

Ordeal Ends For Buried Well Digger

LAKE TOMAHAWK, Wis. (AP)—A well digger buried up to his shoulders in shifting sand since mid-afternoon Wednesday was pulled free early today and appeared to be in good condition.

Raymond ("Fuzzy") Fink, 31, was freed at 5:40 a.m., 14½ hours after he was buried in a cave-in of sand near this northern Wisconsin community.

"I'm okay, Honey; I'm okay, Honey," Fink said as he embraced his wife who had kept a night-long vigil.

"Pretty Darned Tough" Fink walked away from the pit with just slight help. He was taken to Lakeland Memorial Hospital in nearby Woodruff despite protests that he was all right.

Dr. Charles H. Flint said at the hospital, "We'll keep him here to make some checks and take X-rays, but his heart and lungs are fine. He's pretty darned tough."

Dr. Flint was present when Fink was pulled from the ground. "I think they brought him up through the hole he had been caught in," the doctor said.

Another source said Fink was pulled straight up after rescuers had dug a tunnel from his side.

A cheer went up from the rescue crew as he was drawn free.

Fink rejected an offer of a stretcher and other help.

"I Feel Fine" "I feel fine. I can walk. I can make it on my own," he said.

After embracing his wife, Bernice, he walked to a station wagon for the trip to the hospital.

The fight to free Fink had been made in a tiny forest clearing turned into a shadowy amphitheater by the floodlight that illuminated police officers, prison camp inmates and others who worked side-by-side through the night.

"I've been in tougher spots," said Fink, who was trapped about 20 feet below ground level.

Sidewalls collapsed unexpectedly, burying him completely until his brother, Lawrence, exposed his head by frantic hand digging.

Fink was given the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church by the Rev. Jerome Franconi at nightfall. The priest maintained his vigil at the side of the pit was dug away from Fink's head.

Venezuelans Seek Hijacked Vessel

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Venezuelan destroyers searched the Caribbean today for a freighter hijacked by Communist opponents of President Romulo Betancourt with the aid of an unidentified warship.

The captain of the 3,127-ton Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui confirmed in a radio message to the government shipping company that a warship intercepted his ship en route to New Orleans, La., and a guerrilla band took it over.

The government did not identify the nationality of the intercepting warship, but it was suspected here that it was Cuban.

JFK Offers Program To Aid Nation's Youth

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy wrapped together in a single unprecedented package today all his proposals to aid the nation's youth. He sent it to Congress with the word that "our youth deserve and require a better chance."

"We must afford them every opportunity to develop and use their talents," Kennedy said. "If we serve them better now, they will serve their nation better when the burdens are theirs alone."

Accordingly, Kennedy asked Congress for legislation and financing on a broad scale.

He bid for a "Youth Conservation Corps" to work in parks and forests. He urged creation of a sort of home youth corps. He called again for a domestic peace corps.

It would be named the National Service Corps. He asked that the existing Peace Corps overseas be expanded by nearly one-half.

And the President emphasized need for action on juvenile delinquency, family welfare, education and health and physical fitness.

The total price tag for all the projects is obscure, even though Kennedy has recommended all of them before in general if not specific terms.

Gals Hike To Prove They're Not Softies

WASHINGTON (AP)—The congressional secretaries who pleaded miles from dawn to dusk to prove there's some physical fitness in Capitol Hill say they would do it again.

"Who knows—I might make 30 the next time," said Mary McCasie, 20, Washington, a secretary to Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher, D-N.J.

Mary and Maria Jania, Detroit, secretary to Rep. Lucien N. Nedzi, D-Mich., hiked 27 miles Wednesday, dropping out at an early dusk—about 4 p.m.

But five others kept walking, walking and walking—until 6:15 p.m. They made 32 miles in a little less than 12 hours.

"Happy, Proud" "We're happy, we're proud, and we feel great," said Shira Green, 25, New York, secretary to Rep. Charles S. Joeson, D-N.J.

But they weren't dancing any jigs. And they all admitted they had in mind home and a hot bath. Nobody was complaining of blisters. The only casualty was a cut foot for Jackie McDonald, 23, of St. Louis, secretary to Rep. Richard Ichord, D-Mo. She stepped on some broken glass, which pierced the sole of her boot. But that didn't deter her.

Historic Trail President Kennedy had suggested last week that some Marines see if they could hike the magnum number—50 miles—mentioned in

Bad Weather Blamed For Plane Crash

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Blustery Florida weather got the tentative blame today for a Northwest Orient Airlines jetliner's plunge into the Everglades with loss of 43 lives.

A federal investigator who would not be quoted by name said the plane apparently "broke apart in a thunderstorm. It just wrenched apart."

Rain and gusty winds ruffled Florida Tuesday, the day of the crash unroofing some dwellings and prompting tornado warnings in north and central portions of the state.

The Civil Aeronautics Board sent investigators to the marshy scene of the four-engine Boeing 720's tragic plunge, nine miles from the nearest road, but said its findings would not be made public for several days.

The CAB and other investigative agencies apparently were not prepared to say the airplane blew apart in flight. But officers who examined the crash scene said bodies and other substantial debris of the crash were scattered within a radius of more than 200 yards of the shattered aircraft, and made dents of one foot or more in the spongy, yielding ground surface of the swampy region. This indicated some of the occupants and baggage of the plane reached the earth in a "free fall" outside the stricken airliner's fuselage.

Black Box Investigators attracted prime significance to a charred but substantially undamaged black box, containing in effect the story of the plane's life after its Miami takeoff into rain squalls Tuesday afternoon.

The box contained devices which automatically recorded the plane's altitude, speed and drift for the brief interval in which it was airborne.

Iraqi Battle Red Holdouts In Baghdad

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—Forces of Iraq's new revolutionary regime battled Communist holdouts in the streets of Baghdad through the night.

Rifles, machine guns and, occasionally, heavier tank weapons were heard in the center of the city from about 9:30 p.m. until 5:30 a.m.

It was the heaviest during in the Iraqi capital since Saturday night, the second night of the revolution.

Bargained For Mercy Urged by clandestine Red radios to stage an armed uprising against the new anti-Communist regime, Iraqi Reds have held out in pockets in heavily populated sections of Baghdad. Troops and civilians have been moving in systematically to clean out the pockets.

Just before the fighting started, Iraq's new president, Abdel Salam Aref, told a news conference that Kassem tried to bargain with him for mercy a few hours before his downfall.

Will Honor Agreements Foreign Minister Dalib Hussein Shabbib told another news conference Wednesday the new military regime will honor all international agreements, including those with foreign oil companies, and welcomes investments from abroad.

President Aref said Kassem managed to reach him by telephone Friday night after the day-long siege of the defense ministry where the premier was dug in.

"He tried to bargain for time, to use our old friendship to plead for mercy—but it was merely a trick," said Aref, 42, Kassem's partner in the 1958 revolution.

'Cowardly Manner' The new president said he talked to Kassem after his capture Saturday and a few moments before his execution and that Kassem behaved in a "cowardly manner."

Clear, Cold In the Southeast, generally clear and cold weather prevailed. Marks were near freezing in Tennessee and near Alabama through South Carolina. Temperatures in North Carolina were mostly in the middle and low 20s.

Coldest weather again was in the northern Midwest with 10 below zero in Grand Forks, N.D., and International Falls, Minn. Along the East Coast readings ranged from the teens in Maine to the 30s in the Southeast.

Snow Flurries Snow flurries continued in the cold air from the upper and middle Mississippi Valley eastward into sections of the Appalachians and in parts of Missouri. Only other wet spots were coastal regions of Southern California and western Washington, which reported light rain.

Temperatures along the Pacific Coast were mostly in the 40s in northern areas and in the 50s in the south.

Warm Car For Jerry

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—Jerry Havenhill eats breakfast with a black box at his elbow. It has switches and signal lights. He flips a switch. It starts the engine of his car, parked outside.

Another switch starts the engine of his wife's car. A few minutes later, Havenhill, 24, flips two more switches and the car heaters go on.

"I didn't like sitting out in the cold and waiting for the engine to warm up and then waiting for the heater to produce heat," Havenhill explains, "so I went to work on this system several months ago."

He is an engineer at an electronics plant.

Syncom Satellite Soars Into Orbit; Radio Contact Lost

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Syncom communications satellite rocketed into orbit today but lost of radio contact with the spacecraft prevented trackers from determining if it had become the world's first satellite to seemingly stand still in space.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Syncom, a new type of space communications station, soared into orbit today and successfully passed two key hurdles toward becoming the world's first satellite to seemingly stand still in space.

Success cannot be completely evaluated until the satellite has performed a number of planned, complex maneuvers, expected to take about two weeks.

If experiments planned for this intended first of a kind synchronous satellite work, the United States will have taken a big stride toward a relatively inexpensive worldwide space communications network requiring only three satellites.

A synchronous satellite is one which appears to hover over one spot on the globe because its speed matches that of the earth's rotation. This can be achieved only at an altitude close to 22,300 miles.

The trusty three-stage Douglas Delta rocket, scoring its 15th straight satellite launching success, blasted off at 12:35 a.m. (Eastern Standard Time) and circled Syncom into a highly elliptical orbit at 22,800 miles an hour.

The mechanical marvel coasted upward for 5 hours and 7 minutes until it reached near the 22,300-mile altitude. Then a small solid fuel rocket was fired by a timing device to change the orbit from elongated to circular at this height.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that the two critical early phases of flight—the launching and the firing of the small rocket—had occurred.

But it said that several hours of tracking would be required to determine how successfully the ignition of the small rocket had been.

The firing occurred high above the equator between Madagascar and the East African Coast. During the long coast period, the satellite's speed had slowed to less than 3,500 miles an hour. The burst of power from its motor was aimed at increasing this to about 6,870 miles, equaling the speed of the earth's rotation.

To make most effective use of ground communications stations, scientists want the satellite to hang like a star over the equator between South America and Africa.

Gas Jets Hydrogen peroxide gas jets, like those U.S. astronauts use to control the attitude of their spacecraft in orbit, were to be fired by ground command to help the satellite drift westward to the desired spot, a maneuver intended to take about two weeks. Once Syncom gets there, the gas jets would keep it there.

Limited communications experiments were scheduled to start about five days after launching. The satellite antenna was not to be properly oriented for continuous testing until the satellite was over the South Atlantic Ocean.

Because of its relatively small size Syncom is not equipped for television transmissions as were the Telstar and Relay communications satellites launched last year. Syncom, an 86-pound package built by Hughes Aircraft Co., is geared for telephone, teletype, writer and radio transmissions, which project officials hope will prove the feasibility of using high altitude synchronous satellites not only for communications, but for weather forecasting and other duties.

Press Strike May Reach L.A., Paris

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The 69-day strike against New York newspapers may be extended to plants of the New York Times in Los Angeles and Paris, France, says the president of the printers union.

Elmer F. Brown, president of the International Typographical Union, AFL-CIO, said the possibility of extending the strike would be considered today when a conference with leaders of two striking locals resumes.

He made the statement after meeting briefly Wednesday with the New York leaders, Bertram A. Fowers of ITU Local 6 and Thomas M. Laura of Malters Union Local 6.

Brown said New York publishers had tried to get other newspapers to print their editions.

"We have tried to isolate the strike to New York City, but in view of the fact that the New York publishers have gone outside to seek allies, we are having to do that also," Brown said.

In New York, Turner Catledge, managing editor of the Times, said, "I know of no such arrangements."

There was no comment from the Publishers Association of New York City.

In Cleveland, Ohio, members of the American Newspaper Guild striking the Cleveland Press & News voted 134 to 92 to accept a proposed two-year contract, provided it is made retroactive to Nov. 1 and provided no union member loses his job. Louis B. Seltzer, editor of the afternoon Press & News, said management would accept the conditions.

Vote Expected Guildsmen on strike against the morning Cleveland Plain Dealer are expected to vote on the management proposal Friday or Saturday.

Gulf States Feel Bite Of Cold Weather

(By the Associated Press) Freezing weather extended into sections of the Gulf states again today as a mass of arctic air held tight across the northern Midwest.

No stormy weather was reported across the country.

Florida felt the chill of the cold air, with temperatures dropping to 28° at Tallahassee, in the northern section, and to mostly in the 40s in southern areas. Miami reported a low of 50 above.

Cold Wave Rips Area; 1° Here, 2 Below Inland

Last winter is remembered as the year of trouble with snow on roofs and this winter will be recalled as the year of the cold weather.

There's no doubt about it — the weather this winter is the coldest ever in the Marquette area in decades.

After a bitter cold wave in the latter part of December and a brutal frigid blast in January, which included the longest (19 days) consecutive period of subzero weather in Marquette's recorded history, the area's residents, optimistically looked forward to somewhat milder weather this month.

But their hopes have been shattered, as another cold wave is upon us. Not only that, the temperature has been below normal every day this month but one (the 6th). Further, it's expected to get much colder tonight.

Meteorologist Fred Mueller, head of the U.S. Weather Bureau Station here, said a cold front from Northern Canada came down through the Northern Plains and passed over the area yesterday afternoon causing the high temperature drop, -8 in Calumet.

It was 25 most of the early part of the afternoon in Marquette, but at 4:30 it began to zero down, and the mercury hit 11 before midnight and was one above at day-break today. It was two below at the Marquette County Airport.

Calumet's -8 was the lowest temperature reported in the Upper Peninsula this morning. Other readings: Iron Mountain, -4; Ironwood, -5; and Escanaba and Menominee, -6.

Winds Intensify Cold

The temperature drop yesterday was accompanied by a wind shift from the west to the northwest, with the wind at the same time increasing in velocity and intensifying the wind. Those walking home encountered frigid blasts from the north that ripped through overcoats like streams of water from a high pressure hose dousing a small blaze.

Mueller said it wouldn't be much above one above zero today. It'll be five below zero here tonight and 10 or 20 below inland. Tomorrow the high will be zero or a little above.

27 Days of Subzero Weather

This winter already has had more subzero days (27) than any in the past. Three already have been recorded this month, there were 19 in January and five in December.

Accompanying the frigid blast was a 3.7-inch snowfall, which, whipped by the wind, resulted in occasional snowdrifts as much as three feet high.

Depending on the wind direction, some drifts covered garage doors, blocked driveways or made some side roads almost impassable. The wind velocity was 22 miles per hour during the night, but gusts reached 35-MPH.

For the month, however, Marquette has only had 8.2 inches of snow, more than an inch below normal, and the winter's figure is only 56.9, which is well over a foot below the norm.

'Very Cold Weather' Ahead

The outlook is for variable cloudiness, scattered snow flurries and very cold weather tonight and tomorrow. Saturday it'll be generally fair, with slowly moderating temperatures.

The Marquette County Road Commission reported that plowing and scraping crews worked all night to keep all roads in the county open. Although no roads are blocked, there is drifting in isolated spots throughout the county.

Howard L. Coppens, Marquette, public works department superintendent, said that the only problem in Marquette is drifting in areas at the edge of the city.

Plowing and sanding was carried on all night and snow hauling was discontinued today so that

A. J. Jandron Dies At 71 In Hospital

Alphonse J. Jandron, 71, died at 11:44 last night in St. Mary's Hospital, following an illness of six months. He had been a patient in St. Mary's since Feb. 6.

The family residence is at 317 Harrison St., but for the past few months Mr. Jandron had been making his home with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Berglund, 132 E. Fair Ave.

Mr. Jandron was born June 14, 1891, in Nezaucene, and had been a resident of Marquette for 50 years. Prior to his retirement five years ago he had been employed as a machine operator at the Lake Shore, Inc., plant here.

He was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral Parish and the third degree, Knights of Columbus, and could devote full time to plowing.

Trouble Last Year Recalled

If it's any comforting thought, residents can enjoy a sigh of relief over the fact that there's been no snow on roof trouble this winter, such as plagued the area last year.

The heavy snows, intermingled with the alternate thawing-freezing temperatures, resulted in big accumulations of snow on roofs of practically every home in the area.

Roof damage occurred in many cases, and a common sight last year was a resident shoveling snow from his roof.

was a past president of the Lake Shore Union.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Dale (Arbutus) Fogarty, LaGrange, Ill.; Mrs. Earl (Carlyle) Berglund, Marquette, and Mrs. Edward (Dorothy) Lanouar, Kenosha, Wis.; two sons, Cedric, Chicago, and Alphonse R., Marquette; 13 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren; two brothers, Albert, Ishpeming, and Verlin, Detroit; four sisters, Mrs. Exilda Mountjoy, Ishpeming; Mrs. Ted LaVigne, Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. Fritz Ring and Mrs. Libby Nelson, Ishpeming. There also several nieces and nephews.

Jurors were drawn yesterday for the first jury trial during this term of Marquette County Circuit Court and the trial got underway this morning.

The auto negligence case stems from an accident which occurred Nov. 27, 1961, on U.S. 41 west of Marquette.

The plaintiff, Alfred J. Maki, Marquette, is represented by the Ironwood law firm of Cloon and Cloon. The Marquette law firm of Baldwin and Kendrick is representing the defendant, Bernard J. Crowley, Marquette.

Jurors Named
Venetians in the case are: Evelyn Weiger, Chocolay Township; Martha O'Berth, Forsyth Township; Chester Vielmetti, Ishpeming Township; Joseph J. Roberts, Negaunee Township; James Perkins, Turin Township.

Marvin Hampton, Gertrude Biefla, Reino Pellonpa, Leo T. Bergstrom and Homer Nault, Ishpeming, and Jane Potvin and W. J. Cushing, Marquette.

Divorce decrees have been granted in circuit court this week to Jean Niemi, from Toivo Niemi, Ishpeming; to Ann H. Kent, Marquette, from George Kent; to Shirley M. Robitaille, County Road 550, from William J. Robitaille, and to Darlene M. Peterson, from William L. Peterson.

Judgments were granted (1) in favor of Public Employees Federal Credit Union against Joseph and Rosalie O'Neill, in the amount of $356.89, plus costs of $31.40; (2) in favor of Geurdon Industries against Douglas S. Melvin, Harvey, in the amount of $1,250, plus costs of $32.40, and (3) in favor of Horrigan Oil, Marquette, against Schneider Brothers Lumber Co., Marquette, in the amount of $3,430.15, plus interest and costs of $40.45.

Radiological Monitoring School Held Here

Pershing Trembath, Marquette, Upper Peninsula supervisor for the Michigan Office of Civil Defense, demonstrates meter for measuring fallout density at two-day radiological monitoring school conducted in Marquette for public safety officers (firemen and policemen), school employees, mining company safety engineers. About 28 persons attended the school, which was held in the county courthouse. Don McCormick, former Marquette police chief who now is deputy civil defense director for the county, served as coordinator with Trembath for the school. — (Mining Journal photo.)

ROBERT F. SCOTT

Bennett Names City Youth For Annapolis

Appointment of Robert F. Scott, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Scott, 402 Waldo St., to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., has been made by Rep. John B. Bennett, Ontonagon, 12th District congressman.

Scott was informed by Congressman Bennett that he will, in the near future, receive official word of the appointment, which is a principal appointment, from the Bureau of Naval Personnel, with instructions as to the time and place of his taking the entrance examinations.

"Being able to attend the Naval Academy at Annapolis is an outstanding honor that comes to very few young men," Rep. Bennett told Scott, "but I am sure that you are worthy and deserving of this opportunity and will make the most of it. My best wishes for your success."

Graveraet Graduate
The new Annapolis appointee has completed a semester of school at Northern Michigan College. The year before he attended Ripon (Wis.) College.
A 1961 graduate of Graveraet High School, Scott attended Northwestern Military Academy, Lake Geneva, Wis., in his sophomore and junior years, having attended Graveraet in his freshman year. He is a member of the Order of DeMolay and is currently the organizer of Fellowship Chapter.

Until he goes to Annapolis, Scott will be employed by the General Distributors firm of Marquette.

City Acts On Five Traffic Control Rules

Five temporary traffic control measures (Nos. 15-19), which have been in effect on a 90-day trial period, have been adopted as permanent.

Action was taken by the Marquette City Commission at its meeting in the city hall this week, following a notice from City Clerk Everett H. Kent that the trial period has run out.

Chief of Police Donald C. Hermanson said the measures have "worked out well."

Adopted as permanent were the following rules:

"No. 15. Parking shall be limited to two hours on W. Fair Ave., on the south side of the street, between N. Third St. and Presque Isle Ave.

"No. 16. S. Sixth St. and Altamont St. traffic is to yield the right-of-way to traffic on Fisher St.

"No. 17. Traffic on Genesee St. shall yield the right-of-way to traffic on Division St.

"No. 18. There shall be no parking on the east side of Division St. south of Hampton St. to the Quarry Pool.

"No. 19. Yield right-of-way traffic rules are in effect at the corner on N. Sixth and W. Ridge Sts. and at the corner of W. Hewitt Ave. and N. Seventh St., in the Sandy Knoll School area."

Two Northern Travel Centers Open Next Month

LANSING (AP) — Two Northern Michigan travel information centers, closed for the winter by the State Highway Department, will open early next month.

The Mackinac City center, located on I-75 near the south approach to the Mackinac Bridge, will reopen March 10.

3 Escanaba Youths Hiking To Marquette

Intending to get in shape for the Army, three Escanaba young men set out yesterday afternoon on the 72-mile hike to Marquette.

The young men left Escanaba yesterday afternoon at 3, but there was no report of their arrival in Marquette this morning. They planned to follow U.S. 41.

Jack Koski, 22, Fred Sundstrom, 20, and Dick Lewis, 19, said they planned to enter the Army this spring and wanted to start training ahead of time.

Requests made by this newspaper and by WDMJ, The Mining Journal radio station, for information about their whereabouts, brought no results this morning.

Parts of Southwest Africa are so dry that one mining center distills fresh water from the sea and even condenses some water from fog.

Well waddya know?

It's true what they say about Creamettes macaroni! It does cook up fluffier and lighter—and it does flavor blend with other ingredients in salads or casserole dishes! Really!

The Marquette License Bureau

Will be closed Saturday morning, February 16th, 1963, due to a death in the family, but will be open all day, Saturday, February 23rd, 1963.

A. & P. Supermarket On Site Of Old City Boarding House

Area residents can now do their grocery shopping on the site of the boarding house where many of Marquette's workmen over the last century ate their meals.

The A. & P. Supermarket, which opened this week on S. Third St., is located on the site of a boarding house built at the corner of Baraga Ave. and S. Third St. by the grandfather of Allen and Chester Bignall, who live in Chocoley Township.

Built In 1850s
It is assumed by local historians that the Filmore House, a boarding house which stood at the corner of Baraga Ave. and Third St. as early as our oldest citizens can remember, was the original boarding house built by Joseph Bignall in the 1850s.

Under countless owners and managers, the building served as a boarding house almost continuously until it was razed about 1932. It was the only building to occupy that site until construction of the new A. & P. building began.

Joseph Bignall, born in Connecticut in 1808 and married to the daughter of a forge owner in Essex Co., N. Y., arrived in Marquette sometime during the sailing season of 1850 to work as a forge man or puddler in an early forge here.

First White Baby Here

A son, Elbert Joseph, born in 1851, is believed to have been the first white baby born in this area.

Chester Bignall delved into courthouse records recently and found that his grandfather paid $100 for the lot at the corner of Third and Superior Sts., now Third St. and Baraga Ave. Courthouse records also show that Joseph Bignall was a boarding house keeper.

Stories passed down through the Bignall family tell that during the winter of 1850 all the people of the little village gathered in one cabin and that when the first boat arrived here in the spring of 1851, the only food remaining was a small amount of dried beans and flour.

In 1865 the boarding house property was deeded to Tim Hurley, presumably the father of the late Marquette Chief of Police Tim Hurley.

Returned In 1877

The Bignall family then moved to a farm in Southern Minnesota, but the Weekly Mining Journal noted in 1872 that Joseph Bignall, "one of the 1850 iron workers," had returned for a visit and had "acquired the dignity of spectacles."

Elbert Bignall returned here in 1887, married Rosalie King of Chocoley Township, and lived here until his death in 1911.

Birth, Death Totals Drop In January

Birth and death totals in Marquette plummeted last month, the city health office reports.

Births numbered only 46, one of the lowest figures for any month here since the end of World War II. Deaths numbered 17, nine under the December figure.

The number of babies born here in January was 21 under the average for all of 1962, when 766 babies were born in the city. That was the lowest number since the end of the war.

There were 26 boys and 20 girls born in Marquette last month. Thirty-one were born to resident parents and 15 to non-resident fathers and mothers.

12 Residents Died

Six females and 11 males died in the city last month. Twelve were residents and five non-residents.

Causes of deaths here in January were: Heart disease, five; cancer, four; and pneumonia, stroke, prematurity, asphyxia, periarthritis nodosa, rupture abdominal, rupture berry aneurysm and suppurative and perinephric abscess, one each.

Scout Derby At Sawyer This Weekend

Troops 350, 352 and 353 at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base will host the Pere Marquette Klondike Derby at Sawyer this Saturday. The event is scheduled for 1 p. m.

The derby will consist of five stations which will include first aid, fire building, compass work, knot tying and cooking.

Scout executives from the local area including officials from the Hiawathaland Council will attend. Over 120 scouts are expected to participate in the derby.

Winners in the Klondike Derby will return to this Air Defense Command base on March 6 for the council derby, which will host scouts from all over the Upper Peninsula and two Wisconsin counties.

Beef, Pork Good Buys At Food Stores

DETROIT (AP)—Wide selections in reasonably priced beef and pork offer main course attractions for food shoppers this weekend.

Ground beef, chunk and rump roasts, and some steaks, are lower at many stores. Ribs of beef are regional attractions.

Pork chops, loins, bacon and sausage are among top pork buys. Fryers Turkeys Good Chicken fryers and turkeys continue to carry reasonable price tags, especially when they are specially priced as customer lures.

The fresh vegetable picture is improving, with Florida already shipping post-freeze frosts.

Vegetables widely available over the nation and reasonably priced include broccoli, cabbage, parsnips, radishes, mushrooms, potatoes, lettuce and snap beans.

A new estimate of freeze damage to the Florida citrus crop shows production was hit harder than first believed. That means little hope that recent higher prices will ease.

Other fruit offerings include pears, apples and bananas.

Coldwater Plans Civic Celebration

COLDWATER (AP)—Coldwater plans a civic celebration Thursday to welcome Clyde Packing Co. to the city. The meat packing plant, moving to the southern Michigan community from Indiana, expects to employ 100 workers.

NON-EATERS

Most adult fireflies eat nothing at all since their energy has been stored from the larval stage and their life span is so short they require no additional food.

SANFORD A. BROWN

Ferency, Brown Here Sunday For District Demo Meeting

Zoltan Ferency, state Democratic Party chairman, and Sanford A. Brown, state treasurer, will be in Marquette this weekend for one of a series of conferences involving Democratic leaders from 44 counties.

Ferency and Brown will be in Marquette beginning at noon Sunday for a 12th Congressional District meeting of Democratic Party leaders, to be held in the Northern Michigan College Student Center.

Democratic Party leaders from Marquette, Dickinson, Baraga, Iron, Keweenaw, Houghton, Ontonagon and Gogebic Counties are expected here for the meeting.

Schedule Given

Other sessions are scheduled for Saturday morning in Saginaw, Saturday afternoon in Indian River, Saturday night in Escanaba (for the Upper 11th Congressional District) and Sunday night in Mt. Pleasant.

In the series of five meetings, Brown and Ferency will be discussing the spring election campaign, the Democratic membership drive, co-con and Democratic Party organization.

"These sessions will mark my first major move through out-state counties meeting with Democratic Party leaders since I took office," said Ferency. "I'm looking forward to this weekend as an opportunity to keep our campaign moving toward the reelection of our candidates on April 1st."

Drive Chairman

Brown, chairman of the Democratic membership drive, said: "The Democratic Party has its work cut out for it in this spring campaign. The membership drive is going to have a lot to do with our success."

"These weekend meetings give us a good chance to assess how well that drive is moving forward in the upper counties."

City Not Intervenor In St. Mary's Power Proposal, Moore Says

Marquette, although an interested municipality, was not and is not an intervenor in the St. Marys River power proposal, City Manager Thomas Moore reports.

Moore's comments were made in response to a question raised by City Commissioner Elmer K. Carlson, concerning the city's position in the matter.

Carlson's question was made as a result of an advertisement in a Marquette resident, published in last Friday's Mining Journal, which quoted a Sault Ste. Marie story as saying some Upper Peninsula municipally-owned utilities were among those seeking to acquire the water rights through intervention in the case.

Moore Attended Hearing

The hearing was held in Chicago and was attended by Moore.

Basis of the public hearing was that the water belongs to the people of the Upper Peninsula, since the U.P. itself is the watershed, with the water runoff going into Lake Superior, which is the source of power for the power plant, located at Sault Ste. Marie.

In describing the situation, Moore said:

"Last summer the Lake Superior Water Rights Committee was formed, which consisted of the Rural Electric Cooperatives in the Upper Peninsula and several interested representatives from various communities of the Upper Peninsula.

"This committee was, in effect, a very unofficial committee, but it did go on record and appealed to the Army Corps of Engineers that inasmuch as the Carbide Plant had declared its intention of ceasing operations on Oct. 1, 1963, that the surplus water rights on the St. Marys River be not transferred to the Edison Soo Power Co. without a public hearing which the law requires.

"The Army Corps of Engineers responded in December 1962 by notifying all committee members that a public hearing would be held on Jan. 3, 1963 in Washington, D.C., and on Jan. 10, 1963 in Chicago.

"In the meantime, the Northern Michigan Electric Cooperative Inc. of Boyne City asked the committee for permission to intervene at these public hearings.

"The reason that the Northern Michigan Electric Co-op wished to intervene was that it is a going concern having a power plant and having inter-connections with other power plants and having an organization and ability to hire a consulting engineer.

"This cooperative employed the St. Marys Engineering Co. of Muskegon, Iowa, which in the very short time allotted by the Army Corp of Engineers prepared a report and proposal for the Jan. 10, 1963 meeting in Chicago. This proposal has been printed previously and is in the hands of the secretary of the Army for his decision.

"Representatives of several municipalities in Michigan were present at the Jan. 10 meeting, and were there as observers only and taking no part whatsoever in the hearing. The interest on the part of the municipalities is not in any way take any official action to hinder or hurt the City of Sault Ste. Marie.

"The thinking on the part of the various municipalities is as follows:

"If the electric cooperative should carry out their plans and construct a power transmission line in the near vicinity in any of these Upper Peninsula cities, and if the conditions and prices were thought to be in the interest of Marquette, we would at that time have an opportunity to weigh the merits of any such inter-connection.

"None of the municipalities in the Upper Peninsula have taken any official action, nor spent any money on this project other than attending the public hearing — which was by invitation of General Rogers of the Corp of Engineers in Chicago.

"The information given by me to The Mining Journal and printed Feb. 6, 1963, was taken from the newspaper article that appeared in the Escanaba newspaper.

"The clipping from the Escanaba paper which was sent me, also contained a carbon copy of the proposal made to the U.S. Government by the Northern Michigan Electric Cooperative, Inc. and I thought that the people should be made aware of these developments in the Upper Peninsula."

Pat McNamara and Philip Hart, Michigan Democrats.

"We intend to press for the creation of a park with all possible vigor," Hart said, "and we are hopeful Congress will act on it this session."

Rep. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., has introduced a bill to create a Sleeping Bear park of about 37,000 acres.

77,000 Acres

But under the measure offered by McNamara and Hart, similar to one introduced in the previous Congress, the proposed park would include about 77,000 acres. This version is backed by the Interior Department.

"Essentially, there is only one difference between the two plans," Hart said. "The boundaries of our plan include several beautiful island lakes and the high ground behind them. Congressman Griffin's proposal asks only for a narrow strip of land along the Lake Michigan shore and it excludes the island lakes."

More Jobs

Hart said "a national park development should include scenic overlooks, scenic drives, trails, campsites and unspoiled timbered countryside. . . Our plan will generate more jobs and better meet the recreational needs of the state far into the future. A really adequate park will mean both picnics and payrolls."

Griffin, in opposing the Hart-McNamara bill, says it would take from private owners vested property rights without just compensation.

Extension Spotlight

BY MELVIN N. NYQUIST
County Extension Director

We want to call attention of all farmers in Marquette County to some of the provisions of the 1962 income tax requirements. Every person who had a gross income of $600 or more during the past tax year must file a tax return. As far as our farmers are concerned, those who are on a calendar year basis now have to file a return and pay the tax by tomorrow.

There are some changes in the tax law which should be noted by each and every farmer.

In the packet of material received from the Internal Revenue Service was Form 3468. This is for computation of investment tax credit. This is a new form for 1962 taxes and should be filed by every farmer who purchased new or used equipment during the past year. This applies to equipment which has a useful life of at least four years.

This investment tax credit is a credit against tax due — not against taxable income; and one of the advantages is that it can be carried for one year or forwarded for five years on other tax years. Credit under the investment credit plan can not be applied to livestock or to property which is used for lodging. We would like to remind all farmers that this can be a very important part of their filing return for 1962.

Land Clearing Advice

In looking over records, we would like to recommend that farmers secure a good income tax record book to assist them in filing a return at the end of the year. One of the new expenses which may be included in 1962 are land clearing expenses. This is effective for the tax year beginning Jan. 1, 1963. It must be used for the purpose of clearing land suitable for farm use. With much of the land being cleared in Marquette County, this certainly will be to the advantage of those farmers clearing new fields.

In filing a return, there are some new guide lines which can be adopted for determining depreciation on farm equipment.

Instead of the old method of each building having an individual recommended life, under the new depreciation law a farmer can group buildings at 25 years depreciable life, machinery and equipment including fencing at 10 years depreciable life and other specified transportation equipment. Tips on filing the 1963 return are found in the Farmers Tax Guide, 1963 edition. Copies of this are available from the extension office and from the local post office.

Owner Sampling Testing

We have talked to some of the farmers in the county about owner sampling testing. And I would like to recommend that the dairy farmers who are not now testing get into a testing program. One which is very reasonable and, at the same time, provides the farmer with a record of what each cow is producing is set up in conjunction with Menominee County.

At the present time they can take any number of cows into this organization. The cost of this project is $3 plus 50 cents per cow per month. The only other expense is cost of a scale for weighing the milk.

Farmers can get into this project immediately. As far as total milk production is concerned, a farmer should be able to profit by careful culling program within the farm herd. Those farmers who are interested should contact the extension office as soon as possible.

As far as our farmers are concerned, those who are on a calendar year basis now have to file a return and pay the tax by tomorrow.

There are some changes in the tax law which should be noted by each and every farmer.

In the packet of material received from the Internal Revenue Service was Form 3468. This is for computation of investment tax credit. This is a new form for 1962 taxes and should be filed by every farmer who purchased new or used equipment during the past year. This applies to equipment which has a useful life of at least four years.

This investment tax credit is a credit against tax due — not against taxable income; and one of the advantages is that it can be carried for one year or forwarded for five years on other tax years. Credit under the investment credit plan can not be applied to livestock or to property which is used for lodging. We would like to remind all farmers that this can be a very important part of their filing return for 1962.

Land Clearing Advice
In looking over records, we would like to recommend that farmers secure a good income tax record book to assist them in filing a return at the end of the year. One of the new expenses which may be included in 1962 are land clearing expenses. This is effective for the tax year beginning Jan. 1, 1963. It must be used for the purpose of clearing land suitable for farm use. With much of the land being cleared in Marquette County, this certainly will be to the advantage of those farmers clearing new fields.

In filing a return, there are some new guide lines which can be adopted for determining depreciation on farm equipment.

Instead of the old method of each building having an individual recommended life, under the new depreciation law a farmer can group buildings at 25 years depreciable life, machinery and equipment including fencing at 10 years depreciable life and other specified transportation equipment. Tips on filing the 1963 return are found in the Farmers Tax Guide, 1963 edition. Copies of this are available from the extension office and from the local post office.

Owner Sampling Testing
We have talked to some of the farmers in the county about owner sampling testing. And I would like to recommend that the dairy farmers who are not now testing get into a testing program. One which is very reasonable and, at the same time, provides the farmer with a record of what each cow is producing, is set up in conjunction with Menominee County.

At the present time they can take any number of cows into this organization. The cost of this project is $3 plus 30 cents per cow per month. The only other expense is cost of a scale for weighing the milk.

Farmers can get into this project immediately. As far as total milk production is concerned, a farmer should be able to profit by careful culling program within the farm herd. Those farmers who are interested should contact the extension office as soon as possible.

Helping The Elderly

Bills already introduced in the House at Lansing propose several ways of helping the elderly. This is a problem that grows, and increasingly the active part of the population will be asked to make concessions to the elderly so that they can stretch their reduced income to provide a desirable level of retirement living.

House Bill 14: Would allow homestead exemption for residents 65 years or older with income under $3,000 and property valued under $7,500.

House Bill 39: Exempts real estate from taxation when it is owned by non-profit organization providing housing for persons 62 years or older at a rental not in excess of $150 a month.

House Bill 44: Like HB 14 but requiring 10 years state residence for eligibility.

House Bill 45: Permits local government to grant homestead exemption to certain persons over 65.

House Bill 54: Prevents sale for delinquent taxes of homestead of a person over 65 until death.

These bills are leaves that show the way the wind blows. They come at a time when property taxes in Michigan are high and increasing because the state has refused to undertake tax reform to more equitably distribute the burden of financing state government. It continues to put a disproportionate part of the load on property, which once was the chief source of wealth, but which can now be a ticket to the poor house.

Some provision must be made that will permit the elderly to keep their homesteads. Early death used to solve the problem by not having them live long after their working years. Now they have increasing life-span in retirement years. When new taxes are cracked onto such persons of fixed income they have no personal solution except to lose their homes and find poorer quarters elsewhere.

The occasion that provides some sort of workable system for taxation of retirees' homesteads should also encompass other reforms in property taxation. In the Upper Peninsula a promising forest industry future is being imperiled for lack of a tax plan which will permit the profitable growing of timber.

We have in our state as well as our national government adopted a tax policy which touts up the government's desires and spreads them as the budget. What this mushrooming process does can be seen in a glance at Lansing, where Gov. Romney had given the Legislature a conservative budget. It's just a hold-the-line sort of thing, aimed at avoiding new spending so that some payment can be made on the state's debt.

And even so, the state must add $25.5 million of new income to maintain the present level of state services without expanding them at all. It will, for instance, be necessary to appropriate an additional $13.9 million for education if the state is to continue to contribute on the present per child school aid formula and yet provide for an increase of 58,000 children in the public schools.

The budget is based on a revenue growth rate estimated at 1.5 per cent. Washington uses an estimate of 4 per cent for this purpose.

Our taxing problems, which are bringing the new pressures for exemptions, come from government spending. That is usually forgotten when the services are voted. But inevitably Old Settlers Day comes around, and it would be much healthier financially to keep it in mind when demanding that the government take over an increasing amount of the aid that once was given by individuals, families, congregations and the public on a volunteer basis.

Driver Training Complaint

Sir: Along with many other citizens, I believe that we have been forced or crowded into an unnatural situation, that our rights of teaching our children have been encroached upon. This is not only more costly to the taxpayers but is detrimental to all free citizens and those who love their country.

When I was young, happy and didn't care too much about liberty, I drove a grocery truck. Later on, I drove a bakery truck. Since then, I have driven many different makes of cars, gravel trucks, dump trucks, FWD's, logging trucks, speeders, outboard motor boats, nightlifts, tractors, HP's, full crawlers, bull wheels and even horse and teams. I have driven the vehicles over eight-lane highways, expressways, tollways, concrete roads, black-top, macadam, dirt roads, gravel roads, sand roads, snow roads, mud and places where there were no roads, in all kinds of weather, rain or shine, blizzards, wind, dust, snow, subzero; uphill, downhill, over plains country and swamps, and yet if I took a son or daughter—yours or anyone else's—to teach them how to drive, I would run the risk of having him or her arrested and myself also for allowing an unlicensed person to operate a motor vehicle and for no driver's license.

Where is the catch? Few people could find a more experienced driver, an almost accident free driver, and yet I am not qualified, according to state laws, to teach my children how to drive. Why? Because this driver training bug, egged on by politicians and state employees, bit our legislators and they ruled against a father or mother or any adult teaching their children how to drive like we used to do. Now, the driver training program is a political plum where the state can designate who is going to teach our children. We are barred by law from doing this. It cost either $2,500,000 or $4,500,000 last year in this state for this program where previously, some years ago, it cost nothing.

We are finally waking up to the thought that our legislators believe that we are incapable of training our own children, of thinking for ourselves, that the state should assume all of these chores to keep the citizen down and under state control.

Chain Of 'Restaurants' At K. I. Sawyer Air Base Serves 1,800 Customers Every Day

There is a chain of "restaurants" area in which an outstanding job at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base that is assured of at least 1,800 customers, three times a day, seven days a week.

And to better serve their customers, these restaurants operate around the clock, providing the best in service and food delicacies. Like Civilian Establishment

The unique part, however, is that Sawyer's food service section operates very much like a civilian establishment. For instance, military diners need only to show a "credit card," more popularly referred to as a "chow pass," to be served. There is a choice, too, of paying in cash for meals.

The chow pass is most often utilized by bachelor airmen of the lower grades. It eliminates the necessity for collecting funds each time a person wishes to dine. The government simply deducts the amount each month as a service.

Sawyer's food service section, unlike its civilian counterpart, provides "garrison-ration" feeding for the military personnel assigned to the 56th Fighter Wing, the 410th Bombardment Wing and the Sault Ste. Marie Air Defense Sector, all headquartered at the base.

Special care is taken at military bases like Sawyer to present the best cuts of meats and choice vegetables, even when being prepared in large quantities.

Demos Eye Alternatives For Voters

LANSING (AP) — House Democrats—facing a legislative deadline and some apparent differences of opinion—hoped today to apply final touches to a package proposal of resolutions and bills assembled as an alternative to the proposed constitution.

The contents of the package were on the verge of being revealed Tuesday when something apparently went awry in a House Democratic caucus. Lawmakers were tight-lipped afterward, and a scheduled new conference was abruptly cancelled.

The package proposal, assembled by a special Democratic House committee in a series of meetings since Jan. 5, will contain approximately six or eight parts, divided between proposed amendments to the present (1908) Constitution and new legislation.

The whole package, it was explained earlier, would "give Michigan voters a choice" when they go the polls April 1 to cast ballots on the proposed Constitution which the Democratic party opposes.

Under the schedule drawn up earlier by lawmakers, the three or four pieces of new legislation in the package would have to be given today to the legislative service bureau which drafts all bills, and be ready for introduction by Feb. 27.

The other portion of the package, composed of three or four joint House-Senate resolutions to put amendments to the Constitution on the April 1 ballot—could come later.

Included in the Democratic package would be proposed legislation to provide for nomination of supreme court justices independently of party conventions.

Among the proposed amendments, it was reported, would be provisions to retain earmarking of highway funds, elect all state administrative board members, and a reapportionment formula.

Reapportionment, one Democratic lawmaker said, would be based on 19 congressional districts, each divided into two senatorial districts, and each of those divided into three state representative districts.

This plan, similar to one of several proposed during the Constitutional Convention, would provide for 38 state senators and 114 representatives.

On The Cuban Question Today

By WALTER LIPPMANN

In the past week, the Administration has gone to extraordinary lengths to win the country's confidence in the reliability of its information about the military situation in Cuba. Since the October confrontation, there can, of course, be no lack of confidence in the President's courage and determination to protect American interests once the facts of a threat are established.

The crisis of confidence originates in what happened in the six weeks before the October confrontation. During the month of September and into October, the administration was insisting that the Soviet Union had not brought offensive weapons into Cuba. Sen. Keating was insisting that they had. When he was found to have been right, there occurred a loss of confidence in the Administration's intelligence services which it is still struggling to repair.

Photographs Confirmed Charge

With others, I have had first-hand experience which enables me to understand how difficult it is to restore confidence once it has been shaken. On two occasions it was explained to me by high officials how reliable was our photographic surveillance of the island and how certainly we could detect the exact nature of the weapons being installed in Cuba. These private explanations came after the President had said categorically in his press conference of Sept. 13 that "these shipments do not constitute a serious threat to any other part of the hemisphere." Some two weeks later, on Oct. 3, the under-secretary of state, Mr. Ball, gave to a congressional committee a summary of the intelligence information which came from the CIA. The point of the summary was that there were no offensive weapons in Cuba.

But in fact there were. A week later, on Oct. 13, Sen. Keating insisted that there were intermediate range missiles in Cuba, and five days later the President received the photographs which confirmed the charge. This is how Sen. Keating won the right to be listened to, and this is why the Administration has now, belatedly, made the right move, which is to arrange for consultation and an exchange of information between Sen. Keating and the CIA.

Remarkable Intelligence Briefing

This should put an end to the unseemly controversy about why I am telling the truth between a senator and the United States and the President of the United States. But I am not sure it will repair altogether the damage done to public confidence by the misleading information given out in September and October. The Administration may well have also to make a full explanation of what went wrong in September and early October.

Examining the remarkable intelligence briefing by Mr. John Hughes of the Defense Department, I find myself once again convinced that our photographic intelligence is now reliable. But I am struck by the fact that there was a blank space in Mr. Hughes' testimony for the period from Sept. 5 to Oct. 14.

Photographs taken on Aug. 29 of the San Cristobal area and on Sept. 5 at Sagua La Grande show positively that no missile sites had been built. The next photograph referred to by Mr. Hughes is that of Oct. 14. It shows intermediate range missile sites being erected. This is the photograph which precipitated the international crisis.

Source Of The Infection

Where, we are bound to ask, was our photographic intelligence between Sept. 5 and Oct. 14? That was when the Administration was telling the country that there were no offensive weapons in Cuba. This is the source of the infection which will have to be removed if full confidence is to be restored.

Having said this, I would say that there is no reason to doubt the thoroughness or the reliability of our photographic surveillance of Cuba and of the sea around it. The situation is extraordinary. We are depending on being able to fly daily photographic reconnaissance planes at high and low altitude. In Cuba, there are a large number of the latest anti-aircraft weapons manned by Soviet soldiers.

We may say, how come? Up to the present—knock on wood—the Soviet anti-aircraft guns are not attacking our reconnaissance planes. They must be under orders from Moscow, where it is well-known that if the planes were attacked there would be an immediate reprisal.

Strange Working Agreement

But where does this leave us? It leaves us with a fragile revised version of the original Khrushchev-Kennedy agreement. In the key letter of Oct. 27, President Kennedy accepted the following terms of settlement: The U.S.S.R. would remove offensive weapons systems under "United Nations observation and supervision." When this was done, the United States would end the quarantine and would "give assurances against an invasion of Cuba." The U.S.S.R. removed the missiles and the U.S.A. ended the quarantine. But Castro would not permit United Nations observers to come to Cuba, and, consequently, the United States would give no assurances against invasion.

What we have now is a substitute for the original agreement. We are able to carry on photographic reconnaissance without interference from the Soviet anti-aircraft weapons. And Cuba is getting, in lieu of a United States' guarantee against invasion, a build-up of its defensive capabilities. Both Moscow and Washington know that this strange working arrangement cannot be upset deliberately without bringing on a much mightier confrontation than that of last October.

FUTILE CUBAN INQUIRY

It may well be that the Cuban invasion fiasco demands an investigation, but one conducted by Sen. Dirksen for the Senate Republican Policy Committee is of doubtful value.

The committee may get political mileage out of an unofficial quiz, but the immediate cry of "politics" by Senate Democrats dooms its real value from the start. Partisan policy makers have no official standing outside their own party. The committee has no right of subpoena of witnesses nor documents and whatever testimony is taken is not under oath and has no official standing.

Sen. Dirksen may be able to set fire to a flammable subject and thus may be able to obtain from the Democratic controllers of the House and Senate an investigation having some legal standing. Falling this, his efforts will have been wasted. His report may even be the truth, but unilateral truth will drown in partisan bickering which has already begun. — Detroit News

News Behind The News

BY RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The Rev. Adam Clayton Powell has become one of the most delicately embarrassing problems of the Kennedy Administration.

The congressman from Harlem knows it and he has dropped some hints that this may be his last term in the House. Members of the Democratic National Committee generally favor this idea and a few are willing to recommend him for a federal appointment—ambassador or almost anything he wants—to get him off their backs. However, most of the leadership is opposed to any deal.

Congressman Powell is a problem in many ways, but the crux of the situation is that he is making the Administration's fight for civil liberties considerably more difficult than it would be otherwise.

Horrible Example

His conduct has given the segregationists a big emotional argument: "Look what happens when Negroes vote!"

It is quite true that there have been many white congressmen whose records are subject to more severe criticism than the tawny congressman. But his delinquencies have taken place at a critical period of Negro history. He has perhaps unfairly reflected on the up-right members of his own race.

The bill of complaint read against Congressman Powell by Sen. John J. Williams (R., Del.) last week has concentrated attention on his sins of omission.

Sen. Williams accused the Administration of "shoveling the taxpayers' money" out to Powell for housing projects and a plan to curb juvenile delinquency in New York. Person To Person

Taxes, Junkets

He also dwelt on what has now become Powell's historic junket to Europe last summer. On this trip Powell had two attractive members of his government-paid staff, Corrine Huff, a receptionist and former Miss Universe contestant, and Mrs. Tamara Wall, an assistant counsel to the House, Education and Labor Committee, of which Powell is chairman.

The three galleys through the capitals of Europe with hotel and night club reservations made by the State Department and financed by State Department funds. Meanwhile, Mrs. Powell, a $12,000-a-year employee of his committee, vacationed at the Powell estate in Puerto Rico.

This, of course, remains the most embarrassing fact of all. As Southern Democrats and Republicans point out, no one can name another member of Congress or member of the executive or judicial branches of the government who could have gotten away with such a trip without grave risk to his stature and his job.

County Residents Invested $1,638,122 In U.S. Bonds, Hit 121.3 Per Cent Of Goal

Marquette County residents invested $1,638,122 in series E and H United States savings bonds during 1962, it was announced today by Ernest L. Pearce, Marquette County Savings Bond Committee.

The 1962 total represented 121.3 per cent of the county's treasury-assigned goal for the year. The 1961 figure was $1,919,781.

In announcing the 1962 figures, the county bond chairman said he hoped for a substantial increase in purchases during the current year.

He said the U. S. Treasury is looking for a large volume of new business from taxpayers who choose to take refunds due on their 1962 income tax in the form of savings bonds, instead of checks. The option was made available for the first time this year.

Treasury Citation Eard
"The treasury also is making a strong appeal for every American family to buy at least one savings bond before July 4, 1963," Pearce said. "Organizations and clubs of all kinds are being encouraged to get behind this effort. Members will be asked to take part in the drive, and if 50 per cent of them buy at least one bond, the organization will qualify for a treasury citation."

Combined purchases of E and H bonds for the state as a whole amounted to $20.3 million in December. This brought the year's total to $241,708,380. This was equivalent to 87.2 per cent of the 1962 quota of $277.1 million and compared with a total of $260,265,000 in 1961.

Michigan E bond buying for the year was at the $223.3 million level, off 2.2 per cent from that for 1961. H bond purchases of $18.4 million in 1962 were down 42.4 per cent from the previous year's total of $31.9 million.

Redemptions Up From 1961
Redemptions in 1962, including $754 million earned interest on retired E bonds, totaled $4,636 million, 3.4 per cent above 1961. This was the smallest amount of bond cashing for any of the past eight years except for 1961 when the figure was $4,484 million. Redemptions in 1962 as a per cent of the amount outstanding averaged less than one per cent a month.

The total number of separate pieces of E bonds sold has been running at a five-year record level. In the January-October 1962 period purchases totaled 73,358,000 individual pieces, a gain of three per cent over the like 1961 months. Buying of small-denomination E bonds, accounted for in large measure by payroll savers, were at a near-record peacetime level in 1962. The small sized bonds ($25-$200) accounted for 61 per cent of the E and H dollar. Purchases of $50 were at a peacetime high, while the number of $25 bonds bought set a five-year record.

Wisconsin Strike Could Affect U.P.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A strike which could affect electrical service in much of Wisconsin, including Milwaukee, and Michigan's Upper Peninsula has been threatened by a union representing workers at the Electric Co.

Local 317 of the Operating Engineers' Union voted Wednesday night to strike at 2 p.m. Sunday unless a contract dispute with the Milwaukee utility is settled.

James Horatits, business manager of the local, told a meeting of about 450 members that several Milwaukee trade unions have assured him they would honor picket lines.

Serves U.P.
The Electric Co. serves an area from Port Washington, just north of Milwaukee to Watertown, in east central Wisconsin, south to the Illinois line.

In addition, it supplies partial power to Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co., serving areas north of Appleton and the Upper Peninsula.

The union first threatened to strike Dec. 28. Federal Mediator Joseph Piconke reported no issues have been resolved. Piconke told both sides to be prepared for "some hard and collective bargaining" at a meeting Saturday. He said he would keep negotiators at the bargaining straight through until the strike deadline if necessary.

Chief Issues
The chief issues include wages, a company demand for a change in the clause relating to contract termination notice and management's action in placing a ceiling on an output bonus.

Two Vehicles Damaged In Mishap Here

Two automobiles were damaged, but no one was injured, in a traffic wreck at 5:05 yesterday afternoon in the city.

City police said a car being driven west on W. Magnetic St. by Allan I. Moge, 225 N. Fourth St., Marquette, collided with an automobile operated by Carmelo F. Portale, 110 1/2 E. Clark St., Ne-gaunee, who was traveling north on N. Fourth St. Presque Isle Ave. Right-Of-Way Violation

The right front bumper of Moge's 1955 pickup truck and the right rear fender of Portale's car, a 1951 four-door sedan, were damaged. Both vehicles were driven from the scene under their own power.

Moge was given a ticket by city police for a right-of-way violation.

Top Daytime TV Show Gets Ax April 1st

More has been written about Merv Griffin lately than any other television personality.

Griffin's wife, Julann, is the second of the four daughters of Circuit Judge and Mrs. Robert Wright of Ironwood.

The Griffins live in an attractive colonial home at Califon, N. J., on a 28-acre estate. Griffin, scion of a family of San Francisco tennis champions, likes a rustic life with his wife and their three-year-old son Tony, but his workaday world is the hectic theater of television, where his Merv Griffith show has been called the most acclaimed and most publicized daytime program in television this year. It's been on NBC at 2 p. m. daily, but effective April 1 the network is replacing it with two soap operas.

Reason For Dropping Show

The night before it announced that the show was to be dropped the network carried a TV promotion telling how wonderful the show was. How come that it was dropped then? Because of its "relatively small audience" and because the nighttime TV policy, which tolerates shows with small audiences, doesn't apply to daytime TV shows.

The network has been absorbing part of the cost of the show, which leads the afternoon program on the network. NBC says that not only has the much praised, lively and stimulating Merv Griffin show not attracted a big audience, but that the shows following it every afternoon have also lost viewers to other networks because of the lead-in.

'Extremely Costly'

The network says that in experimenting with the "extremely costly" Griffin show it hoped the public would prefer it to the usual daytime programming pattern of serials, game shows and Hollywood films, but "we were wrong, the public has shown a definite preference for the traditional programming pattern."

When the network was asked if it thought the public should always get what it wants or what it needs, it replied that Griffin's show, while a good one, is an entertainment program, not a public affairs, informational type of program and must stand or fall on the basis of its popularity as an entertainment show.

Comedian's Explanation

The network plans to offer Griffin another show, says Bud Rukeyser, director of NMC program publicity. His afternoon show consists largely of chatter with top flight guest stars of a caliber usually seen on TV only at night, and sometimes not then.

Comedian Jackie Mason explains the death of the Merv Griffin show simply. "It's because he got an award for having a good show. As soon as you get an award, you lose your show. Happened to Bob Newhart, too. The trick is not to get an award. I have mastered this trick. NBC should hire me. I would guarantee not to get an award and I would deliver. I've been not getting awards in cafes, why shouldn't I not get awards in TV?"

Treasury Balance At $84.2 Million

LANSING (AP)—State treasury income during the past week was $16.6 million and outgo was $27.3 million. The treasury balance at the end of the week was $84.2 million.

Road Death Rate High In Other Lands

EDITOR'S NOTE — A record 41,000 persons were killed by traffic accidents in the United States last year. Elsewhere the toll rose in some nations, fell in others. Reasons were sought by AP bureaus abroad. This dispatch presents the highlights of their findings.

(By The Associated Press)
 The West German motorist is told "keep your distance."

A Moscow truck carries painted on its rear a warning to Soviet drivers, who often seem to make their own rules, "Less speed on turns."

Americans concerned about deaths on U.S. streets and highways—a record 41,000 in 1962—can take note. They have company in other nations less richly endowed with motor vehicles.

The U.S. mark, announced by the National Safety Council in Chicago, was set in a year that saw 79 million American vehicles traveling a total of 767 billion miles. That would equal 1.65 million round trips to other moon.

Fatality Rates

No other nation came close in either number of vehicles or mileage. But the fatality rate on a per capita basis was in some cases startlingly similar.

West Germany's record is worse than that of America, although slightly.

On the streets and autobahns of the Bonn republic last year 14,000 persons were killed. That toll, in a nation of 56 million, would be about 46,000 if projected among the 187 million people of the United States.

France ran close. A nation of 46.2 million, its toll was 10,112. The Canadians' auto driving habits and traffic regulations most closely resemble those of the United States. With almost one-tenth as many people, Canada's safety record was better. The dead totaled 3,440.

3 Broad Forms

Efforts to stem the tide take three broad forms:

Safety campaigns. Rome plans a four-month drive through newspapers, billboards, radio and television to promote a higher regard for pedestrians, speed limits and right of way at intersections. A crackdown on the tipsy. A new law empowers Swiss courts to jail any drunken driver for six months and lift his license for a year.

Built-in precautions. Effective next Jan. 1 French car makers will be required by law to install seat belt fittings, though not the belts, on all models.

Reception of the idea of seat belts, which the National Safety Council estimates could save 5,000 American lives a year, is out as spotty abroad as in the United States.

Campaigns Rare

In France, safety campaigns as Americans know them are rare, but city police crack down after particularly bad accidents. In Italy, safety education has been handled largely through state-approved driving schools.

Norway has a special problem because practically nobody was permitted to drive a car during the German occupation in World War II and driver education was limited by car rationing that persisted until 1959.

Publicity campaigns and increasing skill of the people behind the wheels helped to reduce the Norwegian toll somewhat last year, even though the number of cars increased by 20 per cent.

Maple Syrup Operations, New Trends Told By Skog

Maple syrup operations and more new trends in the business were outlined today by Roy E. Skog, Marquette, Upper Michigan extension forester for the Michigan State University Extension Service.

Skog said centralized evaporating plants are now in operation in certain sections of the East, Wisconsin and Lower Michigan.

Buy From Others
These plants, referred to by Skog in a previous story, buy raw sap from sugarbush owners that have no evaporating equipment.

Skog today discusses other trends and new developments in maple syrup production, which is due to get under way in the Upper Peninsula next month.

Last year taphole pellets became available for use to increase maple sap flow. When a pellet is placed in a taphole it effectively controls the growth of bacteria, molds, and yeasts that cause premature stoppage of sap flow.

Field trials show that during warm sap seasons the use of pellets can increase sap yields by 50 per cent or more, Skog said. Research work in developing the pellet was done at MSU.

Use Of Oil Increasing
Use of oil to boil sap is on the increase. When the cost of labor is included in the cost of cutting wood, oil and wood fuel cost about the same. It takes about three gallons of oil to make one gallon of syrup.

It has the advantage of providing a steadier intense heat than wood. Steady fast boiling is required for the production of high quality syrup, Skog said.

A very critical operation in the making of maple syrup is the accurate determination of finished syrup. Skog said. "Because of the bubbling action and steam created by boiling sap it is difficult to read most testing equipment accurately."

"A new type thermometer that registers temperatures by quarter degrees on a large scale is now available for testing syrup density. Its ease of reading helps greatly to obtain accurate readings. Large dial-type thermometers are also available for use."

'Batch Pans' Trend
Another trend is the use of finishing or "batch" pans for the last stages of boiling. It is at this stage, just when sap is reaching the density of syrup, that fast boiling and careful control of heat is in particular needed to develop the delicate flavor of high quality syrup.

This can be done much easier in a finishing pan heated with oil or gas than in the main evaporating pan, Skog noted, because the heat can be immediately turned off underneath the finishing pan when the proper density has been reached.

Plastic tubing is now being used by some operators to collect and run the sap directly to the evaporator. This eliminates the time-consuming job of gathering sap by use of buckets, which makes up about a third of the cost of syrup making.

"Of course, the cost of the tubing and the labor of cleaning and storing it must also be considered," Skog stated.

NMC Student Teacher In Iron Mountain

Ann Roberts, senior home economics student at Northern Michigan College, has started student teaching in the Iron Mountain High School home economics department.

Miss Roberts is a graduate of Rockland High School and will graduate from Northern in June. The primary purpose of the student teaching program is to enable prospective teachers to develop a high level of competency in an actual school and community setting.

Miss Roberts will be teaching and living in Iron Mountain for eight weeks, under the supervision of Miss Dorothy Davey, home-making teacher in the Iron Mountain schools.

Assists In Five Classes
During her eight week stay, Miss Roberts will assist in teaching five classes. Two of these classes are junior high school core classes required of all 7th and 8th grade girls for 12 weeks.

Besides assisting in teaching these classes, Miss Roberts will have an opportunity to work with the Future Homemakers, the high school home economics club, and become acquainted with the total high school educational program and our community.

"This is the first of what is hoped to be an expanding program of cooperation with Northern Michigan College in the cadet or practice teaching area," stated Bruce Guild, superintendent of schools.

State Police Ticket Driver In Crackup

State police from the Marquette post issued a ticket to one of two motorists involved in a smashup at 3:10 yesterday afternoon in Marquette Township. No one was hurt.

Officers said Charles Anspaugh, 51, Gladstone, was driving east on U.S. 41 and was passing another car when his automobile smashed into a truck operated by Claud Dauphinais, 42, of 2372 Moran St., Marquette Township.

The accident occurred as Dauphinais was making a left turn, officers said.

Car Not Under Control

Extensive damage occurred to the front end of Anspaugh's car, a 1963 convertible, which had to be hauled from the scene by a wrecker. The rear end of Dauphinais' truck, a 1953 model, was damaged, and it was removed from the scene by the owner.

State police ticketed Anspaugh for failing to have his car under control.

Highway Department Sets Newago Hearing

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department will hold a public hearing at Newago Feb. 21 on a proposal to modernize nearly a mile of M-37 in Newago. Cost of the project, scheduled to start early next year, is estimated at $242,000.

Brenda Lee To Appear At U. P. Fair

ESCANABA — The Upper Peninsula State Fair Board has approved a contract for Brenda Lee, popular teen-age star, and the Casuals, a combo that has pleased fair patrons for the past two years.

The group will be featured on Sunday evening, Aug. 18, according to Dean Jackson, chairman of the board, who presided. Plans are also being made to hold a teenage dance in conjunction with the show.

Secretary-Manager Ray LaPorte submitted a report on the meeting held Feb. 8, with the U. P. Dairy Breeds Committee, which was attended by extension personnel, fair officials and members of the four major dairy breeds committee exhibiting at the fair.

Recommendations of the dairy group included construction of a new unloading ramp for cattle, extension of cattle washing racks, and renovation of sleeping quarters for exhibitors in the large dairy barn. The board authorized the improvements subject to the availability of funds.

The U. P. State Fair will be held from Aug. 13 thru 18.

878,155 Car License Tabs Sold To Date

LANSING (AP)—The secretary of state's office reports the latest count shows 878,155 1963 car license tabs have been sold to date, well below the 1,165,754 license plates sold at this time last year. A number of motorists still are showing up without their car titles and have to be refused, the office reported.

Lear Develops New Light Source For Navy

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Development of a new high power coherent green light source—considered essential by the U. S. Navy for underwater communications and surveillance experiments—was announced Monday by Laser Systems Center of Lear Siegler Inc. It makes such light available for the first time to gather basic physical data for future systems and components, according to Center director Lloyd Cross.

Dear Abby...

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Sixteen years ago I married a man I did not love. I knew I didn't love him but I was lonely. Now I have met a man I love dearly. He loves me, too. It is a decent love and not a dirty one. There are children on both sides. What should I do? Go on living with a man I don't love or go to the one I love with all my heart? Please help me.

She married again last January. Now, five weeks later, this "bride" is giving herself a "bridal" shower. Who's crazy?

VIRGINIA
DEAR VIRGINIA: Anyone who accepts such an invitation.

DEAR ABBY: When you read this you will know why I can't sign my name or ask for a personal reply, so please give me some advice through your column. I am a trusted employee, and have handled the cash for several years. The bookkeeper showed me a foolproof way to steal small amounts of money, and we have been doing this for two years. We don't take great amounts, but it is now adding up to more than I had in-

DEAR ABBY: Our office is in an uproar this week. Every girl here received a post card invitation with the following message: "Bridal shower for Minnie. Please call the above number for gift suggestions." It's Minnie's number, so apparently she is giving it herself. Minnie was married once, had three children and was divorced.

tended to take. I have been having nightmares about getting caught and being sent to prison. I want to quit stealing, but the bookkeeper does not want to quit and we have to work together. How can I confess and make things right without involving the bookkeeper? We are both family men. If I don't start living right I am afraid I will do something desperate. What is the answer?

This Week When You Buy - Chicken

BY INGRID BARTELLI (Consumer Marketing Information Agent, Michigan State University) What other meat can you get to feed your family at such featured prices as 29 cents a pound? Even if you regard broiler-fryer chicken "eatin'-meat" still costs only 58 cents a pound. Compare this with ground beef at 49 to 59 cents and one-fourth to one-third fat. This makes the edible yield costs 62 to 70 cents a pound. Wonders which have no waste, cost an average of 69 to 79 cents a pound. Spareribs are sometimes featured at 39 cents a pound, yet if you were to figure the cost of the edible lean meat on spareribs, the cost would be a dollar or more a pound. The only meat that can compete price-wise with broiler-fryers is that from fish, particularly that fish which is available to us who are fortunate enough to live near a fishing port on one of our Great Lakes. Even then, only the more abundant species as Cisco, smelt and perch can compete with poultry for the protein dollar. Any poultry farmer can tell you it is impossible to produce chickens for the market to sell at 29 cents a pound. Why then, do we occasionally see broilers featured at this price? When this happens, the retailer is using poultry as a "loss-leader." This means the store is actually taking a loss when they offer poultry at this price. Then why do they do it? Their reasoning is this. Poultry meat at a price like 29 cents a pound is such a good deal for the customer and so well liked by everyone that it will bring more people into their store to do their shopping than most any other featured item. And if there's one thing a store must have it's customers. Cost Reduced Within the past 10 or 15 years, the costs of producing a pound of poultry meat have been greatly reduced. Many of us remember when we paid three times as much for poultry meat as we do today — and then very often we had to drive out to a farm to get fresh chicken. Today, raising chickens for meat is highly specialized big business. Much of the industry is concentrated in the southern states but we do have some poultry meat production within our and neighboring states. Just nine weeks after an egg is hatched into a baby chick which lives in confined quarters with 10 or 20 thousand other chicks, on nothing but the best in food and care, this chick is then ready for market as a broiler-fryer (these terms are used interchangeably). The shelf-life of a freshly dressed chicken extends from seven to 11 days, so this means speed with the most rigid sanitation and inspection requirements at the slaughter and packing houses. It means icing and refrigeration, freezing in some instances, all through the marketing channel. It means constant care after the poultry has reached the store. Then the critical issue is rapid turnover — so you can enjoy the excellent quality of that bird before the seven to eleven day shelf life period has elapsed. Regular Purchase Now, if there is a bottleneck in this parade of poultry to your table, it is most often in the kitchen, and you and I are at fault, because we know how much farther

The contestants for the queen title are Mary Louise LeSage, Paula Ehle and Joyce Salo.

Solos Also Feature Numbers to be sung by the chorus are "The Sound of Music," "If I Loved You" and "Moon River." Also a feature will be a solo, "Out Of My Dreams" by Doris Pellonpa and incidental solos by Sally Sanford and Janice Peterson. Midway in the program there will be announcements of the winner of the Valentine queen title, and prior to the showing of the movie, "Breakfast At Tiffany's," an organ postlude, also by Paul Bennett, is scheduled.

Attendants for the St. Luke's queen will be Margaret Lee Sanford and Elizabeth Sanford, and the queen's pages will be Gerald and William Brumm.

Chorus Personnel Personnel of the chorus is as follows: Sopranos — Paul Ehle, Elizabeth Erkkila, Ann Harju, Karen Johnson, Janis Larson, Mary Jane Lass, Cynthia Millette, Julienne Miller, Marilyn Miller, Cheryl Nevela, Mary Ann Nurkkala, Doris Pellonpa, Janice Peterson, Karen Ruokola, Joyce Salo, Sally Sanford, Marilyn Tarvainen, Kathryn Tornasoski, Fay Wickstrom and Bonnie Woods. Second sopranos — Helen C. Anderson, Sallie Bourgeois, Eleanor Ghiardi, Mary Anne Klooster, Mary Ann LaTulip, Jane Mahowald, Kathy Murray, Helen Rautio, Ruth Sikkila and Karen Werntanen. Altos — Helen E. Anderson, Ruth Bower, Paulette Bucholtz, Lora Folely, Elizabeth Juntti, Linda Lehwald, Martha Lindsay, Carole Ottensman and Jean Vinskoski.

St. Peter's Home And School Club Holding Sale At Firestone St. Peter's Home and School Club will hold a bake sale Friday at the Firestone Store. A wide selection of baked goods will be offered at the sale, to start at 10 a. m.

Mrs. Albert Vallar is chairman of arrangements for the project and assisting her are Mrs. Richard McGinley, Mrs. Howard Bolduc, Mrs. Albert Savola, Mrs. Francis LaPort and Mrs. Raymond Sedlock. using poultry meat extends our food dollar, we buy it regularly and often. What reaction do you get from your family? Do they exclaim, "Goody, chicken again!" Or do they complain, "Gee, ma, not again!" Now you and I know that in addition to the price advantage, chicken is tender, tasty, high in nutritive value and a favorite of every member of the family from the littlest to the oldest. But we're apt to overdo a good thing, and when the family begins to complain rather than exclaim, it's probably because we cook that chicken in the same way every time we put it on the table. Many Recipes Each of us has our favorite way of preparing chicken. I like to disjoint the bird, dredge the pieces in flour, brown them in fat and then simmer them in a tightly covered pan till the meat is ready to fall off the bones. Sometimes I add a bit of powdered milk to the flour to insure a golden brown color and seasonings, of course — a bit of salt, pepper and a pinch of poultry seasoning. But when I look at the array of spices in my rack, I know I should try some other seasonings. I know, too, I should roast some of those birds whole, or broil them in halves or quarters. I should try different barbecue sauces on them or build a stew or soup around the chicken, or make a chicken pie, or dress them up with biscuits or dumplings. I know, too, that chicken in gravy tastes just as good on rice or noodles as it does on potatoes. I'm sure my family would exclaim more often than complain if I weren't such a "one rut" cook. There is no need nor excuse for getting into a rut when there are so many interesting ways to cook poultry. So let's do away with the bottleneck and increase the pleasure from poultry meat on our table.

Girl Scouts Make Valentine Favors For Patients

Members of Troop 43, sponsored by St. Michael's School, are shown presenting some of the 175 Valentine favors they made during the past school year to Miss Dorothy Chechak, dietitian at St. Luke's Hospital, for distribution to hospital patients. The girls purchased material for the favors themselves.

Michigan's PTA Organizations Will Mark Founders' Day

PTAs throughout the state traditionally schedule meetings this month to recognize their Feb. 17th Founders' Day and to review objects of PTA. "This year is no exception," says Mrs. Wilder Bancroft, Founders' Day chairman of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, but, in addition to an unusual amount of Founders' Day programs, this year Michigan's PTAs are also busy helping shape the state's future," she added.

Locals and councils in every county are scheduling workshops to inform citizens about the new proposed constitution and critical legislative considerations that will effect school programs. "The Founders of the sixty-six year old organization would be proud of the aggressive manner in which Michigan's 400,000 PTA members are applying their objectives to solve school and community problems," Mrs. Bancroft concluded.

adopted for underground ores in place of the present ad valorem tax, which is based on property evaluations.

Cliffs spokesmen made that forecast last night at a special meeting of the Marquette County Economic Study Committee here. The meeting was called at the request of Ernest Rann, Negaunee, international representative of the United Steelworkers of America.

Bleak Alternative
If the specific tax (based on production) isn't adopted, Cliffs officials said, the company's underground operations on the Marquette Range would "become extinct" in two or three years.

Cliffs operates three underground properties on the range — the Bunker Hill Mine in Negaunee; the Mather Mine, with an "A" shaft in Ishpeming and a "B" shaft in Negaunee, and the Cliffs Shaft Mine in Ishpeming.

Cliffs Shaft Not Involved
But, said Stanley Sundein, Ishpeming, manager of research and ore development for Cliffs, "the Cliffs Shaft Mine is not in this picture at all. Cliffs Shaft is going to die for lack of reserves, although we are conducting research at our ore improvement plant in hopes of prolonging the life of the mine."

In contrast, he said, there may be as much as 75,000,000 tons of reserves in the Mather Mine.

The Mather provided employment for 387 men on a four-day week at the end of 1962. The Bunker Hill Mine, also on a four-day week, employed 278 men at year's end.

Harry C. Swanson, Ishpeming, manager of Michigan mines for Cliffs, produced charts showing predicted employment with and without agglomeration and the specific tax. The charts indicated no employment in the Mather and Bunker Hill Mines and the ore improvement plant after 1965 if the agglomeration program were not undertaken.

Effect On Tax Income
But if the underground ores were improved and converted to pellets or briquets, he said, employment would total around 863 in 1965 and in Cliffs underground operations remain at that level for several years.

Adoption of specific taxes on mines that agglomerated ores would reduce taxes on these mines in Negaunee from $647,000 in 1963 to $199,000 in 1967. Without agglomeration, however, taxes in Negaunee on Cliffs underground mines would decline to an estimated $8,000 in 1967, Swanson said.

Pellets, Briquets Produced
In Ishpeming, the taxes on Cliffs soft ore mines would decline from $496,000 in 1963 to $74,000 in 1967 if the specific tax is imposed. But, without the specific tax and agglomeration, the rate would plunge to about $6,000 in 1967, Swanson explained.

Sundein produced two Mason jars, one containing pellets and the other briquets, all produced by ore from Cliffs underground mines on the Marquette Range.

"We are confident that technically this job (agglomerating ores) can be done, but what we need is a specific tax," he said. In order to build an agglomerating plant, however, Cliffs would have to be able to attract a partner or partners, "but we can't attract partners when the tax is $1.08 a ton," Sundein said. He pointed out that the tax rate on underground ores had gone up from 13 cents a ton to

Asked by Negaunee City Manager Harris if labor would be willing to accept a wage cut to help keep mining production costs down, Rann said, "No." He added that the unions had made several concessions to management since 1956 and would not consent to further concessions now.

William Peterson, superintendent of Ishpeming schools, said that, while he was not necessarily opposed to the specific tax proposal, the citizens of Ishpeming should be warned of its consequences.

"If this law doesn't go through," he said, "people in Ishpeming will have to realize that, if they want the schools they now have, they will have to be taxed heavily. Mine workers will be included in the heavy tax rate, and some may move out of town to avoid these high taxes."

"If this law doesn't go through, then for sure the people will be taxed out of town," Sundein said. "If we don't agglomerate underground ores, the people not only will have higher taxes. They also will have higher unemployment."

Earlier this week, Cliffs announced that the McLouth Steel Co. had served notice that it is giving up its 50 per cent interest in the Bunker Hill Mine by the end of 1963 and that the mine would be closed unless steps could be taken to upgrade the product.

Cliffs also said that Bethlehem Steel Co. is giving serious consideration to withdrawing from the Mather Mine.

No Formal Action Taken
It was this announcement that prompted Rann to request last night's special meeting.

The committee adjourned without taking any formal action on the proposal outlined by Cliffs officials, but agreed to meet again soon for further consideration of the matter.

Harris will present monthly financial statements, and will request permission to obtain bids on 1,000 pounds of copper wire.

Arsenault of Ishpeming, also a member of the executive committee, will serve as chairman of the Hiawatha district, which is composed of the easternmost seven counties of the Upper Peninsula.

Refreshments were served by the host league.

The next rally on March 3 will be hosted by the Bethany Lutheran League of Ishpeming and will consist of winter sports activities as well as a program and lunch at Bethany Church. All Lutheran youths are welcome.

Mr. T. R. McNabb, City Manager
Dear Mr. McNabb:

Rich Bur called me yesterday to advise that an inquiry had been made of our company as to whether or not we were planning to increase our rates for service in Ishpeming. I appreciate your taking the trouble to immediately call us on this matter, although we are disturbed that such a rumor did exist.

proves feasible, we would then ascertain whether or not there was sufficient desire for this channel to justify the increase in rates necessary to bring the service to this area. Again, so that there will be no misunderstanding however, we do not anticipate any upward adjustment in rates for the existing service and would take no action to provide the additional service with a necessary rate increase, without the sanction of the municipalities.

Again, thank you for taking the trouble to check with us so that we may have the opportunity of refuting any misconceptions.

Yours very truly,
IRON RANGE CABLE CORPORATION
/s/ Fred Lieberman,
President

High score honors and complimentary theater tickets were won by Lance Johns and Alex Hill of the Veterans with a 1,217 match.

Alger Hit By Another Snowstorm

MUNISING — A raging blizzard which hit this area at about 5 yesterday afternoon has caused all schools in Munising, Eben and AuTrain to close this morning.

Strong northwest winds have whipped loose snow into drifts up to four feet on many roads throughout Alger County and has made visibility poor for drivers. State police warned all motorists to stay off highways "unless the trip is absolutely necessary."

Snowfall for the 24-hour period ending at 6 last night, according to Mrs. E. J. Mitchell, cooperative weather observer, amounted to 3.5 inches. That brought the winter's total to 104.7 inches.

The temperature dropped to zero early this morning. The outbreak of water line freeze-ups has eased somewhat, according to City Manager Walter Looney, as a result of the mild weather earlier in the week. City crews had thawed water lines leading to 220 homes during January. Fifty freeze-ups have been reported to date in February.

Mahovich Ends Slump, Beats Wings

(By the Associated Press) Frank Mahovich, Toronto's "million dollar baby," is out of his scoring slump and, as a direct result, the Leafs are in second place in the National Hockey League.

The Big M, subject of a million dollar offer from Chicago in the off-season, broke his slump with two goals against Detroit Wednesday night. The second one broke a 2-2 tie and triggered a four-goal third period burst that brought the Leafs a 6-2 triumph in the only NHL game scheduled.

The triumph moved the Leafs past the Montreal and into second place, five points back of leading Chicago and one up on the Canadiens.

Larry Jeffrey had pulled Detroit into a 2-2 tie early in the period when Mahovich's second goal of the game and 29th of the season put the Leafs ahead to stay. Bob Pulford, Red Kelly and George Armstrong rapped in the other third period Toronto goals that put it out of reach.

Tim Horton scored Toronto's first goal, which was matched by Alex Delvecchio's first period marker for Detroit.

Negaunee City Loop Starts Eliminations

NEGAUNEE — The Negaunee City league starts double elimination playoffs among its independent basketball teams, Thursday.

League champion Boosta's, so far ahead in the standings that no make-up games were played this year, will take on Hotel Bar at 8, following the opener pitting Mattson's Dairy against Palmer, and the Neely-Patch Location game.

Boosta's very nearly suffered their second loss of the year in the regular season finale, before tipping Mattson's, 76-73. Mattson's sank their first seven shots, and led 45-26 at the half, but Boosta's doubled their production in the third period, and finally won it at the free throw line.

Palmers-Mets won their third in a row, 40-36 over Hotel Bar, in such a low scoring game that the third period tally was 4-2. Mel Riekkil and Tom Cox of Metropolitan and Ken Jalonen and Ron Wig of Hotel each scored 12.

Patch rallied to down Neely, 61-53. Lou Guzzi had 23 for Patch. "Sonny" Guzzetti, 16 for the Lumbermen.

3-Way Tie For Second In MIAA

(By the Associated Press) While high school basketball was idle, three teams moved into a second place tie in the MIAA basketball standings Wednesday night.

Pitt Swaps 1-Point Wins With Rivals

(By the Associated Press) Pitt's Panthers may have won bigger games or scored victories that were more satisfying. But not this season. That's for sure.

Two weeks ago at Pitt, the Panthers lost a heart-breaking one-point decision to West Virginia, 68-67, when a potential winning field goal with one second left was not allowed.

The Panthers, unranked nationally but one of the country's better independents, made up for that one with a 69-68 triumph at West Virginia Wednesday night.

Winning Points Paul Krieger dropped in two free throws with 12 seconds left to provide the tying and winning points as the Panthers advanced their record to 15-4 for the season.

Duke and Georgia Tech protected their positions in the top ten rankings, but each had trouble doing it. Third-ranked Duke won its 12th in a row in a 79-74 edge over Virginia at Charlottesville and 10th ranked Georgia Tech broke out of a two-game losing slump at the expense of Vanderbilt, 69-62.

Other Games In some of the other major games Tennessee State upset St. Bonaventure 86-85; Notre Dame crushed Gannon 82-47; South Carolina whipped Furman 67-56; Navy blasted Rutgers 92-60; Villanova routed St. John's 52-32; Dayton edged Duquesne 53-37; and Davidson beat Richmond 72-57.

13 Tigers Unsigned For 1963

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — General Manager Jim Campbell expects little holdout trouble although the Tigers' progress in contract signing has all but stopped.

Campbell has brought only one player to terms in the last two weeks. Still to sign are 13 players among the 42 listed on the Detroit roster.

Rock, Cash Unsigned And a couple are tough ones to bring into line — Rocky Colavito and Norm Cash.

Colavito, who has only five players to go because the others are rookies who are still playing winter ball in Latin America, Campbell said Wednesday.

The five are Colavito, Cash, Chico Fernandez, Billy Bruton, and Whitey Herzog.

Frank Lary also is unsigned but he's working at Detroit's early camp and Campbell said no negotiations will begin until it's determined if the veteran pitcher's shoulder is better.

JIM WELSH

Koski, Welsh To Get Trials With Patriots

Halfback-linebacker Dick Koski and Tackle Jim Welsh will try for professional football careers with the Boston Patriots.

Koski, co-captain of Northern Michigan's 1962 Wildcats, averaged 4.7 yards per carry in his 1962 career, hitting his peak in 1961, when he gained 349 yards in 67 carries, caught four passes for 94 yards, returned five punts 27 yards and returned four kickoffs 56 yards, earning State NAIA and Associated Press recognition.

In his NMC career, he scored seven touchdowns. He's a Wakefield product.

Big Jim Welsh, in addition to being a fixture in the Wakefield forward wall for three years, did the NMC placekicking.

State May Quit WBA Over Lane

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A new crack was showing in the World Boxing Association ranks today, created by an old story — the alleged duking of boxer Kenny Lane, of Muskegon, Mich.

Michigan was threatening to pull out of the WBA unless the champion Carlos Ortiz to defend against Lane, the No. 1 contender, "Within Rights."

But WBA officials here said Ortiz was within his rights in defending his title March 30 against Doug Vaillant of Cuba, the No. 4 lightweight.

Dr. Charles Larson, president of the WBA said here, where officials of the organization are meeting, that he expected Ortiz to defend against Lane before June 3 — the end of a six-months grace period.

That was not the understanding of the rules in Michigan, where Athletic Board Chairman David Gudelsky said he would pull the state out of the WBA unless the organization cracked down on Ortiz for not fighting the leading contender instead of Vaillant.

Ortiz won the title 10 months ago, but Larson said he had fought a legitimate defense against Teruo Kosaka of Japan last Dec. 3 in Tokyo. Ortiz flattened the Japanese in five rounds.

U. P. High School Alpine, Nordic Ski Meets In Area

Upper Peninsula High School ski teams will compete at Cliffs Ridge and the Al Quaal winter sports area, Friday and Saturday, in Alpine and Nordic championship meets.

As of this morning, 65 boys and 30 girls had been entered in Alpine events, along with 19 jumpers and nine cross-country racers, from 11 high schools.

Marquette Gravaer and Ishpeming, along with Marquette Baraga, Iron Mountain, Kingsford, Houghton, Hancock, Calumet, Ontonagon, Ironwood and St. Ignace are entering, and others may join the list before tomorrow morning.

The Alpine events start at 9:30 a.m. Friday, at Cliffs Ridge, while the Nordic side of the meet will start at 10 a.m. Saturday, in the Ishpeming ski area.

Bill Hart, Gravaer athletic director, heads the meet, with John Pontti assisting on the Ishpeming end.

St. Ignace is entering the meet for the first time. Missing from the meet list, this morning, were Wakefield and Bessemer, from among the 1962 team entries.

Team trophies will be awarded, with separate Alpine and Nordic presentations, and medals will go to the first five places in the events.

Jr. High '5s' Reach Playoff Semifinals

CHAMPION — Champion meets Diorite at 8 tonight, following the Republic-Negaunee St. Paul game, in the divisional playoffs of the Marquette County Junior High School basketball league.

Champion advanced by downing Ishpeming St. John, 41-36, and Diorite defeated Michigamme, 29-20, Wednesday evening.

Moyle, Lempesis Top Pin List; Over 120 Keglers Mark '200s'

More than 120 bowlers in nine leagues topped the 200 mark in recent pin action on area alleys.

After the pins had stopped shaking (possibly from fright) 48 kegglers with "200s" were tallied in the Ishpeming Major league alley.

In that circuit, Al Moyle warmed up for a 666 (215-214-237) and Jack Paju had high game of 241. Maurice Hansen rolled a 628, George Laitinen, 611; Joe Nicholas, 623; Tab Willey, 612; Jim Willey, 604; Warren Bjork, 603.

Knicks Blow 3-Point Lead In 15 Seconds

(By the Associated Press) The New York Knicks seem to be setting new marks for futility in the National Basketball Association this season.

As Eastern Division tail-enders, the Knicks have managed to win only 16 of 60 games so far. Loss No. 44 came Wednesday night the hard way—the Knicks had a three point lead and the ball in their possession with 15 seconds to go, and blew it to the St. Louis Hawks 103-102.

Up at the other end of the standings, the Los Angeles Lakers, leaders in the West, rallied for a 134-128 victory over the Boston Celtics, Eastern pacesetters. The Cincinnati Royals beat the Syracuse Nets 124-122 at Indianapolis and the Detroit Pistons nipped the San Francisco Warriors 134-132 in overtime in other NBA games.

Last Four Points Cliff Hagan netted the Hawks' last four points at New York, hitting the winner, on a jump shot with one second to go as St. Louis overhauled the Knicks.

Don Ohl dumped in six straight points at the beginning of the 5-minute extra period to give the Pistons an insurmountable 127-121 margin after Wilt Chamberlain had forced the overtime with a tip-in only a second before the regulation game ended.

One-Man Effort Ohl tallied 17 points during the fourth quarter as he personally kept Detroit in the game. He hit a long jumper, a lay-in and two free throws in the overtime to finish with a Detroit high of 32 points.

The Warriors bounced back to a one-point deficit at 129-128 in the overtime but Ray Scott and Bob Ferry kept the Pistons on top.

Yank Reliever Shot In Leg By Woman

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Marshall (Sheriff) Bridges, ace reliever pitcher of the New York Yankees, was listed in fair condition at Broward General Hospital today as police questioned a woman they shot him in the left leg after "some sort of argument."

Police said the wound was not serious, but Yankee officials said Bridges could be sidelined for two months.

Negro Club The shooting occurred shortly after 10 p.m. Wednesday night, at a Negro club known as the Pride of Fort Lauderdale Elks Lodge.

Police booked a woman identified as Carrie Lee Rayson on a charge of aggravated assault in connection with the shooting.

A patron at the club, Erskine Heppburn, said he drove Bridges to the hospital after the shooting. He was sitting next to Bridges and Miss Rayson when the shooting occurred, he said.

Detroit, Lansing Act To Bolster Bid For '68 Summer Olympics

(By the Associated Press) Michigan's politicians, civic leaders, businessmen and industrialists are putting up a united front to shore up Detroit's bid for the 1968 Olympic Games.

The decision of directors of the U.S. Olympic Committee (USOC) to reopen bidding to other cities — particularly Los Angeles — stirred quick action in Detroit and the state capitol in Lansing Wednesday.

Democrats and Republicans forgot party lines and joined forces to reinstate Detroit as the sole U.S. bidder.

A new hearing on U.S. cities will be held March 18-19 in New York. The Olympic site will be chosen by the International Olympic Committee in Nairobi, Kenya, in October.

The Detroit City Council quickly endorsed Mayor Jerome Cavanagh's proposal to set up a joint state-city board to build an Olympic Stadium at the State Fairgrounds.

A copy of the proposal was rushed 80 miles by police car to Los Angeles as just as determined as Detroit.

The Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors formed a committee of 100 citizens to help get the games for Los Angeles.

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn of Los Angeles said he believes Los Angeles will win out over Detroit. He said, "These games mean $100 million in business and world prestige which cannot be matched."

Roberts Signs For 16th Season

(By the Associated Press) Is 35 the age for a new lease on baseball life?

It was for Robin Roberts. It may be for Luis Arroyo.

Roberts, a 244-game major league winner, sent his signed contract to the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday. He will get an estimated $20,000, about the same as last year, for his 16th season.

Roberts swept to comeback honors at the age of 35 after the New York Yankees released him without letting him throw a pitch in a regular game. Picked up by the Orioles in late May, he wound up with a 10-9 mark and the league's second best ERA. He won eight games by one or two runs, and lost five by similar margins.

Kentucky School Gym Big Enough For Half County

NEW CASTLE, KY. (AP) — Henry County school officials believe in planning ahead so they built a 5,600-seat gymnasium for the county high school. That's big enough to hold half the county population and provide more than nine seats per pupil.

A young Montreal hockey fan padded Terry Sawchuk's wallet by $250, earlier this year. NHL officials announced the mid-season All-Star voting, which earns $500 bonuses for first team choices, and $250 for second teamers. The Montreal Star ran the voting figures, and the young fan saw that the total votes for goalies came to 152 instead of 162, as it should have been. Red-faced NHL brass found all ten belong to the Red Wings' Sawchuk, tying him with Glen Hall for the first string, and they each collected first-team money.

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's highway construction cost index rose two tenths of a point last year to 169, reports the state highway department. The index, figured on a base of 100 points in 1940, was 168.8 at the end of 1961.

Rev. Fuller Tells Plans For Lent

TRENTARY — Lenten services, with guest speakers, are being planned for several Thursdays during Lent, according to announcement by the Rev. Densel Fuller, pastor of the Methodist Church. Communion will be served Sunday, March 3, and Good Friday evening, March 29.

Plans for the services were made at a meeting of the church board, which also heard the building committee discuss plans for a new well, two restrooms and insulation of the building. Members of the committee are Robert Carlson, Elmer Raab, Donald Sandstrom Sr., Mrs. Esther Cauchon and Mrs. Frank Richmond.

A special committee of Mrs. Andrew Rodgers Sr., Mrs. Elmer Raab and Clarence Lalone was asked to make arrangements for scrapping and painting the exterior of the building the coming summer. Plans also are being made for redecorating the chapel in the near future.

The fourth quarterly conference of the church, to be conducted by the Rev. Ivan Gosner, district superintendent, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 26.
