DAYS OF BOSSISM ARE ABOUT OVER

Sen. Smith, Addressing Rep. Convention, Says Era of Individualism Is Dawning.

DEFENDS NEW TARIFF MEASURE

Highly Praises Townsend, and Speaks Good Word For Burrows—Says Taft Is Best President Since Lincoln. Would Place Angell and Mitchell on Tariff Commission.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 6.—Senator William Alden Smith, temporary chairman of the Republican state convention, in his address before that body Thursday, highly praises Roosevelt, Taft, Osborn, Townsend and Burrows, and incidentally speaks a good word for the Payne tariff law. His speech, in part, follows:

"American official life should be clean and pure and wholesome, typifying in the highest sense the fountain from which it springs; representative in character, it should be responsive to the public will. This does not mean that there is force in every passing zephyr; it means that candor and sincerity should be the first requirements for the public service, and from long association with those whom you have trusted, I unhesitatingly declare that my honored colleagues from Michigan reflect great credit upon their districts and their country; temperate, industrious, able and honest, each has earned the gratitude of his countrymen and deserves the confidence of the electorate.

"Mr. Chairman, I am not one of those men who decry political affairs; partisanship is the necessary handmaid of democracy, and in the solution of great problems factional spirit is kindled and parties are formed, around which adherents rally for mutual encouragement and sympathy, and we should count it the good fortune of the American people that party politics, instead of impairing the fundamental law, actually strengthens and protects it.

World in Tranquil State.
"There is not an unfriendly cloud on the world's horizon today. In such an atmosphere we are prosecuting a work for all the future generations of men. For 300 years it has been the dream of navigators and empire-builders that the two oceans might be united at the Isthmus, but it has remained for the dauntless and intrepid Roosevelt and Taft to blaze the way through forest and rock until at last the two oceans are one. I am a firm believer in the active and intelligent conservation of our natural resources.

Factional Strife Immaterial.
"It has been said that the Republican party is vexed with internal dissension and torn by factional strife. This can be said, at times, of every great public tribunal, but our party continues to move among the political forces of our time, with strength undiminished, purpose undaunted and glory undimmed.

"Surely no internal controversy among ourselves can draw our forces from the battle line where unconscionable strife has for a half century challenged our loftiest patriotism. It is said that the national house of representatives is threatened—the great forum of the people where revenue laws must originate and representation springs directly from their mandate, and Michigan, the birthplace of the Republican party, whose people have prospered under Republican rule, must not waver in the fight.

Deserters Greatest Critics.
"The new tariff law has been the object of much unjust criticism and misrepresentation. Much of the discontent has come from those who leave the country when the ship of state wrestles hardest with the billows, seeking the repose of their native lands.

"While we who made it know that it is not perfect and voted for it under no misapprehension, yet it is a comfort to know that its enactment closed no mills, destroyed no factories, left no fertile fields in waste. It did not impair the national credit or deprive a workman of his wage. And we hope that it will at least be the basis for all future trade laws, and that future revisions may be made piecemeal, schedule by schedule, as necessity may require.

"The high cost of living cannot be charged to the tariff law.

"The increase in the cost of living is world-wide, while no European country has gone through a general tariff revision.

"It is difficult to account for the increased cost of living except on the theory that increased demand has been made by the world on the necessities of life, or that the increased production of gold which has more than doubled since the gold standard was established, has rendered the purchasing power of money less valuable. "It took the Democrats in congress eight months to agree upon the schedules of the Wilson law, and every man who was prominently identified with its passage has been trying to live down the stigma ever since.

Praises Tariff Commission.
"We have created a tariff commission with unusual and far-reaching authority. We have given them ample means to prosecute their researches, and when in the future changes are desired, the representatives of the people can consider them in the light of wider and more accurate information which this commission can supply.

"I feel that the powers of the commission should be extended, and, if possible, the personnel improved. Such a commission should be bi-partisan in character and composed of well-known men, whose standing and character will instantly command the confidence of the country, such men as Seth Low, President Angell, John Mitchell and Victor Lawson, who will concern themselves with the economic welfare of the people.

Age of Bossism Past.
"The age of bossism is past. Intelligent and progressive leadership will still light the way, but they must march with the procession.

"Michigan has been more fortunate than some of its neighbors, in anticipating the era of individualism through which we are now passing. The same spirit which animated our fathers at Jackson fifty years ago still vitalizes our partisanship, and prompted the enactment of the primary law, which found approval in the Empire state a few years ago. It was radical; it is cumbersome, but the principle is right. It has retired the over-lords and may occasionally go astray, but it has crowned the individual voter with new power, and our party in Michigan is stronger with it than without it.

Tributes to Townsend and Burrows.

"Over one hundred and eighty thousand Republicans took part in the selection of our standard-bearers this year, and we have little to do now but felicitate one another upon the matchless array presented for our approval. Under what system of party management could we have obtained better results in the state? The people have long been interested in the patient and persistent efforts of the representative of the Second congressional district in their behalf, and no one should have been surprised when his promotion was demanded, and it must be refreshing for him to feel that amid the present day confusion he received over forty thousand majority for United States senator, over my venerable colleague, the distinguished Mr. Burrows, whose forty years of public service now closes with no stain of dishonor upon his honored name.

"And when the legislature shall have ratified the choice already made, Michigan will have in its junior senator a type of statesman of whom the entire country can be proud. Courageous and obliging, honest and able, Charles E. Townsend measures up to every requirement for that high office, and his election will strengthen the confidence of the people in its institutions.

"Mr. Chairman, I congratulate the Representatives of Michigan upon this representative and enthusiastic assembly. The people have shorn us of much of our responsibility, and yet we have an important duty to perform and you are eager for the task. I hope the work of perfecting our ticket may be in harmony with that which has already been done, and that the declaration of our party faith may reveal no weakness in our tenets. Our duty leads us along the heights. The dizzy and faint-hearted may fall by the wayside. We march forward with the column, grappling with new problems, instinct with human rights.

Taft Compared to Lincoln.

"Not since the lamented Lincoln have we ever had a president who accomplished more for his countrymen in legislative affairs than William Howard Taft, and during the eighteen months of his administration he has leaned with perfect confidence upon the active co-operation of your representatives in Washington.

"No party organization, since the birth of democratic government, has accomplished more for humanity than the party of Roosevelt and Taft. Our membership is as homogeneous as it is diverse, and as patriotic as it is partisan. We gather our forces from every vocation and every clime, and march under a common banner, keeping step to the music of the Union. Neither continent or hemisphere contain us. Our theater of action embraces both worlds, old and new."

LAND IS GONE.

The Marquette Chronicle observes that the discontinuance of the Marquette land office is only a question of a short time, as the federal lands in Michigan are about exhausted. Only 100,000 acres in the state remains subject to entry, and most of this is sand plain, swamp and marshes, untimbered and unfit for cultivation. During the last three years the president has withdrawn 75,000 acres from entry and set it apart as government forest. The cutest now noticed in this paper is the first at the land office in over a year. Delta county has 6892 acres of government land, Marquette 11,243, Chippewa 15,964, Alger 2,187, Menominee 795, and the whole amount in the state is less than 100,000 acres, hardly worth a dollar an acre. If the bill, which is now pending before congress and which provides for the transfer to the states of all government lands in states possessing less than 100,000 acres becomes a law the Marquette office will of course have to close its doors. It is predicted that the measure will be passed at the next session of congress, it having only failed of passage last winter because of the rush of other work.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

A proposed amendment to Article VIII, Section 12, of the Constitution will be submitted to the electors at the election to be held on Tuesday, November 8, 1910, as follows:

"No county shall incur any indebtedness which shall increase its total debt beyond three per cent of its assessed valuation, except counties having an assessed valuation of five million dollars or less, which counties may increase their total debt to five per cent of their assessed valuation."

The effect of the proposed amendment is to give counties, having an assessed valuation of five million dollars or less, to increase their total debt to five per cent of the total assessed valuation.

Claimant names as witnesses: Adolphus Lavagnone, of Perkins, Mich. Fred Robbins, of " " Joseph Morency, of " " John Cavill, of Rapid River, " JAMES J. DONOVAN, Register.

WESTMINSTER PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Corner Wisconsin and Central avenues. J. EDGAR WILSON, PASTOR.

The new Tungsten lights have been installed. If you feel inclined to attend our services next Sunday, October 9, 1910, you will have plenty of light either in the front seats or at the back; and we trust that you will get plenty of light from the pulpit. The subject at the morning service, which begins at 10:30, will be Survivals and Revivals; Love and Law. In the evening, the theme of the lecture, which is the second in a series of twelve, will be: The Need of a New National Party. The evening service begins at 7:30. We invite you to come if you possibly can but don't come late.

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION.

The fifth anniversary of the organization of St. Joseph's parish at Perkins next Wednesday is to be celebrated with unrestrained festivity and its preparation is eliciting the efforts and support of every man, woman and child in Perkins. Decorating is the order of the day and Oct. 12, 1910, is to be made prominent in the annals of the town's history. The Pastor of the Church, Rev. Fr. Laforest, has issued an invitation to all the people to help enhance the solemnity of the occasion and all are responding with enthusiasm.

Without distinction of nationality or creed the celebration is being prepared by all people of Perkins. Priests from the various enviroing counties will grace the solemnity by their presence. At 9:30 a. m. a solemn High Mass will be celebrated at the church; and solemn Benediction will be given at three in the afternoon. Sermons by eminent priests of the diocese will be heard at each.

In the afternoon a baseball game will be played on the local diamond between an outside team and the Perkins cubs.

Visitors are expected from all surrounding points and a good time is assured to all. Exceptionally good music is prepared for the occasion and the evening will be spent at Sovie's Hall.

The committees have prepared an entertainment, concert and supper combined which along with card playing, candy, soft drinks and cigars, will give the whole appearance of a church fair. An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged for the evening's doings. Children will be admitted for 15 cents.

On the whole, the day will be spent in a way to render it most memorable. While Perkins has had divine services for the past thirty years, and such missionaries as Rt. Rev. Bishop Mrak, Rt. Rev. Mgr. Langner and other have attended to it, yet it can boast of a resident priest only for the past five years. For a long time priests from Escanaba and Rapid River attended to the spiritual needs of the people; and finally Rev. Frs. Sullivan, Hollinger, Dozer, and others of Gladstone were given the charge. In Oct. 1910 Fr. Fillion was transferred from Garden Bay and made the first pastor of St. Joseph's church. By hard and systematic work he succeeded in organizing a good parish which now comprises nearly one hundred families, without estimating the Catholics living in the missions of Trombly and Osier. To the great sorrow of the faithful, the first pastor taken from them July 1, 1909, and given the charge of the Flat Rock parish. He was succeeded in Perkins by the present pastor.

PENINSULAR STOVES

Are the world's standard of quality, because they are solidly made of the best iron, and every joint in them is ground to fit perfectly. The difference in the cost of fuel used by a cheaper stove will eat up all the saving on the purchase price in a few months.

We handle cheaper stoves than the Peninsular line; but we recommend the customer to buy the best stove, because it will give comfort and satisfaction, as well as promote economy.

You have to look at a Peninsular thoroughly, open the doors and examine it closely, to appreciate its points of excellence.

TAX BOAST OF NEARLY A BILLION

State Valuations Are Said to Be Far Too Low.

LORD PREPARES NEW LAW

Bill Will Provide for General Revision of State Tax Law—Millions of Property Escape Taxation.

Lansing.—George Lord, secretary of the state tax commission, is working on a bill for a general revision of the tax laws of the state. It has long been known that the laws are too lax and that millions of property escape taxation.

But Mr. Lord, for the first time, makes public just what conditions are. According to his figures, which have been carefully compiled from the records of the tax office, the property of the state should be increased $774,862,378 in order to bring it all up to a real ad valorem basis.

Assessed valuation of state, as fixed by the state tax commission in 1906.....$1,921,568,000
Assessed valuation of the state, as fixed by the boards of supervisors in 1906.....1,565,011,758
Assessed valuation of the state, as fixed by the state board of equalization in 1906.....1,734,100,000
Assessed valuation of the state, as fixed by the board of supervisors in 1909.....1,687,155,897

What the assessed valuation should be if all the property of the state was placed on the rolls at its true value.....2,402,018,075
Increase necessary to bring property to true value.....774,862,378

Mr. Lord acknowledges that the mining counties of the upper peninsula are inadequately taxed but makes the point that an investigation of the lower peninsula reveals that all sorts of property, real, industrial and personal, are escaping in the lower peninsula and that a majority of the counties are not assessed at more than 60 per cent. of their value.

During the past summer, largely due to the efforts of Mr. Lord, the valuation of the state has been increased about $50,000,000.

The significant part of the matter is that the railroads and telephone companies are now assessed on what practically amounts to a cash basis and that if they should take the matter into court they would be able to upset the entire tax system of Michigan.

This they have threatened to do and they will undoubtedly seek legal redress if something is not done by the next legislature and the state board of equalization.

The only two counties in the lower peninsula which are assessed at nearly cash value are Wayne and Kent, the counties containing the two largest cities. Jackson was raised this summer and is in much better shape than the other counties which contain the larger cities of the state.

New Religion Is to Be Discussed.
In connection with the state convention of Michigan Baptists, which opens October 18, at Detroit, will be held a three days' session of the ministers' conference and meetings of the Woman's Baptist Mission society and the Woman's Baptist Home Mission society. The former will hold its thirty-first annual meeting and the latter its thirty-seventh annual meeting on the afternoon of the same day. Both of these sessions will be held in the North Woodward Congregational church, Woodward and Blaine avenues.

The convention proper begins October 18, in the auditorium of North Baptist church. There will be addresses of welcome by Mayor Breffmeyer and Rev. Dr. T. W. Young, pastor of the entertaining church.

The principal address of the opening session will be one by Doctor Mullin on the topic, "Do We Need a New Religion?" In view of the trend toward "higher criticism" in the denomination and the charges of heresy preferred against Dr. Frederick Merrifield, director of the Ann Arbor Baptist Students' guild, who has been summoned before the convention to give a statement of his theological beliefs, this address of Doctor Mullin promises to be of exceptional interest. The annual sermon of the convention will be delivered by E. B. Bryan, LL. D., president of Colgate university. Doctor Bryan will also conduct a half-hour devotional service each day of the convention.

Liberals' Conference.
The Michigan conference of the Unitarian Independent and Liberal churches was held at Detroit. Rev. Minot Simons of Cleveland preached the conference sermon. Rev. Dr. Lee S. McClester, pastor of the Church of Our Father, welcomed the delegates to Detroit. "The Ethics of Service" was the subject of an address by Mrs. Emma N. Delano of Chicago, and the principal subject of debate will be "The Religion of the Future."

New State Corporations.
The following companies have filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state: Detroit Ice Cream company, Detroit, increase from $25,000 to $50,000; principal stockholders, A. F. Stephens and C. E. Stephens, Detroit; Connolly-Papke-Fisher company, Wayne, $30,000; W. F. Limber company, Traverse City, $20,000; Franklin Iron and Metal company, Battle Creek, $1,000. Young Fuel and Pure Ice company, Battle Creek, $75,000; Reynolds Hardware company, Petoskey, $15,000; Trout Creek and Cald-

Cannot Enforce Demurrage Rules.

Lansing.—The Michigan railroad commission and the shippers of the state interested in the demurrage rules which the commission promulgated have been defeated in their attempt to enforce those rules. The Supreme court handed down a decision in which it is held that the rules the commission has no authority to supervise railroad operations except as regards state commerce.

The Supreme court handed down a decision in which it is held that the rules the commission has no authority to supervise railroad operations except as regards state commerce. The Supreme court handed down a decision in which it is held that the rules the commission has no authority to supervise railroad operations except as regards state commerce.

The Michigan Manufacturers' association took up the fight for the state rules and on March 1 (1910), the Ann Arbor railroad commenced proceedings to restrain the commission from enforcing the state rules on the grounds that they interfered with interstate commerce, over which the state commission has no authority.

The railroad commission filed a demurrer in which it was claimed that the rules simply apply to state commerce and do not directly affect interstate commerce, and that they are reasonable and within the power of the commission to establish. The Supreme court says the act creating the commission expressly limits the power of the commission to railroad business between points in this state. Says the court:

"It becomes unnecessary, therefore, to consider the power of the legislature the defendant, since the limitation negative any authority to enforce demurrage rules where the

Court Wallops a Bucket Shop.

Bucket shop operations in Michigan were dealt a blow by the supreme court in the decision handed down affirming the judgment secured by R. C. Goodspeed of Grand Rapids against Connor H. Smith, of that city. According to the story related in the opinion, Goodspeed bought certain stocks on a margin from Smith, and then the house which Smith was representing failed, and he closed the doors of his so-called commission office.

Shortly afterwards Goodspeed notified Smith that he proposed to pay the balance due on the stocks and wanted them delivered to him. Smith paid no attention to the demand, and in the meantime the stocks had increased in value $563 and Goodspeed became more interested in his purchase and began suit to secure either the stocks or his profits. The court says there is no question but that Smith was operating a bucket shop, although Michigan has a law which expressly prohibits their operation.

Must Readjust Its Rates.

The state railroad commission has rendered an opinion declaring that the Michigan Power company has discriminated in rates for electricity in this city and orders the company to file a new tariff with the commission within the next 30 days.

If the new tariff is unsatisfactory and further complaints of discrimination on the part of the power company reach the commission, it is set forth in the opinion that the case will be reopened and the commission will take further steps which will result in a just and equitable rate to all consumers of power in this city.

Keep Tab on "Dead Beats."

The executive committee of the Retail Grocers' and General Merchants' association of Michigan, in session here, adopted a resolution recommending that a state wide credit rating bureau be established. This bureau will keep and exchange a record of customers in each city where there is a retail grocers' association, the object being to keep track of the "dead beats" who move from one city to another. It will also make it possible for a person who deserves credit to receive it, providing he has a clear record.

To Issue $2,215,000 Bonds.

The state railroad commission issued an order granting the Grand Rapids-Muskegon Power company permission to issue $2,215,000 in bonds for the purpose of liquidating a portion of the outstanding indebtedness, and $600,000 additional to refund bills payable. The Pontiac Power company is given the right to issue $114,000 in bonds, and the Bay City Power company has authority to issue $500,000 in bonds.

Niles Has Automatic Phones.

The Michigan State Telephone company cut over its Niles exchange onto the new automatic system. The change from the old to the new system was accomplished by transferring the operating force to the fine new building erected by the company, which with equipment represents an outlay of about $25,000.

Social Centers in State Towns.

Judge Harry S. Hulbert of the probate court, will address the state convention of the King's Daughters, at Durand, upon the dangers to which a country girl is exposed in coming to the city. Leading philanthropists from the rural districts will attend the convention in large numbers, and Judge Hulbert believes that the time is opportune to start a movement in the nature of social centers throughout the state, which will make life in the villages and country towns more attractive to youth of both sexes.

NEWS OF MICHIGAN

Ludington.—Because of the mischievousness of two boys, Mr. and Mrs. John Koopman of Scottville are suffering from injuries. While they were driving home two boys in a rig made frantic attempts to pass the rig of Mr. and Mrs. Koopman. This caused the horse to lurch to one side of the road, spilling out Koopman and his wife. Mrs. Koopman is suffering from a broken wrist, while her husband has a fractured arm.

Ionia.—The Ionia fair management is making a record for clearing the state. All bills and premiums have been paid and the money is ready when called for and plans laid for 1911. This year's receipts were close to $3,500 and there will be a balance on the right side.

Albion.—The social bid went down with a bang when President Samuel Dickie, in a brief chapel address, informed the students of Albion college that the number of social functions being held by the different societies must be decidedly decreased.

Litchfield.—Samuel Lawson is dead here at the home of his son, William Lawson, at the advanced age of ninety-five years. For the past 37 years he had lived with his son and for more than 30 years had been blind.

Ludington.—January 1, 1911, a new bank will open for business in Custer, 12 miles east of here. This institution is the result of an imperative demand of the people of Custer for good banking facilities. Custer has come to be quite a shipping point for fruit.

Saginaw.—Although the sheriff and police departments have kept a close lookout for Yosim Bancroft, formerly employed at the Prairie farm, wanted in Detroit for shooting his wife, no trace of him as yet has been found.

Owosso.—Duncan Graham, Jr., who violated the local law, was perhaps saved by a petition signed by many Corunna citizens from a term in prison. Judge Miner placed him on probation for two years.

Coral.—Rev. S. W. Ladu, an old M. E. minister, is dead at his home here, at the age of eighty years. He was a member of the legislature in the '80's and was state oil inspector during Governor Alger's administration.

Saginaw.—Mrs. Marie Lutjohann, seventy-three years old, and a resident of Saginaw for the past 69 years, is dead.

Alpena.—Engine house No. 1 of the local fire department was destroyed by fire and a heavy rain was all that saved the adjoining buildings. The loss is $7,500.

Saginaw.—Alfred Even was sentenced to serve from two to five years with a recommendation of two and a half, at Ionia reformatory for larceny from the person.

Owosso.—W. F. Close, an elevator man of Byron, is using the Ann Arbor railroad for $35,000. He alleges that sparks from an engine set his plant on fire and destroyed it.

Ann Arbor.—Carl Fischer, a well-known young business man of the city, who was to soon wed Miss Hatie Devers of Detroit, died after a short illness from typhoid fever.

Port Huron.—Henry Manion of Marine City was fined $100 and sent to the Detroit house of correction for 90 days for striking his wife and driving the stem of a pipe through her nose.

Paw Paw.—While duck hunting near here Sunday Earl Smithers, fourteen years old, was drowned by the upsetting of his boat.

Muskegon.—Having its origin with a score of trainmen, who met for the first time in a switchmen's "shanty" at the North yards in Muskegon just five years ago, and rapidly growing to an interstate society, with divisions in Detroit, Grand Rapids, Ludington, Benton Harbor, Saginaw, Traverse City, Holland, Jackson and Toledo, O., the Railwaymen's Relief association delegates, representing some six thousand trainmen of the middle west, will hold its annual convention here.

Marshall.—Ernest Sawdy, son of Mayor Sawdy, died from pneumonia. He was nineteen years old. His parents were away from home when he expired. Joseph L. Fisher, serving eight years in Marquette for forgery, has been denied a petition for a grand jury investigation of his case. He will be released from prison next March and is said to be wanted in Illinois and Wisconsin.

Battle Creek.—Charles F. Hillis, a veteran of the Civil war, who has voted many times and held the office of county agent several months, has just been naturalized. Political enemies uncovered the fact that while he was born in America, his father came here from Canada and never secured his naturalization papers. Hillis' naturalization was effected without the customary formalities.

East Lansing.—Drill began at M. A. C. with twelve companies in line. The work will be continued out of doors until the weather forces them to drill in the armory.

Port Huron.—The Trade and Labor council has protested against the proposed scheme of the D. U. D. to decrease the number of regular cars between this city and Detroit and at the same time increase the number of limiteds. The labor men claim the cancellation of an hourly schedule providing for all stops will work a hardship on them.

Carsonville.—Petitions are being circulated through Sanilac county to have the local option question resubmitted to the voters and, judging from all reports, the question will be voted on at the election next spring.

RAISING GEESE FOR PROFIT

Eastern Man Gives Interesting and Minute Details of His Method From Beginning.

I have been raising geese the last 15 years; only one breed, the Embden, says a writer in Baltimore American. I prefer this because of its hardiness, size, docility and color. The feathers sell here for five cents above the market price for others. I like to have the goslings hatch in April or earlier. This avoids the hot weather.

Hens are used for hatching. Each is given six eggs, or if she be large, perhaps seven. The old goose is made to lay again, but allowed to sit on the second clutch of eggs. I think geese better mothers than hens. They are more solicitous, can care for a greater number and the gander will also assist his mate. When time is almost up for hatching I put the eggs in lukewarm water and all containing live goslings will turn. I think the water softens the shell and causes a better hatch.

Eggs from the first year's laying are usually not so fertile as later eggs. They are also fewer in number, and produce weaker goslings. Geese do not fall in egg production like hens, but may be kept for years. If ganders are kept longer than the third year they usually become so cross they cannot be allowed to run with other fowls.

I keep the young in a small inclosure till they can walk without turning on their backs. Then let them have the run of a good pasture. They get plenty of water, but it is not necessary that they bathe; better not. I never leave them out in heavy rains, for they will open their mouths and drink enough water to drown.

As soon as fully feathered, in three or four months, they are ready to pick, and may be picked every eight weeks. After the fall picking I begin to feed grain. When fully feathered they will be ready for market. If they can have free access to a plot of corn they will not allow any of it to go to waste, and will save trouble of feeding.

HOUSE TO PROTECT TURKEYS

One Shown in Illustration Affords Necessary Shelter From Elements and Marauders.

This turkey house is protection against the elements and marauders, which is very necessary for these birds. The whole front may be of wire netting, or enclosed part way, otherwise doors and windows are provided as in cut. A ventilator is fixed in the top at the back. This is to be kept open at all times. The roosts are placed on a level well up from the ground and in the front of the building. Sliding or rolling doors—one in the rear left open during the day and only enough light for the turkeys to see their way of getting on and off the roosts.

DOULTRY NOTES

Watch out for the head lice on little chicks.

Sort out the old hens now and hustle them off to market.

An application of equal parts of lard and kerosene will kill the head lice.

Increasing the egg production of hens is accomplished by saving only the best layers for breeders.

There are five essentials in raising ducks—muscle, water, food, shade and grit—and the greatest of these is muscle.

The Pekin ducks are probably the best for market, as they command better prices and look plumper and better after they are dressed.

Never leave any food around where the ducks, either young or old, can pick at it between meals, as they in this way lose their appetites.

The first use of all food consumed by fowls is to maintain the body. In order to produce eggs there must be a surplus left after the body is properly nourished.

In order that they may better develop, the cockerels should now be separated from the pullets, and the former given an extra allowance of food, as they will need it.

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Galena, Kans.—"A year ago last March I fell, and a few days after there was soreness in my right side. In a short time a bunch came and it bothered me so much at night I could not sleep. It kept growing larger and by fall it was as large as a hen's egg. I could not go to bed without a hot water bottle applied to that side. I had one of the best doctors in Kansas and he told my husband that I would have to be operated on as it was something like a tumor caused by a rupture. I wrote to you for advice and you told me not to get discouraged but to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did take it and soon the lump in my side broke and passed away."—Mrs. R. B. HUXEY, 713 Mineral Ave., Galena, Kans.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ills, including displacements, inflammation, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result has been worth millions to many suffering women.

If you want special advice write for it to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. It is free and always helpful.

No Help Needed. A little miss of five years who had been allowed to stay up for an evening party, was told about 8:30 to go to bed. Very, very slowly she moved toward the stair. An aunt, seeing her reluctant, asked: "Helen, can I do anything to help you?" "No," replied Helen, "I will get there altogether too soon as it is."

Points to Good Future. Seven poor children, four girls and three boys, all about ten years old, went to a nearby seashore resort, in charge of two women, for a day's outing. The funds for the picnic were provided by two boys who sell papers and who live in one of the two houses from which the excursion party was recruited. One of the women in charge of the children said that the boys had arranged the outing of their own accord, and the remarkable thing is this: They are not good boys by any means and one of them is probably the naughtiest boy in the neighborhood. But we think that when boys do little things like this they will come out all right.—New York Tribune.

Operatic Star Had To Succeed

Annie Louise Cary Had Borrowed $6,000 to Pay for Her Musical Education and Couldn't Afford to Fail.

Annie Louise Cary, who retired to private life in 1882, following her marriage to the late Charles M. Raymond, was one of the first American girls to give Maine fame as a mother of operatic song birds of the first order. This she did in the late sixties, and from then on until the day of her marriage hers was one of the famous contralto voices of the civilized world, more than realizing the prediction James G. Blaine made when he heard her sing on the day of her graduation from a girls' school near Portland, Me.—that, with her voice properly cultivated, she would have a greater career as a singer than as a teacher, which was the vocation her friends had planned for her.

Encouraged, if not inspired, by this praise from one who was growing daily in public power in Maine, Miss Cary decided to cultivate her voice. She studied in Portland, then in Boston, and finally there came the inevitable day when she bade good-by and sailed away to continue the study of music abroad.

For two years she applied herself in Milan, under the direction of the celebrated instructor, Giovanni Corsi at the end of that period, receiving her first opportunity to test her voice before the critical public—she was cast for the contralto part in the company which was to sing for the first time Verdi's "The Masked Ball"—using the English translation of the Italian title—in the opera house in Copenhagen in the presence of the royal family of Denmark.

When Miss Cary's friends heard of it some of them alarmed, went to her.

"Annie," they said, "don't you think you are a little too ambitious? Don't you think you are risking your entire career by essaying to appear for the first time in grand opera in the highly critical capital of Denmark, with the king and the other members of the royal family looking on?"

"Why do I risk anything?" Miss Cary asked in turn. "Wouldn't you, if you were in my place, be glad of the opportunity to sing in the royal opera house of Denmark, and with the king and his family in the royal box to hear you?"

"But, Annie," was the reply, "see how much you risk! The part you are planning to sing is an ambitious one, and you are also planning to make your debut before royalty. Suppose you fail in such a part and before royalty in so public a manner—what then? It would be much better for you to make a simpler beginning—for you to make your debut, say, in one of the little towns of Germany, and so feel your way until you know exactly what you can do with yourself and your voice in public. Don't risk your future by being too ambitious at the start."

Miss Cary turned to her friends, all sincerely anxious that she should make no false step at the threshold of her career.

"You don't know what you are saying," she said firmly. "I have got to sing in this opera in the royal opera house in Copenhagen and before the king and all his family. I must make a success of the part, and I will tell you why. I owe $6,000. That money I have borrowed to pay for my musical education. I am getting anxious to pay it back. So I have taken this part you do not want me to take, and I tell you now I am going to succeed in it, for then I shall be able to earn the money with which to pay off this debt that is beginning to bother me. I simply have got to succeed. Don't talk to me about failure."

And so, with the knowledge of the debt hanging over her, simple Annie Cary of Maine made her debut in the royal opera house in Copenhagen and sang so gloriously with that wonderful contralto voice of hers that royalty applauded vigorously and enthusiastically. She had triumphed—and through the success that night in Denmark's capital and the other successes that followed—yes, with the first earnings of her voice—Annie Louise Cary paid off her debt of $6,000.

An Irish Grand Prix.

There was once an Irish Grand Prix. The horse that lowered the French colors was the property of an eccentric Irishman named Conolly, and was a big, bony roan, not much to look at in the way of horseflesh, so it was a great surprise to everybody but his owner when he came in first. His previous record at the English Derby the preceding year had not been brilliant enough for anybody to lay any large bets on him, with the sole exception of Conolly himself, whose faith in his entry was so great that he mortgaged his lands and put every cent on the horse. Up to the very end of the race everybody looked on Conolly as a ruined man, but when the roan shot first under the wire he not only carried the British colors to victory, but won a great fortune for his master. This happened in the time of Napoleon III., and Conolly was so proud of his triumph that he insisted on walking ahead of the emperor and empress, cheering and waving his hat.

Grant Ingenious on Farm

He Hit Upon a Simple Method of Sowing the Grain and Harrowing it in at the Same Time.

When Ulysses S. Grant flashed across the country's consciousness as the captor of Forts Donelson and Henry, there began to be circulated stories of his life on the Dent farm, near St. Louis, following his marriage with Miss Julia Dent. Today's anecdote goes back to that period in the great general's life; and it was told by a Lieutenant Sappington to one of the present-day long-time residents of St. Louis, Henry C. Spore, Esq., who passed it on to me.

"I lived not far from Captain Grant when he was cultivating a portion of the Dent farm," said Lieutenant Sappington, who, like Mr. Dent's son-in-law, had served in the regular army. "Often I saw the captain at work in the fields, both early and late, and in this way I came to learn that he was a perfect master of horses. I remember that upon one occasion I saw him trudging behind a pair of horses as he plowed a field which, I have been told, his father-in-law had given him for clearing it.

"Some days after I had thus beheld Captain Grant earning his bread literally by the sweat of his brow, I happened to be passing his way again, when, while still some piece off, I saw something that made me stop and look in a sort of wonder.

"Plainly enough, Grant was harrowing the field with the same horses he had plowed it with a few days before. He also was riding one of the horses, but why was he swinging an arm in such energetic fashion? At first I thought he might be doing it to guide the horses, but they kept on in a straight line through the field, and I knew that my guess was wrong. 'Perhaps he is using the lash on the horse,' I said to myself, but a moment later I made out that he had no whip in his hand.

"By and by, as I stood watching the unusual sight, the captain turned his team at a corner of the field, and then, for the first time, I saw what he was up to. Upon the back of the horse which he was not riding he had fastened a large sack containing seed—wheat, I think it was, at this late date, though it may have been oats. Anyway, with one eye upon the harrow, to see that it was working properly, and with the other upon his horses, the captain, with a sort of methodical rhythm, was thrusting a hand into the sack of grain, withdrawing it filled with seed, and scattering the contents over the field with that energetic swing of his arm that had attracted my attention. He had hit upon a simple plan of doing two days' work in one!

"For a while after making this discovery I stood watching him. As he neared me I heard him talking to his horses as though they were intelligent beings, and they seemed to obey him almost instinctively. And so, with a perfect understanding, as it were, established between him and them, the captain both harrowed and sowed at the same time, and, I presume, in the course of the day had the field completely harrowed and sown. Later in the year, I saw it as a flourishing field of grain; and afterwards, when I heard of Grant's strategy at Vicksburg, which revealed to the country the man's ingenuity and strategy at their best, there came to my mind a vivid picture of a soldier-farmer, astride of a horse, harrowing a field, and at the same time, through the exercise of a little ingenuity, sowing that field with grain carried in a sack upon the back of the other horse hitched to the harrow."

Coal Mining of the World.

According to a parliamentary return the output of coal in Germany and in France in 1909 was greater than in any previous year. In the United Kingdom, Belgium and the United States the production in 1909, though greater than in 1908, fell short of the year 1907. The whole output in 1909 of the five countries named was 860,000,000 tons, or an increase of 23,000,000 tons on the output of 1908, but less by 36,000,000 tons than that of 1907. The total known coal output of the world in 1908 was 950,000,000 tons, of which the United Kingdom produced more than one-fourth. In 1908 the number of persons employed in coal mining in Great Britain was 966,300.

Great Inducement.

"In the east," related the Boston school-marm, "when the boys in the class are bad we make them sit with the girl as punishment." "That wouldn't work in the west," laughed the Chicago school-marm. "The girls are so pretty out here if we tried that punishment the boys would be bad all the time."

TRIFLES OF THE WARDROBE

BLACK WITH COLORS

SOMBER NOTE IN FASHIONABLE GOWNS IS RELIEVED.

Transparent Materials Are Most in Favor—Dainty Dress of Thin Grained Wool Showing Golden Brown Silk Lining.

At the passing of King Edward dressmakers immediately put their heads together to make black fashionable, and the somber note is more pronounced now than ever. It would be impossible to enumerate the textures being used for black costumes, but one thing is evident—the smartest place for frocks of the most elegant sort, and under the textiles, very often, will be displayed the color note, this showing itself in a brief bit of embroidered banding or in the lining. King's blue and Egyptian blue, which is a shade of the utmost brilliancy, combined with a thin black material create a superb effect much exploited by French makers. If the color is in a wide band it is also the fad to put this across the bust of the waist and about the knees of the skirt. Again, an inky chiffon may be hung over a slip of dull gilt or silver gauze, with a superb gilt and black, or silver and black embroidery trimming, also veiled. One frock with the silver under effect had a tunic fringe six inches deep of silver and an embroidery band, far deeper, crossing the apron of the under slip and put on the waist lining in the same way. A smart idea for the woman of means—for of course these gowns of veiled loveliness are expensive creations—is a bright vest of deep blue, vivid green or orange for a black coat suit of cloth, or serge or satin. A black satin coat suit is immensely smart, though it cannot possibly be becoming without these gay vests or some rich bit of color on the collar and cuffs. If a colored vest is used, however, a coat may only have a bit of satin in the same shade at the back of the collar, this embroidered like the vest if such trimming is used.

The illustration shows a very dainty little dress with a girlish quality, which might be made as fine or as simple as one likes. Here the frock is of a black grained wool with a dull finish and thin enough to show a golden brown silk lining. The banding is of black velvet ribbon, and the little flouncing on the bodice of the golden brown in chiffon. This unusual color note—that is unusual in this country, for the French are making a feature of the combination—is repeated in a dashing feather which holds up the side of the black beaver hat.

This dress, according to its materials, is perfectly suitable for either house or street wear, and while it responds to the touch of elegance the model is especially adapted to simple materials. The double flounce effect of the skirt is an old idea revived with ardor, house gowns innumerable and many street frocks displaying it, with the separations outlined as here with trimming or else with a plain tuck and hem finish.

Returning to the color note with black, pray let me emphasize the fact that a reckless indulgence in the combination is not regarded as either smart or in the best taste. The color used with black, unless it is in the lining of a garment, is the merest trifle—the little sparkle half revealed and half concealed which is the highest art in dress.

SEASON OF WHITE GLOVES

They Will Be Long, but Pulled Up Smoothly—Lambskin Much in Favor.

This is to be a white glove season. Both long and short white gloves will be very much worn.

Owing to the dark colors of even dress costumes this fall, matched gloves will not be much in demand, but black will be worn instead.

The short and three-quarter-length sleeves call for long gloves, and since this style prevails in dress gowns, most of these long gloves will be of kid and silk.

Lambskin is much in favor, also capes, mochas and chamolis, the last in mousquetaire. There is always a demand for silk and lisle for wear with muffs, but not much glace kid will be seen except for evening wear.

Long gloves are no longer worn loose and wrinkled, but are pulled up smoothly and tightly. Twelve-button lengths, therefore, are to be preferred to 16 button.

Pastel shades will be chiefly worn for evening, but soft modes will be much in favor for street dress wear also.

Spider on the Veil.

The spider beauty spot veil is the latest novelty offered to women. Of course it originated in Paris.

It is a copy of a spider in black chentille and is posed outside the veil. It is almost an inch and a half in diameter. The veil is worked in imitation of a spider's web.

The veils which have been popular this season so far have been disfiguring enough with their leaves, insects, birds, aeroplanes and scarlike conventional patterns as part of the mesh, but they all sink into insignificance beside the web veil with its spider adornment.

How She Manages.

A woman who always gives the impression of being well-supplied with millinery when she travels never takes more than one trunk with her and no hat boxes. Her secret lies in the liberal supply of trimming—flowers, wings, mousseline de soie, velvet, fur, ribbon and lace, which accompany the one hat which she puts in her single trunk. With these she can alter the trimming of her hat every day if she wishes, and as she has great taste and knows just how to adapt her hat to her requirements her alterations are always successful.

MAKING THE CORNER LIGHT

How a Long Mirror With Drapery and Flower Box Will Brighten a Dark Room.

There are several valuable hints which can be given as to how to introduce light into a naturally dark room. One plan is to use a long mirror for that purpose. By hanging the mirror in a dark corner, draping the top and sides with a pretty bit of tapestry and placing a flower-box in which will be "growing" artificial flowers, to be reflected in the glass, you have an attractive and ornamented piece of furniture. White framed pictures with glass over them are useful too for reflecting light and shedding it into the room. Many rooms are so badly lighted that it is impossible, unless one sits close against the window, to find a suitable place for reading or sewing, and this accounts for many a case of headache, weak eyes, wrinkles and other unbecoming things.

ATCHISON'S ORDER OF SPINS

Unmarried, and Contented Withal, They Have Mapped Out for Themselves a Pious City.

There was called a meeting of the Ancient Order of Spins last evening, and papers were read on every subject, from removing grease from carpets to the sad memories that attach to a bunch of old letters. The spins were having a hilarious time when a visiting Spin got up to make a few remarks. She said that, while they are happy now, there was a sad time coming. "Think of the day," she said, "when, having no husbands or children, you will be all alone." There was a snuff and then a snort as Spin after Spin recalled wives and mothers who are alone from daylight till dark, except when some member of the family wants waiting on. The sniffing and snorting increased in volume as Spin after Spin told of her freedom from worry, her independence in financial matters and the joy of doing as she pleased. "But we must not take offense at what our sister has said," one Spin remarked. "Let us show our good intentions by calling on every lonesome wife and mother we know." This was six weeks ago, and though the Spins have devoted every afternoon and evening since to this missionary work, they haven't made half the rounds yet.—Atchison Globe.

Love's Crime.

George was a manly fellow, yet, surprising as it may seem, he was guilty of a grave charge, a criminal offense—theft, for had he not many times, stolen kisses from his fair sweetheart?

Maude, one of the most lovable of girls, was equally guilty as an accessory; she received the stolen property. Each seemed to have perfect confidence in the other, however, and when sentence was pronounced by a properly qualified official, they decided to serve their time together.

They remained loyal to the end, neither making any effort to have their sentence abrogated or shortened, but during the course of their long term together several small offenses were directly chargeable to them.—J. W. B. in Puck.

A FOOD DRINK.

Which Brings Daily Enjoyment.

A lady doctor writes: "Though busy hourly with my own affairs, I will not deny myself the pleasure of taking a few minutes to tell of my enjoyment daily obtained from my morning cup of Postum. It is a food beverage, not a poison like coffee."

"I began to use Postum eight years ago, not because I wanted to, but because coffee, which I dearly loved, made my nights long weary periods to be dreaded and unfitting me for business during the day."

"On the advice of a friend, I first tried Postum, making it carefully as directed on the package. As I had always used 'cream and no sugar,' I mixed my Postum so. It looked good, was clear and fragrant, and it was a pleasure to see the cream color it as my Kentucky friend always wanted her coffee to look—like a new saddle."

"Then I tasted it critically, for I had tried many 'substitutes' for coffee. I was pleased, yes, satisfied, with my Postum in taste and effect, and am yet, being a constant user of it all these years."

"I continually assure my friends and acquaintances that they will like it in place of coffee, and receive benefit from its use. I have gained weight, can sleep sound and am not nervous."

"There's a Reason." Read "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs. Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Britain's Flag Was Saluted

How President Arthur and James G. Blaine Performed an Act of Courtesy at the Yorktown Centennial Celebration.

When the late William Henry Hunt, secretary of the navy under Garfield and Arthur, was on the eve of sailing, in 1882, for St. Petersburg, to take up his new duties as our minister to Russia, I had a chat with him, during the course of which he spoke of the many pleasant experiences he had had as a cabinet officer.

"But the one incident that I shall always remember with the greatest pleasure," said the judge, "centers around the salute that was fired for the British flag at the Yorktown centennial celebration last year. You may recall that at the height of that celebration of the anniversary of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis, the flag against which the colonists had fought was given the national salute. Well, here is the inside story of that unusual and, I may say, historic incident.

"Robert C. Winthrop, formerly speaker of the lower house of congress, delivered the oration on the Yorktown field. A very distinguished group sat upon the platform. President Arthur and all the members of his cabinet were there. Sir Edward Thornton, at that time minister from Great Britain to this country, was also present, and he entered with large sympathy and appreciation into the spirit of the day, notwithstanding the fact that it was the celebration of the final defeat of Britain's plans to hold on to the colonies. At one point in his oration, Mr. Winthrop painted so vivid a picture of the American attack, led by Alexander Hamilton, upon Lord Cornwallis's earthworks, the remnants of which were visible from where we sat, that Sir Edward himself actually led the demonstration of applause that followed.

"Close by Sir Edward sat William B. Clyde, the creator of an important coastwise steamship company bearing his name. Noticing the British minister's enthusiasm, he took from his pocket a little pad of paper and scribbled upon a sheet these words: 'Wouldn't it be well, at the conclusion of these exercises, to salute the British flag? It would be a compliment to Sir Edward Thornton.' Then he passed the slip along to James G. Blaine, secretary of state.

"Glancing at the message, Mr. Blaine began fumbling in his pockets. At last he produced a letter and tore off the back of the envelope. Finding no pencil, he turned to me, and I gave him a stub so short that he had difficulty in holding it in his fingers. Yet, within a few seconds, he had written as follows on that soiled scrap: 'In view of the warm friendship maintained for many years between the mother country and the United States, and also in view of the tender sympathy shown by Queen Victoria for the American people and the family of President Garfield at the time of his mortal illness, and in the hope and confidence that the cordial relations now existing may be forever maintained between the mother country and our own, it is hereby ordered that at the conclusion of these exercises the British flag be unfurled upon the masts of the American navy here present, that it also be raised upon the flagstaff of the color line of the parade, and that a salute of twenty-one guns be fired.' "This order Blaine passed on to President Arthur. He read it, smiled approvingly, borrowed my stub of a pencil from Blaine, signed it, and passed it back to Blaine for his signature as secretary of state. Then the order was passed to me, and in quick succession to Robert T. Lincoln, and we two, as secretary of the navy and secretary of war, respectively, gave the necessary orders for its fulfillment.

"With this salute of the flag of our old-time enemy the anniversary celebration of Cornwallis's surrender actually ended, and the public has never known how this salute came about—an act of courtesy which, we afterwards learned, was most cordially appreciated by Queen Victoria, and which was all due to Blaine's quickness to take a hint.

"I have often wondered what became of the order for the salute. For some time I was under the impression that Mr. Lincoln had kept it, but later he told me that he had not. It was probably the most curious presidential order ever issued, and had it been preserved, would now be looked upon as a historical curiosity." (Copyright, 1910, by E. J. Edwards.)

Alfred Schroer, aged thirty-one, died Wednesday morning at the residence of his father-in-law, Daniel McAuley, on Michigan Avenue, after a two weeks' illness with typhoid fever. He was in the railroad telegraph service and was transferred from Nye, Wis., to Blaney Junction, a few days before he became ill. He leaves a widow, formerly Miss Sarah McAuley, and a two-year-old son, Alfred. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at the house with full Masonic ceremonies, Rev. J. E. Wilson delivering the sermon, and Past Master Theodore D. Springer reading the ritual. Among the relatives attending were, his sister Miss Lucretia Schroer, of St. Paul, who came Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schroer, of James-town, N. D. and Mrs. H. Dorn, of St. Paul, who arrived Thursday, and another brother, Alfred Schroer.

Henry Blackwell returned Thursday to Gladstone, accompanied by Mrs. Blackwell's mother, Mrs. M. F. Bailey, who will spend some months here before proceeding to Duluth, and her niece, Mrs. Arthur Beesley, who will visit in Gladstone for a week or two.

Rev. Carl J. Silfversten preached on Monday to the Swedish-Finnish church society in Escanaba. During the following two days he attended the Green Bay district conference of the Swedish Lutheran church in Mountain and Moshing, Wis.

John Olson and William Oak went up to Perkins Tuesday and no small slaughter of game ensued. They did not bring back any bear steak to grace the larder, however, as brain is protected by our game laws.

Leo Rouman writes from Greece that he has been drawn for service in the army, but fortunately for the short term, of four months. He will return with a firm military bearing in the spring.

W. R. O'Connell, who has established a general hardware business in Keewatin, Minn., is doing well. The Oliver Iron Mining Co. is opening up developments at that location.

Claus Swenson, who spent the summer very pleasantly at the old home in Sweden, returned home Saturday after a ten days' trip from Gothenberg.

Willford & Sons this week call attention to the fact that they are desirous of exchanging flour, bran and middlings for the farmers' wheat, offering the most favorable terms.

August Lillquist and party returned Tuesday evening from Spring Creek. The weather was constantly rainy during their stay, but they enjoyed themselves well in camp.

John Roller made a trip to Green Bay Tuesday to inspect the store fixtures under construction there for Rosenblum's new store.

Rev. Isaac Hoyems returns today from Stephenson, where he attended the mission district conference for the last four days.

Alex and Eugene Peterson returned home Monday from a month's work east of Trenary. They will go up again Monday.

Phil Goldstein, who left here a few days ago, is now in the Western Union office at Minneapolis.

Eugene and A. R. Willford went down to Escanaba Wednesday afternoon to meet their granger friends.

Albert Gauffin visited in Escanaba Tuesday and Wednesday.

Miss Anna Lee returned Saturday from a ten days' visit with friends at Grand Rapids and Lansing.

Mrs. Fred J. Mingay left Tuesday evening for Superior, Wis., where she will make her home.

Archie Jacobs, of Trenary, spent New Year's with friends here and in Escanaba.

Miss Lillian Adams, of the Soo, spent yesterday and today with her sister, Mrs. A. H. Miller.

A son was born this morning, October 8, to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. C. Ogden.

A. H. Rolph, J. J. Sourwine, and A. P. Smith, of Escanaba, attended the funeral of Alfred Schroer Friday.

Charles S. Slining leaves tomorrow on a business trip to Chicago, Indianapolis and Toledo.

Gertrude, the daughter of Fred Anderson, is very ill this week with acute appendicitis.

The Honorable Lawton T. Hemans addressed a Gladstone audience last Saturday evening, and gained much favorable comment. Mr. Hemans is in appearance a typical yankee; as an orator, he has the power to convince the most hostile of audiences. Mr. Hemans confined himself in his address to state issues; in his platform he stands where he did two years ago, except that the disasters and scandals which overtook the Republican administrations during the past two years add pungency to his remarks. As he was scheduled to address a larger audience at Escanaba the same evening, his speech was necessarily brief. Although he avoided personalities as far as possible, every word he spoke was charged with electric fire. He massed facts and figures until they nearly overwhelmed the audience; and vividly described the election of two years ago, which the Republican leaders avowed the following day to have been won by deceit. Mr. Hemans' candidacy is frankly an appeal to the Republicans disgusted with the past regime: it is out of probability that this party will elect another candidate on the state ticket and it is the magnetic personality of the man that makes him respected, as well as feared, by his bitterest opponents. He has shown himself above the arts of the demagogue; among other things by his frank refusal to accept the inequitable tonnage tax, a measure leveled against that region which defeated him two years ago, and in which his strongest opposition is still founded. His defeat of two years ago, when he carried all lower Michigan, was a moral victory; and should it be Michigan's lot to have again a Democratic governor after twenty years, Lawton T. Hemans would fill the executive chair with credit to himself and the state.

Capt. Hampel and party returned Sunday night, well stuffed with partridges, hunting stories, etc. Messrs. Jones and Calder left camp earlier, returning the day before.

Fred Bendure and Paul Cornell drove to the Haymesadow Sunday behind a noble steed, preferring this to the monotony of automobile travel, but the birds were few in that fire swept portion of the country.

John Ekeblad this week put in the new concrete curbing on the south side of Delta, from Central to eleventh, matching that along the rest of the street. The crushed rock will go in a few days later.

Commissioner Legg made a trip through the rain to Ford River Switch Monday, but a partridge dinner partially compensated him for the toils of the journey.

Mrs. A. W. Wolfe is recovering well, and will in a short time leave the hospital at Green Bay to visit her relatives at Broadhead, Wis.

O'Connell's millinery opening was held last Saturday and Monday, and the fall styles are coming into their own, as may be judged by the file of ladies entering the store.

Henry Rosenblum and Warren Chandler went up to Gwinn Wednesday to inspect Rosenblum's store building there. They returned next day.

Matt Jugo, who was scalded last week, died Sunday at the hospital; his funeral was held Tuesday from All Saints' church.

Mr. and Mrs. William Marble returned this morning from Milwaukee.

Mrs. Nylander returned this week from a brief visit in Ishpeming.

Tang is decorating the interior of the Exchange Bank, and will next week touch up Ole Peterson's residence.

Ald. Philip Louis and August Van Beaver made a trip to Escanaba Thursday on business with the county clerk.

George Rice is recovering slowly from a siege of typhoid.

Elbert and William Vieux were among the successful bird-hunters Sunday.

A. W. Wolfe will occupy the rooms in the Pennock building which have been fitted up for office purposes.

Otto Peterson, who has been ill for two weeks with pneumonia, is recovering.

W. A. Needham left yesterday for Green Bay to spend a day on business.

Swan Widar spent Thursday afternoon in Escanaba.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Perkins made a trip to Escanaba Thursday.

Mrs. Worship Wilson and Miss Gladys Wilson visited in Escanaba Monday.

Miss Minnie Winter visited in Escanaba Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. M. J. Magoon returned Monday from a visit to Zanesville, Wis.

Mrs. Charles Brant is on the sick list this week.

John Malloy went to Escanaba Friday morning on business.

OWER TRUE TALES.
No. 1—Once on a time, oh Best Beloved, a farmer put his initials on a dollar bill. The next day he went to the nearest town and spent it with a merchant. Before the year was out he had got the dollar back. Four times in six years the dollar came back to him for produce, and three times he heard of it in the pockets of the neighbors. The last time he got it was four years ago. He sent it to a mail order house. He has never seen that dollar bill since, and never will. That dollar bill will never pay any more school or road tax for him, will never build or brighten any of the homes of the community. He sent it entirely out of range of usefulness to himself and neighbors.

MORAL: Trade at your home store, where your dollar buys most anyway, and where you may get it back again.

HER POKER HAND.

Mrs. Bunsen Knew it Was Good and Played it to the Limit.

The Bunsens went over to spend the evening with the Goits, because people get tired of staying at home all the time and just listening to each other's palaver.

Goit suggested that they all sit around Mrs. Goit's little sewing table and have a nice friendly game of poker for an hour or so.

It was only a penny ante five cent limit game, but then people have been known to clean up a first rate little bunch of pin money in even such a juvenile game as that, and Bunsen soon had his chips stacked up in four little cylinders in front of him. Mrs. Bunsen would reach over and borrow ten chips or so now and again, and a momentary frown would flit over her husband's brow, but he didn't say anything.

By and by Bunsen took notice of the fact that Mrs. Bunsen was reaching over into his subtreasury vaults and picking up chips half a stack at a time and putting them into the pot as fast as she could meet Goit's bets and raise him.

Bunsen looked at her when he saw his board of chips disappearing in a way that inquired plainly, "Are you sure you've got it on him?"

"Got a straight," whispered Mrs. Bunsen when she found opportunity to whisper without being observed.

Then Bunsen gave her a look that said, "Go as far as you like," for straights had been pretty good that evening, and the pot, after the way it had been sweetened, looked worth while.

Finally Goit called her. "All I've got is three ladies," he said in a tone of polite inquiry, laying down his hand.

"Well, I have a straight," gurgled Mrs. Bunsen. "See—queen, king, ace, deuce, tray."

Bunsen shot her a glance that told her something was amiss before anybody had time to say a word.

"Why, the ace comes after the king, doesn't it?" she inquired. "And doesn't the two-spot come after the ace and the three-spot after the two-spot? I'd just like to know why that isn't a straight."

Bunsen watched Goit rake in the pot and didn't say anything—not just then.—Chicago News.

A Perplexing Inquiry.

In a New York furniture store a young engaged pair were looking at mahogany tables for the nest they were about to furnish. As the clerk was doing his best to make a sale the young woman turned to her betrothed and said: "Mamma has one just like this. Perhaps she'll give it to us."

The clerk hastened to expound the beauty of curved legs, and the Benedict to be turned to his sweetheart and asked innocently, "Are your legs curved?"

It was sixty seconds before he could account for the furious blushes of his betrothed and the uncontrollable merriment of the clerk.—New York World.

Hypnotic Triumph.

A doctor related the following story: "I had a patient who was very ill and who ought to have gone to a warmer climate, but whose means were insufficient, so I resolved to try what hypnotism would do for him. I had a large sun painted on the ceiling of his room and by suggestion induced him to think it was the sun which would cure him. The ruse succeeded, and he was getting better rapidly when one day on my arrival I found he was dead."

"Did it fail, after all, then?" asked the doctor's hearers.

"No," replied the doctor; "he died of sunstroke."—Circle Magazine.

the night. After donning a suit of his host's clothes, so that his own might be dried, he proceeded downstairs and on his way met the mistress with a big Bible in her hand. In the fading light she mistook the stranger for her husband and gave him a thump on the head with the book, remarking, "That's for asking the man to stay all night."

16-DAYS ONLY-16

TO THE PUBLIC.

We must dispose of this enormous department stock within 16 days. We have advertised the stock for public sale, at prices as below quoted, over the entire state. Every statement and price here made being true, and not exaggerated in minimum, we shall expect a crowd numbering thousands of people every day of this sale to supply their wants. Proper preparations are being made to accommodate these masses and to wait upon one and all with proper dispatch.

Sale will open Wednesday, Oct. 5, and positively close Oct. 22.

STOP AND CONSIDER

No economical women can afford to miss this golden opportunity. The cleanest, choicest and most up-to-date read-to-wear and furnishing stock in Menominee, Mich., to be sold at public sale at these quoted prices, at prices lower than half its value. Read this carefully and remember no matter how ridiculously low the prices quoted they are true and backed by the fairest guarantee: "Satisfaction or money refunded."

Sale will begin Wednesday, Oct. 5, and positively close Saturday, Oct. 22.

NEWS OF VITAL IMPORTANCE—WE HAVE RECRUITED A FORCE OF EFFICIENT AND TRAINED SALES-PEOPLE to wait on the people with rapid and proper dispatch. Don't forget the date, Wednesday, October 5, at 9 a. m. the doors will be thrown open to the public. We do not wish to leave a few skeptical ones behind, and therefore whatever purchases you make should you be dissatisfied in any way we will exchange, take back or refund your money immediately. We guarantee every garment, every price and every statement here made and advise you to save this and bring it with you, so you will get exactly the goods mentioned. Remember, NO POSTPONEMENT. Come here expecting to find absolutely the best values that you ever saw. You will be disappointed—your expectations will be far exceeded in every instance. We guarantee you that the prices are lower and the values such as you only could picture in your most exalted moments of imagination. Were we to use the most emphatic language we could not sufficiently impress upon you the importance of these bargains. Why, language is simply too faint to convey to you even an idea of the extraordinary bargains to be found, Wednesday, Oct. 5. But bear in mind that the appended items are merely representative and we can only give you a glimpse of what you can save by quoting prices on a small portion of the stock, for if we should quote prices on all these goods we would require the space of a twenty-four page newspaper. And now then, in offering these bargains we make no reservations and include and place at your disposal every article, every garment contained in this stock. To fully realize and to properly appreciate the marvelous values to be found in this store you must visit the store yourself.

Us & Neighbors

The county fair this fall was the most successful ever held in Delta county, so far as the farmers and their exhibits were concerned. Men who have visited the state fairs in this and adjoining states this fall declare that at none of them was there a finer display of fruit and vegetables than that which filled the big windows of the Fair Savings Bank. Residents of every section of the county, as well those of Escanaba and Gladstone as the farmers, stood by the hour to look at the magnificent pumpkins, squash, cabbage, cucumbers, corn, and vegetables too many to name, as many of them are unknown to the casual observer. Business was at a standstill, the floor space being given up to the exhibits of fruit, preserves, etc. The apples in particular were worthy of note, and it is probable that there was never so fine a collection of them in the county before; big, clear-skinned, perfectly-formed, juicy fellows. Peaches, muskmelons, grapes, tobacco and celery were shown, although as yet Delta county has produced no bananas. The field crops, though less striking to the eye, were equally excellent. The county grange and the business men's association passed resolutions of fervent thanks to Mr. Salinsky for the manner in which he had stepped into the gap and given the farmers of Delta county a chance to show what they are good for. If these things are done in a dry season, what shall be done in a green one?

Escanaba township made a magnificent showing at the county fair. Oscar Johnson made 52 exhibits, taking 14 prizes. Clifford Barron had 21, John Barron 14, and Tom Jones 13; the latter made a splendid showing in potatoes. One-eighth of the entire premium list went to the Flat Rock district, which has probably no superior in the peninsula for the raising of excellent crops.

Postmaster Laing this week erected a heraldic escutcheon which will suffice to inform the wayfarer whose early education has not been neglected, that within the adjoining portals he may deposit his picture postals of the axe factory and the South Gladstone bridge, after purchasing such stamps as are needful to spend them on their way.

The water board Thursday authorized the employ of a utility man at the pumping station at $1.50 per day; gave the assistant electrician a raise in pay and the paid firemen two days' vacation a month. The board was well pleased over the considerable advance in receipts shown, over the month of September, 1909.

The P. Y. P. S. will present next Tuesday, at the Theatre, a farce, "The Old-Fashioned School," which has been delighting upper peninsula audiences, under the direction of Miss M. Ritenour, of Detroit. A large number of the city's gifted amateurs have been rehearsing diligently for the production.

Sixteen inch Dry Body Wood, single cord $2.10, full cord $6.00; 16-in. Maple and Birch mill wood, $2.00 per single cord, $5.75 per full cord; delivered to any part of the city. Call up C. W. Davis, phone 7.

Rain last Sunday prevented the game between the tigers and the ex-leaguers, but another attempt will be made Sunday to pull off a good scientific game and after that we can look only to indoor baseball before next spring.

Among those taking prizes at the county fair were P. R. Legg, of Gladstone, who won a first with his winter radishes, and Joseph Devet of Kipling, whose fine cauliflower has been the admiration of the neighbors.

The obsolete walk round the Hawarden Inn was torn out this week; and the cement contractors will start in at once. To insure the speedy completion of the work, a block is to be done by each contractor.

Nebel is laying the floor of Rosenblum's basement, which will complete his work on the building, and will finish its seven thousand square feet next week. The building will then be ready to plaster and paint.

The Lutheran Sunday school and mission festival, postponed from last week, was held Thursday evening. An excellent program was given by the teachers and pupils of the Sunday school.

This fall's millinery styles, as exhibited at O'Connell's, under the direction of Miss Gordon, incline to quiet colors, but rich fabrics, which agree with the garments of a modish wearer.

At a practice game played last Thursday between the high school football team and the alumni, the former were in the most active shape and won, 15 to 10.

The fall styles in millinery are fully and excellently displayed by Miss Gordon, who is in charge of the millinery department at O'Connell's.

Escanaba wants to spend $30,000 for a gas works. Gladstone doesn't need any while Dietz is under discussion.

The baseball dance last Friday had not a large attendance, clearing only a trifle above expenses.

The council adjourned from Monday, no quorum being present, until Wednesday.

M. Lewin is spending two or three weeks at Mt. Clemens for his health.

The amount of concrete work done in Gladstone this summer breaks last year's record. Along every street it is now possible to walk for blocks upon concrete, except for the street crossings. From Sixteenth to Fourth street on Wisconsin, hardly a wooden walk is to be found. While no figures are at hand, the amount of walk put in this season must considerably exceed two miles; and the concrete basements that have been put in this year are more numerous than ever, without counting Hammel's and Rosenblum's monolithic buildings. So far as is known, no cement worker has been idle this season except when the rain was pouring down.

At the council meeting Mayor Hammel turned in the $290 raised by him for the cemetery fund from voluntary contributions. The assessor was instructed to make up the special assessment roll for the Wisconsin avenue sewer. The chief of police reported $60 collected personally for dog licenses, bringing the total to $175. He was instructed to arrest all who refused to pay. The city treasurer was instructed to collect the long-delinquent personal taxes, by distraining the goods.

Rouman Bros. have had a fall opening too, in adding to their line of home-made candies a large number of enticing nougats and creams not before shown. The old fashions in candies gradually wear out and it is necessary to have new ones to really attract the habitues of the candy kitchen. With the chill fall winds blowing, hot drinks are coming fast into favor, although many like an ice-cream lining even in February.

The Business Men's Association of Escanaba has put up to the council the investment of $30,000 in a modern water gas plant, to furnish a gas adapted for heating purposes, giving with properly designed lamps the best of light. It is claimed that the enterprise will soon return enough money to pay the investment. The question of bonding the city may be submitted at the November election.

The Gladstone local, No. 200, R. C. L. P. A., has arranged to give a grand ball next Thursday evening at the opera house. Cardin's orchestra will furnish music and dancing will continue from 9 to 2:30. The clerks look forward to a good attendance, both from here and from Escanaba, at the event.

The high school football team, which won from St. Joseph's 15 to 6 last Saturday, is playing a practise game with the Escanaba high school this afternoon. The big show, however, will be the Manistique game.

Nebel this week constructed a burglar-proof vault of reinforced concrete for the bank of D. Hammel and Son. It will be used to store the coal and other valuable gems of the institution during the coming year.

Maclaurin and Needham, who last week finished their big job on the Wells sawmill, are changing the wiring of the opera house into the improved conduit system, which prevents any fire from defective insulation.

The Jewish merchants will close their stores next Wednesday evening at six o'clock, as Yom Kippur, the day of atonement, begins then, lasting for twenty-four hours.

After a largely attended meeting, which lasted a day and a half, the Delta county Pomona grange adjourned. It will next meet in January, at Rapid River.

E. B. M. A.

At the annual meeting of the Escanaba Business Men's association Thursday evening, invitations had been issued to the various county granges and their members, and to several business men of Gladstone. Several of them attended the meeting, which was held at the Peterson. After music, Dr. A. F. Snyder, acting as chairman of the evening, introduced the speakers. Mayor Greenhoot recited the story of Escanaba's growth, wrought by the public spirit of its citizens. Mayor Hammel of Gladstone delivered the message of the sister city, one of optimism and friendly rivalry; his pointed local allusions were the hit of the evening; and his peroration won applause. He pictured the two cities growing into one large, continuous one, and challenged Escanaba to double her population before Gladstone shall do so. Rev. F. Spence made an eloquent plea for a higher civic patriotism, laying aside faction and selfishness to work for the material and moral improvement of Escanaba. F. D. Mead gave a clear account of the charter revision, which is expected to give Escanaba a business-like, vigorous city government. E. M. St. Jacques described in detail the system of deliveries in the city. With one-quarter of their present force, by adhering strictly to schedule, the grocers and butchers of Escanaba will give their customers better service and reduce the cost of living.

The stage was decorated with exhibits from the county fair for the occasion. Supper was served by the Salvation Army corps in the adjoining room; afterwards followed a smoker and social lovefeast with a score of brief talks, until the gathering broke up at an early hour of the morning.

From the Press

The board of supervisors of Delta County is called to meet Monday, to equalize the valuation of the county.

Residents of Republic complain of the law prohibiting the destruction of skunks this month. Disrespect for law is getting widespread.

The Michigan state convention met Wednesday and harmoniously renominated the present state officials, including Auditor-General O. B. Fuller.

The announcement that the Manistique Railway will discontinue operations next week comes as a death blow to Grand Marais which is the northern terminus of that road, and relies upon it for communication with the outer world.

The Lake Superior Iron Co. is building a sawmill at Newberry, in connection with its woods operation for the blast furnace. The building is 40x150, with a capacity of sixty thousand feet daily. An artificial pond has been dug; and excavation for the foundations of a rector plant will soon begin.

A partridge flew through a window at the court house the other day smashing one of the big window lights in the county clerk's office into smithereens. The bird was so badly cut by the broken glass that it was easily captured and went to make an excellent pot pie for the sheriff's dinner.—Newberry News.

Detour, a village at the eastern extremity of the peninsula, this spring voted dry and closed its saloons, also practically abolishing its source of income. Following the discharge of the police force, reports of blind pigs and bootleggers came from thence. But Detour's latest trouble is the failure of its small private bank; the owners were absentees and the funds are the same way.

The farmers in Michigan paid in 1908 $10,663,380 for fuel wood, purchasing 2,538,900 cords. In towns of from 1,000 to 30,000 there were used 1,008,930 cords valued at $5,132,454, while in towns of over 30,000 population 114,875 cords were used having a value of $663,803. There were used in the state of Michigan in the year 1908, 3,700,333 cords of wood for fuel purposes, having a value as above stated.

A printer's publication describes a ballot which goes far to show some practical drawbacks to the initiative and referendum program of the progressives. How many voters will read this document through? The sample Minnehaha County, S. Dak., for use at the election of November 8, 1910, is 7½ inches long, (6 feet, 5½ inches), and printed on pink paper, in one piece (not pasted), and is 10 inches wide. It contains the full text of six statutes to vote upon, "yes" on "no"—whether they shall become laws of the state. Of the total length, 53 (fifty-three) inches are occupied by Chapter 52, on the organization of the National Guard and Militia of S. Dak." The American Bulletin observes that this is undoubtedly the world-beater.

The state tax commission last week investigated the complaint that $150,000 in mortgages had been omitted from the roll in Hancock. About $40,000 will be added to the rolls. This hearing was the first of its kind in the state, being a hearing in which only mortgages were considered. The confusion was largely caused by the paid mortgages remaining on the records of the register of deed as undischarged. This was caused by a misunderstanding between those interested in the mortgages as to who should pay the fee for the discharge and consequently the mortgage remained on record, even after having been paid. As the commission compiles its data from the records of the register of deeds the confusion was caused. It will be a lesson to mortgagors to record their discharges.

FIND BOMB VICTIMS

SEVENTH BODY RECOVERED FROM RUINS OF LOS ANGELES TIMES BUILDING.

FRISCO CLEWS FOLLOWED

Officers Guard General Otis' Home—Digging in Ruins Continues—Legislature in Deadlock Over Reward for Capture of Fiends.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Searchers in the ruins of the Los Angeles Times building, which was destroyed by an explosion and fire Saturday morning, came upon seven charred bodies at the foot of the elevator shaft Monday. The bodies could not be recognized.

Five bodies, all badly charred, had been previously recovered. The management of the Times announces that it now appears certain that twenty-one were killed.

It is asserted by physicians in charge of the injured that probably none will die, though several may be crippled for life.

Squads of detectives are constantly on guard at the home of General Otis and his son-in-law, Harry Chandler, general manager of the Times, and F. J. Zeehandelaar, to prevent further attempts to wreck the houses.

The police confirmed a report that the trail of the supposed dynamite conspirators who are believed to have wrecked the Times plant last Saturday had been struck in this city.

"I regard a second clue which we have quite as important as that which is engaging the attention of the detectives in San Francisco," said Chief of Police Galloway. He refused to tell what the clue was.

Los Angeles, Cal.—At least twenty men lost their lives Saturday when the building occupied by the Los Angeles Times Publishing company was destroyed by fire.

The fire was preceded by an explosion and immediately the building was enveloped in flames. The blast occurred on the second floor of an addition to the old building. This is of three floors. Within a few seconds the entire structure was a fiery furnace.

The havoc of the explosion was greatest in the mechanical departments, and the majority of the dead and injured were members of these departments. Twenty-two injured were taken to the receiving hospital.

Within twelve hours after the wrecking of the Times plant an attempt was made to destroy the residence of Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, publisher of the paper, by means of an infernal machine.

The bomb was discovered in a suitcase hidden under a bunch of vines near a bay window and was exploded as it was hurled into the street.

Another infernal machine was found earlier in the day at the residence of F. J. Zeehandelaar, secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association.

General Otis and the other responsible heads of the paper charge the Times building disaster and narrowly averted attempts at further destruction of life and property to labor union sources. The property damage is estimated at $500,000.

With equal emphasis the leaders of union labor here and throughout the state repudiate the accusation and have offered all aid in their power in the effort to detect the culprits.

For twenty years, following a quarrel with the typographical union, which resulted in making the Times a nonunion paper, General Otis has fought unionism with every resource at his command. He has been ably seconded in this fight by the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, whose secretary was the object of frustrated dynamiting.

The president of the local typographical union issued orders that union printers may work in conjunction with the nonunion printers of the Times in any of the local newspaper offices in getting out the edition of the Times.

The city council met in special session and appropriated $25,000 for the purpose of determining the cause of the Times explosion and provided a reward of $2,500 for the capture of those responsible for the outrage.

FOUR KILLED IN AUTO RACE

Score Are Injured—Mismanagement Charged—Harry Grant Wins Vanderbilt Cup in Record Time.

New York.—Four persons killed and twenty seriously injured—several of them probably fatally—was the sacrifice on the altar of speed at the sixth Vanderbilt cup automobile race Saturday.

Mismanagement and poor policing of the course were declared responsible for the slaughter. Many of the victims were spectators, run down when the racing autos crashed into the crowds lining the parkway.

DRY FARMING MEET OPENED

FIFTH ANNUAL CONGRESS IS CONVENED IN SPOKANE.

Congressman Mondell Presides and Experts From All Over the World Are Among the Delegates.

Spokane, Wash.—With delegates representing five billion acres of dry farm land in America, Russia, Germany, France, British South Africa, Australia, Turkey, India, Italy, Brazil, Argentina and Algeria, together with governors of five northwestern states, three members of congress, representatives of six foreign nations, heads of federal and state departments and many prominent agricultural experts present the fifth annual Dry Farming congress opened here Monday night. Everything points to a most interesting and instructive meeting.

In connection with the congress there is an exposition, where comprehensive displays are made of the products of the field, orchard and garden to demonstrate what has been accomplished in the so-called semi-arid and arid districts in all parts of the world. Prizes of a total value of $10,000 are offered in the various competitions, which are free and open to all dry farmers. The speakers' list includes the names of many prominent statesmen, scientists, and agriculturists.

Congressman F. W. Mondell of Wyoming, president of the organization, formally convened the congress in the Washington state armory last night, the delegates and visitors being welcomed by Governor Hay for the state, and Mayor Pratt for the city. There will be eight regular sessions, and in addition six meetings of the institute sections of North and South Dakota, Utah, Idaho, Montana and Washington. Dr. T. V. Cooke, state director of dry farming in Wyoming, will have charge of sessions for members tomorrow and Thursday mornings. The meetings are for delegates desiring specific information on dry farming problems, soil culture and seed breeding.

Justice W. H. Moody resigns. Supreme Court Just finds it impossible, through ill health, to resume duties.

Beverly, Mass.—William H. Moody resigned his position as associate justice of the United States Supreme court Tuesday. President Taft accepted the resignation in a letter expressive of deep regret that the continued ill health of the justice rendered it impossible for him to continue as a member of the court. The resignation is effective November 20. Months ago it was almost certain that he would never be able to resume his public duties and at the last session of congress a special act was passed which enabled him to retire on full pay before attaining full age requisite for retirement.

30 INJURED IN COLLISION. Excursion Train Collides Head-On With Freight Through Blunder. Latter's Crew at Laporte, Ind.

Laporte, Ind.—Running 20 miles an hour, with its engineer unconscious of the blundering of the crew of a freight train, a Lake Erie & Western passenger train carrying excursionists Monday dashed head-on into a string of freight cars on the main track. More than 30 persons were injured, several seriously.

Operate on La Follette. Rochester, Minn.—Senator Robert M. La Follette underwent a surgical operation Tuesday at the Mayo hospital here. The senator proved unusually susceptible to the anaesthetic. Dr. W. J. Mayo held the knife and was assisted by Dr. Charles Mayo, an unusual circumstance except in cases of great delicacy. An incision for three inches was made. Eight small stones were exposed and removed. A minute examination disclosed subacute inflammation of the pancreas.

Makes New Wireless Mark. New York.—A new long distance record for wireless transmission is claimed by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph company, which announces that the officials were informed in a dispatch from London Monday that Mr. Marconi, who is now in the Argentine Republic, has successfully received signals directly from Glace Bay, N. H., and from Clifden, Ireland, at the high power station now almost completed in the Argentine Republic. The distance covered is estimated at 5,600 miles.

ABOUT TO LOSE A GOOD FRIEND

JOHN A. DIX FOR GOVERNOR

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS ADOPT PLATFORM URGING REFORMS.

Direct Primaries Favored, Pledge Party to Preservation of "Old Nationalism"—Denounce Tariff.

Rochester, N. Y.—The Democratic state convention Friday nominated the following state ticket: Governor—John A. Dix of Washington county. Lieutenant Governor—Thomas F. Conway of Clinton. Secretary of State—Edward Lazansky of Kings. Comptroller—William Schner of New York. Attorney General—Thomas Carmody of Yates. State Treasurer—John J. Kennedy of Erie. Justices of the Court of Appeals—Irving C. Vann, Republican, of Onondaga, and Frederick Collins, Democrat, of Chemung.

John A. Dix.

Mr. Dix was nominated by a vote of 434 to 16 for Congressman Sulzer. All the other nominations were made by acclamation.

The platform adopted pledges the party first to the preservation of the "old nationalism." It condemns "all attacks upon the Supreme court of the United States."

It declares for sovereign state rights and "for the largest possible measure of home rule for all cities of the state."

It denounces the Republican party for its government of the state. The declaration of principles declares that the Payne-Aldrich tariff law was a "breach of faith" by the Republican party and responsible for the high cost of living. Only by a downward revision of the tariff, it is held, could the cost of living be reduced.

It charges the Republican party with extravagance, especially in the creation of many needless public offices, and pledges the Democratic party to retrenchment.

Popular election of United States senators, an income tax, a parcels post and the preservation of water power for all the people are other things urged by the set of principles.

Navy Blast Kills Two. Washington.—Two men are dead and one seriously injured as the result of an explosion in the high explosive building of the Washington navy yard Tuesday.

Captain Beatty, the commandant of the navy yard, has ordered a board of investigation to determine the cause of the accident.

Unwritten Law Frees Girl. Pittsburg, Pa.—Thirteen-year-old Katherine Botti, who admitted the killing of her godfather, Pasquale Volpe, with an ax and red-hot poker, was cleared of a murder charge Tuesday by the verdict of a jury. The defense had been based wholly on the unwritten law.

Blow Up Safe and Rob Bank. Standish, Mich.—Four robbers dynamited the safe of W. H. Atken & Co.'s bank at Bentley Tuesday and stole $900.

STANDARD CUTS OIL PRICES

Reductions Made in Europe and the Far East in Campaign to Increase Use of Kerosene.

New York.—J. I. C. Clarke, through whom the Standard Oil company makes its official announcements to the public, has issued a statement to the effect that the company has entered on a thoroughly mapped out campaign to increase the consumption of kerosene in European countries and the lands of the Orient. The first move in this campaign is the reduction of the prices of oil in those countries. Mr. Clarke's announcement says in part:

"The Standard Oil company has inaugurated a campaign to increase the world's consumption of refined oil. The level of prices for refined oil today in the United States is lower than at any time during recent years, and as a direct result of these prices the consumption of refined oil in this country is increasing. The same policy is now being actively pursued abroad."

As indicated by this statement, the Standard company began trying out the policy of lower prices in the United States, though without announcing that it had in view a campaign that would cover the world. In August the price of refined oil in tanks was reduced from 6 1/2 to 5 1/2 cents a gallon, and the price of refined oil in barrels at the refinery was cut 1 cent, from 9 1/2 to 8 1/2 cents a gallon.

OUTLAW DIETZ IS HEMMED IN

Wisconsin Desperado Practically a Prisoner in His Log House—Home Town Under Martial Law.

Winter, Wis.—With his daughter in a hospital at Ashland badly wounded, one son in jail with a bullet through his arm, and another son with him, also suffering from a gun wound, John F. Dietz, the desperate "outlaw of Cameron Dam" fame, was Monday a prisoner in his log cabin in the northern Wisconsin wilderness, he being entirely surrounded by a sheriff's posse.

While Dietz is surrounded in his forest clearing, the town of Winter is excited, because Dietz has threatened to invade the place and shoot every person involved in the shooting of his two sons and his daughter. The town is under martial law, the sheriff having deputized about thirty-five men, most all of them friends of Horel, the man shot on election day.

LAUNCH UPSETS; 29 DROWN

Members of Battleship New Hampshire Are Victims of Accident in the Hudson River.

New York.—Twenty-nine persons—all members of the crew of the battleship New Hampshire—were drowned in the sinking of a launch in the Hudson river Saturday.

That the list of dead is not much higher is due to the bravery and personal rescue effected by Godfrey De C. Chevalier, a midshipman. One survivor said Chevalier himself rescued 15 persons who were in the water, besides saving the lives of many others by showing them the best method of saving themselves.

Justice Brooks Wins Kentucky Futurity at Lexington in Fast Time of 2:09 1/2.

Lexington, Ky.—The two-year-old Kentucky Futurity, valued at $5,000, was the feature of the annual fall meeting of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' association Wednesday.

Miss Stokes, who last year electrified the trotting world by lowering the world's record for a yearling, was favorite in the betting, but was taken sick before the race and had to be drawn out. Justice Brooks won, setting a new world's record for two-year-old colts. Time, 2:11 1/2 and 2:09 1/2. Main Street got second money and Silent Brigade and Pater Boy divided third and fourth money.

Chancellor Expresses Regret. Berlin.—The imperial chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, has sent a letter to the "Foreign Correspondents' association," expressing regrets at the Moabit incident, in which several correspondents were assaulted by the police while watching riots.

Dynamiters at Kansas City. Kansas City, Mo.—Dynamiters exploded a bomb under a building on which Fogel & Sons, contractors, were working. The contractors are nonunion men.

NEW SOLON ACCUSED

SENATORS RULE THAT BRODERICK, BROWNE AND WILSON MUST TESTIFY.

LUKE'S WIDOW ON STAND

Says Husband Had Unexplained $950 in His Possession After Legislature Adjourned—New Lorimer Bribery Story.

Chicago.—State Senator John Broderick and Representative Lee O'Neil Browne must testify without reserve in the Lorimer senate investigation.

The senate committee, after considering the plea of Broderick that he be allowed to testify generally without being compelled to give specific answers to questions involving dates and circumstances, Wednesday decided unanimously to reject it. The senators held that Broderick must testify without reserve, as he had not pleaded that his constitutional rights were jeopardized.

Broderick's plea that specific testimony would be unfair to him in view of the fact that he was to be tried in Sangamon county on a bribery charge was held to be an inadequate reason for his request.

The ruling also will apply to Lee O'Neil Browne and Robert E. Wilson, from whom Legislator Charles A. White, H. J. C. Beckemeyer and Michael Link declare they received money after their votes for Lorimer.

Aside from the Broderick decision chief interest at the hearing centered in the testimony of Mrs. Charles H. Luke, widow of a legislator who is said to have informed her of bribery attempts in the legislature shortly before his death.

Mrs. Luke admitted that she had seen her husband in possession of an unexplained $950 shortly after the adjournment of the assembly which elected Lorimer. Luke is alleged to have confessed before his death to H. V. Murray, now state's attorney of Chester county, that he was bribed to vote for Lorimer.

Representative Henry Terrell of Colchester testified that Representative John Griffin of Chicago offered him direct $1,000 to vote for Lorimer. Terrell did not do so.

Daniel D. Donahue, Democratic representative from Bloomington, testified that he had heard talk about money in connection with Senator Lorimer's election and had been approached with requests to vote for Lorimer, but he denied that he had been offered any money to vote for Lorimer or that he had been tempted with bribes of any sort.

POLICE ON WRECKERS' TRAIL

Los Angeles Sleuths Assert Trace of Fiends Is Found—Gen. Otis Arrested, Is Accused by Labor.

Los Angeles, Cal.—The police Wednesday confirmed a report that the trail of the supposed dynamite conspirators who are believed to have wrecked the Times plant had been struck in this city.

"I regard a second clue which we have quite as important as that which is engaging the attention of the detectives in San Francisco," said Chief of Police Galloway. He refused to tell what the clue was.

An incident of the day was the arrest of Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, proprietor of the Times, on the charge of having criminally libeled Andrew Gallagher, a San Francisco labor leader, in the columns of the Times. General Otis was taken into custody while preparing to attend the funeral of Wesley Reeves, the young stenographer to whom he dictated the article on which the libel was based.

The arresting officer accompanied the general to the funeral and then into a justice court, where bail was arranged. Six bodies were recovered from the ruins, bringing the total taken so far from the ruins up to 13. Eight are believed to be still buried in the ruins.

Justice Brooks Wins Kentucky Futurity at Lexington in Fast Time of 2:09 1/2.

Lexington, Ky.—The two-year-old Kentucky Futurity, valued at $5,000, was the feature of the annual fall meeting of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' association Wednesday.

Little kidney troubles gradually grow more serious and pave the way to dropsy, diabetes, and fatal Bright's disease. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills at the first sign of trouble. They cure all kidney ills.

Mrs. J. R. Hayes, Anamosa, Iowa, says: "I suffered such awful pain I could not lie down. I was perfectly helpless for six months. My ankles were so badly swollen I could not wear my shoes. Soon after using Doan's Kidney Pills I was able to walk without crutches. I gradually improved until I ceased to blot and the kidneys became normal."

Good Advice, but—A traveler entered a railway carriage at a wayside station. The sole occupants of the compartment consisted of an old lady and her son, about twelve years old. Nothing of note occurred until the train steamed into the station at which tickets were collected. The woman, not having a ticket for the boy, requested him to "corrie doon."

The traveler intervened and suggested putting him under the seat. "Man," said the excited woman, "it's as shair as death; but there's twa under the seat a'ready!"

Flirting With Fashion. That innate tendency on the part of the fair consumer to flirt with fashion, playing fast and loose with various commodities, is responsible for the uncertainties that have prevailed during the month. There was such a lack of confidence as to the ultimate acceptance of the various lines prepared by distributors and consumers that buying was somewhat minimized. # GOVERNMENT OF PORTUGAL IN THE HANDS OF REBELS

Capital Attacked and Army and Navy Join Republicans, While Manuel Is Reported to Be Refugee on Ship--Murder of Party Leader Starts Revolt--Republic May Result.

Paris.—The long-awaited revolution in Portugal has come. Many are reported dead, the monarchy is overthrown, King Manuel and the queen mother are fugitives, the royal palace in Lisbon has been bombarded and many cities have fallen into the hands of the revolutionists, according to advices by telegraph and wireless. The revolt was believed to be spreading into Spain, where frequent recent outbreaks have taken place. Troops have been hurried to every strategic point in Spain, and the outbreak of a rebellion against King Alfonso was expected.

Capture Many Cities.

The declaration of a republic in Portugal and the issuance of a call for elections were planned at once. The republican movement has gathered great headway in Spain and thousands there are clamoring for an abolition of the monarchy and a democratic form of government. Thousands of fugitives fleeing over the border line from Portugal into Spain brought with them tales of a general uprising. City after city has fallen into the hands of the revolutionists, it is known, in spite of the fact that the telegraph wires in most directions were cut. The navy went over to the rebellion in a body and most of the army, it is said, turned against the king.

All the European powers have ordered warships to Portuguese waters to look after the interests of foreign citizens. Three armored cruisers were

LANDMARKS IN PORTUGAL'S REVOLUTION.

King Carlos and Crown Prince Luis slain in capital Feb. 1, 1908, when an attempt is made to wipe out the whole royal family. Premier Franco, the hated reactionary leader, forced to flee the country. A new ministry and a "reform" parliament come into power. Clerical party dominates the new regime. The Liberals are squelched, and the Republican propaganda breaks out with new fury. Bomb plots unearthed, and plotters arrested, from time to time, but sedition grows apace throughout the nation. New parliament opened Sept. 23, 1910, king promising reforms, but again the progressives were outvoted and the "reform" program was delayed. Assassination Monday of Prof. Bombarda, a Liberal deputy, charged to clerical plot, is spark that starts the latest revolution. King Manuel and queen mother now besieged in palace, bombarded by guns of revolutionists. Royal flag hauled down and flag of revolt waves over the palace. Army and navy join the revolt. Serious fighting in streets of Lisbon and many reported killed. Foreign nations may send warships to protect the lives of their citizens.

sired by the party of royalty remained, the laws against the press were applied rigorously and journalists were forced to flee to escape jail. The police invented secret societies, the discovery of which permitted the persecution of the republicans.

Peaceable citizens were arrested as suspects on mere denunciations. The ransacking of houses was a daily occurrence. The liberty and dignity of the population was violated in every way possible by a criminal court officer possessing the power of inquisitor.

These monstrous acts and this renewal of the worst epoch of tyranny happened at the moment when the advent of the young king led the credulous to believe that an improvement was about to take place. The republicans, however, were not deceived. They continued their propaganda throughout the country, convinced that the salvation of Portugal was possible only with a republic.

Ministers in Many Scandals.

The republican propaganda showing a succession of scandals, with the ministries compromised in shady affairs, forced the king to summon to power men calling themselves liberals. This final deception was the last straw.

Opinion was such that the biggest commercial association in Lisbon took the initiative in a formidable movement of protest, involving, if neces-

Warships began bombarding the king's palace at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon, with small show of resistance, and soon the supporters of the monarchy were forced to capitulate.

It is believed that the killing of Professor Bombarda, the republican deputy and anticlerical, by an army lieutenant, was the direct cause of the rising, although since King Manuel ascended the throne there have been plots for the overthrow of the monarchy and against his life. The republican party has been planning for a complete change in the government, and King Manuel, according to the republican leaders, by his disregard for the rights of the people and his blind insistence on a dictatorial system, has added to the fires of the people's wrath.

Long Preparation for Outbreak.

Sebastiao Magalhães Lima, one of the chiefs of the Portuguese republican party, who is in Paris, declares that he is not surprised at the revolution in that country, which long had been predicted and for which preparation had been going on. The assassination of Deputy Bombarda, he said, is the spark which started the conflagration. The people saw in the murder of the chief of the Liberal league an act of clerical vengeance.

The republican party has hoped that a change in the regime could be effected in an orderly way, but the obstinacy of the men in power and the blindness of the sovereign prevented this. The monarchy might have been expected to profit from the lesson of the death of Carlos, but the accumulation of abuses which aroused the people against the dictator Franco continued, the dictatorial system de-

38 SLAIN IN CRASH

FRIGHTFUL LOSS OF LIFE ON ILLINOIS TRACTION LINE NEAR STAUNTON.

COACHES COLLIDE ON CURVE

Twenty-Six Are Injured—Orders Are Overlooked—Dead, Dying and Maimed Are Thrown Into Bloody Mass.

Springfield, Ill.—Thirty-eight persons were instantly killed and 26 others were injured when two interurban cars on the Illinois (McKinley) Traction system collided head-on at Dickerson curve, two miles north of Staunton, Ill., Tuesday.

Both cars were going at a high rate of speed and as the curve where they met is at the bottom of a hill, both cars were plunging down hill. They met right on the curve and so sudden was the collision, the motormen barely escaped with their lives by jumping.

Both cars were demolished and the dead, dying and injured were piled in one bloody mass, while the screams of the maimed and bleeding added horror to the scene.

Car No. 14, north-bound, had orders to meet both sections of train No. 73 at Staunton. The orders were carried out so far as the first section was concerned, but it is officially reported that the orders to wait for the second section of No. 73 were overlooked.

Old employees of the company refused to go out on learning of the wreck. They complained that new men, employed for the state fair traffic, were disobeying orders and running by switches where they were under orders to stop. It is reported that four full crews mutinied and refused to go out. The system has been taken to its extreme capacity since last Saturday by the immense crowds hastening to the state fair. Many additional men, mostly motormen and conductors employed in various cities of central Illinois, have been pressed into service on the high speed crowded interurban cars.

The killed:

- W. S. Street, Staunton, division superintendent Illinois Traction system.
- A. Price, Champaign, auditor of disbursements of the Illinois Traction system.
- J. W. Miller, Gillespie, general superintendent of the Superior Coal company.
- J. H. Habbegger, Jamestown, Ill., general merch.
- C. Werner, Chapin, Ill.
- Herman Bauer, St. Louis.
- D. E. Black, Springfield, assistant superintendent of motive power of the Illinois Traction system.
- T. J. Kerwin, St. Louis.
- Manuel A. Inbermill, Baden, Ill.
- Dr. H. C. Janaway, Decatur, Ill.
- J. G. Schaefer, St. Louis.
- Mrs. William Cloud, Bend, Ill.
- S. C. Hill, Princeton, Ind.
- John Blotna, Bend, Ill.
- Dr. B. F. Redshaw, Curran, Ill.
- H. B. Robinson, Bend, Ill., miner.
- E. M. Rose, Chicago.
- Frank Ruble, O'Fallon, Ill.
- S. T. Henry, Princeton, Ill.
- Beatrice Seniger, 28.
- The injured:
- M. Judd, or Judge, Litchfield, Ill.
- E. J. Young, motorman, Staunton, Ill.
- William Curle, Springfield, Ill.
- Edith Lansford, Hillsboro, Ill.
- Hazel Sinweger, Springfield; Mrs. J. R. Apece and daughter Edith, Springfield; Julius Engleman, O'Fallon, Ill.; George O. Miller, Troy, Ill.; Mary Duffner, Nilwood, Ill.; Daniel O. Tarrant, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mrs. L. E. Cordum, Gillespie; Mrs. G. B. Clifton, Staunton, Ill.; C. F. Miller, Sparta, Ill.; C. W. McGehee, Shawneetown, Ill.; Geo. Smith, Shawneetown, Ill.; John Hohe, Trenton, Ill.; George Oehler, Staunton, Ill.; James Parker, Staunton, Ill.; Henry Saul, Belleville, Ill.; C. F. Mehl, Staunton, Ill.; McCall, Gillespie, Ill.; James Scotland, Gillespie, Ill.; Edward White, Decatur, Ill.; Burt Edwards, Mount Olive, Ill., may die; an unknown man had card with name Irwin F. Echenle, Belleville, Ill., in pocket.

The special train from Staunton bearing 28 of the dead was sent to Carlinville. So badly mangled are some of the bodies that they cannot be recognized even by those who are sure they have relatives among the unidentified. Most of those killed were riding in the south-bound car, which was almost completely telescoped by the north-bound car.

The scenes attending the wreck are indescribable in their horrors as the injured screamed for help while pinned beneath the wreckage. The few who escaped without injuries heroically went to work in the mangled mass of bleeding bodies, and endeavored to extricate the dead from the dying and injured.

A large number of the injured were taken to Granite City and attended in hospitals there.

BABY'S SKIN TORTURE

"When our baby was seven weeks old he broke out with what we thought was heat, but which gradually grew worse. We called in a doctor. He said it was eczema and from that time we doctored six months with three of the best doctors in Atchison but he only got worse. His face, head and hands were a solid sore. There was no end to the suffering for him. We had to tie his little hands to keep him from scratching. He never knew what it was to sleep well from the time he took the disease until he was cured. He kept us awake all hours of the night and his health wasn't what you would call good. We tried everything but the right thing. "Finally I got a set of the Cuticura Remedies and I am pleased to say we did not use all of them until he was cured. We have waited a year and a half to see if it would return but it never has and to-day his skin is clear and fair as it possibly could be. I hope Cuticura may save some one else's little ones suffering and also their pocket-books. John Leason, 1403 Atchison St., Atchison, Kan., Oct. 19, 1909."

His First Lesson in Economy.

"When I was a very small boy and a dime looked pretty big to me, I met John H. Farley—who had always been my good friend—on the street one June day," says Frank Harris.

"Frank," he said, "the Fourth of July is coming soon. You'll want some change then. Let me be your banker until then and you'll have some money for firecrackers, torpe does, lemonade and peanuts."

"I emptied my pockets into his hand and every day thereafter until the Fourth I turned over to him my small earnings. When the day of days came around I had a fund that enabled me to celebrate in proper style, while many of my playmates were flat broke. It was my first lesson in thrift, and it was a good one. Hundreds of Cleveland people would be glad today to testify to the fact that when John H. Farley was a friend of a man or a boy he was a friend indeed."—Cleveland Leader.

Pleasant Place to Prosper.

TO THE EDITOR: We want to hear from people who would appreciate securing a fruit, dairy or poultry farm in the Kuhn irrigated tract in Sacramento Valley, California, at half the true value. ## THE GENTLE SHEEP AS A RAPID-FIRE MONEYMAKER.

An enormous number of sheep are coming into the Union Stock Yards, Chicago, which are being sent there by Western grazers on account of the scarcity of feed in that section of the country, and which must be sold at buyers' prices.

The states of Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, are well provided with good feed and an opportunity of this kind, if offered by one of the great dry goods houses or department stores of Chicago, would deplete three-quarters of the homes of that city of its womenkind inside of half an hour after the notice appeared. All they would want would be time enough to throw a few clothes over them; some wouldn't even stop to put "rats" in their hair, thousands would forget the "powder," none would stop to "paint," but every "father's daughter" of them would make a "B" line to huddles' pants, and extract therefrom without leave, license or consent, all that therein was to be found in the shape of cash, and then tumble over each other to be first on the spot.

Lots of these women would buy much more than they required, and would quietly hold over their purchases until the close of the sale, and then let loose their surplus stock upon their less wide awake friends, and reap thereby a harvest of "shekels" which we may take for granted would be at once returned to the trouser pockets of their husbands while those gentlemen still slept. That is the woman of it.

Let us take a lesson from her thrifty and honest example. Extracting from the pockets of a slumbering spouse, under such circumstances is not robbery, it is only borrowing, and more than that, it is borrowing on account of that most beautiful of all female characteristics—a thoughtful consideration—She did not wish to disturb the peaceful rest of her softly sleeping consort.

Sheep feeding at this particular time, and after the season of Western drought just experienced, will be most profitable to those who are fortunate enough to have the feed, and such as have, can in the course of sixty days turn over their money in such a satisfactory way as will add very largely to their bank accounts.

There is nothing in sight at the present moment, that offers a better and safer investment than the purchase of these sheep, in numbers that each buyer can accommodate, and nothing that offers so speedy and so certain a return.

Why He Wouldn't Hurry.

They were riding to church and were late. Several of the party were worried and one remarked: "The audience will be waiting." "Well," observed the old pastor (who was to preach that forenoon), "don't let's fret over it if we are a little late. It reminds me of the man who was being taken to execution. His guards were greatly exercised over the fact that they could not possibly get there on time. 'Never mind,' said the poor fellow, philosophically, 'Don't fuss over it. The people can wait. There'll be nothing doing till I get there.'"—Christian Herald.

The Weeds Return.

"Confound these election bets, anyway!" grumbled Harker.
"Lose heavily?" inquired his friend.
"No, I won ten boxes of cigars and they were so rank I sold the whole lot to the corner tobacconist for a dollar."
"Well, you made a dollar, anyway."
"Yes, but that is not the worst of it. My wife saw the boxes in the window marked 'A Bargain, $2' and bought the whole lot to give me as a birthday present."

sary, a general strike. The monarchist parties, forming the conservative "bloc," scoffed at the entry of republican deputies into parliament.

Premier Teixeira De Sousa, who had conspired against Franco's dictatorship with the true liberals, nominated for the peerage one of Franco's most prominent adherents. It was a formal avowal that his government was liberal in name only and was sold to reaction.

In the political chaos King Manuel was a tool of the clericals. He found it impossible to govern against the will of the people. The king needed the support of the army and navy, but the army and navy looked toward republicanism as the only form of government capable of uplifting the country.

MICHAEL GLEASON
A Man Who Never Depended On Luck

The Gleason Exploration and Mining Co.
Its Organization and Success

In 1844 there came to America one who was destined to be among the pioneers of Northern Michigan and a potent factor in the discovery of its rich mineral deposits. At the age of twenty-four he first made Northern Michigan his home. Realizing at once the opportunities that the vast iron ore fields offered, he became interested in mining exploration. Several times has he experienced that joy which comes to him who, after having his patience sorely tried and suffering untold deprivation, finally makes the "strike" which crowns his efforts with success and makes him a benefactor to his community. Such men need to be of sturdy character, patient, persistent, untiring. Such a man is Michael Gleason, the young emigrant of 1844.

After continuing in the field of exploration for a number of years, feeling that he was entitled to live a life less strenuous, he became interested in business and in 1895 came to Gladstone and engaged in the grocery business. His fair dealing and honesty soon brought to him a host of friends and a large patronage, but the old fever had not been eradicated and the "call of the wild" becoming too strong, he gave up his business and again started for the mining regions. With rare judgment he chose a location near Iron River, Mich. Associating with him his son Matt Gleason and E. G. Hilliard, of Minnesota, he again commenced the work of exploration. For many months he labored constantly, during which time he alone knows of the discouragements and hours of deep depression he experienced, but the "Irish" was in him and he would not give up. After two years, becoming convinced that he "had a good thing" and needing more capital, he went to his friends in Minnesota and Gladstone and laid the matter before them. Now his reputation for honesty and fair dealing stood him in good stead, for his friends, having all confidence in his ability and judgment, sent him back to Iron River with the promise to furnish the necessary means to carry on his work. Days went by, weeks passed into months; many times his associates became discouraged and experienced the feeling that it was simply a case of putting their money into a "hole in the ground." Back he would go among them and by his own zeal, which could not fail to impress, he would renew their confidence. Seeing that large amounts of money were necessary to continue the work, it was thought best to form a stock company, and so The Gleason Exploration and Mining Company was organized with a capital stock of $100,000, with one-half of its stock owned in Minnesota and one-half in Gladstone.

On September 27 the stockholders of this company tendered to Mr. Gleason a banquet and presented him with a gold watch, celebrating the culmination of his hopes and ambitions, for he had "struck ore." Success was his and riches the reward of those who had stood by him. Two mines had been discovered; a conservative estimate placing the amount of marketable ore in sight at 8,000,000 tons. Contracts had been entered into with the Davidson Ore Mining Company, leasing the mines to that company on a royalty basis of fifty cents per ton, they agreeing, however, to pay a minimum royalty each year of $25,000. It is expected that during the coming year there will be mined and shipped from 50,000 to 75,000 tons of ore, and each year thereafter from 200,000 to 300,000 tons, netting to the Gleason Exploration and Mining Company from $100,000 to $150,000 a year for the next thirty years. Dividends amounting to twenty-four per cent of the total capitalization have already been paid since May 1st, 1910. No wonder the stockholders felt like celebrating and showing their appreciation in a substantial way.

At the banquet there were present only stockholders A. E. Neff, M. E. Gleason, M. Gleason, Clayton Voorhis, H. B. Laing, Peter Laing, Mrs. Amelia Johnston, Dr. D. N. Kee, Charles France and Peter McGinty, it being impossible for stockholders M. J. Murphy, E. G. Hilliard, G. H. Good, Jno. J. Gleason, H. A. Floyd, N. J. Lapine and Samuel Dunsmore to attend. There were also present Dr. A. L. Laing, of Rapid River, Mr. John Ericson, of Escanaba, and Messrs. Harry Neff and G. R. Empton, the company's attorney, of Gladstone.

Never will that evening be forgotten by those fortunate enough to be present. With President Neff acting as toastmaster, speeches were made by all present. Referring briefly to the gratitude all felt toward Mr. Gleason, Mr. Neff presented Mr. Gleason, in behalf of the stockholders, with the gold watch. Mr. Gleason responding stated that he did not feel that all the credit belonged to him, but that it was largely due to those who had so loyally stood by him, mentioning particularly first his son Matt Gleason and Mr. Hilliard, who were early associated with him, and later the newer associates, particularly the president of the company and Mr. Voorhis, who with himself composed the executive committee, and Mr. H. B. Laing, secretary and treasurer; stating further, that had it not been for the words of encouragement he had received from these, many times would he have felt like giving up and acknowledging a failure.

Mr. Gleason was followed by H. B.

Laing, secretary and treasurer of the company, who made a brief statement of what had been accomplished.

The speeches were interspersed with good things they do not find in mines, and with Mr. Matt Gleason, vice-president of the company, acting as master of ceremonies, who is a past master in the art of making one feel good, the company did not break up until the wee sma' hours of the morning.

THE TARIFF THE ISSUE.

The Honorable Gideon T. Werline, of Nadeau, who accompanied Mr. Hemans here last Saturday, followed him with a speech on national issues. Mr. Werline is a gentleman well known in the peninsula for his integrity and ability, having as a Democrat represented a Republican district in an overwhelmingly Republican legislature; but his election this fall could, as he expresses it, be accomplished only by a miracle. Mr. Werline stated very effectively and temperately the position of his party in opposing the present tariff law, as a basis for their campaign.

However, his arguments are worthy of a reply. It is the Democratic argument that the tariff hinders prosperity instead of promoting it. To establish this proposition, Mr. Werline instanced the steel works at the Soo, paying the same wages as American mechanics receive, in a place where goods may be purchased cheaper. The prosperity of the Canadian rolling mills is caused, by not only the protective tariff on steel which Canada imposes, but the cash bounty the Dominion pays on every ton of rails manufactured. Wages would be better in the iron industry if congress voted it bounties, instead of reducing the tariff.

The charge is made that the Payne-Aldrich law did not reduce the duties. On the contrary it did so, with the result that imports into America have greatly increased; and a corresponding number of American workmen have been more or less idle.

It is admitted, by the candid protectionist and the candid free-trader, that it is not well for the government to raise its revenue by a tariff, because the government must encourage imports to have an income, as it must tax them for the same reason. The Democratic party takes the middle ground of tariff-for-revenue-only; the subterfuge of the free-trade statesmen who demand that the produce of their own state shall be prohibitively protected.

Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, a Democrat of Democrats, in asking for a tariff to protect the infant tea culture of South Carolina, said "I do not believe in the government taxing the people to give anybody a bounty, but if you levy a revenue duty which gives incidental protection—that is good Democracy."

England is a country which built up by rigidly protective laws the commercial supremacy of the world many years ago. Led by free-traders, she opened her ports to the world, levying her duties only on non-competitive imports, such as tobacco and tea. The steady rivalry of America and Germany, each with a protective tariff, is driving the British manufacturer out of his home market; and those who cry tariff reform in England mean thereby protection. As to the superior advantages enjoyed by the British workman,—says the New York Press of recent date—"Bread in London up one cent a loaf. New price twelve cents a loaf for ordinary, thirteen cents for best quality, by agreement of the London master bakers' society. In England the bakers' business is in deep distress and throughout the United Kingdom skilled bakers are starving."

Another point made by Mr. Werline is that there were two panics under Republican administrations, in 1873 and 1907, and one in 1893, under the Democrats. The Democrats had two panics when they were in power, 1837-1857, due to wildcat money, but that is ancient history. The Republicans have been in power forty-two years since 1860, the Democrats eight. In 1873 the whole reaction came from the stimulus which had held up the country under the burden of the civil war and the construction of western railroads. In 1907 business was checked down from a speculative to a more sound basis. In 1893, after a period of depression following democratic victories and popular unrest, a crash came which the older generation will remember.

Shall history repeat itself? Will Democratic outrages against the tariff result in a Democratic house in 1911 and a Democratic president and senate in 1913? It is easy to predict the future by the past of twenty years ago, if this should happen. Another climax of tariff ripping; the Democratic legislators quarreling over the protection of their interests; a Democratic president lamenting party porifidy and party dishonor; business stagnation for three years, and Republican victory in 1916.

WARREN'S ADDRESS.

STAND! The ground's your own, my braves!
Will ye give it up to slaves?
Will ye look for greener graves?
Hope ye mercy still?
What's the mercy despots feel?
Hear it in that battle peal!
Read it on yon bristling steel!
Ask it, ye who will!

FEAR ye foes who kill for hire?
Will ye to your homes retire?
Look behind ye—their're there!
And before you see
Who have done it! From the vale
On they come! And will ye quail?
Leaden rain and iron hail
Let their welcome be!

IN the God of battles trust!
Die we may, and die we must.
But, oh, where can dust to dust
Be consigned so well
As where heaven's its dew shall shed
On the martyred patriot's bed
And the rocks shall raise their head
Of his deeds to tell?
—John Pierpont.

THE OLD CONTINENTALS.

[Bunker Hill was fought June 17, 1775.]
IN their ragged regimentals
Stood the old Continentals,
Yielding not,
While the grenadiers were lunging
And like hall fell the plunging
Cannon shot:
When the files
Of the isles
From the smoky night encampment bore
The banner of the rampart
Unicorn
And grummer, grummer, grummer, rolled
The roll of the drummer
Through the morn!

Then, with eyes to the front all
And with guns horizontal,
Stood the stout sines,
While the balls whistled deadly
And in streams flashing redly
Blazed the fires
As the roar
On the shore
Swept the strong battle breakers o'er the green sodded acres
Of the plain.
And louder, louder, louder, cracked the black gunpowder.
Cracking amain!

Now, like smiths at their forges,
Worked the red St. George's
Cannoners,
And the villainous salt-peter
Rang a fierce, discordant meter
Round our ears
As the swift
Storm drift.
With hot sweeping anger, came the horse guards' clangor
On our flanks.
Then higher, higher, higher, burned the old fashioned fire
Through our ranks.

Then the bareheaded colonel
Galloped through the white infernal
Powder cloud,
And his broadsword was swinging
And his brazen throat was ringing
Trumpet loud.
Then the blue
Bullets flew,
And the trooper jackets reddened at the touch of the leaden
Rifle breath.
And rounder, rounder, rounder, roared
The iron six pounder,
Hurting death!
—Guy Humphreys McMasters.

EVOLUTION.

OUT of the dusk a shadow,
Then a spark;
Out of the clouds a silence,
Then a lark;
Out of the heart a rapture,
Then a pain;
Out of the dead, cold ashes
Life again.
—Father Tabb.

PERPETUAL YOUTH.

THIS yet high day. Thy staff resume
And fight fresh battles for the truth,
For what is age but youth's fall
bloom.
A ripper, more transcendent youth?
A weight of gold
Is never old.
Streams broader grow as downward rolled.
At sixty-two life has begun.
At seventy-three begins once more.
Fly swifter as thou nearest the sun.
And brighter shine at eighty-four.
At ninety-five
Shouldst thou arrive,
Still wait on God and waltz and thrive.
—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

THE BOY OF WATERLOO.

WHEN battle roused each warlike band
And carnage loud her trumpet blew
Young Edwin left his native land,
A drummer boy, for Waterloo.
HIS mother when his lips she pressed
And bade her noble boy adieu
With wringing hands and aching breast
Beheld him march to Waterloo.

BUT he who knew no childish fears
His knapsack o'er his shoulder threw
And cried, "Dear mother, dry those tears
Till I return from Waterloo!"

HE went, and e'er the setting sun
Beheld our arms the foe subdued,
The flash of death, the murderous gun,
Had laid him low at Waterloo.

"OH, comrades, comrades," Edwin cried,
And proudly beamed his eye of blue,
"Go tell my mother Edwin died
A soldier's death at Waterloo!"

THEY placed his head upon his drum,
And 'neath the moonlight's mournful hue
When death had stilled the battle's hum
They dug his grave at Waterloo.

RECIPE FOR A SALAD.

TO make this condiment your poet begs
The pounded yellow of two hard boiled eggs.
Two boiled potatoes passed through kitchen sieve
Smoothness and softness to the salad give.
Let onion atoms lurk within the bowl
And, half suspected, animate the whole.
Of mordant mustard add a single spoon.
Distrust the condiment that bites so soon,
But deem it not, thou man of herbs, a fault.
To add a double quantity of salt.
Four times the spoon with oil from Lucca crown,
And twice with vinegar procured from town,
And lastly o'er the flavored compound
toss
A magic soupcon of anchovy sauce.
Oh, green and glorious, oh, herbaceous treast!
'Twould tempt the dying anchorite to eat.
Back to the world he'd turn his feeble soul
And plunge his fingers in the salad bowl.
Borely full, the epicure would say:
"Fate cannot harm me. I have dined today."
—Sydney Smith.
