Two Downstate Auto Accidents Claim 10 Lives

The death toll on the country's highways continued to lag behind the pre-Independence Day weekend estimate today, and optimistic National Safety Council officials said guardedly that the total could fall below 500. The traffic fatality total according to the Associated Press, reached 326 as the four-day holiday weekend went through its third day. Another 29 persons lost their lives in boating accidents, while 87 more drowned. The record for a four-day Fourth of July weekend was established in 1961 when 509 persons were killed in road accidents.

(By the Associated Press) Five young Michigan men died in a two-car crash near Port Austin today and five persons were killed in a car-truck collision in Lansing Friday night to send Michigan's Fourth of July holiday traffic death toll soaring to 24. In addition, one person drowned in a boating accident and another drowned while swimming.

The Associated Press death count began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and will end at midnight Sunday. 10 Die In Two Crashes Killed in the two-car collision on M-25 about two miles west of Port Austin were Richard De Giacomo, 22, of Grosse Pointe Shores; John E. Quillico, 19, of Flint; George Theon, 18, and Kenneth G. Sellers, 18, both of Royal Oak; and John J. Holzhofer, 21, of Caseville. Police said a car carrying four of the victims passed two vehicles, which had stopped to make a left turn, but lacked enough room to return to its own lane before colliding with the De Giacomo car.

Civil Rights Bills Adopted In At Least 11 States This Year

(By the Associated Press) At least 17 state legislatures debated anti-discrimination bills in this year's sessions, reflecting stepped-up prodding at the state level by civil rights backers.

A survey by the Associated Press showed the backers succeeded in getting substantial anti-discrimination law changes adopted in at least 11 of these states. All are in the North except Maryland.

The bills dealt mainly with housing, jobs, interracial marriage, and access to such public places as restaurants, hotels and motels.

Headed For Court Test Maryland adopted a public accommodations bill, first of its kind south of the Mason-Dixon Line.

The statute, which appears headed for a court test, would require equal service for Negroes in Baltimore and about half of Maryland.

A Kansas change broadens anti-discrimination laws to cover hotels, motels, eating places and restaurants. Violation reports go to the Kansas Civil Rights Commission.

A South Dakota statute also prohibits barring persons from other public places, such as taverns and places of amusement. Violators are subject to fines of up to $200.

Marriage Bans Repealed Utah and Nebraska repealed laws banning marriage between white persons and members of other races. A similar attempt in Wyoming failed.

Connecticut and New York enacted so-called open occupancy laws in housing.

The Connecticut law bans discrimination in selling or renting all housing except two-family dwellings in which the owner or members of his family are living, or in renting rooms in a private home.

Proposal Rejected In Michigan New York's legislature extended

The Weather Forecast for Marquette and vicinity: Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday with scattered thunder showers early tonight, a little cooler tonight and Sunday; low tonight in the mid 50's; high Sunday in the mid 70's. Outlook for Monday: Fair and pleasant.

Orrin J. Phelps, 54, his wife, Zelma Mae, 42, and their daughter, Debora, 8, of Lansing, and Donald O. Frye Sr., 46, and his wife, Agnes, 43, of Riverdale, Md., were killed when a semi-tractor struck their car near the Lansing business district Friday night. Witnesses said the truck, driven by Enid Schultz, 23, of Lansing, crossed U.S. 127 against a traffic light and rammed the car broadside.

Roger Ruby, 7, of Newberry, was struck by a car and killed Friday night in Newberry. John Beemus, 15, of Waterford Township, drowned in Scott Lake in Oakland County Friday while on a swimming outing with two companions. Willie Toland, 29, of Detroit, drowned Thursday in the Livingstone channel of the Detroit River. Police said the wash from a passing freighter overturned the rowing boat from which he and two companions were fishing.

Trooper Schram Cited For Saving U. P. Boy's Life

IRON MOUNTAIN (AP) — A Michigan state police trooper has been awarded the American Red Cross Certificate of Merit for saving the life of an injured basketball player last March.

The trooper, James Schram, 30, of the Iron Mountain post, is the 90th Michigan resident to receive the certificate since the awards were established by the Red Cross in 1913.

Schram administered mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration to Andrew Berlinski, 18, of Quinnesec after the Kingsford High School basketball player suffered a head injury during a game at the Kingsford National Guard Armory March 5.

Berlinski was knocked off balance during a leap for the ball and landed on his head and neck. He was knocked unconscious and stopped breathing.

Schram was able to restore Berlinski's breathing after a few minutes, while awaiting the arrival of a fire department emergency squad with a respirator.

Bogus Money Run Off On College Press SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A college printing press operator has been charged with running off millions in bogus money in the biggest counterfeit case ever handled by the U.S. Secret Service.

Donald J. Carothers, 21-year-old print shop employee at Alameda State College in Hayward across the bay from San Francisco, was said by officers to have admitted turning out more than $4 million in fake $20 and $50 bills.

Arrested Friday, Carothers was charged with manufacturing counterfeit currency. Three other men have been arraigned since the ring was broken Wednesday night, and at least three others are being hunted.

Some $2.4 million has been recovered, with another $500,000 unaccounted for.

Carothers, who was paid $2.25 an hour for his college job, was quoted by police as saying, "I had a key to the place to work at night on overtime jobs. I was to get $4,000, but I wanted real money, not this bogus."

Rouman Hits State Land Sale Proposal LANSING (AP) — The director of Michigan United Conservators Clubs objects to a Dow Chemical Co. proposal that Michigan sell all state-owned lands not designated as parks as part of a fiscal reform plan.

The Midland-based firm made the proposal at one of Gov. George Romney's fiscal reform meetings, coupling it with a proposal for a flat rate income tax.

Argyll Divorce, Profumo Scandal Link Rumored LONDON (AP) — A judge investigating the Profumo scandal was today reported checking into testimony delivered at the Duchess of Argyll divorce case, the heavily headlined sensation of two months ago.

Newspapers said Lord Denning, the judge assigned by Prime Minister Macmillan to probe circumstances surrounding the Profumo case, had called for a transcript of the divorce action.

The uproar over former war minister John Profumo's affair sparked rumors that other high officials were involved in activities. Gossip has linked officials with persons involved in the Argyll divorce hearing. Denning is committed to tracking down every aspect of the rumors.

Under British law, the testimony delivered in a divorce case must remain secret, except for that portion mentioned in a judge's summation.

Khrushchev Again Blasted By China

MOSCOW (AP) — Red China assailed Premier Khrushchev again today as his seven-man mission to Moscow went off with a Kremlin team apparently to open the first real working session on the ideological feud between the world's two largest Communist powers.

After getting together yesterday for what appeared to be a largely ceremonial and organizational meeting, the two delegations drove to a villa in the Lenin hills overlooking Moscow this morning. Their meeting was being held in secret.

Soviet newspapers had little to say about the meetings between experts of the Soviet and Chinese communist parties. The dispute on how to attain world supremacy for Communism is not officially a struggle between the two governments but one between the parties.

Slayer Of Two Nabbed; Abducted Girl Found LINDEN, N.J. (AP) — Richard (Teddy) Coleman, who police say killed two women and abducted a teen-aged girl, was arrested early today near Newark Airport.

Minutes before, the girl he had held captive for more than six hours was found in nearby Elizabeth. Police said Coleman permitted her to leave the car near a service station. The girl hailed a passing police car and was taken to a hospital. Her condition was not known immediately.

Apparently Raped Police said, however, that the girl, bleeding from several scalp lacerations and she apparently had been raped.

Coleman offered arresting officers no resistance. As police cars surrounded the fugitive's car, he climbed out and meekly placed his hands over his head, police said.

Returned Home For Clothes Millie Coleman had fought with her husband and, after threatening to leave him, stayed at the home of friends. She asked for police protection Friday while she returned to her home to gather clothes.

The police guard accompanied her, stayed for some time and left when Coleman did not appear, authorities said.

The shootings took place about 5 p.m. Millie Coleman was found in her kitchen while Ruby Coleman was found in the kitchen of her home nearby.

Police said Coleman also shot his 32-year-old brother, Harry; Le Roy Edwards, 48, a neighbor, and Mrs. Marianna Kube, 28, a visitor in the neighborhood. The men were reported in critical condition at a hospital.

Mrs. Kube was listed as fair.

Atlantic City Competition Next For Ishpeming Queen

MUSKEGON (AP) — Whistle bait in two states, but claiming "no serious" romances, lovely Kathleen Kay McLaughlin of Ishpeming reigns today as the Miss Michigan from the Upper Peninsula.

She won the crown Friday night in finals of the annual pageant before some 5,000 spectators here after becoming the favorite in two nights of preliminary tests with swim suit and talent competition victories.

Atlantic City Next With best wishes from Jacquelyn Mayer, current Miss America who was a special guest, she goes next to Atlantic City to try for the national title.

Kathleen, 22, is an all-sports fan and participant—"including touch football and ice hockey in my day." She serves as a Red Cross swimming instructor and Ishpeming newfront safety director.

The new Miss Michigan stands 5 feet 6 1/2 inches tall, weighs 120 pounds and measures 34-24-35 in vital statistics.

Parents See Crowning She has completed four years of studies at University of Minnesota. Kathleen plans to use her $1,000 Miss Michigan scholarship for the final year of a program majoring in elementary teaching with special education as a minor.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William McLaughlin, and her 13-year-old sister, Patricia, were present to see Kathleen succeed Carol Jean Van Valin of Roscommon as the state's ideal girl.

Next in order of finish among the five finalists who survived a starting field of 41 were: Pamela Jo Heethuis, 18, Miss Muskegon, who won a $400 scholarship; Donna Janeen Kinsey, 18, Miss Grandville, a $300 scholarship; Lu Ellen Benson, 20, Miss Traverse City, a $200 scholarship, and Mary Jane Kluber, 18, Miss Lansing, a $150 scholarship.

Has Won Several Titles Marcia Kay Smalligan, 17, Miss Newaygo County, was voted Miss Congeniality by her fellow candidates.

In talent competition, Miss McLaughlin presented a reading of poetry which she revamped with her mother's help from a 1953 edition of Winter Ideals Magazine.

Besides her new crown, she is University of Minnesota Sweetheart of Sigma Chi and homecoming queen; Ishpeming Ski Queen, Winter Carnival Queen, Miss Upper Michigan and 1962 Timber Queen.

2-Year Truce Sought In Rail Work Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz is making a big effort to switch the railroad work rules dispute away from a threatened strike and onto the kind of a track that led to peace in the steel industry.

He has called for a decision Sunday on his unusual proposal for a temporary agreement, a two-year truce and study groups modeled after the steel industry's human relations committee to search for a permanent solution.

The railroads and five operating unions—who have been fighting over work rules for four years—indicated they will study the matter thoroughly and give their answer in Wirtz's office Sunday.

That the unions' answer may be "no" was indicated Friday night in St. Louis when H. E. Gilbert, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, labeled the proposal "unacceptable."

Gilbert said he spoke for himself and not the union, but added: "I don't see how the union can agree to it."

70-Million Employment Mark Passed

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time, the United States has 70 million jobs—almost two decades after Henry A. Wallace stirred a fuss by predicting 60 million.

The Department of Labor reports that the 70 million total was reached in June. U.S. employment passed 60 million 15 years ago.

Wallace, vice president when he made his prediction, figured 60 million jobs would be the result of full employment.

Statistics released Friday showed that the 70 million jobs did not mean full employment. Teen-agers looking for jobs pushed the unemployment total to 4.8 million.

Harold Goldstein, spokesman for the department, said employment in June swelled to 70.3 million. The unemployment rate, despite the increase in unemployment, fell from 5.9 per cent in May to 5.7 per cent in June. This rate always is seasonally adjusted.

17 Youths Nabbed In 2-Hour Gang Fight In Ecorse

ECORSE, Mich. (AP) — Seventeen youths, arrested after a gang fight in Ecorse City Park Thursday, have been released on personal bond and ordered to appear for municipal court trial July 11 on charges of disorderly conduct.

The youths, including one girl, stood mute at their arraignment Friday. Three juveniles were turned over to their parents.

Police in this Detroit suburb said the two-hour gang fight involving more than 100 youths erupted while some 20,000 persons were gathered to watch a fireworks display in the city park.

Both white and Negro youths from Ecorse, Detroit and surrounding suburbs were involved, police said, but the dispute was not over racial issues.

Deepening Job For Marquette Harbor Revoked

A deepening project planned for Marquette's lower harbor this summer has been placed on the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers inactive list and federal funds for the project have been revoked.

The project would have been provided for the deepening of the existing harbor basin to a safe draft depth of 27 feet from its present depth of 25 feet.

Authorization for the project was subject to certain items of local cooperation, including that the dockage areas in lower harbor also be deepened to 27 feet.

Soo Line Unwilling

Roger B. Hooper, in charge of program development for the St. Paul office of the Corps of Engineers, which embraces the Lake Superior region, said his office had been informed by the Michigan State Waterways Commission that the Soo Line Railroad Co. is unwilling to deepen the area adjacent to its dock in lower harbor.

"The Soo Line said most of its ore traffic had been diverted to other ports and the company has no use for a deeper draft," Hooper noted.

Hooper pointed out that although the project has been reclassified to the inactive list, should the Soo Line receive sufficient ore traffic to warrant deepening the area adjacent to its dock, the project could probably be reactivated.

Estimated cost of the lower harbor deepening job to the U. S. Government was $236,400. The Corps of Engineers handles all such construction projects for the government.

The work would have made the lower harbor the same depth as the St. Lawrence Seaway and Great Lakes connecting channels. The area to be deepened was bounded by the coal wharf on the north, the breakwater on the east and a line from the end of the Alvin Fritz, 1703 Wilkinson Ave., was one of 67 June graduates in the Honors Program of the University of Michigan's literary college who won a total of 86 scholarships for advanced studies here and abroad.

Fritz was recipient of the Harvard University Graduate Fellowship to Harvard University in Cambridge, Mass.

This represents a notable increase over last year, both in the number of scholarships received and in the number of winners, according to Prof. Otto G. Graf, director of the honors council of college of literature, science and the arts. Sixty-nine graduate fellowships were won by 55 graduating seniors in Honors in 1962.

Graf estimated that some $225,000 in all will be provided by the various scholarships awarded to this year's winners in national competitions.

MacDonald Gets Contract For Prison Chapel Construction

MacDonald Construction Co. of Marquette has been awarded the contract for the construction of a chapel behind the walls of the Marquette State Prison.

The contract was issued to MacDonald by the State Building Division on the basis of its low bid of $87,492 for the project. No time was listed for the start of the project, but the completion date is expected to be in mid-January.

Warden Raymond J. Buchkoe reported that the bids taken earlier this year on the chapel project were deemed too high, and all were rejected.

Low proposal in the April bidding had been submitted by Caspian Construction Co. of Caspian, in the amount of $109,918.

Changes were subsequently made in the specifications, with some alterations made in the structure itself, to cut down on the costs, along with trimming the sizes of the walls and the amount of piping, etc., to be required for the building.

The completion date also was delayed. It originally had been scheduled for Oct. 1 this year.

Warden Buchkoe noted that a chapel is "something we have needed for a long time, and it will raise the morale of everyone in the prison."

Buchkoe noted that church attendance has been climbing in recent years, with the inmates shedding a former feeling against going to church.

'Improper Atmosphere'
At present, the warden reported, the church services have to be conducted in an all-purpose building that is used as a movie house, a library, a practice hall for the band and a gymnasium.

"That's definitely not the proper atmosphere for a man who wants to pray," Warden Buchkoe pointed out.

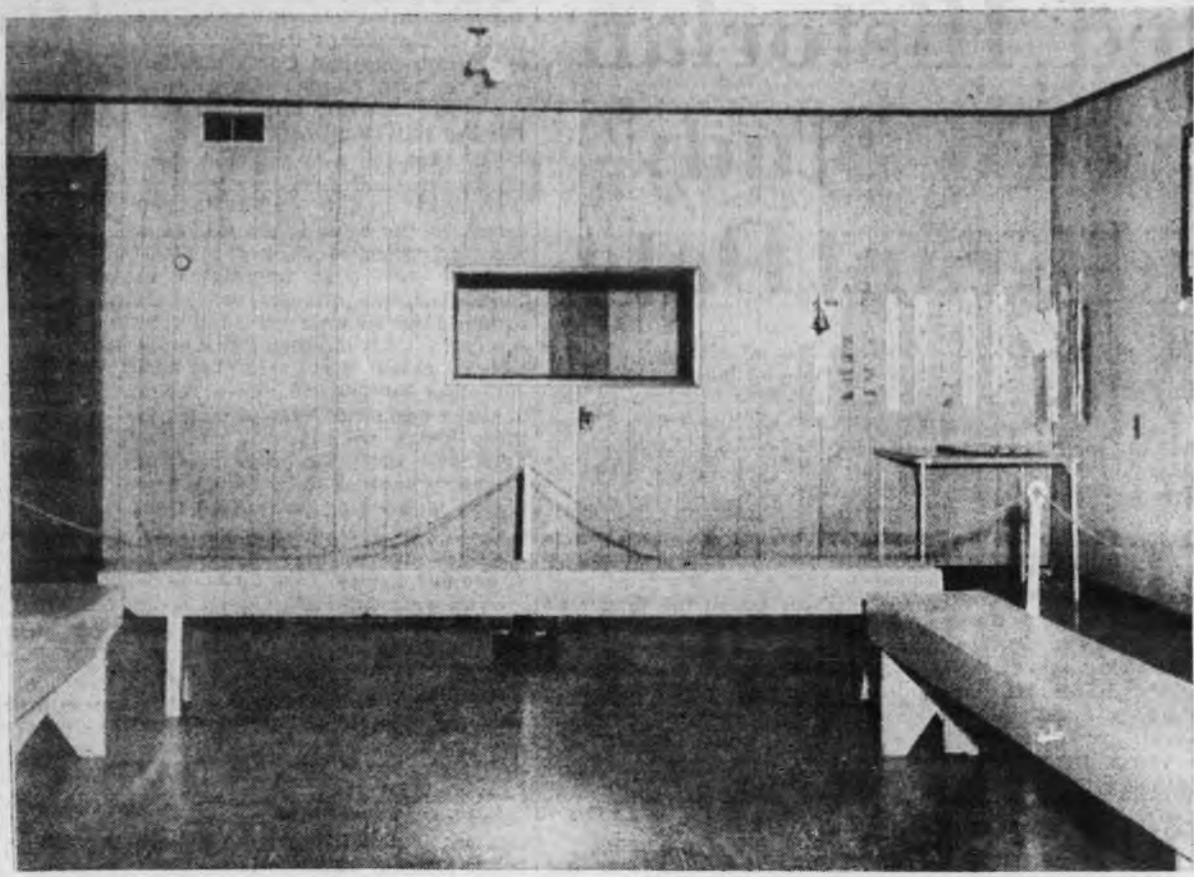

The new chapel will be designed for all faiths, to permit the holding of separate services within the chapel.

Buchkoe noted that the inside chapel is not to be confused with the drive to raise funds for a chapel for trustees outside the walls.

The campaign was initiated earlier this year and is aimed at providing an all-faiths chapel outside the prison walls for men who have trusty privileges, and, therefore, are assigned to work and live outside the prison proper.

Need Minimum Of Traffic
Good security practice dictates that prison inmates assigned outside the walls should stay there and there should be a minimum of traffic between the gates for such trusties, he said.

Funds are not available from the state for the construction of an outside chapel, and a campaign to raise such funds was initiated, with an inmate variety show and volunteer contributions from area residents helping to earmark funds for such a chapel.

Meeting room on board landship of Explorer Scouts, Ship 303, Marquette, which was completely remodeled over the past two years, is shown here. The whole building was replaced with new material, from the joists up to a new roof. Cost of remodeling the ship was approximately $2,700. Landship, S.E.S. # Scouts Ending Extreme Cool, Hot, Rainy Work Here On Landship

Explorer Scouts of Ship 303, Marquette, are putting finishing touches on their landship after two long years of a complete remodeling job, reports Don Chinnery, skipper of the S.E.S. (Sea Scout Explorer Ship) Spindrift.

The project all began back in 1960 when the scouts set out to make money to finance the remodeling project, Chinnery said.

Their money-making deals consisted of running gas pumps at the waterfront behind Campbell Supply Co., staging waterfront dances, selling life guard, a gasoline de-icer, and selling hand-bells, from which they earned a total of $2,500.

Along with this, they received a $250 grant from the Shiras Institute to assist in the remodeling.

After a year of working, saving, and collecting the remodeling began, stated Chinnery. The landship had a face-lifting, right from the bottom up. New joists had to be put in, along with new paneling, new tile, a new roof and a new paint job.

Scouts, Leaders Did Work
Sea scouts and their leaders did all the work connected with the remodeling and the money-making projects, Chinnery said.

The Sea Scout Ship is sponsored by the Marquette Kiwanis Club.

Sea Scouting is open to high school boys, ages 14 through 13. Any boy interested may see Chinnery at the landship.

Extreme Cool, Hot, Rainy Weather Here In June Noted

Extremes in weather last month enabled the final statistics to be somewhat on the normal side. Data provided by the U.S. Weather Bureau Station here show the month's mean temperature to be 61.3, or 1-2 degrees above normal. Rainfall totaled 3.99 inches, or .53 of an inch above normal.

All of the rain which fell came down in the period from the 2nd to the 19th, with 11 consecutive days during that time having some rain. In contrast to that, the last 11 days of the month were sunny and fair, with the sun out practically all of the daylight hours.

Two weeks of cool weather in the middle of June almost balanced out the abnormally warm weather at the beginning and end of the month.

Record On 30th
The high of 101 on the last day of June was a record for the day (the previous one for June 30 was 100 in 1931) and it was only the third time in 90 years the temperature was in the 100s in June.

The nearly four-inch rainfall made June the only month this year with precipitation above normal.

The temperature was in the 80s or higher 10 times in June, and it was 90 once (on the 29th), in addition to the 101-degree reading. Lowest temperature was 38, on the 11th. It was in the 40s or lower 17 times during June.

Heaviest rainfalls occurred on the 10th (one inch even) and on the 2nd (.81 of an inch).

67 Per Cent Sunshine
Prevailing wind direction during June was from the west, with the highest velocity recorded, 32 miles an hour, on the 8th, being from the southwest.

The sun was out 317 hours, one

Escanaba To Balk At NCA Flight Curb

Escanaba's City Council will be asked by City Manager George Harvey Monday to object to the proposal of North Central Airlines to abandon its "aerial bridge" flights over Lake Michigan between Escanaba and Traverse City, and to intervene in a hearing on the proposal before the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The northern terminal of the service is Marquette and from Traverse City south it serves Saginaw, Port Huron and Detroit.

North Central has proposed to add a flight a day each way between Port Huron and Detroit, but the cancellation of the service would leave the Upper Peninsula cities served by the flight with only their other existing North Central flights.

Can Object To July 14
Communities which would be affected by the cancellation of the flight have until July 14 to protest.

The service was approved by CAB for a five years trial, now at the half way mark. North Central, in asking a CAB review of the experiment, suggests that it is not carrying the passenger loads projected for it, and says it will continue to give service between Upper Peninsula and Lower Peninsula cities via Green Bay, Wis., on existing schedules.

The aerial bridge flight was proposed as a means of uniting the Peninsula of Michigan more effectively. It has not achieved the concepts of original planning because it has not connected U.P. cities with Lansing, the state capital, and goes to Detroit only circuitously, the original Green

Bay routing being maintained the preferable route for the U.P. and not subjected to a competitive route between the Peninsulas.

North Central's move is interpreted as getting itself on better terms with CAB on flight subsidies by taping off a marginal situation. The airline is ambitious to extend its operations in the populous Lower Peninsula, where it has asked CAB to replace United Airlines service to Tri-County (Bay City, Saginaw, Midland), Flint, Lansing and Muskegon with North Central Service.

Need Two Flights Daily
The Michigan Department of Aeronautics regards one flight a day service to a community as relatively worthless. Two flights a day are a minimum for useful service and they must be oriented to community needs as to time.

The increasing utility of surface travel with the development of superhighways is changing air services and developing the area airport concept, as Tri-County Airport downstate, but this presents some practical problems for service in the Upper Peninsula, where air service is vital because of lack of other services and distances from metropolitan centers.

The Fact Finder Survey conducted by the Michigan Department of Aeronautics, the Civil Air Patrol, the Michigan Airport Managers Association and other agencies will be reported this month and will offer the first definitive picture of the origins of Michigan air travel.

For a stop sign violation at the intersection of U.S. 41 and M-28 in Chocoley Township, Robert N. Swartz, Grand Rapids, was fined $6.30 and ordered to pay costs of $6.30. The summons was issued by state police June 18.

Patricia D. Hagbloom, Route 2, Marquette, paid a fine of $6.30 and $3.70 costs for a traffic signal violation at the intersection of W. Washington and Third Sts. She was ticketed by state police June 15.

July 4th Celebration

William Gray and the Marquette Chamber of Commerce can share well deserved honors for the successful and well received July Fourth celebration here. It is proof of what can be accomplished if the citizens of the community get together.

After some weeks of effort, during which Mr. Gray and some of his associates had gone ahead with parade and fireworks plans, it became evident the entire program

Peninsula Perambulator

One signature was the difference between Spread Eagle becoming a separate town or remaining a part of the Town of Florence, just across the state line in the Iron Mountain area. The Wisconsin Supreme Court, on an appeal from the Town of Florence, ruled that the original Spread Eagle petition was defective (seven defective signatures left only 80 on the petition — one less than the required 90 per cent of the 161 freeholders in Spread Eagle) and ordered the case back to circuit court for dismissal of proceedings. This is another chapter in a three-year court battle to form a separate town. Spread Eagle, which has 20 days in which to file for a re-hearing on the decision, has not given up and already has the legal machinery in motion. If Spread Eagle finally loses this court battle, it will be the end of its effort to form a new town, since a new Wisconsin state law requires that 300 resident freeholders (instead of 150) be listed in a proposed new area.

Miss Janet Moilanen of Hancock was chosen queen of the 1963 Soap Box Derby by the 55 boys attending a picnic in the Copper Country. The queen and her court rode on a special float in the Hancock Centennial parade July 4 and in the derby parade preceding the racing event today.

Possible tragedy also was averted at the Ice Lake bathing beach in Iron County. Bill Winton, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Winton of Iron River, completing his first week of duty at the lake, was credited with saving the life of Kenneth Sharlein, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Sharlein of Stambaugh. The boy, a novice swimmer, apparently was attempting to reach companions who were swimming beyond the safety buoys when he lost his balance in the deep water and went under. Other youths noticed his head under water and, after attempting to rouse him, started pulling the boy to shore. Winton, meanwhile, also had spotted the trouble from shore and raced into the water. He carried the unconscious boy to the beach, where he applied artificial respiration to revive young Sharlein within minutes.

Carl Olson, superintendent of Manistique public schools for six years, requested the board of education to permit him to retire from that position and continue as a teacher and guidance counselor. The board agreed. Olson is a graduate of Ishpeming public schools and Northern Michigan University.

Matt Walter of Cooks reports seeing an unusual sight — a mother bear with four cubs. The average litter of a bear is one or two cubs.

Just as mysteriously as it had disappeared, the "centennial jail" stolen from its garage in Hancock has been returned undamaged.

By a 7-2 vote, the Iron Mountain City Council approved payment by the city of 20 per cent of the Blue Cross hospitalization fee for all retired municipal employees.

Harry Courtright of Midland has begun his new duties as Escanaba city librarian, succeeding Miss Mary Croteau, who joined the Michigan State Library staff several months ago.

From The Journal Files

60 Years Ago

—Marquette—
During the past two days there have been many arrivals here of young people who will work at the Northern Normal School, which begins its annual session today, for the usual six-week term. Many other prospective students are due to arrive today. Work in all departments will commence forthwith.

The city fathers held their regular July meeting at the council chamber this evening. One of the questions that will come up for discussion will be the project for paving Washington St. with vitrified brick. It is expected that the proposition for the improvement will go through.

—Ishpeming—
The plans and specifications for the Carnegie Library have been submitted to the library board by J. D. Chubb of Chicago, and have been accepted, provisionally. The plans are satisfactory to the board, but before they are adopted those offering bids must offer assurance that the building will not exceed in cost the sum of $25,000, the amount donated by Mr. Carnegie. ### 30 Years Ago

—Marquette—
It is not likely that the Marquette weather bureau office will be closed as a part of President Roosevelt's economy program, it was announced here yesterday following a report that the Houghton office will be closed July 21. Several of the activities of the conservation department financed through the sale of licenses are to be expanded during the next fiscal year if the commission accepts the recommendations of Director R. Hogarth.

could bog down for lack of financial support.

The chamber of commerce stepped in. Without submerging Mr. Gray's identity as general chairman, and working with him all the way, the chamber helped bring in community resources, arranged for a finance committee, enlisted cooperation of service clubs in the sale of booster buttons and accepted contributions from some community-minded business people. K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base personnel, this time through the leadership of Mrs. R. L. Peters, wife of Col. Peters, again demonstrated its neighborly spirit by taking charge of the variety show. The City of Marquette and the schools cooperated fully, the city band shifting its concert from Presque Isle to Memorial Field to be part of the evening program.

It was noteworthy that the program went forward briskly as soon as citizen interest was aroused. The results are all the more pleasing when it is considered that planning went ahead despite more than usual competition from counter-attractions, with centennial celebrations in several Upper Peninsula communities, bugle corps contests that took talent away from the Peninsula and the fact that the American Legion convention parade was held here just two weeks ago.

Whether Marquette should have a celebration of this kind every year is for interested organizations to determine, but whether it will be annually held or staged on alternate years, it becomes apparent that Marquette is neither too big, nor too engrossed with other activities to enjoy a taste of tradition in an old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration.

Commendations to all whose efforts contributed to Thursday's success.

Gettysburg General

—Sir—
Evidently no one on your editorial staff knows much about the Civil War or the Battle of Gettysburg.

The caption under the picture which appeared on the front page of The Mining Journal Wednesday, July 3, stated that "Gen. George Pickett holds his hat on his saber." Actually, the Confederate officer portrayed in this picture is Gen. Armistead, a brigade commander who led his brigade and died at the farthest point reached, the Bloody Angle. Pickett, the only general officer of his division to escape unscathed, never approached closer than one-half mile of the Union position at Cemetery Ridge.

PAR FOR THE COURSE

—Sir—
Ex-Gov. John B. Swainson called a press conference to deliver an opinion, which could have been foretold, on the performance of Gov. Romney, the man who unseated him.

Not that he was being plain negative, Swainson said, but he couldn't find anything to cheer about in Romney's record. Then he interpolated freely that Romney's program "was copied from my Democratic administration."

Swainson has company in the discontented department. We understand ex-Vice President Richard Nixon doesn't find much of value in the man who beat him, President Kennedy.

Somehow their common attitude that everything is wrong with the other fellow leaves the impression that Swainson and Nixon still walk in their yesterdays.—Detroit News.

Noted Historian Here To Study Land Grant Data

What happened to the 750,000 acres of Michigan land once owned by the St. Marys Falls Ship Canal Co.?

A noted historian, Dr. Irene D. Neu, was in Marquette this week trying to shed some light on that question.

Dr. Neu, an attractive brunette, became interested in the Sault Canal through her exhaustive studies of Erastus Corning, a pioneer New York businessman who was a large stockholder in the St. Marys Falls Ship Canal Co. She wrote her doctor's thesis (from Cornell University) on Corning, a pioneer in the Sault Canal through her exhaustive studies of Erastus Corning, a pioneer New York businessman who was a large stockholder in the St. Marys Falls Ship Canal Co. She wrote her doctor's thesis (from Cornell University) on Corning, a pioneer in the Sault Canal through her exhaustive studies of Erastus Corning, a pioneer New York businessman who was a large stockholder in the St. Marys Falls Ship Canal Co.

While in Marquette, she spent most of her time in research on a land grant given to the St. Marys Falls Ship Canal Co. for building the Sault Canal. The company was organized in 1852, and Corning became its president. Construction of the canal was begun by the company the following year.

Compensation for the construction was made through a land grant. The federal government transferred 750,000 acres to the state, which in turn gave this land to the company in payment for the canal. Of the 750,000 acres, 187,000 acres were located in the Upper Peninsula and the remainder in Lower Michigan. About 38,000 acres was in Marquette County, which was much larger than that is now. There were 6,953 acres in the Marquette area.

The Upper Peninsula land was transferred around 1860 to the St. Marys Falls Mineral Land Co. The 563,000 acres in the Lower Peninsula were sold at public auction in 1863 for the purpose of liquidating the St. Marys Falls Ship Canal Co., and many of the stockholders in the company exchanged their stock for land. Corning, who was an ambitious promoter, acquired about 25 per cent of all the company's Lower Peninsula land.

Dr. Neu does not know what happened to Corning's vast holdings. Corning died in 1872, and his son inherited the land. "He was not much interested in business affairs," Dr. Neu said, "and he came to disaster in the Panic of 1893. Much of the land was lost thereafter for non-payment of taxes."

Dr. Neu would like to know definitely what happened to Corning's land, as well as all of the other land that was held by the St. Marys company, but finding the answer will not be an easy task.

—The historian spent last week in Lansing tracing details of the state transfer of land to the company through the archives of the secretary of state's office, the Michigan Historical Commission and the Michigan Department of Conservation.

But from there on the trail fades out. In order to learn exactly what transpired it would be necessary to make a check in at least 40 counties in which the land was located. Dr. Neu estimates that it would require 80 years for one person to perform this research. It might be possible to finish the job in two years if Dr. Neu could find 40 history students who would accept the assignment, each of them spending two years on it, but she is not optimistic about this.

Meanwhile, she was learning what she could about the land transactions by studying correspondence and other documents on file at the Marquette County Historical Society's Longyear Research Library.

Typewriter History Dates Back To 1867

New typewriters are fast, versatile and good spellers. One machine needs only 15,000 words of faultless copy per minute, but it never will expedite business correspondence. The device is designed to transcribe data from high-speed computers.

An experimental phonetic typewriter takes dictation, checks the sounds against its "spelling memory" unit and correctly records the words. A new carriageless electric typewriter can tap out 186 words per minute — if the typist's fingers are nimble enough.

Modified keyboards also speed typing. Chemists are able to type technical symbols into their reports instead of laboriously drawing them by hand. Insurance company secretaries need strike only one key to write the word "age."

The modern machines are a far cry from the slow, clumsy early models. Though Queen Anne of England granted a patent for a "writing machine" in 1714, it was not until 1867 that Christopher Latham Sholes of Milwaukee invented the first practical typewriter.

Sholes, who once said, "All my life I have been trying to escape being a millionaire," sold the rights to his invention for $12,000 to E. Remington & Sons, a small-arms manufacturer. Remington improved it and produced the first commercial typewriter in 1873.

Remington No. 1 resembled an ungainly sewing machine, complete with a foot treadle to return the carriage. It printed only capital letters. An ornate model decorated with mother-of-pearl was shown at the 1876 Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia. It was completely overshadowed by another exhibit — Dr. Alexander Graham Bell's telephone.

But the typewriter slowly caught on — helped by promotion claims that it offered a complete safeguard against "pen paralysis, loss of sight and curvature of the spine."

Speed contests also helped sell the typewriters. One company had a stable of racing typists who trained daily on souped-up stock models adjusted for hair-trigger response.

Early typewriter users often met rebuffs. A Texas insurance man who sent a typewritten letter to one of his agents got this reply: "I do not think it necessary to have your letters to me taken to the printers and set up like a handbill. I am deeply chagrined."

Busiest High Court Term

WASHINGTON — Former Justice Felix Frankfurter once said the Supreme Court is not a "dozing audience." The nine justices, who don't have time for dozing, were busier than ever this year.

A record 2,824 cases were laid in the court's lap for review in the 1962-63 term just ended. This was three times the yearly average before World War II and an increase of more than 1,000 cases over five years ago.

Learning How To Write Petitions

The court, as usual, rejected most of the petitions but gave majority opinions in 110. The previous term the figure was 85. Why the increase in the number of cases?

One reason is that so many more prisoners in state and federal penitentiaries have learned how to write petitions. Another is the population increase, meaning more cases handled in lower courts and, thus, more appeals.

At this point the law clerks, recent graduates of law schools, come into the picture. Each justice has two (they stay a year), except Chief Justice Earl Warren, who has three, and Justice William O. Douglas, who always has one.

They are of the utmost importance in helping a justice do his research.

Operate Independently

Justices operate independently, each in a three-room suite of offices, but studies of the court show that over the years, because the problems are the same, the nine justices operate pretty much the same in a general way.

Since each of the 2,824 cases which reached the court this past term had to be examined individually by each justice — before he could say it did or didn't deserve consideration — the justices rely on their clerks for help.

The clerks examine each application and make a digest of it. The justices read the digests. In some cases they may be enough for a justice to make up his mind.

Otherwise, he reads both the digest and the case. Details Of Schedule

When the nine meet behind closed doors on Friday they discuss each application for review and vote to accept or reject. A vote of four, less than a majority, is enough to accept. This is only part of the job.

From Monday through Thursday for two weeks each month the nine justices in open court listen to lawyers argue the cases they voted to accept. The other two weeks are for writing opinions and doing research.

Then in Friday conference the justices can discuss and reach a decision, although there may be variation in this, on the cases they had heard argued in the previous few days. This, however, is considered a tentative opinion.

Sometimes Change Their Minds

After the decision is reached one of the majority is assigned the task of writing the court's opinion. Any of the other justices may write a concurring or dissenting opinion to explain how and why he reached his position.

Only the majority decision has the effect of law.

Then the justices exchange their opinions, particularly the majority opinion. This allows them to criticize or suggest changes. Infrequently, after this exchange a justice may change his mind.

In addition the justices give a number of lectures a year, frequently at law schools. An old question arises: Do the law clerks ever write on opinion for a justice? This writer has found no evidence that it ever happens. But reports by law clerks in other years do show this.

But reports by law clerks in other years do show this. Sometimes a justice asks his law clerk — especially toward the end of a term — to write an opinion or outline for an opinion. This gives a law clerk practice, at least.

The justice goes over it, discards it entirely, criticizes it, perhaps finds ideas in it, or uses it as a starting point for the opinion he writes.

THOSE LABOR SAVERS

There are so many labor-saving devices on the market these days that a man has to work all his life to pay for them.—Silverton (Ohio) Reporter

POPE PAUL VI

During the past five years Pope John XXIII set in motion vast changes, not only in the Catholic Church but in the whole Christian world. He worked toward the vision of a single Christian community.

Throughout the period one of the men closest to him in thought was Cardinal Montini, archbishop of Milan, scholar, diplomat and pastor. So outstanding were the qualities of Giovanni Battista Montini that he was considered a candidate for the papacy five years ago, even before he had attained the rank of cardinal.

No one can forecast the future, but it is clear that Cardinal Montini also saw Pope John's dream. And the speed with which he was chosen the church's supreme pastor, as Pope Paul VI, indicates that others in Rome see it too. — Wall Street Journal

SHOT IN THE BACK

Medgar W. Evers was a determined leader of determined people. A native of Mississippi who loved his home state, he led the civil rights demonstrations in Jackson in an effort, as he said, to make it a better home. He refused to live elsewhere despite threats against his life. He said, "If I die, it will be in a good cause." He did not believe in violence but he died of violence. And the shot in the back that killed Medgar Evers was an act of cowardly criminal stupidity.

Citizens of Jackson, white and Negro, are well aware of the cowardliness and criminality of the action. The stupidity of it was best expressed by Roy Wilkins of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. He said the movement for civil rights could not be killed by the murder of a brave leader of the movement. The effect will be the opposite.

In 24 hours the civil rights issue has brought violence in one form or another in Cambridge, Md., and New York City, and police action against demonstrators in Danville, Va. and Savannah, Ga. Clearly, as President Kennedy said, the issue is not sectional. Just as clearly, violence will not quell demands for change. "Our obligation," the President said, "is to make that change peaceful and constructive for all." The nation must say Amen.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The National Whirligig

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON — J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and C. D. DeLoach, assistant director, have taken exceptions to statements made in the National Whirligig column by Andrew Tully for May 22.

"I would support him," Percy, 43, who is making his first bid for public elective office, said in a taped radio program.

Side Glances

Washington

The government's drive on organized crime and 16 new items of legislation affecting the FBI's responsibilities were cited by Mr. Hoover as main reasons for the need for the new personnel.

DeLoach, in defending the FBI budget, said: "The last fiscal year for which full statistics are available is 1962. In that year, the director requested and received $127,216,000 from Congress, $31,706,000 more than was appropriated for the FBI for the 1962 fiscal year. More than three-fourths of this increase was occasioned by pay raises which were enacted by Congress during this period and, thereby, over which neither the FBI nor the director had any control."

The remaining increase in appropriations is readily explained by the fact that the number of investigative matters received by the FBI jumped from 477,092 in the 1957 fiscal year to 637,000 in the 1962 fiscal year. Not all of these involved violations of law, and in many instances, our investigation established that a crime had not, in fact, been committed. Nevertheless, some idea of the FBI's effectiveness in handling this greatly increased workload can be found in statistics such as these:

Record Number Of Convictions

"Fines, savings and recoveries in FBI cases reached an all-time high of $174,561,841 in the 1962 fiscal year, compared with $79,218,437 in the 1957 fiscal year.

"Convictions in cases investigated by the FBI rose from 11,213 to 12,635 — the highest total for any peacetime fiscal year.

"The number of fugitives increased from 9,148 to 11,163.

Rate Of Convictions

"Mr. Tully wrote that the FBI secured only 483 convictions under the Federal Bank Robbery and Incidental Crimes Statute in the 1962 fiscal year; whereas, 1,074 violations were committed that year. The FBI is strictly an investigative agency. We do not secure convictions because prosecution is the function of others in the Department of Justice. Moreover, nearly 97 per cent of all persons brought to trial in FBI cases during the 1962 fiscal year were convicted.

"Second, the figure of 483 represents only convictions in federal court under the Federal Bank Robbery and Incidental Crimes Statute. In many instances, a decision is made to prosecute bank robbers in state court. Such convictions are not included in the 483 total. In other instances, a person who has committed a series of bank robberies may be prosecuted and convicted for only one or two of these crimes. In still other, bank robbers are tried and convicted on other charges, such as kidnapping, killing a federal officer and the like. These are among the reasons why it is impossible to compare violations and convictions."

Dear Abby....

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our son is 16 and very popular. We finished off our basement so he could entertain his friends there. We put in a TV, stereo and billiard table. Last Saturday night he had six couples in for a party. We served sandwiches and soft drinks. We have a rule—no beer or liquor. The next morning, while cleaning up, I found several empty beer cans and an empty vodka bottle hidden behind the TV. We questioned our son and three of his friends. One boy admitted to bringing the beer. A girl had brought the vodka from home. We told them it was against the law for minors to drink. They tried to tell us it was okay if done in a private home. Please print this with your comments in case we need something more concrete to show them.

And would you believe it, Abby, when we hear from his people all the letters are addressed to him and him alone? When they close, as an afterthought, they add, "Oh, say hello to your wife." I once got angry and told him to write his own letters. So he got even with me by putting a five- or ten-dollar bill in all the letters, and he knows we can't afford it. I've just about

Fence Off Freckles With Big Hat Or Special Cosmetics

1. Do your sun sessions leave your skin tattooed with freckles? If so, time's a-wastin'. Face up to "sun dots," and guard against their multiplication! As Betty Lynn aptly illustrates, a protective hat is worthwhile sun insurance. Before every "hope to tan" outing, smooth on a creamy foundation base or sun-screening block-out cream. Even a veil-like coating helps fence off freckles.

2. If you've already acquired a crop of freckles, cosmetics help to minimize them. Select a make-up base, a shade between the color of your complexion and the sun dots. Now hear this! Never mask the face with make-up. Lightly apply the cosmetic and, if freckles show through, let 'em. The idea is to blend, not cover, them so heavily the result is more clown than coed. Another tip: try a brighter shade of lipstick. Its vibrant hue helps spotlight the mouth and tones down the freckles.

3. Whether you are freckled or fair, thin skins have a tendency to dry in the sun. Frequently such an arid condition shows in feather lines around the eyes. Before facing the sun, lubricate this sensitive section with eye cream. As Betty, seen on CBS-TV's "The Andy Griffith Show," reminds, sunglasses also protect this delicate area, warding off squint lines as well as shielding the eyes.

P.S. Be a "sun-sational" beauty this summer. For a special Hollywood tanning recipe, plus a warm weather diet, send 5c and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to "Youth Parade - Tan and Trim," c/o The Mining Journal, P. O. Box 46-181, Hollywood 46, California. Due to volume of mail, only those enclosing coin and stamped envelope can be answered.

Summer Art Classes At Graveraet

Summer "paint togethers" are again being sponsored by the adult education department of the Marquette public schools. Anita E. Meyland, instructor of the art classes held the year around under the adult education program, announced today that six sessions have been planned for the summer, beginning next Tuesday evening. Each class is from 7:30 to 10 p.m. in the art room of Graveraet High School. The course, entitled "An Art Experience" will consist of new and old techniques leading to creativity and self-expression, using various media and materials, Mrs. Meyland said. Of the six sessions, two will be given by guest artists visiting in this area and the final session will be an art exhibit around the fountains at Graveraet. The exhibit is open to all members of former adult education classes as well as those enrolled in the summer course. Registration is scheduled prior to the opening session Tuesday evening. Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Meyland at CANal 6-8807 and those interested in the course may also pre-register by telephone.

For the anniversary party, Mrs. Leivo wore a green and gold print dress with jacket and a corsage of yellow roses and white carnations. Mrs. Peltto wore a green print and Mrs. Niemi a blue and green print, and their flowers were yellow chrysanthemums and white carnations.

Flower Centerpiece

The buffet table was covered with a linen and lace cloth and centered by an arrangement in a crystal bowl of yellow snapdragons and chrysanthemums and white carnations with gold leaves with gold tapers on either side. Mrs. Peltto and Mrs. Niemi poured and Mrs. Elmer Winiikka of Chassell, a cousin of Mrs. Leivo, served the anniversary cake. Miss Barbara Winiikka, Chassell, served the punch. Mrs. Walfrid Maki was in charge of the guest book and Mrs. Waino Maki greeted guests at the door.

Among those attending were several of the Leivo's relatives and friends from Waukegan, Ill., Calumet, Hancock, Chassell, Drummond Island and the Marquette area.

Blue Notes Practice Nightly For 'Buglers Holiday' Event In Ishpeming Next Saturday

ISHPEMING — Residents here are treated nightly to music by the Blue Notes Drum and Bugle Corps members, who are practicing for the "Buglers Holiday" coming up on Saturday, July 13, in Ishpeming.

The Blue Notes were organized in October of 1957 as a parade corps only. An all-girl color guard was started in 1959, but in 1960 girls were accepted into the corps proper for the first time.

Their first year of competition was in 1959. In 1960 and 1962, they won third place in state American Legion competition. They did not enter this contest in 1961, but placed second that year in the Wisconsin Rapids "Tournament of Champions" and this year won first in the Upper Peninsula American Legion competition.

In 1962, both corps and color guard held second place in U. P. Legion competition, second in Menominee's "Drums of the North" event and third in the state Veterans of Foreign Wars contest.

The Blue Notes have been designated as the "state Legion commander's corps" by the Michigan commander, Joe Paul, who also presented a "state commander's flag" to the color guard and corps.

In the spring of 1963, the Blue Notes were awarded a certificate of appreciation by the National Foundation for assistance for the past two years in the annual March of Dimes Telethon over WLUC-TV.

The Blue Notes also were one of three youth groups in Marquette County to be cited for the influence and work in the community and county during Michigan Week.

On the field, the corps is under the direction of Tom Hendra, drum major, and Nancy Fernea, assistant drum major.

Susan Allen is the color guard commander while corps directors are Lee J. Mayrand, James H. Medlyn, Marvin C. Blight and Alfred Hendra.

Ishpeming's Blue Notes Drum and Bugle Corps, Upper Peninsula champion, will take part in "Buglers Holiday" event next Saturday.

Civic League Again Pushing For Better Homes, Gardens

ISHPEMING — Through the efforts of the Ishpeming Women's Civic League homeowners in Ishpeming have been working hard at improving their premises.

The league again will inspect gardens and well-kept premises this year between Aug. 1 and Aug. 15.

Since inspections were late last year, many gardens were not at their best and many "show pieces" were overlooked.

The league this year is asking interested persons and garden enthusiasts to inform the league by telephone or letter if they want an inspection of their property.

Those to be contacted are Mrs. Gordon Goodney, HU 6-4735; Mrs. Stanley Holman, HU 6-8443; Mrs. Vincent Malmstrom, HU 6-6202; Mrs. Clifford Perry, HU 6-4263; Mrs. Fred Blewett or Miss Anna Asgaard at HU 6-4806.

Responsible For Flower Boxes
"There is much that can be done to enhance the City of Ishpeming," stated Miss Asgaard "and can be done only if everyone cooperates. Tourists will come back and will stay a little longer if that little extra touch of beauty is added in the city."

The Women's Civic League is responsible for the sign at the Third St. intersection. The sign states the population of Ishpeming. The flower boxes on the city hall also are there through the efforts of the league.

It is good to lie down on the grass and look up into the sky. Your mind starts to wander — the way it always does when you take the time really to look at it. The heaven is so immense that you can't find a word big enough for it. Those thunderheads, building up in the west — they are so huge that they dwarf the work of man into total insignificance.

The stars are still up there too. We can't see them in the daytime and always this seems strange. But they are just as much there as they are at night — and you don't have to see them to know it.

You don't have to see God either, to know that He's there — though some people seem to feel it's something that has to be proved. They couldn't be more wrong. God's evidence is everywhere. Just walk into a church on Sunday and sit down and listen awhile, and then you will know for sure.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and read your Bible daily.

They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Dualization Of Rail Depots Opposed By Baraga Council

BARAGA — The Baraga Village Council unanimously passed a resolution opposing the proposed dualization of the Soo Line railroad depots at Baraga and L'Anse au Loup at the council meeting held earlier this week.

Village Attorney William G. Konstenius, who attended the Public Service Commission hearing in Ontonagon on June 27, reported that his examination of the pleadings in this case reveal that the gross income and volume of traffic handled by these two stations has increased markedly during the past year, rather than fallen off as might be assumed from the position taken by the railroad.

Gross Revenue Increase

Konstenius maintained that the service should actually be improved rather than curtailed and suggested that the council formally protest granting of the railroad petition, which asks to have both stations handled by a single agent, who would spend five hours per day at L'Anse and two hours per day at Baraga.

Citing volume figures contained in the pleadings, Konstenius pointed out that the gross revenue of the two stations in question jumped from approximately $600,000 in 1961 to $1,004,000 in 1962. He also noted that the 1961 total of 3,500 carloads shipped through the two stations rose to over 5,000 carloads in 1962.

Konstenius further stated that the gross income of the Soo Line which operates in eight states, rose by $5,000,000 in that year — from $75,000,000 in 1961 to $80,000,000 in 1962. Of this total, the increase realized at Baraga and L'Anse alone was $500,000 or about one-tenth of the total hike for the entire Soo Line operation. He added the operating expenses of the two stations increased by only about $200.

"I suggest that the council pass a resolution calling the attention of the Public Service Commission to these facts and pointing out to them that we consider this proposed curtailment of service ridiculous," he stated.

Konstenius said that if the two depots were consolidated, the saving to the railroad would be only about $5,000 per year and added that the resultant loss of service to industries and residents of the area would be disproportionately large. He also pointed out that all the passenger and carload service originating in Ontonagon goes through the Baraga depot.

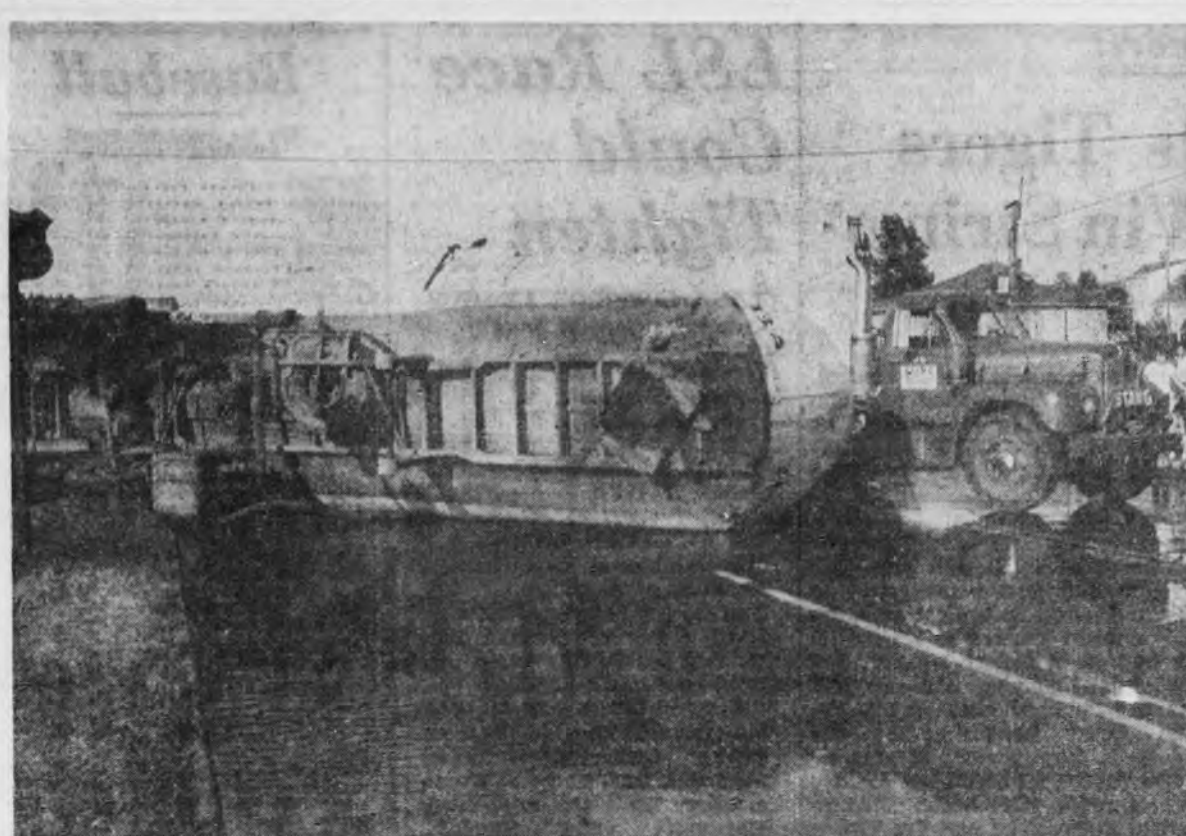

Konstenius said the only protest of proposed Soo Line Mergers registered at the Ontonagon public hearing came from Baraga.

Boy, Slayer Of Mom, In Pontiac Hospital

PONTIAC — Douglas Godfrey, 16, who admitted killing his mother last January 25, has entered Pontiac State Hospital for psychiatric treatment.

The youth said he killed his mother, Mary, 38, by shooting her with a .22-caliber pistol from outside the kitchen window of their home in Bloomfield Township.

Oakland County Probate Judge Donald Adams ordered the boy admitted to the hospital after it was decided he should not be tried as an adult.

4,500 Gallons Of Gas Pour Out When Truck Overturns

ISHPEMING — Ishpeming firemen were called to the scene of an accident on the corner of U.S. 41 and Hickory St. at 4:55 yesterday afternoon when a gas-carrying truck overturned, spilling 4,500 gallons of gas over the highway.

Ishpeming police officers stated that Andrew L. Rukhala, 464 Division St., made a left turn off of Hickory onto U.S. 41 in the path of the tanker driven by Eugene T. LaChapelle of 420 N. Third St., Marquette.

3,000 Gallons Salvaged

As LaChapelle tried to apply his brakes, the truck jackknifed to the right, causing the truck to flip on its right side, police said.

Over 20 Ishpeming firemen worked continuously for over four hours washing the gas down the sewers. They were able to salvage 3,000 gallons which were pumped from the truck.

The fire department used three trucks and 1,750 feet of two-and-a-half-inch hose in the clean up process.

Rukhala was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way and LaChapelle was ticketed for having an expired driver's license.

Biologists Recommend U. P. Grouse Seasons, Limits Be Unchanged

The conservation department's game division has recommended the same grouse seasons and bag limits in the Upper Peninsula this year as last.

Thus, if the conservation commission follows the recommendation, it meets in Houghton next week, Upper Peninsula hunters again will have a ruffed grouse season of maximum length (41 days) and bag limits (five daily, 10 in possession, 25 for the season) and a sharp-tailed grouse season of the same length and the same reduced bag limits (two a day, six in possession, eight per season) that have been in effect for the past two seasons.

Combined opinions of district game supervisors and other department personnel, federal forest rangers and selected sportsmen polled this spring in the Upper Peninsula showed that 85 of them had seen more ruffed grouse this spring than last, 52 had seen about the same number in both springs and 25 had seen fewer birds this year.

Checks of 23 drumming census routes also showed breeding grouse were more abundant this spring above the Straits.

"However, said Harry D. Ruhl, chief of the game division, 'weather conditions during the critical egg-laying season and the peak of the hatching season — the first two or three weeks in June — were not entirely favorable. During the first 10 days of June rainfall was generally below normal and temperature was above normal, but in the period June 11-23 rainfall was generally above normal and temperature below normal, an unfavorable combination.

Spring population checks of sharp-tailed grouse in the Upper Peninsula showed little change in the population as a whole. The number of cocks on 43 dancing grounds checked both this spring and last was 344 this year and 347 last year.

"There are a few reports of dancing grounds in new areas this spring which indicate a slight expansion of range, though it is offset by abandonment of grounds in other areas," Ruhl said. "Of the more important sharp-tailed population centers, Drummond Island and Western Alger County appear to have increased. Ontonagon County remained about the same, while Marquette County and the Bullock Ranch — Seney Refuge area dropped."

The division is recommending that Drummond Island remain closed for another year, however, and that the closed season on sharp-tails in the five western counties — Baraga, Houghton, Keweenaw, Ontonagon and Gogebic — that was in effect last year be continued this year.

State Offered Alger County Grouse Land

A proposal to exchange 440 acres of sharp-tailed grouse habitat in the Escanaba River State Forest in Alger County for five state-owned lots in downstate East Tawas and two acres in the Van Riper State Park in Marquette County is scheduled to be acted on by the conservation commission at its July meeting in Houghton next week.

The Alger County tract is open old-burn prairie that is very suitable for sharptail management and is of high priority for this purpose, the conservation department said.

Present owner of the tract is the Birdseye Veneer Co., which has offered the land to the Catholic Diocese of Saginaw for $7,750, which represents the appraisal value of the land and special value for desirable sharptail habitat.

The diocese would then exchange this land for the East Tawas lots, which the St. Joseph Catholic Church wants as a school site. The East Tawas lots, however, are appraised at $7,600 — or $150 below the Alger County tract.

To make up the difference, the state would surrender a second tract in Van Riper park. This tract includes an existing 1.1-acre cemetery located in the extreme southeastern corner of the park. The cemetery was on land held under a use permit by the Marquette Catholic Diocese from the Oliver Iron Mining Co. when the department acquired the land to expand the park. An additional nine-tenths of an acre would allow limited expansion of the crowded cemetery site. An appraisal value of $150 was assigned to the two-acre parcel.

Clubs Invited To Meeting Of Commission

Earl H. Clark, Houghton, president of the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association, has urged all clubs affiliated with the association to be represented at the Michigan Conservation Commission's July meeting in Houghton.

The commission's informal session will begin at 1:30 p.m., Thursday, July 11, and the formal session will open at 9 a.m., Friday, July 12. Both sessions will be held in the Memorial Union Building on the campus of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology and both are open to the public.

The Houghton meeting is the only one scheduled by the commission in the Upper Peninsula this year.

"The privilege of the floor will be extended to any person who has anything to take up with the members of the conservation commission, including deer hunting, small game hunting, warm water fishing, trout fishing, Lake Superior trout plants, public fishing sites, recreation, the leasing of the Porcupine Mountains ski facilities or logging in the Porcupine Mountains State Park," Clark said.

Change Asked In Closing Day Of Early U.P. Bear Season

With one exception, there will be no changes in small game and bear hunting regulations in the Upper Peninsula this year from last year. If the conservation commission follows recommendations of the conservation department's staff, the commission will act on hunting regulations — exclusive of deer and waterfowl — at its monthly meeting in Houghton next Thursday and Friday.

Overlap In 'Quiet' Period

The only change recommended from last year is for the special rifle bear season to end on Nov. 3 instead of Nov. 5. Reason for the proposed change is to prevent bear hunting in the western Upper Peninsula during the five-day "quiet" period when rifles may not be carried in the woods preceding the deer season.

A legislative change last year in the opening date for the deer season in the western two-thirds of the Upper Peninsula meant that the season, which traditionally opened on Nov. 15, now opens on the Saturday preceding Nov. 15. That Saturday falls this year on Nov. 9. If the special bear season continues through Nov. 5, as in the past, it would overlap the "quiet" period by two days.

Three Special Seasons

The Upper Peninsula again would have three special early bear seasons this year. The first extends from Sept. 1 to 15 and use of dogs is permitted. The second extends from Oct. 1 to Nov. 3 if the staff recommendation is followed and use of dogs also is permitted. The third extends from Oct. 1 to Nov. 5 and covers archery bear hunting only. In all three instances, Keweenaw County is closed.

In commenting on bear hunting regulations, H. D. Ruhl, chief of the game division, said the Upper Peninsula bear population, which has been high for several years,

Remains High. The special early bear seasons kill total last year was only 200 in the Upper Peninsula, but the number of bears transported south across the Mackinac Bridge during the firearms deer season last year was 370, the third highest total recorded in the last 27 years, surpassed only in 1952 (406) and 1958 (379).

The department staff has recommended no change in the following seasons in the Upper Peninsula:

Ruffed grouse and sharp-tailed grouse. (See separate story elsewhere on this page).

Snowshoe hare. Of 154 department personnel and other observers reporting on hare abundance in the Upper Peninsula, 21 per cent said there were fewer than last spring, 51 per cent the same and 28 per cent more. The downward cyclic trend should continue for about two more years, and the next high should follow about five years later, the department said.

Pheasant. A limited open season has been in effect in parts of Delta and Menominee Counties for several years. The Menominee County pheasant crowing count indicated no change from 1962. The crowing index for Delta County on a route established last spring was 0.9 calls per two-minute listening station, which approaches the highest counts made in Menominee County in past years.

Hungarian partridge. This species was introduced in Chippewa County in 1954 and limited hunting seasons were held there in 1959 and 1960, but very light hunting pressure and harvest were recorded. The season was closed in 1961 and 1962 because of a decreasing number of birds. Few sightings were reported again this year, and the staff recommended that the season remain closed.

Woodcock. The season on woodcock, rails, gallinules and jacksnipe cannot be set until the department receives a memorandum from the U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife on limits for open season dates. However, the department has asked the bureau for a longer season on woodcock this year to allow closing dates to coincide with those on grouse. In the past the grouse season in the Upper Peninsula has closed on Nov. 10 and the woodcock season on Nov. 9.

The Michigan woodcock kill last year was estimated at 118,580, an all-time high. Singing ground counts made this spring on 69 selected routes show woodcock numbers up about 15 per cent over last year, according to preliminary estimates made by personnel of the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

District Game Supervisor Ivan Thomson (left), Crystal Falls, checks aerial photos with John MacNeil, private pilot, near Floodwood Plains in Dickinson County, one of seven areas in Upper Peninsula which were sprayed with herbicides this summer in order to kill off forest growth and improve areas for wildlife, particularly sharp-tailed grouse. The plane used in spraying landed and took off from highway M-95 while engaged in the Floodwood project.

Increasing Use Of Detergents Sparks Survey By State

The increasing presence of detergents in Michigan trout streams is attracting the concern of fisheries biologists of the department of conservation.

To determine the scope of the situation, the department is conducting a survey in cooperation with the Water Resources Commission. This is a preliminary step to establish guide lines for more intensive research.

First pink salmon ever reported caught in Michigan waters of Lake Superior is shown above. It was taken by Rodney Bolton of L'Anse while fishing for rainbow trout in the mouth of the Falls River last spring. Fish measured 12.9 inches in length and is believed to have been a descendant of fingerling salmon that accidentally escaped into Ontario waters of Lake Superior while the fish were being transferred from a hatchery in Port Arthur to a seaplane in 1957.

Pink Salmon Caught In Falls River Stirs Hopes For New Sport Fishing

Positive identification of a pink salmon caught in Keweenaw Bay at the mouth of the Falls River in L'Anse has stirred speculation of the eventual establishment of salmon fishing in Lake Superior.

The fish was the first pink salmon reported taken from Lake Superior in Michigan, although at least nine other pink salmon have been caught since 1959 in Minnesota and Ontario waters of the lake or in streams tributary to the lake.

Caught By L'Anse Man

Rodney Bolton of L'Anse caught the salmon while angling for spring run rainbow trout with Richard Utneher, also of L'Anse, last May 26. Bolton was fishing with a doredevil spoon. He turned the unusual fish over to Thomas B. Durling of L'Anse, district fisheries supervisor for the conservation department, who sent the salmon to the Institute for Fisheries Research in Ann Arbor, where positive identification was made.

The salmon, which is now preserved in the University of Michigan Museum of Zoology, was a male, 12.9 inches in length. Scale analysis by institute personnel indicated the fish was born during the fall of 1961 and grew practically its entire 12.9 inches in 1962. It would have spawned and died next fall, by which time it would have attained a length of 16 to 18 inches, institute biologists said.

Accidental Escapement

Under normal conditions, the pink salmon is a salt water species which spawns primarily in rivers, the resulting fry entering the sea soon after development to the free swimming stage. Although salmon specialists have said no natural fresh water populations of pink salmon are known to exist, there seems to be little doubt but what this specimen is the descendant of salmon fingerlings that accidentally escaped into Lake Superior in 1957 while they were being transferred from a hatchery by personnel of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests.

Two of the other nine pink salmon known to have been taken in Lake Superior were caught in the fall of 1959, one by a fisherman in the mouth of the Cross River in Minnesota and the other by an angler in the Sucker River in Minnesota. Two years later, in mid-September 1961, anglers reported catching four pink salmon in the mouth of the Poplar River, also in Minnesota, and it was estimated that eight or nine spawning pairs were present. Three other pink salmon were caught in Ontario waters in 1961 — one by a commercial fisherman on Sept. 3 in Black Bay, another from the Nipigon River on Sept. 25 and the third at the mouth of the Pigeon River on Oct. 6.

It is interesting to note that all eight of these salmon were caught in odd-numbered years — 1959, 1961 and 1963 — and that Bolton's is the only one to have been taken in the spring. Spawning runs occur in the fall and in alternate years. Encouraged by this evidence of salmon survival from the accidental escapement of six years ago, two biologists of the Minnesota Department of Conservation, Robert E. Schumacher and John G. Hale, have suggested that action be taken by fisheries agencies concerned with Lake Superior to establish an even-year run in addition to the odd-year run now apparently present.

"This salmon could be of considerable importance in Lake Superior to both sport and commercial fishing interests in future years," they said.

A number of attempts have been made to introduce salmon into Lake Superior, but most of these attempts were with chinook salmon, and no permanent survival resulted.

Minnesota records show introduction of chinook salmon in Lake Superior during 1911 through 1922. The U.S. Bureau of Fisheries introduced chinook salmon into Lake Superior and into the St. Louis River in Minnesota at various times prior to 1903. The Wisconsin Conservation Department planted an unknown species of Pacific salmon during the period 1920-24. Michigan introduced chinook salmon in 1870. But nowhere have there been any records of intentional introduction of pink salmon into Lake Superior.

British Columbia Origin

The pink salmon that escaped accidentally into Thunder Bay of Lake Superior came from eggs that were collected from the Skeena River in British Columbia during the fall of 1955. The eyed eggs were hatched in Ontario's Port Arthur hatchery on Thunder Bay about 40 miles north of the Minnesota border during 1955-56.

About 518,000 fry subsequently were introduced into Goose Creek, a tributary of Hudson Bay, and 22,000 fry were raised to fingerlings for introduction in the Hudson Bay drainage.

In the process of transferring fingerling pink salmon from the Port Arthur hatchery to a seaplane bound for the Hudson Bay country, there was a known escapement of probably less than 100 fingerlings into Lake Superior.

It is improbable that the pink salmon caught in 1959 resulted from any salmon introduced in the period of 1870 to 1922," according to Schumacher and Samuel Eddy of the University of Minnesota. "It is unlikely that even a small population could have gone undetected for 60 years, especially in view of the large amount of commercial gill netting that has been carried on during that time. The pink salmon caught in 1959 were most probably derived from the 1955 brood year which escaped from the Port Arthur hatchery operations, or were progeny of that group.

"It is highly probable that other salmon have been caught but did not arouse sufficient curiosity for the angler to report them. This oversight could be especially true for females which would not exhibit a pronounced hump and whose coloration might pass for an odd brown trout."

Michigan fisheries officials, meanwhile, are highly interested in the possibilities of pink salmon survival and reproduction in Lake Superior and establishing a new sport and commercial fish species. They are urging residents along the Lake Superior shore to be on the watch for spawning runs of pink salmon next fall and to report any evidence to conservation officials.

Unusual Egg Hatching Case Reported Here

When Mrs. Sterling LaFonde of Marquette found a song sparrow's egg lying on a tree limb in her backyard she decided to place the egg in a chipping sparrow's nest nearby.

Nicholas Ilnicky of Marquette, who reported the incident, said the chipping sparrow, which had four eggs of its own, hatched the song sparrow's egg and reared the young bird.

Gull Nesting Decline

This may be the first record of its kind, said Ilnicky, who banded the song sparrow nestling and one of the young chipping sparrows.

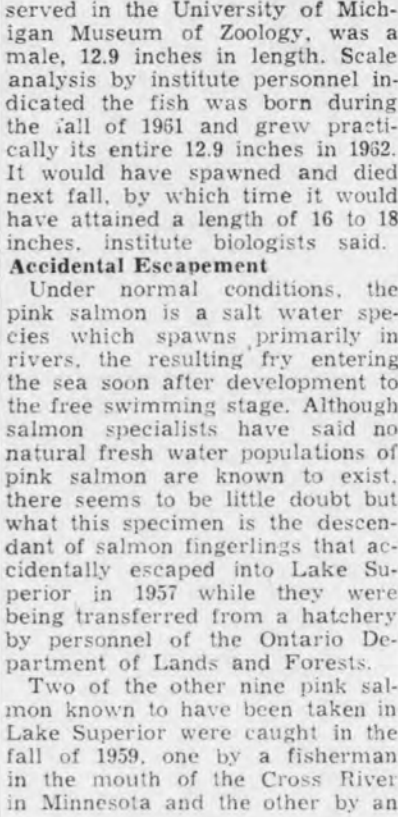

Ilnicky also reported that he banded 132 herring gull nestlings on Larus Island in Lake Superior. "This was a drastic drop in the nesting population compared to last year's banding of 380 nestlings on the same island," Ilnicky said. "The lake level in the area has dropped 18 inches since last year, which may or may not have contributed to the low nesting productivity this year."

Other Nest Reports

Other unusual nests reported this summer by Ilnicky included:

- The third record of nesting pine siskins in Marquette County. The nest was found near Victor Swanson's home on Second St. and College Ave. It contained four young, one of which Ilnicky banded.
- A Nashville warbler's nest containing five eggs found by Ilnicky near Fred Rydholm's cabin on the Yellow Dog Plains.
- A spotted sandpiper's nest containing four eggs at the Marquette Tourist Park.
- A broad-winged hawk's nest located by Eugene Larson between Marquette and Negaunee in a 40-foot white birch. Louis Kampe and Ilnicky banded the three young. A freshly killed chipmunk was found in the nest.

Mr. Meenzwell On Vacation

American Eel Discovered In U.P. Waters

Within the last 60 days two American eels have been taken from Great Lakes waters, but fish experts of the conservation department are not fearing a "biological explosion" of this seaway traveler from the Atlantic.

The first of the two was taken from Green Bay two months ago and the second, a five-pounder, was speared in Grand Traverse Bay on June 29 by 16-year-old Don Lowory of Bowers Harbor.

The American eel is a highly regarded food fish among Europeans, but one that propagates only in the Sargasso Sea of the sub-tropical Atlantic Ocean.

Attempts were made to establish the American eel in Michigan waters several times in the late 1800's, but all of these failed. They were in answer to popular demand by newly-arrived residents from Europe.

Fisheries biologists hasten to point out that there is no relationship between the American eel and the unwanted lamprey.

Fatal Boating Accident Toll Decreased In '62

A U.S. Coast Guard report shows an 8.5 per cent drop in the number of fatal boating accidents, coupled with a 13.9 per cent increase in the number of registered boats, during 1962, thus putting to an end any fears about a rise in the national boating accident rate and indicating that efforts to teach boaters safe boating procedures are bearing fruit.

State Seeks Sale Of Lots In Peninsula

Platted properties in 11 Upper Peninsula counties will be recommended for sale at the July meeting of the conservation commission in Houghton.

Altogether, 492 lots are listed, and the total of minimum bids is $21,830. The acreage land involves 46 separate sale unit parcels, the smallest being 0.01 acre and the largest 40 acres. The bulk of the properties recommended for sale are platted lots located in townships, cities and villages. Most of the lots are vacant. However, in several cases there are residential buildings in very poor to fair condition.

Counties in which the properties are located are Baraga, a total of

The new signs are part of an intensive signing program involving all state forests in the Upper Peninsula. In addition to directional signs, state forests will have informational signs pointing out campgrounds, scenic spots, management practices, etc. Four scenic drives have been posted in U.P. state forests, they drive in the Sturgeon River Forest in Dickinson County, one in the Mackinac Forest in Mackinac County and one in the Superior Forest in Luce County.
