Bids Due April 1 On NMU Building; Effect Of Programs Noted

Fast-growing Northern Michigan University presents a challenge to Marquette businessmen to keep pace with the college's expansion, chamber of commerce directors agreed today, following a meeting on the NMU campus.

The chamber directors met at Northern to hear President Edgar L. Harden outline the school's future plans. After the meeting, the directors issued this statement:

"The chamber feels that Northern Michigan University is vital to the future of Marquette. Its importance includes the economic impact caused by the dollars spent here through salaries and money spent by the 3,000-plus students.

"The announcement of the addition to the Student Center, with the opening of bids by the first of April, adds to the attractiveness of Marquette as the Upper Peninsula convention center.

"The entertainment provided through athletic events, musical presentations and plays adds to partment plays an important part in continuing education. Dr. Harden noted. Unlike most college extension departments, Northern's public service department is 95 per cent self-sustaining.

Demonstrating with an artist's drawing of the campus expansion program, Dr. Harden said that bids for a $1,500,000 addition to the Student Center will be taken this month.

The addition will provide more than 20 conference rooms and an auditorium that will seat 800 in banquet style.

More than 20,000 persons attended conventions and conferences at Northern last year, Harden said.

He added that the practical and fine arts building, now under construction, is expected to be completed this fall. The new building will include an auditorium that will seat 550. Completion of a new science building is expected in the fall of 1964, at a cost of $2,300,000.

Harden said that two self-liquidating dormitories, each with its own food service, are planned for the west part of the campus in the near future.

Future plans also call for an auditorium with a seating capacity of 8,000 and several more buildings to provide facilities for an estimated enrollment of 6,000 students.

the community, and we all realize the advantage of being able to send our youngsters to a university in our own home town, which gives them the advantage of a very wide curriculum."

Dr. Harden said Northern has a two and a quarter million dollar payroll, with 139 professional staff members. Most of the staff members own their own homes, he added.

Research development is made necessary by university status, the president said. He noted that the biochemical laboratory at Northern is one of the best equipped among schools of Northern's size.

80 Per Cent Become Teachers

Dr. Harden pointed out that instructional programs are the main responsibility of the school. Eighty per cent of Northern's graduates become teachers and business firms send more recruiters to the Northern campus each year, he said.

Lake Superior Ice Beginning Breakup, Sawyer Pilots Say

Following an almost complete freeze-over of Lake Superior, the warmer temperatures of the past two weeks have begun to break up the ice on the lake.

Officials of the 62nd Fighter Squadron at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base near Gwinn, whose F-101 "Voodoo" fighter-interceptors fly frequent missions over the lake, say there now is open water in Keweenaw Bay and near Munising. In addition, large areas along the north shore are breaking up.

No channels have opened in the immediate vicinity of Marquette, according to Capt. Ted Labernik, Ely, Minn., and Capt. Phil Barott, St. Cloud, Minn., both of the 62nd, who have overflown the area this week.

Two Joint Sessions Slated Tonight On Area Plan Study

Two meetings have been scheduled here tonight in connection with the "701 Study."

At city hall at 7, a joint meeting of the Marquette Area Planning Commission, Marquette City Commission and the Chocolay and Marquette Township Boards will be held.

Max Putters, consultant here for Vilican-Leman and Associates, Inc., Southfield, will present a report on the first phase of the urban planning program. Charles Leman of Vilican-Leman will also be present.

use, physical features, a neighborhood unit plan, recreation and community facilities.

The school study is being made by members of the MSU education department, under the direction of Dr. Floyd Parker and the Vilican-Leman firm.

Cost Breakdown Given

The MSU group is studying curriculum, finance and annexation, while Vilican-Leman's part of the school study concerns adequacy of school sites.

Total cost of the three-year area study is $96,000, of which $24,000 is being paid locally.

Local cost over a three-year period breaks down as follows: City of Marquette, $10,000; the school board, $6,000, and Chocolay and Marquette Townships, each $4,000.

At Graveraet High School at 7:30, the Marquette Board of Education will meet with a team from Michigan State University, which has been engaged by Vilican-Leman to conduct parts of the school study being made under the "701 Study."

The "701 Study" is being conducted by Vilican-Leman under contract with the City of Marquette, Chocolay and Marquette Townships and the Marquette Board of Education and Area Redevelopment Act.

The "701 Study" is derived from Section 701 of the Area Redevelopment Act, which enables the federal government to participate in local planning projects on a 50-50 basis, or, as in the case of the Marquette area, a 75-25 basis, because the area has been designated a depressed area.

The first report of the 701 Study, which will be discussed tonight at city hall, includes preliminary work such as population analysis and projection, a study of land

Superiorland Forum Set For Tonight

Marquette Chamber of Commerce members in particular and interested area residents in general have been invited to attend a question and answer session tonight concerning the Superiorland tourism project. The meeting will be held at 7:30 in the Peter White Public Library auditorium. John A. Zerbel, a Superiorland developer, will be on hand to answer questions. Zerbel, now of Milwaukee, is formerly of Marquette and is a certified public accountant. Investment Corporation Chamber President Harlan Larson scheduled the meeting as a result of numerous phone calls and other queries received at the chamber office requesting information about the project. Planned for discussion tonight is the formation of an investment corporation through which local persons could invest in the project. The project involves steam railroad operations from here to Big Bay, vast recreational developments in Big Bay and a "Frontierland" in Marquette.

Belle Isle, Once Plush Resort In Superior, Razed

Belle Isle's once grandiose resort now is nothing but a mass of charred timbers and sprawled lumber. Workers in the employ of the Isle Royale National Park pushed lumber and timbers from the once plush resort onto the ice and burned what was left of the establishment. Isle Royale's Belle Isle resort once was in private hands. Owners connected with Nebraska coal interests operated the resort prior to the days when the location was taken over by the government as a national park site in conjunction with the entire Isle Royale region. The plot had its own big lodge, a private electrical system, multiple cabins, boat houses, launches, well

Mild Weather Shoves Frost Into Ground, Or Does It? Opinions On Issue Vary Here

Along with a lot of trouble, this winter's record number of frozen water lines has caused an outbreak of heated discussions. Impetus to some of the arguments was a warning from the city water department that even more frozen lines were expected when the average temperature rose to above freezing. This is commonly believed to be so, because the frost is pushed into the ground faster with warmer temperatures, but the scientifically-minded said this could not be so. More Freezes In Thaws Water Department Superintendent Merrill W. Froney says the reason behind the greater number of frozen service lines at warmer temperatures has puzzled him for years. "With almost 600 thaw jobs so far this winter, it's been rough on the department all winter, but it's even rougher on milder days," Froney commented. "When we had sub-zero temperatures, we had 25 or 30 thaw jobs a week, but on Saturday and Sunday, when the weather was warmer, we had 70 calls." Northern Michigan University science professors say they can find no scientific basis to the common belief that the frost pushes into the ground faster when the temperature goes up. Dr. Donald Baker, head of Northern's physics department, and Dr. Henry Heimonen of the earth science department, agreed that the insulating effect of snow — or the lack of it — has something to do with the greater number of freeze-ups at warmer temperatures. Apparently, air temperature and ground temperature are horses of a different color. During the winter, heavy snow acts as a warm blanket over the ground. However, a mild air temperature doesn't mean that the ground temperature is warm. A spring-like thaw might melt the snow on top of the ground, but the ground doesn't warm up as fast as the air. And without the insulating blanket of snow, the ground is more exposed to freezing, the professors said. Another argument — that hot water pipes freeze faster than cold water pipes and therefore hot water freezes faster than cold water — was termed an "old wives' tale" by Dr. Baker. "You have to remove heat before you can freeze water. However, there are a lot of possibilities to take into account. Perhaps the hot water pipes which froze faster were smaller or made of a different metal." Dr. Baker put an end to the argument by saying: "With two pipes of the same material, diameter and exterior temperature, the cold water pipe would freeze first."

Vanocur's Appraisals Of U.S. Issues Noted In Talk Here

Sander Vanocur, White House correspondent for National Broadcasting Co., impressed a large audience at Northern Michigan College this week with acute appraisals of national and international problems. Although Vanocur's speech was entitled "By Cuba Observed," he commented on other big news stories in a question and answer session. Excerpts from some of his comments follow: Labor unions — "Turmoil over the New York printers' strike dramatizes the growing discontent of many people, usually pronounced, over the arbitrary actions of unions." Labor Needs New Outlook "Labor is facing a difficult period and I think it needs a new outlook. It has to face up to automation, and attract new men. It would help if some of the older labor leaders stepped down." Alliance for Progress — "The alliance hasn't worked very well. We know now that we set our goals too high. It has to be a very long-range program." News management — "I call this Vanocur's law — No government in history ever wanted the people to have all the facts. All administrations manage news. No government is obligated to give any reporter any information." "The only fault of the Kennedy administration concerning news management is being too obvious about it." Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara — "McNamara is a first-rate defense secretary. If there are rumors about his political intentions, I don't think he has a chance. He thinks logically and everyone knows a logical politician is a dead politician." Peace Corps — "The peace corps is the unqualified best success of Kennedy's administration. It is a superb instrument of foreign policy and one measure of its success is that nobody criticizes it any more." The rocking chair — In one of several comments that brought laughter, Vanocur asserted that "President Kennedy's rocking chair is in keeping with the present administration, because it enables the President to move back and forth without going anywhere."

Edward Hamilton Jr., 21, formerly of K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, was sentenced by Judge Edward H. Dembowski in municipal court yesterday on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Hamilton pleaded guilty to the charge and was ordered to spend 10 days in the Marquette County Jail and pay a fine of $25 and $5.10 costs. Alternative sentence to paying the fine and costs is to spend an additional 10 days in the county jail. Two Vehicles Damaged In Mishap Here

Two automobiles were damaged and a motorist was given a ticket, but no one was hurt, in a traffic collision in Marquette at 6:30 last evening. City police said a car being driven south on U. S. 41-S. Front St. by Brian A. Mattiello, 247 Rock St., struck an automobile operated by Robert T. Houle, 216 Blenheim Ave., as the latter was attempting to turn into a filling station driveway near the Jackson St. intersection. Officers said the mishap occurred after Houle had passed Mattiello and had started making the right turn from the center lane of the four-lane highway. Mattiello was in the right (outside) lane at the time. Improper Right Turn Minor damage occurred to the right rear and right side of Houle's car, a 1954 four-door sedan, and to the left front of Mattiello's automobile, a 1957 two-door sedan. Both vehicles were able to be driven from the scene under their own power. Houle was issued a ticket by city police for making an improper right turn.

Colorado Skier Tests Suicide Hill; Others Prepare For Tryouts

Loris Werner (above), Steamboat Springs, Colo., managed to get a practice jump at Suicide Hill near Ishpeming yesterday before gusty winds made further jumping inadvisable. Werner is in the area to try out for a possible place on the United States Olympic Ski Jumping Team. Trials will be held at Suicide Hill this weekend. At right, Tom Peterson (left) and Paul Johnson, both of Iron Mountain, wax their skis prior to a test ride down the landing portion of Suicide Hill. They were unable to make any practice jumps because of gusty winds. The Olympic trials begin Saturday and will continue through Sunday. Additional photo on Page 17.—(Mining Journal photos).

Farmers Eye Beef Raising; U.P. Dairy Industry Periled

Upper Michigan is turning away from dairy herds and beginning to concentrate on raising beef cattle. And the men raising steers see a big future for such herds above the Straits.

"It's easy work and there's a good return," explained Louis Heyman, 74, Van Meer.

He retired as a dairyman when he was 70, but the next year brought five Herefords and now has 17 head he is raising for beef. Heyman lets his cattle roam all summer, eating grass, and in winter provides them with open shelter—if they care to use it.

"Can Take Climate"

"Herefords are rugged and can take the climate," said Joe Vogel, of Trenary, who at 58 has decided cattle-raising is the future for him.

"This industry is really going to grow here. Watch and see! We have lots of land and an abundance of good quality hay," he said.

Cattle-raising has long been an Upper Peninsula dream, but early ventures failed because the breed brought in could not stand the cold.

The past decade rising costs have caused a decline in dairy herds.

Ten Drivers Pay Fines In City Court

Ten persons were ordered to pay fines and costs totaling $55.90 by Judge Edward H. Dembowski in traffic court yesterday.

A fine of $6.30 and $3.70 costs were paid by Robert P. Stoll Jr., 111 E. Lincoln Ave., Negaunee, for making an improper left turn at the intersection of Third and Washington Sts. He was ticketed Saturday by city police.

Robina B. Payant, 520 Spruce St., was fined $6.30 and ordered to pay costs of $3.70 for failure to yield the right-of-way. City police issued the summons Feb. 27 following an accident at the corner of Arch and High Sts.

For failure to yield the right-of-way, Allen L. Pearson, 502 Summit St., was fined $6.30 and ordered to pay costs of $3.70. He was ticketed by city police Friday following an accident.

License Plate Violations

The following persons, all ticketed by city police Friday for expired license plates, all paid costs of $3.70:

John D. Robert, 200 W. Magnetic St., ticketed on W. Washington St.; Oliver L. Gauthier, 115 Champion St., ticketed on Spring St.; George C. Carlton, Route 2, Marquette, ticketed on Bluff St.; and John L. Whelphy, K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, ticketed on Front St.

Milton H. Rast, Route 1, Marquette, ticketed on S. Front St.; John F. Polzer, Coplay, Pa., ticketed on Baraga Ave.; and George D. Papadakis, Escanaba, ticketed on Washington St.

Between 1954 and 1959 the number of milk cows in the U. P. dwindled from 61,999 to 43,711, according to a Michigan State University study, while beef cows increased from 1982 to 5,876.

Vogel, a native of the area, was employed in woods work during the Depression. In 1937 he "took-off" for four months and visited the Dakotas, Iowa and Nebraska to study cattle-raising, and decided it was a business which could be adapted in northern Michigan.

Success Story Told

He bought a carload of Hereford heifers in Omaha—at $25 a head—and had them shipped to his farm near here.

"I had 150 head at auction time last fall, and right now there's 60 cows, 18 heifers and three bulls on my 440 acres," Vogel reported.

"A few miles east of here are 2,000 acres of good grassland I hope to lease, and I'm going to put more beef on them."

Al J. Hebert owns and leases about 400 acres of land near Shingleton, in Alger County, on which he raises Aberdeen Angus cattle. He was "just a farmer" until 1957, when he figured he could do better by specializing in one phase of the business, and decided it would be beef cattle.

Aiming For 100 Head

He bought 11 Angus and since then has built his herd up to 45, though he had 80 last fall at auction time.

He is aiming at a 100-head herd which he figures will gross him $10,000 a year.

While the herds are small, compared with some in the northern half of the Lower Peninsula, the Upper Peninsula men point out that they are only in the beginning stages and, in most cases lack the capital that has founded the larger farms below the Straits.

Delta County Leads

Delta County is the Upper Peninsula's leading beef cattle county, followed by Chippewa, Menominee, Ontonagon and Iron, though every county has some.

Some of the new "U. P. ranchers" prefer Angus cattle, not just because they, too, are rugged and can take the cold weather and snow, but because they'll eat anything.

"A half-century ago, Western ranchers brought cattle and sheep to the U. P., but in most cases the experiment failed.

"The cattle are better nowadays, and we know much more about how to raise and feed them," Hebert said.

The U. P. "ranchers" have their Bay de Noc Beef Breeders Association.

Rice, Beans, Cheese Good Budget Items

DETROIT (AP)—The housewife who can astutely blend rice, beans, cheese and peanut butter into menus in coming weeks can boost the mileage of her food allowances.

Aside from the attractions they have for Lenten meals, these items are all budget priced because of record or near record production.

They offer rich returns in protein for reasonable prices.

Red Meats Good

Red meat and poultry, however, are also generally attractive and, regionally, seafood and fish categories include several bargains.

Eggs, serving both Lenten and non-Lenten eaters, are down slightly in price in most stores.

Housewives can team up bargain items for variety, using high-protein avocados with seafoods or making cheddar cheese sauces to

TFX Plane Deal Probed By Senators

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate investigator contends Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert understated by $29.9 million the amount the government stood to save if it awarded the Boeing Co. a contract to develop the new TFX warplane.

And, according to the Senate Investigations subcommittee, this brings to a total of about $61 million the extent of apparent errors by Zuckert in evaluating the plane.

Favoritism?

Although Boeing was the low bidder, the contract was given to the General Dynamics Corp., of Fort Worth, Tex., and the investigations subcommittee is trying to determine if favoritism played any part in the award.

At issue Wednesday were estimated savings in producing the TFX as a single aircraft system—with somewhat different versions for the Air Force and Navy—as compared to the cost of developing different aircraft for the two services.

In a Pentagon memorandum made public last Sunday, Zuckert called it significant that the General Dynamics design offered potential savings of $623 million, while Boeing's indicated "only $397 million."

$29.9 Million Difference

In Wednesday's closed-door hearing, subcommittee counsel Jerome Adlerman produced a document which, he said, showed the estimated saving from the Boeing design would have been $426.9 million not the $397 million mentioned by Zuckert.

"A difference of some $29.9 million," Adlerman commented.

filed proposed settlement papers in Court of Chancery.

Chancellor Collins J. Seitz set May 13 as the date for a hearing. Dann, a 59-year-old Detroit lawyer and Chrysler stockholder, filed suit in August, 1960, charging Chrysler officials with mismanagement and illegal profits in conducting business with outside firms.

Dann asked the automotive firm be placed in receivership and demanded an accounting by Chrysler executives.

Libel Suit

Chrysler responded with a $30 million libel suit in Superior Court, Wilmington, charging Dann with making false and malicious statements about the corporation at a stockholders meeting.

Northern Peninsula's Loss Of Tourists To Ontario Seen As A Temporary Situation

By LEE SMITHS

A news item, an advertising folder and memory present a preview of what is in store for Northern Michigan in the years ahead.

The news came last fall when the new international bridge was opened, linking Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. and Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. This was disturbing news, many Michigan people believed, for that complex business called Michigan's No. 3 industry—tourism. Especially since the new bridge tied in with the spectacular new highway, circling the north shore of Lake Superior.

Happiness Over The Hill

Ontario is likely to draw resort patronage that would otherwise stay in Michigan, although there is ample evidence that any loss to Michigan will be temporary. As the legion of outdoor recreationists surges into the northern part of the Lower Peninsula, it displaces a wave that keeps on, crossing the Straits. The wave that will cross the St. Marys River into Ontario will be followed by another wave from down below.

Visit the lakes in the southern counties and you see a great many license plates from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and other states to the south and west. It seems to be a human instinct to seek happiness over the hill, then the next hill and the hill beyond that.

Now for the memory, more than 50 years old. To reach Whitefish Lake, labeled South Manistique Lake on maps, in the western part of Mackinac County you had your choice of a half day's journey by wagon from the Soo Line or a ride on an open gasoline go-devil from Seney on the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic. You made arrangements by mail for either of these trips. You can take off for Alaska these days with less preparation.

The automobile opened up gun trout fishing in the back country of the Upper Peninsula and, as in Ontario, after a very few years of red pressure, bonanza stream fishing faded out. On any Michigan trout water you have to know how and work hard to catch limits unless you follow up a fisheries division tank truck, planting tame keepers.

Ontario Wilderness Camp

To get rewarding stream fishing in Ontario, you need an amphibious plane and a camping outfit.

What started this off was a sprightly news letter from Dick Matson, proprietor of Pine Portage Camps, 265 miles north of the Canadian Soo on Lake Kabinagami, beyond the height of land, the ridge of the watersheds of Lake Superior and Hudson Bay. Dick also has a new motel on Batchawana Bay, Lake Superior 45 miles by highway from the Canadian Soo. He recently became president of the Northern Algoma Tourist Operators Association.

In the wilderness camps of Algoma you get all the luxuries of civilization. A Pine Portage guest catches all the fish he wants to catch, sees moose every day and, if he is at all imaginative, is rewarded by the feeling of wild country, the heart-lift you get from looking out to a far horizon, knowing that except for an occasional trapper's cabin, there might not be any human habitation along your line of sight, clean to the north pole.

My own enjoyment of a trip into northern Algoma is derived from a fish feast on a rocky island, a wolf track on a portage trail and conversation with people like Jim Essery, dean of guides; loons calling, maybe the northern lights; moose coming out to feed at dusk.

George Pierrot's TV show, World Adventure, has done much to attract attention to the northern Algoma country, where it is still possible to find fishing and hunting as it was in Michigan half a century ago. At Pine Portage camps last fall, 26 hunters took 22 moose. Last August we never fished more than an hour or two to have all the walleyes that three men could eat, in filets, plus a few big pike that went into dog-team feed.

Heavy melting early this week with resulting rivers of water in the streets and accompanying splashing hazards for pedestrians gave way yesterday to colder weather conditions and blustery gusts of March winds in Marquette. Scene above, looking north on N. Third St., was replaced, as a fine sprinkle of light snow covered dirty snowbanks and temperatures remained below the 32-degree mark. Puddles of standing water froze over, making walking difficult and driving bumpy in the city.—(Mining Journal photo).

March Makes Itself Known In City With Chilly, Windy Weather; Light Snow Ahead

Light snow, increasing cloudiness and temperatures from 18 to 30 degrees are predicted in Marquette through Saturday, as March tightens the reins and becomes more typical.

Yesterday was cool, damp and windy, with periods of sun and wind alternating with feathery snow. The mercury ranged over only a five-degree spread, from a low of 23 to a high of 28.

The average reading of 26 degrees was three above normal for March 6 and nudged the daily average temperature for the month to 2.2 degrees above normal, according to Fred Mueller, meteorologist in charge of the U.S. Weather Bureau office here.

25 MPH From NW
Winds were gusty off and on, reaching their maximum velocity of 25 miles per hour from the northwest about 12:15 p.m.

Two-tenths of an inch of snow and .02 of an inch of precipitation occurred yesterday. The precipitation was the first measurable amount to date this month, Mueller said. Only traces had been registered previously.

Both snowfall and precipitation remain below average for the season and year. The city has received 61.2 inches of snow this season, where it usually has had 77 inches by this time. The year's precipitation total of 2.16 inches is 1.60 below the average; 3.96 inches.

-6 At Airport
Overnight, the mercury in Marquette slumped to 12 degrees, which was in the upper range of temperatures reported from across the Upper Peninsula. Escanaba had a low of 14, Iron Mountain

Four SAGE Officers At Base Honored

Four members of the Sault Ste. Marie NORAD Sector at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base received certificates at recent ceremonies in SAGE building.

RCAF Flight Lt. Robert L. Holland and Capt. Peter L. Green were upgraded to expert weapons controllers, which is the highest level of achievement in their field. Capt. Milton E. White was awarded a certificate for attaining the status of a skilled controller. In another field, Lt. Ralph Pyle was awarded the IBM certificate of outstanding performance.

The award was won by Lt. Pyle for maintaining an extremely high average during the "blue suit" course held recently at Kingston, N. Y. Lt. Owen Howell received the same award earlier this month.

Ahead Of Contemporaries
In presenting the awards, Col. Richard W. DeVania, sector commander, pointed out that they were "not merely pieces of paper, but testimony that these men are ahead of their contemporaries. By striving to increase their knowledge and proficiency in the computer field, they are securing their place in a broad and important career."

DeVania stated further that the capabilities of the computer "are staggering," and he urged everyone to take advantage of the opportunity to learn everything possible about the computer business.

10, Sault Ste. Marie five, Menominee, Calumet and K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, four, and the Marquette County Airport, -6.

Sun and above normal temperatures have marked the days of March so far, with the first thawing of the year experienced here this week, particularly Monday.

Snow Missed This Area
Snow accumulations of four to six inches, which occurred yesterday and the night before in Green Bay, Escanaba, the eastern U. P., northern Lower Michigan and other points, missed the Marquette area. As a result, Mueller said, the snow depth (amount of snow on level ground) here remains at 15 inches.

Increasing cloudiness and light snow are forecast for late today and tonight. Today's high was not expected to exceed 30 degrees, and the low tonight will be 10 to 15.

No decided temperature changes are predicted for tomorrow, when the high again will be in the mid-20's. The outlook for Saturday is for cloudy skies, light snow and temperatures near the normal high of 30 and normal low of 18 degrees.

GOP Accepts Challenge On Budget Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican leaders said today they are accepting President Kennedy's challenge to spell out the places where they would cut billions from his $98.8 billion budget.

"We'll give them a bill of particulars when the time comes," said GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, "and we'll be responsible about it."

Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio, head of a Republican task force on budget cutting, said the detailed proposals for reduced spending are already in the hands of the Republican members best placed to use them—the senior minority members of the various subcommittees considering appropriations bills.

'Blow Hot, Cold'
Kennedy, who defended what he called his hard budget at his news conference Wednesday, also came in for some Republican criticism for his latest statement on tax reduction and tax revision. "They seem to blow hot and cold," Halleck commented.

Rep. Thomas Curtis of Missouri, a member of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, said it looks as though there are two groups in the administration tugging the President in different directions.

Statements by Kennedy, Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon and others have agreed that an early tax reduction is desirable and that it would be best carried out in connection with revisions to make the tax code more equitable and restore some of the revenue lost by cutting rates. But there has appeared to be difference of emphasis from time to time on the importance of revisions and how much they could be eliminated from a tax cut bill without forfeiting Kennedy's approval of it.

Recent Statements
Kennedy was asked Wednesday whether his recent statements before a bankers' symposium meant, "You would accept a $13.5-billion tax cut without any reforms at all."

Wasted Wildlife

Nearly 1,000 deer are known to have met death on highways in the Upper Peninsula during 1962. The actual figure—966—is 55 more than the total reported for the previous year. Actually, it is believed that the toll ran considerably higher than this because (1) not all deer killed on highways and roads are reported to public officials and (2) some deer hit by cars bound away from the scene of their accidents and die later from injuries.

Statewide, the total number of deer killed on highways reached at least 4,146 last year to set a new record for the third year in a row. This, the conservation department estimates, caused damages to cars and other vehicles involved in the reported deer kills amounting to nearly $750,000. This is based on a survey of insurance firms in Michigan, which indicated that damages in deer-car collisions averaged about $180 per car several years ago.

One out of every six accidents investigated by state police in the Upper Peninsula last year involved a collision between a motor vehicle and a deer. In three state police post areas, hitting deer accounted for nearly one out of four accidents, and in one post area, the ratio was nearly one out of three.

These statistics merely emphasize that deer, unlike domestic animals, are not confined behind fences. They do wander on the highway, especially at night. They can cause injury to humans and even death, as well as considerable property damage.

Moreover, every deer killed in this fashion is a waste of wildlife—and deer are by no means the only wildlife victims of highway collisions.

Conservation Officer Alex McLean of Newberry keeps a record each year of every animal he finds killed along the roads in his patrol area in Luce County, and his findings are shocking. Last year, for instance, he counted the carcasses of no less than 515 animals that had been struck and killed by motor vehicles. Included were 30 deer, 250 porcupines, 140 rabbits, 47 woodchucks, 26 red squirrels, 7 ruffed grouse, 6 muskrats, 3 raccoons, 2 skunks, 1 bear, 1 black squirrel, 1 mink and 1 owl. It is very likely that many smaller forms of wildlife, particularly song birds, were killed but not observed in Officer McLean's census.

Officer McLean is one of 56 conservation officers in the Upper Peninsula. If his findings can be regarded as average, the total wildlife toll on Upper Peninsula roads would be well into five figures.

This is a tremendous loss, and much of it could be avoided if drivers would exercise utmost caution when driving in known deer territory and if these same drivers would be conscious at all times of the possibility of running down birds and animals along the highways.

Suggests U.P. Organization

Dear Sir:

If I know the Upper Peninsula, it is not dead yet and never will be. They have too many smart, up-and-at-'em men for that. I know the U. P. as it was when I lived there, it always came out fighting, even if it had to lead with its chin sometimes, but it never gave up and it never asked any odds from anyone, not even from the Lower Peninsula, the State of Michigan or the federal government.

The men and women right in the Upper Peninsula who know their own problems best have to do it. Not call in and pay out to someone who will only give the same answer all the U. P. people know in the first place. Let the U. P. people form a U. P. association that will not take sides in either Republican or Democratic or any other political organization but will only support the men that will promise and keep their promise to help and develop the U. P. With Reuther and Scholle trying to forget the Upper Peninsula and make the Lower Peninsula stronger, it has to be made clear that the U. P. is strong also and can swing any election. But the men and women of the U. P. have to forget about just one political party, no matter if it be Republican or Democrat, at least until the U. P. gets built back up again.

The U. P. organization could keep in touch with all the people in the Lower Peninsula who were from the Upper Peninsula and get help to put things over from those old U. P. residents and their relations. There are plenty of them.

You have everything that could be asked for in the U. P. It is there only waiting to be developed. Look at the big lake fronts by Escanaba, Menominee, Marquette, L'Anse au Loup and Ontonagon. The U. P. still has the contacts with the big iron companies, copper companies, Ford, General Motors, Chrysler Corp. and, yes, even the American Motors, which have all kinds of land holdings. These companies have connections with manufacturers. Let's get some of them in some of these places. These companies took plenty from the good earth of the U. P. Now let's see them help put something worthwhile on top of the good earth in the U. P.

The board of directors of the Iron County Chamber of Commerce has authorized Ed Forsman, chamber manager, to contact Michigan senators and congressmen to place Iron County's bid for establishment of a conservation camp there. A measure supported by Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and 31 other members of Congress calls for establishment of a youth conservation corps to enlist young men in conservation work in federal and state forests, parks and other public lands. Enrollees would be enlisted for six months but could serve a maximum of two years.

Menominee Mayor John W. Reindl, who will hold the title of "Frisman for a Day" on March 17 as part of the St. Patrick's day festivities, has a genuine souvenir of the Auld Sod to carry in the St. Patrick's Day parade. It is a bona fide, but ugly-looking, shillelagh, hewn from a knotty branch of one of the oaks in the forest surrounding Shillelagh, Ireland. Some weeks ago Mayor Reindl wrote to James J. O'Keefe, lord mayor of Dublin, telling him of Menominee's annual St. Patrick's Day celebration, which Reindl revived three years ago. He told the Dublin mayor he would like some souvenir from the Emerald Isle to carry in the parade. The shillelagh arrived the other day, through the courtesy of the Irish Airlines.

Mrs. Emanuel Beauchamp of Iron River was nearly overwhelmed when she was informed by a supermarket in Iron River that she was the winner of the "Live Free for a Month" contest. The mother of a large family, Mrs. Beauchamp will receive $125 for food, $70 for rent or mortgage payment, $55 for car payment, $10 for gas and oil, $10 for family dry cleaning and laundry, $5 for telephone, $5 for baby sitters, $5 for entertainment, $5 for gas and electricity and $5 for water—for a total of $300 for living expenses for a month.

A house once occupied by Major Robert Rogers, famed hero of the "Northwest Passage," will be rebuilt this summer at the Straits of Mackinac. The project will be part of the continuing restoration of Fort Michilimackinac at Mackinaw City. Designed as a "living exhibit," the house will be built during the summer by workmen in 18th century costume using 18th century tools. Foundations of the building, which served as quarters for the British commanding officer at Michilimackinac between 1750 and 1770, were uncovered within the last two years by archaeologists working at the site. It will be the fifth structure within the fort to be reconstructed on its original site in authentic 18th century architectural style. During the three summers since the restored fort was opened to the public in June 1960 more than half a million people have viewed the reconstructed building, stockade and bastions, and have watched the summer archaeological program in progress. The project is being financed by revenue bonds.

WASHINGTON (AP)—For all its failures, free collective bargaining keeps the labor peace a little better than 99 per cent of the time.

That seldom-mentioned fact is why the national emergency clauses of the Taft-Hartley Labor-Management Act have never been amended despite alarms over "the breakdown of collective bargaining."

Strikes Revive Out Cry
The outcry was revived in the new Congress by the 38-day shutdown of all East and Gulf Coast ports, the newspaper blackouts in New York and Cleveland and the still-a-going threat to Polaroid and Minuteman missile production.

Today's Special Story
Not even those officials who must cope with the costly breakdowns of bargaining contend that labor-management relations are working about as well as anything ever works in a democracy.

They note that:

—So far in the 1960s less than one-seventh of 1 per cent of all working time has been lost in strikes.

—The number of workers involved in big or little stoppages in 1962, about 1.25 million, was the smallest in any postwar year.

Management Making Demands
The record is the more noteworthy because, in recent years, cost-burdened managements have begun to make demands instead of just receiving them. And some major unions, hit by automation and chronic joblessness, have been fighting less for pay boosts than for the very right to work.

President Kennedy has asserted the "public interest" in private wage and price decisions. An example was his strong criticism Feb. 22 of New York newspaper strike leaders. The "third man"—sometimes from government, often a neutral private citizen—has even more frequently taken a chair at the bargaining table.

President's Advisory Committee
The government's influence—usually exerted indirectly and cautiously by Kennedy, but perhaps more insistently than ever before in peacetime—has been felt in three major ways.

First, by the creation in 1961 of the President's Labor-Management Advisory Committee. Its 21 members from industry, labor and the public have met regularly, frequently and quietly to talk out the crucial issues.

Surprisingly, they have agreed on many points. The committee's policy stand on automation has become, in effect, the national policy. It now shows up in the report of every fact-finding panel and emergency board.

The policy recognizes the right of management to fire workers displaced by machines; but it imposes on management the responsibility to cushion the dismissals by such devices as gradual reductions in force, retraining, job placement and adequate severance pay.

Voluntary Guidelines
The second Kennedy innovation was the posting, in January 1962, of voluntary wage-price guidelines. The aim was to hold wage boosts within the general range of average postwar gains in industrial productivity, and thus avoid forcing prices up.

Officials claim some success. They believe settlements in 1962 wound up mostly in the target area, with raises of around 3 per cent.

Informal Intervention
The third Kennedy approach, now in process of alteration, took the form of frequent but informal intervention—preferably in early stages—in individual big disputes.

The celebrated steel price crisis of last spring was the direct result of Kennedy's effort to stage-manage a peaceable, noninflationary settlement. He brought it off, but only at cost of the greatest domestic crisis of his presidency to date.

Well in advance of negotiations, Kennedy urged the Steelworkers to accept a noninflationary new contract. They did, taking fringe betterments but no pay increase. The President called on leading steel companies by letter to hold the price line; but, when the union contracts were signed, the big firms raised prices.

Mobilizing the economic and political power of the government, Kennedy forced "Big Steel's" retreat. But the furor earned him an "antibusiness" label he has been trying to live down ever since, and may have helped precipitate the "Black Monday" collapse of the stock market.

Force Of Persuasion
His secretary of labor then, now Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg, continued to dash into every four-alarm fire on the industrial front. Goldberg managed to put most of them out by force of persuasion, personality and his bagful of mediation gimmicks.

Disputants began to rely on the government to solve their problems. And spectacular gimmicks—as the new labor secretary, W. Willard Wirtz, has noted—lose effect when they become commonplace.

Washington's Nurse-Maiding
"Proof that Washington's nurse-maiding isn't needed is claimed by David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers and a member of the committee."

Citing noteworthy innovations in recent steel contracts, he told The Associated Press:

Happy Warrior

India's new defense minister Y. B. Chavan takes great delight in acquisition of a presentation gold sword, in New Delhi. He is a member of the Kshatriya (governing and military) caste, second of the four principal Hindu castes.

"Collective bargaining kept pace with the times and still remained free in contracts negotiated with the basic steel, aluminum and can industries and, most recently, Kaiser Steel Corp.

Where Decision Rests
"The collective bargaining process is being improved—by inventiveness, rather than by mere tinkering with the machinery."

To Wirtz and many others it seems clear that while the government can and will—in Goldberg's words—"assert unhesitatingly and at all times the national interest in labor-management disputes, the decision whether collective bargaining will remain free, depends on the wisdom and inventiveness of union leaders and industry managers.

Mackinaw Soon Begins Chopping Away At Heavy Great Lakes Ice

By A. F. MAHAN
CHEBOYGAN (AP)—A $13 million, 290-foot icebreaker manned by 130 men will begin chopping away this month or next at the biggest hunk of ice this side of the Arctic Circle.

The icebreaker Mackinaw—a most unusual ship. The hunk of ice, of course, is that which winter put in the Great Lakes and their connecting links.

Lengthens Shipping Season
The Mackinaw's main job is to crack open the lakes ahead of nature's schedule and keep them open beyond what otherwise would be the freeze-in date.

Thus, normally, she adds about six weeks to the shipping season. She could extend it even further if that were necessary—as in time of war, when steel mills in Gary, Pittsburgh and Detroit would be gobbling up iron ore faster than it could be stockpiled in clear-water months.

Soo Locks Tonnage
At the Soo Locks last year an average of 10-plus million tons per month passed through, bound either from or to Lake Superior ports alone.

No firm figures are available for traffic through the Straits of Mackinac between Lakes Michigan and Huron, or for the Detroit River connection between St. Clair and Erie.

Helicopter On Board
Another job of the Mackinaw is to cut free late-going or early moving ships that get caught in ice. A day's delay costs a ship owner a lot of money, and the loss of even an empty ship could represent as much as $8.5 million.

With a helicopter on board, the Mackinaw is a part of the Coast Guard's air-sea rescue operations and speeds to any vessel in distress, whether it be a 700-foot freighter, a cabin cruiser or even a rowboat. She mothers yachts in the Port Huron-to-Mackinac Island and other races, and is a summer-time training ship for reserves, among other things.

Most Powerful On Lakes
Her 15,000-horsepower makes the Mackinaw the most powerful ship on the lakes. Her draft is approximately 19 feet and her displacement weight more than 5,000 tons. Top speed is around 20 miles an hour.

The Mackinaw is a creature of World War II. Lower lakes mills had to have more iron and copper and limestone to keep the war effort going year around. Upper lakes cities had to have coal and other essentials from below. Freighters carrying some 25,000 gross (long) tons apiece each trip could do this if they had a longer sailing season.

Battling Windrows
Capt. Benjamin M. Chiswell, the Mackinaw's current skipper, says his ship never has encountered ice she couldn't bust—and that includes windrows where floating ice has been blown on top of ice until it becomes a frozen mass 21 feet thick.

Windrows are something else again. Encountering one that stops her, the Mackinaw backs off and rams, sliding her bow up on it and rolling from side to side or tilting fore and aft, or maybe doing both at once.

Lists Five Degrees
This action wiggles her loose, like you'd wiggle a cork back and forth to get it out of a bottle. All the while her propellers, 14-foot ones aft, are churning and flushing cracked ice backward.

To put her into rock and roll, the Mackinaw has large water tanks on either side with pumps capable of transferring 190 tons back just as quickly. In this operation she will list five degrees to either side.

Welded Into One Piece
A similar system of tanks and pumps permit her crew to switch 120 tons of water from forward to aft, or vice versa, in less than seven minutes. This permits lowering or raising the draft of either the stern or bow.

The Mackinaw's steel hull is 1 1/2 inches thick at the ice belt and 1 3/4 inches thick below it. Above the ice line it is 3/4 of an inch. There's not a single rivet in the entire hull. It is all welded into one piece.

Many Frames, Braces
She has many more frames and braces than the average ship.

Sitting at her winter anchorage here in Cheboygan, the Mackinaw sometimes is gripped by ice up to 18 inches thick, but the wash of her mighty propellers usually is enough to disintegrate this into something resembling oversized refrigerator ice cubes. If it isn't, all the Mackinaw has to do is go into its rock and roll act.

WASHINGTON—Right on time these days the taxpayer is hearing the familiar warning that we can't cut defense spending lest Nikita Khrushchev murder us all in our beds, and as usual nobody seems to be asking, "Why not?"

Why not, indeed? At $55 billion, the defense item is the largest in President Kennedy's budget, with its $11.9 billion deficit, and if we are going to save any real dough defense clearly is the place to start. And after we get through denuding the admirals and generals of some of their valets, there is no reason, except politics, why we shouldn't take the shears to the other sacred cows.

There is, for instance, the veterans' annual grab of $5.5 billion. There is the farmers' $5.7 billion bribe. And there is $4.2 billion for space activities like not, repeat not, getting a man on the moon.

With defense, they add up to $70.4 billion and if we slashed 10 per cent of that awesome total we'd come up with a saving of $7 billion plus. Then we could take a hard look at the remaining $25 billion and lop a little off here and there, just for kicks.

Patriotism Questioned
Over-simplifying, am I? You're right the first time. It is the opinion here that it is time our fiscal masters embarked on a veritable orgy of over-simplification, designed to save the taxpayers money.

Ever since the regal Roosevelt II, every President has told us that of course we can't cut defense unless we want to be un-American and come down with poxiasis. Eisenhower made a couple of gestures in that direction, but the efforts were so ham-handed it was almost as if they were intended to fail, to teach the taxpayer not to meddle in defense's business.

But, let us "over-simplify." Any time an outfit spends $55 billion in one year there is bound to be some waste, especially if it is a government outfit. Even Harry Byrd, the tight-fisted Virginia senator, would lose track of a couple of $10 bills under such circumstances. So why not just cut defense 10 per cent to leave less money lying around to waste?

The experts' answers, of course, is that with 10 per cent less to waste—uh, spend—we wouldn't get enough defense to protect us from Naughty Nikita. This is utter rot.

Big business pays its executives well to get more for the corporation's money so the profits will be bigger. The taxpayer, through the President, hires men presumed to be experts and has a right to expect these experts to get the most of his money so he can kick in less taxes.

In government, the emphasis is always on what the country needs for survival, and never on how efficiently and inexpensively those goods and services can be obtained. Nobody ever thinks of saying to a department head, "Charlie, you can only have $50 billion this year—you'll have to figure out how to buy us the hardware we need with it."

In business, the executive thus addressed curses the air blue, gulps a couple of tranquilizers—and then goes out and finds a way to make do with the budget he's been allotted.

And Taxes Would Rise
In government, a bureaucrat would spend the next six months, and a few million dollars' worth of effort and memo pads, persuading the President it couldn't be done. And taxes would go up again while the Government Accounting Office was announcing that the Navy bought its belt buckles for $10 million less than the Army did, because the Army purchasing agent got his buckles from another company.

The fact is, there is nothing sacred about defense, nor space, nor the veterans nor the farmers. It's just that those charged with saving money are too lazy to learn enough about defense and space to be able to demand economies, and too scared of the political consequences should they attempt to short-weight the feedbacks dangling from the bulging necks of the farmer and veteran.

We can reduce spending only if we latch onto some public servant in high places hard-working enough and brave enough to do so.

Civil Rights Programs

By PETER BODSON

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—It will have to be shown whether President Kennedy's civil rights message and the civil rights legislation introduced by nine Republican congressmen are mere window dressing—just for the record—or whether they mean business.

What if the two programs indicate, however, is that if the liberals in both parties really want some civil rights action, they should form a coalition of their own to buck the conservatives.

The least such a coalition could do is cause a few convulsions in the House Rules Committee and force the Senate into another dandy filibuster, now that limitation of debate is dead for two years.

Eight-Point Program
Both the Republicans and needing Kennedy for Democratic Action having been freed Kennedy ever since he took office for not sending Congress a comprehensive civil rights program.

Now he has met this challenge with an eight-point legislative program in the most sweeping civil rights message since President Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation 100 years ago.

Three bills covering new recommendations in the fields of voting rights, integrated education and a four-year extension for the Civil Rights Commission, with broadened powers, will be introduced in Congress in the near future. CRC will go out of business Nov. 30 unless given a new lease on life. But this last is believed to have the best chance for congressional approval.

Republican Plan
Kennedy's program is far broader than the Republicans' although their plan would be administratively tougher. The GOP calls for making Civil Rights Commission a permanent agency and setting up a new commission on equality of employment opportunity, giving it broad enforcement powers to replace the voluntary compliance now sought by the President's Committee on Equal Employment.

Finally, the GOP would empower the Census Bureau to make a national registration of voting statistics in every state by race, color and national origin. There is nothing like this in the Kennedy program and it is doubtful if this proposal would pass.

Most affirmative declaration in the President's message is probably the first sentence in his section on "public accommodations." He declares that "no act is more contrary to the spirit of our democracy and Constitution—or more rightfully resented by a Negro citizen who seeks only equal treatment—than the barring of that citizen from restaurants, hotels, theaters, recreational areas and other public accommodations and facilities."

If the Kennedy Administration continues its efforts to obtain equal treatment for all citizens in public places, this could probably have more impact than any legislation Congress will pass.

Supreme Court Test Cases
The U. S. Supreme Court now has before it several test cases on "sit-in" demonstrations. Decisions upholding equal rights in this area could become as important as the school integration order.

Just as significant as the President's proposals for new courses of action to enforce civil rights is his message inventory of some 20 moves he has made in this field the last two years.

Though the voting referee procedure authorized by the 1960 Civil Rights Act was used in only one Louisiana parish for the 1962 elections, thousands of new voters were registered for the first time in many states.

Sixty school districts were desegregated last year. Teacher training institutes of the National Science Foundation and under the National Defense Education Act were held in integrated colleges.

17 Million Jobs Opened
Beginning next September, integrated schools will be opened on military reservations if such facilities are not available locally. Voluntary integration has been obtained, however, in many federally affected areas receiving government financial aid.

Over 17 million jobs have been voluntarily opened to American workers on a nondiscriminatory basis. All government contract jobs have been so opened. The President has directed National Labor Relations Board to take action against discrimination in labor unions.

Segregation in interstate transportation has virtually ceased. All federal recreation areas are open without regard to race. The armed forces and Coast Guard have been fully integrated.

Department of Justice has increased prosecution of police brutality cases. It is challenging "separate but equal" facilities in hospitals built with federal funds. It has intervened to open public schools in Prince Edward County, Va., the only county in the nation in which there are no public schools.

Views Of Others

A CLUTTER OF SIGNS
In the interests of a bill that would regulate billboard advertising along interstate highways, the Automobile Club of Missouri has undertaken a limited survey.

The club found that along a 15-mile section of Interstate 70 near Booneville, almost 200 signs have gone up since the road opened late in 1960.

Many of them, reports the club, are in clusters of 20 or more, completely obliterating whatever natural beauty might lie behind them.

The bill now before the House in Jefferson City would allow Missouri to take advantage of a federal bonus provision for billboard control. Eighteen other states have done so. Generally, billboards would be prohibited in an area of 660 feet along each side of interstate highways built on new locations, not including cities. The incentive is one-half of 1 per cent additional federal money for interstate mileage. For Missouri this could mean an extra $2,000,000.

But the big inducement is a rare chance to protect beauty that might be lost forever, since the signs go up. The new interstate highways are being built at an explosive rate, considering the size and scope of the project. Many miles are over land that is fresh and unspoiled land today. But it won't stay that way long, unless the Legislature acts. — Kansas City Times

Dear Abby. . . .

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I just got out of law school, passed the state bar examination, and am working for a collection agency. My girl has been after me to buy her an engagement ring. Abby, I told this girl that as far as I am concerned we are officially engaged and I will marry her as soon as I can afford it, but I don't have the money to buy her even the tiniest diamond now. She says it is not the size of the diamond that counts, it's the thought. What should I do?

STRUGGLING LAWYER
DEAR STRUGGLING: If it's the thought . . . tell her you'll THINK about it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a young widow (35) and live alone. A very distinguished bachelor in this community attended the same church as I. He asked me out and I had a most wonderful time and I think he did, too. He invited me out again and we seemed to hit it off so well. Then he never called me again. He seems friendly at church but that's as far as it goes. The other day I was talking to a friend of his. He told me that this man made a habit of dating a woman two or three times and if he thought she was getting serious about him he'd drop her. Abby, how could a man know after two dates if a woman was getting "serious" about him? I made no overtures and was anything but forward. I just enjoyed his company and wanted to see him again. Does this make sense to you?

CURIOS
DEAR CURIOS: Your distinguished bachelor friend explained his strategy inaccurately. He meant when HE felt himself getting serious about a woman, he'd drop HER. His type is common. He's afraid of marriage. If a man with his philosophy ever got hooked in a weak moment, heaven help his wife.

DEAR ABBY: My problem may not seem very serious but it means a lot to me. I like two boys very much and I have to make a choice. One is an usher. He is real neat but he doesn't look so hot out of his suit. I can't explain it, but I seem to like the usher more when he is working and has that suit on. The other boy looks good to me all the time. Which one should I choose?

DEAR TEEN: If you like the usher better in his "suit"—the other boy probably suits you better. You have a touch of uniform-fever, not uncommon in girls your age.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MILTON: Didn't your father ever tell you that mankind is divided into two classes: Those who earn their living by the sweat of their brow, and those who sell them cold drinks, electric fans and air-conditioning?

Emanuelson-Royea

NEGAUNEE—Carol Ann Emanuelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Emanuelson of National Mine, became the bride of Thomas Albert Royea, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Royea, Negaunee, Saturday afternoon in St. Paul's Church rectory.

The Rev. Paul Schiska performed the double-ring ceremony at two o'clock.

The bride chose a floor length gown of white lace over tulle, fashioned with a scalloped neckline and fitted bodice trimmed with seed pearls, long sleeves tapering to a point at the wrists and lace panels in both front and back. Her fingertip veil was secured by a pearl tiara and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white feathered carnations centered with roses.

Attendant In Blue

Miss Marcia Kjellman of Ishpeming, the bride's only attendant, wore a street length dress of blue nylon over satin with a full skirt and gathered bodice. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Robert Royea of Escanaba served as his brother's best man. Mrs. Emanuelson attended her daughter's wedding wearing a medium blue wool flannel dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

Residing Here

Following a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Royea will reside at 324 Lincoln St. here.

Mrs. Royea is a graduate of the National Mine High School. Her husband is a graduate of the Negaunee High School and at present is employed at the Ishpeming Cop Cop Store.

Special Sunday observances are also being planned by Scouts in other communities of the county, according to Mrs. Eugene Cole, president of Timberlane Girl Scout Council. These include Ishpeming, Negaunee, Gwinn and K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base.

Sunday morning, there will be Girl Scout Sunday observance in St. Peter's Cathedral, St. Michael's and St. Christopher's churches and in the afternoon at 4, all of the Protestant Scouts in local troops will hold a union service at the First Presbyterian Church.

Breakfast After Mass
Scouts of St. Peter's Cathedral parish will attend the 8 a. m. Mass in a body and in uniform and will be served breakfast later by the cathedral Altar Society, with Mrs. John Beauchamp, leader of Troop 3, in charge.

At St. Michael's, the Scouts will also attend Mass at 8 a. m. and will be entertained later at breakfast by members of the Marian Circle of the church Altar Society. Troop 46, under the leadership of Mrs. James C. Bullock and Mrs. Lyle Peterson, will decorate the hot lunch room in St. Michael's School, where the meal will be served.

Scouts of St. Christopher's parish will receive Holy Communion in a body at Sunday's nine o'clock High Mass and later their mothers will join them for breakfast at the parish hall. Scouts planning to attend are asked to notify Mrs. Leonard Beauprey at CAnal 6-7908.

Study Of Communism By Hoover DAR Book Review

"The citizen in any free society has a vital role in combating Communism and it needs wisdom and understanding of the Communist forces which would destroy us." These and other points made by J. Edgar Hoover in his book, "A Study of Communism," were emphasized Tuesday by Mrs. E. S. Bice Jr. in a review of the Hoover study for members of the Marquette Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. Bice gave her summation at the regular March meeting of the DAR, held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Warren C. Lambert, 347 E. Ridge St.

Cites Foundation
Referring to the early history of the Communist movement in his book, Hoover noted that the theoretical foundations of modern-day Communism were provided by Karl Marx and Frederick Engels, who selected aspects "of German philosophical thought, English economic theory and French socialist ideas, modified them, adapted them, added some ideas of their own and wove together a theory which they claimed was based on a scientific analysis of nature and history."

Points Emphasized
Other points made by Mrs. Bice from the Hoover book follow:
• "Through the weapon of peaceful coexistence, Soviet Communists are seeking to lull the free world, particularly the United States, into a sense of security. It is a means of buying time. Communism's policy of peaceful coexistence is not based on weakness. It is an indication of strength and confidence."
• "The Moscow Declaration of 1960 amounted to an unmistakable call for an attack on all human

Lines from Lou's by... Maggie

Once upon a time a housewife was something to be worn around the house. A loose-fitting Mother Hubbard garment, with no particular line, style or fashion. Just something to put on quickly, early in the morning, with no thought to how it would look.

Times have changed. Ask any bride-to-be if she could use some housewives in her trousseau and she will ask... "What is that?"

Today the woman of the house looks as neat and smart as if she were taking off for a party instead of getting ready to prepare breakfast. No doubt competition is the answer to it all. Since we women are in the business of pleasing the men, we want them to have a nice mental picture of us as they leave for work in the morning.

We, at LOU'S, will be most happy to assist you in this matter. If you want to robe it, we'd love to show you the new spring dusters coming in, light in weight, washable in the machine, and oh so pretty to look at. Or you may be one of the ladies who drive their husbands to work, drop the kiddies at the school door, and then do your marketing or what-haves-you. LOU'S dress department then comes into the picture. We have a raft of new easy to wear cottons that are in the fashion picture from now to the end of the summer. Easy to slip into in the morning, and looking so smart, no matter whom you may meet downtown. But seeing is believing, so stop into LOU'S today, in the center of Marquette.—(Adv.)

Arts Group Slates Talk On Ireland

Catherine Hawes, a member of Gravenstein High School faculty who has recently visited in Ireland, will discuss the arts and crafts of the country in a talk Tuesday evening at the regular meeting of the Lake Superior Creative Arts Association.

Miss Hawes' talk for the meeting, scheduled at 7:30 in the Parkview School multi-purpose room, is entitled "The Arts and Ireland." Of particular interest, according to Anita E. Meyland, program chairman, will be the speaker's remarks about the famed Book of Kells, a beautifully-illuminated manuscript, the choicest relic of Irish art, dating from about the year 800.

Contains Gospels
The Book of Kells, now in Trinity College, Dublin, contains the Four Gospels, a fragment of Hebrew names and the Eusebian canons. It is known also as the Book of Columba, probably because it was written in the monastery of Iona in honor of Saint Columba. Slides, paintings and a collection of crosses will be the visual aids used by Miss Hawes in her presentation.

Also on the agenda for the evening will be a demonstration by Elizabeth Hadley on finger painting as a fine art. Mrs. Hadley has studied this medium with Ruth Faison Shaw of Florida, whose name has become synonymous with the art; during her demonstration, she will show some of her own paintings.

St. Patrick's Tribute
Members of the Lake Superior Creative Arts Association are asked to follow the assigned project for March, bringing works of art for the member-exhibit. "Since this is by way of a St. Patrick's Day tribute, any amateur artists who are of Irish extraction living in the county are invited as guests," Mrs. Meyland said.

Meetings

The Northern Queen Rebekah Lodge will meet Friday evening at 8 in the Odd Fellows Hall. A social hour will follow the business session.

The Northern Promenaders, a square dance group, will dance tomorrow evening at the Whitman School.

This Week—Advance View Of Spring

BY INGRID BARTELLI
(Consumer Marketing Information Agent, Michigan State University)

Everyone is ready to put "the March" to winter this year. If the severe cold weather of the past two months hasn't numbed our thinking processes, we will remember that winter got off to a late start. Remember the long balmy fall weather we had? We could still rake leaves in the yard during the operations. Maybe the late beginning was the reason for so many desperately cold, record-breaking, below zero days during January and February.

But March seems to hold some magic. Temperatures zoomed up to 15 or 20 degrees above zero and even higher several days. You could see the snow banks begin to sag. We know, though that winter isn't over yet. On St. Patrick's Day or thereabouts, we usually have a dandy storm, but we'd all agree that we've had enough below zero weather for this year.

Makes Mouths Water
March makes our mouths water for more fresh fish, maple syrup and more fresh vegetables. Though there has been some fishing going on through the ice in the more protected harbors, most of the commercial fishermen are waiting for the ice to go out — and there's sure lots of it to go this year!

Warm sunny days and cold nights make the maple trees wake up so the sap starts running, meaning maple syrup time. We have a lot of sugar maples in the north country and some good size syrup end of November. Maybe you'll want to make a visit to a sugarbush.

As most mortals, we seldom pass up a chance to complain and we've indulged ourselves regarding the fresh vegetable situation this winter. If we feel we've been suffering, just put yourself in the place of the producer. Actually, they've done a remarkable job getting to us the vegetables we have enjoyed in spite of the weather. Better times are coming; it will have to warm up eventually.

Money-Saving Meats
There's good money-saving news for meat eaters this spring. Seems like there still is a lot of pork left to sell from the piglets born last spring. Now the piglets born in the fall are ready to come to market, resulting in five per cent more pork. Low prices should continue on into April. Watch for features. It's still "low season" on smoked picnic pieces.

Increased beef and broiler supplies, along with the pork, will provide opportunity to "fill-up-the-freezer-for-summer-company."

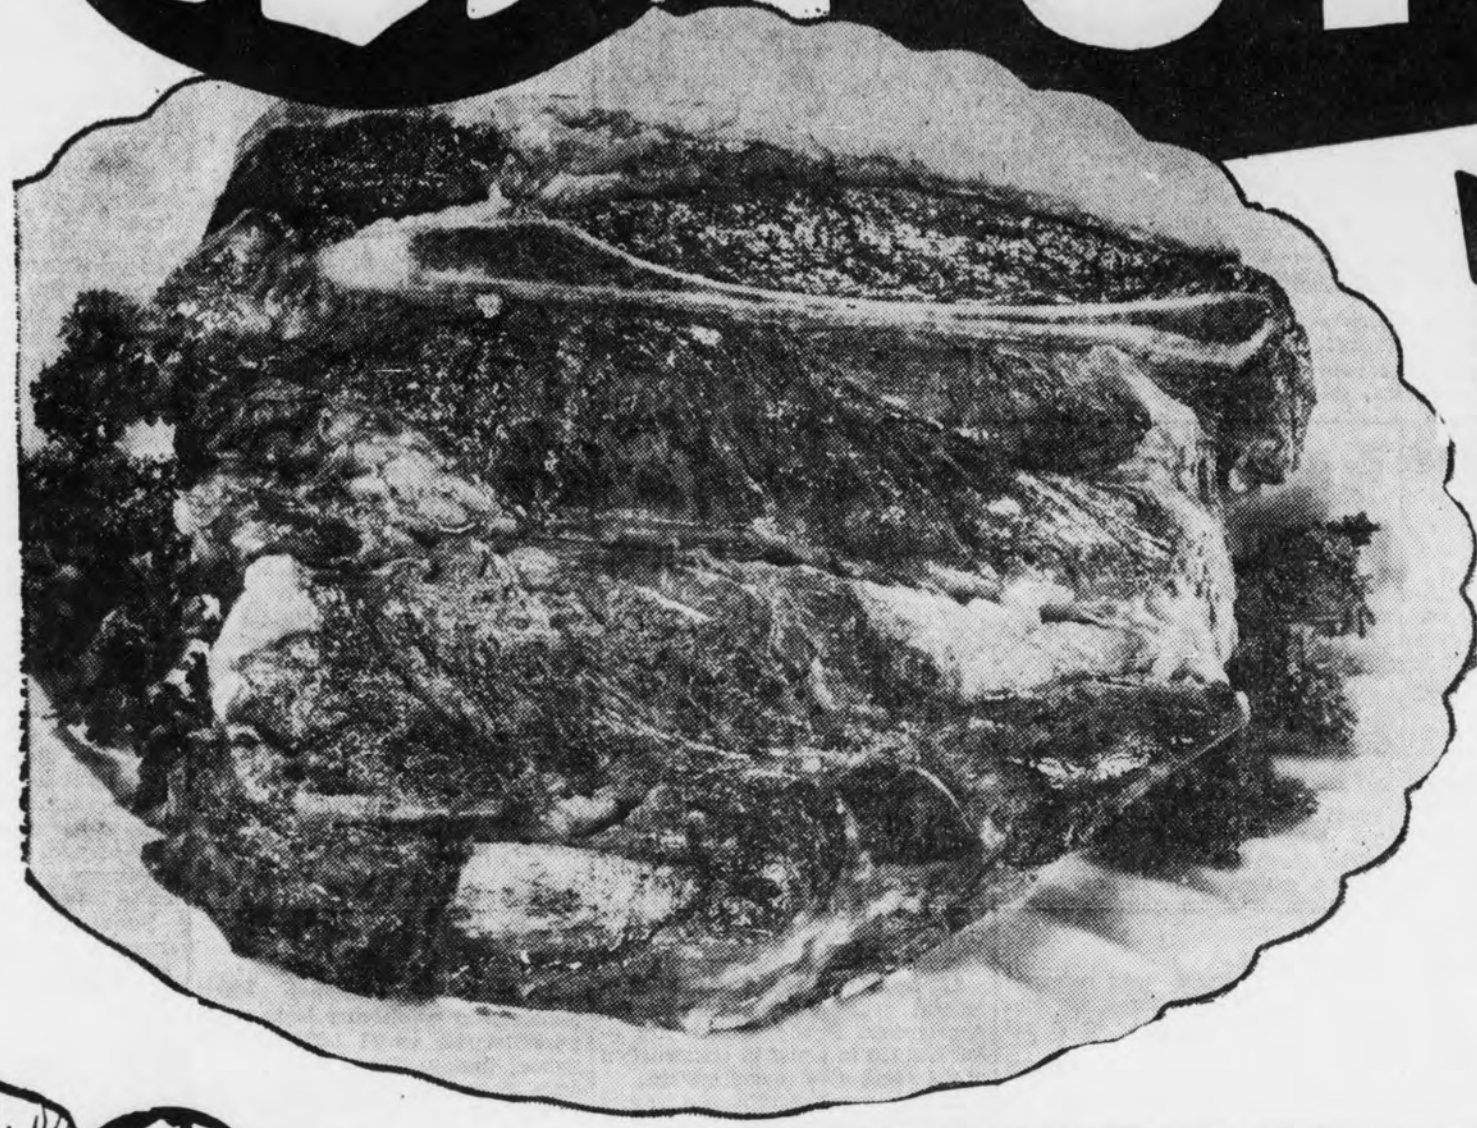

Retail beef prices are slow in reflecting the lower wholesale costs of beef ($4 per hundred weight lower than in November). There are considerably more cattle "on feed" this year than last. This means heavier cattle with more fat. Even though we consumers like the flavor, tenderness and juiciness of well-fed beef, we want lean meat when we lay our money on the line.

Broilers Reasonable
Broilers continue to put the price squeeze on red meats. During the summer when there is more demand for chicken, the price usually goes up a bit. Do you have a hole to fill in your freezer?

March month is well named. Our "hibernating" winter months are over and we're on the move again as winter marches into spring.

Ishpeming To Elect 2 Councilmen, 4 Supervisors In April Election; 12 File As Candidates For Posts

ISHPEMING — Five persons have filed as candidates for two Ishpeming City Council posts which will be filled in the spring election April 1.

The terms of Jimmie L. Jenkin, curving in their own mayor, and Walter Scanlon are expiring. Both men are among the five who have filed as candidates for the three-year-term posts.

Others are William S. Cooley, Daniel M. Ulrich and Frank S. Valente.

In addition to councilmen, four supervisors will be elected to three-year terms on April 1. Candidates who have announced that office include three incumbents, Leonard S. M. Altobello, C. James Carlyon and Sidney Phare Sr. The fourth councilman is Stanley Lindberg, who is not seeking re-election.

Four other supervisor candidates are Cooley, Scanlon, Valente and Marcus H. Willey — boost to seven the number of men seeking that post.

Berg Unopposed — Justice of the Peace Fred J. Berg also is seeking re-election. He is unopposed in the spring election.

Also to be named is a new mayor for Ishpeming, who will serve for one year. Eligible for the mayoralty race — which also will be decided by the people April 1 — are those councilmen whose terms do not expire this year; Emil A. Aho, Theodore R. Mattson Sr. and Willey.

Deerton — Movies on Scandinavia will be shown at the Deerton School tomorrow night at 8. A nominal charge will be made for both children and adults. The film presentation is being sponsored by the Parent-Teachers' Club of Deerton.

Sidnaw — The Sidnaw 4-H Club is sponsoring an evening of entertainment beginning at 7:30 tonight in the Sidnaw School. Refreshments will be served, and the public is invited to attend.

Munising — The Munising Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, will hold a regular meeting at 8 tonight in Masonic Temple.

Dr. Matson To Address Lutherans — Dr. Theodore E. Matson, president of the Wisconsin Upper Michigan Synod of the Lutheran Church in America, will address the Bethany Lutheran congregation of this city at a supper meeting Friday night, when the congregation prepares to go into its second fund-raising drive for its new building on Mather Ave.

The meeting will be held in the almost-completed new fellowship hall and will mark the congregation's first gathering in the new building.

Dr. Matson was pastor of the Bethany congregation from 1931 to 1940. It is his first visit to the area as synodical president since his election to that post last fall.

Upon leaving the Ishpeming pastorate, Dr. Matson served as a regional director of the Board of American Missions of the Augustana Lutheran Church, then as a pastor of a large urban church in Chicago, after which he was called to the directorship of the Board of American Missions.

An interesting feature of the evening for the congregation will be a tour of the new church facilities. An informal pasty supper is being served at 6:30, to be followed by the "kick-off" program for the building fund drive. Dr. Matson's talk will highlight the program and the building committee chairman, William C. Peterson, will speak. Ogden E. Johnson will serve as master of ceremonies.

In launching its second fund drive, the congregation has set a goal of $85,000 over a three-year payment period. With this goal realized, the congregation's new building will be debt-free.

All confirmed members of the congregation and their husbands or wives are invited.

Merit Tests Given To 27 At L'Anse — L'ANSE — National Merit Scholarship qualifying tests were administered to 27 L'Anse High School juniors Tuesday by Guidance Counselor Willis Olson.

This test is a three-hour examination of educational development. It is the first step in the annual competition for four-year Merit Scholarships provided by the National Merit Scholarship Corp. and by sponsoring corporations, foundations, associations, unions and individuals. Last year 1,041 Merit Scholarships were awarded as a result of this program.

Results Available In May — Scores earned on this test are used by the school counselors to help students make decisions about college attendance and choice of a field of study. Many students take the tests simply to learn more about their individual strengths and weaknesses in the areas measured by the test. The results of this week's tests will be reported to the school before May 15, and students will be informed of their performance.

Approximately 13,000 semifinalists, selected from the highest scorers in each state, will be named early next fall. Their names and test scores will be sent to the colleges in which they have expressed interest. Each semifinalist will take a second examination and those who repeat their high performance become finalists.

In Ninth Year — Winners of the Merit Scholarships will be selected from this group on the basis of school records and recommendations, test scores, extra curricular activities, etc. An additional 35,000 students, chosen on a national basis, will receive letters of commendation for their high performance on the qualifying tests. These students will be considered for special awards made through the Merit Corporation and will also be eligible for scholarships at many colleges.

This is the ninth year that L'Anse High School students have participated in this testing program.

Water Pipe Thawing Service Fee Discussed By Councilmen

ISHPEMING — Possibility of levying a charge for thawing frozen water pipes was discussed briefly by city councilmen last night following receipt of a damage claim against the municipality.

The claim (for $49.62) against the city was received from Bruce Jarvinen, 265 Hill St., who stated that a "poor ground" on an arc welder used by a city crew to thaw a frozen pipe in his home was responsible for damage to his television set.

The claim, itself, was referred to the city attorney for study and report, but discussion of it revealed:

- That the city, unlike many communities, does not charge for such service; and
- That such service is costing the city government thousands of dollars a year.

In other action, the council:

- 1. Approved acceptance of a federal grant offer — under the Accelerated Public Works Act — for $148,750 to assist in construction of the south area sewer system.
- 2. Approved receipt of a license (renewal) from the Chicago & North Western Railroad for the city to place the south side area sewers under its tracks.
- 3. Ordered the purchase of two new Ford dump trucks for $8,474 from D. C. Sales & Service, the low bidder.
- 4. Appropriated $30 for the purchase of an advertisement in a booklet publicizing the Upper Peninsula Volunteer Firemen's Association Tournament to be held in Laurium.
- 5. Tentatively set April 3 as the date for a meeting with the Youth Center Council board (the amount of council business that night will determine whether the confab actually will take place on that date).
- 6. Referred recommendations for minor accounting system changes, contained in an Ernst & Ernst report of its annual audit, to the city manager for action.

Regarding the audit report, McNabb lauded City Clerk Clyde Sundberg, declaring the city's books "are in the best shape they've ever been."

Bietila Memorial Tournament To Be Conducted Saturday

All Olympic Contestants To Take Part

ISHPEMING — In connection with the Olympic Tryouts to be staged this weekend, the annual Paul Bietila Memorial Tournament will be conducted at Suicide Hill Saturday, with a short program scheduled for 1:30 p.m. before the jumping begins.

Ishpeming Ski Club officials today said that all riders taking part in the tryouts on Saturday will be participating in the Bietila Memorial, an event held annually to

PINS STILL MISSING

Last April, a display of foreign ski club and association pins disappeared from the Ishpeming Ski Club's exhibit at the Northern Michigan Exposition in Marquette. At the time, a reward for return of the pins was offered, but they are still missing. The pins were obtained by Mr. and Mrs. Bert Boyum, Negaunee, while they were in Europe with the American ski team. Mr. and Mrs. Boyum, planning to donate them to the United States Ski Hall of Fame for permanent display, still offer a reward to whoever returns the metal pins — which were fastened to a brown fabric — to James E. Trehewey at the Mining Journal office in Marquette. No questions will be asked.

perpetuate the memory of a member of the Flying Bietilas and one of the greatest young skiers in American history.

Saturday's jumps, therefore, will have a double-barreled effect, counting both in the Bietila Memorial competition and in the first phase of the Olympic Tryouts.

At the bottom of the landing, during the program that will precede the jumping, club officials will introduce Mrs. Mary Bietila, mother of the ski-jumping brothers who dominated American competition for many years. Also to be introduced are Paul's brothers, Anselm, Leonard, Roy and Ralph of Ishpeming and Walter of Iron Mountain; and Kathleen McLaughlin, last fall's Miss Ishpeming who will reign during the weekend as the Ishpeming club's "Ski Queen."

With a color guard standing nearby, a parade of skiers who have qualified for the Olympic Tryouts then will take place on the outrun. There will be a few opening exhibition jumps by members of the Ishpeming Ski Club and the pre-tournament ceremony will close with playing of the National Anthem.

Ski club officials said today that the sale of booster buttons (offered at half the regular admission price) has been going "very well" and that a large crowd is expected to be on hand both Saturday and Sunday for the Suicide Hill Spectacular.

More than 40 jumpers — including all who qualified at regional tests earlier in the winter, plus several others whose past records entitle them to a chance for a berth on the Olympic team — will take part in the two-day tryouts. Each skier will be entitled to three jumps each day, with his distance-form point total for the four best leaps determining his final standing.

The team picked at Ishpeming will represent the United States at the 1964 Olympic Winter Games at Innsbruck, Austria, next February.

Improved Output, Earnings By Inland Steel Co. Predicted

CHICAGO — Inland Steel's output and earnings for 1963 should show some improvement over 1962, Joseph L. Block, chairman, predicted in the company's annual report issued to stockholders today.

Although the normal hazards of forecasting are accentuated by the current complex of national and international cross-currents, Block said, he nevertheless ventured a mildly optimistic viewpoint for the economy and the steel industry this year.

Increased depreciation allowances under the Treasury Department's new guidelines and the investment tax credits will improve the company's cash flow, at least for the immediate future, he said, and enable it to accelerate its expansion program and other capital investments for additions and improvements.

Stockholders were told that intensive study is now under way on the second phase of a vast new modernization and expansion program launched last year. Capital expenditures were increased to $41,978,000 in 1962 from $18,392,000 in 1961 as planning was completed and construction started on the first phase, and for 1963 capital expenditures are projected at $110,000,000, Block said, the second highest in the company's history.

Skit, Awards Featured At Cub Potluck

NEGAUNEE — A skit and award presentations were featured at a "Blue and Gold" potluck supper held in St. Paul's School gymnasium by Cub Scout Pack 323.

Mrs. Otto Korhonen was in charge of the arrangements and was assisted by Mrs. Edmund Polini, Mrs. Leslie McComber and Mrs. Martin Terzaghi. The Rev. Robert Cordy, Executive Officer, offered the blessing for the group.

The serving table was enhanced by a large emblematic Scout design cake decorated in blue and gold with the Cub Scout promise and "Pack 323" frosted upon it, used as the centerpiece. Table decorations and name tags were made by the Cubs at their weekly den meetings.

Following the supper a skit was presented by Den 3 under the direction of Mrs. Charles Giotto and Mrs. Bernice Hulkoft, den mothers. Physical exercises were conducted by Den Chief David DeGabriele.

Awards presented by Cubmaster Francis Rose included three-year service pins to Cubs Louis Terzaghi and John McComber and one-year pins to Louis Beaudin Jr., Louis Giotto, Tony Giotto, Francis Domperre, Louis and Michael Ruesing, Greg Turino, Mike Korhonen and Greg Rose. Achievement badges included: Wolf, Gold and Silver Arrows, Robert DeGabriele; and Bear, Tony Giotto.

Service pins also went to eight adults: two years, Mrs. Leslie McComber; and one year, Fr. Cordy, Angelo Bessolo, Louis Beaudin Sr., Martin Terzaghi, Francis Ruesing, Francis and Laura Rose. Assistant Cubmaster Martin Terzaghi received an achievement badge.

ments continues to be a matter of serious concern, the report said. The company's total tax payments for 1962 came to $53,344,000 or $2.99 a share, almost a million dollars more than net income.

The company said it welcomed the recognition by the Administration that the burden of federal income taxes is excessive and is having a dampening effect on incentive and, therefore, on the growth of the economy.

"We hope," it said, "Congress will promptly enact legislation reducing both corporate and individual income taxes. It added, "Such action, we believe, would stimulate consumer spending and business investment and generally advance the national interest by promoting a better rate of economic growth."

But such results would be dependent, it said, "on determined efforts to control the expenses of the federal government. It said the objective should be a balanced budget when unemployment is reduced and the nation's productive capacity is more fully utilized. Earnings figures in the report were unchanged from preliminary statements announced earlier. Net income for 1962 was $52,436,902

Excellent Detective Work Credited In Negaunee Case

NEGAUNEE — Eino R. Salmi of Negaunee, charged by city police with making an improper right turn and failing to report a property damage accident, entered guilty pleas on both counts when he was arraigned before Judge William Haupt in Negaunee municipal court. He paid a total of $22.40 in fines and costs.

Chief Kenneth Roberts yesterday credited Officers Don Robare and Bob Mager with some excellent detective work leading to the arrest of Salmi.

Struck Patrol Car

In making the improper turn, Salmi struck the patrol car which was parked in front of the police station, and then failed to report the accident. Taking a small piece of chrome they found on the ground near the police vehicle, officers checked with automobile dealers to determine the make of vehicle and model from which the chrome came.

Robare and Mager next checked all models for the particular year owned by Negaunee residents, and discovered that flecks of paint on Salmi's car matched those found on the police vehicle, plus a piece of chrome from the police car in Salmi's yard.

Other Court Cases

Cecil Beck of Negaunee, who was arrested by city police on an assault and battery charge, also entered a guilty plea. He was ordered to pay a $25 fine and $5.10 court costs.

Gordon C. Reichel of Negaunee paid a total of $19.40 in fines and costs for failing to yield the right of way and failure to have an operator's license. Frederick DeRoche of Marquette paid a $5 fine and $3.70 costs for exceeding the speed limit.

Two drivers ticketed by state police for violations of the motor vehicle code also entered guilty pleas. Norman Hillers of K. I. Sawyer Air Base paid a $5 fine and $3.70 costs for ignoring a stop sign, while a similar amount was paid by Maxine Torreano of Negaunee for exceeding the speed limit.

Bosanic Decisioned In Chicago

Jim Ross of Cincinnati decisioned Pete Bosanic of Manistique in the semifinals (160-lb. class) of the Golden Gloves tournament of champions, in Chicago.

CHICAGO — The Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions was history today with a hard-swinging father of seven children the last champion crowned in the 36-year-old amateur boxing classic.

Omaha's Harley Cooper, an Air Force sergeant, won the heavy-weight title, more or less methodically, as a Chicago Stadium crowd of 11,848 watched the Tournament of Champions bow out under sponsorship of the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., Wednesday night.

The Tribune which launched the colorful series pitting champions from scattered points west of the Alleghenies in 1928 last week announced it was dropping the tournament. It cited financial problems and a new rule by the National AAU requiring boxers to wear helmets in 1964 as prime reasons.

Cooper, 28, who has five girls and two sons, outpointed Jim Taylor, 22, construction worker from Hornwood, Calif., in a three-rounder that was slightly less than thrilling. It was the 50th consecutive amateur victory for Cooper, a native of Savannah, Ga.

Detroit had only one champion, 118-pound Emanuel Steward, but piled up 16 points over the four-night tourney competition to win by four points over the deadlocked runners-up Chicago and Columbus, Ohio, each with 12 points. One point was given for each bout won.

Canadian, U.S. Players Wary Of Europeans

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Canadian and American ice hockey players had the same worry today as the world championships got under way—the worry of collecting too many penalties from European referees.

Bobby Kromm, the Canadian coach, says the trouble is that European teams are accustomed to stricter rules.

"They elaborate on incidents that would be considered minor in Canada," he said.

Kromm has a high regard for the rule book but he thinks most Europeans carry ice courtesy too far.

Harry Cleverly, coach of the U.S. team, believes ice hockey is a hard, strong game and "you have got to take knocks that come your way."

Eight teams—Russia, West Germany, Canada, the United States, East Germany, defending champion Sweden, Finland and Czechoslovakia—are bracketed in group A for the world championships that run through March 17.

The other 13 teams play in two other groups against teams of similar strength.

Canada and the United States open their campaigns Friday. Canada plays East Germany and the U.S. meets Czechoslovakia.

9 Area '5s' See Action Tonight

Nine high schools in Marquette, Alger and Baraga Counties will be among the 30 in action in Upper Peninsula district basketball tournaments tonight.

Champion, seeking its second straight district title in the Marquette district, will lay its 20-game winning streak on the line against Republic, a team that has blown hot and cold all season long.

This game, starting at 7, will be the first of two to be played on the Northern Michigan fieldhouse court here, Negaunee St. Paul and Michigan — both of whom have won 14 games — meeting at 8:30.

Gwinn and Ishpeming will tangle in a Class B engagement at Negaunee, with the winner to advance to the finals against Negaunee, victor last night over Marquette Baraga.

In another Class B game, Munising will take on Rudyard's tall cagers at St. Ignace. L'Anse will face Painesdale in Class C play at the Baraga National Guard Armory, and Baraga will clash with Trout Creek in a Class D game at Houghton.

Forn followed almost to the letter for a second straight night as nine more teams were eliminated in last night's games around the Peninsula. Stambaugh, although defeated earlier by Calumet, had little difficulty routing the Copper Kings, but that had been expected in "lossup" games in Class B. Bessemer edged Wakefield and Stephenson tipped Escanaba Holy Name.

The Crusaders were the first of the Peninsula's five regional champions knocked out of the 1963 title picture. Houghton, the Class C king, won from Lake Linden, with Fred Hagen and Jon Fryxell scoring 23 points apiece in a 78-64 decision. Like Champion, Brimley will play a semi-final game tonight against Detour, but Escanaba — the Class A titlist — will be idle until Friday.

Rangers Nail Hawks; Leafs Blank Bruins

New York's Rangers, a most obliging bunch of playmates for Chicago most of this season, turned tough at the worst possible time for the Black Hawks.

The Rangers had politely rolled over and played dead the first 12 weeks they played the Black Hawks this season, losing 10 and tying two.

Second-place Toronto closed up with a 4-0 shutout of Boston in the only other game played.

That left Chicago with 75 points and seven games to go. Toronto has 73 points with eight left, including a home and home set with the Hawks.

Phony Bomb Blows Frisco Deeper In 4th

BALTIMORE (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors fizzled after a bomb scare Wednesday night and literally blew a chance to move closer to a National Basketball Association playoff berth.

The Warriors lost a protested 121-111 decision to the Chicago Zephyrs, in a game delayed about 30 minutes by a phony bomb scare. Now they're 11½ games behind the third-place Detroit Pistons in the NBA's Western Division.

Time was called with 4½ minutes remaining in the first half, and 5,691 spectators were evacuated as police and firemen searched the Civic Center for a bomb which an anonymous caller said was in the $14 million arena.

The Warriors trailed 48-46 at the unscheduled intermission, when players from both teams retreated in their uniforms to a nearby hotel.

Chicago Rally But when play resumed, John Cox and Walt Bellamy lit the fuse to a Chicago rally and the Zephyrs raced to a 62-50 halftime lead. Cox scored eight points and Bellamy six during the spurt, while the Warriors could tally only four.

San Francisco announced it was playing the game under protest, contending the players had to perform under undue stress.

The Zephyrs didn't protest. Los Angeles, playing at home, clinched its second straight Western Division title and snapped a five-game losing string. The Lakers beat the Cincinnati Royals 106-97 in the only other game played Wednesday night.

Fond du Lac Ace Likes Bonus Idea; He Got $50,000

FOND DU LAC, Wis. (AP)—With four years of minor league baseball and a new convertible behind him, pitcher Hub King, who collected a $50,000 bonus from the New York Yankees in 1959 after a sparkling prep career, still is a firm believer in the pay-now-play-later system for untried youngsters.

The former Fond du Lac High School star, who attracted scouts from every major league team, is convinced that players who turn down bulky bonus contracts for college eligibility or other reasons miss a great opportunity.

Likes The Idea "Bonus payments, as far as players are concerned, are good," in an interview. "Sure, a high school athlete might miss a chance at college, but when would he ever get an opportunity to make that much money?"

"You also have to remember that some fellows who don't sign for a bonus when they get the chance never are offered one again. They can suddenly develop a sore arm, or be injured in an accident. When that happens the bonus is gone."

The 6-foot-3, 216-pound right-hander, an honor student in high school, reports to the Yankees' Augusta club in Florida March 17.

Accuracy Pays Off As Negaunee Miners Top BBCHS, 50-35

NEGAUNEE — Greater accuracy from the field and free throw line was the difference last night as the Negaunee Miners, defending district champs, defeated Marquette Bishop Baraga, 50-35, in the opening game of the Class B district tournament at Memorial Gymnasium.

Negaunee held a 16-12 edge from the field and an 18-11 advantage at the charity stripe. For three and one-half quarters, it was a much closer tilt than the final score indicated, as both teams played control ball and were tough defensively.

Baraga Lead Short-Lived All told, the Miners had 16 buckets in 45 attempts, while the Royals connected on 12 in 43. The Miners made good on 18 of 28 trips to the foul line, while Baraga converted 11 of 18 gift tosses.

Baraga opened the scoring on a bucket by Dale Berglund, but it was the only time the Royals were in the lead for the night. A pair of field goals by Richie Kent sent the Miners ahead 4-2, and during the remainder of the first period they held margins varying from two to five points, the quarter ending with Negaunee in front 13-8.

Both clubs scored four field goals in the first period, and each team was limited to two in the second quarter, in which Baraga outscored the Maize and Blue 9-8 to cut the Negaunee lead to four points, 21-17, at the intermission.

Margin Cut To Two Again in the third period, the Royals held a two-point scoring edge, picking up 11 points while the Miners were tallying nine to make the count 30-28. Negaunee, entering the last eight minutes of play, Richie Kent eased the pressure on the Miners a bit as he converted on three of four free throw attempts. A free throw by Dale Berglund of the Royals and a rebound bucket by Jim Carlson of the Miners gave Negaunee a 35-29 lead at the five-minute mark. Two minutes later the Maize and Blue still held a six-point advantage, 39-33 and following a time out, Negaunee went into Coach Jack Taylor's semi-stall.

With Baraga fouling in an attempt to get the ball, the Miners ran up six consecutive points to remove all doubt regarding the ultimate outcome. Negaunee enjoyed a 10-point spread, 45-35, with 1:20 to play, and in the last minute the Miners added five more points to make the final count 50-35.

Kent Scores 22 Kent paced the Negaunee attack with 22 points and Jim Carlson added 10 to the Maize and Blue total. The Royals didn't have a single player in double figures. Box score:

Armstead Gains All-America 'Mention'

Bobby Armstead of Northern was given honorable mention on the Little All-America basketball team announced today by the Associated Press.

The First Five: Roger Strickland, 6-5, Jacksonville, Fla.; Al Thrasher, 6-2 jr., from Wittenberg, Ohio; Mike Wisneski, the 5-9 sparkplug from St. Norbert's; Will Witacomis, 6-3 junior from Scranton, Pa.; Jim Boutin, 6-5 junior from Lewis and Clark College, Portland, Ore.

Lefty Hitters Do Homework For 'Scheff'

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Manager Bob Scheffing is opening an exclusive school for some of the Detroit Tigers' wayward hitters.

Only lefthanders can attend. The pupils include a former batting champion, a veteran of 10 major league seasons and a promising kid just graduated from baseball's kindergarten.

Okay Against Righties "Lefthanders killed us last year," said Scheffing. "We did okay against the right-handers." The Tigers were 16-20 against lefthanders and 69-56 against right-handers.

"Since we're basically a right handed hitting club, we should do better against left handed pitching," Scheffing continued. "But our three left handed hitting regulars have lots of trouble against the southpaws and that is what hurt us. So I am taking my left handed hitters and giving them this special work against left handed pitchers."

Foremost Pupil Norm Cash, 1961 American League batting champion whose 1962 average shrunk by 118 percentage points, is the foremost student of the special hitting class. His classmates are Billy Bruton, who's had considerable trouble with southpaws for 10 years, and young Dick McAuliffe. Scheffing is a great exponent of the theory that southpaw pitching is more effective against left handed batters and right-handers do better against right handed hitters.

Easterners Fight For Score Lead

NEW YORK (AP)—Niek Werkman of Seton Hall and Barry Kramer of New York University are locked in a duel for the major college individual scoring championship that should go down to the last game of the season.

Werkman, a junior who has held the lead all season, was held Seton Hall's 71-64 loss to Villanova. His average dipped to 29.7 points a game, the first time this season it had gone below 30.

Kramer, also a junior, is just behind with 29.2. Each has one more game to play in the regular season. Kramer, however, also has action in the NCAA postseason tournament—which counts toward the title—while Werkman's season is over Saturday.

SS Improves Outfield? Kubek Does

(By the Associated Press) Tony Kubek, as most people know, is a young man who makes his living as a shortstop for the New York Yankees. He's a very good one, too, and most experts agree he improves the Yankee infield.

This, of course, is not unusual for a shortstop. That's what they're paid to do. Improves Outfield Kubek, however, may be the only shortstop in captivity who improves the outfield.

Which is hardly good news to the vast legions of Yankee-haters, particularly when it is considered that the New York outfield is made up, partly, of Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris.

Ready For Duty And, worse news to the rest of the American League, the slick shortstop has served notice he's ready for fulltime duty with the defending world champions.

Kubek, 26, lashed two home runs at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Wednesday, prompting Manager Ralph Houk to remark: "Having Tony right from the start will steady the infield and enable us to make more double plays. His bat, of course, gives us increased punch." Return In August Kubek was on active duty with the Army most of last season, returning to the line-up in August

What Else Is New? Barnett Opposes Intergration

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Obstacles continued to mount today in the path of Mississippi State's participation in the National Collegiate basketball tournament with Gov. Ross Barnett firmly in opposition to the Maroons' going to the desegregated competition.

"Personally, I feel that it is not for the best interest of Mississippi State University, the State of Mississippi, or either of the races," the governor said in a statement Wednesday that ended five days of waiting for his word.

Earned Place Mississippi State earned a place in the NCAA championships by winning the Southeastern Conference championship, a title it has won or shared four of the last five years. Each time in the past Mississippi State has declined the invitation to compete because of the state's unwritten law against competition against teams with Negro players.

Mississippi State goes into the tournament. It will play its first game in the Midwest Regional at East Lansing against the winner of a first round game matching favored Loyola of Chicago and the Ohio Valley Conference champion, Loyola has several Negro players including All American Jerry Harkness. Most of the other teams in the 25-team NCAA tournament have Negro players. Cincinnati, the defending NCAA champion, has three Negroes on its starting five.

If Mississippi State follows past custom and declines, runner-up Georgia Tech will take its place as the SEC representative.

Tresh moved to left field, a position he had never played before, and was an outstanding success. He fielded spectacularly, hit 20 home runs and had a .286 average.

Schrumpp, 6-10, scored 44 points for Galien, top ranked Class D team in the final Associated Press prep poll, while Washington had 36 for Centreville, which finished fifth among the state's smallest schools.

Crows Called Eggheads Of Bird World

Even bird watchers seldom put crows, which flock so raucously at winter roosts, on their lists of favorite feathered friends. These eggheads of the bird world are living proof that a combination of brains and crime can be made to pay. Moreover, they seem to know to a fraction the range of a farmer's gun.

Henry Ward Beecher, the 19th-century American clergyman, said that if people wore feathers and wings, very few of them would be clever enough to be crows.
