DETROIT (AP)-More than 120-000 demonstrators swept through downtown Detroit Sunday in a peaceful, almost festive, protest against racial discrimination.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., a southern integration leader, called the parade the largest and greatest demonstration for civil rights ever held in America. It was billed as "A Walk to Freedom."

Fiscal Reform Needed To Get Jobs: Romney

in Marquette Saturday.

Speaking at Northern Michigan University before persons from all parts of the Upper Peninsula, the Governor outlined what his administration already has done in reducing expenditures and then pointed out existing problems in the tax structure.

Spending Reform Program

"The No. 1 economic problem in this state is jobs," he said. "To get jobs we need fiscal reform. This consists of two things; Spending reform and tax reform.

"Our program of spending reform already is under way. Our first step was to tell every state agency it had to take 10 per cent out of its budget. We took a substantial amount out of the preliminary budget and submitted a tight budget for 1963-64. The best evidence of this is that for the first time in 15 years the Legislature appropriated more money than was recommended by the Governor - a net of $1,000 .-000 more. There is no substitute for fiscal control for a sound budget.

"Our second step was to asl Michigan to form a task force to study all state agencies except those operating under carmarked funds and institutions of higher

"This task force recently made its first report, in which it said it didn't find any widespread waste where substantial cuts could be made. But we believe we can achieve economies by further study." The new state Constitution, the

When they introduce a surreptitious and denatured religion into the public schools, they are snatching at straws. The straws will not provide the order, purpose and control that are lacking. But it would b obtuse to suppose that there is therefore no real problem or that the Supreme Court has disposed of it and that it can now be forgotten. There can be, I think, no serious dispute that the Supreme Court has defined accurately the historic meaning of the First Amendment. In the relationship between man and reliion," says Mr. Justice Clark for the majority, the state is firmly committed to a position neutrality." Why? Because the neutrality of he state in the fields of religion and opinion re the terms of peace on which the religious ars were brought to an end. Only by forpidding the state to act in the field of religion ould the community be saved from the bitter truggle between groups attempting to seize the power of the state in order to settle the terrible issues which had divided Europe. Shaped In The Great Tradition We must remember, however, that the liberals of the 17th and 18th centuries who negotiated the religious peace were not themselves agnostics. On the contrary, including the American liberals who drafted the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights. they were themselves the adherents of a public philosophy which is inherent in the A Model-T, one of several an- central tradition of the classical and Christian Some were Catholics, some were Protestants, some were deists, some were in their theology unbelievers. But all had essenthe Bear, part of the Michigan tially the same traditional philosophy.

They had been taught and shaped in the great tradition. They saw, as Father Murray has said, that within the western nations there is "A plurality of incompatible faiths." Therefore, the state must be neutral in the field of religion. But it never occurred to them, it would seem, that the public philosophy which they regarded as self-evident would become lost to educated men.

Because that has happened, the enforcement of the First Amendment has a different meaning today than at the end of the 18th century.

Those who are concerned with the content of secularized public education (and much private education as well) should look upon the decision of the court as having closed a blind alley that led nowhere. The forbidden religious exercises would not and could not have dealt with the great moral and intellectual deficiencies of American education. The exercises were harmless and neglible. But had they been allowed to evolve, they could have led only to religious quarrels.

Now that we have finished with the token reform, we must turn our attention to a great reappraisal of the content of American educa-

Mrs. Weiger Named On Committee

Evelyn Weiger of Marquette has been asked by the American Association of Doctors' Nurses to serve on its project committee, it was revealed today in an announcement from association headquarters in Washington.

Purpose of the committee will be to select a project or several projects which the national associaion and its chapters can promote to help mankind, according to Peggy Eccles, president of the AADN professional council.

An employee of Dr. L. W. Howe for the past 15 years, Mrs. Weiger and her husband, Eugene, and their daughter, Sandra, 16 reside on Rte. 1.

Michigan doctor's nurses, along with others from each state, have een requested to submit a list of projects to a state chairman who will send or bring them to the annual AADN convention to be held next week at the Knickbocker Hotel in Chicago, Several prominent speakers are on the convention program.

Baraga County Taking Part In 'Certified Host' Program

sponsored jointly by the Upper for any who missed the other two Michigan Tourist Association and sessions Michigan State University Extension Service, met with enthusiastic response in Baraga County at two "Pays to Know" meetings staged

Over 50 tourist operators, local businessmen and their representatives, and members of the Baraga County Women's Extension Counell viewed a 25-minute slide and tape recorded show on the prime tourist attractions of the Upper Peninsula and results of the 1962 "shoppers' survey" conducted as part of last year's campaign.

A similar session is scheduled for this evening at 7:30 in the L'Anse town hall. All interested persons who missed the first two programs are urged to attend to become acquainted with the tourist attractions of the county and the entire U.P., and to learn how to pass this information along to visitors.

JFK To See Paulskirche In Frankfurt

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) -A red sandstone church, built mer residence of Henry Ford and terviewee was Atty. Gen. Robert in unusual circular form and located in downtown Frankfurt, was for Germans.

It is the St. Paul's church and, along with Frankfurt's convenient central location, is one of the main reasons why President Kennedy is stopping off at this fifth largest city of West Germany

The neo-classical St. Paul's church, or Paulskirche as it is River, Old Arvon Slate Quarry known to Germans, was built in Silver River Falls, Falls River the early 19th century and seems Falls, L'Anse Township Park, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Rumpa, architecturally insignificant when Bethany Lutheran Church in Cov- were Wisconsin callers recently. compared with Europe's inspiring ington, Celotext plant, Pettibone cathedrals.

But the Paulskirche has the kind of tradition that suits Kennedy and provides an appropriate setting for his major speech in Germany.

It was here that the German states held a national assembly in 1848 in an attempt to unify the country under a liberal constitution. The effort failed, but the church remained a symbol of German liberal nationalism. Like more than a third of all Frankfurt buildings, it was destroyed in World War II. Soon after the war, money was collected for its reconstruction as a congress hall and memorial to mark the 100th anniversary of the original Paulskirche assembly.

To the American visitor the city still is very German, with outdoor cafes, beer and sausage stands. fountains and flower pots on busy squares.

Frankfurt is the home of 680,000 persons and, excluding West Berlin, is West Germany's fifth largest city, after Hamburg, Munich, Cologne and Essen. It is the country's chief banking center, continuing in the tradition of the famous banking family of Roths-
