had been received in a year, and no account was made of express money

Behr was arrested by Postal Inspector Fraser on a charge of "green goods" grafting, using the mails to defraud. He denied the charge, waived preliminary hearing, and furnished cash bail, going to the bank to secure the founds. Then he hired the best attorney in western Wisconsin, for his savings account was Billy Butts, an office boy on the New York World has traveled over the New Haven road so often even his pet fox terricr, Gyp, knows every station between Mott Haven and Bridgeport.

In reply to the advertisements came score of letters, all from the lower strata of human life. Enclosed were money orders, express orders and cash. Some contained $10, others $50, and some mounted into the hundreds. All jumped at the chance to get rich. Poor men, honest at heart, but ready to turn a dishonest hand to gain wealth, parted with scant earnings to avail themselves of this "golden" opportunity.

In his office in the back room of a small La Crosse office building, Behr opened the letters, extracted the money, and sent pictures, steel engravings, photogravures, in return. Each victim received a full allotment, all his money called for. Some of the packages bordered on freight shipment size, so anxious were many to become rich in a day. Theirs probably was a look of disgust when the packages were opened, and the pictures, the evidence afterward showed, could be beught in lots of 100 for less than $1.00. When complaints reached the postal department, an investigation was started Behr's mail had reached an enormous pile, and attracted attention. Finally a fraud order was issued, the mail confiscated, opened; and the money or express orders, or cash returned. In six months a total of over $25,000 was returned by the postal officials.

During the trial Behr was confronted with his "victims." The United States had spent over $2800 in witness fees to convict this criminal. Whiskey for Rhenmatism.

The increased use of whiskey for rheumatism is causing considerable discussion among the medical fraternity. It is an almost infallible cure when mixed with certain other ingredients and taken properly. #### NOT A MIRACLE

Just Plain Cause and Effect. There are some quite remarkable things happening every day, which seem almost miraculous.

Some persons would not believe that a man could suffer from coffee drinking so severely as to cause spells of unconsciousness. And to find complete relief in changing from coffee to Postum is well worth recording.

"I used to be a great coffee drinker, so much so that it was killing me by inches. My heart became so weak I would fall and lie unconscious for an hour at a time. The spells caught me sometimes two or three times a day.

"My friends, and even the doctor, told me it was drinking coffee that caused the trouble. I would not believe it, and still drank coffee until I could not leave my room.

"Then my doctor, who drinks Postum himself, persuaded me to stop coffee and try Postum. After much hesitation I concluded to try it. That was eight months ago. Since then I have had but few of those spells, none for more than four months

"I feel better, sleep better and am better every way. I now drink nothing but Postum and touch no coffee, and as I am seventy years of age all my friends think the improvement quite remarkable."

PARTY OF PERFORMACE.

Republican Organization Fosters All Policies Tending to Make the Country Great and Prosperous.

The Republican is a party of action. It rests upon what it has done, and not upon what it possibly may do in the future. It has fostered everything that has tended to make the country great and prosperous. It has moved with the people. It has kept abreast of the times. It has ever stood ready to modify an old policy or to adopt a new one when the business interests of the country have needed the modification or the change. It has protected American industries. It has protected American labor by stringent immigration laws. It protected the credit and business stability of the country by prompt declaring in favor of a gold standard, and writing it in the statutes. When the time came it promptly seized upon the time and the opportunity to begin the speedy construction of the great isthmian canal. It has never hesitated to assume a responsibility. When the cruelties in Cuba threatened the interests of America the Republican party resolved to put an end to those cruelties. When trusts sprang up it enacted a law to curb and control those trusts. When commerce was at the mercy of the railroads, it provided for a commission to regulate them. When shippers were oppressed by transportation companies it promptly enacted a rate law. It has met every emergency in war or peace, met it in a wise, prudent and statesmanlike manner. It is progressive when progressiveness means upbuilding. It is conservative when conservatism means the maintenance of peace, order and prosperity. It has been prompt without undue haste. Peace and prosperity at home-honor and respect abroad has been, is now, and always will be its motto.-Republican National Platform.

CAMPAIGN EXPENDITURES.

Democratic Party Cannot Claim Unsullied Virtue as to Source of Its Revenues.

"Mr. Bryan also has much to say with regard to corrupt practices and campaign expenditures. But he omits to give due credit to the Republican party for what it has accomplished with regard to these important reforms, an accomplishment the more noteworthy in the light of Mr. Bryan's reiterated criticisms of contributions to Republican campaign funds. In the State of New York a Republican Legislature in 1906 passed a statute prohibiting corporations from making any political contributions directly or indirectly, and providing that officers, directors or stockholders participating in or consenting to the violation of the law should be guilty of a criminal offense. And I know of no more drastic statute in this country with regard to the publicity of campaign contributions and for the prevention of corrupt practices than that passed in New York under Republican auspices. These were not promises of an opposition party seeking power, but enactments by a party in power securing genuine reforms. Proper recognition must, of course, be given to the patriotic Democrats who supported these reforms, but they were enacted by a Republican administration. Congress has also legislated against political contributions by corporations. Purity of elections and free opportunity for the uncorrupted expression of the popular will lie at the foundation of every reform and cannot be too carefully safeguarded. And there should be federal legislation securing Press. proper publicity of and accounting for campaign contributions in connection with federal elections. But it must fairly be recognized that the skirts of neither party have been clean. If we search Mr. Bryan's following we shall find not a few who have sinned, and also those who, if we may judge from their local activities, are still unrepent-The Democratic party cannot claim unsullied virtue either with regard to the source of its revenues or its readiness to receive them."

LABOR IN DEMOCRATIC STATES.

Coal Miners in Alabama Subjugated

Into Cringing Dependencies. That there's a "rift within the lute" of the Gompers proposition to deliver the labor vote of the country to Democracy is becoming more apparent. While Mr. Bryan and Mr. Gompers are making special appeals to labor, neither refers to the deplorable condition of laber in the Democratic South. Mr. John P. White, for six years president | These policies can be successfully carnow one of the national officers of the investigated mining labor conditions in the South, is not so reticent. In a recent address to Local Union No. 97 of Albia, Iowa. he told of persecutions of labor in Alabama where a coal miners' strike was in progress. He is reported as saying: "The miners of Alabama have been subjugated until a majority have become cringing dependencies. Almost daily some of the laboring men of that State were mercilessly shot down for daring to assert their rights as American citizens. Ninety-one members of the Mine Workers' Association were thrown into jail without having committed any crime other than becoming bama is a State absolutely under control of Bryan Democracy.

TAFT AND EMPLOYERS' LIABIL-

ITY.

His Decision in the "Voight Case" Forerunner of Present Humane Statute.

A striking service to humanity which William H. Taft rendered in his judicial career is recalled by Eugene F. Ware, former Commissioner of Pensions, in a letter to the Kansas City Star. Mr. Ware refers to what was known as the "Voight case," which was decided by Judge Taft in 1897. Judge Taft's decision, although overruled by the United States Supreme Court, is really the pioneer of a section of the present employers' liability law, which was passed through the efforts of President Roosevelt and a Republican Congress, and approved April 22, 1908.

Voight was an express messenger who, to get his job, had to sign an agreement releasing the express company from liability in case he was injured or killed. The express company had a contract with the railroad exempting the railroad from liability in the event of injury to an express messenger. Voight was severely injured, and sued the railroad for damages on the ground of gross negligence, arguing that the railroad company could not make a contract evading its responsibility.

Judge Taft gave Voight a judgment of $6,000 and costs, holding that the express company had no right to make such contracts; that they were oppressive, unreasonable and unjust, and were against public policy, and further that the railroad company owed to the express messenger the same public duty which it owed to a passenger. The path blazed out by Judge Taft was followed in the new law referred to, which provides "That any contract, rule, regulation or device whatsoever, the purpose or intent of which shall be to enable any common carrier to exempt itself from any liability created by this act, shall to that exent be roid."

AS ROOSEVELT SEES BRYAN.

"You say that you have advocated more radical measures against private monopolies than either I or my party associates have been willing to undertake. You have, indeed, advocated measures that sound more radical, but they have the prime defect that in practice they would not work. I should not in this letter to you discuss your attitude on this question if you did not yourself bring it up, but as you have brought it up, I answer you that in my judgment the measures you advocate would be wholly ineffective in curing a single evil, and so far as they had any effect at all, would merely throw the entire business of the country into hopeless and utter confusion. I put Mr. Taft's deeds against your words. I ask that you be judged both by the words you wish remembered, and by the words that seemingly you and your party now desire to have forgotten. . . I hold it entirely natural for any great law-defying corporation to wish to see you placed in the Presidency rather than Mr. Taft. Your plans to put a stop to the abuses of these corporations are wholly chimerical. - Theodore Roose-

President Roosevelt Points Out Importance of Electing Legislators to Support Taft.

President Roosevelt, in a letter to William B. McKinley, chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, appeals to disinterested citizens to join with the National Republican Committee and the Congressional Committee in a movement to elect William H. Taft as President and a Republican Congress to support him, saying, in part:

"It is urgently necessary, from the standpoint of the public interest, to elect Mr. Taft, and a Republican Congress which will support him; and they seek election on a platform which specifically pledges the party, alike in its executive and legislative branches, to continue and develop the policies which have been not merely introduced, but acted upon during these seven years. of the Iowa United Mine Workers, and ried through only by the hearty co-operation of the President and the Congress United Mine Workers' Association, who in both its branches, and it is therefore peculiarly important that there should obtain such harmony between them. To fail to elect Mr. Taft would be a calamity to the country; and it would be folly, while electing him, yet at the same time to elect a Congress hostile to him, a Congress which under the influence of partisan leadership would be certain to thwart and baffle him on every possible occasion. To elect Mr. Taft, and at the same time to elect 1 Congress pledged to support him, is the only way in which to perpetuate the policy of the government as now carried on. I feel that all the aid that can be given to this policy by every good members of the organization." Ala- citizen should be given; for this is far more than a merely partisan matter."
