

LYNN B. COLEMAN J. H. KLINE

Coleman, Utah Man, LS&I Head; Kline Chairman Of Board

Two changes involving the top offices of the Lake Superior & Ishpeming Railroad Co. here were announced today by the railroad's board of directors.

J. H. Kline, president and general manager of the LS&I, was elected chairman of the board and Lynn B. Coleman, now with the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Co., and a native of Utah, was elected president, general manager and chief executive officer of the railroad.

The changes are effective April 1. Kline, 62, has been in the railroad business over four decades. Coleman, 47, began railroading in the mid-'30s.

The LS&I is one of Marquette's principal employers. During the peak season, the railroad employs over 400 persons, averaging 343 for the year. The majority of them are employed in Marquette.

Others are employed at other points along the line, such as Ishpeming, Negaunee, Republic, Munising, Gwinn, Chatham, etc.

Here In 1948

Kline was born June 21, 1901, in Beaver, Iowa. He attended Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa, and entered the railroad service as a laborer on the Chicago & North Western Railroad Co. in 1921.

Kline became an officer of the C&NW in 1940 and came to Marquette with the LS&I in 1948. In 1950 he was elected vice president of the LS&I and in 1952 he was chosen president and general manager, positions he will hold until the changeover April 1.

Kline has taken an active part in civic affairs here and is a director of the Union National Bank and of the LS&I. He also is a director of the Bay Cliff Health Camp, Big Bay, and is a member of the board of trustees of St. Luke's Hospital here.

In Rotary, Shrine

He is a member of the Rotary Club, the First Presbyterian Church and of Ahmed Shrine Temple.

He and his wife, Isabel, reside at 422 E. Michigan St.

Coleman was born July 21, 1915, in Fairview, Utah, and attended Wasatch Academy, Mt. Pleasant, Utah, and the University of Utah, Salt Lake City.

Career Traced

In 1932 he was a salesman for Sinclair Oil Co. in Salt Lake City. Two years later he became a trucker for the Utah Wholesale Grocery Co. of Salt Lake.

In 1935 Coleman began railroading, starting as a laborer and becoming an engine watchman, locomotive-fireman, engineer, hostler foreman, assistant trainmaster, road foreman of equipment, assistant superintendent and superintendent of the Alamosa and Pueblo Division and of the Grand Junction Division of the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad Co.

Coleman became assistant to the president of the Delaware, Lakawanna and Western Railroad Co. in 1956; later being named assistant general manager, transportation and mechanical department, and general manager in 1958.

He was assistant vice president-operations, of the Erie and Lakawanna Railroad Co. from 1960 to 1962, when he was named to his present post of chief administrative officer of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Co.

Coleman is a member of the Free and Accepted Masons, Shrine, Railroad Club of New York, Engineering Society of Buffalo, Locomotive Maintenance Officers Association and the American Association of Railroad Superintendents Association.

Activities Listed

He has served as a trustee for the Lakawanna and Wyoming Valley Railroad Co. (1958-59); vice president and director, Lakawanna-Wyoming (1959-60); president and director, Moses Taylor Hospital (1958-60); director, Hospital Council of Lakawanna County (1958-60); chairman of the contract committee, Lakawanna United Fund, Scranton, Pa. (1958-59) and director, Brighton Marine (1958-60), and New England Council.

He is presently residing in Madison, Conn., with his wife, Beulah, and four children, Marylynn, Jeanne, Steven and Barbara Ann. Built In 1896

From a railroad known in 1854 as the "Plank Road," consisting of four-wheel cars of three-ton capacity, pulled by mules, emerged the Lake Superior & Ishpeming Railroad Co., built in 1896. Today the trip from the Marquette Range iron mines is made with double diesel units, pulling 110 cars, which average approximately 60 tons per car.

The railroad derives its principal revenues from the transportation of ore from the iron mines, but it also serves other industries and timber operations in the Upper Peninsula. It is classified by the Interstate Commerce Commission as a Class I railroad.

First shipment of iron ore was made over the LS&I in August 1896, and total shipments that year were 290,000 tons. Last year total shipments over the Marquette dock in the upper harbor alone were 3,588,036 tons. The main line consists of 160 miles.

Connects With Four Others

The LS&I connects with four other railroads at seven interchange points that permits it to reach industries located on other

Soo's ritualistic team paid a visit to the Marquette Lodge on Jan. 12 and 13, initiating a class of new candidates into the Marquette Elks Lodge.

Included on the trip to the Soo are 17 couples from Marquette who will compete with 17 members from the Soo Elks Lodge and their ladies in a mixed doubles bowling event.

Marquette Elks officers making the trip are Leo Enright, exalted knight; Joseph Fountain, leading knight; Russell Chrest, loyal knight; James DeMarinis, lecturing knight; Jack Meyers, esquire; Richard Flanigan, inner guard; Richard Handrahan, chaplain, and Carl Hokenson, tyler.

railroads at those interchange points. Commodities originating on the LS&I are shipped everywhere in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Substantial Tonnage Carried

Although the LS&I mileage is not large, compared with other Class I railroads of the entire country, its growth and volume of tonnage transported is substantial.

It ranks fifth in iron ore transported, compared with the 18 ore docks and one belt loading facility in the Lake Superior District. Its facilities are kept modern, so that business is handled with economy and dispatch.

High school seniors will visit Northern Michigan College on Saturday, Feb. 16, when Northern conducts its 10th annual senior guest day.

College officials expect a large group. Last year 323 students representing 32 schools visited the campus to get a close-up view of college life.

The day-long program this year will begin at 9:30 a. m. and last until 3 p. m. Some schools already have made reservations. NMC officials suggested that reservations be made early to facilitate planning for meals and activities.

Seniors are expected to arrive between 9 and 9:20 a. m. for the first general meeting in Kaye Auditorium at 9:30 a. m.

College counselors will meet with students for a general discussion of college life.

The visitors also will have the opportunity to obtain specific information about subjects and curricula in which they are particularly interested.

The program, designed to help high school seniors become better acquainted with Northern and its various activities, will include visits with academic deans, department heads, and other faculty members.

There ARE Two Sides To Every Question!

The Union Carbide Co. is closing its Sault Ste. Marie plant in October. This is necessary because the main customer and user of its carbide products has perfected a method of processing plastic so it no longer requires carbide products.

The Union Carbide has a turbine power plant next door to its carbide plant in the Soo. This power plant supplies the energy to operate its factory furnaces. This turbine plant is run by water power and is fed by a deep canal dug through the heart of the city of Sault Ste. Marie.

The water to fill this canal must be diverted at the head of the locks. ONLY the U.S. Corps of Engineers has the final authority as to how much and to whom this water shall be given. It would be useless for the Union Carbide company to sell its turbine plant and factory next door UNLESS the buyer was ASSURED of the water rights to run the power plant.

Union Carbide wants to sell its power plant to the Edison Sault Ste. Marie company to ASSURE CONTINUED JOBS IN SAULT STE. MARIE after they have moved. The city commission of Sault Ste. Marie wants Edison Sault Electric to have this power, as they already have inquiries from manufacturing firms.

As per City Manager Moore's presentation in Wednesday's Mining Journal, the group of cooperatives and city-owned utilities — Marquette included — "called by the name of the Northern Michigan Cooperatives of Boyne City propose to take this power from Sault Ste. Marie and distribute it through the western Upper Peninsula and into lower Michigan so we may have a savings on our utility bills (even though Manager Moore says we now have one of the cheapest rates in Michigan). This means a loss of the last industry in the eastern end of the Upper Peninsula and not much possibility of acquiring another one.

The following is reprinted from the Soo Evening News story on the Soo city commission proceedings on February 4.

You Will Find Discrepancies Between the Statement and Figures quoted in Manager Moore's presentation in The Mining Journal and the news account in the Soo Evening News.

Remember it was not written to impress Marquette, it was a factual story of proceedings and not distorted to influence people in a controversial campaign.

Upper Peninsula Power Company

616 Sheldon Avenue
Houghton, Michigan
February 7, 1963.

John H. Warden
President

Honorable Mayor and City Commission,
City of Marquette,
Marquette, Michigan.

Attention: Mr. Thomas Moore,
City Manager

Gentlemen:

At the time we made our proposal of October 4, 1962 to furnish the power requirements for the City of Marquette, the offer was made in good faith with a firm belief that such purchase would make a substantial saving to the City in the cost of its power supply. We are still of this opinion and, in making this proposal, we did not have any idea of taking over the electrical department of the City of Marquette, but, on the contrary, we felt that by making available to the City an interconnection with our system and at the same time lowering their power costs, we would, in effect, strengthen the City's Light and Power Department.

The discord and emotionalism which have occurred as a result of the attempt to give the people a chance to vote on the bond issue are certainly not to the best interest of the Company, the City or anyone else concerned, and, based upon this feeling, the Company wishes to withdraw its proposal of October 4, 1962.

At any time in the future that the City wishes to purchase energy from the Company we are sure that we can arrive at a mutually satisfactory arrangement.

Yours very truly,

J. H. Warden

Community concern over the status of the proposed transfer of the water power rights from Carbide Power Co. to Edison Sault Electric Co. was discussed by the City Commission Monday night.

There were two reports of possible industrial prospects watching the developments at Sault Ste. Marie. One was from City Manager W. M. Cotton, who said several prospects are looking at the possibilities at Sault Ste. Marie and are waiting to see what the Corps of Engineers decision will be on the requested transfer of water rights. This is one reason why a prompt decision is desirable, Mgr. Cotton said.

The second was from Roy Ranson, Sault resident who works in the general field of minerals. Ranson told of a preliminary inquiry he received from a British-Canadian metallurgy group with American affiliations in metal processing which would be "of vast interest in this area." Ranson said, "Everything we have here hinges on the availability of the power."

Ranson said the amount of power available at the Sault is "relatively small" and from an engineering standpoint, the Edison Sault should have it. Exporting the power the distances proposed by a group of electrical co-operatives and municipal utilities would not make sense to anyone except to co-operative that can borrow federal funds at two per cent interest for their capital, Ranson said.

Cotton stressed some points that are involved in the question. One is that the Edison Sault Electric Co. serves four counties in the eastern Upper Peninsula, either itself or through the Cloverland Electric Co-operative.

His second point is that the question before the Corps of Engineers, with eventual decision by the secretary of the Army, is whether or not it approves assignment of the water rights from Carbide Power Co. to Edison Sault. Carbide Power has a specific contract with the Corps of Engineers until 1980; the contract is not up for sale to anyone who wants it, and nobody else can come in and take over the contract, Mgr. Cotton declared. Both the Corps of Engineers and the Carbide Power Co. are committed by its terms until 1980 and the only issue at stake is whether or not the Corps of Engineers approves assignment of these rights to Edison.

A group of northern Lower Peninsula and Upper Peninsula co-operatives and municipally-owned utilities is seeking to acquire the water rights through Intervention in the case.

Mgr. Cotton said he has been keeping in close touch with the situation since its development and the December trip to Washington of a four-member city delegation to confer with the Corps of Engineers and several persons involved in the question. Official city support for the Edison position was presented at that time.

A "status report" on the situation was presented to the commission in the form of a letter from W. George Larke, president of Edison Sault.

Larke's letter told how the city has received copies of all correspondence between Edison and the various government agencies since the city representatives' meeting with the Corps of Engineers in Washington Dec. 5, and how correspondence since that time has stressed the essence of the question is approval or disapproval of the transfer of the water rights from Carbide Power to Edison Sault.

Larke's letter referred to several news stories that have appeared on the power question. He declined comment on press reports of the proposal to the Corps of Engineers by Northern Michigan Electric Co-operative of Boyne City, in whose name the plan for wide distribution of the power was made. " . . . we have not had the opportunity of reviewing their proposal, other than what we have read in the press . . ." Larke said. "However, some of the statements attributed to the Northern Michigan Co-operative would indicate that we are in a power surplus area. Nothing could be further from the truth," Larke declared.

"In the event the assignment is approved by the secretary of Army and after we have concluded our purchase and converted the Carbide Power plant, it will still be necessary for us to generate additional power by diesel and continue to import power into the eastern area of the Upper Peninsula to meet our system demands. The distinct advantage of the acquisition of the Carbide Power plant by the Edison Sault Electric Co. will be to put us in a better position to attract industry to our area. The utilization of the power from the new generating facility, coupled with the power available to our company from other utilities, would place us in a much improved position for industrial development of this area," Larke wrote.

Larke also took issue with settlements about Edison's relationship to the power from the existing federal hydro facilities in the Sault Rapids. The Edison purchases the entire output, he said, but with specific provision that the federal facilities in the area must be supplied from the power source "at the price the government charges our company."

"In 1963, the allocation to U. S. government agencies, who are classified as preference customers, will absorb a minimum of 68 per cent of the firm capacity of this plant. The remaining 32 per cent is allocated to Cloverland Electric Co-operative and Edison Sault Electric Co. to satisfy customer demands in a four-county area," Larke's letter stated.

In the discussion Monday night, Mgr. Cotton said any references to available power must take into account the "demand load," the peak that must be available when needed, and not the potential available over a stated period. "You don't sell 100 per cent of capacity all the time," he declared.

Commissioner John O. Harrington asked Mgr. Cotton if there was anything further the city should do at this point; Cotton said this is under consideration now but the direction of further action will depend on circumstances and the status of the decision involved. The delay in a decision on water rights, he said, is leaving the community, Carbide Power, and the people employed there "in a terrific jam."

Commissioner William J. James said the City Commission has told the Edison Sault it is ready, willing and able to take any action necessary in support of the position. James also outlined factors which reduce the potential such as the federal requirements of a "hold back" of 5,000 kilovolts for emergency federal use.

He said he did have opportunity to present further material on the problem to Congressman Neil Staebler, Harold Beaton of Sen. Patrick V. McNamara's staff, and representatives of Sen. Philip A. Hart during last weekend's Democratic convention in Grand Rapids. James said he pointed out the need for a decision so alternative methods can be sought if necessary "to work this thing out." He also told of making preliminary arrangements for further meetings in Washington if necessary.

Not only the economic effects, but the effects on city and county government, schools, and the possibility that the city could be left "with a ditch" (the power canal) were also stressed in the discussion.

Ranson, in one of his closing remarks, mentioned "the tremendous political pressure, the co-operatives can exert in their own behalf, plus the availability of federal funds to them at two per cent interest for their capital."

Her floor length gown of satin brocade was fashioned with a princess-style bodice featuring a neckline trimmed with pearls and long sleeves tapering to a point at the wrists, and a bouffant skirt with full train, adorned in the back with a large bow and two roses. Her bouffant fingertip veil was secured to a cluster of rose petals and lilies of the valley and she carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids.

Miss Kathleen K. Kolar, sister of the groom, was maid of honor and Miss Joy Holman, Negaunee, and Miss Luanne Ruona, Pelkie, were the bridesmaids. Beth Purdy, Negaunee, was flower girl and Marvin Laurila was ring bearer. Rodney Parkkonen, nephew of the bride, and Steven Haight served as acolytes.

Cousin Best Man

William E. Parmenter, Detroit, cousin of the groom, was best man and groomsmen were David R. Adriaens and Arthur Adriaens, Detroit. Elden and Neilan Parkkonen, the bride's brothers, seated the guests.

The bridal aides wore identical gold-colored waltz-length gowns of satin brocade, fashioned with scoop necklines and three-quarter sleeves, with fitted bodices and full skirts. They wore pillbox hats to match. The flower girl's dress was fashioned like theirs and she wore a band with a large bow in her hair. All four carried colonial bouquets of white carnations interspersed with yellow roses with a white candle in the center.

Mrs. Parkkonen attended her daughter's wedding wearing a beige silk dress with a matching jacket, and Mrs. Kolar wore a rose silk sheath with a matching rose silk jacket. Each had a corsage of white roses.

Health Camp Benefit Tea Tomorrow

Plans have been completed by members of the Altrusa Club for their Valentine tea tomorrow afternoon for the benefit of Bay Cliff Health Camp.

The tea, to be held at the home of Sybil Guiland, 429 E. Ohio St., is for the public. Serving will be from 3 to 5.

During the afternoon, Thelma Johnson of Smartwear will show several spring hats. At Tuesday evening's dinner meeting, held in the Northern Michigan College Student Center, the Altrusans saw films of Bay Cliff, shown by John Vargo, executive director of the health camp, and heard about plans for the camp's operation this summer.

Vargo said that it is planned to accommodate 170 handicapped children for the six-week campaign period this year. Also speaking at the meeting was Arthur Weber, office manager of the Brebner Machinery Co., who outlined plans for the construction at Bay Cliff of a new heated swimming pool. The pool will serve a dual purpose, he said, serving as a fire protection measure as well as for therapeutic treatment of children at the camp.

The Altrusa Club has, since its organization, had several fund raising activities for Bay Cliff Health Camp, which it has "adopted" as its community service project.

Jaycees Name Taylor 'MC' For 'Koral Kapers' Feb. 16

NEGAUNEE — Jack Taylor, Negaunee High School physical education director and local business man, will serve as master of ceremonies for the vocal music production, "Koral Kapers," which will be presented Saturday night, Feb. 16, in the Ishpeming High School auditorium.

Sponsored by the Ishpeming-Negaunee Junior Chamber of Commerce, the production is being staged to raise funds for Bay Cliff Health Camp. Appearing on the program will be five well-known vocal units from the Twin Cities — the Ishpeming Barbershoppers, Ishpeming Choral Club, the Choraleers, Negaunee Women's Choral Club and Negaunee Male Chorus.

Taylor, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, where he also obtained his master's degree, came to Negaunee in 1956 from Menasha, Wis., where he was assistant football and basketball coach at Menasha High. He previously was head football and basketball coach for four years at Niagara High School. His first team at Negaunee won the state Class B championship in 1957, when he was selected by the Upper Peninsula Sports Writers Association as "Coach of the Year."

At Negaunee, Taylor has been active in fraternal and civic organizations. He is chairman of the Negaunee Elks Lodge Scholarship committee and a member of the Business and Professional Association, currently serving as president of the NBPA. In addition to his duties as physical education director and head basketball coach, Taylor during the summer vacation months operates business establishments in Negaunee and Marquette.

2 Obsolete Power Lines Taken Down

NEGAUNEE — Removal of two obsolete lines, installation of a new one, and routine tasks kept personnel in the municipal electric utility busy during January, according to the monthly department activities report filed yesterday by Supt. William Kokko with City Manager Leonard Harris.

Utility crews removed two obsolete and hazardous spans of lines which formerly served the west end of the Iron Street business district. Two new poles were erected, a transformer installed, and lines extended to serve residents on the north end of Baldwin Ave. A new pole was set up in Buffalo Location and a temporary three-phase line was strung to service a customer on U. S. 41.

Dear Abby . . .

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Today my daughter has a long face because I refused to buy her a formal. She is 11 years old and in the sixth grade. A girl used to get her first formal for the senior prom when she was 17. Today they have proms for children in the sixth grade. I hate to see my daughter miss out on the fun with her friends, but we are a medium income family and can't afford formals and all the accessories for 11-year-olds. What is your opinion,

ABBY:
AVERAGE MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: I'm told that the added expenses of extra-curricular events in the modern high school are becoming psychologically tough on have-not kids. So now it's "formals" in the sixth grade? I'm against 'em!

DEAR ABBY: I have a sick-in-the-head husband and his jealousy is driving me out of my mind. I am not allowed to speak to any man in our neighborhood or to any other man. Even relatives! If I even look at them he accuses me of all kinds of dirty things. I have never given him any reason to doubt me. I can't just pitch him because we have children. He tells me he is not sick in the head, but what else would you call it? What am I going to do? Now I am getting jealous. Jealous of women who have sane husbands.

JEALOUS
DEAR JEALOUS: If your husband had a toothache, you would get him to a dentist by hook or crook, wouldn't you? Well, there are doctors who take care of "sick-in-the-head" people, too. What are you waiting for?

DEAR ABBY: I am a single woman of 28 who has never been married. I live alone and support myself. I recently met a very handsome man who fell for me fast. He talked of "our future together" and I thought I had finally found my man. I was completely blown over last night when he asked me for a loan of $500. He's a salesman and told me how well he was doing. I asked him if he'd sign a note for it and he said if he had wanted to sign a note he could have gone to a bank. Now I have my doubts about him. Half of us wants to continue seeing him and half of me tells me to quit him.

SHATTERED
DEAR SHATTERED: Better to be temporarily "shattered" than permanently broke. Listen to the half with the brains in it. Romeo who mix moonlight and marriage are a poor risk.

CONFIDENTIAL TO TED:

People are governed by the head. A kind heart is of little value in chess.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3363, Beverly Hills, Calif. (McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

CONFEDERACY'S WHITE HOUSE
 The old Brockenbrough mansion in Richmond, Va., was known as the "White House of the Confederacy." It was bought for the use of Jefferson Davis and his family during the Civil War.

Childhood Sweethearts Finally Wed

WARWICK, R.I. (AP) — At the city clerk's office, Wilbur Curtis and Clara Eush asked for a marriage license.

They said they had been running around together as kids, back in 1893, and now they wanted to get married.

The childhood sweethearts were parted when she was 17 and her family moved to Michigan. He is now 87, and she 85.

Clara married and had two children. Her husband died 20 years ago. Curtis' wife died in 1961.

Last September, with the old Rhode Island courtship in abeyance for 70 years, he went out to Michigan and inquired around for Clara. The reunion took place at Keego Harbor.

Curtis returned home to Warwick, proposed by mail. She accepted, and the wedding takes place Friday.
