Algerians Continue Fighting

ALGIERS (AP)—A heavy Algerian artillery barrage erupted along the tense Algerian Moroccan border at dawn today, several hours after a mid-night ceasefire.

Mortar and cannon shells landed in the Moroccan side of the border, and heavy machine-gun fire shattered the early morning quiet.

A Moroccan officer in the besieged oasis said he ordered his men to fire back. "My men observed the ceasefire until attacked," said Col. Mohammed Hadda. He said his men evicted the Algerians from the oasis Friday.

The ceasefire, negotiated at a four-nation conference in Bamako, Mali, earlier this week, went into effect officially at midnight Friday.

Both King Hassan II of Morocco and President Ahmed Ben Bella of Algeria promised to observe the truce and allow a commission set up at the Bamako conference to supervise their Sahara border dispute.

Moroccan and Algerian troops remained dispersed along a 550-mile belt of the disputed area from Tindouf, an ore-rich town in the southwest, to Figuig, 215 miles south of the Mediterranean.

Shaky Start In Campaign For Romney

DETROIT (AP)—A campaign to promote Michigan Gov. George Romney for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination got off to a shaky start Friday when a small crowd turned out for a $6-a-plate fund-raising dinner.

Sponsors of the event plainly were disappointed when they viewed the crowd of about 80 persons in a room set up with dinner places for about 300 in the Detroit suburb of Garden City.

The national chairman of the draft-Romney movement — George Zimmerman of Dallas, Tex. — said the organization would proceed with plans to stir up grass-roots support for the Governor.

Today, a "Romney Bandwagon" was to begin a cross-country tour winding up next summer at San Francisco, site of the Republican national convention. The "Bandwagon" is a 15-foot house trailer loaded with Romney buttons, brochures and bumper stickers.

Some of the Romney backers blamed the small turnout at the kickoff dinner on his repeated insistence that he is not a candidate and will not become a candidate next year.

Although Romney has not ruled out the possibility of a draft, he has turned a cold shoulder to the move to get him the nomination.

Expert Advocates Kill For Males In Britain

LONDON (AP)—Tailor and Cutter — an authority on men's clothes — has advocated the kill as a national dress for the British male. In its main editorial, the magazine said Friday:

"It's far too good just for Scotsmen. Since the invention of the bicycle, and the wide inter-breeding which it made possible, there are few British families untouched by Scottish blood."

Blast Killed 2 Or More In 18 Families

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Many people went in family groups to the Holiday on Ice Revue at the Indiana State Fairgrounds Coliseum Thursday night, and at least 18 families lost more than one member in the explosion that killed 64 persons.

One body remained unidentified today.

State police ordered the Coliseum locked until Monday while the work of removing debris continued.

Investigation

Prosecutor Noble R. Percy called for an investigation by the Marion County grand jury to determine whether the tragedy was caused by "crimes of commission or omission."

Investigations were being conducted by the city police and fire departments, state police, the sheriff's office, the state fire marshal, the state administrative building council and the coroner.

Goldwater Won't Shun Birchers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater says he has no intention of denouncing members of the John Birch Society — as long as what they do and say is "temperate and in keeping with the decency called for in American politics."

But the Arizona Republican doesn't put the society's founder, Robert Welch, in that category.

Takes Issue With Welch

Goldwater said he long ago took issue with Welch—who has called former President Dwight D. Eisenhower a traitor and the late John Foster Dulles a Communist.

Goldwater said he does not agree with the society's call for impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren, elimination of the income tax and U.S. withdrawal from the United Nations.

Tigerman Shot To Death: Would-Be Political Boss Forecast Violent Death

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Joe Tigerman was the prototype of the would-be political boss who never quite became boss. He had a promotion three years ago that someone would gun him down. Friday someone did.

Tigerman, 54, was shot three times as he sat in the office of his used car lot.

The fast-talking Tigerman, a Democratic faction leader, was deep in a political campaign that day three years ago when he suggested to three luncheon companions that he might encounter violence.

5 Freed By Court In Georgia

AMERICUS, Ga. (AP)—Five integration leaders plan to continue working for civil rights now that they are free on bond under an unprecedented federal court order which struck down two Georgia laws.

The five spent nearly three months in jail in this south Georgia farming center before they were released Friday. They said they were not mistreated.

John Perdew, 21, a white Harvard University student from Denver, Colo., reported demonstrations will be resumed in Americus "if they're necessary."

The ruling voided a 19th century insurrection law — which carried a maximum penalty of death—and an unlawful assembly statute.

Released on bond of $2,500 in addition to Perdew were Donald Harris, 23, of New York; Ralph W. Allen, 22, of Melrose, Mass.; and Thomas McDaniel, 19, of Americus. Bond of $500 was signed for Zev Aelony, 25, of Minneapolis.

Released on $500 bond each were three Americus Negroes, Sallie Mae Durham, 14, and Artis and Marvin Brown. The girl had been denied bail by juvenile court authorities. The two men had been in jail since August, charged with resisting arrest, disorderly conduct and failing to obey officers.

It was noted here that political prisoners, students and Buddhist monks and nuns, imprisoned under Diem and Nhu, were quickly released by the military leaders. This is expected to go far in massing public support for the military regime.

Nguyen Ngoc Tho, a former vice president who was named provisional prime minister, had been leading a campaign to conciliate the Buddhists. He was the ranking Buddhist in the Diem government.

No Advance Warning

The military group is expected to announce the participation of other civilians who are not only anti-Communist but pro-Western in their thinking.

U.S. officials maintain Washington had no advance warning of the takeover and that the United States had no hand in it. There was no surprise, however, when the siege of the presidential palace began.

There had been persistent rumors for weeks that a coup would be attempted. But the news of it came dramatically here.

At 3 a. m. President Kennedy was awakened to receive the first reports of the fighting in Saigon.

Soon automobiles carrying advisers began arriving at the White House and State Department.

Orders

By 9:30 a. m., Kennedy was in his office. From his chief military, diplomatic and intelligence advisers, he received a full report on the situation, and orders went out for U.S. military forces in the Pacific to head toward Viet Nam "should it be necessary to protect American lives."

This morning the U.S. air carrier Hancock left Hong Kong, apparently heading toward South Viet Nam.

The United States had demonstrated its displeasure with the Diem regime. Relations between Washington and Saigon became increasingly strained during September and October as the United States sought to pressure Diem into easing his repressive policies against the Buddhists.

Special Pay

Last month special pay to those of Nhu's elite paratroop corps who had been trained for fighting guerrillas but were used in raids on Buddhist pagodas, was suspended. U.S. economic aid amounting to about $10 million a month was cut off.

The downfall of the Diem government opens the way for a resumption of this assistance.

Charges Against Labor Appointee Fail To Hold Up

LANSING (AP)—An investigation into the background of the new state labor commissioner has not verified a charge he is "anti-labor," reports Sen. John Fitzgerald, R-Grand Ledge.

Sen. Raymond Drendzel, D-Detroit, made the charge while the Senate Business Committee reviewed the qualifications of Roy Johns of Wakefield for the labor post.

Fitzgerald, chairman of the committee, sent Sens. Robert Vanderlaan, R-Grand Rapids, and John Bowman, D-Roseville, into the Upper Peninsula to investigate Drendzel's charges, which involved strike-breaking activities in Gogebic County in the 1940's.

"They were unable to substantiate any of the allegations," Fitzgerald said.

Gov. George Romney appointed Johns to the $11,000-a-year labor post Aug. 9. He is Gogebic County's Republican chairman and a former chamber of commerce president. The Senate has not yet confirmed his appointment, pending the investigation.

Mother Charged With Aiding Delinquency

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 16-year-old girl has had three illegitimate children, a juvenile court judge says, and her mother faces trial for contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Judge Angelo Gagliardo quoted the mother, Mrs. Virginia McLaughlin, 33, as saying, "I told my daughter where to buy contraceptives and how to use them but she still got pregnant."

Military Rebels Proclaim Buddhist Rule In Viet Nam; Diem, Nhu Said Suicides

U.S. Expects Regime To Mend Rift

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States expects the new government in South Viet Nam to heal the rift with the country's Buddhist majority and speedily resume the war against the Communist guerrillas.

Officials here believe the revolutionary committee of generals which ousted the Diem regime has the widespread popular support necessary for success of the U.S.-backed war effort.

Conclusion

They contend the removal of President Ngo Dinh Diem and his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, stemmed from a conclusion by the Vietnamese army leadership that the Viet Cong could not be defeated under the Roman Catholic-oriented Diem government.

It was noted here that political prisoners, students and Buddhist monks and nuns, imprisoned under Diem and Nhu, were quickly released by the military leaders. This is expected to go far in massing public support for the military regime.

Nguyen Ngoc Tho, a former vice president who was named provisional prime minister, had been leading a campaign to conciliate the Buddhists. He was the ranking Buddhist in the Diem government.

NGO DINH NHU NGO DINH DIEM

Nguyen Ngoc Tho Named Premier

TOKYO (AP) — South Viet Nam's new premier, Nguyen Ngoc Tho, is a slender, 55-year-old Buddhist who was vice president under Ngo Dinh Diem.

In a nation where politicians are sometimes considered disvided on northern and southern lines, Tho is regarded as a southerner.

His background contrasts sharply with that of the toppled chief of state, for Diem was a Roman Catholic and, in the eyes of many of his people, a northerner.

Born In 1908

Tho was born May 26, 1908, in Long Xuy province—a part of Cochinchina under French colonial administration. He joined the civil service at 22 and became a "mandarin" like Diem.

But while Diem was characterized by northern rigidity, Tho was considered endowed with southern warmth and charm.

These qualities made him something of a mediator for the Diem government, which he served from its birth in 1954—to all appearances with loyalty.

His reputation of being a go-between might be one reason why the generals who toppled Diem picked Tho to head a stop-gap regime.

No Real Powers

Diem named Tho to head a special government committee during the Buddhist crisis last summer to deal with Buddhist grievances. But Tho was given no real powers and was unable to solve the dispute.

The minister of national economy, Tho was made vice president on Dec. 2, 1956. He had little say in palace policymaking.

He served as governor of his native province from 1948 to 1954 and joined Diem's Republican government as interior minister in 1954.

Sent To Tokyo

In 1955, Diem sent him to Tokyo as South Viet Nam's first ambassador to Japan and to begin negotiations on World War II reparations claims.

In May 1956 Tho was recalled to Saigon to head a team negotiating the return to the government fold of leaders of the private army of the Hoa Hao religious sect, who resisted Diem's efforts to dissolve it.

Ambush

The toughest Hoa Hao leader, Ba Cut, was captured while going to a meeting with Tho. He was judged by a court-martial and guillotined. Tho never forgave Tho for that. It was not known, however, whether the scheme to lure Ba Cut into an ambush was Tho's idea or Diem's.

Report Says 2 Brothers Took Poison

TOKYO (AP) — Military rebels in Viet Nam announced today the death of President Ngo Dinh Diem and his brother Nhu, and proclaimed a new government led by Buddhists.

Some accounts filtering from South Viet Nam's capital — where thousands danced joyously in the streets — said the Ngo brothers committed suicide, others that they were shot to death.

Suicide was the story broadcast by the rebel-held Radio Saigon.

Poison

This terse account, as pieced together by diplomatic sources in Bangkok and in Washington, was that the 62-year-old chief executive and his brother, 52, killed themselves upon being recaptured after once escaping military custody.

DOUNG VAN MINH

A Bangkok diplomat said the two were reported to have swallowed poison on the way to jail in an armored car from a church in Saigon's Chinese quarter where they had taken refuge.

There was no independent confirmation. Some diplomats wondered whether the two would have so breached their Roman Catholic faith as to take that way out, for the church condemns suicide.

ABC Report

The American Broadcasting Co. (ABC) announced it had received word from its Saigon correspondent that a nervous officer shot the brothers after taking them into custody at the church.

Some news dispatches filtered from Saigon after a long blackout about the 18-hour revolutionary strife, but censorship held back many details.

The victorious generals gave the reins of a provisional government to Nguyen Ngoc Tho, a slender, 55-year-old Buddhist who had served as Diem's vice president since 1956.

The downfall of the autocratic ruling family followed a day-and-night siege of the presidential palace. A 90-minute dawn tank and artillery attack preceded Diem's capitulation after eight years of rule.

The leader of the coup was Gen. Doung Van Minh, 47, a Buddhist. A civilian and former vice president, Nguyen Ngoc Tho, was named provisional president. As the ranking Buddhist in the Roman Catholic Diem government, he was a leader in the campaign to conciliate South Viet Nam's angered Buddhist majority.

Deny Involvement

It was Diem's treatment of the Buddhists, capped by the government's August raids on pagodas and ensuing arrests, that marked the country's final disenchantment with him and his family.

A State Department spokesman said the United States was in no way involved in Diem's ouster. Military officials, however, said they believe the revolutionary committee of generals has the popular support for an intensified war effort against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

The coup began at noon Friday, with an attack on the presidential palace, a stucco building in downtown Saigon.

Diem and Nhu had surrendered unconditionally.

The death toll from the day and night of fighting was feared high, although no figures were available immediately.

U. S. officials said no Americans lives were lost. U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who was scheduled to return to Washington for consultations today or Sunday, ordered all Americans to take shelter.

Dems Ready To Bargain On Tax Plan

LANSING (AP) — Democratic leaders, aware their party holds the key votes on Gov. George Romney's tax reform plan in the legislature, say they are about ready to start bargaining.

"I'm not ready to say whether we will give a push to any kind of a compromise tax package," said House Majority Leader Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit. "But we are willing to meet with the Republicans and talk things over."

Strategic Position

Democrats regard themselves as being in a strategic position because the revised tax reform program is locked in committee in the Senate and apparently lacks the GOP votes it would need to pass the House.

House Republicans will caucus Monday night, when the legislature reconvenes, to poll themselves on the revised program.

Expansion Needed At Chrysler

CHICAGO (AP) — Chrysler Corp.'s comeback in automotive sales has reached the point where the firm may need two new plants in the Midwest, Lynn A. Townsend, Chrysler president, said Friday night.

Townsend said Chrysler is studying the need for a new 900-car-a-day assembly plant and a 30-line stamping plant, to be built in Indiana, Illinois, Michigan or Ohio.

This year marked the first time in eight years Chrysler was able to call in all its employees for work.

The firm said increased production schedules resulted in the addition of 600 hourly-rated workers at its Jefferson plant at Nov. 1. Another 300 will be added at the Dodge plant by Nov. 11.

This will bring its employee total in the United States to 66,000 Chrysler said.

Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu told newsmen Thursday that "I cannot stay in a country whose government stabbed me in the back," when she was asked if she would seek asylum in the United States now that a military junta has seized control of her brother-in-law's government in South Viet Nam. (AP Wirephoto.)

'64 Auto Prize In Merchants' Yule Promotion

Marquette Chamber of Commerce officials today announced that the chamber's retail merchants division will give away a 1964 automobile as the major attraction of its Christmas promotion this year.

Three hundred thousand "lucky car" coupons will be available to Marquette shoppers, who will participate in the free drawing for the new automobile.

Clifton Wagner, chairman of the chamber's retail merchants division, said that 160,000 more tickets will be available this year than were printed in the last Christmas shopping season for the chamber's "lucky shopper" giveaway promotion program.

To Be On Display

The chamber has purchased a 1964 two-door sedan from Olson Motors, Inc., for the free drawing, Wagner said. The car will be on display in Marquette during the Christmas shopping season, he added.

The "lucky car" coupons will

Lightning Hits City Power Plant

Power was only out for 50 seconds late yesterday afternoon when lightning struck the light and power department's No. 3 plant at Tourist Park.

Damage to the electric generating plant was estimated at about $3,000, City Manager Thomas Moore said. Most of the loss is covered by insurance.

A small fire at the plant was extinguished by the fire department.

"Generally it takes much longer for power to be restored in an emergency like this. However, John Holland, the operator at the No. 2 plant, quickly cleared the No. 3 plant line and threw the load to the No. 2 and No. 4 plants," Moore said.

The Tourist Park (No. 3) plant is unattended and is controlled by the operator at the No. 2 plant.

"As a result of Holland's quick work, power was restored in 50 seconds to the areas affected, the business district and Third and Fourth Sts.," Moore said. Lightning hit the plant at 5:40 p. m. Approximately 12 coils in a generator were damaged. Repair work will take about two weeks and additional lightning protection mechanisms also will be installed, Moore said.

Mrs. Richard (Sidney) Mulhauser, 77, of 133 W. Ohio St., died at 12:30 yesterday afternoon in St. Mary's Hospital, following an illness of one month.

She was born on Feb. 24, 1886, in Baltimore, Md., and had been a resident here for the past two years. Prior to that time, she had lived in Chicago for many years and had been a former resident of Marquette.

She was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral. She is survived by her husband, Richard; a sister, Miss Mazie Byrne, Marquette, and three nieces, Mrs. Robert Diefenderfer, and Mrs. Wilfred Seacrest, Jackson, and Mrs. Pearl Rose, in Oregon.

Funeral services will be held at 11 Monday morning in St. Peter's Cathedral. Burial will take place in Holy Cross Cemetery.

The escorts will be Gordon Waters, Negaunee; David and Jack D. Williams, Ishpeming, and Arthur Henne, William Armstrong and Tim Messier, Marquette.

Two Inches Of Snow Fall Here

About two inches of snow fell during the night and early today in Marquette, with heavier amounts, ranging up to five inches, reported inland.

Meteorologist Emil Ellingson said the snowfall was primarily confined to the area along the lake and about 50 miles inland. Snow mixed with rain fell much of the night here.

The temperature yesterday dropped to 33, the coldest reading this fall (it had been 35 on two days in October). Yesterday's high was 43, for a mean of 38, which was two degrees below normal.

It was 33 again this morning and it was expected to get down to 25 or 30 here tonight, with colder weather due inland. It'll be in the upper 40s tomorrow.

Snow flurries were expected to diminish this afternoon, with colder weather due tonight. Tomorrow it will be a little warmer, with the temperature in the 40s. Partly cloudy and little change is the outlook for Monday.

This is the first accumulation of snow in Marquette this fall, although traces of snow were recorded earlier.

Owner To Remodel Building Damaged In Fire Here This Week

Robert Dahlstrom today announced plans to remodel his building in the 300 block on S. Front St., which was partially destroyed by a $30,000 fire Tuesday night.

The fire gutted the second story of the building, but Marquette, Negaunee and K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base firemen were able to prevent fire loss on the first floor, which houses the C and S Discount Sales and the Jet Grill, and to the adjoining buildings.

However, water and smoke damage to the C and S Discount Sales, owned by Frank Campbell, and the Jet Grill, owned by Dahlstrom, was extensive. The loss on the building and its contents were partly covered by insurance.

Dahlstrom purchased the building July 1 from his father-in-law, Peter N. Grivas of Marquette.

Contractor Named Dahlstrom said he intends to remodel into a one-story building. "I'll have the ceiling lowered, install new tile, repaint and fix up the front of the building," Dahlstrom said.

Menze Construction Co., Inc., is contractor for the cleanup and remodeling job.

"I figure we'll be able to open the Jet Grill in a month or at least six weeks," Dahlstrom said.

Frank Campbell said he intends to reopen his discount store as soon as possible.

George Papadakis, owner of the Bon Ton Cafe, which adjoins the Jet Grill, said he plans to reopen sometime next week. Contents of the restaurant, where there was smoke and water damage, are insured.

Tom Swenor, owner of the Central Bar, which adjoins the discount store, was not forced to close because of the fire. There was only a small amount of smoke and water damage to the rear of the Central Bar. Firemen Praised

The merchants expressed their gratitude to the firemen who battled the blaze, which started at 5:35 p. m. in the Jet Grill.

"The firemen worked fast to save the first floor and the adjoining buildings," Papadakis stated.

"We're so grateful and thank goodness no one was injured," Dahlstrom said. "The help which the Marquette Fire Department received from the 40-off-duty Sawyer firemen and the Negaunee department was wonderful."

The area fire departments operate under a mutual aid agreement which brings together the needed manpower and equipment while the remainder of the area's firemen and equipment are on standby duty.

Under the agreement, the "visiting" chiefs serve as sub-captains, directing their men under the orders of the "home" chief.

Most Merchandise Saved

Campbell said that most of his merchandise was not damaged because it was hauled out by volunteers. "There were a lot of teen-agers around and they were right on the ball doing all they possibly could," he said.

"I never knew I had so many friends and I'll never know the names of all the people who pitched in to save my

Campbell said his furniture is stored in several warehouses, including the warehouse of "a kind of a competitor."

Cause of the fire has been determined as a malfunction in the thermostat of the deep fat fryer in the Jet Grill. Marquette Fire Chief John W. Myers said.

Ten minutes before the fire broke out, a waitress noticed that the fryer was not working properly and Dahlstrom turned it off. However, he said yesterday that a broken wire had grounded and apparently flicking the switch did not turn off the electricity.

Almost instantly, the blaze swept up the exhaust duct over the deep fat cooker and into the second floor.

Potato 'King' In U. P. Show Under Way In Marquette

Potatoes rule as "kings" in the Upper Peninsula Potato Show which began yesterday in the National Guard Armory in Marquette. The show concludes this evening. Displays were open this afternoon, along with a panel presentation. The annual business meeting of the U. P. Potato Growers Association was scheduled for this afternoon. Here George Starkey of Republic, who harvested 40 acres of Russet Burbank potatoes, displays some of his prize crops in the field, indicating that the early freeze in September didn't hurt the crop as much as was feared.

Chamber To Launch Membership Blitz In City On Tuesday

With 50 or more experienced workers participating, the Marquette Chamber of Commerce will conduct a "presidential blitz" on Tuesday.

The goal of the chamber is to add a minimum of 25 new members to the roster by the close of business Tuesday.

The invited group has been called to breakfast at 8 Tuesday morning in the Hotel Northland. It will be composed of past presidents, the current board of directors, division heads and those who have achieved good records in the past as workers on membership solicitation teams.

President Harlan F. Larson, regarded as one of Marquette's best chamber presidents, conceived the idea of the blitz and the board of directors, in recognition of his efforts, named the project "presidential blitz."

Among those speaking Tuesday morning will be Mayor C. Fred Rydholm, President Larson, Past President Robley H. Morrison and Robert M. Ling, chamber first vice president. Each is being limited to two minutes.

"What we want," said Larson, "is a motivated, up-and-at-em group that will get the chamber message and carry it with enthusiasm to non-members."

"We feel there should be a greater approximation of total coverage of the community through the work of the chamber of commerce. We intend, at least, that those not in the fold will get our message."

Campus-Wide Oral Vaccine Plan Opens At Northern Monday

A campus-wide effort to provide Sabin oral polio vaccine to all students, faculty, staff members and their families at Northern Michigan University will begin on Monday.

The University Health Service today announced plans to administer the three types of vaccine at approximately five-week intervals.

Dr. Osmo I. Niemi and the health service staff at NMU, urged everyone on campus to take advantage of this opportunity to help eliminate polio.

The tastless vaccine will be made available to university employees, their husbands, wives and children over three years of age.

The vaccine will be given in the University Health Center, located on the ground floor of the east wing of Walter Gries Hall. There will be a small service charge.

Type 1 will be given Nov. 4-8; type 3, Dec. 9-13; and type 2, Jan. 13-17. The hours will be 8 a.m. to 12 and 1 to 5 p.m. Easy To Take

Easy to take, the vaccine is dropped on a cube of sugar and dissolved in the mouth, Dr. Niemi said.

Doctors say it is wise to take the oral vaccine even if Salk vaccine has been taken previously. The oral vaccine will give added protection and help protect others in the community, Dr. Niemi said.

The ultimate goal of the entire program, Dr. Niemi said, is to make polio as scarce as typhoid is today.

Three Calls Answered By Firemen

Three calls were answered by city firemen yesterday, with no major damage resulting.

1. At 6:30 last evening firemen were called to the city's No. 3 hydro-electric power plant in Tourist Park, Marquette Township, where the motor in an electric generator was hit by lightning, causing a fire in the motor.

Firemen used a 30-pound chemical powder extinguisher and a small carbon dioxide extinguisher to put out the blaze.

Three firemen responded in the No. 2 (1,000-gallon) pumper. They returned to the station at 7:12 p.m.

2. Firemen were summoned to the Cliffs Dow Chemical Co. plant off Presque Isle Ave. at 8:01 yesterday morning, when a boxcar of charcoal at the loading dock caught fire.

The blaze, which was extinguished before city firemen arrived, was due to spontaneous combustion, it was reported. Damage was minor.

Seven city firemen responded to the call, in the Nos. 2 and 4 (750-gallon) pumpers. They returned to the station at 8:16 a.m.

3. At 12:09 yesterday firemen were called to the Flanigan Bros. warehouse, Lake Shore Blvd., when the automatic alarm system went off.

There was no fire. The safety valve on the steam furnace let go, creating excessive heat and causing the alarm to go off, firemen said.

Hospital Emergency Rooms

Marquette is fortunate in having emergency room facilities in both of the hospitals located within the city. Several thousand persons are treated in these emergency rooms every year.

This important service is made available to the citizens of this area despite the fact that neither hospital has resident physicians or internes, as metropolitan hospitals do. The cost of retaining resident physicians would be prohibitive in a community the size of Marquette. Four or more resident physicians would be needed to staff the emergency rooms at the two hospitals.

In order to provide this emergency service locally, Marquette area physicians set up their own emergency room care program on a voluntary basis. Under this system, physicians are assigned emergency room duty on a rotation basis, the same doctor being on call simultaneously at both St. Luke's Hospital and St. Mary's Hospital. In other words, the physicians have voluntarily undertaken this added responsibility as members of the hospital staffs and as citizens of the community.

How successfully has the system operated? By and large, it has worked exceedingly well — except for one thing: Many of the persons who use the emergency room are not bona fide emergency patients. In checking records, it was found that, of about 350 persons who were seen in the emergency room during the course of a month, only about 50 per cent were actually emergency cases.

This results in an impairment of the efficiency of emergency room operations and places an unnecessary burden on the physicians who are on call. The situation might crudely be compared to "false alarms" in fire fighting operations.

In most cases in which the emergency rooms are misused, the reason is simply that the patient neglected to call a physician before reporting to the emergency room. Wherever possible, the patient should CALL HIS DOCTOR FIRST before going to the emergency room. In any case where a reasonable doubt exists as to whether or not a patient should be rushed to the hospital or transported by ambulance, obviously no delay should be considered. However, even in these cases, care may be greatly facilitated if some responsible person will call the physician before the patient arrives at the hospital.

If a person does not call a doctor before reporting to the emergency room, he is, in effect, asking the hospital to treat him. The hospital does not practice medicine. Before any treatment may be undertaken in the emergency room, a physician must be contacted. It is unfair for the hospital to be placed in the position of locating a physician, for this is the patient's responsibility.

By contacting a physician first, the patient actually saves time by facilitating any arrangements that may be needed for emergency room care. Laboratory and X-ray facilities, for instance, are not instantly available at the hospitals during two-thirds of the day. If a physician knows the nature of the emergency in advance, he can arrange for these and other facilities to be available before he sees the patient, thus saving time in treatment.

In fact, for anything but a genuine emergency, it is far better for a patient to contact his physician first — especially during the day, when physicians are in their offices. If life or limb is not threatened, the patient may have to wait a couple of hours in the emergency rooms to see the physician on call.

An emergency is defined as a condition requiring immediate care to prevent the loss of life or complications. A cut finger, for instance, probably would not represent a genuine emergency, and the person who goes directly to the hospital for treatment very likely could save time by going to the physician's office instead.

So, whenever possible, you should check with your physician before going to the hospital for emergency treatment. If you do not have a physician in Marquette, you should make an effort to establish a contact with a physician so that you will have someone to call if an emergency develops. In fact, it is better to select a doctor at random in the telephone book and place a call instead of reporting immediately to the emergency room.

Marquette's emergency rooms are a big asset to the community, and if the public has a better understanding of emergency room operations, the hospitals and physicians can do a better job of giving service to the public.

More On UNESCO

Dear Sir: Paul Harvey, well-known commentator, points up in his article, "UNESCO, Communism's Trap for Our Youth," the fact that UNESCO is not tolerated in the Communist countries. "Russia permits no UNESCO indoctrination of her youngsters," he says. "Red Poland has pulled out of UNESCO. And Red Hungary and Red Czechoslovakia. 'They will love communism and teach communism, and only we, United States of America, will dilute our patriotism until the American flag is a faded rag not worth fighting for.'"

"The FBI has established that the Communists in the U.S.A., under orders from Moscow, are making a concerted effort to work through RESPECTABLE forums and groups, including the NEA, PTA, YMCA, our CHURCHES, TV, newspapers, magazines and civic groups." And so-called "cultural" groups in our cities are not excluded.

"Russia's schools are not teaching internationalism. Unless we prepare young Americans to believe in freedom without compromise, we are dooming tomorrow's Americans to the fate of today's Hungarians."

"It is time our CHURCHES and civic organizations INVESTIGATE before they PARTICIPATE," says Common Sense.

Tell the FBI that I am misinformed, and see if you can get away with it. Read Romans 12:2 — "And be not conformed to this world, but be TRANSFORMED by the renewing of your MIND, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect will of God."

The National Whirligig News Behind The News

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — From here in, it will be up to the professional fast talkers in the State Department and Uncle Sam's military experts to create the necessary atmosphere of confidence that will permit a gradual withdrawal of American troops from Europe.

Former President Eisenhower's statement in a Saturday Evening Post article that we should start bringing some troops home was a little premature for the administration's liking, but he was saying something that President Kennedy, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary McNamara had been thinking for some time. As a consequence, the administration is not too disturbed by Ike's jumping the gun. Now, while emphasizing that Ike spoke only for himself, U.S. officials can embark on the delicate job of softening Europe up for the move.

For the present, the U.S. line will be that Europe has nothing to worry about — that there are no plans in the works to reduce the strength of the six American divisions on the continent. That is what Rusk told the Germans in both public and private utterances during his "courtesy" visit last week. But as the months pass, ways and means will be sought to bring Europe — notably Germany and France — around to the idea that a reduction of U.S. forces would not be a catastrophe.

At the Pentagon, it is being emphasized that Operation Big Lift, which airlifted an American division to Germany in three days, was designed to show that in an emergency Europe could bank on swift reinforcements from the U.S. This is diplomatic sweet-talk. Big Lift was one of the first steps in a long-range program to determine the feasibility of withdrawing some U.S. troops.

If Big Lift and subsequent similar operations prove that the defense of Europe can be guaranteed without keeping a large U.S. force on the continent, some troops will be withdrawn. In the interim, American diplomats and military men will pepper Europe's statesmen with gentle and persistent suggestions that Europe might find it possible to contribute some manpower to its own defense to reduce the drain on Uncle Sam's gold.

Eisenhower's suggestion that "one American division in Europe can show the flag as defiantly as can several" is a welcome to the taxpayer. Including soldiers' families, there are still more than a million Americans stationed overseas, and keeping those six divisions in Europe costs Uncle Sam $1 billion a year. This is the principal reason for the continuing increase in our balance of payments deficit, and the administration naturally would like to reduce such a burden.

Only Bonn Helps
For that reason, while the tones will be soft, American officials will be talking turkey to their European counterparts in the months ahead. A United States with its monetary system threatened has a right to get nervous about helping people who have been hesitant about taking over a larger share of their own defense. As of now, with 12 divisions committed, West Germany is the only country in Europe making a realistic contribution to the continent's security.

It is significant that, despite all subsequent attempts to play it down, a speech by Deputy Defense Secretary Roswell L. Gilpatric suggesting reductions in U.S. overseas military expenditures originally was approved by the White House. The State Department objected to the speech, but it was overruled by President Kennedy, a politician aware of the value of keeping an ally loose up at the plate. Kennedy wants Europe to start thinking about the eventuality of a withdrawal of U.S. troops as a cushion against the shock of the day when it happens.

Threat Of Bread Price Hike

By PETER EDSON
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — There is no justification whatever for an increase in the U. S. price of bread as a result of wheat sales to Soviet Russia and Communist bloc countries, say Department of Agriculture grain experts.

Rumors of an impending bread price rise have sprung up in various parts of the country as a result of wheat flour price rises recently announced at Minneapolis, Kansas City and Texas milling centers. These increases are seen as seasonal adjustments and not big enough to warrant a rise in bread prices.

Millers and bakers would be playing with dynamite if they used the Communist wheat purchases as an excuse to raise flour and bread prices in the United States.

The rumpus caused by steel price increases after the last strike settlement and the federal grand jury investigation into more recent steel rises would be nothing compared to the uproar over a bread price rise now. Experts point out, however, that in a free world market, there are bound to be some fluctuations reflecting changing conditions.

U. S. Protested Low Price
World wheat prices advanced from an average of $1.79-$1.81 to $2.16-$2.40 a bushel on a purely speculative basis when Russia made its first half billion dollar purchase from Canada. Previously, Canada had sold wheat to Red China and some to Russia at $1.74. The U. S. protested this low price.

But what futures did not advance further when Russia let it be known she wanted to buy U. S. wheat and President Kennedy announced that such a sale would be approved.

Wheat flour price fluctuations are another story. A year ago, flour sold in Minneapolis at $5.95 to $6 a hundred pounds. Last July, when the 1963 wheat crop began to be harvested, the price dropped to $5.50-$5.55. The Oct. 23, 1963, price was $5.75-$5.80.

Bakers Did Not Lower the price of bread when flour prices went down last summer. Presumably, bakers bought wheat ahead last summer, before recent grain price increases. Bakers, therefore, have no justification for raising bread prices for at least six months, or even longer if there are no further increases in wheat and flour prices.

The recent 20-cent price increase on 100 pounds of flour warrants an increase of only one cent on a five-pound bag of flour. The comparable, justifiable price increase on bread would be about one-fourth cent a loaf.

Increased World Demand
Though there is now an increased world demand for wheat from Communist bloc countries, there is no short supply justifying any price increases.

The U. S. wheat supply is estimated at 2.3 billion bushels for the 1963-64 crop year. With domestic use of 600 million bushels and normal exports of 800 million bushels, the carry-over as of July 1, 1964, would be 900 million bushels.

Russia and its satellite countries have been talking about purchases of four million tons, which is 150 million bushels. Most of this wheat would have to come from U. S. government stocks, acquired at a cost of $2 a bushel, average.

The government's Commodity Credit Corp. is prohibited by law from selling this at less than 105 per cent of the present support price of $1.82 a bushel, which is $1.91.

With world market prices running below this figure, CCC makes a daily determination of the export subsidy it will pay to make up the difference. This has been running from 50 to 60 cents a bushel.

Saving On Storage Costs
If Russia & Co. buy 150 million bushels of U. S. wheat, CCC will have to write off a loss of $90 million.

Payment will not be made in cash, but in wheat, which grain dealers can market for whatever they can get.

But in getting rid of this wheat, the government saves on storage costs.

At an average of 26 cents a bushel per year for storage, maintenance and handling, the saving on 150 million bushels would be $39 million a year, or $195 million over five years, the average time CCC holds its wheat.

The total purchase price on 150 million bushels of wheat, including transportation charges, is expected to be $280 million. This would show up as about a $200 million saving on the 1963 fiscal year U. S. budget and an improvement of that amount on the balance of payments.

Goldwater's Popularity

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater is unique among presidential possibilities of recent times. He gives an impression of simple directness without theatrics.

This, in addition to whatever appeal his ideas may have, probably accounts to a great degree for his popularity in the public opinion polls.

A Single Of Drama
Singly or together the hallmarks of most candidates since President Franklin D. Roosevelt have been a sense of drama and often of almost fierce conviction, a permanent smile and camera-consciousness.

So far Goldwater, deliberately or not, has managed to keep those natural traits of a politician inconspicuous. He may not be able to do it permanently as he steps up his efforts for the Republican presidential nomination.

Master Campaigner
Roosevelt, a master campaigner, was a far better phrase-maker than any of the candidates or likely possibilities since, including Goldwater whose literary qualities are ordinary.

Roosevelt had an enormous sense of drama. Goldwater doesn't seem to have much dramatic sense.

Spoke Like Father
Roosevelt spoke like a father sure of his family. Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller gave an impression of seeking approval.

Kennedy, on the other hand, while he can manage to look relaxed when he wants to, uses such self-conscious and manufactured phrasing in his prepared talks that it often gets between him and his listeners.

Bitter Attack
Goldwater, in an address Thursday to the Women's National Press Club, made a biting attack on the Kennedy administration, charging Kennedy with playing politics with government information to stay in office.

But it was a straight-away, unlitigious speech delivered in a humdrum way. He sounded just like anybody else reading a speech.

Simplicity And Directness
It was when he answered questions after the luncheon that Goldwater achieved his effect of simplicity and directness. Whereas Roosevelt conveyed a sense of warmth, Goldwater gives off an air of friendliness.

Until now this clean-cut, gray-haired, determined, jawed Republican from Arizona has had the advantage of not having to talk under pressure in his quest for the nomination. Political Luxury
He has been running hard —

LETHARGY IN LANSING

Two Democratic governors, Williams and Swainson, experienced it and Republican Gov. Romney is seeing it happen — the lethargic and cynical behavior of the State Senate when confronted with the problem of state fiscal reform.

Senator Stanley G. Thayer, Ann Arbor Republican, accurately diagnosed the Senate's disease from its symptoms of "stalling, delay, and obstructionism."

The seat of the trouble at the moment is the Senate Tax Committee, so engrossed in its responsibilities that it has met once in one week. One of the reasons for the election of Gov. Romney was his pledge to reform Michigan's tax mess. Is there any way to impress the Senate with the seriousness of this public demand? — (Detroit News.)

Among those participating in the Upper Peninsula conference on special education, held the past two days in the University Center of Northern Michigan University, and shown looking over some of the various speech aids on display, are, from left, Mrs. Joy Efron, Michigan School for the Blind, Flint; Mrs. Margaret Snyder, Michigan School for the Deaf, Lansing; and Muriel Wills, Negaunee Schools.—(Mining Journal photo.)

Need For Special Education Stressed At U.P. Parley Here

"People who say we can't afford special education in the Upper Peninsula have no better argument than the farmer who says he can't afford fertilizer," U.P. "specialized" teachers were told here yesterday. Dr. Dale J. Lundeen, director of the Northern Michigan University speech correction clinic, spoke at a conference on special education held Thursday and yesterday in the University Center. About 75 special ed teachers and school administrators attended the U.P. conference, which was sponsored by NEMU and the Michigan Department of Public Instruction. Called "Deprived Area" "Compared to the state as a whole, the U.P. is a deprived area in the field of special education," Dr. Lundeen asserted. He pointed out that of the $12 million in state funds spent on special education last year, the U.P. received less than one percent. Last year six of the Peninsula's 15 counties received no funds for special education. Marquette County received about one-third of the state special education. The Peninsula's poor economic situation and sparsity of population, plus a lack of realization of the needs for special education, present problems which do not exist "down here" for the advancement of special education programs. Dr. Lundeen stated. "Cost" Of No Program Compared to the monetary expenses of establishing and maintaining a special education program are the "costs" of not having special education, Dr. Lundeen said. He said that the costs of not having special education include: 1. Holding a child back in school. 2. Not realizing a child's potential, as in the case of the child with a below average I.Q. who, through adequate training, could "over achieve" and be pulled up to the so-called normal group. 3. Unhappiness which results from lack of training, such as a feeling of rejection and frustrations which result from speech defects. School Consolidation Consolidation of school districts would solve the problem created by a sparse population for special education in the U.P., Lundeen asserted. He also advocated more in-service training for special education teachers and a required course in special education for all prospective classroom teachers, regardless of their field. "Many teachers respond inappropriately to the child who needs special education," he said. "Through one course in special education, perhaps required at the graduate level, teachers would react more favorably because they would be familiar with the situation." Concerning tutoring An educational program for parents would prevent many of the needs for special education, Lundeen noted. He pointed out that 90 per cent of all stutterers "learn" to stutter. "There's a lack of communication and information concerning special education," he said. He suggested that special education teachers in the U.P. organize to bring about an awareness of the importance of special education. Dr. Lundeen called for more facilities and specialists in the U.P. to serve persons who require special education. Marquette, he said, needs more psychiatrists and psychologists and other medical specialists. "At Northern I would like to see a psychological clinic, a larger reading clinic, and a hearing clinic, in addition to a speech clinic," he said.

has been widely interpreted as a move of federal government into a field formerly administered by state agencies. The report on the HEW river studies which will be presented to the Menominee conference says that "the Michigan Water Resources Commission and the Wisconsin Committee on Water Pollution pursue active programs to eliminate pollution in the Menominee and Brule Rivers.

"Pollution has been reduced by industrial waste control practices and by construction of municipal sewage treatment plants. Compliance with orders by the Wisconsin Committee on Water Pollution should lead to further improvement. Despite the real progress that has been made, certain reaches of the rivers are still polluted.

Principal Solution Source "Organic pollution discharged to the upper Menominee River reduced the mean dissolved oxygen content of the river below the 3.0 milligrams per liter (parts per million by weight) considered critical for fish life by the State of Wisconsin. Minimum values observed at each sampling station fell to 2.3 at the Norway power dam eight miles below Niagara and 1.2 mg/l at Faidhorn, some 15 miles below Niagara.

"Solids pollution, including wood chips and fibers and bacterial slimes, form floating scum which degrades the appearance of the river and settles to form sludge deposits which decrease the population of pollution sensitive bottom organisms for 22 miles below Niagara, Wis.

"The Kimberly-Clark pulp and paper mill in Niagara is the principal source of organic and solids pollution. "For 14 miles below Niagara and nine miles below the mouth of Sewer Creek, the upper Menominee River contains more than the 5,000 MPN/100 ml (most probable number of organisms per milliliter) coliform (sewage type bacteria) level considered satisfactory for recreational use. "Waste from undetermined sources in Niagara, effluent from the Niagara sewage treatment plant and untreated sewage from Norway are the principal sources of bacterial pollution. "The upper Menominee River also shows evidence of degradation by sludge deposits, producing high populations of pollution tolerant organisms and limiting the development of sensitive bottom forms in the quiet water areas extending from the Iron Mountain-Kingsford sewage treatment outfall to the neck of the impoundment above upper Quinnesec dam. "The lower Menominee River is degraded for a distance of three miles below the Scott Paper Co. at Marinette to its mouth by wood chips and fibers, slime bacteria and the elimination of bottom organisms. The Scott pulp and paper mills in Marinette and Menominee are the principal sources of pollution above the Marathon Paper Co. Solids from the Marathon Paper Co. contribute to pollution of the mouth of the river. "The mean total coliform concentration of the lower Menominee River was increased to 8,500 MPN/100 ml, slightly higher than the 5,000 level considered satisfactory for general recreational use. Effluent from the Marinette sewage treatment plant is the principal source of bacterial pollution in the lower Menominee River. "Pollution of the Menominee and Brule Rivers is evident. Pollution originating in Michigan and Wisconsin damaged the water quality of the Michigan and Wisconsin waters of these interstate rivers. Pollution, endangering the health and welfare of persons in a state other than in which the pollution originates, is subject to abatement under the federal water pollution control act."

Early Days Of St. Luke's, Building Periods Recalled

History of hospitals in most communities is one of overcrowding, necessitating expansion of facilities, and Marquette provides a good example, with officials of both St. Mary's and St. Luke's seeking means of furthering these developments.

Both got their starts before the turn of the century by renting private homes until various physicians were able to raise sufficient funds among generous pioneers to build and equip medical institutions.

St. Mary's was first, occupying its own building in 1891, and St. Luke's, which was originally called the Marquette City Hospital, was organized five years later, getting along in converted dwellings until 1915 when its imposing fireproof structure on Hebard Ct., between W. Magnetic St. and W. College Ave., was completed, equipped and furnished at an estimated total cost of $100,000.

St. Luke's was organized in 1897 by several physicians, with Dr. G. J. Northrop, and Dr. A. A. Foster leaders of the enterprise, and temporarily occupied the home of Mrs. E. C. Bailey at 152 E. Prospect St., until a large dwelling, the Watson home at 219 N. Front St. (just north of the Marquette County Historical Society building) was rented. This could accommodate 12 to 14 patients, but was outgrown within the year.

Changed Name The staff, aided by several citizens, among them Peter White, John M. Longyear, Bishop G. Mott Williams, Judge John W. Stone and Alfred Kidder, decided to purchase the Hager house at 123 W. Ridge St., and enlarge and equip it to accommodate up to 30. When this was done, the name Marquette City Hospital was dropped and the institution was incorporated as St. Luke's and with Frank Stolpe as superintendent.

Hiss Olive Pendill, a graduate of St. Luke's, Chicago, returned here from service in the Spanish American War in 1899, and took over the training of nurses among other duties. The same year an x-ray machine, gift of Kidder, was installed.

Another induction and pre-draft group will leave Marquette Monday for the regional induction and examination center in Milwaukee. There are four registrants with the Marquette County Draft Board who will be inducted into the Army next week and 11 others who will take their pre-induction physical examinations. Two transfer registrants also will go with the group to Milwaukee to take their pre-draft "physicals."

The induction contingent will be the 161st under terms of the 1948 Selective Service Act, said Frances Drake, Marquette, clerk for the board, and the pre-inductees will comprise the 163rd pre-induction call for the county. They will leave by a chartered bus from the Hotel Clifton at 1:30 Monday afternoon. All registrants have been ordered to report to the hotel by 1 p.m. Induction Contingent In the induction group are Bruce Allen Meyers and Harold Dennis Havican, Marquette; Larry James Champion, Ishpeming, and James E. Richard Niemela, Rock.

Pre-inductees are Roger Clarence Froling, Marquette; Daniel Kemp Beer and Roger David Dowrick, Ishpeming; David Leonard Wessmann and David Wilho Haara, Skandia; Robert Wilfred Hill, Negaunee; Albert Clifford Jenkins, Albion; Roger Albert Mattson, Duluth; Virgil Wallace Anderson, Palmer; William Arthur Mager, Waukegan, Ill., and James Larry Chrette, Whittier, Calif.

Transfer pre-inductees are Jerry Paul Renaud, Marquette, from the Livingston County Board, and John Anthony Cass, Marquette, from the Delta County Board.

Breeders preserved the strain of dogs that Norman conquerors brought to England, giving rise to the term "blooded hound." The name bloodhound probably also derives from the dogs' skill in following the blood scent of wounded game.

West Canadian Whitefish Hurt Great Lakes Fisheries, U.P. Fisherman Claims

By E. J. SUNDBROM In Sault Evening News

Great Lakes fishermen are taking a severe rap and are losing their markets because of massive importations of western Canadian whitefish which are being represented as "lakes fish," charges Tom Brown, Whitefish Point commercial fisherman.

Brown, who owns one of the largest and oldest fisheries on the Great Lakes, has been scheduled to tell this story next week in an interview with Gov. George Romney, who already has initiated an inquiry into lakes fishing and the so-called botulism problem. Arrangements for the meeting are being made by Rep. Clayton Morrison of Pickford, and a definite appointment is expected to be made Monday when the Hiawathaland district representative returns to Lansing.

One thing we know is that Great Lakes whitefish are at such a premium and in such good condition it would be economically unwise for handlers to smoke this product. They get a much better price (or did get) on the fresh fish market," claims Brown.

He said it has been called to his attention that Canadian whitefish rejected on the fresh fish market, have been sold to concerns specializing in smoking the fish.

Says Many Diseased Brown says the reason the Canadian imports got started was that a few years back Great Lakes fishermen were unable to supply the market because of a scarcity of fish in the lakes. He said the fish in question are netted in western Canadian lakes remote from highways or rail and flown by air to terminals. He said there is an overpopulation of these fish in many of these lakes and as a result many are diseased to start with. Brown said in a recent check Chicago wholesale markets were paying 20 and 30 cents per pound, while premium Lake Superior whitefish were going as high as 70 cents per pound in the round. "Now that the FDA has helped stir up this botulism scare, people aren't buying any fish," said Brown.

Now Employs 20 Brown's family has been in the commercial fishing business on the Great Lakes since Civil War days and have had stations all over the lakes. Brown himself has employed as many as 50 fishermen and has used six boats. He is now in the process of making his last fish hauls and will lay up his three Whitefish Point boats until the market improves. His fishery today employs 20 men and what the future holds for them is uncertain.

FORUM Concerned Over Menominee River Confab

Forum on Resources of Upper Michigan has joined the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce and other agencies which have expressed concern about the implications of the Menominee River conference called by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare on the pollution of the Menominee River.

FORUM, an Upper Peninsula organization dedicated to wise use of natural resources of the area in the interests of the general public, the U.P. and the resource owners, addressed a statement to Murray Stein of the U.S. Public Health Service, who has been named chairman of the conference by HEW Secretary Anthony Celebrezze.

Scheduled Nov. 6 The conference will be held Nov. 6 in Lloyd Goodfellowship Hall, Menominee, and in preparation for it the Public Health Service had a field force and laboratory working this summer on the Menominee River.

To inform itself on the conference, FORUM's executive committee headed by Joseph Rahilly of Newberry conferred in Marquette this week with Cletus Courchaine, Escanaba, of the Michigan Department of Health; Joseph Bal, Gladstone, of the Michigan Water Resources Commission, and Doris J. Curry, Marquette, regional director, Michigan Conservation Department.

FORUM expressed its support of recreation's claim on the Menominee River, but suggested that it should be in a context of multiple use also serving the needs of the municipalities and industries on the stream. This aim of compatible uses was endorsed by the state agency representatives.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Since most of our friends are very close, we've made it a habit to drop in on each other at any old time and overlook the surroundings. As a result of this casual attitude, I'm afraid I have become a very poor hostess. The fact was realized when my doctor's wife called on me two days ago with a small gift for my new baby. Of all times for company to come! The weather was damp, so I kept all five children inside, and my living room was utter chaos. My daughter was ill, and I had pillows piled up at one end of the couch. The chairs were so high with clean laundry to be folded, the chairs were so packed with papers to be folded, the carpet was out of sight under magazines, newspapers and toys. If I had been in the midst of straightening up the mess, it wouldn't have been so bad. But I was cutting out costumes for the children's Thanksgiving play as if I had nothing else to do. I was so embarrassed when this woman appeared at my door that I didn't even offer her a chair. I thanked her for the gift and also wrote her a thank-you note. Should I call and apologize? I can't forget how rude I must have appeared to her. I got up at 5 this morning worrying about what she should have thought of me. What should I do?

is not "close" enough for a drop-in visit. She was thoughtless not to have given you at least an hour's notice. Call her when your house is in order some afternoon and invite her for coffee.

DEAR ABBY: When I invite my relatives for dinner, they ask, "What's the celebration?" Or, "Who else is coming?" They seem to expect me to sell them on the idea of coming, or perhaps they want guaranteed entertainment. Why can't relatives be as gracious as friends in accepting invitations?

MOLLY: DEAR MOLLY: Some are, you can't pick your relatives, but you CAN pick your dinner guests.

DEAR ABBY: I am 39 years old and the mother of three children. My husband and I have been happily married for 12 years. This summer while my husband was away on business I became interested in my best friend's husband. He has two children. My problem is obvious. Should we break up two homes involving five children and two innocent grown-ups to gain happiness for ourselves? Or should we sacrifice this love of ours for the sake of our families?

BIG DECISION
DEAR BIG: Sacrifice

COLOMBO, Ceylon — Nine Maldivians — three men, four women and two children — died of starvation and exhaustion when their boat drifted for 16 days in the Indian Ocean, survivors reported.

Eleven survivors were brought to Colombo after being picked up off Sumatra by a freighter. The survivors said they had put out from one of the Maldivian islands southwest of Ceylon. Stormy seas pushed them off course, and they lost their water supplies and most of their food.

Homemaking Tips

Ever blend cream cheese and raspberry jam and use as a filling for slices of pound cake? Youngsters as well as oldsters usually like this combination. It's delicious with milk, tea or coffee.

Leftover cooked chicken and rice in the refrigerator? Mix the two, using equal amounts of each, and moisten with tomato sauce. Top with parily cooked bacon strips and heat in the oven.

Baking a meat loaf at a moderate temperature? You can get asparagus ready at the same time. Just put a package of the frozen vegetable in a casserole with half a cup of water, a tablespoon or two of butter and salt to taste; cover tightly and bake at 350 degrees for about three-quarters of an hour.

YOUTH PARADE

Brighten Legs With Decorated Knee-Highs

1. The snap-happiest fad to walk onto the fashion scene is decorating knee-high stockings. Whether your destination is a hootenanny or a hayride, the leg brighteners lend themselves to knee-topping trims. Kathy Kersh literally goes out on a limb as she snaps a pair of beaded clocks just below the band of the socks. Such appliques, obtainable at notion counters of department and dime stores, also are available with adhesive backings so they can be pressed on with a warm iron. 2. The fun "leg-acy" contingents with a bonus of fringe benefits. Two-inch bright red fringe is fastened, garter style, around a pair of white knits. Kathy, who appears in the CBS-TV series, "My Favorite Martian," discovered the freewheelin' fringe moves with every step, which makes it a dance floor stand-out. 3. Other trims walking into prominence are signature stockings. Cotton letters spiral name or monogram along the side of the knee-highs. Naturally, the longer the name, the smaller the initials. For a novel teen gift, substitute contrasting yarn and a handwriting technique to spell out recipient's nickname. Such a personalized present is stamped with originality and proves there are no "limb-its" to these doodle decorations. P.S. Don't delay! The holidays are just around the corner, and now is the time to get into shape for the party season. Send for our brand new, 12-page, photo-illustrated booklet, "Step Out With A New Figure," which outlines a diet, exercises and streamlining facts. Mail 15 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to "Youth Parade—Step Out With A New Figure," c/o this paper, Box 46-181, Hollywood 46, Calif. Due to volume of mail, only those enclosing coin and stamped envelope can be answered.

Eggan Home Damaged By Fire

ISHPEMING — Fire last evening caused considerable heat and smoke damage and burned a six by eight foot hole in the floor of the living room in the Arvid Eggan home at 112 S. Third St.

Fire Chief William Alderton was unable to give an estimate of damage. Although the origin is not fully determined, Alderton said the fire was thought to be caused by defective wiring.

No one was home when the fire was reported by a passer-by, and apparently it was burning for awhile before being reported, Alderton said.

Eighteen firemen reported to the scene and used a booster hose off the truck to extinguish the blaze as well as a smoke ejector to clear the house of smoke. Firemen were at the scene approximately one hour, reporting back to the station at 7:15.

State Police Ticket Pair In Accidents

ISHPEMING — Two motorists were ticketed in three area traffic accidents which occurred yesterday and which were investigated by state police from the Marquette post.

At 8:30 last night a car being driven east on U.S. 41 by John Madacey, 55, Rock Island, Ill., smashed into the rear end of a vehicle operated by Francis St. Onge, 38, Iron River, showing St. Onge's car ahead into a car operated by Adolore St. Andre, 55, Route 1, Ishpeming.

State police said the smashup took place a half mile west of M-28, in Ishpeming Township, and occurred while St. Onge and St. Andre were stopped in a traffic lane, due to cars in front of them being stopped because of snow conditions. Madacey came down a hill and was unable to stop.

Extensive damage resulted to the front and rear ends of St. Onge's car, a 1962 foreign model, which had to be towed from the scene by a wrecker. The right front of Madacey's 1959 sedan and the rear end of St. Andre's 1961 sedan also were damaged.

At 5:15 yesterday afternoon a car being driven west on U.S. 41 by Robert Chevalier, 24, Iron Mountain, went out of control as he tried to make a left curve. The car went off to the left, then back to the right, rolling over.

Speed Law Violation

The mishap occurred two-tenths of a mile west of County Road FXX, in Humboldt Township. The top and left side of Chevalier's 1951 coach were damaged and the vehicle was removed from the scene by a wrecker.

State police issued Chevalier a summons for a speed law violation.

An automobile being driven east on U.S. 41 and being turned right, onto business route M-28, by Douglas Schneider, 65, Iron Mountain, struck a car operated by Rhonda Savilluto, 17, Route 1, Ishpeming, at 7:20 last night as she was stopped, headed north on M-28, for the stop sign.

The mishap occurred in Ishpeming Township, and state police said Schneider's car slid on the slippery pavement as he was making the turn.

Improper Right Turn

The left front of Schneider's 1960 sedan and the left front of Miss Savilluto's 1963 sedan were damaged. Both cars were driven from the scene.

State police issued Schneider a ticket for making an improper right turn.

Campground, Trailer Park Being Built On Keweenaw Indian Lands Near Baraga

BARAGA — A 60-acre campground and trailer park is now under construction on a portion of the Keweenaw Bay Chippewa Indian lands north of Baraga.

The project, financed by a 100 per cent federal accelerated public works grant of $45,000, is expected to be completed early next summer.

The park will be a public recreational development for which a user fee will be charged, similar to state parks and other privately operated trailer parks and recreation areas.

Forty-two trailer sites, plus additional tent campsites, a sandy beach and deep water swimming area, several picnic areas and a small craft harbor and docking facilities are to be constructed.

The project is being developed under the direction of E. J. Riley, superintendent of the Great Lakes Agency of the Bureau of Indian Affairs at Ashland, Wis. The plan was approved by Samuel Spruce of L'Anse, chairman of the tribal council, and members of the Chippewa tribe here.

Marshall Hall, field representative for the Bureau of Indian Affairs (Wisconsin and Michigan) and engineer in charge of the Keweenaw Bay project, and Samuel C. (Coop) Carey, Indian Agency forest manager, are directing the actual construction and field layouts. David Stuck, Manistee, Indian Agency forester, is foreman on the job in their absence.

Since the park is being built on Indian lands owned by the Chippewa tribe, the Federal Government is contributing the full budget of the project and no local financial contribution is required. As in all accelerated public works projects, a major portion of the total budget must be expended for local labor to provide immediate employment.

On this campground project, employment preference is being given first to married Indian veterans, second to single Indian veterans and finally to non-veteran Indians. After this employment source is exhausted, other local laborers can be hired.

To date, between 10 and 13 local laborers have been employed, but the total is expected to rise as the work progresses.

A 60-acre portion of the Indian lands immediately north of the lighthouse at Sand Point on Keweenaw Bay and due east of the Baraga cemetery was selected for the park development. A long narrow lagoon is to be dredged out to provide a protected sandy swimming area up to eight feet deep and the small craft harbor. Many thousands of cubic feet of sand pumped from the lagoon will be diverted to fill a swampy area and construct a road bed from the trailer and camping area to the swimming and picnic areas on the lakeshore.

Plans call for the trailer park to be equipped with running water, electricity and a concession building where native Indian arts and crafts will be sold. An access road from U. S. 41 just north of Baraga into the campground also has been laid out.

The main trailer and camping area has been mapped out in a wooded area east of the cemetery, with campsites set at least 100 feet apart around a large oval roadway. In addition, the picnic area, several remote tent campsites and the bathing beach will be reached by another road to be constructed across the marshy area which is to be filled with sand dredged from the lagoon.

One of the chief charms of the new park will be the natural wooded surroundings and the fact that the campsites are far enough apart to provide privacy.

Engineers plan to leave as many of the towering pines as possible, taking out only trees which are dead or diseased or which must be cleared away for campsites or roadways.

If future expansion is warranted, additional sections of the large tract owned by the Chippewas can be diverted to park use.

Ishpeming Has 4-Inch Snowfall

ISHPEMING — Winter made its entry yesterday and last night when four to six inches of snow fell on this area.

Visibility at times was zero as the heavy snow and winds made conditions hazardous for driving.

The Ishpeming Police Department, reporting there were no accidents, said motorists were driving "extra cautiously."

Power Off In West End Of County

ISHPEMING — A power failure this morning left western Marquette County communities, as well as a large part of Alger County, without electricity for several hours.

Power was restored in Ishpeming at about that time, but company officials said some other communities still were without power.

The Cable TV View

... By Richard Bur

The trouble with science fiction forecasts is that they are generally too timid.

When movable type was first put to use, who then would predict that there would be populations of practically one hundred per cent literacy. Writing and reading were only for a select few.

When an electrical signal was first used to bridge open space who then could have conceived that pictorial news and imaginatively produced theatrical entertainment would reach into the most distant communities by television?

What next? Some indications are shown by inventions already past the experimental stages and put into actual practice. For instance, when visibility is poor, an ordinary television set on a small pleasure craft in a busy harbor is tuned in on a radar broadcasting station, and the amateur navigator sees his position in relation to other boats, and is able to pilot himself safely.

Or a Broadway production is seen in a number of theatres on life size screens hundreds of miles from Times Square. The audience in the theatre of origin isn't even aware of the televising process that is taking place.

So the walls of a single theatre are pushed back and the audience becomes national in size.

There are a few surprises for the person raised in the electronic age. I venture a safe prediction that new uses will be much faster in coming and no less startling than would be an overnight advance from Morse's telegraphed message, "What hath God Wrought?" to present day television.

Worship With The World In The Church Of Your Choice

Colleges To Play In Crisp Weather

(By the Associated Press)

Good football weather for a change has been forecast for most of the big games on college grids today. That means the fair, but nippy temperatures usually associated with the fall sport instead of the shirt-sleeved weather that prevailed most of October.

About the only warm spot promises to be the Cotton Bowl in Dallas where unbeaten and untied Texas, top-ranked in The Associated Press national poll, tries for its seventh straight victory against Southern Methodist. The forecast was for 70-degree temperatures.

President Will Watch

In Chicago, where President Kennedy is expected to watch the Army-Air Force struggle at Soldier Field, the temperatures will be in the 40's. This also goes for the Navy-Notre Dame clash in South Bend, Ind., and the Purdue-Illinois clash at Champaign, Ill.

Cloudy conditions with the possibility of snow flurries are expected for the Wisconsin-Michigan State game at East Lansing, Mich., and the Syracuse-Pitt set to at Pittsburgh.

Showers are given a 50-50 chance at Seattle where Southern California and Washington clash in the top game on the Pacific Coast.

Fair and cold are listed for many of the other top games such as Iowa at Ohio State, Colorado at Oklahoma, Mississippi at Louisiana State, and Florida at Auburn and Mississippi State at Alabama.

Muddy Field

A Friday night rain indicated a possibly muddy field for the Brown at Princeton Ivy League encounter. The Nassau Tiggers, along with Texas and Auburn, are among the few major events still with perfect records. All are expected to extend their streaks.

No. 1 ranked Texas is favored over SMU as are No. 2 Illinois over Purdue, No. 3 Mississippi over LSU and No. 4 Navy over Notre Dame. No. 5 Auburn is expected to down Florida.

Dartmouth at Yale, Duke at Georgia Tech, Nebraska at Missouri, Stanford at Oregon State, California at UCLA and Utah at Arizona State are some of the other important games not involving the Top Ten teams.

4 Area Players Named To GLC First Squad

MUNISING — Two Munising Mustang and two Ishpeming Hematite gridders were named last week to the first team by the Great Lakes Conference for their performance during the season.

Ron Roberts, a Munising tackle, was given All-Great Lakes status for his consistently fine defensive play, and John Radcliff of the Mustangs earned first team status with brilliant offensive running and scoring performance from his spot in the Munising backfield.

Michael Tunteri of the Hematites, a junior center, earned first-team inclusion by his consistently fine defensive play throughout the season. Coach Bruno Marana found himself unable to pinpoint Tunteri's best game, because he felt that "this boy played his best in every encounter." Tunteri played two ways at center, performing reliably on offense and with spirit that made up for a lack of heaviness on defense.

William Norkoli, a senior Hematite halfback, earned his first team status with five touchdowns, consistently fine rushing yardage and the fierce competitive spirit that earned him the nickname "The Bull", given him by his teammates. Norkoli was equally valuable on defense, slamming through blockers with abandon to limit Ishpeming opponents to meager yardage. Norkoli is an all-around athlete, as is Tunteri, and is a promising ski jumper.

First Team

Conference coaches selected the following all-conference first team at their meeting last week:

Fran Weber, End, Manistiquet; Dennis Porter, End, Soo; Dale Horchner, Tackle, Escanaba.

Tech Begins Hockey Competition Dec. 6 With Olympic Squad

HOUGHTON — Michigan Tech will play a 24-game hockey schedule during the winter of 1963-64 according to Alan J. Boward, Tech Athletic Director.

The schedule announced recently finds the Huskies playing 16 Western Collegiate Hockey Association (WCHA) games and eight non-association games. The Huskies will face defending WCHA champion Denver University, the University of Michigan and defending NCAA champion University of North Dakota four times each during the coming season. Colorado College and Michigan State University will each be met twice.

Olympic Opening

Opening the season for the Huskies will be the United States Olympic squad on Dec. 6 and 7 in Houghton. Last year the Huskies finished in third place in the WCHA with 11 wins, seven losses and two ties. Overall they fashioned a 17-10-2 record.

Coach John MacInnes, starting his eighth year, feels that this will be an outstanding schedule both in home appearances and road engagements. Under MacInnes, the Huskies have won 124 games, lost 71 and tied five. They appeared in two NCAA champion tournaments, finishing second in 1960 and winning the champion in 1962, the same year that they won the WCHA championship.

MacInnes, voted WCHA Coach of the Year in 1960 and 1962, will have 15 returning lettermen, headed by All-Americans Gary Bauman and George Hill.

Cousy-Less Celtics Roll As Havlicek Takes Up Slack Well

(By the Associated Press)

The champion Boston Celtics continue to roll on majestically in the National Basketball Association despite the loss of tricky, crowd-pleasing Bob Cousy.

Before the season opened Big Bill Russell, who has helped the Celtics win the NBA title five straight years, said the team would miss Cousy, now coach of Boston College, but that he expected John Havlicek to take up the slack.

Come Through

So far Havlicek, former Ohio State star, has come through in fine style. He flipped in 25 points Friday night as the unbeaten Celtics made it five straight with a 119-102 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers. Sam Jones added 28 and Russell turned in a great defense performance in the contest at Philadelphia. Hal Greer's 24 points paced the 76ers.

In Friday's other scheduled NBA game, the Los Angeles Lakers took a 33-31 first quarter lead and went on to defeat the Cincinnati Royals 122-112.

Half-Time Out

The victory on their home court put the Lakers within a half-game of the leading St. Louis Hawks in the Western Division.

The Royals, who knocked the Lakers out of first place on Wednesday, pulled within 93-88 after three quarters before the Lakers put the game out of reach on Jerry West's shooting. West and Dick Barnett were high for the Lakers with 29 points each. Oscar Robertson topped the Royals with 26.

Graziano's Protege Gets Decision In Bout With Favorite

NEW YORK (AP)—"My guy will fight Dick Tiger or six bulls next," said Rocky Graziano, "Right, Rocky?"

Argentina's Juan Rivera, whose right eye had been closed in a victorious, primitive, 10-round punch-fest with Cuban Florentino Fernandez Friday night, nodded his head as if he understood.

What Did He Say?

"Sure, sure," he said to his co-manager and second. Then he turned to a friend and asked in Spanish: "What did he say?" When advised, his good eye sparkled and he replied: "Tiger yes, the bulls no."

Tiger, the world middleweight champion from Nigeria, has a prior title booking. He defends his crown against Joey Giardello in Atlantic City, N.J., Dec. 7.

What the steel-jawed, tireless Argentine will get next is a television fight at Madison Square Garden Dec. 17 with Hurricane Carter or a return bout with Fernandez in Miami Beach, also on TV, on Dec. 27.

Buzzsaw

Fernandez, a vicious left-hander, had swept five straight foes by knockouts until he ran into the chubby buzzsaw from Buenos Aires in the Garden.

In one of the fiercest, no quarter scraps seen here and on national television in many a moon, the unranked Rivera earned a close, unanimous and popular decision over the 32-1 favorite, a 10th-ranking contender.

A controversial knockdown in the eighth gave Rivera the round and the fight. Rivera said

Len Brumm Leads Hawks Into Season

WATERLOO, Ia. — Under the coaching of Len (Oake) Brumm of Marquette, the Waterloo Black Hawks hockey team will begin their 1963-64 schedule on Nov. 9 facing the league champion Green Bay Bobcats.

Brumm has had the team in practice since Oct. 19 in preparation for the second season in the club's short history. In 1962-63, the Black Hawks wound up with a 500 record for the season, with Brumm at the helm.

Among the Black Hawks are Gerry Martilla and Emery Swick of Houghton and Dave Ruelle of Sault Ste. Marie.

The Black Hawks complete in the United States Hockey League.

The Air Force Academy football team this fall plays Washington, Nebraska and Boston College for the first time.

The University of Alabama holds a 34-10 edge in its football series with Mississippi State. Three games were ties.

Ex-Oiler Sparks Boston Win Over Old Teammates

BOSTON (AP) — Houston Coach Pop Ivy's advice to Bob Suci has backfired, helping Boston tie the Oilers for the Eastern Division lead in the American Football League.

Suci was voted the top performer in the game Friday night after the Patriots gave Houston its worst pasting in history, 45-3. The defensive back accounted for 172 yards running back two pass interceptions, three punts and a kickoff.

Clincher

His 98-yard scoring sprint with a pass he took out of Will Dewveall's hands clinched the decision which knotted the teams at 5-4 each.

Suci, a Michigan State alum, was cut by the Oilers just before the season started. He asked Ivy's advice about his future.

"Why don't you give Boston a call?" Ivy told him. "Coach Mike Holovak needs a defensive back. He's just lost Don Webb."

Boston grabbed Suci and put him at safety. He was switched to corner back for Houston, however.

The Patriots intercepted six passes in the game, two short of the AFL record but returned them for a new total mark of 291 yards. The previous interception yardage mark of 194 yards was set by San Diego again Houston two years ago.

Fumbles Recovered

The blitzing Boston defense also recovered two Oiler fumbles and held Houston to a mere 19 yards rushing.

Quarterback Babe Parilli hooked up with Larry Garrison on a 76-yard touchdown pass play which rocked the visitors back on their heels early. Parilli then added two short scoring runs.

San Diego's Western Division leaders are at New York Saturday night. The remainder of the action is listed for Sunday afternoon with Buffalo at Denver and Kansas City at Oakland.

Court Decisions Uphold Collegiate Compensation Laws

(By the Associated Press)

Some fine points of law affecting both college and professional football players were decided Friday at Los Angeles, Detroit and Baltimore.

In California, it was held that college player, attending school on a scholarship, can be an employee of the school and entitled to workmen's compensation if he is involved in an accident on the job.

Big Benefits

Under the ruling by the California State Court of Appeals, the widow and two small sons of Gary Van Horn will receive $20,500 in death benefits at the rate of $70 a week. Van Horn was one of 17 players on the team of Calif. Poly at San Luis Obispo who were killed in the crash of their plane at Toledo, Ohio, in 1960 while returning from a game against Bowling Green University.

In Detroit, Gene Gedman, a former halfback for the pro Detroit Lions, won an award estimated at $15,000 from the appeals board of the Michigan Workmen's Compensation Commission.

In Baltimore, the Maryland Workmen's Compensation Commission awarded $2,500 to Jackie Burkett, former line-backer for the NFL Colts, for a shoulder injury suffered in a 1960 pre-season game.

Clarification

California state attorneys pointed out that the Van Horn ruling did not mean that every student on an athletic scholarship could be considered a school employee. They quoted the decision text which said "it cannot be said as a matter of law that every student who received an athletic scholarship

Tough Tech Swim Slate For 63-64

HOUGHTON — A nine-meet Michigan Tech varsity swimming schedule for 1963-64 has been announced by Alan J. Boward, athletic director. During the season, the Huskies will meet opponents from Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

A highlight of the schedule will be a Dec. 7 engagement with the Huskies taking part in the Oshkosh State Relays in Oshkosh, Wis. Tech will close out the schedule on March 6 and 7 when they take part in the Northern Intercollegiate Conference swimming meet at Winona State.

Among opponents are the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee Branch, U. of Minnesota, Northern Michigan University and Stevens Point.

Shoulder Injury

Burkett, a former Auburn star, claimed compensation for a shoulder separation suffered in the Aug. 12, 1960 All-Star game at Chicago between the Colts, then NFL champions, and the College All-Stars. The Maryland commission found Burkett suffered a permanent, partial disability "amounting to 20 percent industrial loss of use of his body." The Colts did not contest the issue.

Gedman, who once played for Indiana, suffered an injury to his left knee in a Detroit NFL game in 1958. The Lions released him in 1959. In 1961 a referee for the Michigan Compensation Commission, awarded Gedman $33 a week for 500 weeks, saying Gedman had been totally disabled for football. The Lions appealed, but it was rejected by the appeals board.

Grid Deaths Decline In 1963 Action

LOS ANGELES — Football fatalities for the first half of the season are 26 per cent below the same period last year, a survey by the American Football Coaches Association reveals.

Dr. Floyd R. Eastwood of Los Angeles State College said that as of Nov. 1, 11 deaths have occurred as a direct result of football injuries. Last year 15 were recorded.

Wings Call Up Spencer To Replace Barkley

DETROIT — The Detroit Red Wings called up a farm hand Friday to replace Doug Barkley in the next two games. Barkley flew to Lethbridge, Alta., Friday night to be at the bedside of his critically ill father. He is expected to miss weekend games at Montreal and Boston.

The Wings said Irv Spencer, a defenseman from the Indianapolis farm team, will fill in for Barkley.

FAMILY OF CHAMPIONS

KANSAS CITY (AP) — It was a family affair at the Meadowbrook golf course. Mrs. Herbert Simons, Bob Simons and Carol Simons all took club championships. The three-way slam was completed when Mrs. Simons won the women's club final, 1 up. Previously, Bob, 17, won 2 up in a 36-hole match for the men's title. Carol, 14, successfully defended her junior title. What about Mr. Simons? "He caddies for us," says Bob jokingly.

A PAIR OF ACES

PRESTONSBURG, Ky. (AP) — "Let's see you top that," Joe Burchett told his companion, Arthur Hughes, after sinking a hole-in-one at Jenny Wiley State Park Golf Course. Hughes slammed his ball off the No. 6 tee and it headed for the flag, 122 yards away. The ball bounced several times then landed in the cup, right atop Burchett's.

Some 2,488 women took part in seven team and six intramural sports at Michigan State in the 1962-63 school year.

Army's football team this season plays Cincinnati, Minnesota and Washington State for the first time.

Quick Shots

The first snowy owl known to have been seen in this area this year was reported by K. A. Wahtera of Marquette. The bird was observed along the Island Beach Road in Marquette. Snowy owls unpredictably migrate south from the Arctic in the fall and winter of some years.

At least 75 deer were killed by cars in the Upper Peninsula during September, according to reports received by the conservation department.

A large bull moose was seen in the yard of a home in Pickford in Chippewa County recently.

Conservation officers in the Trout Lake area of Chippewa County report seeing a large raven with white spots on each wing on several occasions lately. They said the white spots are about the size of a silver dollar.

Conservation Officer Charles Bomaster, Sault Ste. Marie, said he has seen flocks of between 100 and 200 sandhill cranes in fields near Rudyard this fall.

Forty-two conservation department employees from the fish, parks, forestry, education, game and lands divisions will assist Upper Peninsula conservation officers in law enforcement patrols beginning early this month, according to Dorias J. Curry, Marquette, regional director of the department. In addition, 50 department fire officers who have worked with conservation officers in the past will assist the officers in their patrols. These men will team up with conservation officers throughout the Peninsula, giving them more patrols in the field before and during the deer season.

The conservation department reminds deer hunters they may register their away-from-home addresses at department field or district offices this season. Purpose of the registration service is to enable department field men to locate hunters as quickly as possible should there be an emergency at home. Hunters who camp on state-owned lands again will be required to post registration cards giving their names and addresses.

Michigan hunters stand to improve their chances of taking deer home this November and of finding places to camp throughout the state by getting two free folders from the conservation department. The pocket-sized publications, "How To Be More Successful in Your Deer Hunting" and the "1963 Michigan Campground Directory," are available from the department's publications room in Lansing.

"Each deer season, about 25 per cent of the state's firearms accidents involve hunters who shoot themselves," says Everett E. Tucker, Lansing, head of the conservation department's law enforcement section. "A big share of these self-inflicted accidents can be traced to carelessness while handling, loading and unloading weapons and to carrying loaded guns in cars and hunting with the safety off."

Pat, Woodcock Hunters Lament End Of Memorable October

By KENNETH S. LOWE

October, the loveliest of all months in the Upper Peninsula, faded into memory this week, but it was an October that bird hunters will never forget.

It was both the warmest and the driest October any of them could remember. Temperatures in the 80's were as common as showers were rare. Dozens of weather records topped, and the situation became so acute that Gov. Romney felt forced to place a ban on turning and smoking in the woods to ease the threat of forest fire.

Effect On Hunting

The warm, dry weather had a pronounced effect on hunting. Hunters complained because the heat sapped their energy, because the dryness made it difficult for their dogs to work effectively and because the leaves underfoot left the woods noisy.

Many of them blamed the weather for their relatively poor success while hunting ruffed grouse — and perhaps weather was the big factor, but to this observer it was the spring weather, and not the fall weather, that produced less partridge shooting this year than last.

Timberdoodles Lingered

The worst weather the Upper Peninsula has had this year, so far as ruffed grouse are concerned, occurred in the first half of June. In the Marquette area rain fell on 12 of the first 14 days of that month, which is the peak of the grouse hatching period. It would appear that this cut deeply into the number of partridge available to the hunter this fall.

But if ruffed grouse hunting was not as productive this year as last, woodcock hunting was much more productive. The record warm weather caused the timberdoodles to linger in the Upper Peninsula throughout the month instead of heading south around the middle of October, as is their normal inclination.

Abundance Of Targets

And anyone who was willing to beat his way through tag alders and willow and hazel bush could find an abundance of targets all month long as one woodcock after another got up in front of (or sometimes behind) him.

No matter what the weather, October can never be all bad in the Upper Peninsula.

Donald Zettle, Marquette, regional forester for the conservation department, dresses a pair of ruffed grouse he shot while on a weekend hunt.

Noisy carpet of leaves covers woodland path near Panorama Tower in Baraga County, causing ruffed grouse to flush far ahead of approaching shooter.

Two Old-Timers, 87 And 69, Eye Iron County Deer Hunting Trip

By RAY VOSS
In Grand Rapids Press

When Nov. 9 dawned over the rugged deer country of Iron County, two men with a total of 156 years between them will be sitting on their pet runways. One is 69 years old and the other a thumping 87.

Earl Cole — the 69-year-old "youngster" of the pair — has just brought his 50th consecutive deer license, which is something of a mark by itself. He hasn't missed a deer season since he was 18. His 87-year-old "junior" partner is F. C. Clossen, who earned the title when Cole "got him started" der hunting at the age of 64! So Clossen has hunted "only" 23 years.

Why should these old-timers, who might normally be expected to hunt 50 feet from their cars in some county near home, pick some of the more rugged deer country, and far from home?

Like Solitude
"We like the seclusion, we know the country, we get deer there and we don't mind a little hiking." That's Cole's answer. "We don't see another hunter outside of our own gang, usually, and we're really camping in the wilderness, which is half the fun."

Actually, Cole has hunted deer all over Michigan north of M46 and has hunted small game even longer than he's hunted deer.

"I got my first shotgun when I was 8 years old (61 years ago). It was a muzzle-loader, of course, but I've got a fine 20-gauge auto-loader now, see?"

Cole said he killed hundreds of quail before they were protected. He now hunts grouse. Both, as any hunter knows, require a sharp eye and sharp shooting.

Rifles Old But True

Clossen doesn't hunt a mall game much, but he looks forward to his deer hunting with great enthusiasm. They use .30-30 rifles of models now hard to find. Cole's is a model 1855 with half-magazine and long round barrel. Clossen's is an octagon-barrel of similar vintage.

"These guns have been put-ting their right where we sit-for so long we wouldn't have faith in anything else," Cole said.

A Lot Of Deer

"Right where they aim" has meant a lot of deer for the two, collectively. Cole figures he has bagged at least 50 deer in his 50 years, because he not only gets one almost every season, but when he started hunting the limit was two deer of either sex and he often "filled up." And you can add two bears, one of 440 pounds and one 280 pounds.

Last year he and his wife hunted in Ontario and he bagged a young bull moose.

Sold On Antlerless Seasons

Clossen has done all right in the venison department, also, but he doesn't remember how many—just "quite a few."

Cole, having hunted through virtually the entire period of changing forest conditions from the logging days to regrowth, is entirely sold on hunting deer of either sex to balance the herd with its winter food supply.

"The Upper Peninsula has grown up to stuff which is no

Deer Population In U.P. Up Slightly From 1962

Oconto Asks State To Act On Pollution

By JEAN WORTH
Journal Special Correspondence

As Menominee awaits a U.S. Public Health Service hearing on pollution of the Menominee River and its tributary, the Brule River, on Nov. 6, Oconto, Wis., 20 miles away, is asking the state government to do something about pollution of the Oconto River.

The Menominee hearing has created speculation in the Michigan Water Resources Commission, charged with control of Michigan's Rivers, about the increasing role of the federal government in pollution control.

Break In Holding Pond

The river pollution problem is dramatically pointed in the Oconto River situation, without the overtones of federal intervention which exist in the Menominee hearing.

Scott Paper Co. has a pulp and paper mill on the Menominee River at Marinette, a few miles from the mouth of the stream on Green Bay. Scott Paper Co. was the offender on the Oconto River, where a break in the holding pond for sulphite liquor was sandbagged by skin divers after chemicals from the pond had escaped into the Oconto River.

Existed For Years

The pollution problem on the Oconto River because of the Oconto Falls mill operation has existed for years. Scott bought the mill from Falls Paper & Power Co. in 1951.

Nothing as serious as the recent pond break had occurred before, however. The industrial waste escaping into the river discolored paint on hundreds of buildings along the stream. Most damage was reported between the dam at Siles and the City of Oconto 10 miles downstream near the mouth.

Zero Oxygen Rating

A "brown fog" resulted Saturday night, Oct. 12, and caused most of the damage. The preceding Friday health officials checked reports of dead fish in the river and found the river had a zero oxygen reading.

"We're trying not to hurt industry," said State Senator Reuben LaFave, "but 13 years is long enough to correct the situation. We should insist on prompt action now to clean up the Oconto River."

Incensed Conservationists

D. J. Dughie, general manager of Scott plants at Marinette and Oconto Falls, said that the company expects to have ready at the end of this year a plan to abate pollution of the Oconto River by its paper mill at Oconto Falls. The Wisconsin State Board of Health, in an order issued in October 1962, permitted discharge of spent sulphite liquor into the river during periods of high water and low temperature. The chemical is a waste from the pulping process. However, the company was ordered to file a plan for substantial pollution abatement by Dec. 31, 1963.

The Oconto-Oconto Falls area can have a sulphite pulp mill which is one of the area's largest employers or it can have a clean Oconto River, Theodore Wisniewski, director of the State Committee on Water Pollution, told a group of incensed conservationists at an Isaac Walton League meeting in Green Bay. It cannot have both for the present, he said.

Employs 375 Persons

If the pollution commission insists on a full clean-up of the Oconto River, said Wisniewski, the Scott Co. will have no choice but to close down its pulping operations at Oconto Falls and buy its pulp from other sources. The mill employs 375 persons.

The Oconto River isn't big enough to handle the load, and the mill should never have been built there in the first place, said the pollution control officer.

god as deer food," he said. "When you could pick up a trailer load of dead does and fawns in the spring, as I've done, you can argue with any man."

Sod Hut In Chippewa

In the early years of his hunting, Cole and most hunters went to the nearest town by railroad and then were hauled back into the woods by hired wagon or sleigh.

"For a while, we had a sod hut in Chippewa County and carried out gear on our backs for five miles," he recalls.

A retired railroad worker, Cole keeps bees near his pleasant home north of Cedar Lake and does a little trapping in the winter months when hunting is over for another year.

"Right now, though, he and Clossen can talk of nothing but deer hunting with their other old friends west of Channing,

Fire In Ely Township Proved Highly Costly

Forest and grass fire fighting techniques have improved greatly in recent years, but a blaze near Lowmoor Lake two miles south of Radio Station WJAN in Ely Township proves that wildland fires still can be costly. The fire, which was reported in 81 acres of peat and muck on Oct. 1 is still smoldering and is being kept under surveillance by the conservation department.

Sank Two Wells
In order to bring the fire under control, department fire forces had to dam a creek to raise the water level and flood the area. They also sank two wells to obtain water. They used three pumps. They pumped water onto the fire for 242 continuous hours, using 5,000,000 gallons of water.

Up to 80 men were employed in fighting the fire, which has cost the department more than $4,000 in impressed (non-department) labor, in addition to costs for equipment, fuel, etc.

Railroad Flare Blamed

Started by a railroad flare, the fire burned over a marsh that was reclaimed for a farm site. The farm was abandoned in 1907.

The fire penetrated to a maximum depth of two and a half feet into the ground.

Department officials do not expect the fire to be completely extinguished until heavy rains or snow falls. Meanwhile, one department employee is being assigned to keep a constant check on the fire to make certain that it does not break out in force again.

DANCES FOR SUPPER

The kiwi bird of New Zealand dances for his supper. Earth worms respond to vibration in the ground and come to the surface. So the kiwi stamps his feet, then feeds on the emerging worms.

Snow Buntings Pain In Neck For Crews At Sawyer Air Base

Snow buntings — those delightful little brown and white birds that add a dash of color to the late autumn landscape — are just a pain in the neck for air crews at K. I. Sawyer Air Base.

Capt. D. J. Haselhorst of the air base said this week that buntings have been sucked into the engines of three jet planes — an F-101, a 135 and a B-52 — in the past few days. In addition, uncounted other birds have been struck and killed by the jets while taking off or landing.

Could Become Menace

As of now, Capt. Haselhorst said, the buntings haven't posed a serious problem because there aren't enough of them around. But if they congregated in the vicinity of the runways in large numbers they conceivably could become a menace by causing engine failure. Gooney birds on Guam have proved a distinct hazard to military aircraft.

Understanding Ruffed Grouse

The diagram illustrates the life cycle of a ruffed grouse. It shows the stages from egg to adult, including hatching, fledging, and migration. Key behaviors and facts are noted, such as: 'EGG: 10-12 days incubation', 'CHICK: 10-12 days in nest', 'FLYING: 10-12 days in nest', 'MIGRATION: 10-12 days in nest', 'WINTER: 10-12 days in nest', 'SPRING: 10-12 days in nest', 'SUMMER: 10-12 days in nest', 'FALL: 10-12 days in nest'. It also includes a note: 'DON'T FILL CAVITY FULL OR IT WILL BREAK OPEN AS IT EXPANDS IN ROASTING'.

Hunt Success May Hinge On Weather

All reports indicate there are a few more deer in the Upper Peninsula this year than last year—but weather will be a big factor in determining deer success.

Thus did William E. Laycock, Marquette, regional game supervisor for the conservation department, summarize prospects for the 1963 firearms deer season, which opens next Saturday in the western two-thirds of the Upper Peninsula and on Nov. 15 in the remainder of the state.

Earliest Possible Opening

"Our spring pellet counts, field reports from conservation officers and other department personnel and evidence of a good fawn crop all point to a somewhat larger deer herd above the Straits this fall than in 1962," Laycock said.

But he pointed out the season in the Upper Peninsula west of M-77 opens this year on Nov. 9—the earliest possible opening under the legislative act setting the first day of the season in the western two-thirds of the Peninsula on the Saturday preceding Nov. 15.

May Be Well-Scattered

If the weather continues unseasonably warm and dry during early November—as it was throughout October—deer will be well-scattered when the season opens instead of being concentrated, Laycock said.

"The best kills come in years when we get an early winter that tends to bunch the deer," he added. "But because of the dry weather this year, hunters may not find deer in the same places as in normal years."

If the weather continues dry right up to the deer season opener, the conservation department suggested that hunters work close to streams, marshes and other water areas.

Laycock estimated that the buck kill this year will be similar to last year's total—about 17,000. The antlerless deer kill, he said, should approach that figure. "In all, we have hopes of taking about 30,000 deer in the Upper Peninsula."

Bear Hunting Prospects

Bear also will be legal quarry throughout the deer season. The department said bear populations shape up about the same as a year ago when an estimated 950 were taken during the deer season, most of them from the Upper Peninsula, which has about three-fourths or more of the state's total bear population.

The department said there is a good possibility that this year's poor berry crop and unusually warm weather could postpone the "denning up" period for bears.

Commission Eyes Pokies Ski Lease

Awarding of a concession lease for the ski shelter in the Porcupine Mountains State Park is among the items on the agenda for this month's meeting of the Michigan Conservation Commission next Thursday and Friday.

Meeting in Lansing, commissioners will be asked to award the three-year lease to one of three persons who submitted bids—P. A. Wirtanen, White Pine; Lyle L. Hotchkiss, Muskegon; and Rudy Saari, Ontonagon.

One exchange involving Upper Peninsula lands is on the agenda. Francis J. Vetort of Cedar River proposes to exchange 40 acres in Menominee County for 40 state-owned acres in the same county. The exchange "will make a valuable addition to the applicant's farm, of more pasture land for his beef cattle, while the properties to be acquired by the state provide better blocking in of the state ownership, making it more accessible for public use," said Charles E. Miller, Lansing, chief of the conservation department's lands division.

The commission will be asked to approve timber sales in four state forests in the Upper Peninsula—Baraga, Munising, Iron Range and Sturgeon River State Forests.

Action is scheduled on applications for easements on state-owned lands submitted by the Cloverland Electric Cooperative, Sault Ste. Marie, to build an electric distribution line in the Munising State Forest in Chippewa County; Upper Peninsula Power Co., Houghton, to build an electric distribution line in the Baraga State Forest, Baraga County; and the General Telephone Co., Alpena, to lay a buried telephone line in Indian Lake State Park, Schoolcraft County.

HOW TO HUNT WITH A PARTNER

HUNTERS SHOULD TRY TO KEEP AHEAD OF EACH OTHER, WITH NEITHER ONE WORKING BEHIND OR FORGING AHEAD OF HIS BUDDY. IF YOU CAN'T SEE EACH OTHER, HOLD A PACE THAT BRINGS YOU OUT TOGETHER. IF GAME MOVES BETWEEN YOU, DO NOT SHOOT TOWARD PARTNER.

IN CANYONS, ETC., HUNTERS WORK OPPOSITE SLOPES, ABOUT 100 YARDS FROM THE BOTTOM, OR 200 YDS. APART IF RIFLES ARE USED. CUT DISTANCE TO 80 YDS. APART IF USING SHOTGUNS.
