Birmingham Jails Loaded With Negroes

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Birmingham jails were filled today with hundreds of Negroes arrested in what integration leaders described as the initial thrust of a massive renewal of protest demonstrations.

The number arrested in Thursday's waves of marches and picketing was estimated at 700 by City Jailor Chester Austin. He said more than 300 were booked at City Jail.

Prisoners
A nation estimated 300-400 were locked at the Juvenile Detention Home and the County Jail reported about 100 prisoners were taken there.

Police said a few rocks were thrown at officers during the demonstration but that none was hit. There were no reports of any other violence.

"We are definitely starting a stepped-up campaign to lay our grievances before the conscience of the community," said Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., symbolic leader of the Southern integration fight.

"We will have continued demonstrations," King said.

Charges of parading without a permit were filed against most of the Negroes. Some adults were charged with failing to obey officers.

Celotex Plans Pilot Recreation Project On Lake In Baraga County

L'ANSE — Success of a Celotex Corp. pilot recreational development project on Baraga County's Peticot Lake could go far in determining the future patterns of industrial forest management in the Upper Peninsula.

Although Celotex Corp. officials refuse to comment on the project, it is an open secret that bulldozers already are at work developing shoreline property on the lake in preparation for erection of Jim Walter Corp. model homes. Celotex plans apparently call for subdivision of the valuable lake front property and its sale — with or without Walter homes.

Research Study Proposed
This pilot project appears to be the first step in the implementation of a plan developed at the request of Jim Walter, Tampa, Fla., builder and new majority stockholder of Celotex Corp., who parlayed a $400 loan into a multi-million dollar corporation and became the nation's largest builder of shell homes.

Following an inspection tour of company lands in the L'Anse area last summer, Walter proposed that a research study of the recreational potential of Celotex holdings in the U.P. be made and that parcels of prime recreational property be diverted from strict timber production to the highly profitable field of intensive recreational development.

Hold 185,000 Acres
Celotex holds 185,000 acres of forest land plus timber rights on an addition 57,000 acres in Baraga and surrounding counties, with frontage on approximately 250 inland lakes. Walter apparently considers it poor business management to continue using attractive lakeshore and scenic property solely for production of pulpwood and saw logs.

Many forest owners, faced with an ever-increasing tax burden on their timberlands, have resorted to enrolling their lands under the commercial forest reserve act in order to take advantage of special tax benefits. In turn, this loss

Keyes Dead At Age 62

DEARBORN (AP) — Eugene C. Keyes, 62, former lieutenant governor, died Thursday of a heart ailment at his medical clinic here.

Keyes, one of Michigan's most colorful political figures, served two terms as Republican lieutenant governor, 1942-44 and 1946-48. After failing to win his party's nomination for governor in 1950 and 1954, he left the Republican Party. He was also unsuccessful in his attempt to get the GOP nomination for U.S. Senate in 1952.

An attempt to win the Democratic nomination as lieutenant governor in 1960 also was unsuccessful.

Keyes was a doctor, lawyer and dentist, besides being a longtime politician.

U.S. Eagerly Awaits Word On Climbers

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — With the Stars and Stripes already planted on the roof of the world, word was eagerly awaited today whether an American expedition had succeeded in conquering Mt. Everest for a second time.

Two members of the American Everest expedition reached the 29,028-foot summit of the world's highest mountain at 1 p.m. (2:30 a.m. Eastern Standard Time) Wednesday, an expedition spokesman announced Thursday night. Presumably the two climbers returned to the assault camp, 1,228 feet below the summit before nightfall Wednesday.

All Personnel Well
The expedition's base camp radioed Katmandu today that all personnel were well but added no details.

The expedition's plans called for a second team, which had been climbing a day behind the first group, to press on to the summit. This would match a Swiss feat in 1956, when two teams reached the peak on successive days.

Third Team
Later, a third American team was to try for the top. But in Katmandu today there was no word beyond the bare announcement that the first team had reached the peak and planted the U. S. flag.

The expedition's policy is to keep the identities of the various teams secret until all three groups have returned to safety. It was not even known whether both of the first conquerors were Americans or whether one was a Sherpa, from the native tribe of mountaineers that furnished the guides and porters for the expedition.

2 Guards Fired At Jackson

LANSING (AP) — Corrections Director Gus Harrison today ordered the firing of two guards in connection with the April 23 escape by four convicts from Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

Two other guards were returned to duty. All four had been suspended pending a complete investigation of the circumstances surrounding the break.

Neglect
Guards Elmer McLain and Lynwood Miller, stationed in the cell block from which the four saved their way to freedom, were fired.

"No extenuating circumstances have come to my attention," said Harrison in ordering the firing. "These officers neglected long-time prison practices, particularly in the matter of taking count. They did not do their job."

Harrison said he agreed with warden George Kropp that the two should be dismissed.

Returned To Duty
Guards August Pruse and William Cooper, who were stationed on outside guard posts the night of the break, were ordered returned to duty.

"To hold these officers responsible for their failure to see the escapees would be an injustice," Harrison said.

Police Note 'Deceptions' In Lie Test

COLDWATER (AP) — Branch County sheriff's officers and a state police detective Thursday questioned a Coldwater man who said he saw four escapees from Southern Michigan Prison.

After the interrogation, Sheriff Keith Wehmel said George Wilburn, 33, had been given a polygraph test "and it showed some deception." Wehmel would not elaborate. He said no further action has been taken at this time.

Rushed To Scene
Wilburn told police Wednesday he was fishing two miles southwest of here when he noticed four men standing by his parked car. He said he fled after one of the men pulled a gun.

An airplane, two dogs and 50 policemen were rushed to the scene and combed the area without turning up a clue.

Still At Large
The four fugitives still are at large. They escaped nine days ago after saving their way out of their cells.

Congolese Paratroops Crush Police Mutiny

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo — Congolese paratroops crushed a mutiny this morning by Leopoldville city police who arrested their superior officers in a bid for higher pay.

Michigan Gov. George Romney, above, repeated Thursday that he is not and he will not become a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1964. (AP Wirephoto).

Miller Knows Of No Drive For Romney

WASHINGTON (AP) — William E. Miller, Republican national chairman, said today he knows of no concerted drive to boost Michigan Gov. George Romney for the 1964 presidential nomination.

"I'd say he is being considered as well as many other candidates," the New York congressman said in an interview.

Romney himself tried to quash rumors Thursday that friends are quietly putting him forward as the potential Republican candidate in 1964.

'Not A Candidate'
"I am not a candidate for president; I am not going to become one," Romney said again and again at a news conference.

The Governor called in reporters to deny a story in the New York Times that he would be "quietly put forward" at a reception being held Thursday by Mrs. J. Willard Marriott, the Republican national committeewoman for the District of Columbia.

Romney would not go the way of Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman, a Civil War hero who declared in 1884 when boomed for the Republican nomination: "If nominated, I will not accept; if elected, I will not serve."

Draft?
"I am not a candidate for president," Romney repeated. "I am not going to become one."

He added: "I don't care what the timing is, six months from now or nine months from now, I will say the same thing."

Asked if Romney seemed available for a draft at the Republican convention in 1964, Miller said, "I don't think there is such a thing as a draft."

U.S., Haiti Drift Farther Apart As Protests Ignored

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Relations with Haiti are deteriorating rapidly.

In the past five days, the U.S. Embassy has fired off five protests to President Francois Duvalier's government, complaining about different incidents. All have been ignored.

The incidents were:
1. A bitterly anti-American address April 21 by Jacques Fourcade, pistol-carrying head of Haiti's Red Cross, at a ceremony launching a government-sponsored "month of gratefulness" to Duvalier. Fourcade called the United States a false democracy and said Haiti would not be a "tool of Washington."

Marine's Wife Held
2. The wife of a U.S. Marine sergeant was held in jail for two and a half hours and a noise bomb exploded in the yard of another Marine sergeant.

3. Police arrested a Haitian secretary employed by the U.S. Embassy and are still holding her. A second Haitian secretary was marched off at gunpoint by a Haitian soldier as she was about to report for work. She was detained briefly.

4. A slowdown on exit permits for U.S. citizens living in Haiti. The issuance of visas was speeded up later. About 3,000 Americans reside here, but there has been no sign of an exodus.

Stopped At Roadblock
5. The first secretary of the U.S. Embassy was stopped at a roadblock at 2 a.m. when driving to work and made to stand in front of the headlights with his hands up before he was released.

Duvalier's regime demanded last week that the United States withdraw the 60-member Marine Corps mission which has been training the Haitian army. Less than half the Marines are preparing to leave in the near future. The rest are being incorporated in the military assistance advisory group which supervises the use made of American military equipment furnished Haiti.

On the American side, officials in Washington make no secret of the Kennedy administration's dislike for Duvalier's dictatorship. The United States cut off aid to Haiti for six months in 1961-62. Thursday the State Department warned U.S. citizens to "avoid unnecessary travel to Haiti" because of the tense and potentially explosive situation in the country.

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The threat of war between two Caribbean neighbors eased still further today with the Dominican Republic's acceptance of the Haitian offer to let 15 political refugees in the Dominican Embassy in Port au Prince leave the country and the other seven go to the Colombian Embassy.

Syrian Split Poses Threat To Arab Union

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The unborn Arab union of Syria, Iraq and Egypt was reported threatened today by a split in the revolutionary government of Syria.

Reliable sources in Beirut reported six pro-Nasser members of the Syrian Cabinet and of the ruling National Revolutionary Council have resigned, leaving the Baath Socialist party in control of the country.

Six civilian members of the 25-man Revolutionary Council walked out at the same time, the sources reported.

Censorship
Tight censorship in Damascus prevented direct reports on the split between the two factions which staged the March 8 coup.

The walkouts left the Baath party running what appeared to be a one-party regime. President Gamal Abdel Nasser made clear during the unity talks in Cairo last month that he would not accept Baath domination of Syria within the new United Arab Republic.

Boeing Boss Issues Dare To Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the Boeing Co. has issued a challenge to the Pentagon: Let Boeing build four prototype TFX warplanes and test them against those of the General Dynamics Co., the winning bidder.

'Best Possibility'
William M. Allen told the Senate Investigations subcommittee Thursday, "offers the best possibility to assure the American people that the best weapons systems are being bought at the least cost."

In fact, Allen said, he prefers a test to reversal of the Pentagon's decision and award of the contract to Boeing.

Defense
The industrialist issued the challenge while denying that Boeing's bid on the TFX was unrealistically low.

In defending the award to General Dynamics, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has said he and other civilian chiefs felt Boeing's offer was unrealistically low.

Jets Collide, 2 Pilots Die

KINGSTON, N.Y. (AP) — Two veteran civilian test pilots, checking out electronic equipment, collided over the Catskill Mountains late Thursday in F105D Thunderchief jet fighters. Both were killed.

Their test flight was of such a nature that it should not have contributed to a collision, a Republic Aviation Corp. spokesman at Farmingdale, N.Y., said.

Victims
Killed were Jack Bade, 42, of Massapequa, N.Y., a much-decorated Army Air Corps ace of World War II, and Don Seaver, 37, of Fort Walton Beach, Fla., a Navy combat pilot of World War II and Korea.

Oakland Judge Rules Case Fit To Face Trial

PONTIAC (AP) — Oakland County Circuit Judge William Beer ruled Thursday that Carl Case, 19, is able to stand trial on a charge of killing a teenage boy with a fire iron. Beer's ruling followed a sanity hearing.

A May 14 trial date was set by Beer after he ruled Case was mentally competent for the proceedings.

Case is charged with the murder last March 27 of Leonard Reed, 16, of White Lake Township, Oakland County. Leonard was fatally beaten and his 14-year-old sister, Naomi, seriously injured.

Policeman Killed By His Own Gun

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit policeman accidentally shot and killed himself as he sat in a veterinary hospital Thursday night.

Patrolman Herbert J. Jamison, 38, died after a slug from a .38 caliber derringer struck him in the right hip.

Police said Jamison apparently was carrying the two-shot gun in his jacket pocket. They said it must have fallen to the floor and discharged when the officer made a sudden grab for his dog.

His wife, Annabella, 39, said Jamison was holding the dog when it jumped.

Siamese Twins Six-Months-Old

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Siamese twin brothers, who are joined at the top of their heads, are six months old today.

Mark and Michael Genovese, sons of Marine Sgt. and Mrs. James Genovese, have been in North Carolina Baptist Hospital since they were five days old.

A physician said it will take four or five operations to separate the boys. He said tests will be made to determine the extent of internal connections, "but there are some things we won't know until we operate and look inside."

Hearing Slated On Trout Study

HOUGHTON (AP) — A public hearing will be held May 21 at Houghton to discuss results of a study at Lake Superior since waters there were closed to commercial trout fishing last June.

The meeting, to be held at the Michigan College of Mining and Technology, was arranged by the State Conservation Department. Latest findings on lamprey predation, lake trout stocks and their reproduction will be outlined by experts in their fields.

Mediators Seek To End Dispute

DETROIT (AP) — Federal and state mediators renewed efforts today to settle a labor dispute that has halted structural steel and iron work on construction projects in southeastern Michigan.

The work stoppage started Tuesday night when 1,700 members of Iron Workers Local 25 stayed away from their jobs.

The local's business manager, Henry Cooper, said 300 projects were affected.

"The men were fed up because their work is hazardous and wage rates are falling behind rates in other cities," Cooper said. "So they stayed home."

At What Point May Citizen Use His Gun?

CHICAGO (AP) — At what point may a citizen use a gun to protect his property?

A lively debate in Chicago on that question is posed by the case of Mario Fagnani, 32, a mechanical engineer.

Fagnani told police he woke early Sunday, and saw four youths pushing his car from the driveway of his West Side home. He snatched up a pistol, ran downstairs and fired.

Juan Figueroa, 18, was shot in the left leg. He was carried away by his companions in another auto that police said had been stolen.

For the shooting Fagnani was charged with reckless conduct. If convicted, he could face a maximum penalty of one year in prison or a $1,000 fine.

The charge was filed under a new Illinois Criminal Code adopted last year. Under the code a citizen may use force likely to cause great injury or death only if he reasonably believes such force is necessary to prevent the commission of a crime that carries the threat of violence.

3 Condemned Men Get Stays Of Execution

WASHINGTON — Justice Douglas of the Supreme Court granted stays of execution to three men scheduled to die today in California's gas chamber at San Quentin Prison.

A fourth man who had been scheduled to die won a commutation from the governor Thursday night.

Shotgun Murder
The three scheduled to die were convicted of the 1959 shotgun murder of a witness in a robbery trial involving one of the three condemned men, Joseph Rosato, 39.

Rosato's accomplices in the plot that killed Leslie J. Simpson, an Anaheim, Calif., tavern owner, were John F. Vlahovich, 31, and Donald G. Franklin, 31.

Thursday night, Gov. Edmund G. Brown commuted to life imprisonment without possibility of parole the sentence of Charles J. Golston, 22, a Negro convicted of raping and strangling a 79-year-old Los Angeles woman.

Man Slays His Mother

WVANDOTTE (AP) — A bachelor told a priest that he beat his 75-year-old mother to death Thursday night because she would not give him money for liquor, police said.

Police held Edward Wornyn, 39, who was on medical leave from his job because of a nervous condition, for investigation in the death of Mrs. Josephine Wornyn, with whom he lived.

Police quoted Wornyn as saying he knocked his mother to the floor and kicked her several times.

"My mother always was good to me," police quoted Wornyn as saying. "I'm sorry I did it."

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee voted today to restore $30 million of the $69.8 million that the House cut from the operations budget of the Post Office Department for the next year.

Senators said they were confident this would make unnecessary any substantial reductions in postal service in the fiscal year starting July 1.

Planners Say Mall Needed To Aid City Business District

Planners believe that a mall is necessary to halt what they term a "deterioration of the downtown business district and the area's tourist business."

Their suggestion was made at last night's meeting of the Marquette Area Planning Commission held in the city hall.

A mall, which would extend on W. Washington St. from Front St. to Third St., has been suggested by the Marquette area's planning firm, Vilican-Leman and Associates, Inc., Southfield, as one means of improving retail sales in this area.

Vilican-Leman is conducting the "701 Study" under contract with the City of Marquette and Chocoma and Marquette Townships.

From "701 Study"

The "701 Study" is derived from Section 701 of the Area Redevelopment Act, which enables the federal government to participate in local projects on a 50-50 basis, or as in the case of Marquette, a 75-25 basis, because the area has been designated a depressed area.

Members of the planning commission, along with several interested businessmen, heard the planning consultant here, Max Putters, and a principal in the planning firm, Charles Leman, discuss the mall.

Responsibility With Community

Leman said the role of the planning commission and the planning firm is to bring forth new thinking, such as a mall proposal, but the responsibility for promoting and developing the ideas rests with the community.

For example, in Kalamazoo, where a planning firm suggested a mall, an organization of businessmen with vital interest in the downtown financial situation promoted the project, and the planning firm provided technical help on parking and traffic problems.

"If there is interest in the mall in Marquette, Vilican-Leman will give you all the help we can, including a study of whether a mall is feasible here and aid in obtaining funds for the project," Leman said.

Tourist Effect Noted

Clare Gunn, East Lansing, Michigan State University tourist specialist, tied the proposal in with the tourist industry.

"We've always thought that the Upper Peninsula's tourists come with the spring, but now we're realizing that states we never thought of before as tourist states are drawing away people from this area," Gunn said.

Gunn said the "new tourist" is interested in more than water and forests. "We've neglected to develop our communities and our interests. If we want the tourist, we're going to have to attract his attention, so that he will come here and stay awhile," Gunn said.

Besides the threat of loss of tourists, a major need for improvement in the downtown area is the threat to the downtown area itself. It was stated.

Vilican-Leman studies already completed show the magnitude of the trade area and the potential dollars available, which are not being captured in sales here.

Putters pointed out that there are only four other shopping centers in the U. P. and that in the vast area between these cities, many of the residents are "catalog shoppers."

Improvements in the business district can increase the retail sales here from U. P. residents and entice tourists, Putters said.

Earl Clowser, planning commissioner, noted that businessmen need to realize that the situation is serious, asserting that if the downtown area began to die, the vacating of valuable downtown property would be fatal to the economy of the Marquette area.

Leman agreed and pointed to several "ghost towns" downstate, including large cities and communities the size of Marquette in which the downtown area died when businesses moved to outlying areas.

Parking Situation

He added that the situation in Marquette is particularly critical because of the parking problem. "Residents of the Marquette area must be extra diligent, or one day the same ghost town situation might happen here," he said.

He pointed to a slide view of Northland, the huge Detroit shopping center, and said, "This is what downtown Detroit and about 60 suburban communities in that area have to compete with to attract shoppers."

"Amazing things are happening in communities around the state to compete with this situation," he said.

Kalamazoo Mall Shown

As an example of what is being done, slides were shown of the mall in Kalamazoo, a pioneer in the movement to battle the threat of a ghost town in the central business district. The Kalamazoo mall increased downtown sales by approximately 30 per cent.

A sample survey taken when the Grand Haven mall was still on a trial basis showed that 63 per cent of the shoppers and 80 per cent of the businessmen were in favor of the mall, Putters said. The shoppers who were against the mall complained mostly of lack of parking, he added.

Toledo Mall Noted

Leman noted that the Toledo mall was a "black eye." That mall failed, he said, because it was literally a weekend project. He said, "Toledo got on the mall bandwagon in one weekend and had it in operation on the following Monday, without first solving traffic and parking problems."

"If problems of traffic movement and parking are not solved first, a mall shouldn't be put in," he said. For example, he said that curb parking spaces must be replaced by a convenient parking lot.

Marquette Has an Ideal Situation for the development of a mall, Leman said. He noted that W. Washington St. is narrow, many of the main businesses are located in the proposed area, there is good potential for the use of second floors as store space and good potential for the development of deck parking.

A problem here is extreme topography. Knoxville, Tenn., solved a very similar problem by improving a business district with a second level arcade for pedestrian movement on escalators or stairs from parking lots to stores, he said.

He noted that the improvement in Knoxville was a $750,000 project and the city is now working on plans for a covered mall.

I. P. Tax Sales Drop

Gunn said, "There have been no dramatic changes here for many years and I'm impressed by the interest shown here tonight."

He noted that U. P. sales tax collections showed a decline of 15 per cent over the previous year, while previously unheard-of tourist areas are prospering. (Marquette County's sales tax collections are the highest in the U. P.)

"We've always thought tourists came here because we've got forests and water, but this isn't true of the tourist anymore," he said.

"We've got to look at what we've got to offer. Does the shopping center draw interest? Is there a band concert? Is there a pageant based on the history of the area?"

Tourist Has To Stop

"Our competitors aren't down the road five miles, they're in states like Oklahoma, which is developing lakes and using pageants to draw tourists."

"Remember, the area doesn't make a nickel from the tourist until he stops. We've got to do something if we want to change the trend. There are potentials in the U. P. for the development of scenic and historic spots, which are things that tourists are eager to see."

He noted that in most cases Upper Peninsula's turn their backs on Lake Superior by putting store backs on the lake.

Commager Tells Role Of United States In New Nations Crisis

American colleges and universities have a tremendous responsibility in helping the host of emerging nations in Asia and Africa during "the greatest revolution in modern history," Henry Steele Commager, the distinguished American historian, asserted here last night.

Speaking in Kave Hall Auditorium at Northern Michigan University, Prof. Commager said, "The world is clearly breaking up before our very eyes—the old familiar world of the 19th Century," and explained how he thought the American university community could help to preserve civilization in this chaotic era.

Growth of Nationalism

A professor of history and American studies at Amherst College in Massachusetts, Dr. Commager keyed his message to the growth of nationalism since the French Revolution and to the dangers of the new nationalism that he said is accompanying the emergence of undeveloped nations.

The United States is in a position to provide leadership in the crises engendered by the new wave of nationalism, the speaker suggested, because this country, "almost alone of the major nations emerged from the 19th Century almost unscathed by nationalism and chauvinism."

Child Of Enlightenment

It was able to do this, Dr. Commager said, because:

- "America was a child of the period of enlightenment." Many of the United States' founding fathers regarded themselves as "citizens of the world," rather than of a single nation.

- "America emerged as a federal system." Citizens' loyalty originally was to the various states, and the growth of a national patriotism was a slow affair.
- There was no high regard for persons in high public office, and people in authority were not looked upon with awe.
- There was no vast military establishment in the New World. America had no army or navy, as did the French and Prussians, for instance, to direct the policies of state.
- "We had no national enemies." The existence of traditional national enemies "cemented an aggressive chauvinism in the European nations," however.
- "We escaped a state church."
- The United States never had nationally organized or controlled education systems. "Our schools are not controlled by anyone in the United States," Dr. Commager remarked wryly.
- "We were able to avoid cultural nationalism because we didn't have any culture of our own to insist upon. We continued to be dependent on the Old World for our cultural sustenance down well into the 19th Century."

For all these reasons, the United States is better prepared than most nations to give direction in "the restoration of cosmopolitanism." This is needed, Prof. Commager said, because "now we are once again entering a period of nationalism."

50 New Nations Created

Since 1945, he stated, some 50 new nations have come into existence. "This represents a massive shift from a European to a non-European center of gravity, from white to black, and these nations are insisting on catching up economically and culturally with the European world in a single generation."

"Three-fourths of the globe is revolting against the European quarter, of which we are a part," Dr. Commager said. And the greatest instrument of this revolt is nationalism.

Similarity Of Problems

But the United States and its universities are in a position to provide examples to these nations for more benign and less chauvinistic nationalism. Dr. Commager said the United States holds this position because the new nations are facing the same kind of problems that America faced in the 18th and 19th Centuries.

American universities are more adaptable to the needs of the times than those of other nations, he said. "We developed an educational system that would do the job that would have to be done. This is what many emerging nations need. In all probability, the American university community will be called upon to help provide higher education facilities throughout the world."

In order to carry out this responsibility of the universities, Americans will have to:

- Put an end to discrimination in higher education.
- Get rid of much of the preoccupation with college athletics.
- Train more foreign students.
- Send out groups of scholars, administrators and librarians to help set up colleges, universities and libraries abroad.
- Provide maximum freedom in educational institutions—freedom from pressures, censorship, various controls.

"We're called upon to create an intellectual counterpart of the Peace Corps—what I might call a Minerva Corps," Dr. Commager remarked.

"We in America are the Romans of the modern world. Maybe it will be our fortune to be the Greeks, as well."

Dr. Commager is an internationally known professor, scholar, lecturer and author. Among his numerous literary works are "The American Mind," "Freedom, Loyty and Dissent," "Majority Rule and Minority Rights" and "Growth of the American Republic." The latter is a two-volume text which Dr. Commager co-authored with Adm. Samuel Eliot Morison, who also visited Marquette recently.

Firemen Called Four Times; Blaze Damages Roof Of House

Marquette's fire department was called out four times yesterday, including one call which required extinguishing a blaze on the roof of a dwelling.

1. The house blaze occurred at 8:30 last evening. Firemen said sparks from a fire in a fireplace at the Delta Sigma Pi Fraternity House, 477 E. Arch St., apparently ignited some wooden shingles on the roof. (A portion of the roof still has wooden shingles.)

Firemen used the booster hose off the No. 2 (1,000-gallon) pumper and raised a 30-foot extension ladder in smothering the flames. The blaze did not burn through the roof, however, with only the shingles on the top being burned.

Because a general alarm was sounded, the Nos. 4 (750-gallon) and 5 (500-gallon) pumpers and the service truck also had been driven to the scene. Fifteen firemen, including those summoned back who were off duty, were involved on the call.

Covered By Insurance

Firemen who returned to the station at 8:55 p. m., said damage was minor. The loss was covered by insurance.

2. At 12:05 yesterday afternoon firemen were called to the city dump off Pioneer Rd., where blazes had required calling the fire department practically every day in the past week.

Firemen said paper was burning and being blown about by high winds. They used booster hoses off the Nos. 2 and 5 pumpers to put out the flames, and had to refill the pumpers five times at the nearest hydrant, at Division St. Six firemen remained at the scene until 5:10 p. m.

3. A grass, brush and leaf blaze in a vacant area in the 1000 block of Bluff St. was put out by firemen at 3:55 yesterday afternoon.

Started From Incinerator

Firemen said the blaze started when sparks spread from an incinerator at the rear of Alexander's Store, Washington St.

An area about 100 by 150 feet was burned. Firemen used the booster hose off the No. 4 pumper to put out the flames.

Three men responded to the call, returning to the station at 5:08 p. m.

4. At 8:14 last night firemen were called to a trailer court off the Honor Camp Road, Chocoma Township, where an oil space heater became overheated in a trailer occupied by Carl Beyne.

There was no fire, with firemen standing by until the heater cooled off. The No. 4 pumper and three men responded. Firemen returned to the station at 8:42 p. m. There was no damage.

Installation Of Moose Officers Set

Officers of the Marquette Moose Lodge will be installed at a meeting to be held in the Moose Clubrooms at 7:45 tomorrow evening.

To be installed are Harris Oust, governor; Charles Morrison, past governor; James Frazier, junior governor; Palmer Imslund, prelate; Kenneth Anderson, trustee; and Carl Ojala, treasurer.

Installing officer, LeRoy Wilson, will be in charge.

Merchants Should Organize

"If downtown merchants want to protect their property, they should organize to investigate the means of doing so," Putters said.

He noted that the Kalamazoo mall was financed through the assessment of merchants located on the mall. Municipal aid was through the construction of parking facilities and the provision of equipment and labor.

Upper Michigan Canoe Trails Appeal To Novices, Experts

For the more adventurous, Michigan's Upper Peninsula offers canoe trails that will appeal to both novice and expert adherents of this outdoor sport.

Twenty-five rivers and lakes, most of them with good fishing, offer canoeists opportunity to test their skill in nearly every section of the Peninsula, according to "Michigan Canoe Trails," compiled by the Michigan Tourist Council and distributed by the Upper Michigan Tourist Association from its office in Marquette.

The regular "Canoe Trails of Michigan" booklet currently is out-of-print, the Tourist Council reports, but it offers a listing of U. P. and downstate waters that provides general information on canoe streams. Specific information can be obtained from conservation department offices or chambers of commerce.

Marquette County included

The canoe trips listed offer outings of from a day or two to up to a two-week journey on the Escanaba River in Dickinson, Marquette and Delta Counties.

Some of the canoe trips involve passage over numerous rapids or through rocky chasms, and the Tourist Council warns that such journeys are for "experts only."

Canoe streams in 14 of the Peninsula's 15 counties are listed in the MTC summary. Availability of camping facilities, supplies, equipment and guide service, along with mention of portages, are among information listed in "Michigan Canoe Trails."

Commager Tells Role Of United States In New Nations Crisis

American colleges and universities have a tremendous responsibility in helping the host of emerging nations in Asia and Africa during "the greatest revolution in modern history," Henry Steele Commager, the distinguished American historian, asserted here last night.

Speaking in Kave Hall Auditorium at Northern Michigan University, Prof. Commager said, "The world is clearly breaking up before our very eyes—the old familiar world of the 19th Century," and explained how he thought the American university community could help to preserve civilization in this chaotic era.

Growth of Nationalism

A professor of history and American studies at Amherst College in Massachusetts, Dr. Commager keyed his message to the growth of nationalism since the French Revolution and to the dangers of the new nationalism that he said is accompanying the emergence of undeveloped nations.

The United States is in a position to provide leadership in the crises engendered by the new wave of nationalism, the speaker suggested, because this country, "almost alone of the major nations emerged from the 19th Century almost unscathed by nationalism and chauvinism."

Child Of Enlightenment

It was able to do this, Dr. Commager said, because:

- "America was a child of the period of enlightenment." Many of the United States' founding fathers regarded themselves as "citizens of the world," rather than of a single nation.

- "America emerged as a federal system." Citizens' loyalty originally was to the various states, and the growth of a national patriotism was a slow affair.
- There was no high regard for persons in high public office, and people in authority were not looked upon with awe.
- There was no vast military establishment in the New World. America had no army or navy, as did the French and Prussians, for instance, to direct the policies of state.
- "We had no national enemies." The existence of traditional national enemies "cemented an aggressive chauvinism in the European nations," however.
- "We escaped a state church."
- The United States never had nationally organized or controlled education systems. "Our schools are not controlled by anyone in the United States," Dr. Commager remarked wryly.
- "We were able to avoid cultural nationalism because we didn't have any culture of our own to insist upon. We continued to be dependent on the Old World for our cultural sustenance down well into the 19th Century."

For all these reasons, the United States is better prepared than most nations to give direction in "the restoration of cosmopolitanism." This is needed, Prof. Commager said, because "now we are once again entering a period of nationalism."

50 New Nations Created

Since 1945, he stated, some 50 new nations have come into existence. "This represents a massive shift from a European to a non-European center of gravity, from white to black, and these nations are insisting on catching up economically and culturally with the European world in a single generation."

"Three-fourths of the globe is revolting against the European quarter, of which we are a part," Dr. Commager said. And the greatest instrument of this revolt is nationalism.

Similarity Of Problems

But the United States and its universities are in a position to provide examples to these nations for more benign and less chauvinistic nationalism. Dr. Commager said the United States holds this position because the new nations are facing the same kind of problems that America faced in the 18th and 19th Centuries.

American universities are more adaptable to the needs of the times than those of other nations, he said. "We developed an educational system that would do the job that would have to be done. This is what many emerging nations need. In all probability, the American university community will be called upon to help provide higher education facilities throughout the world."

In order to carry out this responsibility of the universities, Americans will have to:

- Put an end to discrimination in higher education.
- Get rid of much of the preoccupation with college athletics.
- Train more foreign students.
- Send out groups of scholars, administrators and librarians to help set up colleges, universities and libraries abroad.
- Provide maximum freedom in educational institutions—freedom from pressures, censorship, various controls.

"We're called upon to create an intellectual counterpart of the Peace Corps—what I might call a Minerva Corps," Dr. Commager remarked.

"We in America are the Romans of the modern world. Maybe it will be our fortune to be the Greeks, as well."

Dr. Commager is an internationally known professor, scholar, lecturer and author. Among his numerous literary works are "The American Mind," "Freedom, Loyty and Dissent," "Majority Rule and Minority Rights" and "Growth of the American Republic." The latter is a two-volume text which Dr. Commager co-authored with Adm. Samuel Eliot Morison, who also visited Marquette recently.

Installing officer, LeRoy Wilson, will be in charge.

Upswing In Area Job Opportunities Noted; Placements Increase

Job placements made through the Michigan Employment Security Commission office here last month numbered 114, Frank B. Paul, manager of the office said.

Paul said that last month was probably the beginning of an upward swing in work opportunities in Marquette County.

He noted that during March the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) office here made 56 placements. A year ago in April, 72 placements were made through the office.

Many Awaiting Recall

He added that there are still many persons waiting recall to jobs in which there were layoffs during the winter months.

Legging and lumbering operations will probably not be delayed much longer and should be in full swing by the end of this month, he added.

Pledge Total At St. John's Hits $49,389

New gifts turned in at the final report meeting this week of the drive for St. John's Parish Development Fund have increased the pledge total to $49,389.

This total represents gifts from 194 parishioners and to date $9,246.50 has been received in cash down payments.

50 Cards Still Out

In making the announcement Rev. Raymond J. Garin, pastor, said that there were still 50 cards in the hands of the workers to be completed and reported on. Father Garin complimented the workers for the work they have done over the past five weeks.

The continuation committee, which will function throughout the next 24 months, has been formed under the co-chairmanship of Leo Fleury, who will be in charge of the visitation group, and Ernest Dupras, who will head the audit group.

The committee will meet once a month for the next 24 months.

The campaign was conducted to underwrite the cost of a parish administration building which will be built at St. John's Parish to replace the present structure.

John V. McCarthy & Associates, Inc., Catholic financial consultants, Detroit, conducted the drive and will work in an advisory capacity to the continuation committee and Father Garin over the 24-month payment period.

Three Autos Damaged In Mishaps Here

Three automobiles were damaged, and a motorist was ticketed, but no one was hurt, in a pair of traffic mishaps which took place in Marquette yesterday.

At 5:05 yesterday afternoon a car being driven west on W. Washington St. and being turned north (right) onto N. Seventh St. by Oscar C. Levine, 404 W. Michigan St., struck an automobile owned by Florence M. Olson, 405 Teal Lake Ave., Negaunee, who was headed south and stopped for the Washington St. stop sign.

The left rear fender of the Olson car, a 1960 four-door sedan, and the left front parking light of Levine's 1957 four-door sedan were damaged. Both vehicles were driven from the scene under their own power.

Car Not Under Control

City police issued Levine a ticket for failing to have his car under control.

The other collision took place during the day, some time before 4:20 yesterday afternoon, when city police were notified by Bruce M. Kivela, 1205 Cleveland Ave., that his car was struck by another motorist who apparently did not stop at the scene.

Still Under Investigation

Kivela had parked his 1955 four-door sedan in the 100 block of E. Hewitt Ave., in the first parking space on the south side, facing east. When he returned, he said, he discovered the right rear bumper and fender of the vehicle were damaged.

City police kept the accident open for investigation.

Early U.P. Indians Practiced 'Instant Medicine' Trick

Wonder drugs may be comparatively new, but "instant medicine" goes back in American history to the misty beginnings of the game of lacrosse, which was originated by the Indians and was the first organized game ever played in this hemisphere.

Instant medicine, as practiced by the North American Indians, was a means of providing healing medicine for the clobbering delivered to an opponent at the very time the beating was being attempted.

Search For Craftsmen

This simultaneous beating and healing was accomplished by the Indians through the use of herbs recessed into small holes in the lacrosse sticks. If a player swung at the nail and missed and hit an opponent instead and, more than likely, laid the opponent low, the healing herbs would seep forth from the stick as the result of the impact and cover the bruised or fractured area.

This lot of materia medica lore came to light when the committee for the Lacrosse-Michilimackinac Massacre Bicentennial searched Michigan's Northern Peninsula for a native craftsman to make some authentic replicas of lacrosse sticks used by the Indians in the 18th century.

Re-enactment of Massacre Among the activities which will be featured during the four-day Memorial Day weekend observance in the Straits area communities of Potoskey, Cheboygan and Mackinac City will be lacrosse games as well as a re-enactment of the 1763 massacre in which the Chippewa Indians inspired by Chief Pontiac defeated the British and took possession of old Fort Michilimackinac.

When the committee found the man who could make the lacrosse sticks, the craftsman, a full-blooded Indian, explain how the herbs had to be inserted in the stick and he explained why:

"You hit a man, he might be out for five or six hours... but, when he came to, because of the herbs, he'd be all right."

Joint Meet Of Service Clubs Monday

Members of Marquette's service clubs will hold a joint luncheon meeting at 12:10 Monday afternoon in the Northern Michigan University Student Center.

Attending will be members of the Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions and Exchange Clubs.

Joint meetings of the service clubs are generally held quarterly during the year. Ordinarily, the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs meet at noon Mondays in the Clifton Hotel, the Exchangers Wednesday evening in the Clifton and Lions Thursday nights at the Student Center.

Demos Lay Cash On Line For Recount

LANSING (AP) — Democrats have laid their cash on the line for a recount of the April 1 vote approving a new constitution in 1,891 precincts scattered through all but six Michigan counties.

The Democratic recount will cover more than a third of the state's 5,299 precincts. Next Move

The next move is up to Republicans, who will have until 3 p.m. Saturday to file a counter-petition for a recount to block the Democratic upset try.

The Coordinating Committee for the New Constitution is collecting funds and organizing to file for a recount in precincts they think might yield more pro-constitution votes.

The only counties in which Democrats asked no recount were Baraga, Keweenaw, Iron and Luce in the Upper Peninsula and Cheboygan and Lake in the North ern Lower Peninsula.

Democrats posted $9,455, at $5 a precinct, for the recount. The money was gathered from volunteer subscribers. Democrats will get their money back if they lose the 7,829-vote approval of the constitution. They will lose it if the approval vote stands.

Republicans will get back any money they deposit for the recount if voter endorsement of the constitution is upheld.

Sawyer Bomb Wing Best In 40th Division For 5th Time

K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base's 410th Bombardment Wing (SAC) has once again been named the outstanding wing in 40th Air Division.

In addition, the 410th was named first in maintenance in competition with three other wings in the division.

Four of the wing's five maintenance squadrons were tabbed number one, and the 40th Air Refueling Squadron tied for first place.

Management Control Setup Basis for the selection was the 40th Air Division Commander's Management Program and the Strategic Air Command Management Control System (MCS).

The Sawyer wing has won the trophy as best in the division five times since Maj. Gen. Harold E. Humfeld, division commander, began presenting it two years ago.

Only the bombing awards, support squadron award, and one maintenance squadron award went to other units. All were won by squadrons of the 339th Bombardment Wing, Wurtsmith AFB, Oscoda, according to TSgt. Wesley Dalezio, wing management analysis technician.

Get Trophy, Six Plaques The wing trophy and the six plaques for the other categories were presented to Col. Madison M. McBrayer, wing commander, at the division commander's conference held this week at Wurtsmith.

All but the four maintenance squadron plaques awarded to the wing were based on scores in the SAC system. The maintenance squadron plaques were decided on the standings in the division competition solely.

Plaques for outstanding work under the division program went to the local organizational, field, armament and electronics and munitions maintenance squadrons.

Plagues for outstanding work under the division program went to the local organizational, field, armament and electronics and munitions maintenance squadrons.

Various items, including airman retention, ground safety, weight control, on time take-off, shop repairable performance, physical fitness and on the job training are included in the evaluation.

Older high school and college students seeking summer employment in sales or service jobs are invited to attend one of the two merchandising clinics set for Grayceat High School next Wednesday.

The first clinic will start at 8:30 a. m. and the second at 1:30 p. m. Each program will last about an hour and fifteen minutes.

Chamber of commerce officials sponsoring the clinic as part of the "Upper Peninsula 'Face to Know'" hospitality training program say most Marquette merchants and service businesses plan to let employees off to attend one of the two clinics.

"We are doing a good job of advertising our communities," says Chamber President Harlan Larson, "but it is becoming evident that we aren't holding tourists in the Peninsula long enough."

This program, designed by Michigan State University Extension Service and the Upper Michigan Tourist Association, should help accomplish the latter by featuring our natural attractions and by boosting our image as hosts," he added.

Aggravation by conversion against Truman G. Hagblom, 22, Route 1, Marquette, was dismissed yesterday by Judge Edward H. Dembovski in municipal court.

The misdemeanor charge was dismissed on the recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney Edward A. Quinell, Marquette.

Hagblom had been arrested by sheriff's officers Tuesday morning on a complaint signed by Clarence Speaker, Skandia. Speaker stated that he had turned a television set over to Hagblom, owner of Truman's TV Store, 115 S. Third St., to have it repaired, and the set had not been returned.

In an arraignment in municipal court Wednesday morning, Hagblom stood mute before the charge and Judge Dembovski took the case under consideration.

Lutheran Retreat Set In City This Weekend

John Kilinen, president of the Lutheran Student Association of Northern Michigan University, announced today that the association will hold its annual retreat here this weekend. Guest speaker for the event is the Rev. Walter Michel, campus pastor at the University of Wisconsin, Madison. Pastor Michel, a native of Austria, began his theological training at the University of Vienna in 1953. In 1956 he was honored as recipient of a scholarship by the World Council of Churches for a year's study at the University of Heidelberg. Following the completion of his theological training in Vienna in 1959, he came to the United States under private sponsorship to study church life. Eventually he was ordained into the ministry of the United Lutheran Church in America. He has served as campus pastor at the Lutheran Student Foundation of the U.S. since 1962. The Rev. Mr. Michel will speak on the topic "Jesus vs. Religion." Using various parables of Jesus as his source, he will discuss the distinction between false religion and genuine obedience to God. Lecture and discussion sessions of the retreat will be held at Messiah Lutheran Church tonight at 8, tomorrow morning at 9 and tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. A dinner will be held at 6:30 p. m. tomorrow in St. Mark's Lutheran Church, when Pastor Raymond Mikkelsen of Trinity Lutheran Church, Ishpeming, will address the students on the subject of the purposes and future plans of the Lutheran campus ministry at Northern Michigan University. Pastor Mikkelsen is chairman of the local steering committee of the Lutheran campus ministry at Northern Michigan. Other members of the committee who are Lutheran pastors and laymen from the area also are invited to the dinner. On Sunday at 8 a. m., a special service of Holy Communion will be held in Messiah Lutheran Church. The sermon will be given by the Rev. Thomas Asama of St. Mark's Church, who is student contact pastor at NMU for the National Lutheran Council. Pastor J. Otto Magnuson of Messiah Church and Pastor Michel will assist with the service. The retreat will close with a discussion group which will follow the Sunday service at 9:30. It will be under the leadership of Paul Mattison, who is a member of the fac-

Plans Launched For Post-Commencement Entertainment June 6

Plans for commencement night entertainment for graduating Graveraet High School students were initiated this week at the first of a series of meetings aimed at providing parent-approved activity for that occasion. Approximately 40 Graveraet senior students and parents met in the Messiah Lutheran Church to begin formulating an evening of recreation and entertainment to follow graduation exercises the night of June 6. The Rev. and Mrs. J. Otto Magnuson and Reuben Griewe served as discussion leaders, while the group made suggestions for a program that would be suitable to all and selected committees to carry out the plans. A second session devoted to plans for the parent-approved party—which has been endorsed by the administration and PTA of Graveraet High School as well as by high school students and their parents—is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. next Tuesday in the Messiah Church. At that time committee chairmen will report on progress made to date and the committees themselves will be expanded to include additional students. All seniors and their parents are welcome to attend the meeting, at which final plans will be made for the June 6 post-graduation program.

PTA Convention Delegates OK Resolutions On School Finance, Athletic Activities

KALAMAZOO — A resolution on school financing and one relating to athletic activities in high schools drew greatest action from the floor, as delegates ended their 1963 Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers convention here this week. The group passed a resolution to ask the Michigan Legislature to investigate the possibilities of additional sources of school revenue "other than property taxes." Delegates also approved a resolution requesting the Michigan High School Athletic Association and the State Department of Public Instruction to re-evaluate the minimum eligibility requirements for participation in interscholastic athletic contests. The convention urged PTA councils and local units to discourage "unwholesome competitive interscholastic sports in junior high schools" and to study athletic eligibility requirements and other factors relating to local athletic programs.

U.P. Crafts Conference Tomorrow

The fourth annual Crafts and Native Industries exhibit and conference sponsored by the Upper Peninsula Crafts Council will be held on the Michigan Tech campus in Houghton tomorrow. Its purpose is to stimulate participation in creative arts in the U.P., to help improve the craftsmanship of those now active in this field and to seek ways to improve the promotion and marketing of creative arts products. All sessions except the exhibits will be open to the public without charge. Headquarters for the conference is Tech's Memorial Union ballroom, where registration begins at 8:30 a. m. The first general session will start at 10:15. Bishop Page To Confirm 15 Sunday Fifteen young people of St. Paul's Episcopal Church will receive the Sacrament of Confirmation at the 11 a. m. service Sunday.

The Rt. Rev. Herman R. Page, D.D., Menominee, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Northern Michigan, will officiate at the initiation rite. Those to be confirmed are Sandra Lee Bower, William John Bolitho, Jean Marie Ehrhardt, James Peter Grundstrom, Christine Elizabeth Kitzman, Sharon Lee Fetherhoff, Gordon John MacDonald, Angela Rose Marchese, Marlene Louise Pequet, John Arthur Olson, Alan John Schneider, Patricia Jean Soderberg, Steven Robert Vandenberg, Ronald Charles Woodbridge and William N. Lockwood.

Immediately following the service, reception for confirmation class members and guests will be held in the Guild Hall. The Rev. John Adams Alford, rector, as well as the wardens, vestrymen and Women of St. Paul's, have extended an invitation to all persons present at the service to attend the reception, welcome the confirmations and meet Bishop and Mrs. Page. Members of Group "N" will serve. A rite practiced in the church since the time of the Apostles, confirmation now is later than and supplementary to baptism but once administered at the same time as baptism, in a continuous liturgy. As church congregations grew and geographical factors began to play larger roles, it became impossible for the bishop to preside over all occasions of initiation into the church; so although they delegated baptismal rites to the local church, they retained the right to complete the initiation ceremony personally. This Sunday's service marks Bishop Page's annual visitation to St. Paul's for confirmation of those baptized persons who have been preparing themselves to receive this Sacrament through instructions offered by the Rev. Mr. Alford over past months.

Job Insurance Costs

Michigan's valuable Upjohn Institute For Employment Research has made a study of the costs of unemployment insurance in Michigan, as compared with those in neighboring Wisconsin, Indiana and Ohio. Unemployment insurance taxes are one of the costs of doing business, and when they are out of line between states, the state with highest costs may be weakening its chance of keeping industry or of attracting new plants.

Upjohn Institute researchers compared costs for a 10-year period, 1958-1967, for a manufacturing firm operating in the three states with 500 employees at an average hourly rate of production work of $2.40, on the basis of three different levels of unemployment—substantial, moderate and no unemployment.

The finding: "By themselves, the interstate differentials do not bulk large enough in the overall cost figure to justify a prominent part in any plant location decision.

"On the other hand, a possible saving of $19,000 (in other states over Michigan) is not inconsequential. Moreover, if several other cost items, each relatively minor, were also larger in Michigan, then the anticipated higher costs for unemployment insurance might contribute to a decision not to locate in Michigan.

"In the total tax burden borne by business, unemployment insurance taxes are a substantial item. Under 'substantial' unemployment insurance taxes in the hypothetical Michigan plant, they would total $676,000, as compared with $486,000 in Indiana, $500,000 in Ohio and $574,000 in Wisconsin for the 10-year period. But tax burdens, to a large extent, fall on businesses everywhere. The study suggests that the businessman cannot readily escape much of the burden by moving from one state to another."

Peaceful Uses Of Space

A famous cartoon showed two cavemen watching another using a bow and arrow. One watching caveman turned to the other and said, "Very interesting. But what good is it?"

Unfortunately, this has been the reaction of a good many people to America's space program. "It's all very exciting, but what good is it?"

Answers to this broad question will be furnished to business, educational and other leaders of Midwestern communities at the Third National Conference on the Peaceful Uses of Space in Chicago, May 6-9. The conference is part of Midwest Space Month, April 9 to May 9, in which Midwestern communities are focusing attention on the nation's space program.

These conferences will show the ways space exploration already has affected our lives and how it is apt to do so in the future. For instance, there is a farmer in Illinois who owes his activity to the national space program. Victim of a disease affecting his blood pressure, he is doing heavy chores after spending years as an invalid. He is able to do these chores because he has been fitted with a pair of pressurized space trousers of the type the astronauts use.

In many parts of the country, human hearts are beating because of a miniaturized-rhythm control device that can be sewn into the body of a cardiac patient. Called a "pace-maker," it sends rhythmic electric shocks to the heart muscle to make it beat. Many would be dead without it.

Other space age products for people include: A hearing aid that can be placed inside the head. A drug, developed from a missile propellant, used to treat mental ills. A new method, resulting from research on maintaining astronauts in spacecraft, which rapidly lowers blood pressure during surgical operations. Microamps that can pass through the eye of a needle while giving off a brilliant light. They were originally developed for the dials of missile control panels and have become a useful tool of the skilled surgeon.

Still other benefits are: Ceramic pots for cooking. They can be taken from a freezer and popped into an oven without cracking. They result from the requirements for missile nose cone material resistant to high temperatures. Solar batteries which now power satellites can also heat homes. New light weight materials, produced for small satellite payloads that must stand great stresses, have construction applications. A space gadget is also being tested by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service for launching commercial fishing nets—by rocket.

At the conference, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will detail all of its space accomplishments and relate them to the Midwest. Practical sessions will cover facets of the economics and business of the space effort. This will include information on NASA contract policies and suggestions on the use of space research in consumer products.

SELF-DEFENSE

Every now and then the editorial writers, those nameless heroes of the press who serve without benefit of byline or half column cut, are forced to rise up and defend themselves.

Frederick Mett, 18th ward Democratic committeeman, has said that continued squabbling in the party "can give rise to an array of editorializing by The Sentinel and Journal."

We want to assure Mr. Mett that writing editorials is no orgy. It is not even a Sunday school picnic. It is plain hard work. And before Mr. Mett comes back with any wisecracks, we will also assure him that writing editorials is harder work than reading them.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Nestled in the forest on the shores of Lake Superior is Rock Harbor Lodge, offering modern conveniences to vacationers who prefer to rough it only occasionally. Michigan's beautiful Isle Royale also offers accommodations at Windigo Inn—both operated by National Park Concessions. Boating, sightseeing and just plain loafing are favored forms of relaxation at this vacationers' island paradise. (Michigan Tourist Council photos).

Isle Royale National Park Offers Quiet Vacation In Wilderness

Far out in the blue-steel waters of Lake Superior lies an archipelago of more than 200 islands, scattered as a geological afterthought by the same forces that created Michigan's sprawling Upper Peninsula.

Best known of these islands is 45-mile-long Isle Royale, a rocky wilderness bastion peckmarked by more than 15,000 mining pits in which a mysterious group of prehistoric men mined rich copper deposits nearly 6,000 years ago.

Today visitors to Isle Royale are attracted not by copper ore, but by the striking combination of dense wilderness and white-capped seascape. There is a kingly aspect to the island's craggy shoreline, and the trees claw tenaciously to the rocky soil in defiance of wind and water.

Dedicated as a national park in 1940, Isle Royale has since attracted a dedicated group of partisans. The tranquility of the island is a tonic for the soul—a welcome respite from the chrome and concrete of the city. A specific prescription might include an early morning fishing trip to one of the many fjord-like inlets, there to sit enraptured by mist, awaiting a strike. An added reward could be the sight of a majestic moose, slouther deep in the chilly water, shaking his mammoth third.

Walking Shoes Essential
Although Isle Royale belongs to Michigan, it is closer to both Minnesota (17 miles) and Canada (20 miles). Closest Michigan port is Copper Harbor, 48 miles from the island. Visitors may reach the island between late June and early September aboard the National Park Service motorship Ranger III, which makes three trips a week out of Houghton, or the Isle Royale Queen II, which makes daily trips out of Copper Harbor. Private boats or seaplanes are the only other ways to reach the island.

First thing to do on the island is to change into warm clothing and a pair of comfortable shoes. The cool 50 to 70 degree temperature dictates the clothing change, and because hiking is the only mode of travel on the island, one or more pair of walking shoes is essential vacation gear.

Good Fishing Waters
Unsummarized find sleeping pills unnecessary after a day of hiking along trails that lead through pine forests, along placid inland lake-shores or up to the edge of a promontory overlooking Lake Superior.

For fishermen, lake, brook and rainbow trout and the hard-lighting northern pike lurk in the cool waters of Isle Royale. You should bring your own tackle, for only limited amounts are available in the island's store.

Well-Equipped Campsites
Camping, boating, sightseeing and nature study are popular with visitors who choose to ignore the island's most enjoyable pastime—sittin' and lookin'.

Campsites have been prepared by the park services with three-sided, floored and screened shelters in choice lakeside sites at more than 20 locations. Most of these campsites are equipped with stoves, sanitary facilities and boat docks.

Restriction On Outdoors
For those who want to enjoy this wilderness paradise without the necessity of camping out and cooking their own food, modern accommodations are available at Rock Harbor Lodge on the north-east end of the island, and Windigo Inn at the southwestern tip. Both offer American plan vacation arrangements as well as housekeep-

Nature provides the backdrop for peaceful vacations at Michigan's Isle Royale, surrounded by the rugged waters of Lake Superior. Unspoiled by modern civilization, its placid charm offers a sharp contrast to the hustle and bustle of the workaday world.

News Behind The News

ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON — Above all, President Kennedy is a man who can handle himself in any kind of rough-and-tumble. After two years and some bitter disappointments, he remains master of any discussion he chooses to join.

Curiously for an extrovert, Kennedy has avoided frequent press conferences, although as a candidate he seemed to imply he would meet daily with the press. Now, by limiting these contacts, he is missing the boat because it is during his press conferences that he projects his most attractive image to the American people—if not to the press.

This is not to say that Kennedy tells the newshounds all they want to know in clear and precise language. Far from it. Sometimes his syntax is almost as bad as Eisenhower's was, which is damning with a strong damn. And despite the efforts of his inquisitors, Kennedy tells only what he wants to tell, in a way that suits his political fortunes best. He is an expert at managing the press as well as the news.

Shining Example
The President's felicitous capacity for fielding the tough ones was never more brilliantly displayed than the other day when he dealt with a question asking for his stand on international birth control. As a man of high intelligence, a Harvard graduate and a man of the world, Kennedy undoubtedly runs with the progressives on this question. But as a Roman Catholic—and, just as importantly, as a President aware of opposition in many Protestant camps—he is not about to come right out and say so. Nor does he desire to lose the votes of those who favor birth control, especially for the world's starving countries.

He was asked, first, if he agreed with the National Academy of Science that the federal government "should participate actively in an attack on uncontrolled population growth."

Kennedy stalled for time; he said studies being made of the subject were "important" and "useful" and they should be continued. The questioner put it to him squarely, or so it seemed. He noted the President had never taken a position on birth control, and asked if Kennedy would approve the National Academy's recommendation that the U. S. should supply funds for international birth control studies.

Now the press and the television public saw John F. Kennedy at his agile best. Carefully and thoughtfully, the President used 73 words to state his position. And boiled down, that "position" was that it was up to the individual. Or, as he put it, "If your question is . . . should we know more . . . and should this information be made more available to the world so that everyone can make their own judgment, I would think it would be a matter which we could certainly support."

The Executive Image
It was, of course, hedging of the very highest order. President Kennedy was not going to be forced to say whether he was for or against birth control. But the picture he skillfully created was that of a responsible executive carefully considering an important question—and deciding it deserved more study.

Dwight D. Eisenhower used to do the same thing almost every week, but he left his listeners merely confused. John F. Kennedy leaves them confused—and charmed. (Bell-McClure Syndicate)

Patriotic Custom

The resonance of bells — that ringing sound — has a most significant meaning. Bells have rung on many notable occasions. From the joyous notes of the victorious carillon and triumphant chimes to the knell, which peals forth the approach of a sorrowing cortege, bells are and have been most meaningful for centuries.

Whether we hear a clang, a ding-dong or respond to the vesper tinnitulation, we all are aware of the sound of bells.

A suggestion has been made that bells, chimes and carillons be rung and played on this coming Independence Day, in which we all should be challenged to participate.

This project, of course, should not merely consist of bell ringing. The bells, (like firecrackers) are just symbols for the spirit of the day. Bells, surely, would prove better symbols than fireworks — for bells symbolize freedom and independence. Because firecrackers are rapidly leaving the American scene, and because the early Americans rang bells on this day, the revival of this patriotic custom seems most fitting.

Now, whether you ring your own church bells, play the chimes or carillon, have them rung or listen to others is quite beside the point. If this Independence Day evokes a truer meaning to you or to your neighbor, the project will have been a success.

As for what to do, it has been suggested that the day be an enthusiastic one, forever mindful of American independence, that we do hang our flags, that we attend whatever religious or patriotic ceremonies that the city, town or village makes available; that by participating in any way, you identify yourself as a part of national independence and finally, that you are enthusiastic enough to give a newer and deeper meaning of Independence Day to yourself and your neighbor.

An Absurd Predicament

By WALTER LIPPMANN

In Mr. Khrushchev's response to our call to check the Communists in Laos and to uphold the Geneva accord of 1961, we shall have a measure of his power and influence in southern Asia. Two years ago, when he met the President in Vienna and agreed with him that Laos should be neutral and uninvolved in the cold war, Mr. Khrushchev was still the leader and big boss of communism in Asia.

Is he still the big boss and the leader? Much has happened in the past two years. The biggest event was the Chinese attack on India. There is reason for thinking that the disturbance in Laos as well as the mounting pressure of the guerrillas in South Viet-Nam are part of the same Chinese thrust to the south.

The Controlling Fact
Does Mr. Khrushchev still have the power and influence to overrule the Chinese? Presumably—for we can only speculate—the controlling fact is that the Russians and the Chinese, though they have conflicting interests and theories, cannot break with each other. This probably means that the Chinese can go some way, but not a very long way, against India and Southeast Asia, and beyond that, against Indonesia. The Chinese cannot force the issue in Asia to a point where not only they, but the Soviet Union as well, would be brought into a major nuclear confrontation with the United States.

On the other hand, the Russians cannot afford to exert the kind of economic and military pressure on China which will be needed to prevent the Chinese from nibbling their way forward into southern Asia.

In the short view, there is the possibility of a patched-up arrangement which will put off a showdown. Laos is still too far from everybody, from the Soviet Union, from the United States and even from China, to make it a good place for a showdown.

Pushed By Birth Rate, Poverty
Although Mr. Khrushchev is losing control of revolutionary communism in Asia, the Chinese are probably not able to move precipitately. That seemed to be the lesson of their behavior when they invaded India and then stopped.

In the long run, the Chinese will surely keep on moving. With their birth rate and their poverty, they are sure to push outwards. Assam, East Pakistan, Burma, Southeast Asia and Indonesia are rich, poorly defended, highly susceptible and very tempting. The Soviet Union will at the same time become increasingly concerned about its long frontier with China and about the security of the territories which were once under Chinese suzerainty.

While these great developments are taking place in the Communist world, we and our allies have got ourselves into such a mess that France and the United States are seriously endangered. We ought both to be ashamed of ourselves. We have let our relations degenerate to a point where the President of the United States is planning to visit Italy, Germany and Ireland and to avoid London, lest a visit there would annoy the French, and to avoid Paris because the general does not want to invite him.

Act Like Two Monuments
There are a number of official explanations for this absurd predicament. One is that the American President was in Paris last year, and now it is the French president's turn to visit Washington, only he does not want to visit Washington. Another explanation is that the two presidents cannot meet without making the whole world expect an agreement, which as a matter of fact is not now possible.

So far as I know, no one has ever explained why the two presidents have to behave like two monuments rather than like two men. As men it would be quite normal, since Mr. Kennedy will be within an hour of Paris, the president of France to invite the President of the United States to lunch.

Police Have Youngster's Lost 'Bike'

NEGAUNEE — City police are seeking the youngster who owns an English racer bicycle, found by officers over the weekend near LaCombe Field.

A boy's model, the vehicle is equipped with a light, mirror and warning signal.

Robert E. Johnson, who is in charge of bicycle licensing, theorized yesterday that the bicycle was either stolen, or else forgotten by a youngster who has not yet advised his parents of the loss. The owner may claim the vehicle at the police station.

Lt. Johnson also called attention of bicycle owners in the city that the annual sale of license plates for vehicles is now under way and will continue through the end of May.

Purchase of a rear fender license tag is required each year by municipal ordinance. Although 1963 plates have been available for about three weeks, the sale is moving slowly, with only 161 sold to date. Police estimate there are a minimum of 500 bicycles in the city.

Bike owners may apply for a 1963 license daily from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday at the police department office on the ground floor of the city hall. The plates also are available from 8 a. m. to noon on Saturday. When making application, owners should bring with them 1962 registration slips, serial numbers and descriptions of bicycles.

Celotex Plans Pilot Project On Lake In Baraga County

of revenue from the ad valorem tax rolls has given rise to concern among local tax assessing officers. Others, including Celotex, have eyed the revenue-producing potential of developing portions of their industrial forests for recreational pursuits.

Four Avenues Of Approach

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Forest Owners of Michigan in Lansing last February, Lenn Sandberg, Celotex forest manager, outlined four possible avenues of approach open to the recreational planner in setting up such a development program.

"First, any part of all of a forest property could be sold to an individual developer, who would take advantage of the recreational possibilities," he said. "Secondly, any part or all of the property could be leased to a single developer, with timber rights retained by the forest property owner. Third, the forest owner might carry out development of the property himself, including construction of access roads and subdivision of recreational sites for sale or lease to individuals. Finally, the forest owner could develop and subdivide the property and carry on the recreational activities as part of the forest operation."

Lake Covers 75 Acres

Petticoat is a 75-acre lake located about five miles south of the community of Three Lakes in Spitz Township, approximately 30 miles from L'Anse. The lake, situated in a pleasantly wooded area, has a rocky shoreline with a gradual drop-off and is suitable for swimming. Conservation Department records since the lake provides good fishing for northern pike, smallmouth bass and panfish.

Celotex land fronting on the south and east shores of the lake has been surveyed and subdivided into lots of varying sizes. The access road, which leaves U.S. 41 at L'Anse and leads past the lake, has been improved and graded by Celotex forestry division personnel.

Speculation on the ramifications of this type of development and its consequences continues to grow. If the lots go like hot cakes, similar development probably would be pursued on other Celotex properties. In all probability, other forest owners would then follow the Celotex lead in this field.

It would appear that the Petticoat Lake development is designed as a resort and vacation colony of individual owners. It is possible that a future development might be aimed toward the fourth alternative mentioned by Sandberg—that of a company-owned and operated recreation area.

Access roads have been plotted into each group of cabin sites at Petticoat Lake, and electric power lines are scheduled to be run into area soon. (Mining Journal photos).

Redistrict Plan Flayed By Rep. Knox

WASHINGTON — Rep. Victor Knox, R-Mich., today criticized a redistricting plan under consideration by the Michigan Legislature which would eliminate his district.

The Michigan Senate and House have passed slightly different versions, but the effect would be the same on Knox's district.

Under the proposal, all of the Upper Peninsula counties in Knox's 13th District would be included in the 12th District represented by Rep. John Bennett, also of the Upper Peninsula. Knox's counties in the Lower Peninsula would be joined with two other districts.

Knox said the plan was unreasonable and unfair and was designed to "create a political wasteland" out of Northern Michigan by making the area a neglected afterthought "in an urban dominated apportionment plot."

Clean Up-Paint Up-Fix Up Parade In Negaunee Tonight

NEGAUNEE — Clean Up - Paint Up - Fix Up will be the theme emphasized in Negaunee's 14th annual community improvement week parade, scheduled for 7 tonight. The program is sponsored by the Negaunee Business and Professional Association with the cooperation of the City of Negaunee.

Appearing in tonight's procession will be the Negaunee City Band, municipal cleanup vehicles, and floats prepared by school students.

The parade will form at 6:45 near the American Legion club on E. Main St., and will move down Main to Jackson, west on Jackson to Tabin, south on Tabin to Iron, east on Iron to Pioneer Ave., and north on Pioneer to the Negaunee High School, where it will disband.

Following the parade, a dance for junior high students will be held from 8 to 10 in the Negaunee Youth Center.

The annual spring pick-up of debris by municipal public works crews got under way Wednesday and will continue through Wednesday of next week under the direction of Supt. Arthur Anderson. Anderson assigned vehicles to the section of the city lying east of Teal Lake Ave. this week, and collections will be made in the western half of the community next week.
