Yale Professor Looks Forward To Quiet Life

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — "I'm working on my book and I hope I'll have a period of quiet after this," says Frederick C. Barghoorn, home from the Soviet Union where he was jailed as a spy.

Rockefeller Politicks In U.S. Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nelson A. Rockefeller goes some Capitol Hill politicking today after firing off a charge that Sen. Barry Goldwater does not represent a consensus of Republican thinking.

The New York governor, a declared candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, made that allegation Sunday on the CBS television program "Face the Nation" and again as he arrived in Washington Sunday night to buttonhole senators in a search for convention support.

Similar Pitch
The Republican platform in 1964 will represent "the mainstream of Republican thought," Rockefeller told newsmen at Washington National Airport. And then, carrying his theme out, he said he assumes Goldwater will "have shifted his position prior to the convention" in order to run on such a platform.

On the nationwide television interview, broadcast from St. Louis, Rockefeller made a similar pitch by saying Goldwater may have trouble explaining to the voters the switches he would have to make to win the nomination.

"The people are going to say just what are his positions and why did he vote against Eisenhower 48 per cent of the time when the President Dwight D. Eisenhower was in office," Rockefeller said. "In the heat of a presidential nomination, when Sen. Goldwater will have to change positions, the people will ponder."

ment of Mrs. Elizabeth Barghoorn, his 80-year-old mother. Barghoorn, a bachelor, lives next door.

At a news conference Sunday night, Barghoorn read a statement about "my unpleasant experience."

He allowed only a few minutes of questions. He refused to answer, or replied cautiously, to questions about details of his arrest, confinement and release.

The Russians, Barghoorn said, accused him of gathering intelligence during his employment in the U.S. Embassy in Moscow in the 1940s and on six trips he has made to the Soviet Union since 1947. Soviet studies are Barghoorn's specialty as a professor of political science. He has written several books on the Soviet Union and was gathering material for another when he was arrested.

Denies Charge
He denied that the Russians had any basis for accusing him of spying.

They knew he was going to try and determine how public opinion is formed in the Soviet Union, Barghoorn said, and could have refused him a visa.

Barghoorn declined to name the prison in which he was held or to tell almost anything about his experiences as a prisoner. But when asked if he repented much questioning, he replied "all the time."

REP. ROBERT P. GRIFFIN

Rep. Griffin May Oppose Hart In '64

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., is expected to announce about the first of the year whether he will make a try in 1964 for the senate seat now held by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich.

Those close to Griffin, co-author of the Landrum-Griffin Act of 1959 which amended the Taft-Hartley Labor-Management Law, say Griffin has not made a decision and refuses to speculate about it.

When asked about the matter, Griffin, now serving his fourth two-year term in the House, replied, "I am giving it considerable thought. I am exploring the possibility."

Griffin has been getting a lot of pressure from various individuals back home to make the race against Hart who is serving his first six-year term in the Senate.

And he is getting conflicting advice from fellow Republican House members from the state, with some urging him to make the race and others advising him to seek re-election in his 9th Congressional District.

Griffin discussed the matter with Gov. George Romney at the Labor Day weekend conference of Republicans from over the state at Mackinac Island. But he has not divulged publicly what Romney's thinking was on the subject.

Military Takeover In Iraq

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — President Abdel Salam Aref and the leaders of the Iraqi armed forces overthrew their country's Ba'ath Socialist government today and took control.

Aref in one of his early proclamations indicated that he hoped to revive the agreement to merge Iraq with Syria and President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic.

The president, an admirer of Nasser, said he would cooperate closely with all Arab nations, "especially with the United Arab Republic."

Assumes Power
Aref, who has been Iraq's provisional president since the military ousted Premier Abdel Karim Kassem's dictatorship in February, assumed full powers as head of a new revolutionary council.

He ordered dissolution of the National Guard, a semi-military unit of Ba'ath Socialist party youths loyal to exiled Deputy Premier Ali Saleh El Saadi, leader of an extreme left faction of Ba'athists. All guardsmen were ordered to surrender their weapons to the armed forces. Those who refused were to be executed on the spot.

Capture Guardsmen
Baghdad Radio said the armed forces had captured National Guard headquarters and taken a number of guardsmen prisoner.

Pilot Loses Life In Crash Of Jet
STONY CREEK, N.Y. (AP) — Exactly three months after he was plucked from the ocean by Russian fishermen, Capt. Hugh A. Levallee, 29, of Springfield, Mass., guided his jet fighter through the clouds over the Adirondack Mountains and disappeared.

That was Saturday. His remains were found Sunday in the wreckage of his Massachusetts Air National Guard plane 13 miles west of Stony Creek. The plane had slammed into a mountain.

A. PHILIP RANDOLPH

Civil Rights Issue Before Labor Group

NEW YORK (AP) — The AFL-CIO convention takes up the civil rights issue today, amid expression of dissatisfaction with President Kennedy's legislation on the subject.

A. Philip Randolph, only Negro vice president of the labor organization, said he is not satisfied with Kennedy or the AFL-CIO in pressing for equal rights for Negroes. He warned of a possible "nationwide, bloody race war" in the United States.

Another AFL-CIO vice president, James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers, said his union would give strong support to two resolutions by Randolph aimed at discouraging racial discrimination.

AFL-CIO President George Meany appointed a special task force to deal with the civil rights issue at the biennial convention.

Carey said in an interview the AFL-CIO should give "active, affirmative support for legislation now being held up in the house rules committee."

He said this bill, drafted by the House Judiciary Committee, is "better than the President's bill."

25 Feared Dead In Jersey Blaze; 5 Hotels Levelled

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Fire swept through a block of hotels and rooming houses near the famed Atlantic City Boardwalk today, killing at least three persons and leaving 20 missing.

Police and firemen started searching the ruins of the Surfside Hotel for bodies shortly before 11 a.m.

Flames destroyed five hotels and a rooming house and damaged an apartment building before the blaze was brought under control. Fire also spread to three other buildings but was quickly extinguished.

The missing were guests at the Surfside Hotel, where the fire broke out shortly after 4 a.m. The Surfside was a kosher establishment catering mainly to elderly Jews.

32 Persons Treated
Milton Rauer, owner of the Surfside, said 20 of the guests were year-round residents of the hotel and another 10 were there on short vacations from New York, Philadelphia and other cities.

"I'm fearful to say a number did not escape," Rauer said. "It went so quickly. A number of them were mostly elderly persons." The building was engulfed in flames in about five minutes, he said.

Atlantic City Hospital said 22 persons were treated there, two of them admitted.

Police said at least five of the 20 guests at the Surfside got out of the building.

Heavy Wind
A heavy wind from the ocean fanned the flames from the Surfside to seven other buildings on either side of it along Maryland Avenue, which intersects the Boardwalk. Three more buildings on Virginia Avenue behind the burning ones also caught fire but were quickly extinguished.

Police said that two persons were treated there, two of them admitted.

Kennedy Sights Time Of Routine Travel In Space

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy flew to Tampa today at 500 miles an hour to predict that the time is within sight when men will fly routinely through space at more than 15,000 miles an hour.

Kennedy produced this Buck Rogers vision at the start of a two-stage speech-making tour which he hopes will help him capture the South's most populous states — Florida and Texas — in 1964.

Flying to Tampa from his weekend headquarters at Palm Beach aboard his jet transport, Kennedy readied heady futuristic forecasts for a ceremony marking the 50th anniversary of the first scheduled air service.

"Within Sight"
In his prepared text, the President contrasted the first commercial flight from Tampa to neighboring St. Petersburg, at a price of $5 a head, with current jet travel.

And, looking toward the decades ahead, he said that "within our grasp, is the day when men will routinely fly through space at 25 times the speed of sound."

That would be more than 15,000 miles an hour.

Even by 1975, Kennedy said, "metroplanes" will be able to take off directly from the crowded center of one city and fly to another — even as airliners cross oceans and continents at 1,400 miles an hour.

"Pioneering Spirit"
The President said that the "pioneering spirit is still burning bright in this state and nature and that America is ready to venture down a path "through the dark unknown that lies ahead."

Before flying to Washington tonight, Kennedy will make five speeches in Tampa and Miami — one an important foreign policy address at an evening dinner of the Inter-American Press Association.

Texas
Thursday, Kennedy will begin a three-day Texas swing that will take him to Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio, Austin and the Johnson City ranch of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Four Prelates Hit Declaration On Crucifixion
VATICAN CITY (AP) — An Italian cardinal and three patriarchs from the Middle East assailed today a declaration holding that all mankind — not Jews alone — are to blame for the crucifixion of Christ.

The question came up as the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council opened debate on the most important issue before it, the schema on Christian unity.

The declaration on the crucifixion was prepared by the Vatican's secretariat for promoting Christian unity. It also calls on priests and religious teachers to promote understanding.

Jewish leaders around the world have hailed the declaration as a milestone in Jewish-Christian relations.

Kremlin Disappointed In Trade-Aid Offensive

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russian trade-aid offensive, launched a decade ago to try to sweep new and neutral nations into the Communist camp, is a growing disappointment to the Kremlin.

Even in Moscow confidence has dimmed, American government analysts report, that the emerging countries of Africa and Asia soon will reject capitalism in a great "national-liberation movement."

And comparisons of 1962 trade data now available confirm that Russia remains a many commercial rival of the United States, which already provided a market eight times greater than Russia's for the goods and raw materials of the non-Communist world, enlarged that market by an amount eight times greater than the Russian increase.

Two-thirds of Russia's trade continues to be with its captive market, the Communist bloc in Europe, but its goal of "burying" the United States as the foremost trading nation depends on the penetration of the vast and swiftly growing Western markets and the developing nations.

Russian progress has been substantial, considering that the Soviets started virtually from scratch. But Washington's concern is less with the trade volume — as an entire bloc the Communist group generates only 5 per cent of world commerce — than with the political and propaganda impact of the Soviet economic warfare.

Officials suspect that Russia gets more political mileage per ruble of foreign aid than the United States gets per dollar. Soviet aid programs are inexpensive, shrewdly aimed at the West's worst trouble spots, designed for maximum pay-off in political or military advantage and magnified by adroit propaganda techniques.

But analysts who advise the State Department and Congress now note rising skepticism toward the Marxist promise even in the under-developed lands where Russia has poured out rubles and promises.

U.S. expert, Leon Herman, Soviet economic analyst for the Library of Congress, told an interviewer that Russian leaders "realize matters are less promising than they had hoped," but have not altered their plans or diminished their efforts.

"They feel they can create hostility for the developed countries among the underdeveloped — can convince them that they are the victims of capitalist exploitation," Herman explained.

Russia showed a 19 per cent gain in 1962 in trade with non-Communist countries. That was twice the U.S. percentage rise, but percentages are deceptive. The actual Soviet increase was $650 million, with imports up $200 million. The U.S. gain in the same areas was $3 billion; imports rose by $1.7 billion.

That meant that the United States, which already provided a market eight times greater than Russia's for the goods and raw materials of the non-Communist world, enlarged that market by an amount eight times greater than the Russian increase.

But officials point out that Russia has established firm influence in the economies of India, the U.A.R., Cuba, Afghanistan and Indonesia. Together these five get two-thirds of all Soviet foreign aid.

And the analysts note that Russia's aid program — consisting almost entirely of long-term, low-interest loans whose annual cost is a mere fraction of the U.S. aid total — serves its purpose when it merely creates friction between the West and the neutrals, or makes the latter more demanding, or tries open the door to an influx of Soviet technicians.

NEW YORK (AP) — A college student has assured the financing of his education by selling 50 misprinted United Nations postage stamps for $10,400.

The misprint is the greatest error since the Dag Hammarskjold (stamp) case.

A year ago the U.S. Post Office Department blasted the dreams of a few American collectors of making small fortunes by selling misprinted U.S. stamps bearing the likeness of Hammarskjold, the late U.N. secretary-general.

The department purposely misprinted thousands more of the four-cent stamps and devalued the original misprints.

Boy, 13, Killed In U.P. Hunting Accident; Two Other Persons Wounded

Another gunshot fatality and two more woundings occurred in the Upper Peninsula during the weekend as the 1963 deer season entered its final week.

The second accidental gunfire death occurred as a result of a misap at 4:30 Saturday afternoon in Duncan Township, Houghton County, and the victim was Robert W. Bonin, 13, Trout Creek, who was accidentally shot by a hunting companion, George W. Anderson, 15, also of Trout Creek.

State police said they were walking in the woods, about three feet apart, and Anderson's .30-30 caliber rifle discharged when the hammer caught on Anderson's coat sleeve. The blast entered Bonin's lower ribs, leaving the body on the lower left side.

Anderson went for help and the Bonin boy was taken to Ontonagon General Hospital, Ontonagon, where he died at 8 yesterday morning. State police kept the accident open for investigation.

Woundings Listed

The two new woundings increased the non-fatal gunfire accidents in the U. P. this year during the deer season to 13, which exceeds all of last season's figure.

New victims are:

Richard A. Helmrich, 28, Mt. Clemens, who was shot in his right foot by Neil Hodgson, 26, Detroit, in Bay de Noc Township, Delta County at 1:45 Saturday afternoon, as Hodgson was twirling a .25 caliber, single action revolver, which accidentally discharged.

James W. Peano, 16, of 1425 Lincoln Ave., Marquette, who accidentally shot himself in the left foot, between the third and fourth toes, when his .22 caliber bolt action rifle accidentally discharged.

State police said Peano, hunting rabbits near the Marquette Beagle Club grounds, off County Road 550, in Marquette Township, saw a rabbit behind some trees. He lowered the gun when the rabbit fled, and it accidentally discharged.

A passing motorist brought him to St. Luke's Hospital, where he was treated by a physician and released.

Heart Attack Victim

Harry J. Horton, 72, Dafer, died of a heart attack while hunting at 12:30 Saturday afternoon in Kinross Township, Chippewa County. He was the third deer hunter to die in this manner during the deer season in the U. P.

State police said Horton had just shot at a deer and walked about 25 feet to a road, just south of M-28, when he collapsed. He was found by another hunter.

State police also reported nine more hunters became lost in the U. P. during the weekend, increasing the season's figure to 34. All were located and were in good condition. They were:

1. William Huff, 19, Marquette, who was lost Saturday in the Big Gully area, about 3.5 miles west of Loma Farms, off County Road 550, in Powell Township, and who was located at 6:07 p. m., Saturday.

2. Michael Gaylord, 24, Flint, who was lost at 2 p. m., yesterday 22 miles north of Newberry, in McMillan Township, Luce County, and who was located an hour later.

3. & 4. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Potter, both 55, Rega, who were lost in Burt Township, Alger County, at 3 Saturday afternoon and who were located by a searching party at 1:40 yesterday morning.

5. John Schmidt, 50, Kingsford, who became lost Saturday afternoon in Breitung Township, Dickinson County, and who was located at 11 p. m., Saturday.

6. Fred Biekola, in his 50s, L'Anse, who was lost in Onocida Township, Alger County, at 12:30 yesterday afternoon and who was located by state police at 4:45 p. m.

7. Walter Deering, 23, of 713 N. Third St., Marquette, who became lost in Sands Township and who was guided out of the woods by state police by use of the penetrator siren, at 7:30 last night.

8. Lewis Flores, 59, Detroit, who became lost in the Camp 7 district of Garden Township, Delta County, and who was located at 10:30 last night.

9. Kenneth Hodges Sr., 60, Marquette, who became lost yesterday in the Dodge City area of Powell Township and who walked out of the woods by himself at 3 this morning, after a searching party resumed an intense search for him.

Last year there were three hunters dead from gunfire, 11 others wounded, four victims of heart attacks in the U.P. woods and 37 lost, all being located but one having died of a heart attack.

Hunting Conditions Good
Conservation officials report that hunting conditions in the Peninsula were good this morning, although the number of hunters had dropped sharply.

There was still about an eight-inch snow cover in the western end of the Peninsula, with only scattered portions of snow elsewhere in the U.P.

The legal kill was about normal, with a good take reported in the eastern end of the U.P., notably in the Trout Lake and McMillan areas and on Drummond Island.

Bridge Figures
The Mackinac Bridge figures show 25,738 cars carrying an average of three hunters crossed the Straits northbound this season, compared to 23,567 for last season.

Up to 7 this morning, 14,300 automobiles carrying deer hunters have returned downstate, as against 10,660 last year at this time. Returning hunters this year carried 7,993 deer and 114 bears over the bridge, compared to 6,562 deer and 266 bears in the same period of 1962.

Permits for hunters to carry deer into Wisconsin thus far number 278, or 33 more than in the same time last year.

Violations Up
Conservation officers have delivered 38 emergency messages to deer hunters in the U.P. They and state police and sheriff's officers are delivering the emergency messages again this season.

Violations in the region are up this year, with 344 arrests made, compared to 259 last season at this time. Forty-one illegally killed deer and one moose have been recovered in the region this season so far, compared to 35 deer last year.

OASI Questions And Answers

Editor's Note — The U. S. payments deficit has been rising when it was supposed to fall. And in this last of five articles, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, tells why many bankers think steps to halt the dollar drain have been disappointing — and why they hope new plans being plotted may succeed.

Q "I will be 72 years old this month and understand that I can now earn as much as I want and still be eligible for my social security benefits. I have been working part time but plan to return to full time employment and I will earn over $1,200 this year. Must I notify the social security office that my earnings will exceed $1,200 for the year 1963?"—K. M.

Answer: Yes, Mr. K. M. Though you may earn as much as you want beginning with the month in which you reach age 72, your total earnings for the entire year could affect the number of checks you were entitled to receive for the months prior to your 72nd birthday. Starting next year when you are 72 or over in all months of the year, no report of earnings will be required.

Q "When I filed my annual report of earnings for last year, I estimated that my earnings for the year 1963 would be $1,400. I now find that I will earn about $2,000 this year. When should I notify the Social Security Administration?"

Answer: You should notify the Social Security Administration as soon as you know your earnings for the year. In your case, you should notify them as soon as possible, but no later than the end of the year. The Social Security Administration will then adjust your benefits for the year 1963.

—L.B.
Answer: Immediately, Mr. L. B. The checks you are now receiving were based on your original estimate whereby your $100 had to be withheld from your benefits for the year. With earnings of $2,000, however, $550 must be withheld.

Therefore, unless you file a revised estimate in time for the Social Security Administration to withhold an additional $450 from the benefits due you for this year, you will have received an overpayment which you might have to repay at a time that is inconvenient to you.

When the Arabs invaded what is now Morocco, they intermarried with the Berbers, and the result was the Moors. The term "Moor" came to be loosely applied not only to those of mixed blood but also to the many Berbers and the few Arabs who remained pure in bloodline.

One Injured, Three Given Tickets In Area Accidents

One person was injured, three motorists were issued tickets and four vehicles were damaged in three area traffic accidents reported this morning by state police.

1. The personal injury mishap took place at 3:10 yesterday morning on County Road 553, a half mile north of County Road NB, in Sands Township.

State police said Ronald Nowlin, 26, K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, was driving south on Road 553 when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel, on a straight stretch of roadway. Smashes Into Ditch

The car went off the right side of the highway and then recrossed the roadway, smash-

Nowlin suffered bruises on the left side of his shoulder and was taken to the base hospital by a passing motorist for treatment.

The front end of Nowlin's 1963 coach was damaged and the vehicle was driven from the scene under its own power.

Reckless Driving Court

State police issued Nowlin a summons for reckless driving.

2. At 7 last evening an automobile being driven south on County Road 550 by Leonard Quinlan, 60, of 235 Mather St., Marquette, went out of control on a left curve, traveling off the right side of the highway and rolling over after smashing into the ditch and striking some trees.

Speed Law Violation

The wreck took place about 22 miles north of Marquette, in Powell Township, and resulted in the front end, both sides and the top of Quinlan's car, a 1962 coach, being extensively damaged. The vehicle was removed from the scene by a wrecker.

Quinlan was issued a ticket by state police for violation of the basic speed law.

3. An unusual mishap took place at 7 Saturday morning on M-28, about 1.5 miles east of U.S. 41, in Chocolay Township.

Overheight Load

State police said Henry Brumm, 36, Detroit, was driving west on M-28 in a car transport carrier loaded with six new automobiles when the top struck the Soo Line Railroad Co. overpass.

The tops of two new cars being transported by the vehicle were extensively damaged.

Brumm was issued a ticket by state police for having an overheight load.

Nine Drivers Pay $130 In Traffic Court

Nine persons were ordered to pay a total of $130.20 in fines and costs by Judge Edward H. Dembowski in municipal court last week for traffic violations.

A fine of $25 and $5.10 costs were paid by Barbara J. Stack, 43, of 905 Lee St., for leaving the scene of a property damage accident. The summons was issued by city police following an accident Nov. 1 on N. Third St.

Also For Leaving Scene

Jose R. Sosa, 18, Holy Name Home, paid a fine of $10 and $5.10 costs for leaving the scene of a property damage accident and an identical assessment for operating a motor vehicle with improper license plates. City police ticketed him Nov. 9 following an accident in a parking lot in the 200 block on W. Washington St.

Each Pay $10

Fines of $6.30 and costs of $3.70 were paid by the following persons, all ticketed by city police:

Lloyd E. Dupras, Route 1, for having defective equipment on his car; Henry A. DePetro, 617 Empire St., Ishpeming, defective equipment (bald tires) ticketed following an accident Sept. 29 on W. Washington St.;

George Y. Fussell, K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, failure to stop in the assured clear distance ahead, ticketed following an accident in South U.S. 41 Nov. 3; Michael R. Roberts, K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, failure to yield the right-of-way, ticketed following an accident Nov. 9 on W. Washington St., and John M. Robertson, 1003 Bluff St., improper left turn.

Speeding Counts

The following persons, ticketed by city police, paid fines and costs for speeding violations:

David L. Koski, Ontonagon, driving 40 miles per hour in a 25-MPH zone, $10, and Elizabeth A. Dausey, 421 Pine St., driving 40 miles per hour in a 25-MPH zone, $10.

F104 Jet Streaks To Unofficial Record

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. — The Air Force says an F104 jet streaked to an altitude of 22½ miles, setting an unofficial record for ground takeoff.

The Starfighter, with Maj. Robert W. Smith at the controls, went to 118,890 feet to top the official 113,890-foot mark held by a Soviet pilot.

Armed Forces Personnel

Marine Lance Corporals Richard P. Cooney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Cooney, 346 Adams St., Marquette, and James A. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thure B. Johnson, 2082 W. Forest Service Best Hope For Scenic Roads In U.P.

The State Highway Department has planned six scenic shoreline highways in the Upper Peninsula but can't see any money in prospect to build them this side of 1970.

Best prospect for a start on construction is the $375,000 a year available for road construction in Michigan from U.S. Forest Service funds. The Forest Service office for this region has indicated willingness to give top Michigan priority to the DeTour-Munising scenic highway project for forest road income after 1965.

Annual Conference

Distribution of these funds, used to build Forest Highway 13 and parts of M-28, is decided yearly by conference of the State Highway Department, Federal Bureau of Public Roads and U.S. Forest Service.

The success of Ontario's scenic highway along the north without the chamber's permission.

A brisk and tactless young man was assigned to take her through her training paces—lessons in make-up, with emphasis on her eyes ("to make them look larger") and lessons in walking ("a lady always has her arms close to her body"). Her watchdog ignored her when choosing clothes. And, in a conversation with a hairdresser, he paid no attention to her small protests about the way they proposed to cut her hair.

Change In Smile

Jeanne, whose smile at first was radiant, was beginning to look unhappy and tired. Then four Texas show biz types started to pull to bits, verbally, her selection of songs and her singing voice—singing was her contest "talent." At that point she cracked, tears streaming down her face.

shore of Lake Superior has given urgency to the creation of something similar to attract tourists to the south shore of Lake Superior. The Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore project and other major recreational developments have also suggested the desirability of scenic highways for access and to help develop Upper Peninsula tourism.

Cheaper To Build

"The Upper Peninsula can have scenic highways of breathtaking beauty," says John Murray, highway department information chief. "Because of pressing traffic needs in the Lower Peninsula we cannot divert money to develop scenic highways in the Lake Superior area, but we have engineering plans ready for the DeTour to Brimley route and the Forest Service is going to start on scenic route development."

Murray said that the highway department would do the engineering and planning for the scenic highways it has planned, but which it lacks the money to construct. The highways, he said, will not be designed to be high-speed routes, so the cost of building them will be less than the cost of trunklines.

Suggests Gas Tax

With the limited amount of Forest Service funds available for its areas, and no prospect of state highway funds in this decade, the scenic highway program will lag unless other financing is available. Murray suggested the possibility of county gas tax levies to provide special funds for development of tourism in this manner. The current gas tax levy is 10 cents a gallon, of which 6 is state and 4 federal.

The State Highway Department's master plan for U.P. scenic highways would provide one from DeTour at the mouth of the St. Marys River north to Sault Ste. Marie and west to Munising. It would be in sight of Lake Superior most of the way but would not be on the shore all the way, following a spectacular escarpment away from the lake part of the time and routing elsewhere to give view of scenic attractions.

Other Proposed Highways

Four other proposed Lake Superior highways would make much of the south shore available to the tourist. One segment would be from Marquette to L'Anse through the Huron Mountains, another from Lake Linden down Torch Lake and Portage Lake to Jacobsville at Portage Entry and then up the east shore of the Keweenaw Peninsula.

The third would be from Houghton along the Superior shore to Ontonagon.

On the Upper Peninsula south shore "Riviera" there would be a scenic highway from Nubinway to west of Gulliver so tourists could see Seul Choix and Point Patterson and other shoreline attractions.

Would Include 650 Miles

The fifth U.P. scenic highway would circle the Garden Peninsula, showing the visitor Point Aux Barques and Point Detour on the Lake Michigan side and Burnt Bluff and Fayette on Big Bay de Noc.

The U.P. scenic highway system would include 650 miles and cost an estimated $87.1 million.

The DeTour-Munising route, which appears to have top priority to give scenic access to the proposed Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore, would be 187 miles and cost $31.8 million.

The Marquette-L'Anse route is 83 miles and would cost $13 million.

The Keweenaw route is 96 miles and would cost $11.3 million; Houghton-Ontonagon 49 miles, $8.6 million; Garden Peninsula, 65 miles $8.6 million; Nubinway-Gulliver, 78 miles, $11.8 million.

The U.P. program would be part of a state program providing 102 miles of scenic lakeshore highway in the Lower Peninsula at a cost of $12 million.

NBC Shows Other Side Of Pageant

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP)—For most of us, the Miss America pageant is an excessively sentimental, sometimes embarrassingly amateurish television diversion, but always filled with pretty girls.

Sunday night NBC showed us the other side of the coin. Somehow, after watching Jeanne Richey Amacker's month-long ordeal, I'll never feel the same about that thrilling moment when one girl is chosen from 52 to reign—and to earn $100,000 during her year as Miss America.

Jeanne, a University of Texas senior, was followed by the network camera crew from the moment last summer when she won the Miss Texas title, a Miss America preliminary.

Agreement Grooming for the big show started the next day. She discussed the business arrangements of her contract which had the Junior Chamber of Commerce represent her. She agreed not to marry during the year or even leave the state

The P-7 Oven—an exclusive feature built into new General Electric Ranges—actually cleans itself electrically! No messy chemicals, no hand-scrubbing, no wiping things on, then wiping them off. Your oven does the job itself.

Just set the selector dial to "CLEAN", set thermostat to "CLEAN", and set the timer. Then you latch the oven door. That's all you do!

P-7 takes over—using the same electricity that you use to cook your food. All the spatters, the roast drippings, the crusted-on pie juices and cheese spillings just disappear.

All that's left of the dirt is a fine white ash, about as much as one flick from a cigarette. Your oven will be spotlessly clean—even the corners and ridges you could never clean before!

The cost per cleaning?—far less than the chemicals you use now.

See this amazing new oven for yourself—and the other advanced features on General Electric Ranges. Stop in soon at your General Electric Dealer's—and see a demonstration you won't forget!

Custom range has smart, recessed top and squared-off corners, which give an attractive, "built-in" look. (Model J-736.)

Americana® range gives you 2 full ovens, including P-7 master oven, in a space only 30 inches wide. (Model J-736.)

This Americana® has all the features of the range to the left, plus a built-in, 2-level exhaust system. (Model J-736.)

Scenic Road Resolution Seen As Benefit To U.P.

Sen. Hart today said that Senate passage of a resolution on scenic highways could prove "tremendously important" to the state's tourist industry, particularly in the Upper Peninsula.

The resolution calls for a $50,000 feasibility study of a national scenic highway system. The resolution was introduced by Sen. Hart and Randolph (D-W. Va.) in October. It was passed by the Senate Nov. 8.

Sen. Hart said he was especially happy about swift passage of the resolution because it tied in handily with a recently released study into the economic impact of the proposed Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore.

The study, prepared by Michigan State University for the National Park Service, strongly recommended an area-wide tourist promotion campaign in the Upper Peninsula and urged the creation of a shoreline scenic drive.

Another Fine Route

"The Pictured Rocks bill already provides for a scenic drive within the park," Hart said. "Hopefully, this resolution will lead to a lengthy extension of that highway."

Sen. Hart said the east coast of Lake Michigan would provide another excellent route for a scenic highway.

The $50,000 scenic highway feasibility study will be undertaken by the Senate Public Works Committee, headed by Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich). "Our federal interstate highway program has concentrated on urban areas," Sen. Hart said. "Now it's time to take a look at a system to handle the nation's growing tourist traffic."

Scenic highways, Sen. Hart said, should:

1. Provide more ready access to beauty spots.
2. Carefully avoid disturbing forests and landscapes any more than necessary.

3. Offer plenty of turn-outs and parking areas, along with roadside parks and picnic areas.
4. Afford driving comfort and safety.

The resolution directs the public works committee to investigate such aspects as design criteria, the extent of possible state and local participation, financing and the status of any state plans for scenic roads. The committee is asked to report back not later than Jan. 1, 1965.

from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday.

The interviews are for placement of teachers in the overseas dependent schools located in the Azores, Bermuda, Crete, Denmark, England, Ethiopia, France, Germany, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, Iceland, Italy, Japan, Korea, Labrador, Libya, Midway Island, Morocco, Netherlands, Newfoundland, Norway, Okinawa, Pakistan, Philippines, Scotland, Spain, Taiwan, Trinidad and Turkey.

Applicants may indicate the countries in which they will accept assignment. Applications will be considered jointly by Air Force, Army and Navy in filling vacancies in all Department of Defense dependent schools overseas, thus eliminating the necessity of applying separately to each department. Teachers are needed for the primary grades and the fields of science, mathematics, remedial reading, guidance, library and vocal and instrumental music combination.

Special Meeting Of City Commission Set Tomorrow

A special meeting of the Marquette City Commission will be held at 5 p.m. tomorrow for the consideration of a resolution to issue special assessment bonds totaling $35,000.

City commissioners will meet in the commission chambers to consider a resolution to sell bonds for special assessment projects, on which at least one payment has been made by the property owners.

City Manager Thomas Moore said that the sale of bonds for the special assessment projects is a "break-even proposition which could be advantageous to the city because it would return money to the general fund."

He explained that the special assessment projects for which bonds would be issued have been completed and the benefited property owners are allowed to make payments over a period of five years.

More For General Fund
"However, the city must pay for the projects. By selling bonds for the projects, the city will have that money to work with in the general fund," he said.

Moore added that the interest received by the city from the property owners who pay for the special assessments over the five-year period would offset the interest the city will pay on the bonds.

City Clerk Everett H. Kent said that the 30-day period required after publication of the city's intention to issue the bonds ended Friday with no objections voiced by Marquette citizens.

City commissioners also will consider several matters related to the sale of the bonds tomorrow, in addition to several items which have come before city officials since the last regular commission meeting.

Snow, Cold Due Here In Mid-Week

Above normal temperatures are expected to continue through tomorrow, but nasty weather may be brewing for the middle of the week.

Snow and colder temperatures are predicted Wednesday and Thursday, Meteorologist Fred Mueller, said today.

"There's some cold air in Western Canada which is moving very slowly in this direction. It's expected to reach this area about Wednesday, pick up moisture as it crosses Lake Superior and result in snowfall," he said.

Subzero Temperatures
Temperatures were below zero today about 300 miles north of the Montana-Canadian border, Mueller noted.

"A lot of things can happen to the weather conditions before that cold air reaches Marquette, so it's difficult to say now just how cold it will get or how much snow there will be here," Mueller said this morning.

Over the weekend, temperatures were way above normal and they boosted the average temperature for the month to 5.9 degrees above normal.

15 Days Above Normal
Saturday, with extremes of 55 and 38, the average was 47, or 13 above normal. Yesterday's average also was 47, with variations of 51 and 42, or 14 above normal.

The average temperature has been above normal here for the past 15 days.

There was no rain Friday through yesterday, following six straight days of at least a trace of precipitation. The low center northeast of the Great Lakes, which caused the rain and snow flurries last week, has finally moved on, Mueller noted.

Sunshine Saturday
The sun managed to shine 93 per cent of the possible time from dawn to dusk Saturday, but yesterday was mostly cloudy again.

Overnight the low temperature was 39 here, but temperatures today and tonight were expected to be a little cooler. Low predicted for tonight is 32 near the lake and in the mid-30s inland. Temperatures tomorrow are expected to be mild, with a high between 45 and 50.

For the next five days, temperatures are expected to average near the normal extremes of 37 and 26. Precipitation is expected to total one-half to three-fourths of an inch, in snow flurries Wednesday and Thursday and showers about Saturday.

Trying To Please Cop Brought On Trouble

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — Trying to make a policeman's lot a happy one got Frank Iacabbo, 37, of Cranston, into trouble.

Iacabbo followed an old family custom and made some anisette from grain alcohol for home consumption. A visiting policeman was offered a drink by Iacabbo. It tasted so good, the policeman persuaded Iacabbo to sell two gallons to a friend, who turned out to be a federal agent.

Zia Indian Recovers Hearing In One Ear

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — Deaf since birth, a Zia Indian received an unexpected bonus after a recent operation on his right ear.

An examination recently revealed that the patient, Mariano Toribio, 24, of Ysidro, N. M., has gained almost 100 per cent hearing in his left ear as well as in the one that was operated on.

The surgeon, Dr. Frank S. Forman of Colorado Springs, Colo., said he could not yet explain the occurrence. He called it a miracle.

Widower Faces Formidable Task

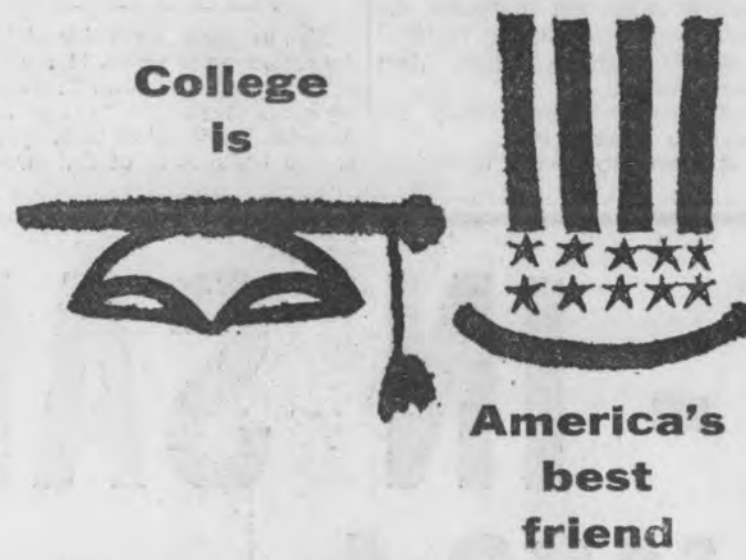

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Death of his wife has left Willie M. Bilbrow facing a formidable task. "No matter what happens, I'm going to keep the kids together in this house," Bilbrow, 37, said.

The Bilbrow children, left motherless last week, number 15. Mrs. Gertrude Bilbrow died of tetanus which developed after she stepped on a nail.

Smoke Fills House; Plugged Chimney Blamed

City firemen were called out at 9:38 Saturday morning when the Elmo Sult residence at 412 Fisher St. became filled with smoke.

Fire Chief John W. Myers said there was no fire but that a plugged furnace smoke pipe in the basement, between the furnace and the chimney, caused the smoke.

The chimney was cleaned out.

Six on-duty and six off-duty firemen responded to the call, with the Nos. 2 (5,000-gallon) and 4 (750-gallon) pumpers and the service truck being driven to the scene. Firemen returned to the station at 9:58 a.m.

Loggers Bidding Up Price Of Pulpwood In Peninsula Perplexes Forest Managers

Why do Upper Peninsula pulpwood cutters bid the price of wood up higher than pulpwood cutters in the Lower Peninsula?

That they do it is beyond question. Why they do it perplexes forest managers.

Because they do it, the chance of their logging Upper Peninsula wood at a profit is decreased. The development of wood industry is probably also affected to some degree as wood costs are a basic factor in wood product manufacturing.

Private and corporate owners of forest lands take some benefit from this practice because more is paid for wood on the stump, but the chief beneficiaries are the state and federal governments, whose forests sell their stumpage by sealed bid.

For Negotiated Sales

The bidding practices of cutters who buy stumpage in the Hiawatha National Forest in the Upper Peninsula and those who buy stumpage in the Lower Michigan National Forest are reported by the U.S. Forest Service. George Semmens, timber sale manager for the Hiawatha Forest, explained that the figures quoted are for formally advertised timber sales, not for small, negotiated timber sales.

Figures for the Hiawatha National Forest in the U.P. are quoted first, as advertised and bid; and for the Lower Michigan National Forest second:

Aspen: $1.32-$1.80; $1.16-$1.28. (1962)
Balsam: $3.70-$4.56; $3.50-$3.50. (1960)
Spruce: $8.19-$9.13; $6.30-$6.30. (1960)
Jackpine: $2.54-$3.85; $3.11-$3.35. (1962)

Prices for 1962 sawtimber stumpage, as advertised and as bid, with Hiawatha Forest figures first and Chequamegon National Forest, in Wisconsin, prices second, follow:

Hemlock: $6.43-$9.25; $9.90-$10.75.
Yellow Birch: $42.94-$57.85; $40.35-$43.86.
Hard Maple: $13.50-$22.43; $11.58-$14.30.

Influencing Factors

Ray Pfeifer, Lansing, wood sale officer of the Michigan Conservation Department, says:

"There are factors influencing wood pricing that we don't understand, but I think that cost factors in the Lower Peninsula are higher than in the Upper Peninsula. U.P. operators are better equipped to handle large volumes of wood so their rate of wood production per man per day is higher. There are so many part-time workers in the Lower Peninsula forests that few are as well equipped as the U.P. woodsmen.

As a result to sell their wood at the mill and still make wages they have to buy it at a lower stumpage price. The U.P. averages 94 cents a cord for aspen stumpage (sold by the state) over the Lower Peninsula.

"We believe that if the state gave all its aspen away that there wouldn't be any more cut. It is not the cost of wood that affects the market, but the price of the product made from the wood. A greatly increased cost of wood, however, could drive a business out.

"The state is in the business of encouraging the private landowner to manage his resource. If we depress the price of wood we can't encourage the landowner to produce wood and much Michigan land is not used for anything else. The state would prefer not to be in the position of dominating the price structure.

In Time Of Change

"The price structure for wood is now in a time of change between the old, cheap base of a discovery item for sale and a new base founded on production costs. (Between the original discovery of mature forests ready to cut and the growing of new forests for harvest.)

"The farmer who discovers that he can sell the timber on his farm may sell it for less than the cost of growing it because it is a 'discovery' item.

"It is asked if the state can't sell wood for less than it cost to produce. If we tried to charge what production cost we couldn't afford to sell it and the source of wood for industry would dry up."

Pfeifer explained that the current method of figuring wood growing profits (if any) is not based on a rational sys-

Scholarship Winner At 'State'

Kristin Ann Keskey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Keskey, 410 N. Sixth St., is among the 195 National Merit Scholarship winners who entered Michigan State University, East Lansing, as freshmen this fall. With Miss Keskey is John D. Wilson, associate director of the honors college at State. The university is sponsoring 149 of the scholars and the remaining 46 are supported by various business and industrial firms participating in the Merit Scholarship program. MSU is the first public university to sponsor Merit Scholarships.

tem of totaling up the costs and then adding a profit margin, but to work backwards from what the market will pay for wood, and deducting the cost of cutting, skidding and hauling. What's left, if anything, is profit.

Larger Than Demand

This situation of sale of wood for less than the cost of production results from surplus. The supply is larger than the demand. The supply-demand relationship is worse in the Lower Peninsula than it is in the Upper Peninsula.

There is more wood in the Lower Peninsula that can't be sold than in the Upper Peninsula, largely because of the proximity to the Upper Peninsula of Wisconsin with all its paper mills. They take much more U.P. pulpwood than is pulped in U.P. mills.

U.P. foresters say that it isn't necessary to understand economics to understand one big reason for U.P. overbidding of stumpage prices; it results from loggers bidding on tracts in their home areas. To assure that they'll get the wood for handy harvest they bid up the price. Cumulatively this affects the going price of wood for their areas.

Mississippi Police Jail 4 Ministers

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Four Detroit area ministers — their heads bowed in prayer — were jailed in Jackson Sunday trying to break down racial barriers at Methodist churches.

The clergymen were identified as The Rev. Donald E. Hall, Campbell Ave. Church; the Rev. Woodie White, East Grand Boulevard Methodist Church; and the Rev. Dr. Charles Morton, Metropolitan Baptist Church, all of Detroit; and the Rev. James D. Nixon, Grosse Pointe Methodist Church. The Revs. White and Morton are Negroes.

The ministers were among 10 persons arrested at four Jackson Methodist churches. The others were from Cleveland and Mississippi, including two Negro students at Tougaloo College, headquarters for the demonstrators.

The clergymen came to Jackson to protest recent incidents outside the Galloway and Capitol Street Churches in which whites and Negroes were arrested when they tried to enter.

The 10 arrested were charged with trespassing on church property and disturbing public worship. After interrogation they were sent to showers and given blue denim jail uniforms.

Ushers handling the latest confrontations were impressively polite. Many members of the congregations brushed past with scarcely a glance. Others stopped to watch.

WHAT HAPPENED TO THE $145,000,000 PAYROLL?

That's the $145,000,000 Michigan Bell will pay in wages and salaries to its employees this year.

Most of the money earned by telephone employees is spent for family goods and services. It buys food, clothing, homes, furniture, cars, gasoline, and many other things. It goes to doctors, retail merchants, and repairmen, to mention just a few. These dollars help to keep Michigan's economy rolling ahead.

So Michigan Bell is doing more than bringing you good telephone service. Your telephone company, as the state's fourth largest employer (except government), is also providing thousands of jobs that help promote the prosperity of Michigan.

Three Ticketed, Ten Cars Involved In City Mishaps

Three motorists were issued tickets and 10 vehicles were involved, but no one was injured, in six traffic mishaps which occurred in Marquette during the weekend.

1. At 3 this morning an automobile operated by Robert M. Thomas, 44, of 308 Bluff St., smashed into a tree about 10 feet from the north side of Grove St., about 100 feet east of the city limits.

City police said Thomas had parked his car on the north side of the street, with the motor running, and that the accelerator was accidentally stepped on, causing the vehicle, which was in "drive," to move forward about 20 feet, into the tree.

Failed To Stop In Time

Extensive damage resulted to the front bumper, hood and grill of the car, a 1959 sedan, which had to be towed from the scene by a wrecker.

City police issued Thomas a summons for failing to stop in the assured clear distance ahead.

2. An automobile being driven south on Northrop St. by Wayne C. Bressette, 21, W. Fair Ave., was struck by a car traveling east on W. College Ave. and operated by Dennis R. Woodward, 40, Detroit, at 8:35 last night.

Right-Of-Way Violation

The right side of Bressette's 1956 four-door sedan, front end of Woodward's 1961 four-door sedan were damaged, with both vehicles being driven from the scene under their own power.

City police issued Bressette a ticket for a right-of-way violation.

3. At 12:15 Saturday afternoon a car being driven out from a private parking lot on the north side of the 500 block of W. Washington St. by Terry B. Nyquist, 21, of 127 W. Ohio St., was struck by an automobile being driven east on Washington by Lorraine M. Hester, 40, of 1916 Westwood Rd.

Both Drivers Ticketed

The right front fender and hubcap of Nyquist's 1962 model car and the left front fender and headlight of the Hester car, a 1959 four-door sedan, were damaged. Both cars were driven from the scene under their own power.

City police ticketed Nyquist for a right-of-way violation and Mrs. Hester for failing to comply with a restrictive license (wearing corrective glasses).

4. A hit-and-run accident which occurred around 12:30 Saturday afternoon in the 400 block of W. Washington St. was still under investigation today.

City police said Robert L. Cheely, 430 W. Washington St., had parked his car on the north side of the street, in front of his residence, when the vehicle was sideswiped by a car being driven west on Washington.

5. At 3:55 Saturday afternoon a car being driven on N. Third St., in the 100 block, by Wilfred J. Murray, 42, of 3194 Lake Shore Blvd., was struck from behind by a vehicle operated by Carol A. Hamilton, 25, K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, when Murray stopped.

The rear end of Murray's 1959 foreign model car was damaged. Apparently no damage resulted to the Hamilton vehicle, a 1956 sedan.

6. An automobile being backed out of a driveway on Jefferson St. by Donald G. Britton Jr., 23, of 1025 Lincoln Ave., struck an old wooden utility pole at 9:30 last night.

Apparently no damage resulted to the car, a 1960 sedan, with the pole breaking.

Swainson Coming To U.P. For Democratic Huddle

By JEAN WORTH
Journal Special Correspondence
ESCANABA — Former Gov. John B. Swainson comes to Escanaba by air late today for a party strategy dinner meeting of Democratic leaders of the Upper Peninsula.

Robert Olsen, Escanaba, 11th District Democratic chairman in charge of arrangement for the pow-wow, said that most of the counties would be represented by party leaders and that about 40 reservations had been received, from Houghton County to Chippewa.

Of Unusual Interest
The conference is of unusual party and public interest because of the debacle of Gov. Romney's tax plan in the Legislature and because of the uncertainty about the Democratic nominee for Governor in 1964.

Swainson, who succeeded G. Mennen Williams as Governor in 1961, was defeated for a second term by Republican George Romney and remains the titular head of the party in Michigan, but shares the role in practical politics with Congressman-at-Large Neil Staebler. Both men have been prominently mentioned for the Governor race in 1964. They head the list of prospects. Swainson, an attorney, has not announced his candidacy, but significantly has not announced that he would not run, and Staebler has been going through the familiar motions of preparation for gubernatorial candidacy. He has been active in party efforts to get agreement on a candidate to avoid the intra-party warfare over the nomination of the 1960 campaign and announced on Sept. 28 that Michigan's Democratic brass would probably settle on a candidate for Governor within 60 days. The time is nearly up.

Topics Of Discussion
Democratic county leaders of the U. P. are wondering whether Swainson will pass the word on his intentions about the Governor race or restrict the conference to discussion of 1964 strategy.

The strategy, apart from the governorship campaign, will bear heavily on action in the Legislature on taxes, support for labor, aid to dependent children of the unemployed, restructuring of the state government under the new Michigan Constitution, which becomes effective Jan. 1 and other matters.

While the reform of Michigan's state government, with creation of a new state appellate court and an effort to combine the many state boards, commissions and agencies into about 20 major departments of government, is the major long term project, reform of the state's tax structure is a crucial immediate step of top political priority. The recent special session of the Legislature was devoted to it and failed to agree on proposal by Gov. Romney for tax reform hinged chiefly on state personal and corporate income taxes and an easing of real estate and business taxes.

Democratic Govs. Williams and Swainson both proposed adoption of a state income tax but failed to gain acceptance from the Legislature, in which Republicans predominate. Gov. Romney's plan has now suffered a similar fate. The reaction to an income tax is bipartisan, as its sponsorship has now become. Heavily Democratic low income voters in Detroit and better fixed Republican conservatives outstate are both foes of an income levy.

Strategy Failed
Swainson helped Romney publicly with endorsement of the income tax plan and worked to line up Democratic votes in the Legislature for it. Its enactment would have vindicated the earlier Democratic sponsorship of the tax and left the political onus for its enactment with the Republicans. But all strategy except that of defeat failed.

Swainson appears to wear no man's collar in Democratic politics, but was strongly supported by labor in his campaign for Governor. He rejected the play-it-safe counsel of some party leaders and espoused the unpopular income tax as a need of Michigan tax equity and solvency. He retains a considerable strength of leadership in the party.

Staebler, long-time state Democratic chairman and manager of the Williams campaigns and party organizations, is the stronger man of the two with the older elements of the party that held power so long under Williams.

Money Bills In Limelight In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Appropriations bills move to center stage in Congress this week, with more than $19 billion of the taxpayers' cash involved.

While the Senate and House consider measures to pay for military construction, public works and a variety of government agencies, some interesting side attractions are scheduled in committees.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee resumes its probe of the controversial TFX warplane contract and the Senate Finance Committee takes up a House-passed bill to raise the temporary debt ceiling to $315 billion.

Separate House hearings look into the recent trip to Cuba by U.S. students, medical care for the elderly and the government's vast research programs.

Military Construction
The House starts its week by considering today a bill calling for $1,562,964,000 in appropriations for military construction ness, 120-pound, three-point buck.

Two Marquette area men hunting from the same camp filled their deer licenses this year. Don Thomas, 1303 Kimber St., bagged a nine-point, 170-pound buck in the West Branch area, and Pete Bernier, 530 W. Hewitt Ave., dropped a nine-point, 160-pound buck, hunting in the same area.

Gordon Ellis, 302 W. Clark St., Negaunee, got a spikehorn buck Thursday afternoon in the Big Shag Lake area. This is his first kill in 15 years of hunting.

A father-son team reported their kills: Jalmer (dad) and Robert Stenfors, 428 Maitland St., Negaunee, filled their permits the first weekend. Jalmer got a 100-pound spikehorn Saturday afternoon in the Felch area, about 1:30 p. m. This is his first buck in two years of hunting. Robert bagged an eight-point, 170-pound buck the following day also in the Felch area about 1 p. m. This is his first year of hunting.

Roy Korpi, Central St., Marquette, the first Northern Michigan University student to report a deer kill, downed a 64-pound doe Sunday morning in the Big Bay area. It was Korpi's first year out and his first kill.

Don Coyveau of Royal Oak filled his license for the second straight year as he downed a doe while hunting south of Ishpeming on Thursday.

A freshman at the Negaunee High School, Ronald Erickson, 14, of 938 Pine St., Negaunee, dropped a spikehorn Thursday afternoon at 4:30 hunting south of Ishpeming. This is his first year out and he was hunting with his uncle.

Six Graveraet Senior High School students report the following kills: Bob Belmore, 120-pound doe; James Bergland, 150-pound, six point buck; Walter Heidman, killed a deer but was absent when the poll was taken; Bill Millman, 150-pound, six-point buck; Lloyd Peterson, 185-pound, six-point buck; and Don Rudprograms.

On Tuesday's House docket is $4,276,116,400 measure to foot the bill for federal public works programs.

Neither measure had been acted on by the Senate.

Scheduled for consideration in the Senate this week are House-passed bills to appropriate some $14 billion for more than a score of independent government agencies, the District of Columbia government and Congress itself.

Hope For Adjournment

The sudden spurt of appropriations activity is part of a drive to clear the decks of all money bills in the hope that Congress might be able to adjourn before Christmas.

That hope was brightened when it became apparent that the Senate would not act this year on a House-passed major tax bill and that the House itself might not act on the administration's civil rights measure.

Drive Nets $175 For Dystrophy

Chocolay Township residents contributed $175.16 to the annual Thanksgiving March for Muscular Dystrophy, it was announced today by Mrs. Esther Williams, chairman of Marquette Chapter of Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, Inc.

Mrs. Williams expressed her gratitude for the assistance given by the volunteer workers "whose efforts made this the most successful drive in the area for muscular dystrophy."

Canister collections and donations from Marquette are expected to raise the total considerably, she said.

Of the funds collected locally, 75 per cent will be forwarded to the national MDA office for research into the disease. The balance stays with the local chapter and is used to provide patient services and clinical care.

Ten Persons Pay $169 In Fines, Costs

Ten persons paid fines totaling $169.90, one of whom also was jailed, when they appeared before Justice George J. Fezey in Marquette Township Court.

Eugene L. Williams, 655 Park St., Marquette, was fined $54.90 and given a two-day sentence in the Marquette County Jail for driving while his license was revoked or suspended.

Alternative sentence was to spend 10 days in the county jail. State police arrested him Nov. 7, on U.S. 41, in Negaunee Township.

For failure to report a property damage accident, Alphonse C. Swenor, W. Fair Ave., Marquette, paid a $20 fine. He was ticketed by state police Nov. 3 on the Forestville Road, in Marquette Township.

Warren L. Beaudry, Munising, was fined $15 for driving left of the centerline and not passing. State police issued the summons Oct. 3 on U.S. 41, in Chocolay Township.

For driving with defective brakes, Joseph E. Christian, 318 Bluff St., Marquette, paid a $10 fine. He was ticketed by state

Financial Scene: Jobs Become Controversial Subject

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — The more the economy flexes its muscles the more controversial becomes the subject of jobs.

This is a present day switch from the traditional linking of good times with lots of jobs. Just now it doesn't seem to work that way.

The paradox: Employment climbs to a record, but the clamor over lack of jobs grows. And labor prepares to make this a prime issue in next year's contract negotiations.

Kennedy's Belief
President Kennedy tells the AFL-CIO leaders that the cure for today's ills lies in cutting taxes to create jobs by increasing demand for goods and funds for investment.

The labor organization's president, George Meany, tells the same convention that automation is a curse that "could bring us to a national catastrophe" and implies that tax cut benefits are too delayed and even too unproved to be relied upon.

Management Theory
Management insists that automation will make more jobs in the long run, just as previous phases of mechanization did. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York takes the middle ground that automation is a mixed blessing — bringing both good and bad.

Unions seek shorter weeks to spread the work. Management stresses greater unit production to hold down labor costs — and thereby, union critics say, cutting job opportunity still further.

Civil rights emphasis switches from the desegregation of lunch counters to more jobs for racial minorities. The job issue becomes more critical even than the makeup of school enrollment.

Delinquency, Dropouts
Social scientists stress that juvenile delinquency and school dropouts are linked and that both are part of the over-all job problem. They see as the basic trouble the drop in demand for the unskilled and the emphasis on the highly trained.

And at the other end of the age scale, the cutoff age for getting a new job seems to drop each year. Older citizens grow bitter about it — even as life expectancy lengthens and the number of older, and unemployed, Americans multiplies.

Some Jobs Begging
At the same time there are jobs going begging, mostly those calling for more skill and training than the average citizen has, but also those in lines of work that are unattractive for various reasons.

And the changing job picture has still other sides. Produc-

Handyman Held In Fire Probe

ALGONAC (AP) — A garage handyman was held today in connection with a $250,000 fire which destroyed two downtown buildings and damaged four others Sunday in Algonac.

Police said arson was suspected in the fire which apparently started in a paint closet of an automobile showroom of Raymond Ford Sales. The handyman is former employee of auto dealer Loren Raymond, owner of the showroom. Police refused to name the suspect.

The other building destroyed in the fire, which burned for more than two hours, was Wallace Hardware.

A beauty salon, fabric shop, party store and a second hardware store were damaged by smoke. The blaze knocked out telephone service to much of the community for several hours.

Raymond said five cars also were destroyed.

There were 2,275,700 fires in the U.S. in 1962.

TVA's Okay

We understand that Playwright Tennessee Williams is wrestling with the ending for a multi-million dollar movie, Sen. Barry Goldwater is wrestling over the liquidation of the Tennessee Valley Authority. We wish the former good luck, but not the latter.

TVA is a well established federal power institution in the Southeast. It was established more than 30 years ago to assist a distressed area, which in recent years has become very much alive, primarily because of the TVA source of electrical energy. To propose at this late date that TVA be turned over to private power interests is like suggesting that Hoover and Boulder Dams be turned over to the Indians.

TVA is a great landmark in American history. It is just as important as our national forests and national parks, together with the great water resource developments in the western part of the U. S. We do not care to argue the question of public ownership of electrical energy plants versus private ownership. Recent history has proved that there is room for both. The Rural Electrification Administration program is a case in point. REA moved into areas that private or other utilities considered economically unjustified. Consequently we find both public and private power enterprises working side by side.

TVA is only a small part of the national electrical energy picture, which as Walter Cleser of Detroit Edison Co. has pointed out is the very essence of our growth and prosperity.

If TVA is not being operated efficiently Congress has full power to remedy the situation. If the government has to admit that it is incapable of operating the TVA successfully for the benefit of the public, then the Pentagon cannot be trusted with national defense or the Space Agency with spending billions for a shot at the moon.

If Sen. Goldwater is to be a successful candidate for the GOP nomination for the presidency, it's about time for him to direct his thinking along more constructive lines.

SLAVE BEFORE MASTER

Great achievements are never won the easy way, but only through rigorous self-control. The great pianist Paderewski summed up a life of unremitting effort in this remark: "Before I was master, I was slave."—A. J. Cronin.

The Opera Company of Gelsenkirchen, Germany, will hold its premiere on Nov. 23 featuring Ontonagon's coloratura soprano, Joan Volek, in "The Abduction" from the "Seraglio" by Mozart. In demand throughout Germany, Miss Volek has won a place among the foremost opera and concert artists in Europe.

The building and grounds committee of the Menominee County Board of Supervisors is making plans for a ceremony to formally "bury" the 1963 county centennial time capsule. A marker for the capsule has been delivered and will be erected at the flagpole in the courthouse yard in Menominee.

A sum of $24,000 in damages was granted William McCormick and another $2,000 to his wife, Gwendolyn, at hearings in Ontonagon County Circuit Court. The damages were the result of a suit brought by the McCormicks against the White Pine Copper Co. and William Briski as the result of an auto collision.

Newberry residents were surprised no end when a large buck, probably weighing about 200 pounds and sporting a 10-point rack of horns, came into town for a visit. It first was reported by Mrs. Walter Kracker, coming within 20 or 25 feet of her as she was in her yard hanging up clothes. The deer visited several parts of town before it was chased away by dogs.

From The Journal Files

90 Years Ago

The Mining Journal was not mistaken in predicting that highway robbery and even murder would follow the plan of making the trousers pocket a bank. Among the well authenticated cases are two which transpired between the North Western Hotel and the Marquette and Pacific Rolling Mill. One man was attacked, robbed of $55 and beaten over the head. The other who was approached finally convinced the highwayman that he had none and was allowed to pass with only a few scratches. This shows that the police force in that section, if there be any, is inadequate to its duty, and we urge the immediate appointment of a good police to patrol that part of the city every night.

The November term of circuit court, which began Wednesday the 5th, inst., with his Honor, Judge O'Grady, presiding, is nearly finished with a few sentences yet to be passed. The calendar for the term was an unusually long one, consisting of 18 criminal cases; 19 civil cases, trial by jury; 22 civil cases, trial by court; seven chancery and five imparlance.

The winter has set in earnest and it will be a long, dreary one, particularly to the poor, of whom we have not a few among us. However, we learn with pleasure that a number of our active young men are engaged in an effort to organize an amateur dramatic society, with a view to giving a series of entertainments for the benefit of the poor and needy. The purpose is certainly a commendable one and ought to receive the hearty encouragement of all our charitably inclined people as well as the older married people who should lend a helping hand in productions. We are to have no lecturers from abroad this winter, and it is well, instead of paying some over-fed person a couple of hundred dollars for an hour's talk, we had better, through these frequent local entertainments, thus contribute that amount to charity.

The Big Bay Lumber Co., located at Lake Independence, up the lake shore in this county, is now preparing for the first full winter's operation since its reorganization, a little less than a year ago, and a busy season will be put in, erecting a sawmill and lumbering in preparation for next year's cut. Not the least important of the company's operations will be the erection of its mill, material for which is on the ground and work on which is to begin forthwith. The plant will be single band mill, capable of cutting in the neighborhood of 50,000 feet a day, and will be in the main plant at the company's settlement at Big Bay.

A new heating plant is being installed in the city building, and no steam will pass through the radiators for two days. The library will be closed today and tomorrow, but the officers of the recorder and the board of public works will be open as usual, being

The patrons of the city schools are probably less familiar with the work that the pupils are doing in music and drawing than with any other department. The National Whirligig News Behind The News

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — Before Congress gets through amending the so-called "Truth in Packaging" bill to curb deceptive practices in packaging, somebody should insert a couple of legalistic lines outlawing a gimmick that makes its appearance at about this time every year.

This is the snob-appeal practice indulged in by whisky makers of bottling their popskull in assorted jugs contrived to look like Wedgwood pots and Roman vases. It has reached the point where a man who offers a pal a drink of whisky from an old-fashioned bottle is risking a snub and possible exclusion from the society pages.

This was brought home to me the other night when a friend dropped in and I suggested we sample a droll or two of bourbon. My friend uttered some bit of old-world courtliness which sounded like "Hurry up," so I produced a bottle of bonded Old Belly Wash for which I had paid my left arm.

Two hours later my phone rang. It was my friend. He told me he had revived himself with a couple of belts of his own booze and now felt he owed me an explanation. "You sure do," I told him. "That Belly Wash is the finest whisky you can buy and yet you turned up your nose at it. Have you discovered something better in your forays among members of the Peoples Drug Store Hunt Club?"

"Oh, it wasn't that. It's the way you served it," he said. "Haven't you heard that bottles are out of style?" "Out of style?" I asked him. "What do you mean by that? What are they putting the stuff in nowadays, goatskins?"

I could hear him sigh the sigh of a cultured man suddenly confronted by a Philistine. "My dear fellow," he said, "this is the decanter age. One does not buy whisky in bottles any more, one buys it in decanters. Any kind of decanter would do, I suppose, for someone of your—uh—fundamental grossness, but I prefer the one-fashioned after an ancient Grecian urn."

He paused and seemed to be thinking, sadly. "Lesson Well Learned"

Finally he found his voice again. "Lose here, old man, I really should cut you from now on, but after all you are old friends and you do serve excellent pheasant. Be sensible now and go out and stock up on some of those beautiful decanters. You might try an assortment—a couple of those slender, graceful things and one formed like an ancient Etruscan water jug, and perhaps one of those cocktail shaker business."

I thanked him, trying to keep the sob out of my throat, and hung up. The next night I went shopping and took no chances. Henceforth, I will do my pouring from a cut glass job my hooch dealer assures me is patterned after a wine jar used by the aristocratic Egyptians in the days of Rameses II. I hope it contains whisky.

Empty Heads Vs. Eggheads

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

Move about the country and you will find great interest in improving and expanding education. Governors in many states have this effort high among their programs.

Southern governors especially are eager to broaden their states' educational base as a means of adding much more to the impressive economic gains they have made in recent years.

Some Northern states, hurt by the shift from the older basic industries to the newer, science-oriented fields, are trying just as hard to prepare for schooling a better-trained labor force.

Rickover's View

Amid all this stir, general attempts to toughen up the American schooling process go forward.

In the view of Vice Admiral Hyman G. Rickover, regular critic of the U.S. school system, what has been done up to now barely roughs up the surface.

He believes that the stress too often, and in too many places, is still on teaching young Americans "how to adjust to life," rather than how to conquer the fields of knowledge.

As proof that we still are not doing the job we should, Rickover says we have on our hands a "mass of your people so deficient in mental and manual skills that no advanced society could provide them all with jobs, except on a charity basis."

By contrast, he notes, Europe has so many well-trained people filling skilled jobs that there is actually a shortage of unskilled labor and it has to be imported. "Incredible Stretchout"

Rickover feels at least part of the blame must fall on what he calls the "incredible stretchout" in American education.

European young folk, he says get at least a third more schooling than in a year than ours do.

"Our children sit in class more years," he adds, "because they learn less each year."

To some extent these are matters in dispute, and Rickover has his severe challengers. But few question that, overall, America's is a relatively "soft" educational system.

Worse, perhaps, is the fact that both students and parents have for the most part a "soft" attitude toward schooling. There is not enough deep concern for knowing, for real mastery of knowledge.

It may be somewhat symptomatic that acid ridicule of a great American university can bring thunderous cheers at a political rally. Smirking at those who quest after knowledge has always been, in some measure or other, a lively American sport.

The question is whether we can afford the game any more. In the world of 1963, no prizes are going to those whose only specialties are keeping themselves ignorant and scorning those who are not. A nation thus populated will be neither secure nor well off.—(NEA)

Powell And Civil Rights

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— An attempt by Rep. Clayton Powell to become the big man in what he calls an American "black revolution" is seen here in his recent call for a "summit meeting" of all Negro organization leaders to work for civil rights.

In this connection it is recalled that last March Powell told a Black Muslim meeting at Madison Square Garden in New York: "Boycott all civil rights organizations not totally controlled by us."

Praised Muslim Leader

At this meeting he praised Malcolm X, Muslim leader. In recent weeks Powell has been predicting that no civil rights legislation would be passed by Congress this year.

Some civil rights leaders see such a development as Powell's opportunity to lay the groundwork for a new effort to be led by him next year. They fear that this might be a divisive influence, hurting the civil rights cause.

Other civil rights champions, admitting Powell's statement that 90 per cent of the American Negroes are uncommitted and inactive in the civil rights drive, endorse his summit meeting. They hope it will develop more financial support and personal effort in the future.

Invitations sent to 50 Negro organizations by Powell said his meeting would be off the record and closed. But the day before it convened he called a press conference in the House Education and Labor Committee room to announce its program and 45 acceptances.

He Gets Away With It

The meeting, held in this same Room 429 of the old House Office Building, raised some questions on the propriety of organizing a lobby in congressional quarters. But since Powell is committee chairman, he gets away with it.

During the current civil rights fight Chairman Powell forced a broad fair employment practices bill through his committee. Its main provisions were incorporated in the revised bill just reported out by the House Judiciary Committee.

Aside from this, however, Powell has not been too active in this year's fight. And he was not too active in the 1957 and 1960 civil rights legislation battles.

Powell took part in the march on Washington for jobs and freedom last August. But he sat with the other congressmen and was not invited to speak by leaders of "the Big Six."

The Big Six And The Big Ten

The "Big Six" are the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Committee on Racial Equality, Southern Christian Leadership, Student Non-Violent Co-ordinating Committee, Urban League and Negro American Labor Council. They organized the march, later becoming "the Big Ten" by inclusion of integrated church groups.

Powell insisted at his press conference that the new Negro summit was not being organized in opposition to the Big Six, which are already committed to civil rights.

His aim is to get the uncommitted organizations working to complement the efforts of the Big Six. He said getting the Big Six to work with his organization might be his second step.

Curiously enough, 10 of the organizations sending delegates to the Powell summit conference already are working with the Big Six and about 50 other white and integrated groups in the leadership conference on civil rights. This is the big lobby which has done the most effective work in pushing for more comprehensive legislation this year.

The 50 organizations invited to send delegates to the Powell summit meeting are said to have a total membership of 12 million. Even with many Negroes belonging to two or more groups, unduplicated membership is put at seven million.

Organizations listed by Powell for his summit include 16 business and professional groups, 15 fraternities and sororities, seven church groups, seven lodges and unions.

Congress' Gentle Attitude

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is a certain gentle and gentlemanly attitude in and about Congress which may do much to explain why it has done so little in 1963.

And President Kennedy has been one of the gentlest.

For several days after Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., attacked this year's do-nothing performance of Democrats and Republicans, and particularly blamed Senate leaders, senators have been getting up to defend themselves.

Aikens Comments

Sen. George D. Aiken, gave a novel explanation for the congressional lassitude while frankly admitting it existed. The Vermont Republican said:

"The record of this Congress up to now appears to be unenviable...Our accomplishments have hardly been discernible to the public. We have, however, done little damage, unless to ourselves...."

"The general public seems quite content to have us stay here the year around, so long as we do not upset the economic apparatus with a lot of new laws."

Kuchel Approves

Instantly he got warm approval from Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif. He told Aiken: "Well and truly said, Uncle George."

Meanwhile, Dodd had become overwhelmed with a sense of guilt for daring to criticize this family-like establishment, that he confessed to his colleagues: "I feel like a skunk at a lawn party."

Kennedy, who got along fine with everyone when he was in the Senate, was asked at his news conference Thursday if he felt disturbed that Congress was unlikely to act on his tax and civil rights programs this year.

Kennedy's Response

He had urged their passage and until recently the administration had seemed optimistic they would be acted on before January. Not now. Kennedy didn't challenge the questioner's assumption of no action in 1963.

Instead, he responded: "I think that the longer the delay, I think, yes, I think it is unfortunate. The fact of the matter is that both these bills should be passed. The tax bill has been before Congress nearly a year."

The longer it is delayed, he indicated, the more the economy

UN Women Delegates Boost World Diplomacy

By JOY MILLER AP Women's Editor

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — Two attractive, energetic U. S. grandmothers, a paramount chieftain from Sierra Leone, a Swedish minister of state — these are among the women delegates at the United Nations General Assembly who are helping to boost their sex's standing in world diplomacy.

"I think it is of considerable importance that women continue to be included in the work of the United Nations," says the U. S. women representative, Congresswoman Edna F. Kelly. "After all, we have a point of view to contribute."

Nations Agree Many nations of the world apparently agree with Mrs. Kelly. At the current General Assembly session, more women are serving as representatives and alternates than ever before — almost 60, from some 40 countries. At the first session in 1946 women delegates numbered eight.

Besides Mrs. Kelly in the U. S. delegation, there is Mrs. Jane Warner Dick, active in social welfare work in Illinois, who alternate status. Mrs. Marietta P. Tree and Mrs. Gladys Avery Tillet, well-known in U. N. affairs for several years, serve as advisers.

Mrs. Kelly, a tall, handsome New Yorker with dark, flashing eyes, has been a member of Congress since 1949. She says she believes that her ranking position on the Committee on Foreign Affairs and her years of work as the chairman of the subcommittee on Europe had something to do with her selection.

"Whatever the specific reason, I'm glad to be here," she says. She found the other women delegates to be well informed and hard-working, she adds.

While I personally feel that a woman's first obligation is to her family if she has a family that needs her, I think that many of the women who are here today have also made a mark on the history of our times and have worked hard for the goal which we all seek: the goal of lasting peace with justice and freedom in the world."

Among the women with top diplomatic posts are Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit of India, a former Assembly president and now governor of the state of Maharashtra, and Mrs. Ulla Lindstrom, Swedish minister of state, one of four women delegates from her country.

Mrs. Golda Meir, Israel's foreign minister, attended the first weeks of the session as chairman of her delegation, ex officio.

Short-Wave Radio Brings Friends To Bergquist's Bedside

By MARY WHITE
Of The Journal Staff

LITTLE LAKE — Fred Bergquist, who used to trap and hunt across the Upper Peninsula, has been bedridden for 15 years, so he brings his North Country friends to his bedside by short-wave radio.

Before an arthritic leg stopped him in 1938, Bergquist covered the Peninsula's forests on foot and rode its rivers in a 10-foot cedar boat, "going for" the coyote and the fox, the mink and the muskrat.

Today Bergquist covers the Peninsula with the call letters K8-MHS from his home in Little Lake, where he's lived most of his life with his sister, Violet, and brother, Oscar, an electrician.

"Maps" he scoffs, "I've got lots of maps, but I don't need to use 'em to find out where my ham radio friends live. I know this country by heart."

Bergquist is well-known among short-wave operators for being one of the most friendly hams on the Peninsula air waves. They call him the "sheriff" of his frequency, because he knows what's going on and is always ready to pass the news along.

Surrounded by his shortwave equipment, Bergquist lies in bed a few miles from his family's homestead, where K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base now stands.

146 Visitors This Summer

He spends the days "chewing the rag" and writing his friends, who often drive to the home on Farmers Lake to greet their sheriff. With radio operator's habit of keeping a log, he notes that he had 146 visitors this summer.

Plastered on the walls of his bedroom are sheets of "lucky coins" given him by visitors and citations from area radio clubs. Stacked in piles around his bed are letters, logs of daily weather conditions and souvenirs and pictures sent him by friends.

He got his start in short wave radio in 1932, when a fishing chum from down below gave him a receiver.

"At first the call letters were like Dutch to me, but I got to listening to the receiver and I found out that a lot of ham operators were people I knew," he says.

"Everytime I listened to somebody I'd send them a QSC card, a postcard to tell them they were coming in fine in Little Lake. So I was pretty well acquainted with ham operators before I ever got on the air."

In 1938 ham radio operators set him up with a transmitter so that he could talk as well as listen. "The Hiawatha Radio Club in the Marquette area started getting the equipment together and they got help from downstate, from the Soo and from the Copper Country."

Movable Equipment

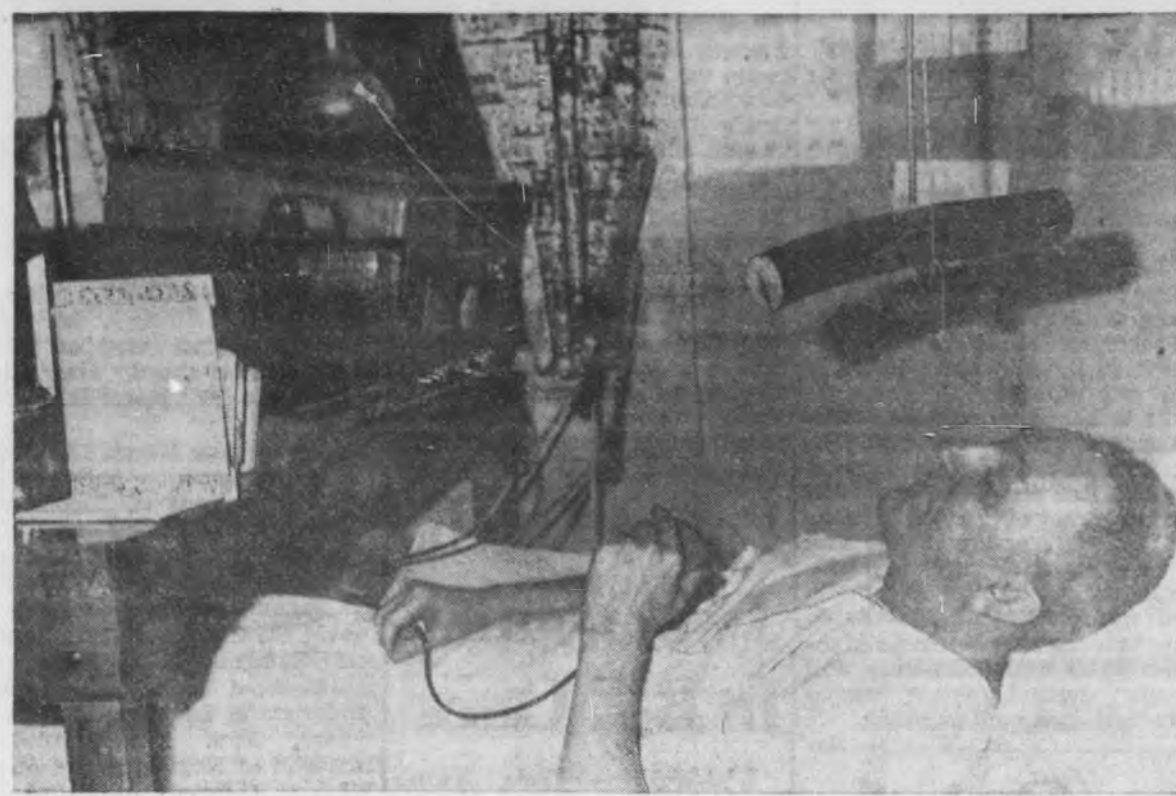

"They even got some lumber so that the outfit can be pulled on rollers across my bed and whenever I have trouble with my rig, someone comes right over and helps me out."

"One thing about ham operators, they'll bend over backwards to help somebody. And when they're on the air, emergency traffic comes first."

Although he has no telephone and is unable to get out of bed, Bergquist helps out by relaying emergency messages to other operators.

"You'd be surprised at the number of ham operators in the U. P. and how it comes in handy," he said. "Often when someone's back in the woods, 30 miles from a phone and out of gas or stuck in a snowdrift, we can get help to him."

When he's not on the air, Bergquist is writing letters, although he says the correspondence has suffered since he got his transmitter. "I used to have 48 correspondents, but I had to drop some of them," he noted. "I've more than made up for that number in radio friends."

He also had to quit a postcard club in which the members exchange scenic view cards. "People were always giving me cards to send, but I finally ran out of views of this area," he says.

He operates on a 75-meter band, but his receiver brings voices from Japan and Moscow into his home. His brother and sister urge him to get on another band so they can talk to their uncle in Sweden, but Bergquist says, "I have to be careful not to create a rumpus on the air waves. My eyes aren't so good and you know there are four stations on an eighth of an inch."

Bergquist goes on the air at 7:30 every morning and spends several hours talking to old friends and meeting new ones.

He has regular radio visits with "Doc," a professor in Houghton; Ray, "before he goes to the shop"; a pair of identical twins in Ironwood and Crystal Falls; Ed, "who relays the news from the Antarctic," and "a fellow in Munising who brings over fresh fish."

Bergquist lies back in bed and smiles, "We're just a great big happy family."

Euclid St. Entrance In Use Tuesday

ISHPEMING — The Euclid St. entrance from U. S. 41 will be opened to traffic tomorrow after being closed since June.

City Manager Thomas McNabb announced that the road is not in the best of shape at this time because of extensive work done in that area on the sewer and railroad projects, so motorists are asked to drive with caution.

The section of road near the railroad abutment had been torn up and is now filled with gravel, McNabb said. He also said the road will be patched with blacktop material in the spring.

School Board OK's Closing Plan In Event Of Storms

NEGAUNEE — Approval has been given by the Negaunee Board of Education to a standard procedure for closing schools in the event of severe winter storms, Supt. Robert E. Northey announced today.

Decision on whether to close schools for morning sessions will be based on information regarding weather conditions obtained from the following sources: Marquette weather bureau; Stephen Trehella, principal of the Kirkpatrick School at Palmer for Richmond Township; Victor Tullia for Negaunee Township; Arthur Anderson, superintendent of public works, City of Negaunee; Marquette County Road Commission and Michigan state police.

Information also will be obtained from the road commission, state police and Anderson concerning condition of highways in the city and outside of the city limits.

It is hoped to compile information not later than 6:30 a.m. and when the decision to close schools has been made, it will be broadcast over radio stations in the area starting at 6:45 a.m.

In event a storm causes cancellation of a session, Trehella will notify Richmond Township bus drivers, and Business Manager T. George Williamson will notify drivers whose routes cover Negaunee Township.

Police Catch Two Youths In B-E Cases

L'ANSE — Two Wayne youths, Dale L. Miller, 17, and a 16-year-old companion, are being held in jail in the Gaylord area on several charges of breaking and entering and car theft.

The two were arrested in connection with breaking and entering complaints in the L'Anse and Covington areas earlier this month and with the theft of a 1963 sedan from Stanley Rajala, Covington.

According to state police here, the two have admitted robbing the Coast - to - Coast store in L'Anse, owned by Curtis C. Menard, and entering the Seppala IGA Store, the Covington Oil Co. and the Watton Co-op in Covington. The Rajala car was recovered in Gaylord and will be returned to the owner.

The two were arrested by state police officers from the Gaylord post and the Montmorency County sheriff in connection with several breaking and entering cases and the theft of two other autos in that area. They are being held in the Montmorency County jail in Atlanta, pending a decision on whether they should be arraigned downstate or returned to Baraga County to face charges here.

Officers said the two apparently had been living in an abandoned shack in the Covington area for some time. The windows of the shack had been carefully covered with heavy blankets and felt to hide the fact that anyone was living in the building.

Officers said most of the stolen articles were recovered. From the Menard store alone more than $200 in merchandise was stolen, including two saddle guns, two pairs of expensive hunting boots, two hunting jackets, two hatchets, wool socks and a valuable knife. In addition, the thieves took cash, candy, cigars and flashlights from the Covington business places.

Yule Carnival At Negaunee To Get Under Way Nov. 26

First Visit By St. Nick That Night

NEGAUNEE — Marquette County's oldest community Christmas shopping promotion, the Negaunee Christmas Carnival, will get under way for the 17th year Tuesday night, Nov. 26, according to plans completed at a meeting of the Negaunee Business and Professional Association Retail Merchants Committee.

Following the pattern that has been in effect for several years, special prizes will be given away by the committee and lucky shoppers also will have opportunity to win merchandise awards donated by individual business concerns.

With opening of the Carnival, shopping hours will be extended for the benefit of Christmas gift seekers to 9 p.m. each Tuesday and Friday night. The 9 p.m. closing hour will prevail every night during the week starting Tuesday, Dec. 17.

Santa will distribute treats to the kiddies Tuesday night, Nov. 26, and again Friday night, Dec. 13, with both parties at the Community Building being hosted by the Retail Committee. St. Nick will return for a final appearance Friday night, Dec. 20, when the City of Negaunee will sponsor the event.

Arrangements have been made by Youth Center Director Marshall Phillips to hold the annual municipal party for youngsters of pre-school age and kindergarten children on Friday afternoon, Dec. 20, at which time Santa will distribute candy and mothers will be served refreshments. Phillips and members of the Youth Council will have the building trimmed.

The Retail Committee will sponsor a free matinee for youngsters at the Vista Theater on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 14, to provide opportunity for parents to shop for gifts for their children.

Federal Funds For Sawyer School Addition Approved

GWINN — Appropriation of $161,500 in federal funds for classroom additions to the K. I. Sawyer Elementary School has been confirmed by the U. S. Office of Education, according to Supt. William G. Garrett. The amount will be used to construct eight rooms of an 11-room addition requested by school officials. Not approved in the original request for $224,000 were a proposed art room, music room and a special activities room.

Garrett expects construction to get under way on the eight rooms sometime in January with construction to be completed by Sept. 1, 1964, although the revised plans for the addition must still have Washington approval.

Two additional requests were not approved. Garrett explained: "In an effort to keep building construction ahead of the arrival of students, I submitted three applications and all supporting documents to the U. S. Office of Education for the following additions to our elementary schools — K. I. Sawyer, an 11-room addition; McDonald, a seven-room addition; Gilbert, three rooms."

indicated that an additional 300 youngsters of elementary school age would be brought into the area following the completion of 300 housing units and 50 trailer pads now under construction at the Air Force base. He explained that enrollment in grades kindergarten through six could climb to 2,400 and that facilities can accommodate only 1,860.

"Unfortunately," Garrett pointed out, "the addition will be completely insufficient to provide educational facilities for the number of students which we will be receiving. However, we will not receive any additional funds until we can prove that we will have the number of students that we estimate will be living on base. The only way I can see that we can prove it is when we actually have the youngsters sitting at the desks in the classrooms."

To Start In January

Minimum Facilities — The request for an art room, a music room and a special activities room was, according to the superintendent, "to add educational balance to our overall educational program and to permit us to develop a comprehensive elementary program."

The federal government will provide, however, only what is termed "minimum adequate facilities." When the U. S. Office of Education learned that most Michigan schools do not provide special elementary classrooms, the rooms were not approved.

Expect Enrollment Gain

Garrett based his requests on projected enrollments which

Rademacher Elected Most Valuable Man By Wildcat Players

End Bill Rademacher, whose record-breaking pass receptions paced Northern Michigan University to a 4-1 record this year, has been voted most valuable player by his teammates.

A four-year veteran from Menominee, the 6-1, 184-pound senior caught 29 passes for 572 yards and five touchdowns to set a new NMU individual pass receiving record for a single season. This topped the previous mark of 22 catches for 318 yards set by assistant coach Mike Mileski in 1961.

Averaging 19.7 yards per reception, Rademacher snared 14 passes for 305 yards and three markers during Northern's last two games.

Rademacher, whose five touchdowns came on aerials of 8, 10, 15, 33 and 76 yards, has been called by his coach, F. L. (Frosty) Ferrazza, "one of the finest two-way ends in collegiate football."

Also nominated by NMU players for the MVP award were fullback Don Bangert of Green Bay, Wis., and end Len St. Jean of Newberry.

Guard Pat Stump of Lansing and halfback Bob Erickson of Wakefield were elected co-captains of the 1964 Northern Michigan University football team, according to head coach Ferrazza.

The selections were made by NMU players.

Stump, a 5-11, 200-pound junior, alternated at offensive tackle and guard and defensive linebacker during Northern's nine-game slate. He was awarded varsity letters during the last two seasons.

Erickson, a 6-0, 187-pound sophomore who won a letter as a freshman, picked up 349 yards on the ground in 84 plays for a 4.1 yard average per carry. He also scored five touchdowns and led Northern in punt returns with 10 returns for 144 yards.

Everything Rosy For MSU Squad

EAST LANSING (AP) — Everything is looking rosy this fall for Michigan State coach Duffy Daugherty.

Daugherty has a five-year guarantee he will stay on as Spartan football boss.

The smiling Irishman edged past the Irish of Notre Dame 12-7 because little Sherman Lewis is galloping to the rescue like the cavalry in a western movie.

MSU Has Edge

Now Michigan State has the psychological edge in a game with Illinois this Saturday to decide the Big Ten championship and Rose Bowl candidate.

It will be winner take all, except State can grab the title and roses simply by tying the Illinois.

The Spartans have won four, lost none and tied one in the conference. Illinois is 4-1-1 in the Big Ten after downing Wisconsin 17-0.

Ohio State is out of the running after its 17-8 defeat by Northwestern.

Injuries Weakened Lions' Secondary, Led To 28-21 Loss

DETROIT (AP)—Injuries continued to weaken the Detroit Lions' secondary Sunday, and Los Angeles sophomore quarterback Roman Gabriel played to this weakness to lead the Rams to a 28-21 upset victory.

Disintegrated

The Lions, who lost Gary Lowe earlier in the year and Yale Lary just three weeks ago, were disintegrated further when Dick (Night Train) Lane and Dick Compton were sidelined with knee injuries. Both are expected to be ready next week, however.

Gabriel completed 17 of 31 passes for 269 yards and three touchdowns. All of the scoring aerials were to end Carroll Dale, who caught seven passes for 207 yards.

Pressed

Dale's scoring receptions came on passes of 65, 42 and 51 yards with the 6-foot-1 end in the clear most of the time as the Lions tried desperately to recover.

Pressed for a player to use in defensive secondary, Detroit coach George Wilson called on Gail Cogdill and Terry Barr late in the game. Cogdill had not played defensively since his college days, while Barr was playing for the first time in four years.

Los Angeles halfback Dick Bass opened the scoring with a nine-yard sprint in the first quarter. The touchdown came after an exchange of punts following Cliff Livingston's interception of an Earl Morrall pass.

Barr had another fine day with 100 yards gained on five catches. Each team punted three times in the second quarter before the Lions moved 67 yards in three plays late in the period with Morrall pitching to Barr for the final 18 yards and the touchdown.

Came Right Back

The Rams came right back less than three minutes later when Gabriel hit Dale on the 65-yard play. Detroit's Tom Hall rushed the elusive Rams quarterback, but Gabriel sidestepped him and lofted the ball to Dale. Dick LaBeau sat on the field and watched helplessly after slipping on the moist turf.

Morrall pitched to Jim Gibbons in the third quarter and the Lions' end scored to complete a 32-yard pass play and tie the score.

Morrall passed to Barr from the Los Angeles 20-yard line early in the final quarter to move the Lions in front for the first time.

Recovery By Rams

Detroit attempted an inside kick on the next kickoff, but the Rams recovered on their own 40. Four plays later, Dale eluded LaBeau and caught his second touchdown after taking Gabriel's pass on the Detroit 5.

Linebacker Dennis Gaubatz was Dale's final victim four minutes later when he raced behind the Lions' rookie and grabbed Gabriel's pass on the 20 and went in untouched.

The Lions had the ball for two more series, but each ended with the Rams intercepting a Morrall pass.

Barr Had Fine Day

Morrall gained 288 yards on 21 pass completions in 41 attempts. Four were intercepted. Barr had another fine day with 100 yards gained on five catches. Each team punted three times in the second quarter before the Lions moved 67 yards in three plays late in the period with Morrall pitching to Barr for

Wings Lose Another One, By 5-2 Score

NEW YORK (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings — still without a road victory — dropped a free-wheeling 5-2 decision to the New York Rangers Sunday night in a National Hockey League game at New York.

The victory snapped a seven-game New York losing string and extended the Red Wings road woes to seven games.

Ahead Once

Detroit's Parker MacDonald put the Wings ahead 1-0 at 1:38 of the first period, but his goal was matched 19 seconds later by the Rangers' Andy Bathgate.

New York pulled ahead 4-1 before Ron Ingram got the second Detroit goal with a 70-foot screened slap shot.

Other New York goals were scored by Phil Goyette, D. O. McKenney, Dick Meisner and Earl Ingarfield.

Wrenched Shoulder

Ranger goalie Jacques Plante wrenched his left shoulder attempting to save the Rangers from a 5-2 loss.

Meanwhile, Bobby Hull's hat trick paced the league-leading Chicago Black Hawks to a 6-0 victory over second place Toronto at Chicago.

The victory boosted the Hawks lead over the Maple Leafs a 8-1 Montreal Canadiens and 8-1 points.

At Boston, Montreal forward Bob Rousseau deflected defenseman Jacques Laperriere's 50-foot screen shot into the net with 22 seconds remaining to give the Canadiens a 3-2 victory over Boston.

The Red Wings settled for a 1-1 tie at Boston Saturday.

In other Saturday games, Toronto beat New York, 5-4, and Chicago whipped Montreal, 5-2.

Lake Linden Could Be One Of Top Surprises In 1963-64 Cage Play

By JAMES E. TRETHERY

A team overlooked in pre-season analysis of Upper Peninsula prep basketball prospects — Lake Linden — could figure largely in the Copper Country Conference title picture.

The Whiz Kids of Coach Dave Ghiardi could, in fact, be one of the top surprise outfits of the entire region if they continue to show the form that led to a one-point victory over defending CCC champion Ontonagon in the season opener Friday night. It was the Lakers' first victory over the Polar Bears since 1959.

Bourdeau Basket

Only seconds were left when lanky Gary Bourdeau, one of three 1962-63 regulars around whom Ghiardi has built this year's team, fired a high arching shot that made it 49-48 in favor of Lake Linden.

Ghiardi, who played three years of varsity basketball at Negaunee High School and three more at Northern Michigan University, apparently learned the cage sport well under Coaches Jack Taylor of the Miners and Stan Albeck of the Wildcats. In his first year of coaching last winter, he snapped the Lakers out of the doldrums that had seen them win only one game in two years. Lake Linden, in fact, has had only three winning seasons in the last 13, notching a total of 10 victories in 1953-54 and a like number the following year, posting an 11-6 record in 1958-59. They've won only one district tournament start in the last eight years.

Besides Bourdeau, Ghiardi has built this year's quintet with newcomers Dennis Baril and Gerald Dion up front and veterans Ron Gaulin and Dale Kus at guard. All took part in the scoring against Ontonagon.

More Surprising

The victory over the Polar Bears was the more surprising when it's figured that Ontonagon still had stylish Larry Makima and John Olson back from the team which compiled a 17-1 regular-season record in 1962-63 and then went to the finals of the Upper Peninsula Class C tournament.

Lake Linden, eyeing a higher spot in Copper Country play this winter (it finished fifth last year) goes to L'Anse-au-Loup Friday night, then tackles Mass in a non-conference engagement at home Saturday. The two contests are part of a 42-game slate that finds nearly all U.P. teams in action.

After playing a 21-21 tie with Iowa last Saturday, the Wolverines find themselves in a tie for fourth place with Wisconsin and Purdue.

Fullback Mel Anthony scored all three touchdowns against the Hawkeyes, though Iowa players are still not convinced that he went over for Michigan's second touchdown.

The Hawkeyes swarmed around the officials on the touchdown call, and were still bitter after the game. Iowa coach Jerry Burns first issued a "no comment" when asked about the score, then said later that he "really couldn't tell."

Anthony's scores came on a 13-yard dash up the middle and two one-yard plunges. Quarterback Bob Timberlake booted one extra point, and passed to John Henderson for what proved to be two very important points after the last touchdown. A similar pass play was broken up after Anthony's second score.

Timberlake missed a field goal from the 29 yard line with about nine minutes remaining, and Gary Roberts, who booted all three Iowa points, was short from the 35 with less than two minutes to go.

Negaunee City League Action Fierce, Tough

NEGAUNEE — In Thursday night's Negaunee City Basketball League action, victories were taken by Hotel Bar, Boosta's Sport Shop and Cain's News by small margins.

Hotel Bar edged Russo Brothers by a 55-49 margin in the first game of a triple header. Russo's, lacking height, put up a determined battle but could not control the backboards, as the Barmen were able to take advantage of a second shot.

Ed Gagnon had 19 points for Hotel Bar and Tim Richards had 13 for Russo's. Hotel Bar holds second place in the league, actually winning all four of its games so far, but a rule violation leaves them with an official three win, four loss record.

Overtime Used

Overtime games are becoming a common occurrence this season, and Boosta's needed two to inch their 47-46 win over Bosch Beer. Fine defensive play dropped the shooting percentages somewhat, but brought about more team play and balanced scoring. Dick Trewella scored 13 points for the winners and Paul Jandron netted 11 for Bosch.

Regulation time ended with the score tied 42-42 and brought about an unusual overtime period with Boosta's controlling the ball for three minutes but unable to get off the one shot they attempted until after the buzzer sounded. Unable to gain possession of the ball in the first overtime period, Bosch picked it up on the tip-off as the second overtime began and quickly scored on a drive by Jandron. Terry Parlato tied it on a shot from out and Boosta's then went ahead as Bosch fouled trying to get the ball. The 3ne ball control plus Parlato's three free throws was enough to bring victory.

Fourth Straight

In the finale, Cain's News won their fourth straight game by coming from behind to tie the score in regulation time and then going on to outscore Herb's Bar in overtime for a 51-50 final victory. Mixing a little football in a rough first half, Cain's found themselves trailing by nine points. Deciding to try basketball proved a wise move as Leroy Salmio scored consistently from the side, tying the score late in the fourth quarter.

Herb's Bar stalled out the clock, trying for the last shot, but failed to score. In overtime, Danny Burkhardt, who led Herb's offense with 20 points, scored on three jump shots from the corner. With D. Roberts and Salmio scoring from the center, the Airmen still led by two, but fouls hurt them as Ranta sank one and then Salmio was fouled on a layup. He calmly dropped in two points. Jim McNeil missed two tries after being fouled and the game ended.

Good Season

The well-balanced city league has the makings of a real competitive season. All teams are rounding into shape fast and the fierce desire shown so far points to many fine games ahead.

In this week's action, Cain's News meets Russo Brothers, Hotel Bar confronts Herb's and Boosta's battles with the Palmer Mets tomorrow night in that order, while Thursday's slate has Bosch Beer playing Herb's, Palmer meeting Russo Bros., and Hotel Bar against Boosta's.

GWINN — Oscar Nordeen, manager of the Forsyth Township Community Club, announced today that plans are under way for the forming of an Indoor Horseshoe League at the Community Building.

All interesting senior high school students and adults are eligible, and may sign up at the Community Building now.

Michigan State beat Indiana by identical football scores in 1960 and 1961. Both games were 35-0.

Texas Looks Forward To A&M Battle

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The second Texas team to win nine in a row and the first to reach the last game of the season in position to take the national championship got today off.

Not only that, but the Longhorns will have Tuesday off, too. Weariness from having to win ever five tough foes in succession in order to clinch a third straight appearance in the Cotton Bowl prompted the vacation.

Another Story

If Texas wasn't well stocked with manpower, there might be another story being told today as the Longhorns look toward Thanksgiving Day and the final test of the season against bitter rival Texas A&M. The Longhorns hope to become the first undefeated, untied team in the Southwest Conference in 25 years.

Three top men—end Knox Nunnally, tackle Ken Ferguson and fullback Harold Philipp—were out of action as Texas beat Texas Christian, 17-0, Saturday. But you would never have known they were away as Darrell Royal sent his reserves into battle. Sophomores Phil Harris, Tom Stockton and Tommy Nobis started.

Pistons Play Like Old Shoe, Flop To Loss

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Detroit Pistons, like an old shoe flopping at the foot of the National Basketball League, stubbed its toe 120-95 against the San Francisco Warriors Sunday night.

New Sole

The team had a new sole in rookie Eddie Miles, however, and he kept Detroit at least stepping toward the hoop. Miles flipped in 27 points to lead the Pistons.

San Francisco, using the long legs of Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain who scored 37 points, out-tracked the Pistons from the start.

By the third quarter the Pistons were lagging quite badly at 95-58, but Miles kept clapping toward the basket and scored 13 of Detroit's 19 points in that period.

Wolverines Must Defeat Ohio State

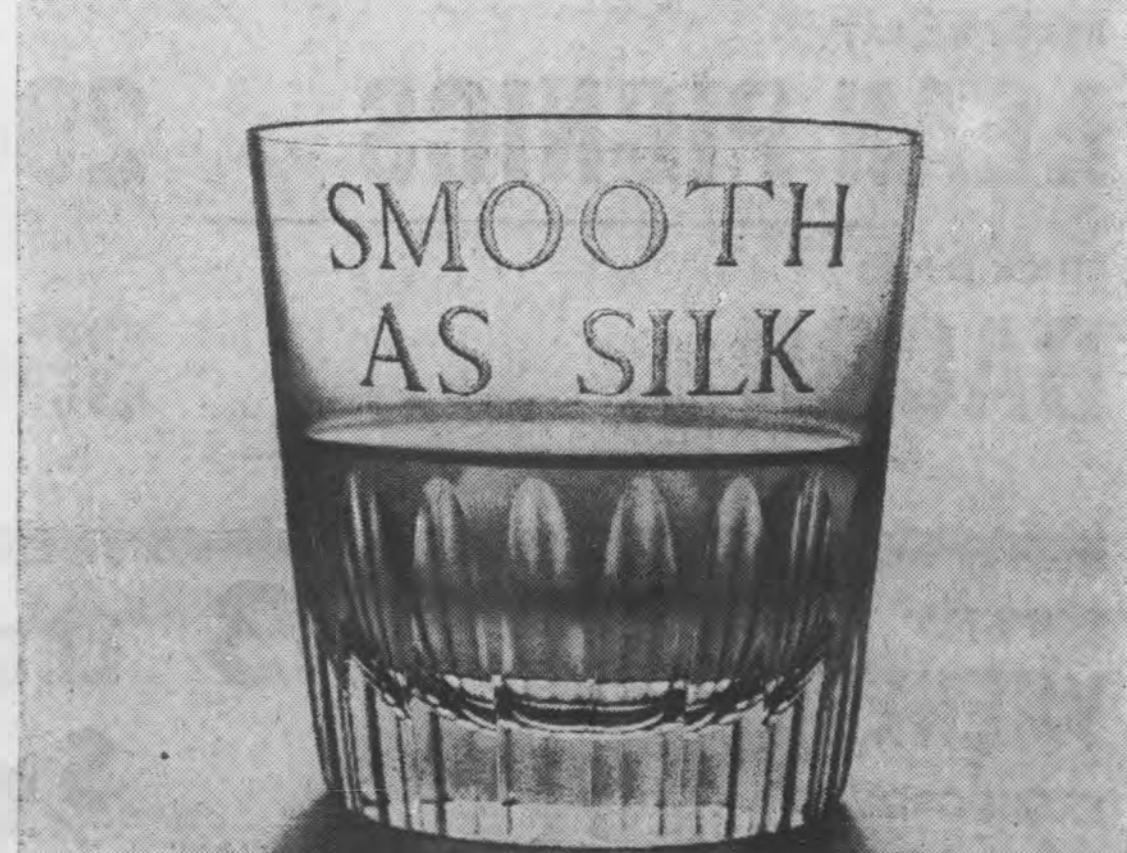

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan will have to defeat Ohio State in its season finale Saturday if it is to finish with a winning record and earn a spot in the Big Ten's first division.

After playing a 21-21 tie with Iowa last Saturday, the Wolverines find themselves in a tie for fourth place with Wisconsin and Purdue.

Fullback Mel Anthony scored all three touchdowns against the Hawkeyes, though Iowa players are still not convinced that he went over for Michigan's second touchdown.

The Hawkeyes swarmed around the officials on the touchdown call, and were still bitter after the game. Iowa coach Jerry Burns first issued a "no comment" when asked about the score, then said later that he "really couldn't tell."

Papa Bear's 'War Plan' Worked Out Well, Team Smothered, Controlled

(By the Associated Press)

The best laid plans of generals and football coaches sometimes... work out right to the letter.

Take the "war plan" of the Chicago Bears against the Green Bay Packers. Papa Bear George Halas drew it up, and his troops executed it flawlessly Sunday to chase the enemy Packers from the field and possibly right out of the National Football League title race.

Wrote It Out

Halas wrote out his order of battle against the defending champs on a sheet of lined notebook paper headed: "Our War Plan" against the Packers.

The text, examined by a correspondent after the battle, proved to have two key points: "Control the ball." "Smother their offense."

The Bears took care of the first with a crushing ground game that outgained the Packers 248 yards to 71. On the second, they intercepted five Packer passes and recovered two fumbles.

Alone On Top

The result was a 26-7 Chicago victory that put the Bears alone on top in the West with a 9-1 record. The Packers are 8-2.

with both losses coming at the hands of the Bears. There are four games left.

In the East, the New York Giants trampled San Francisco's futile 49ers 48-14 to take over first place in the East with an 8-2 record.

The St. Louis Cardinals dumped the slumping Cleveland Browns 20-14, knocking the Browns out of a tie with the Giants. The Cards and Browns are tied for second with 7-3 records.

The Giants meet the Cards at New York next Sunday.

Hobbled

The Pittsburgh Steelers, hobbled with a hard-luck early season tie, kept their title hopes alive with a late touchdown and a 34-28 victory over the Washington Redskins. The Steelers are 6-3-1.

In other NFL games, Baltimore skinned past Minnesota 37-34 on a touchdown in the last five seconds, the Los Angeles Rams upset the Detroit Lions 28-21, and the Dallas Cowboys edged the Philadelphia Eagles 27-20.

In the American Football League, San Diego stopped the Buffalo Bills 23-13, the New York Jets tripped Denver 14-9 and Kansas City and Boston played a 24-24 tie. Houston and Oakland were idle.

The Bears showed 49,166 home fans right away that they were loaded for Packer. They took a 13-0 lead in the first period before permitting Green Bay to make a first down.

Two field goals by Roger LeClerc and a 27-yard touchdown on a twisting run by Willie Gaiimore built the lead. LeClerc kicked two more in the second half, and quarterback Bill Wake, who moved the team beautifully, scored a touchdown.

Packer Coach Vince Lombardi said afterwards that the Bears were a better team than the one that whipped Green Bay 10-3 in the opener. He said his team was a little better, too.

"Last time they held us to a field goal. This time we got a touchdown," he said, smiling through the bruises.

One More Time

The Green Bay coach said he would like to try one more time against the Bears. He could get his chance in a playoff, since the Bears meet the tough Steelers next week.

The Giants-49ers game looked like a mismatch. The Giants had a little trouble getting started, but the 49ers never got going at all.

Birds Art Subject For Menaboni

By KATHRYN JOHNSON ATLANTA (AP) — Half a century ago, a 7-year-old boy was scolded by his mother for wandering through the fields and forests near his home in Livorno, Italy, and for attending more to birds than to homework.

ings have taken on more purpose, but they still are concerned with birds. In the recent case, he was sketching wild turkeys at dawn in their habitat. For Menaboni is noted for his bird portraiture. He paints with scientific accuracy and feather-for-feather fidelity. He knows from memory the coloring, shape and stance of more than 200 birds. He has a phenomenal knowledge of their bone structure.
