Conservation Officer Richard Beach of Baraga checks trap set on beaver dam in Baraga County for name tag of owner, required on all traps.

Beach meets 65-year-old trapper, George Wadaga of L'Anse, on trap line and looks at his license. Beside Wadaga lies 46-pound beaver he trapped.

Wadaga starts for home with toboggan loaded with three beaver carcasses and pack sack containing his trapping supplies. He has trapped beaver for eight years.

Beaver Trappers In U.P. May Get Weather Break

Upper Peninsula beaver and other trappers just might get a break in weather for the opening of the trapping season two weeks from today.

The month-long weather outlook calls for moderating temperatures ranging from average to slightly above and a lower than usual amount of precipitation for this time of year.

Lower Snow Depths

Snow depths are generally six to nine inches below last year in Northern Michigan, except in the east end of the Upper Peninsula, where a couple of recent snow storms that missed the remainder of the Peninsula have pushed snow depths up. If temperatures continue warm enough during the day to cause gradual thawing, trappers may be able to count on nearly stable water levels when March 30 arrives.

On the other side of the picture, the exceptionally cold winter left lakes and ponds covered with ice that is considerably thicker than last winter.

More Conservative Limits

"Right now there is quite a lot of snow along the northern watershed, which would prevent trappers from getting back in the woods very far," said William E. Laycock, Marquette, regional game supervisor for the conservation department. "But elsewhere in the Upper Peninsula conditions look good. However, if we get a big thaw before the season opens, it could change the picture a lot."

Generally speaking, trapping seasons and bag limits are more conservative than in 1962, allowing for population declines on an area-by-area basis.

Marquette County Mostly Closed

Beaver numbers are down from a year ago in the Upper Peninsula, notably in most of Marquette County and in Dickinson County and southern Iron County, where a closed season will be in effect. The only areas in Marquette County open to beaver trapping are the Wildcat Canyon Creek, Voelker's Creek and the Dead River and tributaries, all in T49N, R's 29 and 30W; T42N, R's 25 and 26W; T43N, R's 25 and 26W (except Hunter's Brook, which is closed to trapping); T45N, R's 27 and 28W and T46N R27W (except Flat Rock Creek and its tributaries).

All of Alger County is open to beaver trapping except Line Lake in Sec. 29 and 32, T48N, R29W; Little Bohemian Creek and Johnson Creek between M-67 and the AuTrain Basin and Seven-Mile Creek in T48N and T49N, R16W.

License Sales Points

Beaver limits vary from five to eight, according to which area they are taken in.

Forsyth Field Trip Group Finds Deer In Good Condition

Lack of heavy snow this winter has held off deer starvation losses in a yard near Northland in southern Marquette County, persons participating in a field trip this week were told.

About 45 residents of the Gwinna area and K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base made the trip to the deer yard. The event was sponsored by the Forsyth Township Sportsmen's Association.

The party saw about 40 deer, all in good condition, feeding on tamarack cuttings. Joseph Vogt, Escanaba, game supervisor for the conservation department, and Conservation Officer Frank J. Marshall of Gwinna accompanied the group.

Vogt said the comparatively light snowfall was responsible for the lack of starvation cases this winter.

Quick Shots

Ending of the northern pike, muskellunge and walleye season yesterday shifted ice fishing emphasis to perch, and the conservation department reported good perch catches during the past week on these central Upper Peninsula waters: Goose Lake near Neauaue, where larger than average perch were being taken on minnows and perch eyes; 16-Mile Lake in Alger County; Deer Lake near Ishpeming; Whitehouse Bay on the Michigan River near Republic.

The Iron Mountain-Kingsford Sportsmen's Club will conduct a caribou hunt tomorrow. The public was invited to participate.

T. A. Veith was re-elected president of the Marquette Skeet Club at the group's annual meeting this week. Lloyd LeVasseur was elected secretary and field manager, and Leonard Beaudry was named treasurer.

Conservation Officer John Wormwood of Menominee reports that a golden eagle carcass was found recently near that city. Golden eagles are rare winter visitors in the Upper Peninsula.

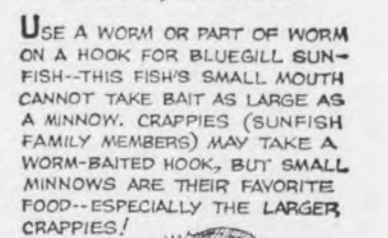

Five hundred bushels of U. S. government surplus shelled corn is now available to authorized local groups for feeding deer on Drummond Island and parts of Chippewa and Mackinac Counties, the conservation department announced. The department declared those areas eligible for emergency feeding after starved deer were found there. The corn is stored at an elevator in Saginaw and will have to be trucked from there to the Upper Peninsula by volunteer groups if the emergency feeding program is to be carried out.

What reportedly is the largest fish ever caught in Hermansville Lake in Menominee County was a 14-pound northern pike that measured 38 inches in length. It was landed the other day by Ted Peterson of Hermansville.

Legislature Flooded With More Than 50 Bills On Conservation

More than 50 bills touching the various phases of conservation have been introduced in the 1963 Legislature and most of them have been assigned to committees.

Many will die there, many are old repeaters, some are duplicated not only in House and Senate but in the same house of origin. Most of them won't come out of committee and only a few of them will pass both houses for enactment.

Regardless of their ultimate fate, here's the list of more important conservation measures as introduced by deadline.

A majestic bald eagle (its white head and tail are its trademark) soars above its nest in a half-dead tree. Scenes like this are featured in the half-hour color and sound film to be shown next week in Marquette.

Eagle Movie To Be Shown In Marquette

Dramatic closeups of the bald eagle and an intimate look at its family life are two highlights of a 30-minute color and sound film, "The Bald Eagle," which the Marquette Chapter of the Michigan Audubon Society will show Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in Audio-Visual Room 11 at Northern Michigan University.

Interested non-members are invited to attend the showing, said Edwin C. Weiland, chapter president.

head Co. of Sault Ste. Marie are currently hauling 20,000 yards of gravel to a refuge stockpile for use in graveling the numerous roads, trails, and dikes.

Any contractors interested in bidding on the construction of the concrete block and brick visitor center and/or the reinforced concrete water control structure may obtain the necessary forms and specifications from the Seney National Wildlife Refuge, Seney, Mich. Bids will be opened on March 20 for the visitor center and on March 26 for the water control structure.

LEONARD APPOINTED

Justin Leonard, assistant deputy director of research for the Department of Conservation, has been appointed by Gov. George Romney as Michigan's representative for a new federal forestry research program.

Two bald eagle sightings have been reported in this area this winter. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Brami of Marquette saw an eagle near the Parent Lake nest along U.S. 41 north of Three Lakes in Baraga County on Dec. 28 and Ted Bernard of Marquette saw an adult eagle from his home at 124 Division St. on March 6.

history of the eagle and includes footage of the late Charles L. Broley, Florida's famed "Eagle Man," scaling towering trees at the age of 74 to band eaglets in their nests.

Closeups show adult eagles feeding their offspring. The camera also takes a look at the osprey, a fish-eating bird of prey, like the eagle, and then provides spectacular shots of the frigate bird, with its unique fishing tactics.

There is no admission charge.

Minerals On Display At C-C Building

Mineral specimens from Marquette County and nearby areas are now on display at the Marquette Chamber of Commerce Building for inspection by tourists and residents.

"See-through" display cases provided by the chamber were stocked by members of the Ishpeming Rock and Mineral Club. Some of the specimens on display were described as outstanding.

(The regular March meeting of the club will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, March 24, at the ski museum in Ishpeming. The program will feature movie shorts. Visitors are welcome.)

Readers' Corner

Deer And Bounties

DEAR SIR:

Every day we read something about the deer and the bounties. Let's go back to 1962 deer season. The reason for this photo at this time is that a hunter from Detroit took first place. The article proud to be able to bag a buck with a nice rack like this one in the photo. The hunters, native of Rock, are Frans Kuula at left and the lucky hunter at right, Henry Jokela. They are members of the Rock Sportsmen's Club. This huge 10-point rack with a 20 1/4-inch inside spread, measured at base 5 inches, length from base to tip 21 inches.

In the February issue of Michigan Out-Of-Doors, Gov. Romney asks for removal of bounties. What does this mean? Use the sportsmen's money to increase salaries and forget the coyotes and bobcats and let them increase?

And kill the timber destroyers known as Lansing does and fawns? If the boys in Lansing wish to do so in Lower Michigan, why care? If they use the bounty money to increase salaries how would this help the wildlife? I am sure feed and protection would do more good.

I would like to see the day when the boys would be asked to leave the city and spend a few weeks in the woods every year to learn the facts of wildlife. They may read a lot and hear a lot, but to see the facts they should spend some time in the woods.

Should Small County Parks Be Added To State System?

Should the Twin Lakes County Park southwest of Donken in Houghton County be converted into a state park?

State Sen. Charles McManiman, D-Houghton, says "yes." The conservation department's parks division says "no."

Covers 22 Acres

Sen. McManiman appeared before the conservation commission at its March meeting to demand that the state take over the 22-acre park on Lakes Roland and Gerald because "Houghton County is in no position to maintain the park."

"I'm not going to take 'no' for an answer," Sen. McManiman told the commission. "I'm going to demand it if I have to do it on the Senate floor."

County Responsibility

Arthur Elmer, chief of the department's parks division, said he didn't consider Twin Lakes park as being of "state park significance." In fact, Elmer said, the park is in the same category as several other small downstate parks, such as White Cloud, Gladwin and East Tawas, that the department is now trying to eliminate from the state park system. "We would be taking over a small park which should be maintained by the county, because they have a responsibility for recreation, too," Elmer said.

Sen. McManiman said the Twin Lakes park has a fine beach, change house, keeper's home and concession stand. Both Lake Roland and Lake Gerald offer good fishing, he said. The park can accommodate 30 or 40 trailers and is located on highway M-26. Its operational season covers between 78 and 84 days a year, the senator stated.

Compromise Suggested

Miss Genevieve Gillette, Bloomfield Hills, president of the Michigan Park Association, suggested a compromise based on proposed legislation that would provide state and county matching funds to maintain smaller county parks.

The commission postponed action on Sen. McManiman's proposal until the April meeting.

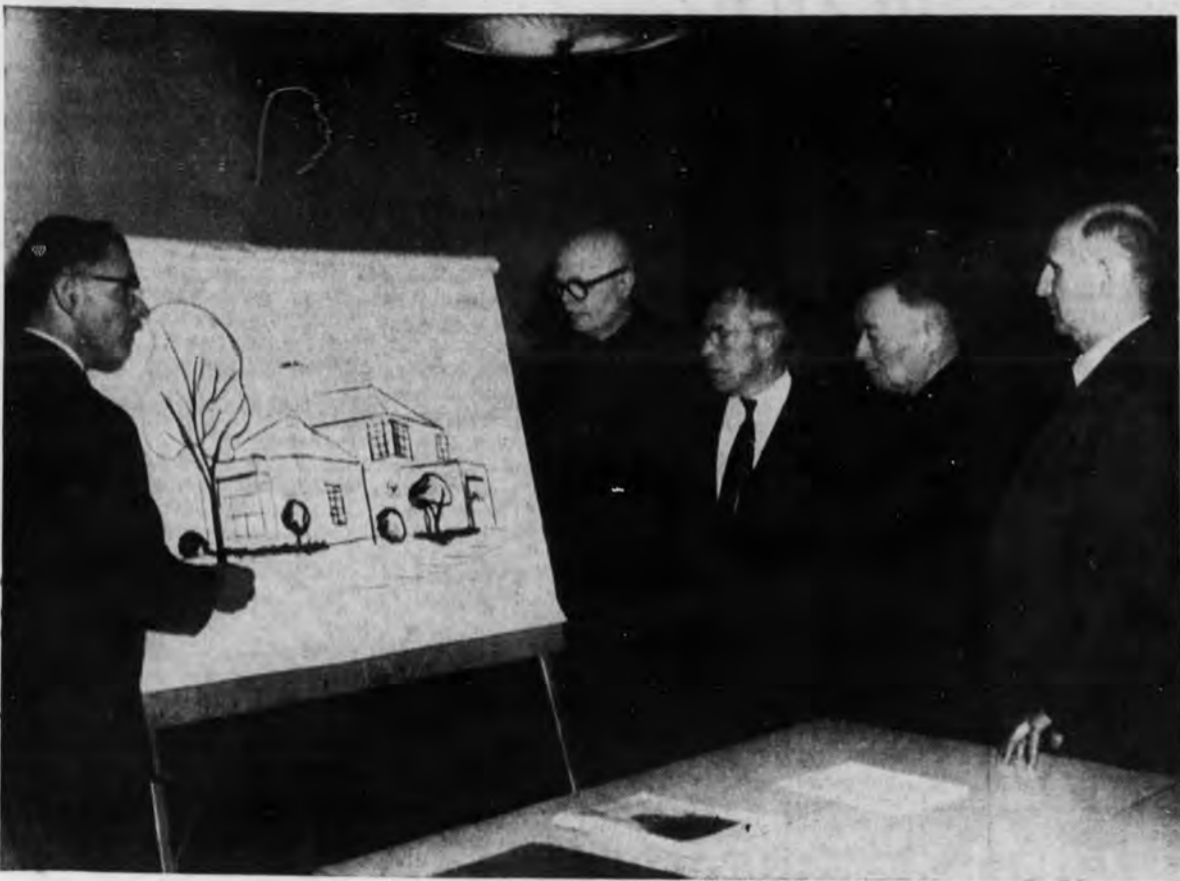

Alaskan Hunting, Fishing To Be Described Here

Cecil Rhode, veteran wildlife photographer, is shown shooting some color scenes in Alaska for two new all-color films that will be shown at the Gravel High School Auditorium in Marquette on Saturday, March 23, at 8 p.m. under the auspices of the Marquette Rod and Gun Club. Films are "Alaskan Angling" and "Alaskan Game Trails." Tickets are available from members of the club or at Richards Sports Shop in Marquette.

Employees of the L. L. White-

Improve Home Appearances, Up Chance To Lure Industry, Nurserymen Say At Meeting

Upper Peninsula nurserymen are out to improve appearances of homes in their communities. The service, they say, will boost the property value for homeowners and will enhance a community's chance for attracting industry.

The nurserymen, meeting in Marquette over the weekend, asked the Michigan State University landscape specialist, Joseph Cox of East Lansing to give them some pointers on how they can sell more of their services and products.

Cox, addressing the meeting of the Upper Peninsula Nursery Operators Association, held in the Hotel Northland Saturday, told the nurserymen that, if they offer their services to their communities, the product sales will take care of themselves.

The MSU specialist urged the nurserymen to make use of their cameras — "Take pictures," he said, "to show homeowners what their homes look like now and then point out the potential appearance after proper landscaping."

He suggested color slides could be projected onto "paper" screens where nurserymen could effectively illustrate landscaped potentials.

Total Needs Cited

"Remember," Cox said, "you're illustrating the mature appearance of plants, and let's think in terms of the total landscaping needs, even if plants are to be purchased one at a time."

Cox also suggested community tours, newspaper columns and follow-up pruning advice as methods for promoting good landscaping.

He also cautioned against the temptation to display only cheap plants and trees, simply because many customers are bargain seekers, and urged the operators to display some more expensive shrubs and explain why they may represent a better value.

"Biggest Single Factor"

Victor Beresford, East Lansing, executive secretary of the Michigan Association of Nurserymen, told the U. P. operators he knew of no one thing that increased the value of a home more than proper landscaping.

"Too many times, the nurseryman isn't called in until after some choice natural trees, shrubs or a terrain feature has been destroyed by a bulldozer," said Beresford.

Beresford and Cox urged the nurserymen to work closer with organizations such as the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Problems and the Upper Michigan Tourist Association to better coordinate home and community improvement projects with economic development efforts.

Nurserymen attending the meeting included Edwin Coryell of Munising, Tom Bluem of Iron Mountain, John Liberty of Marquette, Leonard Walters of Manistique, Richard Lucke of Daggett, Herman Berg of Iron Mountain and Al Wetli of Green Bay, Wis.

Re-elected officers of the U. P. Nursery and Landscape Association were Coryell as president, Walters as vice president and Berg as secretary-treasurer.

U. S. Income Tax Return Questions

Non-Taxable Income

Certain types of income which you received are specifically excluded from tax by law.

If the item is specifically excluded, it need not be shown on the return and then the amount excludable is subtracted.

Social Security Not Taxable

Social security payments are not taxable. If a person has only that type of income, he need not file a tax return. The same applies to government payments and benefits to veterans and their families. This does not apply to non-disability retirement pay.

Unemployment compensation payments are not taxable, but the "sub-pay" received is taxable income. Your employer or union can tell you how much was received if you didn't keep a record.

Whether you use the Form 1040, or the card Form 1040-A, be sure to read the instructions. The instructions give more details regarding taxable and non-taxable income as well as where it should appear on the returns.

If you still have a problem, telephone the Marquette Internal Revenue Service office for the answer.

50 Births, 14 Deaths Listed Here

Fifty births and 14 deaths were recorded in Marquette last month, as statistics for both dropped, the city health office reports.

The 50 births increased the year's total to 96. Twenty-three of the babies were boys and 27 girls. Twenty were born to non-resident parents and the other 30 to resident fathers and mothers.

In February a year ago 54 births were recorded here, and the year's two-month total was 112. Two years ago 66 babies were born in the city in February.

Deaths Way Down

Deaths, too, are way down for Marquette, with the 14 recorded last month increasing the year's total to 31, compared to 43 a year ago.

There were six females and eight males who died here last month. Ten were residents and four non-residents.

Causes of death were: heart disease, eight, and kidney, pneumonia and uremia, two each.

For 19 years, Wadi Halfa, Sudan, had no rainfall.

Bishops' Relief Fund Drive Scheduled For Next Sunday

Next Sunday the annual Bishops Relief fund drive will be conducted in the Catholic Diocese of Marquette.

The Most Rev. Thomas L. Noa, bishop of the diocese, urged faithful of the Upper Peninsula, through letters to pastors, read in all Catholic churches yesterday, to be "as generous as possible" in the drive, which will aid the needy overseas and in Latin American countries.

All funds collected are used by Catholic Relief Services, National Catholic Welfare Council, for assistance to the needy in foreign countries. They are helped without regard to race, color or creed, noted the Rt. Rev. Msgr. David P. Spelgatti, pastor of St. John's Church, Ishpeming, and chairman of the drive in the diocese.

Last year 28 million persons in 67 countries were given assistance as a result of the annual Bishops Relief solicitation, Msgr. Spelgatti added.

Upper Michigan Catholics, assisted by contributions from non-Catholics, have donated over $300,000 in past campaigns, he said. The 1962 collection was slightly over $300,000.

Contributions may be made through the parish office or may be sent to the Bishops Relief Fund, Box 538, Marquette.

17th Annual Drive

Bishop Noa noted that Pope John XXIII has expressed confidence in the generosity of U. S. Catholics, hoping they will again urge support of the relief program that "will diminish the hardships and privations which are still the lot of so many members of the human family."

This is the 17th annual drive conducted in the Marquette Diocese.

Special collections for this cause will be taken up in all Catholic churches in the U. P. next Sunday.

Two more Mining Journal newspaperboys who have qualified for the educational trip to Washington, D. C., in the newspaper's economy reading plan contest are David Kemp (left) and Gary Rich, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kemp, 212 W. Hewitt Ave., has Route 26 (the east side of N. Front St., from W. Bluff St. to Hewitt Ave. and seven blocks of Hewitt from Pine to N. Seventh St.) He has been on the route one year and this will be his first trip. Rich, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Melville Rich, 803 W. Kaye Ave., has Route 9 (N. Third St. from W. Washington to W. Park Sts., along with portions of Prospect, Crescent and Park Sts.). He has been on the route two years and this will be his first trip. Both Rich and Kemp are freshmen at Graverath High School.—(Mining Journal photo).

Journal Subscription Contest Extended One Week; Trip To Capital Top Prize In Event

An extension of one week in the economy reading plan contest for Mining Journal newspaperboys was announced today.

In the contest, which began a month ago, newspaperboys earned points for selling magazine and/or newspaper subscriptions. The combination orders were offered at a special rate to subscribers and the magazines are chosen from a list of 40 national magazines.

However, in the week of the extended campaign, points will be given only for magazine orders sold, Fred E. Harkin, circulation manager of The Mining Journal, said.

First Extension Given

This is the first year that the contest has ever been extended in the selling campaign.

"However, this is an unusual trip," Harkin said, "and it is so educational that we'd like to give as many newspaperboys as possible the opportunity to attend. Many of them are almost qualified to attend, and we feel that in the extra week those who are on the borderline will be able to qualify for the trip."

Since the economy reading plan contests were started nine years ago, newspaperboys have gone on educational trips to Milwaukee, Chicago, Wisconsin Dells and Lansing-Windsor-Detroit. This is the first year that the trip has been planned for as long as four days.

High Level Of Income Told By Soo Line

Operations of the Soo Line Railroad Co. in 1962 produced the highest level of net income for the company or its predecessors since 1956, the 1962 annual report to shareholders indicates.

The report outlines the activities of the new Soo's second year, in which the company had net income of $3,100,063 on total revenues of $80,384,470. The new Soo was formed by merger of three railroads on Jan. 1, 1961. In 1961, the unified company had net income of $663,651 on total revenues of $74,992,428.

Earnings were more than sufficient in 1962 to cover all fixed and contingent charges and sinking funds, to cover in addition an accumulation of contingent mortgage bond interest from pre-merger years, and to pay a dividend of 60 cents per share, the New Soo's first. The dividend was declared by the board of directors on Feb. 13, 1963.

Two Factors Cited

Two factors combined to make the high level of earnings possible, the report explains: (1) greater total revenues than the company has had in many years; and (2) the ability to carry more of each dollar of gross revenue through to net as the result of economies instituted during the year and in previous years.

Revenues were favorably affected by increases in the amounts derived from transporting grain, products of mines and forests, and manufactured and miscellaneous freight, the report says. Moreover, the ratio of operating expenses to operating revenues declined to 78.32 per cent for 1962 from 82.30 per cent for 1961. In 1962, the Soo's operating ratio was lower than the average for Class I railroads in the U. S. (78.6 per cent).

On the Soo's prospects for 1963, the report says: "The Soo's record in 1961 demonstrated that the company has a profit-making potential in relatively lean times. The record for 1962 indicates that as revenue increases, a greater share of each added dollar of gross can be carried down to net.

"If conditions are satisfactory in 1963 in both the railroad industry and in the industry and agriculture served by the Soo, the company's record should reflect these facts plus the increased sales effectiveness and even greater efficiency which together will be the Soo's prime corporate objective for the year."

Physical Improvements

The report reviews the year's physical improvements: two new high-horsepower locomotives and 167 freight cars, expansion of train radio installations and the first two of a programmed series of scanners to inspect the wheel bearings of moving trains, and the acquisition of an IBM Model 1401 computer to replace a smaller computer and several pieces of conventional data-processing equipment.

In addition, the Soo improved its management methods in 1962 through the inauguration of an industrial engineering department, modified shop practices at its major mechanical facilities in Minneapolis, and a new system of management accounting and budget control.

The Soo Line was formed Jan. 1, 1961, through merger of the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie; the Wisconsin Central; and the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Railroad Cos.

Terms Of Present, Proposed State Constitutions Compared

LANSING (AP)—For the first time in more than half a century, Michigan voters will make a decision April 1 that could affect the course of state government for the next 50 years or longer.

Two weeks from today, the voters will decide whether to adopt a revised state constitution or keep the present 1908 document and its some 70 amendments.

But despite the obvious importance of the issue, surveys and man-on-the-street interviews indicate many voters are unaware of what the new constitution does. Most voters, in fact, are not informed on what is in the present, 55-year-old document—the state's organic law.

To aid the voter in making up his mind, The Associated Press has prepared a comparative analysis of the key differences between the two constitutions:

Legislative Makeup
Proposed—38 member Senate; 110-member House; four-year terms for senators and two years for representatives.
Present—34 senators; 110 representatives; all elected for two years.

Legislative Apportionment (Senate)
Proposed—Wayne, Genesee, Macomb and Oakland Counties be given new senator immediately; after 1970 and subsequent federal censuses eight-member board (four Republicans and four Democrats) would apportion Senate seats on a formula giving 80 per cent weight to population and 20 per cent weight to area.
Present—Senate districts are allocated by specifically-named counties or groups of counties, and thus are inflexible unless changed by constitutional amendment.

Legislative Apportionment (House)
Proposed—Any county or group of counties having 7-10ths of 1 per cent of the state's population would be entitled to one representative; with the remainder of House membership allocated to larger counties on a ratio paring as nearly as possible their respective populations.
Present—Any county or group of

Three Autos Damaged In Area Mishaps

stitutions of higher education granting degrees, is vested in Board of Education.
Present—State Board of Education has general supervision of the state normal college and state normal schools, with duties of board prescribed by the legislature.

Finance and Taxation
Proposed—Income tax graduated as to rate or base prohibited by state or any of its subdivisions.
Present—No specific prohibition.

Proposed—Legislature shall not impose sales tax on retailers at rate of more than four per cent of gross taxable sales.
Present—At no time shall the legislature levy a sales tax of more than four per cent.

Spending
Proposed—Governor, with approval of appropriating committees of House and Senate, shall reduce expenditures authorized by appropriations whenever it appears that actual revenue will not meet estimates. Governor may not reduce expenditures of legislative or judicial branches or touch revenues constitutionally dedicated.
Present—No comparable section.

St. Pat's Day On TV ... Color It Green

ter of regret that my television set proved inadequate for Miss Sutherland's high notes.

Bright Green
The color of television over the weekend was, naturally, a bright shade of green. Even NBC's Sunday afternoon golf show was filmed on a sea-and-wind-swept links of auld sod. Seen in color, this was perhaps the most handsome program of the weekend to a winter-weary viewer.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Ed Sullivan had the McGuire sisters singing "Danny Boy," Sunday night, but the trio of the evening was the unlikely combination of opera's Joan Sutherland, blues singer Dinah Shore and jazz vocalist Ella Fitzgerald doing "Three Little Maids From School" and "Lover Come Back to Me."
Dinah's NBC tour was tuneful and stimulating and in spite of the differences in voice, style and approach to music, the three women were great together. It is a mat-

Three Autos Damaged In Area Mishaps

Three automobiles were damaged, but no one was injured, in a pair of area traffic mishaps reported this morning by state police from the Marquette post.

Two other collisions were investigated by state police during the weekend (see story on Page 9). Reports on this area's wrecks follow:

At 12:15 yesterday morning a car being driven west on Huron St. by Lloyd W. Larson, 47, of 509 Spring St., Marquette, and an automobile travelling south on Erie St. and operated by Winifred Norr, 48, Norwood St., Marquette, collided when neither saw the other until they entered the intersection and both were unable to stop due to icy conditions. The mishap occurred in Marquette Township. The right side and front of Larson's 1957 sedan and the left front and side of the Norr car, a 1962 foreign model, were damaged. Both were able to be driven from the scene under their own power.

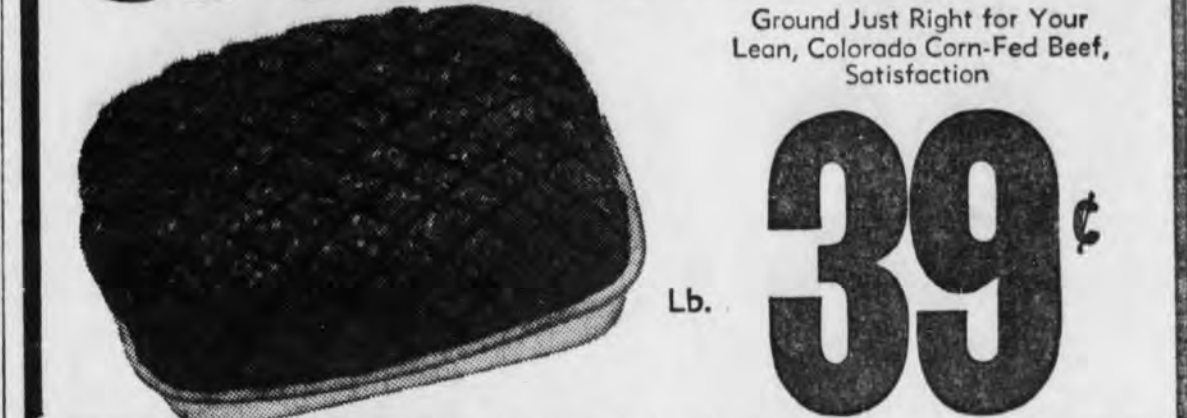

An automobile being driven northeast on County Road 531 by Frances Crozier, 35, K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, went out of control when it struck an icy patch on the highway, about eight-tenths of a mile south of U. S. 41, in Choccolay Township, at 2:35 yesterday afternoon.

Her car began to skid and struck the right shoulder, rolling over.

The left side of the Crozier car, a 1960 station wagon, was extensively damaged and the vehicle had to be removed from the scene by a wrecker.

Wall Street's Black Monday Story Given

NEW YORK (AP)—The story behind "the most dramatic stock market event in more than three decades" was told today by the New York Stock Exchange.

It reported what investors did during the May 28, 1962 market crash and the May 29-31 recovery.

On "Black Monday," May 28, the market was rocked by its worst loss since 1929. About midday Tuesday it made an abrupt about face and scored a partial recovery. On Thursday, after a Memorial Day holiday respite, it more than recaptured Monday's loss.

35 Million Shares
During this period 35 million shares changed hands in 673,000 individual transactions, swamping the exchange's reporting facilities.

The exchange surveyed a portion of these transactions to find out who was buying and selling, said Keith Funston, exchange president.

Here is what the survey showed:
—The public, individuals, sold heavily when the market was declining and bought heavily when it was rising.

Financial institutions, commercial banks and non-member broker-dealers ducked market trends throughout the three days, buying when individual investors were selling, and vice versa.

—Individual exchange members and member organizations, in general, were net buyers when the market was declining and net sellers as the market rose.

Sellers, Buyers
The survey also showed that over the three days individuals in the middle and upper income groups were net sellers. Those in the under-$10,000 income category were substantial net buyers, especially on May 31. Investors with incomes under $5,000 were buyers, even on May 28, when all others sold on balance.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Tuch announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Alice, to James Valentine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Valentine of Escanaba. The wedding is set for July 27.

When milk is used in yeast products, it enriches the color of the crust, adds moisture and richness and, of course, food value.

Know the difference between what you desire and what's desirable when you are making a decision about your home.

This is the suggestion of Aldred Nichols, a former Washington State University home economist now on the research staff of Michigan State University.

"Desires are fleeting," he explains. "The desirable is lasting. No expert can help in selecting between the two, nor is there any simple formula which can be applied. The most difficult part of bringing about desirable changes in family housing is up to the family itself."

Suggests Three D's

Miss Nichols tells families to follow the "three D's of management" before they even call in someone to advise them about housing changes. The "D's" stand for "discuss, deliberate and decide."

"Discuss the desires and interests of family members," she says, "and the availability of means to meet these desires."

"Deliberate on the direction that makes a real contribution to family life ought to take. Separate

Chard-Crowell

ISHPEMING — Stewart Memorial Baptist Church in South Bend, Ind., was the scene of the seven o'clock ceremony Saturday evening at which Sandra Lavinia Chard became the bride of Robert David Crowell, South Bend.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Chard of Ishpeming and the groom is the son of Mrs. Lewis Crowell, South Bend, and the late Mr. Crowell.

The Rev. Robert Edwards of Stewart Memorial officiated at the candlelight ceremony, and organist for the service was Mrs. Mary Snodgrass. The bride's uncle, Keith Smeltzer of South Bend, gave her in marriage.

Gown of Lace

The bride's wedding gown was fashioned of hand-clipped Chantilly lace over taffeta, styled with a basque bodice, featuring long sleeves pointed at the wrists and a Sabrina neckline embroidered with sequins and seed pearls, and floor length bouffant skirt with scalloped hemline and pleated tulle ruffle giving a back bustle effect. A Juliet cap of lace and satin set with tiny seed pearls and the bouffant veil of illusion completed her ensemble and she carried a white Bible with a single orchid.

Miss Breta Nelson of South Bend, the bride's only attendant, wore a light blue peau de soie sheath styled with scoop neckline, elbow-length sleeves and matching overskirt. Her headpiece and veil were of matching blue and her colonial bouquet was of white carnations touched with blue.

Lewey Crowell of Kokomo, Ind., was his brother's best man and ushers for the wedding were Thomas Patrick and Richard Coffman, both of South Bend.

Mrs. Chard attended her daughter's wedding wearing a sheath in light and dark shades of beige with matching jacket and white accessories, and Mrs. Crowell wore a pink lace jacket dress trimmed with beads and pearls with beige accessories. Both had corsages of white carnations.

Reception Later

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church parlors and the couple left later on a wedding trip to Chicago. They will reside at 527 W. Sixth St. in Mashawaka, Ind.

The bride is a 1961 graduate of Ishpeming High School and the groom attended Central High School in South Bend before entering the U. S. Army in which he served for three years as a paratrooper.

Retired 'Prof' Speaking To Clubwomen

Prof. Gunther C. Meyland, for more than 30 years on the English department faculty at Northern Michigan University who is now retired, will be the speaker at Wednesday afternoon's meeting of the Marquette Woman's Club.

Prof. Meyland will speak on the subject "Modern Women Historical Novelists" at the meeting, which will follow a regular business session scheduled for 2:30 in the Federated Women's Clubhouse.

The works of about 20 British and American women novelists will be included in the presentation, among them "The Corner of the Moon," a novel by Shirley Barker about Napoleonic times, "The King's Bed," a sympathetic view of Richard III by Margaret Barnes, and "And Walk In Love," a novel dealing with early Christian times revolving about St. Paul.

Prof. Meyland, an authority on English literature and probably the most-widely read of any resident of the Marquette area, annually provides the Marquette Woman's Club with one of its most popular programs of the year.

Hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. John Osterberg, Mrs. Robert Lundquist, Mrs. S. B. Miller, Mrs. Otto Ruecker and Mrs. Clyde Sorenson.

Members bringing guests are asked to call Mrs. Osterberg at Canal 6-8888.

Lines from Lou's by... maggie

Lion or lamb, March came in and so far it has brought us definite signs of spring. I haven't seen tulips yet, but the Crocus is blooming on the sunny side of our house. Spring means many things to many people and to us it brings an avalanche of style shows for which we are most grateful. We just cooperated with Girl Scout Week at K. I. Sawyer. It was difficult to tell the models from the guests. We are selling and showing every day and invite you to get ready for the big parade.

We have not one, but two invitations to extend to you this week. We are having a continuous style show, there will be informal modeling for both events. To end the suspense, we'll be showing our Tall Girl lines from Wednesday through Saturday and our annual Johnny Junior trunk showing will take place Friday and Saturday; the latter will, as usual, be complete with refreshments and prizes. So don't miss all this — mark it down and make a date to be here.

Right now we would like to talk about spring and it's beginning on Thursday... It is that time of the year when you want something new to give you a real lift, we have it and hope to be seeing you at Lou's in the center of Marquette—(Adv.)

LOOK HOW THE THRIFT HABIT HAS SPREAD!

Though it hasn't spread that far, look away from the illustration and at the record. Americans today own some seventy billion dollars in commercial bank individual savings. That sum in dollar bills laid end to end would stretch approximately thirty times the distance from Earth to the moon!

More important, these banked savings dollars reduce distances—between each saver and his heart's desire.

Few factors count more than savings in allowing Americans to enjoy the world's highest living standard. And no other institutions hold more savings dollars for more people than banks.

There are three good reasons for all this—springing from the passage of the National Currency Act in 1963. First, by standardizing the Nation's currency, the Act helped encourage its economy, and so make substantial savings possible. Second, the Act established Federally-chartered banks, to serve beside existing state-chartered institutions; so today there are many thousands of local commercial banks where Americans can save. Third, the healthy competition of this "dual banking system" has led to the development of new savings services—"automatic savings," for example—and to the concept of the "full-scale service bank": When you save at a commercial bank, you can do all your banking under the same roof.

In 1963, some 60 million people—commercial bank savers all—agree that "the bank is the saver's best friend!"

Council Backs Specific Mine Tax Legislation

NEGAUNEE — Members of the Negaunee City Council, at their March meeting, unanimously approved proposed legislation calling for a specific tax in an effort to keep underground iron mines operating.

Legislative proposals have been introduced in the House and Senate of the Michigan Legislature by Rep. Dominie Jacobetti and Sen. Phil Rahol, of Iron Mountain providing for a specific — rather than an ad valorem — method of taxation.

Ernest Romm, Marquette Range representative for the United Steelworkers Union, appeared at the session at the invitation of the council and manager to discuss problems in the underground mining industry leading up to the proposed legislation.

Following his explanation, the council approved a motion instructing City Manager Leonard Harris to write Rep. Jacobetti and Sen. Rahol, advising them that the Negaunee governing body was on record in support of their proposals.

Concerning other items on the agenda, the council took the following action:

Girl's Score Tops In Eben Competition

ROCHESTER, Mich. — Dr. James H. McKay of Oakland University has announced that Gretta Hautamaki was the top scorer for Eben High School in the sixth annual Michigan mathematical prize competition.

Dr. McKay, chairman of the Michigan Section of the Mathematical Association of America which conducts the competition, said: "These top scorers represent the best young mathematicians in the state. More than 12,000 students from 450 high schools participated."

The contest seeks to stimulate interest in mathematics and call attention to some of the state's good mathematics students. More mathematicians are desperately needed, Dr. McKay said, by government, by industry and by the colleges, because mathematics is the key science of this age.

Cash scholarship awards were presented to the top 23 winners in the competition. Funds for them were provided by state industries which see this competition as a way of stimulating interest in mathematical careers.

MEA Journal Cover Work Of Koskinen

PALMER — Art work by Arthur Koskinen, former Palmer resident and now head of the art department at Southwestern High School in Flint, appeared on the cover of the February issue of the Michigan Education Association Journal.

Abstract candles representing the light of education are shown penetrating a black background which symbolizes ignorance formed the design of the cover. It is the second of his designs selected for the MEA Journal cover. The first appeared two years ago.

Koskinen is the son of Otto Koskinen and is a graduate of Northern Michigan University, Marquette, and the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. He is married to the former Ruth Tompkins, daughter of Mrs. F. E. Tompkins of Negaunee.

His February cover, according to Mark M. Garbarini, managing editor of the MEA magazine, is "one of the three best that have appeared in the last two years." Art teachers throughout the state submit their work as cover possibilities.
