Soviets Back Down; Let Convoy Pass

BERLIN (AP)—A U.S. Army convoy held up by the Russians in East Germany for more than two days finally rolled into West Berlin today.

The Army said the troops were cleared through Babelsberg checkpoint "in accordance with established procedures."

That meant the Americans had won their latest battle with the Russians over the question of whether troops in small convoys have to dismount to be counted by Soviet guards when passing through Communist Germany from the West to isolated Berlin.

Unnecessary

The Western Allies insist dismounting is unnecessary in small convoys.

The Russians opened the way after the United States protested to the Soviet Union that the action was "entirely unwarranted."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk delivered one protest to the Soviet ambassador in Washington, Anatoly F. Dobrynin. Other protests were made at Soviet headquarters at Potsdam and at the Soviet Foreign Ministry in Moscow by U.S. Ambassador Roy D. Kohler.

The U.S. Army announced, "The soldiers did not dismount from their vehicles for a head count by the Soviets."

Second Snag

The convoy of 18 vehicles and 61 men had been delayed since 9 a.m. Thursday in Communist territory by the controversy over the way they should be checked.

First the Russians held the convoy 15 hours at Marienborn, the west end of the 100-mile stretch of autobahn to Berlin. The U.S. officers refused to order their men to dismount.

Eventually the convoy continued on its way. But there was another snag Friday at Babelsberg, the Soviet checkpoint 1 1/2 miles from West Berlin.

Again Soviet control officers demanded the men should dismount. Again the American officers refused.

Infantry Sent

The Soviet blocked the highway with two armored personnel carriers and surrounded the convoy with about 100 combat-ready troops in another 10 armored vehicles.

Friday the Berlin Command sent 144 U.S. infantrymen in 25 vehicles to Babelsberg to stand by the convoy. The second convoy was cleared by the Soviets, but stayed at the checkpoint.

Millionaire's Widow Dead; Native Of U.P.

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Anna Evangelina La Chapelle Clark, widow of William Andrews Clark, multi-millionaire copper-mine owner, died Friday at her home in New York. She was a Michigan native.

Her husband, who died in 1925, was a Democratic senator from Montana from 1901 to 1907. He also had banking and railroad interests and was a patron of the arts.

Mrs. Clark was born in Calumet, Mich., a daughter of Dr. Pierre J.L. Chapelle. After her father's death, she became a ward of the senator, whose first wife had died. They were married in 1901 in France.

Reds Claim Sergeant Has Defected To East

BERLIN (AP) — The official East German news agency ADN claims a U.S. Army sergeant has defected and asked Communist authorities for asylum.

ADN identified the man as Sgt. Conrad Yumang from the U.S. Army's 5th General Hospital at Stuttgart.

Tribesmen Retreating In Algeria

ALGIERS (AP)—Rebel Berber tribesmen retreated deeper into the Kabylie Mountains today before superior government forces, but they vowed to wage a relentless guerrilla war.

The Berbers gave ground in the second day of combat as a 10-day war of insults with President Ahmed Ben Bella's regime gave way to actual shooting Friday.

With medium tanks, bazookas and recoilless canon, the government troops blasted through a Berber roadblock at Ft. National and took Michelet, with a population of 4,000, and two other towns.

All-Out War

Just before the retreat, rebel chieftain Hocine Ait Ahmed told a rally in Michelet that his men would give Ben Bella's army no rest. Draped with machine gun ammunition belts, he called for an all-out war against the government.

Ait Ahmed has vowed to bring down Ben Bella's "one-man rule."

Police Raid Detroit Club; 49 Arrested

MADISON HEIGHTS (AP) — Police raided an alleged gambling spot in this Detroit suburb Friday night, arresting 49 persons—three of whom have been named before a Senate committee as Mafia members.

The raiders broke into the Stern Assembly Club through three doors when they said a guard ignored their demands for entry.

"The biggest operation this side of Las Vegas" is how State Police Racket Squad Capt. Fred Davids described the place.

Police charged 20 men with operating a gaming establishment.

Among them were Eddie Guarella, 45, of St. Clair Shores, and Joseph Brooklier, 50, of Mount Clemens. Tony Randozo, 56, of Detroit, was charged with loitering. The three had been named before the Senate committee as Mafia members.

Guarella was named Thursday at the crime hearing in Washington by Detroit Police Commissioner George Edwards as a "lieutenant" in the Mafia in Detroit. He described the lieutenant as "executive assistants" to Mafia leaders.

Brooklier was named by Edwards as a "section leader," or a member of the lowest ruling echelon in the Mafia hierarchy.

Neutral In WWII

A pro-Nazi administration kept the country neutral until the last days of World War II. Then Juan Peron antagonized the other Latin American nations with his dictatorship.

After Peron was ousted, the regime of President Arturo Frondizi made a vain effort to link Argentina to the neutralist camp outside the hemisphere. He was the first Argentine president to visit Illia.

Argentina has been under a caretaker government since March 1962, when the military, in ousting Frondizi, threw the country into confusion. Two picket civil wars broke out in this period.

Most experts feel that in electing Illia, Argentines have given democracy one of the biggest boosts in Latin America since the Alliance for Progress was formulated two years ago.

Democracy At Work In Argentina

WASHINGTON (AP)—The setbacks for democracy in Latin America represented by recent military takeovers in the Dominican Republic and Honduras may be offset to some extent today when Argentina inaugurates a freely elected government.

One of the wealthiest nations in Latin America, Argentina is regarded by many as potentially the most influential Latin American country.

The president of the council of the Organization of American States, Gonzalo Facio of Costa Rica, said this week just before leaving for Buenos Aires to attend the inauguration of Argentine president-elect Arturo Umberto Illia:

'Filled With Hope

"We are filled with the hope at the idea of having Argentina as leader of a democratic movement in Latin America."

Latin American countries have looked up to Argentina because of its advanced status. Richly endowed by nature, it is underpopulated with a racially homogenous people, predominantly of Spanish and Italian descent.

Literacy is exceptionally high; the skill of Argentine workmen ranks with the best of any industrial nation; the climate, except in the cold south, is temperate.

But Argentina's influence has been practically absent from inter-American political life for more than two decades.

A pro-Nazi administration kept the country neutral until the last days of World War II. Then Juan Peron antagonized the other Latin American nations with his dictatorship.

Mrs. Nhu Says She's Powerful!

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu says she is the official leader of more than half the population of South Viet Nam — namely, the women.

"I am officially the leader, up to now unchallenged, of . . . the women," she told a group of students Friday at Fordham University.

Very Strong

Mrs. Nhu, whose brother-in-law is president of her country, has organized a 1.2-million-member civilian army of women welfare workers and an auxiliary army of women military officers.

Of the women she leads, Mrs. Nhu said:

"We are the deciding factors of victory. They have to live on their side to win. My own position is very strong and it is not all because of my brother-in-law (Ngo Dinh Diem)."

Officer Says Canada Aids U.S. Bookies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Inspector John J. O'Neil of the Detroit police testified "all you need is a radio and a clock" to go into the illegal handbook betting business.

The radio, he said, can pick up broadcasts from Canada giving all the information needed for such a business, and the clock will show when to stop taking bets — at the hour the race starts.

No Specific Stations

He named no specific Canadian stations. He told Senate crime investigators such broadcasts are legal in Canada. Testimony in previous Congressional hearings on gambling has discussed the Canadian broadcast of U.S. races.

In the past, O'Neil told the Senate Investigations Subcommittee, gamblers had to maintain costly police-harried telephone services to learn which horses were running, the jockeys who would ride, starting time of races, and other information essential for a bookie.

The investigation flicks its spotlight next on syndicate mobsters basking in Florida's sunshine and gambling rackets.

Next Targets

The subcommittee announced today it would examine the situation in both Tampa and Orlando when the hearings resume Tuesday.

The investigation's hop-skip, four of the nation's underworlds then turns its attention to the crime picture in Buffalo, N.Y., Boston and Providence, R. I.

McNamara, Navy Split On Carrier

WASHINGTON (AP) — "If only economic factors were the basis for deciding the type of ships the Navy will have, then it would not have converted from sail . . ."

With that observation, chairman John O. Pastore steered the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee into the latest Pentagon tempest—a sharp controversy over whether a new aircraft carrier should be nuclear powered.

Lined up on opposite sides are Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth.

Not Compatible

For months the Navy has been arguing for nuclear power for the carrier whose construction has been authorized by Congress. McNamara listened, but finally decided tentatively that spending an extra $180 million to give the ship atomic power would not be compatible with expense-cutting efforts.

Korth apparently made a strong protest to the defense secretary and, it was learned, McNamara told Korth he would leave the issue open until the Navy can bring in more supporting evidence for its argument.

Rarely Changes Mind

But the extra time doesn't necessarily mean McNamara will change his tentative ruling. He rarely changes his mind after making what he considers definite decisions.

Pastore's committee may give the Navy a hand in the argument, however.

Pastore, D-R.I., announced Friday the group will hold hearings on the issue and he said bluntly in a statement:

Far Superior

"Testimony received by the joint committee in the past and in hearings held aboard the nuclear carrier USS Enterprise on March 13, 1962, indicate that the military performance of a nuclear carrier is far superior to the conventional ships."

"If only economic factors were the basis for deciding the types of ships the Navy will have, then it would not have converted from sail to coal-burning and then from coal-burning to oil."

He said he would announce later the date the hearings to begin.

More At Stake

Many in the Navy feel that more is at stake than one ship. They feel if the plan for nuclear power in this carrier is scuttled, it may throw a cloud over Korth's proposal that all future combat ships over 8,000 tons be powered with nuclear plants.

U.S., Soviets Swap 'Spies'

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Americans held captive in the Soviet Union for a combined total of 25 years were practically speechless when they rediscovered their native land today — appropriately, Columbus Day.

The two, a Roman Catholic Jesuit priest and a young scholar, tried to express their feelings at their release in a two-for-two spy trade between the United States and Russia. But the words stuck in their throats.

The ruddy face of the Rev. Walter M. Ciszek, 58, a Soviet captive for 23 years, crinkled into a smile when newsmen greeted him at Idlewild Airport and called him "Father."

"The last time I was called that was in 1941," he said.

Interpreter

Father Ciszek spoke at first through an interpreter in Polish. But suddenly he began speaking English again, a language he used little during his confinement.

The student, Marvin W. Makinen, 24, of Ashburnham, Mass., was reticent for the most part. To most queries he answered, "I have no comment on that," or "I'll wait on that question."

"How do you feel, Marvin?" he was asked.

"I'm okay," he said. Asked how he was treated during his two years in captivity, Makinen asked that the question be repeated and then answered, "No comment."

'No Discussion'

Father Ciszek said there would be "no discussion" on the subject of whether he had said Mass in Russia.

Was he still authorized to say Mass, newsmen pressed.

"Of course," interrupted his interpreter, the Rev. Edward McCawley. "Once a priest, always a priest."

Father Ciszek said he was actually behind bars only five of his 23 years in captivity. He said he worked in Siberia as an auto mechanic and that he had had very friendly relations with the Russian people.

Newsmen asked if there was any sign of religious freedom in the Soviet Union.

"There was religious freedom, weighing each word, "in churches allowed by the state."

He said he lost track of all international developments during his confinement.

"I want to rest awhile," the priest said when asked his plans now. "I am very tired."

At Idlewild Airport the two Russians, Ivan D. Egorov, 44, and his wife, Aleksandra, 39, departed by plane for Moscow via Copenhagen.

The person-for-person exchange was announced Friday afternoon when charges against the Soviet couple were dismissed in Brooklyn federal court.

Legally Dead

Father Ciszek was arrested by Soviet authorities 23 years ago on the Polish border and was sentenced to a 25-year prison term as a spy. In 1947, when his father died and the family estate was probated, Father Ciszek was declared legally dead.

Lawmaker Finds Flaws In Tax Plan

LANSING (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee says there are flaws in Gov. George Romney's tax reform program in the provisions to earmark general fund money for school use.

Sen. Clyde Geerlings, R-Holland, opposes Romney's proposal for a state income tax and has introduced his own tax reform plan, built around optional county income taxes.

Estimate

Geerlings estimated the Romney program would require the payment of $165 million per year in general fund money to take care of schools and cities and townships.

Some $93 million would be required for schools through Romney's plan for a 20 per cent cut in school property taxes to be reimbursed by the state, another $50 million from the schools' one-half share of sales taxes on food, and $15 million from the sale tax for local governments.

Little Need For Tax

"It has been the thought of many, many people over a period of years that the worst thing we had in Michigan has been earmarked funds," said Geerlings.

"If this section of the Governor's program is eliminated, there is little need of a state-wide income tax of two per cent, which would bring roughly $216 million."

Tory Likens Labor Win To Disaster

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — Richard Austen Butler claimed today a Labor victory in Britain's next general election will be "an unmitigated national disaster."

The British deputy prime minister, 60, key figure in the dramatic struggle for leadership of the Conservative movement and government, was speaking to a mass rally of party workers.

Lord Home

His chances of succeeding stricken Harold Macmillan as prime minister depended on the reception he wins from the 4,000 Tory delegates listening to him. A powerful group has thrust Foreign Secretary Lord Home into the struggle for the succession in an effort to block Butler and Lord Hailsham, the science minister.

In a sweeping survey of Conservative policy and planning, Butler sought to stir his audience with a call to electoral victory:

Pledge

"Let us teach them a lesson," he cried in a reference to Harold Wilson's Socialists. "Let us beat them once again. For a fourth Conservative victory will mean the end for all time of the immature nonsense of socialism."

Turning to foreign affairs, Butler pledged a Conservative government will press its allies "to keep the momentum of negotiation" going with the Russians.

Iron Ore Shipping Total Here Already Exceeds 1962 Figure

At least six more weeks remain in the 1963 shipping season and already more tons of iron ore have been sent out of Marquette than during the entire shipping season last year. Three-quarters of a million more tons of ore have been shipped over Marquette's two railroad ore docks so far this year than during the same period last year, dock agents report.

The shipping pace began its usual fall slow-up during the latter part of September, but there's still plenty of activity ahead for Marquette's railroad industry, which employs around 450 persons.

Last year the shipping season ended Nov. 8 for the Soo Line Railroad Co. and Dec. 4 for the Lake Superior and Ishpeming Railroad Co. and in all, 4,185,685 tons of ore were loaded here.

363 Ships Loaded
So far this year, 4,208,646 tons of ore have been loaded into 363 ships at the two docks. At the end of September last year, 302 carriers had been loaded with 3,441,019 tons of ore at the two docks.

At Marquette's two docks last month, 784,255 tons of ore were dumped into 68 carriers. During the same month of 1962, 53 boats were loaded with 623,446 tons of ore.

So far this year at the Lake Superior and Ishpeming Railroad Co. dock, 267 ships have docked and have been loaded with 3,616,787 tons of ore, Dock Agent Harry K. Nelson said.

Tonnage so far this year over the LS&I dock alone is close to the tonnage shipped over both docks during the 1961 season, which was 3,910,540.

At this time last year, 208 carriers had been loaded with 2,374,670 tons at the LS&I dock. During September, 672,059 tons of ore were dumped into 48 carriers at the LS&I dock. During the same month last year, 39 ships had been loaded with 553,314 tons of ore.

Soo Line Totals

Although the shipping season began late this year at the Soo Line dock, shipments so far this season are ahead of shipments made through this time last year.

So far this year, 96 boats have been loaded with 591,859 tons of ore at the Soo Line dock. At this time last year, 94 boats had been loaded with 566,349 tons of ore at the Soo Line dock.

During September, 20 ships were loaded at the Soo Line dock with 12,196 tons of ore. Last year during the same month, 14 boats took on 70,127 tons of ore.

Ecologists Here Hear Talk By Editor On Acceptance By Public Of Resource Policy

"How can the professional point of view in resource management best be presented for acceptance by the public?" was the subject of an address given by Jean Worth, editor of the Escanaba Daily Press, at the quarterly meeting here yesterday of the Michigan Association of Conservation Ecologists.

The session was held at the University Center of Northern Michigan University.

"Wildlife is a natural part of its environment, as much a part of the forest as the trees. The forest and its animals are inseparable; it provides them with their yearlong needs."

"That it is possible for public policy to insist on a deer management plan that completely neglects the forest and considers only the deer—and only their numbers—tells a story of adult rejection of truths being taught in every school in the land."

The American citizens will decide how well we conserve our natural wealth. They're our policy makers.

Needs Educative Mission
"The scientific community is not serving the nation well when it performs only its technical mission and not its educative one."

"It is ironic that the United States was founded by intellectuals but that throughout most of our political history intellectuals have been for the most part outsiders, servants or scapegoats.

"The American people have always cherished an historical piety for the generation that carried out the Revolution and formed the Constitution, but while the Founding Fathers still were alive the reputation for intellect became a political disadvantage."

"The rule of the patrician elite gave way to a popular democracy. Members of the elite fell to quarreling among themselves and lost their respect for political standards."

Belongs To State
"The proven principles of land management and particularly wildlife management brought over from the Old World were discarded in the new. The wildlife here, unlike there, belongs not to the land owner, but to the state and its control is political, so that the hunter, by his great numbers, prevails over the professional wildlife manager."

"This is a problem not of good will nor selfishness, but of education. The very word 'ecology' is unfamiliar to most people."

Annual Budget Meeting Of County Board Set Monday

Members of the Marquette County Board of Supervisors will hold their annual budget meeting in the courthouse here beginning at 10 Monday morning.

Supervisors ordinarily meet on the third or fourth Wednesday afternoon of each month, but the October session—the budget and tax meetings—is set by statute, for 10 a.m. the second Monday of October, points out County Controller Robert H. DeRoche of Marquette.

At the session, the board will adopt the annual budget and tax levies, following a report of the board's finance and taxation committee.

With Board Chairman Carl W.

Corneliusson of Ishpeming presiding, the supervisors also will elect the board of county canvassers.

The supervisors' budget and executive committee will report on the request for inamiation relative to the water dikes used in connection with the Republic Mine operations.

Reports of the various department heads and county officers also will be presented at the session.

One Person Injured, Two Ticketed In City Mishaps

One person was injured, two motorists were given tickets and six automobiles were involved in three traffic accidents which occurred in Marquette yesterday.

1. The injury resulted from a smashup at 11:55 last night in the 700 block of Champion St.

City police said a car being driven north on Champion St. by Larry P. Layne, 19, Route 1, Box 151, Negaunee, went to the left, colliding headon with an oncoming vehicle operated by Ronald E. Thayer, 21, Route 1, Lakewood.

Layne told city police he was blinded by the headlights of oncoming vehicles.

Layne was taken in the Marquette city ambulance to St. Mary's Hospital, where he was treated for injuries and released. Two stitches were required to close a cut on the back of his head and two stitches were needed to close a cut on his upper lip.

Extensive damage occurred to the front end of Layne's car, a 1953 two-door sedan, which had to be hauled from the scene by a wrecker. The front end of Thayer's automobile, a 1955 four-door sedan, was damaged and the car was driven from the scene under its own power.

2. At 11:55 yesterday morning an automobile being driven north on N. Front St. by Thomas P. Bullock, 22, of 801 Center St., was involved in a collision with a car operated by Lusetta L. Rhoads, 57, Battle Creek.

City police said the mishap occurred when Mrs. Rhoads drove away from a parking place in front of the Northland Hotel in front of Bullock. She said she didn't see him coming.

door sedan, and the left front fender of the Rhoads vehicle, a 1958 four-door sedan, were damaged. Both vehicles were driven from the scene under their own power.

City police issued Mrs. Rhoads a ticket for a right-of-way violation.

3. An automobile being driven north on U.S. 41 south by Alma F. Gilon, 37, K.I. Sawyer Air Force Base, was damaged when she swerved to the right as an oncoming vehicle operated by Chester B. Jurczyszyn, 50, Marquette, came partly across the centerline.

City police said Jurczyszyn, traveling south on U.S. 41, came up behind a motorist who was waiting for oncoming traffic to clear before making a left turn onto S. Lake St., near the Carp River Bridge.

Jurczyszyn applied his brakes, with his 1962 four-door sedan skidding partly over the centerline. The Gilon car went to the right and struck a guard rail.

The right rear fender and bumper of the Gilon car, a 1960 two-door sedan, were damaged and the automobile was driven from the scene under its own power. No damaged resulted to the other car.

Van Dammes Again Win County Potato Growers' Contest

Paul VanDamme, the perennial champion of Marquette County (and the Upper Peninsula) potato growers, once again reigns as spud king for the county. VanDamme won this year's contest by harvesting a crop of potatoes at 701 bushels per acre. Announcement of the award was made at last night's Marquette County Harvest Festival, being held in the National Guard Armory here.

The 701 figure is far below VanDamme's record of 1,038 bushels (in 1951), but this year's county potato crop had to be harvested earlier because of the killing frost which sapped growth 10 days to two weeks before the growing season normally ends. Bahman Winner At the same time, VanDamme's son, Mike, swept the 4-H Club potato growing honors in the festival. Mike won both the premiere grower's contest and the sweepstakes (best) 32-tuber (potato samples) entry in the 4-H division. Harold Bahman of Skandia won the sweepstakes (best) 32-tuber (potato samples) in the adult grows contest. The county winners' samples will be entered in the Upper Peninsula Potato Show here Nov. 1-2.

In the other divisions, a mother-daughter team from Marquette took the top honors. Mrs. Howard Bolduc, 353 Blenhuber Ave., won the baked goods division with her entry of cheese pimento roll and her daughter, Mrs. William Letts, 1715 W. Fair Ave., copped the main dish division with her potato supreme entry.

Prizes are to be awarded to all the top entries in the festival. A large crowd filled the Armory last night for the second big night of the three-day festival, which comes to a climax tonight, as Miss Mary Ellen McGuire of Marquette, winner of the festival queen contest, will preside. (See story and photos on society page.) The outstanding art displays and other exhibits, designed to please persons of all walks of life, were viewed last night by thousands. The complete list of festival event winners will be announced next week.

Reconstruction Project On Bluff St. Finished By City

A rebuilding project on W. Bluff St., between N. Fifth and N. Seventh Sts., was completed yesterday with the laying of blacktop on the street.

Public Works Superintendent Howard L. Coppens said the work reduced the heavy crown on the two-block portion of W. Bluff St. The high crown created drainage problems and caused cars and plows to slide into the curb in the winter, he said. The two blocks are the only city streets to be blacktopped this year.

Judgment Made Here In Civil Suit

A judgment has been entered by Marquette County Circuit Court Judge Bernard H. Davidson of Negaunee, awarding $14,718.46 to Miss Florence E. Murray of Marquette, plaintiff in an auto negligence suit. The judgment was entered against the defendant, Mrs. Edward Ward (the former Diane Boucher) of Marquette.

The suit stems from an accident Aug. 19, 1957, on N. Front St., in which Miss Murray sustained a serious hand injury. Judge Davidson stated in the judgment that the court was satisfied that the accident was caused by the negligent operation of an automobile by Mrs. Ward.

Damages awarded to Miss Murray include medical costs and past and future wage losses. The case was tried before the court, without a jury, during the September term of circuit court. Miss Murray was represented by Attorney George C. Quinnell of Marquette and the defendant was represented by John E. MacDonald of Marquette.

DSS&A Unit Sets Dinner For Oct. 19

Officers of the Veterans Association of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Railroad have completed plans for the group's 22nd annual dinner meeting to be held Saturday, Oct. 19, in St. Peter's Cathedral Hall.

Members of the executive committee assisted officers in arranging for the dinner. The association now has approximately 115 members.

Founded in 1923, the association grew from 78 members to 160 in 1943, when the annual meetings were interrupted by World War II. The organization then became inactive.

In 1962 a committee consisting of Messrs. William F. Armstrong, William E. Fish, George L. O'Neill and Ben J. Pederson was formed to reactivate the association.

Dobson President A dinner meeting was held on May 26, 1962, in the Clifton Hotel, attended by 83 members.

Following are the officers serving for this year: A. C. Dobson, Marquette, president; R. A. Olson, Neenah, Wis., first vice president; Robert Ward, Marquette, second vice president; George D. Winfree, Marquette, secretary-treasurer, and E. N. Olsen, Ishpeming, chaplain.

Members of the executive committee are Armstrong, Fish, O'Neill and Pederson.

Auditors are Wesley E. Peron and Clayton B. Tibor, both of Marquette.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—The Kaw Indians want a chunk of Kansas' capital city. Their tribal council is drafting a formal claim to the federal government to 23 tracts of land on the Kansas River which the Indians contend was never legally surrendered to the United States. ### District MEA Chapter Opens Drive For Tenure Petitions

Members of the Marquette-Alger County District chapter of the Michigan Education Association have begun their campaign to provide a tenure provision for Michigan public school teachers.

By securing 250,000 signatures, the petitions can be placed before the Legislature for its immediate consideration. Both the new and old Michigan constitutions provide for enactment of legislation by the people of the state via initiative powers. Good Practice Encouraged Tenure, as defined by MEA, is the principle of provision for probationary periods and then assures positions as long as the teacher continues to give satisfactory service.

Good administrative practices are thereby encouraged, comprehensive personnel policies are made desirable and adequate protection for both the teacher and the school district are provided. The principle of tenure has been recognized as desirable by most major Michigan colleges and universities for a number of years.

In 24 States Twenty-four states and the District of Columbia presently provide tenure for their public school educators.

"A careful study of tenure in the 59 school systems of Michigan where tenure has been adopted locally has convinced the MEA Board of Directors that this important principle should be applied on a statewide basis so that all educators may enjoy the advantages of this provision. It is another important step in our continuous efforts to upgrade educational programs available for Michigan children," stated Dr. E. Dale Kennedy, MEA executive secretary.

Not Political Issue Tenure is not a political issue; support for it has come from both the Democratic and Republican parties. Gov. Romney recently said: "I believe that teachers who have demonstrated competence should have reasonable assurance of continuity in their positions. An orderly appeal procedure should be available to the teacher who is discharged for unwarranted or arbitrary reasons, such as personal views or activities which may be objectionable to individuals in the community. At the same time, teachers who fail to maintain satisfactory levels of professional performance should not be locked into their positions indefinitely.

"Under tenure provisions, school authorities maintain their right to employ and dismiss their teaching staff; and at the same time, teachers are protected from arbitrary or unreasonable action."

Michigan Secretary of State, James Hare, has also given his support to tenure, saying: "Michigan cannot be proud of its educational image until teachers in every school district have tenure. Educators who have this basic protection can provide improved educational services to the children and adults they teach."

Michigan is unusual in that the school laws have two provisions which make possible a measure of employment stability for teachers—the continuing contract and tenure. The MEA's position is that tenure is the most beneficial to the student, the teacher and the community.

Senate Bill Seeks To Aid U.S. Indians

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed Friday a bill retaining authority for the Secretary of Interior to try to solve the problem caused by fractional ownership of Indian lands.

The measure was passed by voice vote and sent to the house. Sen. Frank Church, D—Idaho, chief sponsor of the bill, said the United States holds in trust for Indians about 41,000 tracts of allotted land, approximately 6 million acres, in which heirs of the original owners were given undivided interests.

Foremost Obstacles He said that requiring all heirs to sign lease or sale papers is one of the foremost obstacles to the American Indian in utilizing his heirship land

Kin Of Noted Indian Chief Dies

EVART (AP)—Jim Pontiac, American Indian who claimed to be a great-great-grandson of the famed Ottawa Chief Pontiac, is dead at a reputed 113 years or thereabouts. Pontiac died Thursday night at his home in this Osceola County town in northcentral Michigan.

Chief Pontiac failed in a plot to seize the Detroit garrison in 1763 in an effort to regain lands ceded to the white man by the Indians, history says.

Great-great-grandson Jim according to newspaper files, was born in a wigwam on the Muskegon River near here about 1850. His Indian name was "Wauwau-sum," meaning "lightning." He went to Carlisle Indian school at Carlisle, Pa., as a young man but never adopted to white men's ways. He hunted and trapped for a living.

A 1929 clipping indicated Jim Pontiac disavowed the way of life of white men, calling them "foolish people in a hurry." Jim married a French-Indian girl named Mary Waubausa

Hire The Handicapped

Mayors from the cities in this area recently joined together in proclaiming this week as "Employ the Physically Handicapped Week." Their action follows proclamations issued earlier by state and federal leaders in using this period to focus nationwide attention on the gains made in obtaining suitable employment for the handicapped. This year, the 19th year of the observance, emphasis is being placed on the proven record of the handicapped workers now on jobs.

Handicapped week was originated by Congress in 1945, when the first full week in October was chosen as the occasion for the observance. Congress took action to recognize the successful efforts on the part of physically handicapped persons in producing the material and goods which were of vital importance in winning World War II. Congress then had become aware of the fact that the contribution of the handicapped in war time should be carried into peace time. It thus asked employers to continue to use disabled workers. The system has worked out very well.

That an employer can hire physically handicapped persons confidently has been borne out in a survey by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. It shows little or no difference between the efficiency, safety and reliability records of handicapped workers and others. (In fact, if anything, the balance was tipped slightly in favor of the handicapped workers.) The survey also showed no significant difference in the quitting rate between handicapped workers and others, about the same wide range of skills and abilities for handicapped workers and others and fewer disabling injuries for disabled workers than for others on similar jobs. The rate of production also is about the same for the two groups.

In this connection, it is reassuring to note that reports from the managers of the four Michigan Employment Security Commission offices in the tri-county area — Frank B. Paitl of Marquette, Jerry DeGabriele of Ishpeming, Clarence Lehman of Munising and Mrs. Agnes Demaray of L'Anse — show that companies in Marquette, Alger and Baraga Counties are cooperating to a high degree in hiring handicapped persons whenever possible.

The area's MESC managers report that the majority of the employers are thinking in terms of hiring handicapped persons for their abilities, rather than worrying about their disabilities. "Employers more and more want to match the worker's skill with the job, and this is important," notes Mr. Paitl.

In Marquette's area alone, the MESC office here reports, around 40 placements of handicapped workers are made annually. This is very high, considering the percentages of handicapped workers to those without impairments. Reports received later by the office indicate the disabled persons placed on jobs locally generally do very well.

Except for the seriously handicapped, very little trouble is encountered in the tri-county area in placing the job applicant in satisfactory positions. This is a healthy trend and one we're sure will be extended as handicapped persons continue to prove by their performances that they are ready, willing and able to do a good job for employers and prove that "It's good business to hire the handicapped," the slogan for "Hire the Handicapped Week."

HERESY

Warning of possible new city taxes next year, New York's Mayor Wagner said: "I must emphasize, and you must be aware, that any major increase in service, wages, salaries or costs must be paid for."

We commend the sentiment, even while acknowledging that the city's budget covers a multitude of fiscal and other sins. Pruning it would obviate the need for any new taxes. Still, such a forthright statement makes you wonder how come His Honor (and almost all non-federal officials throughout the nation) isn't clued in to the sophisticated "new" economics so popular in Washington.

Here are the federal economists making every imaginable effort to convince the country, and perhaps themselves, that increased outlays do not at all have to be paid for. In the circumstances, straight talk from the locals must be particularly gratifying. — Wall Street Journal

Excellent progress is being made with the girls' parochial school for St. Peter's Parish, to be named in honor of Baraga, the first Bishop of the diocese of Sault Ste. Marie and Marquette. Lipsett and Sinclair have the contract for the foundations, and they are about half done. The building will doubtless be ready for the opening of the school year 1904-05. The structure will be one of the best arranged and finest appearing school buildings in the city and one of which the congregation of St. Peter's may well be proud.

—Ishpeming—

The Calumet High School eleven, the flower of the Copper Country teams, went home without the laurels of victory Saturday. They failed to cross Ishpeming's goal line for a single touchdown, but the local boys broke down their defense with apparent ease. They carried the pigskin over the line four times, adding one point for each touchdown by kicking goals. When the game ended the ball was only a few feet from the Calumet goal. Coach Schroeder, of Calumet, in speaking of the game said: "Ishpeming has spirit and ginger, which counts in large measure for her success."

—Negaunee—

The question of municipal aid in the construction of cement walks, which has been discussed intermittently during the past summer, has bobbed up again, prompted this time by a number of new walks that have been laid lately. They have been subjected to a critical inspection and the general verdict has approved the work. Even with the small stimulus provided by the City of Ishpeming, hundreds of yards of walk have been laid there this season and contracts for as much more have been let for next year.

Martin Peterson has returned from a tour of Denmark. He was absent in the old country for over two months.

Although there was an increase of $73,274.59 or 55.8 per cent in the total expenditures for temporary relief, salaries and general expense of the county superintendents of the poor last year, over the preceding year, the average cost for relief per case in the county was $4.28 lower than for the previous year, according to the annual report filed with the county board of supervisors.

Three additional hunters have been employed by the predatory animal control division in the Upper Peninsula, according to the monthly report issued by H. P. Williams, leader.

—Ishpeming—

An epidemic of pre-Halloween pranks, some of which have proven expensive to those upon whom they have been played, has been reported to Nestor Eckloff, Ishpeming marshal. He will instruct night officers to be on the alert for destructive prank players and to bring those responsible into the city jail.

The open season on partridge and prairie chicken will be closed at midnight Thursday. The season was opened Oct. 4. Hunting of rabbits is permitted until Jan. 1 and of ducks until Nov. 30, the season closing at midnight on these days.

—Negaunee—

A concert by the Messiah Lutheran Church Choir, Marquette, will be given in the Negaunee High School auditorium Friday evening, Dec. 1, for the benefit of the milk fund, it was announced today by H. S. Doolittle, superintendent of schools.

The cast for the musical comedy, "Honey-moon Island," to be presented under auspices of John H. Mitchell Post, American Legion, in the Vista Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 18 and 19, was announced today by D. L. Merrell, of the Fine Arts Publishing Co., of Pontiac, who is directing rehearsals daily in the Liberty Theatre.

The National Whirligig News Behind The News

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — It is a premise widely held that Congress will decide whether the law should protect the Negro seeking to dine in a white restaurant, but before the snow flies the Supreme Court may step in and take this decision out of Congress' hands.

The court will get down to business Monday after its ceremonial opening a week earlier followed by a series of private conferences to organize its agenda. And its most important job will be in response to a demand by the NAACP that it rule that the 14th Amendment's provision prohibiting discrimination by states also means the states must enforce equal treatment of all.

If the court so rules, it will make any debate in Congress purely academic, since the Negro's right to be served in privately owned public establishments will become the law of the land.

Two Different Bases
However, if the court upholds its 1883 decision that the 14th Amendment prohibits only discrimination by state action, as against discrimination by private persons, the South will have won the first victory in its battle against the public accommodations section of the civil rights program.

As of now, the public accommodations section is based on both the 14th Amendment and the commerce clause in the constitution regulating businesses in interstate commerce.

Should the court eliminate the 14th Amendment as a basis, civil rights proponents will be forced to concentrate on the complicated commerce clause whose validity in such an argument is questioned even by some liberals.

The court has never ruled on the applicability of the commerce clause to civil rights questions and has not yet been asked to do so. That would come, of course, if Congress passed the public accommodations section under that clause. But first there would be a knock-down-drag-out battle on Capitol Hill.

Property Vs. Human Rights
Opponents of the public accommodations provision have insisted that it is unconstitutional in that it infringes the Constitutional rights of property. In its brief, which calls for reversal of sit-in convictions in Baltimore, Md., and Columbia, S. C., the NAACP demands that the Court assert the supremacy of individual rights over "narrow and technical" property rights.

It is NAACP's premise that "equal protection under the law" requires the states to protect those who claim equality, whereas at present the states have "preferred the discriminatory" substantial property claim." The brief points out that the states have violated this thesis by using their judicial machinery to convict demonstrators and by giving "substantial support" to the custom of segregation.

More Headlines
Last spring the court upset other sit-in convictions either because of the existence of segregation laws or because public policies encouraged and enforced discrimination. But no such grounds are cited in the new cases; the NAACP does not ask the Court to bar discrimination by private citizens but only to order the states to step in and disallow it.

Judged on its recent rulings, the so-called "Warren Court" is most likely to reverse its 1883 decision and rule for the NAACP. It could, of course, refuse to review the convictions on technical grounds, which would leave matters pretty much as they stand, but this is a real long shot bet. In this case, it will be the Supreme Court making headlines again. (Bell-McClure Syndicate)

Side Glances

"Mind if I watch? If I can't say something nice I won't say anything!"

Remember when it was being predicted that man soon would be able to live 150 to 200 years? Many scientists today doubt this is a possibility in the foreseeable future, but think that better medicine and hygiene will enable more of us to live to be 80.

Small fry: Comedienne Marlon Powers tells about the little girl who prayed, "Please, God, make three times two equal seven — 'cause that's what I wrote on my exam paper in school."

White Plague
White plague: Many people erroneously believe miracle drugs have solved the problem of tuberculosis, a scourge through the centuries. Actually, it is still one of the most widespread human ills, afflicting some 50 million people throughout the world, and killing 10,000 yearly in the United States alone.

Patience test: Researchers have found that most people don't mind waiting 30 seconds for an elevator, but as the interval approaches a minute they begin to fuss and fume.

It was Arthur Brisbane who observed, "It's a good thing to know how to satisfy your own conscience and make the cash register ring also."

After School
There is a bright ray of hope in the midst of all the frustrations and confusions that beset our educational system in the city's inner core.

At three schools, voluntary stay after school study centers have been instituted, with Marquette University students in charge and helping young pupils with the homework which they find it difficult or impossible to do in their crowded homes.

On Monday, 69 pupils stayed after school of their own free will. More such study centers are planned in other schools.

The need for this fine experiment was summed up by 14 year old Joe Hughes of Lincoln High School, who wants to become an architect. He said: "It's easier to study here. At home there's a lot of noise."

Erosion, Slow But Sure

By JOSEPH ALSOP

TAIPEI, Formosa — This is not as good a vantage point for the study of Communist China as Hong Kong, but there is one Communist problem that stands out in stark relief from the Taipei angle of vision. It may prove the central problem at that.

In brief, the Soviets modernized the huge Chinese Communist armed forces during the Korean War. But although the big bill that Moscow then presented to Peking has not yet been paid in full, Mao Tse-tung's army, navy, and air force are already decaying towards their pre-Korean status of an immense militia possessing only a few advanced weapons.

At the time of the Korean truce, for instance, the Chinese Communist air force was one of the world's strongest, equipped with close to 4,000 aircraft of the latest models of that period. Obsolete Models

Today, however, the same air force has not received a new plane or even any serious shipment of spare parts from Russia since 1959. Cannibalization and attrition have therefore reduced it by about one-third, to approximately 2,700 semi-operational aircraft, all of obsolete or obsolescent models.

Semi-operational is probably an optimistic description of the Chinese Communist MIG-17's, aging Ilyushins, and the rest. The planes themselves get very little time in the air, which always leads to deterioration. The pilots get even less flying time—hardly more than five hours per month—which has surely led to loss of proficiency.

In short, the same factors that caused the humiliatingly bad performance of the Chinese Communist air units in the 1958 Formosa crisis have been operating ever since with increasing power. And unless training can be intensified soon, and unless replacement aircraft or at least spare parts are soon forthcoming, the decay of the Chinese Communist air force must quickly enter an accelerating phase.

The condition of the army is more difficult to gauge, since there is clearly a very wide spread between the average army units and the crack outfits, like those on the Indian frontier. Yet the army confronts essentially the same problem as the air force. Its heavier and more advanced weapons are not locally replaceable, and no replacements have come from Russia for four long years. Even army trucks are being cannibalized, since Chinese output of transport vehicles has all but stopped; and the cannibalization of the heavier army weapons is even more rapid.

Big Efforts By Reds
This does not mean, of course, that China is now defenseless. On the contrary, the Chinese Nationalists have had distinctly bad luck to date with their harassing and penetration raids along the coast, largely because the Communists have made a supreme effort to keep their aid and coastal warning nets in good order. Yet the gradual, remorseless, and inevitably accelerating decay of Chinese Communist military power is still a world fact of the highest significance.

This fact's meaning in itself, moreover, is probably surpassed by its meaning as a model. It is easier to detect, describe, and give figures concerning the deterioration of the air force, for instance, than to estimate and describe the erosion of the Chinese Communist industrial plant. Yet here again, the same kind of erosion is slowly but surely at work, for precisely the same reasons.

A small part of the Chinese industrial plant is not Russian in origin. A very large part, considerably more than half in fact, is not now being used, because Peking has had to allow industrial output to slump to between 35 and 40 per cent of capacity. The unused part of the industrial plant is nonetheless subject to decay; and the part still in use is being worn out rather rapidly.

In Canton, for instance, a tractor plant and a plant producing chemical fertilizers were very recently closed down. Both factories belonged to the productive sector which the regime is supposed to be going all out to expand, in order to strengthen Chinese agriculture. The reason in both cases (certainly known because of Canton's comparatively high visibility) was simply the want of both spare parts and raw materials to keep these factories going.

Right here, of course, is where the Sino-Soviet split pinches the Chinese economy. A vast deal of ignorant nonsense has been written about "Soviet aid" being cut off. China never has received any Soviet aid, having been required to pay through the nose for all exports from the Communist bloc since the very beginning.

Paris Not Available
But the Chinese armed forces got all their higher equipment from Russia. Chinese industry is almost wholly equipped with machinery imported from the Soviet Union or the Eastern European satellites. A high percentage of China's railroad cars and long haul trucks are Russian or Eastern European in origin.

Thus the whole mechanical sector of the Chinese Communist economy has been, in effect, completely designed around machines for which neither parts nor replacements are any longer available. A more terrible national problem can hardly be imagined, especially for a government which has already been forced to cut back its capital investments almost to zero, in the aftermath of its own megalomaniac follies.

If Only Ike Had Twin

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The three birthday parties being planned for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower indicate he is still first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his Republican countrymen.

But recent political developments raise some challenges to this last distinction. The first celebration, Oct. 12, two days before his real birthday, will be held in Hershey, Pa. Organizers of this party — Roy Wilkinson Jr., of Bellefonte, Pa., and Admiral Lewis Strauss — insist it is strictly a social affair.

The hosts will be about 400 of the 850 prominent citizens President Eisenhower invited to his many private little stag dinners during his eight years in the White House. They decided to repay his hospitality with a dinner in his honor, at $25 a plate, Dutch treat.

Even if it is nonpolitical or bipartisan—Jim Farley has accepted, for instance—all Republicans who attend are sure touches for GOP campaign contributions later on.

73 On Oct. 14
The former President will be 73 on Oct. 14. He plans to spend that day quietly with his family in Gettysburg.

But the next night he will come to Washington for a curate dinner—$75 a plate instead of the usual $100—which is frankly a political fund raiser for the 1964 campaigns.

GOP National Committee Chairman William E. Miller of New York will be principal speaker, Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania toastmaster. The dessert will be cake made from Mamie's favorite recipe, and the hope is that 1,000 or more will have it and eat it, too, in the Sheraton Park's double banquet rooms.

For the Eisenhower name is still magic, and the GOP would gladly run the general for President again—or maybe even his brother Milton—if it could.

Right now, however, the ex-president and Dr. Milton are concentrating on the Republican Citizens Committee to line up independent and Democratic support for the GOP next year. Half a dozen Critical Issues Council task forces are being assembled to prepare papers on what Republican policy should be in the 1964 platform.

Challenge By Barry
But even before this effort can get under way, it is being challenged by the rise of Sen. Barry Goldwater as a popular favorite for the presidential nomination. It is already obvious that a platform which satisfies Senator Goldwater isn't going to satisfy the Eisenhowers, and vice versa. The question is whether this presages a fight for party dominance between the Eisenhower middle-of-the-roaders and the Goldwater-keep-to-the-righters.

It would also be a fight between the Old Guard—the ex-cabinet members and administrators of the Eisenhower era—and the self-styled New Guard of young Republicans who are all out for Goldwater. There is a third Republican force in this coming fight, too. This is the Republican delegation in Congress which now makes the working policy that counts.

Opinion Polls Cited
From the Eisenhower wing of the party there may well be some questioning as to where the Congressional wing gets its ideas. After the House Republicans' futile fight to tie a budget-cutting amendment onto the administration tax-cut bill, business leaders who have a ways given heavily to GOP campaign funds let it be known that "You don't need to expect any money from us next year if you don't pass a tax bill this year."

Also, the national opinion polls on critical issues all seem to show preference for Kennedy administration programs over the Republican alternatives. Some politicians discount polls as usually supporting the party of whoever is President. But if the national surveys are at all accurate on current leading issues, their findings are not reflected in GOP congressional leadership policies.

Many Students Commute To Colleges, Schools

live at home and commute to junior colleges, state or city colleges or specialized schools. I've heard parents discuss the pros and cons of stay-at-home college experience. One regret I hear (mainly from mothers) is that while such arrangements are economical, the student misses something in not going away from home — sorority life, or dormitory living with a roommate, and the self-reliance and independence that are also part of college learning. Some families I know encourage a more-collegiate spirit by increasing their child's allowance and the items it must cover to acquaint her with money management. One move student and family often make is to realign the household, especially her bedroom, to fit more into the dormitory spirit and to provide a place where new friends may meet. College pennants will go up in the family room; records of current campus fame will appear by the phonograph and times for entertainment will be staked out when young brother is not to heckle. More Tailored. The "cute" girl's bedroom may shift to a more tailored, grown-up appearance. William Stark, designer of bedspreads for a well-known firm (Bates), points out that the live-at-home student usually gives her "dormitory" room the appearance of a studio room. The easiest and least expensive way to change a room's look is to change bedspreads and draperies. At the same time, some of the toys of yesteryear should be shelved, although most teenagers we know still cling to a favorite stuffed animal as No. 1 decoration. A studio-type bedroom can take a bright solid color, plaid, check or striped spread just as in a true dormitory. Tailored draperies may be matching or made from an extra spread of a co-ordinating solid color. The student will also need extra shelving for books. There are several narrow bookcase units available, including the least expensive put-it-together shelving — sturdy and good looking in walnut and brass.

Smog Causes Unusual Traffic Problems In Ishpeming Area

ISHPEMING — London and Los Angeles have nothing on the Ishpeming area these days. Smog as thick as ever found in those better known cities has set up a smoke screen that's produced unusual traffic problems and caused several collisions, besides irritating housewives and pedestrians.

Peat moss burning in the flats, near the railroad overpass being constructed along U.S. 41, and also a fire in back of Radio Station WJAN, are giving off considerable amounts of smoke, mixing with fog, resulting in zero visibility.

Cars were unable to move in the downtown area of Ishpeming, as well as in many residential areas last night. In one case, a pedestrian is reported to have bumped into another pedestrian because he didn't see him approaching.

People on Canda St. were out with flashlights directing traffic through the area. Many people abandoned their cars in driveways and yards along the street and walked home.

U.S. 41 from Negaunee to the North Lake junction was closed to traffic early this morning and motorists had the option of waiting at the blockade or going around business route M-28. Most motorists chose to wait.

During the night a number of cars drove into the ditch near the WJPD studios, before the road was blocked. Details of a reported four-car accident could not be obtained.

Conservation department crews have driven points at the Lowmoor Lake fire west of the city and are attempting to flood it out, while city fire department crews have two pumps in operation at the Carp flats fire.

At 8 a.m. today, the smog had started to lift and traffic had begun to move slowly through the area.

He was a veteran of World War I, during which he served in the U.S. Army, and was a member of the Negaunee American Legion Post and the Bethany Lutheran Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mae; a brother, Ernest of Gwinn; three sisters, Mrs. Oscar (Esther) Wangberg of Marquette, Mrs. Lester (Hilma) Callow of Hazel Park and Mrs. Eleanor DuShane of Negaunee, and a number of nieces and nephews.

X-Ray Program For Alger County To Begin Oct. 29

MUNISING — Residents of Alger County who are 21 years of age or older and who have not had a health checkup in the last year are urged to do something about it by Dr. R. A. Tearman, director of the Alger-Schoolcraft Health Department.

Starting Oct. 29 and continuing through Nov. 8, mobile X-ray units will be in the county to offer residents opportunity to get examinations without charge.

"We are offering free health screening tests for tuberculosis, diabetes, heart disease and other chronic illnesses," Dr. Tearman said. "Although no substitute for a complete physical health examination, they certainly are helpful in possibly uncovering these diseases in their early stages — stages where there are usually no symptoms."

He noted that last year more than 50,000 persons in Michigan died from so-called chronic diseases, accounting for nearly 75 per cent of all deaths. "Many of these deaths could have been prevented if the disease had been detected at an early stage," he said.

Dr. Tearman said that, because of control of the communicable diseases, 20 years have been added to man's life span since 1900. But in curbing the communicable diseases, medical science has permitted man to live to an age when chronic diseases such as diabetes, cancer and heart disease take a heavy toll.

He described the health tests as "important aids" to health checkups by doctors in uncovering potential chronic disease. It takes only a few minutes of time to take the chest X-ray which can detect tuberculosis, lung cancer or a heart abnormality if present, and the blood test is a simple one that can uncover symptoms of diabetes

No Contests For Municipal Offices In Negaunee Nov. 5

NEGAUNEE — For the first time since the council-manager form of government went into effect here in 1950, there will be no contests for governmental offices at the annual municipal election Tuesday, Nov. 5.

City Clerk Edward C. Stevens revealed yesterday that the deadline for filing nomination petitions passed with only a single candidate qualifying for each office.

Filing nomination petitions for city council full terms of three years were Earl Makela and Matt Vanni, both incumbents. Makela, a former mayor, has served two terms on the council, while Vanni will be seeking his first full term after having been elected a year ago to fill the unexpired portion of one year remaining on the term of Robert E. Prittinen.

Joining the incumbents as a council candidate will be Francis E. Domperre, 1105 Maple St., who is making his first run for a public office. Domperre is a brother of Supervisor James L. Domperre of Negaunee, who is vice chairman of the county board. He has filed for the one year remaining on the term of Dorste Roos, who resigned last month because he was not permitted to hold the office as a civil service employee at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base.

Both Richard Salmio and Turi Sandstrom also are unopposed in seeking reelection to full terms as representatives from Negaunee on the Marquette County Board of Supervisors. With a light vote anticipated in view of the lack of opposition, Stevens disclosed that he is planning to operate only two polling places instead of the customary six. Residents of the first, second and third precincts will cast their ballots at the Community Building, while persons living in the fourth, fifth and sixth will vote at the fifth precinct election center on Baldwin Ave.

As recently as a century ago the tomato was believed by some Americans to be poisonous.

ATOMIC ENERGY JUNIOR SIZE

How wonderful is enthusiasm. Mom and Dad will forgive this noise. They catch the spirit and joy of their young drummer boy.

Enthusiasm is not limited to small fry. But as we grow older, these joyous moments when our spirits ride high, wear thin and are diluted by everyday cares.

This is true of our religious experience. Often we are filled with eager enthusiasm when we pray and worship. Our church can guide this energy in channels of service and love.

But often our religious enthusiasm fails. In these moments when our spirits lag, we are sustained and encouraged by the enthusiasm of our fellow Christians.

How wonderful is enthusiasm. Come to church to have it renewed — Sunday and always.

Redmen Blast Negaunee With 28-13 Victory; New 'County Champions'

By CHUCK GABLE

NEGAUNEE — Marquette won the mythical "county championship" last night by downing Negaunee, 28-13, in the 87th renewal of the state's oldest high school grid rivalry.

A cooler kept yelling "Defense! That's the name of the game!" But nobody paid much attention — each club mounted five major scoring threats, and the Graverses' ability to come up with the clutch play made the big difference.

Neither team wasted much time in its own territory.

Early Score

Marquette scored in just five plays after the kickoff, with the TD coming on a 43-yard pass play from Jim Hinak to Bob Pearson. Hinak ran the point with 2:37 gone.

A 15-yard penalty helped the Miners get going. Then Doug Maki and Dave Roberts totaled 42 yards in two plays, to the 17. It took eight more plays to score as the Reds' defense stiffened, but Alex Prusi hit Stu Anderson with a two-yard jump pass to six, then passed to Doug Kangas for the tying point with 1:22 left in the quarter.

Marquette was back at midfield by quarter-time, and chewed up 35 yards on seven runs before Hinak again found Pearson open, this time for 25 and the score. Pete Holm, defensive ace, banged in for the extra point.

Nearly Tied

Sixteen seconds later it was nearly tied. Maki took the kickoff, fumbled it on his 15, picked it up and rambled down the middle of the field to score — an 85-yard return. The try for 9:19 left in the half.

A penalty put the Redmen in Miner territory on the next play from scrimmage, and three plays later, they score again, as Pete Holm went over guard, cut left and raced 30 yards to score. Peter ran the point with 7:15 left in the half — that's four touchdowns in six minutes of play!

Long Drive

Holm intercepted after Jerry Pertunen had handed the Miners a minus eight, but Hinak was hit as he passed on third down, and a punt was forced.

The only extra-long drive of the game ensued as Negaunee took over on its 12. They marched for 13 plays, finally running out of time on the Marquette one.

Maki picked up nine and 19 on runs, passed for six and caught a pass for 20. Doug was barely nudged out of bounds on the latter play, on the five. Another jump pass to Anderson reached the two and Roberts was stopped on the one. They didn't get another play off.

The second half started off in the same offensive way. Roberts moved the Miners to the Graveraet 35 on the second play from scrimmage, and, despite a good defensive stop by Tom Soll, they moved to the 14 before Holm came up with his second interception. He returned to the 24.

Crosses Again

Again the ball moved across midfield, but Dan Collins made two fine stops, one of them handing the Reds a loss on fourth down.

Negaunee couldn't move the ball, and the snapback on the punt sailed past the punter, giving Marquette the ball on the Miner 13.

Steve Nyquist was stopped inches short of a first down, but Negaunee fumbled on their first play with Pertunen coming up with the ball. Millman scored on the next play, but Nyquist ran for a 28-13 score with 14 seconds left in the third period.

A pass interference call moved the Miners quickly inside the visitors' 40, but Prusi was rucked up behind the line by Holm & Co., getting the ball for Marquette on the Negaunee 49.

A penalty stalled the Redmen. A short punt put them back in Negaunee territory, and Nyquist and Millman got to the 18, but Brad Richards came up with the football for Negaunee.

Final Effort

With time running out, Negaunee tried eight passes, five running plays and rolled 77 yards to the Marquette three. The game ended on a penalty — but it was on the offense, and the Redmen declined.

The Redmen have beaten both Ishpeming and Negaunee. Coach Bill Hart's club didn't play Gwin, but the Miners mauled the Model Towners last week, to settle the county "title" and offer some consolation in a rebuilding season. Unbeaten Sault is Marquette's last foe (Negaunee meets rugged Escanaba), Marquette has won 36 of the 87 games with NHS.

Negaunee Oddity

Each club rolled up more than 200 yards from scrimmage, with Dave Roberts of the Miners the individual leader with 92 in 12 tries. Graveraet mileage was well-divided. Steve Nyquist had 76 in 14 carries. An oddity, considering the final score, was that Negaunee had nearly twice as many plays from scrimmage as the Redmen.

Cub Arrives For Banquet In Ishpeming

ISHPEMING — Richard "Dick" Ellsworth, ace south-paw hurler of the Chicago Cubs and principal speaker at the Junior Baseball League dinner at the C. L. Phelps School tonight, arrived here with his wife this afternoon.

Ellsworth arrived with a party of five from Chicago.

He will appear at 6 p.m. on television as Carl Pelonpa, sports editor conducts the interview.

After the dinner, Ellsworth and party will return to Chicago.

Vikings End Season With 28-0 Loss

CRYSTAL FALLS — The Baraga Vikings sustained their sixth straight loss last night as the hosting Crystal Falls Trojans dealt them a crushing 28-0 thrashing.

Trojan Bill Duncan tallied twice for Crystal Falls, and the other blows were contributed by Tom Clark and Ron Alberio. Duncan scored once on a 23-yard run and again on a pass play of equal yardage, while Clark made it from the Baraga seven and Alberio from the two, capping powerful Trojan drives. Couldn't Prevail

The Vikings, who have failed to jell into a smoothly-working organization, could not prevail against the superior offensive strength and ability of the Crystal Falls men, and end their season unhappily with a 0-6 record.

The Trojans substituted freely in the fourth quarter, after having run up the 28-0 lead with two scores in the first quarter, one in the second and another in the third period. Bob Ahola ran two of the extra points, and Dave Campana and Angelo Piqui each contributed one to the cause.

Dewey Lincoln, fleet Michigan State fullback from Hamtramck, Mich., was the Spartans' busiest man in 1962. He was on the field 339 minutes out of a possible 540.

Ishpeming Defense Holds Blue Devils To Slim 14-6 Win

SAULT STE. MARIE — The Ishpeming Hematites lost last night, but in doing so, put on a brilliant defensive show that held the powerful Blue Devils to a 14-6 victory margin.

The Sault team, which handed highly-rated Escanaba its first loss last week, 14-0 and which has a habit of winning by lopsided scores, found the going tough against determined Hematite gridders, and was surprised by an offense of considerable power.

The Blue Devils tallied first in the early minutes of the first quarter; after gaining a first down on Ishpeming's 46-yard line, as Don Kucharcey went for the TD on the first play scrimmage in the Sox's second series of plays, Dennis Porter kicked the extra point to give the Devils a 7-0 lead.

The margin was widened in the first minutes of the fourth period, as Andy Benson intercepted an Ishpeming pass and ran it to the Sault 40. On the first play following, Tom Payment carried 20 yards to the Ishpeming 40, from which point Benson broke loose in a 40-yard scoring run. Porter again booted the extra point, and Ishpeming was at a 14-0 disadvantage with time running out.

The Hematites turned on a fierce offensive drive following the kickoff, driving from their own 25 yards to the end zone. Bill Norkoli carried for most of the yardage in the drive, aided by Clarence Willey, and a pass from Leo Gehlhoff to Bill Palomaki was good for the score. The kick was wide, and the Hematites had narrowed the margin to 14-6. With less than a minute left in the game, Ishpeming could not regain possession long enough to tally again.

Norkoli did some splendid running, carrying 19 times for 45 yards, but his performance was somewhat eclipsed by Willey's 17 carries for a total of 59 yards. Willey has blossomed into a real threat to defensive linemen since he first gained first string status several games ago.

The statistics do not reflect the quality of Ishpeming defense to any degree of reality, and one can only say that the Blue Devils were possibly given one of the hardest fights they have had this year.

BOSTON—Rookie Tom Neumann of the Boston Patriots AFL squad caught a 15-yard touchdown pass last night in the fourth quarter to clinch a Boston victory over the Oakland Raiders, 20-14. Neumann is a Northern Michigan University graduate, and many will remember his fine running in 1962 for the Wildcats.

U.S. Recovers Lead In Ryder Cup Golf Race

ATLANTA — "We're over the hump now," said a jubilant Arnold Palmer as he prepared to lead the American team into the second phase of the Ryder Cup golf series, cushioned by a fat 6-2 lead.

Eight rounds of four-ball matches were scheduled today after the first day's alternate shot foursomes at East Lake Club.

Disappointment

The British captain, John Falon, was disappointed at his team's afternoon showing Friday. The Britons tied the Yanks 2-2 in the morning round and started the Americans by beating Palmer, the American captain, in the first match.

Palmer attributed his team's spotty morning showing to fatigue.

Palmer beached his morning partner, Johnny Pott, 27, of Cape Girardeau, Mo., in the afternoon, pairing himself with Billy Casper of Apple Valley, Calif. The afternoon pairing paid off.

"Bill played real good," Palmer said after he and Casper beat youngsters Brian Huggert and George Will 5 and 4. "I just tagged along."

It was a return match for Palmer against Huggert and Will. The young Britons beat Palmer and Pott in the morning round, 3 and 2.

Casper Won

Casper teamed with Dave Ragan Jr. to gain the Americans' only victory in the morning round. They beat Peter Allis of Dorset, England, and Irishman Christy O'Connor 1 up.

Finstenwald was teamed with Gene Litter of San Diego, Calif., in both matches Friday. The two halved their morning match with Dave Thomas of Berkshire and Harry Weetman of Surrey, and then beat Neil Coles of Surrey and Geoffrey Hunt of Bushey Heath, Herts., in the afternoon, 2 and 1.

Defensemen Swapped By Puck Clubs

DETROIT — The Detroit Red Wings and the Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League swapped defensemen Wednesday.

Detroit sent Gerry Odrowski to Boston in exchange for Warren Godfrey.

Godfrey will report to the Red Wings Pittsburgh farm club in the American Hockey League for Wednesday night's game in Buffalo.

The Wings earlier Wednesday had suspended Odrowski and goalie Hank Bassen for leaving training camp over a salary dispute. They had not signed their contracts.

SMU Sinks Navy Team With Speed

(By the Associated Press)

Southern Methodist, which last week shot down the Air Force, has sunk the Navy with a guided missile named John Roderick.

Sending the speeding Roderick through the line almost at will and making the most of a key pass interference call, the Mustangs of SMU pulled off their second straight upset by defeating the previously unbeaten, fourth-ranked Middles 32-28 Friday night.

Roderick, a 94 one-hundred-yard sprinter who put on football cleats for the first time this season, ripped the Navy line for 146 yards, including touchdowns runs of 45 and 2 yards in the second half and a key 23-yard gain that led to the deciding touchdown.

Roderick's 23-yard spurt started SMU toward the Navy goal, then pass interference placed the ball on the one-yard line. Billy Gannon cracked over for the clincher. The victory added Navy and Roger Staubach to an SMU trophy collection that started last week with Air Force and Terry Isaacson.

In other major games, LSU defeated Miami of Florida, 3-0 in Doug Mowatt's 20-yard field goal in the third period. Syracuse walloped UCLA 29-7 as Gus Gardi scored two touchdowns and Virginia Tech utilized Bob Schweickert's triple-threat abilities for a 22-8 victory over George Washington.

The weekend program continues today with top-ranked Oklahoma meeting second-ranked Texas in the big one at the Cotton Bowl.

Florida is at No. 3 Alabama, Purdue at No. 5 Wisconsin, No. 7 Southern California at Notre Dame, Illinois at No. 8 Ohio State and Army at No. 9 Penn State while Minnesota is at Northwestern in the television game—CBS, 1:30 p.m., EST.

Not Easily Equaled

They're going to have to go far to beat the SMU-Navy struggle in which the Middles' last drive ended at the seven-yard line after Staubach's final pass was batted down in the end zone by Tommy Caughran as the gun sounded.

Trailing 25-13, the Mustangs began to roll when Roderick raced 45 for a touchdown just before the third period ended. In the fourth period, Roderick ripped off a 14-yard run to start another drive capped by his own two-yard TD run.

Then, after Navy regained the lead 28-26 on Fred Marlin's 22-yard field goal with 2:52 left, Roderick took over once again. He sped 23 yards this time before the pass interference led to Gannon's clinching touchdown with 2:05 left on the clock.

Navy is now 3-1, SMU 2-1.

Early Football In U.P. Had Amusing Moments With Odd Play, Players

Football in Marquette County (and no doubt the whole Upper Peninsula as well), was a more or less hit and miss affair during the first couple of decades after its introduction in the early 1890's. It depended to a great degree on enrollment, interest shown by students and part time coaches, weather and who else might be found to furnish opposition.

High School vs. College

In those formative years, high school teams often played the Michigan College of Mines (now Michigan Tech) squads, or whatever independent teams might have been formed, just for fun and to keep in practice, and many amusing situations developed.

The Northern Normal School, (now Northern Michigan University), which was established in 1899, finally organized a team in 1904, following the enrollment of enough young men, and they usually played three or four games a season, mostly against high schools.

Sports fans of the country were treated to their first high school gridiron contest on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 27, 1894, when Marquette entertained Negaunee on the old fairgrounds lot where the Palestra now stands, and lost to the visitors 18-0, the chief ailment being that the Miner's coach played quarterback, and Marquette's coach was out of town on business, or he might possibly have entered the fray.

Revenge

However, revenge was obtained the next week when, without the Negaunee mentor's name mentioned in the lineup, Marquette won, 8-4.

The coaches, who were responsible for the inauguration of football here, were Professor H. B. Krogman, principal of the Negaunee high school and E. W. McPherran, of Marquette, land commissioner for the D.S.S.&A.

Early Football In U.P. Had Amusing Moments With Odd Play, Players

(now Soo Line) railroad, both of whom had achieved fame at the University of Michigan, and were inspired to get the game started here.

Growing Activity

The next season, 1895, saw more gridiron activity in the area, with Ishpeming organizing a team, and all three playing the mining school at Houghton, besides each other, even though the seasons during that period never seemed to start until the middle of October and ended at Thanksgiving time or before, depending on the snow depth.

In that year, with Professor Krogman still playing quarterback, Negaunee triumphed over Marquette twice, and the latter squad also lost to the mining college boys and to Ishpeming.

In the final game, however, played here, the Redmen, (who even then had chosen scarlet shirts), redeemed themselves by holding the strong Superior high school to a nothing to nothing tie after the visitors had defeated Ashland, Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Friendly Game

The Copper Country's heavier, stronger collegians triumphed over Ishpeming, 8-0 in October of 1895, and "the contest was entirely friendly with not a harsh word spoken," the Mining Journal reported. The following Saturday afternoon, Negaunee established some sort of record for durability, by playing a double-header at Houghton, losing to the mining school, 20-0, and after a short rest, defeating Houghton high school by the identical score.

Those were the good old days of Rugby rules which allowed the bruising "flying wedge" formation. Six downs were allowed. A touchdown counted four points, the points after being good for two, and two 35-minute periods were played. It was said there were few substitutions and a team was lucky if it had a dozen or so stalwart boys.

Just after the turn of the century, Ishpeming started turning out "miracle teams" which ran roughshod over practically all opponents for five years, in that span taking four state titles, a record which probably never will be equalled by any team from the Upper Peninsula. They started out by thrashing all the tougher teams from Ironwood to the Soo, the scores being usually in the 50's to 70's, then sought the Lower Michigan standouts, after keeping in shape by playing the mining school teams, and West Superior Normal.

In 1901, the Hematites took the state championship from Michigan Military Academy of Orchard Lake, 12-5; the following year, Kalamazoo was the victim, 27-21, in 1903 it was Benton Harbor, 35-12 and in 1905, Grand Rapids, 17-5. The only blemish on their record was in 1904, when Escanaba beat them for the U.P. title, but lost to Benton Harbor for the state crown.

Program Topic

Early football in Marquette County will be the topic of the regular Marquette County Historical Society program over WDMJ, the Mining Journal Radio Station tomorrow at 12:20 p.m.

Giants Get Into Gear On Defense

(By the Associated Press)

Ro Lo Mo Ko sounds like a speeding locomotive, and that's just about what they're going to have to stop.

Ro Lo Mo Ko are the nicknames of the defensive front foursome of the New York Giants — Andy Robustelli, John Lovetere, Dick Modzelewski and Jim Katcavage, who had to settle for "Ko." They're going to be the toughest assignment on Sunday's pro football program: Stop Jimmy Brown.

Title In Jeopardy

The Giants and the Cleveland Browns will meet at Yankee Stadium, where Cleveland will be trying to maintain its unbeaten record and move two games up on the defending champion Giants in the battle for the National Football League's Eastern Conference title.

Brown has rushed for 664 yards in four games — more than the entire Giants' backfield — and is ahead of his own record pace of 1958, when he amassed 1,527 yards. He also has moved to within 173 yards of Joe Perry's all-time NFL career mark of 8,296.

While Brown and the Browns are banging heads with Ro Lo Mo Ko and Co., the NFL's only other unbeaten team, the Chicago Bears will be at Los Angeles trying to hold onto to their one-game Western Conference lead over league champion Green Bay.

The Packers will be at Minnesota, Pittsburgh at St. Louis, Detroit at Dallas, Philadelphia at Washington and San Francisco at Baltimore on the full seven-game program.

The American League has a three-game Sunday schedule with the Eastern Division-leading New York Jets facing the Western Division-leading San Diego Chargers on the West Coast, Buffalo at Kansas City and Houston at Denver.

DRY SOCKS HELP CAGERS

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A "sock hop" interrupts Vanderbilt University football practice once each day but it's no teenage dance fad. It's the brain-storm of Trainer Joe Worden who thinks a change to fresh socks during the workout will cut down on blisters which became a problem during spring practice. He thinks it might help morale and playing too. "Dry socks should give them a little lift out there," says Worden.

The Cable TV View

... By Richard Bur

If the theatre is centered in the big city, it is understandable because the cost of creating a full length drama can only be met when large audiences are assured night after night for a long run.

For years the smaller communities have had to be content with traveling stock companies that repeated successful plays.

It was good to know that the show one attended in the home town had already established a reputation. It wasn't taking a chance on the substance of the play. What was missing was the excitement of being present at something new. Only the first night audience at theatre center could share the exhilaration of a great opening; or for that matter, experience the heavy feeling of a performance that falls short.

Television this week makes an historic change. A Broadway opening of "The Advocate", is timed together with a simultaneous showing of the same performance on television. The audience at home in a number of scattered cities can sit in on the very first night, even before the drama critics have set their opinions in print.

Although we in our own city may not be in on this special broadcast, the path has been made for other Broadway Opening Nights on television. We, the "at home" audience, share our opinions at the same time they are being expressed during intermission times at Times Square, New York.

So television becomes a truly national theatre, and home wherever it may be, becomes the setting for a First Night performance.
