

Kids Still Have Hero In George

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—After 231 years, George Washington is still a hero in the eyes of today's small fry, but their candid way of telling about George Washington and his legend would make another best seller "First Family" record.

This 1963 concept of George Washington consists of excerpts pieced together from essays written by students at Beaver Creek's Fairbrook School.

"In Virginia in 1732 on Feb. 22, a boy named George Washington was born. As he grew older, he had a birthday." (Diana Reighley, 4th grade.)

"When he was a boy, he always told the truth. Well, almost always." (Randolph Ison, 5th grade.)

Cherry Tree

"When his father asked who cut down the cherry tree, he said 'I cannot tell a lie. I did it with my trusty hatchet'." (Robert Dover, 1st grade.)

"George Washington had a wealthy family. When he grew up, he got married to a wealthy widow named Mary Ball." (Tim Minch, 3rd grade.)

"When he was a general in the war, he often paid his men himself because there wasn't any money in the treasury. At Valley Forge that horrible winter, he went to this lady's house to see if they could bed down in her yard. The lady said yes and then she asked him to come in and go to bed, but he said not until my men are comfortable." (Don Sa-graves, 6th grade.)

"I know to myself that he is the greatest man I ever read about. George Washington was a man who loved his country and gave everything for it. He was the man who couldn't give up until he couldn't fight any more." (Roy Finley, 5th grade.)

"Today as we see Old Glory wave proudly over our ship at sea and our nation's cities we can give credit to Gen. Washington who cared to sketch a flag, form a committee, and have it made while the 13 colonies were still British subjects." (Penny Rice, 6th grade.)

Death

"He died on Dec. 14, 1799 and was buried at Mount Vernon, which had been his home for many years. Washington's picture is on your quarter." (Mike Ozias, 4th grade.)

Kincheloe Faces Lack Of Housing

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — Assignment of an additional 322 men to the nearby Kincheloe Air Force Base has left officials in Sault Ste. Marie concerned over the problem of housing facilities.

Speakers at the base, part of the North American Air Defense Command, announced Thursday that Kincheloe's present complement of 4,000 men would be increased with the addition of personnel from the 908th Air Refueling Squadron, scheduled to be activated in Louisiana. The squadron takes care of refueling B-52 bombers in flight. Ten of its KC105 planes will be stationed at Kincheloe, base spokesmen said.

Of immediate concern to officials here is the lack of housing facilities in Sault Ste. Marie, 20 miles north of the air base. Voters here have rejected a proposed $3 million, 200-unit public housing project for low income and elderly couples. A 50-unit project for the aged was approved, instead.

Example Of American Patriotism In Gwinn

In school rooms throughout the country today, activities took place paying tribute to George Washington, father of our country. It was an occasion to note that children from throughout the United States and many foreign nations are living and working side by side as Americans. An excellent example of this is found in Gwinn schools, where photographer Thomas Rood captured some of the American spirit at the Gilbert Elementary School. Paying tribute to the American flag are (from left) Elizabeth Eilenberger, Carol Johnson and Theodore Graham III.

Cuba Gets Blunt Warning After Shrimp Boat Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has laid down an unmistakable warning that U.S. firepower will blast any Cuban-based warships or planes that dare attack American vessels or aircraft.

But Kennedy indicated Thursday that, for the time being at least, American jet fighters and Navy aircraft will be restrained from chasing attackers back to Cuba to punish them.

If Wednesday's MIG strafing of a wallowing shrimp boat develops into a pattern of attacks, the President may then give the signal for "hot pursuit."

Furthermore, these sources said, the President's orders probably will result in placing more fast jets on strip alert, ready to take off.

Navy and Marine Phantom jets are poised at all times at the Key West Naval Air Station, 90 miles across the Florida Straits from Cuba's north coast. At Homestead Air Force Base south of Miami, Air Force F104 jets also are on alert.

Guerrilla Warfare In Caribbean?

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States may be facing a period of virtual guerrilla warfare in the Caribbean area around Cuba.

Whether this dangerous possibility develops appears to depend primarily on how Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro decides to use the extensive arms, including jet fighter planes, supplied to him by the Soviet Union.

President Kennedy, as he made clear at a news conference Thursday, is watching the situation closely and with several unanswered questions in his mind about the fighter plane attack late Wednesday on a U.S. shrimp boat in the Florida Straits about 60 nautical miles off the Cuban coast.

Kennedy and his military and diplomatic advisers are not sure what was behind this assault on a small, unarmed vessel in international waters. The President said he was watching to see whether a pattern develops, meaning a pattern of attacks against surface and aircraft traveling in the region around Castro's stronghold.

If it turns out that the strike at the shrimp boat was an isolated incident without Cuban government sanction, concerns felt in the top levels of the administration here will ease somewhat. The Cuban government said Thursday night it was not responsible for the attack.

Isolated

What the shrimp boat affair has dramatized for the moment is Castro's ability to make trouble if he wants to.

Cuba is almost completely isolated economically and diplomatically by the Western Hemisphere nations and is under surveillance by U.S. aircraft.

Kennedy told the news conference that Castro's economy is in bad shape and is being subsidized by the Soviet Union. He said various forms of Soviet assistance to Cuba now cost Moscow about $1 million daily.

Castro's capacity to carry out a campaign of harassment is provided at the moment primarily by MIG fighters. But as Soviet forces are withdrawn from the island under Premier Khrushchev's promise to Kennedy, other types of weapons may fall into Castro's hands.

Those include highly developed anti-aircraft missiles, capable of shooting down this country's high-flying U2 reconnaissance planes; coastal defense rockets capable of striking ships about 25 miles at sea, and naval patrol boats also armed with short range rockets.

Highlights Of Press Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here are the highlights of President Kennedy's news conference Thursday.

SHRIMP BOAT ATTACK — The President declared he had told the Defense Department "to make any necessary revisions in standing orders so as to insure that action will be taken against any vessel or aircraft which strikes at an American ship or plane over Caribbean international waters."

Kennedy said he had instructed the Pentagon to make "any necessary revisions in standing orders so as to insure that action will be taken against any vessel or aircraft" which strikes at an American ship or plane over Caribbean international waters.

Broader Rules

He didn't elaborate, and defense officials refused to discuss either the standing orders or the changes.

But competent sources said it was quite clear the President is broadening the present rules under which U.S. fighter planes and Navy vessels are empowered to open fire on approaching aircraft or warships if they appear bent on attacking U.S. territory.

Judge Will Decide Fate Of Survivors Of Kalkaska Fire

KALKASKA (AP)—A Probate Court judge must decide the fate of two Kalkaska High School students, sole survivors of Thursday's fire which killed their parents and a brother and sister.

Victims of a fire at their combination home and business place at nearby South Boardman were Cecil Birmingham, 39; his wife, Ovene, 35; their son, Donald, 13, and a daughter, Valerie, 6.

The two surviving members of the family Marilyn, 18, and her sister, Sharon Paulette, 15, were under treatment today at Kalkaska Memorial Hospital for shock and lacerations.

Probate Court authorities said a guardian would be appointed for the two girls. Both have indicated a desire to remain students at Kalkaska High School, they said. A guardian will be appointed by the court.

The two girls escaped through a window of the Birmingham family's basement living quarters and ran barefoot one block to summation here.

Icy Weather Grips State; Relief On Way

(By the Associated Press)

Icy weather gripped Michigan today, driving the mercury far below zero in many areas.

With 35 below, Pellston in northwestern Michigan was one of the coldest spots in the nation.

Another heavy snowfall hit southwest Lower Michigan, causing driving troubles. The area got up to 3 inches of snow.

Relief On Way

Relief from the bitter cold was on the way, however. The U.S. Weather Bureau said temperatures will moderate to a possible high of 20 above in Southern Michigan Saturday.

Today's lows included -15 at Alpena and -13 at Traverse City. Southward, Jackson had -8, Bay City-Saginaw -7, Flint and Lansing -5, Grand Rapids -4, and Detroit -1.

U.P. Lows

In the Upper Peninsula Sault Ste. Marie had -17, Houghton -13, Escanaba -11, and Marquette -9.

(By the Associated Press)

Winter's latest siege of severe cold weather held a tight grip across most of the eastern two-thirds of the nation today, with no immediate general break in sight.

The unseasonable cold covered most of the Southeast, excluding Florida, and numbed wide areas from the Rockies to New England.

Temperatures ranged from 35 below zero in Michigan to slightly below zero in Kentucky as the arctic air spread from the winter-wary Midwest eastward and down into Dixie.

Slight Moderation

There was some hope of slight moderation in the icy Midwest belt but no immediate relief was indicated in the southeast and northeast sections of the country. Temperatures were near or above normal in the western third of the nation.

The mercury plunged to 25 below zero in Pellston, Mich., one of the nation's lowest marks. In the Northeast, the -23 in Old Town, Maine, was the coldest spot. But below zero readings were reported in many sections of New England and upstate New York.

Subzero Line

The subzero line extended along the St. Lawrence Valley, dipping into Kentucky westward to Missouri and northward into Iowa, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois and Indiana.

Near freezing weather chilled coastal areas from Texas to northern Florida and cold wave warnings were issued for Alabama, Georgia and the Carolinas. Readings dropped to the teens in northern parts of Georgia, Alabama and South Carolina, with the mercury near zero in Asheville, N.C.

False Hopes

Democratic State Chairman Zoltan Ferency, above, says Gov. George Romney has raised false hopes and played loosely with the needs for jobs in Michigan and "is just beginning to reap the harvest of his March 16, 1962 deal with conservative Republicans at the Constitutional Convention."

Ferency said he agreed with House Democratic Leader Joseph Kowalski of Detroit that a major part of Romney's economic program probably is unconstitutional because of a provision in the finance and taxation article which says "the credit of the state shall not be granted to, nor in aid of any person, association or corporation, public or private." Ballot Recount Trial To Open In Minnesota

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—A trial without precedent in the history of Minnesota opens in the courthouse here Monday—a trial that will help determine who was elected governor of Minnesota last November.

Three district judges appointed by the State Supreme Court will listen to arguments and pass upon between 1,500 and 2,000 disputed ballots culled from 95,000 challenged in recount proceedings started by former Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag (role-vahg).

Rolvaag was the Democratic candidate last November when voters divided so evenly that Republican incumbent Elmer L. Anderson wound up the winner by 138 votes. The recount, pending a decision on disputed ballots, put Rolvaag in front by 133.

Anderson remains in office pending a decision.

Millionaire Out On Bail In Shooting

PONTIAC (AP)—A millionaire drugist, who police said admitted wounding his wife and a 28-year-old businessman companion in a parking lot at suburban Troy Thursday, was free on $5,000 bail today.

Howard M. Mordue Jr., 32, owner of the Medical Arts Pharmacy in Highland Park and other Detroit-area properties, demanded examination at his arraignment Thursday and was ordered to appear March 11 before Justice of the Peace Charles Losey on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

Robert L. Templin Jr., assistant Oakland County Prosecutor, said Mordue admitted firing a 25-caliber automatic pistol at his wife, Barbara, 33, mother of two boys, and Nelson Hartman, partner in a Troy landscaping firm, after trailing them to the parking lot on a tip from a private detective.

Both Mrs. Mordue and Hartman were reported in critical condition.

U.S., British Rush Aid To Al Marj Survivors

BENGHAZI, Libya (AP) — A series of three shattering earthquakes left more than four-fifths of the coastal town of Al Marj in ruins today and hundreds were believed dead or injured.

Radio Libya put casualties at 250 dead and 100 injured. A U.S. Air Force spokesman said unconfirmed reports indicated 500 were killed and 1,000 injured. The Air Force sent 11 air transports loaded with relief supplies from its base near Tripoli.

2 More Quakes

Most of the casualties apparently came in the first shock Thursday afternoon. Two more quakes struck this morning as rescue work was in full swing.

Hospitals in Al Marj (Barce) and Benghazi, 55 miles to the southwest, were filled with the injured.

Rescue workers dug through the debris for others feared trapped or killed. U.S. and British military forces and Libyan soldiers and police rushed food and tents to survivors.

The quakes centered in an area of 20 square miles in and around Al Marj, which has a population of 50,000.

The first shock struck at sundown Thursday as most persons were sitting down to their evening meals.

People fled into the streets. Buildings and houses toppled, trapping many in the ruins.

Second Shock

A second shock came at 7:30 a.m. as relief workers toiled in the ruins. The third came an hour and a half later.

Rescue troops took charge of rescue operations after an appeal for help from local Libyan authorities.

British aid was flown from the Benghazi area and from Cyprus. A British-American control center was established in Al Marj. U.S. relief supplies were flown in from the Air Force's Wheelus base near Tripoli, 300 miles west of the quake area.

The Libyan government declared an emergency throughout the country.

It was North Africa's worst earthquake since the March 1960 quake which killed an estimated 12,000 in Agadir, Morocco.

Al Marj, a town of 10,000 also known as Barce, is near the hump of Cyrenaica thrusting northward to the Mediterranean.

WWII Battleground

The area was heavily contested during World War II. Like Benghazi, Al Marj changed hands several times in the battles between the Axis powers and the British 8th Army.

Rail Crossing Crash Kills Baraga Man

BARAGA — John LaBeau, 24, Baraga, was fatally injured at 10:20 this morning when his car was struck by the Soo Line's Copper Country Limited at the crossing near the Baraga State Park.

LaBeau was rushed by ambulance to the Baraga County Memorial Hospital in L'Anse, where he died at 11:10 a.m. as the result of head injuries.

Alden Mager, Champion, fireman on the train, told state police that LaBeau — heading south on Superior Ave. — noticed the train was coming when he was about 150 feet from the tracks. He applied his brakes, the car skidding on the icy pavement and struck a snowbank on the right side of the road. The auto then spun around into the path of the train.

The engine struck the middle of the left side of the LaBeau-car. The force of the impact knocked the auto 118 feet north on Superior Ave. and threw LaBeau from the car into the Arvo Johnson driveway 80 feet from the point of impact.

Pieces of the car were scattered over the roadway for a distance of more than 100 feet.

The Copper Country Limited engineer, O. R. Lund, 65, Michigamme, and Chief Conductor Ernest J. Woodbridge, 69, Marquette, both stated that the warning flashers were operating at the time of the accident. They told state police that the train was traveling at about 40 miles an hour.

Rep. Horan Seeks Quota On Canadian Softwood Imports

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional backing for a tight limit on imports of Canadian softwood lumber is being sought by Rep. Walt Horan, R-Wash.

In letters to more than 100 members of Congress from lumber-producing states, Horan asked support for a resolution calling on the president to impose a quota on softwood imports.

He cited economic ills of the domestic industry.

The resolution asks the president to impose for three years a quota equal to 8 per cent of the average quarterly domestic softwood consumption in the 1960-62 period.

Union Leaders To File Protest With Kennedy

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Top labor union leaders, it was learned today, have decided after much soul-searching to file a bitter protest direct with President Kennedy on his domestic economic policies.

Chances Better?

Supporters have never been able to muster a majority of the Ways and Means Committee for any version of a Social Security health program. Some say the chances of a reversal grow better with time—especially as the 1964 presidential and congressional election approaches.

Medicare Bill Not Likely This Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress won't decide on President Kennedy's health care program before next year, key supporters and opponents agreed today.

The President is hopeful of quicker action on his renewed plea to provide care for the aged through an increase in Social Security taxes. At his news conference Thursday he said, "I think we might get the bill by this year."

But clearly aware of the long road ahead Kennedy also remarked that the measure "has the problem of coming out of the Ways and Means Committee."

Hearings

This committee is just getting into stride in its work on a more complex and higher-priority Kennedy program—the tax reduction and revision bill.

Public hearings on this measure are expected to run through next month and committee consideration through May.

There is no prospect whatever, reliable sources said, that the committee will take up the health bill before the House acts on the tax measure, perhaps in June, and if the Senate passes the tax bill and a conference to adjust differences is necessary, this would mean a further interruption in the progress of health legislation.

Stops Short

Even Rep. Cecil R. King, D-Calif., chief House sponsor of the measure to provide hospital benefits for some 18 million aged persons, stopped short of predicting final action this year.

King said he hopes the Ways and Means Committee and the House will act favorably this year. In the Senate, there is no disposition to try again last year's maneuver of forcing a Senate vote first by tacking the health measure onto some other tax legislation. Last year's attempt resulted in a close defeat for the administration.

33rd Day Of Subzero Recorded In City; Cold Wave To Ease

A slight moderation is expected in weekend temperatures, after gusty subzero weather yesterday and subzero temperatures this morning.

It was nine below at day-break and today is the 33rd day this winter that the temperature has dropped to zero or below. The average number of zero or below days a season here is 10.

Yesterday's maximum was three above at 4 p.m., and with the low for the day of -8, the average temperature was -3, or 23 below normal.

The mercury fell to -8 at 11 last night and held at that mark most of the night.

Winds Diminish

Snowfall early yesterday morning totaled half an inch, bringing the total for the month to 11.9 inches.

Strong northwesterly winds, about 23 miles per hour yesterday morning, intensified the cold yesterday, but winds diminished and swung to the southwest overnight.

Southwesterly winds plus increasing cloudiness are expected to make temperatures tonight and during the weekend not quite so cold.

Other early morning temperatures today were -15 at the Marquette County Airport, -16 at Sault Ste. Marie, -14 at Escanaba, -11 at Iron Mountain and -8 at Calumet.

Cold Again Tonight

Low tonight will be five below to five above, and occasional periods of light snow are predicted tonight and tomorrow.

It won't be quite so cold tomorrow and moderating temperatures are expected to continue Sunday.

For the next five days, temperatures are expected to average from five to 10 degrees below the normal extremes of 27 and 14.

After moderating temperatures this weekend, colder temperatures are predicted for Monday and Tuesday, with milder readings again Wednesday.

Precipitation in the next five days is expected to total one-fourth inch or less in occasional periods of light snow or flurries mostly Sunday night, Monday and Wednesday.

Cold Wave Casualty In Marquette

This coal truck buckled in the middle yesterday afternoon when it crossed railroad tracks at Lake and Main Sts. Heavy steel frame on both sides of truck cracked, causing cab to drop forward and truck bed to lift up. The driver, Robert St. Onge, said intense cold had left steel brittle and vibration from crossing tracks caused metal to split. (Mining Journal photo).

Northern Enrollment Hits Spring Record; Rise Of 19 Per Cent

Northern Michigan College reports a record spring enrollment of 2,948 students, 19 per cent more than a year ago.

Dr. Clarence M. Bjork, dean of admissions and graduate studies, said the total includes 2,487 undergraduates and 207 graduate students. Enrollment a year ago was 2,385.

The undergraduate enrollment topped the previous spring-semester high of 2,196. Graduate enrollment was the highest for any comparable period, surpassing the 1962 figure of 189.

The nursing education center reported an enrollment of 28 at the NMC center, 18 in the Gogebic unit and 24 in the Sault Ste. Marie unit for a total of 70.

Another 58 students are training in affiliated hospitals.

Dr. Bjork said enrollment was up at every stage of the four-year program. There were 992 freshmen, 631 sophomores, 498 juniors, and 366 seniors.

The canvass of the commissioner race in the city primary election, held Monday, was made yesterday by the city's canvassing board, which, by charter, is composed of all members of the city commission who are not candidates for re-election and the city clerk.

Present for the canvass were Commissioners Elmer K. Carlson, C. Fred Rydholm and Steve A. E. Johnson and City Clerk Everett H. Kent.

The canvassing board thereupon declared Fine, Smith, Menze and Ling nominated, and their names will appear on the ballot in the commissioner race in the Monday, April 1, election.

For Two-Year Terms

The two candidates receiving the most votes in the spring election will be declared elected for two-year terms, beginning the week following the election. Terms of Smith and Fine will expire in April.

Two supervisors also will be chosen for two-year terms in April (candidates are the incumbents, Charles T. Beaudry and E. Kenneth Goldsworthy, and Mrs. Margaret Schnorr).

A municipal judge will be chosen for a six-year term, and Judge Edward H. Dembowski is unopposed for re-election.

While reports of Asian flu epidemics come in from across the nation, Marquette school officials say absenteeism here is normal, or even less than the usual amount. They all point to the cold temperatures as a big factor in the students' good health.

Chimney Blaze, False Call Bring Out City Firemen

A chimney blaze and a false call brought out city firemen during the night.

At 1:57 this morning firemen were summoned to the Lawrence Hamel residence, 2915 Lake Shore Blvd., to extinguish a chimney blaze.

Firemen used the booster hose off the No. 4 (750-gallon) pumper to put out the blaze, which they said was caused by a dirty chimney.

They remained at the scene as a precautionary measure for a while and returned to the station at 3 a.m. There was no damage.

Six on-duty firemen responded to the call. The No. 3 (1,000-gallon) pumper also was driven to the scene.

At 11:52 last night firemen received a call from a resident on Rock St., saying he thought there was a chimney blaze in the 200 block. A check revealed no fire, however.

Three firemen responded, with the No. 4 pumper and returned to the station at 12:25 a.m.

At Graveraet High School, attendance this week is better than usual and attendance officers say it's even higher than during the few mild spells this winter.

At Baraga Central High School, absenteeism made up two per cent of the enrollment yesterday and three per cent today. Absent Baraga students have mostly been in bed with a type of flu which lasts only about 24 hours.

'Normal' Absenteeism

Marquette's five public elementary schools report that absenteeism is no higher than usual, although chickenpox seems to prevail at Parkview School. Many elementary teachers reported full attendance in their classes this morning.

Northern Michigan College health officers said they are glad to see many students outside working on snow statues and they say only the normal amount of students are out of class, mostly with sore throats and colds.

U.P. Foresters To Conduct Meeting Here On March 1st

The winter meeting of the Upper Peninsula Chapter of the Society of American Foresters will be held in Marquette on Friday, March 1.

Four foresters from the Upper Peninsula and one from Minnesota will address the group at the afternoon session.

The day-long meeting will begin with registration from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. at the Lake States Forest Experiment Station's Upper Peninsula Research Center on Wright St. The business session, from 10:45 to noon, will be held in the Hotel Clifton.

Speakers for the afternoon session and their topics are:

R. J. Kessler of the Lake States Forest Experiment Station, Marquette, who will deliver a final report on maple blight research and a summary of his research on maple dieback.

U.P.'s Recreation Advantages To Be Told At Detroit Show

Recreational advantages of a vacation in the Upper Peninsula will be retold Detroiters at another big sports and recreation show early next month.

The Upper Michigan Tourist Association, which has its headquarters in Marquette, with area and community chambers of commerce cooperating, will set up its big resort and travel exposition at the Michigan State Fair Grounds for the Detroit Sportsmen's and Vacation Show March 1-10.

The exhibit will be taken there from Lansing, where it was moved from Chicago for showing at a convention of Michigan hardware dealers.

The Detroit show, the world's largest sports and travel exposition, features a 1½-hour stage show with a "Parade of Outdoor Champions" held twice daily in the Coliseum.

Besides the vacation exhibits, demonstrations and displays of fishing tackle, guns, zolf and archery equipment are featured, along with the showing of hunting and fishing movies.

Escanaba, Bay de Noc (Rapid River), Iron County, Dickinson County, Marquette and Top O' Lake Michigan (Manistique) Chambers of Commerce and the Copper Country Vacationist League helped staff the UMTA booth at the Chicago Sportsmen's and Vacation Show.

Representatives all reported they found wide interest in the Peninsula's historic scenic attractions, while a large number of persons inquired about opportunities to purchase or build summer homes in the North Country.

Manistique Man In Charge

Chamber representatives from Chippewa, Mackinac, Luce and Schoolcraft Counties will take a leading role in "selling" Upper Michigan vacations at the Detroit show.

In charge of coordinating the schedule of booth workers and supervising them at the UMTA exposition is Carl Graves, Manistique, secretary-manager of the Top O'Lake Michigan Chamber. Chambers interested in sending personnel to Detroit for this purpose should contact him immediately.

Other Exhibits Sited

Others who wish to have their literature distributed from the UMTA booth are asked to send it, prepaid, to: Detroit Sportsmen's and Vacation Show, Fairgrounds Coliseum, c-o Upper Michigan Tourist Association Booth 406-410, Detroit, so that it arrives there the day before the show opens.

Sports Events Highlights For Programs In U.P. In February; Schedule Through April Given

March annually is "tournament time" in the Upper Peninsula, and next month is an exceptional one from the standpoint of sports attractions for the region.

So notes the Upper Michigan Tourist Association here, in inaugurating a new service, "Calendar of Events in the Upper Peninsula."

Besides the usual basketball tournaments listed for March, next month's calendar contains the dates for two attractive ski jumping events — March 2-3 at Iron Mountain-Kingsford's giant Pine Mountain and March 9-10 at Ishpeming's Suicide Hill.

Nation's Top Skiers Due

Practically all of the nation's top ski jumpers will be in the U.P. on those dates. They'll take part in the North American championships at Pine Mountain the first weekend in March, then will go to Ishpeming for the final tryouts for places on the 1964 American Olympic ski jumping team.

The "calendar of events" service has been offered by the Upper Michigan Tourist Association to all chambers of commerce and other organizations in the Peninsula, in belief that there is need for such a listing of outstanding events.

It will be made available to newspapers and radio and television stations throughout the U.P., in addition to being sent to news media in Lower Michigan and other states. The listing of such events also will be sent to the Michigan Tourist Council for inclusion in the council's calendar.

"We have invited all chambers in the Peninsula to send us listings of conventions, homecomings, festivals, celebrations and other events scheduled for their area," Ken Dorman, UMTA secretary-manager, said. "Anyone wishing to list events that are of area, regional or state-wide interest is invited to send us their schedule well in advance."

Distribute Each Month

"News releases containing the 'calendar of events' will be prepared for distribution every month."

Following is the first 'calendar of events':

March 2 — Upper Michigan High School Music Festival, Northern Michigan College, Marquette.

March 2-3 — North American Ski Jumping Championships, Pine Mountain, Iron Mountain-Kingsford.

March 3 — State Highway Department tourist information center at Menominee reopens for 1963 travel season.

March 9-10 — U. S. Olympic Ski Jumping Tryouts at Suicide Hill, Ishpeming.

March 12-15 — Northern Michigan College musical presentation, "Guys and Dolls," Marquette.

March 14-16 — Upper Peninsula High School Regional Basketball Championship Tournaments, Marquette and St. Ignace.

March 14-16 — Upper Peninsula High School Regional Basketball Championship Tournaments, Marquette and St. Ignace.

March 16-17 — Auto Show, sponsored by Junior Chamber of Commerce, National Guard Armory, Sault Ste. Marie.

March 23-24 — Hiawatha Skating Club Show, Pullar Stadium, Sault Ste. Marie.

March 23-31 — Upper Peninsula-Northeastern Wisconsin Independent Basketball Tournament, Hermansville.

March 30 — Ice Show, Palestra, Marquette.

The Problems Of Youth

Washington the symbol — Father of his Country — is firmly cast in the mold of history, and the image is familiar to all. But the years since George Washington's birth—231 of them as of this anniversary date — have washed and dimmed his image as Washington the man.

It brings warmth to the mental picture of Washington to be able to envision him in a contemporary frame of reference and to realize that problems which plague parents today also caused concern for the great statesman and general.

Consider our constant concern for our teen-agers. That Washington was no stranger to this problem is revealed in a letter to the head of a boys' school in Annapolis, written in 1770, concerning his stepson, 17-year-old John Parke Custis.

Washington was concerned about the lad's interests and wrote that he had "turned" to dogs, horses & guns; indeed upon Dress and equipage, which till of late, he has discovered little inclination of giving into. . . . Substitute contemporary fads and vogues for young John's interests, and the statement is one of moment for any parent of a teen-ager today. And what of guidance for the youth? Washington wrote:

"... The time of life he is now advancing into requires the most friendly aid and Council (especially in such a place as Annapolis); otherwise the warmth of his own Passions, assisted by the bad example of other youth may prompt him to Actions derogatory to Virtue & that Innocence of Manners which one could wish to preserve in him.

"For wch. reason I would beg leave to request, that he may not be suffered to sleep from under your own Roof, unless it be at such places as you are sure he can have no bad examples set him; nor allow him to be rambling about at Nights. . . ."

Reads like the concern of any father today for a son or daughter away from home, doesn't it?

And Washington's reaction can best be imagined to the final fillip to young John Custis' educational career. A few years later, when he was attending King's College (now Columbia University), John left before completion of a term to get married.

Washington's concern with problems of the younger generation should bring him into very warm, very personal perspective for all of us today.

Washington Discovered Early There Was One He Was Unable To Lead

BY JUNE NORDAHL, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

George Washington — who led the colonies toward permanent confederation — found early in life that there was one person he couldn't lead.

She was Betsy Fauntleroy—and the place was to the altar.

An original letter, which recently turned up and was given to the University of Virginia, sheds further light on the character of the first President and the methods he used to woo and win the woman of his choice.

The letter was written by George to the girl's father asking his assistance after she had refused his proposal of marriage. She was evidently quite a beauty as shown by the only original life painting of her which hangs in the George Washington National Masonic Memorial, Alexandria, Va.

Not Ready To Give Up

George's romantic interest in Betsy was at its height in the spring of 1752. George was 20 and Betsy was just 16. Her father, William Fauntleroy, was justice and burgess of Richmond County, Va., and owned about 1,360 acres of land. Though the family was established, it was not the wealthiest or the most eminent.

But George, nonetheless, had fallen in love. Though usually self-conscious around girls and self-effacing in dealing with them, he mustered enough courage to ask Betsy to marry him. She turned him down. But George was not yet ready to give up.

Unforeseen Illness

A military strategist at heart, he devised a plan to win her by formal approaches. But his attempts were disrupted by an unforeseen illness which later became a source of much irritation. George was called away to Frederick County on business and upon his return was stricken with pleurisy.

His illness drained him of strength and left him too weak to pursue his lady any further. Instead, George decided to enlist the aid of Betsy's father by letter. The letter, as recorded by Paul Leicester Ford, reads:

Text Of Letter

"Sir, I should have been down long before this, but my business in Frederick detained me somewhat longer than I expected, and immediately upon my return from thence I was taken with violent pleurisy, which has reduced me very low; but purpose, as soon as I recover my strength is to wait on Miss Betsy, in hopes of a revocation of the former cruel sentence, and see if I can meet with any alteration in my favor. I have enclosed a letter to her, which should be much obliged to you for the delivery of it. I have nothing to add, but my best respects to your good lady and family."

Unfortunately, the original letter from Washington to Betsy, mentioned in Fauntleroy's letter, never turned up and is not known to have survived. Yet with all George's diplomacy and persistence, Betsy never did accept George's proposal. In fact, her "no" this time was so strong that Washington completely abandoned the quest and her name has never appeared in any of his correspondence that survived the years.

Betsy went on to marry Bowler Coker of the Breton Estate on James River in Henrico and after his death she became the wife of his cousin, Thomas Adams. Adams later became a member of the Continental Congress.

Married 7 Years Later

If George had any real grief over his rejection by Betsy, it was displaced by an absorbing concern over his half brother, Lawrence, who took ill shortly after.

It was not until seven years later that George finally married Martha Custis, widow of Daniel Parke Custis. It was their intention to retire to the Washington plantation at Mount Vernon to lead the life of a Virginia gentleman and lady. But that was 1759, when George Washington was 27 years old. His wife was a year older.

Seventeen years later the Revolutionary War broke out that was to make George Washington commanding general of the Continental Army and father of his country as its first president.

Betsy Fauntleroy might not have turned him down if she had known those things were going to happen.

Peninsula Perambulator

Congressman Victor A. Knox (R-Sault Ste. Marie) says his mail is light so far on the proposed tax cut and tax reform package, but it is running about 90 per cent against President Kennedy's proposals. Knox is in one of the key congressional positions on the question. He is a member of the tax-writing ways and means committee, which is conducting hearings on the President's program. Knox said "practically all" the mail he has received on the tax proposal is against it. The writers, he added, seem "quite concerned" over the proposal to cut taxes and increase spending.

Views Of Others

WHAT MADE CASTRO

Even at the brief height of his Latin American popularity Fidel Castro was not the hero in the hemisphere that he thought he was. Today, in the wake of the missile crisis, he looks to us quite small, a thwarted man self-confined to Cuba.

Thanks to his own failings over his feet and to this country's firm handling of the crisis, he looks that way in Latin America, too.

To suppose so offers no reason for smugness about Latin America. As Nathan Miller writes in the Sun from Rio de Janeiro, the conditions that created Castro have not been cured, in Cuba or elsewhere. The poverty remains and the illiteracy; the land-hunger and the bursting population; the economic chaos.

Time after time in the past we of the United States have become intensely concerned about a specific crisis in one Latin American nation or another, and then when that crisis subsided have forgotten that we lived in a hemisphere, until the next crisis arose.

It is the history of our relationship with Latin America, and it is why there exists in Latin America a profound skepticism about everything we say and do.

If we now revert once more to that attitude, the skepticism will grow yet deeper and we will have ourselves to blame if one day we wake up to a Latin American crisis to make all previous crises seem miniature. —Baltimore Sun.

AVAST THERE, ADMIRAL

In addition to being the father of the nuclear-powered submarine, Admiral Rickover is the progenitor of a record number of controversial offspring.

His appearance on a public platform is an almost certain guarantee to the program chairman that the meeting will make the headlines.

Thus it was that while a substantial number of national leaders spoke at the convocation of the Fund for the Republic in New York it was the Rickover description of Parent-Teacher Association members as "infernal nuisances" that called up the storm.

The PTA is well able to defend itself and we are inclined to agree with a remark of one of its officers. She said that Rickover designs very good submarines, but isn't necessarily an authority on other subjects.

In an age of increasing specialization, the admiral continues to emulate the one-man band. —Detroit News.

Sugar Price Up, Thanks To Fidel

By SAM DAWSON, AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The price of sugar here is going up, thanks to Fidel Castro and bad weather in Europe.

In recent years the price has gone up or down as the U. S. government thought best for domestic producers or for its international policies. Now, for the first time in years, controlling influences have slipped overseas.

Castro's Cuba isn't sending us any more because we won't accept it, for obvious reasons. But since it lost its big U. S. market, Cuba has been a leading supplier to the rest of the world. At first, the world price was way down, well below that maintained here by government rulings.

Under Castro, Cuban production has fallen off so badly, with what there is largely pledged to the Communist bloc, that the world supplies are pinched.

Bad weather in Europe hurt the sugar beet crop there. World production already was slipping below consumption, which has been on the rise.

So the price of sugar has been going up in world markets. At first this was reflected in the futures markets, where traders forecast the trend by bidding up the price for later delivery.

Now actual deliveries are being crippled and prices of raw sugar are rising. The refined product that the housewife buys will be going up, too, at least in parts of the country.

Highest Since 1924

Raw sugar from Brazil recently sold in New York for $6.90 per 100 pounds, highest price since 1924. So leading Eastern refiners of cane sugar have raised prices 15 cents a 100 pounds to $10.20. Some of this is likely to be passed on to the consumer when the grocer adjusts his prices on the small packages.

The problem is that world sugar prices have risen above domestic. For years the price here has been at a premium over the world price.

This was due to the sugar quota system, started in 1934 and extended from time to time since then. In all except the war years, world supplies exceeded demand. The trade had come to take that as normal.

Prime Market

The United States was the prime market. The quota system permits the secretary of agriculture to set a quota on the amount of sugar that can be imported. He changes this from time to time, lowering the total if the price is shaky, rising it if demand increases and starts pushing prices up.

The aim has been two-fold. One was to protect the cane and sugar beet growers in this country by assuring them a certain level of sales. The other was to divide among the other producing nations the amount of the rich American market it was deemed they should have.

Has To Compete

Now with Cuban production in a slump, and other producing areas unable to satisfy all of the world's increasing demand, the world price has risen. So the New York refiner who wanted some of Brazil's sugar had to compete with a world price, quota or no.

U. S. Eyes Push Button Planning

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department is going to try to get background help on foreign affairs questions by push button.

Given a go-ahead by Secretary Dean Rusk after a visit to a Pentagon computer center last summer, the department's electronic answering system is slated to swing into operation on an experimental basis during the fiscal year that begins July 1.

New System

Successful demonstrations by the new information storing and retrieving machine, a State Department newsletter said, point toward creation of "a system of mechanized support for researchers, desk officers, policy planners and decision makers who daily depend on substantive information and who frequently need it in a hurry."

Here's how the system is supposed to work:

Researchers comb through the department's voluminous stacks of political, military, economic, geographic, biographic and what-not information and decide what is important enough to be stored on the computer's memory tape. Then the information is indexed, or coded, to be given as an answer.

A simple question such as "What are the expressed views of Mr. X on subject Y?" produces a simple answer.

Can Cause Trouble

But questions asked too broadly can cause trouble, the newsletter warns. That's because the electronic selector, trying to cover all the angles on a fuzzy query, will tend to throw in a pile of only distantly related information.

Meets Fail To Open Theater To Negroes

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Two meetings between city officials and a lawyer for a movie house have failed to open the theater doors to Negroes.

But the doors of the city jail have opened again to admit 74 anti-segregation pickets, arrested Wednesday night in the sixth straight day of demonstrations at the Northwood Theater.

More than 400 students — most of them Negroes from nearby Morgan State College — have been jailed since the demonstrations began last Friday.

'Don't Worry, It's Not Coming Out Of Your Pocket'

The National Whirligig News Behind The News

WASHINGTON — For a change, one of the myriad government agencies seeking an economy-toting extra for the dubious luxury of being treated like a rich saloon-keeper. The one-class fare will be about 5 per cent higher than the present tourist fare, which will sound reasonable to those willing to forego dining on new's ear under glass while strapped to a chair.

It will also reduce the chaos of the present cut-throat fare schedule, which has been known to send travelers screaming from ticket offices, seeking an economy-priced strait jacket. For example, there are 100 different ways to be ticketed, round trip, between Boston and Miami, and 27 different fare schedules out of Chicago. This is absolute idiocy, a commentary on a people who call themselves democratic but insist on buying the right to snub their neighbors.

Common Sense?

For a few dollars more than tourist fare, United will offer a new seat wider than the tourist seat but a little narrower than the first-class seat; leg room equal to that offered in first-class compartments; five abreast seating; aisle space as wide as the in first-class compartment and a standard menu with the emphasis on nourishment rather than glamor. The simpler menu alone will save United $3.3 million a year, and the simplified ticketing will save another $1.4 million. The whole thing makes so much sense, it's hard to believe it's being permitted.

Withal, it will be interesting, and probably disheartening, to keep an eye on the reaction to this new economy setup on the part of government employees, who flit about the country on what are facetiously described as business trips. March. Unless they're changed overnight, most of them will have to be dragged, kicking and screaming, through the one-class gate. By a coincidence, a new insight into the traveling habits of genius government worker was provided by the comptroller general's office at about the time CAB was announcing its okay of United's plan. The comptroller general's office is one agency that saves the taxpayer money every day, and this naturally has put it in bad odor with its contemporaries, who hold that a taxpayer's dollar spent is a dollar enjoyed.

Lovely Lap Of Luxury

Anyway, the comptroller general reported to Congress that employees of the Federal Housing Administration have been going first class in large numbers, despite an offhand 1960 directive that people on the public payroll travel stingy whenever possible. The review covered 452 plane trips made by FHA employees, and it revealed that 292 of them, or about 65 per cent, were made first class.

It is no good arguing that first class flights were the only ones available, either. The FHA flights included trips between Washington and New York, where dirt-cheap air shuttle service is available almost every hour, and the employees who flew regally between Washington and Atlanta were ignoring 17 daily economy flights.

If only peanuts were involved, the taxpayer would still have a gripe, but the possible savings run to real money. There's a difference of $9 between first class and coach service between New York and Washington, and the savings grow fatter the longer the flight.

The one-fare plan will interest businessmen, of course, and pleasure travelers spending their own dough. But the morning line is 2 to 1 that government employees will find some way to avoid saving our money. A man gets used to high living when somebody else is picking up the tab. Logrolling And Leadership

By WALTER LIPPMANN

The tax program has had a rough reception and it is off to a bad start. It has virtually no enthusiastic friends. It has aroused a diverse array of opponents who, though they disagree drastically among themselves, are at one in attacking the proposals.

It may be too early to say what kind of bill can be squeezed out of the two committees and the two houses. But the opponents are formidable, while the Administration leaders are skeptical and hesitant.

Politically Misconceived

If we ask ourselves why the prospects are so poor, we must note, I think, that whatever the fiscal merits—which I think are very great—the program is politically misconceived. In an effort to please everybody a little, very few are left who are pleased very much. It is a program to cut taxes and at the same time to raise them, and no political leader can rouse the people to follow him in two opposite directions at once. The program, in fact, is not designed for the use of a leader of the nation. It is designed for logrolling among the factions of special interests who dominate Congress.

In choosing a program which is made for logrolling and not for open public leadership, the architects of the program were hoping not to have to face the basic fact in the situation. This is that the principle of the new policy is not now understood and accepted by a large majority of our people. No one, I think, can deny the novelty of the principle of a voluntary deficit—planned to expand demand in order to stimulate the economy. A good majority of our people regard a planned deficit as contrary to sound government and to good morals. Those who support the new program are a minority, and they are likely to remain a minority until they have done a vast amount of successful demonstrating and teaching.

The burden of proof is on those of us who believe that the chronic sluggishness of the American economy, which threatens many of our vital interests, can be overcome by this new fiscal policy. The President has espoused the new principle. But he has lacked confidence in his ability to persuade a majority and has therefore fallen back upon the device of the legislative logroll. My point is that so new and so experimental a principle as the planned deficit cannot be put into effect by logrolling and manipulation. The principle has to be understood by the people. A standard has to be raised which is visible and clear to all if a majority is to be rallied to it.

Country Baffled By Program

But the tax program, though it contains within it a moderate and sensible application of the new principle, is a political contraption designed not to rally the people but to offset factions and special interests against one another. What, for example, is used as the measure of the planned deficit? That it should be just a little smaller than President Eisenhower's record-breaking inventory deficit in 1959. What was used as the mark, which expenditures—in the administrative budget only—must not reach? One hundred billion dollars, as in a department store where the price is supposed to be more alluring if it is $4.99 rather than $5.

The net result of such calculations is a program which both lowers and raises taxes. The country is baffled by it. Instead of focusing public attention on the vital need to stimulate the economy, each taxpayer has been invited to see whether he will lose more by the tax reforms than he will gain by the tax reductions. This is too complicated and too involuted to bring about public understanding of a new theory of public finance. It is meant to be clever, and it ends by being unclear. That is why, I submit, there is so little public support and why the opposition is so varied and contradictory that it extends from the Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers to the big labor unions of the CIO-AFL.

Sen. Humphrey And Sen. Byrd

I would not presume to say that a deal cannot be wangled out of Congress sometime before the end of the calendar year. But we may be sure that the delay and the spectacle of the dealing will not be stimulating but, on the contrary, will be depressing to the economy.

It would be better, I think, if the Administration followed the lead given by Sen. Hubert Humphrey, which is to cut its losses, postpone the tax reforms and ask for a straight-forward tax cut. Granted that this will not be easy to get from Sen. Byrd. But the Administration is not going to get its program from Sen. Byrd. At least, a simple program of tax reduction would pose clearly the real issue, which is whether we should take means at once to stimulate our sluggish economy.

The Nature Of Complaints

Dear Sir: Radio Station WHAF, Louisville, Ky., has a nightly program directed by Milton Metz. It is very enlightening and instructive because it probes into anything human.

Tuesday night, Feb. 19, the subject under discussion was "complaints," such as of wear and things that complaining cannot change. Now, to me, it would seem that complaints are healthy signs of progress.

Complaints are like coals that smolder until a chance wind inflames them either into destructiveness or creativeness. Complaints are dissatisfactions and discontentments over things as they are. Nonetheless, they give impetus and/or impulse to life and progress. Life can never be entirely contented and carefree if it is to survive, for contentment stagnates, while dissatisfaction accelerates life energy. Everything in the universe is restless, changing energy; it cannot rest still. Thus it would seem that complaints, however ridiculous and nonsensical they may appear, are seeds of growth; and that whenever contentment becomes a way of life, growth and progress have reached the end and the ultimate finis to life.

Two Sent To Prison, Two Put On Probation By Circuit Judge Here

Two defendants in criminal cases were given prison terms, two others were placed on probation and a probation violator was sent to the Marquette County jail here yesterday.

Sentencing was imposed by Judge Philip J. Glennie, Alpena, who is serving in this term of Marquette County Circuit Court because of the death last month of Judge Carroll C. Rushton of Marquette. Judge Glennie also sentenced the two probationers to the county jail as part of their probation terms.

Sentencing for another defendant. Darrow D. Wright, 23, Flint, formerly of Marquette, was postponed until the May term of circuit court. When he appeared in circuit court Feb. 11, Wright pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery.

Sentenced to prison were: Agnes St. George, 54, drunk and disorderly—third offense, one to two years in the Detroit House of Corrections.

Arnold Rowlett, 28, an inmate of the Marquette State Prison, felonious assault, one to four years to be served concurrently with his present sentence in the Marquette State Prison.

'Needs Medical Attention' Mrs. St. George, who appeared yesterday with her court-appointed attorney, Kevin Sheard, Marquette, was arrested by city police Jan. 28 on Rock St. She was previously arrested for being drunk and disorderly Nov. 21 and Dec. 19.

Judge Glennie recommended that she receive medical attention at the Detroit House of Corrections.

He told her, "You need both mental and physical attention. I hope you receive that help when you are away, so that when you return you can assume the role of a law-abiding citizen."

Rowlett pleaded guilty in circuit court last week to a charge of assaulting a co-worker in the prison laundry with a two-inch blade hobby knife.

The offense occurred Jan. 3. The victim of the assault suffered deep lacerations to the inner side of his left wrist.

Had Fled Prison Rowlett was transferred here as a trustee in 1958, while serving a one and one-half to five year term for automobile theft.

He escaped from the prison dormitory Oct. 9, 1962, and was captured the next day. He was then resented Nov. 6 to serve one and one-half to four and one-half years.

Probation Terms Placed on probation yesterday were:

Joe Solorio, 21, K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, indecent liberties, five years' probation, including 60 days in the county jail.

Ronald B. Walker, 18, Detroit, felonious driving, two years' probation, including 10 days in isolation in the county jail.

Solorio, arrested by state police for taking indecent liberties with a six-year-old girl Jan. 26 in Forsyth Township, pleaded guilty in circuit court last week. He appeared yesterday with his court-appointed attorney, Robert M. Bourdeau, Marquette.

To Return To California As a special condition of his probation, Judge Glennie ordered Solorio to spend 60 days in county jail.

At the end of 60 days, the court has given its consent for Solorio's return to his home in California. He will be under the supervision of probation officers there.

Judge Glennie ordered that Solorio submit to psychiatric treatment in California and noted that he will have to register, under California law, as having been charged with a sexual offense.

"This will cause you serious difficulty," Judge Glennie said.

Walker entered a plea of guilty to the felonious driving charge last week. He was represented by John E. McDonald, Marquette attorney.

He was arrested by city police following a traffic mishap in which three women pedestrians were injured on Nov. 28 near the southwest corner of N. Seventh St. and Lee Hall Dr.

During the two-year probation term, Walker must not drive an automobile or drink alcoholic beverages, Judge Glennie ordered.

"For violation of probation, you will be brought back to court and sentenced," Judge Glennie said. "Just so you will know what would happen, I order you to spend the next 10 days in isolation in the Marquette County Jail."

Daniel Wilbrandt, 26, Battle Creek, was ordered to spend 30 days in the county jail for probation violation.

He was placed on probation in circuit court during the May term in 1960 for writing checks with insufficient funds and was picked up in Battle Creek by Marquette County Sheriff's Officers Jan. 24 for probation violation.

Regular Probation Conditions As in all probation cases, the defendants, during the terms of their probation, (1) must not violate any city ordinances or state and federal laws, (2) must not leave the state without the permission of the court or the probation officer, and (3) must report monthly or as often as requested, either in writing or in person, to the probation officer.

Science Building For NMC In Romney's Priority List

LANSING (AP)—A $10 million mental hospital in western Michigan and an $8 million dental school at the University of Michigan head the list of some 27 "top-priority" building projects for which Gov. George Romney has asked lawmakers to provide planning and land purchase funds.

The Governor, in his budget message last month, asked for $1,008,500 from the general fund to lay groundwork for a long-range, $60.6 million program.

In a follow-up announcement Thursday, he outlined the projects more than half of which will be on state college and university campuses, with the rest concentrated in mental health facilities.

Seven of the projects are included in the 1963-64 budget proposal and details of these, the Governor said, already are in the hands of legislative appropriating committees.

'Top Priority' Capital outlay money for final plans and construction of the other 20 projects is scheduled to start in the 1964-65 budget.

State Controller Glenn S. Allen said the projects on the list have been deemed "top priority" by agreement of the administration and the schools or state agencies involved.

In addition to the $1,008,500 for preliminary planning, studies and lands would be used for site selection and acquisition.

Among the larger projects, in addition to the hospital and the U-M dental school, would be a $5.2 million college of architecture and design at U-M, power plant expansion ($7.5 million) and a conservation-forestry facility ($4 million) at Michigan State University.

Others include a Wayne State University Law School ($2.5 million), a trade technical building at Ferris Institute (2.5 million), a science building at Northern Michigan College (2.5 million) and a classroom building at Central Michigan University (2.4 million).

Clinic Addition Some $1.2 million would ultimately be spent for an addition to the Lafayette Clinic in Detroit, with $2.7 million for facilities for small children and handicapped children at the Plymouth State Home and Training School.

The total estimated cost breakdown would be $41.8 million for higher education, and $18.1 million for higher education and $18.1 million for mental health.

Immediate planning funds would be distributed with $780,000 for higher education and $221,000 for mental health.

Four Ticketed, Eleven Cars Involved In City Collisions

Four persons were issued tickets and 11 automobiles were damaged, but no one was injured, in five traffic collisions which occurred yesterday in Marquette.

Two other accidents occurred in the county yesterday and were investigated by state police from Marquette post (see story on Page 9). Reports on the city mishaps follow:

1. At 1:50 yesterday afternoon a car being driven east on W. College Ave. by Dorothy R. Luoma, 986 W. College Ave., struck a car owned by Leonard C. Gauthier, 2324 Longyear Ave., which was parked on the south side of the street, in the 300 block.

City police said Mrs. Luoma cut to the right to avoid a collision with a car operated by Aimes V. McQuaid, K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, who had backed out of a private driveway from St. Luke's Hospital, in front of Mrs. Luoma.

Right-Of-Way Violation Mrs. McQuaid went across the street, from the south to the north, police said, and Mrs. Luoma went between her car and several parked automobiles, into the entrance of the driveway, where her vehicle hit the Gauthier car, which was parked just east of the driveway.

Officers said the bumpers locked on the two cars and a wrecker had to separate the vehicles. Extensive damage occurred to the left rear fender of Gauthier's 1952 four-door sedan, which had to be hauled from the scene. The front end of the Luoma car, a 1961 four-door, was damaged. No damage occurred to Mrs. McQuaid's 1960 four-door.

City police ticketed Mrs. McQuaid for a right-of-way violation.

$78 for two-bedroom units. Tech's current residence hall rates are lower than those of five other state institutions. Additional revenues from rate increases will be used for replacement of room furnishings and additional upkeep and maintenance.

Student fees collected on the Houghton campus will now be payable on a quarterly basis, beginning in September. Previously, fees for the entire academic year were collected in the fall. The board said it was making this change to ease financial hardships of students. Fee collections at the Soo campus have been on a quarterly basis for several years.

The board allocated $1,500 to the Tech Rocket Society, a student organization, to help finance construction of a rocket. Extensive research and design work on a two-stage rocket has already been completed by the students. The grant from the board will enable the group to finish construction. When the rocket is completed it will be turned over to the Defense Department for firing.

Policy On Campus Speakers, Rates, Fees Listed By Tech

HOUGHTON—Michigan Tech's board of control has adopted a policy on speakers invited to the campus by student groups which is almost identical to the policy previously proposed by the Michigan Coordinating Council for Public Higher Education.

The action came at a meeting last weekend on the Houghton campus, Dr. J. R. Van Pelt, Tech's student group's responsibility.

In brief, the policy provides: 1. The speaker must not urge action which is prohibited by the published rules of the college, or which is against Michigan or federal law. It is the responsibility of the student group to inform the speaker of these prohibitions.

2. Only student groups chartered by the dean of students as campus organizations under the general criteria for recognition of such groups may invite speakers to the campus.

3. The sponsoring organization must make full arrangements in advance for reservation of space, using a form provided for this purpose. The form will show the time and place of meeting, the names of speakers and the subject of the meeting.

4. Where the proposed subject is controversial, it is suggested that the technique of fair debate between speakers with dissimilar views should be encouraged.

Nine of the state-supported colleges and universities have now adopted similar policies. The tenth school, Ferris Institute, Big Rapids, is expected to consider the matter during a March meeting of its board.

Appointments Made In other action, the board made nine appointments to the advisory committee of Tech's forest products research division, approved resumption of doctoral degree programs previously recessed for lack of research support, made slight increases in rental rates for residence halls and student apartments effective in September, board and room rates for college-operated residence halls were increased from $20 weekly to $21.50 a weekly on the Houghton campus and to $21 on the Sault Ste. Marie campus. Rentals for married students housing units on the Houghton campus were increased from $67.50 to $70 per month for single bedroom units, and from $75 to $78 for two-bedroom units. Tech's current residence hall rates are lower than those of five other state institutions. Additional revenues from rate increases will be used for replacement of room furnishings and additional upkeep and maintenance.

Student fees collected on the Houghton campus will now be payable on a quarterly basis, beginning in September. Previously, fees for the entire academic year were collected in the fall. The board said it was making this change to ease financial hardships of students. Fee collections at the Soo campus have been on a quarterly basis for several years.

The board allocated $1,500 to the Tech Rocket Society, a student organization, to help finance construction of a rocket. Extensive research and design work on a two-stage rocket has already been completed by the students. The grant from the board will enable the group to finish construction. When the rocket is completed it will be turned over to the Defense Department for firing.

Colors Play Big Role In Interrogation

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Interrogation rooms at the five-year-old Kent County Jail play a colorful role in the cases their walls embrace.

Upon advice of psychologists when the jail was completed in 1958, Sheriff Arnold Pigorsh has experimented painting the rooms with about a dozen color combinations.

"I find that sandalwood and light blue are the best all-around colors," he says. "We've had excellent results from interrogations conducted in these rooms. I find these same colors and also light green appear to have a calming effect on prisoners throughout the jail."

Pigorsh says women respond best to blue while men also like the color but are equally comfortable and confiding in light tan surroundings. Yellow, red and dark purple produced negative cooperation from persons being questioned.

Elementary Staff Hears Panel Talks

To grade or not to grade in three special fields — music, art and physical education — was the question posed by a panel of three teachers in Marquette's public elementary schools at the general meeting of the school staffs Wednesday afternoon in Whitman School.

Panel members included three special field supervisors, Verna Burkman, art; William Saari, music, and Fred Taccolini, physical education, and Olive Fox, elementary supervisor.

Summary Given

Each panel member presented a brief summary of the place his particular specialty has in the curriculum, describing what he or she hoped to accomplish during the pupil's elementary years and raising questions with regard to the effect on the child of strict grading in the three areas.

The panel emphasized that each of the special fields of the elementary curriculum is designed to contribute to the enrichment of children's lives, not only now but also in the future, and that all children need regardless of any special aptitudes, which — in the case of some children — show up early. The question, Miss Fox reported, "therefore resolved itself into what method of reporting to parents would help rather than retard the maximum development of all children."

Pros, Cons

Spirited response from the teachers brought out the pros and cons of reporting methods in various Michigan school systems and some definite suggestions were made for next year's new progress report cards to parents in Marquette. These suggestions will be weighed carefully when the new report forms are prepared, Miss Fox said.

Hostesses for the coffee hour were the Whitman teachers, including Alice Mason, Olive Akkalla, Esther Olander, Antoinette Burke, Donna Long, Nancy Hildebrand, Emily Zerbel, Irene Mileski, Shirley Maloney, Joyce Olson, Robert Soderholm, Effie Pelkonen, Marlene Stafford, Don Aronson and Ralph Barber, principal.

Next month's meeting of elementary teachers is scheduled for March 20 in Parkview School.

This Week When You Buy — Pork

BY INGRID BARTELLI (Consumer Marketing Information Agent, Michigan State University)

There is a "when" and a "which" to pork buying. We're nearing the end of the "when" time for this season and it always pays to know "which."

First, let's discuss the "when" to buy. Of course, "when" to many folks is "whenever I get hungry for pork." "When" to the price-conscious consumer is the period between November and March when pork is at its seasonal lowest price. During this period, more pork is eaten daily. Also, during this period, those favorite cuts are stored in quantity for spring and summer eating. With proper wrapping, fresh pork can be held at zero degrees in a home freezer for three to six months.

Such pork cuts as pork loin, and of course this includes pork chops and bacon, reflect the greatest seasonal price fluctuations with the highest prices coming during July and August. The "highest price" on bacon coincides with garden-ripe tomato time.

Even Schedule Such cuts as hams and smoked shoulders hold a more even price schedule throughout the entire year. There are, of course, "feature times" for various cuts. For example, hams will be featured at New Year's, Easter and 4th of July. The other times when ham may be sold below cost is during periods of severe competition between stores in any one locality.

Smoked pork cuts are purchased only in quantities for immediate use since smoked products do not freeze well. Smoking and curing break down the fat which becomes rancid in spite of freezing.

So much for the "when" in pork buying. Now, let's concern ourselves about "which." This, of course, depends on what you want. If it's the largest size lean muscle you want, it'll be found in the center portion of a ham. A pork chop, or loin roast, has the lean cut largely located in one muscle.

Good 'Bone Chewers' If it's "bone chewing" you want, you'll buy spareribs, country style rib end roast, or just the peeled down rib and backbones. Hocks and feet can also be classified as "bone chewing" cuts.

It's the most amount of lean meat (not necessarily all in one muscle) for the least amount of money that you want, your choice is most apt to be the butt of the shoulder, referred to as the Boston butt, which may be used as a roast or cut into steaks.

Enrollment Problems Facing Gwinn Board Told Base PTA

GWINN — "Extremely impressed," is how Maj. Eugene LaMar described his impression of the Gwinn Board of Education to the McDonald K.I. Sawyer PTA. LaMar discussed problems relating to schooling of military dependents with members of the board. He reported to the PTA as its president. Maj. Ralph Kelly, vice president of the organization, told the PTA of some of the problems facing the Gwinn school board. He said that estimated enrollments would place the students population 500 beyond the capacity of the schools next year. Estimates are based on government plans to construct 168 housing units on the base and to add 100 additional trailer pads. Kelly explained that funds for additional classrooms could not be requested from the government until bids are let for building the homes to be constructed, consequently, he pointed out, classroom facilities always will be behind population increases. LaMar assured PTA members that the school board is using what he termed a "positive approach" to provide the best possible education for all children in the school district. He said the board was also using models of the school district at all meetings and that he believes suggestions concerning education will be given serious consideration. The reports from officers were the result of a suggestion by a member of the PTA that a representative of the group report school board proceedings in order that parents might become better aware of educational plans and policies.

Spectacular Remodeling Job On Old Home Finished By Retired IHS Teacher

ISHPEMING — A former Ishpeiming High School teacher has finished a spectacular remodeling job on a home more than a half century old. Miss Gladys Haney, who retired recently after 41 years as a teacher — most of them in high school — is now enjoying her retirement in her newly remodeled home in Sparta, Wis. The house is unrecognizable from the one which occupied the same spot before the remodeling job began. In fact, a passerby must look closely before making certain the house is not new. The outstanding feature of the house is what Miss Haney refers to as her "plant room."

biological displays which will soon be exhibited on racks. There are also scale models of a dragonfly and a firefly which her students made. In a cabinet upstairs are the skull of a deer with antlers still intact and a stuffed ring-necked pheasant. It should be pointed out that Miss Haney did not undertake the remodeling job by herself. All the work was contracted, but the ideas were hers. House Empty For Five Years Before Miss Haney started her project, the house had been sitting empty for five years. It was completely redone on the inside. A garage was added to the east side of the house, north of the plant room. A small kitchen and bathroom were built on the first floor. A half-bath was built upstairs. A downstair bedroom was converted to a music room. An intricate shelving arrangement for books and other articles occupies nearly one full wall in the living room. Miss Haney was so proud of the change she wrought that she entered her project in a contest sponsored by a national magazine. It should be a winner.

Unique 'Plant Room' The house is unrecognizable from the one which occupied the same spot before the remodeling job began. In fact, a passerby must look closely before making certain the house is not new. The outstanding feature of the house is what Miss Haney refers to as her "plant room." This is a 15 by 23 foot addition to the east side. One entire wall is constituted of glass. A unique fireplace occupies another wall and a third is built of split rock with about a dozen small shelves on which plants are displayed. 1 1/2 Hours To Water Plants There are more than 100 different plants in the room, including begonias, ferns, different varieties of violets and more than a dozen types of cactus. It takes Miss Haney more than an hour and a half just to water the plants each day. The room is kept at constant temperatures and the humidity also is controlled. The olive colored fireplace occupies a raised split-rock platform. It resembles, somewhat, an open-faced pot-bellied stove, complete with pipes. The resemblance, however, is only slight. The fireplace is of extremely modern design. Miss Haney could find only one place that manufactured the item and that was in the State of Washington. Plants Started In Basement Some of Miss Haney's plants are those she cultivated during her 19 years as a biology teacher at Ishpeiming High School. Some she buys herself; others are given her by friends. Miss Haney's interest in plants also extends to the basement, where a special room is devoted to "starting" the plants which eventually are moved upstairs. A special fluorescent-type light burns 16 hours a day over the small plants. Display cabinets are now being completed for a variety of other ornaments Miss Haney has picked up during her years as a teacher. These include a round and flat cross-section of a tree which one of her students made as a project. Its rings clearly show its age and the student marked the years with historical events which happened at the time. Miss Haney also has specimens of different rocks, minerals and $91 Stolen From Store On First St.

ISHPEMING — City police are investigating a case of breaking and entering at the Felsner Plumbing and Heating Co. establishment, located at 115 S. First St., which netted $91.53 taken from a cash register. Entry to the building was made at approximately 1 a. m. Thursday by breaking glass in the door leading to the basement on the north side of the building. Police said the robber then reached inside and unlocked the door. Officers said the cash register was pried open with a screwdriver and another tool which they surmised might have been a can opener, which was found next to the register. Nothing else in the establishment was reported missing.

C-C Teacher Pay Too Low, MEA Claims

LANSING — School officials in the Upper Peninsula's Copper Country will face serious problems when attempting to employ and retain well qualified teachers to replace those leaving, according to a report from the Michigan Education Association's research division. The research report shows that not one school in the Copper Country, which includes Baraga, Keweenaw, Houghton and Ontonagon Counties, begins a teacher at a salary equal to the state median of $4,742 for a bachelor's degree. Beginning teachers in the Copper Country are earning $742 to $1,412 less than the average salary paid last year's June graduates. Schools there are not even offering potential salaries to experienced teachers that are equal to the state median of $7,254. While the average classroom teacher's salary in the state has increased $249 over the average for 1961-62 ($6,193), no Copper Country teacher with a bachelor's degree is paid the top salary of $6,444, which is the average for all teachers in Michigan. The average salary for Copper Country teachers is considerably less than the classroom teachers' average salary for 1962-63. In Alouez Township teachers receive $1,977 less than the state average. Ewen teachers receive $1,860 less; Dollar Bay pays $2,035 less; Calumet offers $1,202 less and Hancock teachers receive $1,290 less than the average for the state. Stockpile Retention Urged By Mining Industry Group

WASHINGTON — The United States Government is strongly urged to retain its present stockpiles of strategic and critical materials in a statement issued by the American Mining Congress. The organization, which represents all segments of the mining industry, emphasized that Congress should determine present-day stockpile objectives. Present objectives are considerably below those set several years ago when most of the stockpile was bought, the statement points out, adding: "Present objectives make no provision for reconstruction in the event of nuclear war, for allocations to allies other than normal wartime exports, for meeting projected long-range deficits of mineral raw materials, or for replacing imported supplies that may be cut off in peacetime by adverse political trends abroad." The Mining Congress maintains that no one case can be certain as to the proper size of the objective for the individual commodities. The statement says that the administration's calculations that classify a portion of the present stockpile as surplus are based on narrowly defined objectives. The stockpile review also points out that in the last fiscal year the cost of storing the strategic and critical stockpiles was approximately $12,500,000 whereas the cost of storing surplus agricultural commodities of near equal value was almost $400,000,000. In commenting on proposals for changing present limitations on disposal of material from the stockpiles, the Mining Congress urges that industry should be given an opportunity to present its views on disposal procedure. The statement emphasizes that stockpile sales will adversely affect employment, commodity prices, relations with important foreign-producing countries and development of new mineral resources. The report declares that stockpiles consist large-

18 Fined By Justices In Gwinn

GWINN — Eighteen persons paid a total of $173.50 in fines and costs, mostly for moving traffic violations, in cases handled by Justices Arthur Burkman and Clifford Powers at the Gwinn Town Hall. Answering summonses issued by state police, and the amount paid by each, were the following: Ronald Gudilla, Sawyer AFB, $8.70 for violation of the basic speed law and $13.70 for failure to report a property damage accident on a marked curve; Thomas Weslesky and Brian Nadeau, both of Sawyer AFB, $13.70 each for violation of the basic speed law; Stanley Bloom, Sawyer AFB, $13.70 for driving on wrong side of highway; Thomas Strange, Sawyer AFB, $8.70 for violation of basic speed law and Dean Hansen, Sawyer AFB, $2 for improper parking. Robert Steen, Gwinn, arrested by state police for being a disorderly person, paid $13.70 in fine and costs. The following, with the amounts paid by each, were apprehended by Gwinn police: John Lowenthal, Sawyer AFB, $9.30 for passing on double line; Lester LaCarte, Cornell, $6.70 for making improper turn; Sylvester Ford Jr., Forsyth, $6.70 for exceeding speed limit; William Burton, Gould City, $13.70 for violation of basic speed law; Joseph Murvich, Laurium, $2 for improper parking. Dividend Voted By CCI Directors CLEVELAND — Directors of the Cleveland Iron Co. today declared a regular dividend of $1.125 per share on the preferred stock, payable March 15 to shareholders of record March 1. A quarterly dividend of 35 cents per share was declared on the common stock, payable March 15 to shareholders of record March 1. The administration decided in 1962 to reveal details of the amounts held and objectives of the stockpiles. The Mining Congress says that making public the size and extent of the stockpile may be an important deterrent to the outbreak of war since a potential aggressor would readily recognize the extent of this country's accumulated reserves of basic materials. The statement strongly insists that the United States Congress should retain control of any sales rather than permitting disposal on the basis of administrative determination. The report points out that in establishing the original legislation in 1946, Congress recognized the need to reassure industry with regard to future disposals. This need, the Mining Congress says, still exists.

Many Top Scorers Have Seasons Left In U. P. Basketball

Three seniors are battling for the individual scoring crown in the closing days of the Upper Peninsula high school basketball campaign, but a large number of youngsters are hitting the hoop with regularity.

Garden's Barry Rochefort and Negaunee St. Paul's Dominic Jacobetti both have made the 20-point-a-game grade as sophomores, while Hermansville's sharpshooting Ron Povolo isn't far behind. All three have scored more than 300 points this winter. Well over the 200 mark for the season are L'Anse's Joe Marinich, Cedarville's Dan Dutcher, Felch's Gary Blomquist, Michigamme's Jim Innebrener, Powers' Mike Nelson and Rapid River's Doug Moss.

Dales Here Saturday Afternoon

Northern Michigan College, fresh from its 82-74 triumph over Michigan Tech, will put its 11-0 home victory string on the line Saturday afternoon when the Wildcats meet Hillsdale at 1:30.

Monday night, Feb. 25, Coach Stan Albeck's cagers host powerful Lakeland (Wis.) College which has rolled to 14 victories in its first 17 games.

Faced by Marty Gharitty, Bob Armstrong and Bob Pecotte who scored 20, 19 and 18 points respectively, the Wildcats' victory over Tech was the first defeat for the Huskies on their home court this season after notching 10 straight wins.

In Hillsdale, the NMC cagers will face a rebuilding team that has won only three of 19 games. One of the Dales' victories, however, was over Central Michigan, a club that edged Northern 70-68 while two of its losses have been to major powers — Bowling Green and the University of Detroit.

Hampers by the loss of his number one player, co-captain Charlie Works, Coach John Williams indicates that he'll start guards Phil Rabaja and Bill Craven, both 5-8; a pair of 6-2 forwards in Gene Pensari and Mike Dibble; and 6-6 center John Rowan. Despite Craven's size, the Lake Orion sophomore is considered an excellent playmaker while both Pensari and Rabaja are capable of scoring 20 points or more.

Last year, the Wildcats downed the Dales 107-95.

Youngstown of Ohio coasted to an easy 76-42 victory over Hillsdale Thursday night in a non-conference basketball game at Hillsdale.

The visitors, who led 40-19 at halftime, had four players in double figures, paced by Ron Allan with 17 points. High scorer for the losers was Phil Rabaja with 14.

The victory was Youngstown's 17th in 24 starts.

DeMerse Rips Nets For 24 For Soo Tech

Hitting the century mark for the second successive game against Suomi College of Hancock, the Sault Tech Hornets extended their season record to 14 victories and 6 losses.

Parlaying accurate shooting and a fastbreak, the Hornets struck hard in the second half of the Saturday afternoon game.

Dennis DeMerse of Marquette hit for 12 out of 13 field goals to lead the hot-shooting Hornets with 24 points.

Strong supporting performances came from Captain Stan Ojala with 18 points, John Jeske with 18 points, and Dick Walczak with 17 points.

Stan Ojala showed why he is one of the most sought-after junior college players in the state with his 47-point performance. Aiding and abetting Ojala were Hornets John Jeske with 12, Tom Bour of Fenton with 14, and Dick Walczak of Detroit with 11 points.

Giving strong performances in both games for Suomi were Charles Klingbeil of Hancock and Curtis Lahti of Houghton. Klingbeil scored 33 and Lahti 31, in the Monday game.

The Hornets engage the Central Michigan University Freshmen on Friday and Ferris Institute on Saturday.

Casinos Lead Pool League

Casinos led the Marquette Pool League through Feb. 18, but their 1962 record was only four games ahead of Central Bar, and six in front of Bill's.

Sportsman (97-74), Harvey Inn (96-75) and Furnace Tavern (87-84) rounded out the "first division", followed by Moose, Howard's, Shoreland, Park Tavern, Pompo's and Shamrocks, in that order.

Mass Cops Porkies Title, Downing White Pine, 50-37

WHITE PINE — Mass High School won the Porcupine Mountains Conference title last night, downing White Pine, 50-37, in the lone high school game played in the Upper Peninsula.

The margin was a surprise. Mass beat White Pine, at Mass, in the season's opener, 46-39, and the Warriors won, 32-31, in a Holiday tournament game on the WPHS court.

4 Canadians From Sawyer In Bonspiel

A rink of four Canadian curlers representing K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, Marquette, Mich., will add an international flavor to the Green Bay Curling Club's first annual invitational bonspiel this weekend.

Bert Houle of Massey, Ont., will skip the all-Canadian rink in the 16-team, three-event tournament slated Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Other members of the Canadian team are Earl McLaughlin, vice-skip, of Vancouver, B. C.; John Cuchern, second, Edmonton, Alb., and Tom Smith, lead, Ottawa, Ont.

The four are members of the RCAF stationed at K. I. Sawyer on station to the U. S. Air Force. They are attached to the SAGE (semi-automatic ground environment) system and are among 20 Canadians at the base.

All four are veteran curlers with extensive experience in Canadian bonspiels.

The bonspiel will open Friday noon on the Green Bay club's two sheets of refrigerated ice located near City Stadium, home of the Packers. There will be a bonspiel banquet Saturday night and the championship game will be played Sunday afternoon.

Other teams entered included one from Minnesota and curlers from 10 clubs throughout Wisconsin.

Skiers Trek 48 Miles, Take Saunas

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — A weary but jubilant band of Caperfae Ski Area instructors wound up a cross country ski trek from Cadillac to Traverse City Thursday night with a visit to a Finnish sauna.

Only four of the original band of eight skiers who started out from Cadillac at 7 a. m. Thursday completed the trek over 48 miles of M-115 and M-37.

First to be greeted by Traverse City Mayor Larry Hardy and Chamber of Commerce President Charles Moorman was Jack Snider, 26-year-old geologist with the Conservation Department, who finished the trek in 11 hours and 30 minutes.

Next to finish was Bill Smrekar, 28, a draftsman, who covered the 48 miles in 12 hours and 22 minutes. He was followed by Jerry Iverson, 28, and Fred Lamb, 27, both of whom finished in 13 hours and five minutes.

Revealing his playing day habits, Tebbetts had this to say: "It was 17 years in the big leagues as a player and I never took a drink. But I went with the gang to the night spots. I know the hours they kept. If they were fatigued, it was their own fault. Usually it's the player who complains about flying all night who keeps the latest hours when he has a chance to rest."

Birdie Says Flying Isn't That Tiring

Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbetts announced his itinerary for the baseball season includes hopping into a few night clubs. Early Wynn strolled into the Chicago White Sox camp. Ken Retzer walked out of Washington's.

Tebbets, new chief in the Indians' tepee, put his foot down right at the start, warning he didn't want any players bellyaching about fatigue caused by night games and cross-country travel.

Season Beyond Compare

The Amasa Hematites, victors over three high school varieties and a pair of "B" teams in 13 basketball games to date, are not to be taken lightly.

Why? So nice of you to ask. Well, Amasa beat Alpha, 56-52; Alpha topped Felch, 65-63; Felch beat Republic, 48-34; Republic downed Mt. Baraga, 55-49; Mt. Baraga beat Negaunee, 57-54; Negaunee topped Mgt. Graverat three times, by an average of 11 points.

That makes Amasa (enrollment: 43) 41 points favorites over Graverat, right?

Of course, Republic, which lost - Felch - which - lost - to - Alpha - which - lost - to - Amasa, beat the Hematite Township, Iron County school by 30 points.

To compound the oddity, National Mine beat Felch by 12, lost to Mt. Baraga by 45.

Now try to tell us this hasn't been a crazy basketball season!

Big Bill Paces Celts Despite Knockout

(By The Associated Press)
Bill Russell's always a knockout in San Francisco, and so are the Boston Celtics, who relentlessly are moving toward their seventh straight Eastern Division title in the National Basketball Association.

Russell, the 6-foot-10 All-American center of the University of San Francisco's marvelous Dons in the mid-50s, went back to his old hometown Thursday night. This time he was a knockout, both literally and figuratively.

He also spent 4 minutes unconscious on the floor after being toppled over on his head after a collision with the San Francisco Warriors' Willie Naulls in the fourth period of Boston's 135-118 victory. Russell finally was revived and was able to stay in the game.

The game was one of three in the NBA Thursday night. The Chicago Zephyrs ended a losing string at eight games, beating the Syracuse Nats 108-91, while Cincinnati turned back New York

Mikita, Goalie Hall Pace Hawk Win Over Wings

(By The Associated Press)
Paced by a pair of star performances — Stan Mikita's goal scoring and Glen Hall's goal tending — the Chicago Black Hawks have moved a bit further in front in the National Hockey League race.

Mikita rammed in three goals and Hall made 42 saves as the Hawks trimmed the Detroit Red Wings 5-3 in Thursday's night's only NHL game. The victory pushed Chicago five points ahead of second-place Toronto.

45 Wing Shots
Hall had an unusually busy night in the nets as the Red Wings outshot the league-leaders 45-32. But he was at his best on the tough chance as he robbed hard-shooting Gordie Howe on a half dozen shots before Howe scored Detroit's last goal in the second period. It was his 29th of the season.

The goal, coupled with an assist on Val Fonteyne's first-period tally which opened the scoring, gave Howe the NHL scoring leadership with 60 points.

43 Seconds Apart
Mikita scored his first goal a little over a minute after Fonteyne's marker and Bobby Hull beat Detroit goalie Hank Bassen 43 seconds later, giving the Hawks a lead they never relinquished. Hull's goal came 8 seconds after Larry Jeffrey of Detroit was sent to the penalty box.

Mikita scored twice in the second period, with the eventual winning goal coming with Jeffrey once more sitting out a penalty. Andre Pronovost sandwiched his 10th goal of the season between Mikita's last two tallies.

Hull got an easy insurance goal for the Black Hawks in the final minute after the Wings pulled Bassen in an effort to tie the score.

Detroit played with only four defencemen as Howie Young sat out the first game of his three-game suspension for his actions in last Sunday's game with Montreal.

The victory boosted the top-ranked Bearcats' season record to 29-1 and their conference mark to 9-1.

Cincinnati was making its first start since Wichita snapped the Bearcats' 37-game winning string 65-61 in Wichita Saturday.

In other major games, New York University held off Notre Dame 80-79 in a Madison Square Garden match of two NCAA-bound teams. Each has accepted an at-large berth in the tourney.

Birdie Checks Promising Indian Rookies

By BIRDIE TEBBETTS Cleveland Indians' Manager

My main mission in Cleveland is to keep the Indians on the war-path and not let them bog down in midseason as they have for the past three campaigns.

In this assignment I have considerable going for me. The Indians have a young and strong pitching staff and three recruits with excellent high minor league credentials.

Baseball men who have seen a lot of Martinez tell me that he'll make a third baseman or outfielder out of a year ago, which would be quite all right with me.

Martinez, a Cuban with a wide range, was the International League's most valuable player, batting .287 for Jacksonville.

He lived up to the rave notices about his fielding when I saw him in the Puerto Rican Winter League, where he was Caguas' MVP.

Davalillo, a Venezuelan transferred from a pitcher to an outfielder only a year ago, was a riot in the International League with Jacksonville, leading the wheel in five offensive departments including batting with .346.

Davalillo showed the way in triples and stolen bases, stressing his speed. He was the top hitter in the Venezuelan Winter League this winter with a better than 400 average.

While he covers tremendous acreage in center field, he faults only on his arm, which is described as a little erratic. I'll settle for that and we'll work on it.

Alvis, who is out of the University of Texas, came quickly last summer with Salt Lake of the Pacific Coast League. He batted .319 with 25 home runs and 31 runs batted in. He is very aggressive.

While it was common knowledge at the conclusion of last spring that the Yankees needed one thing — a big pitcher.

The New York club got what it wanted from the Los Angeles Dodgers in fireballing Stan Williams, who will round out a Big Four with Ralph Terry, Whitey Ford and Bill Stafford.

Williams is only 26, enthusiastic about joining the World Champions and I expect him to be a substantial winner for several years.

We further bolstered our pitching by making Bill Kunkel our first draftee in 11 years. I remember the right-hander Kunkel, who is also 26, as a stalwart relief pitcher for Kansas City two years ago.

The Athletics shipped him to Toronto last season, where he was 6 and 1 in 15 games with an earned-run average of 2.35 for 46 innings.

To obtain Williams we had to give up Moose Skowron, so the attention at our Fort Lauderdale training base this spring will be on young Joe Pepitone. There is no reason Pepitone can't make it at first base. He has indicated that he can handle the bat, possesses power, has defensive skill and runs well. But promise and performance are not necessarily identical.

If Pepitone doesn't make it all the way, we can fall back on Dale Long and Hector Lopez, a major league hitter whose position could be first base.

With Tony Kubek and Bobby Richardson as a double play combination, Clete Boyer at third base and probably Pepitone at first, we'll be strong defensively as well as offensively in the infield, where we are further protected by versatile Phil Linz.

And where could you find an outfield combination excelling Tommy Tresh, Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris?

ers and others who could come a long way. You know about Gino Cimoli and Bobby Del Greco and that Manny Jimenez was a find last trip. Tartabull can fly, as mentioned in the foregoing. George Alusik is better than a green hand.

John Wojcik, a 21-year-old who finished with us last fall, is going to be given every opportunity. Bill Kern batted in 97 runs and had 27 home runs batting .315 for Portland of the Pacific Coast League. We're high on Ken Harrelson, who broke the Eastern League runs-batted-in-mark with 137.

The catching problem will be resolved early. Bill Bryan is a standout prospect and Joe Azcue is a holdover. Haywood Sullivan's experience will aid young pitchers.

In the pitching department, Ed Rakow, Diego Segui, Dave Wickersham and Orlando Pena made a lot of progress in 1962. Segui, who turned in good performances for us before he suffered an arm injury, did extremely well this winter.

I would like to have a couple of left-handers to go with Ted Bowfield and we'll do our utmost to uncover or obtain one during the training season. We received glowing reports from the Puerto Rican Winter League on Jose Santiago, who bagged 16 games for Albuquerque last season.

Bill Fischer should be a big help to John Wyatt in the bullpen. We'll also start Fischer in spots. We'll have plenty of flexibility on the staff.

The Athletics have a club spirit equal to the Yankees. If they get off to a good start, there's no telling where they might finish.

Davalillo, a Venezuelan transferred from a pitcher to an outfielder only a year ago, was a riot in the International League with Jacksonville, leading the wheel in five offensive departments including batting with .346.

Davalillo showed the way in triples and stolen bases, stressing his speed. He was the top hitter in the Venezuelan Winter League this winter with a better than 400 average.

While he covers tremendous acreage in center field, he faults only on his arm, which is described as a little erratic. I'll settle for that and we'll work on it.

Alvis, who is out of the University of Texas, came quickly last summer with Salt Lake of the Pacific Coast League. He batted .319 with 25 home runs and 31 runs batted in. He is very aggressive.

While it was common knowledge at the conclusion of last spring that the Yankees needed one thing — a big pitcher.

The New York club got what it wanted from the Los Angeles Dodgers in fireballing Stan Williams, who will round out a Big Four with Ralph Terry, Whitey Ford and Bill Stafford.

Williams is only 26, enthusiastic about joining the World Champions and I expect him to be a substantial winner for several years.

We further bolstered our pitching by making Bill Kunkel our first draftee in 11 years. I remember the right-hander Kunkel, who is also 26, as a stalwart relief pitcher for Kansas City two years ago.

The Athletics shipped him to Toronto last season, where he was 6 and 1 in 15 games with an earned-run average of 2.35 for 46 innings.

To obtain Williams we had to give up Moose Skowron, so the attention at our Fort Lauderdale training base this spring will be on young Joe Pepitone. There is no reason Pepitone can't make it at first base. He has indicated that he can handle the bat, possesses power, has defensive skill and runs well. But promise and performance are not necessarily identical.

If Pepitone doesn't make it all the way, we can fall back on Dale Long and Hector Lopez, a major league hitter whose position could be first base.

With Tony Kubek and Bobby Richardson as a double play combination, Clete Boyer at third base and probably Pepitone at first, we'll be strong defensively as well as offensively in the infield, where we are further protected by versatile Phil Linz.

And where could you find an outfield combination excelling Tommy Tresh, Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris?

Behind the plate, Elston Howard is backed up by Yogi Berra, now a part-time coach, and Johnny Blanchard.

The addition of Williams will help our middle and finishing relief pitchers as well as our spot starters. Jim Coates, Bud Daley, Hector Brown, Jim Bouton and Roland Sheldon scrap for the middle relief and spot starting jobs. I'm hoping that Luis Arroyo and Hal Reniff come back strongly to aid Marshall Bridges with the bullpen chores. Kunkel could figure here, too.

Last season did not produce the top performances that some Yankees had in 1961, so I believe I am not overly optimistic when I say there may be some improvement this trip, plus a couple of new faces. We start with the advantage of having Tony Kubek all the way along the route.

Freehan May Spend '63 In Minors

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — The Detroit Tigers' brass is sure Bill Freehan will become a major league star, one worth every penny of his $100,000 bonus.

The question is, when will the giant rookie catcher start paying off on the biggest bonus investment the club ever made?

Freehan himself believes he first must convince his teammates.

"Being accepted and having those guys get confidence in you, that's the most important thing right now," said Freehan who was a football and baseball star for one season at the University of Michigan before signing in 1961.

"I've got to learn about our pitchers and they've got to get used to me."

Freehan said at the Tigers' early camp. "I won't be able to know until after the big camp starts and I can compare myself with the other catchers."

The 6-foot-3 catcher has only 1 1/2 seasons of professional experience. Last season he batted .283 in the American Association with Denver.

Rather than keep Freehan idle on the bench this season, it's probable the Tigers will farm him to Syracuse to catch every day.

Baseball is a game which lends itself to humorous stories. One of the best to emerge from this season's banquet circuit concerns Bob Uecker, rookie catcher of the Milwaukee Braves. He told a gathering recently: "Eddie Mathews is my room mate and I think it's worth noting that between the two of us, we have hit 400 home-runs." (Mathews has hit 399.)

A's New Suits Need Filling, Lopat Finds

By ED LOPAT Kansas City Athletics' Manager

The Athletics are going to be decked out in pretty new gold and Kelly green uniforms this season. My job is to find something to put in them and I want to start by saying that the overall Kansas City picture has improved.

Look at it this way. A year ago we started without one established major league pitcher. Now we have seven or eight. We carried 11 recruits in 1962. They were not sure that they belonged in the American League. Now they know.

These guys figure to improve. So, you see, I have reason to be optimistic. We're going to be a running club with Dick Howser, Ed Charles and Jose Tartabull showing the way. Howser is a stickout base stealer and we are going to work extra hard with Charles and Tartabull. Between them they could swipe 100 bases and their exceptional speed strengthens our defense.

The infield is our strength without the slightest question. If the other departments measure up to it, we'll check a few outfits. Our second base combination of Howser and Jerry Lume is one of the best in the wheel. Norm Siebern played better at first base than ever before in 1962 and Charles, Ed will at third. Wayne Causey is a fine swing man.

Dual Banking System 100 Years Old

ISHPEMING — A proclamation was issued by Mayor Jim Jenkin today as the Miners' First National Bank and the Peninsula Bank of Ishpeming began observance of the centennial of the dual banking system. This year marks the 100th year since President Lincoln approved the National Currency Act Feb. 25, 1863, which led to establishment of a system of national banks chartered by and operated under the supervision of the federal government and charged with the responsibility of issuing a new national currency.

It is appropriate that the centennial of the approval of the National Currency Act be celebrated to commemorate the significance of the establishment of the dual banking system. Mayor Jenkin said. He proclaimed the period from Feb. 25 to Dec. 31 as the centennial of the dual banking system and urged "the people of Ishpeming to join with representatives of our banking institutions in activities and ceremonies designed to pay tribute to the contribution which our dual banking system has made to the economic, social and cultural lives of the people of this community."
