

Steady Level Seen For Employment In Area Until Winter

Employment in the eastern half of Marquette County is expected to remain at a steady level until the beginning of winter, Frank B. Paitl, manager of the Michigan Employment Security Commission office here, said today.

Last month in the eastern half of Marquette County there were 510 persons actively seeking work through the MESCC office. In August 550 persons were listed on the MESCC active job seeker files.

In December more persons will be added to the labor market because of layoffs in logging and construction work, Paitl said.

The 510 persons listed on the MESCC job seeker files last month included 153 women and 88 veterans. Thirty-two of the persons seeking work were handicapped.

New Applications Up

In comparison to the 510 persons actively seeking work last month, there were 458 in September 1962.

New applications for work received at the MESCC office during September numbered 193, a jump from 169 in August and 180 a year ago in September.

Of the 193 new applications made last month, 90 were women and 11 were veterans.

Job placements made through the office during September totaled 86.

Job Placement Breakdown

Of the placements made last month, two were in construction, four were in railroad transportation; 29 were in wholesale and retail trades, seven were in finance and insurance; 26 were in services, 15 were in private households and three were in government.

In August 98 placements were made through the MESCC office and there were 102 placements made through the office in September 1962.

Birth Total Up, Deaths Drop Here

Marquette's birth total shot up sharply last month and the death rate dipped, City Clerk Everett H. Kent reports.

Births here in September numbered 80, the most for any month here since September a year ago, when 84 babies were born in the city. The figure last month was 29 more than for the previous month.

534 For Year

Last month's births increased the year's total to 534, which is 29 under the comparable figure for 1962.

There were 40 boys and 40 girls born in Marquette last month. Fifty-five babies were born to resident parents and 25 to non-resident fathers and mothers.

Eight males and six females died in Marquette last month, with the 14 deaths being one less than the previous month's figure and one under the total for September a year ago.

Years' Total Alike

There also was one stillbirth in Marquette last month. Still-births are not included in the death statistics.

Nine residents and five non-residents died in the city in September. For the year, 164 persons died in Marquette up to this month, exactly the same number as last year at this time.

Causes of deaths here last month were heart disease, seven; cancer, four; cerebral thrombosis, two; and respiratory failure, one.

City Paragraphs

City firemen were called out at 10:22 yesterday morning when an incinerator in the rear yard of an apartment house building owned by Robert Haley, 423 N. Front St., tipped over, causing some leaves to catch fire. Haley had the blaze out with a garden hose on arrival of firemen. Thirteen firemen were summoned, as a general alarm was sounded. They responded with the Nos. 2 (1,000-gallon) and 4 (750-gallon) pumps and the service truck and they returned to the station at 10:31 a.m.

Boy Injured, Driver Given Ticket, Five Cars Involved In Three Accidents In City

A youngster was injured, a motorist was ticketed and five vehicles were involved in three traffic accidents investigated by city police yesterday and early today.

1. The injury resulted from a mishap at 1:05 yesterday afternoon in the 600 block of W. Washington St. Ross Jandron, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Jandron, 623 W. Washington St., was hurt when he ran from between parked cars and in heavy traffic into an automobile being driven west on Washington by Pauline J. Reynolds, 26, Route 1, Box 840, Marquette.

The Jandron boy was knocked down but got up quickly and ran back to his yard, city police said. She called police and the city ambulance was used to take the youngster to St. Mary's Hospital. The child complained of a stomach injury and an injury to his right arm.

Hospital officials said the Jandron boy's condition this morning was listed as being "good," with X-rays being taken to determine the possibility of internal injuries. The accident occurred in the middle of the block.

2. At 8:15 this morning a car being driven east on E. Washington St. by Ridgeway W. Burns, 48, Detroit, smashed into a van truck operated by Hugo C. Vegedes, 43, Clare, as Burns was attempting to make a right turn onto S. Lake St. Vegedes was going north on Lake at the time.

The impact shoved the rear dual wheels of the van truck off the retaining walls and traffic was tied up in that area for about a half hour, with city police having to reroute traffic during that period.

Right-Of-Way Violation

The gas tank and left dual wheels of the truck were damaged. The left front of Burns' 1962 sedan was extensively damaged and the car had to be hauled from the scene by a wrecker.

City police issued Burns a summons for a right-of-way violation.

3. At 10:30 last night a car being driven east on Summit St. by Dianne J. Kattelus, 21, of 161 Lakewood Lane, Harvey, smashed into an automobile owned by Max Martin and parked in front of his house at 411 Summit.

Minor damage resulted to the rear of Martin's 1960 station wagon but extensive damage occurred to the right front fender of the Kattelus car, a 1961 two-door sedan.

Area's Forest Fire Danger Climbing; Dry Conditions To Last Through Weekend

This area's forest fire danger is climbing rapidly due to the current dry spell, which is expected to continue at least through this weekend.

This morning conservation department workers were fighting two fires in the county.

One was the 80 acre fire in the Champion area. The fire, burning in muck and peat, has been burning since the first of the month. Although it's under control, conservation workers are having difficulty in putting it out.

The other fire this morning was almost out, but it had already burned 10 acres of land, just south of the Marquette State Prison's honor camp in Chocolay Township.

The Chocolay Township fire, burning in dry leaves, aspen and dry ferns, is typical of the fires that conservation officers are afraid of when leaves are on the ground and vegetation is extremely dry.

Normal amount of rain for October, through today, is .82 of an inch, but only .18 of an inch has fallen in the Marquette area this month.

Burning Index Up
Yesterday the forest fire burning index went up to 25 in the Marquette area.

A reading of 25 on the burning index is "very high" and indicates that fires will start readily from a match, cigarette or cinders and will spread rapidly and tend to crown trees.

Only factor keeping the burning index from registering "explosive" is the lack of wind, conservation officers said. They warned that strong winds would increase the fire danger considerably.

The conservation department in Marquette issued a special appeal to hunters to use extreme caution in the woods.

In 70s Again
Meteorologist Rolland Wendlick said yesterday's high of 73 marked the fifth time this month the mercury was in the 70s or higher (it was in the 80s twice).

Yesterday's low was 51, with the mean of 68 being 12 degrees above normal. It was expected to be in the 70s again this afternoon. Tonight's low will be in the 40s and tomorrow's high in the 70s again.

October Varied For Star Gazers

ANN ARBOR — Here are some items for the star-gazer's October notebook:

—The length of the day will drop from a little less than 12 hours at the beginning of the month to about ten and one-half at the end, according to University of Michigan Astronomer Hazel M. Losh.

—Two naked eye planets reign in the early evening sky. Saturn will be found in the southeastern sky at sunset. Jupiter, trailing by about 60 degrees, rises near the east point around sunset, and shines the whole night through.

—Following the Harvest Moon (Oct. 2) will be the Hunter's Moon, the full moon of Nov. 1. Like the Harvest Moon, the Hunter's rises at about the same hour for several nights in succession, furnishing plenty of moonlight throughout the whole night.

—Two meteor showers are scheduled for the month, the Draconids around Oct. 9 and the Orionids around the 22nd.

Man Enters Plea Of Guilty Here; Sentence Delayed

William C. Berry, 27, of 307 Sandstone St., entered a plea of guilty before Judge Edward H. Dembowski in municipal court yesterday to a charge of non-support.

The case was adjourned for one month, with sentencing set for Nov. 8. Berry was released on his own recognizance. He was arrested by sheriff's

Harvest Festival Under Way Here; Extends To Saturday

Marquette County's annual Harvest Festival began this morning with the judging of entries.

Doors at the National Guard Armory, where the festival is being held, will be open to the public, free of charge, from 1 p.m. to 10 p.m. today, tomorrow and Saturday.

In connection with the Harvest Festival, 4-H Club members will present a horse show featuring pleasure class riding and races Saturday morning, east of the armory.

Races will include pole bending, barrel races and a boot race.

A trophy, donated by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Angeli of Marquette, will be presented to the person judged the best rider in the pleasure class and ribbon awards will be awarded to other qualifying contestants.

Car Exhibits

In addition to commercial exhibits previously named, there will be exhibits of 1964 model cars by Eggebeen Motors and Larsson Motors, both of Marquette.

Other commercial exhibits will be by the Hakala Well and Pump Service of Negaunee and Levine Upholstery of Marquette.

Booths will be set up by the vocational rehabilitation office, the Marquette County Soil Conservation District and the Michigan State Police.

Marquette Event Noted
LANSING — The harvest

season and its attendant emphasis on food is reflected in events occurring in the state during the coming weekend, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

The council's calendar of events lists the closing of two festivals Saturday, the Marquette County Harvest Festival in Marquette, which begins today and the apple festival at Belding.

The (SPEBSQA) Harvest of Harmony at Escanaba is slated for Saturday.

Rounding out the harvest time theme will be the National Food and Culinary Art Show, scheduled for Detroit's Cobo Hall tomorrow through Sunday. Copies of the council's Calendar of Events, which lists occasions scheduled through December, are available free by writing the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing 26.

Marquette May Lose U. P. Tourist Office To Escanaba

Request For Move Taken Under Study

An invitation to move its headquarters from Marquette to Escanaba is to be studied by the Upper Michigan Tourist Association during the next several months.

The invitation—described by a member of the Escanaba delegation as one that "should scare the hell out of Marquette"—was received at yesterday's annual meeting in the Hotel Northland at which the association set up a $152,970 budget for the 1963-64 fiscal year and heard a speaker urged the Upper Peninsula to capitalize on its resources.

Escanaba City Manager George Harvey, who presented the Delta County invitation, expressed belief that the Upper Peninsula can be "better served from Escanaba" in its promotion of the tourist industry.

He said that, if decision to move there is made, the Escanaba Foundation would procure property at the intersection of U.S. 2-41 and M-35 and construct a one-story building that would serve as a tourist information headquarters.

Finance Difficulty Noted
Gust Asp, merchant and president of the Escanaba Foundation, revealed the Escanaba invitation was the result of reading about the UMTA's financial difficulty.

"That's why we're up here," he stated at one point in a direct reference to the fact that Marquette had not contributed any support to the association this year.

Jean Worth, editor of the Escanaba Daily Press and the third member of the delegation, declared he would "just love to see the Upper Michigan Tourist Association come to Escanaba because of what it would do for Escanaba. I think it would be good for any city."

Property Inspection Urged
The proposal to move the headquarters is to be studied first hand by a committee to be appointed by Ken Slater, Hulbert, UMTA president.

The Escanaba group invited members of that committee to make an on-the-spot inspection of property planned for the tourist headquarters if the association decided to make the move.

Planned Expenditures
In adopting a budget of $152,970—tentatively approved at last spring's meeting in Sault Ste. Marie—UMTA directors and members were told by Ken Dorman, secretary-manager, that such a total of planned expenditures is the "goal" for the organization in promotion of the Upper Peninsula—that the money cannot be spent if it is not received.

The budget at that level would involve expenditures of $50,200 for tourist literature and brochures, $24,450 for direct mail inquiry answering service, $8,545 for exhibits at outdoor travel shows, $2,000 for a long-range development program, $8,800 for a publicity program, $3,000 for advertising agency services, $10,920 for newspapers and magazine advertising and $48,055 for solicitation and administration.

Regulations Adopted
Regulations were adopted for supervision of personnel manning tourist association booths at travel shows.

They were set up at the suggestion of Carl Graves, Manistique, who has been helping coordinate UMTA-chamber of commerce cooperation in this program.

1963 Model Auto Output Biggest Ever

DETROIT (AP)—It's official now—the 1963 model run was the biggest in the history of the U.S. automotive industry.

Final figures compiled by the Automobile Manufacturers Association showed U.S. auto plants turned out 7,339,992 passenger cars during the 1963 model run. This eclipsed the old mark of 7,146,119 set in the 1955 run.

The 1963 total was over 650,000 ahead of last year's figure.

No. 1 Builder
Chevrolet retained its position as the No. 1 builder as it built 1,593,257 standard size Chevrolets during the '63 run, while its biggest competitor, the Ford Galaxie, settled for 843,292.

It marked the fourth consecutive year in which Chevrolet held down the No. 1 production spot. It last yielded the leadership to Ford in 1959.

800,000 Units
The AMA figures, which generally are conceded to be the official ones for the industry, were released just as the 1964 model production and sales year

Development Plans For U.P. Outlined At Tourist Parley Here

"There just aren't enough smokestacks to go around," the Upper Peninsula was told yesterday by one of the state's leading community planners who urged the region to capitalize on its natural resources and not try to compete with communities which have advantages not found in this 15-county area.

Dr. Frank W. Suggitt, Lansing, told the Upper Michigan Tourist Association at a noon luncheon in the Hotel Northland that the Peninsula's resources—its topography, water, forests, snow—can be utilized to create jobs, develop land and broaden the tax base to improve the economy of this North Country.

Specifically, he noted that construction of 500,000 cottages and summer homes in the Peninsula would mean an additional 200,000 seasonal residents.

Need Local Support
"The Upper Peninsula needs a Florida-, Arizona- and Texas-style type of promotion," he asserted, referring to the land development programs that have brought many thousands of new residents to those states.

But, he warned, "local dollars must come into the picture if local people are really sincere about area development. They must be convinced that they have to spend money if they are going to make money."

To undertake the development program he pictured for his listeners, he suggested:

1. An awakening to the resources available in the Upper Peninsula. "This must be done was swinging into high gear. The U.S. auto industry has scheduled more than 800,000 units to be built this month and numerous reports of strong sales around the country led many observers to believe that the 1963 model year record would not last very long.

objectively, through comparing what you've got that other areas don't have and a thorough evaluation of your advantages."

2. Use of technical advice to inform local leaders of the "potentials" found in the U. P. (Actually, this already is being done through studies by UPCA—Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Problems—and other organizations.)

3. Transportation improvement. Plane service improvement, expressway construction, opening up of inland lake areas, building of local airports and landing strips were among the factors involved, he noted.

4. Getting information on this program across to U. P. people through public hearings and other methods.

5. Let rest of world know what you've got. In this connection, he stressed that a coordinated program of promotion by the State Tourist Council, Upper Michigan Tourist Association and district and local chambers of commerce is a "must."

'Promotion Pays'
"We've got to get across the understanding that promotion doesn't cost—it pays," he declared.

Dr. Suggitt based his talk on the comprehensive plan for development set up for Gogebic County, noting that "In Gogebic, drastic economies are going to have to be effected by local units of government" if plans for such development are going to be successful.

Gogebic, he said, has three separate cities, five townships, eight school districts, six independent fire departments, four police departments, 16 public health offices, eight different tax assessors and eight different taxing policies, and half a dozen libraries.

"Isn't that an awful lot of government to serve 22,000 people?" he asked.

Alpine Village Plan
Pointing out that some downstate communities are spending many thousands of dollars to attract tourists, including funds for construction of a huge water fountain and importation of a windmill from Holland, he said it was necessary to provide "terminal attractions" for visitors in the Peninsula "on a scale not even thought of."

One such project already undertaken is the Alpine village development at Big Bay and the scenic railroad to run between Marquette and Big Bay, mentioned by Suggitt in his talk.

Summing up, he suggested the U. P. ask itself "What are your comparative advantages?" the "pinpoint your efforts on the resources that look like good bets."

The Holy Cross Toad lives in the semidesert of Central Australia. When it rains, the toad stores water in its body; in drought, it burrows deep into the hardening mud. Aborigines sometimes get a life-saving drink of water by squeezing the toad.

Literature On Region Sent To Over 85,000 By Tourist Body Here

Tourist literature describing the region's recreational appeals and listing available accommodations and facilities was mailed to more than 85,000 persons interested in Upper Michigan vacations the past summer.

That was the substance of a report given members and directors of the Upper Michigan Tourist Association at its annual fall meeting here yesterday by Ken Dorman, secretary-manager.

Reporting on the first three months of the current fiscal year, which began July 1, Dorman revealed that the association printed and distributed 250,000 attractions brochures, 30,000 accommodations directories, 50,000 copies of a waterfalls folder and an equal number of campground directories.

With the exception of the attractions brochure—part of which went out in quantities to chambers of commerce, tourist information centers, auto clubs and other agencies—all of the literature was mailed from UMTA's office in Marquette.

Inquiries From All Over
Inquiries for information on Upper Peninsula vacations came from all sections of the nation and from foreign countries as a result of newspaper and magazine advertising and from outdoor travel shows at which the association set up its attractive booth last winter and spring, Dorman said.

He revealed that the limited facilities of UMTA's office, as well as "the exceptionally heavy drain on our freight and postage account" sometimes caused delay in mailing of literature to people interested in visiting the U.P., but praised members of his office staff for expediting the flow of brochures and directories throughout the summer.

"The first-quarter report for fiscal 1963-64 shows that $11,694.76 already has been expended in printing directories, brochures and other publications," Dorman said.

"In addition, another $5,247.73 was spent for freight and postage since June 30. These are among the biggest items in our list of expenditures, indicating that funds received for UMTA operations are going direct into our effort to promote the Upper Peninsula as a vacationland."

At Travel Shows
Throughout the year, the UMTA office in Marquette will distribute several hundred thousand more pieces of literature to help promote tourist and resort patronage throughout the U.P.

A large number of brochures also will be given visitors to outdoor travel and sports shows in Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee, Cleveland, Minneapolis and Indianapolis.

City's Advantages In Economic Growth Noted By Planners

Unique advantages for economic growth give the Marquette area a head start over other Upper Lakes communities, according to an economic base study just completed by the area's planning firm, Villcan-Leman and Associates.

Max Putters, consultant here for Villcan-Leman, said the Marquette area's star economic attractions include a rapidly growing university, a central regional location, proximity to a major military installation, potential for tourism, mining stability and existing industry.

"Many Upper Peninsula communities are oriented to a single resource and have highly specialized economies, but the Marquette area has a comparatively diverse economy," Putters said.

"Local awareness, cooperation and action can prevent the Marquette area's economy from following the general regional trends.

"Even if there are no substantial increases in population, there are numerous opportunities here for strengthening the local economy."

Improve Service

Putters stated that the surest way to capitalize on the Marquette area's economic advantages is to improve the quality of all local facilities and services.

Local improvements which would give support to the area's economic advantages include the improvement of traffic circulation, addition of off-street parking, shopping center rehabilitation and a more imaginative use of the Lake Superior shoreline, the Villcan-Leman study suggests.

Putters said that the area's most valuable asset for bringing new dollars into the economy is Northern Michigan University.

"Although it is a tax-free institution, the loss in land is readily offset by the staff payroll, construction, student expenditures, rental payments for off-campus housing, property taxes collected on employees' homes, and outsiders drawn to the campus to visit students and attend athletic and cultural events," he said.

As an example of the university's financial role in the community, Putters noted that the current market value of homes owned by NMU professors is estimated to exceed two million dollars.

Marquette's geographic location qualifies it to serve as a headquarters for government and private agencies and a shopping center for the region, Putters said.

He noted that if retail sales in the business district came from persons living within the city limits only, retail sales would decline by $14 million annually.

Sawyer Base Potential

"The nearness of K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base greatly enhances the business district's retail trade potential," Putters noted.

However, he pointed out that the Marquette area competes with other retail trade centers, such as Escanaba, for the trade from Sawyer personnel.

"The potential trade for Sawyer AFB cannot be fully realized unless stores are conveniently accessible, have adequate parking, have a good appearance and offer a wide variety of merchandise," Putters said.

'Aid Local Industry'

"The Marquette area is fortunate to have several basic manufacturing industries with a combined employment of more than 600 persons," he said.

"Assistance to existing industry will be most necessary in the areas of marketing, operational efficiency and transportation in order to avoid having these industries follow the trends of industry elsewhere in the U.P."

Villcan Leman's economic base study is part of the "701 Study" being made by the firm, under contract with the City of Marquette and Marquette and Chocoley Townships.

Charges In Case Here Changed

Charges against two girls arrested at a beer party held in a vacant farmhouse were dismissed and charges against two of the young men arrested at the party were changed in Marquette Municipal Court yesterday.

All four had originally pleaded not guilty to charges of furnishing beer to minors. Their attorney was Robert Bourdeau, Marquette.

They were arrested, along with 10 other persons, by state police Sept. 28 at a vacant farmhouse on Kawbawgam Lake Road in Chocoley Township.

Two Charges Dismissed

Municipal Judge Edward H. Dembowski yesterday dismissed charges of furnishing beer to minors against Mary Ann Kelly, 22, of 326 Spooner Hall, and Patricia Posio, 21, of 328 Spooner Hall.

On the recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney Edward A. Quinnell of Marquette, charges of furnishing beer to minors against Thomas J. Wilkinson, 23, of 7 E. Nicolet Dr. and Donald L. Johnson, 23, of 325 Gries Hall, were dropped and the young men were charged with illegal entry, also a misdemeanor.

Must Make Restitution

Wilkinson and Johnson entered pleas of guilty yesterday to the illegal entry charges and they were given two weeks to make restitution for damages done at the vacant farmhouse.

Of the 10 others arrested at the same time, eight were ordered to pay fines of $15 and $4.30 costs for possession of beer, two were ordered to pay fines of $15 and $4.30 costs for furnishing beer to minors and two others have not yet appeared in court.

Full Schedule Booked For NMU Alumni

Northern Michigan University alumni will have a full day of activities Saturday when they visit the campus for the NMU homecoming celebration.

In addition to the parade, NMU-Central Michigan football game, and homecoming dance, activities will include three coffee hours, a post-game reception and three business meetings.

Special groups returning to the NMU campus for the occasion are the Alumni "N" Club, Kief Club and Executive Committee of the NMU Alumni Association. Reception Planned

An all-alumni coffee hour will be held at Northern's University Center from 9 a.m. to noon.

Post-game gatherings include a reception for members of the "N" club, a coffee social for all alumni from 4 to 6 p.m. at the University Center, and a post-game reception for Kief Club members at the new Fine and Practical Arts Building.

Both the "N" Club and executive committee will meet at 10 a.m. in the University Center.

Writer Sees Bennett Over Knox On Republican Ticket In U.P. Congressional Race

BY TOM SHAWVER
(In Detroit Free Press)

Voters in the Upper Peninsula, a vast region where trees greatly outnumber people, are warming up for some of the liveliest politicking in years.

One of their two Republican congressmen is about to be put out of the lawmaking business, and Democrats are lining up for the right to take on the survivor.

Enacted Last Spring

Cause of the turmoil is the congressional district reapportionment plan enacted last spring.

It left the Upper Peninsula with only one district and forced the two veteran incumbents into a political game of musical chairs.

Either John B. Bennett, of Ontonagon or Victor A. Knox, of Sault Ste. Marie, must go.

Ironically, it was Gov. Romney and other Republicans who pushed the redistricting bill through a Legislature generally disinclined to disturb the status quo.

Any honest reapportionment, however, was bound to do damage to the Upper Peninsula.

Population Totals

Bennett represents 177,000 citizens who live in the 12th District at the west end of the Peninsula.

The 240,000 residents of Knox's district, the 11th, include 128,000 in seven Upper Peninsula counties and 112,000 in the nine Lower Peninsula counties.

These counties have been lopped off his district and attached to the 9th and 10th Districts.

Even with 305,000 residents, the population of the new Upper Peninsula district is far below the ideal average of 411,000 for the 19 districts in the State.

Bennett, midway in his 10th term in Congress, has given strong indications that he'll run for re-election.

Knox, who is in his sixth term, is taking soundings and most of his friends think he'll run, too.

Most Republican leaders and party regulars much prefer Knox to Bennett, who is a Republican in name only, much of the time.

Bennett frequently votes with Democrats and against Republican measures in Congress. He studiously avoids party gatherings and rarely works with GOP organizations.

Bennett does, however, keep in close touch with the folks at home and ministers to their personal needs in Washington. His frequent votes for Democratic-sponsored bills help induce a good many Democrats to vote for him every two years.

The strategy pays off. State senators and House members from the district all are Democrats.

Knox Popular With GOP

Knox, a former speaker of the State House of Representatives, is popular with Republicans and has risen to a prominent position on the powerful House Ways and Means Committee.

Bennett's district contains 60 per cent of the Upper Peninsula's population and Knox is not widely known outside his own bailiwick. Mostly for that reason, Bennett would go into any primary as the favorite.

Demos' Opportunity?

Upper Peninsula Democrats see 1964 as the year of opportunity and the growing list of potential congressional candidates reflects their optimism.

Knox has not always carried the Upper Peninsula portion of his district and Democrats think he can be beaten if he survives the primary.

Dem Possibilities

At least six Democrats are regarded as good possibilities to make the primary race. State Reps. Dominic Jacobetti, Negaunee, Ironwood, who lost to Bennett twice before, have all but announced for the nomination.

Others who have voiced an interest include Raymond F. Clewenger, Sault Ste. Marie, until recently the State Corp. and Securities Commissioner; Sheriff Tom Jernstad of Marquette County; Robert Olsen, Escanaba, 11th District Democratic chairman, and Robert (Kelly) Thompson, school teacher in Paradise.

Two Trials Slated In City Court

A trial was scheduled for today in Marquette Municipal Court for Jacob E. Obenauer, 20, Gwinn, who entered a plea of not guilty yesterday to a charge of furnishing beer to a minor.

Obenauer was arrested by state police Sept. 7 in Marquette. He failed to post bond of $100 set at the arraignment before Judge Edward H. Dembowski yesterday and was committed to the Marquette County Jail to await trial.

Disorderly Court

Also in municipal court yesterday, James Malloy, 61, of 108 Hogan St., entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of being disorderly and, in particular, throwing rocks.

Malloy was arrested by city police Sunday on a complaint signed by his daughter.

Trial was scheduled for Oct. 15 in municipal court. Malloy posted bond, which was set at $50.

Financial Scene:

Auto Sales Hint On Rise In Economy

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Prospects of a third big auto sales year in a row are giving the strongest supporting arguments for those who see the 1964 entire economy soaring.

There's that nice cushion such high-gear production in the auto industry will give to others, their suppliers — steel, aluminum, copper, glass, plastic, fibers. And payrolls of all concerned add to consumer purchasing power.

Also there's the spreading influence of a large number of cars on many other phases of American life, that can be transplanted into dollars. More cars spur the growth of more shopping centers, restaurants, motels, drive-in movies, factories, and even banks.

They also lead to the building of more highways, parking lots and garages. And increasing collections of traffic fines add to many a local government's revenues.

Setting Record

Much of the prolonged high level of car sales now setting a record for duration and dollar volume has been attributed to the steady increase of total personal income. An affluent society tends to put car ownership or at least a monthly payment equity high on the list of benefits of affluence.

But some also note that this continuing high volume of auto

Lt. Hein Picks NMU Over Rank

Surrender of his captain's rank in the U. S. Air Force in order to enroll at Northern Michigan University as a full-time student during the 1963-64 academic year was the choice made this fall by a senior student at NMU.

First Lt. James L. Hein, 23, Minneapolis, stationed at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, held a "spot promotion" to captain on the Senior Standardization Crew, whose function it is to evaluate other crews of the Wing.

Because the captain's role in the program is a fulltime position, Hein elected to give up his rank and enroll at Northern under Operation Bootstrap. Inaugurated by the USAF in 1947, Operation Bootstrap, under its final semester temporary duty feature, enables Air Force personnel, who are within a year of receiving a degree, to enroll at a college or university providing they are accepted by the school and qualify under the USAF regulations.

Hein attended the University of Minnesota for two years, and was a member of its aviation cadet program. He has been in the Air Force for the past four years and has attended night school at the Sawyer Education Center for one and one-half years. Hein attributes his decision to enroll at Northern to the "wonderful math program offered at the base by NMU."

Hein will be a candidate for the BA degree at Northern in June, 1964, with a major in mathematics and a minor in physics. He is a member of the University's mathematics club. Scholastically, he is a "B" student, maintaining a 3.3 grade average.

Two Trials Slated In City Court

A trial was scheduled for today in Marquette Municipal Court for Jacob E. Obenauer, 20, Gwinn, who entered a plea of not guilty yesterday to a charge of furnishing beer to a minor.

Obenauer was arrested by state police Sept. 7 in Marquette. He failed to post bond of $100 set at the arraignment before Judge Edward H. Dembowski yesterday and was committed to the Marquette County Jail to await trial.

Disorderly Court

Also in municipal court yesterday, James Malloy, 61, of 108 Hogan St., entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of being disorderly and, in particular, throwing rocks.

Malloy was arrested by city police Sunday on a complaint signed by his daughter.

Trial was scheduled for Oct. 15 in municipal court. Malloy posted bond, which was set at $50.

Ontonagon Man Charged With Killing Friend

ONTONAGON — Gale Dover-spice, 44, Ontonagon, has been charged with murder in the shotgun death of a companion near here Monday.

The victim was Norman Colclasure, 30, Ontonagon, whose body was found on the lawn of a residence 19 miles west of here.

The sheriff's department said the shooting occurred near where a group of men were holding a drinking party, but there were apparently no witnesses to the killing.

Colclasure was killed by a blast from a 12 gauge shotgun to the left side of his face. The shooting scene was on site of the old Halliwell mine where a former caretaker still lives.

Prosecuting Atty. Donald Munro said a preliminary hearing will be held after Dover-spice gets an attorney.

Asian Aid Programs Under Close Scrutiny

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. aid programs for south Viet Nam are receiving a close review of whether they are helping the anti-Communist war and not going toward the Diem government's campaign against critics at home, officials reported.

So far, they said, none of the existing programs—running at a rate of more than $400 million a year—has been canceled.

The Machiguenga Indians of Peru all wear their hair long. One way to tell the sexes apart is by the stripes on their long, flowing robes called cushmas. Men's cushmas have vertical stripes; women's are horizontal.

Lamb Heads Food Stores Meat Buys

DETROIT (AP) — Leg of lamb, offered at bargain prices, tops the list of weekend specials in food markets this week.

A big eastern supermarket chain is featuring lamb legs at 49 cents a pound, off 20 cents from last week. The oven-ready variety is tagged at 57 cents a pound, also off 20 cents.

Other meat counter specials include turkeys and cod steaks.

Beef prices are higher in the East with sirloin steaks up four cents a pound from last week and rib roast up 10 cents.

The price of eggs dipped two cents a dozen in some areas.

Lamb production has been increasing seasonably and more lamb is available than at any time since early April.

Supplies of beer are ample as marketers of cattle increase seasonally.

The outlook for the new fall crop of potatoes is good. The harvest nationally is expected to be a little larger than last year.

Grapes for table use, jams and jellies are plentiful this season. California grape growers will harvest a record crop of 3.3 million tons.

Lower-cost selections among apples are the cooking varieties and McIntosh.

Special offerings on vegetable counters include washed spinach, large tomatoes, celery, brussels sprouts, avocado pears, sweet potatoes and string beans.

Oil Paintings To Record State History

Michigan's rich and colorful history — spanning the ages from the era of mastodons to the wonder of the Mackinac Bridge — will be recorded in a series of original oil paintings by an internationally-famous artist under commission from the Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

The artist is Robert Thom of Birmingham, who won wide acclaim for his series of paintings depicting the history of pharmacy and medicine.

Thom, a painting researcher himself, is collaborating in his research with a noted Michigan historian to insure the historical accuracy of his paintings. Serving as historical consultant is Prof. F. Clever Bald, director of the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan and author of "Michigan in Four Centuries," "To Display Paintings"

William M. Day, Michigan Bell president, said the company plans to display the paintings throughout the state at schools, libraries, museums, art exhibitions and public ceremonies.

"We believe this series of paintings will serve as an important educational contribution to the state," Day said. "We believe it is something that is wanted and needed, and we think it will be of lasting value to all of Michigan."

Significant events out of Michigan's past and present will be portrayed by Thom. Each canvas will be accompanied by a text written by Dr. Bald.

First About Mastodons

The first canvas in the series will recall the era of some 11,000 years ago of mastodons and glaciers in Michigan. Other canvasses will trace Michigan's history through the era of the Indian, fur traders, massacres, logging, mining, and automobile manufacturing.

Lewis Beeson, executive secretary of the Michigan Historical Commission, has hailed the project as one long needed to portray the eventful history of Michigan for young and old alike.

"Only through the efforts of a diligent historian and the medium of a talented artist can people actually see the growth of a great state and its achievements evolving from a period long before the camera was invented," Beeson said.

Detailed research for the project has been under way by both Thom and Dr. Bald since early in 1963.

Second Floor Going Up For New High School

Construction work on the second floor of the new Marquette Senior High School has been making much headway during the Indian Summer weather this month, as this photo of a wall on the second floor shows. First floor will house the general administrative office and health and guidance department offices. The second floor will be for the mathematics and social studies rooms. Caspian Construction Co. of Caspian has the general contract for the high school project, which was started last spring and which will be completed next summer, in time for the fall term.—(Joe Sullivan photo).

State Police Ticket Pair In Accidents

Four automobiles were damaged and two motorists were given tickets, but no one was injured, in a pair of traffic mishaps reported this morning by state police.

At 5:30 yesterday afternoon a car being driven west on the base road by Delbert Ringwalski, 26, of 529 Oak St., smashed into the rear end of a vehicle operated by Larry Wittley, 20, K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, at the base's main gate, in Sands Township.

State police said the accident occurred as Wittley was stopped, waiting for traffic to clear before attempting a right turn.

Speed Law Violation
Extensive damage occurred to the rear end of Wittley's car, a 1957 coach, which had to be removed from the scene by a wrecker. The front end of Ringwalski's 1958 small foreign model was damaged and the car was driven from the scene.

Ringwalski was ticketed by state police for a speed law violation.

An automobile being driven east on U.S. 41 by Gillman Anderson, 47, Box 513, Marquette, struck the rear end of a car operated by Oscar Niemi, 66, Box 1346, Marquette, after Niemi turned right onto U.S. 41 from County Road 502, in Negaunee Township.

No License

The wreck occurred at 9 last night and resulted in the rear end of Niemi's 1959 sedan and the front end of Anderson's 1955 coupe being damaged. Anderson's car was towed from the scene by a wrecker.

State police ticketed Anderson for not having an operator's license.

Hearing In Theft Case Slated Here

A preliminary examination will be held in municipal court on Thursday, Oct. 17 for Haskel Lyttle, 23, Route 1, Champion, on a charge of attempted larceny.

Lyttle was arrested by state police Sunday in Michigamme Township. He is charged with attempting to steal a wallet belonging to Arnold A. Rautiola.

He demanded in the preliminary examination at an arraignment yesterday before Municipal Judge Edward H. Dembowski. He appeared in court with his attorney, E. Nickolas Bridges, Negaunee.

Lyttle was committed to the Marquette County Jail in default of $500 bond.

Northern Homecoming

It will be homecoming at Northern Michigan University this weekend, but interest in the big event extends well beyond the campus boundaries. There'll be the big homecoming parade Saturday morning in Marquette, the various alumni reunions and, of course, the football game at Memorial Field between Northern and Central Michigan University. Most of us are looking forward with great delight to one or more of these programs.

Homecoming is a big event for townspeople as well as for university students and alumni. The tang and sparkle of autumn in Marquette wouldn't be the same without the music, the floats, and the color of homecoming.

This prompts us to observe that Marquette wouldn't be the same without Northern. Every year Northern becomes increasingly important to the education, the culture, and the economy of our town.

The university's record enrollment this fall reflects Northern's prestige among college-bound students not only from the Upper Peninsula but from the Lower Peninsula and other states as well. It seems almost miraculous to some that Northern is serving more than 4,300 students through its on-campus and off-campus programs. It is astonishing but true that this year's freshman class of 1,049 students is larger than the total enrollment in 1956. Another indication of Northern's growth is the fact that the Lower Peninsula delegation of 669 students this fall is greater than the total enrollment of 581 only 10 years ago.

We needn't go back further than last weekend to appreciate Northern's role in bringing outstanding musical groups to Marquette. The NORAD band performance this past Saturday night delighted an enthusiastic audience which filled Kaye Auditorium.

In the future we'll have the opportunity to hear baritone Robert Merrill, lecturer Hans Conreid and many other artists and speakers through the auspices of the university.

Northern's contribution to Marquette's economy is prodigious, providing a multi-million dollar infusion into the economic lifeline of this community every year.

As homecoming approaches, we sense a keen appreciation not only for the pleasant experiences arising out of this particular event but for the fortunate fact that Marquette is the home of Northern Michigan University.

As we have done so often in the past, in noting the breathless changes and accomplishments being made at Northern, let us congratulate Dr. Edgar L. Harden, the dynamic president of the university; his faculty, staff and his students, on the excellent achievements made to date by NMU. At the same time we wish them the "best" for this homecoming weekend and for the future, which we believe holds much greatness for the university and the community alike.

Views Of Others

MACKINAC'S EXAMPLE

Mackinac City, a community on the Straits chronicled in history and tourists guides, surveys the rest of us now with renewed self-confidence.

Bypassed by the Mackinac Straits Bridge and benefit of the old state ferry docks which shuttled business through its streets, the city set out to develop other assets. It has done so and prospered.

This pattern of thriving on adversity persists. Five times city voters rejected a school tax increase. The sixth time they recognized the inevitable and adopted it for school betterment.

Mackinac City is not satisfied with just lifting itself with its own bootstraps. It also wants to use its brains — educated ones. — Detroit News.

TIGHTENING THE REINS

President Kennedy, in a letter to House Ways and Means Committee Chairman Mills, writes that any tax reduction must be accompanied by "the exercise of an even-tighter rein on federal expenditures which meet strict criteria of national need."

Whereupon Interior Secretary Udall issues a report revealing some details of a $4 billion water project for five Western states — a plan which critics think holds a considerable content of political water. Estimated cost of the initial phase: $1.9 billion. — Wall Street Journal.

NOT A TIME FOR THE TIMID

The winds of today's world run swifter than a weaver's shuttle. Ninety per cent of all the scientists who ever lived are living today. More mathematics has been created since the beginning of the 20th century than in all the rest of history combined. Ninety per cent of all the drugs being prescribed by physicians today were not even known 10 years ago. Three-fourths of all the people who will work in industry in 1975 will be producing products that have not yet been invented or discovered.

This is not a time for timid minds and timid spirits. — from speech by Vice President Johnson.

The Marquette Post Office stands third among the offices of the Upper Peninsula in point of gross receipts, and does in the course of a year a very comfortable business. The auditor general of the department has just completed his trial balance of the fourth quarter, making available figures on the 12 months ending June 10, 1903, the close of the fiscal year. The gross receipts of the Marquette office for the period were $24,445, and the net proceeds $11,351.

This week has witnessed an active part in the new manual training department, henceforth to be an adjunct of the public school system in Marquette. Some work had previously been done in art in the domestic science branch, but only this week have classes been organized for the manual training proper and for cookery. As yet only the high school pupils are busy in the new building. Twenty-nine boys have enrolled for manual training and 24 girls for domestic science.

Two recruits for the cavalry are of service left Marquette last night. They are Herbert Jackson and Wilbur J. Walsh.

It is said that the Breitung interests are contemplating the reopening of the old Davis and Milwaukee mines, on the crest of the hill back of the Lucy. The Milwaukee lies southeast of the Lucy and slightly on the opposite side of the big hill. It was opened in 1879 and made its last shipment in 1890, getting out 375,451 tons of ore in all. It has been supposed by mining men that it was pretty well worked out. The Davis, otherwise known as the Grand Rapids, was opened in 1887 and closed in 1895. It shipped 110,736 tons.

Let Down The Drawbridge

JERRY DOYLE, PHILADELPHIA DAILY NEWS

The National Whirligig News Behind The News

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — Taxpayers have a right to raise a hullabaloo over the House Vote increasing to a record $2,400-a-year the stationary allowance for each of its 435 members.

After all, this is a nice bit of graft, for Congressmen. The House stationery store sells at wholesale prices or below, and if the Congressman doesn't draw his full allowance in goods he may take the balance in cash. Most House members, however, find the stationery store a fine place to buy such Christmas items as pen sets, leather goods and greetings cards.

Slows Down Work
But, hell's bells, this is a trifle even if it does cost the citizenry a little over $1 million. It is not Congress' preoccupation with such trivia that has prevented it from acting on a tax cut bill first suggested by President Kennedy in August 1962, but its politically inspired determination to take care of the home folks. In a sense, it is your fault, Jack, if Congress doesn't have time to attend to its really important chores.

Members of the House and Senate rarely spend more than the barest minimum of time on the floor or in committee hearings. Mostly they are hustling around town putting pressure on Cabinet members and agency officials to get a creek dredged or a new defense plant for their constituents back in Yankton, S. D. or Union City, N. J. Chambers of commerce across the land constantly beat their gums about economy, but while they are yacking they are dispatching telegrams and letters to the Congressmen demanding new federally-financed projects for their own righteous communities.

A Highwayman
One member of Congress, who naturally demands anonymity lest he be retired to private life, reported the other day he spent five out of seven working days during the preceding week trying to nail down extra federal money for a highway program in his state. "If I don't get that money" he said, "I'm going to be in real trouble in '64."

Incidentally, the $41 billion federal program pays 90 per cent of the construction cost of those highways, so coveted by folks who think Uncle Sam is spending too much money.

Edwin P. Neilan, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, properly has inveighed against what he calls the system of buying votes in Congress. This is not only immoral, it is time-wasting—which may be more grievous in these times. When a Congressman is not besieged with demands for a new veterans' hospital in his state, he spends his time making sure that industry back home gets its share of the nation's defense spending. All over the land, communities would go bankrupt without this Federal pork barrel, and yet the air is filled with cries to slash the military budget.

Too Many Errands
Meanwhile, for the men who sincerely want to get the big jobs done, Congress is a mess of frustrations. Civil rights and tax cut legislation are still in the pipeline and there is no certainty either will be acted upon this year. Less than half of the money to operate the government in the fiscal year which began last July 1 has been voted. New legislation such as that for medical aid to the aged hasn't a chance.

Congress, of course, is well supplied with blatherskites and exhibitionist windbags. Some of them haven't done a hand's turn of work since they arrived in Washington a decade or more ago. But the rest of our legislators are decent, honorable men who are too busy doing errands for Main St. to run the Republic.

Jumping To Conclusions

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — Jumping to conclusions — Plump widows have the best chance of landing another husband — because their suitors, who usually are middle-aged, figure they are good cooks.

It's a good bet that a man who habitually wears only pin-striped suits is a con man, a junior diplomat, or suffers from a superiority complex.

Many a woman surprised by the gift of a new fur coat from her husband would be even more surprised if she knew the real reason he bought it for her.

Most Suspicious
The most suspicious people in the world are authors, bankers and drug store cashiers.

If you need taxi money home, the easiest person to borrow it from is a waitress over 40.

God must have loved teenagers, because he made so many of them.

Men who carry their wallets in their inside coat pocket rarely reach first for the restaurant tab, and usually have a few close friends.

If you see a man light up a cigar in his own home, you don't have to ask who's the real boss in that household.

Drugs that come in fancy two-tone capsules are all right for the younger generation, but older people seem to get more benefit from a medicine if it tastes bitter and is poured into a tablespoon from a dull brown bottle.

Nurses have fatter legs than stenographers, but they don't get half as many runs in their stockings.

Bartenders who insist on telling their troubles to their customers get few tips.

Before marriage a girl tells a man his bow ties make him look boyish. After marriage she informs him they make him look silly.

Hardest Word
Even if a wife doesn't open her husband's letters, she usually holds them up to the light to examine them before handing them to him.

The hardest word for most people to spell accurately is "accommodate."

A guest usually winds up hungry in a home in which both the wife and husband have martinis together before dinner.

Nobody ever changed his church as the result of a religious discussion at a cocktail party.

Little Known About How Birds Learn To Sing

ANN ARBOR — Ever wonder how birds "learn to sing?" The first song is generally an indefinite warble, and it may be given by nestlings, according to Andrew J. Berger, University of Michigan associate professor of ornithology and noted field ornithologist.

"I first heard one of my hand-raised male Kirtland's warblers sing when it was about 38 days old," says Berger, who has his own private aviary and the adjoining his home. "It gave a very low, hoarse warble, resembling somewhat the song of the purple finch."

Actually, little is known about song learning in North American birds, says Berger.

"Careful experiments with European birds suggest that the songs and call notes of some species are entirely inherited while the songs of others are almost wholly learned from older birds (as skylark and linnet)."

"Among still other species the young bird's song apparently is 'innate' (as seems to be case with the European robin, blackbird and chaffinch)."

Berger notes that adult birds may also imitate the songs or calls of other birds. "These birds could, of course, make just as much noise by singing their own songs, so we really have no explanation for this kind of birds songs," he admits.

"Best known mimics among American birds are the mockingbird and the starling. The 'peewee' and 'bobwhite' calls of the starling often fool beginning students," says Berger.

"Parrots, magpies, crows and ravens apparently mimic only in captivity."

Berger's comments are from his book, "Bird Study," published by John Wiley and Sons.

Side Glances

"It's the first meal I ever cooked and you aren't even wearing your dinner jacket!"

U.S. Policies Shifting

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — If you're a little fuzzy on just what U. S. foreign and domestic policies are at the moment, don't let it worry you and wait a minute.

All programs are subject to change without notice and you may have to unlearn everything new you learn, substituting for it something newer.

This has happened half a dozen times on big issues in the last fortnight. As Al Smith said, "Let's look at the record":

Man To Moon Change
1. As of mid-September, you could write it in boxcar letters that the United States was committed to getting a man on the moon before the Russians and never mind the cost.

Then the President spoke at the United Nations and surprised everyone in his administration by saying that the United States and Russia should co-operate in space to save money.

2. Until recently, it was American policy to have no trade with Communist countries — except Yugoslavia and Poland — if it would do them any good. But today deals are cooking to sell surplus wheat not only to Russia but also to the satellites and maybe even Red China. Even Congress seems to be going along on this.

3. Since the test ban treaty was signed, there has been a move on in Washington to cut down U. S. forces in Europe because Russia was being so friendly they wouldn't be needed.

West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder made a hurry-up visit to Washington, however, and then it was announced in Bonn that the U. S. would not cut European forces.

4. All summer long, the Kennedy administration has insisted it wanted both a tax cut bill and a civil rights bill enacted this year. But after the last White House conference with congressional leaders, they announced that civil rights should come first and that if Congress couldn't pass a tax cut this year, it would have a running start on next year. A few hours later this was changed to read that the administration still wanted both this year.

5. Ever since the 1960 campaign, Kennedy has maintained that he was opposed to the AFL-CIO plan for a 30-hour work week to increase employment.

Resting at Palm Springs after a strenuous, overtime non-political work week campaigning for re-election, the President announced, "We're going to find the work week reduced."

Foreign Aid Change
6. On foreign aid, the policy of cracking down on friendly countries that become unfriendly is now so confused you can't make heads or tails of it. Take these cases:

- Indonesia gets in a row with Britain and the new Federation of Malaysia. The U. S. cuts off further aid to Indonesia. This fits the pattern of announced policy.
- When President Ngo Dinh Diem of Viet Nam — or more specifically his brother and sister-in-law — began to upset U. S. policies in Southeast Asia and make dirty cracks about American second lieutenants, congressmen demanded that aid be suspended. But it wasn't.
- When Dominican Republic generals gave a heave-ho to Juan Bosch — the first democratically elected president to be supported by the U. S. since 1924 — aid was promptly cut off and American ambassador John Bartlo Martin was called home.

Built-In 2-Way Stretch
But now the Dominican military junta has issued a strong statement in support of U. S. opposition to Fidel Castro's Cuba. So the betting is about even that the new provisional government will soon be back on the dole, if a proposed Senate investigation doesn't stop it.

These are only a few of many examples.

The whole situation adds up to irrevocable, iron-clad policy with a built-in, two-way stretch to give it flexibility.

South Has Capitol Hill

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON — Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., complaining the other day about the power enjoyed by Southern members of Congress, declared:

"The sober truth is that while Grant might have taken Richmond, the South has taken Capitol Hill."

Douglas, who wants new laws on civil rights, was somewhat in the position of a football coach talking about how tough the opposition is.

Still as can be demonstrated mathematically, the South does have a strong position at the Capitol. This is a factor contributing to new talk of diluting the role of seniority in reaching the top in Congress.

As things now stand, seniority is the basic factor in getting good committee assignments and chairmanships.

Southerners hold more than their geographical share because so many of them have been in Congress for so long, sometimes sympathetic and sometimes opposed to national administration purposes.

'Loyal' House Demos
The new talk is circulating among a group of self-styled "loyal" House Democrats who say they would not abandon seniority. But they would strike at the seniority of those members who were found to be actively disloyal to the party in presidential elections.

They would have the party caucus, which makes committee assignments in the House, pass over those representatives who support the opposition in 1964.

Those named could be removed from committees on which they have long seniority or could be denied further promotion on the committees. This would lessen their chances of becoming chairmen.

Little Chance of Change
An appraisal of what changes this movement has will have to await the 1964 presidential campaign, to see who among the Democratic members might bolt the national ticket. Some Southerners have bolted in the past, and some are restive about 1964.

But the chances of Congress tinkering very much with the claims of security are not all strong.

This Is True Even Though Arguments Can Be Made That The System Gives Power To Men Who Are Not Necessarily Qualified.
The question that up to now has countered attempts to junk the system is this: What better way is there to choose the chairmen?

Chairmen could be appointed by the speaker of the House and the Senate majority leader. But 50 years ago Speaker Joseph Cannon had that power and abused it so that the House took it away from him.

Elect Chairmen?
Couldn't the committeemen themselves elect the chairman? This idea was advanced during the time that Sen. Alben W. Barkley, D-Ky., was majority leader. He said, from the background of a lifetime of political experience, that it just would not work.

He predicted: "Jealousies, ambitions and all the frailties of human nature would crop out in the electioneering methods of men who wanted to be chairmen of committees."

Isn't dead but he appreciated their prayers nonetheless.
Prayers were offered after a Nashville member reported hearing a broadcast last June that Hope had died. The broadcast reported the death of Skippy Ennis, a friend of Hope.

Mrs. J. M. Patten Jr. of Chattanooga, state president of the church organization wrote Hope about the mix-up. The comedian sent back an autographed picture. Across it was scrawled: "Thanks for the memory."

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am one waitress who always waits on teenagers right away because I want to get rid of them. They are surly, and all they leave behind is a messy table.

DEAR ABBY: Put me down as a waitress who enjoys waiting on teenagers. I find that, like any other minority group, they behave extra nice because they do not want to reflect unfavorably on the group they represent. Give me teenagers any time!

DEAR ABBY: My partner and I own a small diner near a high school. We had so much trouble with the kids stealing things and breaking up the place that we put a sign in our window "WE DO NOT SOLICIT TEEN-AGE BUSINESS." A committee of parents came in and told us we were breaking the law to discriminate that way. We took down the sign and invited a few of the committee to come in and watch through the kitchen door, which had a glass window in it. After they saw what went on they told us to go ahead and put the sign back up.

DEAR ABBY: For my part I hope I never have to wait on the teenage crowd again. For one year I waited on tables where a lot of teenagers hung out and I had enough of them, thank you. They order a cup of coffee and expect you to keep it filled for an hour. They hold on to one booth no matter how many people are waiting to sit down. And when they leave, their table and the floor around it are a disgrace. Dozens of paper napkins, cigarette butts and spilled sugar. And they leave only an empty bottle of ketchup on the table.

DEAR ABBY: I don't mind having one or even two teenagers in my drug store. But when three or more come in together, they spell trouble, and I never take my eye off them until they are out the door.

DEAR ABBY: I run a hamburger joint and I couldn't stay in business without kids. I love them. There are good and bad, but I found out if you treat them right they will treat you right, too. So what if they do make a little noise? I'd rather have them in here yelling and screaming than to have some old pussies who open their mouths only to complain about something. Kids don't gripe if the service is a little slow. And I've never known a teenager to send anything back to the kitchen.

DEAR ABBY: It is strange that when teenagers come into my place during the daytime, dressed in Bermudas and jeans, they act rowdy and eat like pigs! But these same teenagers will come in at night, dressed in suits and pretty dresses, and they behave like ladies and gentlemen. I like to serve them in the evenings, but not during the day!

DEAR ABBY: I don't mind having one or even two teenagers in my drug store. But when three or more come in together, they spell trouble, and I never take my eye off them until they are out the door.

Legion Auxiliary Plans Rummage Sale Oct. 22

Plans for a rummage sale to be held on Oct. 22 were formulated at a meeting Tuesday night of the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 44.

A 5:30 smorgasbord will be served at the 12th district meeting in Baraga on Oct. 26 for all unit members.

Mid-November was the time set for members to turn in articles for the gift shop in the Iron Mountain Veteran's Hospital. The gift shop will be open on Dec. 11 and 12.

Mrs. Lucille Lasich and Mrs. Bernice Hanson, co-chairmen, gave a membership report and Mrs. Margaret Evon was appointed Americanism chairman.

Chairmen of the refreshment committee at the society hour which followed the meeting, were Mrs. Josephine Robertson and Mrs. Ellen Francis.

Sorority Plans Dessert Card Party Tuesday

Xi Beta Psi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi International Sorority is sponsoring a dessert card party at the Federated Women's Club Tuesday at 8 p.m.

A variety of games will be played. Prizes will be awarded to the winners. Proceeds from this card party will be used to provide for the annual Christmas party for underprivileged children. Tickets are available through Mrs. Jere B. Stafford at CA 5-0865.

Fur Doctor Does Unrque Refurbishing

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK — A man in Texas shot 28 bobcats, skinned and tanned them, and put them in the mail to Hy Fisherman here to be made into a jacket for his wife.

A woman sent a fox pelt her husband trapped to be fashioned into a collar. A gentleman from Bolivia shipped a vicuna rug to the same address with instructions to model it into a coat.

A mangy raccoon coat, reminiscent of the Roaring Twenties, a worn Alaskan parka, a withered, matted 30-year-old fitch, a brassy 65-year-old mink with the elbow out, even a luxurious recent-vintage sable belonging to a practical-minded movie star—all were a part of the fur mountain dumped by the mailman into the Seventh Avenue showroom.

A new mountain grows there every day, musky and scented with mothballs, tagged with tickets from every area of the earth, along with letters spelling out human drama.

A woman wondered if the enclosed man's horse hair coat could be restyled. It had been worn by her father. The pelts were from a beloved horse he had ridden as a boy and which had finally died of old age. The coat could be.

A physician shipped a man's mink-lined overcoat, in storage for the past 25 years. His daughter would be of age soon, he said. Could the mink lining be salvaged in any way to be styled into a coat that could be a gift to her? Yes it could.

Hairy And Pretty
As far as Hy Fishman, recipient of some of the bulkiest, most valuable and strangest postal deliveries in this city, is concerned there is nothing hairy which is not potentially beautiful and usable again.

Although the fifth generation furrier has a unique, fantastic mail order pelt refurbishing business, Fishman thinks of himself as a fur doctor who never loses a "patient," no matter how aged, scarred or broken.

Old furs never really die, he says. They are buried away in trunks, or given to charity organizations (who in turn repair and recover some of their worth) or they are foolishly tossed into waste barrels.

Proof of the longevity of the animals' Godgiven pelts are the workrooms where men add oils, dyes and pelt treatments unknown a quarter of a century ago, reducing the weight of the garments to half or more. There men with dye dipped feathers patiently scan and rescanned the furs to modern hues. There men match and recut pelts, or sheared them, making soft, woolly fur, for example, out of porcupine-like raccoon.

Two For One
The before mentioned movie star's sable, as an instance, was already on its way to becoming two entirely different looking parts of the glamorous woman's wardrobe—a three quarter coat, horizontally pelted, and nearly black; and "a bolero jacket, a lighter brown, please."

Boxed in the shipping room, after a three-week rejuvenation treatment at one of Hy Fishman's four fur hospitals, the skins are so changed that it is doubtful whether the original owners recognize them again. Needless to say, since they obviously get the best of the bargain, they don't question ownership.

Fishman believes he is the biggest fur doctor in the world, offering his treatments by mail to the most remote corners. Within a few short years of working through the postoffice facilities his fame has spread burgeoning requests for his "design-your-own" fur catalog from everywhere. This contains careful instructions for a c e r u a t e measurements, and detailed descriptions and pictures regarding style specifics, such as a pointed Johnny collar, a fully rolled shawl or a cocktail cuff on a coat sleeve.

The lucky lady with an old coat in the attic, seven tigers from the last safari, or simply an old stole or coat which has become too old fashioned to face friends with, can simply check the catalog styles for the different kinds of sleeves, backs, closings, collars.

The dapper, mustached gentleman estimates the practicality of design, additional new pelts needed, repair costs, etc., and waits for the final OKay from Ethiopia, Africa, Bolivia, Summer Springs, Indiana, or whatever before proceeding with the prescribed cure.

Cats In The Pack
Up to now, the fur doctor has had a run on old leopard coats, suddenly appreciated as valuable since Mrs. John F. Kennedy bought one. He has been inundated with raccoons. And minks are always with him.

However, he is currently bracing himself for the new fur problem. Last season American designers advocated fur, not only as trimming for coats and suits, but as sweaters and even dresses. Within weeks the French capitol of style has confirmed this trend.

Now will Americans be shipping Fishman their last year's ermines, already out of style as mere warmth-giving coats,

Clothing Workshop Held In Marquette

Attending the 4-H clothing workshop at Northern Michigan University are from left, Margaret Jacobson, home economics program leader, Michigan State University; Jean Schobel, clothing specialist, MSU; Mrs. Hannah Salminen, Skandia; Mrs. Creighton Hill, Marquette, and Mrs. Lillian Johnson, Chocolay Township. Helping the girls in planning their year's projects so that they have better learning experience in making garments suited to them, and putting time and money for materials to good use, were points stressed at the workshop. The girls and the leaders made evaluations of their work and accomplishments of the year. — (Mining Journal photo.)

NMU Student Wives View Fashion Show

Officers of the Northern Michigan University Wives Club, elected in May for the 1963-64 year, are Mrs. Tom Bullock, president; Mrs. Ken Parlot, vice president; Mrs. William Bond, treasurer, and Mrs. Allen Saunders, secretary.

The wives held their annual newcomers tea at 7:30 last night in the Vista Rooms of the Student Center at NMU.

A fashion show was presented at the meeting which featured clothing from a Marquette shop which opened recently.

The next Student Wives meeting will be held Nov. 13 at 7:30 in the Union National Bank Lounge. A hair styling show is planned for that evening.

Buying At Right Time Lowers Freezer Cost

By MRS. INGRID BARTELLI
Consumer Marketing Information Agent, Michigan State University

To own a home freezer and to provide the current to keep it running costs money.

Depreciation on your investment and maintaining a zero temperature are about constant whether your freezer is full or empty. So the logical deduction is to spread this cost. Use your freezer. Keep it full with a rapid turnover. The estimated cost for taking care of frozen food in a period of a year will range from 11 cents a pound if you handle 900 pounds of food to 25 cents a pound if you handle only 360 pounds of food.

In spite of what it costs to own and operate a freezer, it is possible to save money.

Buy At Right Time
Raising your own fruits and vegetables helps keep costs down. Buying at the right time is another key to keeping costs down.

The time to buy is usually during peak of season when quality is best and the supply is the greatest; this is usually accomplished by lower cost.

First, you must decide whether or not you're going to save room for venison. The amount of space you have will determine whether you buy meat by a carcass, a half or quarter, or by the retail cut.

Consider What Family Eats
In addition to the room available you must consider what your family will eat. If you buy a carcass or a part of one, remember you will get all the parts of that carcass — kidney, soup bones, brisket, etc., along with the steaks, roasts and hamburger. Most folks prefer to fill their freezers by taking advantage of retail specials on the

Tips Offered On Preparation Of Swiss Steak

With the coming of cooler weather and your desire to prepare braised meat dishes once again, Swiss steak naturally comes into focus. This is one of the most well known ways of serving less-tender beef steak.

Reba Staggs, meat cookery authority, offers a few pointers as a review on the preparation of excellent swiss steak. Usually economical beef round steak is chosen, but arm or blade steak could also be used. The meat is pounded with a meat hammer or the edge of a sturdy pie plate to help break down connective tissue and shorten cooking time. The beef should be cooked very slowly until tender in a tightly covered utensil.

This particular recipe for individual swiss steak calls for the usual tomatoes and onions, as well as celery and thyme for variety.

Individual Swiss Steaks
1 beef round steak, cut 3/4 inch thick
1/2 cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1/2 teaspoon thyme
1 medium onion, sliced
1/2 cup sliced celery
1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
Cut steak into four to six pieces. Combine flour, salt and pepper. Pound seasoned flour into steak. Brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add thyme, onion, celery and tomatoes. Cover tightly and cook slowly 1 1/2 to two hours or until meat is tender. Four to six servings.

to be styled into next season's fur sweaters, babushkas, skirts, and princess dresses? The fur doctor is not sure but he is ready and waiting.
