Ted Piwowar (left), Marquette, of the Soil Conservation Service and Cooperator Osmo Aalto, who has a farm near Rock, examine cedar tops that have been browsed clean by deer.

Wildlife Benefits From Woodland Management Practices Of Rock Men

Two neighbors on the south end of one of Marquette County's larger deer yards are doing a good job of woodland management and — at the same time — aiding wildlife.

They are Osmo Aalto and Reino Niemala, who live in Ewing Township about seven miles west of Rock. Aalto has 840 acres and Niemala 360 acres.

Practice Strip Cutting
Their main operation at present is selling balsam and spruce pulp and cedar for fences, posts, etc., along with native balsams for Christmas trees. They also are starting timber stand improvement in their hardwoods to have good quality timber for the future.

On poorly drained organic soils Aalto and Niemala harvest swamp conifers by clear-cutting in narrow (about 60 feet wide) strips. On imperfectly drained mineral soils larger, merchantable trees only are cut selectively.

Quick Work By Deer
This type of operation provides saleable wood and helps prevent windthrow damage to the remaining trees. At the same time, cedar tops are left on the ground to provide food for deer and snowshoe coming up in the strips also provide browse. The swamp area is hares. Reproduction and shrubs large enough to allow for continuous cutting cycles, thereby providing an annual income and continued browse for deer and rabbits.

"On one cut strip I had left about 600 cedar tops on the ground," Niemala says, "and during the very cold weather this winter it took the deer only two weeks to browse the tops clean." Until that time, Aalto and Niemala said, the deer were mostly in the highland and browsed heavily on hardwood tops that were left from their timber stand improvement operations.

Release Cutting
In some areas of the swamp where aspen, white birch and balsam of Gilead are competing with conifers, the aspen, birch and balsam are cut out in order to release the more desirable trees. Mostly the trees that are cut are sold for pulpwood. By selling to a few different companies that have the stand density and improved growth of preferred trees, and the hardwood tops left on the ground provided wildlife browse.

Soil District Cooperators
Both men have planted trees and plan to plant more in the future. In order to preserve some small areas that presently contain some good wildlife shrubs, such as hazel, red osier, dogwood and raspberries, Aalto and Niemala will discourage any tree removal in these places.

Both men became cooperators of the Marquette Soil Conservation District in October 1957 in order to receive assistance in making sound decisions in land use. Since then, with the assistance of Ted Piwowar, Marquette, of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service,

Quick Shots

Theodore M. Reuschel of downstate Holland, a student at the Michigan College of Mining and Technology in Houghton, is one of 15 college conservation students in the nation to receive a scholarship or fellowship from the National Wildlife Federation for the 1963-64 academic year. He has awarded $500 for studies in forestry.

A conservation department source incorrectly stated in an article on this page last week that the only areas in Marquette County open to beaver trapping this year are the Wildcat Canyon Creek, Voelker's Creek and the Dead River and tributaries, all in T49N, R's 29 and 30W. Actually, all of T49N, R's 29 and 30W are open to beaver trapping except the three waters named. In addition, all of T48N, R's 29 and 30W are open to trapping.

Bids from area contractors for further improvement work at Tahquamenon Falls State Park are now being accepted by the conservation department. The latest project calls for an electrical distribution system for the park campground. Upper Peninsula contractors can get bidding specifications by writing the Michigan Conservation Department, Lansing 26. Tahquamenon Falls is one of a number of Michigan state parks and recreation areas slated for development under a $5,000,000 bonding program.

Donald Zettle of Marquette, regional forester for the conservation department, will be seen on the "Fur, Fin and Feather" program sponsored by the department over WLUC-TV at 6 tonight. He will discuss forest plantings in the Upper Peninsula and income from the sale of timber. Next Saturday's guest on the program will be John Seppi, Chatham, trapper-instructor for the department, who will discuss the coming beaver season and present a demonstration on setting traps.

Oral examinations have been held for 32 conservation department employees who are seeking six regional posts as deputy directors or assistants under a new reorganization program. The candidates, picked from a field of 65 applicants on the basis of experience and promotional potential, were interviewed by a three-man board of conservation experts from out of the state. Two of those chosen will be assigned to the regional office in Marquette.

Ex-L'Anse Man's Firm Producing New Fishing Lure

Oscar E. (Buster) Cote, former L'Anse resident, is the head of Cote Industries of Lansing, which is manufacturing a new fishing lure.

Called the "Whirligig," the lure has a body of chrome-plated brass and a spindle and safety snap of stainless steel, making it rust-proof. It has a rolling, reversing action and can be used for all game fish, but was designed principally as a trout lure.

Cote formerly was engaged in the garage and appliance business in L'Anse and operated Buster's Sales and Service there.

they have developed complete soil and water conservation plans on their farms. The soils information and alternatives presented by Piwowar to Aalto and Niemala helped them make sound decisions on land use and the kinds of conservation practices to apply. Clayton Schooley, Ishpeming, district forester for the conservation department, also assisted them by marking trees in the hardwood stands in connection with their woodland thinning.

Perennial Wildlife Tragedy

It happens every winter. This time it was an adult doe that caught her foot in a cedar tree while reaching for elusive food. She was found on the north side of U.S. 2 about one-half mile west of the junction with M-135 near Gould City in Mackinac County by Conservation Officer Clyde Lambert of Newberry. Deer trapped in this manner face painful death unless they are mercifully killed by men or predators.

Big Pike Landed

Fifteen-year-old Kirby Garbett of Neegaunee had quite a day of fishing in the Big Bay area before the pike season closed on inland lakes. He landed three northerns and is shown holding the largest of them, which measured 39 inches in length and weighed 18 and three-quarters pounds. Kirby rounded out the day's catch with a couple of good-sized perch.

Meeting Held On Electronic Fishing Gear

Approximately 30 conservation department fisheries biologists attended a meeting in Marquette this week on the use of electro-fishing equipment for research and management purposes.

Alberton McLain, Marquette, of the U. S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries headed a panel on the subject, assisted by Ludwig Frankenberg, Black River Falls, Wis., area biologist for the Wisconsin department.

Operation in Wisconsin of a three-phase generator to power a boom shocker to collect fish along shoals at night was explained. Using this technique, Wisconsin biologists have been able to collect up to 2,500 fish in a single night. It would require two or three weeks to capture that may fish with a gill net. The shocker does not kill the fish.

Direct Current Shocker

Clinton Harris, Ann Arbor, retired as president of the Argus Camera Co., discussed a pulsed direct current shocker to attract fish. He is working with the Michigan department to develop this type of shocker.

Safety aspects of electro-fishing gear were emphasized at the meeting. All department personnel from throughout Michigan who will be using electro-fishing gear during the coming summer were present at the day-long meeting.

Late Storm May Not Add To Deer Toll

This week's severe snowstorm — the worst one this winter — is believed to have struck too late to cause much damage to the deer herd.

Dorlas J. Curry, Marquette, deputy regional director for the conservation department, said he thinks thawing will rapidly reduce the snow depth, providing another heavy storm doesn't follow. Meanwhile, new reports of starved deer came from the Baraga and Newberry districts of the department. However, the snow crust was helping deer to get out to additional food supplies, and in Menominee and Dickinson Counties the southern slopes were beginning to show bare ground.

MUCC Backs Great Lakes Fish License

Michigan United Conservation Clubs has thrown its weight behind a proposal to require licenses for anglers fishing in the Great Lakes.

As Senate Bill No. 1282. It was introduced by Sen. Frederic Hilbert (R-Wayland) and Sen. Thomas F. Schweigert (R-Petoskey) and has been referred to the committee on conservation.

License Inequities
"This bill would do much to end many inequities existing under the present fishing law," declared James L. Rouman, Lansing, MUCC executive director.

"Today a man fishing at the mouth of a stream needs a license, while a man fishing a short distance away on one of the Great Lakes does not have to buy a license," Rouman pointed out. "An unmarried woman has to buy a license to fish in Michigan waters, but a married woman fishes free."

Required In Other States
"All other states bordering on the Great Lakes except Wisconsin require a license," he noted. "The additional revenues it would provide to the Game and Fish Protection Fund would be invaluable in helping finance state fisheries, in furthering research in the battle to control lampreys and in improving fishing facilities."

Conservation department authorities estimate that the passage of the bill would result in the sale of 45,000 to 50,000 additional licenses annually.

The increased revenues are badly needed also in enforcement of the fishing laws, Rouman added, which is a growing problem as more and more people fish in these waters.

Passage of the new bill, he continued, would help in artificial propagation and planting programs, in controlling encroachment, in control of pollution and in eliminating questions of demarcation between inland and Great Lakes waters.

"Studies have revealed that the Great Lakes angler's catch per hour is twice the catch from inland waters," Rouman said, "yet the resident and non-resident anglers fishing in the Great Lakes contribute absolutely nothing toward the management of this important natural resource."

Lake Trout Still Hitting In L'Anse Area

Some lake trout were still being taken in the L'Anse area of Neegaunee Bay on artificial lures and cut bait, the conservation department reported.

Fishing pressure has been light, however, and a number of fishing shanties have been removed from the ice.

Fishing on Little Bay de Noc in Delta County has shown a marked increase in degree of success. Some walleyes are now being taken during the evening and morning hours.

Deer Population Explosion

Southern Michigan's deer herd is in the midst of a population explosion which has jumped its numbers to nearly 40,000 animals, with much of the increase occurring since 1950. Whitetails are found in all 24 counties south of Highway M-20 with highest populations located in Montcalm, Gratiot, Saginaw, Barry, Calhoun and Kalamazoo Counties. Primarily because of excellent food conditions, which have boosted production to a high level, Southern Michigan's deer population is increasing at an estimated rate of about 14 per cent each year. The region's deer herd, under present hunting regulations and range conditions, is expected to continue its rapid growth.

ANCHOR LINE TIPS
HERE ARE SOME INVALUABLE TIPS FROM MERCURY OUTBOARD MOTORS FOR ALL BOATERS:
IF YOU CAN'T MAKE SHORE BEFORE A SUDDEN SQUALL HITS, HEAD INTO THE WIND. IF YOU LOSE POWER, OR HEADWAY, TRY ANCHORING TO RIDE IT OUT. AN ANCHOR ROPE IS THEREFORE A NECESSARY ACCESSORY.

FIGURE ANCHOR ROPE'S LENGTH AS 5 TIMES THE DEPTH OF WATER USUALLY NAVIGATED. SO ANCHOR WON'T LIKELY DRAG.

TIE A 2ND WEIGHT ABOUT 15 FEET UP LINE FROM ANCHOR TO HELP IT DIG IN AND CUSHION SHOCK OF WAVES.

WRAP A TOWEL AROUND ROPE IN BOYS CHOCK TO PREVENT CHAFFING AND CUTTING.

ORIGIN OF NAME
The word "gopher" comes from the French, "gaufre" meaning "waffle" or "honeycomb," an allusion to the maze of tunnels the animal makes.

Carl Johnson Appointed To Commission

Carl Johnson, Cadillac Republican, is Gov. George Romney's choice to succeed August Scholle, Royal Oak, state AFL-CIO leader, on the Michigan Conservation Commission.

The appointment of a solid Republican to succeed a Democratic labor chief was sure to be confirmed by the State Senate.

Headed Bear Hunters

Johnson, 51, former president of the Michigan Bear Hunters Association, will succeed Scholle for the balance of a six-year term expiring April 1, 1967.

Terms of two other commission members expire next month. They are Clarence J. Messner, Ann Arbor, commission chairman, and Kenneth S. Lowe, Marquette.

Seney Refuge Public Works Jobs Continue

Brushing work along the 52-mile boundary of the Seney National Wildlife Refuge has been completed by the 34-man crew hired under the Accelerated Public Works Program.

Post-driving along the boundary is progressing at the rate of a mile a day.

Part of the crew has been busy burning brush on the new Walsh Farm Unit which is being developed for Canada goose use. Other men have been occupied with improvement brushing along the entrance road.

$250,000 Program

The L. L. Whitehead Co. of Sault Ste. Marie completed gravel hauling to a refuge stockpile. The gravel will be used on refuge roads and trails, including the new self-guided tour route which is scheduled to open in June.

The $250,000 Accelerated Public Works Program at Seney Refuge is scheduled to terminate on June 30, 1963.

In Defense Of Bird Watching

CLARENCE B. RANDALL'S newly published book, "Sixty-Five Plus," is a collection of essays meant for people facing "The Joy and Challenge of the Years of Retirement," which is its sub-title. At my age, I have no business reading subject matter like this, but I happen to be fascinated by everything that Mr. Randall writes, and the present volume is no exception. Mr. Randall is a former Ishpeming attorney who became president of Inland Steel Co. in Chicago and a special adviser to President Eisenhower on foreign economic policy. Married to a former Marquette woman, Mr. Randall still pays occasional visits to his camp on Lake Michigan for relaxation, although he probably has been almost as industrious in the years since his retirement as he was in the days when he ran Inland Steel. His last public appearance in this area was made a couple of years ago when he delivered a most thought-provoking address at Northern Michigan University.

THE chapter in "Sixty-Five Plus" that interested me most was "In Defense of Bird Watching," wherein Mr. Randall speaks eloquently on behalf of his long-time avocation. Here the author examines several forms of outdoor recreation followed by retired persons and then comes to the conclusion that bird watching is the ideal pastime for them. Of swimming, he says: "There is no denying the fact that water is much colder after 65, and here is one activity from which my retirement is complete and final. Never again shall I plunge off a dock into Lake Superior before breakfast." Of fishing: "The fishermen . . . not only go on doing what they did (before retirement), but do it more often, and with greater zest because of their increased leisure. Take my friend, Dr. Van Riper of Champion, Mich. After he was 80, he was named Doctor of the Year for Michigan. He should have been named Fisherman of the Year at the same time, for he was still wading the icy streams, up to his waist, the moment the season opened in the spring." Of hunting: "If only the hunters would stop laughing long enough to listen, they would find that those of us who pursue ornithology as amateurs have a recreation that can be every bit as tough as theirs, every bit as rewarding in the satisfactions, both intellectual and physical, which it brings to the individual. As in shooting, a high degree of competence is required, one that can be developed in no other way than by years of study, and broad experience in the field. As to the exercise, we yield not an inch. You can walk just as many miles with binoculars in your hand, as you can with a gun."

IF bird watching has all of these advantages, why don't more people practice it? Mr. Randall, who is 71, has an interesting explanation. "The reason why more people at my age are not excited about birds is simply that they have never really seen them," he declares. "They just never have looked at a chestnut-sided warbler, or a phainopepla, through a high-powered glass. The ordinary scoffing cliché is—I can't tell one bird from another; they all look alike to me." Of course they do. People do too, when they are far away. But put the bird right in front of your eyes with a pair of seven- or eight-power binoculars, and you will not only enter a new world of great beauty, but find that birds are even more different than people. But you have to have a real glass, one bought with the same kind of money that the hunter uses for his 12 gauge, or the fisherman for his fly rod, and not just that old pair of opera glasses that has been around the house for years."

MR. RANDALL has built a strong case for bird watching, and I'm sure he would agree that no one needs to wait until he is 65-plus to savor the pleasures of this very challenging form of outdoor recreation.—KSL

Judge Ships 20 Juveniles To The State

DETROIT (AP) — A judge who has accused Gov. George Romney of spending too little state money for rehabilitating juvenile delinquents today shipped a busload of 20 youthful offenders to the state.

Wayne County Juvenile Judge James Lincoln gave the go-ahead despite repeated warnings from state officials the boys will be refused admittance to the Boys Training Branch at Whitmore Lake because of lack of space.

Lincoln said Sunday that if the boys are turned back he will release them because he has no place to put them.

"Not Just Truants" "These are not just truants," Lincoln said. "They are aggressively delinquent and they know they're going to be released. Case-hardened delinquents know from experience that there is no institutional space for them in the state."

Lincoln first announced his plan of dumping busloads of delinquents on the state March 13 after a youth was charged with slaying a school teacher in Wyandotte. He said the boy couldn't be sent to the state training school earlier because of lack of space.

Pilot Sights Plane Down In Yukon

WATSON LAKE, Yukon Territory (AP) — A Canadian pilot has reported sighting a downed plane believed to be an aircraft missing since Feb. 4 with two Americans aboard on a flight over the Yukon.

Chuck Hamilton, piloting a B.C.-Yukon Flying Services plane, said he saw two persons, one apparently a woman, near the plane on the slope of a 4,000-foot mountain about 75 miles southeast of Watson Lake, near the British Columbia border.

"Missing Plane" The missing plane, a single-engine Howard aircraft, was carrying pilot Ralph Flores of San Bruno, Calif., and his passenger, Helen Klaben, 21, of Brooklyn, N.Y., on a 600-mile flight from Whitehorse to Fort St. John, B.C. "All indications are that it is the Howard aircraft," said Hamilton.

"Oh, my God, I'm so happy," said Flores' wife in San Bruno. "We had the feeling all along that he would be found alive."

Ex-Champ Dies Of Ring Injuries

Balinese Flock To Beaches To Cleanse Sins

KLUNGKUNG, Bali (AP) — Pious Balinese flocked to the white beaches here today to cleanse themselves of the sins they fear may have angered the gods of the Agung volcano, which erupted last week, killing almost 1,500 persons.

They carried small house temples and the Hindu trinity to the shore and offered sacrifices. Then they entered the South Pacific to wash away their sins.

Death Toll The cleansing festival takes place every 100 years. The volcano erupted in the middle of it, increasing the fervor of devotees who believe that natural disasters will occur if they fail to purify themselves.

There were more than 200 injured and 65,000 left homeless in the disaster area. Once lush and green, it now is a vast desert of ash and sand.

The official death toll was 1,478. It is feared this will rise when buried villages are excavated.

Beg For Air Support This seaside village has become one of the most important rescue centers. Military units, police, Red Cross and government officials face a gigantic task in providing food and shelter.

They begged for air transport to evacuate the injured and homeless and were shocked when two Indonesian air force transports flew in 200 delegates to the 12th annual Pacific Area Travel Association conference for a sightseeing tour. Tours were banned around Mt. Agung.

GOV. KARL ROLVAAG

Karl Rolvaag 31st Governor Of Minnesota

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Democrat Karl Fritjof Rolvaag is to take over today as the 31st governor of Minnesota, a somewhat bittersweet reward for persistence.

The four-year term to which he aspired in the election last Nov. 6 has shrunk to three years and nine months. Not until last Saturday did Republican Gov. Elmer L. Andersen concede defeat.

During the long weeks of a recount, Rolvaag sat in a drab basement office in the state Capitol. Upstairs, the Republican-dominated Legislature enacted laws and confirmed appointments by Andersen.

Many state departments are headed by Republicans. Only two key appointments are open to Rolvaag. A few department heads have indicated a willingness to resign. Others have said they don't intend to budge.

Rolvaag has told advisers he will demand the resignations of Tax Commissioner Roland F. Hatfield and Highway Commissioner James C. Marshall, Andersen appointees.

The Senate recently confirmed reappointment of Hatfield for a six-year term. Before his confirmation, he told a legislative committee he would not resign even if Rolvaag became governor and asked him to quit.

Intends To Stay Marshall, a frequent target of Rolvaag criticism, is serving a four-year term that expires in April 1965. A retired Army general, Marshall has said he intends to complete his term.

Hatfield and three other major appointees have been confirmed by the Senate. They are William Joyce, liquor control commissioner; Lawrence McCabe, aeronautics commissioner, and Gerald Bryan, banking commissioner. To force these men to resign, Rolvaag would have to prove malfeasance or nonfeasance.

'Peacemaker' Rolvaag has told associates he intends to be cooperative and conciliatory with Republicans in state office and the legislature. His middle name, Fritjof, translates from Norwegian as 'Peacemaker.'

Davey Moore Never Regains Consciousness

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Davey Moore, a colorful ring champion for nearly four years, died today of injuries received in the fight last Thursday that cost him his world featherweight title.

Moore lapsed into a coma shortly after his bout with Sugar Ramos and never regained consciousness.

Beside Vigil Moore's wife, Geraldine, 26, had maintained a bedside vigil in the hospital much of the time. She had become exhausted and was resting in a nearby room when death came at 2:20 a.m.

The hospital bulletin said only doctors and nurses were present when the fighter succumbed to brain damage.

Ironically, Moore, 29, gave up his title—and his life—in the city of his greatest triumph. It was here that he won the featherweight crown from Hogan (Kid) Bassey of Nigeria in 1959.

'Praying Every Night' Ramos, the new champion, sobbed in an apologetic meeting with Mrs. Moore Sunday. The Cuban-born boxer, a Mexico City resident, told Mrs. Moore how sorry he was and said that he was "praying every night" for the recovery of his opponent in the tragic bout.

Mrs. Moore expressed confidence that her husband would be all right. Condition Worsened A late evening bulletin from the doctors seemed to give her added reason for hope. Moore's pulse, temperature and blood pressure all had shown improvement.

But the fighter's condition worsened during the night. The first bulletin of the morning said Moore's pulse was irregular and described his general condition as deteriorating.

Pope Raps Boxing Sunday, Pope John XXIII called the sport of boxing barbaric and "contrary to natural principles."

At Lenten services in Ostia, Italy, the pontiff declared: "Christ engaged in neither boxing nor politics."

California Gov. Edmund G. Brown has expressed similar opposition to the sport and has called for its banishment in the state.

4th In Title Fight Moore is the fourth fighter to die of injuries suffered in a world championship fight. The only other champion to suffer fatal injuries in defense of his title was Benny (Kid) Paret.

Paret died April 3, 1962, of injuries suffered when he was knocked out by Emile Griffith in New York's Madison Square Garden 10 days earlier.

Others The other two fighters fatally injured in championship bouts were Walter Crook, in a bantamweight fight with Jimmy Barry in London Dec. 6, 1897, and Jimmy Doyle, in a fight with welterweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson at Cleveland June 24, 1947.

Gunman Attacks Motorist From Speeding Auto

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A gunman in a speeding car fired four shotgun blasts at a Dundee man enroute to Ann Arbor on U.S. 23 Sunday night.

Jack Schultz, who was uninjured, told police he was driving along the highway when a car suddenly sped past him and a man leaned out of the passenger's window and opened fire.

Schultz said he pulled to the shoulder, leaped from the car and ran to a nearby filling station where he summoned police.

Upon returning to his car with officers, Schultz found his hubcaps missing along with a coat which had been inside the car.

Satellite Telecast Slated For Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Three U.S. television networks — ABC, NBC and CBS — will broadcast tonight from Paris via the Relay 1 satellite. The orbiting space traveler will be available to all three networks for transmission for the first time.

All the programs will be taped and shown during the networks' newscasts at 11 p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

Clay Report Suggests Cuts In Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presented with a presidential committee recommendation to tighten up the foreign aid program, Congress appears likely to respond by pulling in the purse strings to the extent of about $1 billion.

The signs on Capitol Hill indicate the program will be the main target of efforts to trim President Kennedy's $98.8-billion budget.

Kennedy has asked for $4.9 billion in foreign aid for the year beginning July 1—$1 billion more than this year. Kennedy, however, is expected to send a message to Congress this week cutting back his aid request by $200 million or more.

But one high official remarked that the administration will be lucky to escape with a reduction of no more than $1 billion.

In a hard-hitting report, the presidential committee—made up of 10 private citizens headed by Gen. Lucius Clay—told Kennedy the program was too big—trying to do "too much for too many."

The report, made public Saturday evening, found that this year's $3.9-billion foreign aid program was overweight by half a billion dollars when weighed on the scales of the tougher new standards it was recommending.

Not So This led to some interpretations that since the new foreign aid request is $1 billion higher than this year's program, the Clay committee was recommending it be chopped by $1.5 billion.

But William T. Dentzler, executive director of the Clay committee, said Sunday night this was not so.

Graduated Cuts The committee he said, was speaking of only this year's program, ending June 30, and not next year's. Also, he said, the report listed several new projects which it thought should be added.

The committee did not propose any immediate specific cuts. It urged, though, graduated future reductions, tightening of assistance criteria and reassessment of administration procedures and personnel.

U.S. Congress Builds Up Own Private Bureaucracy

WASHINGTON (AP) — In 1914, when Carl Vinson, a 31-year-old Democrat from Georgia, came to Congress for the first time, his entire staff was made up of one secretary, paid $125 a month. The law allowed him and all other congressmen no more.

Today Vinson has four members on his staff. The average representative is allowed to hire up to nine at an over-all cost of $4,000 a month. The average senator usually hires more. And so may the congressional committees.

7,000 People In a rush to keep pace with the onslaught of modern pressures, Congress has created its own private bureaucracy that now numbers more than 7,000 people and costs more than $50 million a year.

"There's a chance it soon will get bigger and costlier," Vinson said last week. "We're concerned with just three issues: tariffs, a few agriculture bills, the prosecution of World War I," he told a newsman.

This week the House will debate a proposal, approved by its Administration Committee, to increase the office expenses of each congressman by $10,506 a year so he can add still another employee to his payroll.

Criticism The huge bureaucracy on Capitol Hill has provoked criticism, particularly from Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., who leads a futile fight each year to wipe out a good number of the Senate's subcommittee staffs.

"Many of these subcommittees are useless," Ellender said in an interview. "All they do is create jobs, monopolize space, and glorify senators. And like old soldiers, the subcommittees never die."

Ellender pointed out that the Senate Judiciary Committee has 15 regular staff members while its 14 subcommittees have 150 staff members.

Defense A sturdy defense of big congressional staffs comes from Dr. George B. Galloway, senior specialist in American government for the Library of Congress and former staff director of the Senate-House committee that conducted hearings on the reorganization of Congress in 1946.

"The increase in staff is one of the most favorable developments in Congress," Galloway said in an interview. "It is a third force that provides Congress with information and intelligence to counteract the interested opinions that come to Congress from interested parties on the one hand and from the executive department on the other."

Complex Problems In Galloway's view, the cause of most of the mushrooming is quite simple: The problems of Congress today are far different and far more complex than the problems of Congress when Carl Vinson was a freshman.

Vinson, dean of the House today with almost 50 years service, recalls that "Congress didn't have the work then that it has now."

"We were concerned with just three issues: tariffs, a few agriculture bills, the prosecution of World War I," he told a newsman.

Reckless Driver Guns Down Cop

DETROIT (AP) — Police sought a murder warrant today against George E. Colby Jr., 22, who they said admitted shooting to death a police sergeant who stopped him on the Ford Expressway for reckless driving.

Sgt. Selwyn Adams, 46, was slain with his own revolver Saturday night.

He was the second Detroit police sergeant to lose his life in line of duty within a month. Sgt. Stanley Sech was killed Feb. 24 by a shotgun blast when he answered a family trouble call.

Witnesses Adams spotted Colby's car speeding on the expressway and pursued him in a marked police car. When Colby left the freeway, Adams cut him off at the top of the ramp.

First 3 Days Of Fast Rough On Mary

EDITORS NOTE — When admitted fat Mary Ferguson moved into a hotel room to get away from the temptations of her own cooking, she caught the imagination of millions. Here is her story of her continuing fast, written exclusively for The Associated Press.

By MARY FERGUSON Written For The Associated Press LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Seven days have gone by — 168 hours without food—and I'm feeling like a rose blooming on a dewy vine.

Sounds kind of corny, I know—but it's true. I've lost 12 pounds and I am down to 232.

I'm 3 1/2 inches smaller around the waist, 2 smaller around the hips, 4 smaller around the bust.

It's hard to guess just yet how much I'll lose between now and next Sunday, when my self-imposed fast is over. My doctor says I will average about two pounds a day, but I'm hoping for more.

"Since then—" Vinson stopped, smiled, and with a swift rotation of his hand, acted out the acceleration of federal government brought on by the great depression, World War II, the cold war and near $100-billion budgets.

The first Congress, which met from 1789 to 1791, introduced 268 bills, enacted 108 public laws, and had 155 committee reports. The 87th Congress, which met in 1961 and 1962, introduced 17,220 bills, enacted 833 public laws, and had 4,852 committee reports.

Committees The first Congress had only two committees. In contrast, the Senate Committee on Government Operations reported that in 1955 and 1956 the Senate alone had 17 committees and 129 subcommittees, which, with 13 joint Senate-House committees, met a total of 3,951 times for a total of 11,677 hours.

The striking mailers union—like the printers, an affiliate of the International Typographical Union—also has ratified a new work pact with terms similar to those accepted by printers. The strikers thus ended the strike which they began Jan. 9.

The stereotypes union, which joined the strike March 5, came to terms earlier and ratified a new contract March 17.

All but two of the six non-striking newspaper unions have reached firm or tentative settlements. The machinists and electricians unions have announced willingness to return to work while their peace talks continue.

Loss Publishers estimate the total loss to the economy as a result of the newspaper blackout at more than $200 million.

After I go home. What I really want to do is get down to 128 pounds, which would be just right for my 5-foot-2 height.

My husband calls me at least twice every day, and when I told him my new measurements—55 1/2 hips, 44 waist and 49 bust—he said: "Honey, that's wonderful. Keep it up. I know you can, and I love you."

New Dress He's a wonderful man. Slender, not like me, and with white hair at 45 he's very distinguished-looking. I started this fast because I wanted a new dress for Easter.

I want to be down to at least a size 20 1/2. That way I can find something with a little color in it, not those drab blacks that you get in size 24 1/2.

I know I'll get a new dress now—my husband Arthur has already promised it to me.

72 Rough Hours The doctor told me the first 48 hours would be the hardest, that after that my stomach would shrink and there wouldn't be any hunger pangs.

I've found, however, that it is

Engravers Hold Out For Better Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — Striking printers have ratified a new contract with New York's eight closed daily newspapers. But the last of four striking unions, the photoengravers, continued to hold out today for a better work pact, delaying an immediate resumption of publication.

As things stood today, the 108th day of the newspaper shutdown: Photoengravers were to meet again with publishers to try to come to terms on an agreement that would remove the last stumbling block in the way of publication.

Publication —Even if photoengraver union negotiators reached contract accord today, indications were that the eight major dailies couldn't get back on the streets until time to print Tuesday editions, or more likely Wednesday's.

The other nine newspaper unions continued to refuse to cross the photoengravers' picket lines at four struck dailies.

Striking printers have ratified by a 79-vote majority the same settlement they rejected by 64 votes a week earlier. Their new contract gives them a $12.63 package over two years—a $6.51 increase in wages and fringe benefits the first year, and a $6.12 increase the second.

Affiliate The striking mailers union—like the printers, an affiliate of the International Typographical Union—also has ratified a new work pact with terms similar to those accepted by printers. The strikers thus ended the strike which they began Jan. 9.

Dies In Fall

Snow Depth Drops As City Enjoys Warmest Weather Since Fall

Warm southerly breezes, temperatures in the 60s, the sun out all of the time—and the weekend weather was perfect.

Yesterday the mercury got up to 63, which was the warmest temperature here since Oct. 18, when it was 64.

Completely forgotten was the worst blizzard of the winter, which occurred last Tuesday and Wednesday, and brought 12.7 inches of snow.

Down To 12 Inches
The snow melted and shrunk 13 inches over the weekend, from a snow depth of 25 on Friday to 12 inches this morning.

The result was sloppy puddles on sidewalks and streets Saturday, but because the ice had already been melted from around catchbasins during the early March thaw, most of the runoff found its way to the catchbasins.

Boys were out tossing baseballs around this weekend, and anyone who owns a convertible was out enjoying the warm weather. It made area residents think of ice cream cones and working in their flowerbeds, and even trips to the beach.

61 On Saturday
Saturday's high temperature of 61 almost set a record for the day. Highest temperature for March 23 was 63 in 1948, Fred Mueller, meteorologist in charge of the U.S. Weather Bureau here, said.

After reaching 61 at 4:30 p.m. Saturday, the temperature dropped to the 40s before midnight. Low temperature Saturday was 27 at 4 a.m., which made the average temperature for the day 44, which was 14 degrees above normal.

The high yesterday of 63 was at 11 a.m., with temperatures in the upper 50s throughout the afternoon. With a low at 4 a.m. yesterday of 35, the average temperature for the day was 49, which was 19 degrees above normal.

The overnight low was 33 at 6:30 this morning in Marquette and 32 at the Marquette County Airport in Negaunee Township.

Other readings around the Peninsula yesterday and overnight were: K.I. Sawyer Air Force Base, high 55, low 31; Escanaba, where southerly winds across Lake Michigan kept temperatures down, high 40, low 30, and Sault Ste. Marie, high 51, low 35.

Mueller said that more normal temperatures, noticeably cooler than over the weekend, are expected through tomorrow. He explained that the cooling trend is caused by a mixture of the southerly air which warmed Marquette this weekend and cold air coming down from the Hudson Bay region.

Along with cloudy skies, high temperatures were expected to be in the low 40s today and upper 30s tomorrow. Low tonight is predicted to be from 25 to 30.

However, fair weather and warmer temperatures are predicted for Wednesday.

Long-Range Outlook

For the next five days, temperatures are expected to average four to eight degrees above the normal extremes of 38 and 24 for the period.

Temperatures are expected to fall to near-normal through mid-week, but warm again the latter part of the week.

Precipitation in the next five days is expected to total one-tenth of an inch or less in scattered showers Thursday and again about Saturday.

Man Injured In Accident At Residence

A Marquette Township man was recuperating in St. Luke's Hospital today after being pinned under his automobile Saturday afternoon.

Paul Iery, 39, of 2596 Warner St., was working on the springs of his car at his home Saturday afternoon, when the car fell off the jack and pinned him underneath, it was reported.

Iery was pulled from underneath the car by his 65-year-old father, John Iery, with the help of an uncle, As-I Jerry Turner, of K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base. They were able to jack up the car and rescue the injured man within 10 minutes.

Iery, the father of four, suffered a broken collarbone and broken ribs, members of his family said.

Two Injured, Five Drivers Ticketed In Crackups Here

Two persons were injured, five motorists were issued tickets and eight automobiles were involved in five traffic collisions which occurred in Marquette during the weekend.

Three other smashups were investigated by state police from the Marquette post during the weekend (see story on Page 11). Reports on the city mishaps follow:

1. Both injuries occurred in a crackup at 12:10 yesterday afternoon on High St. at E. Park St., and involved automobiles operated by James D. Richards, 803 Waldo St., and Sally Koepke, 3156 Lake Shore Blvd.

Car Slides Into Pole
City police said Mrs. Koepke was driving north on High St. when her car was hit by Richards' vehicle, being driven east on Park. The impact caused the automobile to slide sideways into a wooden utility pole at the northeast corner of the intersection.

Jan Koepke, 4, suffered a bump on his head, and Karen Koepke, 8, sustained a fracture of her right arm. They were riding with their mother.

A passing motorist took the girl to St. Luke's Hospital.

Extensive damage resulted to the right front of Richards' automobile, a 1960 station wagon, which had to be towed from the scene by a wrecker. The left rear fender and right rear of the Koepke car, a 1961 station wagon, were badly damaged, but the automobile was able to be driven from the scene under its own power.

Right-Of-Way Violation
City police issued Richards a summons for a right-of-way violation.

2. Mrs. Koepke also had been involved in a mishap at 3:15 Saturday afternoon, at the corner of Third and W. Washington Sts., when her car bumped into an automobile operated by Frank J. Aksami, K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, as both were traveling east on Washington and he stopped for the traffic light.

No License On Person
The right rear of Aksami's 1957 sedan was damaged but her car was not damaged in this mishap.

She was ticketed by city police for not having an operator's license on her person.

3. Two persons were ticketed as a result of a collision at 12:20 yesterday afternoon at the corner of N. Third and W. Ohio Sts.

City police said a car being driven north on Third St. and being turned left onto Ohio St. by Ben A. Jerzyk, 600 Summit St., Box 2, went out of control and struck a vehicle owned by Charles S. Stephens, Box 781, Beaver Grove, which was parked on the north side of the street, about 30 feet west of Third St.

Car Not Under Control
Extensive damage resulted to the right front of the Jerzyk car, a 1959 four-door sedan, and minor damage occurred to the left rear of Stephens' 1961 station wagon. Both vehicles were able to be driven from the scene under their own power.

Jerzyk was ticketed by city police for failing to have his car under control and also for not having an operator's license. His mother, Mrs. Florence Jerzyk, was given a ticket for allowing an unlicensed person to operate a motor vehicle.

4. An automobile being driven south on Lake Shore Blvd. by Thomas R. Gocha, Mancelona, Mich., went out of control as he was attempting to pass another car and it struck a water puddle on the east side of the roadway, about 50 feet north of the Upper Peninsula Power Co. road causing the car to strike a wooden utility pole.

Car Not Under Control
The entire left side of Gocha's 1962 two-door sedan was damaged, but the car was able to be driven from the scene under its own power. The mishap occurred at 11:15 yesterday morning.

City police gave Gocha a ticket for failing to have his car under control.

5. Still under investigation today was a hit-and-run accident which was reported at 9:50 Saturday night.

City police said Norbert C. Peano, 1424 Lincoln Ave., said he had his car parked in front of his house, on the west side of the street, facing north and that he noticed at 9:50 it had been damaged. He had parked his car there at 7 p.m.

28 Candidates On Ballots For State Offices In Election

Names of 28 candidates appear on the state ballots in the biennial spring election scheduled for Monday, April 1.

In all, three state ballots will be voted on in the election, and, in addition, county electors will have two more ballots, with local issues, making a total of five.

The state ballots include the partisan ballot, with 24 candidates from three parties seeking eight state offices; the non-partisan ballot, with four candidates seeking two offices, and the referendum ballot, concerning the proposed new state constitution.

County Millage Referendum
County voters also will receive the millage referendum, as well as the local contests ballot. In Marquette, two city commissioners and two supervisors will be elected for two-year terms. Unopposed for re-election to a six-year term as municipal judge is Edward H. Dembowski.

The state referendum ballot poses a simple question: "Shall the revised constitution be adopted?" It will be adopted or rejected by a simple majority vote of the electorate.

Candidates For Justice
Candidates for justices of the Michigan Supreme Court, for full, eight-year terms, are Paul L. Adams and Eugene F. Black, the incumbents, re-nominated by the Democratic Party, and Circuit Judges Donald E. Holbrook and Richard G. Smith, their challengers, nominated by the Republican Party.

Although nominated by the parties, the candidates run on the non-partisan ballot.

The county millage referendum reads:
Tax Referendum Wording
"Shall the limitation on the total amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in the County of Marquette  all purposes, except taxes levied for the payment of interest and principal on obligations incurred prior to Dec. 8, 1932, be increased (as provided by Section 2, Article 10, of the State Constitution) by two mills, for general county purposes only, for a period of five years, from 1963 to 1967, both inclusive?"

Although the referendum stipulates that the tax levy money will be for general county purposes, the revenue actually will be used for relief purposes. However, state law prohibits the levying of a tax for a specific county purpose.

Candidates for city commissioner are James R. Smith and Joseph Fine, incumbents, and Franz Menze and Robert M. Ling.

Candidates for supervisor are E. Kenneth Goldsworthy and Charles T. Beaudry, the incumbents, and Mrs. Margaret Schnorr.

State Office Candidates
Candidates for the various state offices, with the party designation listed with the abbreviation (D for Democratic Party, R for Republican Party and SL for Socialist Labor Party), follow:

Regents, University of Michigan: Eugene Power and Donald M.D. Thurber (D); William B. Cudlip and Ink White (R), and W. Clifford Bentley and John Zywicki (SL).

Superintendent of public instruction: Lynn M. Bartlett (D), Raymond N. Hatch (R), and Ralph W. Muncy (SL).

Member, State Board of Education: Gerald Tuchow (D), James F. O'Neil (R), and James C. Horvath (SL).

Members, Michigan State University Board of Trustees: Don Stevens and Jan B. Vanderploeg (D); Stephen S. Nisbet and Arthur Kennedy Rouse (R), and Theos A. Grove and Albert Mills (SL).

Members, Wayne State University Board of Governors: Michael Ference Jr. and Leonard Woodcock (D); Marshall V. Noecker and Alfred Whittaker (R), and Charles Fraser and James Sim (SL).

Realignment Of 3 SAC Bases Listed

Strategic Air Command headquarters, Offutt AFB, Neb., has announced realignment of the three SAC air forces within continental U. S.

Included in the realignment of the 2nd, 8th and 15th Air Forces is the shift of the 17th Bombardment Wing at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, from 2nd to 8th Air Force.

The Wright-Patterson unit, which will be "moved" July 1, is a member of the 40th Air Division, as is the 416th Bombardment Wing at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base.

The realignments are to give each numbered air force approximately the same number of SAC's mixed force of operational bombers and intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) units.

There will be no relocation of equipment and no significant movement of personnel brought about by the realignment. Seven midwest and Rocky Mountain bases are affected.

Each of the numbered air forces will have operational responsibility for missile systems, as well as bombers, providing each command with a balanced force of strategic weapons systems.

Previously, responsibilities of the numbered Air Forces were divided strictly by geographical areas. Eighth Air Force had jurisdiction over units in the east, 2nd in the central U. S., and 15th in the Far West.

Gogebic Makes Spectacular Start In Industrial Drive

By JEAN WORTH
Journal Special Correspondence
Gogebic County's effort to improve its economy, dashed by the near collapse of iron mining, has had the most spectacular start of any self-development effort in the history of the Upper Peninsula.

GO-INC — Gogebic Organization for an Industrially New County — has had an amazing initial success in raising more than $112,000 for a three-year program of leadership in economic development. This money is to finance the organization of new economic enterprise and the expansion of existing enterprise. If money is needed for plants and other facilities that will be provided separately.

Great Problems To Overcome
This sort of organization — the executive will be in the $15,000 salary class — is unique in U.P. county development efforts. Gogebic has won much admiration for its generous and courageous support of this program. It changes a public image of the area as one that was almost solely dependent upon mining and unwilling to change its ways much to seek other industry and which was reluctant to believe that underground iron mining was in such serious difficulties that it needed a lifeline.

Vital Ingredient
So public attitude is a vital ingredient of the process of industrial development.

Gogebic's troubles were in sight some years ago. Mining industry is always a wasting one — when the ore is gone the industry dies — but Gogebic's mines have experienced short of ore exhaustion because of market changes. Mineral industry made some investments in change, but the community lagged and so the fruits of early cooperation were lost.

With the mines closing the range's miners looked elsewhere for work. Twenty-five are employed in a Mercer, Wis., electronics plant 20 miles from Ironwood. Four hundred drive 50 miles daily to White Pine (or take the $1 bus — "you can't run a car for this" to work in the copper mine or smelter. Some have gone to Missouri to mine iron and weekend at home when they can. In the belt tightening at home, Ironwood has cut its garbage trucks from two to one.

Population Statistics
Gogebic County had a population of 15,166 in 1950. In 1920 it was up to a peak of 33,225. In 1960 it was down to 24,370.

In the decade 1950-60 the cities of Ironwood, Bessemer and Wakefield and the townships of Bessemer, Erwin, Ironwood, Wakefield, Marenisco and Watersmeet all lost population as the county slid from 27,053 to 24,370.

The Michigan Employment Security Commission rates the Gogebic County labor force at 6,800 persons. It is estimated that the 6,800 represent 17,068 persons, or 2.51 per family.

Changes In Labor Force
Of the labor force of 6,800 on Jan. 1 there were 5,800 employed and 1,000 unemployed.

At the peak of iron ore mining in Gogebic County there were between 6,000 and 6,500 iron ore miners in the county. On Jan. 1 there were 480.

The Gogebic Industrial Bureau estimates that 85 families moved from Gogebic County in 1962. This number does not include families still living there which are supported by persons working elsewhere. The estimated number of individuals who have moved is 335.

The number of social security beneficiaries in the county on Jan. 1, 1962 was 3,606, including 1,939 retired workers, 201 disabled, etc. An estimated increase of 305 in the year brought the total to 3,911 on Jan. 1.

Major Industry Closings
The county welfare program at the end of 1962 had 993 on direct relief, 361 on old age assistance, 204 dependent children, etc., for a total of 1,702.

Major closings of industries since January 1960 include: Hansen Glove Co., 112 employees.

Sunday Lake Mine, 237 employees.

North Range Mine, 325 employees.

Montreal Mine, 600 employees, 170 from Gogebic.

The county had up to 25 mines once. Now it has two operating, the Peterson Mine in Bessemer operated by the Granite City Steel Co. and the Geneva Mine in Bessemer Township operated by the Mauthe Mining Co. and both managed by Pickands-Mather. Mining companies used to pay 93 per cent of the taxes. Now Ironwood and Wakefield have no mines.

Demonstration Held Here On Timber Handling Called Big Success; Over 125 Attend

Over 125 persons attended the timber handling demonstration which was held Saturday at the Gannon Lumber Co. mill, off County Road 550.

Sponsored by the Marquette County Soil Conservation District, the U.S. Forest Service and the Michigan State University Extension Service, the event was termed a "big success."

Hear Ohman, Henriksen Dr. John Ohman, Marquette, project leader with the Northern Hardwoods Research Laboratory, spoke on the recent problem that has hit the area, called sap streak in maple logs. He and William Henriksen, Marquette, forester for the Cliffs Dow Chemical Co., spoke at the noon luncheon program at the National Guard Armory.

Ohman said the sap streak disease was first discovered in 1960. It is caused by some fungus that is very similar to that causing Dutch elm disease and oak wilt. It eventually will kill a tree, and it also downgrades lumber, he noted.

"Sap streak disease is somewhat similar to what's called mineral streak — but the latter is likely not a disease and doesn't kill trees — although it does cause lots of damage to logs," Ohman said.

Good Woodlot Practices Advised It is believed that sap streak — as other diseases — may enter where trees are damaged or scarred, so it would help prevent some by good careful woodlot practices to prevent damaging standing trees, he added. The laboratory in Marquette is doing extensive research but as yet hadn't found cause or cure.

Openings As Prison Guard Here Listed

Open competitive examinations have been scheduled by the Michigan Civil Service Commission for corrections officer positions, with some of the jobs being at the Marquette State Prison.

Applications must be received by the commission by 5 p. m., April 15, and the written tests will be held on Saturday, May 18.

Warden Raymond J. Buchkoe said it is anticipated that several openings will occur at the Marquette State Prison, with the vacancies to be filled by the successful candidates in the examinations this spring.

"There are a lot of persons who are eligible to take these examinations and if they are interested they should look into it," Warden Buchkoe said.

He added that the employment list established as a result of the examination will be combined with any current employment list for the class.

Qualifications Given Applicants must be high school graduates, between 23 and 51 years of age, in good physical condition and have height and weight in relation to each other, as determined by the examining physician.

After formal on-job training, a prison guard performs specific duties on a designated shift, at wall posts, front gate, cell block, factory, yard, farm or camp or other stations.

He assists in maintaining compliance with disciplinary rules and regulations, takes periodic inmate counts, makes inspections of quarters and has custody of inmates assigned to work details.

Three Rebel Bands Wiped Out By Cubans

HAVANA — The Cuban government sent combat units of the regular army into action against three rebel bands Friday and wiped them out, a communique announced today.

Among those killed in the fighting in Matanzas Province, the announcement said, was Juan Jose Catala Costa, identified as the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency's rebel chief in the area.

Laboratory and Gannon Lumber Co. it was discovered that the sap streak disease can reduce log value by 42 per cent and can reduce lumber value as much as 38 per cent. Disease is most prevalent, according to the study so far, in Marquette County, and in Baraga County.

Henriksen said there is great competition in charcoal business from Canada, Mexico and even Japan. Two years ago, Cliffs Dow was getting $90 per ton for its charcoal briquettes; the price was down to $84 last year and may be forced down to $80 to meet competition this year.

Henriksen told equipment people they could and were helping a lot by coming out with new machines to reduce cost of labor for harvesting, handling and shipping of timber products.

To Continue Buying He said he could see no great chance that Cliffs Dow wouldn't continue to buy available block wood and cordwood from area for next two years at least.

There has been a strong trend towards harvesting of second growth timber, especially that being taken out to improve stands, he added.

He appealed to equipment people and woodlot owners to do more in areas of cutting their logs into lengths desired by various industries, and said this could be done at rail heads and other loading areas and would greatly reduce handling and shipping costs.

Municipal Ski Area Closed; Successful Season Reported

Because of the balmy weather the past few days, the municipal ski area at Mt. Mesnard has been closed for the season. It was announced this morning.

James C. Engle, superintendent of the parks and recreation department, said conditions, which had become good last week after the big blizzard, quickly changed as the mercury soared into the 60s during the weekend.

"Skiing conditions are very bad at the hill," Engle said, "and the road to the ski area is in too bad shape to be used."

However, this is the latest the municipal ski area has ever stayed open, Engle noted. The city's six outdoor skating rinks were closed the first weekend of the month. Also Opened Later

Despite the late closing, though, the skiing season was only about average, due to the fact that the ski hill was not opened until the Christmas weekend, with the hill not being in shape until then.

Total attendance this season was reported at an estimated 10,512, as compared to 9,418 for last year, showing an increase of 1,094, Engle said.

"Attendance at Mt. Mesnard has shown a steady increase since the 1959-60 season, when 3,522 persons used the facility," Engle said.

The hill was open for a total of 47 days this year, to an average of about 224 skiers per day.

The hill was kept open, with supervision provided by the city, on Tuesday and Thursday nights and on Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Mackinac Bridge Refinancing

When the Mackinac Bridge was built the sponsors set up the best financing arrangement they could, consisting of revenue

Peninsula Perambulator

The Stambaugh City Commission authorized City Manager George Hammar to make immediate payment of $15,392.40 in taxes and collection fees paid by the National Steel Corp. under protest last July. After paying the taxes, the mining company filed an appeal with the State Tax Commission, charging inequality in assessments and filed suit for recovery of the taxes. After the commission lopped more than five million dollars off mining property valuations in Iron County, the company, along with several others, took their suit to circuit court and were awarded consent judgments against the cities of Stambaugh and Iron River and the village of Mineral Hills. Stambaugh, by paying the judgment in full within 30 days of issue of the court order, will save the city the five per cent interest rate specified by the court. Payment of the amounts specified in the judgment may be spread over the tax roll over and above legal millage limitations if necessary.

A sweeping investigation of the entire Iron County government setup is being demanded by a citizens' committee for good government in the light of revelations made as a result of the probe being conducted in Mastodon Township. H. A. Dahlgren, chairman of the committee, said some of the information turned up by investigators from the state auditor general's office made a thorough probe of county government a necessity.

Doelle Operation-Pulp will provide funds for a volunteer improvement project at the John A. Doelle Agricultural School in Tapiola, Houghton County. A 40-man crew has been busy in recent weeks cutting pulp on a 40-acre plot, and proceeds from the sale of the wood will be added to the Doelle shower and changing room building fund.

The third program of the 1962-63 college and community concert-lecture series at Michigan Tech, Houghton will be presented by the Robert De Cormier Folk Singers at 8:15 Friday night in Sherman Gym.

bonds and an annual state contribution of more than $400,000. The intention, then and since, was to refinance the bridge when it was possible in order to reduce the interest charges.

It was believed necessary, in keeping faith with the public which would be responsible for general obligation bonds, to demonstrate the bridge's ability to pay for itself before switching the financing to the cheaper bonds. Otherwise, the public might hold a sack for the difference between the net bridge revenues and the financing charges.

The bridge hasn't done as well as was hoped for. This is evident in several increases in bridge charges necessitated by the revenue bonding terms when revenues fell behind the amortization schedule. These fee increases are undesirable because they tend to reduce bridge traffic further when the need is for more bridge traffic to ease the financing burden.

The proposed new Michigan Constitution to be voted April 1 will authorize refunding of bridge bonds by action of the Legislature. And a proposed constitutional amendment has been introduced in both House and Senate to authorize the state to issue full faith and credit bonds to refinance the bridge, which was constructed with $100 million obtained by selling revenue bonds, which are secured only by the bridge revenues.

An 8 per cent premium would have to be paid on any of the present bonds redeemed before Jan. 1, 1964, when the premium will go down to 5 per cent and be further reduced one per cent every five years. Reduced interest charges would pay off the bonds faster and make possible lowering of the bridge tolls.

The state's policy problem is determining if traffic induced by lower tolls couldn't pay off general obligation bonds. Certainly lower tolls would help the Upper Peninsula and the rest of Michigan, and the present arrangement of hiking tolls when revenue dips is aimed in the wrong direction. It may satisfy the bondholders, but it doesn't meet the needs that the bridge was constructed to serve.

Path To Diploma Led Sawyer AFB Airman Through 14 Schools

The sons and daughters of military personnel are accustomed to bouncing from school to school in pursuit of their high school education. Very few of them will make it through 12 years without attending perhaps a half dozen schools.

But A3C John W. Lillywhite, a clerk-typist assigned to the 410th Bombardment Wing (SAC) here at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base — and the son of an ex-Strategic Air Command officer — has a list that will top most dependent children. He's gone to 14 different grade schools, junior high schools and high schools, but to hear him relate the story, it sounds more like 20.

"I have attended 14 different schools — four high schools (two in Cincinnati) 10 grammar and junior high schools (four in Newfoundland and three in New York). I went to the same school twice, but once for seventh grade and then for ninth grade.

"I went to four schools in the third grade, three in the seventh grade (two of which were in Orlando, Fla.). Of the four schools in Newfoundland I attended, two were in St. Johns while in the third grade — or was it three schools?"

Today's Special Story

How He Made It

"That was interrupted, and I finished fourth grade back in Cincinnati."

Confused?

So were the airmen in the wing's personnel division when it came time to fill out Airman Lillywhite's personal history.

To set the record straight, here's how he made it: Sacred Heart Grade School, Southampton, Long Island, N. Y. — first through part of the third grade. ("This is where I went longer than any other school — almost three years," he said.) Back To Cincinnati

At St. John's, Newfoundland, while his father was stationed at Peppercorn AFB, Airman Lillywhite went to Prince of Wales Grade School, St. Bonaventure Grade School and St. John's Grade School, finally finishing third grade.

Then back to Cincinnati to Our Mother of Sorrows for fourth grade while his father was stationed at Thule Air Base, Greenland, as chief of the planning in the base's development stage.

A four-room school at Ernest Harmon AFB, Newfoundland, was the scene of grade five.

Sixth grade found him at St. Stephens grade school, at Stephensville, near Ernest Harmon in Newfoundland. Then came seventh grade and three more schools.

The first was Mount Assumption Institute, near Pittsburgh AFB, N. Y. Next was Howard Junior High School and then Cherokee Junior High School, both in Orlando. Then back to Plattsburgh to eighth grade at Immaculate Conception Academy at nearby Keeseville, N. Y.

Graduated At 17

Ninth grade saw him at Mount Assumption Institute once again, but by his sophomore year in high school he had changed location: This time Salina, Kan., and Sacred Heart High School, when his father was stationed at Schilling AFB, Kansas.

An eye injury forced retirement for the elder Lillywhite, so it was back to Cincinnati to settle. But not for John.

He went to Purcell High School there as a junior, but moved over to Withrow High School the next year to finish his education and pick up his diploma.

And to top it all, he made it through all those schools in only 12 years, and with a B average. Now 19, he graduated at only 17.

Doing Exceptionally Well

Since his entrance into the Air Force last August, the young airman has been to an additional pair of schools. First was at Lackland AFB, Texas, where he took basic training, and the other was at Amarillo AFB, Texas, where he attended the administrative specialist school.

He arrived at Sawyer AFB late in January, and is assigned to the bombing and navigation section under the deputy commander for operations.

"He's been doing exceptionally well for his experience," Major

Thomas Watson, chief of the section said. "He's been drawing books from the library to learn more about navigation so he'll know more about what we're doing in the section."

Calls Southampton Home

Airman Lillywhite's education has not come strictly from books. He's met literally thousands of students while sitting in over 50 classrooms, and this has been an education in itself.

The clean-cut, articulate airman calls Southampton, N. Y., his home, and his education has been furthered there.

For he has had the opportunity to meet various well known personalities, including the country's First Lady and the Gabor sisters. In fact, his father reportedly taught the Gabor girls how to play badminton.

'So It Flies Faster Than Light, Never Needs Refueling, And Can Wipe Out Mankind, But --- Can We Be Sure It Isn't Obsolete?'

The National Whirligig News Behind The News

BY ANDREW TULLY WASHINGTON — In the controversy over the TFX plane contract, the trouble with Defense Secretary Robert Strange McNamara is that, like Samuel Johnson and former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, he does not cheerfully tolerate a fool.

This is very nearly a fatal defect in Washington, where the proportion of fools in places of influence is maddeningly high. Especially in Congress, the visitor from the executive branch is in constant danger of having his purpose muddled by asinine questions having little to do with the subject under discussion. In the image of Dean Acheson, who often seemed to regard members of Congress as escapees from a mental institution, McNamara has shown both impatience and irritation over the prying expedition on Capitol Hill.

A Take-Charge Guy

Currently, both Houses are quarrelling with McNamara over his award of the $6.5 billion contract for the supersonic fighter plane, to be used by both Navy and Air Force, to the highest bidder, McDonnell Douglas. McNamara has explained at length that he over-ruled his military advisers and awarded the contract to General Dynamics Corp. because of the rival bidder, the Boeing Co., submitted cost estimates that were unrealistic. Actually, McNamara was able to produce the plane at a saving over a period of years of $1 billion.

This is a curious situation. In the first place, McNamara is not a professional New Frontier type, but a lifelong Republican and a tough minded former president of the gargantuan Ford Motor Co. And since he moved into the Pentagon, he has met the qualifications for a take-charge guy — a man who could handle the generals and admirals — that everybody has been demanding for years.

Dedicated, Genius

But unfortunately for McNamara and the country, he has done so in a manner which has failed to take into account the jealous eye with which Congress regards its prerogatives concerning everything from supersonic planes to a creek dredging in Oklahoma. McNamara, said Republican House Whip Leslie Arends of Illinois, is a dictator; he called the Pentagon chief "I-Know-All-the-Answers McNamara." Rep. F. Edward Hebert, (D., La.), a veteran armed services committee member, demanded that Congress assert its authority over McNamara at the same time he was calling McNamara "dedicated . . . a genius."

There is no doubt that McNamara is prepossessing, to put it mildly. A British guest at a White House party, the Earl of Arran, has described him as "a simply terrifying-looking man" who backed the Briton to the wall in an argument over the cancelled Skybolt missile.

No Buck Passer

Yet, even allowing for Lord Arran's hyperbole, the argument can be made that this is just the kind of man who should be running the Defense Department, with its $51 billion budget. Every President beginning with Truman has told his defense secretary to take charge, to handle the generals and admirals and to buy us the best possible defense at the least possible cost. McNamara has taken this mandate seriously.

A Pentagon evaluation board rated the General Dynamics plane inferior to the Boeing plane in almost every respect. Almost everybody below McNamara agreed with this evaluation. Yet McNamara overruled them all. The question here is why shouldn't he? It was a matter of judgment, and McNamara not only is paid to exercise judgment, he has had important experience in doing so at Ford.

In every business, there is considerable passing of the buck. But it has to stop somewhere, and in the Pentagon it stops, properly, on the desk of Robert Strange McNamara. He was hired to see that it stops there, not to butter up a parcel of Congressmen.

In Favor Of Constitution

Dear Sir: One of the most important issues to face the Michigan voter in modern times is the proposal to adopt a revised state constitution, which will appear on the ballot at the spring election on April 1.

In recent weeks I have read that such organizations as the Michigan Education Association, the League of Women Voters, the Michigan PTA and 22 other non-political and non-partisan organizations have come out in favor of the proposed Constitution.

The only real objection to the new Constitution seems to be coming from the Democratic party.

The people of Michigan should ask themselves this question: "Are the Democrats interested in helping our state by adopting a document that everyone else seems to think will benefit our state, or after suffering their first statewide defeat in 14 years are they bitter and poor losers and now wish to defeat Gov. Romney in 1964 by defeating the Constitution?"

If so, they are no longer the party of progress that they once were, but now have instead become the party of obstruction and reactionaries.

Constitution And Taxes

To the Editor: New Con opponents charge that adding the word "retail" to the word "sales tax" opens the possibility of a wholesale sales tax. They take advantage of the layman's lack of access to judicial decisions which must be taken into account in interpreting constitutional provisions. The addition of the word "retail" simply clarifies the intent of the voters in accordance with Lockwood vs. Commissioner of Revenue.

In this case the use tax was thrown out as contrary to the constitutional amendment limiting the sales tax to 3 per cent. The justices said the technical difference between a sales tax and a use tax did not make the additional 1 per cent use tax on top of the 3 per cent sales tax constitutional. They interpreted the then 3 per cent sales tax limit in the light of the intention of the people; that is, that (1) by "sales tax" the voters meant a tax on retail sales and (2) by voting the 3 per cent limit they were saying that this was all they wanted to pay to the state when they went to the store and bought something. A tax by any other name, the justices felt, was a drain on the purchasers' pockets above what they had voted they were willing to pay.

The present provision, the court says, means a tax on retail sales. The new provision reading "a sales tax on retailers," therefore, only clarifies and doesn't change the meaning. Thus, it doesn't open the people's pockets to other kinds of sales taxes any more than the present provision does.

It is of interest to know that Democratic State Treasurer Sanford Brown himself gave this explanation in a recent debate.

Assuming that it would be legal under the new Constitution to tax wholesale sales, it would be just as legal under the 1908 Constitution. Again, assuming such a tax to be legal, for the sake of argument, no legislator in his right mind would vote for such a tax on top of the present retail tax. If he did, he would be politically dead. This argument by the opponents to the new Constitution, just as a matter of practical politics, is simply silly.

D. HALE BRAKE
Constitutional Hall
Lansing

Against Constitution

Sir: Perhaps former Con-Con delegates can tell us why Article I, Sec. 1 of Michigan's new Constitution spends 370 words describing the boundaries of Michigan when they have already been set by Congress. This description merely cluttered up the new document and has no value in securing the blessings of liberty, which is supposed to be the sole purpose of this Constitution.

Sec. 2 states that the seat of government shall be at Lansing. Did anyone want to change this? This section is also useless.

Sec. 5 states that every person has a right to bear arms in the defense of himself and the state. This means technically that even criminals can bear weapons to protect themselves in holdups, against lawmen or anyone else.

Sec. 22 states in effect that we can be imprisoned for freedom of speech and freedom of the press if we displease the people we are writing about regardless of the crimes they have committed against God or man.

Article II, Sec. 7 states that all votes shall be given by ballot. This technicality deftly rules out all voting machines, making it illegal to elect people by the use of machines. (According to a dictionary used by the U. S. Supreme Court, a ballot is any printed or written ticket used in voting.)

This Constitution, if one would care to take the time to read it, looks like the usual poor man's pudding, i. e., more taxes and less representation. It's just about time that former Con-Con delegates made their re-entry into this earth's atmosphere, came back to realities. They have had their heads in the clouds long enough. This new Constitution is worse, quite useless for the majority, gives more power to the minority.

I wonder how many people have taken the time to read this Constitution? Still many thousands will pull the handle just to do what have are told. There is much more responsibility for each citizen than just to do this. In 1812 95,000 militia were called to the defense of Washington. Only 7,200 reported there to protect the capitol. When Michiganans vote on this new Constitution, how many will report and fight to keep this Constitution from going through? All they have to do is vote "no" and it will be worked over to give your children a better deal than they want us to have.

SOME NECESSARY CHANGES

If we do not develop standards beyond the single one of efficiency for judging technological change, if we do not create new jobs by devising new economic instruments and if we do not create new theories of industrial justice for the technological dilemmas of the 20th century, only two alternatives may be open in the 21st century: Either there will be so few jobs available that only an elite will be allowed to work while the remainder of society consumes or the practice of "unwork" will need to spread. —Paul Jacobs in "Dead Horse and the Feather Bird"

From The Journal Files

90 Years Ago

—Marquette County— Efforts are to be made in the spring for the construction of a driving park in Marquette. Several parties have signified a willingness to subscribe to such an enterprise and we hope the project will be carried through to a successful termination. A city that boasts as many fast steppers as Marquette should certainly have a place suitable for a test of their mettle.

The owners of the steam tug Dudley have purchased the steam towboat Jay C. Morse, formerly of Marquette, but lately engaged on the St. Mary's River. She will be furnished with a steam pump and wrecking lines and otherwise fitted out to go to the assistance of vessels in distress or wrecks within hail of the port of Marquette. She is 64 tons burthen, unusually powerful and will have just the qualities needed to make the fleet of towboats here complete.

Work on the new Iron Bay foundry building (at the corner of Washington and Lake Sts.) has so far progressed that the process of moving in from the old building there has started. A railway track has been laid through the center of the room to facilitate the handling of heavy machinery, and the whole building, casting room, engine room and machinery departments are models of strength and convenience. The payroll at present now numbers 100 names, having increased about 80 in two years.

On Wednesday evening J. E. Forrester, D. D., of Chicago gave his lecture on "Fast Young Men" at the Presbyterian Church under the auspices of the Marquette Lecture Association. He gave general satisfaction except some expected that the subject would be handled without gloves. However, he treated it on a higher scale and some of his points were eloquent and powerful.

A lady friend lets us in on the secret of the recent rapid rise in circulation of The Mining Journal. The fine quality of the paper seems to lend additional grace to the bustle without the disagreeable rattle of the straw paper on which the city dailies are printed.

60 Years Ago

—Marquette— A. E. Archangeau was an easy winner in the race for the nomination for mayor at the citizens' convention at the city hall last evening. In fact, the race was no race at all. J. H. Jacobs' boom became sidetracked at some point unknown and Mr. Archangeau was the only candidate whose name was presented to the delegates. Those nominated to other offices were: Recorder, Daniel S. Donovan; treasurer, Charles A. Eggers; justice of the peace, S. Donovan; constables, Jacob Dolf and John Bergh.

—Ishpeming— Cornelius Kennedy is in the field for nomination as municipal judge. Rumor had connected his name with the candidacy ever since the idea of municipal court was first suggested, and his nomination has been regarded by his friends as a foregone conclusion. No open opposition to him has developed as yet. From a financial standpoint, the judgeship is the best thing in the whole list this year. It will be anywhere from $800 to $1,200 per year.

The auction sale of Adolph's livery and real estate will begin at 9 this morning at the livery barn on Pearl St. After everything is sold there the other property will go under the hammer.

—Negaunee— There is a possibility that there will be some lively doings in the third ward before the caucus decides who will be the candidate for alderman. N. T. Murphy has been mentioned in connection with the office, but there are other candidates.

30 Years Ago

—Marquette— John M. Longyear left last night for Chicago. He will go by air from there to Dallas, Texas, to meet his wife, who will return with him to Marquette.

C. C. Falk of Menominee was a Marquette visitor yesterday.

The Misses Elizabeth Whitte and Clara Teague are leaving today to spend several days visiting their parents in Painesdale. Pupils of Miss Margaret Hamby will give a program at 7:15 this evening in the Hamby Studios, High St. Featured on the program will be two scenes from the early life of Robert Schumann, and there will be piano numbers.

—Ishpeming— The senior class of the Ishpeming High School expects a capacity attendance for their play, "Polly of the Circus," which will be presented tonight at 8 in the high school auditorium.

Several hundred persons were unable to attend the Salvation Army's food matinee yesterday afternoon at the Ishpeming Theatre because of lack of seating space, and in order to accommodate those still holding tickets the program will be repeated this afternoon at 4.

—Negaunee— The Friday Musical Club will meet this evening in the auditorium of the fire hall. Miss Dorothy Miller will be the leader.

With Tallulah Bankhead and Robert Montgomery co-starring in their first appearance together, "Faithless," a story of the problems of the penniless rich, heads the program at the Vista for tonight and tomorrow.

Retirement Factors Cited By Franzen

Some persons are losing social security benefits because of failure to contact the social security office at retirement age, it was pointed out recently by George C. Franzen, Marquette district office manager.

It is not necessary to retire completely in order to get social security benefits. Most people are aware that they may receive benefits if they do not earn over $1,200 a year.

But far too many believe that if they earn over $1,200 a year, they lose all benefits. This is definitely not true, Franzen pointed out.

Some Payments Possible While some benefits will be withheld if earnings exceed $1,200, some payments may be possible. The method used to determine this is a fairly simple one. If earnings are $1,200 or less, benefits can be received for the entire year. For earnings of over $1,200 and including $1,700, one dollar in benefits is lost for each $2 of earnings. For earnings over $1,700, one dollar in benefits is lost for each one dollar earned. Franzen also stressed that, regardless of the earnings in a year, benefits can be paid for any month that an employee does not earn over $100 or a self-employed person does not render substantial services in connection with his trade or business.

Any worker who has reached retirement age should check with the social security office to see if he may be eligible for some benefits. Retirement age can be age 62 if reduced benefits are elected. All persons who are age 65 should contact the social security office if they have not already done so, as it may be to their advantage to file a claim, he said, even if they continue to work full time.

Revamping Fiscal Structure One Of Big Goals Of Con-Con

By GENE SCHROEDER

LANSING (AP)—A not-so-funny gag-line made the rounds of the bars in 1959. Customers began ordering a "Michigan on the rocks."

The gag didn't evoke many laughs.

Most citizens realized the state was in serious financial trouble. It had missed a payday for state employees, was unable to meet its bills when they came due and had a steadily-growing deficit of some $90 million.

Views Vary Widely

One of the major reasons for the calling of a Constitutional Convention was for a possible revamping of Michigan's basic fiscal structure.

Views on how well the convention succeeded vary widely.

"The new constitution would protect against another payless payday, and improve the ability of the state to pay its bills on time," says Gov. George Romney, who along with most Republicans is urging adoption of the proposed constitution.

Lifting Borrowing Ceiling

"The proposed finance and taxation article makes no progress in providing the flexibility required for state government in the 20th century," insists former Gov. John Swainson, who is leading Democratic opposition to the new document.

Romney says one feature that will help Michigan avoid future financial jams is the lifting of the present $250,000 ceiling on how much the state can borrow.

A study of the revised constitution by a committee of 32 professors from Michigan colleges and universities led to the conclusion there is both good and bad in the finance and taxation provisions. Sounder Debt Management

The educators on the Inter-University Faculty Committee on Constitutional Revision generally agreed with the conclusions reached, although not everyone necessarily subscribed to the interpretations.

"Some progress has been made in providing greater flexibility for management of the state's current and long-range obligations through a sounder system of debt management," the committee declared. "Needlessly Restrictive"

Agreeing the provisions for short-term borrowing provides protection from another "payless payday," the committee report said, however, that a provision requiring repayment within the same fiscal year is "needlessly restrictive and rigid."

"The major drawback of this provision is that the revenues of the state fluctuate rather widely with the business cycle, and will do so to an even greater extent if an income tax replaces the present Business Activity Tax and license taxes," it said.

The committee was not pleased with a provision barring a graduated income tax.

Flat Vs. Graduated Rate

Romney has described the feature as one which would protect wage-earners from any possibility that the state might duplicate the steeply graduated income tax pattern imposed by the federal government.

"A flat rate income tax would be clearly permitted, however, to provide flexibility in working out long range tax reform," he says. But the faculty committee observed:

"A flat rate income tax bears more heavily on low income than on high income families: The richer family may have to give up some luxuries while the poorer one may have to give up necessities, even though both are paying the same percentage of their incomes in taxes."

Earmarking Continued

The educators noted that earmarking of funds for highways, local government and school aid is continued.

"Although arguments both for and against earmarking can be made," they said, "the fact remains that such earmarking resolves the legislature the responsibility which is historically theirs—that of appropriation of funds according to the needs of the state."

Property Assessment

On the local government level, the proposed constitution provides property shall be assessed at no more than 50 per cent of true-cash value after Jan. 1, 1966, compared with the present 100 per cent of cash value.

It also retains the historic 15 mill property tax limitation, but provides the voters in any county may approve separate tax limitations up to an aggregate of 18 mills.

Might Force Nuisance Taxes

The faculty committee study of finance and taxation noted the two provisions probably will force more municipalities in the state into what it termed premature use of income and nuisance taxes.

In their findings on local government structure, the educators observed the constitutional convention had the power to adopt completely new stipulations.

But they pointed out any sweeping change might well have brought resistance from local governments enjoying a constitutional status under the present document.

Chose Pragmatic Course

"The convention chose a pragmatic course of action," the committee reported, "preserving basic traditions but permitting future modifications through permissive county home rule and possible legislation pertaining to metropolitan governments or authorities."

The committee said that in a large measure the proposed document continues the constitutional status of cities, villages, counties and townships.

Home Rule Kept Intact

It said the system of city and village home rule, which is kept intact, has resulted in the past five decades in local adoption of 189 city and 54 village home rule charters—about 48 per cent of the total of 221 cities and 290 villages in Michigan.

On the subject of county home rule, the committee reported a major change lies in the language permitting the legislature to create such a system by law.

"Progress could be made, especially in metropolitan and urban counties, provided the legislature passes a county home rule broad in scope," the committee added.

Metropolitan Authorities

Another modification cited by the educators was a provision pertaining to metropolitan governments or authorities.

"Since the new constitution retains constitutional status for various local units," they said, "it was necessary to establish beyond doubt the authority of the legislature to provide for other systems in metropolitan areas."

"The intent of the new language is that metropolitan governments or authorities shall be multifunctional."

In conclusion, the committee found that the local government article falls short of a "model" document.

Bank—or Department Store?

It's hard to tell which the picture shows, isn't it? Actually, it shows the lobby of a commercial bank, in which an assortment of wares is exhibited—because they illustrate goals attainable through use of bank services.

Banks often feature displays like this, giving their premises the appearance of department stores. In another way, America's commercial banks are department stores—of financial services. Under a single roof, the customer finds an assortment of useful credit services, and handy facilities for safeguarding possessions, transferring funds, and practicing thrift.

Bargains abound. Cost is low on loans for all sound purposes; safe deposit protection costs pennies weekly; the benefits of a checking account cost little or nothing; the unique advantages of a bank savings account are yours plus interest.

A century seems a short time indeed for commercial banking to have reached the state where it can offer the average American this all-around financial service.

It was just a century ago—in 1863—that President Abraham Lincoln signed the National Currency Act. By creating a national currency, the Act created a key growth catalyst for economic advancement. And by providing for Federally-chartered banks, to join the existing state-chartered banks, it created the "dual banking system" that has so greatly augmented that advancement.

An anniversary marks not only an end but also a beginning. As America's commercial banks look back on their record with pride, they look forward to a new century of progress—through service.

2 Injured, 3 Ticketed In Crackups

ISHPEMING — Two persons were injured and three drivers were ticketed in three area traffic collisions reported this morning by state police from the Marquette post.

Both injuries occurred in an accident at 11:50 Saturday morning on U. S. 41, at County Roads CR and GP, in Ishpeming Township.

Officers said Ronald Duhamel, 25, Champion, attempted to avoid a car which was not stopped before being driven onto the highway from the county road, resulting in his vehicle going out of control, skidding and rolling over.

Both Duhamel and his wife, Mary Lou, 23, were injured, but sought their own treatment. Extent of their injuries was not learned.

Duhamel's car, a 1960 sedan, was wrecked and had to be hauled from the scene by a wrecker.

Defective Brakes
The driver of the other car, William Moffett, Route 1, Ishpeming, was issued a ticket by state police for having defective brakes on his car.

At noon yesterday an automobile being driven west on County Road 456 by Harold Anderson, 53, Carlshend, went out of control 2.5 miles west of County Road 541, in Forsyth Township, smashing through a snowbank on the right and striking a clump of trees.

Speed Law Violation
The front end of his 1962 coach was damaged.

Anderson was ticketed by state police for a speed law violation.

An automobile being driven west on County Road 565 by Thomas Diebel, 21, Morton Grove, Ill., collided with a pickup truck operated by Randall Racine, 35, of 502 Nicholas Ave., Palmer, at 2:10 Saturday afternoon, at County Road 476, in Richmond Township.

State police said Diebel made a wide left turn, going into Racine's lane of travel. The left rear of Diebel's 1962 coach and the left rear of Racine's 1963 pickup were damaged.

Diebel was given a summons for driving to the left of the centerline.

'Golden Tiki' Among Custom Cars To Be Seen In Pistons' Show In Ishpeming May 4-5

ISHPEMING — Another custom car to be featured in the Peninsula Pistons' Custom Car Show to be held May 4-5 at the Ishpeming National Guard Armory is the "Golden Tiki."

Before describing the automobile, the club took opportunity to tell auto lovers just what a Tiki is.

Through the centuries, the Polynesian people have lived a carefree existence on the islands in the tropical South Pacific. Each day, they look to gods to guide and protect them, for each god represents a good or evil that must be appeased.

There is a Tiki god for nearly every act of nature and legend has it that the wearer will be protected from danger and enhanced with luck and charm.

The custom auto, in itself, represents a lot of work and accomplishment for its owner. To him it is a symbol of how his gods and evils are appeased.

The Peninsula Pistons express hope that the public will enjoy this car as much as the owner, Mike Donovan of Milwaukee.

This 1961 Mercury convertible, with gold dust Metallic paint, has a body which is nosed and decked, shaved front fenders, a bullet grille, 1958 DeSoto taillight, custom hub-caps and full length lakers.

The safety-minded auto club stated that the car has pleated gas, oil and water cans and a first aid kit, safety reflectors and flags, safety lights, flares, fire extinguisher, booster cable and a Cadium plated jack and handle.

Driven daily through rain, sleet, snow or hail, the car also is driven to each custom auto show near or far, club officials said.

'No. 1' Again Kiss Of Death: Loyola Downs CinCY In O'time For NCAA Title; Top-Ranked Team Hasn't Won Since 1957

LOUISVILLE (AP)—Memo to the nation's college basketball coaches: If you want to win the national collegiate championship, take two preliminary steps: 1. Play well but not quite well enough to earn the No. 1 rating. 2. Coach well but not quite impressively enough to be named Coach of the Year.

That's what George Ireland and the Loyola of Chicago Ramblers did. Heart Thumper Loyola's heart-thumping 60-58 overtime victory over two-year champion Cincinnati Saturday night extended the failure of the nation's top-ranking teams to six straight years.

Not since unbeaten North Carolina survived a triple overtime battle with second-ranked Kansas in the classic finals of 1957 has the No. 1 ranked team wound up with the championship.

Overwhelming Choice Now third-ranked Loyola has the crown in a season when Cincinnati was the overwhelming choice from start to finish.

If that doesn't indicate enough of a jinx, then figure this: In both 1961 and 1962, Ohio State's Fred Taylor had already made his thank-you speech as Coach of the Year when Cincinnati and Ed

Jucker knocked him away from the championship. This time, the voters took the hint. Jucker is the Coach of the Year and Ireland of Loyola is the champ.

'That's Basketball' It has got to the stage where the stock picture in the championship dressing room is a group shot of the various lesser-ranked teams pointing to the ceiling yelling: "We're No. 1", while the kids and the coach who were so ranked uttered something like: "That's basketball."

It was all of that last weekend here at Freedom Hall when a tap-night by 6-foot-6 Vic Rouse as time ran out brought the Loyola Ramblers their first national championship in their first NCAA appearance.

Wipe Out Deficit While Coach of the Year Jucker fidgeted on the bench and his team of the year stalled on the court, Loyola overcame a 15-point deficit and sent the exciting battle into overtime on a 10-foot jump shot by All-America Jerry Harkness. The Ramblers won it on Rouse's follow to a jumper by Les Hunter with one second remaining in the extra period.

Ireland had this observation: "It's a great thing for basketball when peasants like us can win the national championship. It should give the other peasants a lift."

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — The Chicago White Sox handed the Detroit Tigers a 6-5 defeat by breaking a tie in the 10th inning of their exhibition baseball game Sunday...

They also got the first earned run off Hank Aguirre in 18 innings of spring competition. It was Ron Hansen's homer in the knot.

Knot In Shoulder What concerned Tiger Manager Bob Scheffing the most, however, was Aguirre's complaint that he had developed a knot in his shoulder...

When Hopping Aguirre added, "It bothered me not I pitched against the Los Angeles Dodgers the other day. It was the same today. I didn't have much stuff after the first couple of innings. I could tell it by my fast ball. It wasn't hopping."

The White Sox broke the tie in Sunday's game on Pete Ward's third hit, a sharp single to center field. The hit scored pinch runner Al Weis from second base and rewarded Gary Peters, the most impressive left-handed White Sox pitcher so far, with the victory...

Tears of joy flowed freely as Britton's tall Tor- after a thrilling final game with Negaunee St. Paul. les accepted the State Class D championship trophy (AP).

Dom Jacobetti On State Prep All-Meet '5'

Dominic Jacobetti, one of the few sophomores ever given such honor, was named to the all-tournament team picked from players who competed in the state high school semi-finals and championship games at Lansing and East Lansing.

The Negaunee St. Paul ace, although he started only 5-11, scored 49 points in Friday's and Saturday's games in which the Upper Peninsula Class D titlists defeated Owosso St. Paul, 59-58, then lost to Britton-Macon by the same score.

It gave young Jacobetti a total of 149 points for seven post-season games and a total of 526 for 25 regular season tournament competition. With the 31 he scored as a freshman, he now has a career total of 837.

Among the Upper Peninsula's all-time top scorers (Trout Creek's Jim Manning, Champion's Bill Koski, Alpha's John Kocinski, Hermansville's Erwin Scholtz and Chass's Don Mattson), only Kocinski — with 747 — was ahead of Jacobetti's mark at the end of his sophomore year.

Fritz Wilson, first-year coach of the Houghton Gremlins, learned some of his basketball from Ron Morrison, coach of the New Buffalo Tories who defeated Houghton, 59-58, in the Class C state finals. Morrison was a student at Northern Michigan College and a physical education instructor when Wilson was a junior high pupil at Marquette Pierce Training School.

St. Paul, which had averaged about 63 points in compiling a 14-4 season record, never reached that mark in its seven tournament outings. But Coach Allan Dighera's Emeralds were consistent in their team scoring, hitting 59 points three times, 58, 57, 55 and 53 once each.

St. Paul, incidentally, was the fourth Mid-Peninsula Conference champion to gain a regional basketball title in the four years the league has been in operation. Gwinn took a Class C title in 1960, then Marquette Pierce and Champion preceded the Emeralds in gaining Class D honors.

Joining "Duke" Jacobetti on the first team of the All-tournament squad (picked from finalists and semifinalists) were:

Bruce Rodwan of Class A champion Ferdale, Larry Brazon of Class B champion River Rouge, Jerry Kisman of Class C champion New Buffalo, Phil Benedict of Class D champion Britton-Macon.

The second team: Glenn Mankowski, New Buffalo; Jeff Hicks, Ferdale; Joe Hubbard, Adrian; and Jerry Terpstra, Hudsonville Unity Christian.

Ex-Dodger Stan Williams Paces Yanks Against Mets

(By The Associated Press) If the 1962 New York Yankees had a fault, a weakness, it was lack of pitching depth. It wasn't enough to keep them from winning the World Series, but that was the flaw the experts pointed out.

So the Yanks went out and got themselves a pitcher. So the rest of the American League, as usual, had better look out. Stan Williams, a hulking right-hander counted on by the Yanks to become their fourth regular starting pitcher, turned in one of the better jobs of the spring exhibition season Sunday, allowing only a single hit and but three base-runners in a six-inning pitching chore.

Young Jim Bouton finished up the last three innings at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., preserving the one-hitter and helping the Yankees to a 3-0 victory over their cross-town National League rivals, the Mets.

In other games, Milwaukee whipped St. Louis 8-4 at St. Petersburg, Bernie Allen's single drove in the winning run in Philadelphia's 4-3 12-inning victory over Washington 6-5.

Bradenton, the Chicago White Sox edged Detroit 6-5 in 10 innings at Sarasota. Pittsburgh blasted Cincinnati 11-3 at Tampa, Cleveland beat Boston 7-4 at Scottsdale, Ariz., the Los Angeles Angels came from behind and beat Houston 6-5 at Las Vegas and San Francisco whipped the Chicago Cubs 11-6 at Phoenix.

Williams, 6-foot-4 and 230 pounds, came to the Yanks from the Dodgers in exchange for first baseman Bill Skowron.

Providence '5' Tops NIT NEW YORK (AP)—Providence Coach Joe Mullaney described it pretty well. "This was their best," he said. "They have a great offense and a great defense and in this one they blended everything."

Mullaney was talking about his Friars, who came off a troubled, uncertain start to build the longest winning string among the nation's major college basketball teams and capture one of the game's most prized titles—the National Invitation Tournament championship.

Providence nailed it down with an 81-66 victory over Canisius in the title game Saturday, displaying its usual racehorse, fast-break offense and devastating defense, a combination of man to man and zone.

The victory was the Friars' 15th straight after they had struggled to an unimpressive 9-4 record early in the season.

Small School Star Raises Pole Vault World Mark To 16-3 MONROE, La. (AP)—John Pennel, who raised the world pole vault record to 16 feet, 3 inches, today owes his success to a borrowed fiberglass pole and movies.

The 22-year-old Northeast Louisiana State senior cleared the height with room to spare on his second attempt at the Memphis Relays Saturday. Pennel made three unsuccessful attempts at 16-7. He barely brushed off the bar with his chest once.

Big Britton, New Buffalo Edge St. Paul, Houghton In Finals

Rouge, Three Newcomers State Titlists

(By The Associated Press) An old familiar name and three brand new ones were added to the list of Michigan high school basketball champions Saturday.

Ferdale (22-0) topped the Class A title with a 76-58 triumph over Adrian: River Rouge (25-1) took its third straight Class B crown by downing Hudsonville Unity Christian 59-49; New Buffalo (20-3) rallied to nip Houghton 59-58 for the Class C title, and Britton-Macon (23-0) edged Negaunee St. Paul 59-58 in the Class D finale.

Only River Rouge had ever won before, and it could be its last season as a Class B power. The enrollment at the suburban Detroit school is just under the 900 needed for Class A classification, and the Panthers could be playing in the higher class come tournament time next year.

The three-season finals at the Jenison Fieldhouse on the Michigan State University campus attracted 37,161 fans. The Class A final was also televised by a seven station statewide network. Easy Final Ferdale's easy victory in the final game of the day followed three straight one-point decisions by the Eagles. Adrian, meanwhile, had a couple of two-point triumphs, plus a surprising 59-58 semifinal victory over previously unbeaten Saginaw Arthur Hill, in its trip to the championship contest.

Ferdale's rebounding ability and better all-around play decided the Class A contest. Adrian jumped to a 6-2 lead at the start, but Ferdale scored 12 straight points to take a 14-6 lead that was never headed.

Ernie Rodwan topped all scorers with 25 points and also picked off 20 rebounds. Truman McNeal added 14 points to the Ferdale total and Bob Falardeau 13. Falardeau also had 15 rebounds as the Eagles held a 63-38 edge on the boards.

Steve Rymal netted 15 points for the Panthers. River Rouge was something less than its usual powerful self in topping Hudsonville Unity. The Panthers played the entire game without substituting — a rare feat for a River Rouge team — and made numerous mistakes.

Couldn't Do It But Unity, the pride of western Michigan, failed to take advantage of Rouge's mistakes and had to settle for the runner-up trophy.

Unheared Larry Brazon collected 14 rebounds and 15 points to spearhead the River Rouge attack. Bill Dunson had one more point than Brazon and copped game scoring honors.

Jerry Terpstra collected 15 of Unity's points, while Doug Oosten-dorp snatched the most rebounds, 14.

'Midnight' Minute Too Early For U.P.'s Cinderella Teams In 59-58 State Final Games

EAST LANSING — Midnight arrived one minute too early for a pair of Upper Peninsula "Cinderella" teams that were seeking state basketball titles in two classes Saturday afternoon at Jenison Fieldhouse.

As in the case of the fairy tale heroine, who lost her glass slipper in her flight from the ball at the last minute, St. Paul High of Negaunee and Houghton lost state championships in the final 60 seconds of play on Saturday.

St. Paul, making its first run for the title, was nipped by Britton-Macon, 59-58; while Houghton, a veteran in state tournament circles, was edged by New Buffalo by the same score.

Both Upper Peninsula representatives held an edge on opponents in shooting percentages from the field and free throw line — but both were eventually victims of height advantages enjoyed by Lower Michigan entries.

Negaunee St. Paul, which encountered the two tallest teams in the state meet in any class, ran into another club averaging 6-3 in Britton, which was headed by Phil Benedict, 6-8 pivot man. Benedict picked up five field goals in the first quarter on right-handed hook shots and tip-ins to give the Tories a 16-15 lead at the end of the period.

St. Paul fell behind twice in the second period by four points at 25-21 and 27-23, but the Emeralds came back on a field goal by Rod Guizzetti, four consecutive gift shots by Dom Jacobetti, and a free throw by Guizzetti to move ahead 30-29 at the intermission.

Guizzetti's free throw came as a result of the fourth foul on Benedict and with the Britton giant sitting on the bench in the first two minutes of the third period, the Negaunee Catholics quickly pulled seven points ahead, 36-31. Back into the fray came the pesky Benedict at the five minute mark, and he scored eight points as the Tories cut the Emerald lead to one point, 47-46 at the end of the quarter.

Britton recaptured the lead for the first time since the second quarter at 50-49 with 4:01 to play in the last stanza, but Guizzetti converted one of two charity tosses to tie the score with 3:53 to go.

Benedict and Guizzetti traded baskets to leave the count knotted at 52 points apiece with 2:24 remaining. Then the Emeralds moved out in front on a corner shot by Dennis Baratoano, and a gain of possession of the ball due to a traveling violation by Britton. St. Paul took time out with 1:46 showing on the clock.

Following a conference with Coach Al Dighera, the Catholics decided to put the ball in the deep freeze — a ploy which had worked successfully against Owosso St. Paul in the semifinal round. The strategy worked in that it resulted in fouls by Britton, but the plan backfired when Dom Jacobetti missed the first free throw on two one-and-one situations.

Each time Benedict pulled down the rebound, and baskets by Tom Koman and Fred McCrate gave Britton a 56-54 lead with 36 seconds to go. Another corner shot by Baratoano made it 58-56, and with the Tories stalling, Guizzetti fouled Koman. He missed the free throw, but Benedict controlled the rebound and with six seconds to play Dom Jacobetti fouled Pepper Griewahn.

It was the fourth foul of the second half on the Parochials and Griewahn made good his lone attempt from the charity stripe. The free throw provided Britton with the needed margin, for Jacobetti immediately connected on a long-one-handed jump shot that beat the buzzer to make the final score 59-58.

Benedict paced Britton to its first state title with 26 points, while Guizzetti and Dom Jacobetti contributed 22 and 20 respectively to the St. Paul total. The decided height advantage gave the Tories a 68-37 edge on rebounds, and enabled them to get off 80 shots as compared to 48 by the Emeralds.

Bye-Bye Bobo! Tigers Deal Osborne To Nats POMPAÑO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Detroit Tigers sold Larry Osborne, 27-year-old utility player, to the Washington Senators Saturday for an undisclosed amount of cash and a minor league player to be named later.

Osborne, a left-handed hitter, played 234 games for Detroit over five years and had a .200 batting average.

In contrast to the Class D title game, which was nip and tuck throughout, Houghton threatened to make a run away of the Class C championship affair as the red hot Gremlins, hitting on 66 per cent of their field goal attempts, took a 19-5 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Early in the second period, Houghton increased its spread to 18 points at 25-7, but then the Gremlins cooled off, and instead of playing for the good shot they continued to bomb away. By way of contrast, Gerry Kisman, 6-6 New Buffalo center, and Glenn Mankowski, 6-5 forward started to find the range. Combining for 16 of the 17 points scored by the Bisons in the quarter, they cut the Houghton margin to seven points, 29-22 at the intermission.

Houghton outscored New Buffalo 18-16 in the third period to carry a nine point, 47-38 lead into the last eight minutes of play, but loss of two starters via the five foul rule, John Fryxell midway in the third quarter, and Chuck Noetzel early in the final period proved costly to the Gremlins. All told, the Copper Country quint was lagged with 19 fouls, compared with seven charged against New Buffalo, five of which came in the closing eight minutes of play.

Despite the loss of two regulars, Houghton was still in front 52-44 with 5:45 to go when the Gremlins, after a timeout talk with Coach Fritz Wilson, went into a control game. However, the Copper Country club missed three field goal attempts, while the Bisons hit four in a row, two by Kisman, plus one apiece by Jim Glossinger and Jim Sosnoski.

Two free throws by Jim Messner made the score 56-52 Houghton, but buckets by Kisman and Mankowski tied the count at 56-56 with 52 seconds remaining. Kisman's fifth basket of the quarter gave New Buffalo the lead for the first time, 58-56 with 35 seconds to play, and with 11 seconds to go Mike Laurin fouled George Gooch while attempting to break up the Bisons' stall.

Gooch made the second of two free throws attempts awarded on an intentional foul, and as in the Class D game, it provided the victory margin when Don Stipech's field goal attempt beat the buzzer to leave the Gremlin's trailing by one point, 59-58. Kisman led the individual scoring parade with 26 points, and received ample support from Mankowski with 16 and Glossinger with 11. Houghton had two players in double figures, Stipech and Noetzel with 14 and 13 respectively.

And Couldn't Be Prouder The yells and slogans were old as the iron hills around the city, but they rang true through the streets of proud Negaunee, Sunday evening, as the pioneer town saluted its near-champion St. Paul Emeralds.

Back home, in country where 6-5 centers don't grow on trees, the little Emeralds rolled into town about 6:30, coming on County Road 480, where a series of small signs, and some clusters of young fans, saluted their fine achievements against huge odds.

Where "480" meets Main Street, the team and Coach Al Dighera mounted a city fire truck, and met a convertible loaded with St. Paul's proud cheerleaders. Then, toting the big runner-up trophy, with a long trail of honking cars following them, they toured the business district, crowded with fans, and headed for Memorial Gym.

About 2,000 fans were there to greet them, and hear tributes from Mayor Dorste Roos, their pastor Fr. Robert Cordy (a member of Iron Mountain's 1928 State Championship team), Fr. Paul Schiska, athletic director, Coach Dighera, Coach Jack Taylor of Negaunee High, ex-St. Paul Coaches Dick Fellow and Fran Dighera, JV Coach Dave Bertucci.

The Negaunee City Band provided music for the program. Team Captain Colin Jacobetti presented the runner-up trophy to the school.

C. J. Tamblin headed the welcoming committee, along with Bertil Agnoli. Other included James Domperre, Joseph Comensoli, Jr., Tom Baldini, Ellsworth Robare, Fello, David Domperre. The words of praise echoed statements by Michigan State University Coach Forry Anderson, saluting the Emeralds and Coach Dighera both privately and publicly, in Lansing. "There was 'wait till next year' in the air, but the cheer for this team, this day was 'Satisfied? — Real satisfied!'"

MQT. PRISON NIGHTS "Brud" Coppens bowled a 559 (195-209-155) while Casino Bar led the teams at 2,376 with an 858 high game.
