CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A 90-foot-tall Titan 2 rocket, split into two stages, rolled onto launch complex No. 19 on special shock-resistant wheeled carriers.

Thus, an Air Force-contractor team began Monday the complex task of preparing the rocket for the first launching in the United States' next man-in-space effort, Project Gemini.

The initial flight will attempt to hoist a mockup model of the two-man Gemini spacecraft into orbit. It will tell engineers many things: the structural compatibility of the spacecraft and booster; temperatures and pressures which will affect the combination; performance of the guidance system, and Titan 2's ability to place a payload into a precise orbit.

The flight will be one of two, perhaps three, unmanned launchings designed to "mature" the Titan 2 for astronaut orbital and space rendezvous missions. The first astronaut flight is scheduled late next year.

Far From Ready The intercontinental-range Titan 2 has performed well in military weapon tests—but it is far from ready for manned flight. The major problem is a vibration which could blur the astronauts' instrument panel during the critical launching phase.

The vibration trouble is one reason the Gemini program is a year behind schedule. It has been called the "pogo effect" because it vibrates the length of the missile like a boy hopping up and down on a pogo stick.

The chief of the Air Force Gemini launch division, Lt. Col. John G. Albert, told newsmen about the difficulty.

Possible Villain "It occurs between 90 and 140 seconds after launching and vibrates at 11 cycles per second," he said. "We haven't pinpointed the precise cause. There are several things under study."

The turbopump is believed to be the most likely villain and its impeller is being redesigned.

Albert noted the Titan 2 has been modified considerably for the Gemini flights and as a result it may not have the vibration problem.

'It May Be Worse' "That doesn't mean we're not concerned," he said. "It might turn out to be worse."

Court Rules Trap To Bar Wife Legal!

LONDON (AP) — England's high court ruled Monday that an electrical trap a man rigged up to bar his wife from his home did not in itself break the law.

The husband is Frederick Munks, 26, a miner. To keep his estranged wife, Doreen, out of his house he wired his windows with 240 volts from a kitchen plug. Doreen got a shock, and Munks was convicted of violating the offenses against the Person Act of 1861.

The judges quashed Munks' 18-month sentence and said the 1861 act covered a spring gun, a man trap, "or any other engine." The court held that the electrical device did not come under the definition of "any other engine."

ROBERT BAKER

U.S. Senate Begins Probe Of Baker

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators open their investigation today of Robert G. Baker, the page boy they called "Bobby," who quickly grew up to wealth and power as secretary of the Senate's Democratic majority.

The first witnesses in the Rules Committee's closed hearing was to be Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., who has conducted a one-man probe of the affairs of Baker, 35, who resigned his Senate job under fire Oct. 7.

A specific point under the committee's scrutiny is an allegation that Baker used pressure tactics to induce big defense contractors to install at their plants vending machines of various kinds leased from a firm in which he had a financial stake. Baker has denied any pressure tactics.

The case has been followed by disclosure that Baker was a moving spirit in the organization of an exclusive Capitol Hill group known as the Quorum Club, Inc., at a hotel across the street from the Senate Office Building. Its membership included Congress members and lobbyists.

Unsalaries Secretary He also has been named as the unsalaried secretary of a travel agency which numbered Congress members and lobbyists among its clients.

GM Reports Record High Earnings

NEW YORK (AP) — Dazzling profit figures are sprouting from the dizzy production and sales pace set by Detroit's automakers.

They gave promise of warming the hearts—and palms—of stockholders, including the more than one million of the General Motors Corp.

Of the "Big Three" automakers, only Ford Motor Co. remained today to be heard from following GM's report of all-time high earnings and dollar sales in the nine months ended Sept. 30.

Chrysler Split Chrysler Corp. last week unfolded another financial chapter in its spectacular. Directors promptly voted a 2-for-1 stock split, the second in less than a year, and in effect doubled the dividend.

GM's pattern of rewarding its shareholders — whether by more liberal dividend treatment or possibly a stock split—will be decided when directors meet Monday in New York.

In the first nine months, GM cleared $1,085,000,000, or $3.79 a common stock share, an unprecedented sales of $11,681,000,000.

1962 Records The results suggested strongly that GM was on the way to shattering 1962's records for a full year of $1,459,000,000 in earnings and $14,640,000,000 in sales, levels unequaled by any manufacturing corporation.

The nine-month figures compared with $962 million, or $3.35 a share, cleared in the comparable 1962 period, on sales of $10,451,000,000.

Wall Street has been alive with speculation over what GM directors will do next week. Many traders and brokers looked at least for a rise in the regular dividend rate, pegged at 50 cents a quarter since 1956, or a fat yearend extra.

Lawmaker Asks Probe Of Fraulein

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican congressman has asked the administration to reveal the inside story of a German beauty who was whisked out of the country after reportedly boasting of amorous frolics with Washington figures.

"Members of Congress and the public are entitled to know whether there was any element of security violation concerned in this speedy and hitherto unpublicized deportation," Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, told the House Monday.

'Seems Harmless' The West German defense minister identified the status-quo brunette as Mrs. Elly Rometsch, 27. He said she and her sergeant husband had been called home last August on the basis of intelligence reports about her behavior.

The defense minister said the woman had no contacts with persons from the Soviet bloc and "the whole thing seems harmless."

Sgt. Rometsch had been assigned to the West German military mission in Washington. Officials here said the kiss-and-tell frau was sent packing after a quiet investigation by the FBI but that she was not deported.

Quorum Club Gross linked Mrs. Rometsch's case with the Senate investigation of the business affairs of Robert G. Baker, who resigned as Senate Democratic secretary after allegations he used influence to help his business interests.

Among the unconfirmed stories making the rounds is that Mrs. Rometsch was often at the Quorum Club, of which Baker was a charter member. It has been an elegant gathering place for lobbyists and members of Congress. Quorum employees insisted they never heard of her.

Divorced As for Sgt. Rometsch, the London Daily Mirror quoted him in a dispatch from Bonn as saying he divorced his wife last month—a month after returning from Washington—and adding: "I had no idea of irregular conduct."

"Then on Aug. 14 my superior told me that my wife had been indulging in amorous adventures. Seven days later Ellen and I were on our way back to Germany. My wife denied everything."

Hiding Out The Mirror said Mrs. Rometsch is hiding out with her 5-year-old son in a hut on her parents' farm.

Ben Bella, King Open Peace Meet

BAMAOKO, Mali (AP) — President Ahmed Ben Bella of Algeria and King Hassan II of Morocco arrived in Bamako today to bring their border war to the conference table.

Hassan, first to arrive, was smiling. Ben Bella arrived about a half hour later. Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, a prime mover in mediation efforts, was the last to arrive.

President Modibo Keita of Mali immediately invited the three leaders to lunch at his palace before the first session of the conference.

Western diplomats hoped the meeting would produce a cease-fire in the disputed border area between Morocco and Algeria.

Vatican Vote Likely To Have Implications On Drive For Unity

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council emphasized its consideration of the nature of the Church, while 1,074 voted to consider a separate document concerning her in a larger schema on the Roman Catholic Church as a whole.

The action is expected to have wide implications for efforts to promote Christian unity. Protestants often have criticized Roman Catholic emphasis on Mary.

One Of Closest Votes Two council fathers voted for incorporation with reservations, and three ballots were blank. It was one of the closest votes in the council since the assembly of 2,300 prelates opened more than a year ago. Council decisions usually require a two-thirds majority, but the action today was considered procedural and required only a majority of the 2,193 prelates voting, or 1,097 votes.

Chapter As a result of the vote, the Marian topic will become a chapter in the theological schema "De Ecclesia," which examines the nature and structure of the Roman Catholic Church.

George Romney announced the selection today of the Flint girl who was not expected to survive her first year because she was born with an open spine. After corrective surgery, Mary Lou is starting the effort of learning how to walk, and helps her mother, Mrs. Raymond Graves, sweep the floors and dust the furniture. (AP Wirephoto.)

20,000 Layoffs In Fish Industry

DETROIT (AP) — The three-week-old botulism food poisoning scare is causing a reported 20,000 layoffs in the Great Lakes commercial fishing industry. Meantime, the nation's fishing industry is fighting to restore public confidence in its smoked fish product.

Great Lakes area layoff reports came from commercial fishing sources Monday as representatives of the industry began meetings with government officials at Washington in an effort to regain the housewife's favor.

Seven Deaths Sales of smoked fish plummeted after seven deaths from botulism and a government warning to the public not to eat smoked fish from the Great Lakes area unless it is known to have been properly processed.

The seven deaths, blamed on botulism in smoked fish, were in Michigan, Tennessee and Alabama.

Warnings The federal Food and Drug Administration agreed after the meetings with industry men to issue a statement re-emphasizing that its warnings on smoked fish does not apply to fresh fish, salt water fish, canned fish, fresh-frozen fish or smoked fish from any place except the Great Lakes region.

Castro Forbids Sale Of Beer In Daytime During Working Days MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Havana Radio has announced a government ban on daytime sales of beer during work-days, starting today.

Fidel Castro's Interior Ministry set 6:30 p. m. as the time Cubans can start buying their brew.

"In this way workmen can buy beer after they finish their daily work, and vagrants and parasites will not be in a position to obtain great amounts of the product," said the broadcast, monitored in Miami.

Lansing Cops Hold Suspect In Kidnaping

LANSING (AP) — A suspect in the abduction of 5-year-old Michelle Moran was held overnight by Lansing police who said they would seek a kidnaping warrant against the man.

Police withheld identification of the man. The daughter of Mrs. Donna Moran of East Lansing was kidnaped from her mother's car outside a shopping center Friday evening. Michelle was found in a ditch alongside a highway about three miles from Lansing Saturday morning. Police said No Admission

Sgt. Edwin Gawronski said the suspect came into headquarters Monday night "in regards to another matter. He was involved in a hit and run accident on the day of the kidnaping, just about one hour and 15 minutes before, right in that vicinity."

The suspect did not sign a statement and did not admit any connection with the kidnaping, Gawronski said.

Death Brings Race Protest

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Hundreds of Negroes surged through a North Philadelphia neighborhood Monday night protesting the slaying of a Negro by a policeman.

Policemen estimated about 500 Negroes rioted through the streets before they were dispersed by about 60 policemen.

Twenty-three persons, 19 of them minors, were arrested. The neighborhood has been tense since Saturday's slaying of Willie Philayaw Jr., 24, a Negro. Police said he was shot by patrolman John Tourigan after lunging with a knife at the officer. The policeman who is white, told authorities he was arresting Philayaw for shoplifting.

Testing Grounds For Goldwater In 6 Primaries WASHINGTON (AP) — A half-dozen primaries in strategic states are shaping up as likely testing grounds for Sen. Barry Goldwater bids actively for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

Goldwater backers now seem certain to put the senator into the Illinois April 14 primary, even though the results will not be binding on the 58-vote convention delegation. The candidate's consent is not required, although he could withdraw if he chose.

Other possible dates Goldwater may have with the voters in the primaries include Nebraska, May 12; Oregon, May 15; Florida, May 26; and California, June 2.

Negro State Senator Challenges Governor On Religious Grounds

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's only Negro state senator Monday challenged Gov. George Romney to confirm or deny that "Mormons still believe the 'curse of Cain' follows Negroes from their birth to their grave."

"I am just not going to get into a discussion of religious matters," Romney answered. The challenge came in a floor speech by Sen. Basil Brown, D-Detroit, who said he considered published accounts of Mormon policy toward Negroes an affront to his race.

"Run As Citizen" "If a man believes in the inferiority of Negroes," Brown said after his floor speech, "how can he represent nearly one million Negroes in this state as their Governor?"

"I didn't run for Governor of Michigan as a Mormon," said Romney. "I ran as an American citizen."

"The only question is whether I accept the fact that we are all equal as citizens and as children of God, and I accept that without reservation," Romney said.

Brown quoted an article by a Mormon who said he had been taught by the church that Negroes are inferior. "I was never taught that," Romney said. "In my 24 years in Michigan my actions in working to eliminate discrimination and injustice in housing, employment, education and public accommodations speak louder than any words."

"I ask people to judge me on the basis of what I have done," Romney said.

Won't Discuss It "There is no way in which I can undertake a discussion of religion and theology without injecting religion into public affairs and I am not going to do it," Romney said.

Compromise Plan Okayed By Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee approved today an administration-backed compromise civil rights bill. The vote was 20-14.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration today won its fight to kill a tough civil rights bill in the House Judiciary Committee and pressed for quick passage of the measure.

Meeting shortly after President Kennedy had conferred with House leaders of both parties, the committee rejected by a 19-15 vote a bill the administration contended was too stiff to get through Congress.

Milder Bill It then began consideration of a milder, but still wide-ranging bill that is stronger in some respects than the original administration proposal. The bill was worked out by the administration during the last few days in close collaboration with key House Republicans.

Although some supporters of the defeated bill, which was drafted by a judiciary subcommittee claimed it could have been passed, others conceded the new proposals will have a better chance of passage.

At the White House meeting, Kennedy was reported to have told Democratic and Republican House leaders he expected them to work together to move the compromise bill smoothly through the House.

It was not immediately clear whether the committee would reach a vote today on the new package. When the meeting began many members had not even seen it.

It was finally put together late Monday night and printed copies were distributed to some members this morning.

It is a 56-page bill that contains all of the original seven administration proposals, covering voting rights, school desegregation and extension of the Civil Rights Commission, establishment of a community relations service, and a tough new provision that would authorize the administration to withhold federal funds for federally aided programs in which discrimination is practiced.

Hurricane Ginny Heads Out To Sea

NEW YORK (AP) — Hurricane Ginny, picking up speed after days of meandering, brushed past eastern Long Island with gale-force winds today and headed toward open sea.

The Weather Bureau canceled a hurricane watch on the New England coast and a flood warning for Long Island.

This morning radar found the center of the storm about 180 miles east of Nantucket. Ginny was moving northeastward at about 35 miles an hour, packing an estimated 95-MPH punch at the center and flinging gale-force winds for 225 miles.

Heavy rain brought relief to portions of eastern New England.

63 Rescued In Gold Mine

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Sixty-three miners trapped in an elevator shaft of one of the world's deepest gold mines emerged safely Monday night to be greeted by jubilant relatives and friends.

All the miners were pronounced in good shape. Thirteen were trapped for 12 hours in a cage nearly a mile below the surface. The other 50 spent 14 hours in another cage at the 1,000-foot level.

A mishap in the lift machinery, which fatally injured a workman, caused the cages to become stuck Monday. The accident occurred at a mine near Carletonville, 60 miles southwest of Johannesburg.

Patrolman's Child, Mother Hurt In Car Crash In Marquette

Three persons were injured, four motorists were issued summonses and nine vehicles and a train were involved in five traffic accidents which occurred in Marquette yesterday.

State police investigated two traffic mishaps (see other local accident story and Negaunee section story).

1. In the worst of the city smashups, a city patrolman's daughter and his mother were injured and two vehicles wrecked. It occurred at 8:04 last evening in the 700 block of W. Washington St.

City police said Freda E. Benson, 43, of 2322 Longear Ave., was driving west on W. Washington St. and had signalled for a right turn into a private driveway when her automobile was struck from behind by a vehicle operated by Charles R. Lyons, 28, Route 1, Box 447, Ishpeming.

Shoved Into Hydrant
The impact shoved the Benson car ahead about 15 feet, causing it to smash into a fire hydrant on the right (north) side of the street, officers said.

Jacqueline Benson, 3, riding with her grandmother, was thrown against the dashboard and suffered a head concussion and cuts and bruises about her face. Mrs. Benson was shoved against the steering wheel and sustained bruises about her arms and legs and possible internal injuries.

The child, daughter of City Patrolman and Mrs. Albin Benson, 738 W. Washington St., was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in the city ambulance. Mrs. Benson, mother of Patrolman Benson, was taken to St. Mary's in the patrol car.

Hospital officials this morning reported the condition of both the injured persons as being "satisfactory."

Arrested For Tipping Driving
Extensive damage resulted to the right front fender and hood of the Lyons car, a 1959 four-door sedan, and to the entire front end and left rear fender of the Benson automobile, a 1957 station wagon. Both cars had to be removed from the scene by wreckers.

City police arrested Lyons on a charge of drunk driving and lodged him in the city jail overnight. He was scheduled to be arraigned in municipal court today.

2. The other injury resulted from a crumple-up at 4:20 yesterday afternoon at the corner of S. Front and Main Sts. and involved automobiles operated by William F. Armstrong, 72, of 101 Genesee St., and Perry L. Jones III, 21, of 420 Cedar St.

City police said Armstrong, took place at 6:35 last evening at the Soo Line Railroad Co. crossing on S. Lake St., near the Standard Oil Co. bulk plant, on S. Lake St.

Extensive Damage Results
City police said a 1958 tank truck being driven east on the Standard Oil driveway by John A. Gaboury, 57, of 246 W. Michigan St., struck the lead tank car of a 14-car freight train traveling south on the main track.

City police said the engine was pushing the load from the rear and the switchman was on the opposite side of the lead car with a light. Poor visibility was blamed for the accident.

James Kline, 411 Baraga Ave., was the engineer and Rene Meyskens, 500 Fisher St., was the conductor of the train. The sill step on the tank car was bent.

Extensive damage resulted to the right front of Gaboury's truck, which had to be removed from the scene by a wrecker.

Right-Of-Way Violation
City police issued Armstrong a ticket for failing to yield the right-of-way.

3. At 1:45 yesterday afternoon a car being driven west on Baraga Ave. by Veronica A. Dagenais, 26, of 217 Newberry St., went out of control and struck an automobile owned by Johnnie D. Hutson, which was parked in front of his residence at 517 Baraga Ave.

Issued Two Tickets
City police said Mrs. Dagenais reported she lost control of her car while swatting a bug which had flown into her car. The vehicle went to the south (left) side of the street, hitting the front end of the Hutson car.

The right front fender, hood and bumper of Hutson's car, a 1960 two-door sedan, and the front end of the Dagenais auto, a 1955 four-door sedan, were damaged. Both vehicles were able to be driven from the scene.

City police issued Mrs. Dagenais two tickets, one for failing to have her car under control and the other for not having an operator's license.

4. An automobile being driven away from the curb on the east side of S. Front St. by James E. Bellant, 24, of 214 Mesnard St., was involved in a collision with a car operated by Corrine S. Hebert, 62, of 509 W. Washington St., who was traveling north on Front, in the 300 block, at 8:58 yesterday morning.

Right-Of-Way Violation
The right front fender of the Hebert car, a 1958 two-door sedan, and the left front fender of Bellant's vehicle, a 1957 station wagon, were damaged. Both cars were driven from the scene.

City police ticketed Bellant for a right-of-way violation.

5. A vehicle-train crumple-up

Hospital Commission Called For

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's outgoing insurance commissioner has called for creation of a permanent state hospital commission and a series of changes in laws governing Michigan Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

They were included in a list of 11 recommendations submitted to Gov. George Romney by Sherwood Colburn, who steps out Nov. 1 to make way for Allen Mayerson, a University of Michigan professor named by Romney.

Colburn, who fought a six-month battle with directors of the prepaid hospital and medical care programs earlier this year, said his proposals are aimed at making the insurance firms "more responsive to the needs of their subscribers."

He called on Romney to support proposals which, he said, would strengthen the insurance commissioner's role in making decisions on proposed rate increases, broaden Blue Cross and Blue Shield coverage, and provide greater public voice in their operations.

Shows Halt Fire Hazard; Frost Predicted Tonight

Showers yesterday and early today halted the forest fire hazard in the area, with cooler weather prevailing and frost being predicted tonight.

Meteorologist Emil Ellingson said the rainfall was caused by a trough of low pressure extending from this region eastward. Rain was expected off and on throughout the day, but it'll clear up tonight, he said.

At the same time, Gov. George Romney withdrew his ban on fires in the Upper Peninsula as a result of the easing of drought conditions. The ban remains in effect in the Lower Peninsula, however, where a severe fire hazard still exists.

Lifting of the order in this region means hunters and others may build fires and smoke in the forests, fields and wild lands, although conservation personnel still urged persons doing so to exercise caution.

Hottest October
With extreme temperatures yesterday of 53 and 40 and a mean reading of 47, which was four above normal, and only three days of averages remaining, this month is destined to be the hottest October on record in Marquette.

For the month, which has had only two days of sub-normal temperatures, the mean reading is currently 11.8 degrees a day above normal.

It'll be in the middle 30s along the lake and colder inland, along with the frost, tonight, and tomorrow it'll be warmer, near 60. Thursday's outlook is for cloudy and warmer, with a chance of scattered showers.

Marquette Potato For Khrushchev

There is a nursery rhyme which has intrigued millions of kids because "he put in his thumb, pulled out a plum and said: 'what a good boy am I!'" Well, Mrs. Joseph Barron, 122 Bluff St., a comely tomato, pulled out a potato and muttered, "this is carrying the cold war too far!" For Mrs. Barron reached into a bag of potatoes and brought out a startling likeness of Khrushchev, which is here shown. Mrs. Barron wonders of somebody got his signals crossed. Maybe they buried Khrushchev instead. Maybe somebody planted Russian seed potatoes. The Russians have invented so many things maybe now they've come up with "portraits in potatoes." Maybe we're carrying this thing too far. Maybe it's just another potato. Fun, though, huh?—(Mining Journal photo.)

3 Free Programs For Young Persons Here On Halloween

Three free programs are on tap for the younger set in Marquette for Halloween night. All three programs are sponsored or co-sponsored by the Marquette Recreation Department and are being provided free of charge in order to provide "something to do" and "somewhere to go" without having the youngsters get involved in pranks.

Since the recreation department has been sponsoring the Halloween programs there has been practically no pranks of any sort in Marquette on this observance, which a few years ago was one of the busiest for police. Homeowners still will have

Britton Receives Contract For Storm Sewer Project

Contract for the installation of a storm sewer in Center St., Lynn Ave. and Birch St., was awarded to Don Britton of Marquette by the city commission at its regular meeting last night in the city hall.

Britton was low bidder for the project, at $15,744, and his proposal was accepted by the commission on the recommendation of City Manager Thomas Moore and City Engineer M. J. (Mickey) Keranen.

Engineer's Estimate

The city engineer's estimate of the cost of the project had been $15,570. Construction work will begin immediately, city officials said.

Other bidders for the storm sewer installation project were L. W. Brumm, Marquette, $16,465; N. R. Hongisto, Marquette, $18,056.40, and Ed Johnson Construction Co., Marinette, $21,433.

The project includes the installation of 1,960 lineal feet of 24-inch pipe, 380

Specker Gets Contract For City Trucks

Specker Motor Sales, 722 W. Washington St., was awarded the contract by the Marquette City Commission last night to provide three three-quarter ton pickup trucks for the water department.

City Manager Thomas Moore and Water Department Superintendent Kirk Mullaly recommended that the purchase order be awarded to Specker, determined to be the low bidder for the trucks at $5,363.57.

To Sell Old Units

In answer to a question from Commissioner James R. Smith, Mullaly said that three old trucks were being replaced by the new vehicles.

Mullaly said that the old trucks were not being traded in on the 1964 models because he felt that the city would benefit by selling them, along with other equipment.

Mullaly said he intends to advertise for bids for the sale of the three old trucks at the same time that he advertises for bids to sell two other pieces of city equipment.

Other bidders for the three pickups were:

Olson Motors, Inc., 925 W. Washington St., $5,423.43; Frei Chevrolet, Inc., 112 W. Spring St., $5,878.38, and Marquette Public Service Garage, 246 W. Washington St., $5,932.50.

Spines of the common European porcupine are often more than a foot long.

Automobile Damaged In Mishap

An automobile was damaged, but no one was injured in a traffic accident which occurred at 10:05 last night on Lakewood Lane, about 500 feet north of M-28, in Chocolay Township.

State police said Marian Wood, 21, of 245 Riverside Rd., Marquette, was driving south on Lakewood Lane and attempted to apply the brakes as she came to a right curve, but her foot struck another pedal and the car went off the roadway, smashing into a road sign.

The left side of the car, a 1964 small, foreign model, was damaged, and the vehicle was driven from the scene under its own power.

Appeal Board Meeting Slated For Tomorrow

Marquette's board of appeals will hold a regular meeting at 7:30 tomorrow evening in the city hall.

At least one appeal will be considered. It will be that of Leonard J. Sappala, 912 W. College Ave., for permission to construct a garage two feet from the west lot line. The city zoning ordinance regulation is a minimum of four feet.

Requests for exceptions to the zoning ordinance are made to the appeal board, whose five members grant or reject by a simple majority vote basis.

Three Motorists Pay $40 Here In Traffic Court

Three motorists were ordered to pay $40 in fines and costs when they appeared before Judge Edward H. Dembowski in city traffic court yesterday.

Three persons were ordered to pay a total of $40 in fines and costs for traffic law violations.

Two Charges

Eugene F. Keller, Dickinson, N. D., was ordered to pay a fine of $6.30 and $3.70 costs for a stop sign violation and an identical assessment for driving with defective brakes. The summonses were issued to Keller by state police Friday at the intersection of Champion and Jackson Sts.

A fine of $6.30 and $3.70 costs were paid by Larry P. Laine, Route 1, Negaunee, for driving on the left side of the roadway. He was ticketed by city police Oct. 12 following an accident on Champion St.

For disregarding a flashing red light, Kenneth L. Huebner, Allen Park, was fined $6.30 and ordered to pay costs of $3.70. State police issued the ticket Oct. 21 at the corner of W. Kaye and Presque Isle Aves.

Firms Here Help To Assure Success Of Potato Show

Cooperation from the Marquette business fraternity is helping assure a success for the Upper Peninsula Potato Show, to be held Friday and Saturday in the National Guard Armory.

The show is being sponsored by the Marquette Chamber of Commerce, with the Michigan State University extension department cooperating in program details.

The Coco Cola Bottling Co. is hosting the candidates for U. P. Potato Queen and their chaperones, at a luncheon Saturday noon in the Hotel Northland, and also will have the group as its guests on a tour of the bottling works at 11 in the morning, preceding the luncheon.

Publishing Program

"We are delighted with this opportunity to be part of this kind of an exhibit and community effort," said Waldemar Elson, of the bottling company.

"The chamber is doing a two-fold service, helping to promote a basic industry and get a greater community appreciation of it and, secondly, making it a neighborly gesture with a high measure of warmth and hospitality that will make the program outstanding for visitors coming to Marquette."

The chamber also is publishing an official program for the show, made possible by the support of scores of Marquette business firms.

The Legion clubrooms on W. Washington St. are open daily from 4 to 8 p.m.

City Firemen Called Out Two Times

Marquette's fire department was called out twice yesterday, with no serious damage resulting on either occasion.

At 9:12 yesterday morning firemen were summoned to the Cliffs Dow Chemical Co., off Presque Isle Ave., where a boxcar of charcoal caught fire.

The blaze, caused by spontaneous combustion, was out on arrival of city firemen. The plant's fire department had extinguished the blaze, city firemen said.

Sixteen city firemen responded to the call, with the Nos. 2 (1,000-gallon) and 4 (750-gallon) pumper. They returned to the station at 9:29 a.m.

City firemen also were called out at 11:41 last night to the residence of Ted R. Richer, 3156 Island Beach Rd., where an electric motor in an automatic clothes washer became overheated, causing some smoke.

There was no fire and nothing was used. Three firemen responded to the call, with the No. 2 pumper. They stood by until the unit cooled off and returned to the station at 12:10 this morning.

Iron Mountain, Kingsford Vote On Consolidation

IRON MOUNTAIN (AP)—Iron Mountain and Kingsford vote today on whether to consolidate their governments.

The two Upper Peninsula cities, with a total population of 14,500, are divided only by a street.

The election was called after members of the Iron Mountain-Kingsford Junior Chamber of Commerce circulated petitions for the proposal.

The election will be watched closely by other Upper Michigan twin cities, including Iron River and Stambaugh. The Iron County Planning Commission last week recommended that five Iron County communities consolidate their governments.

Ex-Students Must Contact Owners About Restitution

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Three former college students, accused of causing more than $5,000 in damage on a tire slashing spree Oct. 14, were sentenced Monday to contact personally over 100 owners of damaged autos.

Justice Ellsworth Gump found the trio guilty on charges of vagrancy and malicious destruction of property. He sentenced them to a year in jail, with all but 90 days suspended.

The youths—Michael L. Skovron, 20, Great Falls, Mont., Edward M. McElligott, 19, Anchorage, Alaska; and Phillip J. Sheridan, 18, Everett, Wash.—will serve 60 days of the sentence in jail.

The other 30 days they will split up, each taking a third of the owners of the 250 tires slashed. They will contact the owners, according to the sentence, to arrange for restitution.

They were earlier dropped from Gonzaga University here.

Appeal For U.P. Made To Solons

LANSING (AP)—An Upper Peninsula specialist in industrial development asked lawmakers Monday to "deal most generously" — by 200 or 300 per cent — with our colleges' request for research funds.

John Stranahan, Ironwood, told the House Committee on Economic Development the Upper Peninsula's economy could best be benefited if "much more money were available to our college research effort."

"While Pine Copper states unequivocally that it is in business in the U. P. on the basis of processes developed at Michigan Tech," Celotex Co. makes much the same statement.

Research Paid Off

"Such research has paid off more handsomely than any public funds spent otherwise in the Upper Peninsula," he said.

Stranahan is executive director of the Gogebic Organization for an Industrially New County, known as "GO-INC", which seeks revitalization of the Gogebic range.

"There's much good iron ore in the range," he told the committee, but because of expense of extracting it from deep shaft mines it has a competitive disadvantage against foreign ore imports.

Fall Good Time For Farm Jobs, Nyquist States

Late fall days are an ideal time for doing a lot of little jobs around the dairy barn and yard.

Most of these tasks can be done during pleasant weather and will make winter chores much easier, Melvin N. Nyquist, Marquette, Michigan State University extension director for Marquette County, gives this list that will help:

Check over the barn to see that it is in good shape.

Clean all windows, replace glass, and repair broken parts.

Put storm sash on the windows facing the cold north winds.

See that ventilators are working right.

Go over the milk house, check doors, windows, ventilators.

Repair or replace worn milk utensils.

Give the milk cooler a once-over too.

Clean up and grade the barnyard.

Is the water system in good shape? Don't wait for trouble when the temperature is 30 below.

Apply fresh gravel to the lane, if needed. The milk hauler will also appreciate space for turning around in the yard.

Check the milk house water heater.

The general program of the hearing will include an explanation of the constitutional sections relating to apportionment and commission functions, an explanation of any plan or plans being considered by the commission and an opportunity to the public to make any comments relative to the plans or to offer suggestions which fall within the jurisdiction of the commission.

Request For Bypass Fence Under Study

A State Highway Department study is being made of the possibility of erecting fencing around the Champion St. and Altamont St. bridges over the U.S. 41-M-28 bypass.

City Manager Thomas Moore reported at last night's city commission meeting that the petition for fencing to protect children crossing the overpasses received by the city commission last month, has been referred to the highway department.

The petition was signed by 87 Marquette residents. The commission had asked Moore to refer the problem to the State Highway Department.

Moore said he has been informed that R. F. Rosatti, Crystal Falls, district engineer for the State Highway Department, will investigate the request for the two bridges and make recommendations to alleviate the problem.

Flag Pole Stunt For Chest Drive Benefit Under Study By City

Northern Michigan University's Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity has requested the city's permission to stage a flag pole sitting stunt this week to help raise money for the United Marquette Community Chest fund drive.

At last night's city commission meeting in city hall, the fraternity was granted permission to circulate canisters in the downtown area from Thursday through Saturday to collect money for the current Community Chest drive.

Commissioners referred the second part of the fraternity's request, to put on the flag pole stunt, to City Manager Thomas Moore and concerned department heads, who were given power to act on the proposal.

The city manager and department heads will investigate the safety of the stunt and to what extent the city would be held liable for accidents connected with the stunt.

Commissioners recommended that, if the project is feasible, the city should give its support. Reason For Proposal

Bill Banach, a member of the TKEs, said the fraternity has proposed the stunt to raise money for the Community Chest "in order to bring a closer relationship between Northern Michigan University and the community."

He said the fraternity plans to erect a stub of a pole at the corner of Main and S. Front

Sis. The pole would be 12 feet high with a five foot platform on top.

"We expect to have one of our members on this platform starting Thursday and remaining there through Saturday night," he said. "Other members would be in the downtown area with canisters to collect money for the Chest drive, with the provision that the member on the platform must remain until a certain collection point is reached."

Mayor C. Fred Rydholm said that he understood the fraternity intends to collect $1,000 for the Communist Chest through this method.

"Worthy Cause" A representative of the fraternity said the TKEs would work daylight shifts to collect money in the downtown area. They would remain in the vicinity of the pole and would not solicit contributions inside of stores, he added.

"We hope you stay within the area of the stunt," Commissioner Elmer K. Carlson said. "Normally the commission is hesitant about downtown collections but this is a very worthy cause."

The fraternity representative stated that insurance covering the stunt would be too costly and could not be obtained in time.

However, he assured the commission that fraternity members would keep onlookers at a reasonable distance from the pole and that there would be "no horseplay." Moore and department heads will investigate the possibility of having the fraternity members sign individual releases accepting the responsibility for damages done to themselves in case of an accident in connection with the stunt.

1 Mouse Family Left In Sibenik, Yugoslavia

SIBENIK, Yugoslavia (AP) — For years the name of most families on the little island of Prvic off the coast of this Adriatic town was Mis—which means Mouse.

The teasing and the jokes about the name finally drove the Mises—or Mouses—to court, where they had the name changed legally to Misurac.

One family alone refused to join the new Misuracs and proudly retained the old name Mis.

Financial Scene: Healthy Gain In Economy Predicted

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Increasingly good business in the next two months—a seasonal hesitancy perhaps in the first couple of months of 1964—and then a moderate but quite healthy gain in the spring.

That's the pleasant expectation of the majority of industrial executives and their economists now being proffered Americans in a steady flow of predictions.

Minorities on both sides of the average offer their variations. Some see a strong advance for all of 1964. A few others think the present upswing in the economy is in its final months, with or without a federal tax cut.

Higher Earnings

But autumn's flow of increasing corporate earnings, many sweetened by higher profit margins in sales, and the happy excitement in the stock markets with each piece of good news, strengthens the expectation of the majority of business executives that good times are likely to get better before they peter out.

And the majority discounts all indications that the turn-about already may be gestating.

Personal incomes continue to swell, as do consumer spending and the taking on of additional consumer debt. Retail sales hit a record in the summer and seem sure to better the mark in the final months of the year. Auto sales are booming, and that always reassures the public.

Production Up

Industrial production has climbed higher fairly steadily. All of this has raised the Gross National Product to a record high, well above what had been expected at the start of the year. This dollar total of all goods and services produced is put at an annual rate of $588.5 billion in the third quarter, a hefty $8.9 billion gain over the April-May-June quarter. A further rise in the final months of this year seems all but in the bag.

So why does the small minority of economists fret?

32-Month Upswing

For one thing, the current business upswing is 32 months old, against an average of 27 months for this phase of the business cycle. The worriers caution that all that goes up must come down. And they add that a federal tax cut, if any, may come too late to save off the downturn, but merely cushion it a bit.

For another, the economy's two chief weaknesses—the hard core of unemployment and the deficit in international balance of payments—may be alleviated a bit from time to time but still are fundamentally unsolved.

Hot Love Letters Found In Novels

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Some fairly hot love letters are found among pages of romantic fiction books returned to local libraries, librarians say.

"We also find a lot of unpaid bills," says Mrs. Elizabeth D. O'Kane, who recently compiled a list of things found in returned books. "But there's never any money found in books."

Poison Scare Not Affecting Marquette's Fish Industry

There is no effect of the botulism food poisoning scare on Marquette's fishing industry.

A check of Marquette's commercial fishermen today disclosed that there's no effect on the industry here because most of the fish caught and sold commercially from this area are herring.

The poisoning scare flared anew recently with a federal agency's recommendation that housewives get rid of smoked fish products from the Great Lakes area.

Some Chubs Sold One of the Marquette fishermen sell some chubs, which is one of the fish thought to be carrying the poison, and its products are sold in the Chicago area.

The volume of fish sold (mostly herring) from this area, is anywhere from two to three tons a week, with next month being the peak month, which sometimes means selling 40 to 60 ton report officials of the local fisheries.

Michigan authorities reported that they found the organisms—clostridium botulinum—in samples of smoked fish from the St. Joseph Fisheries of St. Joseph and Royal Snack Food, Inc., of Detroit.

Canned Food Okay The Food and Drug Administration singled out fish products that are packaged in sealed plastic wrappers and those that are sold in bulk without any wrappers. Canned products are not involved, the agency said.

FDA Commissioner George Larrick suggested to wholesalers, retailers and processors that all smoked fish products now on the market and made from Great Lakes fish or processed in the area should be destroyed "unless it can be established with certainty that: "The fish was heated immediately after it was packaged in a manner that would assure a temperature of at least 180 degrees Fahrenheit for at least 30 minutes.

"The fish was heated immediately after packaging and has been maintained continuously in a frozen condition."

Our Finest Autumn

The guilt complex must be deep in the human breast. The people in the Upper Peninsula who have said, "We have had such a wonderful fall that we'll certainly have to pay for it with a wicked winter" would stretch from Goetzville to Eckerman.

Humans think that way, fearful that if the first falling apple drops in their hand the second will hit them on the head, but Nature doesn't. She will send a fine winter to cap a fine fall, but throughout the winter the fearful will expect the worst on the very next day.

The Upper Peninsula has had the finest fall in the memory of living persons. It has been sunny and balmy and dry. The only way to make it better is to make it longer, and there seems to be a general hope that autumn mildness will run right up to Christmas and bring on an early spring.

The fall has been so mild that bird migrations have been out of whack. The birds decided that there was no use hurrying south when it was as warm in the north, and this has miffed the duck hunters. If the birds aren't there, the hunters get skunked, and the duck hunting has been rather skunky so far.

Al Knutsen, East Lansing ornithologist, took a vacation to trap hawks and falcons on the tip of the Stonington Peninsula and said the hot spell chopped off the migration. He did rather well anyway, but it was because he's such an expert, not because nature cooperated.

The fine weather heightens and extends the Silliness Season of weather prophecy. People are checking caterpillars to see if their "fur" is longer in augury of an extra cold winter. The onion skin prophets are counting the rings to see if nature has provided the tear-makers with extra strength for a hard winter. If it were easier, people would be climbing trees to see how many nuts the squirrels were putting in the bank as insurance against frostbite.

This school of nature fakirs expects the bears to add more fat, the bullfrogs to burrow deeper in the mud, the Arctic owls to come earlier and stay longer. It ascribes to wild creatures powers of clairvoyance; they know in October what the weather in February will be like. Not even the fuel merchants know that.

And yet humans are so trusting that the Old Farmers Almanac is now in its 172nd year of publication, giving out weather hints that our meteorologists, with all their training and scientific instruments, would give their fortunes to know. Not only does the Almanac say what the weather will be like next year, but it suggests when to fish and how to pick a wife and what wisdom sounds like when contracted into short sentences.

It suggests for Saturday, Jan. 4, for instance, "Eat to live, not live to eat" as well as the time of sunrise and sunset. And for the 9th of January that "ladies once in bed this day should stay there." This is reckless counsel in a nation so heavily afflicted with absenteeism. "Gray whales will be migrating on Jan. 17" and this may be hard to turn to profit, but it gives a person the good feeling that knows what's going on. Jan. 29: "As the days lengthen the cold strengthens."

On Tuesday, Feb. 4, 1761, Ebenezer Adams saw three angels in Medford, Mass., and this may not fit well into a weather forecast but it shows that meteorologists, too, are distracted at their prayers. On Feb. 13 in 1935 Bruno Hauptman was found guilty and on Feb. 13, 1964, the crows will be around. This is a safe forecast as it doesn't say where the crows will be around.

And so it goes, but who will scoff at a formula that has worked since 1792? Our TV weathercasts, for instance, are an advertising cheat compared with the Farmer's Almanac. TV's concept of the weather is that it was made by Nature for broadcast purposes, so it has cute girls saying profound things about a cold front moving in from the northwest and colliding with some lows that will cause sprinkle on Sandusky, Ohio.

We'll know that TV weather has come of age when the people with the big black pencils who draw the arrows which show the wind blowing south over Lake Superior toss in Almanac pleasantries like:

"Snow fleas around." (Perversely, we have these, but many people seem to think that they're fictional, like type lice.)

"Graft your fruit trees."

"To lose an unwanted friend, loan him money."

"A small leak will sink a great ship."

"There's a time to wink as well as to see."

"Don't burn others' houses to roast your own eggs."

"Hill your Indian corn."

"He that complains hath too much."

These pleasantries may cause sponsor trouble but they offer a change from the weather, which, like the poor, is always with us and never responsive to our calls, often unfriendly, and seldom as indulgent as it has been this fall.

REAPPRAISE THE MOON PROGRAM

Estimating the cost of lunar flight is hazardous, but the current program is running so far in excess of the projected expense that congress should attempt to get a new, firm and reliable projection of what will be involved. Then it can intelligently decide if the trip is worth the expense in terms of national prestige or military purposes.—New York Times.

The crew escaped the conflagration, being taken off safely by Powell and Mitchell's tug, the Ward, which went to their rescue as soon as the boat was discovered to be in flames. The steamer burned to the water's edge and, together with the cargo, is a total loss. The loss is very great, as the Manhattan carried a cargo of 176,000 bushels of wheat and was a comparatively modern, fair-sized and staunch craft.

Music Definitely Hath Charm

The National Whirligig News Behind The News

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — It must be the weather that makes the 1963 silly season on Capitol Hill sillier than usual. The Senate has out-done itself in the field of fatuous obstructionism by its straight-faced passage of a higher education aid bill whose content is self defeating.

With one hand, the Senate has approved legislation allotting $1,895 million for university and college construction. With the other, it has written into the bill a provision which would permit any taxpayer to bring the program to a screeching halt.

Built-In Bomb
That provision is in the form of an amendment by the wily Sen. Sam J. Ervin (D., N.C.), who can toss a monkey wrench into the machinery of a project he opposes with the artless air of a choir boy pinching his neighbor. The amendment provides that a taxpayer may file a suit in federal court to test the constitutionality of any grant or loan to a church-affiliated college.

Sen. John O. Pastore (D., R. I.), who has made a career out of spotting gimmicks, has accurately defined the meaning of this amendment. It would, he says, bring about a situation whereby all college aid funds would be frozen while the courts decided the religious issue on the constitutional provision separating church and state. On those terms, the Senate bill is meaningless.

Thalidomide Baby
Yet Ervin's amendment was approved by the Senate by a 45 to 33 vote before passage of the whole bill, almost as though the Senate wanted to cripple its own child before birth.

Ironically, both the Senate bill and a previously passed House bill would permit grants and loans to church-affiliated schools. The House program, for spending $1,195 million over a three-year period, permits grants for general classroom construction, while the five-year Senate plan limits the grants to science and engineering facilities on the theory that religion is unlikely to creep into instruction in these fields.

Yet, the Senate, in effect, is inviting the citizen to block any and all implementation of the legislation by raising a legal question.

No One Happy
The two bills still have to go to a House-Senate conference, of course, and supporters of the program hope to kill the Ervin amendment in the process. But there is no certainty this can be done in the current furor over the church-state separation issue. Politicians are always leery about seeming to condone anything that smacks of unconstitutionality.

But both the Senate and House have refused to face the issue squarely. If there is doubt as to either the wisdom or the constitutionality of expending federal monies for church-affiliated schools, the Congress should acknowledge it by barring such expenditures. After all, the point could be made with some validity that whether a student in such a school is studying nuclear physics or Bible history, he remains under the influence of the school's sponsoring religion.

But if Congress feels the federal government can safely assist a Catholic or a Lutheran college by limiting grants for specific purposes, it should vote to do so without tying any legalistic strings to the offer.

On this issue, Congress can't please everybody, and it will please nobody if it offers the country a program that can't get off the ground.

Prediction On Civilization

By HAY BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Well, friends, enjoy Western civilization while you can. In 37 more years it will fall down and go boom.

This is the prediction of C. Northcote Parkinson, British historian and gadfly of bureaucrats everywhere.

Headed That Way
"In the past," he said, "the burden of taxation and bureaucratic incompetence built up to a point where the civilization collapsed, as in the case of the Roman Empire.

"Historically, that seems to be the way the story ends—and we're headed that way. I don't mean our civilization will collapse tomorrow. It's a matter of time.

Alternate Rules
"I'd say—about the year 2,000—plus or minus, but that's just a guess."

Parkinson believes that by then Eastern civilization will have overtaken the technological lead now held by Western civilization, and then become the dominant culture. It is the thesis of his latest book—that throughout history East and West have alternately ruled.

Looks Ahead With Aplomb
But no one is more cheerful in the face of potential doom than a jolly Englishman with a good digestion. And Parkinson faces the future with aplomb.

"The decay of one civilization is as important as the expansion of another civilization," he remarked. "In my view this has been a very useful process, because the friction between East and West has produced some of mankind's brightest ideas."

Satirical Abscess
"In the absence of this friction we'd have a stagnant world and a lack of new creative ideas. You need contrasts in order to keep people awake," he says.

Although he has written 16 historical works, the author is most widely known for his satirical attacks on governmental and corporate bureaucracy.

Possibility Of Reform
He has pointed out, hilariously, how in any bureaucratic organization work always expands so as to meet the time and personnel available, and expenses always rise to meet or even surpass income.

The evils of bureaucracy can be curbed to some extent in a business by reform measures, he believes, but see little hope for doing so in modern governments.

Rather Expensive Technique
"The only place they have been curtailed," he said, "is in countries which have lost a war and where half the bureaucrats have been hanged. This, of course, is a rather expensive way of dealing with the problem."

By the way, if our civilization doesn't collapse in 2,000, don't bother to complain to Parkinson. He'll be 91 then—and probably have another theory.

Views Of Others

LITERAL MINDS AT WORK
The Federal Trade Commission has told Standard Mills, Inc., a textile jobber, that because the firm neither manufactures textiles nor owns a mill, its name is deceptive. If the firm wants to keep "Mills" in its name, the agency has ruled, it will have to attach a conspicuous disclaimer stating that it does not manufacture textiles and does not own a mill.

You might think the august regulator would have more important things to worry about. But if the FTC is going to be all that literal about what's in a name, there are plenty of other names floating around that could be made to read more accurately with the addition of a disclaimer or modifier.

There is, for instance, the Rural Electrification Administration, which is becoming less and less rural all the time. And for that matter, there's the FCC itself. Sometimes, whether it really intends to or not, it conspicuously behaves as though its name were the Federal Anti-Trade Commission. — (Wall Street Journal.)

"I'm from the school paper, sir. What do you think of jazz, the Common Market, the possibility of life on other planets, and going steady?"

Anti-Legislative Process

By JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON — "If you can control your people, I can control mine."

Such was the reported answer of House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana when President Kennedy begged him to agree on a bi-partisan civil rights bill. Halleck meant, in effect, that he could swing Rep. John Lindsay of New York into line if the President could do likewise with Democratic advocates of an extreme bill, like Rep. Robert W. Kastenmeier of Wisconsin.

The President then tried to do as Halleck suggested. The first attempt failed and, as these words are being written, the prospects of a later success do not appear bright. Thus the vital civil rights bill is directly imperilled by the sorriest display to date of the endemic disease of American liberalism, which is the liberals' fatal fondness for empty, competitive posturing.

Subcommittee Warned Repeatedly
The posturing began when the administration's comprehensive and reasonable civil rights bill was referred to a liberal-heavy subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee. Attorney General Robert Kennedy pleaded with the committee chairman, Rep. Emanuel Celler of New York. He and his aides besought the leadership Conference, which includes white advocates of strong civil rights legislation like Walter Reuther as well as all the major Negro leaders.

To these men, and to the subcommittee members, the same story was told again and again. They were warned, over and over, that if the subcommittee voted extreme and unacceptable features into the administration bill, this session of Congress was likely to end without passing any bill at all.

Chairman Celler in effect replied that he and his colleagues could safely indulge their penchant for striking noble attitudes, because the noble attitudes would then be struck out of the bill in the full committee. The other House members, and the members of the Leadership Conference, were no more rational than Rep. Celler — and considerably less forthright.

Extremely Doubtful Constitutionality
The result was the bill now before the House Judiciary Committee. It is a bill marked by features of extremely doubtful constitutionality; and it is just about dead certain to die in the House Rules Committee or to be killed on the House floor.

Some of the liberals do not seem to be disconcerted by this prospect. Solid results have never greatly interested them. But poor Rep. Celler is now wringing his hands in dismay. For the conservative Southern members of the House Judiciary Committee have welcomed the subcommittee's draft of the civil rights bill with smiles of delight; and they are not going to let it be toned down to the point of congressional acceptability if they can possibly help it.

The Southerners could not help the committee's reporting a moderate and acceptable civil rights bill if committee members of the Kastenmeier-Lindsay stripe would join the committee's center-group. The bill would then be rewritten, as Celler at first expected. And it would therefore be handed on to the House Rules Committee with good hopes of being reported to the House floor, approved by the House, and sent to the Senate.

Vain, Empty And Impractical
But the obstacle to this result is the one succinctly described to the President by Rep. Halleck. Halleck was only reasonable. After all, he can hardly be expected to ask his Republicans to join in toning down the subcommittee draft if Kastenmeier and other Democrats of his type are still to be allowed the pleasures of empty posturing. Republican self-denial must be matched by Democratic self-denial.

When the committee meets today, the outcome will be known. Meanwhile, this desperately-needed piece of legislation is quite obviously endangered because the enemies of civil rights legislation are shrewd, tough men, while too many of the friends of civil rights are vain, empty and impractical.

The pattern is an ancient one. But it is a new thing, nonetheless, for this pattern to prevent necessary action in a time of urgent, dangerous national crisis. It is easy to forget that on the civil rights front the present is such a time, but it is, all the same.

The Specialty Of Congress
That was amply proven of the Negro leaders of the Leadership Conference. They refused to stand up for a moderate bill, although they well knew such a bill was the only kind that could pass, because they were too fearful of the Negro extremists. If there is no bill, the Negro extremists will take over; and if that happens, this old, unparadiseable ulcer on the body politic will at once become malignant.

In sum, you could hardly find a better demonstration of the anti-legislative process, which has become the specialty of the U. S. Congress.

Problems For Kennedy

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—There's no room at the top to relax. President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev could sign with relief when they signed the limited nuclear test ban treaty. It was one big headache out of the way. They could breathe a little easier. But not for long.

Developing Disaster

Even as he signed the treaty, Khrushchev was in the midst of a developing disaster for communism. His Red Chinese allies were denouncing him harder than ever. And besides, Russian agriculture was in foul shape.

He had to admit it to the world by buying wheat abroad. And, if he meant it, it's no wonder that over the weekend he bowed out of the race to the moon, saying he'd be glad to watch the United States try it.

Expensive Contest

It's an expensive contest and he could use the money better for things closer to home. But he wasn't completely convincing.

There's always the chance he was trying to kid the United States into giving up its moon try. He may have had some luck in this, too. Congress now will probably be more reluctant to vote money for the American moon program.

Ideal Platform

It's too soon to say Khrushchev is in serious trouble at home. But it's doubtful he can keep the reins indefinitely if disaster pursues him in other ways obvious not only to the world, but to the Russian people, too.

Peace and prosperity would be an ideal platform for Kennedy's re-election campaign next year. But right now he can't be sure how much of either he will have to point to when the 1964 campaign begins.

Civil Rights March

Civil rights advocates put on the biggest march on Washington in American history in August to show their solidarity and determination in wanting rights. About 200,000 people took part.

This impressive, but peaceful demonstration was particularly intended to impress a Congress which was then juggling Kennedy's civil rights bill and generally showed no great enthusiasm for the President's requests.

Request For Tax Cut

Kennedy will probably feel

he's lucky if Congress approves the bill this year.

And the same goes for his request for a tax cut. This was supposed to give the economy a shot in the arm, starting at the beginning of 1964. If neither program makes it this year, he'll try for both again next year.

Too Late To Help?

But a tax-cutting bill approved somewhere in the middle of 1964—if it is approved—may be too late to help the economy much by next November's election.

And if Negroes have to wait until 1964 for a civil rights bill—and they look on the one Kennedy proposed as just a mild one—they may not wait peacefully.

Their demonstrations all over the country subsided after the march on Washington as if in a gesture of good will to let Congress do what they felt was needed.

Patience May Burst

But if this Congress ignores them and goes home without putting new civil rights laws on the book, it seems a good bet that Negro patience will burst into violence in many places.

So, even if Kennedy in 1964 is able to point to peace abroad, there may be little peace at home. And, if Negroes feel he didn't try hard enough and stay away from the polls in northern cities next year, he'll be hurt.

Democracies Overthrown

In the meantime, frustrations and irritations build up for him overseas.

No Solution In Sight

Fidel Castro in Cuba is an open sore and will be used against him by the Republicans in 1964 unless he finds some solution, and none is in sight.

And he's so fed up with negotiating from French President De Gaulle and the worry of Western allies that this country will pull its troops out of Europe, his administration over the weekend issued a pained rebuke.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk had to tell the allies—who years ago agreed to put together 20 divisions for the defense of Europe but never did—that it's time they kept their word and that this country alone filled its promise.

Prize winning costumes were worn by Mrs. Henry Caron, first place; Mrs. Dennis Duquette, second place; Mrs. Iris Haley and Mrs. Frank Sciotto, third place; Mrs. Stuart Johnson and Mrs. Walter Toupin, fourth place, and Mrs. W. Family Relations Group To Meet Here Nov. 8

The Upper Peninsula chapter of the Michigan Council on Family Relations will hold its annual meeting in Marquette Nov. 8.

Meeting in the Hotel Northland from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., the council will deal with the theme "Mobility, a Challenge to the Family Program."

Dr. Thorpe To Speak Keynoting the program will be Dr. Alice C. Thorpe, head of the Department of Home Management and Child Development at Michigan State University. The U. P. chapter president, Olive Sain of Marquette, says Dr. Thorpe will report on changing family roles, adjustments for families that move and those that are left behind during population shifts. "The report will be especially applicable to conditions in the Upper Peninsula," says Mrs. Sain. Dr. Thorpe's speech will be followed by a symposium and question period on family mobility concerns, as seen by religious leaders, law enforcement officers, educators, social welfare administrators and military personnel.

Group Discussion

After a luncheon at the hotel, group discussions on finances, schooling, health and community organizations will be directed by Dr. Jane Bemis, head of the Home Economics Department of Northern Michigan University.

Other organizations and agencies helping plan the conference are the Bureau of Social Aid, the American Association of University Women, the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, the Catholic Social Services, the State Department of Mental Health, Visiting Nurses Association, juvenile delinquency court officers and the Marquette Women's Club.

Nurse Meet Held At Sanatorium

At a recent dinner meeting of the Marquette-Alger District Nurses Association held at Morgan Heights Sanatorium, highlights of the annual convention of the Michigan Nurses Association were presented by the delegates, Mrs. Evelyn Tassone, Ishpeming, and Mrs. Karen Wertanen, Negaunee.

The theme of this year's convention, "Nursing Perspectives in Action," was emphasized in a number of ways by the various speakers. Dorothy M. Smith, dean, College of Nursing, University of Florida, said that nurses must strive to do a complete assessment of patient needs before a quality nursing care plan can be started. She has edited a concise method for doing so. She also urged that a systemized method of communication be developed so that the patient needs are mobilized.

More Education

Discussion of the word "profession" prompted Dr. William H. Form, Michigan State University, to stress the need for more and continuing education of nurses. "Nursing must become an innovating profession wherein we must concern ourselves more directly with the patients," he said. Dr. Form suggested building strong ties with social sciences and other professions in order to relate patients effectively to all groups in and out of the hospital. There should be no end to a nursing career, he said.

The economic security of the nursing profession was discussed by Dr. Daniel Kruger, professor at Michigan State University and Economic Consultant for the Michigan Nurses Association, who compared the progress made in this area since 1959. Great strides have been taken in some districts, but he said nurses must make greater monetary gains if young people are to be attracted to the health professions. Collective action is the method he recommended to improve the economic security.

Featured Speaker

Dr. James R. Aceck, superintendent of Morgan Heights Sanatorium, was the featured speaker following the dinner. He discussed various aspects of trends in tuberculosis treatment today. He stated, "The length of hospital stay for the TB patient is decreasing, along with the incidence. Increasing treatment is done on a home care basis under the doctor's supervision."

Numerous questions were asked by the group during a question and answer session.

At the business sessions of the association, the revision of the by-laws occupied a large portion of the time. Points of major concern in the document were the proposed dues increase, which was adopted, and the possibility of electing state officers by delegate vote at the convention instead of member's mailed ballots. This issue was defeated.

Reports of the sections of the association revealed that all members of the group have had a busy year in their effort to advance professional knowledge to provide better patient care.

Town Talk By Tish

I felt as though I were in a flower garden when I went into the Mail Box Gift Shop at 1714 Presque Isle the other day. Their wide selection of artificial flowers look so real you want to touch them. A customer was having a centerpiece made to her particular taste in tones of russet, orange, yellow and brown and it was unbelievably beautiful. This is the season for a new centerpiece to brighten the long winter ahead and you will be delighted with the selection of flowers available. If you wish you may bring your own vase and try different arrangements. No parking problem, you can stay as long as you like.—Adv.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the debate on whether boys or girls were preferable: You never spoke truer words, Abby, when you said, "Wait for your sunset years and see who gives you more attention." I am the mother of married sons and daughters. My daughters call me every day and always find time to drop by to see Dad and me. Our sons have grown apart from us. It makes no difference how loving a son is, once he is married (except in rare cases) you might as well kiss him goodbye. Nine times out of 10 his wife takes him over to her side of the family.

ONE WHO KNOWS
DEAR ONE: Are the parents of your daughters' husbands complaining about the attention you get? Things even out. Besides, don't generalize. All married sons are not "lost." And more often than not, Mom and Dad retain the devotion they've earned.

DEAR ABBY: No problems, but I want to tell you how much my husband and I enjoy your column. By the way, we raise basset hounds and one of the best females we ever owned was named Abigail. She has helped many a champion.

Wife was suspicious. And YOU, Dear Abby, didn't help matters much when you replied, "A likely story! They don't put feathers in mattresses anymore. It was probably the whole chick." Well, I have news for you. This handsome I awakened with a backside. I know they don't put feathers in mattresses anymore, and since there were no chicks around, I investigated. I found they do put steel spring in mattresses these days, and one sharp chick had come loose and worked its way through to me!

Sincerely,
VICTIM
DEAR ABBY: The controversy about the Little League manager brought to mind this amusing story: A Little League pitcher had walked the first eight men at bat. The manager sent in a new pitcher. Out of the crowd stormed the lad's mother. "What do you mean taking him out of the game?" she yelled. "He had a no-hitter going!"

Practical Nurses To Hold U.P. Workshop Wednesday

ISHPEMING — Mrs. Linda Drewes, president of the Michigan Practical Nurses Association, will extend greetings to participants in the Upper Peninsula workshop to be held Wednesday in the Mather Inn here.

The association has 47 districts throughout the state, with headquarters in Lansing.

Mrs. Edith Hill, executive director of the Michigan Practical Nurses Association, also will speak. She has been serving as executive convention coordinator for the Lansing Convention Bureau since the birth of that organization nearly three years ago.

She is a graduate of Mahers Business College as well as the National Institute of Organizational Management of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, attending Northwestern University and Michigan State University for this training.

Working with association executives as she has for many years and through her former membership in the Association Executives of Michigan, the Michigan Retailers Association and West Michigan Tourist and Resort Association, Mrs. Hill is well known throughout Michigan and surrounding states.

Registration will begin at 9 a. m. with Helen Melvin in charge.

The Rev. Reno Kuehnel, Ishpeming, will give the invocation followed by several introductions with Mrs. Rhea Abramson, president of the Delta MPNA district, presiding. Viola Roseveare, president of the Marquette-Alger MPNA district, will give the welcoming address.

The morning program follows:

9:45 a. m. — Duties of officers by Carmen Waters; 10:45 — report on committees from MPNA workshop by Julie Pietila, MPNA director; 11:15 — security program with Roy Liernan, president of Michigan Practical Nursing associates; 11:45 — question and answer period until noon.

Lunch will be served in the Georgian dining room of the inn.

At 1:30 p. m. the latest styles in hats and accessories will be presented by the Hat Box Shop of Marquette.

Following remarks by Mrs. Drewes and Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Waters, member of the Michigan Board of Nursing, will speak on "Your Nursing Practice Act."

At 3:30 Mrs. Rhea Abramson will summarize the workshop.

Two Fined For Driving While Drunk

NEGAUNEE — Two motorists arrested by city police on drunk driving charges entered guilty pleas when they were arraigned yesterday before Judge William Haupt in Negaunee Municipal Court.

Alphonse Peterson and Emil Heikkila, both of Negaunee, were ordered to pay a $50 fine plus $10.10 court costs each.

Five other drivers ticketed by local officers over the weekend for violations of the state motor vehicle code also appeared before Judge Haupt.

Erlend Hill of Negaunee paid a $10 fine and $3.70 court costs for leaving the scene of a property damage accident.

Emil Manninen of Negaunee paid a $5 fine plus $3.70 costs for failing to yield the right-of-way, and an additional $2 costs on a second charge of obstructing traffic.

Fines and costs amounting to $8.70 apiece were paid by Raymond Royce of Negaunee, charged with violation of the basic speed law; Paul Crothers of Ishpeming and James Clutter, Sawyer AFB, each of whom was charged with speeding.

Raymond J. Pilon of Niagara, Wis., who was ticketed by state police for speeding, paid a $10 fine and $3.70 costs.

2 Debaters At Practice Tournament

NEGAUNEE — Miss Diane Collins and Miss Kristine Sunne, senior members of the Negaunee High School varsity debate squad, represented Negaunee in the practice debate tournament held over the weekend at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti.

Accompanying the local representatives to the tourney were Miss Berlyene Miller, forensics director, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sunne.

Twenty-one schools participated in the practice tourney, which was conducted under the direction of Dr. Thomas Murray. Miss Miller noted yesterday that the experience was most valuable. "We learned the extent of our strengths and weaknesses, and the critiques after each debate were most helpful," she said.

The first regular-season appearance of the high school debate squad will be Dec. 14, when Negaunee hosts the opening 1963-64 preliminary Upper Peninsula tourney.

Motorist Ticketed In Mishap

NEGAUNEE — An automobile was damaged and a motorist was ticketed in a traffic mishap at 10:20 yesterday morning on M-35, just south of the Negaunee city limits, in Richmond Township.

State police said John Lahti 42, Palmer, was driving north on M-35 when his car went off the right side of the highway and smashed into a wooden utility pole.

The front end of Lahti's car, a 1962 coach, was damaged, but the vehicle was driven from the scene under its own power.

State police ticketed Lahti for driving at an excessive rate of speed for conditions.

4-H Crafts Club Formed By Eight Boys In Chatham

CHATHAM — Eight boys enrolled in the Rock River 4-H crafts club at a meeting in the Chatham Town Hall.

George Leppamaki will provide instruction in photography for the club and it is hoped that other volunteer leaders will be able to offer instruction in other crafts, such as woodworking and electricity.

Officers elected were John Benson, president; Nathan Jarvinen, vice president; Mark Whitmarsh, secretary. Other club members are Dave Maki, Bob Maki, Joey Goin, Dave Johnson and Leif Benson.

John Campana, extension director for Alger County, assisted in organization of the club and Leppamaki showed a series of slides taken on his recent trip to Finland, Sweden and Norway. The next meeting is scheduled for Nov. 15 at the experiment station.

Four-H Clothing Workshop Nov. 11

MUNISING — All 4-H club leaders are invited to attend a clothing leaders' evaluation workshop in the audio-visual room of the Central School at 7:30 Monday night, Nov. 11. Dr. Margaret Jacobson, program planner for the MSU Extension Center in Marquette, will be the guest resource person.

The Hall of Free Enterprise, being erected for the 1964-65 New York World's Fair, is the first exhibit ever built to dramatize the benefits of free enterprise.

Pre-Hallowe'en Fun In Munising

It doesn't take the inspiration of Hallowe'en to bring out the desire to "dress up" in children. Just combine the ingredients of several neighborhood children and an old truck of miscellaneous clothing — capes, jackets, ladies' discarded purses, scarves, hats, etc. Leave the children alone with these ingredients for about 15 minutes, and out comes some great fun. This happened in the basement of the Richard Hallifax residence in Munising the other day, with the result shown above. Enjoying the fun were, from left, John Swanberg, Janeen Hallifax, Mark Rhynard, Mark Scholten, Carol Reithmeyer, Laurie Ann Hallifax, Carol Scholten, Kurt Rhynard and Virginia Reithmeyer. (Photo by Mary Jayne Hallifax.)

Extension Group Has Hat-Making Lesson Nov. 5

MUNISING — Mrs. Marcia Butcher, a member of the Wetmore Go-Getters home economics extension group, will be the resource person for the hat-making lesson to be held Tuesday, Nov. 5, at the Presbyterian Church in Munising. The lesson will begin at 10 a. m. and continue to 3 p. m.

All those planning to attend are reminded to bring the following items:

For feather hats — simple hat frame, milliner's glue, scissors, needle, thread, thimble, feathers (or pheasant pelts), small brush or applicator stick for applying glue.

For fabric hats — pillbox frame fabric for covering or trimming, needle, thread, thimble, scissors and gros-grain for inside trim.

Knitters Elect Kristine Hager

MUNISING — The Twisting Needles 4-H knitting club was reorganized recently in the Limestone-Trenary area with Mrs. Richard Carlson, Mrs. Robert Carlson and Mrs. Kathleen Holmquist as leaders.

Club officers are Kristine Hager, president; Joyce Carlson, vice president; Mary Kay Debelak, secretary; Karlene Eaton, treasurer, and Lynn Mariin, reporter. Other members are Stephany Cady, Bernadine Carlson, Linda Viton, Diane Carlson, LaVeta Peterson, Jackie Malnar, Beverly Kaukola and Gretchen Kaukola.

Meeting On Tenure Set

NEGAUNEE — Sponsored by the Marquette-Alger district of the Michigan Education Association, a meeting on teacher tenure will be held at 7:30 Wednesday night in the Lakeview School.

Fred Benzie, Negaunee president, will act as chairman for the session, while Robert Ferguson, MEA field staff representative, will serve as the resource person.

Ferguson will explain the statewide teacher tenure bill being sponsored by the MEA. The proposal seeks to extend provisions of a 1957 law by making tenure effective in all of the state's school districts.

Tenure is defined by the MEA representatives as job stability for teachers.

"Once a teacher successfully completes a probationary period, he is freed from the necessity of applying for his job each year. His appointment becomes permanent — providing his teaching and behavior are satisfactory," Ferguson explained.

The average piece of first-class mail is now handled nine or 10 times.

Sacred Heart School Plans Conferences

MUNISING — The Sacred Heart School will observe National Catholic Education Week in conjunction with American Education Week Nov. 3-10, according to Sister Alice Josepha, O. P., principal.

Parent-teacher conferences and distribution of report cards are scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 4 and 5. Times for appointments may be selected from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. on Monday and Tuesday, and 7 to 8 Tuesday night. The elementary buses will take children home at 11:50 a. m. on these two days, while seventh and eighth graders are requested to make arrangements to return home at noon.

Sister Alice Josepha stated that understanding between parents and teachers which results from these conferences is often the only thing that a child needs in his or her efforts to improve. To aid in answering question of parents, teachers will have achievement test results from April of this year, report cards, workbooks and papers for each child.

Tim Mead Head Of Club Formed At High School

GRAND MARAIS — The A-OK 4-H Club was reorganized at a meeting in the high school home economics room. Leaders present were Mrs. Alfred Sylvester, Mrs. A. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mead, Mrs. Mary Jane Beattie and Miss Dawn Ostrander.

Tim Mead was elected president, Mary Gail Heacox vice president, Tom Pettipren secretary and Shirley Handrich, treasurer. DON'T YOU READ BEFORE YOU BUY?

Most people generally do. Not only do they read; they cut out and show ads to their family and friends; they clip coupons for information and samples. When people see an advertisement in print, they can compare designs... features... and prices of nationally known products and services. (And people do compare before they go out and buy.) Advertising in print is a handy thing. You can check back; the message is still there even when your attention is distracted. When you add it up, print advertising—the kind you read in this newspaper—makes sense. And because it measures up to the buying habits of most consumers, print makes sales. Don't you read before you buy?

Youth Council Takes First Step For Construction Of Center At Old Armory Site

ISHPEMING — A preliminary step that could lead to construction of a much-needed youth center was taken by the Ishpeming Youth Council last night.

At a regular meeting in the city hall, it authorized City Manager Thomas McNabb to hire an architect to draw up plans for a youth center which would be adjacent to city offices.

Action came after McNabb had outlined a floor plan for a new building which could house administrative offices of the City of Ishpeming as well as facilities for senior citizens and youths. The council was favorably impressed by his presentation. Details would have to be worked out, but all agreed that space requirements for youth activities, as sketched by the manager, would be more than adequate to handle the large turnout of youths.

After considerable discussion by council members concerning a portion of the building which would be used for youth activities, it was decided that possibility existed for erection of only that part in the near future.

The manager said this could be done providing the Ishpeming Youth Council raises the necessary funds for such a project.

Asked about federal aid for the construction of a community building, McNabb replied that the city's chances for public aid were slim at this time.

The council was informed it will obtain the parking lot on the corner of Division and Pine Sts. (site of the old National Guard Armory) for construction of a center.

A preliminary sketch on a chalkboard in the city council rooms showed outside dimensions of a combined youth center, senior citizens room and administrative offices would be 128 feet on Division and 153 feet on Pine.

It was proposed that a cement block building could be constructed on the site.

As soon as an architectural sketch is completed, the Ishpeming Youth Council will outline plans on how necessary funds would be obtained.

Calling All Chaperones

ISHPEMING — "One of these weekends the doors will be closed at the Ishpeming High School gymnasium where youth dances are held," a member of the youth council said last night.

Lack of interest by parents forced the council to warn that its rules prohibit the continuation of dances unless adult supervisors are present. Three adult couples are requested for each dance. Anyone desiring to serve as a chaperone may call Mrs. William Manty, HU 6-6874.

No Dances After Games

ISHPEMING — Because of increasing conflicts at the Ishpeming High School gymnasium, the school had discontinued dances after home basketball games.

A letter from the principal's office stated other difficulties which arise during the school year which directly affect the youth center activities.

The youth council received a schedule of events at the high school so it could arrange its schedule so as not to interfere with the normal operation of the school.

Agreement Reached On Road In Baraga

BARAGA — Details of the final agreement in a dispute between the Village of Baraga and the State Highway Department were ironed out at a special closed-door session of the council.

The agreement calls for the highway department to resurface the 1.3-mile stretch of Superior Ave. (also known as old U. S. 41) from the Soo Line crossing near the Baraga State Park through the business district to the intersection with M-35. Specifications for the work will be drawn up shortly and the job will be let out on bids with construction scheduled to start as early in the spring as possible.

The road will be resurfaced and repaired to meet state specifications, including preparation of a suitable base, patching of the concrete and application of 170-pound blacktopping.

The village in turn will be responsible for cleaning and repairing all drains and gutters and constructing aprons up each of the streets leading up the hill from Superior Ave.

The village will not be required to repay the $9,000 in gasoline tax money refunded by the state for maintenance of this stretch of road during the last six years. This refund has been the only stumbling block to a much earlier settlement of negotiations, which have been carried on through attorneys for a year and a half.

The dispute over repayment of the $9,000 was a touchy issue for the village, since this represents the total village tax revenue for almost 18 months, with only $6,300 collected annually. All other village revenue is received from water and light charges.

The state's offer (including repayment of the $9,000) was rejected by the council at last month's meeting on the ground that the village had spent far in excess of the $9,000 to maintain the road since it was abandoned as part of the state trunkline system in June, 1957. Wilfred Dompler, village street department superintendent, filed an affidavit at that time stating that his estimate of the maintenance costs for this section of road totaled $3,868 per year, which exceeds the $1,500 in annual gas tax refunds received from the state for this purpose by nearly $2,500 a year.

The road will not be officially turned back to the state for the period of repairs as previously planned, but rather the State Highway Department will restore the stretch to meet state specifications in return for an acknowledgment on the part of the village council that this roadway was officially abandoned as part of the state highway system and a guarantee that no further demands will be made upon the state for maintenance or repairs to the section in question.

The village will be solely responsible for maintenance and plowing of the road following the repairs.

The agreement was reached at a meeting of council members; attorneys William G. Konstenius of L'Anse and Theodore T. Messner of Houghton, who represented the village in the negotiations; Donald K. Goulet of Escanaba, representing the state attorney general, and Rudolph Rozatti of Crystal Falls, district engineer of the State Highway Department.

State Representative Russell Hellman, Lake Linden, worked closely with attorneys and councilmen to assist the village in its fight to achieve an acceptable settlement from the state.

Knox, In Effect, Says He Will Oppose Bennett's Bid In All-U.P. 11th District

ISHPEMING — Upper Peninsula Republicans have the word from Congressman Victor A. Knox of Sault Ste. Marie that he will be a candidate for Congress from the new 11th Michigan District in 1964.

Knox didn't make a direct avowal of his candidacy, but he said he'd follow the precedent he set in 1952 when he was first elected to Congress.

When introduced at the Republican fund-raising dinner in Ishpeming Saturday night by Toastmaster Jean Worth with the suggestion that he would be following his practice of running for re-election, Knox said:

"That's correct. I announced in 1952 and I have felt no need to announce since then, but I have run every two years and I have managed to get elected."

No Formal Announcement

The only indecision about Knox's candidacy has been caused by his failure up to now to make a formal announcement of his intentions in light of the redistricting of Michigan's congressional districts, which will make the new 11th District embrace all of the Upper Peninsula, including the present 12th District in the western U.P.

Congressman John B. Bennett (R-Ontonagon), who has represented the 12th since 1943 with the exception of the 1945-46 term when former Congressman Frank Hook of Ironwood regained office, has announced that he'll be a candidate for election in the new 11th.

Bennett's district now includes the eight western U.P. counties of Marquette, Dickinson, Iron, Baraga, Gogebic, Ontonagon, Houghton and Keweenaw with a population of 177,000.

Knox now represents an 11th District which includes the eastern U.P. counties of Menominee, Delta, Alger, Schoolcraft, Luce, Mackinac and Chippewa and nine counties in the top of the Lower Peninsula. Knox's present 11th District has a population of 240,000, including 128,000 in the seven U.P. counties of the sudden death of his sister, Mrs. Verner Lehto, in Bronx, N.Y.

Barber Trophy To Be Awarded This Weekend

By JAMES TRETHERWEY of the Journal Staff
Upper Peninsula sports writers probably wish they had three Barber Trophies to award. But there's only one — and it has become recognized as the symbol of U. P. high school football supremacy. That's what makes the scribe's task of picking the team they consider best in the region a difficult one.

Three "big" schools — Sault Ste. Marie, Kingsford and Ironwood — all finished with perfect 8-0 records, along with Sault Loretto Catholic Central. The latter, a smaller school which does not play outside the eastern U. P., is unlikely to be seriously considered for the trophy nomination. Sports writers will meet in Escanaba Saturday to make their annual football selections. Along with the "team of the year" award, they'll pick a "coach of the year" and Class A-B and C-D all-star teams. It will be the first time that separate honor groups will be named, writers deciding a year ago to make an effort to gain recognition for outstanding gridgers from small schools. But the Barber Trophy balloting probably will occupy much of the session, since it's one of the few times ever that three major schools finished with all-winning marks.

All three have had the big Barber Trophy — presented by the Sault Ste. Marie team of 1913 in memory of their coach — in their possession before. Kingsford won it in 1955, Sault Ste. Marie in 1956 and Ironwood in 1957. Other winners were Stambaugh in 1949, Menominee in 1950-52-53, Newberry in 1951, Iron River in 1954, Marquette in 1957, Manistique in 1959, Wakefield in 1960, Escanaba in 1961 and Escanaba Holy Name in 1962.

Both Ironwood and Kingsford, sporting identical records with Holy Name's 7-1 mark, were in the running last year, the Crusaders gaining it on the third ballot. Holy Name's only loss this year as defending champion was to Kingsford.

Lions Hurt By Injuries To Starters

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions are running into more injury problems and out of running backs. In addition to an injury that has sidelined halfback Larry Ferguson for the year, another jolt was the re-injury of fullback Nick Pietrosante's leg during Sunday's victory over Minnesota. Doubtful It makes Pietrosante a doubtful starter for next Sunday's game with the 49ers at San Francisco. And fullback Ollie Matson is out with an ankle sprain. That leaves only rookie Nick Ryder in the fullback position. There has been one heartening recovery, though. Flanker back Terry Barr showed no trace of trouble Sunday, for the first time since undergoing surgery a year ago for a knee injury.

Texas Still No. 1 With Illinois Far Behind In Second

(By the Associated Press)
Texas still is No. 1 in college football, but who's No. 2? The ballots say Illinois but the voters are in sharp disagreement. One member of the Associated Press football board of sports writers and broadcasters put it this way: "Snow White Texas No. 1, followed by the following dwarfs." Nearly Unanimous The Texas Longhorns, who won their sixth game of the season by the rather close score of 10-6 against dangerous Rice, received 49 first place votes and two seconds from the 51 AP board members voting. That gave them 508 points of a possible 510 on the basis of 10 for a first-place vote, nine for second, etc. down to one for 10th. Illinois got one vote for first, and the bulk of the seconds, 19, but was listed at every spot except ninth. Navy, which drew the other first place vote, was named for each of the other nine places at least twice. Auburn, Alabama and Wisconsin received votes for every place from two through 10. Votes for Mississippi, which wound up third, and for Oklahoma were almost as widely scattered. Illinois drew a total of 338

Packer End Injured In Last Game

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — End Ron Kramer, the third and latest Green Bay Packer casualty, may not be ready when the defending National Football League champions meet the Pittsburgh Steelers in Milwaukee Sunday. Kramer injured his right knee in Sunday's 34-20 victory over the Colts in Baltimore. Not Serious Packer Coach Vince Lombardi said Monday the injury "is not as serious as we thought," but added that it will be late this week before it is known how long Kramer will be lost. Other offensive regulars who missed the Baltimore game were halfback Tom Moore and quarterback Bart Starr. Moore, sidelined with an ailing back, is expected to play against the Steelers. Starr is out indefinitely with a fracture in his right hand.

Liston Tour Not Favored In Capetown

CAPETOWN, South Africa (AP) — The Cape Boxing Board does not favor an exhibition tour to Capetown next month by world heavyweight champion Sonny Liston. The board's chairman, Major W. C. Hoffman, was quoted in the press here as saying the promoter of the proposed tournament, Tiger Kid Shaik, will be brought before the board Monday. Guarantee Asked "He will be asked to produce his correspondence concerning the Liston exhibition and whether he can guarantee the money to cover such an expensive venture," Hoffman was quoted as saying. "Most important, we will want to know whether he realizes the danger of promoting a tournament the board considers potentially explosive." Emphasizing that the board was not opposed to nonwhite athletes Hoffman said:

Gordie Has Yet To Snap Goal Record

CHICAGO (AP) — That five-minute standing ovation for Gordie Howe Sunday night wasn't for breaking a record—just trying one. The pressure goes back on tonight. As the Detroit Red Wings meet the Chicago Black Hawks, the Wings' star will be out to smash the record of 544 career goals he shares with former Montreal player Maurice Richard. Shuffle Manager-coach Sid Abel has shuffled the lineup again, moving Norm Ullman from center to left wing on the second line, installing Eddie Joyal at center and keeping Lowell MacDonald at right wing. Andre Pronovost will go back to penalty killing. Ullman's line hasn't contributed a point in seven games, although Ullman had three goals by this time last season. Emphasis On Pass Defense For Michigan ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan football coach Bump Elliott stressed pass defense Monday as the Wolverines began drills for Saturday's game here with

Doctor Says College Gridgers Hit With Force Of Mantle Bat

CHICAGO (AP) — Of course, you never got hit in the head with a ball bat swung by Mickey Mantle. But that's as much force as a college football player receives on his helmet each time he crashes into an opponent. Many Gravities The helmet is subjected to blows of more than 5,000 times the force of gravity. This is considered the same number of G's a baseball encounter when it is slammed for a home run by Mantle. The figures were reported today by Dr. Stephen E. Reid, an associate professor of surgery at the Northwestern University Medical School in a talk before the National Safety Congress. Reid, a star guard on Northwestern's 1936 Big Ten football team, has been studying head injuries in football for two years. In this fall's Northwestern games, fullbacks Bill Swingle and Steve Murphy have been wired with miniature electronic gear in their helmets and shoulder pads. The packet measures the blows, converts them into electrical impulses and broadcasts them by an FM radio in the shoulder pads to a telemetry station in the press box. The entire device weighs six ounces. In the booth, the impacts are recorded on a high-speed, direct-writing oscillograph. Brain Study The study has been undertaken to determine how efficiently helmets protect the head and how the equipment can be improved," Reid said. Next step will be to incorporate a device to record the effects of impacts on the player's brain during a game.

Boxer Will Testify In Death Case

BALTIMORE (AP) — Heavyweight Wayne Bethea was scheduled to talk to a grand jury today about his Oct. 14 fight with Ernie Knox, a Baltimore boxer who died 32 hours after Bethea knocked him out. Doctors said Knox, 26, suffered a brain hemorrhage. The fight at the Coliseum was a scheduled 10-rounder. Knox was knocked out in the ninth round. He regained consciousness for a time, but lapsed into a coma from which he never recovered. Bethea, 31, weighed in for the match at 205 pounds. Knox's weight was listed officially at 178. But medical examiners said Knox's body weighed 153 pounds at an autopsy. Registration For Marquette Junior Hockey Opening The Marquette Junior Hockey Association will register players on Wednesday, October 30 at the Palestra. Any boy under 18 years old as of August 1, 1963 is eligible to participate in this program. All boys are urged to submit birth certificates and pay their insurance when they register. Both will be required before the start of team play.

Badgers Go To MSU For Key Battle

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State meets Wisconsin in a key Big Ten game for both sides Saturday before an MSU homecoming crowd that may be a sellout. Wisconsin will be trying to pick up where they left off before being dumped last week by Ohio State 13-10. Before the loss, the Badgers were unbeaten and second-ranked in the nation. MSU Coach Duffy Daugherty is looking for a rough ground challenge from Wisconsin. He says the Badgers have "the most powerful running game" State has faced yet this season. Big With Depth The Wisconsin line is also big and has plenty of depth, Daugherty says. Backfield speedsters Lou Holland, Bill Smith and Ron Smith are expected to give MSU's fleet Sherm Lewis a challenge. MSU tackle Dave Herman is expected to be ready after suffering a hip injury against Northwestern, and State's starting lineup should be identical to last Saturday's.

Correction In the Babe Ruth Dinner story in Monday's edition of the Journal, the names of the following boys were omitted from the listing of those Babe Ruth League players receiving certificates as graduates from the league: James Pinedo, James Smith, William Jarvis, Michael Molby, Don Rudness, Barton Bartelli, David Nobert, Peter Madosh, Richard Peterson, David Orr, Steve Martin, Roger Daugherty, Larry Brainerd, John Gaspar and Austin O'Neill.

Cotton Meets Hanks In Light Heavyweight Title Bout Tonight

FLINT (AP) Two aging veterans with a zinging punch, Eddie Cotton and Henry Hank, will battle here tonight for the Michigan-only "world" light heavyweight championship. Michigan's boxing commission will recognize the winner of the 15-round bout in Flint's IMA auditorium as king of the division—but this won't affect world champion Willie Pastrano's status elsewhere. 21 Knockouts Cotton, who has scored 21 knockouts in his 62 pro fights, is favored to beat Hank who, at 32, is four years younger than Cotton. Hank also is no slouch when it comes to chilling his opponents. The Detroit sharpshooter has flattened 18 of his 74 rivals. Hank's manager, Harry Baxter, says Cotton, of Seattle, is the kind of fighter—a clever boxer—that gives Hank the most trouble. The World Boxing Association lists Cotton as Pastrano's top challenger and ranks Hank 6th in the division. The fight apparently has generated no great excitement. Odds-makers at Las Vegas said Monday they weren't posting any odds on the match due to a lack of betting interest. Skirmish Cotton's adviser George Chemers, has indicated he'll have a pre-fight skirmish with Dave Gudelsky, the state boxing commissioner, over Michigan's rest-period rule. Fighters must rest 90 seconds, rather than the usual 60 seconds, between rounds. Chemers said he was not aware of the stipulation when the Cotton-Hank contracts were signed in August. He had known of the 90-second rule, Chemers said, he probably would have called off the bout. Gudelsky said he would discuss Chemers' complaint with him before the first bell rings at 9 p.m., EST tonight. Second Title Bout This will be the second time this year that Michigan has put a title label on a fight. Last summer, Kenny Lane was recognized as lightweight champion when he dethroned Paul Armistead at Saginaw, Mich. Gudelsky made that move after the World Boxing Association failed to pressure world titleholder Carlos Ortiz into defending against Lane. In the running feud with the WBA, Gudelsky withdrew his state from the organization and there has since been no reconciliation.

7-Foot Boa - - - It Eats People

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Women and children are complaining that a pet shop owner feeds live guinea pigs to a seven-foot snake in the shop's window, the local humane society reported.

Frank E. Lohr, society president, said the society will ask City Council to outlaw "the exhibition of reptiles in pet stores."

Richard Kulik, owner of the downtown Mount Clemens pet shop, denied the boa constrictor "ever eats guinea pigs in public."

'It Eats People'

Kulik said he feeds the snake "a rodent, at night, in the store, in private."

He has been putting a guinea pig into the snake's cage in the window during the day, Kulik acknowledged, "but the snake is so glutted it won't bother the guinea pig."

A sign over the snake's cage says: "Seven-foot long boa constrictor—$19.85. It eats people."

Sunny Italy Slowly Getting Rainier

ROME (AP) — Sunny Italy is slowly getting rainier.

A government weather survey showed that from 1953 to 1962 the number of rainy days had increased from 85 to 107. That counts any day when any rain or snow fell.

Italy was also getting warmer. Over the same period the average year-round high temperature remained unchanged at 64.4 degrees Fahrenheit. But the average year-round low temperature rose from 48 to 49.1 degrees Fahrenheit.

Flying Dead Sport? Marquette Club Proves It Can Be Fun, Practical

By ALLAN COLES
Of The Journal Staff

"Come, Josephine, in my flying machine . . ." The words hark back to the halcyon days of early flying, when a girl with sufficient spirit could have the thrill of her life by climbing into an open cockpit behind a dashing young aviator and, after an interminable roll across a bumpy field, ascend noisily into the blue for a short flight over towns, fields and sometimes even clouds.

Gone Forever?

Those days are gone forever, like the song, you say? To a certain extent, yes . . . but one still can find the barnstormer or exhibition pilot behind the whirling prop of an old Jenny or Meyers biplane, and for a price not too much in excess of what was paid by our parents or grandparents, we can still go up for a spin, a roll or two and a heart-stopping stall. But the sport of pleasure flying as it was in those days has, for the most part, grown up into a burgeoning business, and one can open nearly any national magazine and see the full-page ads extolling the virtues of private plane ownership, including speed and economy.

It's sad to see flying develop into a rather dry business, devoid of excitement or thrill. There are relatively few of us today who have not left the ground in one aircraft or another, but it is most often in an insulated, pressurized, padded, multi-manned commercial liner that affords little of the feeling of flight. And it is a good bet that nearly all of our children will fly before they reach middle age.

So the novelty of flight in today's form is largely gone, through the practical efforts of businessmen and businesses to make it a normal experience, devoid of excitement or thrill, so as to attract a greater number of passengers.

Where, then, can one find a place where flying is still a sport, albeit safe, yet a thing of pleasure and meaningful experience?

Has 15 Members

Well, take the Marquette Area Flying Club, for example. Incorporated several years back, the club consists of 15 men from all walks of life who retain the sense of pleasure in flying, as well as the practical outlook that has built the industry to such tremendous heights. The members own a two-place Cessna 120, a sweet beauty of an aircraft that climbs rapidly, flies true and which is crammed with every bit of radio and navigation equipment need to fly blind on instruments if necessary.

Operating out of Marquette County Airport, the club is fortunate in its location, for once one rises from the embarrassingly large runway into the air, the country surrounding this city falls away into a beautiful collage of lakes and rivers, forested hills and rocky outcroppings . . . and there is the startling contrast of the convoluted terrain with the smooth sheet of brilliant blue that it Lake Superior, the beach sloping away under breaking waves.

The aircraft is completely equipped with radio and navigational aids, and has dual controls for use in teaching prospective pilots to fly. (Mining Journal photo.)

Spectacular Land

A more spectacular land to fly over cannot be found in the Midwest, and it is the main attraction for passengers and pilots up for pleasure.

The club's purpose is not entirely that of pleasure flying, however, and it serves a very practical need as well, giving aspiring pilots an opportunity to learn to fly and obtain a private license for business and pleasure. There are presently six owners of private pilot's licenses in the club, and two of these have earned them through the club. Four others, non-members, have obtained their licenses by means of the club's facilities, and there are nine now working toward their licenses.

Past members of the Marquette Area Flying Club have included a doctor and a lawyer, but the variety of occupations held by present members effectively destroys the common misconception that a flying club is merely an aerial yacht club, confined rigorously to professional men with large incomes.

Variety In Membership

Among the members are three college students, a power plant operator and supervisor, a prison corrections officer, a carpenter, the manager of a local dairy, a professional photographer and a clothing store businessman.

Jim Campbell, president of the club, is a service and installation man for Minneapolis-Honeywell, while Vice-President Phil Paul is a student of

SAC Alert Re-Run For Cameramen

MARCH AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The Air Force called a B52 bomber alert for visiting newsmen Monday—and did it so well that some were caught with their cameras down.

But officers obligingly restaged the first part of the exercise—a mass mad-rush exodus of bomber crewmen from their underground quarters at this Strategic Air Command base.

The newsmen were on the base for their first inspection of the 15th Air Force's new combat operations center—a computer-packed control building capable of taking over direction of the nation's air might if SAC's center at Omaha, Neb., should be knocked out in war.

Briefing Given

The 15th's commander, Lt. Gen. Archie J. Old Jr., told newsmen in a briefing that more than 50 per cent of the 15th's bombers here and at other bases could be put in the air in eight to 10 minutes.

The practice alert his men staged later in the day—without warning to bomber crewmen—made the general out a piker. Eight of the nine huge jet B52s lined up outside the crewmen's standby quarters were ready to roll in four minutes.

Horn Sounds

A horn sounded at 2:30 p.m., just as the tour of the so-called "alert facility," a fenced-off building where crewmen await an emergency they hope will never come.

Some of the visitors had to move fast to avoid being trampled in the rush of uniformed youngsters who rushed up a ramp to the concrete apron outside.

In less than one minute the first B52's powerful eight-jet engines were roaring.

By 2:34 p.m. the great bombers were ready to roll.

political science. Howard Kitzman, treasurer, is an engineer, and a director of the newly-organized Michigan Association of Flying Clubs, which the Marquette club has recently joined. Secretary Henry Isabelle is a welder; safety and maintenance man; Tom Martin is a mechanic, and the operations officer, Charles Bruce, is an FAA radio operator.

The club is open to any interested person and offers an economical means of learning to fly. Plans are being made for the purchase of a larger plane which could seat four, and a concentrated membership drive will soon be under way.

All is not lost, therefore, for those of us who still look up with avid interest when the drone or whine of an airplane is heard overhead . . . flying is not dead as a sport or for pleasure, and for the price of a short trip by commercial airliner, one can join a spirited group of private aviators and have every bit as much fun as did grandma on her first trip up in an open cockpit.
