Senator Says Will Vote on That Matter as Conscience Dictates-No Money Ever Used in His Election.

Washington.-"Not a dollar was ever used in any of my five elections to the United States senate nor in any of the other elections in which I have figured," declared Senator Cullom of Illinois in a speech on the floor of the senate Wednesday.

He upheld the people of Illinois as being as moral as those of any other state, and said that they were quite capable of taking care of their own good name.

Announcing that he took the floor only because of the reflections cast upon himself and his state in connection with the Lorimer case, the vener able senator said that he had not thought it becoming in him to discuss the Lorimer matter, either publicly or privately.

"When the time comes I shall vote according to the dictates of my conscience," he said.

"On the five different occasions when the people of Illinois signally honored me by electing me to the senate," he continued, after reviewing his various political contests, "there was not even the slightest suggestion on the part of anyone of corruption or wrongdoing in the legislature in connection with my election.

"As a candidate for the legislature, as a candidate for congress, as a candidate for governor, as a candidate for United States senator, no one has ever charged that a single dollar was used to influence any voter to vote

Official figures from annual reports show that the post office department has nearly reached the point where it is self-sustaining. And there are several changes which might yet be effected in the interest of economy and the saving of public money. KNOCKOUT BROWN HAS SHADE Champion Wolgast Meets Defeat at the Hands of New York Lightweight.

Philadelphia.-Ad Wolgast, conqueror of Battling Nelson, received probably the most inartistic walloping of his career in a six-round bout with "Knockout" Brown of New York in Jack O'Brien's new arena Wednesday

Brown battered the Michigan chap pretty much as he pleased for the entire six rounds. He hit Wolgast as he pleased and when he pleased, suffering only in the clinches, where he was made to appear the revice he really is. The margin at the close was so clean that none left the club house without picking the New Yorker as the winner.

Kaiser William III.

Berlin.-The announcement that the kaiser is ill and has canceled all his engagements for the present upon the advice of his physicians, has caused considerable surprise. The news was first conveyed to the public Wednesday night when his physicians issued a statement that his majesty was suffering from a slight cold and that they had forbidden him to attend the second court ball of the season at the castle.

TELEPOST CUTS INTO BUSINESS OF MORSE RIVALS IN CHICAGO

IN FIGHT FOR CONTROL OF TELE-GRAPH PATRONAGE GETS 800 OF LARGEST USERS OF OLD SYSTEM TO CHANGE TO AUTO-MATIC LINES-CORPORATIONS ESTIMATE BIG SAVINGS.

Chicago: The fight that has been going on here for the last two months for control of the telegraph business between this city and the principal cities of Missouri, Nebraska, Indiana and Kentucky has reached an acute stage. The Telepost automatic telegraph company, which has been acting as pacemaker for its older rivals, with its 1000 words a minute service and maximum rates of one cent a word, regardless of time or distance, has considerably the best of it todate, as is shown by its acquisition of the patronage of more than 800 of the largest corporations, business houses and individual users of the wire, who have heretofore used the Morse system exclusively to the points reached by the competing lines. The latter estimate that the change will save them thousands of dollars a year. Computing its profit on every 25 cent message at 11 cents, the Telepost is in the unique position of being able to provide service to telegraph users from 40 to 100 per cent. cheaper than its competitors, with their slower and more expensive hand operating system and make money out of it.

During the song he arose from his seat, crossed the room to a window in the westward, through which he gazed for several minutes with that "sad, far away look" which has so often been noted as one of his peculiarities. His memory, no doubt, went back to the days of his humble life on the banks of the Sangamon, and with visions of old Salem and its rustic store came youth, whose ashes had rested for many long years under the wild flowers and brambles of the old rural burying ground, but whose spirit then, perhaps, guided him to the side of mercy. Then wiping his eyes, he advanced quickly to the desk, wrote a brief note. which he handed to the lady, and informed her that it was the pardon she sought.

There is a reversal of taste in favor of good linen, plain glass, good flowers and a general practical simplicity of service in every detail. Glass bowls with a few well-selected flowers are even supplanting the silver ones, but the latter are often of such real beauty and lend to the table such distinction that it will be difficult to supplant them entirely. Odd little novelties for the table have crept in recently. One of the newest is small cruet frames for each guest, and these cruets contain nothing but pepper of different kinds. Cayenne, Nepaul, Aji (from Peru) Hungarian, paprika and Chile powder are used so that each guest may flavor his food to his taste. RESULTS OF FOOD. Health and Natural Conditions Come From Right Feeding.

Man, physically, should be like a perfectly regulated machine, each part working easily in its appropriate place. A slight derangement causes undue friction and wear, and frequently ruins the entire system.

A well-known educator of Boston found a way to keep the brain and the body in that harmonious co-operation which makes a joy of living.

"Two years ago," she writes, "being in a condition of nervous exhaustion, I resigned my position as teacher, which I had held for over 40 years. Since then the entire rest has, of course, been a benefit, but the use of Grape-Nuts has removed one great cause of illness in the past, namely, constipation, and its attendant evils.

"I generally make my entire breakfast on a raw egg beaten into four spoonfuls of Grape-Nuts, with a little hot milk or hot water added. Success-Know Talking Points of Your Business.

There is no business that can be carried on successfully without advertising in some form. A lot of people have very peculiar ideas about advertising. It is an art in itself, and the man that has mastered it is on the highway to success, says the Merrill (Kan.) News. Some people imagine that all that is needed when they have anything to sell is just to simply insert an ad in the paper and that is all that is necessary. This is a very wrong impression. First the advertiser must be familiar with what he is advertising just as the book agent or insurance agent know all the talking points about their business. The advertiser must know what he has and advertise it so. No advertiser can afford to advertise that which he does not have or cannot do and expect to succeed. The man that reads the ad must be taught to expect the article to be just as he finds it described. Another thing that is very necessary in successful advertising is letting the public know what you have and the quality. People nowadays are looking for quality. No man with the quality of goods the people want need be afraid of advertising too much. A business that will not admit of advertising and make the investor money is not the right kind of an investment and should be disposed of at once. The farm was established about ten years ago on a comparatively small scale; but the venture proved so profitable that the owner developed the business along lines such as have marked the growth of other great modern industries, until he claims to now have more than 100,000 fully grown pigeons in his establishment, not to mention tens of thousands of squabs. One of the largest benefactions that tensively exploited in the magazine field) has made in a lump sum was the $500,000 he gave to put the New York Trade schools on a permanent basis. I had the good fortune of first announcing that this gift had been be unwilling to follow your advice, made. How it came to be made is still, it seems to me that if you were here told for the first time.

A committee of philanthropic women decided to see what they could do to secure a sufficient endowment for before the option expires I could pay the trade schools, and they determined upon the plan of personally urging the cause of the schools to the city's wealthiest men. To this end, they made their initial call upon Mr. Morgan.

He received them courteously and listened patiently to what they had to say. Then he inquired: "How much do you think I ought to give?"

"Well," replied a member of the committee, "We thought we would leave that to your own judgment, but," she added naively, "we had $25,-000 in mind."

For a few moments Mr. Morgan looked thoughtfully before him, seemingly debating whether he should take the hint and give $25,000 or something less. Finally, he turned to the member of the committee who had replied to him, and addressed her in short, sharp, business-like tone:

"How much would be needed to endow and equip the schools thorougly ?"

"Five hundred thousand dollars," said the committeewoman. "Well, I'll give you the money," came the instant answer. "You needn't go elsewhere."

When George W. Perkins (not then of the Morgan firm and only slightly acquainted with his present chief) formed, with others, the association that eventually attained its object of saving the Palisades of the Hudson from destruction, he called upon the men who were blasting them away and got them to agree to sell their quarry rights to his association for the sum of $135,000. He obtained an option of three months on the property and then set out to raise the money

"What is the whole amount you need?" asked Mr. Morgan.

Escaping From Her Captors After a Struggle, She Takes Refuge in the by Priest.

New York .- Scores of detectives started out early Tuesday in search of the headquarters of an Italian gang who are believed to have tried to abduct an eleven-year-old girl who, as her story goes, escaped from her kidnapers by secreting herself behind the curtains of the confessional in a Brooklyn Catholic church.

The girl, Marie Coleman, is the daughter of a well-to-do Brooklyn manufacturer. She was found in one of the confessional boxes of St. Michael's church shortly after midnight Tuesday by the pastor, Father William McGuirl.

Between sobs the girl told the priest that she had hidden in the confessional at six o'clock in the evening after having run away from two men who had tried to kidnap her and that she had not dared to come out of her place of refuge.

After Father McGuirl had quieted the child she told a clear story of how, when she had come out of school, a man had lured her to a distant section by telling her that her mother was ill. Subsequently this man had been joined by another.

The men stopped at a yellow house, but Marie became suspicious. She ran screaming down the street, and although the pair caught her and started back with her, she struggled loose again and ran several blocks to the church. She dodged in through the open door and hid in the darkened interior.

At ten o'clock Father McGuirl entered the church alone to pray. Durwent into the church.

MISSOURI'S CAPITOL IS TOTALLY

DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Lightning which struck the cupola of the dome spread the flames to the roof of the house of representatives on the north side of the structure, and in less than a half-hour it was apparent that the entire building was doomed.

Because of the inadequacy of the water pressure the fire could not be reached, and no aid could be rendered for some time by the local fire company.

Governor Hadley personally directed the fight against the flames, which, because of the age of the building, rapidly gained headway.

The local National Guard company was called out and formed a cordon around the building, driving spectators from dangerous positions and removing records from the different state departments.

The records of the house of representatives were destroyed while those of the senate were saved. In the state treasurer's office more than $20,-000 is in the time vault, supposedly fireproof, and may be saved when the debris is cleared away.

The historic capitol was erected in 1838 at a cost of $350,000 and in 1887 remodeled at a cost of $25,000.

YIELDS OF WHEAT AS HIGH AS 54 BUSHELS PER ACRE.

Now that we have entered upon the making of a new year, it is natural to look back over the past one, for the purpose of ascertaining what has been done. The business man and the farmer have taken stock, and both, if they are keen in business detail and interest, know exactly their financial position. The farmer of Western Canada is generally a business man, and in his stock-taking he will have found that he has had a successful year. On looking over a number of reports sent from various quarters, the writer finds that in spite of the visitation of drouth in a small portion of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, many farmers are able to report splendid crops. And these reports come from different sections, covering an area of about 25,000 square miles. As, for instance, at Laird, Saskatchewan, the crop returns showed that J. B. Peters had 12,800 bushels from 320 acres, or nearly 40 bushels to the acre. In the Blaine Lake district the fields ranged from on a town lot at Charleroi. Chicago .- The daring $3,000 robbery of Rector's restaurant, 122 Monroe street, early Sunday morning, which baffled the police for many hours, was the result of a plot, cleverly concocted and as cleverly executed by one of the waiters employed in the restaurant.

This solution of the mysterious robbery was made Tuesday in the arrest and confession of Roy Saisline, the assistant head waiter, who bared the plot after an accomplice, Charles Willard, formerly of Benton Harbor, Mich., had been taken into custody.

As a result of his confession the following were placed under arrest in connection with the robbery: Roy Saisline, thirty-two years old; Charles Williard, forty-seven years old; Harry Anderson, alias Casey, a bartender.

later to be given subordinate positions in the service abroad with the understanding that if they show their worth they can secure promotion.

Direct Appointments Obnoxious. As the law stands the president can still appoint consuls directly, and occasionally he does it under pressure, but he does not like to do it and has said so on many occasions. When a man is given a consular position of importance directly by the president, the young men who have worked hard and have passed examinations get discouraged because they had every right to expect that one of their number would be promoted to the vacant position. It is probable that within a few years direct consular and consular agent appointments no longer will be made, but merit alone will rule throughout the entire service.

An old Pennsylvania German living in the mountains had a hard three hours' dusty walk to accomplish one morning and he rose very early to make his start. Washington .--- Uncle Sam's mail

It seems probable that N. P. Bryan will be the new United States senator from the state of Florida. Mr. Bryan is a brother of a former United States senator from Florida, who died in office, William Bryan. When the brother took the oath of office he was the youngest man in the senate chamber, a fine looking, alert man whose physical strength seemed able to resist an attack of any disease, and yet within a few short weeks of his appearance on the floor of the senate death claimed him.

The elder senators took with extraordinary kindness to their young colleague. His was an appealing personality, and notwithstanding the short time which he served and the consequent shortness of his acquaintance with his colleagues, his death came to them as a shock. Many an aged senator, knowing that his time of world's service was rapidly drawing to a close, must have looked at young Bryan with something like envy, and yet his death was the first which occurred among the senate membership during the long session of the year in which the young man

Consular Bill Likely to Pass.

A bill for the reorganization of the consular service of the United States has been approved by Secretary Knox and is likely to pass the house at the present session. When the administration has its way the consular service will be lifted entirely out of politics, and it may be that senators and representatives, although they have looked to the service for places for political favorites, will hail the day when civil service rules in the foreign offices of the government.

When Senator Root was secretary of state he established certain regulations to provide for merit promotion in the consular service. He could not give the force of law to his regulations, but President Roosevelt backed them up by an executive order which gave them additional standing and authority.

When Secretary Knox came into office he extended the civil service regulations of his predecessor and secured from President Taft another ex- ing up to this time a recognition of ecutive order to help him enforce his his services by a statue in the caprules. It was General George B. Meade who was in command of the Federal army at the battle of Gettysburg. He won the three days' battle, one which marked the turning of the tide of the civil war in favor of the North. It always has been remarked upon as curious that no memorial of General Meade is to be found in the national capital, where nearly all the other officers of high rank and achievement have their services recognized by statues. In fact, there are statues in Washington of some army officers whose deeds almost have been forgotten, but a memorial to Meade is not in evidence.

Reason for Past Neglect.

There is reason for past neglect to honor the commander of the Army of the Potomac-for Meade bore that title from the date of the battle of Gettysburg up to the very close of the war, although of course General Grant was in chief command of the armies which pressed on to Richmond. A great many military authorities hold that Meade ought to have followed up his Gettysburg victory by the pursuit of General Lee. It has been held that he could have crushed Lee's army if he had made a vigorous pursuit and successive assaults.

There are other military authorities who say that Meade knew what he was doing, and that the circumstances of the case did not admit of a rapid and effective following of General Lee's retreating army. It makes little difference on which side of the controversy merit lies. The fact remains that the supposed inactivity of Meade after the battle of Gettysburg largely has been a factor in prevent-

THE PAPERS, ETC.,

"Mayor Hammel presented to the city council certain papers, etc., in regard to the misunderstanding that had come between Supt. Haberman and his assistant electrician in regard to the assistant's salary, which were read and discussed."

"Resolved that the communication with the affidavits be referred to the water board tor investigation"-Official proceedings of the city council, Monday, February 6.

To the Citizens of Gladstone:

For some unknown reason, the papers, etc., presented by me to the council at our last meeting, are described in the official proceedings, as above, in a manner not calculated to enlighten the taxpayer as to their nature. As I believe them important to every property owner, I give them to you herewith word for word. I ask you to read and judge for yourself as to the merits of the testimony, and as to whether or not it is a matter to be entirely ignored by your city council and water board.

W. F. Hammel, being duly sworn deposes and says the following:-

That during the first week in January I was informed that Herman Habermann, the present superintendent of the Gladstone Electric Light & Water Plant, hired John Mollengree as his assistant at a salary of $55.00 per month and that Habermann was keeping $10.00 per month for showing Mollengree the work.

That I met said John Mollengree at the store of Maclaurin & Needham, who were also present at the meeting, on Thursday afternoon January 26 1911. That I asked John Mollengree at that time if he was again working for Maclaurin & Needham, and he told me that he was still working for the city.

That I asked him at that time how he told me that he was getting $55.00 month out of his monthly salary for poses and says as follows:per month, I then asked him why it was teaching him such work as he, That John Mollengree told me right

The caterpillars crawl, but he Passed them in rich disdain. My pretty boy says, "Let him be Only a worm again." O CHILD, when things have learned to wear Wings once they must be fain To keep them always high and fair. Think of the creeping pain Which even a butterfly must bear To be a worm again! —Sarah M. B. Platt. SONG. OME, let us go to the land Where the violets grow! Let's go thither hand in hand, Over the waters, over the snow. To the land where the sweet, sweet vio- lets blow. MHERE in the beautiful south, Where the sweet flowers lie, Thou shalt sing with thy sweeter mouth Under the light of the evening sky That love never fades, though violets die. —Barry Cornwall. HOME SKIES. FOR years, an exile fortune tossed, I mourned my native skies, long lost You came, and in your azure eves	YOU at any time during the month and to show you the finest assortment of domestic and foreign liquors to be seen in Delta county. I have just re- ceived a consignment of extra choice goods from various parts of Europe which I want you to sample. Don't forget the time and place.	<text><text><text><text></text></text></text></text> been paying Lawrence Kanney $50.00 a month until he learned the business, and that he (Kanney) had only lately been receiving $55.00 a month, that if Mollengree could do the work as well as Kanney, he would then pay him the whole $55.00 per month. That I then asked Mollengree if his sworn affidavit was true or untrue, and he replied that he understood the agreement as he had sworn to, but that Herman Habermann says that was not the way he meant it. That I then told both Habermann and Mollengree that that they could not make a monkey of me in this matter, and that if necessary the law was such that I could have them both arrested. W. F. HAMMEL.
