

Dear Abby....

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We are unable to convince our teen-aged daughter that it is bad taste to show affection in public. I'm talking about the sickening behavior one sees today between young people going steady. She thinks it's all right to hang on to a boy and put her arm around his waist while he does the same when they walk down the street. Also, because "everyone else does it" she sees nothing wrong with sitting practically on his lap while he drives the car. If we tell her it looks bad, she says we are living in the dark ages. She'll take your word for it, Abby, so please enlighten her, along with a few million others.

DEAR MINNIE-APPOLIS: Write to your relative and tell him you appreciate his thoughtfulness—but you and your family are not interested in the paper so he shouldn't waste the time and money to send it.

DEAR ABBY: The item in your column about how to tell an "eight-year-old blabbermouth" that he was going to have a little brother or sister brought back memories. When our little boy was eight, I was expecting a baby, and it was quite apparent. So I told him a new arrival was on the way. He said, "Let ME tell Daddy about it when he comes home from work." He was so disappointed when I told him that Daddy al-

DEAR EXASPERATED: This is for all the vulnerable parties: Please, young lovers, wherever you are, believe me, it IS in the poorest taste to act lovey-dovey in public. A boy who respects a girl will not initiate it, and a girl who respects herself will not encourage it. So hands off. And I mean 100 per cent off.

DEAR ABBY: Last fall a distant relative of ours started sending us a religious paper. Our family is not of that religion and we do not enjoy reading it. I know this relative meant well, but we are not interested in being "converted" and this paper seems to have that as its purpose. Should we let this relative continue sending it? The paper must cost something and I'm sure the postage does. We just throw it away without looking at it. Or should we write and tell him to quit sending it?

Don't Snooze Where They Make The Booze

NANCY, France (AP)—Don't snooze where they make the booze—that's the moral of this story. A winery apprentice, Jean Marchal, 16, climbed into an empty wine vat Monday for a nap and passed out from the fumes. Jean was found an hour later by a fellow worker, revived and taken to a hospital with a king-size hangover.

Chartres Order May Come To Marquette, Bishop Reveals

Prospects are "excellent" for the establishment of a motherhouse of the Sisters of St. Paul of Chartres at Holy Family Orphan Home in Marquette.

So reveals the Most Rev. Thomas L. Noa, D.D., bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Marquette. Bishop Noa's announcement is published in this week's issue of the "Baraga Bulletin," a supplement appearing regularly in the Northern Michigan Edition of Our Sunday Visitor.

International Congregation

In an interview with the Rev. Charles J. Carmody, superintendent of Bishop Baraga Central High School and secretary of the Bishop Baraga Association and editor of the "Baraga Bulletin," Bishop Noa said that during his stay in Rome for the Ecumenical Council called by Pope John XXIII he was able to confer with the Mother General of the Sisters of St. Paul of Chartres, whose headquarters are in Paris.

She "expressed a very profound interest in coming to the diocese to establish a permanent foundation and motherhouse among us," the bishop reported.

The Sisters of St. Paul of Chartres are an international congregation founded in France in the late 1600s. In addition to their convents in France, they established numerous missions in the old French colonial lands and are still there "in flourishing condition," Bishop Noa noted.

The order is also active in Canada, the Philippines and elsewhere in Europe.

Should present plans materialize, girls of the Catholic Diocese of Marquette who choose to join the order will be trained for service at the motherhouse here, Bishop Noa observed.

Chaplain Cites Religious Need For Prison

The Rev. Eugene W. Levine, Protestant chaplain of Marquette State Prison, speaking of education and rehabilitation of inmates, stressed that "without God in the heart of the program, you've produced only an educated fool."

Rev. Mr. Levine spoke this week at the Marquette Lions dinner meeting, held in the Northern Michigan University Student Center.

In a candid, illustrated talk, he stressed the need for an outside chapel, to serve trustees. Ground is to be broken for a chapel inside the walls in April.

He noted that much public thinking on penal procedures and problems is "50 to 60 years behind the times."

Few Finish School
Rev. Levine estimated that nearly 90 per cent of the inmates did not complete high school. He also said that about 70 per cent of the inmates come from broken homes. Asked about the small proportion of Jews among the prison population, he pointed out that Jewish families are generally strong units. The "outside" chapel is to be built by prison labor. Many of the inmates have already expressed interest in working on the project. Donations are being sought for materials.

International Unit To Hear Harden Talk

Dr. Edgar L. Harden, president of Northern Michigan University, will speak at the international conference on "Educational Investment in the Pacific Community," to be held March 28-30 at Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif.

Dr. Harden will be a discussion leader at the conference sponsored by the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education and the Comparative Education Society.

Hosting the conference will be Stanford University's School of Education and the Stanford Research Institute.

Argus Gets $569,000 Periscope Contract

Peace Corps Tests Given In City Today; More Set Later

Placement tests for Peace Corps volunteers were being administered in Marquette and in 822 other cities across the nation today.

Tests were being administered at the Marquette Post Office Building. Other testing centers in the Upper Peninsula are located in Calumet, Escanaba, Iron Mountain, Ironwood and Sault Ste. Marie.

Additional tests will be given on Saturday, April 27, and on Saturday, June 8, in Marquette. Tests begin promptly at 8:30 in the morning.

More than 5,000 successful applicants are now at work in 45 countries in Asia, Africa and Latin America or completing training for their overseas assignments.

The number of volunteers has increased 73 per cent (from 2,316 to 5,009) since last June 30. Peace Corps officials say they expect a similar increase this year.

Many Opportunities Offered
Peace Corps opportunities cover hundreds of different kinds of jobs in education, agriculture, health, construction and community development.

Interested persons who have not yet filled out a Peace Corps questionnaire may take the test on a space-available basis, then complete the questionnaire after the test.

Questionnaires are available at post offices, and should be completed and sent to the Peace Corps before the test if possible.

All applicants must be U.S. citizens who are at least 18 years old. There is no upper age limit. Mar-

Non-Striking Paper Union Okays Pact

NEW YORK (AP)—The non-striking paper handlers union agreed today to a new two-year contract with publishers of the city's eight closed newspapers.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner announced the settlement after both sides conducted 17 hours of talks that lasted into the 108th day of the newspaper shutdown.

The agreement brought to six the number of unions that have reached firm or tentative settlement in the complicated dispute.

Still Striking
Of those six, two are still striking but their negotiators have approved proposed contracts and have urged acceptance by the membership in ratification votes to be held Sunday.

The printers and mailers unions, both affiliates of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union, the printers rejected the same terms in a ratification vote last Sunday.

Wagner said the paper handlers did not want details of their proposed settlement disclosed until it is presented to the membership at a ratification meeting March 31.

Police Told To Look For 6-Foot Rabbits

DOOTHAN, Ala. (AP)—Dothan police were taken aback when the man asked them to keep an eye for two rabbits more than 6 feet tall. W. D. Williams explained Tuesday that they were stuffed rabbits and someone had stolen them.

This was close to the two-year, $10 packages accepted earlier by seven other newspaper unions there.

Two 'NCOs' Retire; One Given Medal

CMSgt. Ernest H. Fry and SM Sgt. William C. Lessig retired from the Air Force at special ceremonies held recently at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base.

Both men were in the 410th Bombardment Wing (SAC). Fry was a weapons maintenance superintendent in the 69th Munitions Maintenance Squadron, and Lessig was a flight chief in the 410th Organizational Maintenance Squadron. Fry was also awarded the Air Force Commendation Medal at his retirement ceremony. He was cited for "demonstrating exceptional managerial ability, leadership, and technical skill during the activation of the munitions squadron" here.

A veteran of 23 years in the military, Fry provided procedures for his squadron in establishing a highly technical munitions standardization program.

Lessig, who ended over 20 years in the service, was responsible for the refueling and defueling of KC-135 "Stratotankers" assigned to the wing. He was also in charge of towing supervision for the wing's tanker aircraft.

Big Drifts Formed On Lake Shore Blvd.

Mammoth drifts were formed during the blizzard which raked the area earlier in the week, as evidenced by this photo on Lake Shore Blvd. A dog eyes a cameraman curiously from the front of a house almost completely covered with snow, while another dog is perched atop a drift which reaches the top of the house. Lake Shore Blvd. was blocked temporarily during the blizzard. — (Mining Journal photo.)

One Injured, Two Ticketed In Traffic Mishaps In City; Hit-Run Crash Being Probed

One person was injured, two motorists were issued tickets and seven vehicles were involved in four traffic collisions in Marquette yesterday, one of which was still under investigation today.

1. The injury occurred in a crackup at 3:34 yesterday afternoon on W. College Ave. and just west of Hebard Ct., and involved automobiles operated by Raymond VanLinden, 2132 Summit St., and Sylvia M. LaJeunesse, Star Route 550, Marquette.

Following Too Closely
City police said VanLinden had driven east on College Ave. and stopped his taxicab on the right to discharge a passenger. Mrs. LaJeunesse, following him, was unable to stop and her car struck the cab from behind.

Bumper Ripped Off
City police said Roger H. Johnson, Box 514, Grove St., reported his car was parked in the last parking space at the top of the Third St. hill. When he returned at 4 p.m. he noticed an unknown car apparently had hooked the front bumper of his vehicle and pulled it off.

Blinded By Headlights
Mrs. Yates told city police she was unable to judge the distance of the parked car because she was temporarily blinded by the headlights of an oncoming vehicle.

4. At 11:15 last night a car being driven north on N. Front St. by Mary H. Yates, 180 W. Hewitt Ave., struck a vehicle owned by Arthur E. Anderson, 422 Radisson Dr., which was parked just south of the Ohio St. intersection.

Constitution's Education Provisions Affect Everyone

By GENE SCHROEDER
LANSING (AP) — Michigan's educational system costs the taxpayers about half-a-billion dollars a year.

Some 40 per cent of all state revenue goes for education. Because of this, virtually every citizen in the state would be affected by the education provisions of the proposed new constitution.

Bentley, Hart Views
Are they good, bad or indifferent?

Republican Alvin Bentley, chairman of the Education Committee of the Constitutional Convention, says they provide the state with a unified and strengthened framework for education.

Democrat Adelaide Hart, vice-chairman of the committee, says opponents view many of the education features with grave concern.

Advancements Over 1908
Both agree some of the provisions in the revised constitution represent advancements over the present 1908 document.

These include expansion of the powers of the board of education into a body which will coordinate education from the kindergarten through the university. Michigan is one of the few states which has yet to set up such a policy-making body for the total educational picture.

Constitutional Status
Agreement also comes from both sides on the new provision granting constitutional status to all of the colleges and universities supported by the state.

But supporters and opponents come to a parting of the ways on the proposal to give the board of education the responsibility for appointing the superintendent of public instruction, who currently is elected by a vote of the people.

'Balanced' Viewpoint

Democrats generally contend the provision will demote the superintendent to a position of executive secretary to the board, while Republicans say the new structure would diffuse his one-man rule while retaining his responsibility in directing the state education system.

In an effort to present a "balanced" viewpoint of the differences between the old and the new constitutions, 31 educators cooperated in a joint analysis of the documents through an Inter-University Faculty Committee on Constitutional Revision.

'Position Papers'

The professors—from six Michigan colleges and universities—prepared a set of "position papers" on which there was general agreement among the participants on the conclusions reached, although not every participant subscribed to the individual interpretations.

Discussing the education article, the committee said selection of the superintendent by the board of education finds disagreement between some political scientists and educators.

Selection Of Superintendent
Many political scientists, the committee reported, believe the superintendent should be appointed by the Governor. It added:

"They agree that the schools are an ever-increasing part of the state government and should be integrated by giving the Governor the power to appoint the state superintendent."

But educators, the report continued, generally support his selection by the state board, arguing that schools should remain free of partisanship.

Quoted From Report
Discussing the board of education's responsibility for the general planning and coordinating of all public education, the committee paper said "the exact nature of this... function is unknown."

The report continued: "It is doubtful whether the board would assume powers under this provision which would lead it to come in serious conflict with the powers given the other boards provided for the institutions of higher education.

"The power to coordinate higher education has not been lodged in any constitutional or legal agency in the past."

Financial Leadership

The committee said the new board might exercise considerable financial leadership by giving advice to the legislature which conflicts with or supports the budgets provided by the institutions themselves.

"An energetic board could accomplish considerable coordination using this influence, provided it gains the confidence of the legislature," the committee declared.

Acceptable To All

In drawing up language for the education article, the Constitutional Convention included a new provision which was generally acceptable to all delegates, Republican and Democratic alike.

It forbids discrimination in public schools as to religion, creed, race, color or national origin.

Civil Rights Commission
But other provisions touching on civil rights were not all accepted with unanimous agreement.

Establishment of a civil rights commission, while hailed by some as a step forward, nevertheless was criticized because the proposed constitution fails to specify the jurisdiction of the commission regarding housing, employment and public accommodations.

Target Of Criticism

In discussing civil liberties and civil rights, the Inter-University Faculty Committee report pointed out much of the criticism also is directed at a provision which entitles a person aggrieved by the commission to begin the entire proceedings anew before the courts (trial de novo).

"This does make it possible for a hostile judiciary to prevent effective activity by the civil rights commission," the report said.

However, it added, this is purely speculative.

Two-Edged Sword
"It is unlikely that a court can treat the clear intent of the proposed constitution to secure equal treatment and opportunity for all as specious or meaningless," the committee declared.

"In addition, this right to a trial de novo applies not only to those commission orders against a person charged with discrimination but also against any refusal of the commission to issue complaints.

"Thus, it can be a two-edged sword."

4 Fined In Court Here

Four persons were ordered to pay a total of $35 in fines and costs when they appeared before Judge Edward H. Dembowski this week in municipal court.

Cecil L. Brown, 226 W. Ohio St., paid a fine of $6.30 and $3.70 costs for driving left of the centerline. State police ticketed him Saturday on U. S. 41 in Chocolay Township.

Fined For Speeding
For speeding, George L. Burhans, 113 Rock St., was fined $6.30 and ordered to pay costs of $3.70. He was ticketed by state police Saturday for driving 70 miles per hour in a 55-MPH zone on U. S. 41 in Marquette.

A fine of $6.30 and $3.70 costs were paid by Daniel P. Hillier, 324 Jackson St., for making an improper left turn at the intersection of Front and Washington Sts. He was ticketed by city police March 15.

Michael Malloy, 108 Hogan St., was fined $1.30 and ordered to pay costs of $3.70 for speeding. He was ticketed by state police Saturday for driving 75 miles per hour in a 65-MPH zone on U. S. 41 in Skandia Township.

U.S. Funds For Ishpeming's Sewage Disposal Plant OK'd

ISHPEMING — A million-dollar construction project, involving erection of a sewage disposal plant and installation of sanitary sewers in the city's south area, will be under way in Ishpeming this summer.

through the U.S. Public Health Service, had approved a grant of $345,000 for construction of the sewage treatment plant and an interceptor sewer.

Money for the south side sewer has been accumulated from municipal surpluses the last few years, while funds for the new sewage treatment plant were obtained through sale of a voter-approved bond issue of $325,000.

Hart Introduces Measure To Promote Ore Research

WASHINGTON — U. S. Senator Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.) announced today he has introduced a bill to authorize the Interior Department's Bureau of Mines to make grants for research and development programs.

Industry and the people who want to work in it is through research.

Let's go to Church Sunday

What Do I Wish?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values.

Pam can't keep a secret. She'll probably tell us what she wished before the cake is half eaten. Whatever her wish, it will be for a little girl type of thing.
