Police Nab Driver Fleeing Crash Scene At High Speed

ISHPEMING — A driver was jailed and his car was wrecked in the worst of two smashups reported today by state police from the Marquette post.

At 9:45 last night a car being driven east on U.S. 41, at a high rate of speed, according to officers, went out of control when the motorist attempted to stop for the stop light in Negaunee, 150 feet west of Teal Lake Ave.

The car, which police said was being driven by Paul A. Luokkala Jr., 25, of 240 Marble St., Ishpeming, skidded across the divider strip, breaking off two reflector posts. It came to rest in the westbound lane on the north shoulder, headed west.

Flees From Scene

State police said Luokkala drove from the scene, being pursued by officers through Negaunee and Ishpeming at a high rate of speed.

After being apprehended, Luokkala was arrested on charges of driving while his operator's license was revoked and reckless driving. He was lodged in the county jail overnight.

The right side of his 1957 coach was damaged.

Strikes Two Deer

An automobile being driven northwest on U.S. 41 by Franklina W. Hansen, 36, of 219 Spruce St., Ishpeming, struck two deer which ran out from the side of the highway, three miles northwest of Trenary, in Limestone Township, Alger County, at 11:30 last night.

After striking the deer, Hansen's car spun around and went into the ditch, striking a small tree.

The right rear, front end and left front of his 1958 sedan was damaged. The car was driven from the scene under its own power.

Responsibility For Fund Use Assumed By Tech Board

SAULT STE. MARIE — Michigan Tech's board of control said Friday it accepts full responsibility for failing to obtain proper authorization to use certain funds to reconduct the college president's residence.

Aud. Gen. Billie Farnum had reported the college used $29,000 in maintenance funds on the remodeling project without obtaining a work order or approval of the State Administrative Board.

"The board is taking immediate steps to prevent future occurrences of this nature," the college administrators said.

They added, however, "it should be emphasized that the funds involved were spent for a purpose which is a proper and essential part of the responsibility of the college and the state of Michigan, namely, provision of an adequate and appropriate home for the president."

"There is no question of fraud or of diversion of state funds to uses not clearly associated with the essential purposes of the college."

The board of control's full statement:

"Relative to the audit report of Michigan Tech, dated Nov. 8, prepared by the auditor general's department and publicly released this week, the board of control is particularly concerned with the most significant comment in the report, namely, that certain funds were expended in the spring and summer of 1962, on reconducting a house to make it suitable for use as the residence of the president of the college, without proper authorization in the form of a work order or approval by the State Administrative Board.

"It seems clear that, in this instance, certain administrative procedures were violated. The board of control accepts full responsibility for this. It should be emphasized that the funds involved were spent for a purpose which is a proper and essential part of the responsibility of the college and the state of Michigan, namely, provision of an adequate and appropriate home for the president. There is no question of fraud or of diversion of state funds to uses not clearly associated with the essential purposes of the college. Nevertheless, as pointed out in the audit report, the procedural requirements were not followed. The board is taking immediate steps to prevent future occurrences of this nature. Certain specific commitments in this respect will be set forth in the reply to the audit report which the auditor general has asked the president of the college to submit by Dec. 20.

"Important improvements in financial and administrative controls have been made in recent months. For example, an independent accounting firm was retained to survey the college's financial systems and procedures. Several improvements resulting from this study have already been put into effect. The board also recognizes and appreciates the information provided by the state audit, which contributes to further strengthening of the college's internal procedures and controls."

IHS Cage Men Play Well In 72-62 Defeat

ISHPEMING — Despite a 72-62 loss last night to Escanaba, the Ishpeming Hematites without a doubt played their best game of the young season, as they displayed aggressiveness, spirit and a strong determination to win from the visitors.

Doelle Hits Hawks With 80-48 Loss

DOELLE — The Republic Hawks came and suffered defeat here last night, as the Doelle hardwood squad trounced them, 80-48, in a game which was closer than indicated by the figures.

Republic suffered three major defeats before the game got into the second half, as the two best Hawk rebounders, Prusi and Skogman, both went out with sprained ankles in the first period and highly important Mattila accumulated four fouls before halftime.

With Republic's best rebounders out of action, Doelle's Art Saarela had a field day under the boards, collecting 14 rebounds while he dropped in 24 points to lead the night's scoring.

Champion Bludgeons Rockets In 80-53 Rout: Bark River Shattered By Trenary

CHAMPION — Champion's Indians edged their way into a 73-66 victory over visiting Rapid River here last night to post their third win against one loss and hand Rapid River their third loss in five games.

L'Anse Loses 4th Game, To Calumet

L'ANSE — The Purple Hornets of L'Anse High School suffered their fourth consecutive defeat since the start of the season four games ago here last night, as Calumet's Copper Kings took advantage of two gift shots from the foul line to build a winning 57-54 margin in the last three seconds of the game.

Tiger Title Sought By Giardello

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Middleweight champion Dick Tiger, a better fighter at 34 than he was four years ago, faces title-hungry but punch-worn Joey Giardello in a 15-round championship contest tonight.

Wildcats Take Second Victory, 72-58, From Stevens Point Cagers

The Wildcats of Northern Michigan University evened their record at 2-2 by handing the Pointers of Stevens Point (Wis.) State College a 72-58 drubbing, the first defeat for the visiting Pointers in four games this season.

Sparkling performances by Bob Armstead, Pat Schloemer, Wayne Lundy, Duane Soine and John (The Bear) Hemr resulted in the heartening victory for Stan Albeck's Wildcats. Despite the fact that he accumulated only nine points, Armstead's sterling play under the boards and pivot shots set his showing apart.

Hemr had his best night for NMU thus far, totalling 12 points, most of which came on very long shots from the sidelines. Lundy led the scoring for both teams, netting 15 points, followed by Soine's 14 and Hemr's 12 points. Mike Fortune, sharpshooting ace of the Pointers, managed to swish in 14 points in a brief flurry of accuracy to spark a rally which fizzled after about three minutes.

The Wildcats took a quick lead as the game opened, on heavy scoring by Lundy, Armstead and Soine. The Pointers failed to score until nearly two minutes had passed, and then it was on Lawetzki's single free throw. They had to wait another two minutes before George Pouba dropped in their first field goal, and by the end of the first half, Northern had built a 41-24 lead.

St. Paul Has Its Irish Luck

BY TOM FELLOW NEGAUNEE — It's the luck of the Irish. Dame Fortune, the leprechauns, and all other good omens combined to smile on the St. Paul Emeralds again last night, as they squeaked past the Trout Creek Anglers, 58-57 at Memorial Gymnasium for their second one-point victory in four nights. It was the fifth triumph in a row for the Negaunee Parochials, and the first start of the season for Trout Creek.

Pistons Win Sixth Game Out Of 22

Munising Suffers 80-57 Loss

GLADSTONE — The Gladstone Mustangs defeated the Munising Braves last night 80-57, making their record 2-2 for the season.

For the scrappy, determined Mustangs, it was their fifth loss without a win. Munising was ahead at the end of the first period by two points, and at halftime, after having scored the eight times, Gladstone took the lead, 35 to 33.

NMU Places Six Players On NAIA All-State Eleven

Northern Michigan University, playing a schedule which included the Universities of Detroit, Omaha and Southern Illinois, today placed six players on the two-unit, All-Michigan NAIA football team.

Redmen Victors In 56-42 Game Over Newberry

In a low-scoring game in which neither team seemed to be able to hit with consistency, the Redmen of Marquette took their third win of the young season in downing the Newberry basketball squad, 56-42 here last night.

A 32-point performance by amazing Bruce Forstrom led the way for the Redmen, and Forstrom accounted for more than half of the total Marquette score. Paul Albright, one of the most dependable men on the squad, netted 15 points as the only other man to score in double figures, and followed Forstrom in a rebounding circus that almost eclipsed Newberry efforts under the boards.

Rebounds Forstrom nabbed a total of 28 rebounds, and Albright snared 19... the Redmen had 67 rebounds at game's end, while Newberry managed to get their hands on only 30.

Quick Shots

Very good catches of menominees were reported taken off the mouth of the Two-Hearted River in northern Luce County recently.

Wilfred Brooks of Iron River was surprised when he purchased his 1963 deer hunting license from a local outlet prior to the opening of the season. Checking back on the number of the license he obtained in 1962 revealed that the identical number—48433—was issued to him in both years. Brooks, who didn't bag a deer in 1962, feared he was jinxed again. But on the second day of the season he shot an eight-point, 175-pound buck.

Several unusual bird observation reports were received by Northern Michigan Outdoors during the week. Jack Keast, 2008 Neidhart Ave., Marquette, said a male cardinal had visited the feeding station at the Keast residence. Mrs. Mary Spear Ross, Lakewood, and Mrs. Robert G. LeMaire, Marquette, saw a mourning dove south of the Marquette Fish Hatchery on Wednesday, a very late date for this species. The same day, Mrs. Ross saw a towhee at her feeding station, also a late observation. Mrs. Arthur Makl, Granite St., Marquette, reported seeing five snow geese along the Dead River near her residence on Thursday.

King Lake Project Completed

This is a view of the public fishing site on King Lake in Baraga County that was undertaken by the conservation department in cooperation with the Baraga County Road Commission under the Accelerated Public Works program.

Foresters Offer Tips On Selecting Christmas Tree

Wondering about the kind of tree your family should get for Christmas this year?

Much will depend, of course, upon your tastes and needs, but conservation department states during last spring, according to the conservation department.

foresters have a few general guidelines to offer that will help you select the "right" Yuletide tree.

Anyone who places a high premium on getting a tree that won't shed its needles too quickly will find that most pine species make the best buys. Scotch pine, the No. 1 species on Michigan's Christmas tree list, is especially good for holding its needles.

Balsam fir, once considered "the" Christmas tree, will be the pick of tradition-minded families and those who like the fragrance of pine.

Apartment dwellers who want small, table-size trees are advised that spruce and balsam generally offer better quality. Department foresters stress the importance of selecting trees which have been cut recently enough to last through the holiday season if they are given proper care.

Lake, Pond Workshop Here Monday

A lake and pond workshop is scheduled for Marquette Monday.

Landowners and managers, camp and waterfront directors, county and municipal officials, local tourist and lake association representatives, realtors, soil conservation service, Michigan Department of Conservation and Michigan State University Extension Service personnel have been invited. The group will meet from noon until 4 p.m. at the Northwoods Restaurant.

The main speaker, Dr. Clifford R. Humphrys, East Lansing, professor in resource development at MSU, will discuss problems relevant to inland lakes and ponds. Dr. Humphrys will tell the group that "generally these problems of the northern region are associated with underdevelopment, while those of the southern part of the state are problems of overdevelopment."

A detailed discussion on lake management will cover development, water safety, weed control, fish management, lake level stabilization, beach improvement, pollution control and water rights.

Advisory Council Meeting Pond problems to be discussed will include assistance covering design, construction, use and maintenance, weed control, beach construction, fish management and pollution.

Dr. Humphrys says each community delegation will receive a package of material listing specific resources available for developing inland lakes and ponds.

Associated with the conference will be another Monday meeting that will bring Upper Peninsula Agricultural Advisory Council members to the MSU Extension Center. This meeting, an annual event, will begin at 10:30 a.m. and end at 3 p.m.

U.P. Buck Kill 500 Over 1962

Michigan's 1963 army of firearm deer hunters, believed to be the largest ever, took an estimated 114,500 whitetails, third highest on record, the conservation department reports.

The department's kill figure, yet to be refined by a postcard survey of hunters, points to an increase of 10 per cent in the buck harvest, from 63,380 last year to 69,800 this season.

Up 37 Per Cent

Antlerless deer kill jumped 37 per cent, totaling 44,700 as against 32,510 during the 1962 season.

In the Upper Peninsula, the buck figure reached 18,300, about 500 above last year.

Hunters in the northern Lower Peninsula killed 45,000 bucks, some 5,000 more than a year ago, to register their second highest take of antlered whitetails.

New Record Set

For the third year in a row, sportsmen set a new record for buck kill in the southern Lower Peninsula, where deer numbers are snowballing at the rate of 14 per cent annually. This year's total is estimated at 6,500, up 19 per cent from last season.

Traffic counts and field surveys indicate that antlerless deer kill rose from 6,670 last year to 11,200 in the Upper Peninsula and from 25,840 to 33,500 in the northern Lower Peninsula.

Physical Condition Improved

Biological checks of more than 11,000 deer at the department's roadside stations show that the physical condition of the herd improved in most areas. This turn for the better is largely due to the liberal 1962 kill of nearly 96,000 animals and to last year's relatively easy winter on whitetails, the department said.

The department reports that yearling bucks, whose numbers make or break each season, accounted for a greater percent of the total kill in both regions of Northern Michigan. The proportion of 1½-year-old bucks climbed from 48 to 54 per cent in the Upper Peninsula, and from 71 to 72 per cent in the northern Lower Peninsula.

U. P. Hunting Pressure

Antler size in yearling bucks, another barometer of the herd's physical condition, increased throughout most parts of the state.

Field studies reveal that hunting pressure was generally heavier than a year ago. Estimates from the Mackinac Bridge suggest that the number of Upper Peninsula hunters may have been up six per cent over last season.

Although no final figures will be available for several months, department officials estimate that upwards of 475,000 deer licenses were sold to crack the 1959 record of 468,600.

$1,051,000 OK'd By Senate Group For Lamprey War

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., announced this week that the Senate Appropriations Committee has approved $1,051,000 asked by the Fish and Wildlife Service for control of the sea lamprey in the Great Lakes, according to the Associated Press.

200 Lakers Planted In Tilden

By RONALD R. PORTABLE Of The Journal Staff

The conservation department this week released 200 large lake trout in Tilden Lake in Ishpeming in what is believed to have been the first planting of lake trout through the ice in the Upper Peninsula.

Averaging five pounds apiece, the lakers are expected to provide some first class fishing this winter.

Club Given Credit

This marks the first year that Tilden Lake has been open to ice fishing. The department decided on planting the lake trout after local fishermen had long sought ways to improve angling in the area. Much of the credit for opening the lake to ice fishing goes to the Ishpeming Conservation Club, a group of school-age sportsmen who were organized last spring and made the Tilden Lake project one of their top goals.

More than a thousand pounds of lake trout were slipped through a hole in the ice of Tilden Lake into 34-degree water by a crew consisting of Conservation Officer Arthur Saviluto, Ishpeming; Conservation Officer Earl Anderson, Negaunee, and Glenn Hanson, Marquette, fish culturist for the department. The trout were reared at the Marquette Fish Hatchery.

Considered Ideal

Although not as large as many inland lakes, Tilden Lake is considered ideal for lake trout because of its usually cold water and depths up to 60 feet. In addition to lake trout, Tilden contains a goodly number of splake (a cross between lake and brook trout), which were planted in recent years.

Fishermen have reported catches of lake trout weighing nearly 10 pounds from Tilden Lake during the summer. Generally, however, these large lakers hug the bottom, where they feed on a seemingly inexhaustible supply of crabs and minnows, as evidenced by stomach analyses.

Limit Two Daily

Conservation officers pointed out that the limit on lake trout on inland lakes is two per day. The season is closed on splake during the winter.

Saviluto recommended that anglers use large hooks and large bait, which will reduce the chances of hooking splake. Bobbing with suckers or large minnows attached to a silver spoon or daredevil is the "best bet for successful lake trout fishing on Tilden Lake," Saviluto said. Use a heavy line which does not stretch. Flyline is considered ideal. The line should be heavily weighted, and the bait should be fished about a foot or two from the bottom for best results.

Ice Still Thin

Conservation officers urged all persons fishing on Tilden Lake to use extreme caution because the ice is still thin. They said they hope fishermen will wait until next Saturday before trying their luck because the ice should be thicker and safer by then.

Ice fishing shacks will be allowed on the lake, but anglers were asked to be sure to remove all litter after fishing.

Commercial Fish Licenses Ready For Central U. P.

New commercial fish licenses for the fishermen operating from ports fronting Delta and Marquette Counties and the west half of Alger are now available from the department of conservation at Escanaba.

In order to facilitate handling, the department requests that fishermen submit their applications by mail rather than bring them in personally. If applications are in order, licenses will be issued and mailed promptly. Those fishermen who intend to fish shortly after the first of the year should get their applications in promptly in order to avoid the last minute rush.

Fishermen are asked to be very careful in completing applications and be sure that all pertinent data is included. Omissions will result in return of applications. Remittance must be by check or money order payable to the Michigan Department of Conservation, Lansing. No cash will be accepted.

Porkies Campground Plan On Commission's Agenda

Approval of a master plan for development of the Presque Isle River campground in the Porcupine Mountains State Park will be asked of the conservation commission when it holds its monthly meeting Thursday and Friday in Lansing.

Commissioners also will be asked to approve a proposal by the Miljevich brothers, Wakefield loggers, who have agreed to cut the timber and pile the stumps and brush on the campground roads, parking areas and sewage lagoon and to give the state 10 acres that they own within the legislative boundaries of the park in return for stumpage on five and a half scattered acres in the campground development area. Seeks Access Road

A request will be considered from a private individual seeking to build an access road through a portion of the Betsy Lake Natural Area Preserve in Luce County to harvest timber on his land. The Natural Areas Council has approved issuance of the road access permit.

In other matters relating to the Upper Peninsula, the commission is scheduled to act on requests from the City of Iron Mountain for a small parcel of state-owned land within the city that is wanted for public park purposes and for right-of-way for road purposes.

U. P. Shooting Committee Holds Meeting Sunday

The Upper Peninsula Shooting Committee will meet tomorrow at 1 p.m. at the Munising-Alger Conservation Club building four miles east of Munising on M-28.

Whitefish: Down But Coming Up

Whitefish populations of the Great Lakes are on the way up after being laid low by the killer sea lamprey. Whether their gain in numbers will be short-lived or will continue to grow remains to be seen. However, there are hopeful signs that chemical treatment has delivered a telling blow against the lamprey in Lake Superior. This work is moving ahead to eventually cover all lamprey-producing streams which enter the upper Great Lakes. Records spanning the last 50 years show that whitefish may be ready for a population explosion within the next few years, but here again much depends upon the success of lamprey control efforts. Other factors, such as weather and food supplies, are also considered important to any possible surge in whitefish numbers. One thing is certain: The whitefish is very prolific. A relatively low supply of these spawning fish can produce a remarkable population buildup. Such has been the case at other times in the upper Great Lakes when commercial production plunged, then bounced back to yield tremendous catches only a few years later, as shown by this graph.

North Country Notes

Requiem For A Sportsman

HE loved the good things in life — shooting and hunting and dogs, the old songs and the new books, children, backwoods camps with wood-burning stoves, autumn, frosty mornings, sunsets, stories, laughter, his old friends and a little cup, just a wee och-an-dorris.

IN a hunting camp, he was king. His French onion soup was unforgettable, and his talent for telling tales was unsurpassed. He could mimic everything from a Finnish lumberjack to a coyote driving a rabbit. And he knew how to handle a deck of cards. Going to camp was something special for him, and he made it sound like going to Paris or London. When he saw a full moon on a February night when the packed snow crunched underfoot, he would say, "How would you like to be in camp right now?" and there was a glint in his eye that made you want to go right home and get your snowshoes and shotgun.

HE was an artist with a 16-gauge, the only man I know who has dropped three ruffed grouse that were in flight at the same instant, a "triple." His performance in the 1947 Wisconsin Skeet Championships is legendary. He won the state title by breaking 100 consecutive clay pigeons, the first time this had ever been done in that tournament, and he did it in competition with some of the best shooters in the country, including the celebrated Vic Reinders. And this was in the days when skeet was a much tougher game than it is today. He never lost the touch. Last summer, when he fired the last round of skeet in his life, he broke 48 out of 50 targets.

HE was a superb hunter. He thought nothing of walking mile after mile to put up two or three partridge. He could sit alone in a duck blind from before dawn until sunset without ever tiring of his sport. He killed a good many deer because he had the capacity for sitting motionless for hours on end beside a runway in freezing November weather. But he didn't need a shotgun or rifle to find happiness in the woods. He would get out of bed at a miserable hour to shoot a brace of ducks, but he also would rise long before daybreak for a chance to watch the sharp-tails on their dancing grounds or to catch a glimpse of a flock of sandhill cranes. He would delight in the sound of goldeneyes whistling over his decoys, but he also could spend an entire evening listening to the recorded sounds of birds (the trumpeter swan and the thrushes were among his favorites).

HE called me on the last day of the grouse season in 1961 and suggested that we end the season together. "I only hope," he said as we started out through the snow-covered woods, "that each of us shoots one bird today. Just one." We parted and met again a couple of hours later. Each of us had killed one partridge. That was all. But he was as happy as if both of us had shot our limits. It had been a perfect day.

THERE were many perfect days with Lloyd LeVasseur, and now there will be no more. Au revoir, mon vieux.—KSL.

Mixed Menu Of Br'er Fox

Bounties were established because people thought foxes ate lots of game birds and animals. However, studies by the Michigan Conservation Department show that foxes simply eat whatever they can get. Probably the most important single staple in their diet is field mice, but they also normally eat insects, snakes, rabbits, fish, dead creatures found on roadways or in the woods, corn, frogs and many other kinds of meat, vegetables and fruits. In proportion to other things, foxes do not eat many pheasants or rabbits, mostly because these two important game species are too tough to catch.
