Blue Shield Accusation Refuted

DETROIT (AP) - The attorney representing Insurance Commissioner Sherwood Colburn Wednesday denied Colburn was trying to wreck Michigan Medical Service Inc. (Blue Shield)

The denial by Myron A. McMilan followed a charge by Blue Shield attorney Henry Sills that "it is the intent of the commissioner to destroy Blue Shield as it has existed for 23 years."

Contention

The exchange took place at a court hearing before Circuit Judge Theodore Bohn on Colburn's petition for a permanent injunction to prevent Blue Shield from putting a 19.3 per cent rate increase into effect June 1.

A temporary injunction prevent-ed Blue Shield from sending out bills at the higher rate Wednesday.

It was Sills' contention the court had no jurisdiction to rule on the dispute and he said Colburn had no authority to bring the suit into court.

Police Unable To Locate Convicts In Coldwater Area

COLDWATER (AP) - The search for four convicts who escaped last week from Southern Michigan Prison centered on a wooded area near here Wednes-day. But state police called off the hunt after they failed to turn up any clues.

An airplane, two dogs and 50 policemen rushed to the scene after a fisherman reported four men were standing near his car and that one of them pulled a gun when he asked what they were doing.

No Clues

The fisherman fled and said he saw the four men enter the woods. The search was called off at 4 p.m.

Police have not turned up any clues since the four escaped by sawing their way out of their cells eight days ago. The fugitives are Richard Mauch, 40; James J. Hall, 39; Robert L. Gipson, 30, and Elmer J. Crachy, 35. See Valiant in action on "Empire"-NBC-TV

At that time ships and boats were not equipped with radios, and only visual signalling was possible.

Sailing ships normally plotted their courses by following the coastline and quite often this proved disastrous, with the vessel running aground or striking submerged rocks or shoals close offshore.

Demos Hurry To File For Vote Recount

LANSING (AP) - Democrats were hustling to meet the dead-line today to file for a partial recount of the April 1 vote approving the new state Constitution.

"We will file for a recount of enough precincts to establish the accuracy of the vote beyond a reasonable doubt," said Zolton Ferency, Democratic state central committee chairman. The official vole shows the Constitution was adopted by a margin of 7.829. Ferency said more than 1.000 of the state's 5,209 precincts will be recounted. Precincts will be selected on a widely representative basis throughout the state and will include some in the Upper Penin-sula, he said. Latest Tally

The latest tally of cash contributions showed slightly more than $8,000 on hand for the recount Democrats will have to post $5 bond a precinct. The money will be forfeited if the recount fails to overturn the vote favoring the Constitution but will be refunded if it is successful.

Democrats have until midnight to file their list of precincts and post their money with the elections division of the Secretary of State's office. Ferency said it would probably be done this afternoon.

The Coordinating Committee for the New Constitution planned to file counter-petitions to recount some precincts after the Democrats file.

superintendent of power production for Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co.

Rathman, noting that a proposed diversion averaging 400 gallons per minute would have a value of approximately $2,000 annually, stated that while his company opposed in principle the diversion of water from any sources on which it has hydro-electric plants located. Wisconsin - Michigan would not object to the program, provided the diversion was limited to the 400 gailons per minute average.

Development Plans Told

Michael Archibald, representing North Range, outlined plans of the company for developments of its Champion Mine beneficiation and briquetting plant which, he revealed. North Range hopes to have in operation in 1964. He traced the history of the financing of the project, including steps taken to obtain an ARA loan that is ready for release when the company completes negotiations for its share of the cost of the project.

Archibald pointed out that without the projected plant the property would be exhausted of high grade reserves this year. He informed the hearing commissioner that water needs for development of low grade ores through beneficiation and briquetting were estimated at 1,200 gallons per minute for approximately a 10-day period during which the tailing pond would be filled, and thereafter an average of 400 gallons per minute. From studies we have made,

Lake Michigamme appears to be the only feasible source of supply in the area," he said. "Underground at the Champion we pump only about 40 gallons per minute; two test wells proved insufficient to develop any material increase, and Champion High School at times is even forced to conserve water. In general, there is a shortage of underground water in the Champion area."

Concerning the position of the company about the possibility of diversion having an adverse effect on the lake. Archibald noted that a North Range study showed the amount of water the company proposed to take could affect the lake level by one inch or less.

Questioned by Foley regarding prospects of employment at the end of this year if the permit to divert were not granted, the North Range representative said: "The immediate prospect is no employment, unless there is a radical change in market conditions."

'No Injurious Effect'

Following Archibald on the stand was Norman F. Billings, assistant executive secretary of the Water Resources Commission and chief of the hydrology division. who testified regarding studies made by his staff on the effect of diversion on the lake. The studies concerned the rate of flow of the Peshekee River for a 14-month period from July of 1961 to Sep-tember of 1962 and the lake level for a 20-year period. Figures were provided by the U.S. Geological Survey. "Based on our studies, the proposed diversion would have no injurious effect as far as the public is concerned," Billings testified. "It is the recommendation of our staff, however, that devices be in-stalled which would annually re-

Although the Sawyermen did not perform flawlessly in the field. they did show enough to prove that they're not going to be giving many runs away. The outstanding defensive play of the game was made by Sawyer's Jim Jeffords when he threw a man out from right field on what would otherwise have been a line single.
