$2.8 Million Stolen From British Train

CHEDDINGTON, England (AP)—A band of 20 to 30 masked bandits decamped the Glasgow-London mail train to a halt with a false signal today, blackjacked the engine and escaped with loot that the post office said may exceed a million pounds ($2.8 million).

Buffalo, N.Y. Hit Hard By Heavy Rains

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Flood damage in Buffalo was estimated at $35 million following torrential rains that virtually swamped some areas and routed more than 300 persons from their homes.

Rains up to 3.88 inches drenched the city and suburbs Wednesday for the second time in 10 days. Buses stopped running. Cars were abandoned as water filled low areas. Power was knocked out. Telephone lines were down. Many basements were flooded.

The rains fell mostly during the midmorning rush hours. It was over by noon.

Damages
Mayor Chester Kowal estimated damage to public facilities at $7 million and damage to homes and businesses at $28 million.

He declared a state of emergency. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller ordered state public works crews to provide the city with whatever help was available.

In suburban Cheektowaga, which has not had a flood in 30 years, 15 boats moved stranded in a pond in the lobby. Police said about 80 per cent of the homes there received flood damage.

Polar Bears

At the Buffalo Zoo, polar bears were swimming in the moat surrounding their cage. Clayton F. Freiheit, zoo curator, said guards stood nearby with weapons poised but the water receded before the bears got free.

At Roswell Park Memorial Institute where ducks usually swim in a pond in the lobby, water gushed through the lobby and brushed the ducks with it.

Last Week's Deluge

Last week, a 3.37-inch deluge caused flood damage between $500,000 to $1.5 million. Several homes had to be evacuated at that time.

Four Killed, Eight Hurt In Japanese Hotel Fire

FUKUYAMA, Japan (AP)—Winds whipped up by typhoon Bess turned a three-story Japanese hotel into a blazing inferno today.

Police said four persons perished, one is missing and eight were injured.

There were no foreigners among the 81 guests at the hotel, on the picturesque Inland Sea 50 miles east of Hiroshima.

Smith Has Mild Case Of Food Poisoning

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., 80, was reported much improved today from a digestive upset suffered at the Capitol Wednesday.

The chairman of the House Rules Committee apparently had a mild attack of food poisoning. He was not hospitalized, but went to bed at his home in Alexandria, Va.

comparable robberies in the United States, the biggest cash haul was $1,531,277 taken last Aug. 14 from a mail truck outside Plymouth, Mass.

"The loss is likely to be very heavy and may well run into seven figures," the British Post Office said. This is the first attack on a traveling post office in the 123 years of their history.

Reward
Postmaster General Reginald Bevins promptly ordered a 10,000-pound ($28,000) reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the bandits.

The bandits seized about 120 bags of registered mail containing a large quantity of used but still valid currency which was being returned to London for reprocessing. There were reports the haul also included a consignment of diamonds for Hatton Market, London's gem trading center.

The bandits struck shortly after 3 a.m. at a rural crossing 40 miles northwest of London. They covered the green signal at the crossing with a glove and put batteries behind the red signal to light it. They also cut railway telephone wires.

Coveralls, Masks

Garbed in coveralls and various types of masks, the band boarded the train with clubs and iron bars as weapons when engineer Jack Mills, 58, halted his diesel engine. Mills was clubbed down.

Some smashed windows of the first two mail coaches and climbed aboard. They bound the four mail sorters. They handcuffed the assistant engineer, David Whitby, to Mills, uncoupled the two coaches from the remaining 10 cars of the train and forced the engineer to move the engine and two cars a mile farther south.

Whitby said later he was told by one of the bandits:

Nikita Wants Troops On Chinese Frontier

BERLIN (AP)—Premier Khrushchev wants to deploy some of his 300,000 troops in East Germany along the potentially explosive Soviet-Chinese frontier and for that reason is eager to settle the Berlin issue, Communist sources claim.

The suggestion, offered Wednesday to Western correspondents by non-German Communists, may have been planted by the Reds, diplomats in West Berlin said.

Singer To Take Part In Civil Rights March

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Singer Harry Belafonte has been released from his Aug. 28 appearance at the Greek Theater to take part in the mass civil rights demonstration that day in Washington.

Belafonte was reported to be organizing a group of entertainers to join the march in support of civil rights legislation.

Lack Of Wind Keeps $20 Bills On Tracks

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A postal money bag containing an estimated $100,000 fell from a transfer wagon, was run over by a train and burst open, scattering $20 bills along the track.

"Fortunately there was no wind," said a railroad station employee, after the mishap Wednesday. "The money was gathered up in about 20 minutes."

"If you shout, I will kill you."

Waiting Cars

The band unloaded the mail bags on a bridge over a narrow country road and dropped them to cars waiting on the road, 15 feet below. Then they sped away.

South Africa Not Likely To Change Policy

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—South Africa is expected to stick to its apartheid policy of racial segregation despite the U. N. Security Council's call for a worldwide arms embargo against the South African government.

There were indications that all U. N. members would not enforce the embargo. Secretary of State J. Rudolph Grimes of Liberia warned that African members would seek stronger measures in November unless South Africa changes its racial policy.

Key Provision

The embargo call was the key provision of a resolution the council adopted Wednesday by a 9-0 vote after debating apartheid for a week at the request of 32 African countries.

Britain and France abstained on the vote. Both have announced they are not shipping any arms to South Africa which, as Britain put it, "would enable the policy of apartheid to be enforced."

Interference

However, French Delegate Roger Seydoux of France called the resolution interference in South Africa's domestic affairs. Sir Patrick Dean of Britain said his government reserved its position on an all-inclusive embargo because of its defense commitments to South Africa.

Both Dean and Charles W. Yost of the United States said they did not regard the council's embargo call as compulsory for U. N. members. But the United States has announced it will ship no arms to South Africa after the end of this year.

Complaints

Speakers in the debate had complained that South Africa had ignored 27 other U. N. resolutions against its racial policies dating back to 1946.

Truce Line In Korea Has 'Cooled Off'

WITH THE 1ST CAVALRY DIVISION, Korea (AP)—Maj. Gen. Charles F. Leonard, new commander of this front-line division, said today the Korean truce line has cooled off.

Leonard, who assumed command of the 1st Cavalry Division Wednesday, predicted: "There won't be anything else stirring for some time."

The general told a newsman Communist North Koreans "wanted to find out if the 1st Cavalry Division was alert. Well, they found out. The 1st Cavalry is alert."

Unusually heavy patrol activity and occasional fighting broke out at spots along the truce line after three American soldiers in a jeep were ambushed July 29. Two were killed.

The 1st Cavalry beefed up its patrols along the demilitarized zone and killed four Communist raiders in an engagement in which an American and a South Korean policeman were also killed.

"I don't think there has been a pattern to the Communist activity," Leonard said. "It's an operational situation they just fell into."

All was quiet again Wednesday night for the third night along the U. S. sector of the demilitarized zone. No Communist patrols were sighted.

News In Brief

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Thundershowers deluged parts of Southern California Wednesday, causing flash floods which washed out highways, swept away cars and flooded two communities. Up to three feet of water flooded Victorville and Apple Valley in the Mojave Desert.

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The search continued today for a light U.S. Army plane missing since Sunday with five officers and an enlisted man aboard.

OTTAWA (AP)—Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson says American and Canadian negotiators have "pretty well agreed" on an agreement to arm Canadian weapons with U. S. nuclear warheads.

TOKYO (AP)—President Ho Chi Minh of Communist North Viet Nam said today peace could be restored in South Viet Nam if the United States pulled out its arms and men.

Hardest-Hitting Tank In The World

Racing out of a ditch the British Army's latest battle tank — the 50-ton Chieftain — is put through its paces at testing ground at Chersey, England. The tank is claimed by the army to be the hardest-hitting tank in the world and five years ahead of any other tank available to NATO forces. Its main armament is a newly-developed 120-millimeter gun. It has a top speed of 25 miles per hour and can run on all types of fuel. (AP Wirephoto)

Kennedy Baby Listed In Serious Condition

Train Rams Beer Truck, Two Killed

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP)—A mile-long freight train smashed a skidding beer truck nearly head-on today, triggering a huge pile-up of railroad cars under which the trucker and the train's head brakeman died.

The semi-trailer truck cab—its driver pinned inside—was buried under the twisted wreckage of 41 freight cars and the three diesel engines which were pulling the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad train.

State police identified the dead as William Warren, 42, Grand Rapids, Mich., the trucker, and Loyd Mosley, about 40, Grand Rapids, head brakeman on the 83-car train.

No official estimate of the damage was made immediately, but a state trooper said it probably would reach a million dollars.

Victims

Two other crewmen — engineer Lloyd Chambers, 65, Grand Rapids, and fireman Glen Maycroft, 32, Muskegon, Mich. — were injured and taken to Michigan City Memorial Hospital. Maycroft was released after treatment for cuts and bruises. Chambers was admitted in fair condition.

Rail Firemen Summoned To Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 156 local officials of the locomotive firemen's union who would have the final say on an agreement have been summoned to Washington next week in case there's a break in the railroad dispute.

"If there is to be an agreement this group has got to be here," said Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

Wirtz did not indicate whether he had a solid proposal to submit to the union's general chairman but he told a news conference: "We are continuing to look for every possibility of an agreement."

No Outward Signs

So far there have been no outward signs of any leap forward in the face-to-face negotiations between railroad and union negotiators.

The talks, carried on under the eye of Wirtz, may determine by next week whether the carriers and the operating unions can settle their wrangle over jobs — or whether Congress will have to step in to avert a nationwide strike Aug. 29.

Young Dems President Killed In Plane Crash

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP)—Roy Schafer, president of the national Young Democrats Organization during the election of President Kennedy, was found dead today in the wreckage of a small plane on Laurel Mountain.

A passenger, Philip Asher, 33, of Bethel Park, a Pittsburgh suburb, survived the crash. He is an engineer for radio station WSSW in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy was reported in excellent condition after the premature birth of her third child, Patrick Bouvier Kennedy. Doctors at Boston Children's Hospital today listed one-day-old Patrick in serious condition. (AP Wirephoto)

Kennedy Readies Appeal To Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy polished up an appeal to the Senate for resounding approval of the new East-West limited test ban pact today while representatives of at least 30 nations signed the treaty in Washington, London and Moscow.

The presidential message asking ratification and placing the pact officially before the Senate was due at the Capitol in late afternoon.

Parade Of Diplomats

The President took some time out from his shuttle run between his ailing new-born son in Boston and his wife at Otis Air Force Base where the baby was born Wednesday, for work on the appeal.

Before Kennedy got going again on the flying schedule, Australian Ambassador Sir Howard Beale started a parade of diplomats through the State Department to sign the pact banning nuclear weapons test everywhere except underground.

Senate approval by the necessary two-thirds vote is expected in about a month, but not before some reservations to the ban on atmospheric, outer space and underwater blasts are registered.

Scientific Testimony

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., for one, is calling for scientific testimony on Soviet progress toward neutralizing hostile missiles before he makes up his mind on the agreement.

Taxpayers Help IRS Celebrate Birthday

WASHINGTON (AP)—American taxpayers helped the Internal Revenue Service celebrate its 100th birthday by pouring a record tax take—$105.9 billion—into federal coffers in the fiscal year which ended June 30.

The Treasury bonanza included a new high for individual income and employment taxes, $67.9 billion, and a $6.5-billion increase over fiscal 1962, when receipts totaled $99.4 billion.

Ex-Dictator Sought By Colombian Troops

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Police and army troops sought ex-dictator Gustavo Rojas Pinilla today on a charge of plotting a forcible comeback while President Guillermo Leon Valencia was in Venezuela.

The government said the plot was thwarted as Valencia and Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt met and signed a pledge to defend their nations and other Latin-American democracies against plots to overthrow them.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special Securities and Exchange Commission study committee said today there was no evidence of manipulation or illegal conduct in the sharp stock market break of 1962.

Doctors Still Hopeful For Infant Patrick

BOSTON (AP)—Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, one-day old son of the President, was listed in serious condition today, but doctors said the way he spent his first night gave some encouragement.

The President visited his new son this morning at the Boston Children's Medical Center and moments later, presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger issued this statement:

"The baby's condition remained about the same through the night. "It was a source of some encouragement to doctors who felt the baby's condition would get worse."

'Still Hopeful'

"The baby's condition would have to be described as still serious, a cause of some concern, Salinger said.

The White House put wraps on release of medical information directly at Boston Children's Hospital where the 4-pound, 10-ounce baby is fighting breathing difficulties.

Salinger said the White House staff would release all information on the baby's condition and refused to discuss details of the case.

Same Diagnosis

He said the diagnosis remained the same as it was Wednesday—the general term idiopathic respiratory distress syndrome—or difficulty in breathing from unknown cause.

Although Salinger said the condition was still serious it was the first time he had used that word to describe the baby's condition.

The President stayed at the hospital for about a half-hour and then left by helicopter for the Otis Air Force Base Hospital on Cape Cod, about 65 miles away, where the baby was born Wednesday and where Mrs. Kennedy is recovering.

Excellent Condition

First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy rested nicely overnight and was reported in excellent condition after the excitement of the Caesarian birth of her third child—54 weeks ahead of time. Her mother, Mrs. Hugh Auchincloss, who flew to Cape Cod Wednesday night, said Mrs. Kennedy was "remarkably well and in good spirits."

The President's infant son was rushed by ambulance to Boston Children's Medical Center within five hours of his birth at Otis Air Force Base Hospital, some 65 miles from Boston.

108 Buddhists Begin 48-Hour Hunger Strike

HUE, Viet Nam (AP)—A group of 108 Buddhists began a 48-hour hunger strike in this central Vietnamese holy city today to protest policies of President Ngo Dinh Diem's government.

Supporting them, nearly half the shops in the city closed down.

Hunger strikers demanded that the government punish police and troops they claim killed one Buddhist and injured 56 others in hit-and-run unreported clashes July 27 and 31.

Arlene Regenerates, Heads For Bermuda

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A revived Arlene, first storm of the 1963 hurricane season, churned toward Bermuda today with the threat of gale winds.

After fizzling almost into oblivion, Arlene regenerated Wednesday night. Ships clocked her top winds at 60 miles an hour in squalls. The Miami Weather Bureau said they would increase to gale force today.

High Tides, Storms Batter Japanese Coast

TOKYO (AP)—High tides and rain storms began battering the southern Japanese coast today as Typhoon Bess churned toward the islands of Kyushu and Shikoku.

The U.S. joint typhoon warning center on Guam reported Bess, with winds of 115 miles per hour, was moving northwest at 6 MPH. Her center is expected to be 52 miles southeast of Kagoshima, southern tip of Japan Friday afternoon.

Haiti Claims Invasion Crushed; Exiles Say No

PORT AU PINCE, Haiti (AP)—President Francois Duvalier's government claims the invasion of Haiti by Haitian exiles has been crushed, but exile sources in the Dominican Republic insist the invaders are advancing.

Information Minister George J. Figaro said in a communique that Duvalier's troops had crushed the invasion after several hours of fighting in north Haiti Monday. He claimed the rebels, led by Gen. Leon Cantave, a former chief of staff, had been driven into the neighboring Dominican Republic.

The communique said "a state of general order prevails" throughout Haiti.

Adrien Raymond, Foreign office undersecretary, told newsmen some rebels were killed or captured, but he acknowledged that Cantave was not among them.

The government placed the size of the invading force at about 100, or one-fifth of what the rebels claimed.

Private sources in Port au Pince claimed Cantave was still on Haitian soil pressing his drive to topple Duvalier.

A rebel spokesman in the Dominican Republic accused Duvalier's regime of issuing false victory claims to try and discourage Haitians from joining the invaders.

Exile Reports
Exile sources in the Dominican Republic of Santo Domingo insisted two rebel columns had thrust down past Cap-Haitien. Haiti's second city, and a third was moving across the northwest peninsula in an apparent squeeze on Gonaives, the country's third largest city.

Rebel informants claimed the invasion force started at 500 strong but was swelled as it advanced by defections from Duvalier's forces.

Haitian Ambassador Fern D. Baguidy told a special committee of the Organization of American States in Washington Wednesday that "danger still exists because of the enmity of Dominican President Juan Bosch" toward Duvalier.

OAS Hearing
Baguidy reiterated charges that the Dominican Republic collaborated with the invading force. The Dominican government and invasion leaders have denied the invasion was launched from Dominican soil.

The OAS committee scheduled a hearing today to hear the arguments of Dominican Ambassador Arturo Calventi.

City Crews Working On 1st Seal Coating Job In Several Years

All available men in the city's public works department are working speedily on Marquette's first seal coating program in many years.

"Only the recently blacktopped streets don't require the surface treatment," Public Work Superintendent Howard L. Coppens said.

Noting that the whole program isn't expected to be completed this summer, he said: "Our plan is to continue seal coating as long as weather and money permit. We hope to continue with the program next summer."

Seal coating is necessary for the preservation of streets, Coppens said.

In the seal coating process, a tar and "chip" preparation is spread on the road surface. The preparation binds the surface together and practically eliminates the need of patching during the next few years.

Used as chips are stones five-eighths of an inch and smaller on gravel roads and three-eighths of an inch and smaller on macadam streets.

16 Men On Job

Working on the seal coating crew are 16 men, plus foremen, who patch, sweep and clean, spread asphalt, spread chips, and complete the process with a roller, before moving on to the next block.

Coppens noted that a portion of Lake Shore Blvd., from Crescent St. to Pine St., was one of the few streets to be seal coated within the last few years.

"On that short portion of Lake Shore Blvd., we haven't had any patching jobs since the street was seal coated," Coppens said.

Worked On Holes Steadily

During the last few years, the public works department has been filling in chuck holes as they develop on city streets.

Patching crews have had to work continuously from spring to fall, rather than the standard two months in the spring and one month in the fall.

Marquette will reap the benefits of this summer's seal coating next year, with the necessity for less patching jobs, Coppens said.

He noted that the patching crew will then be available for other street work.

Under ideal conditions, a street should be seal coated every five years, Coppens said. Many cities have a seal coating program continuously in effect, he noted.

The seal preparation can be obtained at one-third the cost of black topping material, he said.

Benefit Cited

Streets which are sealed now and blacktopped at a later date will be in excellent condition, he said, because a seal-coated surface with a blacktop cap is preferable to blacktop spread over a rough surface.

Already completed are portions of Michigan St. from Third St. east; Arch St., from N. Fifth to Spruce Sts., and W. Magnetic St. between N. Seventh and Pine Sts.

"Rather than keep to our tentative schedule, the crews are jumping to areas which are in the worst condition to make sure that they will be coated before winter," Coppens said.

Surfaced streets, are being treated first and gravelled streets will be coated later in the fall, Coppens said.

He explained that the outside temperature must be at least 70 degrees for seal coating of surfaced streets, in order to get the proper "bleeding through" of the tar and chips.

Coppens noted that the process creates dust conditions which are a nuisance to residents along streets that have just been seal coated.

He explained that from two to three weeks are required for the chips to penetrate into the asphalt. After that time, sweepers will pick up the excess chips and the dust conditions will be immediately alleviated, he said.

"We've had some difficulty with parked cars on streets that are being sealed," he said.

"We've had to move on to another street if the drivers couldn't be located so that cars could be moved. We would appreciate it if drivers in areas where crews are working would remove their cars from the street."

Space Center Chief To Talk At Tech Event

HOUGHTON — Dr. Robert R. Gilruth, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) Manned Spacecraft Center at Houston, Texas, will deliver the address at Michigan Tech's second annual Summer Commencement Aug. 22.

Dr. Gilruth will be awarded an honorary doctor of engineering degree at the commencement. He will be accompanied by Houghton by Mrs. Gilruth and Al Chop, his deputy public affairs officer. Gilruth lived in Hancock when his father, Henry A. Gilruth, was superintendent of schools there 1920 to 1924. Chop was born in Calumet.

Experienced Management Agency

The NASA Manned Spacecraft Center is the nation's experienced management agency in the field of manned space flight research and development, and has been responsible for Project Mercury since its inception. The center is presently engaged in conducting Projects Mercury, Gemini and Apollo.

Gilruth first went on duty with NASA at the Langley (Va.) Research Center, then the Langley Memorial Aeronautical Laboratory, in 1937. He began his career in the flight research division where he undertook a series of investigations related to the flying and handling qualities of aircraft.

In 1945 he was selected to establish an organization and facility for conducting free-flight experiments with rocket powered models at transonic and supersonic speeds. This resulted in the development of the pilotless aircraft research division of what is now the NASA Wallops Station launching site.

Director Since 1961

In 1952 he was designated assistant director of the Langley Laboratory and in 1958 he was chosen to direct the nation's initial program for achieving manned space flight, now known as Project Mercury. He has been director of the NASA Center in Houston since 1961.

Gilruth is a native of Minnesota and attended the University of Minnesota for his B.S. and M.S. degrees in aeronautical engineering. He holds honorary doctor of science degrees from the University of Minnesota, Indiana Institute of Technology and George Washington University.

He has received numerous honors and awards from professional societies for his achievements and in 1962 was awarded the NASA Distinguished Service Medal by President Kennedy for his part in the successful John Glenn space flight.

In 1950 he received the Sylvanus Albert Reed Award from the Institute of the Aerospace Sciences for notable contributions to that field, and in 1962 he received the Goddard Memorial Trophy of the National Rocket Club. He also received the U. S. Chamber of Commerce Great Living American Award in 1962.

Gilruth's major hobby is boating, and he is the inventor of this country's first successful hydro-foil system, which allows boats to be operated at unprecedented speeds in rough water.

Two Persons Hurt, Six Cars Involved In Mishaps In City

Two persons were injured, a motorist was issued two summonses and six automobiles were involved in three traffic collisions reported this morning by city police.

1. Both injuries occurred in a wreck at 8:22 last evening on S. Front St.-U.S. 41, just north of the Genesee St. intersection. Involved were automobiles operated by Michael J. Abraham, Iron Mountain, and James E. Oaks, Laingsburg, Mich.

City police said Oaks, traveling north on Front St., had stopped in the inside lane to make a left turn and was waiting for oncoming traffic to clear when his car was struck from behind by Abraham's vehicle.

Donald Heidgren, 24, Iron Mountain, riding with Abraham, suffered a cut over his right eye, which required nine stitches to close, and other cuts and bruises. Abraham also complained of pains.

Heidgren was taken by a passing motorist to St. Mary's Hospital. Abraham sought his own treatment.

Failed To Stop In Time

Extensive damage occurred to the front end of Abraham's car, a 1963 convertible, and to the rear end of Oaks' automobile, a 1960 fourdoor sedan. Both vehicles had to be removed from the scene by wreckers.

City police issued Abraham a summons for failing to stop in the assured clear distance ahead and also ticketed him for having a defaced operator's license.

2. At 1:20 yesterday afternoon a car being driven north on Lake Shore Blvd. and being turned right, into the Shiras Park drive.

Detroit Police Hunting Rapist

DETROIT (AP) — Police today hunted a thin, dark-haired young man driving a black Ford Falcon who kidnaped a 6-year-old girl, took her to a field and raped her.

The girl said she was riding her new bicycle around the block Wednesday when a man in a "black, shiny car, with bright, round lights in the back and red inside, that looks a lot like that one" (a Ford Falcon), drove up.

The child said, when she refused to enter the car, "he reached out and grabbed me."

Police said the man drove about an eighth of a mile into a field in Southfield.

After the attack, the girl said, the man released her and she went to the first home she came to.

Supreme Court Denies Appeal In Union Case

Michigan's Supreme Court has denied an application for an emergency appeal of the temporary injunction issued in circuit court here against picketing of the Red Wing, an ore carrier owned by Upper Lakes Shipping, Ltd., Toronto.

The decision, handed down last night by the high court, was in answer to a petition filed last Thursday by attorneys for District II, Marine Engineers Beneficial Association (MEBA).

The Supreme Court denied MEBA's application for emergency appeal, request for a stay of the proceedings and request to vacate the injunctive judgment.

Issued July 18

The temporary injunction was issued in Marquette County Circuit Court July 18 by Judge Ernest W. Brown of Iron Mountain, who said that picketing of the Red Wing by the Seafarers International Union and organizations acting in concert with the SIU was unlawful and for an unlawful purpose.

Attorneys for the Great Lakes District of the SIU said they would ask leave to appeal the judgment to the Supreme Court and the petition which MEBA filed last week was a move for immediate action by the Supreme Court in the Marquette case.

Local counsel for Upper Lakes is John E. McDonald, Marquette. Principal MEBA attorney filing the petition for an emergency appeal was A. L. Zwerdling, Detroit.

by Gary E. Gibbs, 1815 W. Fair Ave., collided with an automobile operated by Gordon J. Peterson, 421 E. Hewitt Ave., who had been traveling west, out from the park, and who had stopped near the junction.

City police said Gibbs had tried to get by Peterson's car in a narrow section.

The left door of Peterson's 1963 twodoor sedan was damaged and apparently no damage resulted to Gibbs' vehicle, a 1962 fourdoor sedan. Both automobiles were driven from the scene.

3. An automobile being driven east on W. Magnetic St. by Dennis E. Zyskowski, 374 Harrison St., was involved in a mishap with a car owned by Paul Conrad, 817 W. Magnetic St., which was parked in front of his residence, at 12:55 this morning.

Door Swings Open

Zyskowski said the right door of his car swung open, striking the rear bumper of Conrad's automobile, which was parked on the south side of the street. No damage resulted to Conrad's 1959 fourdoor sedan but the right door and glass on the door of Zyskowski's 1956 twodoor sedan were damaged. Both cars were able to be driven away.

Chocolay's Growth Requires Construction Of New School; Bond Vote Scheduled Aug. 19

Tremendous population growth in Chocolay Township makes construction of an eight-room addition to the Silver Creek School necessary, it was explained at an open meeting of the district's board of education this week.

Only a small number of Chocolay Township residents were present at the meeting to discuss the $154,000 bond issue to construct and equip the proposed addition. The special election will be held Monday, Aug. 19.

Addition Was Contemplated

Architect Malcolm Williams, of the firm Warren S. Holmes & Co., Lansing, pointed out that when the existing Silver Creek School was built, the addition which is now proposed was anticipated and planned for in the construction. The existing building was constructed in 1959 and was designed by the Holmes firm.

In addition to increased population, the closing of the two-room frame building at Beaver Grove School makes the proposed addition necessary, School Superintendent Kenneth Brami said.

Answers given by school officials to questions posed at the meeting included:

- The two-room frame building at Beaver Grove School was ordered closed by the state fire marshal, effective June 1964. Fire rules are more stringent for public buildings, especially schools, than for private homes.
- The addition has been proposed for the Silver Creek, rather than the Beaver Grove, School, because the population center is nearer the Silver Creek School. There is not sufficient land at the Beaver Grove site for expansion, and a costly change in the heating system would be required by an addition at Beaver Grove.
- A single story building is more economical than a two-story building. For two stories, state regulations require two stairways, which are expensive, and second-floor washroom facilities, which are more costly than first floor facilities.

• The addition would be constructed in the same economical way as the present Silver Creek School, which residents are invited to tour to view the "no frills" construction.

• Taxes for school building purposes would not be increased by approval of the bond issue. The millage would remain at the present rate of 15 mills. This is because the rate on the 1959 debt (for the Silver Creek School) has been decreased by five mills. The new addition would mean five mills a year and that rate would remain at 15.

• All registered Chocolay Township voters who are property owners are qualified to vote in the election Aug. 19.

Moose Lodge Initiation, Dinner Set

Members of the Loyal Order of Moose of Marquette will celebrate their lodge's 15th anniversary with ceremonies in the Moose Hall this Saturday evening.

A dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m., followed by an initiation at 8. The initiation will be presided over by Moose Lodge Governor Harris Oust. A dance will climax the evening's activities.

In the class of candidates are 16 new members and eight members who are being re-enrolled in the organization. They are:

New members—Robert W. Scott, Robert F. Peterson, William Lyons, Beach Hotel in Chicago Sunday through Wednesday.

Arne S. Koskela, Houghton, division sales manager, said Pineno had qualified on the basis of sales achievement over a 12-month period ending June 1963. Total attendance will exceed 1,300.

Edward Anderson, H.N. Robinson, William Reynolds, James Borro, Arthur Huempfer, Raymond C. McLeod, Dale B. Benson, James Johnson, Harold Christensen, Max A. Puckett, Robert D. Long, Albert Lawrence and Stewart Ruple.

Re-enrollment members—Vern E. Tallo, Paul Hester, Charles Kentola, Henry F. Norman, Ernest Harris, Jack V. Johnson, Leonard Matt and E. C. Wright.

Sept. 11 Set For Special Tax Session

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP) — Gov. George Romney and Republican legislative leaders have agreed on Sept. 11 as the D-day for launching a special session devoted to overhauling Michigan's structure.

Romney made the disclosure to newsmen Wednesday night after meeting with a score of GOP lawmakers in another of his briefing sessions on fiscal reform.

Taking part in the discussion—which will wind up Friday — were members of the house and senate taxation committees, the majority floor leaders, caucus chairmen and the speaker of the house.

They met at the Governor's summer residence on Mackinac Island.

Romney said they agreed that the special session will be restricted at first to questions of tax reform. The Legislature then will be asked to deal with implementation of the new State Constitution.

The only exception will be in areas where the Constitution concerns tax matters, in which case those provisions will be dealt with as a part of the fiscal reform problem.

In calling a special session, the Governor specifies what subjects are to be considered by the legislators — but he can expand the call to include other matters once the session is under way.

Revamping of the state tax system is needed, Romney insists, to provide relief for the business community and create a climate that will make Michigan competitive with other industrial states.

Alternatives

He also says some of the tax low income families to those more able to handle the burden.

Romney has narrowed the study of a possible tax reform program down to three basic alternatives. They center around a program which would be based primarily on local option taxes (such as the Detroit city income tax). State-wide taxation with a kickback to local government units (such as a state income tax), or a combination of the two.

Halt Aid If Earnings Rise, Franzen Says

Knowing when to stop social security checks can be as important as knowing when to start them, George C. Franzen, social security office manager in Marquette, said today.

A beneficiary under age 72, who expects to have earnings of more than $1,200 a year, should report his employment during the first month in which he earns over $100 or in which he is active in his business, if he is self-employed. This will prevent his receiving an overpayment, which must be repaid, he stated.

When a beneficiary, who expects to earn over $1,200 during the year, reports his employment as soon as he starts working, the Social Security Administration withholds the number of benefit payments he will not be entitled to receive because of his earnings.

Then when his employment ends, the beneficiary is immediately entitled to benefits again. Such a beneficiary has not been overpaid and he will receive his benefit payments when his earnings have decreased or stopped and he is in greater need of current income.

Refund, Or Withheld Later

The beneficiary who waits until he has earned over $1,200 before making his report will have received payments to which he was not entitled. The amount overpaid must be refunded or withheld from future benefits when the beneficiary's earnings are low enough to permit the resumption of monthly payments.

Such a beneficiary does not have an income from social security to partially replace his loss of earnings, because he failed to make a timely report of his employment to the Social Security Administration.

Must File Amended Report

Those beneficiaries who have made a report of their earnings should file an amended report when it becomes apparent that their estimate of expected earnings for 1963 was too low, Franzen said.

This will enable the Social Security Administration to withhold additional benefits in accordance with their revised estimate.

Employed beneficiaries who have not reported their earnings, should immediately file a report if (1) they expect to earn more than $1,200 this year and (2) they were under age 72 on Feb. 1, 1963.

DAV Chapter's Fund Canvass Slated Tomorrow, Saturday

Members of the Disabled American Veterans Chapter of Marquette and its auxiliary will conduct their annual "Forget-Me-Not" sale on the streets in downtown Marquette tomorrow and Saturday.

Vernon Kellner, adjutant for the DAV chapter, said the members participating in the drive will be identified by the DAV emblem they will be wearing in their caps.

All proceeds from the "little blue flower" sale will be used by the chapter to assist veterans who are in dire need, Kellner said.

All proceeds of the sale will be kept in Marquette, except for one per cent of the total, which will be used for the blind and sent to national headquarters of the organization, which is composed of veterans who were wounded during any war.

World exports during 1962 were valued at an estimated $128 billion, according to the Britannica Book of the Year.

Overrun Pay On Highway Jobs Okayed

LANSING (AP) — Six overrun payments on highway construction projects were approved by the Administrative Board.

Richard Van Dusen, legal aide to the Governor, questioned several of the overruns, particularly an item for $45,160 for water for wetting in a $204,102 overrun payment to Gilliland Construction Co. of Alpena for construction of nine miles of highway on the U. S. 27 relocation in Clare County.

"That's an awful lot of water," he observed.

Treasurer Sanford Brown said the items were investigated in detail by the transportation committee of the board before approval.

Other overrun payments approved included: $5,891 to C. E. Frisinger of Ann Arbor for construction of a roadside rest area near Novi, in Oakland County; $30,555 to Brown Brothers of Lansing for construction on M-43 and M-78 in Lansing; $148,195 to Caspian Construction Co. of Caspian for construction on M-64 and M-28 in Gogebic and Ontonagon Counties; $28,274 to A. J. Williams Construction Co. of Southfield for construction on I-75 in Wayne County, and $95,408 to Canolis Construction Co. of South Haven and John Yerington of Benton Harbor for construction on I-96 in Berrien County.

New Building Dedicated At Bay Cliff By Ahmed Temple

Keys to a new building were turned over to officials of the Bay Cliff Health Camp, Big Bay, by officers of Ahmed Shrine Temple at a recent ceremony held on the camp grounds.

Known as the Shrine Workshop for Handicapped Children, the building, which measures approximately 71 by 25 feet, and is of cement block construction, is valued at around $17,000.

All of the money, labor and materials used in the erection of the building were donated by members and friends of Ahmed Temple.

This is the first major construction undertaken by Ahmed Temple at Bay Cliff. However, a number of years ago a smaller, wood building was given by Shrine to Bay Cliff.

Presentation By Potentate

Work on the new unit begun last spring and was completed this summer.

At the presentation, the Ahmed Patrol, Band and clowns, along with the temple's officers, participated in the ceremony. A program of band music, which included a violinist and comedian, Gene Gory, Munising, was presented.

Invocation for the dedication was given by the Rev. John A. Alford, Marquette, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church and chaplain for the temple.

Ahmed Temple's Potentate Al C. Stam, Ishpeming, presented the keys to the building to a handicapped child at the camp.

The youngster, in turn, gave them to John Vargo, Marquette, field representative for Bay Cliff, who expressed the gratitude of the camp staff to Ahmed Temple.

Refreshments were served and the program was concluded with a prayer.

Lampreys Put End To U.P. Fisherman's Way Of Living

BY TOM GUYANT
In Milwaukee Journal

ISLE ROYALE — John Huru's life is long these days. Lampreys, the eel-like pests which kill lake trout and whitefish, put an end to his way of living. Once, 10 years ago, Huru set his nets in Lake Superior and tended them near his home in Hancock.

Now, all summer long, from June through September, Huru lives on Isle Royale, a big island 60 miles out in Lake Superior off Michigan's peninsula. Isle Royale is a national park. Now Huru, the old commercial fisherman, steers a boat and guides the sport fishermen who troll for lake trout.

Huru's wife lives in Hancock. That is why the days are long, the summer an eternity.

Huru Gets Work

Huru has a ship's pilot license. A license is necessary to take people fishing in these sometimes wild waters. Licenses are scarce, and that is why Huru gets work.

He is a gnome of a man, short, with small features. He wears a denim jacket. His face and his boots have the same lines of age and wear.

John Huru doesn't talk much. He sits on the stool in the pilot house of his boat in the pilot house of his boat and, when asked a question, replies in a quiet, slow voice.

Lake trout are getting scarcer and smaller every year, Huru has observed.

A Real Trout

Years ago, while lifting his nets, Huru saw a big trout tossing in the mesh. He was careful not to lose it. "My helper got excited and grabbed an exhaust pipe and burned his hand," Huru said.

The trout weighed 47 pounds. That equaled the Wisconsin record. The world record laker weighed 63 pounds. Lake Superior produced that one, too.

Now, said Huru, most of the lake trout weigh two or three pounds. A 10-pounder is a big fish. When he started sport fishing 10 years ago, a 28-pound was hooked, fought and landed.

John doesn't do much commercial fishing any more. It doesn't pay, doesn't even meet expenses. "I got a warehouse full of nets, just rotting away. Oh, I get a few herring once in a while. Not many. They don't bring much."

71 Miles Of Fog

Huru brought his 30-foot fishing boat across Lake Superior in a fog. It was a 71-mile trip from Hancock. John kept his eye on the compass.

Huru knows the reefs and coves and little inlets that surround Isle Royale. He knows the location of every one of the 200 little islands which surround the big island.

He believes that some day, many long days from now, the lake trout may come back, the lampreys may disappear. John Huru will not be around then. He is 65. That is why his life is long.

The aircraft industry estimates that 1962 spacecraft production was about 13 per cent of total production. One half the industry's production was concerned with aircraft and components and the rest with missiles, according to the Britannica Book of the Year.

Meat 'Buys' Broadening At Stores

DETROIT — (AP) — Meat bargains are broadening at food stores, with pork cuts and lamb attracting special attention this weekend.

Pork marketing has picked up sharply from its seasonal low and prices have accordingly taken a drop.

Midwestern markets report a wide range of bargains, including chops and spare ribs. In the Northeast, smoked hams are a star.

Most regions offer lamb cuts at attractive prices, with Midwestern tags on leg roasts and shoulder and rib chops now at springtime lows.

Beef Competitive

Beef prices are also competitive, with marketing running about 10 per cent higher than a year ago. Best buys run in the roast categories, but many shops also are pushing steaks.

Broiler marketings have passed their peak but broilers still are an economical main course. Canned tuna fish, fresh scallops and peanut butter are other protein features.

Vegetable counters continue to sparkle with enticing variety.

Best buys nationally include green beans, potatoes, tomatoes, sweet potatoes, squash, cabbage, beets, topped carrots, sweet corn, lettuce, onions and peppers.

Cantaloupes are priced the lowest they've been in years in some markets and there's a wide selection of other fruits. Plums, grapes, peaches, watermelon, blueberries, limes and pears are among the stars.

The Cable TV View
... By Richard Bur

Camera Three on the CBS Network is one of the longest lasting television productions. In its half hour slot each Sunday morning at 11 o'clock it achieves a kind of excellence that makes it both good educational fare and fascinating entertainment.

The people and materials televised are of artistic, literary and historical concern. One half hour isn't a very long time but it is surprising how many well chosen excerpts that say a lot can be put into that span.

Of course no viewer will have a comprehensive grasp of the subject through watching a single program, but the viewer who chooses to keep the dial set on the program may have enough curiosity developed to want to seek further. Librarians in a number of conferences confirm the fact that after a television showing of a book or an author there is a greater call for books on the subject at the local libraries.

Last Sunday, Camera Three brought back a favorite American, Henry David Thoreau, the man of the independent mind who found enough in his small pond at Walden, Massachusetts to fill books with interesting and valid thoughts on the behavior of nature and mankind.

Many lessons come out of the works of Thoreau. One that has most meaning for us is that there is an abundance of meaningful living material right where we are. There is no need to run half way around the world to make a study of our fellow human beings. The familiar settings in which we are at home can furnish us with a life time source of knowledge if we will only look.

Rain Needed For Crops In Much Of U.P.

Soil moisture shortages are causing concern in scattered sections of the state, reports the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service in Lansing.

Rains are needed in southeastern Lower Michigan and the western Upper Peninsula, although soil moisture is mostly adequate in the rest of the state.

Growth of second crop hay and pasture was still short over most of the state.

Most Wheat Harvested
About nine tenths of the winter wheat crop and more than two fifths of the oats have been harvested. The harvest of the two grain crops still lagged behind last year. Some oats were badly damaged by wind and rains in scattered areas.

Corn and other row crops generally were in good to excellent condition except where they were hurt by dry weather earlier in the season. More than three fourths of the corn was tasseled, about the same stage of development as this time last year.

Field beans were blossoming with some pods already set. The early potato harvest activity was on the increase.

The seasonal fruit and vegetable harvest continued. Early apple, peach, and plum crops were near the mid-season harvest marks in the southwest.

The blueberry harvest continued in full swing.

Homestead Tax Plan For Oldsters Slated To Be Fought Again

LANSING (AP) — The proposal for a homestead tax exemption for oldsters will be fought out again in the fall legislative session promises Sen. John Bowman, D-Roseville.

Democrats, with some Republic support, have been trying for the last three legislative sessions to push through a tax exemption for property owners over 65.

Judging For Fair Begins Next Tuesday

ESCANABA — There are four busy days ahead for judges at the U. P. State Fair this year, since an increasing number of beef and dairy cattle plus a good growing season should push exhibits to a near record in volume, said Ray LaPorte, fair secretary-manager.

The fair dates are Aug. 13-18.

Social Security and small pensions just cannot afford to pay more taxes on their homes," Bowman said.

Board Plant To Be Built In Gaylord

GAYLORD (AP) — The largest particle board manufacturing plant east of the Mississippi will be built in Gaylord, it was announced Wednesday by U. S. Plywood President Gene C. Brewer.

Brewer said the $5 million plant will produce 40 million square feet of tri-layer plywood annually. The plant is scheduled for completion in the spring of 1965, and will employ 140 persons.

Brewer said the new plant will enable the company to satisfy the growing demands of its customers, and is part of a program to locate plants nearer to major market areas.

Tree Farms
U. S. Plywood will draw production materials from Gaylord area tree farms, utilizing fresh-cut logs for shavings and flakes needed in manufacture.

According to Warren Smith, who will manage the new plant, Gaylord was chosen as the site because of the long-range availability of timber in the area and its nearness to markets.

Superior Coaster Fishing

For a good many years now, the best brook trout fishing in the Upper Peninsula has been along the Lake Superior shore, particularly in the northern Marquette County area. The brook trout taken there are called "coasters." They are large brookies that have migrated from the streams and spend most of their life in the abundant waters of Lake Superior, returning to the streams to spawn.

The best of these spawning streams for coasters is the Salmon Trout River in northern Marquette County. It is an excellent spawning bed not only for natural reasons but also because the land on either side of the stream is owned by the Huron Mountain Club, which has spent thousands of dollars on stream improvement and on planting brook trout in the stream.

When these brook trout reach sufficient size they migrate out of the Salmon Trout and into Lake Superior, where they provide excellent coaster fishing for the general public. The Salmon Trout, then, serves as a natural hatchery for some of the finest angling in the Upper Peninsula, and this is provided for the public at no cost to the public. At certain times of the year, the coaster fishing in this portion of Lake Superior is so good that it attracts anglers from throughout the Midwest, thus contributing to Marquette County's status as a year-round vacation area.

It is apparent that every effort should be made to protect and promote the Salmon Trout River as a coaster spawning grounds to assure a continuing supply of this fine game fish.

A step in that direction was taken at the July meeting of the Michigan Conservation Commission when a Marquette resident, Richard C. Hammerschmidt, appeared before the commission to propose that fishing on the Salmon Trout be restricted to flies only. Mr. Hammerschmidt reasoned that prohibiting the use of worms and other natural and artificial baits except flies on the Salmon Trout would reduce the number of coasters taken in this stream and thus help guarantee the spawning of more fish and the perpetuation of the Lake Superior coaster fishery.

As matters now stand, the public is not allowed to fish the Salmon Trout from the banks of the stream. The public may gain access to the stream from its mouth, however, and many large brook trout are taken with worms and artificial lures by fishermen entering the water at that point. Members of the Huron Mountain Club are prohibited from using any lures except flies while fishing the Salmon Trout. If all persons who fish this stream were required to observe this restriction, there is no doubt that fewer coasters would be taken in the stream and more would be able to spawn and replenish the coaster stock in Lake Superior.

Fly fishing is more difficult than other types of fishing, and there are those who will argue that restricting the stream to fly fishing only would deprive them of their opportunity to fish the Salmon Trout with a good chance of taking home large catches. But this is the short-sighted view. The question is not whether the Salmon Trout is to continue to provide good fishing for the relatively few anglers who want to use natural and artificial baits in the stream. Rather, the question is whether the Salmon Trout is to continue to provide good fishing for a far larger number of anglers who fish the Lake Superior shore for coasters.

There is an important natural resource at stake here and there is an important conservation principle involved. The conservation commission would do well to give this proposal serious consideration and declare the Salmon Trout restricted to fly fishing only. By so doing, the commission would be helping to preserve Lake Superior coaster fishing for years to come.

★ DRY RUN

The District of Columbia has approved a system of fallout shelters for members of Congress and their staffs under various buildings on Capitol Hill.

A fine opportunity to test them may come if the public discovers that there is to be no tax-cut legislation this year. — Detroit News

★ RACE BARS BY LABOR

Racial segregation is a moral question in its broad definition, but it is also an economic and competitive matter where union membership is concerned. It presents a doubly difficult problem. The moral and emotional answers that are sufficient for some segregation problems are not enough where competition for jobs is the central issue.

Unless unions recognize the provocative potential of their policies and practices that result in both racial discrimination and a monopoly on the right to work, they will invite increasing resentment and ultimately political and governmental action to break up their job monopoly.

Right to work laws, fair employment laws and antidiscrimination provisions in government contracts are indications of steps that may be taken on a broader scale and enforced with much more vigor.—Des Moines Register.

Peninsula Perambulator

Newberry residents and merchants are unhappy about the killing of two bear cubs, whose carcasses were left in the village dump. Bears feeding in the dump northeast of Newberry have been a big attraction for many tourists and residents, who gather there in the evening or early morning to watch the animals' antics. As many as six bears have been seen feeding at one time.

The City of Iron River, looking ahead to the possibility of natural gas distribution in the Upper Peninsula, is considering establishment of a municipally operated utility to serve residential users when natural gas service becomes available.

Burglars made off with more than $700 in cash from the Algoma Trading Post near Mass — the fourth time the store has been robbed in seven years. Entry was gained by breaking a rear window. The thieves opened a locked safe without damaging it, apparently by "picking" the combination lock.

60 Years Ago

—Marquette— A meeting of the council scheduled for last night, but called off, was to have been convened to consider the advisability of giving over the use of the streets to the Potter-Rice carnival company which wants to come here the middle of the month. Marquette people and business men have not taken kindly to the suggestions that a carnival would be a good thing for the city. The company has been unable to close dates at either Ishpeming or Negaunee, its agents being turned down in each.

Work on the mansion that is to be J. M. Longyear's future home at Brookline, Mass., a suburb of Boston, has already been started. The architects are Charlton, Gilbert and Kuenz, the same firm having designed the original home here, and the work is to proceed under the direction of C. C. Van Iderstine, the builder of the mansion. It will take two years to finish the new home, and the investment will approximate $500,000.

The electric lighting station had a close call last night, being almost drowned out by the sudden flood which came down the river. It is believed the breaking of a dam was responsible.

—Negaunee— Mike Rublein, who has been overseer of the overall shop at the Marquette Branch Prison, has resigned and will engage in the meat business on Washington St. He will be partner in the shop conducted in the Polkinghorn block.

—Ishpeming— Ishpeming is going after all the gridiron honors next fall and there is talk of organizing a city team recruited from the high school alumni and members of the once famous Rough Riders team. The members of last fall's championship team who graduated in June, are Connolly, Taleen, Johnson, Bell, Nicholls, Brodine and Peterson. Other former players who probably would be willing to join are George Ruez, Bernie Goodman, Leo Schilling, Paddy Harrington, Al Gibbs and Arsin Perrault.

A. J. Yungbluth, secretary of the Lake Superior Mining Institute, which is to meet on this range this year, has just issued a circular to the members giving information on the various meeting places and programs. The first session will be held Aug. 17 in Ishpeming and several excursions, to Negaunee, Marquette, Munising and the Soo, will be taken.

At the council meeting yesterday, Charles Burke, in behalf of the Ishpeming Cooperative Society, said the section on Main St. in front of the society's store is a veritable quagmire and asked that it be repaired. A. A. Mudge of Detroit presented a claim to the city for $5, claiming that a hat, skirt and silk waist belonging to his wife had been damaged to that amount by the steam roller.

morning near Lake Lowmore and yesterday threatened the town of Diorite, eight miles west of Ishpeming, was spreading over a wide area late this afternoon and alarm was felt for the safety of the Evergreen Inn, located at the junction of the Diorite Road and U.S. 41 and M-28.

Word has been received from Capt. Martin D. Roos of the Salvation Army headquarters here, who has spent the past two months on sick leave at the Salvation Army camp near Troy, Wis., that he will return Wednesday. He will hold the first public meeting Thursday, Aug. 10 in the Salvation Army hall.

—Negaunee— While the response to President Roosevelt's re-employment drive continued satisfactory in Negaunee today, 10 more employers signing the pledge that entitles them to display the Blue Eagle, there was a marked decline in the number of persons subscribing to the code at Ishpeming.

Airport Potato Farm In U.P. High Flying Venture; Canning Crops Boost Dairy Income

NORWAY — The Upper Peninsula has never been a place of big farming, but it has managed to achieve records of outstanding farm performance on the strength of some excellent individual farm managements. The U. P., for instance, holds the Michigan potato yield record, and its tubers enjoy a better than state average reputation.

The Upper Peninsula has many super tuber farmers. None of them is more in the public eye this year than Alfred Oelke. His story is particularly exemplary for the U. P. because he was a conventional successful farmer who decided upon a new career in an old business and plunged into an ultra-modern potato farm that is a showplace of Dickinson County and Upper Peninsula farming.

Farming 38 Years

Oelke's farm, three miles west of Norway on U. S. 2, was the third stop on this year's recent fourth annual Upper Peninsula Farm Management Tour, the climactic event of the day.

"I've been on the farm since I was 17," said Oelke. "That's 38 years. We always did well in dairying and we had a fine herd. When it was sold in 1942 our Holsteins brought the highest prices that had been paid in the U. P."

"I was encouraged to go into potatoes by D. H. Campbell, a potato grower and certified seed producer. The first year of our venture he furnished the seed, fertilizer and spray materials and did the roguing of diseased plants for the certification."

Knew What He Wanted

"We put in 32 acres of Russet Rubels and did OK, but they found one plant with ring rot, so we failed of certification. But the market was good and we had over 16,500 bushels. That was in 1944."

Oelke has been expanding since then in potato production.

In 1953 the Oelkes bought a new farm. It might seem to some an unlikely place to make your fortune in potatoes, but he knew what he wanted and this was it. The soil was Pence, a loamy, fine sand which is fairly droughty, but the ground was level for a huge area, stone free, structured for successful irrigation and modern fertilization. Such farm outlook has changed from a search for a soil with all needed crop nutrients to one which will produce well under modern methods of plant culture and stimulation.

Water For Irrigation

Oelke bought an airport for his farm. It had been the Northland Airport of Walter Bourdells, and most of the acreage, apart from the landing strips, was covered with jackpines and blueberry bushes. Pumee Creek, a tributary of the Menominee River, was nearby to furnish water for irrigation.

Forty acres of land were cleared the first year, and now there are almost 300 tillable acres, and Oelke has 800 acres and says that 525 of them are about the maximum usable for cultivation. This year he has 90 acres planted to Russet Burbank potatoes and they stretch out in rows to the end of vision with the great sprinklers of the irrigation system creating graceful wands of water above them and washing that expensive fertilizer down into their root areas.

Last fall Oelke harvested 600 bushels to the acre or 45,000 bushels from his 70-acre planting. The former airport office is the Oelke home now and the hangar is the farm's machine shop. Oelke erected an 80x40 foot steel storage building in 1961 and a 74x60 foot steel building last year. The two hold 48,000 bushels of potatoes and there's storage space for 15,000 bushels more at the old Waucedah warehouse.

The production line for washing, grading, waxing, sprout treating and boxing ends up in an electronic gadget that matches the potatoes as uniformly as marbles.

As might be expected, such fancy tubers get a fancy wrapping. They go into 50-pound boxes with potatoes of even size, ranging in size so the count runs from 90 to 120 and are much in demand by institutions, restaurants and hotels that want uniform portions for NORWAY — If farmers stand still — keep their old crops and farm the old way — they're soon out of business.

Those who look for new ways to make a buck with their land, labor and machinery provide the progress that keeps agriculture an important part of the Upper Peninsula's economy.

Each year some of the typical examples of farm progress are inspected in an Upper Peninsula Farm Management Tour. This year's tour in Dickinson County made its second stop at the Joe Paluch farm.

Alfred Oelke, Norway potato farmer, is pictured with a box of his count pack potatoes, electronically sized in the machine behind him so they provide uniform servings for institutions, restaurants, hotels or homes. The boxed tubers are washed, waxed and sprout treated and command a premium over their less roxal cousins in bags and other ordinary containers. (MSU photo.)

their service. Gene Katz, of I. Quacks & Sons developed the pack and the market took 10,000 boxes of the potatoes in the first year.

The market premium for the fancy pack over simple bagged potatoes is 65 cents per 50 pounds.

It costs Oelke about $400 an acre to operate and he has used local bank credit. He has kept his labor force down to himself, his wife and their daughter, Arlene, plus one man hired the year around and a second man for three months and five additional men and three women in the shipping season.

But he has loaded on machinery. The farm has two tractors, a two-row harvester, two-row planter, sprayer disc, plow, tool bar, irrigation equipment, three trucks and potato equipment like a bin loader, graders, sorting table, pallet boxes and an electronic sizer.

Busy as he is with this year's crop, he has been clearing more ground for future operations.

Cabbage And Snap Beans
This is a dairy operation, but dairying is such a commonplace in the U. P. that much of the interest in the visit turned to two canning crops that Paluch is raising, cabbage for kraut and snap beans.

The Paluch farm is an attractive place, with red barn and pastel colored ranchhouse, the fields are tidy and productive and the whole atmosphere of the place smacks of progress. Paluch enjoys his work and his life.

Paluch's father, Jacob Paluch, came from Poland, and so did his mother. The father became a Menominee Range miner and small farmer, and Joe Paluch was born on the family farm.

New Ranch Home

When he left the farm for military service he returned not to the farm, but to a job in a paper mill. He wed Jenny Lori of Norway, both of whose parents were Italian Americans, and they bought their 216-acre farm in 1947. Their children are Barbara, 16; Mary Kay, 15, and Pat, 12, and Jean Marie, 7. They're active in 4-H Club work and help with the farm work.

The family's new ranch home was built in 1956, and typically Paluch cut much of the lumber for it from his own timber. This good management practice of using his own resources is a clue to Paluch's success in U. P. farming. From the view window of his house he can see a field of fine cabbage in his flatland and look beyond to the high field where rows of snap beans are growing and the mechanical picker is ready for the harvest.

Paluch is a member of the Norway Canning Association, a cooperative which had 250 farmers growing beans in 1952 and which has 52 growing them this year. Experience has tended to separate the men from the boys in business, apparently, and the survivors have increased their acreage and improved their cultural practices and harvest. They're using a mechanical picker, for instance, to cut the cost of hand picking. Five farms share the picker, and it can harvest two acres of beans a day.

Paluch has 10 acres of beans, five in green and five in yellow. He has some Spartan Arrow green beans developed by Michigan State University that look good in variety trial.

$50 To $75 An Acre
His soil in Pence, a loamy fine sand that requires manure, a green manure crop and considerable fertilizing for high yields, Paluch and other U. P. farmers making a success in such soil are using it as a vehicle for manure and fertilizer, making up its natural deficiencies with vegetative and chemical additives. He's without irrigation, and lack of rain can make trouble.

He expects a yield of three tons per acre on his beans and receipts of about $90 per ton, or $270 an acre. Machine picking costs 2 cents a pound, so his return should be $150 an acre above picking cost. Cost of bean seed, fertilizer, weed control chemicals and insecticides are expected to leave him $50 to $75 an acre net return on his beans.

62-Ton Cabbage Quota
Paluch is one of 10 farmers growing cabbage for sauerkraut for the Norway cannery. His quota this summer is 62 tons, which is grown on about 3 acres, and Paluch expects to run over his quota a bit.

About 75 per cent of the cost of growing cabbage is in fertilizer, plants, land and labor, and the total growing cost is estimated at between $75 and $100 per acre, with harvesting cost estimated at about $50, based on family labor at a nominal price. The harvest should return about $125 to $150 an acre and giving a net return of about $100 an acre, based on a 25-ton yield and gross receipts of $250 an acre.

Kraut is a rather highly competitive canned food. After cutting, the cabbage is sliced, salted, fermented and packed. George Hansen, operating the Hansen Canning Co. plant at Gladstone, says it costs 8 cents just to can a can of water, so the food packer wants some crop in his cans with sufficient value to bear the cost of the canning and return a profit. When a store advertises a bargain of "10 cans for $1," the buyer knows that someone is being hurt and the farmer supplying the canning plant hopes it's not him.

$2.5 Million Spent To Improve Forests
DETROIT (AP)—More than $2.5 million was spent for improvement of national forests in Michigan during the last fiscal year, the U. S. Forest Service reports. The money was used for constructing forest trails, camping and picnic sites, firebreaks, and administrative buildings.

Bandits Kills 45 Men In Bogota, Colombia
BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Bandits herded 45 men into an abandoned farmhouse Monday and knifed them to death one by one. Two others survived.

The massacre occurred after an ambush on a country road near the town of La Victoria, 60 miles northwest of Bogota. The victims were 30 road workers traveling in three trucks and 15 men on a bus.

BY ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — As a sinner who inhaled his first lungful of Sweet Caporal at 14, I am intrigued by mutterings in Congress concerning cigarette commercials on TV. A clutch of legislators has suggested that the tobacco industry should stop aiming its pitch at the nation's moppets and there is talk of legislative action to call a halt to such practices.

Kids will sneak behind the 1963 equivalent of the barn for a quick gasper no matter what, but there ought to be some kind of moral pressure available to apply to Madison Avenue types who suggest that smoking a certain brand of coffin nail will give a boy hair on his chest. Since the Kennedys arrived on the scene, there has been much public worrying about the country's youth, and perhaps one of the tribe will lead a crusade against those shills who peddle cigarettes as a muscle-builder.

Tatto Is Contagious

In recent years the moron machine has been insulting the eyes with one commercial which shows an ostentatiously male-type joker lighting a cigarette while he cups the flame with a hand decorated with a tasteless tattoo. This impresses not only the kids, but also certain dim-witted females who see virility in the figure of a TV shill whose arm bears the imprint of some Skid Row Rembrandt.

Dames, of course, are easy to fool, but lately they have been downright silly about this he-man theme put out by the hucksters. The other day a father reported to the neighborhood saloon in a state of sardonic depression. His only son, a stalwart junior at an Ivy League college, had come home with a coach dancer embroidered on his chest because a vacuous Vassar girl had made some goony sounds about one of these TV pitchmen.

Every kid at some stage tries to sneak out and buy himself some needlepoint on the epidermis. But if he manages to acquire one, he discovers in later years that it is an embarrassing mark of bad taste at swimming pools and tennis courts. It is too bad that the tattoo suddenly has become a symbol of a special kind of manhood for insecure males seeking to assure themselves of the right to wear long pants.

The New Male Symbolism

The tattoo, however, is only one of the gimmicks used to sell cigarettes. There is also the guy who establishes his toughness by having his picture taken in an Abercrombie and Fitch hunting outfit with one foot resting on a very dead lion. Skin diving likewise is considered quite malelike, and some of the shills are now sporting beards, which could be disguises for boys who are a little mixed up.

Since most boys look with favor on football players, one cigarette manufacturer has corralled a passel of National Football League stars and puts them on display weekly during the season. They inhale and deeply of the boss' product, and then admit modestly that they are hot stuff on the gridiron, presumably because they get so much out of their favorite brand of cigarette.

Tattoo Found Feminine

Parents who are beset by children, both male and female, who go for this malarkey, should remind them of a finding reported a few years ago by a team at the Oklahoma City Veterans Administration Hospital. The report said tattooed males "tend slightly more to feminine traits" and are harder for a wife to live with.

Every kid should be exposed to that report to rid him of any nonsense he might have acquired from TV as to what constitutes a he-man. Some men are tougher than others because that's the way the ball bounces. And the girls had better be wary about buying a male merely because he has a picture of Sophia Loren imbedded in his arm or once shot a sparrow. He might come home some night speaking in a falsetto.

Nuclear Test Ban Background

BY JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — Adlai Stevenson was just part of the American delegation which went to Moscow this week for the signing of the limited nuclear test ban agreement. But his satisfaction must have been special and iron.

The second time he ran for the presidency, in 1956, he proposed a nuclear test ban. He wasn't the first to do it. But as the campaign neared its end this became the biggest issue. It didn't do him any good.

Not The Only Irony
That wasn't the only irony in the story. The Soviets made the suggestion before he did, on Nov. 29, 1955, proposing that the countries with nuclear weapons pledge to discontinue their testing.

Nikita Khrushchev suggested it again in February 1956. And on April 12 of that year Thomas E. Murray, a member of the Atomic Energy Commission, suggested the United States stop testing H-bombs. Stevenson picked up Murray's idea and seconded it on April 21. That was before he got the nomination.

All through the campaign, Stevenson hammered away at the idea, which seemed to develop in his mind as he went along. At first he seemed simply to suggest that this country stop the tests unilaterally and ask the Soviet Union to do the same.

Said U.S. Should Take Lead
In time he seemed to think there should be an agreement with Moscow before this country stopped, although he didn't quite say that. But he said the United States should take the lead in stopping hydrogen bomb tests.

And on Sept. 30, 1956, he said "I have proposed a moratorium on the tests and 'if the Russians don't go along... we will know it... because we can detect H-bomb explosions without inspection'." Later he talked of "agreement" to end the tests.

President Eisenhower wanted no part of the Stevenson-Murray proposition. He clamped down on them fast, in April, before the campaign and even before he knew Stevenson would be running against him.

He said this country needed to do research both on H-bombs and missiles to carry them and research without tests would be "perfectly useless — a waste of money."

Truman Backed Eisenhower
The Eisenhower administration wanted some way to check, or inspect, to prevent cheating. Stevenson's point was that explosions would be known anyway.

Ex-President Truman backed Eisenhower. He said the Soviets couldn't be trusted to keep an agreement. But last week he approved the agreement just made with Moscow. He said "we are duty bound to explore every opportunity to put an end to this armament race."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon excoriated Stevenson for his proposal in the 1956 campaign. He called it "catastrophic nonsense." He said it did not protect "Americans from nuclear bombing because it lacks the essential ingredient of inspection."

Bulgarian Note To Ike
But last week in Europe and again Tuesday night on his return to New York, Nixon said he feels sure the Senate will approve the agreement just reached with the Soviet Union although it has no provision for inspection.

And in the middle of the 1956 campaign Soviet Premier Bulganin wrote to Eisenhower and, without saying so, supported Stevenson by suggesting the big powers at least agree on banning tests, even if they couldn't agree on anything else.

Eisenhower bawled him out for sticking his nose into the presidential race. He said all plans for stopping the arms race and reducing armaments "require systems of inspection."

Two years later — on Oct. 31, 1958 — the Eisenhower administration announced exactly what Stevenson had proposed: A moratorium on testing. It said the United States would stop testing, leaving it up to Moscow without any agreement, to do likewise.

Kennedy Proposal
The Soviets stopped testing, too. The two sides went on talking about disarmament and reaching an agreement on nuclear test bans. Nothing happened. President Kennedy took over. And on Aug. 30, 1961, the Soviet Union announced it was ending its voluntary test ban and would start testing. It did. So did this country.

On Aug. 27, 1962, Kennedy proposed that, if the two sides couldn't agree on how to ban underground tests, the most difficult to detect, at least they should agree on banning tests in the atmosphere, outer space and under the sea.

The Soviets wouldn't buy. Yet the very agreement they reached with this country July 25 is in effect what Kennedy proposed: A ban on tests in the atmosphere, outer space and under the sea. They could not agree on stopping underground tests. So they let that go.

On July 31 Eisenhower wouldn't say he approves or doesn't approve the agreement. He said he preferred not to comment until military men and scientists had expressed their views.

★ RADIO FOR FREEDOM

On considering its 14th anniversary, the best tribute we can pay to Radio Free Europe is to recall the one it recently received from Moscow. RFE broadcasts have proved so penetrating (in every sense) that the five satellite countries to which they are beamed had to appeal to Moscow for support. The support took the form of additional transmitters, operating in the Soviets, to supplement those being used in the satellites in an attempt to jam RFE broadcasts.

But RFE's powerful transmitters continue to break through the Iron Curtain, and several million Poles, Czechs, Hungarians, Romanians and Bulgarians receive a breath of fresh air from the West every day of the year. It helps sustain their spirits and nourish their hopes that they, too, some day will be free.

We join the silent millions of eastern Europe in wishing President John F. Richardson Jr. and his staff additional tributes from Moscow in recognition of increasingly effective work. — New York Herald Tribune

The 11 a. m. Nuptial High Mass was celebrated last Saturday in St. Pius X Church by the Very Rev. Msgr. Edmund C. Szoka, who also officiated at the double ring ceremony. Bouquets of white and yellow gladioli decorated the church altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a long, silk organza gown, fashioned with a Sabrina neckline, fitted bodice and

Use Caution In Buying From Door Knockers

BY MRS. INGRID BARTELLI Consumer Marketing Information Agent, Michigan State University

How have you been doing this summer with the door knocking, get-a-foot-in-the-door, fast-talking, hard-sell salesmen who do their best to convince you that you can't live without the gadget they have to offer you?

There's no denying that some of the products are legitimate, but you can be very sure some are not or they would be moving through regular trade channels. Remember, too, these folks would not be at your door if they were not making money by so doing.

I expect the bell ringer who frks me the most is the glib, young (or old) chap who has something so precious to offer that it's wrapped in velvet and can't be shown other than by appointment and that had must be there, too. (Of course, dad has the checkbook and most kids wouldn't deny their wife and kids anything — even if they have to mortgage the house to buy it.)

Well, the mysterious item usually turns out to be some super-duper kettle and unless you buy this at $200 or $300, your family's health is at stake and you can't possibly cook correctly. And besides, I'm sacrificing to give it to you at this price, etc., etc., etc.

Usually the kettle costs so much that you can't afford to buy the food to put in it.

Reputable Cook Ware Available The fact is there is practically no limit to cook ware available by reputable companies at fair prices, through regular trade channels. You can do a correct job of cooking in most any kettle if you know how it should be done and if you have control of your heat source and a tight cover on your kettle.

And if you have no cover, an old plate or saucer often works just as well. Don't let these salesmen kid you. You are apt to let the free-wheeling flow of words with which they bombard you, and the smirking smile, even the threat, convince you that you don't know your own business. Your best bet is to keep informed from authentic sources, so you know the real facts. All you have to do is be smarter than the salesman, and in most cases you are. About your own business you should know more than anyone else. And these folks aren't "giving" you a thing. You pay the shot all the way.

Some towns are worse than others for the barrage of salesmen that hit the doorstep. But if you think we've got it bad you should sit behind the desk of a supermarket buyer.

It is the truth that you and I are gullible for anything "new" — at least we want to try it out and to be one of the first to do so, so we can tell our neighbor about it along with our judgement of it. It's pretty hard to predict what will sell or for how long and the store manager hopes to select those items that will sell.

Here is an experience of one Michigan supermarket operator with new food products.

"In March 1962 we were carrying a total of 5,865 items in our grocery warehouse. During the past 12 months, 3,696 items were offered to our buying committee. Even more than that were presented to our buyers. Of these 3,696 items, only 756 were accepted. . . a rejection rate of over 78 per cent."

Store Discontinues Items During the same period the store discontinued 936 items already in stock—many of them comparatively new. Why were 936 items removed? In most cases, because they didn't move. In other cases, the items were removed because they were unnecessary duplication.

No wonder we can't find where things are in a store. Wouldn't it be nice if the same things were in the same place all the time?

Anything you think you have a problem with the 10 or dozen bell ringers who arrive on your doorstep to sell you something, think in terms of the supermarket manager who has 3,696 such calls in a single year. His best protection, as is yours, is to keep informed.

And remember, you don't have to buy anything. Your money is yours and only you have the right to decide how it should be spent. If you need facts, especially about food buying, call on us. This is one of the reasons why you have consumer marketing information available to you from yours truly.

Lahde-Flannery

NEGAUNEE — St. Paul's Catholic Church was the setting for the marriage last Saturday of Barbara Ann Lahde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Toivo Lahde, 227 E. Case St., to Gerald R. Flannery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald H. Flannery, 335 Cherry St. The double ring ceremony took place at 10 a. m., with the Rev. Robert J. Cordy officiating. Fr. Cordy also was celebrant at the Nuptial High Mass which followed.

Pink and white gladioli decorated the church for the ceremony at which Emil Vernon Larson, Palmer, and Miss Ann Quinn sang "Ave Maria." Mr. Larson also sang "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother," accompanied by Miss Quinn.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a chapel length gown of bouquet taffeta with a fitted bodice, a scooped neckline accented with seed, iridescent and tear drop pearls and embroidered with silk cording, long tapered sleeves ending in a point over the wrist. The full skirt, also trimmed, had a carriage back with pleating ending in a V. She wore a triple-tier crown of pearls and aurora borealis crystals holding a finger tip veil of imported silk illusion. Her crescent-shaped bouquet was of white gladioli and pink roses.

Mrs. Bruce Saari, Champion, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor and Mrs. Gary Hunt, Princeton, Ind., and Miss Judy Lahde, sister of the bride, were bridesmaids. Miss Toni Saari, Champion, niece of the bride, was the flower girl, while Thomas Flannery, brother of the groom, was the ring bearer.

James Flannery, brother of the groom, was the best man and the groomsmen were James Lahde, Troy, Mich., brother of the bride, and Charles Campaign, Appleton, Wis. Seating the guests were William Carlson, Negaunee, brother-in-law of the groom, and Robert L. Lahde, Romeo, Mich., brother of the bride.

All the bridal aides were gowned in rose pink sheaths of lace over taffeta with square necklines and short bouffant overskirts. They wore pink crowns accented with sequins attached to circular veils. They carried arm bouquets of pink carnations and white pompons.

Mrs. Lahde attended her daughter's wedding wearing a blue lace dress with white accessories. Mrs. Flannery, mother of the groom,

They Compliment You Orange is complimentary to those of you with glowing sun-tans. Redheads, blondes, brunettes and brownettes can wear the orange shades if the correct foundation and lipstick shades are used with them. Foundation make-up with yellow tones will make you look jaundiced when combined with the orange. Beige-rose tones are best because they give a look of warmth to the complexion and this goes well with the oranges. Pastel lipsticks such as candy or brandy orange complete the color co-ordinates.

Council OK's Railroad Relocation Agreements

ISHPEMING — With one suggested change, agreements giving the municipal "go ahead" signal for a railroad relocation project here were approved by the Ishpeming City Council last night.

The three agreements authorize (1) construction of a grade crossing and installation of automatic warning signals on Washington St.; (2) relocation of water mains and sewer lines in Second St.; enclosure of water lines running along the Carp River and across Washington St. and construction of a new 12-inch sewer line behind Second St.; and (3) building of overpasses over Second and Third Sts. and Euclid St. extension.

CCI To Pay Costs
All of the construction and other costs will be paid by Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co., which is a party to the agreement along with the city and three railroads — Chicago & North Western, Soo Line and Lake Superior & Ishpeming.

City Manager Thomas R. McNabb informed the council he learned that the Interstate Commerce Commission has approved the project and that early action by the Michigan Public Service Commission was expected.

Rewriting of one section of one agreement — which now provides for a $10 monthly payment by the city for maintenance of automatic warning signals at the Washington St. crossing — was approved by the council on the manager's recommendation.

Church Of God To Conduct Bible School For Week

L'ANSE — The L'Anse Church of God will conduct a vacation Bible school from Monday, Aug. 12, to Friday, Aug. 18, in the Zeba Town Hall.

There will be two sessions each day. The morning session will begin at 9 and the afternoon session at 1. All children attending are asked to bring a sack lunch for the noon meal.

Two students from Oregon Bible College will help with the Bible school. Miss Rachel Krogh, a junior, whose home is in Grand Rapids, and Miss Alice Aldrich, a freshman, whose home is in Clare, will provide special music.

Mrs. Raymond Vadnais, lay pastor of the L'Anse Church of God, is in charge of the vacation Bible school. Other helpers will be Raymond Vadnais, Alice Curtis, Margy Spruce, Barbara Mantila and Elizabeth Sherman.

All children of the area are invited to attend the school. The lessons will be based on the theme, "The Man, Jesus Christ."

Thief Wants To Know What To Feed Dog

MIAMI — Joseph Quinones told police his pedigree French poodle was stolen and that the thief telephoned him later and asked for the dog's diet.

Sunday School Classes, Services Slated For Zeba

L'ANSE — The Sunday School classes and Sunday morning worship services of the L'Anse Church of God will be held in the Zeba Hall Aug. 11, instead of the L'Anse Town Hall, where services have been held. The change is being made so that preparation for the vacation Bible school, which will be conducted in Zeba, can be made.

The services will be in charge of students of Oregon Bible College. Miss Rachel Krogh will bring the message and there will be special music by Miss Krogh and Miss Alice Aldrich. The public is invited to attend the services, which will begin at 11.

Council Pays Tribute To Kathy, Blue Notes

ISHPEMING — This city is proud of the high honors achieved by some of its sons and daughters recently.

And Mayor Theodore Mattson believes that official recognition should be given such accomplishments.

At his suggestion, the Ishpeming City Council last night authorized preparation of appropriate resolutions to laud: 1. Kathleen McLaughlin, who last month became the first Upper Peninsula girl to win the Miss Michigan beauty title and who will be entered in Atlantic City's Miss America Pageant in September.

2. The Blue Notes Drum and Bugle Corps, which won the state American Legion championship and which made such an impressive showing at the convention in Detroit.

3. Joe Paul, who proved a capable leader in guiding the Michigan American Legion as commander the past year.

4. Octavius Townsend, Ishpeming High School instructor, who now is serving as president of the Michigan Education Association.

5. Mrs. Minerva Gitzen, former state American Legion Auxiliary president and now a national committeewoman for the organization.

Copies of the resolutions are to be sent to each as well as being placed in the municipal archives.

Edict In Ishpeming: Clean Up Vacant Lots

ISHPEMING — Litterbugs: Beware.

The Ishpeming City Council last night promised action to clean up vacant lots, following presentation of a request for the cutting of weeds in a vacant lot adjoining the Apostolic Lutheran Church.

That doesn't mean that city workmen will be running around town with lawn mowers and sickles to work in private property. But it does mean that City Manager Thomas R. McNabb and Police Chief Frank Sarvello have been given authority to order clean-up of unsightly rubbish and overgrown weeds and grass in vacant lots.

Action has been promised by the owner of the lot referred to in the Apostolic Lutheran request — in fact, construction of a garage is planned there — McNabb said.

But Councilman Emil Aho, as zealous as the next man in efforts to improve Ishpeming's appearance, declared: "We may as well join the bandwagon in the war on litterbugs," then offered the motion to check all vacant lots.

In other action, the council: • Authorized Mayor Theodore Mattson to appoint an official delegate to the Sept. 5-6 Michigan Municipal League meeting on Mackinac Island, and he promptly named Councilman Aho to that post.

• Received a letter of thanks from the Rt. Rev. Msgr. David P. Spelgatti, pastor of St. John's parish, for city officials' cooperation in dedication of St. John's new school.

• Promised "very serious consideration" during 1964 budget preparation of a fund request from the Parents' Club for the Blue Notes Drum and Bugle Corps.

(In connection, Mayor Aho asked The Mining Journal to remind all organizations seeking contributions from the city — before the budget is prepared.

Safety Unit Pupils Going To U. P. Fair

ISHPEMING — The Ishpeming Township safety patrol and service squads will attend the Upper Peninsula State Fair Tuesday, Aug. 13.

All pupils making the trip must have signed permission slips from their parents and must take their own lunch.

A bus will leave North Lake at 9 a. m. to pick up pupils at the following places: Pupils from the Stoneville and Sello Plat areas will meet at the Triangle Motel; North Lake Road pupils will meet at the North Lake School; Sello Plat area pupils will be picked up on the Tourist Park Road; West Ishpeming and Cooper Lake pupils will meet at the West Ishpeming School, and Deer Lake pupils will meet at Ken's Grocery, Deer Lake.

Future Of Recreation Hard To Predict, U. P. Editor Tells Teachers

CHATHAM — Speaking on "Leisure and Recreation" at the conservation department's annual teacher conservation school at Camp Shaw here last night, Jean Worth, editor of the Escanaba Daily Press, said that popular public thought that the second flows naturally from the first is as full of holes as Swiss cheese.

Actually, said Worth, the future of outdoor recreation in America is a fascinating jumble of speculation, shaky projection of present trends and wonder about what our increasingly citified people will want out-of-doors a generation hence.

Validity Of Camping Craze

Worth said that the present scramble of government agencies at all levels, local, state and federal, to acquire outdoor recreational areas to meet the current crush in such facilities and to expand them for the future increase follows predictions of many recreation specialists that the camping craze of a few years ago was a transient fad.

It would be as doubtfully sound, he suggested, to multiply the current trends in outdoor recreation by increases in population, income and travel to project the future need for parks and recreation areas, as it was to doubt the validity of the outdoor camping craze as a genuine expression of deep-seated public desire a few years ago.

Timidity Toward Woods Exposure

That people will seek the out-of-doors increasingly for recreation as they become more citified, as a sharp contrast and variant to their everyday life, may seem natural, the speaker said, but recreation specialists point out some counter influences.

They cite that while garden clubs and pack-on-the-back hikers call for increasing dedication of government wilderness areas, the actual usage of state parks and forests shows a considerable timidity of city people toward woodland exposure. This was not so true, it is suggested, when America had a more rural society.

Increased Leisure Of Future

The overloading of public recreation areas and the doubtful possibility of acquiring so many of them that the quality of expansiveness for which they are sought in the first place can be maintained, raises a cloud on the suggestion that a huge park acquisition program is the solution. "For one thing," said Worth, "the tendency is to go away from the park users in acquiring the parks; to create them in cheaper outlands rather than incorporate them in urban renewal plans."

"The increased leisure of the future seems to be emerging as a mixture of fun and work, of customer golf and picnic with the boss. And it raises social complications of serious proportions, with wives complaining that they'd be 'crawling the walls' if their husband had a four-day work week."

"Michigan, with one of the nation's finest conservation departments, has a state park system which has not found a fixed relationship yet, if there can be such a thing, with the federal and local government efforts in the same field."

"The Detroit Metropolitan Regional Planning Commission has suggested a recreational code of responsibility ranging from local through county and metropolitan region to state; from walk-to areas near school and home for intensive use by 5 to 18-year-olds up to 1,000 on 10 acres, to state facilities 20 miles or more distant offering 500 or more acres of picnic areas, camping, bathing, fishing winter sports and historic sites."

Role Of Private Enterprise

"Adoption of such a plan statewide would find the state surrendering some of its parks for camping to intensive day use. Cooperation between the state and federal governments on recreational facilities would end the 'Does Gimbel's tell Macy's?' relationship of the present."

A question looming larger than the degree to which government will enter the recreation business by land acquisition and development is the role of private enterprise in public recreation of the future, said Worth. Michigan has eased into a policy of providing only primitive facilities through public agencies and having private ownership provide deluxe facilities. Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee have taken the other turn and built luxurious resorts and tourist facilities with public money and then leased them or operated them.

Hard To Forecast

"Most of Michigan's present recreation policy was made during the depression and doesn't cope with either present values or trends. Leisure is getting new impetus from the sociologists as an increasingly important influence upon social stability and even upon the economy, but while there have been scholarly studies of its role in ancient and modern cultures, the current state of study of the subject is distrustful as a springboard for the future."

"A University of Michigan department head, commenting upon an Eastern educator's comments on the sociological implications of recreation, said, 'We suspect that he is a better recreationist than a sociologist.' Camping was relatively bummy and socially taboo in most economic strata until recently."

"The thing to do out-of-doors in 1980 is hard to forecast. Jet bottle hedge-hopping may be tops. There may be much more accent upon the recreationist than upon the recreation area. Some of our Michigan park people today are saying that they wouldn't crowd into one of our overloaded state parks. When enough people take that view there'll be a new trend."

During his student days, Pellow was a member of the Negaunee High School and Northern Michigan University bands and later was featured as a trumpet soloist for several years by the city band when he resided in this area. He later played with bands in San Diego, Calif., and Washington, D. C., where he resides.

As his trumpet selection on tonight's concert, he will play Emerson's "Carnival of Venice." Five marches are listed on the program announced Wednesday by Director Lawrence T. Nylander. They include "Chicago Tribune" (Chambers), "Emblem of Unity" (Richards), "Nutcrackers" (Osterling), "Anthes" (Gill) and "The Gateway City" (King).

As the overture, which is part of the weekly concert, Nylander has selected "Scorpio" (Eisenberg), and as a popular number, "A Swinging Safari" (Kampfort). In response to request, Nylander has included on the program the waltz, "Moon River" (Manicini). Other selections will be the "Lichtensteiner Polka" (Reed) and "Carousel" (Rodgers).

Gwinn Booster Club Meets Next Monday

GWINN — The Gwinn High School Booster Club will hold its first meeting for the current season Monday evening at 7:30 in the Gwinn Clubhouse. Commerce, industrial development and history will keynote Friday's telecast, which originates from Saul's Ste. Marie.

The program will cover the discovery, utilization and transportation of natural resources and their impact on industrial development in America as well as tourist attractions in the Upper Peninsula.

The history of Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. is interwoven with that of Michigan's history in that it has been a major producer and shipper of iron ore for over a century.

The "Today" show, featuring Hugh Downs, Jack Lescaulie and Pat Fontaine, is seen by some 25 million persons through the country each week via NBC's network of affiliated television stations.

City Council To Consider Bids Tonight

NEGAUNEE — Bids on transformers and cedar poles needed for the municipal electric utility will be considered by the Negaunee City Council at a regular meeting at 7:30 tonight.

City Manager Leonard Harris

country is the collection of droppings of sea birds from the rocky islands strung along its coast. Its guano islands and mainland walled nesting grounds are the world's largest bird sanctuaries of their kind.

was authorized at a special meeting in July to call for quotations on six transformers and 47 red cedar poles following a request for the materials by William Kokko, utility superintendent.

Action is expected on a resolution to provide longevity pay and accumulated sick leave for city employees, which were two of the five requests submitted by the local chapter of the State, County and Municipal Employees Union at the July session.

Informal approval was given the two requests at a series of meetings between council members and the city manager to study the preliminary draft of the 1964 budget.

Communications on the agenda include a letter from Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. regarding re-planting of a portion of the CCI First Addition, and an inquiry from Frank Matthews Sr. regarding the possibility of purchasing a bell owned by the city.

Other items for council consideration will be the monthly claims and accounts, reports by the manager on July operation of the water and electric utilities and inactive electric accounts, and the monthly reports of department heads.

Kaline Slays Monster With 3-Run Homer

DETROIT (AP)—He's big and frightening, this Dick Radatz, glowering down off the mound at batters. He stands 6-foot-3 and he turns hitters' knees to jelly and their bats to rubber.

The Boston Red Sox save him for the toughest situations—when a big out is a must. Not invincible. But baseball's foremost relief pitcher—nicknamed the Monster—is not invincible. Until Wednesday the Tigers believed he was.

Al Kaline greeted Radatz with a three-run homer that wiped out a two-run deficit and produced a 3-4 victory. It was the first time the Tigers ever defeated Radatz, a suburban Berkley product their scouts missed when he attended Michigan State.

"I know," said Kaline as writers clustered around him after the tide-turning 21st homer in the seventh inning. "You're surprised. So am I."

"That was only the second hit I ever got off that Monster. I've been up about 20 times against him and all I ever had was a single in Boston last year."

"He's the toughest pitcher I have to face—the best relief pitcher I've ever seen."

The Tigers took over the major league record for consecutive errorless games with perfect fielding for the 12th straight game. The 1953 Cincinnati Reds set the old mark of 11, matched by the Tigers Tuesday night.

The Red Sox rushed Radatz in

to face Kaline after Dick McAuliffe's single put two runners on with two out in the seventh against Jack Lamabe. Kaline whacked Radatz third pitch into the lower left field seats.

"It was a fastball," said Kaline, who also had a single and a double and drove in four of the Tigers' five runs. "That's all he ever gives me is fastballs. And they're tough to hit."

This was only the third defeat against 12 victories for Radatz. And oddly, all three losses have been inflicted by the two lowest teams in the American League.

Washington hung the other two on Radatz. The second was only last Friday after Radatz had gone into the mound three months without being beaten.

The Tigers finish their seven-game home stand today against Boston. Dressed today against Bill Monbouquette (14-7).

NMU Opens 17th H.S. Coaching Clinic Today

Doug Weaver, head football coach at Kansas State since 1960, kicked off the 17th annual coaching school at Northern Michigan University today at 8:45 a.m.

A linebaker on Michigan State's nationally ranked teams of 1950-51, Weaver was an English major as an undergraduate and still nurtures a smoldering urge to be a writer and novelist.

Following a two-year tour of duty in the U.S. Air Force, Weaver returned to his alma mater as freshman coach in football, and was promoted to the varsity squad the following year. In 1958 he became assistant coach at the University of Missouri, a position he held until accepting his present assignment in 1960.

An advocate of the Michigan State multiple-offense brand of football, Weaver's players must possess triple-threat characteristics — scholarship, citizenship and aggressiveness.

One of his squad's most talked about and coveted awards is the "Red Tag" — sparingly handed out by his staff to players who show consistency in aggressive play over an extended period.

Hoosier native of Indiana, Weaver is married to the former Nancy Doty of Detroit and is the father of two sons and a daughter.

Also appearing at the coaching clinic will be John Kundla, head basketball coach at the University of Minnesota. Kundla, head basketball coach since 1959, is the sixth Gopher mentor to appear at the annual coaching school sponsored by the Michigan High School Athletic Association and Northern Michigan University.

Kundla is a former outstanding basketball player at Minnesota where he received All-Big Ten honors.

Palmer, Township, Lions Win In Negaunee LL Play

NEGAUNEE — In Negaunee Little League tournament play last night, Palmer Township and Lions advanced into the quarter-finals with victories.

The Palmer nine defeated the Eagles, 15-4, scoring nine runs in the first two innings, with the big blow a three-run homer by Ernie Piurto.

The winning pitcher was Roger Routanen, who gave up only four hits.

Township downed Local 4793, 13-3 in another lopsided victory behind the 12-strikeout performance of winning hurler Bill Mattson. Dale Hemmla had a perfect day at the plate, collecting three doubles and a single, while David Rivers contributed a single and double to the Township score. John Treoreno led the losers with two doubles in the losing effort.

The Rod & Gun Club lost one to the Lions, 10-4, sparked by the pitching and hitting of Paul Symons, who doubled and homered once. Scott Northey collected two homers of his own.

The Elks will meet the VFW team tonight at 6 in Negaunee, to play a game postponed last night.

Minelli Rolls 220 For High

In the Gwinnett Mixed League, Joey Minelli rolled a 220 for the high individual game, and tied the record set by Norman Hooking, for the high series of 592.

In the women's section Emma Benson took the match with games of 166, 134 and 163, totaling 463.

Racine and Nordene took both high team game and match with 726, 654 and 585 to total 1,975.

Hurley Has Wild Wins In District

In last night's District Softball Tournament action at Hurley Field, WJPD lost one to Baij's Bar, 15-9, despite winning pitcher Charbeneau's allowing the losers 17 hits.

In the second game of the evening, Chatham hurler Johnson allowed Beau Chateau two hits while Chatham batters ran up a score of 15-0, on hits contributed by all team members.

In Negaunee play, the Marquette City Merchants defeated Gwin Happy Hour Bar, 2-1, and Marquette Casino lost two games.

Joe's Bar downed Casino in their first game, 9-5, which was the finish of a game interrupted by rain Tuesday night. This dropped Casino into the Loser's Bracket, and they had to play a second game against CCD, which they also lost, 11-1.

Les Melka pitched a three-hitter for CCD.

Allan Sivula and Bob Herman garnered three hits apiece for the winners.

Marquette Native Wins Iron Mt. Tennis Tourney

Ed Kukuk, former Marquette tennis star who is now principal of Stambaugh High School, won the Iron Mountain Open Singles tennis tournament Monday with a 6-4, 6-1 victory over Bob Staples, Kingsford High School senior.

Kukuk, whose parents Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Kukuk, live at 415 Spruce Street, defeated another former Marquette resident, John (Put) Pantalone, 6-4, 9-7, in the semi-finals. Kukuk started for Marquette Graveret High School and Northern Michigan University in tennis while Pantalone teamed with Dick Chapman to win the U.P. doubles championship at Graveret in 1946.

Pantalone is tennis coach at Taylor Center near Detroit. He is married to the former Janet Davison of Crystal Falls.

Intl. Karate Champion Al Gene Caraulia Will Return To N. Michigan

Among Northern Michigan University's returning students this fall will be the Grand Champion of the First World Karate Tournament, Al Gene Caraulia. Returning for his senior year as a music major, Caraulia was born in Wahiawa, Oahu, Hawaii, and has already put in three years at Northern.

He teaches in his spare time a number of Marquette area boys, three of whom accompanied him to the World Karate Tournament in Chicago on July 28.

Caraulia competed in the Brown Belt and Overall divisions of the tournament, and came away with first place in both, the latter victory earning him the Grand Champion title, which he will defend at the next World Tournament. In winning the title, Caraulia outpointed karate experts of much higher rank and size, with finesse and agility amazing to even the judges and experts.

Entrants from Canada, Mexico, the Philippines and Hawaii competed in the tournament, designed to help standardize the rating of karate participants, and to determine the best practitioners of the sport.

Some 300 competitors entered the meet to demonstrate their skill in the demanding and highly disciplined art of karate, and an overall victory such as Caraulia's is high testimony to his ability.

Local interest in karate is growing, and Caraulia plans to expand his instruction activities this fall to include all interested boys and men in the area, working in a downtown location which is yet to be found.

Vince Looks For Quinlan Replacement

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The search for a defensive tackle to replace Bill Quinlan, traded to the Eagles during the off season, went on Wednesday as Vince Lombardi put his National Football League champion Packers through an extended drill.

Pleasing Demonstrations The search for a field goal kicker, a move or less continuing this since Paul Hornung hurt his knee early last season, turned up a couple of at least temporarily pleasing demonstrations.

Rookie Gary Kroner, the University of Wisconsin's kicking specialist last season, and veteran Willie Wood—who kicks off but never has booted from placement during a game—each made two-out-of-two from 45 yards out.

Tackle Tries End In the line, all pro tackle Henry Jordan took a turn at Quinlan's old right end post, while Urban Henry, who has been working there, moved in to Jordan's tackle spot.

Low Carpenter operated as quarterback to put on a simulated Steeler offense as the Packers went through their last long drill for the exhibition against Pittsburgh at Miami Saturday night.

Seven Lions Out For Game Saturday

BLOOMFIELD HILLS (AP)—Detroit Coach George Wilson indicated Wednesday that at least seven of his players, will be unable to play Saturday night when the Lions and Cleveland Browns open their National Football League exhibition in Tiger Stadium.

Rookie lineman Daryl Sanders, who was expected to draw a starting assignment in the game, reported he had an injured back and a sore knee.

Sanders Injured Others who appear certain to miss the game because of injuries are defensive backs Dick LaBeau and Bruce Mahler, tackles Harley Sewell and John Gamble and half-back Terry Barr.

Wide Receiver Tackle John Gonzaga was excused from camp Wednesday. He was summoned to Youngstown, Ohio, where his wife was involved in an auto accident. Gonzaga was already a doubtful starter because of a back injury.

Pitchers Spark LL Championship; Clintondale Wins

HARPER WOODS (AP)—The opposing pitchers were almost the whole show Tuesday as Clintondale defeated Ypsilanti National, 4-3, for the state Little League championship.

Clintondale's winning runs came on a two-run homer by pitcher Wayne Ramsey in the third inning. The winners took a 2-0 lead in the first inning on Ed D'Hondt's two-run blast.

Hurler Homered Ypsilanti pitcher Derek Barbee homered with two teammates on base in the fourth inning to account for all of the losers' runs. Ramsey struck out 14.

Clintondale will meet the Indiana state champion in Kalamazoo Saturday for the right to advance to the regional finals next week.

Finals Today In American Legion Meet

OWOSSO (AP)—Detroit and Adrian meet in the finals of the American Legion Baseball Tournament today, with unbeaten Adrian holding the upper hand.

Adrian took a big step toward its first state title Wednesday by defeating Detroit, 7-5, in a third round game.

Kill Escanaba Chances The Maples then sat back while Detroit eliminated Escanaba, 5-2, in the semifinal tilt. Escanaba had knocked Flint out of the running with an 11-7 victory earlier in the day.

Detroit jumped to a 3-0 lead against Adrian only to see the Maples come back with a five-run fifth inning and take a 6-3 lead.

Should Detroit, the 1953 national champion, defeat Adrian, a second game would have to be played later in the day.

Marukes Take Tri-City Win From CCI

NEGAUNEE — In the finals of the double elimination Tri-City Softball League Tournament on Sunday night in Ishpeming, the Negaunee Marukes powered their way to a 7-5 victory over the CCI league leaders in 12 innings of play.

The Marukes held a 5-0 lead behind Ronnie Foisie's pitching into the last of the seventh. Walks, errors and a three-run homer by Roger Solberg tied up the game at 5-5 in the CCI turn at bat, and the game ran for five more innings in an attempt to break the tie.

The contest was won for Marukes by Jim Carlson's two-run homer in the 12th off "Skeez" Champion, who hurled the entire game for CCI.

Dick Parkkunen led the Marukes in the attack with his two home runs, he missed a third because of a last-second catch at the fence by the CCI left fielder of a long drive which looked sure all the way to the fence.

Dick Jandron took the win for Marukes, having pitched five runless innings in a relief role.

A second game was necessary to eliminate CCI completely from contention for the Tri-City title, and was forfeited by them, due to the lack of a fresh pitcher, thus giving Marukes the final championship.

Sanford Record Looks Different This Year; 3-Hitter Doesn't Win

(By the Associated Press) About this time a year ago Jack Sanford had won seven straight games in a streak that eventually stretched to 16 and an outstanding 24-7 record with the San Francisco Giants.

In that long victory run, the husky right-hander completed only five games, getting relief help and plenty of batting support to enable him to earn credit for the other 11 victories. This was mighty nice and was reflected in a fat $37,000 salary for 1963, beating the star pitcher of a National League championship team.

Out of Whack Somehow, all of the little pieces that fitted so neatly together last year are all out of whack this year. For instance take Wednesday night in Houston. The 34-year-old ace hurled a masterful three-hitter against the Colts but lost 1-0.

Sanford's mates got nine hits but couldn't dent the plate against Dick Farrell and relief star Hal Woodeshick. It looked like they might in the ninth when Orlando Cepeda and Matty Alou singled off Farrell to put men on first and third with one out. But Woody stepped in for his 49th appearance of the year and got pinch hitter Harvey Kuenn to hit into a double play.

Big Difference So now Sanford has a 10-12 record against a mark of 14-6 at the same time in 1962, which is a big difference and as good a reason as any why the Los Angeles

Devuono played for Michigan State University and will be teaching junior high school in Waterloo while Swick opposed Brumm in the old Northern Michigan-Ontario League when the latter was player-coach for the Marquette Sentinels.

Swick also will be employed in Waterloo. To date they are the only two U.P. athletes in addition to Brumm on the Waterloo roster for the 1963-64 campaign.

Paul's mother, Mrs. Mildred Paul of Pleasant Plains, said he had asked her to forward the check to the university. It is expected to be used for scholarships although it cannot be earmarked for any specific purpose.

Paul graduated from Cincinnati in 1962 and was signed immediately by the Tigers. He played baseball at UC for three years.

Killebrew Takes AL Home Run Lead; Hits For Twins Win, 9-4

(By the Associated Press) Quick-firing Harmon Killebrew ruled murderers' row today in a power struggle at Los Angeles in which deposed kingpin Bob Allison issued a warning to the guy who shoved him from the No. 1 spot.

Takes AL Lead Hammerin' Harmon, who along with Allison and Earl Battey, forms Minnesota's power triumvirate, took over the American League home run lead Wednesday night with a three-run eighth inning shot that catapulted the Twins to a 9-4 victory over the Angels.

Killebrew's 26th homer gave him one more than Allison and put him five up on Battey. Killebrew, who tied for the homer championship with 42 in 1959 and captured the crown with 48 last year, is trying to become only the ninth player in AL history to hold or share the title three or more times.

Fracture Allison was forced to the sidelines for two or three days with a fracture of the ring finger on his right hand. He was struck by a pitch from Los Angeles' Dean Chance in Tuesday night's game.

Allison warned at the time: "That's the third time he has hit me this season and I'm getting tired of it."

The Twins' triumph pulled them into third place, 9 1/2 games behind the New York Yankees who got homers from Joe Pepitone and Elston Howard in a 9-1 walloping of Washington. The second-place Chi-
