Intervention

Mrs. Joseph F. Kennedy says she wanted her youngest son, Edward, above, to be a priest but a blonde intervened. Edward, better known as Teddy, is a U. S. senator from Massachusetts. Displaying a picture of the entire Kennedy family visiting the Vatican, Mrs. Kennedy commented: "With all these spiritual advantages, I had hoped that Teddy would grow up to be a priest, but he met a beautiful blonde one night." Wrong-Way Ginny Heads For Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Wrong-way hurricane Ginny trudged slowly today toward Florida's heavily populated lower east coast. Storm forecasters nervously held hurricane warnings in abeyance, arousing a dim hope that the confusing tropical storm might loop-the-loop and miss Florida. Hurricane hunter aircraft shuttled in and out of the storm, relaying a continuous flow of information to teams of forecasters. Near midmorning, Ginny, with peak winds of 80 miles per hour near her center, was located about 160 miles east-northeast of Cape Canaveral. The storm was blustering southwestward at 10 MPH. Possibility "At least some possibility still exists that it could perform a loop and swing to the south and later on, to the east," said Gordon Dunn, chief storm forecaster at the Miami Weather Bureau. "Also, we must stress that this is far from a major hurricane," Dunn said. "It is indeed a minimal hurricane. Even if it comes ashore, tides and winds will, for a hurricane, be minimal."

Vietnamese To Get Less Surplus Food

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States plans to cut down on surplus food shipments to South Viet Nam. The new economic pressure is part of a hardened policy, the object of which is persuading Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem to reverse what high State Department officials feel is a trend toward totalitarian government. First Evidence Official Washington is equally concerned that Diem get on with the job of defeating the Viet Cong Communist guerrillas. The first evidence of the new policy was an announcement Monday that further financial support to the special force troops controlled by Diem's influential brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, will be withheld until the soldiers are assigned to war duty. Some of these crack paratroopers led raids this summer against Buddhist pagodas. Food Restrictions The planned food restrictions involve mostly wheat, flour, cotton and milk. No negotiations on the allotment of surplus food commodities are scheduled.

African Leaders Won't Be Pushed Into Peace Talks

ALGIERS (AP) — African leaders sought today to bring Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella and Moroccan King Hassan II to be the conference table, but the warring North African neighbors refused to be prodded. Both sides continued sending reinforcements into the disputed Sahara desert region as new fighting was reported in the Hassi Beida area. The Moroccans said their forces fought off attacks by about 350 Algerians on the outskirts of Erfoud and Ousada, near Zegdaou.

Lord Home Signs Away His Nobility

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Lord Home formally renounced his ancient peerages today, making possible his election to the House of Commons. With a stroke of a pen, the prime minister shed four Scottish and English titles that had taken his blue-blooded family 500 years to collect. Sir Douglas Home, Home's next hurdle is to win a seat in the House of Commons at a special election at Kinross and West Perth in Scotland. The balloting is set for Nov. 7 in the predominantly Conservative community. Peerages To win the privilege of Commons membership, Home had to renounce for all time four proud peerages — Baron Home (which an ancestor collected way back in 1473), Baron Douglas, Lord Douglass (cq) and the Earl of Home.

Fog Forces U. S. To Divert Five 'Big Lift' Transports

FRANKFURT, Germany — Fog over Frankfurt forced diversion of five of Exercise Big Lift's huge transports today, but U.S. military officials said they were sure the largest long-range airlift in U.S. history would be completed by the deadline Thursday night. Rhein-Main Air Base, receiving most of the transatlantic air armada, was closed for seven hours. But at noon a bright sun broke through, and moments later a C135 Stratolifter landed. Re-Routed Four transports had to be re-routed to Ramstein Air Base, 60 miles southwest of Frankfurt, and one C131 with 73 soldiers landed at Oldenhall, England, refueling stop for the propeller-driven craft in the Texas-Europe air bridge. The planes began ferrying the 25,000 troops of the U.S. 2nd Armored Division — the old "Hell on Wheels" division — from the United States Tuesday in a demonstration of the mobility of America's strength. The airlift aroused fears in West Germany that it was the prelude to a reduction of U.S. troops in Europe and that the United States would rely instead on fast airlifts to trouble spots. Announcement To quiet such fears, a high-ranking U.S. official said in Washington Tuesday night that Secretary of State Dean Rusk would announce during a visit to West Germany over the weekend that the United States has no intention of withdrawing any of its 250,000 troops in Europe. Aerial transfer of the 2nd Armored's men from Texas bases proceeded like clockwork through the night, and despite the fog, 2,577 troops and almost 100 tons of equipment had been discharged by 44 transports at bases in Germany and France by noon (6 a.m. EST). Troops diverted to England were to be picked up later today. $20 Million Air Bridge When the $20-million air bridge is completed, more than 15,000 will have crossed the Atlantic, along with a composite air strike force of 116 jet fighters and other planes from Loring and Dow Air Force bases in Maine.

224,770 Absentees In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Nearly half of Chicago's approximately 470,000 public school pupils were absent from classes Tuesday, most of them staying away in what Negro civil rights leaders claimed was the nation's largest school boycott. The massive civil rights boycott was in protest against what leaders called the "growing school segregation in Chicago" and against the policies of Benjamin C. Willis, superintendent of public schools. They claim that Willis, one of the nation's highest-paid public officials and in his 10th year as superintendent, is responsible for what they term de facto segregation in the public schools. The boycott, with heaviest absenteeism reported in schools in predominantly Negro neighborhoods, was climaxed late Tuesday by a demonstration by an estimated 8,000 to 10,000 persons who marched around the City Hall-County Building and at the downtown offices of the Board of Education. The marchers, both white and Negro, chanted, sang and displayed signs. There were no incidents. Rush hour traffic in the Loop was jammed. Willis earlier this month resigned his $48,500-a-year post because, he said, the Board of Education was encroaching upon his administrative duties. The board, which has two Negro members, rejected his resignation and Willis later accepted the board's proposal to reconsider. Absentees Willis reported that 224,770 pupils in the city's 50 schools were absent from classes because of the boycott or other reasons. The total enrollment is 469,733. The daily average absenteeism was reported as 73,918.

JFK Advised To Overhaul Aid Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has advised the administration to overhaul its foreign aid program next year or face the possibility of Congress doing it. The committee — the program's best friend on Capitol Hill — turned out to be one of its severest critics in a report recommending passage of a $4,202,365,000 foreign aid authorization bill. The Senate starts debate on the bill Monday. The report revealed that the committee seriously considered — but rejected — an amendment that would have terminated the aid program June 30, 1965, to force sweeping changes in its operations. Unexpected Criticisms For the fiscal year, starting next July 1, the committee specifically recommended the Agency for International Development curtail its program to eliminate from aid "countries which can take care of themselves." It said "even more selectivity among countries should be introduced." The report called for prompt and serious consideration of "a greatly-increased utilization of multilateral agencies." The report bristled with unexpected criticisms from a committee which recommended restoring $700,290,000 of a $1-billion House cut. The bill was only $327,250,000 shy of what President Kennedy requested. Not Impressed It said evidence showed the program has been generally successful in strengthening the security and advancing the United States and the free world. But the committee said it was not impressed with the administration's case for maintaining aid programs, even on a small scale, "in virtually every underdeveloped country in the free world and in a few developed or relatively developed countries."

Sec. of Commerce Luther Hodges, above, told a Washington news conference Tuesday that "my best judgment is we will have wheat sales to the Soviets and some of the others," despite possible difficulties over shipping rates. (AP Wirephoto.)

U.S. Ready To Sell Corn To Hungary?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet wheat buyers confer today with administration officials as reports circulate that the United States is ready to approve sale of 40,000 tons of corn to Hungary. If the corn sale rumors are true the deal would be the first to be closed with an Iron Curtain country since President Kennedy approved sale of subsidized farm products — particularly wheat — to the Soviet bloc two weeks ago. The wheat sales, the chief item in Soviet-American bargaining, have been held up by haggling over the costs of shipping the grain on American vessels. Trade and government circles speculated that both the United States and the Soviet bloc got out on a limb by stipulating that the wheat should be shipped on U.S. ships when they were available. The President laid down the requirement when he approved the sales, and it appeared to be accepted by the Communist countries. Since then they have objected, citing higher costs of American shipping — about 20 to 30 cents a bushel higher than foreign shipping. This matter figures to be part of the table talk when the Soviet trade negotiators lunch with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Undersecretary of State George W. Ball. The Russian group is headed by Sergei A. Borisov, first deputy minister of foreign trade, who negotiated the Soviet purchase of Canadian wheat in September. The shipping requirement, however, does not hinder sales of corn and other grains. Last Friday the Commerce Department exempted grains other than wheat from the requirement. Andrews' victory gave the House a lineup of 257 Democrats and 177 Republicans.

N. Dakota Elects GOP Farmer To Seat In Congress

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — A Republican farmer who campaigned against Kennedy administration policies now carries his sentiments to Washington as North Dakota's new congressman from the state's eastern district. Victory by Mark Andrews, 38, continued a near-perfect North Dakota record of sending only Republicans to the House of Representatives. Quentin N. Burdick, the only Democrat to break the chain since the state entered the union in 1889, winning a statewide vote in 1958 and jumping to the Senate in a special 1960 election. Andrews' victory gave the House a lineup of 257 Democrats and 177 Republicans.

Muslim Leader Forecasts 'Bloody Racial War' In U.S.

DETROIT (AP) — A "bloody racial war" in the United States is forecast by the No. 2 man among Black Muslims because, he says, "the white liberal is using trickery to maintain his power." Malcolm X of New York, second only to Black Muslim founder Elijah Muhammed, told some 300 noisy Wayne State University students at the same time Tuesday that the all-Negro, quasi-religious organization's philosophy is not one of "race hate," but one of separatism for Negroes. He attacked Jews as "chief among the whites who are keeping Negroes down" because "they own the property in Negro areas." Student Boed A student who failed to identify himself interjected that his relatives had been killed by Nazis in Germany during World War II "when this same sort of talk about separate races and governments was the Nazi line." This remark came in a question and answer period and touched off boozing that became so noisy university officials threatened to clear the hall. Some students accused others of making speeches instead of asking questions. Malcolm X drew some applause during his 35-minute speech that preceded the questions and answers. Fight For Jobs He said Negro demonstrations have "pushed the white man to where he will stop and fight (over jobs) because they can't pick up and move the way they did with schools and housing." Malcolm X asserted, however, Negro demonstrations "won't bring integration in any form."

Yank Vessel Mistaken For Exile Raider

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has launched an investigation of the strafing of an American-owned ship off the coast of Cuba early Tuesday morning. There is no doubt the strafing was carried out by Cuban planes. Although it did not identify the ship, Havana radio said its air force attacked a vessel in the area. The big question is why. Havana claimed the ship was carrying saboteurs and arms. However, it was learned elsewhere that the vessel, the bulk carrier J. Louis, was steaming from Ocho Rios, Jamaica, to Corpus Christi, Tex., with 31,500 tons of bauxite ore, the raw material for aluminum. Newspaper Account The answer may be in an account given the New York Times by what the paper referred to as highly placed informants. According to this version, the J. Louis was attacked when she accidentally sailed into the thick of a fight between Cuban coast defenses and a raiding party of Cuban exiles. Possibly four or five MIGs strafed the vessel because their Cuban pilots "in the heat of action" believed she was involved in an anti-Castro landing operation. The owners of the vessel reported no casualties during the hour-long attack. Flares were dropped to light up the target. Shells damaged the superstructure and hull and set up a fire in the forecastle of the 33,000-ton vessel. Investigation More may be known when the J. Louis, with its crew of about 50, arrives late tonight at Corpus Christi. The incident jarred the quiet of Tuesday's first anniversary of last fall's Cuban crisis. The State Department deplored "this unprovoked attack on a vessel navigating the high seas" and said it was investigating to see whether a U.S. protest would be made.

Hunter Wants Bird Dog To Get A Whiff!

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — A hunter, stopping at a gas-line station near here Monday night, complained to owner Jack Mc Cullum: "What a rotten day! I've been in the field all day and didn't see a bird." "Just then a cock pheasant winged low over the service drive and crashed into the station." Mc Cullum calmly picked up the bird and told the hunter, "Well, I got mine." "Before you put the bird away, do me a favor," said the frustrated hunter. "Open up the back door of my car and let my hunting dog take a good whiff at this bird, so he knows what one really smells like."

Van Doren Reads His Poems, Gives Views On Life In Talk Here

A celebrated poet celebrated his love of life in a lecture here last night.

Mark Van Doren — poet, short story writer, novelist, critic, playwright, professor emeritus of literature and student of life — spoke at random on a variety of subjects in the first lecture in the 1963-64 assembly series at Northern Michigan University.

Sources Of Inspiration

In the formal portion of his lecture he read eight of his poems and suggested the sources of inspiration for them. It was in the informal question-and-answer portion of the program, however, that Dr. Van Doren shared with the audience his most revealing views on poetry and life.

Great poets, he said, don't talk about poetry; they talk about life.

Three Great Poets

Asked about teaching poetry, Dr. Van Doren, who taught at Columbia University for 39 years, said he never looked upon himself as a teacher of poetry or literature or English. "I suppose what I taught all those years," he said, "was the love of life."

He said there had been only three truly great poets in all of history — Homer, Dante and Shakespeare. In answer to another question, Dr. Van Doren said, "I think Chaucer is the most lovable of all poets."

Poems read by Dr. Van Doren were:

"Reverie after War: 1866," which he said was suggested to him by something he had read in John Muir's journal about his journey across the nation on foot. Many poems, the speaker said, are inspired by books, and Van Doren's "Reverie" is a portrait of a man the poet saw through the eyes of Muir.

"The Sage in the Sierras" was written after Van Doren read about Ralph Waldo Emerson's trip West to view the great mountains in the twilight of his life. The poet tries to explain why the eloquent Emerson was silent when he gazed upon the Sierras. "There was nothing he could say about them," Dr. Van Doren said. "There has never been anything good written about the mountains, so far as I know. They speak for themselves. What is there finally to say? The reason Emerson was silent is that he had too much to say. So many memories check other memories."

"End of Singing" is a poem about the American Indians, "who were poets and philosophers all the time because they feared the world might end." Dr. Van Doren said the Indian thought nature controlled him and therefore addressed himself to the entire universe in the hope that he would be spared. Modern man, on the contrary, thinks he can control nature.

"Old Whitey" is a poem about a ghost horse Van Doren had heard about when he was a boy in Illinois. He wrote the poem

"to try to save the horse from oblivion."

"The Uncle I Was Named For" is a poem about a person Van Doren knew. It is a quite literal account of the last time he saw his uncle, a colorful figure who lived in Oklahoma.

"The Gift of Gold" was inspired by a family story about the same uncle, who was sent away from home by Van Doren's grandfather. In commenting on the poem, Van Doren said, "Money is the source of all the unhappiness and all the happiness in the world."

"The First Snow of the Year" deals with an old couple reminiscing about their youth.

"Morning Worship" is an attempt by Van Doren to envision the world without himself in it. It is a story about a person who tries to make a list of all the things in life that interested him — an endless list and a hopeless task but one that symbolizes the poet's love of life.

Latins Get Most U.S. Assistance Per Capita

WASHINGTON (AP) — The foreign aid agency says Latin America is getting more U.S. assistance per capita than any other area of the world.

The Agency for International Development reported that in 1961-62 Latin America's share of the U.S. aid budget rose to 25 per cent, compared to 7 per cent for 1946-60.

Last year, Latin America got $1,038,000,000 in U.S. aid, the equivalent of $4.82 per person.

City Chamber To Arrange For Visits By Santa Claus To Handicapped Children

Christmas may be more than two months off but some of the preparations that go into it are taking shape now.

The Marquette Chamber of Commerce, for example, today announced that it again this year will arrange for visits to the homes of handicapped children of the Marquette area by Santa Claus.

Nov. 16 Program

Chamber of commerce officials urge parents of homebound children to notify the Marquette Chamber by postcard if they would like to have Santa Claus visit their child on Saturday, Nov. 16.

Last year, for the first time, chamber officials arranged for Santa Claus to visit at the homes of handicapped children who otherwise would not be able to discuss their Christmas lists with Santa.

The project was so successful that the chamber decided to arrange for the home visits again this year.

"It was a thrill to see the happiness Santa's visits to handicapped children brought. It's worth every bit of the special effort," Douglas Belfry, who is in charge of the chamber's Christmas projects for children, said.

Write Soon

Belfry asked parents of handicapped children to notify the chamber office as soon as possible, so that arrangements for the homebound visit can be made in time for Santa's pre-Christmas arrival in Marquette on Nov. 16.

The deadline for making arrangements for Santa's visits with homebound children is Monday, Nov. 11, he said.

To Have Police Escort

Belfry asked parents of homebound children to address postcards to Santa Claus, in care of the Marquette Chamber of Commerce. The postcard should include the child's name, age and address. The visits with handicapped children will be between 10 a. m. and noon on Saturday, Nov. 16. Santa Claus will be taken to the children's homes by police escort.

Sister Damian Appointed Administrator Of St. Mary's

Sister Mary Damian, O.S.F., has been appointed new administrator of St. Mary's Hospital, succeeding Sister Mary Bonaventura, it was announced today.

The change in the top administrative post at the hospital was made by Mother Pieta, mother general of the Sisters of the Third Order of St. Francis, headquartered in Peoria, Ill.

Sister Bonaventura has been named administrator of St. Joseph's Hospital, Bloomington, Ill., also operated by the order. She was in the St. Mary's post since October 1961.

Sister Damian was born in Berlin, Germany. She entered the order in 1936 and served in the order's Iowa hospitals from 1938 to 1945.

Sister Damian attended St. Francis Hospital's school for x-ray technicians and graduated as a registered technician in 1947. From 1947 to 1958 she served as superior of the x-ray department of St. Francis Hospital, Peoria, a 700-bed facility.

She was transferred in 1958 to St. Francis Hospital in Escanaba, and assumed the duties of supervisor of that hospital's x-ray department.

In June 1963, Sister Damian attended hospital management courses in Peoria and received her new assignment here on Oct. 1.

Group, Individual Photos For Public Schools Okayed

Group pictures may be taken in the public elementary schools if the students desire a class picture and the present system for taking individual pictures in the elementary schools will continue.

This policy decision was made by the Marquette Board of Education yesterday afternoon at its regular monthly meeting, held in the Sandy Knoll Elementary School, following a lengthy discussion of the schools' individual picture policy.

The school board approved a suggestion of Board Secretary Paul J. Kinville to continue the present individual picture setup and permit an option of group pictures in the elementary schools.

Board members noted that this method leaves the photo taking question up to the children and their parents. Under a policy adopted by the school board in 1958, parents must give their permission before their child's individual photo is taken.

The individual pictures were brought up for review at the September school board meeting by Marion Sonderegger, board treasurer, who suggested that a group picture of each class should be substituted for the individual photo.

"It's not the school board's business to see that individual pictures are taken anymore than it's the school board's business to see that the children get cut-rate haircuts," she said.

Sally Brebner, 425 E. Michigan St., asked the board, in a letter read yesterday, to give consideration to the replacement of the individual pictures with classroom group pictures.

Mrs. Sonderegger said that many persons had told her that they didn't care to have their child's individual photograph taken, but that they did want a group picture of the child's class.

School board members noted, both yesterday and at last month's meeting, that the taking of individual pictures during school hours is disruptive to the educational routine.

However, a poll of elementary school teachers showed that teachers at only one school were opposed to the individual photos.

Superintendent of Schools Henry J. Bothwell said that teachers at that school were "more opposed than in favor," while teachers at two schools gave strong support to the individual pictures and teachers at two schools had no preference.

Individual pictures are taken every other year in the high school and this system did not draw criticism.

Bothwell said the high school individual photos become a part of a student's record and are a help to teachers in writing letters of recommendation.

Maximum Tuition Rates Ordered By School Board For Non-Resident Students

Maximum tuition allowed by the State of Michigan will be charged for non-resident children attending the Marquette Public Schools this year.

School board members, at their regular meeting yesterday afternoon, agreed that non-resident students will be charged maximum allowable tuition rates of $196 in the elementary schools and $210 in the secondary schools this year.

The rates will be placed into effect immediately and must be fully paid by spring.

Allowable Limit

It is the prerogative of all school boards to fix tuition rates within allowable limits which are based on a formula set by the state.

"With our current building program we have no other choice than to take the maximum tuition rate," School Board President Herman E. Olson said.

The school board began charging maximum tuition rates for non-resident students several years ago, with the advent of the school construction program.

The allowable tuition rates for the Marquette School District this year are from $112 to $196 for elementary non-resident pupils and from $162 to $210 for secondary non-resident pupils.

Only a very few elementary students from outside the school district attend the Marquette Public Schools. The bulk of the schools' non-resident pupils are secondary students from Chocoma, Marquette, Powell and Skandia Townships.

Last year the school board also charged maximum rates, although the allowable rates set by the state were lower. Maximum rates last year were $188 per elementary child and $182 per secondary student, with allowed minimums of $136 for elementary students and $89 for secondary students.

Lower Than '61 Rates

Although this year's maximum rates are higher than the maximum rate charged last year, they remain lower than the maximum rates charged in 1961, which were $198 per elementary child and $212 per secondary child.

During September one felony arrest and 18 misdemeanor arrests were made by county officers.

One used car license application was investigated and approved and one liquor license application was approved.

County officers served 72 civil processes and attended 11 hours of court.

81 Inmates In Jail

Inmates admitted to the county jail in September numbered 81. They served a total of 768 man days.

Youth Faces Charge In Case Here

John B. Mitchell, 20, Gwinn, has appeared in Marquette Municipal Court on a negligent homicide charge and has been granted time to consult an attorney.

Mitchell, arraigned before Judge Edward H. Dembowski, had the charge read to him and the arraignment was continued to Friday, Nov. 1.

Judge Dembowski, who ordered Mitchell released on his personal recognizance, said the continuance was granted in order that the defendant may consult an attorney.

Mitchell had recently been discharged from a hospital and indicated in court he wanted legal counsel.

Passenger Killed

Mitchell was charged with negligent homicide on a warrant issued by Prosecuting Attorney Edward A. Quinnell of Marquette and requested by state police from the Marquette post, following a fatal accident which occurred on Aug. 1.

In the accident, a passenger in Mitchell's car, Gary W. Nyquist, 21, Gwinn, was fatally injured.

Thrown From Car

The state police report said Mitchell was driving north on County Road 557, about 10 miles south of County Road EA, in Wells Township, when he apparently lost control of his automobile on a curve.

The vehicle smashed into the ditch and rolled over, with Mitchell, the person fatally injured and another passenger being thrown from the car.

Five Drivers Pay Fines In City Court

Five persons were ordered to pay a total of $42 in fines and costs by Judge Edward H. Dembowski in municipal court yesterday for traffic law violations.

A fine of $11.30 and $3.70 costs were paid by Kenneth P. Remillard, 2015 Wetton St., for failure to stop at a railroad crossing while driving a truck with a flammable load. State police issued the summons Oct. 15 on U. S. 41 in the city.

Right-Of-Way Violation

For failure to yield the right-of-way, Lusetta L. Rhadans, Battle Creek, was fined $6.30 and ordered to pay costs of $3.70. She was ticketed by city police Oct. 11 following an accident on N. Front St.

Tax Reform Plan Hacked In 3 Parts

LANSING (AP) — Enemies of a state income tax Tuesday chopped Gov. George Romney's fiscal reform package into three pieces and forced a delay of at least a week in the program's Senate progress.

Majority leader Stanley Thayer, R-Ann Arbor, who is in charge of guiding the program through the Senate, said he could not find enough votes to stop a Democratic move which sent five Romney bills to the appropriations committee.

And Sen. Clyde Geerlings, R-Holland, met with no resistance when he reclaimed five other Romney bills for the tax committee which he heads. All bills — including Romney's — were released from the tax committee Thursday.

13 On Calendar

Thirteen Romney bills remain on the calendar, but because of their links with bills sent to appropriations committee, Appropriations and taxation committees both met today.

Sens. Stanley Rozycki, D-Detroit, and Philip Rahoi, D-Iron Mountain, Monday invoked an often-bypassed rule which calls for all bills with spending clauses to go to the appropriations committee.

Thayer remains optimistic. "It became more and more ap-

Temperature In 70s Or Higher 14 Days Here In October

This area's almost incredible weather continued hot and dry today, with no sign of a change until later in the week.

The temperature shot up to 72 degrees yesterday and reached 72 here in mid-morning today, marking the 14th time this month the daily temperature has been in the 70s or higher. It was in the 80s on five days, the warmest reading being 85 on the 1st.

To illustrate how hot this month has been, September had only 12 days in the 70s or higher, with only two days of 80 or plus readings, and the maximum temperature was 82.

10.6 Above Normal
Yesterday's low here was 56 and the mean temperature 64, or 18 degrees above normal. For October, the mean temperature is averaging 10.6 degrees a day above normal.

Barring a swift change in the weather during the last week of the month, this will be the warmest October ever in Marquette's history, notes Meteorologist Fred Mueller.

Another Warm Night

Last night was another warm night in the city, with the temperature being in the 60s most of the night and the low being just 58, which is still eight degrees above the normal maximum for this time of the year. Mueller said the balmy weather here is due, indirectly, to the tropical storm, Ginny, which is holding the high pressure ridge steady over the eastern seaboard, thus resulting in a southerly flow of air in this region.

Rainfall Below Normal

It was balmy throughout the Upper Peninsula yesterday, but temperatures elsewhere were generally in the high 60s, and Marquette's reading was the warmest reported.

This afternoon it was expected to be in the upper 70s here (the record for today is 78, in 1914). Tonight's low will be in the 50s and tomorrow's high around 70.

Rainfall is still way below normal here, the month's total being .37 of an inch, or 1.33 inches below average. The year's precipitation is 18.59 inches, or more than seven inches below normal.

Long-Range Outlook

Mueller said it'll be fair and mild until Friday, when there'll be some scattered showers and cooler weather.

The long-range outlook for the Marquette area, covering the period through Monday, calls for temperatures to average about 10 degrees above the normal extremes of 50 and 37, with warm weather until Friday or Saturday.

Rainfall during this period will total near a half inch, in showers Friday or Saturday.

U.P. Couple Sentenced To Prison

MENOMINEE—Wilfred Jackson, 41, was sentenced to 3 to 15 years in the Marquette State Prison and his wife, Gladys, 30, was sentenced to 1 to 15 years in the Detroit House of Corrections for killing their baby.

They were sentenced yesterday afternoon by Circuit Judge Ernest W. Brown, Iron Mountain.

The Jacksons were convicted of manslaughter in the death of their eight month old daughter, Jacqueline, last Dec. 11. The baby was run over by the Jackson's car during a quarrel.

To File Appeal
Kenneth O. Doyle, court appointed defense attorney, said he would appeal the verdict to the Michigan Supreme Court on technical points.

Judge Brown set bail for the

Remodeled S&H Store Opening Set

Opening of the remodeled S&H Green Stamp redemption center at 107 S. Front St. is scheduled for 10 a. m. tomorrow, it was announced today by Mrs. Marie Ryoti, manager of the Marquette store.

William J. Sullivan, Chicago district manager for the Sperry and Hutchinson Co., said the 6,400 square foot Marquette facility will have new interior display and counter space, new floors and fittings and improved merchandise storage space and offices.

"This will permit more efficient stocking of a substantial portion of the 1,600 merchandise items available to Marquette area residents," Sullivan said.

The redemption center is one of more than 800 such facilities operated throughout the United States by the Sperry and Hutchinson Co.

"Modernization of our facilities in Marquette reflects the couple at $1,000 each pending the outcome of their appeal.

Judge Brown said that it would probably take at least one year before the supreme court is able to hear the Jackson case. Judge Brown called the case "a shocking, appalling thing."

He said: "It is difficult for me to understand, Mrs. Jackson, what caused you to place the baby behind the car. And, I am convinced, Mr. Jackson, that you knew the baby was there."

Judge Brown said he would authorize expenditure of public funds so the supreme court can have the technical questions raised by Doyle answered.

continued acceptance of our service by merchants, the increased savings of trading stamps by homemakers and our desire to continue to provide stamp savers with convenient means of turning in their trading stamps for merchandise," Sullivan stated.

Staebler Raps Ideas Of Sen. Goldwater

DETROIT — Michigan's congressman-at-large, Democrat Neil Staebler, charges that ideas of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., on how to run the United States represent "extremist thinking running wild."

If the country were to follow Goldwater's leadership, Staebler told the Economic Club of Detroit in a debate, "there is no question in my mind that we would end up at war."

High Tension Wires Rip, Burn At Post

Some high tension wires were accidentally ripped off and burned in a mishap early yesterday afternoon in the rear of the Michigan State Police post, off U. S. 41 south.

Marquette's fire department, summoned at 1:01 p.m., reported that a Michigan Bell Telephone Co. truck accidentally caught a guy wire on a utility pole in the rear of the post, breaking the high tension wires and causing them to burn. No damage occurred from the fire to the post, but several fuses in the building, which also serves as headquarters for the Eighth (Upper Peninsula) District of the Michigan State Police, were blown and some light bulbs were knocked out as a result of the mishap.

Out On Arrival

The blaze was out on arrival of city firemen. Phone company crews had been doing some work on the lines on the hill south of the post when the accident occurred. Company crews repaired the damage. Six city firemen responded to the call, with the Nos. 2 (1,000-gallon) and 4 (750-gallon) pumps and they returned to the station at 1:19 p.m.

Roscoe Bonisteel, 33rd Degree, Ann Arbor, will be the principal speaker at the reunion. He will address the concluding dinner session for the conclave in the Masonic Temple Saturday evening.

Bonisteel was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of Michigan in 1929 and was coronated an honorary member of the Supreme Council, 33rd degree, on Sept. 27, 1939. He was admitted to the Michigan Bar in 1912.

Four wise rules for investing and how to use them

If you think the key to sensible investing is in the hands of "experts" only, here's an agreeable surprise.

Anybody can quickly learn four basic rules for what never to do—and what always to do—when acquiring stock.

Here they are:

Never get in over your head with money you can't afford to invest.

Always manage your money with an eye on both today and tomorrow. Living expenses have first call on your income. Then comes provision for emergencies. These cared for, you may be ready to consider investing.

Never be careless in choosing your broker.

Always look for a broker in whose experience or training you feel you can have confidence. If you select a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange, for example, you will have the help of a firm subject to Exchange regulations. And of a broker (Registered Representative) who had to meet Exchange qualifications to become a broker in a Member Firm.

Don't expect all Member Firms to be alike. Or brokers to be infallible. Do expect your Member Firm broker to place his firm's knowledge and experience at your service.

Never acquire stock merely on a hunch or a tip.

Always look deeper for facts. Your Member Firm broker often has at his elbow information on the company's financial position. Its earnings. The dividends it pays. Facts like these can be important in helping you make your own careful judgments.

Never ignore the risks of investing.

Always plan your investments with cool care. The wise investor chooses stocks he thinks will fit his needs and circumstances. And he doesn't overlook the relative safety of principal and income that good bonds usually provide. He remembers that prices go down as well as up, that a company may not continue to pay dividends or interest.

But he believes his country is growing, and he intends to grow with it—through sensible investment in good stock.

Send the coupon—or drop in at a local Member Firm—for a free copy of "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS," which describes the Monthly Investment Plan through which you can acquire stock with as little as $40 every three months.

New CHEVELLE! by Chevrolet

New Chevelle Malibu Sport Coupe (foreground) with Malibu Super-Sport Convertible

Only this could come between Chevrolet and Chevy II. The Chevelle is a highly polished car on a trim 115-inch wheelbase. With its weight down in the 3,000-pound range. All of which makes it a sweet-handling, easy-to-manuever automobile. But it's roomy and relaxing inside, with the kind of ride you'd expect in a bigger car. And it's styled with a lively grace and refinements (curved side windows and pillars, for example) that make its modest price all the more remarkable. A neat trick? We agree. But not so difficult really when you have the skills of seasoned Body by Fisher craftsmen to draw upon. And the advantage of Full Coil suspension developed by the same engineering talent that came up with the Jet-smooth Chevrolet's ride. And that irrepressible Chevrolet spirit in a choice of four engines—V8 or 6—including optional-at-extra-cost versions all the way up to 220-hp. Small wonder this one turned out the way it did. Did we say one? Actually there are 11 models—wagons, sedans, sport coupes, convertibles—in three series. Even some cars that have been around for a time don't give you a choice like that. Sound like something you ought to check into further? Consider this your invitation for a real hood-raising, door-slamming, seat-bouncing, wheel-turning time of it at your Chevrolet dealer's.

New U.P. Forest Era

Most foresters expect the Upper Peninsula to gain more wood industry in the not distant future. The state of the forest is the prime reason for this optimism. It is growing well and is under increasing management to upgrade its production. It has passed from the early stage of growth after the first cuttings and the great fires and is now pole size and reaching maturity or nearing it.

The erosion of old wood industry is still under way, but it has about ended. The big sawmills that were operating on a cut-out and get-out basis are gone, and those that remain can count on an increasing volume of logs. The new planning is for sustained yield operations; they can be perpetual as far as can now be foreseen.

As the Upper Peninsula forest increases in maturity, its production increases in value, but pulpwood (first big product of forest rehabilitation), while increasing in volume in 1962, decreased in Upper Peninsula use. The area made up the loss and registered a gain by selling more to Wisconsin mills.

The current interest in forest industry expansion has revealed that Upper Peninsula producers get more for their pulpwood than do those in the Lower Peninsula, although there are more mills in the Lower Peninsula and they are closer to paper markets. The U. P. edge in wood income results from proximity to Wisconsin, higher quality wood, better logging organization and equipment and older pulping industry making high price products.

The U. P. sought unsuccessfully recently for a pulp and board mill which went to the Lower Peninsula. One of the major factors in the decision to go downstate was that the mill could be placed in a developing wood area where there is very little market for wood today. It is unusual to have the U. P. regard the Lower Peninsula as less advanced, but this is the situation in pulpwood marketing.

The Upper Peninsula's wood industry development problem is chiefly geographical. It has been more economic to ship most of its pulpwood to Wisconsin mills, which are closer to paper markets, than to build new mills here to convert it.

The paper industry changes. There is no reason to believe that present conditions will endure always. The Upper Peninsula can best entice wood industry mills by upgrading its forests and expanding the volume and quality of their wood production.

This aim is encountering some new competition in the growing recreational value of the forests. If a woodland is more valuable for recreation than for wood growing, why shouldn't it be used for recreation? The option here is false. Actually, this is a case where you can and should have your cake and eat it too.

Forests under multiple use management serve the needs of both wood industry and recreation best. Esthetic value areas are reserved, but the rest are cut selectively so that there is young growth to feed wildlife, replenishment of the aging forest and provision of wood for industry.

The Upper Peninsula forest, while in a condition of new value and productivity, still has a large acreage which has not been restored to commercial usefulness. Most of it is in small ownerships, and the owners seem to be paying taxes and hoping for luck. Nature will bring it, but maybe in the next century.

Arguments for and against linking Great Britain with France by means of a bridge or tunnel have been churning the autumn air. The most interesting argument of opposition comes now from Uffa Fox, helmsman for the duke of Edinburgh, a confirmed sailor.

THIS SCEPTERED ISLE

England's glory is that it is an island, says Fox. Thus it has been able to build a tradition as the home of famous sailors. Build a link with the continent and that great history would change, for "it would dampen the enthusiasm of youngsters interested in sailing."

WASHINGTON — Any lingering doubts that President Kennedy's tax cut bill is in trouble in the Senate have been dispelled by three Democratic senators who don't ordinarily operate in a troika — Virginia's Harry Byrd, Tennessee's Albert Gore and Illinois' Paul Douglas.

Byrd has just about nailed down the lid on any action before Jan. 1 by scheduling 150 witnesses at his Senate Finance Committee hearings. And Gore and Douglas are determined to battle for added reform features which they say will give a bitter break to the little guy.

At the same time, Capitol Hill has been treated to the experience of capitalist Byrd taking a pot shot at a group of powerful big businessmen who favor Kennedy's bill.

Homage To Yoshimitsu

By JOSEPH ALSOP

KYOTO, Japan — Gay, dream-like, glittering, improbable and altogether ravishing, the Golden Pavilion seems to float upon the surface of the little lake, which lovingly reflects the building's bright gold lacquer and the deep blue-green of the encircling pine-clad hills.

The hillside that embraces the lake, the lake itself and the lake's islands, large and small, form a single incomparable garden. The site must always have been very beautiful. But every feature has been enhanced, intensified, made magical by artful encouragement of the moss-carpet under the pines, by careful accenting with great rocks, by the long-considered, seemingly artless shaping of the banks of the lake and by the islands and great granite stepping stones that give a variety to the tranquil water.

Golden Phoenix Perched On Pinnacle
As for the pavilion at the lake's edge, it has no ornament properly so-called except the golden phoenix perched upon its roof-pinnacle. There is nothing to it, really, except pure form — the rhythm of its delicately varied bracketing, the stronger rhythm of its repeating roof-curves, and the central rhythm of the diminishing spaces enclosed by its three stories.

Yet these pure forms, so elegant, so subtly understated, have been raised to purest fantasy by the contrast between the simple, almost rough wooden construction of the lowest, openest story and the warm, rich, glorious, butter-yellow gold which solidly covers the two upper stories.

As for the greatest of the pavilion in its setting, it foretells the very finest of the Japanese decorative screens. But whereas the Momoyama painters showed the green of nature against a golden background, we have here the reverse — gold singing in the foreground, against the rich green of the pavilion's cradling landscape.

Licentious, Self-Indulgent, Extravagant
The creator and first master of all this beauty was not a wholly admirable man, at any rate by current standards. Ashikaga Yoshimitsu inherited the Shogunate — a defective military dictatorship — of Japan when he was still a boy, in the third quarter of the 15th century. A. D. His was a prosperous inheritance, too.

Yet, although Ashikaga Yoshimitsu was an astute and often devious politician and ruler, he was also licentious, self-indulgent and above all, wildly extravagant. His motto, like Louis XV's, was "After me the deluge." The deluge duly came; for Yoshimitsu left the Ashikaga Shogunate hopelessly crippled, financially and in most other ways, and chaos and ruin followed his reign.

Only consider, however, the subjects of Yoshimitsu's extravagance. Under his patronage the No drama and the Tea Ceremony began to take form. In his time and with his encouragement, the arts in Japan reached the peak symbolized by the immortal Sesshu.

Garden Of The Moss Temple
And among his countless building projects, in addition to the Golden Pavilion, the world is still enriched by his restoration of the Garden of the Moss Temple. In this most hauntingly beautiful of all the world's green places, the great trees Yoshimitsu planted more than five centuries ago are only now beginning, alas, to die of old age.

It is an interesting moral problem whether to admire or deplore this wonderfully creative man, who was also so destructive. Moreover, the problem is restated, in some sense, by Ashikaga Yoshimitsu's master-work. For the Golden Pavilion itself can quite as reasonably be called a wicked building as a beautiful building.

Its mere construction started a bloody, costly civil war. And the taxes Yoshimitsu levied to pay for his exquisite pavilion and the related structures which are now lost spurred the strong Constable of the West, Ouchi Yoshijiro, to raise the standard of revolt. Rivers of blood flowed, and many hundreds of thousands endured the utmost misery before that gilt-bronze phoenix was triumphantly affixed to the pavilion's roof-pinnacle.

Beauty Drove Young Man Mad
Nor is that all. Not many years ago, the pavilion's beauty actually drove a young man mad. In a strange paroxysm of love-hate, he burned it to the ground one night. Thus what we see today is not the original handiwork of Ashikaga Yoshimitsu, but a modern replica executed with the most marvelous precision. This fact also poses its troublesome, almost unanswerable problem.

In brief, the burned pavilion no longer showed the full design of Ashikaga Yoshimitsu. It had long since lost its golden lacquer; and this bare structure of naked wood, all silvery with age, produced an effect of haunting loveliness mingled with infinite melancholy, quite different from the affect of the replica. Had the centuries thereby improved the handiwork of Yoshimitsu? Or should we more admire the dream-like gas enchantment of his true design, which has now been restored to us?

The Japanese argue these questions bitterly among themselves. But it is almost more interesting to speculate upon the other question raised by the Golden Pavilion — the question of the possible link between wickedness and beauty.

Light and power department—Line crews continued work on the three-phase line on U.S. 41, rebuilt a line on Cherry and Cox Streets in Trowbridge Park. Three new customers were connected. Water received at the hydroelectric plants was less than last week the previous week and less than the same week last year. Elevation at the Hoist Pond was raised 1.15 feet and was 1.75 feet lower than the same week last year and 12.05 feet from the top of the dam. The total system's kilowatt hour load was three per cent higher than last year, during the same week.

29 Forest Fires In U.P. During Week

Twenty-nine forest fires burned 126.5 acres of land in the Upper Peninsula state protection area during the past week.

That made a total of 464 blazes, which have burned 2,249.8 acres of land in the U.P. state protection area, for the year. By comparison, in the same period last year, there were 229 fires, blackening 506.3 acres of land.

John A. Anguilm, Marquette, assistant regional supervisor of the field administration division, Michigan Department of Conservation, said there were nine blazes in this, the Escanaba District, which includes Marquette and Delta Counties and the west half of Alger County, burning 9.4 acres of land.

For the year, the district has had 128 fires, blackening 456.1 acres of land.

97.5 Acres Burned
Five blazes burned 97.5 acres in the Baraga District (comprised of Baraga, Gogebic, Houghton, Keweenaw and Ontonagon Counties), with the district having 109 fires, blackening 414 acres of land, so far this season.

In the Crystal Falls District (Iron, Dickinson and Menominee Counties), there were five blazes, burning 4.6 acres of land, in the past week. For the year, 126 fires blackened 677 acres in the district.

In the Newberry District (the eastern portion of the U.P.), there were 10 blazes last week, burning 15 acres. So far the district has had 101 fires, blackening 702.7 acres of land.

Hiker Pearson Walks 34 Miles On Expressway

WOLVERINE (AP)—Hiker Marion Pearson covered 34 miles down the I-75 expressway Tuesday before breaking his 385-mile walk for an overnight stop at a Gaylord motel.

The 64-year-old, buckskin-clad hiker called it a day just south of Wolverine and planned to return to the spot to start today's leg of his jaunt—designed to publicize growth of the Mackinac Trail from an Indian footpath into a non-stop superhighway.

He began his walk Sunday from the International Bridge at Sault Ste. Marie and hopes to end it Oct. 30 at Sylvania, Ohio.

Pearson, who operates a Grand Rapids spring repair firm, plans to return by car to Rudyard for opening of the final 22-mile stretch of I-75 south of Sault Ste. Marie on Nov. 1.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My sister and I have a problem with our father. He is 84 years of age, and has been seeing her for about a year now. As he still drives his own car he has asked my sister (who lives out of town) if he and his "girl friend" can drive down to her place some Saturday and stay until Monday. My sister is a widow and she is very upset over the prospect of entertaining a woman she does not know. Father says he does not contemplate marriage — she is only a "girl friend." Yet he says, unless his "girl friend" is invited, he will not drive down alone any more. How should this be handled?

SISTERS

DEAR SISTERS: Tell sister to put out the welcome mat and to do it with a smile. You girls should be tickled pink that you aren't running to a nursing home with chicken soup every day.

DEAR ABBY: Please help me out of this mess I got myself into. I am 14, but I liked this life guard so much I told him I was 17 and he believed me. I told him a bunch of other lies about where I went to school and where I lived because I don't live in a very nice part of town and I didn't want him to know it. I gave him my telephone number. What will I do if he calls me up and wants to take me out? My parents are very strict and I can't date yet. Would it be terribly wrong to have him pick me up at my girl friend's house?

IN A MESS

DEAR MESS: Yes, it would be. If he calls you, tell him the truth. And DON'T tell any more fibs, or you'll find yourself in so deep that even a life guard can't save you.

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday I sent my little boy next door to borrow a cup of sugar. He came back with a large white envelope (sealed) with a cup of sugar in it. Across the envelope was written "PLEASE RETURN WITHIN 24 HOURS," and her name and address. Don't you think this is a very unfriendly way for a neighbor to act?

SHOCKED

DEAR SHOCKED: Yes, I'll wager this woman isn't bothered by the same "borrower" twice, which is undoubtedly her motive.

CONFIDENTIAL TO GRIEVING MOTHER: Do not grieve too long. Had your daughter been a really "bad" girl, she would have known all the tricks.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to

State Civil Service Pay Bids Studied

Pay increase demands by state employee organizations which would cost from $13.8 to $33.6 million annually and Secretary of State James Hare's opposition to the commission's intention to limit his major fee branch operations were heard by the Michigan Civil Service Commission at its two-day October meeting.

At a public hearing on pay scales for the classified service for fiscal 1964-65, the commission heard a request from the Michigan State Employees Union for a 49 cent hourly across-the-board wage increase which would cost an estimated $33.6 million.

The Michigan State Employees Association asked a three per cent across-the-board wage hike plus an additional 20 cents per hour for employees in the lower job classifications. Cost of the package was estimated at $13.8 million.

Fringe Boost Sought
Both organizations asked for improvements in the commission's fringe benefit program. The only state agency appearing was the Conservation Department, which asked adjustments be considered for its employees and pointed to recent federal pay adjustments for conservation workers.

The hearing was part of the commission's current study of pay scales for 32,000 classified workers to be effective next

July. The commission is currently comparing state pay and fringe benefits with rates paid similar jobs by 355 private employers in Michigan and 61 public jurisdictions within the state and around the nation.

Civil Service staff pay recommendations are due early in December and the commission's decision before the first of the year.

Objections By Hare
The commission heard objections from Hare to its plan to require his major branch offices be converted from operation by managers selected by him and paid on a fee basis to as civil service workers. It then ordered the commission staff to attempt to work out a plan with the secretary of state's office which would result in the elimination of fee branch competition in major population centers and their consolidation and replacement by merit workers.

Financial Scene: Credit Card Business Firming Up

By JACK LEFLER
NEW YORK (AP) — The credit card business is firming up after going through some rocky times.

Companies have weeded out the bad risks that cut into their profits in the early days of the business.

New Internal Revenue Service regulations on expense accounts have made substantiation of certain expenditures necessary.

'Respectable Document'
And, says Howard L. Clark, president of American Express Co., which is observing the fifth anniversary of its entrance into the credit card business: "The rise in credit card use is a reflection of more and more people deciding that a credit card is a respectable and useful document."

The Big Three of the credit card field are Diners Club, American Express and Carte Blanche. Together they represent about 2.5 million cardholders who pay dues of $8 million annually and account for $450 million in receivables.

High Volume Seen
Clark said profits from American Express credit cards this year will be substantial but the company does not break down net income of the cards from other activities. He predicted that credit card volume for 1963 will total $235 million against $189 million last year.

Diners Club had $200 million in worldwide receivables in 1962 and said volume and profit would be up this year.

Carte Blanche's receivables dropped from $104 million in 1961 to $85 million in 1962. Current figures were not immediately available.

In addition to the Big Three, there are about 40 bank credit plans remaining out of about 100 which were formed during the initial rush to get into the field.

There also are retail credit card plans which cater chiefly to customers of shopping centers.

Pay Annual Fee
Cardholders pay an annual fee for membership. Then can charge meals, hotel expenses, etc. The establishment patronized pays the credit card company a percentage and the company bills the member.

The credit card companies provide forms on which the cardholder can designate the time and place and the reason for his expenditure. This furnishes a record for submission to the Internal Revenue Service, which now requires an accounting of expense account expenditures exceeding $25.

Wig Fashion A Codsend: Behave In Bad Weather

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON AP Fashion Writer NEW YORK (AP) — He often heard his famous mother say that to busy women the wig fashion was a Godsend since feminine hair, especially in bad weather, behaves as unpredictably as women themselves. But the lady, bathing suit designer Rose Marie Reid, also lamented that good hair wigs cost so much and are a further expense having them cleaned and set regularly. To 26-year-old Bruce Reid, a market engineer primarily in the aircraft business, this distasteful dilemma was an intriguing challenge. Today, a year after tackling the problem, his attractive mother proudly wears the fruits of his research—any one of his 16 shades of wash-and-wear wigs. So confident is he that a woman's coiffure situation is now well in hand that Reid has turned the dull business of marketing his wigs to other people, leaving his mind free to wrestle with a new challenge, far-fetched hydrofoil transportation. Reid is smug because he believes that with modern chemical fiber techniques and mass production methods, he beat nature at her own hair game. Undoubtedly European craftsmen who for generations have painstakingly crocheted individual hair strands into net caps would be horrified at the sight of speedy machines in New England knitting up hair by the yard, like dense, shaggy carpets. From this odd material, Reid's wigs are cut and stitched. The thick hairs are thinned, shaped and arranged into styles on the wig buyers' heads. Unlike cheap wigs where hair strips are sewn across the cap leaving bald gaps in between, the young man's hair invention can be brushed any which way, even parted without telling on itself. Unless a woman wants a switch as drastic as from page-

D-40 hair sheds water in rain, can even go in swimming without ill effects. Also unlike real hair, color won't fade in the sun because it is chemically a part of the spidery fiber. Traveling with these wigs is merely a matter of turning them inside out and jamming them into a purse until future wearing. Does it look like hair? It has fooled an office full of men. But the feel is coarse, like hair with spray net on it. "What doesn't it do that hair can do?" a hair stylist shaping one of the wigs was asked. "Well," she answered after some thought, "it won't grow." Reid will have to work on that.

Engaging In Exercise Helps Obese Children

BOSTON (AP) — It's just like trying to make a horse drink: You may lead a fat child into sports but he may not exercise. A Boston doctor took movies of overweight and normal weight children engaging in individual and team activities. Even in games, the obese children on the average were much less active than the non-obese. Tabe tennis, Dr. Jean Mayer, associate professor of nutrition at the Harvard School of Public Health, says this: "The active player went after the ball while his inactive competitor attempted a return only when the ball was returned to his immediate vicinity." Dr. Mayer and his associate, Dr. Beverly Bullen, made an analysis that showed the average child was inactive 30 per cent of the time in tennis while the obese child managed to remain inactive 55 per cent of the time. In volleyball, obese children were even less active. They succeeded in remaining inactive 82 per cent of the time, compared with 54 per cent inactivity for the average-weight player. The fat child tends to wait until the ball is within range before moving. And swimming periods for the overweight children proved to be delightfully motionless. While average children were inactive in the water less than a quarter of the time, the overweight managed 72 per cent inactivity. "The overweight children

Gwinn Pupils Hear Talk By Thai YMCA Secretary

GWINN — Pradit Namchal, YMCA secretary from Bangkok, Thailand, who was among 150 attending a training program in Cleveland for social workers from all over the world, visited the Gwinn area yesterday morning and spoke to the high school's Hi-Y Club and to the geography class of the junior high school.

Besides visiting Gwinn, Namchal was scheduled to make a stop at Mass High School yesterday afternoon.

Namchal came to Marquette County to visit with the newly appointed YMCA secretary for the Upper Peninsula, Karl H. Benne of Marquette.

Benne pointed out that Hi-Y Clubs and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs are service groups co-sponsored by the YMCA and the high schools.

"The Michigan YMCA raises about $70,000 a year to help YMCA's in other countries," Benne said, "and one quarter of that ($17,000) is raised by these service clubs."

Benne, a native of Germany, came to the United States eight years ago and attended school in Chicago before taking a job as secretary with the YMCA.

He met Namchal while he was stationed at Bangkok for one year.

Namchal has returned to Mansfield, Ohio, and will leave there Oct. 27 for New York. He will leave New York on Nov. 1 and be home the following day.

Pioneer Skanee Woman Writing History Of Area

By ERNEST H. RANKIN
Marquette County
Historical Society

Many men consider a woman to be charming only when she is between the ages of 18 and 28 — after which duration most women remain ageless until they have completed their three-score and 10. By that time maturity has instilled into them a far greater charm — and most are no longer concerned with their age.

This is especially true of the subject of this article, who will add another decade to her age and admit her 80 years on Feb. 23, 1964. These have been busy years, undoubtedly trying at times, but overall, rewarding. Unlike many grandmothers who take to knitting in their borrowed years, Mrs. Beatrice von Keller of Skanee has undertaken the task of writing a history of the Huron Bay area.

Included in her project will be the old slate quarry town of Arvon, the 50-mile Lac Vieux Desert trail which ran between the lake of that name and L'Anse, Skanee and last, but not least, the Million Dollar Railroad (Iron Range & Huron Bay R.R.) which never knew the clackity-clack of wheels passing over low joints.

Well-Fitted For Task

Disturbed by the fact that no one has ever written a comprehensive history of this area, Mrs. von Keller took up this task several years ago. She does not propose to prepare a work of mere dates and hard-boiled facts, but to include folklore of the region, which, when stated as such, does much to enhance the history of any area.

Mrs. von Keller is well-fitted for this admirable undertaking, being a native of Skanee, her father, Waldred Been, having been its founder. Unfortunately, there are too few of the early residents left of this once prosperous community on Huron Bay, 16 miles northeast of L'Anse. Charley Newman is the only native, other than Mrs. von Keller, living there, his grandfather having taken out a homestead in 1873. Two other long-time residents are Mrs. Sophia Barnes, whose family assumed residence in 1882, and Mrs. Elin Oaker, whose father, August Lundberg, came there in 1886. Neither of these women was born at Skanee.

Given Harsh Sound
Waldred Been was a native of Helsingborg, province of Malmohus, Sweden. This province, along with Christianstad, is located at the extreme southern tip of Sweden, comprising the ancient realm of Skane, anglicized to Skanee to preserve its pronunciation. Mrs. von Keller is quite insistent that the soft enunciation of its Swedish "a" be preserved. Unfortunately, modern usage has given it its harsh sound, as is so frequently the case in the anglicizing of foreign words.

Helsingborg is located on the Sound, which separates the lower end of Sweden from Denmark's Zealand, with the Cattenagat to the north and the Baltic Sea to the south. Across the sound, some 30 miles away, is Copenhagen, the capital city of Denmark. Waldred Been was born at Helsingborg on Oct. 10, 1824, the youngest of 14 children.

Skipped His Ship
From his boyhood, Been had a liking for the sea, spending as much time as possible in boating along the waterfront of Helsingborg. This did not please his father, who wanted him to become a doctor, with the result that Been attended a medical school for a couple of years while in his late teens, proving to his parent that he did not have the makings of a doctor. He was then permitted to enter the Stockholm School of Navigation and was graduated from there in 1845 with the rank of captain, by which designation he was known throughout his life time.

After a couple of years of sailing in the local waters, he sailed before the mast to New York City, arriving there in 1847 — where he skipped his ship. He then purchased a small schooner and sailed on Lake Erie for a short time — until his ship was lost in a storm; however, all hands were saved. Next he acquired considerable land in the Saginaw area, which in time he traded for another ship, sailing in this to the Lake Superior country. For a number of years he was engaged in commercial fishing during the summer and trapping in the winter. In 1864 he returned to Sweden to visit his family and, among his shipmates on the return voyage, was a Swedish girl, Agnes Zellen. In those days a voyage across the Atlantic was a matter of weeks at sea during, which time Been wooed and won the hand of Agnes, and they were married upon arrival at New York City.

Prosperous Farm Community
The Beens then took up residence at Baraga. Capt. Been, during his several years of acquaintance with the Lake Superior country, had become impressed with the area on the east side of Huron Bay, and when it was opened for homesteading he acquired 160 acres, building the first permanent home at Skanee in 1872. Three of the six Been children — two boys and four girls — were born at Baraga and the others at Skanee, Beatrice being the youngest. Capt. Been encouraged other Swedes to take up homesteads in the area, and by the 1880's Skanee had become a prosperous farming community, the captain forsaking the sea to become a farmer, storekeeper, postmaster, town supervisor and saw mill operator. He remained active until his death on Oct. 31, 1907, at the age of 84.

Throughout these many years the Been homestead has remained in the possession of the family, its ownership passing into the hands of Beatrice upon the death of her sister, Miss Winifred Been, who died June 6, 1962, at the age of 94. The old home is now occupied only during the summer months, during which time Mrs. von Keller entertains many of her relatives and friends, which leaves little time for writing history except during the winter months.

First School House
Oscar Zellen, her uncle, as well as one of Skanee's pioneers, conducted its first school in his log cabin home. It was not until 1875 that Skanee had its first school house, Capt. Been furnishing the material. Beatrice Been received her primary education at this school. After finishing eighth grade, Beatrice received a desultory education in several schools at various places, during which time she studied art for two years at the Royal Academy, Stockholm, Sweden. While returning to America in 1907, she met aboard her ship, Herman von Keller, an American electrical engineer, and the second shipboard romance in the family resulted in their marriage upon arrival at New York City. A short time later they returned to Europe, living both in Germany and France until von Keller's death in 1918, resulting from the effects of World War I. The only issue of this marriage was Alice Beatrice, she being born in 1909 at Clarmart, a suburb of Paris.

Mrs. von Keller then returned to America, entering the University of Chicago in the fall of 1918 as an art student. Not only did she study art, but she had to complete her high school studies to meet college entrance requirements — and bring up a growing daughter. In 1927 Mrs. von Keller received her master's degree in art, as well as receiving a scholarship to the Sorbonne, Paris. It was this same year that her daughter, Alice Beatrice, entered the University of Chicago as an art student, to follow in the footsteps of her talented mother, even to the receiving of a Sorbonne scholarship. This daughter, now Mrs. John Henderson, is presently teaching art in the public schools at Lafayette, Ind., and her daughter is now following in the footsteps of mother and grandmother. Mrs. von Keller, in a recent interview, remarks that it is strange that both Alice Beatrice and her daughter, Catherine Henderson, took to art rather than music as Mr. von Keller had been an accomplished musician and pianist.

Became Art Professor

After her year at the Sorbonne, Mrs. von Keller returned to the States, accepting the position of professor of arts at Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Va. Except for three years during World War II, when she was released to serve as a co-director of the Virginia Museum, Richmond, Va., its director being engaged in military services, she remained with this school for 25 years. Upon her retirement, she returned to the Upper Peninsula, spending the summers at the old Skanee homestead with a relative for companionship and during the winter visiting various relatives or living in an apartment in L'Anse.

It was late in April 1963 when Mrs. von Keller first visited the Marquette County Historical Society seeking, through its Longyear Collection, material for her projected history. The staff members were immediately impressed with her charm, graciousness and dedication to her project. She worked hard for several days amassing much material on the Huron Bay area. Upon her departure, she extended a warm invitation to all those who had assisted her in her research to come and visit her at the Skanee homestead. It was not until late in September that it became possible to take advantage of this invitation.

Been Homestead

Whereas in the early days there was only a trail between L'Anse and Skanee and all the supplies were received by boat during the summer, there is now an excellent paved road leading to this out-of-the-way community. Except for many of the homes, most of the original buildings have disappeared, and today one will find the substantial Arvon Town Hall, the modern Arvon Township School, a co-operative store and the Zion Lutheran Church, which boasts a membership of 250, with about 80 attending its Sunday school. Capt. Been designed this church and was instrumental in its building. It is served by a joint pastor, the Rev. Robert Sutherland, who also serves a church in Baraga.

A hundred yards or so beyond the post office, which is on the left side of the road as one approaches Huron Bay — there never was a village of grouped structures — one will find on the right, the Been homestead, gnarled apple trees of the old orchard garnishing the roadway. The house is unattractive to a marked degree — this Mrs. von Keller insists upon — any beauty which it might have had being destroyed by a building-paper covering of simulated bricks — this non-esthetic treatment being a matter of heat retention, rather than for beauty. One would hardly suspect, in viewing this house from the outside, that it contains 14 rooms, many of them quite large. While the front door may have served a useful purpose in former days, one now enters the house through a large screened porch and into the kitchen.

se oil lamps were the latest thing in lighting. They were arranged so that they could be lowered for cleaning and filling. Unfortunately, in modernizing they have been electrified; however, the beauty of the fixtures has not been entirely destroyed. Mrs. von Keller recalls that, when a school girl, she had to wash 18 lamp chimneys every day. She is especially proud of the somewhat steep chairway leading to the second floor, particularly its black walnut banister. While she did not so state, as a child, along with her brothers and sisters, she undoubtedly aided in keeping the railing well polished using it as a vehicle for rapid transportation between the second and first floor.

Interview concluded, we were invited to join with Mrs. John Been, her widowed sister-in-law, now 85, on the kitchen porch to enjoy light refreshments and the warmth of the late afternoon autumn sun. Mrs. Been, a resident of Minneapolis, has been Mrs. von Keller's companion throughout the summer. She also expresses that charm which only maturity and gracious living bestow upon those who are truly ageless.

Observe School Bus Law, Drivers Warned By Chief

NEGAUNEE — As a result of several complaints received within the past week regarding failure of drivers to comply with laws pertaining to operation of vehicles which are approaching or following school buses, Police Chief Ralph Carlson today reminded motorists that they must stop whenever buses are loading or unloading passengers.

"Complaints we have received pertain to buses which pick up and discharge students within the city limits, and it could be that failure of drivers to observe the law is due to ignorance on their part," Chief Carlson said.

"However, they must remember that their failure to be familiar with the regulation is no excuse. It is necessary for drivers to stop, whether they are

We request the cooperation of bus drivers and local citizens in furnishing the police department with the license numbers of vehicles which they may notice breaking the law at times when officers are not in the vicinity."
