LANSING (AP) - Educators and liquor dealers will be the first groups to receive a background briefing today on eight alternate plans proposed as a possible basis for fiscal reform in Michigan.

Gov. George Romney and his aides will outline assorted tax proposals to various groups meeting in his office this week. The Gov ernor and his advisors will barntorm the state the two following weeks to make the presentation. The citizen reaction is expected to help the Governor and his fiscal advisors draw up plans for the tax reform legislative session this fall

Sales People Attend Check Cashing Clinic

In an effort to prevent the cashing of bad checks, Marquette retail sales people were meeting today with Det. Sgt. Fred C. Kelly Lansing, in charge of the bogus check department of the Michigan State Police.

Two sessions were scheduled today in the Union National Bank Lounge. In all, 45 sales men and women were expected to hear Det Sgt. Kelly outline the "do's and lon'ts" of check cashing.

As a followup to today's program, the state police will place a display describing characteristics of bad checks in the bank's display window. Law enforcement officers in Marquette County noted recently that bad checks worth thousands of dollars are processed every year by their offices.

They point out that there has been a rash of bad checks here this spring

Dr. Seaborg's Amazing Camera

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON -(NEA)- The greatest American "secret weapon" given to the Rus-sians by Glenn T. Seaborg, U. S. Atomic Energy Commission chairman, on his recent cultural exchange visit to the Soviet Union was-a Polaroid color camera.

Dr. Seaborg took such a camera with him on his first trip to inspect Russian scientific installations and to sign the U.S.-U.S.S.R. two-year agreement on cooperation in the field of utilization of atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

Prints In 50 Seconds

Every place he went-shooting pictures like a tourist and pulling off finished color prints in 50 seconds-he was surrounded by amazed Russians-particularly the scientists.

These scientists had developed atomic energy on a scale which Seaborg describes as comparable" though not necessarily "superor" to U. S. science. But they had nothing to match that comera.

At the end of his 11-day visit, Dr. Seaborg presented the camera to his opposite number, A. Petrosyants, chairman of the Russian State Committee on the Utilization of Atomic Energy. The eminent Russian couldn't have been more pleased if he had been given a key and a pass to the AEC top secret files.

"But what will he do for film?" Seaborg was asked.

"I've got him there," said Seaborg, "He has to get his films through me."

This little cultural exchange probably did as much to promote friendly relations between Seaborg soon will invite Petrosyants to head a 10-man team of Russian atomic scientists on a visit to the United States. They probably will come in the fall. At that time they will begin to talk about how the new peaceful nuclear information exchange agreement will be implemented.

The discussions will involve only one or two cientists from each country each way in three fields-nuclear power reactor techniques, conrolled thermonuclear fusion and high energy nuclear physics. Each visit will be for not more than a year.

This will provide opportunity for joint projects in both countries' laboratories. Research to find element 102 is an example. Joint construction of a research accelerator was discussed a little, but nothing was decided. The Russians are already way ahead in this field, though not in power development.

If Seaborg and the nine scientists who accompanied him to Russia brought back anyhing more than appreciation of Russian competence in development of peaceful uses of atomic energy, they're keeping mum about

Plutonium Plants Under Wraps

Seaborg does not think his visit will adrance a nuclear test ban agreement. There was no discussion of nuclear explosions underground or their detection.

While the Russians were wide open in showing their peaceful applications of nuclear science, they did not show off any of the plants or the chemical processes they use to produce plutonium

How to swallow

a bitter pill

First, find a bitter pill. There are so few nowadays. It all started because children, bless 'em, are so good at resisting bad-tasting medicine. You can medicate their chins or hair, but getting the stuff in them is beyond the ken of science. Kids can spit a country mile. So pharmacists began sugar-coating pills, putting medication in capsules, or mixing with sweet syrup. And we soon found that adults, too, like medicine the easy way. So now, most of our prescriptions are quite pleasant to take. If you should run into one of the few bitter ones, believe us, there are good medical reasons for it.

How's Your Back Today?

We're not doctors. If you have a serious back problem, we won't prescribe. But . . . if you're one of those many people who have mild or occasional back trouble, maybe you should take a long hard look at your mattress.

Lots of people tell us their back troubles have lessened or been eliminated after they began sleeping on a Beautyrest. We do know this; a Beautyrest doesn't let you sag in the middle; the pocketed coils of a Beautyrest-each acting independently-push up into the small of your back and give firm gentle support in that area.

So if you're back bothers you, come to our store, lie down on a Beautyrest and see what you think. Honest! We won't be miffed if you don't buy one.
