WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says U.S. economy "will inevitably move into a downturn"—perhaps this year—if Congress doesn't act promptly to cut taxes. Kennedy told his news conference Thursday the congressional

Wilson Wants To Get Rid Of Nuclear Arms

LONDON (AP)—Harold Wilson, the youngest Labor party leader in British history and possibly the next prime minister, wants Britain to get rid of its nuclear arms and abandon the Polaris missile agreement with the United States. In a television interview following his election to the party leadership Thursday night, Wilson said nuclear arms should be confined to the United States and the Soviet Union.

Opinion Polls
As the party leader Wilson will become prime minister if Labor wins the general election which Prime Minister Harold Macmillan must hold by October, 1964. Recent opinion polls have given the Laborites a clear edge over Macmillan's conservatives.

Wilson, 46, a leftist intellectual and Labor's foreign affairs expert, won the party leadership over George Brown, the more conservative deputy party leader.

Romney Outlines Program For Economic Expansion

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney outlined a program for Michigan's economic expansion today.

Romney made his recommendations in a written message to the legislature. The message also formed the prepared text of a speech to be delivered before a Michigan AFL-CIO legislative conference at Lansing.

Romney repeated his former statement that Michigan's number one economic need is jobs, and added that the major role of the government is to make sure that "our economic citizens are not handicapped by public policies and actions."

Government, he said, should not be a stumbling block to compete in the open market place so that investor and producer enjoy satisfactory return.

Three Areas
Romney said immediate steps should be taken to capitalize on the job creation potential of legislation in three areas:

—Creation of a new department of economic expansion, with an executive director responsible directly to the Governor and charged with the planning, direction and implementation of a job creation program.

—Encouragement of creation of new business development corporations and encouragement to Michigan's financial institutions to provide additional sources of credit through these corporations.

—Creation of a special state research fund of $750,000 to enable Michigan research facilities to focus attention on projects that can boost the state's job-producing economy.

"All sorts of proposals have been considered — various forms of subsidy, an elaborate world's fair exhibit, a state magazine, a floating exposition on the Great Lakes, a fully-staffed Washington office, traveling ambassadors to tour Europe and the rest of the world and many more ideas. All have elements of merit."

"Must Correct Weaknesses"
"We must correct our weaknesses in blocking and tackling and line play before we can shake loose for a lot of touch-down runs," he said.

The number of pneumonia-influenza deaths reported weekly has remained above epidemic proportions for the last five weeks, with a sharp upswing for the week ending Feb. 9, the report added.

Excess pneumonia-influenza deaths increased sharply in the Middle and South Atlantic states, with the greatest excess reported in Richmond, Va.; Baltimore, Md.; Washington, D.C., and New York City. The presence of Asian influenza was confirmed in each of these areas.

No Further Outbreaks
No further outbreaks of influenza-like disease were reported from Maine, Vermont, Illinois, Kansas or Georgia, areas in which limited outbreaks were reported previously.

Other states in which the disease has been reported are North Carolina, Delaware, South Carolina, Ohio and Massachusetts.

Republicans Meet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some 1,500 Republican delegates met today in Grand Rapids to select 10 candidates for the Spring election ticket, name a new state chairman and pledge support for the proposed constitution. Primary attention was focused on the chairmanship race, which has matched Arthur Elliott, Jr., of Bloomfield Hills (right), against John Gibof Royal Oak (left), both of whom helped in the election campaign of Gov. George Romney. (AP Photos).

Six Nabbed In Plot To Kill De Gaulle

PARIS (AP)—Six high-ranking army officers were arrested early today and accused of plotting to kill President Charles de Gaulle. It was the fourth assassination plot reported against the president in 17 months.

Police reports said the officers planned to kill the 72-year-old chief of state with a rifle fitted with a telescopic sight when he visited a military school this morning.

Generals
Some unconfirmed reports said one or more generals were among those arrested and that one officer detained was on the official reception committee for the president's visit. De Gaulle visited the school on Sunday.

A French woman who taught English at the school also was arrested in the series of night raids that rounded up the alleged ringleaders, police reports said.

The Interior Ministry refused to issue any detailed information, but details began leaking out from unofficial sources as the investigation went into high gear.

These sources said a rifle with a telescopic sight was seized during the raids.

JFK Challenges GOP Critics To Offer Alternatives

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has challenged Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and other Republicans to offer alternatives for administration foreign policies they criticize.

Kennedy told his news conference Thursday he shares the suspicion that the New York governor wants to be the Republican candidate against him in next year's presidential election.

Mistake
Pointing up what had the appearance of a concerted Democratic attack on Rockefeller, Kennedy said "it is a mistake to assume that the United States is wrong" everywhere it has a disagreement with a foreign country.

This obviously was aimed at the New York governor's Feb. 9 contention that the Kennedy administration is to blame for "the present disarray within the Atlantic alliance." His statement paralleled similar criticisms by Republican leaders in Congress.

No Comment
Rockefeller had no immediate comment.

Mediterranean To Get Polaris

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three U.S.-manned Polaris submarines were assigned to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's supreme commander, will begin to take station in the Mediterranean about April 1, Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatric said today.

The three Polaris submarines working the Mediterranean will be integrated into the general strategic target system assigned to other Polaris ships in the North Atlantic and to the missile bombers of the U.S. Air Force Strategic Air Command, Gilpatric said.

Reds Seek Second Cuba In Venezuela

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Special Correspondent

The spectacular hijacking of a Venezuelan government freighter appears to signal a desperate Communist-Castroist campaign to prevent national elections scheduled for this year and to reduce Venezuela to revolutionary chaos.

The hijacking coincided with a new outburst of terrorism in Caracas, probably to dramatize the idea that a full-fledged revolution has begun to bring down President Romulo Betancourt's government and turn Venezuela into a second Cuba.

FALN
Behind all this is an organization calling itself Frente Armado de Liberacion Nacional — the Armed National Liberation Front. It is generally known by the initials—FALN.

This Communist organization has armed guerrillas in the Venezuelan hills. Its arms and support seem to come largely from Fidel Castro's regime, and it is oriented toward the violent revolutionary doctrines of Communist China.

Venezuela's government says FALN has a blueprint for assassination of government leaders, widespread murder, and sabotage of petroleum installations, backbone of the nation's economy.

Police reported finding evidence of the plan in a recent raid on FALN headquarters.

Trip To U.S.
The timing of the blows suggests an attempt to prevent Betancourt from going to the United States next week.

But there is much more to it. Venezuelan elections are scheduled for December. If Betancourt holds out until then, he will be the first elected president in the country's history to finish out his term.

The drama—will Betancourt make it or won't he?—is in its final act. The Communist-Castroist combine, stung by setbacks in the past two years, is ready to abandon caution and stage a wild battle for the most attractive target in Latin America, a restless land rich in resources.

Year Of Revolution
A series of desperado acts and terrorism have paved the way for what the rebels want to make the year of revolution. The violence has been carried out with Czechoslovak weapons believed to have been smuggled in from Cuba.

If the Betancourt government finishes its term, it will be a narrow squeak. The country is rich, but plagued by soaring unemployment as its labor force increases by 80,000 a year. The Action Democratica, Betancourt's party, has no outstanding candidate on the horizon. Apart from the president, who cannot succeed himself, it has no commanding personalities.

Trouble In Cities
The government has the loyalty of the peasantry, but it is in trouble in the cities. The outburst of agitation are among impatient students, to whom violence is a way of letting off steam.

Soviets Want Western Concession As Price For Continuing Talks

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union declared today talks for negotiation of a treaty to ban nuclear testing can only be kept alive if the Western powers offer a major concession.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov said a treaty really is within easy reach and accused the Western powers of stalling.

Reds Seek Second Cuba In Venezuela

LANSING (AP) — Public school districts would be responsible for the transportation of students to private and parochial schools under a controversial bill which has been introduced in the Senate.

The measure, with 28 co-sponsors, was filed from the floor Thursday after the rules were suspended to clear the way for the unusual procedure. Most bills are filed through the clerk's office.

Wants More Details
Romney said he would like a more detailed explanation on how much more such a law would cost the state and local school districts.

"I'm favorable toward the principle, but I want to study the mechanics of carrying out the measure," Romney commented.

The principal sponsor, Sen. Robert Vander Laan, R-Grand Rapids, estimated the extra transportation would cost the state about $17 million annually, and local districts about $370,000.

Vander Laan denied that the measure would violate the traditional separation of church and state. It would fall under the government's responsibility to provide for the health, safety and welfare of its citizens, he told reporters.

No Decision
AFL-CIO Steelworkers Union President McDonald insists there has been no decision whether the reopening option will be exercised. But it would be a major surprise if the union passed up the opportunity for at least some gain.

McDonald said he has had no word from the White House or anyone in the federal government. He said the union is taking into consideration the fact that steel company earnings statements for 1962 reflected the worst yield in a decade.

Vacation Proposal
McDonald, here for a winter meeting of his union's international executive board, discussed with newsmen plans for the extended vacation proposal the union has negotiated with can manufacturers.

Workers under the plan get three months paid vacation every five years, once they have completed 15 years of service. This is in addition to a regular annual vacation.

TORONTO (AP) — The Ontario bushland's 1,500 striking loggers were expected to go back to work Saturday or next week following a 19-hour bargaining session between union and company officials which ended in a temporary agreement.

Labor Minister Leslie Rowntree said the loggers will meet Saturday to ratify the pact designed to end the month-long walkout which exploded into violence Monday. Enraged settlers in the area killed three strikers and wounded nine others.

Rowntree believes the agreement will serve as the basis for settlement of the 5½-month dispute over a new contract for the loggers. The loggers demand a 40-hour week, instead of 44 and other benefits. A company spokesman estimated they averaged $21 a day under the old contract.

The pact was worked out after aroused provincial authorities ordered the union and the companies to get together to end the strike which touched off a war between the strikers and settlers in the Kapuskasing area 400 miles northwest of Toronto.

About 1,000 settlers in the area add to their meager farming incomes by delivering pulpwood in the winter to the Spruce Falls Power and Paper Co. The strikers patrolled the woods to prevent the deliveries.

Monday, 400 union members invaded a camp near Kapuskasing where the settlers had collected logs. The settlers opened fire. Since then some 200 provincial police have kept order.

Police charged 19 settlers with non-capital murder and 237 unionists with rioting.

Destroyers Pursue Ship In Caribbean

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Fidel Castro's regime offered asylum today to Communist hijackers of the Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui as Venezuelan destroyers and jet bombers hunted the fugitive vessel across the Caribbean.

The 3,127-ton freighter was believed heading for the Cuban port of Santiago, on the island's southeast coast.

Three Venezuelan destroyers were reported on the track of the captive ship. But if its position was known, it was kept secret by Venezuelan authorities.

The Castro government, in a statement broadcast by Havana Radio, said if the ship arrived at any Cuban port, "the revolutionary government will grant asylum to Venezuelan revolutionaries and members of the crew who solicit such."

The broadcast said the ship and the rest of the crew would be turned over to U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant.

Spot Freighter
Reliable sources said U.S. Navy planes spotted the freighter Thursday midway between Venezuela and the Dominican Republic. Shipping circles in Caracas said the motorship Sucre later reported sighting the Anzoategui in about the same position.

This would have placed the freighter about 450 miles southeast of Santiago, which is 40 miles from the big U.S. naval base at Guantanamo.

Some observers believed the hijackers had not decided whether to try for the Cuban port or for Mexico. The freighter has a top speed of 15 knots, considerably less than the pursuing destroyers. But it has a considerable start on the pursuers.

All-Out Effort
President Romulo Betancourt ordered an all-out effort to intercept the hijackers, identified as nine members of the Armed Forces for National Liberation, a Communist organization with links to Fidel Castro's regime. Betancourt called on friendly nations in the area to help.

U.S. Scans Skies For Lost Syncom

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States' worldwide tracking network today scanned the skies in search of the Syncom communications satellite lost in space.

The 86-pound satellite vanished Thursday about five hours after it was launched from Cape Canaveral toward an intended synchronous orbit 22,300 miles high in which it would have seemed to hover stationary over one spot on earth.

Radio contact was lost with the satellite seconds after a small payload rocket fired to transfer Syncom from a highly elliptical orbit into a circular synchronous orbit.

Backup Booster
Some officials expressed doubt that even if radar or other tracking devices found the satellite, it could be used as a communications tool.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has a backup Syncom and Delta booster rocket here. The rocket could be fired within a few weeks if the limited amount of telemetry on Thursday's shot is able to quickly pinpoint the trouble.

Does Uncle Sam Give Big Shot, Little Guy Equal Treatment?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tax collectors shudder every time they read in the papers or hear on the air that the government settled a debt with a well-known personality for, say, 20 cents on the dollar.

From experience they know losers in past disputes with Uncle Sam will write letters demanding to know why this big shot got off for one-fifth when they had to pay something like one-half.

Angry taxpayers will stand up at meetings, denounce the government for compromising with wrongdoers and ask if honesty really pays.

No Surrender
Lawyers at the Internal Revenue Service insist there was no surrender. What really happened, they say, was that the government finally ascertained and accepted all it could expect if the case went through court.

"It is a false impression that we are giving away something and not getting all we are entitled to," says Rudy P. Hertzog, associate chief counsel at IRS.

"Who the taxpayer is, whether he is prominent or unknown, has absolutely nothing to do with it," puts in Leo Bardenheuer, assistant director of the appellate division.

Why The Difference?
Then why is there frequently such a difference between the amount the government asserts an individual owes in back taxes and penalties and the amount it eventually accepts?

Hertzog says its mainly because in this kind of dispute, IRS is unable to obtain sufficient data to derive an accurate figure. Sometimes it may result from a court decision modifying the law. But primarily, Hertzog contends, it's because available records are incomplete and the taxpayer or his attorney is unwilling until the case reaches the court stage to make a full disclosure.

Support Government
Two Washington attorneys who are always on the other side in tax contests find themselves generally supporting the government's case. One says it puts an "unfair slant" on the tax collector's job to complain that he settled for so much on the dollar. Occasionally, this lawyer says, he has felt IRS entered some times in its bill "for trading purposes." He also expresses doubt the government suffers seriously from lack of information except in fraud cases.

The other attorney—both asked to remain anonymous—said most difficulties arise from agents in district offices, particularly for the little guy who is unaware he has rights of appeal. In this lawyer's opinion, "The government is much tougher on the big shot than on the little fellow."

"Part of the difficulty," Bardenheuer says, "is the general impression that we have already determined on the basis of full information how much an individual owes and take less than we had determined. In fact, we make a determination as to how much he may owe. What is determined in the settlement is how much he does owe."

Just this week the government settled an initial claim of about $315,000 against former Gov. Earle C. Clements of Kentucky for some $62,000 plus interest.

IRS says that for lack of records, the government was unsure in which year certain items were taxable so played safe by assigning them to more than one year. When the right years were established, a duplication of more than $93,000 was eliminated. Furthermore, IRS relates, conclusion that fraud could not be proved resulted in dropping claims for another $146,000 in penalties and back taxes.

Settle For $98
IRS attorneys point to files indicating they have many more problems on a lesser scale. Uncertainty over some bank deposits led to a $9,687 assessment against a West Virginia couple. When records were produced, the government settled for $98. In Corpus Christi, Tex., a $3,405 case was settled without any payment when later evidence substantiated charitable contributions.

All these are settlements of disputed tax liability. In a different type of case, the government will compromise for a smaller amount when liability is undisputed if, Hertzog says, "this is all we can reasonably hope to collect in the foreseeable future."

Compromise
Thus a chap in California who owes $7,290 won a compromise for $1,800. He must pay $700 at once and the balance at $40 a month. His income is estimated at $500 a month.

Temperature Plunges Below Zero Again; Colder Weather Due

There appears to be no real let-up in Marquette's severest winter yet.

Last night the mercury plunged below zero here and it was zero again this morning, marking the 29th time this winter it's been zero or below — and most of those times it was well below zero.

Five times this month and five times in December the thermometer recorded temperatures zero or below. The 19-day stretch of subzero weather last month was the coldest ever, the previous being 16 straight days of below zero weather here.

Yesterday's high was 11 and the low two below zero, which made a mean temperature of five, or 14 degrees below normal. For the month it's averaging 5.1 degrees below normal.

It was zero most of the morning, with the sun helping the thermometer to inch upward (it was six shortly before noon). However, today's high was not expected to be more than 10, and tonight it'll get much colder, according to Meteorologist Fred Mueller.

Minimum forecast for tonight is five below here and 15 below inland. Tomorrow's high will be 10 to 20. It was colder inland last night, with the county airport having a low of -6.

Other readings: Ironwood, -24; Calumet and Iron Mountain, -10; Mesoninee and Sault Ste. Marie, -3; and Escanaba, -4.

C-C Tourist Unit's Meeting Tomorrow

An important meeting of the tourist division of the Marquette Chamber of Commerce will be held in the chamber building beginning at 10 tomorrow morning.

John Bomber, chairman of the division, urged every member to attend and assist in the planning of the 1963 tourist promotion program. Committee members will be appointed, he added.

Among the topics to be discussed are the following:

1. Brochure layout (with a committee to be named).
2. Map changes (with a committee to be selected).
3. Classified listing regulations, with decisions to be made.
4. Directional signs to places of interest and public parking lots (with a committee to be appointed).
5. Fishing derby (with a committee to be chosen).

Affects Many

"The tourist industry affects the economy of all types of businesses — motels, hotels, restaurants, service stations, garages, retailers, laundries, attractions, entertainments, sport shops, wholesalers and others," Bomber pointed out.

"For this reason, we would like to see as many representatives of these various groups as possible at the session. Remember, better planning now means a better tourist dollar in 1963."

U. S. Income Tax Return Questions

Do I File?

Read these instructions and you can determine if you have to file an income tax return.

Every citizen of the United States, and every alien resident of the United States who is under 65 years of age and who had gross income of $600 or more must file a tax return. If you are 65 or over on December 31, you must file an income tax return if your gross income was $1,200 or more during the taxable year.

Minors Must File

Minor children are subject to the same filing requirements as all other federal tax payers. A person under 21 years of age must file an income tax return if his gross income for the year amounted to $600 or more.

If you had less than $600 of gross income, and income tax was withheld from your wages, you should file a return to get a refund of the tax withheld.

If in doubt about the filing requirement, telephone the Marquette Internal Revenue service office, post office building, Marquette.

Rise In Delinquency Among Girls Big Problem In County

A striking increase in delinquency among girls is a major problem of the juvenile division of Marquette County Probate Court.

So asserted Probate Judge Michael F. DeFant, Marquette, at this week's dinner meeting of the Exchange Club, held in the Clifton Hotel, as a highlight of the club's observance of Crime Prevention Week.

After a preliminary hearing, a child is returned to his parents and school authorities under the guidance of probation officers or, in cases requiring a regular hearing, a complete investigation is conducted. In most cases, parents and officers involved attend the ensuing regular hearing.

Big Increase In 1962

The past year brought a big increase in delinquency among girls between the ages of 14 and 17, Judge DeFant said.

Contributing to the young girl delinquency problem are broken homes, a lack of discipline in the home, liquor and the extensive use of automobiles by young people, he said.

Judge DeFant recommended an expanded family counseling service which, if properly staffed, might handle some cases before they become serious enough for juvenile court.

Circuit Court Trial Here In Second Day

An auto negligence suit continued in its second day of jury trial in Marquette County Circuit Court here this morning.

The plaintiff, Alfred J. Maki, Marquette, is claiming $50,000 damages, resulting from a pedestrian-car accident which occurred Nov. 27, 1961, on U. S. 41 west of Marquette.

Defendant in the case is Bernard J. Crowley, Marquette.

Three Witnesses Testify

Witnesses call to testify for the plaintiff yesterday were Dr. James W. Lyons, Marquette; Raymond Hocking, Ishpeming, and Crowley, called by the plaintiff in cross-examination.

So asserted Probate Judge Michael F. DeFant, Marquette, at this week's dinner meeting of the Exchange Club, held in the Clifton Hotel, as a highlight of the club's observance of Crime Prevention Week.

After a preliminary hearing, a child is returned to his parents and school authorities under the guidance of probation officers or, in cases requiring a regular hearing, a complete investigation is conducted. In most cases, parents and officers involved attend the ensuing regular hearing.

Rehabilitated Child Released

In most cases brought to the attention of the court, it is found that the child can be rehabilitated, he said.

In these cases, the child may be released to his parents or placed in a foster home. The child is under the jurisdiction of juvenile court probation officers, who play a vital part in rehabilitation through counseling.

In the small percentage of cases where rehabilitation is not possible, the child is placed in foster homes provided by state or church organizations, or committed to a state training school where he is given vocational training.

If the home environment can be improved in cases of neglected children, the child may be returned to his home.

Otherwise, legal separation becomes necessary and it is possible that the child may be placed for adoption, the judge said.

Judge DeFant concluded that parents who provide a proper home environment with necessary discipline are bringing up children who will be prepared to enter adult society.

Over 30 Boy Scout Patrols To Take Part In District's Klondike Derby Tomorrow

Thirty or more Boy Scout Patrols from Pere Marquette District Troops are expected to compete in the district's annual Klondike Derby tomorrow at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base.

The event will climax Scout Week activities and is under the direction of John M. Ohlson, council camping chairman, and Ray Pajula, district chairman of camping and activities. Both men are from Ishpeming. The district covers Marquette and Alger Counties.

Registrations will begin at 11 a. m. After lunch the first patrols will begin the series of five problems, according to Pajula. Problem subjects will be on fire building, compass, signaling, knot tying and first aid.

Ohlson reminded each patrol to bring its own cedar block for fire building. The pancake flour and shortening will be furnished. They are also to bring all other equipment needed for the problems.

Skis or snowshoes will also be needed to complete the course.

All Scoutmasters were briefed on the plans at their roundtable meeting earlier this week.

Judges for the events will be members of Alpha Phi Omega fraternity at Northern Michigan College, with John McDevitt in charge, and members of Sea Explorer Ship, 303 from Marquette. Fraternity members will also serve as registrars and scorekeepers.

Tomorrow Deadline For Obtaining Absent Voter Ballots In City

Tomorrow is the deadline for application for absent voter ballots for the municipal primary election to be held on Monday. Absent voter ballots may be obtained from City Clerk Everett H. Kent until 2 tomorrow afternoon. His office in the city hall will be open for the purpose of issuing absent ballots from 8 a. m. to 2 p. m. The 2 p. m. deadline is set by state law. Persons who generally vote by absent ballot because of illness or those who know they will be nominated in Monday's balloting. The four receiving the most votes will be declared nominated and their names will appear on the ballot for the spring election on Monday, April 1. Two To Be Elected Two commissioners will be chosen for two-year terms in the spring election. Two supervisors also will be picked for two-year terms in the spring balloting, and a municipal judge will be named for a six-year term. However, since there are only three candidates for supervisor or one for judge, there is no need for a primary for these offices.

STATE REMINDER LANSING AP — The state elections division has reminded voters that 2 p. m. tomorrow is the deadline for the applications for absentee ballots for the spring primary election for townships and villages.

will be out of the city during the time the polls are open on election day are urged by the clerk to apply for an absent ballot. Up to this morning, 48 absent ballots had been issued, which is not a large number for a primary, but sizable enough when considered the vote will be only for one office. There are six candidates for city commissioner and four of them

Threat Of Milk Price War Clouds U.P. Dairy Picture; Legislature Asked To Act

Threat of another milk price war has come to the Upper Peninsula, milk producers fear today, with a new pricing method for wholesale deliveries of Wisconsin milk to the U. P.

Dairy, Inc. of Marquette and some others have met the price at the wholesale level and the retail level has remained the same.

The threat has stimulated the effort of the Delta County Area Milk Producers Committee to obtain Michigan legislation to prevent dairies from selling their products to retailers below cost.

The Wisconsin dairies' drop charges are on a sliding scale, so that a large volume store can buy milk much cheaper than a small volume store.

Clayton Ford, Cornell, chairman of the Milk Producers Committee said that Rep. Einar Erlandson has introduced a bill, titled "Dairy Industry Unfair Trade Practices Act," in the Legislature. The bill is similar to that vetoed two years ago by Gov. Swainson. Besides sales below cost, other unfair practices, like under the table discounts, payoffs, interest-free loans, gifts of equipment and other things tending to create monopolies in the milk industry by forcing local companies out of business, would be prohibited by the act.

The price of half gallons remains generally at 41 cents in the chain stores and 44 cents in the local stores, but the situation is regarded by dairymen as extremely explosive. They say that with only three deliveries a week to stores and with no returns, the pressure to move surplus by price cutting will be cumulative and with such a big price margin to work on in the volume markets the danger is increased. Stamps already are being used as incentives to move the lower priced milk.

"This legislation is badly needed," said Ford "since there is ample evidence that the large national dairy interests are following a pattern of offering special concessions to retailers which cannot be met by the small processor. Once the small local dairy is forced out of business prices often reach a higher level than before. 'Wound Dandener Economy' Farmers in the area depend on local dairies as an outlet for their Grade A (drinking) milk and should these processors be forced to shut down, the economy of the area would suffer." The newest problem for U. P. dairies is a practice imported from Wisconsin, where big dairies sold chain stores on a plant dock drop basis, and later on a store dock drop basis. Big volume retailers got a saving in this dock drop charge, which was under the previous delivery charge, and the dairies also took no returns of unsold milk.

U. P. dairymen say that even if the market keeps its present price structure they are in serious trouble and may not be able to survive. A price war would hurry the end. They say that Wisconsin dairies get their milk a cent a quart cheaper from producers than U. P. dairies and start with an advantage. Too, the big dairy industries are not solely dependent upon the U. P. market, as are the U. P. dairies, who must make a profit on their local operations or perish.

Milk Production Up, Egg Figures Down In State

LANSING AP — Michigan milk production in January was 432 million pounds, two per cent above the same month last year and nine per cent above the 10-year average. Egg production was estimated at 108 million for January, 11 million less than last year, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said.

Professor Eyes 'Abolish-Poverty' Political Plank

ANN ARBOR (AP)—One of the two major political parties will draft an "abolish-poverty" plank by 1968, predicts Adolph A. Berle, a Columbia University law professor.

The abolition is feasible, Berle said in the last of a series of lectures at the University of Michigan Thursday. "and the problems would be less economic than cultural and educational. Yearly Income "To arrange that every family in the United States should have an income of not less than $4,000 a year—would be a feasible piece of economic engineering," he said, adding: "It would mean rerouting about $30 billion of the gross national product of $575 billion," and this would not be too difficult. "It Could Be Done" "So far as the economic capacity—and for that matter, the current administrative ability—of the economic republic is concerned, the thing could be done," Berle said.

Diesel Engine Bought Six Years Ago Placed Into Operation Here

A diesel engine and generator purchased by the city six years ago but not installed until this winter is now pulling its share of Marquette's power load.

Like a new pair of shoes, a diesel unit has to be broken in. City Manager Thomas Moore told city commissioners who inspected the newly installed unit. The diesel unit is now being operated, at about half its capacity, in the daytime. However, night crews continue to test the unit at its full 2,750 kilowatt capacity by running the engine for short periods and following with the necessary adjustments. The new units raises the city's power capacity to 16,250 kilowatts. With the present rate of increase of consumption of about 5.5 per cent per year, a peak need of 16,125 kilowatts is anticipated by 1964, Moore said.

However, operation of the 2,750-kilowatt unit will keep the city from "running out of power" until the proposed steam plant can be constructed. The steam plant would then be used as a base load, with the diesel plant used as a stand-by for emergencies and heavy loads, he said. The diesel engine and generator was purchased six years ago from the Nordberg Manufacturing Co. of Milwaukee at a cost of $416,000. Is Rust-Free Uncertainly over the availability of natural gas for Upper Michigan and lack of funds prevented installation earlier, it was stated. Although the unit was stored in the open under a tarpaulin for about a year until a Butler building was constructed at the plant location for that purpose, it is rust-free and in excellent condition, Moore said.

Total cost of construction work at the diesel plant and installation of the engine is estimated at approximately $90,000. This will be paid from earnings of the light and power department. Yalmer Mattila Contracting Co., Houghton, was awarded the contract to make modifications in the building necessary for the installation, at a low bid of $39,470. Work Described The contract called for the construction of a concrete foundation and pit, opening and sealing of the building wall to allow room to bring the equipment into the building and for provision for air intake and filtration facilities. The city commission retained the Mattila company to do the heavy moving and rigging. The company's work included moving and installing pieces of equipment which weigh as much as 14 tons and pouring a 300 cubic yard concrete foundation.

City Crews Helped Diesel plant crews of the city worked in cooperation with the Mattila crews to install the intricate mechanisms of the 2,750-kilowatt unit and to wire the instrument panel which controls the unit. L. J. Lytkainen of the Pipe-Weld Co. of Marquette did the welding work on the large piping. Supervising the entire operations was Robert Parath of Nordberg Manufacturing Co., Milwaukee.

The diesel plant is located just outside the city limits, east of County Road 550. COPPER CITY AP — This tiny Upper Peninsula community lost its fire hall, fire truck and firefighting equipment Thursday night. They were destroyed by fire.

Solving Mining Problem

Marquette County residents have long realized that the underground iron ore mining industry was in ill health. This became evident several years ago when high quality foreign ore imports began rising...

Developments that took place this week, however, proved beyond a doubt that Marquette Range underground mining is in a critical condition and very well may expire if drastic measures are not taken now.

The first development was the announcement by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co., which operates three underground properties on the range, that McLouth Steel Co. had served notice that it was withdrawing its 50 per cent interest in the Bunker Hill

Mine at the end of this year. Bethlehem Steel Co., a partner with CCI in the Mather Mine, has advised Cliffs that it is giving serious consideration to the same sort of action there. CCI's third underground property, the Cliffs Shaft Mine, produces a hard hematite ore and is believed to have insufficient reserves to permit continuation of operation beyond 1965.

Confronted with this knowledge, the United Steelworkers of America requested a special meeting of the Marquette County Economic Study Committee so that the future of Cliffs' underground operations here could be discussed.

CCI officials who appeared at the meeting spoke with complete candor of the alternatives facing their company and the communities of Ishpeming and Negaunee, in which the underground properties are situated. Stated briefly, the alternatives are these:

1. To continue to operate the Bunker Hill and Mather Mines under existing conditions. Because of declining markets for direct shipping ore from these mines, it would be necessary to close both of them by 1965. This would mean the loss of 665 jobs. It also would mean a decline in taxes from these mines from the present $608,000 (paid last year) to $35,000 in 1966 in Ishpeming and a decline from $780,000 last year to $93,000 in Negaunee. Or:

2. To construct an agglomeration plant to upgrade ore from these underground properties and convert it to saleable pellets. This course of action would permit an increase in employment and would at least yield more taxes to Ishpeming and Negaunee than these communities would receive if the mines were closed.

It is obvious that the second course of action is the wiser course. But it is not without obstacles.

In order to obtain the tremendous capital needed to construct a pellet plant for the underground mines, CCI would have to find partners for this venture. But no corporation would be willing to join in this program if the taxes on the ore produced remain at their present high level. Taxes on underground ores have skyrocketed from 13 cents a ton to the present $1.08 per ton. CCI therefore is suggesting that the tax structure be changed from ad valorem (based on property evaluation) to a specific tax (based on ore production). The specific tax is now charged on low grade pelletized ores produced on the Marquette Range, and the company is seeking a similar tax on underground pelletized ores.

If the specific tax is adopted, taxes on CCI's underground properties in Ishpeming would drop from $608,000 to $111,000 in 1966 and in Negaunee from $780,000 to $218,000 in 1966. This is a drastic cut, but if Alternative No. 1 were followed, taxes would be cut far more and, in addition, there would be a loss of 665 jobs and an end to underground mining here.

Further, if the specific tax is enacted, other underground ore bodies similar to the Mather and Bunker Hill conceivably could be developed in Marquette County.

The question has been raised regarding a wage cut instead of a tax cut. Union spokesmen reply that labor, which has made concessions in fringe benefits in the past several years, cannot be expected to make further concessions now. Management officials agreed that labor has made these concessions and that labor is cooperating in trying to find a solution to the present problem.

Certainly the problem can't be solved by hysteria or panic. The only logical path to solution is through close cooperation and understanding between labor, management and the communities. The situation calls for statesmanship all around, and it would be salutary for government to express its understanding of the elements involved by moving first to help save this important industry which has paid so many millions of dollars into the state treasury and supported so many Upper Peninsula communities.

Mather's Pellets May Extend Life Of Shaft Mining

NEGAUNEE — Members of the Marquette County Economic Study Committee examined the contents of two pint Mason jars with considerable interest the other night.

One contained small gray pellets about three-eighths of an inch in diameter. The other contained briquets an inch long and three-quarters of an inch wide.

Something New

Both were something new on the Marquette Range — pellets and briquets produced from underground iron ore.

Stanley Sundeen of Ishpeming, manager of research and development for the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co., pointed to the jars and said, "Today we think we have achieved the technical answer in briquetting and pelletizing underground ores from the Mather Mine."

Today's Special Story

Contents of the jars represented the culmination of years of research in upgrading soft ores in hopes of making them competitive with high quality foreign ores and domestic ores from open pit mines. The pellets and briquets conceivably could result in prolonging the life of Marquette Range underground mines indefinitely. With-out them, it is likely that CCI's three soft ore mines on this range would all be closed down by the end of 1965.

CG Calls Off Search For Missing Tanker

NEW YORK (AP) — The American tanker Marine Sulphur Queen, which disappeared Feb. 3 with its crew of 39, has been added to the list of mysteries of the sea. The Coast Guard said Wednesday it was calling off the active search for the vessel, although all units have been directed to maintain a lookout for the missing ship during normal operations.

ed with a heavy capital expenditure in operation that year. In 1965 employment at the two mines, the ore improvement plant and the pellet plant would total approximately 863, and company projections envision this number of workers for the next several years thereafter.

The agglomerating plant is predicted on an ability to produce at least 1,100,000 tons of ore annually, CCI officials said. But, they added, the company conceivably could double the capacity of the mine, in which case the projected employment figures would be higher.

Commenting on the Mather Mine pellets, Harry C. Swanson, Ishpeming manager of Michigan mines for CCI, said, "This will be a product that will be acceptable to blast furnaces and we think it will be attractive to prospective partners, but we've got to work fast if we are going to save our underground mines."

Latest employment figures show 665 workers at the Bunker Hill and Mather Mines. The agglomeration program would provide an estimated 736 jobs at the two mines and the ore improvement plant (which now employs 70 persons) in 1963. This would rise to about 748 in 1964 (including 71 in the pellet plant, which would be

Nationalism And Communism

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration's re-examination of its foreign policy is like a doctor, with some ailments of his own, trying to prescribe for patients with everything from whooping cough to paranoia. This re-examination is only one of many which must be made, not only during President Kennedy's time but long afterward, because the problems vary from nationalism and communism to fanaticism and pauperism.

DeGaulle's Obstructionism The immediate look, because it is the most immediate problem, is this country's policy in Europe where President de Gaulle, a French nationalist above everything else, is baffling the Atlantic alliance and the Common Market.

His obstructionism is a direct product of his nationalism. But it is also nationalism which has made a farce of the Marxist idea that communism eliminates nationalism with a special glue which keeps Communist nations together.

The Russians are as nationalistic as the French, or the Americans, although they talk in big brother language.

Fanaticism Stoked By Poverty The Russians have gone through the usual period of fanaticism of early crusaders and revolutionaries. Stalin, Lenin and the other early bolsheviks were fanatics.

Their fanaticism was stoked by poverty. But they built up fast. Now, compared with the early bolshevik days, the Russians are an affluent society. With that affluence — that is, possessions — comes a degree of conservatism and some loss of the early crusading zeal because now they have something to lose by taking risks.

The Red Chinese, whose leaders still alive were the original leaders of their revolution and therefore are comparable to the early bolsheviks, are in exactly the same economic condition as the Russians at the time of their revolution.

Making UP For Lost Time The Red Chinese leaders are making up for lost time with efforts to give their people a pride in nation and a sense of purpose, both basic parts of a necessary philosophy if the Chinese masses are to submit to discipline and sacrifices.

Thus, in China as in Russia, communism is piled on top of nationalism. But it is because of the nationalism, not communism, that a separatism between Russia and Red China was inevitable.

In Japan, a highly efficient society with a cohesiveness that their long island isolation turned into cement, nationalism is intense. India has it, less intense but growing. No nation in Europe is without it.

Acutely Divided Land It will grow in Africa, although it may take another generation to cause the trouble it is almost certain to cause in that conglomerate of new nations. And if communism gets in there the confusion will be compounded.

On top of all this is the poverty of Africa and Latin America, too. The latter, while it has its own various forms of nationalism, is a land acutely divided between the rich and the very poor.

This fact may cause the Kennedy Administration to make profound re-examinations of policy if the Southern Hemisphere is to be saved from communism because, unless the Latin American masses quickly begin to share in the world's wealth, the quick promises of communism will be unanswerable.

Hal Opens Up His Mail Bag

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: The American housewife is one of the world's best financial managers. Although she handles 80 per cent of family expenditures, she spends only about $7 a week on herself.

Why those "god old days" went sour: A century ago the average man in this country worked 70 hours a week. Today he works from 39 to 40 hours—with time off for "coffee breaks."

Phone Service In Paris, by calling certain numbers, you can get advice if you are lonely and despondent, a recipe if you don't know what to cook for dinner, or information about the atom bomb and nuclear physics. You can call a fourth number and your telephone will tell you a recorded joke, then emit wild yelps of canned laughter.

The best way to safeguard your car is to lock it. Nine times out of 10, car thieves prey on unlocked cars. Some 90 per cent of stolen cars are eventually recovered; most of the others are dismantled or stripped by professional gangs.

A survey indicates that up to 50 per cent of the chronically unemployed are "functionally illiterate" — they can't read and write well enough to learn new skills.

Highest Paid Ex-President Calvin Coolidge received $1 a word for articles written after he left the White House, but Ernest Hemingway is said to have been perhaps the world's highest paid author. In 1960 a magazine paid him $30,000 for a 2,000 word piece on bullfighting. That's $15 a word.

Learn All The Rules It is Irvin S. Cobb who observed, "Learn all the rules, every one of them, so that you will know how to break them."

COAT OF MANY FIBERS A couple of years ago, we noted that a textile labeling law was about to become effective, requiring that wearing apparel and other textiles bear labels stating what fibers were used.

What reminded us of this was an ad the other day proclaiming: "The Duo-Climate: a Dacron polyester and cotton shell with zip-in Orion acrylic pile lining on a Polypropylene olefin and acrylic backing. Is beige or charcoal, $39.95."

It turned out to be a coat. Whether it is a warm coat we cannot say. — Chicago Daily News.

Concern over the needed improvements at Crystal Falls Municipal Hospital has spread to former Crystal Falls residents, according to a letter received by Dr. E. H. Addison, member of the hospital's medical staff, with an offer of one of the largest contributions to the hospital by an individual in recent years. The letter is from the law office of Robert D. Anspach and Michael K. Anspach, Detroit, representing Miss Alma Lustfield, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Lustfield, pioneer Crystal Falls residents. "Miss Lustfield would like to purchase some piece of equipment, at a cost of $1,000 to $2,000, to be presented to the hospital in memory of her parents and other members of their family," the letter stated.

The Delta County Democratic Committee has gone on record opposing the proposed new state constitution, to be voted on April 1. According to Chairman James Chapetka, it was the group's consensus that the new document contains some good provisions, but that some sections are damaging to the people. "Mainly the provisions relating to reapportionment, to civil service and to abolishment of the justices of the peace are detrimental," the committee said. "Persons applying for benefits through administrative agencies like unemployment compensation could be held up while the matter dragged through the courts. This is not true under our present constitution."

No longer burdened with the chairmanship problem, the Iron County Board of Supervisors sailed through its February meeting with hardly a ripple of discontent. Closest the supervisors came to argument was on the question of establishment of a county tax office. Crystal Falls Supervisor John Penttila stated that, if such an office is established, he will demand a State Tax Commission survey of the county, with all properties to be re-evaluated. The board quickly agreed, however, to meet with the tax commission chairman, Robert A. Eckhardt, next week to discuss the proposal.

Iron Mountain voters will ballot next week on two amendments to the city charter. One would change the terms of the mayor, clerk, treasurer and aldermen from two to four years and the other would provide that primary elections be cancelled where there are less than twice the number of candidates as offices to be filled instead of, as is now the rule, in cases where there is no opposition for any office.

Ignore the cold — the first robin has been reported in the Upper Peninsula. Three of 'em, in fact, down Menominee way. Two were spotted in a tree at the home of Henry Guay and one near the residence of Miss Sigrid Severson. Hopefully (or cynically), Guay's comment with the "first robin" report: "This news will make people be less disturbed at the cold weather."

Marquette—The wooden water main supplying the branch of the State prison burst yesterday, occasioning a partial suspension of the water supply at that institution and, in consequence, much trouble. The main was put in at the time the prison was built and it is in bad condition, being a constant source of trouble. It is now only a matter of a comparatively short time when it will have to be entirely replaced.

The National Whirligig News Behind The News

BY RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Members of Congress are giving only minimum attention to Administration spokesmen as they praise President Kennedy's tax reduction program in the ornate hearing chamber of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Not even C. Douglas Dillon, secretary of the treasury and an Eisenhower Republican, awes them or convinces them that the $13.3 billion slash over a three-year period will move the economy into high gear. Yet he, because of his Republicanism and reputation as a "successful" New York banker, had been counted on to obtain a favorable reception and action on the House side.

It is the horde of lobbyists, whose clients' interests will be affected adversely by the proposed "structural tax reforms," who dominate the scene in Capitol Hill and influence the legislators. It is no exaggeration to suggest that not since the exciting days of Franklin D. Roosevelt has Washington been swamped by so large an army of special pleaders.

Grass Roots

Without exception, they are opposed to the Kennedy-Dillon "reforms" which are designed to recoup at least $3 billion, possibly more, of the proposed $13.3 billion reduction.

A factor which strengthens the 1963 lobby's influence with members of Congress is that it has a "grass roots" background and support. The normal opponents of New Frontier proposals—bankers, businessmen, the conservative community in general—are aligned with the White House in this controversy.

Bank depositors, for instance, as well as recipients of dividends and similar benefits, do not want these sums to be taxed directly at the source. They prefer to handle their savings rather than to let Uncle Sam have "first grabs."

Oil Argument The new Internal Revenue regulations on businessmen's expense accounts, which reflect the general trend of the tax bill's reforms, has a bread-and-butter bite. It constitutes a serious economic threat to a domain in which everybody has a direct and personal interest—hotels, restaurants, night clubs, theaters and other places where businessmen entertain legislators and other public officials.

The 27.5 per cent depletion allowance on such minerals as oil and gas is generally regarded as a matter of only corporate concern, affecting only Texas-Oklahoma-California millionaires. Although it is supposed to compensate promoters for losses sustained in non-profitable explorations, it is represented as a "giveaway to the interests."

But its advocates reply that it is a necessary grant. Without it, they contend, they could not continue prospecting for new wartime fuel for a peacetime or wartime economy. It also enables them to pay the high salaries of their engineering and technical staffs, and for their costly equipment.

Tax Cut Endangered

The pressures against tax reform are, in short, tremendous and it is fairly certain that Congress will accept a series of compromises. These compromises may be so much in favor of status quo that little of the $3 billion will be saved.

And if reforms fail, so may the proposal to cut income taxes. If the Congress fails to recoup some of the losses, Congress and perhaps the Administration itself will shy away from cuts in their original size. In the end, the reductions may not be large enough to give the explosive push to business that JFK hoped for.

Three Vehicles Involved In City Mishaps

Three motor vehicles were involved, but no one was injured, in a pair of traffic accidents which occurred in Marquette yesterday. One, a hit-and-run mishap, was reported at noon yesterday by George Papich, 453 E. Michigan St., occurred some time between 8 a. m. when he parked his car on Hebard Ct., and noon. The left door of Papich's 1959 two-door sedan, which was parked on the west side of the street, facing south, just south of W. Kaye Ave., was damaged by another vehicle. The accident was kept open for investigation by city police. The other collision occurred at 2:55 p. m. on U. S. 41 west, at East Ave., and involved a city snow plow operated by Henry J. Brisson, 243 Blenhuber Ave., and Irene M. Oust, Route 2, Box 158, Marquette. Blowing Snow Blamed City police said Brisson was driving west on U. S. 41, plowing the shoulder of the highway, and was starting to make a left turn across the highway, into East Ave., as she was about pass him. Officers said he didn't see her approaching from behind because of the snow being thrown up by the plow and the wind blowing it and she didn't see the turn signals on the truck due to the blowing snow, until it was too late. She swung to the left in an attempt to avoid the collision, but the right rear fender of her 1957 four-door sedan struck the left front wheel of the truck.

Allen, Rossi Trademark: 'Hello Dere'

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP)—The short, stocky man with shock of black hair and the tall, handsome young fellow walked into the sleek, chic, expensive restaurant. "Hello dere," exclaimed the maitre d'hotel, his face breaking into a broad grin. "Hello dere," replied the short man. They moved on to the captain. "Hello dere," he said, grinning, escorting them to a table. There followed "Hello dere" from the busboy as he filled the glasses, the waiter as he presented the menus, from men and women patrons as they passed by the table. Marty Allen, the one with the hair, and Steve Rossi, the tall one, took turns answering—pleasantly, but, as the continued rain of greetings tended to interrupt the conversation, a little perfunctorily. No Bore "Doesn't this sort of thing get to be a bit of a bore?" asked the reporter, wearied from picking up dropped threads of thought. "Not really," replied Allen. "We'll start worrying when they stop saying it." Allen and Rossi—the former a clown given to crazy clothes, kooky gestures and unexpectedly penetrating remarks on topical subjects and the latter a young singer with a fine voice and an adroit way of feeding a straight line—are a comedy team on the way up. They struck the public's fancy as semiregulars on CBS' "Garry Moore Show." Now Allen's salutation, "Hello dere," has become as popular as Joe Penner's old "Wanta buy a duck?" that swept the country in the golden days of radio. Happened By Accident "It happened by accident," related Allen. "We were playing a date in Philadelphia. I walked out on stage for Steve's introduction, and suddenly I couldn't remember my line. I fumbled around for it and it didn't come, so I just said 'Hello dere.' The audience fell apart." "We were pretty surprised at the reaction, and we talked about it after the show," put in Rossi. "So we tried it again the next show—and it happened again. Then it went into the act." Allen, 38, is a Pittsburgh boy who started playing small nightclubs while studying journalism at the University of Southern California. Team Up He gave up his newspapering ambitions to become a fulltime performer but didn't really strike it right or rich until singer Nat King Cole, an Allen fan, suggested he team up with a young baritone who had impressed him as a production singer in a Las Vegas nightclub. They met, liked each other and became a team in 1959. Television dates followed—Perry Como, Ed Sullivan, Jack Paar, and, most important, Garry Moore. Carol Burnett liked their work and asked them to join her fabulously successful summer tour.

Dear Abby . . .

DEAR ABBY: I am a 62-year-old widow on the look-out for a second mate. How does a gal go about making herself attractive to a man six years her junior? Fancy clothes and new hair-dos don't work like they used to. He lives alone and I know he likes home cooking, so I invite him to dinner several times a week. He never takes me out but says he enjoys my company. He likes his freedom and kidding says he'll never marry. I am just an average working girl. How can I convince him he can't live without me?

DEAR ABBY: Our son married a terrible girl who has tried for years to turn him against his people. We love our son, Abby, and for that reason have tolerated it as long as we could. She has never made any big trouble between our son and us, but the cooling process is gradual and the gap is growing wider. We know our son loves us but is too weak to stand up to this woman. He has told us this in so many words. She is bringing up her children to hate us and to favor her parents. How can we change the situation?

A jumbo pictorial display will form an informative backdrop for the forthcoming local observance of Ferris Institute's annual "World Wide Week."

'Updating' At Ferris Here Next Week

Via film and faculty representatives, Ferris Institute will come to Marquette Tuesday to update former students from this area on what has happened since a fatal fire leveled the college's Big Rapids campus 13 years ago this month.

Forming part of an alumni-sponsored event called "World Wide Week," marked by similar gatherings at farflung points on the globe, the area meeting will be held at the Union National Bank lounge starting at 7:30 p. m.

Review Set
Serving as the pivot of the evening's program will be a pictorialized review of the startling progress which has come on the heels of the fire of February 21, 1950, when sub-zero temperatures thwarted efforts to curb the wind-whipped blaze which left Ferris, on the eve of its debut as a state college, with only one campus structure.

With the college staff members acting as discussion leaders, the program will detail the school's dramatic rebirth and resurgence, resulting in today's 237-acre campus, 4,200-member student body, and an academic program famed for its stress on practicality.

Alumni Head Coming
Representing Ferris at the meeting will be James R. Hess, director of alumni relations.

An added highlight of the observance will be a colored movie of the 1962 homecoming festivities including the parade, floats, decorations, and football game.

Coordinating the event are Fred Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. James Woern, and Charles King, all of Marquette.

Jack Mauro, Grid Star, In Musical

Little All-American Jack Mauro of Northern Michigan College is proving he's as adept on the stage as he is on the football field.

A member of the NAIA All-Star team last fall, the 228-pound tackle from Saginaw will have a supporting role in the Damon Runyon musical comedy "Guys and Dolls" to be presented by the college March 12, 13, 14, and 15.

Mauro will play the part of "Big Jule," a gambler from Chicago who violates gambling etiquette by "interpolating mid-West dice" in a New York crap game.

"When it opened in New York in 1950, "Big Jule" was played by B. S. Pully and later by Lou Nouva when it was revived in 1955.

With songs by Frank "The Most Happy Fella" Loesser, who has written some of the most popular song hits of our time, such as "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition," "Baby, It's Cold Outside," and "Heart and Soul," "Guys and Dolls" has come to be regarded as one of the best musicals ever written for the American theater.

Council, Manager To Study Ways Of Cutting City Costs

NEGAUNEE—Ways and means of reducing municipal government operating costs were discussed by the Negaunee City Council at a regular meeting last night in light of the announcement released earlier this week by Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. that continued operation of its Bunker Hill and Mather Mines in Negaunee is in doubt.

City Manager Leonard Harris, who attended a meeting of Cliffs officials with the Marquette County Economic Study Committee Wednesday night in the Thimmes Memorial Building, advised the council that legislation proposed by Cliffs is to all "intent and purpose very similar to House Bill 676, which was introduced ten years ago."

Union Supports Bill

"This present bill contains some modifications, and I have been advised by Ernest Rynn that the Steelworkers, who opposed the bill two years ago, intend to support the present legislation, as they cannot in good conscience and judgment oppose it," Harris said.

"By no stretch of the imagination can we afford to lose the underground mines unless individual taxpayers are prepared to pick up the burden. However, if the legislation is approved, our revenues will be reduced by approximately $247,000 from CCI. If it adversely affects Jones & Laughlin, resulting in closing of the Tracy Mine, we stand to lose another $80,000, which means we must begin looking at the future and thinking of considerable belt tightening."

Possibilities listed by Harris for cutting operating costs were as follows:

- Reduction in municipal personnel.
- Elimination of all but the most necessary travel.
- Closing of the Jackson Park lodge.
- Reduction of the garbage collection schedule to provide for a once-a-week pick-up.

Small Construction Program

"It is our intention to do that also," the manager said. "We are going to proceed more or less on strictly a service basis until we know exactly what the score is as far as effects of the proposed legislation are concerned."

"Our only public works construction this year will probably be a minor sidewalk program, which should result in considerable saving. At the same time, after studying the charts you will receive showing the tax payments by the mining company under the proposed bill, you might give some thought to service charges of various types, if they become necessary."

U.S. Grants $220,000 For Hiawatha Forest Projects forest by U.S. Sens. Pat McCarran and Philip A. Hart, Michigan Democrats, who said that the total allocation for public works projects in all of Michigan's national forests was $660,000.

In addition to speeding up improvement work in the forests, the grants are designed to provide work for the unemployed in labor surplus areas.

Financial Experts To Seek Sound Plan For Olympic Stadium

LANSING (AP) — A group of financial experts, working against a deadline just over a month away, will try to come up with a sound program for building an Olympic stadium in Detroit. The move is the latest in the desperate strategy to try to block the bid by Los Angeles for the 1968 Olympic games.

Los Angeles succeeded in having the issue reopened after the Motor City had been picked by the U.S. Olympic Committee. One of the Los Angeles arguments was that it already has a stadium while Detroit was dragging its heels on building one.

Only 5 Remain From Original Senator Draft

By MICKEY VERNON

(As told to HARRY GRAYSON of NEA)
Like three of the other new major league clubs, the Senators have had trouble getting off the ground. But nobody can say that the Washington front office hasn't been trying. Only five of the original expansion drafts of two years ago remain on the roster.

The Senator's principal trouble is getting to first base. We had a lot of fine pitching last season, but it was wasted because we couldn't score. Our speed is fairly good. We led the American League in stolen bases in 1962, but we couldn't swipe first base and bat in enough runs.

Thus far our infield attack is woefully weak, with 240 hits at second, shortstop and third base in Chuck Cottier, Ken Hamlin and Marv Breeding. John Schaive and Ed Brinkman are other infielders. Could be that General Manager George Selkirk will trade for someone better than we have.

At first base we are banking on the only candidate, Rogelio Alvarez, although this 25-year-old Cuban has had less than a half season of major league experience. He is rated an exceptional fielder and had 18 home runs and 73 runs-batted-in hitting .318 in 132 games for San Diego of the Pacific Coast League last trip.

Chuck Hinton, who led the club in practically everything in 1962, is a solid performer in right field. He batted .310, fourth in the wheel, and improved all the time. This after batting .156 for the first month. He had 17 home runs, drove in 75 runs and stole 28 bases.

Jimmy Piersall hurt us offensively last season when he slumped to .244. He still rambles in center field, but he'll have to hit to help. Don Lock, who could alternate with Barry Shetrone in left field, has a world of power, but must cut down on his strikeouts.

We acquired Don Lappert from Pittsburgh and I expect him to be in the thick of the battle for the number one catching job. Last year we operated with two catchers, Ken Retzer and Bob Schmidt. Only a late season slump prevented Retzer from batting .300.

Pitching is our strongest department and it is exceptionally deep in it for 10th and last place club. The five starters will come from a group of seven composed of Tom Cheney, Dave Stenhouse, Don Rudolph, Bennie Daniels, Steve Hamilton, Claude Osteen and Art Quirk.

Daniels was a disappointment in 1962, but he is much better than his record. Cheney and Stenhouse are right-handers with excellent stuff who should be coming into their own after a year of pitching regularly in the big show.

Rudolph and Hamilton did top jobs last season. Rudolph was mainly a starter, but was on call for relief. Hamilton, who stuck out as a fireman, could work into a starting job, especially against clubs with a preponderance of left-hand batters. Quirk is a south-paw acquired from the Orioles.

There are six left-handers and it will be interesting to see them scrapping for starting posts. The remainder of the staff will come from Jim Hannan, Ed Hobaugh, Carl Bouldin, Jim Duckworth, right-handers, and Bob Baird, left hander.

One of our numerous tasks is going to be a search for a late inning stopper and he could well be one of the seven I listed as possible starters.

I only wish the Senators had something more than we have to go with our pitching.

Improvement Won't Be Hard For The Mets

By CASEY STENDEL

New York Mets' Manager
As told to HARRY GRAYSON of NEA
If the Mets aren't a better team in 1963, I'll be surprised. After all, that shouldn't be so difficult inasmuch as we lost 120 games while winning only 40 in 1962.

I must say I'm surprised that I've been surprised before. In fact, there were numerous times last season when I was shocked.

When you start from scratch, as the new New York club of the National League did last year, it takes a lot of experimenting before you can figure out the players who are going to help you.

The best proof that the Mets will be improved is the fact that there are several players that any club would grab right now. I mean pitchers like Roger Craig, Al Jackson and Jay Hook. Or an outfielder like Jim Hickman, who never played a game in the majors until he came to the Mets. A lot of clubs would like to have Frank Thomas, not to mention Charlie Neal, still quite an all-around player in the infield.

It is my opinion that we picked up some useful athletes in trades and promising youngsters in the minor league draft.

Dedicating the magnificent new Flushing Meadows stadium in Queens in midseason can't miss giving my men a lift.

This trip we at least have a definite line on what we possess. I'm looking for Galen Cisco to round out a Big Four in the pitching department. We obtained Cisco, who is right-handed and 23, from the Boston Red Sox last season.

So, you see, the transaction with the Orioles gives us a badly needed was impressive beating the Chicago Cubs toward the end of the campaign.

The other members of the Big Four are, of course, Craig, Jackson and Ken McKenzie in relief.

Wyn Hawkins, a forkball right-hander, was purchased from Cleveland at my request. I recall him winning four straight breaking in with the Indians in 1960.

Ray Davault was sorely handicapped last year by a nerve injury in the palm of his hand which has cleared up. Larry Foss was helpful as a fireman.

Norm Sherry, obtained from the Dodgers, figures to do the bulk of the catching.

It will be quite all right with me if Larry Burchitt shows the early foot for us that he did at second base for the Dodgers a year ago, because I'm going to start him at shortstop, which is where his accomplished playmaker was deployed when he broke into organized baseball. This will switch Neal to third base.

Hot Rod Kanehl, Ello Chacon and Pumpsie Green, the latter obtained from the Red Sox, are versatile infielders.

Tim Harkness is a fancy Dan at first base who never had much chance with the Dodgers. Gil Hodges will go as far as the knee which was operated on will take him.

We also have Marvelous Marv Throneberry, but he could become an outfielder if Richie Ashburn and Gene Woodling insist upon retiring.

Gus' Figures Don't Sound So Good

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — The figures are distressing—.159 batting average and six home runs. They represent the net output last season of Gus Triandos, once a feared slugger.

"Forget them," said manager Bob Scheffing, who's counting on Triandos as the Tigers' No. 1 catcher. There are some other figures that are more impressive. Gus' weight is down 15 pounds to 218. He's trimmer than I've ever seen him."

The Tigers' acquisition of Triandos in the trade that sent Dick Brown to the Baltimore Orioles is strictly a gamble.

Brown was a reliable catcher for two years in Detroit but his bat lacked consistent authority. Even so, he out-hit Triandos by 82 percentage points last year and doubled his home run production.

But there are certain intangibles in Triandos' favor that don't appear in the batting records. He feels the best thing that ever happened to him was getting away from the Orioles.

"I guess my mental attitude got me down," said the 32-year-old catcher when questioned about his slumped average. "The Orioles must have gotten fed up with me. I know I was fed up with them."

The change in Triandos' attitude is illustrated by his appearance at the Tigers' early camp. He wasn't required to report here until Feb. 20, he volunteered. And he is as ebullient as any of the rookies in camp.

Lopez Sees Chisox Hopes In Newcomers

By AL LOPEZ

Chicago White Sox Manager
As told to HARRY GRAYSON
There was mild criticism in Chicago when the White Sox traded Luis Aparicio and Al Smith to the Baltimore Orioles for Ron Hansen, Hoyt Wilhelm, Dave Nicholson and Pete Ward.

The adverse comment subsided, however, when the fans and baseball writers thought things over and I am certain that they'll like our New Frontier before the 1963 season is very old. The departure of Aparicio and Smith means that the left side of our infield will be brand new. And there will be new faces on the pitching staff and maybe in the outfield.

It was off-years by Aparicio, Jim Landis in center field and Juan Pizarro in the pitcher's box that prevented the White Sox from making a run in 1962.

Hansen was good enough in 1960 to beat out Aparicio as the All-Star shortstop. Military service has deprived this willowy six-foot-three, 195-pound Californian of spring training for two years in a row. Last season he spent days in the Army and nights and week-ends with the Orioles, which didn't do him any good in baseball.

Hansen may not be as flashy as Aparicio, but he is sound defensively with good range and hits with power which Luis lacks. He will be in full stride when the fifty Venezuelan is passing out, there being four years difference in their ages.

We have been weak at third base for years, so instead that Ward be included in the six-man deal with Baltimore, Charley Metro, our new head scout, believes Ward will not only play third base satisfactorily but will be the No. 4 hitter we have been seeking.

In five minor league years there hasn't been a season in which Ward, 23, hasn't batted more than .300. He hit .328, had 22 home runs and drove in 90 runs for Rochester of the International League last trip.

So, you see, the transaction with the Orioles gives us a badly needed third baseman, added power and the bull pen stopper we haven't possessed since Gerry Staley had his fine years. The acquisition of Hoyt Wilhelm will mean a lot.

Nellie Fox during the second half of last season was the Fox of old. Joe Cunningham gave us the best first basing we have had in a long time.

In reserve we have Al Weis, a flashy glove man who stole 31 bases for Indianapolis and hit .296 in his first outing as a switch hitter. Charlie Smith is back and young Don Buford, a little switch hitter with Savannah last season, could help.

The outfield is solid and young with Floyd Robinson, Landis and Mike Hershberger. Charlie Maxwell gives us a veteran replacement. Nicholson has tremendous power. Ken Berry and Brian McColl, up from the minors, will make the others hustle.

Off his Winter League record, J. C. Martin seems ready to share the catching with Camilo Carroon, with Sherm Lollar still available.

I expect Dave DeBuschere and Mike Joyce to become starting pitchers. Others are Ray Herbert, Pizarro, Joe Horlen, Johnny Bushardt, Eddie Fisher and Frank Baumann. Frank Kreutzer, a young left-hander, shows promise and I haven't given up on Herb Score.

I look for Jim Landis and Juan Pizarro to come back.

With young pitching and an increase in power the White Sox should come back, too.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Second baseman Chuck Cottier reached contract agreement with the Washington Senators Wednesday. He is a former Detroit Tiger and was traded to Washington in 1961.
