On Romney

Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency, above, says Gov. George Romney must "kiss and make up with the Legislature" if progress is to be made in the 1964 session. He said "Romney's go-it-alone policy in the fiscal reform special session alienated many legislators on both sides of the aisle." (AP Wirephoto.)

PELLSTON:

It's Nice In State's 'Ice Box'

PELLSTON (AP)—The weather has been beautiful, too, in Michigan's icebox. That's Pellston.

It was 54 degrees on the thermometer at Mrs. Casper Merris' Sundial Antique Shop at 4 p.m. Tuesday, and the woods hereabouts were full of prespiring deer hunters who came dressed for normal deep freeze weather. What little snow that has fallen has melted.

If you knew Pellston, you'd never believe it.

Minus Signs
Before this time nearly every year, the Pellston weatherman has begun sprinkling his reports of overnight low temperatures with minus signs (meaning below zero). Back in November of 1950 a low of -23 was recorded. It isn't uncommon, come winter, for Pellston to report the nation's lowest overnight temperature.

Yet Pellston isn't by a long shot Michigan's northernmost community. It is even in the Lower Peninsula, 18 miles due south from the Straits of Mackinac on U.S. 31.

Position
Position, says W.W. Oak of the Detroit Weather Bureau, is what makes this community of 429 people an icebox.

Pellston is 720 feet above sea level, but at the same time it is in what amounts to a basin surrounded by hills. There are high hills two and a half miles to the west and three miles to the east.

Oak explained that cold air tends to settle and stay around. "Haven't you noticed," Oak remarked by way of explanation, "that when you're riding in a car it often is cool in the valleys, but warm on the hills?"

Warmed By Lake
Winter temperatures here, he says, might sag a bit lower yet if winds blowing in from the west didn't get warmed a bit in crossing Lake Michigan.

But Pellston gets cold enough as is. Mrs. Merris closes up her antique shop about Jan. 1 because usually it is so cold and the snow so heavy that few in the winter-thinned traffic of U.S. 31 bother to stop. Things are snowed under and frozen over at George McRae's lumber yard, too.

Besides these businesses, Pellston has a post office, a hardware store, a grocery, a novelty shop, a garage and a couple of gas stations — and an airport.

Busiest Spot
Winter or summer, the airport usually is Pellston's busiest spot. It is here that routes of North Central Airlines criss-cross, and it also is here that the official weather readings are taken.

The temperatures and snow depths are taken by Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) men at the airport and passed on to the U.S. Weather Bureau. Law requires weather observation at all airports handling commercial traffic.

Until official U.S. weather sampling was shifted here from Cadillac a half-dozen years ago, Cadillac, still further south, generally was referred to as "The Michigan Icebox." That city also is in a plateau basin.

Economic Blessing
But even Pellston's frigid temperatures have, on occasion, proved an economic blessing. Mrs. Alice Seater, who operates the Pellston Motel, has picked up quite a bit of business from drivers sent here by the automakers to test new models "under North Pole conditions."

So far this November Pellston has had only six freezing nights and the lowest temperature was a piddling 22 above on Nov. 3. With the exception of Monday, when it got down to 31, the low temperature for four nights in a row was above the average high of 41.5 degrees for Novembers here.

Temperatures
The mean average day and night temperature for November is 34.3 degrees in Pellston and the average low 27.1 degrees.

In December the mean slips to 22.6 degrees, the average high to 29.9 and the average low to 15.2. Then in January the overall average slides to 17.0; the average high to 26.0 and the average low to 7.9. Thermometers plummeted to -31 in December of 1958 and to -37 in January of 1948.

Turkey For President

President Kennedy reached out to touch a big 40-pound turkey, presented to him Tuesday at the White House "to grace the executive mansion table on Thanksgiving." The President has decided to send the turkey back to his farm home to help breed better and bigger turkeys for the nation. The presentation was made on behalf of the nation's turkey industry. Attending the ceremony, from left, are: Mrs. Morris G. Smith of Ellicott City, Md.; Robert M. McPherrin, Sunnymeade, Calif., president of the National Turkey Federation; and Sen. ## 20 YEARS AGO:

Marine Recalls Tarawa

WASHINGTON (AP) — After 20 years, Marine Gen. David M. Shoup still relives the blood-drenched Battle of Tarawa — all but a few vital seconds that remain a blank in his mind.

Those were the second it took Shoup to dash about 40 yards across bullet- and mortar-swept coral sand to the shelter of a blockhouse wall.

From there, the man who was to become commandant of the Marine Corps directed the savage assault on the tiny Central Pacific island which Japan had converted into a fortress.

That three-day battle, which began at dawn just 20 years ago today, was the most costly brief engagement in Marine history.

990 Marines Killed
When it was over, 990 Marines were dead — many shot down before they could wade ashore from disabled or stranded landing craft. Another 2,311 Leathernecks were wounded.

Only 18 of the 4,800-man Japanese garrison lived to be captured. The rest were slain in their bunkers, or killed themselves rather than surrender.

Shoup, 58, has good reason to remember Tarawa — he won the Medal of Honor there.

The citation said this: "Although severely shocked by an exploding enemy shell soon after landing . . . and suffering from a serious, painful leg wound which had become infected, Col. Shoup fearlessly exposed himself to the terrific and relentless artillery, machinegun and rifle fire . . . gallantly led them over the fringing reefs to charge the heavily fortified island and re-inforce our hard-pressed, thinly held lines."

Blank Spot
"It's as clear as though it was yesterday," Shoup told an interviewer in accents that reflected his Indiana birth.

"But there's one period of several seconds that's been a blank all these years. 'I remember looking over a coconut log barrier and picking the route I would take. I remember reaching the blockhouse with my radio man. But I've never been able to reconstruct what happened in between.'"

Shoup had crouched behind the log barrier after wading several hundred yards through shallow water churned by bullets and exploding shells.

Sniper
Like many of his men, Shoup started walking toward shore when his amphibious tractor was knocked out. His amtrack's driver was picked off.

The colonel clasped his hands with a Marine corporal and began pushing his way along the shallow reef.

"I felt his grip tighten, and I looked around at him," Shoup said.

"A sniper had put a bullet between his eyes."

Shoup was silent a moment, then went on: Promises
"I wouldn't be here today if I hadn't turned to look at him."

For just then, another bullet fired by a Japanese sniper struck the water, spent its force and slammed into Shoup's neck.

If it had hit him in the face, Shoup believes he would have been killed. Instead, he escaped with a badly swollen neck.

In all, Shoup was struck in nine different places. Most of the wounds were nicks, he said.

His most acute memories are the promises he made in an effort to comfort some of those who were diving under the blazing sun of Tarawa — promises to help take care of their children.

Scholarship Fund
"These promises I made without any realization of how I could fulfill them," he said, "yet those men died believing what I promised."

To make good on those battlefield promises, Shoup has put all his weight behind a scholarship fund set up by the 2nd Marine Division Assn. to educate the children of men who died at Tarawa.

Tonight, as on all other anniversaries of the battle, Shoup will get together with a group of its survivors.

They will gather at the commandant's home for the last time before he retires Dec. 31, ending a 37-year career with the corps.

Cambodia Boss Orders End To Aid From U.S.

Communists Inch Ahead In SE Asia

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Special Correspondent

Communism has inched a bit closer to one of its short-term goals in Southeast Asia, and the long-range threat to that strategic area has been increased.

What has just happened in Cambodia should be no surprise. The United States has had more than two years to prepare for the announcement that Cambodia would send the Yankess packing, along with their aid.

Surprise or not, the effect can be to advance the cause of neutralism in the area. It can cause rulers to weigh cautiously the prospects for making peace with Peking.

The Communists achieved a step in their campaign to move in on Southeast Asia when a neutralist formula for Laos was adopted at Geneva. Laos borders Cambodia on the north and separates it from China.

The Communists wanted the same formula for the other former French Indo-China states, including South Viet Nam.

The idea appeared to be neutralization first, then expulsion of Western influence. Finally the Communists would dominate and not necessarily by outright conquest.

Any unraveling of Red designs in Asia is complicated by the ideological war between Moscow and Peking. Moscow helped evolve the neutralist formula for Laos, but Southeast Asia is out of Moscow's reach. If it is to be dominated by a Communist power, it will be by Red China.

More than two years ago, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state, told a Soviet newspaper that if his country had to be allied with any foreign power, "it probably would not be with one in the West, which has never understood or supported us."

Photographs Thrust Upon Barghoorn

WASHINGTON — Photographs bundled inside a roll of newspapers and thrust into his hands by a stranger in front of a Moscow hotel apparently were Yale Prof. Frederick C. Barghoorn's passport to arrest seconds later by Soviet police.

In the 16 days that he was imprisoned on spy charges, he told newsmen Tuesday, he was not mistreated and signed no confessions.

Exchange Programs
He said his experience has not shattered his belief that cultural exchange programs between the United States and Russia are a good thing. But the State Department still has not given a go-ahead for scheduled exchange talks which the United States canceled because of the Barghoorn incident.

Professor, 32, who was released Saturday, and returned home Sunday, met with State Department officials for six hours Tuesday to talk about his Moscow experience. Then he met with newsmen, telling this story:

Book Papers
On Oct. 31, the eve of his planned departure from Moscow, he returned to the Metro-Hotel in the Soviet capital around 7:25 p.m. Suddenly he was approached by a "youngish-looking man, carrying what looked like a roll of newspapers."

The man asked something which Barghoorn believes was: "Are you an American."

"I was startled, said yes, and he pushed toward me the roll of newspapers. I took it. I thought, perhaps foolishly, that it was propaganda material and put it into my coat. Almost simultaneously I was grabbed and hustled off in an automobile."

He said there were photographs in the roll, adding "I would not understand military matters."

Barghoorn said that neither on this trip nor on previous visits to Russia was he on "intelligence assignment."

Girl Buys Two Costumes Worn By Liz Taylor

LONDON — A beauty operator and a seamstress paid $30.80 Tuesday for two of Elizabeth Taylor's costumes from the movie "Cleopatra." The costumes originally cost more than $1,000.

The actress donated the dresses to a charity bazaar. She was said to have worn them only once.

Judy Britton, 19, a seamstress at a London theater, bought the one for $3.60.

"I doubt if I'll ever wear it," she said, "I'm too fat, but I'll keep it in my wardrobe because of its historical interest."

VENEZUELA: Police Use Bazookas On Terrorists

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Police firing bazookas flushed snipers from buildings in downtown Caracas today as officials strove to quell pro-Communist violence that has left nearly 100 dead or wounded.

A woman was killed and six other persons, including a policeman, were wounded as fighting spread from the workers' suburbs to El Silencio, a district of modern business buildings.

Coming on the heels of Venezuela's worst day of terrorism Tuesday, the new casualties put the two-day toll at 20 killed and 76 wounded.

President Romulo Betancourt remained in his office throughout the night, directing the roundup of the terrorists by police, the army and national guard.

The number under arrest rose to 150, and police said most were Communist party members. Many were youths who wore black pants and red sweaters as a sort of uniform. Among those held were 40 persons seized by troops Tuesday night for sniping at traffic.

With the return of quiet at dawn, business houses reopened and traffic returned to the streets.

Merchants shut down because of telephoned threats and motorists stayed home Tuesday when Castroite-Communist opponents of Betancourt abruptly stepped up their campaign to unseat him and disrupt the Dec. 1 presidential elections.

Bank Burglars Out 92 Bucks!

CORNELIA, Ga. — It cost some bungling burglars at least $92 when they broke into the Cornelia Bank.

Police Chief J. G. Davenport said Thursday the burglars chopped a hole in the bank roof to gain entrance, but failed to reach any of the money.

They not only didn't gain by their efforts, but they dropped a roll of bills amounting to $92 and left behind a bottle filled with whisky.

They Need Signs On Road To Hell!

HELL (AP) — The road to Hell may be paved with good intentions, but it's not very clearly marked.

So, the Chamber of Commerce of this Livingston County village is asking the county road commission for signs pointing the way to Hell.

The village has put up about $300 worth of signs, but they've all been destroyed or stolen, he said.

Hubby Uses Manhole As Refuge From Wife
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — "All I want is a little sleep," said Ralph Harris, 40, when he was discovered in a 25-foot-deep manhole.

A city employee was inspecting a water main when he came across Harris. He called the police.

Harris told officers he had a fight with his wife and "wanted to get away from her for awhile."

He Charges Undermining Of Regime

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Cambodian Foreign Ministry summoned U. S. Ambassador Philip D. Sproune today, presumably to deliver orders from ruling Prince Norodom Sihanouk for an immediate end to the $30 million-a-year program of U. S. military and economic aid to his country.

Sihanouk announced his decision to a wildly cheering rally of his political party Tuesday. He charged U.S. aid was being used to undermine his regime and that rebel Cambodians based in South Viet Nam were using American equipment.

Phased Out
The prince said he did not want to sever diplomatic relations with the United States but that "all U.S. missions other than a skeleton diplomatic staff must go."

The State Department earlier Tuesday instructed Sproune to inform the Cambodian government that the prince's charges were false. But Sihanouk apparently acted before the denial could be transmitted to him.

Work on U.S. aid projects actually halted yesterday after Sihanouk's speech. American officials said the various aid programs would be phased out as last as possible.

American aid is mainly concentrated on agricultural and educational projects. The United States also has supplied most of the equipment in the small Cambodian armed forces and a 65-man military mission to advise in the use of the equipment.

A French military mission of about 800 men is responsible for actual combat training of the armed forces. While Sihanouk said earlier that all Western aid might be terminated, it appeared for the moment that French military advisory aid would continue.

Yanks Chart Strategy For S. Viet Nam

HONOLULU (AP) — High-level talks on the United States' future policies in Viet Nam and all of Southeast Asia began today in Pacific military command headquarters near Honolulu.

The day-long session brought together top-drawer military men and diplomats from Washington and Saigon to map out future strategy in the fight against communism in Southeast Asia.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara arrived Tuesday night and termed the meeting "just another in a series in which we will review our program of commitments in Viet Nam."

U.S. Assistance
McNamara said in a plane-side interview that U.S. assistance to Viet Nam in its fight against communism will be discussed at the session, as well as the return home of U.S. personnel in Viet Nam.

Also scheduled to attend the meeting was Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Secretary of State Dean Rusk was to arrive today.

From Saigon Tuesday came Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, and Gen. Paul D. Harkins, head of the U.S. military advisory group there.

Will Urge Full Support
Lodge talked to newsmen in a plane-side interview at Hickam Air Force Base. He indicated he will urge full support of the new South Viet Nam military regime as far as is practical and appeared satisfied with the new leaders.

Lodge, queried on reports that he knew of the coup against non-dem former President Ngo Dinh Diem Nov. 1 while Harkins was left in the dark, snapped at a newsmen, "Don't ask me things like that."

The political-military talks were prompted by the Diem government's overthrow and were called by the Defense and State departments.

HAITI:

500 Dead In Floods, Landslides

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Another weather disaster has hit impoverished Haiti.

The Public Health Department reported about 500 bodies had been recovered following floods and landslides last weekend in the northern part of the country. The department said the toll was expected to climb.

The northern regions had been spared by Hurricane Flora last month, which killed more than 5,000.

BULLETINS

NEW YORK — Two New York Stock Exchange member firms were suspended today following a complex chain of reactions that threatened major repercussions in business circles.

The exchange named Ira Haupt & Co. and J. R. Williston & Beane Inc.

The suspension followed a statement by the exchange that it was checking the financial position of two member firms.

NEW YORK — American Telephone and Telegraph Co. directors proposed today a 2 for 1 split of the common stock and a hike in the dividend effective next year.

The dividend would be 50 cents a share on the proposed split stock. This would be equal to $1.00 quarterly on the current stock.

Dist. Judge Mitchell B. Johns asked if he knew what a concussion is.

"Well, it's when you tell what you know," the boy said. "You say to the priest you sinned."

Soviet Diplomats Beaten Up, Jailed By Congo Police

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Congolese security agents and gendarmes dragged two Soviet diplomats feet first from their car Tuesday, beat them with clubs and hauled them off to jail.

They were still held today. Soviet embassy officials said the diplomats were embassy counsellor Boris Noronin and press attache Yuri Miakotnykh. The officials said they had no word on their fate.

Refuse To Allow Search
Eyewitnesses said Noronin and Miakotnykh refused to allow the Congolese to search their car on their return from Brazzaville, across the Congo River. The diplomats claimed diplomatic immunity.

Soviet embassy officials said the Congolese also had cut the telephone and electric supply to the luxury apartment where the 100-man Soviet mission lives and works.

Sources close to the Congolese government hinted that "highly compromising" documents had been seized from the two arrested diplomats.

Gendarmes stood guard outside the embassy building Tuesday night, refusing to allow callers to enter.

Relations between the Congolese government and the Communist bloc have been bad, and some members of Premier Cyrille Adoula's regime recently were agitating for a break with the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria, the Communist nations with which the Congo has diplomatic relations.

Plot
Sources close to the government said the two Russians had been unable to satisfy security police they were diplomats.

Iraq Coup Death Toll Estimated At 200
BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — The death toll in the Iraqi military coup that toppled the Ba'athist Socialist regime is estimated unofficially at 200, and the government of pro-Nasser President Abdel Salam Aref appears to have gained firm control of the Arab nation.

News In Brief
LANING — The Water Resources Commission says it believes the federal government is satisfied pollution in the Menominee and Brule rivers can be controlled by methods now used by Michigan and Wisconsin. The commission said Tuesday a conference in Menominee Nov. 6-8 "brought to light no problems that had not been recognized or acted upon previously by the state."

WASHINGTON — The House has passed and sent to the Senate a public works appropriations bill that is $285-630,600 less than President Kennedy asked. The $4,276,116-400 measure won passage by a lopsided 359-27 vote Tuesday.

WASHINGTON — Senators investigating the steaming Robert G. Baker case have called the widow of one of his partners as their first outside witness. Mrs. Gertrude Novak will be questioned Thursday at a closed session of the Senate Rules Committee, Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N. C., announced.

LONDON — A Soviet rocket specialist, Col. Gen. Vladimir Tolubko, says the Soviet Union has the stronger nuclear force, no matter what U. S. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says.

PLAINE DES JARRES, Laos — The commander of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao, Gen. Singapo, said Tuesday it is not for him to decide whether or not to release the survivors of an Air America C46 transport plane shot down in southern Laos. An Air America spokesman has said two American flyers—Joseph C. Cheney of Wayne, Mich., and Charles G. Herrick of San Antonio, Tex. — died in the crash Sept. 5.

Top Peacetime Award Given Sawyer Wing

K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base's 410th Bombardment Wing has been awarded the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award, the highest honor presented an Air Force organization during peacetime.

The award, for exceptionally meritorious achievements in support of military operations, covers the period from April 1, 1962 through March 31, 1963, and was given by headquarters USAF. All component units of the wing share the honor.

It is the first such recognition presented to the wing. Col. Ramputi Commander Col. Frederick R. Ramputi, commander of the Strategic Air Command organization here, made the announcement today. He said the award will be formally presented in the future.

According to Sawyer officials, the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award was established in 1954 and is awarded to units, normally not larger than wings, which have distinguished themselves by exceptionally meritorious achievements.

In addition, the achievement must be of such a nature as to clearly set the unit above and apart from similar organizations. Normally, only one wing is given the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award for participation in a specific campaign or for a certain achievement or period of service.

Col. Ramputi, on announcing the award, praised wing personnel for "the hard work and top quality production which made the award possible."

He added that it was "a fine honor for an excellent unit," but that wing members could not rest on the laurels bestowed on the 410th.

Brig. Gen. John A. Roberts, commander of 40th Air Division, immediate parent unit of the wing, made the nomination. According to the division commander, the 410th bomb wing, one of four original B-52 H units in the Air Force, obtained combat ready status approximately eight months in advance of the original programmed date.

Passing all operational readiness inspections with an excellent rating received special comment from Gen. Roberts, as did the unit's consistently high finish in competition during the period with all units in the SAC management control systems.

The division commander pointed out that 20 trophies and plaques for exceptional achievement had been presented to the unit from either 40th Air Division, Second Air Force, or SAC, including the best wing in the division and the numbered Air Force, and for best radar express bomb scoring in 2AF.

Best Tanker Unit Also presented during the year were awards to the 46th Air Refueling Squadron, which is assigned to the 410th, as the best tanker unit of the year, and also a safety certificate to the wing for accident free flying.

Gen. Roberts stressed the important role played by the wing during last year's Cuban Crisis, when the wing took part in various activities which contributed substantially to the posture maintained by SAC at that time.

For 10 months of the cited period, the 410th Bombardment Wing went by the numerical designation of 4042d Strategic Wing. The wing was redesignated February 1. In addition, all component units of the wing, with the exception of the 46th Air Refueling Squadron and the 69th Munitions Maintenance Squadron, were renumbered at that time.

Changed Designation The current 644th Bombardment Squadron was the 526th Bombardment Squadron. All maintenance squadrons, with the exception of the 69th, changed their numerical designations from 4042d to 410th on February 1, as did the combat defense squadron and the headquarters squadron section.

According to Air Force regulations, all persons who were assigned to the wing or its component units during the period cited will be eligible to wear the Outstanding Unit Award ribbon.

In addition, all persons who were later assigned to the wing, but who were not present for duty with the unit during the period for which the award was granted, may wear the emblem only while assigned.

To Be Host Command The 410th Bombardment Wing has been a tenant on this Air Defense Command installation since its formation as the 4042d Strategic Wing some five years ago.

It will assume the host position Jan. 1, 1964, when command jurisdiction transfers from ADC to SAC.

Col. William B. Kyes, now at Altus AFB, Okla., was the wing commander during most of the period of the award. Col. Madison M. McBrayer, who is now attending the Industrial College of the Armed Forces, Washington, D.C., was commander the last month of the cited period.

One Injured, One Ticketed In Accident

One person was injured, a motorist was arrested and two vehicles were damaged in a traffic wreck here at 3:20 this morning.

City police said an automobile being driven north on N. Front St. by Donald F. Colleur, 23, of 2110 Presque Isle Ave., apparently at a high rate of speed, smashed into a vehicle owned by Godfrey G. Agriesti, which was parked in front of his residence at 322 N. Front St.

Colleur's car struck the rear end of Agriesti's half-ton stake truck, shoving it ahead about 16 feet and to the left (west) about two feet from where it had been parked, on the right (east) side of the street.

Officers said Colleur apparently had been traveling at a high rate of speed.

Deanna F. Hillier, 23, Box 92, Gwinn, riding with Colleur, suffered a nose

Police Urge Drivers To Be Cautious At Bypass Entrances

City Police Chief George G. Johnson today urged motorists driving on or near the entrances and exits to the Marquette bypass to "exercise extreme caution."

At the S. Front St. connection to the bypass, traffic will be going on and coming off from the limited access U.S. 41 and M-26 bypass on four lanes.

Some Merging Traffic Traffic southbound on S. Front St. (Business Route U.S. 41) will not have to yield to traffic at the bypass, Chief Johnson said, but motorists should be extremely careful, as there will be some traffic emerging from the bypass going both onto (northbound) S. Front St. and away from (southbound) U.S. 41.

The southbound traffic from the bypass will be able to merge with southbound S. Front St. traffic without either having to slow up appreciably, he said. Traffic northbound from S. Front St. - U.S. 41 will not have to slow down to enter the city, but motorists desiring to go into the bypass from the south will have to stop and yield to oncoming traffic before making the turn.

Motorists going onto the bypass from either the north or south at the Front St. connection will not have to yield, with provision made for merging traffic, but motorists from the south will have to stop for oncoming (S. Front St.) traffic before entering the bypass.

At West Entrance There shouldn't be any problem for traffic from W. Washington St. - Business Route U.S. 41 to get onto the bypass in the Brewery Location, as provision is made for merging traffic.

Once again, however, extreme caution will have to be exercised by motorists driving on U.S. 41 who want to drive into the city at the Washington St. (Brewery Location) junction.

Here, the eastbound travelers, who desire to go into Marquette via Washington St., will have to come to a complete stop, after going into the left lane and going into a deceleration lane connecting eastbound traffic with W. Washington St. and later crossing the westbound bypass lane.

To caution the eastbound traffic to slow down before reaching the deceleration lane, the Michigan State Highway Department has placed large warning signs a half mile and a quarter mile from the junction.

Chief Johnson notes that the eastbound motorist going off U.S. 41 into the deceleration lane must proceed carefully, as the oncoming (westbound) traffic on the bypass will be going fast and will have the right-of-way.

Chief Johnson also announced that there will not be any parking permitted on the east side of S. Front St., from Fisher St. to Baraga Ave.

This restriction was made to enable a smoother flow of northbound traffic, he added.

Ore Totals Increase For Month

CLEVELAND — Shipments of Lake Superior iron ore, coal and grain over the Great Lakes in October totaled 18,614,887 net tons, the largest movement for the month since 1957, when 18,990,349 tons were hauled, the Lake Carriers' Association reports.

October grain shipments, totaling 2,543,393 tons, broke all records for the month. They compared to 2,315,265 tons moved in the 1962 month. The healthy grain trade reflected the unusual demand for grain overseas. Only 18.57 per cent of the tonnage was carried in United States ships, however. Coal cargoes amounted to

Bond Issue Plan In City Assessment Projects Approved

A resolution to issue bonds totaling $37,000 in anticipation of the collection of future due installments on special assessment projects was approved by the city commission at its special meeting last night at city hall.

The bonding resolution and notice of sale were adopted by the city commission after being read in full by City Clerk Everett H. Kent.

The commission also authorized the clerk and City Manager Thomas Moore to sign an agreement with Kenower MacArthur & Co. Detroit. The firm will serve as financial counsel in connection with the bond issue, for a fee of $500.

The bonds will be issued to cover unpaid and future due installments on street improvement, sanitary sewer and water main projects.

Advantages Noted

Property owners benefited by the special assessment projects will continue to make payments through the city's five-year program for payment on special assessments. However, by selling bonds for the projects, the city will have the money in the general fund.

City Manager Thomas Moore said that the interest received by the city from the property owners who pay for special assessments over the five-year period would offset the interest the city expects to pay on the bonds.

The city clerk and Kenower MacArthur & Co. will prepare an application for permission to issue the bonds required by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission.

Terms of Agreement

The financial counsel, under terms of the agreement authorized last night, also will prepare financial information needed to arrive at the terms of the issue to be sold, make recommendations for a plan of financing, lend assistance to local attorneys and special bond counsel to assure the most advantageous bond sale, prepare a comprehensive prospectus for distribution to prospective bidders on the bonds and advise the commission on the condition of the municipal bond market and on the most advantageous time for marketing the bonds.

For street improvement special assessment projects, bonds in the sum of $34,000 will be issued in anticipation of collection of installment payments on Roll Nos. 323 to 327, 330, 332, 334 to 338 and 339 to 341.

The 34 bonds will be in denominations of $1,000 each, will bear the date of March 1, 1964, and will be payable as follows: $10,000 on Sept. 1 of 1964 and 1965 and $7,000 on Sept. 1 of 1966 and 1967. The bonds maturing in 1966 and 1967 may be redeemed at the option of the city.

Water Main Jobs
For a water main special assessment project, bonds in the sum of $1,000 will be issued in anticipation of collection of installment payments on roll numbers of $500 each, in denominations of $500 each, will be payable on Sept. 1 of 1964 and 1965.

For a sanitary sewer special assessment project, bonds in the sum of $2,000 will be issued in anticipation of collection of installment payments on Roll 343.

Four Bonds
The four bonds, in denominations of $500 each, will be payable in the amount of $500 on Sept. 1 of each year from 1964 to 1967. The bonds maturing in 1966 and 1967 may be redeemed after Sept. 1, 1965.

The bonding resolution states that the bonds shall bear an interest rate not exceeding four per cent per year, payable on Sept. 1, 1964, and semi-annually thereafter on March 1 and Sept. 1 of each year.

Dr. Frank Suggitt, a development planner, told a meeting of the Upper Michigan Tourist Association in Marquette this fall that development of highways in Wisconsin to serve the Upper Peninsula is very important to the Peninsula's growth.

For half its length the more than 300-mile-long Upper Peninsula is bordered on the south by Wisconsin, whereas Lower Michigan touches it only at the Straits of Mackinac at its eastern tip.

Many casual comments on traffic flow into the U. P. mention only the traffic over the Mackinac Bridge, but the traffic flowing up into the Peninsula from Wisconsin and entering at Ironwood, Watersmeet, Iron River, Iron Mountain and Menominee looms even larger in the Peninsula's growth, suggested Dr. Suggitt.

Participants are Lawrence Abrahamson, senior forestry major, Sturgeon Bay, Wis.; John Folz, junior forestry major, Detroit; Joseph Roti, junior, Buchanan, physics and biological sciences, and Paul O'Leary, sophomore, biological sciences major, Schwartz Creek.

They were selected on the basis of demonstrated ability on research projects conducted during the 1962-63 academic year and during the past summer. They will conduct preliminary projects during the current school year, then devote full time next summer to the completion of their projects.

Two faculty members are supervising their work. Dr. Robert T. Brown, associate professor, botany, will work with Roti and O'Leary, and Dr. Kenneth J. Kraft, assistant professor of biology, will work with Abrahamson and Folz.

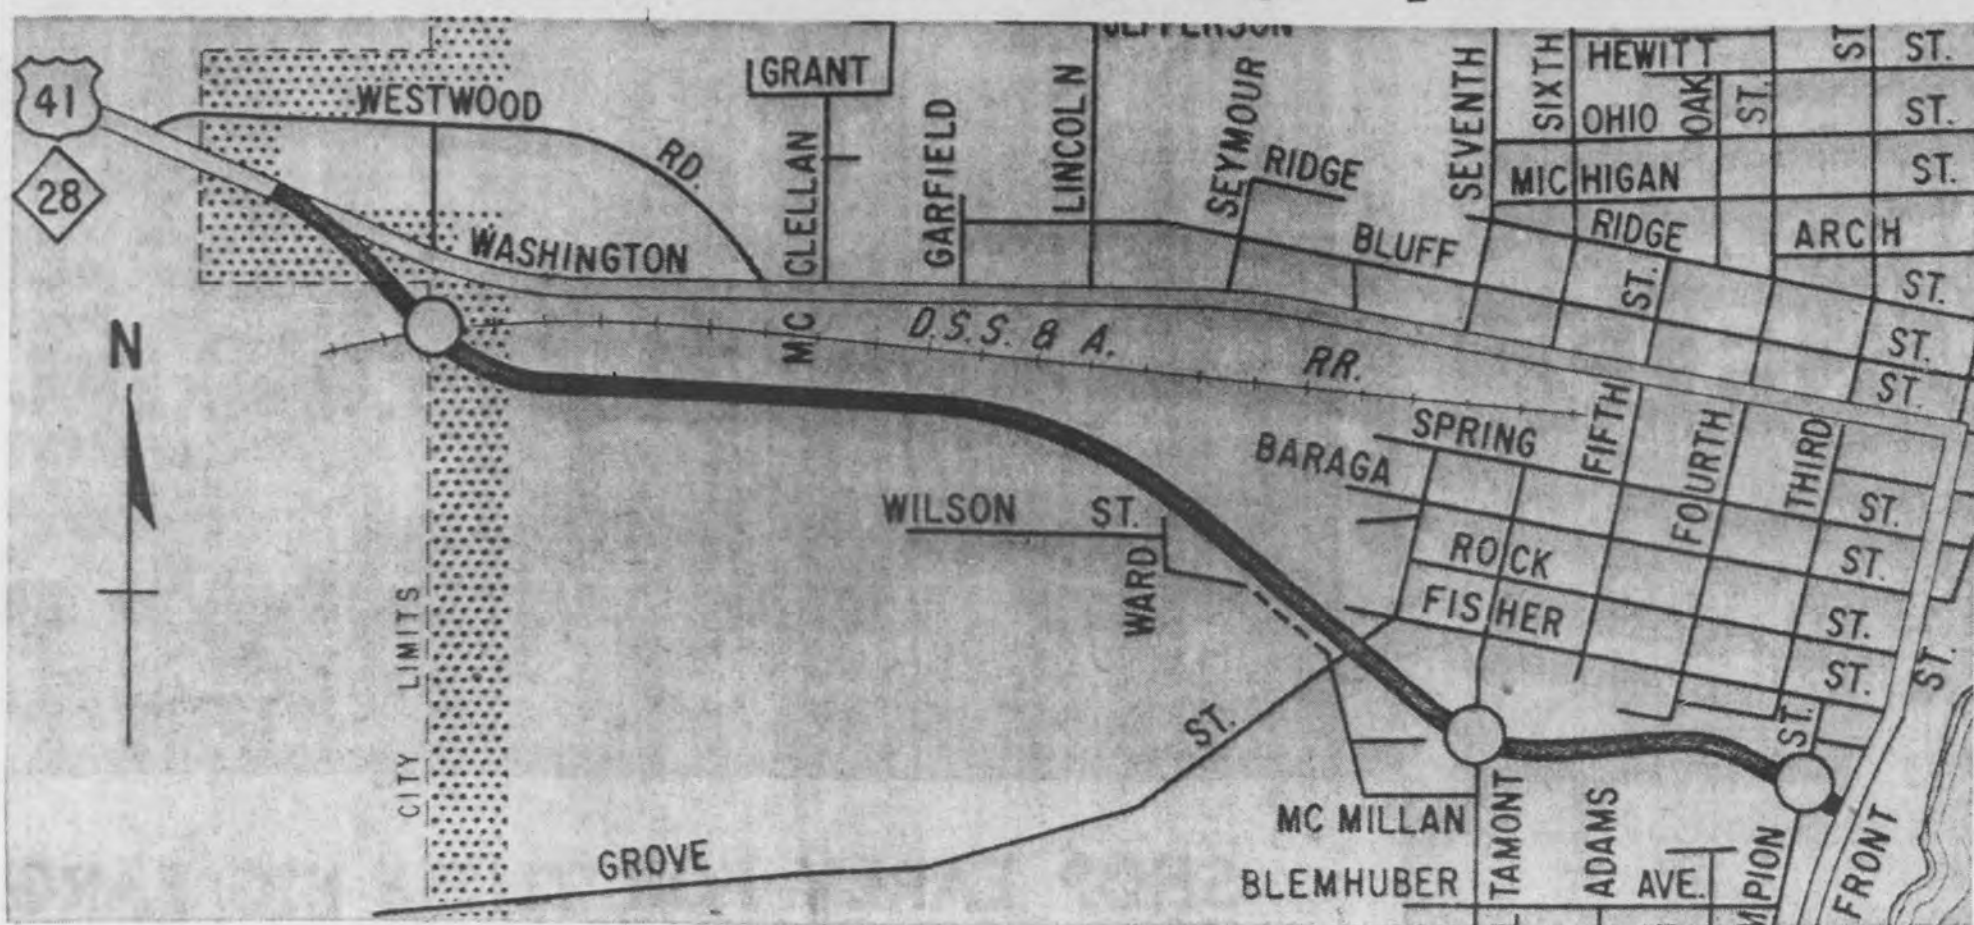

Abrahamson's project is an investigation of the life history of a small moth whose larvae feed on jack pine seeds.

Folz will investigate the life history of a small parasitic wasp whose larvae feed on the moth larvae being studied by Abrahamson.

Roti will study the inhibition of germination of jack pine seeds by extracts of goldenrod plants. He will attempt to determine what wave lengths of light are absorbed by the inhibiting compound, thus providing aid in chemical identification of the compound.

O'Leary will study the action of several different plant extracts on the cells of growing jack pine seedlings, including both inhibiting and stimulating extracts.

Route For Bypass Shown On Highway Department Sketch

This is the Michigan State Highway Department's sketch of the U. S. 41 and M-28 bypass in Marquette. The four-lane divided highway begins at the west city limits of the city, meeting with the existing four-lane pavement on W. Washington St. there, and following the Whetstone Brook route, linking with the highway on S. Front St. at a point south of Palms St. The bypass will be open to traffic tomorrow and it will eliminate the serious bottleneck caused by the right-angle intersection at the corner of Front and Washington Sts.

Some of it crosses the U. P. and returns by way of the Mackinac Bridge, or through Canada by way of the Sault.

Winter Highway Program

Present State Highway Department planning for future needs is concentrating on removal of bottlenecks to Upper Peninsula traffic flows. It counts its winter highway maintenance program one of its greatest aids to the Upper Peninsula, citing that the U. P. with its snow conditions has as much reliability of travel as the Lower Peninsula.

The increasing intimacy with Wisconsin and with Canada will affect U. P. highway planning. At present the State Highway Department's need study to 1980 calls for:

- 1. Interstate Highway System route between St. Ignace and Sault Ste. Marie.
- 2. Multi-lane, access controlled highway from St. Ignace on U. S. 2 to Gladstone.
- 3. Multi-lane, no access control highway from Escanaba to Iron Mountain, from Crystal Falls to Iron River, from Wakefield to Ironwood, from Ripley to Houghton, from Lake Linden to Calumet, from Harvey through Marquette to Champion.

Deer Killed, Car Wrecked In Smashup

An automobile was wrecked and a deer was killed, but no one was injured, in a traffic accident at 4:20 yesterday morning in Sands Township.

State police said a car being driven south on County Road 553 by Bert Wren Jr., 20, K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, struck a deer which ran out from the west (right) side of the highway into the path of his vehicle.

The mishap occurred a half mile north of the main gate to Sawyer Base.

The carcass of the deer was turned over to the Michigan Department of Conservation for disposal.

Extensive damage occurred to the front end of Wren's vehicle, a 1957 coach, which had to be towed from the scene by a wrecker.

ing of false corporate tax returns.

One company and a defunct company also were indicted by a federal grand jury. The firms were charged with evading more than $50,000 taxes over a six-year period by padding payrolls.

Anthony (Tony Jack) Giacalone and his brother, Vito, both named by Detroit Police Commissioner George Edwards in the Washington crime hearings, were among those indicted.

The companies, Michigan Metal Finishing of Detroit and the defunct Garomot Corp., both of Detroit, paid money to the Giacalone brothers as phony sales representatives, the government said.

AF Officer At Northern Tomorrow

Capt. Donald E. Schick Jr., of the U.S. Air Force Recruiting Service, Milwaukee, will be at Northern Michigan University tomorrow and Friday to meet with persons interested in becoming officers in the Air Force.

M-Sgt. Edward A. Ekdahl, in charge of the Air Force recruiting station in Marquette, said Capt. Schick will be available for interviews in the University Center of Northern from 9 in the morning to 3 in the afternoon both tomorrow and Friday.

Ekdahl said the USAF will need over 5,000 new second lieutenants this year. The regular Air Force is recruiting college seniors and graduates to fill these vacancies. Applicants may submit their requests 210 days prior to graduation.

90-Day Course
Ekdahl said Capt. Schick will explain how seniors, not over 29 1/2 years, can apply for a 90-day training course leading to a commission in the USAF.

In their application, the eligible candidates may select three Air Force occupational specialties in which they desire to work. Selection of occupational specialty can be made from among 40 which are available.

Many Positions
"Other than flying jobs, the Air Force requires officers in such diverse positions as accounting, cartography, personnel and meteorology," points out Ekdahl.

The application processes, with a subsequent reply from the Air Force, permits the potential officer trainee to know what job he will have prior to enlistment for the 90-day training period, he added.

"Those interested should make it a point to see Capt. Schick tomorrow or Friday at Northern," Ekdahl said.

City Perturbed By Delays On Request For Federal Grant

City officials are disturbed with federal government red tape.

They're "putting their foot down" in what City Manager Thomas Moore called "a Washington merry-go-round" over the city's often-deferred application for a federal grant to help finance the steam electric generating plant.

At last night's special city commission meeting, City Attorney Waldo A. McCrea was directed to prepare a resolution on the matter, stating the city's objection for consideration and action at the commission meeting Monday night.

'Resting Case'
The resolution will state that the city has complied with all of the regulations required to qualify for the million-dollar grant and now rests its case.

The application to the Area Redevelopment Administration, through the Accelerated Public Works program, has been approved in the Chicago ARA office and is now in the hands of Washington officials, who are reviewing the application.

Moore said that the Washington officials keep telephoning for more information on the steam plant project. "In my opinion, we have fulfilled the requirements for the grant," Moore said.

Commissioners feel that if the city "rests its case," the headquarters will be forced to act on the application.

The motion to have the resolution drawn up was made by Commissioner James R. Smith and seconded by Commissioner Steve A. E. Johnson.

Began Work In 1962
The city manager said he began work on the application when it was authorized by the commission on Nov. 28, 1962.

"The requests for added information are endless," Moore said. "It's taking a great deal of my time. For instance, last week I spent four days and three evenings complying with requests for added information."

Parking Lot Reserved For ARA Group

Meters will be removed from a municipal parking lot on Spring St. and stalls in the lot will be purchased for private parking by students at the Area Redevelopment Administration school here.

The plan, approved last night by the Marquette City Commission at a special meeting at city hall, will go into effect immediately on a trial basis. The parking lot on Spring St. is near the No. 1 fire station, and the ARA school.

Students at the ARA school will pay $3 per month, in advance, for a stall in the lot. Officials of the school requested that the lot be turned over to private parking because the school will soon have 80 new students, City Manager Thomas Moore said.

Little Used By Public
"Although I feel the city's parking spaces should be metered, I recommend in this case that private parking be allowed because the public makes almost no use of the lot," Moore said.

Police Chief George G. Johnson, who also recommended the change, said that although there are approximately 60 stalls in the lot, the city receives only a little revenue from the meters because "we're lucky if there are two or three cars parked there at one time."

Also at last night's meeting, the commission ordered placed on file a letter from Gov. George Romney, thanking Mayor C. Fred Rydholm and the four other commissioners for their telegram sent Oct. 1 expressing their support, as individuals, for Romney's tax reform program.

He said he wrote a letter Oct. 15 making a strong case for approval of the application. After complying with several telephoned requests for added information, Moore said he sent a four-page affidavit Nov. 14 describing the project. Since then, he said, he's received another call for more information.

Commissioners noted that time deadlines are put on the requests, so that the city manager must put aside other duties to prepare the information.

Moore asked that the commission either relieve him of any further effort on the project and turn it over to the city attorney or approve a resolution stating that the city rests its case in the application.

'Adequate Information'
McCrea, who also has worked on the application, said: "I feel that adequate information to support the original petition has been presented to qualify the city for the grant. There's no good use in the city manager continuing to provide information which only gives rise to more requests without end."

The city already has issued revenue bonds totaling $3,775,000 to cover the cost of the steam generating plant. However, the federal grant would cut down the city's financial obligations in the project.

The city's application for a grant was originally for almost $2 million, but it was reduced to $977,250.

Prisoner Waits Word On Parole

JACKSON (AP)—Alonzo Gunsell was just another prisoner today as he awaited word on a parole hearing that could free him to return to Colorado, where he spent most of the last 10 years hiding from the law.

The former Flint burglar, sought since 1953 as a fugitive from a state honor camp, was brought to Southern Michigan Prison Tuesday after a fruitless attempt to see Gov. George Romney.

Gunsell, 43, had sought clemency from the Governor because he claimed to have led an exemplary life under an assumed name following his escape.

Referred To Parole Board
Romney referred the case to the Michigan Parole Board for a recommendation.

Gunsell will have to make formal application for parole. Francis Buchko, a member of the board, said there was no way to tell when the case would come up. (Buchko is a native of Marquette.)

Also pending was a decision by Warden George Kropp and Director of Corrections Gus Harrison on whether Gunsell should be prosecuted as a fugitive.

At the prison, Gunsell was given a medical examination, issued prison clothing and assigned a cell in the "segregation block" where escaped prisoners normally are confined upon their return.

Gunsell's wife, Edna, who came along with two of her three children had accompanied him on the visit to Gov. Romney, broke down and cried outside the Governor's office when corrections department officials showed up to take her husband into custody.

Gunsell was serving a 14-to-15 year sentence for burglary when he and another prisoner walked away from the honor camp near Pontiac, only a few days after Gunsell had appeared before the parole board.

He said he took the name George King, married Edna, who had the children by a previous marriage, in Toledo and then moved to Denver.

His voluntary return to Michigan was accompanied by a letter to Romney from Colorado Gov. John Love, who asked that his case be considered with mercy.

From his ordination until entering the U. S. Army as a chaplain in 1942, he served as curate in the Cathedral of the Nativity, Bethlehem, Pa. In 1946 he became dean of Leonard Hall, resident hall for pre-theological students at Lehigh. He was named archdeacon in 1957.

He has also served as executive secretary of the department of promotion of the diocese and as department chairman, and has been both deputy to general convention and delegate to the Provincial Synod.

Jasper Uncovered In Bypass Construction Rockhound Bonanza

At the foot of the bypass on S. Front St. is a small vein of "Marquette jasper" which is equal, if not superior, in quality to any red jasper in the world.

"I've searched all over and talked to lapidaries across the country, and to my knowledge there's no red jasper of any better color than the jasper found in this small vein," says Clyde Steele, 114 Palms St., maker of the Marquette Range jewelry sold in many area shops.

There's other red jasper in the Marquette area, but it's not suitable for lapidary work. So when rockhounds talk about Marquette jasper, they mean stone from the vein on S. Front St.

Red jasper is quartz impregnated with iron oxide. In its crude form, it looks like a hunk of red rock. Polished, it's a pretty, shiny red stone. Part of its value to lapidaries is its hardness. With the diamond at the head of the scale with a hardness of 10, red jasper has a hardness of seven and a half.

The small vein was exposed on the face of the rock outcrop, south of the bypass on S. Front St., when the rock was blasted for the S. Front St. four-lane highway in 1953. Soon rockhounds had chipped away all of the red jasper they could. When the rock was blasted again this summer for the bypass, more red jasper was uncovered. The word spread quickly among rockhounds and they came from far and wide to chip a piece of the Marquette jasper. Although all that can be safely chipped away has been taken from the exposed vein, the vein can still be seen at the rock outcrop.

The vein runs east to west. Faint traces of iron oxide from what may be the same vein can be seen at Gaines Rock on Lake Superior, but no one knows how far the vein extends to the west. The small vein has been chipped away by rockhounds from many states in the union and it has found its way to many parts of the world, made up into jewelry.

Steele recalls talking to a lapidary in New Mexico who said, "Say, you've heard about the red jasper found in Marquette, Michigan?"

Jewelry made of the Marquette jasper has been given to visiting dignitaries by the chamber of commerce, including a bolo tie given to Gov. Romney. Steele is now making a pair of cufflinks for presentation to President John F. Kennedy.

DR. DAVID R. WALL

Wall Named Director Of U.P. Adult Mental Clinic

Dr. David R. Wall, 53, has accepted the position of clinical director and psychiatric consultant at the Upper Peninsula Adult Mental Health Clinic.

Robert Hanson, acting director, and Dr. Wilbert Berg, chairman of the clinic's board of directors, both of Marquette, made the announcement.

The clinic, which opened in October 1960, provides outpatient psychiatric services to anyone in the Upper Peninsula. It is operated jointly by the Michigan Department of Mental Health, in cooperation with the local communities of the U.P. and it is located in St. Mary's Hospital.

These governmental agencies of the U.P. support the clinic financially, although a small fee, based on the individual's ability to pay, may be charged.

Services are provided to adults over the age of 18 who desire and can make use of outpatient treatment.

With the arrival of Dr. Wall, the clinic staff is complete and includes the services of a psychiatrist, psychiatric social worker and clinical psychologist, thereby providing a complete psychiatric team to function in the area of adult mental health in the U.P., stated Hanson.

He added: "I think that the people of the U.P. are extremely fortunate in securing the services of Dr. Wall, in terms of his professional training, experience and ability."

Hanson will remain on the staff of the adult mental health clinic as a clinical psychologist.

Dr. Wall received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Kansas and his medical doctor degree from the Washington University School of Medicine, St. Louis, Mo. He served two years as intern and fellow at Henry Ford Hospital

Financial Scene: Gold, Goods Or Credit In Red Trade?

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The touchy question of increasing U.S. trade with Eastern Europe's Communist nations runs into financial as well as political road blocks. Payment in gold or goods or credit?

Many of America's allies have been increasing this trade right along, often ignoring Washington's frowns. But they've been able to get payment for their exports by increasing their imports from the Communist bloc — items that U.S. importers don't want or can't buy — or by taking sporadic offerings of Russian gold, something the United States could use but rarely sees.

Political Reasons Clear

The political reasons for holding down trade are clear: Strategic goods from the United States would build up Communist war potential, and other goods might build up its economic health and let it put more effort into military output.

In 1962 we exported $105 million worth of goods to Russian satellites in Eastern Europe (this excludes the U.S.S.R., itself and Yugoslavia and Albania), and imported $62.5 million worth. In the same period West Germany was exporting $719 million worth, importing $668 million worth, and Britain exporting $369 million and importing $442 million. Japanese and Canadian exports also have risen steadily in recent years.

The principal items that the United States exports to the satellites and gets back are tabulated by economists at the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York, as follows:

Poland chiefly takes American grains and sends meat products. East Germany takes tobacco and sends furs. Hungary prizes our industrial machinery and we take their wood products. Bulgaria and Rumania are markets for our pharmaceuticals, and from Bulgaria we import spices and from Romania glass products.

Other items are traded with each nation in smaller proportions. The United States has legal restrictions on this Eastern European trade. The chief one is a ban on goods classed as strategic that might be used in an arms buildup. An export license is required for any goods ruled nonstrategic.

But a credit restriction goes back to 1934 when Congress banned private loans to a government in default in payment on its obligations to the U.S. government. Only recently has Washington ruled that this act doesn't apply to "normal commercial credit terms." Neither the law nor the ruling has been tested in the courts.

Nations in default, in addition to the Soviet Union itself, include Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Poland and Rumania.

The Communist bloc's currencies aren't convertible, so that trade has to be conducted on strictly bilateral terms or through complicated triangular deals.

And payment in Russian gold is a now-and-then thing.

Deer Figure Up, Bridge Data Shows

Preliminary reports indicate the deer kill in Upper Michigan during the 1963 season is up. At least more deer are being carried southward over the Mackinac Bridge.

Up to 7 this morning, 9-198 deer and 133 bears have been carried home by hunters, compared to 7,127 deer and 286 bears last year at this time.

The final vehicle count for the bridge showed 26,415 cars, carrying an average of three hunters each, came northward for the hunting season, as compared to 24,432 last year.

No New Accidents

So far, 20,357 vehicles with hunters have returned, as against 19,015 in the same period last year.

No new accidents were reported this morning by state police, leaving the 1963 "box score" for the deer season at two dead from gunfire, 14 other hunters wounded, 35 lost (but all located) and three hunters dead from heart attacks.

In the entire 1962 season there were three gunfire fatalities, 11 wounding, 37 hunters lost (all located, with one dead of a heart attack) and four heart attack victims.

Season Ends Sunday

Frost occurred throughout the Upper Peninsula during the night, with the temperature near the freezing mark this morning and no snow on the ground, except in the extreme west end of the region, where there's still a six-inch snow cover.

The season began west of M-77 on the 9th and will end at sundown this Sunday. East of M-77 and in Lower Michigan the season began the 15th and continues through the end of the month.

Buck Bag

Mark Markantony Sr., 224 W. Arch St., Marquette, downed an eight-point, 175-pound buck in Sand River area Sunday morning. This is his first buck in several years of hunting.

Getting a deer every year since 1938 is Glenn Potter, and this year was no different, as he bagged a 185-pound, eight-point buck Monday while hunting in the Michigamme area.

Dominic Tasson, 898 Palms Ave., Ishpeming, downed a 160-pound, seven-point buck during the first week of deer season while hunting south of Ishpeming.

A Detroit city policeman, John (Speedy) Kania, Detroit, while visiting in the Marquette area to deer hunt, "bagged" a 1963 sedan, rather than a buck. He shot a hole in the roof of his companion's car, with the bullet ricocheting off the sun visor and the cartridge ending up in the back seat. Kania's wife is the former Betty LaFave of Marquette.

H. C. Basal, Route 1, Box 666, Marquette, brought down a 125-pound spikehorn buck around noon Sunday while hunting in the Harvey area.

Bagging his first buck, Neil Rinne, Lockport, Ill., downed an eight-point, 225-pound buck Friday afternoon south of the Greenwood Location, near Ishpeming.

William Peuklus, 45, Detroit, dropped a 170-pound, six-point buck around noon on opening day while hunting in the Sloppey Creek area. This is his first buck taken from this area. He was accompanied by Dick Hanora, Detroit, and so far Hanora was unsuccessful.

Rock-Blasting Expert Numinen Had Workout On Bypass Project

Earl Numinen of Michigamme can notch another "rock" job on his project engineer's hard hat tomorrow.

That's when the new $1.7 million Marquette bypass will officially be opened to traffic by State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie and Marquette officials.

Another Ticklish Job

For Numinen, completion of the project means the end of another ticklish job which called for blasting into manageable pieces about 14,000 cubic yards of rock.

The job took about 4,000 pounds of ammonium nitrate and dynamite. And was especially sensitive because much of the blasting took place within 50 feet of a row of houses.

Called It Routine Job

Besides the nearness of the buildings, the blasting job was further compounded by the crowds of curious and "rock-hounds" who swarmed over the rubble looking for a vein of red fasper rumored to be in the blast area.

However, Numinen shrugged it off as a routine job.

He said the main rock shelf was about 25 feet high. Holes were drilled down 40 feet, packed with a charge, set off and another sheet of rock was peeled off like a card off a deck.

Delicate Touch Needed

A representative of an insurance firm was on hand when each charge was set off. His job was to check the shock of each blast on surrounding buildings. Although only 50 feet from the blast area, where as much as 1,000 pounds of explosive were used for a single shot, his seismograph failed to register any damaging shock effects on the buildings.

"It takes a delicate touch," he commented.

One Of The Best

Numinen, who has been assigned to various phases of road construction in the western half of the Upper Peninsula for the past 30 years, is considered one of the best "rock" engineers in the highway department.

Over the years, some of his "tough" jobs have been the rock blasting on M-95 at Republic and construction of the divided U. S.-41 between Negaunee and Marquette in 1955.

Negaunee's elevation is 1,300 feet, 700 feet higher than Marquette, 11 miles away.

"In order to maintain a gradual sloping grade, we had to remove anything in our way," Numinen said, "and a good share of it was rock."

"We kept blasting away at that rock until the surrounding woods looked like Belleau Woods during World War I."

"One worry I didn't have on that job was removing rock off the grade — because most of it was blown off."

Born in Finland in 1907, Numinen came to the Upper Peninsula with his parents when he was nine years old.

Refused Transfers

He attended the Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton and went to work for the highway department in 1931.

Numinen has refused transfers to Lower Michigan and promotions because he likes it in the Upper Peninsula.

"I wouldn't feel natural if I weren't working in rock and swamps," he said.

Over the years, rock has become less of a problem in construction work, he said.

Large, powerful machines now easily do the work which required blasting a few years ago, he said.

Expensive Operation

There were more explosives used on the Marquette bypass than all other highway department projects in the past two years.

"Machinery is much faster and less expensive — and considerably safer — than explosives," Numinen said.

Still, rock excavating is an expensive operation, he added. It costs between $3 and $4 to remove a yard of rock compared to 50 to 75 cents per yard for earth.

With the Marquette bypass completed, Numinen is looking forward to a quiet winter "catching up on paperwork" but, by the time the construction season starts next year, he'll be back on the job blasting that stubborn Upper Peninsula rock to build a better highway.

Four Forest Blazes In U.P. In Week

Only concern of woodsmen and conservation officers this time of the year is usually snowstorms, but for the past week there's been a forest fire hazard in the Upper Peninsula.

During the week four blazes burned 1.3 acres of land in the U.P. state protection area.

That made a total of 485 blazes, which have burned 2,392.2 acres of land in the area for the year. By comparison, in the same period last year, there were 233 fires, blackening 513.7 acres of land.

John A. Anguill, Marquette, assistant regional supervisor of the field administration division, Michigan Department of Conservation, said there were three blazes in this, the Escanaba District, which includes Marquette and Delta Counties, and the west half of Alger County, burning .3 of an acre of land.

There were no blazes reported in the Baraga District (comprised of Baraga, Gogebic, Houghton, Keweenaw and Ontonagon Counties), with the district having 115 fires, blackening 471.5 acres of land, so far this season.

In the Crystal Falls District (Iron, Dickinson and Menominee Counties), there was one blaze, burning one acre of land, in the past week. For the year, 130 fires blackened 702.3 acres in the district.

In the Newberry District (Luce, Mackinac, Schoolcraft and Chippewa Counties, and the east half of Alger County,) there were no blazes reported. So far the district has had 102 fires, blackening 702.7 acres of land.

Battery Of Statistics Tells Dramatic Story Of How City's Bypass Was Built

Heavy equipment worth more than a million dollars and the brains and muscles of more than 200 men built Marquette's bypass.

They put two and a half million pounds of steel into bridge structures. They used 103,000 sacks of cement to pave 64,000 square yards of nine-inch thick concrete.

Weather Cooperated

Even the weather pitched in. "If we hadn't had such unusually fine weather, Marquette wouldn't have had a bypass this fall," Jack Fortier, superintendent for the prime contractor, Bacco Construction Co. of Iron Mountain, said.

The result is a four-lane highway which runs 1.7 miles from S. Front St. to the west city limits, with a 200-foot right-of-way and overpass at Champion and Altamont Sts., a crossing at grade at Grove St., a railroad overpass at the west city limits and four ramps at the east end and two at the west end varying in length from 200 to 500 feet.

Earth, Rock Excavations

A total of 700,000 cubic yards of earth and 14,000 cubic yards of rock was excavated for the bypass.

In addition to the 64,000 square yards of concrete pavement, 3,200 cubic yards of concrete went into the overpasses. At the railroad overpass, 1,250 cubic yards of concrete went into the west abutment alone.

Besides the two and a half million pounds of steel used in the structures, 65,872 square yards of steel reinforcements went into the pavement.

Drainage Operations

Driven into the ground to support the structures were 1,644 lineal feet of steel piles at the Champion St. overpass and 1,339 lineal feet of steel piles at the Altamont St. overpass.

Crews laid 5,000 lineal feet of curb and gutter and 3,500

lineal feet of cross culverts for drainage under the route. Sixty-seven structures, such as manholes, catchbasins and inlets, were placed along the route.

There will be 6,000 lineal feet of steel beam guard rail, 60,000 square yards of sod laid on the slopes and 50,000 tons of aggregate placed as a sub-base under the concrete and road shoulders.

Frost Prevention

To prevent frost heave, 2,500 cubic yards of fine silt are being removed from five feet below grade.

Supervising the work were 20 engineers and inspectors from the State Highway Department, working under Earl Numinen, Michigamme, project engineer.

The prime contractor had a 25-man dirt crew working from spring to fall and a 50-man concrete crew. The pavers alone worked a total of 14,000 man hours, including three weeks on the main portion, two weeks on S. Front St., one week at the west end and a week of setting up and moving.

Equipment Costs

About 50 per cent of the prime contractor's employees were full-time Bacco employees. The remainder were hired from the Marquette area.

For the paving, Bacco used batching equipment, including bins and cement silos worth $50,000, a $40,000 crane, six $18,000 trucks to haul the batches and a $50,000 paver. Finishing equipment, such as levelers, used by Bacco is worth $40,000.

For the dirt operations, Bacco used five shovels worth $40,000 apiece, 16 trucks worth $18,000 apiece, six tractors worth $35,000 apiece, four $60,000 scrapers and a $70,000 push-cat.

Busy Ore Shipping Season For Soo Line Ends Thursday

A busy ore shipping season will end for the Soo Line Railroad Co. here tomorrow after the Willard Sykes is loaded.

Soo Line Dock Agent Charles Francisco said this morning that the Sykes is scheduled to dock at approximately noon tomorrow.

The Sykes, the second largest ship in the Inland Steel Co. fleet, is scheduled to take on more than 18,000 tons at the Soo Line dock.

Friday the carrier which holds the record for the largest cargo ever carried through the Soo Locks, will load at the Lake Superior and Ishpeming Railroad Co. dock here.

The ship is the Edward L. Ryerson, largest ship in Inland Steel Co.'s fleet. She carried 24,770 gross tons of ore, loaded at Superior, Wis., through the locks last year for a Soo Locks record.

The Ryerson is scheduled to arrive at the LS&I dock at 3 a.m., Friday, Dock Agent Harry K. Nelsen said. She is expected to take on around 19,000 tons of iron ore.

The Ryerson is 730 feet long and has a beam of 75 feet. The Sykes is 690 feet long and has a beam of 70 feet.

The LS&I's shipping season will extend beyond this week.

Now—'64 Chevy II . . . with a V8 engine

Now you see it. Now you don't. When a Chevy II does that kind of disappearing act you know without looking twice: It's a '64 with a V8 engine.

That's right. A full-grown 195-hp Turbo-Fire V8.* It's available for the first time this year along with a choice of three other engines—the standard 4 (in 100 Series sedans), the standard 6 and a new 155-hp 6.* (And all of them, happily, maintain their high spirits on modest amounts of regular gasoline.)

You can take this V8 through the gears most any way you choose — with personal encouragement from a finely honed 4-speed shift* if you like.

But the changes that have come over this new Chevy II aren't by any means confined to what happens when you slip into the driver's seat.

There are new styling features like the tasteful grille design and trim accents, for instance. And the larger self-adjusting brakes that further reduce upkeep on a car that already has a reputation of coming about as close to perpetual motion as anything on four wheels can get.

The place to get the full details on the '64 is your Chevrolet dealer's. And after you've got them, we hope you'll attend to one further detail yourself. Drive it.

Opening Of Bypass: A New Era

Tomorrow the U. S. 41 and M-28 Marquette route relocation, or bypass, as it is commonly referred to, will be officially opened to traffic. It is an event for which many area persons, particularly those interested in traffic safety and in the modernization of highway travel, have waited a long time.

Since shortly after World War II, Marquette city and civic officials have endeavored to have the Michigan State Highway Department construct the bypass. There were many stumbling blocks along the way, and, due to the size and nature of the project, a lot of planning and engineering were required before the work could be started. Construction began a little more than a year ago; tomorrow motorists will be able to drive on the bypass.

Agitation for the route relocation (so called because it actually does not bypass the entire city) began to pick up momentum here as it became more and more evident that "something had to be done" about the city's busiest intersection, at Front and Washington Sts., which has been perhaps the most hazardous one in the Upper Peninsula and one of the most dangerous in Michigan. Poor visibility from some approaches, hazardous driving during adverse weather conditions and the snail's pace traffic during the noon and other rush hours accentuated the problem.

Further aggravating the situation was the fact that all big trucks or truck-trailers, traveling north on S. Front St., were difficult to handle, because of through traffic from the north having the right-of-way. The situation often reached a dangerous point (i.e., a collision involving a gasoline truck there could immobilize the heart of the downtown district, and a resultant explosion or fire could cause heavy damages and loss of lives.)

Opening of the bypass to traffic tomorrow means that a big share of the city's downtown traffic problem, especially in relation to the Front-Washington Sts. intersection, will be eased. Henceforth, all "long distance traffic" (highway department terminology for vehicles not stopping in the city) will proceed through this area without going into the business district. Only those travelers desiring to enter Marquette will go beyond the feeder lanes for the bypass, which links U. S. 41 and M-28 from the west city limits, in the Brewery Location, to the state trunkline at a point just south of Palms St. Traffic in the downtown area will be much smoother, and the elimination of outside traffic couldn't begin at a more opportune time (during the holiday shopping season, when traffic is heavy enough to begin with).

Although running only 1.7 miles, the bypass encompassed a vast amount of preparation, including the soundings required for setting up plans and specifications, acquisition of right-of-way, public hearings and traffic studies. The four-lane divided highway isn't all of the story. Two big overpasses had to be constructed, at the Alhambra and Champion Sts. crossings. An over-pass also had to be erected (under a separate contract) for the Soo Line Railroad Co. crossing, at the west end of the city. There is only one other crossing, for vehicular traffic, at grade, on Grove St.

Bids were received on Tuesday, Oct. 2, 1962, in Houghton. Bacco Construction Co. of Iron Mountain submitted the low proposal on the general contract, which it later was awarded, in the amount of $1,082,000. A Detroit combine (Nolan, Jarvick, Marks and Argersinger-Morse Construction Co.) submitted the low bid for the railroad overpass, at $350,000. Work began shortly thereafter. The railroad overpass was opened last month. Tomorrow, as noted, the bypass will be open to traffic. These are all facts now, and they appear relatively simple and undramatic, but there were many times in the past decade when Marquette city and civic leaders wondered if the construction project ever would come to pass.

Because of the fact that the highway department is headed by a political figure, there inevitably is a certain amount of politics involved in highway construction, notwithstanding the fact that Michigan's highways are regarded as being among the finest in the nation. We don't mean to imply that there had to be a "political deal" involved to get the bypass. The need for the Marquette bypass was long recognized and the work endorsed by highway department personnel. But the inevitable red tape had to be punctured, and the process was further hampered by the fact that the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads pays for part of the construction, so federal viewpoints had to be considered.

Marquette leaders were becoming a bit impatient; they were constantly aware of the situation. The highway department had a long-range program to contend with, and it viewed the matter from a broad statewide aspect. Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie sent two of his representatives here in July 1959 to meet with city and civic officials regarding the bypass. A promise of construction by 1961, but a hint of reduction of the bypass to two lanes, were disclosed. City leaders protested vehemently.

Then a public hearing on the bypass (required in all such cases) was held here, on Feb. 24, 1960, with powerful support registered for the project. Decisions to have the highway constructed as soon as possible and to follow the so-called Whetstone Brook route were made, and things looked brighter.

There followed some usual snags. The city (understandably so) attempted to have another overpass built, at Grove St., rather than to have the crossing there be at grade (an intersection). This request required a study by the state and a discussion with the federal officials involved, and was an example of one of the several delays encountered. There had been times earlier when resentment was said to exist among some merchants, fearing a loss of business, but they were in a distinct minority. Furthermore, studies proved that bypasses actually increased business within a community, since those travelers wanting to stop could now do so without having annoying traffic to contend with. The ground swell for the bypass was in operation.

Progress was now being made rapidly. The contracts were let and work commenced. A sweeping change came about in the south area of Marquette. The Michigan State Highway Department is to be congratulated for completion of an outstanding project. The contractors, such as Bacco, and others involved are likewise to be commended. Background of the Marquette bypass is now history. A new era will be launched tomorrow.

The National Whirligig News Behind The News

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — At this point, the one thing that can be said about the 1964 presidential campaign without fear of successful contradiction is that everybody's in trouble. Depending upon where you look, there are soft spots for all the candidates; the natives are restless.

President Kennedy admits that he'll lose some votes in the South as a result of his civil rights program. Right now, it looks as if "some" means a lot; he could lose the entire Solid South. Meanwhile, his northern strongpoints are being eroded by increasing unhappiness in the suburbs, where home owners are resisting a feared intrusion of the Negro, who used to be only a southern problem. All the polls so far have shown that the Northerner is opposed to any civil rights bill that calls for association with his black countrymen. Texas Moves North In Texas, which Kennedy carried by only 45,000 votes in 1960, the Republican trend continues. The voters crushed a proposal to eliminate the poll tax as a requirement for voting, a ploy Democrats had hoped would fatten their slender margin. There have been four Republican victories in special congressional elections this year, and a GOP candidate won a place in an election runoff for a fifth seat previously held by a Democrat.

But the Republicans are in a fix, too—and one that could hurt them even more than the race question is hurting the President. The Goldwater-Rockefeller rivalry has so divided the party that GOP politicians are privately admitting it may be impossible to unite the party behind any candidate.

Goldwater Leads In South It seems clear that Goldwater is the South's favorite son. Republican National Chairman William E. Miller, who does his best to remain neutral, says Goldwater could win all 137 of Dixie's electoral votes—just over half of the 270 needed for election. But everybody admits Goldwater will have to scramble for that last half, and few Republican professionals believe he can do it.

Generally, the big northern states with their bulging bag of electoral votes are suspicious of if not hostile to the Arizona conservative. There is not much difference between a Republican moderate and a Democrat liberal in the North, and on the record most of the GOP moderates would vote for a Democrat like Kennedy rather than a downright conservative like Goldwater's stripe. They want to keep the moderately liberal image of Dwight D. Eisenhower, for which they fought the hard fight in 1962.

Rockefeller's Problem On the other hand, it is conceded that any Republican candidate will have to cut into the Democratic pie in the South to beat Kennedy—and that is Rockefeller's problem. At the Southern Republican Leadership Conference in Charleston, S. C., most of the Dixie leaders indicated they would sit on their hands if Rockefeller won the nomination over their idol. Miller pleaded and cajoled and eventually announced the Southerners would unite behind the GOP candidate, no matter who he was, but this is amiable claptrap. The South is not Republican, it is pro-Goldwater, and it abhors the civil rights stand of Rockefeller as ferociously as it does that of the President.

This poses a problem even for those plumping for a compromise candidate. Dick Nixon is pro-civil rights, and so are Govs. Romney of Michigan and Scranton of Pennsylvania. On the only issue that matters—the racial question—all three would be indistinguishable in the South from John F. Kennedy. While gloating over Kennedy's political wounds, the Republicans had better give a thought to binding up their own.

Body Minerals The average man's body has enough carbon for 9,000 lead pencils, enough sulphur to rid a dog of fleas, enough fat to make seven cakes of soap and enough iron to make a single fair-sized nail.

It was Helen Rowland who observed, "It takes one woman 20 years to make a man of her son, and another woman 20 minutes to make a fool of him."

Rockefeller's Candidacy

By JOSEPH ALSOP
NEW YORK — A great many practical politicians write off Nelson A. Rockefeller's presidential candidacy as a mere symptom of the same mania that has driven poor Harold Stassen to go on making candidates-like noises, in more and more humiliating and ridiculous circumstances, for so many years on end.

In reality, however, this Rockefeller candidacy is a serious and remarkably interesting political phenomenon, as anyone can discover who bothers to try to understand the New York governor's motives. Ambition, of which he has a surplus, is the most obvious motive; and his ambition is powerfully encouraged by his innate optimism.

Personal Rule-Of-Thumb Yet even Nelson Rockefeller's desire for the great prize, and his tendency to believe that he can win any prize he really tries for are not enough to explain his decision to damn the torpedoes and go full speed ahead into the New Hampshire and California primaries. The odds against him in these primaries are in fact heavier than he has ever been willing to accept in the past.

He used to have a personal rule-of-thumb that if he had a 40 per cent chance and the other fellow had a 60 per cent chance, the contest was worth the gamble; but if his chance was below 40 per cent, the gamble was too bad. Thus in New York, he waited and worked and polled again and again, until his pollsters showed him splitting the state's vote 40-60 with Gov. Averell Harriman. Thereupon he said, in effect, "That's good enough," and he made his challenge.

He is now breaking his own rule-of-thumb, however. The pollsters hired by Lloyd Free, his staff member in charge of opinion-testing, report that in trial runs against Sen. Barry Goldwater, Rockefeller is currently getting "a bit" less than 40 per cent of the New Hampshire Republican vote and "quite a bit" less than 40 per cent of the California vote.

Another Motive Besides Ambition But there is another motive, besides ambition, which has driven Rockefeller to defy the odds. He has his share of what an impatient business associate once called "that damned Rockefeller do-goodism." In this case, this do-goodism mainly takes the form of convictions, on a few subjects like national defense, that are much more strongly held than most politicians' convictions.

One of these pivotal subjects happens to be civil rights. The first John D. Rockefeller's mother ran a station on the Underground Railroad, and strong feelings on this subject are in the blood, so to say.

In the present instance, moreover, Gov. Rockefeller is strongly and perfectly logically persuaded that the nomination of Sen. Goldwater with his "Southern strategy," as the senator calls it, will make the Republican party in truth the "lily-white party," as some of Goldwater's leading supporters have openly boasted.

Has Double Purpose This, Rockefeller is grimly determined to stop at all costs. "Win, lose, or draw in New Hampshire and California," as he has put it, he will carry his fight to the Republican convention. But if he loses both primaries to Goldwater, Rockefeller will go to the convention, not with real hope of being nominated, but with the unshakable aim of getting the kind of Republican civil rights plank that cannot possibly be combined with the Goldwater Southern strategy.

Thus the Rockefeller candidacy has a double purpose — to win the nomination for himself if possible, and to stop the Republican party from lending aid and comfort to the white supremacist who form a large element in Sen. Goldwater's political army. If Rockefeller fails to attain his first purpose, he is convinced he can still attain his second purpose. And he still hopes to attain the first.

"I think this thing is going to go very well," he says, with obvious sincerity. "I think I'm going to win in both New Hampshire and California."

Discomfiture Of Sen. Keating On this head, it is well to remember the story of the discomfiture of Sen. Kenneth Keating. At the Republican state convention in 1958, when Rockefeller was twisting Keating's arm to get him to take the Senate place on the New York state ticket, he kept telling Keating as a great talking point: "The polls show I'm sure to beat Harriman!"

After the hurly-burly of the convention was over, Keating then asked to be allowed to study these famous polls. He was more than a little discomfited to discover that the most recent poll showed Harriman ahead of Rockefeller by a 60-40 ratio.

With some acerbity, Keating therefore asked Rockefeller just what the devil he had meant by saying that the polls showed a sure win. "But, Ken," Rockefeller answered, opened up with astonishment, "you've got it all wrong. I've gone up every time we've polled. It is a sure win — even though I haven't quite overtaken Harriman yet."

In that case, Rockefeller turned out to be right. In the present case, as above noted, the New Hampshire-California odds against Rockefeller are substantially heavier than in 1958, and if he loses these primaries he cannot conceivably be nominated. But the odds on Rockefeller's attaining his second purpose are actually in his favor.

Peninsula Perambulator

Ten Lower Michigan hunters will think twice about sitting down to a camp meal of illegal venison. The 10 did it at a camp at Witch Lake, in southwestern Marquette County, and it cost them over $66 per plate. They were arrested by conservation officers and pleaded guilty to possession of illegal venison — four paying $50 fine and $7.30 costs each in Quinnessee Justice Court and the other six paying $50 fine and $6.70 costs each when arraigned before a justice in Republic.

Views Of Others

OUT OF THE THROES
Revolutions are not to be undertaken lightly. There is too much blood, too many high hopes and fine ideals to whose attainment mind and body are committed.

The revolution which swept the corrupt Diem regime from power in South Viet Nam is no exception. Those who planned it and executed it carry with them the high hopes of the great majority of their countrymen. True, this revolution was not accomplished without bloodshed — few revolutions are — but the cost in blood and sacrifices will be justified if the victorious revolutionaries put into effect the democratic reforms there is reason to expect that they will.

The military control over South Viet Nam must be something temporary. Civil rulers drawn from the ranks of the Vietnamese themselves must organize a new government along democratic lines. They must do so promptly, for it will not do to have one dictatorship overthrow another.

If the Vietnamese have learned anything in the last few years, they must have learned that corruption and dictatorship go hand in hand, whether the dictatorship be that of a ruling class or family or a political party. The revolution has opened the way to set up democratic rule in South Viet Nam. There is too much invested in human lives and hopes to permit anything short of genuine democracy to prevail. — The Morning Record (Meriden, Conn.)

Bypass To Cut Travel Time By 20 Minutes

A bypass that will carry traffic around the business district of the Upper Peninsula's largest city will be opened to traffic tomorrow.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, Marquette Mayor C. Fred Rydholm, Chamber of Commerce President Harlon J. Larson, other city and county officials and two beauty queens will participate in dedication ceremonies.

Luncheon Speaker

Mackie will be principal speaker at a luncheon afterwards.

The $1.7 million bypass will eliminate one of the Upper Peninsula's worst traffic bottlenecks.

Through traffic on highways U. S.-41 and M-28 must now pass through the heart of Marquette's heavily congested downtown area. Marquette has a population of 20,000.

The bypass will reduce travel time for through traffic from 15 to 20 minutes.

The new four-lane, divided highway starts at Front St. and parallels Fisher and Wilson Sts. to the west city limits, where it connects with a four-lane, divided highway now in use between Marquette and Negaunee. Total length of the new highway is 1.9 miles and it includes overpasses at Champion and Altamont Sts. and a railroad overpass at the Soo Line railroad crossing.

The present route of U. S.-41 and M-28 travels through the downtown area. On Washington St. and Front St., parking is permitted on both sides of both streets, allowing only one stone Creek has been relocated under the median centerline at the east end of the bypass, and the existing structure under S. Front and Champion Sts. was removed. The problem was that the old 72-inch culvert which carried the creek underneath S. Front St. was 10 feet lower than the structure to be put in.

"The conversion from the old culvert to the new one was solved by an ingenious method of running the creek through part of the old structure and part of the new structure while the remaining part of the old structure was removed and the new one was being put in," Earl Numinen, Michigan State Highway Department senior project engineer said.

lane traffic movement in either direction.

At the intersection of Washington and Front, the present route turns, causing considerable congestion and difficulty for turning trucks.

Attracted 'Rock-Hounds'

One of the highlights of the project was the blasting and removal of about 7,000 cubic yards of rock.

The work attracted "rock-hounds" from throughout the Midwest who carefully went through the blasted rubble in their search for unusual stones.

Contracts on the project were let in October of 1962. The Bacco Construction Co. of Iron Mountain submitted the low bid of $1,082,000 to build the highway and the Champion and

Altamont Sts. overpasses, Numinen Project Engineer

Four Detroit construction companies — E. C. Nolan, Jarvick, K. G. Marks and Argersinger-Morse — submitted a joint bid of $349,028 to build the Soo Line railroad overpass. Right-of-way and engineering costs on the project amounted to about $300,000.

Earl Numinen of Michigan was road project engineer on the job. Edward P. Sabatta of Iron River and John Michaels of Ontonagon were the bridge project engineers.

Public Invited

The public is invited to attend the ribbon-cutting ceremony (at 11:30 a.m.) at the Champion St. overpass and to join in a motorcade which will drive the new highway after it has been opened to traffic.

The two queens who will participate are Marcia Williams, Miss Marquette of 1963, and Mary Ellen McGuire, Miss Cliffs Ridge Ski Area.

Arrangements for the dedication ceremonies are being made by the Marquette Chamber of Commerce.

In 1960, more than 150 years after its independence, Haiti's total trade was $70 million a year.

Welfare Men Support Plan Of Governor

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney's disclosure Tuesday that he will seek a new ADC-U law for the state brought immediate response from welfare officials at the Michigan Welfare League conference.

Such a law was passed by the 1963 Legislature in hopes of enabling Michigan to get federal funds under the Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed program.

But the law was found discriminatory by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley and the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare because of the contention that its definition of "unem-

played" was too restrictive. Director Approves

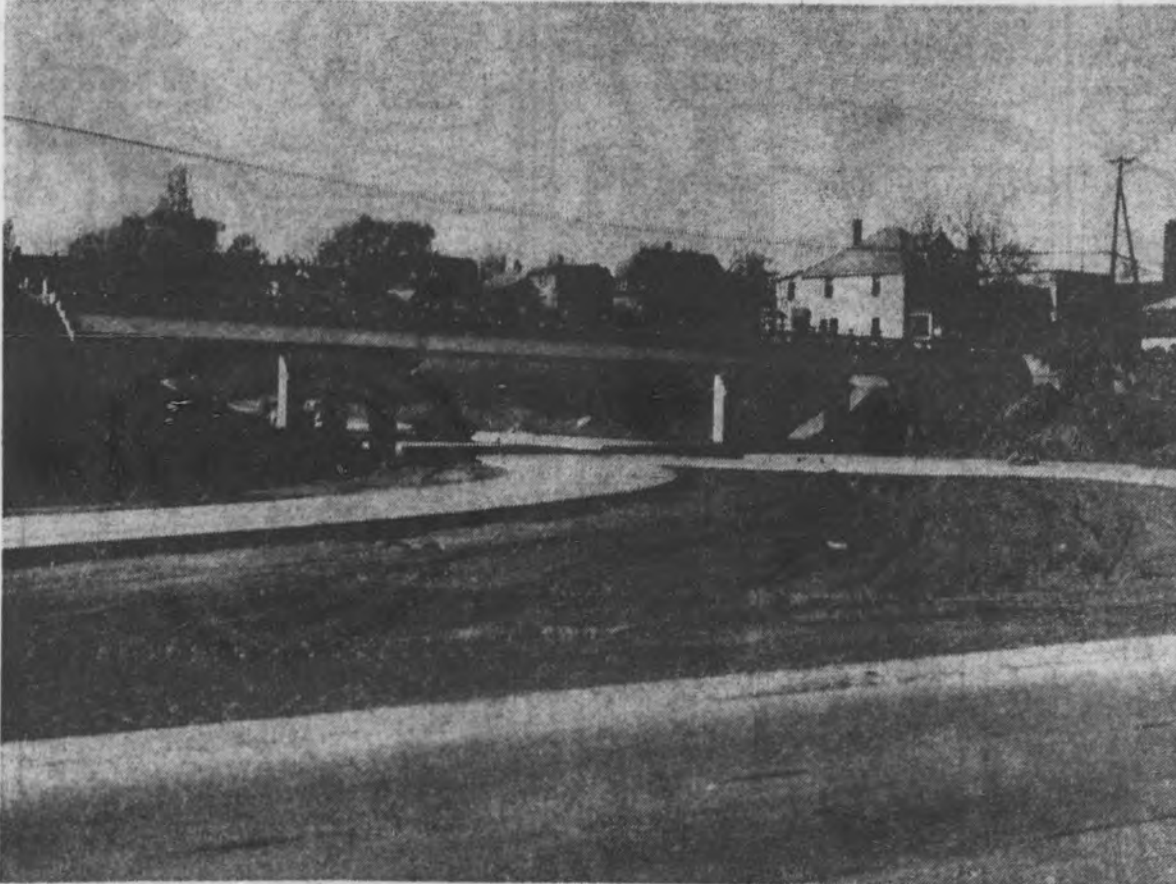

Bernard Houston, director of the Department of Social Welfare, said "I thoroughly approve of both the Governor's and the welfare commission's motion to seek an acceptable ADC-U bill." Houston said participation in the federal program could bring from $3 to $10 million in federal funds into the state, depending on two variables—the definition of "unemployed" set up by the law and the economic climate in the state.

Works On Bill

The department, following an October motion by the Welfare Commission, has been working on an ADC-U bill. Houston said the bill has not been drafted yet.

A Detroit commission member, Mrs. Charles Whitten, expressed her approval of the move to seek a new bill and a conference speaker, Erwin Simon of Detroit, noted "the ADC-U conflict apparently is on the way to being resolved."

Cut Finger Lone Injury In Construction Of Bypass

Only one construction worker on the Marquette bypass job suffered a lost-time accident.

The one accident occurred during the last week of paving when a member of the prime contractor's concrete crew lost two days because of a cut finger. And although 14,000 cubic yards of quartz were excavated by blasting, the most serious damage was a few incidental plaster cracks in homes.

Unusual Situation

Highway engineers and contractors are used to building roads through rock, but in Marquette they found an unusual situation, the proximity of homes to the blasting sites.

Superintendent of blasting for Bacco Construction Co. was Darryl Boren of Melrose Park, Ill. He and his crew blasted along the route from Grove St. to S. Front St. and 200 to 300 yards at the site of the railroad overpass.

Seismograph Used

"Boren virtually had to blast underneath houses. The rocky areas near homes and St. Mary's Hospital were as extreme conditions as you can get for blasting," Jack Fortier, Iron Mountain, superintendent for Bacco Construction Co., said.

Bacco's insurance company, Michigan Mutual Liability Insurance Co., had men on hand during the blasting to register the blast shocks with a seismograph, the same apparatus that is used to measure the shocks of an earthquake.

The insurance men used a standard of seven-tenths of one gravitational unit as the amount of permissible shock, and at no time did Boren's shock waves exceed six-tenths of one "G." "That takes a lot of skill," Fortier said.

Another unusual problem faced by the bypass contractor was the relocation of Whetstone Creek at the S. Front St. intersection.

About 1,000 feet of Whet-

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl of 14 and I love to play football. I have quite a few friends who play tackle football with me every Friday and Saturday night. If girls can play tackle football as well as boys, and are willing to take the chance of getting hurt, why don't they let girls play on the team?

LEFT OUT

DEAR LEFT: Its bad enough when a BOY gets his teeth kicked out. Contact sports are NOT for young ladies. You'll have to learn how to intercept a pass some other way.

DEAR ABBY: I was recently married to a divorced man who has one married daughter living out of the state. She didn't take it very well when she heard that her father had remarried. Now she wants us to come to visit her, but I am not so sure I want to go unless I know that I will be accepted. My husband refuses to go without me and he says he is certain that I will be treated with respect. Please rush your answer to me as my husband has a new grandson he has never seen and is eager to make the trip.

won't listen to me. Most of the things he has brought home are expensive, but he has absolutely no use for them. They're just hidden away. I have lost respect for him. He has always been a clean and honest man. I can't understand it. If I turn him in, he'll lose his job and our children will be disgraced. He reads DEAR ABBY. Maybe he will listen to you.

THIEF'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Your husband appears to be a sick man. A thief takes things he wants and needs. A kleptomaniac has a compulsion to take things whether he needs them or not. I urge you to get your husband to a doctor. Psychiatrists have been able to cure kleptomania. A kleptomaniac is as morally blameless as, say a diabetic.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ARTHUR: Don't say you "hate" dancing if you don't know how. Learn, and then decide.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

U.P. Group Elects New Officers

Three Marquette women were elected to offices by members of the Upper Peninsula Crafts Council at a recent meeting held in Munising.

Elected unanimously were Mrs. Anita Meyland, chairman; Mrs. Ruth Salmon, community development consultant at Northern Michigan University, vice chairman and conference chairman, and Mrs. Betty Shirtz, secretary-treasurer.

Charles Follo, Escanaba, director, University of Michigan Extension Services, will continue to serve as editor of the council's "Crafts Chatter."

Members also decided to establish committees to study the possibilities of increasing marketing opportunities for crafts in the U. P., to institute training classes in crafts, to inaugurate a craftsmen's fair next year, and to explore means of surveying the U. P. for the purpose of identifying other craftsmen who are not known to the council.

A special meeting, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Salmon, was held Saturday on the NMU campus. Institutions of higher learning represented at the meeting, in addition to Northern Michigan State University, University of Michigan, and Michigan Tech.

Mrs. Andrews To Address Women's Club

Members of the Marquette Business and Professional Women's Club will meet for dinner at 6:15 p.m. Thursday in the Federated Women's Clubhouse.

Hostesses for the meeting are Clara Bell, Mildred Bennett and Violet Dalles. Inez Hancock, chairman of the program committee for this month's meeting, has announced that Mrs. Mildred Andrews, divisional supervisor for Wadell and Reed, Inc., will speak to club members on "Investments."

A business meeting also will be held, and further plans will be made for the club's annual doll festival to be held on Thursday, Dec. 5, in the Federated Women's Clubhouse.

Necklines Low Down This Season

Anybody who has the lowdown on Christian Dior designer Mark Bohan's low-low down necklines is aware that no young lady dares lean over to pick up her own handkerchief this season. In New York the celebrities are making the rounds of American designers in search of bosom-revealing cocktail and dinner gowns, and with good luck.

Besides plunging V's and deep U's, are also necklines that slash to the midriff, sending male blood pressure soaring. The safest low-neck version around is the garment district Hannah Troy's with a drawing that ties up the modesty problem nicely.

The Ishpeming Duplicate Bridge Club will host an individual tournament Wednesday, Dec. 4.

Play will be preceded by a 1:30 lunch served at the Matheson Inn.

Trophies will be awarded, and reservations should be made with Mrs. Makela by Nov. 30.

Miss Betty Ann Niemi, Milwaukee, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gold satin street-length dress and matching headpiece. Her bouquet of white mums was trimmed with gold ribbon.

The groom chose his brother, John LaChance, Perkins, as his attendant.

A reception for 300 guests was held in the Legion Hall in Perkins.

Stine-Wilbee Wedding Held In Trenary

TRENARY — The Rev. Aloysius Hasenberg officiated at the double ring ceremony recently when Joan Delores Stine and Wesley Wilbee exchanged wedding vows. The ceremony was performed in St. Rita's rectory, Trenary.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Stine of Trenary, and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wilbee of Rapid River.

Honor attendants for the couple were the bride's sister, Carol Stine, and a friend of the bridegroom, Paul Roberts.

The bride's white floor-length gown of tissue taffeta and lace was fashioned with a fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and a sequin and pearl trimmed Sabrina neckline. The controlled skirt, with front lace panel, had a back detail of ruffles edged with lace. A handmade pearl crown with crystals held her bouffant veil of imported silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and mums with red roses and trailing ivy.

The maid of honor wore a turquoise taffeta dress with a round neckline, three-quarter-length sleeves and a matching headpiece. Her flowers were white mums and yellow carnations.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Stine wore a blue and green printed silk dress with green accessories. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a beige sheath dress with cranberry red accessories. Both mothers were presented with corsages of white carnations and baby roses.

A reception and dance were held in the American Legion Hall in Rapid River. The newlyweds will live at 1302 Lake Shore Drive in Gladstone.

Spring Fashions Boast Independent Designs

NEW YORK (AP) — American fashion's little French girl, Pauline Trigere, recently introduced a spring collection as independent as Charles de Gaulle himself.

Not at all concerned that other American designers are nipping in waistslines again for spring, Miss Trigere created a soft silhouette that "allows a woman to have a martini or a dessert now and then."

New Shoe Fashions Will Begin At Sole

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK — The person whose gaze is riveted to her feet is not necessarily bashful. In all likelihood she is merely admiring her shoes.

Smart women everywhere are now watching their footing carefully, for this is the year that fashion really starts at the sole.

It is a rare season in which current styles do not automatically mark the shoes with temporary distinction and early extinction.

How can they when anything goes in shoe design that has ever gone before?

Toes are not just round, or just pointed, or just oval, or just just squared. They are any of these things, and in fashion. Heels are not just sculptured, or just stacked, or just Louis. They are any of these, as well as any height, from flat to steep for evening.

Today the styles do not pretend to be new, but delight in being borrowed. Culling the best from all centuries, decades, or fashion phases, the designers revived and revised the Roman

When they enrolled at Michigan Avenue elementary school, Brenda and Linda were put in one room and Glenda in another.

Lunch Together — "She's a little bossy," says Mrs. Ramsey of Glenda. "That's one reason for separating her from the others."

But at lunchtime, teachers say, "They hug and hold hands like long lost friends when they meet."

"They've always done everything together," says Mrs. Ramsey. "When they were little, I used to carry them all at the same time. I gave them their bottles at the same time, changed their diapers at the same time and dressed them alike."

Missed At Home — Now that they're at school, Mrs. Ramsey says, "I nearly go crazy. I miss them so much. Their little brother misses them, too."

The brother is Kenneth, 4, one of the six Ramsey children. The others are William Thomas Jr., 11, and Danny, 9. But if things are dull at home, the girls' teachers agree on one thing: "There's never a dull moment when those kids are around."

Approved By City School Board:

Township Vote On Annexation To Ishpeming District Slated

ISHPEMING — A request by Ishpeming Township School Board to the Ishpeming Board of Education to consider the possibility of annexation of the township school district to the city school district has met with approval by Ishpeming School Board members.

A school district reorganization bill which would require all school districts to such offer a program has been introduced into the Legislature.

Gerald Anderson, president of the township board, said: "From all indications, the bill will be passed in the near future." He added that board members believe it would be better to permit voters of Ishpeming Township to express their views rather than be forced by law to make a change. Tuition Payments Cut "Last year the Legislature made a drastic cut in the state contribution toward tuition payments," Anderson said. "We received $1,221.65 as compared with $11,796.11 which we received the previous year.

"This action was taken to promote school district reorganization. However, it makes it difficult for districts such as ours to continue to operate with a decrease of over $10,000 in state tuition payments."

The township board pointed out that over 200 students are attending Ishpeming city schools this year and estimates that an additional 20 to 30 students will be added next year.

Tax Outlook "If the voters of Ishpeming Township give their consent to the annexation proposal, no local tax increases will be necessary in the near future," Anderson said. "On the other hand, if the voters reject the proposal, a substantial increase in millage for operating purposes will have to be approved at the annual school election in June."

Further details will be discussed at an open meeting to be scheduled prior to a special election in February. The township board encourages all parents to attend this meeting and to take an active interest because it will be an important step in determining the future of their schools.

Deer In Locker Plant

Despite poor hunting conditions, large numbers of deer have been taken in Baraga County this season, with the best success reported in the Huron Mountain and Baraga Plains areas. Shown above inspecting the seal on a hefty eight-pointer is Gilbert Grant, owner and operator of the frozen food plant in Baraga. Over 2000 deer have been taken to the locker for processing. One of the larger bucks downed in the area to date is a 14-pointer which dressed out at 205 pounds, shot by Stewart Delene of Covington.

In recorder's court here Heikkila was assessed $80 in fine and costs and Wetherell $60 for illegal nighttime hunting.

Two Youths, 18, Fined, Jailed In Delinquency Case

MUNISING — Two 18-year-old youths arraigned in justice court in Manistique Monday pleaded guilty to charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor girl.

Water Department Problem Not Alarming, Larsen Told

MUNISING — A special meeting of the city commission was held last night to review problems of the water department outlined by City Manager Richard Larsen at the last regular meeting.

In this report, Larsen pointed out that the entire water system was in dire need of repair and attention and estimated the cost of such repairs at $29,040.

Mayor Leo Garrity told Larsen that the commission was aware of the condition of the water department, but that the situation was not as alarming as it appeared. He also stated that the commission several years ago had put into effect a program whereby many water lines have been renewed and repaired and meters checked and replaced or repaired when necessary.

The mayor and the commission indicated that a rate increase at this time was not necessary and that an effort must be made to first correct all faulty meters with available funds. The last increase in water rates in the City of Munising went into effect in 1956, when a 75 cent discount for bills paid within 30 days was dropped.

The city manager was authorized to purchase and install 52 meters at an estimated cost of $3,362 and nine hydrants at $1,260, and to make repairs on water service lines in the city where, in his opinion, it was absolutely necessary. He also was requested to give a full report on the condition of the city water tank at the next meeting Dec. 9.

Larsen reported to the commission that delinquent water accounts now total $3,434. Of this amount, arrangements have been made by customers to pay $1,687, leaving $1,747 to be collected.

Tipsy Driver, 9 Violators Of Game Laws, Two Others Fined $430.50 In L'Anse

L'ANSE — Justice Steven J. Markovich levied fines and court costs totaling $430.50 against 12 persons arraigned in his court the past week and sent four of them to jail.

William Klemetti, 53, Pelkie, arrested on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, was ordered to pay a $50 fine plus $9.60 court costs. As in all drunk driving convictions, Klemetti's operator's license was revoked for a period of at least 90 days. He was arrested by state police

Sunday night on M-35 west of Baraga.

David Niemi, 42, South Range paid $50 and $8.30 for shining and attempting to kill deer at night near Arnheim, north of Keweenaw Bay. This is Niemi's second conviction on a conservation charge this season.

Arrested with him was William F. Seiler, 22, Houghton, who also paid $50 and $8.30 for shining and attempting to kill deer.

Roger D. Kent, 18, and John LaPlante, 17, both of L'Anse, and Peter F. Zurek, 34, Detroit, were ordered to pay $25 fines plus $8.30 court costs each or spend 20 days in the county jail for game law violations. Kent was charged with shining deer with a spot light; LaPlante with possession of an uncased gun and an artificial light in an auto, and Zurek with possession of an uncased gun in a car and with shining deer. The three were arrested by conservation officers near Skanee after midnight last Friday morning.

Williams Named In Mom's Will

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Henry P. Williams, mother of former Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams, left a will bequeathing the bulk of her $1 million estate to her nine grandchildren, it was revealed Tuesday.

A petition accompanying the will, filed for probate, lists a personal estate of more than $1 million and real estate worth $50,000.

One Of Wealthiest

Mrs. Williams, 80, died Saturday. Her funeral was Tuesday. She long had been regarded as among the United States' 10 wealthiest women because of her holdings in the Mennen Co. of Newark, N.J., a firm founded by her father.

Under terms of the will, Mrs. Williams' stock will go in equal shares to her grandchildren to provide for their care, maintenance and education.

Trust Funds

Mrs. Williams directed the remainder of the estate be set up in trust funds for her nine grandchildren. They are to receive the principal of their trust funds when they become 28.

Mrs. Williams' real estate and home furnishings will go to her three sons — G. Mennen Williams, now assistant secretary of state for African affairs; Richard E. Williams of Grosse Pointe Farms, and Henry P. Williams of Glenwood Springs, Colo.

Residents File Suit Against Sewage Plan

FLINT (AP) — Twenty Flint residents filed suit in U. S. District court against Genesee County and the Genesee County drain commissioner charging the county's plan to finance the proposed construction of the Genesee County sewage disposal district No. 1. The project would serve 10 townships and two small cities in the county.

The plaintiffs declared that if any of the participating cities defaulted on payments the obligation would fall back to part on the city of Flint which receives no benefits from the project.

Women To Hold Prayer Service Thursday Night

NEGAUNEE — Women of St. John's Episcopal Church will hold their monthly prayer service and business meeting at 7:30 Thursday night in the church.

Following the business session, refreshments will be served in Guild Hall.

Auto Plates, Tabs On Sale In Gwinn

GWINN — Sale of 1964 full-year license plates and tabs is under way at the Gwinn license bureau in the Model Town Paint and Glass Store operated and owned by Mrs. Myrtle Gasbarrow.

Hours for procuring licenses and tabs will be from 9 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 9 until noon Saturday.

Out-of-state owners not familiar with Michigan laws are reminded to bring their titles when applying for 1964 tabs.

Mrs. Gasbarrow advised owners of commercial vehicles and trailers which were registered on and after Sept. 1, 1962, that these units need not be re-weighed for renewal of registration. Owners, however, must surrender expiring registrations showing the weights. If the expiring registration is not surrendered or if the weight of the vehicle has been changed, it must be re-weighed before regular plates are issued.

Regular commercial plates will be issued for pick-up trucks this year, Mrs. Gasbarrow disclosed.

She also noted that an applicant may apply for 1964 tabs, transfer a 1962 passenger plate to another vehicle and apply for a new title at the same time.

Americans use about 12 billion cubic feet of wood each year, according to estimates.

Postmaster Lists 'Checks' For Faster Yule Delivery

MUNISING — Faced with the certainty that Christmas of 1963 will set an all-time record for mailing of greeting cards and gifts, Postmaster Edward S. Genry today requested cooperation in his annual "Mail Early For Christmas" campaign.

The postmaster listed these "things to watch" to be sure that every Christmas card and gift package will be delivered before Christmas Eve:

- Check Christmas card and gift list carefully — be certain each address is complete with full name, street and number, city, state and zone or ZIP code number.
- Stock up soon on sturdy packing materials for gift packages, including heavy wrapping paper, corrugated cartons, strong cord and paper adhesive tape.
- Buy postage stamps now. Be sure to use the colorful new five-cent Christmas tree stamps on cards.
- Procure free labels from post office which read "All For Local Delivery" and "All For Out-Of-Town Delivery" so that cards can be sorted into two groups, with addresses all facing one way, thus insuring fast delivery.

- Be sure that full name and address are on all Christmas card envelopes and shipping labels and be sure to include ZIP code number in return address.

The postmaster requests that all cards and gift packages going to most distant points be mailed by Dec. 10. Those for closer destinations should be mailed at least a week before Christmas.

Hearing On Pictured Rocks Proposal Asked By Senator

WASHINGTON — Sen. Philip A. Hart today asked for an immediate hearing on his proposal for a Pictured Rocks national lakeshore.

The hearing would be held by the Senate subcommittee on public lands. In a letter to Sen. Alan Bible, chairman of the subcommittee, Hart said: "As I have indicated to you in recent conversations, I believe it would now be timely to schedule a one-day hearing on the Pictured Rocks national lakeshore proposal in the weeks immediately ahead."

"The Department of the Interior has now made available the comprehensive economic study on the proposal, and it is my understanding that the agency reports on S. 1143 are being prepared."

"We have had a number of meetings in recent months with Michigan Department of Conservation personnel and with officialists of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co., which is the major property owner in the area. It is my feeling that we have come to substantial agreement on many of the major points involved in this proposal and that time could now most profitably be devoted to a public hearing.

"Senator McNamara joins me in this request, and wants to indicate to you, as I have, the very substantial local interest in, and support for, some type of lakeshore or recreation area development in the Pictured Rocks area."

An immediate hearing in the Pictured Rocks area would complete one more step towards final action on the bill. The next step would be a favorable report by the subcommittee and by the full interior committee. After that, the bill would go to the Senate floor.

L'Anse School System Lauded For Changes

L'ANSE — The L'Anse Township school system was commended on progress made in recent months toward eliminating violations listed by the North Central Association last spring and received suggestions for further improvement from the Bureau of School Services of the University of Michigan.

A letter, signed by Dell C. Boersma, commended the school administration for solving four of the five normal complaints detailed in last spring's official NCA warning letter. A librarian has been engaged on a full-time basis, teacher overloads have been eliminated through shifts in programming, a full-time secretary has been provided for the high school principal and a philosophy of education has been completed and adopted. The only remaining item concerns completion of a written policy booklet outlining the general policies of the board of education, and work on this project is continuing.

Criticism Of Building

Boersma also commended the school on its well-organized and smoothly functioning guidance program; effective teaching methods, sincerity and enthusiasm shown by the faculty; a comprehensive homemaking program available for all junior and senior high school girls; a well organized and attractively arranged library, and an excellent array of physical education equipment which enables instructors to carry out a complete and variable program.

The only major violation of policies and criteria for NCA approval is in the school building itself. Boersma pointed out "It is evident that the present building does not contain sufficient classroom space and other areas to effectively accommodate the entire instructional program. Construction of a new elementary school will of course help to relieve some of the serious problems of overcrowding."

He also cited the obvious disadvantages of housing fourth through twelfth grade students in the same building.

Improvements Suggested

In making suggestions for improvement, Boersma cited a need for instruction in a modern foreign language, and more classroom and storage space for music and art activities as well as additional equipment for these two departments. He noted that the shop program is necessarily limited because classes are conducted in general classrooms and he called for a more comprehensive program with attention given to electricity, home mechanics, power mechanics and metal work.

Boersma also recommended the use of brighter wall colors throughout the building and improved uniform storage in the boys' locker room. His letter contained a strong recommendation for the use of student assistants in the library, and added it was encouraging to learn that the librarians are attempting to increase student and faculty use of the library.

Slacks Now Forbidden

He advised conducting a formal follow-up study of each year's graduates to aid in determining the effectiveness of the curriculum. He also noted that in most of the schools visited by his group girl students are not permitted to wear slacks. (Superintendent Robert W. Fredrikson outlawed slacks and stretch pants as girls' school apparel, effective last week. Of course, they are still permitted for wear at basketball games and other school-sponsored athletic activities.)

The board also reviewed a written report of the recent sanitary inspection of the two schools made by a sanitarian of the Copper Country District Health Department, listing recommendations for improvement of safety and housekeeping in both buildings. A number of the items listed already have been taken care of. Several others, entailing extensive repairs to the grade school, will not even be considered, since plans for construction of a new elementary school are proceeding rapidly. Fredrikson and the school board president, Dr. Eric A. Bourdo Jr., will draw up a timetable of action outlining what should be done and when.

Fire Equipment Check

A letter from the Baraga County Agency, referring to a list of recommendations for bringing the school up to safety standards, prepared by the Michigan Inspection Bureau earlier this year, was read. The board agreed to ask the L'Anse Fire Department to come in and check fire equipment in the school as it has in the past and authorized Fredrikson to take any additional action he deems advisable to improve the fire safety picture in the two schools.

In other business, the board authorized purchase of new steel outside doors and closures from the Lakeview Lumber Co. at a cost of $1,065; agreed to join the Michigan Association of School Boards, with annual dues of $80; approved the superintendent's recommendations regarding physical education requirements for high school students, and agreed to provide Christmas treats for the annual pre-holiday party at the school.

Farmington Voters Okay Bond Issue

Police Investigating Crash Fatal To Chassell Man, 28

L'ANSE — A state police investigation is being continued into the death of William Gerard, 28-year-old Chassell man who died Monday evening as the result of burns sustained Sunday night when the auto in which he was riding caught fire.

Gerard's three hunting companions — Dr. Paul Goodreau of Houghton, Raymond Desrochers of Chassell and Malvie LeClaire of Baraga, who brought the severely burned victim to the hospital here Sunday night — were questioned yesterday about events preceding the accident and subsequent fire.

Police declined to comment on statements made by the three.

Deer's Carcass Found

State police and conservation officers investigating the wreck Monday morning found the charred carcass of a large doe in the back of Gerard's vehicle. The deer's throat had been cut and a pool of blood was found in the road about one-eighth of a mile from the accident site.

Conservation department personnel who conducted an autopsy on the deer said the animal appeared to have been hit by a car. Details of how the deer got into the vehicle and how Gerard got out of the flaming wreckage have not been released by officers.

The four men had been hunting from a camp in the Frost area southwest of Baraga in Houghton County. The camp is owned by LeClaire.

Heading Back To Camp

Apparently the men, traveling in two cars, were headed back to camp after spending the early evening in and around Baraga. Gerard's companions told officers that a car

Pistons Humiliated By 127-102 Loss, Coach Chased Away

(By the Associated Press) O.K., Boston, we get the point. If the Boston Celtics are really out to prove they can win in the National Basketball Association without the retired Bob Cousy they are doing a good job of it.

Sharp Lesson

The Celtics dealt the rejuvenated New York Knicks a sharp lesson in the second game of a doubleheader at Madison Square Garden Tuesday night, to make their season record 12-1. The score was 126-93.

The Knicks, who had won three in a row for the first time since anyone could remember, were talking about cooling off the Celtics, but Boston put the chill on them instead.

The second place Cincinnati Royals chopped down the Detroit Pistons 127-102 in the first game.

In the other NBA game, the San Francisco Warriors jumped off to a 66-43 lead at the half, and coasted to a 129-96 victory over the St. Louis Hawks, leaders in the West.

Detroit's loss was doubly humiliating to Coach Charley Wolf. Not only were the Pistons beaten by the team Wolf coached last year, but the Detroit coach was thrown out of the game.

The Pistons had closed from a 23-point deficit, 53-23, to within six points, 72-66, when referee Tom Birch chased Wolf in the third quarter.

The Royals, led by Oscar Robertson's 32-point show, went from a 40-point first quarter to victory.

Shared Points

Robertson, Jerry Lucas, Wayne Embry and Bob Boozer shared the points as the Royals took a 40-24 margin in the first period and led 59-46 at halftime.

Ray Scott, who led Detroit with 20 points, rallied the Pistons in the third period but Robertson, Lucas and Embry put the Royals ahead again 94-74 before the end of the period. Embry and Boozer had 23 points each for Cincinnati, while Lucas, who contributed 19 rebounds, scored 21 points.

Eben Takes Second Win

GARDEN — Eben overwhelmed the Garden roundball five last night by a 93-56 margin, firing 92 times at a 42 per cent clip of accuracy to take their second Central U.P. League win for the season and become one of the first U.P. prep teams to sport a 2-0 record.

Andy Freberg played another good game, getting 17 rebounds, and Bill Carlson got 10 before he had to be taken out of the game in the second quarter due to rapidly mounting fouls. Promising sophomore Arne Haavisto grabbed 15 rebounds.

Garden's Bob Lauzon hit nine points in the first quarter, but was lost to the team except for a short appearance in the third period when he sprained his ankle.

Brown Takes Kramer's Score Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Brown of Cleveland regained the scoring lead from Green Bay's Jerry Kramer and Roosevelt Taylor of the Chicago Bears took over first place in interceptions in weekend play in the National Football League.

Although Brown's Cleveland Browns dropped out of a first-place tie in the Eastern Conference by a 20-14 defeat at the hands of St. Louis, Jimmy scored his 13th touchdown of the year for a total of 78 points.

King claims $2,037 has been withheld from his pay, and the defendants "are attempting to breach the contract."

He asks the $2,037 in back pay that he says is due plus $400 transportation expenses and $900 in fees for his lawyer.

Brown gained 154 yards in 22 attempts, pushing his total for the year to 1,447. Another day like that and he will test his own league record of 1,527 set in 1958. He needs only 80 yards and four more plays to equal it.

Taylor grabbed two of the five interceptions by the Bears against Green Bay for a leading total of seven for 118 yards. Dick Lynch of New York still has the most yardage with 152 on six interceptions.

SPRING ARBOR (AP) — Led by Dave Carroll's 39 points, Indiana Tech rolled to a 122-95 basketball victory over Spring Arbor College Tuesday night.

Claassen Says MSU Will Get Rose Bowl Bid

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK (AP) — Harvard and Yale have been playing each other in football since 1875 and their games virtually always are in doubt until the final tackle. Saturday's fray shouldn't be any different.

Although the Harvards come into this one needing a victory for a possible Ivy League crown, don't lock the Yales out. Slump

Last week there was a bit of left-handed forecasting with 41 correct guesses and 13 wrong ones. That's a .73 average, a sharp slump from the .807 figure of the week before. The season's totals now are 354-121 for .745.

It is rare when the final big Saturday of the season pairs the last two remaining contenders in at least two conferences against each other. That's the case in both the Big Ten and Big Eight circuits.

So here's how things should turn out:

Michigan State over Illinois: Sherman Lewis, the Mighty Mouse of Michigan State, is the irresistible force while Dick Butkus of Illinois is the immovable object. This time the immovable object is the loser and the Spartans win the Rose Bowl trophy.

Oklahoma over Nebraska: Not since the glory days of Cliff Jones and the 1940 Rose Bowl season have the Cornhuskers flashed the muscle as shown by Dennis Claridge and his mates. But Oklahoma has muscle and speed.

Washington over Washington State: Out in Seattle they say that the star of the Washington team is the unspillable Junior Coffey. The Cougars will discover it is true.

Pittsburgh over Penn State: The Pitt quarterback merely has to Dial M for Murder — and either Fred Mazurek or Paul Martha will answer.

Auburn over Florida State: Jimmy Sizzle and his mates will be tempted to part with Vada Pinson, unless the entire Tiger is busy thinking about next week's game with Alabama.

Southern California over UCLA: The clock has struck the midnight hour for the Cinderella boys from UCLA.

Duke over North Carolina: Jay Wilkinson will be the difference even though the Tar Heels have players named Edge and Braine.

Hematites Win First Game Over Stambaugh To Even Season Slate

By RON PORTALE
Of The Journal Staff

ISHPEMING — A smoothly-working Ishpeming Hematite squad maneuvered its way to a 58-44 victory over the Stambaugh Hilltoppers on the local hardwoods last night.

Once again the smaller team on the floor, the Blue and White were faced by a team with seven six-footers or over. Torger Omdahl, 6-5, paced the Stambaugh squad with 17 points, but it was Mike Tunteri who held the big gun down by displaying fine defensive work.

Speedy, Uncanny

Despite the height disadvantage, the local speedsters sped to victory by handling the ball exceptionally well, rebounding and displaying uncanny ability at the free throw line.

Stambaugh jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first quarter, and ended the period with a 16-12 edge off hitting on eight of 15 field goal attempts. Ishpeming connected on four from 14 shots plus four free throws, three of them by Les Coduti, who ended the night with 14 points, second only to Pertunenen's 20.

Second quarter play saw the Hematites drop behind by a 23-19 count, but a driving layup by Pertunenen with three and one half minutes left to go made it 23-21, setting the stage for Gerald Simula, who replaced John Peterson, racing in to tie the score within 30 seconds.

IHS J. V.'s Play Fine Ball, Too

ISHPEMING — The Hematite Jayvees are proving to be quite a ball club, and are providing topnotch basketball action for the home fans and visitors alike.

The Arthur Hammer-coached Jayvees fought their way to a convincing 57-50 win over Baraga Central in the preliminary here last night, to record their second straight win of the season in as many games.

An enthusiastic crowd sparked both teams to brilliant performances. Nip-and-tuck action took place in the first quarter, as the scored ended in a 13-13 tie, but after the first period, Ishpeming began to pull away on buckets by William Parkkonen, who played a whale of a game for the inspired Jayvees.

Control ball handling was evident in this contest, with William Zhulkie paving the way. Good defensive work by Alan Ameen and Paul Valenti, two of the taller boys on the squad, turned out to be one of the main reasons for victory.

The Ishpeming Jayvees play here on Nov. 29 against Munising in a preliminary.

Boxer Won't Fight Again In America

NEW YORK (AP) — Mauro Mina's chances of getting a long-sought light heavyweight title fight are finished. His long ring career may be over, at least in the United States.

The 30-year-old Peruvian, unbeaten in the last five years and ranked third among the 175-pound contenders, was dropped from a Madison Square Garden television fight with Chicago's Allen Thomas. An examination Tuesday disclosed he had an operation for a detached retina of the right eye in March at Lima, Peru.

The State Athletic Commission does not permit boxers to fight after surgery involving a detached retina. It is doubtful whether any other state would permit him to box.

MSU Winningest Regardless Of Final's Outcome

(By the Associated Press)

Michigan State will rule as 1963's winningest football team in Michigan no matter what happens against Illinois this Saturday.

Latest statistics show the Spartans leading Michigan's 18 college football teams with a 6-1-1 record for a percentage of .813. Kalamazoo and Michigan Tech are next with identical 6-2 records.

MSU, Michigan and Detroit are the only schools with games remaining. All three close out their regular seasons Saturday.

Six of the state's schools already have clinched winning seasons, while two others finished at .500. Michigan needs at least another tie when it plays Ohio State Saturday to avoid a losing record.

Halfback Ed Lauerman scored four touchdowns in Kalamazoo's 71-20 victory over Kenyon College last Saturday and apparently has won the individual state scoring title. Lauerman has 10 touchdowns and six extra points for 65 points.

Detroit's Fred Beier and MSU's Sherman Lewis are the only players with a chance to overtake Lauerman. Each has 48 points going into Saturday's finale.

Baseball Trading Action Beginning

NEW YORK (AP) — Their appetites whetted by the big trade involving Rocky Colavito, major league baseball owners get their chance to swing into high swap-chance gear beginning at midnight tonight.

That's the opening hour of the annual interleague trading period, which will run until midnight Dec. 15.

Big Names

Some big names have been talked about.

Cincinnati could possibly be tempted to part with Vada Pinson, Joe Jay or Gordy Coleman, if the right bait is offered in exchange.

Three National League slugers, Orlando Cepeda of San Francisco, Eddie Mathews of Milwaukee and Frank Thomas of the New York Mets, might be had for the right price.

Among the American League players discussed in trade rumors are Leon Wagner of the Los Angeles Angels, Jim Gentile of Baltimore and Lu Clinton of Boston.

Anxious For Changes

The American League teams seem particularly anxious to make personnel changes after the Los Angeles Dodgers proved in the World Series that the Yankees can be beaten.

That sent new hope through the league where it has been a long time since a real challenge to the Yankees was mounted.

Saints Impressive In Debut At Home, Rout Eagles, 85-46

By TOM PELLOW
NEGAUNEE — Looking in mid-season form, the St. Paul Emeralds opened their 1963-64 basketball campaign last night at Memorial Gymnasium by routing the Michigan Eagles, 85-46.

Coach Al Dighera's defending Class D champs turned in an impressive performance, as they handled the ball well, were alert offensively and defensively, dominated the boards, and were red hot from the field.

Tough To Dethrone

In serving notice that they will be tough to dethrone this year, the Saints were in command all the way. Rod Guizzetti opened the scoring with a bucket from the pivot for the Emeralds, and Marshall Chantelot tied it with a shot from the side, but that was the only time the Eagles were in the ball game.

St. Paul built up a 23-10 first period lead, and outscored the Eagles 24-7 in the second quarter for a 47-17 intermission edge, despite the fact that Dighera started substituting midway through the eight-minute span.

Dighera's starting five returned to play the third period and increased the St. Paul margin to 44 points at 70-26. Reserves playing the last quarter were outscored by Michigan-me 20-15 to make the final count 85-46.

Including a 6 for 19 performance by replacements in the last stanza, the Parochials shot an exceptional opening game 52.8 per cent, hitting 53 field goals in 72 attempts. Over the first three periods, they shot an even 60 per cent, making 32 buckets in 53 tries. Michigan meanwhile averaged 24 per cent on 17 field goals in 69 attempts, but the Eagles weren't getting many good shots.

Dom Jacobetti and Ron Guizzetti paced the Emeralds with 25 and 22 points respectively, while Jim Inneberner was high for Michigan with 13.

Lewis' Run Earns Him Back Honor

(By the Associated Press)

When you've got Michigan State backed up against their own goal line, watch out.

Notre Dame panned the Spartans on their 15-yard line in the fourth quarter Saturday, and a 7-6 Irish lead was looking good. Then Sherman Lewis, only 132 pounds, burst all the way for the touchdown that gave Michigan State a 12-7 victory.

Fifth Time

It was the fifth time this year that Sherman had gone more than 80 yards, and the run earned the senior co-captain of the Spartans the Back of the Week honor in The Associated Press survey.

Lewis, who comes from Louisville, Ky., also scored the first Michigan State touchdown. He was the leading rusher for the Spartans with 13 yards and played on defense most of the game.

It was a good Saturday for running backs, elsewhere. Junior fullback Brian Piccolo of Wake Forest led his team to a 20-19 victory over South Carolina, breaking the nation's longest major college losing streak at 18. Piccolo gained 140 yards in 21 rushes and started the comeback from a 19-7 deficit with a 16-yard touchdown run. Then he kicked the game-winning extra point.

Paul Marthia, Pitt's left halfback, scored on a long run for the second week in a row to start the victory over Army. He had 103 yards on six carries.

Fullback Steve Murphy gained 103 yards for Northwestern, more than the entire Ohio State team, and had two touchdowns.

Sophomore halfback Larry Shields scored both touchdowns for Oklahoma against Missouri, one on a blistering punt return, and made two important pass interceptions.

Two Outstanding

Two outstanding backs, Terry Isaacson of Air Force and Archie Roberts of Columbia, were outstanding. Isaacson scored twice, set up three other touchdowns and a field goal and punted for a 50-yard average against New Mexico. Roberts passed for three touchdowns and ran for a fourth against Penn.
