

Bids Due May 8 On Second Portion Of Road 553 Project

Details on 41 construction projects, including three in the Upper Peninsula, one of which is in Marquette County, were listed today by the State Highway Department.

Sealed proposals will be opened next Wednesday by the state in Lansing. Details on bids on 16 other projects to be taken at the same time were announced earlier.

Completion: Oct. 1

Total cost of the 37 projects, including engineering and right-of-way, will be an estimated $8 million.

The Marquette County project will be the second phase of the rebuilding of County Road 553, near Marquette. It calls for one mile of grading, culverts and paving on Road 553 south from the Carp River Bridge in Marquette, at an estimated cost of $110,000. Completion date for the work is Oct. 1, 1963.

Another project is for 1.8 miles of grading and culverts on the Aura Rd., west from a point about a half mile east of Aura, in Baraga County, at an estimated cost of $70,000. The completion date for this county road commission project is Nov. 1, 1963.

The other Upper Peninsula project is for almost seven miles of grading and culverts on the South Boundary Rd., west from a point about 16 miles southwest of White excavation and fill required for this work, it is one of the largest undertaken by the county road commission in many years.

The old road is utilized much of the way, he said, with the biggest relocation being about 30 feet.

Reconstruction is eliminating the hazardous curves and improving the road in general.

Heavy Traffic Cited

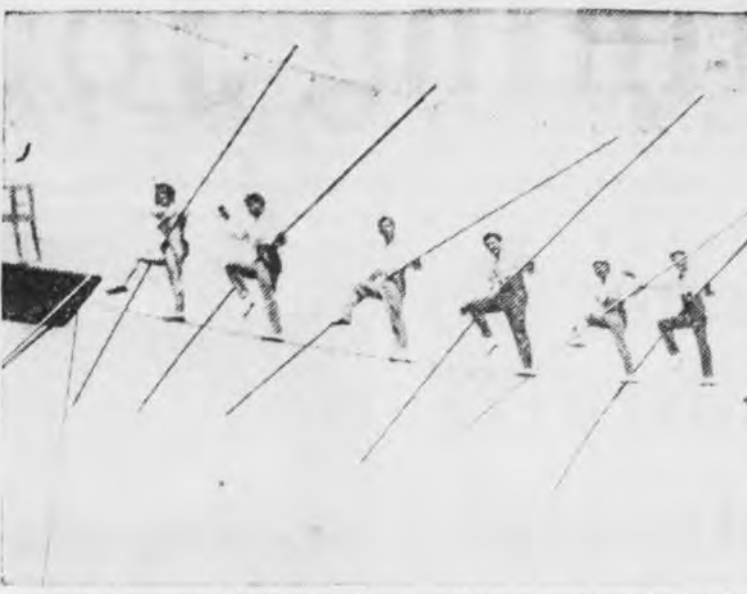

A large amount of traffic on Road 553 made it imperative that the county undertake the improvement program. The relocation and reconstruction are being conducted as a federal aid secondary road project.

The State Highway Department acts as the government's agent in setting up the specifications and handling the bids.

When the second phase of the project bids is taken May 8 is completed, the relocated road will connect with the present portion of Road 553 at the Marquette city limits.

Majority of the other projects on which bids are due Wednesday are spring maintenance jobs, the highway department said.

Capt. James A. VanLande-gend, Marquette, commander of the Upper Peninsula (Eighth) District of the Michigan State Police, will be parade chairman and will schedule the routes for the parade, in cooperation with city officials.

The city commission authorized City Manager Thomas Moore, Chief of Police Donald C. Hermanson and Howard L. Coppens, public works superintendent, to process the request of Ahmed Temple for the city's cooperation, "with power to act."

GOP Takes Credit For Budget Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Republican Congressional Committee claimed credit today for cuts of nearly $1.2 billion in President Kennedy's budget—and promptly drew a Democratic rebuttal.

"A grandstand play," commented Chairman Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., of the House Appropriations Committee.

The GOP claim for all 1953 budget-cutting to date was made in the committee's weekly newsletter.

Claim

"Pressing their battle for economy," the letter read, "House Republicans have already cut $1.1 billion in spending requests for fiscal 1954 and are now chopping off another $1.6 billion."

The Republicans took credit for a cut of $420 million in the foreign aid program $150 million in the Treasury-Post Office appropriation bill, $92 million from Interior Department funds, $200 million from a supplemental appropriation bill, and $309.5 million from the Welfare Department's 1954 money allowance.

'No Valid Claim'

"I can't imagine where they came close to cutting off the additional $1.6 billion," Cannon told a reporter, "and they certainly have no valid claim to the other cuts."

The Missouriian pointed out that the annual foreign aid money bill has not even been considered by Congress, but was reduced $420 million by the President himself.

$10,500 Grant Given Northern For Science Teachers' Institute

Northern Michigan University has received a $10,500 grant from the National Science Foundation for support of an in-service institute for secondary school teachers of science and mathematics to be held in the eastern part of the Upper Peninsula during the 1963-64 academic year.

Previous in-service institutes have been held in the Hancock and Marquette-Escanaba areas.

Toward Master's Degree

The course in Utilization of Natural Resources in the Teaching of Biology (Biology 560) will be open to 30 junior and senior high school teachers of science or biology living in the eastern part of the Peninsula.

The first of 30 class meetings will be held Sept. 7, 1963. Six semester hours of graduate credit may be earned for the full year's course. This credit may be used toward a master's degree at Northern.

Class meetings will be held in St. Ignace or Rudyard, depending upon the distribution of participants. This will be determined after most of the applications have been received and will be announced at a later date.

Objectives Given

Objectives of the in-service institute are to improve the subject-matter competence of the participating teachers; give them a better understanding of the opportunities available in their immediate area by utilizing the natural resources of the area, and to show them how to increase and improve the collection of natural materials and to better apply these to their teaching.

The institute will be under the direction of Dr. W. James Merry of Northern. The staff will include guest lecturers in special subjects. Participants will be enrolled without personal charge for tuition and fees. Additional information may be obtained by writing to Merry, in-service institute in biology, Northern. To insure consideration, applications should be in Merry's hands by May 31.

Notification of acceptance will be sent on June 7. However, late applications will receive consideration up to the first day of class, if openings are available.

Car Destroyed In Blaze In Lower Harbor

An automobile registered in the name of James Vincent of Traverse City was destroyed in a blaze early this morning in the Lower Harbor.

The car, a 1953 four-door sedan, was discovered on fire by a police officer on patrol at 4:03 a.m. No one was around at the time.

City firemen used the booster hose of the No. 4 (750-gallon) pumper to put out the blaze. However, the inside of the car was demolished, firemen said. Cause of the blaze was not learned. Efforts to locate the owner were unsuccessful this morning.

The car had been parked by the fish dock, at the foot of E. Main St.

Three firemen responded to the call, returning to the station at 4:47 a.m.

Another Car Blaze

Another car blaze was put out by city firemen at 11:26 last night, but only minor damage resulted on this occasion.

The motor of the vehicle, a 1955 two-door sports model, owned by Edward Birt, K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, caught fire in the 100 block of S. Fifth St., when a backfire occurred in the carburetor.

Firemen used a pressurized two and one-half gallon water extinguisher, carried on the No. 4 pumper, to extinguish the flames.

Three firemen also responded to this call and returned to the station at 11:36 p.m.

Tech's ARA Plan Launches New Industry

HOUGHTON — Michigan Tech will launch a $31,000 Area Redevelopment Administration program next week that will result in soon putting one of the Upper Peninsula's newest industries into production.

The program starts Monday in Caspian for production workers for Northboard, Inc., Iron River, a new producer of aspen particle board. It will train 36 future Northboard employees in three five-week sessions. Twelve trainees will be enrolled in each session.

The program starts Monday in Caspian for production workers for Northboard, Inc., Iron River, a new producer of aspen particle board. It will train 36 future Northboard employees in three five-week sessions. Twelve trainees will be enrolled in each session.

Northboard Loan Cited

Since Northboard earlier received a $202,800 ARA development loan, this will be a "first" for the U.P., says Albert J. Gavvedia, U.P. field supervisor for the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

"It is the first time such a complete program — development and training — has been made available by ARA in the Upper Peninsula," he said, "and to my knowledge, it is the first time in Michigan."

Northboard's creation resulted from a joint effort by many individuals and organizations in Iron County, and also climaxed eight years of particle board research at Tech. Northboard President S. A. McCormick, a retired Navy rear admiral, is lavish with praise for the college's assistance.

Tech's forest products research division called our attention to the possibility of using aspen for our product, put us in touch with a technical consultant, assisted in the market surveying and helped test our materials," McCormick said.

Five-Week Period

Trainees will receive a $36 weekly training allowance during the five-week training period. When the first session is completed, Northboard will employ the trained workers and enter commercial production.

Approximately $6,000 of the $31,000 involved in the program will go for training allowances to trainees. The remainder will be used for instructors and supplies.

It is estimated that approximately $16,000 worth of useable particle board will be produced in the three training sessions. This will become the property of ARA and will subsequently be made available to state and federal agencies for construction purposes.

Escanabans Greet Base Honor Guard

Escanaba "rolled out the red carpet" last night for the K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base Honor Guard, on the completion of its 50 mile hike for charity.

The group was met at the city limits and escorted to the downtown centennial headquarters by state police, fire and police departments, centennial queen candidates and the Escanaba Band.

Get Keys To City

With a vast crowd looking on, the honor guard was presented keys to the city.

"The city belongs to you tonight," City Manager George Harvey told the Sawyer men. Mayor Harold Vanlerberghe added, "Anything you want is yours."

The honor guard's trek — finally measured out at 54 miles — was led by W/Sgt. Ray King, head of the group. The men left Little Lake at 4:30 Friday morning and covered the 54 miles in 16 hours, 45 minutes of actual walking time.

"Twenty-four started and 24 finished," said King.

Buckets 'Overflowing'

Officials of the Delta County Chapter of the Michigan Association for Retarded Children could not estimate the total amount collected by their representatives who accompanied the honor guard, but they noted happily that all buckets were "filled to overflowing."

The hike was undertaken as part of a campaign to raise funds for a school for the retarded in Escanaba.

The Sawyer Honor guardsmen enjoyed a dinner at the Escanaba VFW post and spent the night in a motel.

Kircher's Transfer To Leave 'Big Gap' Here, Buchkoe Says

Merwin S. Kircher, 56, is winding up his affairs in Marquette, preparatory to accepting his new duties as deputy warden of the Jackson State Prison.

Kircher was appointed this week to succeed Charles Cahill, who submitted his resignation following the recent escape of four inmates from Jackson, the resignation being effective June 2.

Since September 1957, Kircher has served as assistant deputy warden of the Marquette State Prison. He began his corrections department career as parole officer at the Ionia State Reformatory in 1945.

Former Parole Officer

Before going to Ionia, Kircher worked as a parole officer in Detroit and Port Huron. While at Ionia he developed a training and pre-release program for prospective parolees.

Warden Raymond J. Buchkoe, warden of the Marquette State Prison, returned to Marquette yesterday, following his attendance at a meeting of wardens and staff personnel in the Michigan Corrections Department, held at Haven Hill.

Buchkoe expressed both pleasure for Kircher, and regret, on Kircher's leaving.

Praises Kircher

"Mr. Kircher is to be congratulated on his appointment as assistant warden at the nation's largest prison," Warden Buchkoe stated.

"This is a distinct honor, but his promotion and transfer will leave a big gap in the Marquette State Prison which will be difficult to fill, especially with anyone of the organizational and administrative ability of Mr. Kircher."

Kircher, who is married, has a son and resides on U.S. 41 south, is a native of Gladstone and entered public service in 1933 in the Delta County Social Welfare Department, Escanaba.

Kircher is a brother of Alton S. Kircher, famous Gladstone and Michigan State University athlete, who coached Gravelot High School in football, basketball and track in 1937 and 1938 and who later was head football coach at Washington State University and assistant coach at MSU.

Utilize NMU Parking Lots, Students Told

Students at Northern Michigan University have been requested to utilize the parking lots on the campus.

NMU's security department said it has received numerous complaints concerning a problem which involves university students who park their cars overnight on city streets in the area near the campus.

The security office asked that students cooperate by using parking lots on the campus.

May Be Restricted

"It has been indicated that if students continue to use the city streets rather than the Northern parking lots for overnight parking that the streets near the campus will be designated as a restricted parking area," said Duane Stambaugh, head of the NMU security department.

Stambaugh also cautioned students and faculty members concerning thefts from automobiles, which he termed "a continuing problem in the university area."

He suggested that, to avoid losses, valuables should be locked in car trunks, or, if this is not possible, to put them out of sight.

"Most of the breaking and entering of car cars is done when something of value is in plain sight," he said.

Graduate Of GHS Enrolls In ROTC At Michigan State

Ernest E. Abel, the son of T/Sgt. and Mrs. William Parker, of K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, has enrolled as a basic cadet in the Air Force ROTC program at Michigan State University.

A 1962 graduate of Gravelot High School, he is presently pursuing studies in television and radio as a freshman at Michigan State.

Upon completion of the basic program, cadets may be accepted into the advanced AFROTC program.

After successful completion of the advanced program, he will receive a commission as second lieutenant in the U. S. Air Force with his degree.

Old St. Michael's Building Once Dormitory, Barracks

Demolition of several Marquette area landmarks to make way for progress has occurred in the past year, the latest being the first St. Michael's Parish church and school building, which was erected originally in 1900 to supply housing for the new Normal School (now Northern Michigan University).

Other landmarks were the Northwestern Hotel and H. H. Pelton's headquarters, both on Spring St., and the old St. Mary's Hospital building, the latter in the process of being demolished.

Need Seen Early

Need for a dormitory, as a necessary adjunct to this institution was quickly foreseen by J. M. Longyear, Marquette philanthropist, who with his associate J. C. Ayer, Boston, had just given 20 acres of land for the college site a short time before.

They put up the building and also contributed largely toward its furnishings. It was originally four stories and would accommodate 100 or more.

The dormitory and the first school building both were designed by Charlton, Gilbert and Demar, who also drew the plans for the later ones on the original campus. According to descriptions in The Mining Journal, it would be three full stories and attic, 37 by 134 feet, shingled on the outside, and was to have a steam plant in the partial basement, as well as electric lights.

'Heavy Door Partitions'

"The ground floor will contain the kitchen, pantries, serving rooms, where 150 can be accommodated, and the second and third floors will have a total of 44 sleeping apartments each 12 by 15 feet," it was stated. "There will be two toilet rooms on each floor and a stairway at each end. Heavy door partitions bolted on both sides will insure absolute separation of the sexes."

The dormitory was finished in time for summer school, as was the adjacent Longyear Building, where there was a combined dedication and commencement the same day, July 3, 1900, but no special mention was made of any ceremony at the "dorm."

Classes since the previous fall had been held in the city hall, and many students roomed in private homes. Three young ladies, who had received some credits elsewhere, composed the graduating class.

Entire Student Cost: $66

President and Mrs. Dwight B. Waldo had a special suite and private dining room in the dormitory, which was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Quarters, James L. Deagon was the steward.

Over 70 of the 140 enrolled lived there the first summer. Tuition was $3 for the 12-week regular terms, rooms 75 cents a week and board $3 a week.

Rates over the next decade increased very little and the 1912 literature advertised that the total cost of everything including books, laundry and incidentals for the period was only $66.

Barracks In War

The dormitory, never planned to be a commercial success, seemed to have decreased in popularity and a report in 1918 said that it had been closed for a few years.

In October of that year it was used as a barracks for the Students Army Training Corps, which was established here and at numerous other colleges. Over 100 young men camped out there on coats and used the other school facilities for drills and classes, but hardly had the uniforms and guns arrived when World War I ended.

North Marquette had started to boom, sparked by establishment of the Pioneer Furnace (now the Cliffs Dow Chemical Co.) in 1903 and property west of the college had been acquired by the Catholic Church, with the idea of establishing an orphanage and chapel there, but it did not materialize.

However, in April 1919, Bishop Joseph G. Pinton, purchased the abandoned dormitory and adjoining land for a possible church and school center. This finally led to the formation of St. Michael's Parish in the spring of 1942.

Parochial School Opened

The roof and top floors were deemed beyond salvaging by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. L. Zyd and the building committee, in charge of the project. They were removed and with a new roof and considerable other repair work done that summer, St. Michael's School was opened in September for kindergarten and the first three grades, and the church dedicated Sunday afternoon, Oct. 4.

More details of the old structure which served four purposes during its 63 years, dormitory, barracks, school and church, will be told on the regular Marquette County Historical Society program over WDMJ, The Mining Journal station, tomorrow at 12:30 p.m.

JA Groups End Activities On Monday

Junior Achievers will wind up their year's activities Monday with visits to Marquette industries and a dinner.

Members of the four Junior Achievement companies will break up into groups Monday afternoon to visit the plants and offices of the Lake Superior and Ishpeming Railroad Co., Cliffs Dow Chemical Co., Lake Shore, Inc., the First National Bank & Trust Co. and the Union National Bank.

Meet At Cathedral Hall

Speaker at the dinner meeting, to be held at 6:30 p.m. in St. Peter's Cathedral Hall, will be Herbert D. Soper, Milwaukee. Soper is a member of the national executive committee of JA.

Soper, a partner in the firm of Arthur Anderson & Co., a certified public accountant firm in Milwaukee, will also address a joint meeting of several Marquette service clubs at 12:10 Monday afternoon at Northern Michigan University.

City Paragraphs

Directors of the Marquette County Soil Conservation District will hold a regular meeting Monday evening at 8. The meeting will be held at the camp of Melvin N. Nyquist, Marquette county extension director and secretary of the soil conservation district.

Satire On Prisoners Theme Of Inmates' Coloring Book

A "pop" song about a coloring book has opened up a new form of satire and inspired two inmates at the Marquette State Prison to make up a coloring book of their own.

The "Inmates' Coloring Book" is now on sale at the prison's roadside store on U.S. 41.

The coloring book was made up by two prisoners whose by-lines are familiar to readers of the prison newspaper, "Weekly Progress." Editor Tom Redgate, who wrote the verses for the coloring book, and Stylist Danny Knapkik, who did the drawings.

The coloring book pokes gentle fun at the life of the prisoner, with pictures to color drawn with Knapkik's humorous style.

'Not Hilton Hotel'

Some of the verses included are: "Here is a cell, not a Hilton creation, if you color it gray, you'll understand the situation."

"Here is a prison, where crooks are stored, color it plaid, so they won't get bored."

"This is a convict, he is sad. It is true, please do him a favor and don't color him blue."

"This is the director of recreation, color him the gray of a toad, it isn't that the teams are terrible, they just don't have a game on the road."

"This is a parole board, an awesome sight at that, color them a lucky green, as my name is in that hat."

Dear Abby....

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My children are 6, 5, 4, 3 and eleven months old. They are all still on the bottle. I started when I was trying to get my first one to drink milk out of a glass, and when he saw his little sister drinking from a bottle, he carried an until I gave him one, too. The same thing happened to all the others. The two older ones hide their bottles when company comes because they are ashamed, so maybe they will give it up soon. All my friends say I am wrong, but I don't see any harm in it, do you? What do the doctors say about this now? My sister took the bottles away from her children when they were a year old, and now they all suck their thumbs.

hand's relatives. It certainly is proper to identify them as such. ("This is Hilda, my late husband's sister.")

DEAR ABBY: I am a 48-year-old barber who is looking for a wife I have never been married, am passable in looks and am not lazy. I want a girl between 45 and 75 who owns her own house and has some money of her own. I don't care what the looks like and religion is no barrier. I love music and play the harmonica.

Yours truly, TONY

DEAR TONY: When it comes to marriage, be a little more selective or YOU'LL take the trimming.

OLD-FASHIONED MOTHER: DEAR OLD-FASHIONED:

The doctors I have consulted say, "Let them have the bottle as long as they want it." No child has ever been known to pack a bottle and nipple in his lunch bucket.

DEAR ABBY: My husband died two years ago. While introducing his sister to a friend of mine last week, out of habit I introduced her as "my sister-in-law." Afterwards she told me that since her brother's death we were no longer related, and I should not introduce her as my sister-in-law. Is she right?

STUNNED

DEAR STUNNED: Technically you are no longer related, but when introducing any of your deceased hus-

CONFIDENTIAL TO SIXTEEN AND TREATED LIKE A BABY:

Your mother has good reasons for the rules she sets up. Abide by those rules without an argument. When a child accepts decisions without complaining, arguing or raising a fuss, the parent is impressed with the child's maturity. But when a child sulks, mopes or protests at the top of his voice, the parent is even more convinced that the child needs strict discipline because he's acting like a baby.

31 Alarms In Negaunee Last Month

NEGAUNEE — Members of the Negaunee Volunteer Fire Department responded to 31 alarms in April — the largest total in several months — according to the monthly department activities report compiled by Chief Francis Dighera.

Largely responsible for the increase in the number of alarms were 20 grass fires, the majority of which occurred before a controlled burning program. There were four false alarms, one brush and the pile fire, and two chimney fires. No insurable damage resulted from any of these fires.

In addition, there were two fires which resulted in property damage. Loss was estimated at $1,600 in a fire which destroyed a garage owned by Frank Guizzetti, 213 E. Main St. Cause of the blaze was not determined.

Although the loss was undetermined, considerable damage was caused by fire to a couch and room partition at the residence of Walter H. Hill, 533 Prince St. Additional damage resulted from smoke. The fire was caused by careless smoking, according to the report. Losses resulting from fires at both the Guizzetti and Hill properties were covered by insurance.

First aid calls were made by department members to the Edward Peterson and Donna Haines residences, and a call was received to wash a section of Highway U.S. 41 in the city limits following an accident.

One practice session held during the month was devoted to controlled burning. Two building inspections were made and 21 burning permits issued.

All told, the department traveled 19 miles, and volunteers worked a total of 16 hours and 41 minutes. An average of 23 men responded per alarm.

NATIONAL MINE — Children's Day will be observed Sunday at the Salisbury Methodist Church with appropriate music and a sermon.

Worship by families is suggested by the pastor, the Rev. Everett D. Erickson.

Commercial Fish Harvest Dropped Sharply In 1962

Fish taken commercially from Michigan's Great Lakes waters dropped sharply in 1962, totaling slightly more than 22 million pounds at a value of nearly $2,495,000, the conservation department estimates. Compared with the year before, commercial catch was down some 2,437,000 pounds and marked a drop of $463,000 in value.

The four top species were: Chubs, 6,354,000 pounds; lake herring, 5,943,200; carp, 2,914,600, and yellow perch, 1,506,300. Last year's lake trout harvest reached an all-time low of 135,467 pounds. All but 325 pounds came from Lake Superior, where commercial lake trout fishing was cancelled June 1 in a continuing effort to boost the comeback of this species in the upper Great Lakes. Only 819,600 pounds of whitefish were taken by commercial operators last year, a far cry from their annual catch which averaged about 3,000,000 pounds before lamprey predation started making inroads on the species' populations.

Only Few Conservation Bills Win Approval Of Legislature

Only a handful of conservation bills cleared both houses of the Legislature this year. Among those passed and awaiting the Governor's signature are bills to: Return to the Game and Fish Protection fund all revenue from sale of mineral rights on state lands purchased with money from sportsmen's license fees.

ADAPTABLE TROUT The rainbow trout has proved he can live in many of Michigan's inland lakes, both north and south. The conservation department has planted hundreds of these lakes in nearly every county of the state.

Marquette Men Testify On Fisheries

"How Michigan Looks at the Commercial Fisheries Research and Development Act of 1963" could be the topic for the little drama being enacted here. U. S. Sen. Philip A. Hart (right) of Michigan confers with group interested in Michigan fishing before their testimony recently in front of the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Subcommittee of the Senate Commerce Committee. Testifying were (left to right) Dr. Peter I. Tack, Lansing, chairman, department of fisheries and wildlife, Michigan State University; Wayne F. Wachtler, Marquette; Francis L. Thill, Marquette, both commercial fishermen; and Abram P. Snyder, staff secretary, Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Problems, Marquette.

Public Fishing Site Camping Ban Protested

Upper Peninsula fishermen-campers are disgruntled over a newly-invoked ban on camping on public fishing sites. The ban was placed into effect this year after the Michigan Department of Health had issued a memorandum stating that camping about 100 feet from public fishing sites would enable the state to provide facilities to meet sanitation standards and to maintain the access points.

Request Made For Dickinson Land Trade

A proposed land exchange in Dickinson County and two proposed changes in state parks in the Upper Peninsula are among the items scheduled for action by the conservation commission when it holds its May meeting Thursday and Friday in Lansing.

Quick Shots

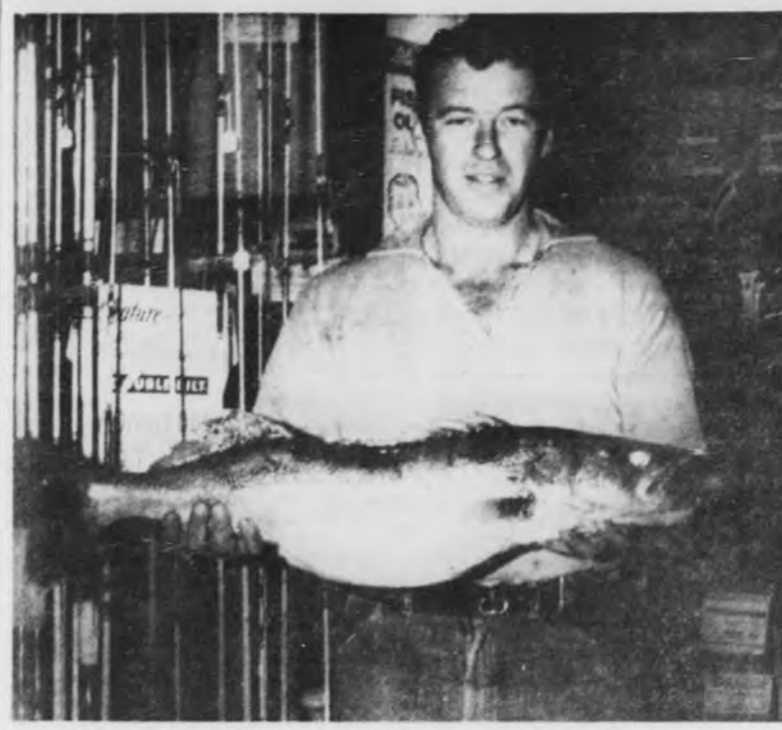

Three bear cubs that will be on display at Presque Isle Park Zoo this summer will be stars in Mort Neff's weekly television show originating in Detroit. They were photographed recently in Marquette by one of Neff's cameramen, B. A. Stephanski, Marquette.

Members of the Marquette County Chapter of the Michigan Audubon Society reported the following first observations in this area of migratory birds: Chipping sparrow, first reported on April 22; white-crowned sparrow and Wilson's snipe, April 26; brown thrasher, Savannah sparrow, rusty blackbird, common loon and baldpate, April 28, and red-head, April 30.

The Marquette office of the U. S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries reported that 109 sea lampreys have been captured so far this year on electro-mechanical weirs on 24 Lake Superior streams in the Upper Peninsula and Wisconsin. This compares with 87 lampreys for the corresponding period last year. On three Upper Peninsula streams flowing into Lake Michigan, 303 lampreys have been taken, compared with 27 during the same period in 1962.

Tarry Substance Fouling Waters Of Keweenaw Shore

Biobs of a black, tarry substance are fouling a 20 mile stretch of Keweenaw Peninsula shoreline between Portage Entry and Eagle River (the western shore). It was reported today by L. F. Oeming, Lansing, executive secretary of the Water Resources Commission. The material appears in patches ranging in size from half an inch to two feet in diameter. Investigations by a commission staff engineer and a conservation officer have failed to account for the source of the material.

Edward (Skip) Quayle of Ishpeming was one of the more successful anglers during the early days of the season. Fishing from shore with a small lure, he caught this 11-pound walleye in Teal Lake in Negaunee. Quayle was using a six-p-und test monofilament line, and the walleye fought for 20 minutes. The fish measured 31 inches in length and had a girth of 20 inches. (Mining Journal photo).

U. P. Bear Cubs Wait New Home

These two bear cubs, about three months old, were discovered near Hurotown in Houghton County by Conservation Officer Howard Rice of Houghton after apparently having been separated from their mother. District Game Supervisor Robert R. Rafferty of Baraga, who is pictured with the cubs, relayed them to the Cusino Wildlife Experiment Station in Alger County, where they are being held until they can be shipped to a downstate zoo. U.P. Shooting Championship Events Listed

Six Upper Peninsula championship shooting events were awarded at the last meeting of the U.P. Shooting Committee. The committee also scheduled non-championship spring, summer and fall shooting events to be hosted by various groups affiliated with the committee.

Rare Grebe Stops Near Gwinn

Fire Officer Howard Gross, Marquette, holds a bird rarely seen in this area—a red-necked (or Hobobell's) grebe—that was picked up near Gwinn. The bird, which is incapable of taking wing from land, apparently mistook a dry surface for water and put down there. Tom Prawdick, Ishpeming, conservation department biologist, reported finding a red-necked grebe the same day the one pictured above was found. Both birds were taken to water and released.

1st Week Of Fishing Produced Some Good Catches In Mid-U. P.

The first week of the general fishing season produced some good catches in the central Upper Peninsula, where streams were unusually low and clear for the opening day and inland lakes were free of ice. Trout fishermen fared well on a number of lakes and streams in Marquette, Alger and Baraga Counties. Brook Trout Report The Escanaba River south of Ishpeming provided very good brook trout fishing on opening day; the conservation department reported. Conditions were excellent there for fishing for brown trout, as well as brooks. Brook trout success also was reported good on the main branch of the Escanaba in the Gwinn area.

Tilden Lake Trout A few brown trout were taken in the Dead River. Some of the best early fishing was for lake trout in Tilden Lake near Ishpeming. A number of large lakers were caught by fishermen using silver spoons and minnows and casting from shore at daybreak. Roger Champion of Negaunee landed a six-pound, 27-inch lake trout there, along with several other trout. And Jack Goldsworthy of Ishpeming took a five-pound, 26-inch lake trout from the same lake. Squaw Lake southwest of Republic produced some fine splake, most of them lured by minnows or night crawlers. Peshekee River Walleyes For warm water fishermen, one of the best spots was the Peshekee River, where walleyes were hitting well. Some walleyes in the two to four-pound class were taken.

Forest Tour Area Open In Western U.P.

The Ottawa National Forest Multiple Use Demonstration Area at Imp Lake is open and ready for use according to John Wernham, Ironwood, forest supervisor. The area is located five miles east of Watersmeet adjacent to U. S. 2. The demonstration area was completed and in use for a short time last fall. Many of the campers at Marion and Imp Lakes rated the tour and virgin timber trail as a highlight of their visit.

Reader's Corner Camping Ban

Dear Sir: In regard to the article you published concerning the banning of overnight camping on public fishing sites in the U.P., I would like to say that a big injustice has been done to the people of the U.P., along with people from other areas who have enjoyed camping and fishing on these sites. Many of these people have invested hundreds of dollars in camping equipment, outfitting buses, camp trailers, etc. Where will the people park such equipment to enjoy a weekend or a week's fishing trip? We are supposed to be a tourist area. Will people come from other areas to camp and fish in the U. P. if they have no place to camp? Of course, they won't. They'll go some place they can camp.

Well-Suited To Group Use "One of the most talked about features of the trip is the board walk across a typical bog," said Wernham. "A rod for 'sounding' the bottom is provided and the bog abounds in pitcher plants and other species of plant and animal life that are characteristic of a bog community."

WHERE TROUT LURK

Brook trout like deep holes, dark pockets under stream banks and secret little places behind logs or under stumps and rock ledges. Fishermen have to drift their bait down into these places with great care, changing their method of doing this until successful.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST By Hal Sharp FISH-PLAYING TIPS

IF YOU FISH FOR BASS, ET CETERA, IN OR NEAR WEED BEDS, USE A HIGH-TEST LINE. THIS IS MOST IMPORTANT IF USING SPINNING TACKLE (GET THE ANTI-REVERSE AND DRAG ACCORDINGLY), OR A FLY-FISHING LEADER. IF A FISH IS HOOKED OUTSIDE THE WEEDS, "HORSE" IT IF NEED BE GO IT CAN'T GET INTO THE WEEDS. A FISH'S FIRST PULL IS USUALLY THE STIFFEST TACKLE-TEST. LIGHTER LINES MAY BE USED IN STREAM AND OPEN-WATER FISHING. LET FISH RUN FREELY ON FIRST RUN-IT'S USUALLY SHORT, REEL IN WHEN IT STOPS. GIVE LINE WHEN FISH GOES AGAIN.
