Peasant Groups May Clash With Bolivian Miners

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Fears of clashes heightened today as peasant militiamen were reported marching to Bolivia's tin mines to defend President Victor Paz Estenssoro's government against rebellious communist-led miners.

Reports reaching Bolivia's capital said bands of armed peasants were moving on Oruro, hub of the mining district, and planned to set up camp there in a show of support for the government.

15 Hostages Oruro is 30 miles north of Catavi, where dissident miners are holding 15 hostages, including four Americans, in retaliation for the government's arrest of two Communist mine union leaders.

The government asked Tuesday night for U.S. arms, including planes, to effect the release of the hostages but gave no indication it planned an immediate attack.

Paz Estenssoro, under heavy U.S. pressure to secure the release of the captives, moved cautiously to assure their safety. It was feared any precipitous move might touch off widespread conflict.

Warning The government warned the miners their food supplies would be cut off unless they released the hostages by tonight. It showed no inclination to exchange two jailed Communists for the hostages which the miners demand.

Leftist union leaders in Oruro exhorted workers to make a stand against the peasant militiamen.

About 3,000 government troops are also poised in Oruro, high in the Andes 120 miles southeast of La Paz.

The four Americans, all attached to the U.S. embassy, were seized Friday night.

Newsmen interviewed them Tuesday at union headquarters and reported them in good health but said their living conditions were deplorable.

The Americans are Thomas Martin, 27, of New York, and Michael A. Kristula of Cadillac, Mich., both information officers; Bernard Rifkin, 52, of Montclair, N.J., a labor officer; and Robert Federstrom of Honolulu, a Peace Corps volunteer.

Airliner Witnessed Jet Crash

ELKTON, Md. (AP)—A government investigator said today another plane witnessed and reported the crash of a Pan American World Airways jet airliner Sunday.

The jet, a Boeing 707, exploded at 5,000 feet on its way to Philadelphia. All 73 passengers and 8 crew members were killed in the crash.

T.W. Finch, Civil Aeronautics Board investigator at the scene, said a co-pilot on National Airlines Flight 16 not only saw the explosion, but radioed the message to Philadelphia airport saying:

"We've got about a dozen of them which I'm prepared to certify died in that plane crash," he said.

Dr. Russell S. Fisher, Maryland chief medical examiner, said Tuesday this might be necessary because of the difficulty in identifying some of the remains of the 73 passengers and 8 crew members.

Jack Ruby Will Plead Insanity

DALLAS (AP)—A Californian considered one of the nation's foremost trial lawyers will head the defense staff at the murder trial of Jack Ruby, who killed the accused assassin of President Kennedy.

The lawyer, Melvin Belli (pronounced bell-eye) of Los Angeles and San Francisco, said Tuesday night he was undertaking Ruby's defense "and I'm going to lead on it."

Belli, author of 28 law books and a past president of the American Academy of Trial Lawyers, said Ruby, 52, will plead innocent by reason of insanity.

Asked if he believed Ruby could receive a fair trial in Dallas, Belli said: "There is no assumption that he can not." He added there was no plan at present to ask a change of venue.

Ruby's trial for murder in the shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, the accused assassin, is set for Feb. 3 before Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown of Dallas.

Brown said three national networks receive their affiliates have asked to televise the trial.

"I've done a lot of thinking and praying about it," he said. "but I don't know about it yet."

The 35-year-old jurist, a bulky man with graying, wavy brown hair, predicted he will be criticized widely regardless of what he decides about television.

NEW YORK CITY VOTES TO FLUORIDATE WATER

NEW YORK (AP)—City Council has voted to fluoridate the city's water supply.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Ginny cost us two days. Then we lost another week because of the hydrogen explosion on Nov. 26. Otherwise, Saturn I is on the launching schedule laid out in August.

Army Lt. Col. Rocco A. Petrone was outlining months of painstaking preparation leading to the launching of what officials believe to be the world's most powerful rocket.

Barring further trouble, the 16-story-tall Saturn I will rattle skyward next Wednesday in the first attempt to ignite its high-energy liquid hydrogen second stage. Four earlier launchings of the kerosene-driven first stage were successful.

Petrone, assistant director for plans and project management at the space agency's launch operations center, emphasized the upcoming flight will be strictly a research and development test. But as a bonus, he said, Saturn I will attempt to orbit the world's heaviest satellite — 83 feet long and weighing 19 tons, including 5 1/2 tons of sand for ballast.

When the Saturn I — forerunner of the Saturn 5 man-to-the-moon rocket — blasts off, the first stage will generate its full 1.5 million pounds of thrust for the first time. The second stage will produce 90,000 pounds delivered by liquid hydrogen — quite a kick when ignited in the vacuum of space.

Sinatra Pays Kidnapers $240,000 To Free Son

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Frank Sinatra Jr., abducted from a motel on the California-Nevada border Sunday night, was released by his captors at 3:10 a.m. (PST) today in the exclusive Bel-Air district.

The 19-year-old singer's famous father told newsmen he paid $240,000 to get the boy back — no questions asked.

Friends said the boy, picked up by a private patrolman and brought to his mother's nearby home, was not harmed. The patrolman said the boy told him he was blindfolded throughout his 54-hour ordeal.

'Speechless' Sinatra Jr. did not talk to newsmen thronged outside the mansion of Mrs. Nancy Sinatra. But his father, long divorced from the boy's mother, spoke briefly.

Mrs. Sinatra "is speechless," he said — "and I'm about the same way."

"By the way," he said, "I might add that this is my birthday (No. 46) and this is about as good a birthday present as anyone could ask for."

The FBI in charge of the case, would not say whether any arrests had been made or who has also ministered to Gary Cooper and Elizabeth Taylor.

"He's in bed now and resting well. No harm has been done to him."

Dr. Kennamer said that young Sinatra had been given some pills during his capture and that he slept part of the time.

Jack Entratter, a friend of Sinatra Sr., said in Reno, Nev., that the kidnapers twice contacted the boy's father at the Mapes Hotel in Reno.

No Gags The second time, Entratter said, they "told him to go to Ron's gas station in Carson City. Sinatra arrived there at 12:45 p.m. Tuesday and the attendant, who was pretty surprised, told him:

"Someone's been calling you here. I thought it was a gag."

"But it was no gag. The contact man for the kidnapers then called again — either at Ron's or a nearby gas station. I'm not sure which — and told Frank that he should go to Los Angeles and he'd be contacted there."

"That was the reason for Frank's hurried flight last night to Los Angeles."

No Breaks There had been no breaks in the case since young Frank was hustled from his motel room at Lake Tahoe Sunday night by two gunmen who burst in and demanded money.

2 Phone Calls In Reno, Dist. Atty. William J. Raggio, a personal friend of Sinatra, said Sinatra Sr. received two phone calls at the Carson City station from the man who contacted him previously.

"He was told then of the ransom demand, told also that he would be contacted at 9 p.m. that night in Los Angeles at his former wife's home."

Sinatra returned to Reno, then flew to Los Angeles. At 3 p.m. Tuesday he was contacted at Mrs. Sinatra's home. Arrangements were made for a courier to bring $240,000.

Headlights Out At 2 a.m. Sinatra left the home, with the headlights on his car out so newsmen could not follow. He returned 35 minutes later after presumably delivering the ransom.

Then, 45 minutes later, Frank Jr. arrived in a private patrol car.

U.S. Frets Over Coin Shortage

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury expressed its concern today over the coin shortage which has become steadily worse during the Christmas shopping rush.

In the past few months, the Treasury has tried not to call attention to the shortage, apparently on the theory that publicity would lead to hoarding.

But the shortage was obvious long before the start of the Christmas season. There are now shortages in every denomination except silver dollars.

The supply is tight in almost every area of the nation.

Some banks have been asking the public to keep their coins in circulation. Some companies which rely heavily on coins in their business have been shipping large amounts from one area to another.

The shortage is said to be due to good business in retail sales and increased use of vending machines, parking meters and other such devices.

Demand for coins usually reaches a peak about Dec. 15, but Treasury officials apparently are bothered more about the prospect of continued shortages than about the current dearth of change.

Senate OK's $1.2 Billion College Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has sent to President Johnson the $1.2-billion college construction aid bill — hailed by its supporters as the most important measure of its kind in a century.

Democratic leaders said jubilantly after the 54-27 vote that they looked to education as the brightest feature on the record of the 1963 session of Congress.

2,100 Eligible Under the college bill, the nation's 2,100 private and public colleges would be eligible for aid to help in building classrooms, laboratories and libraries.

However, priority would go to those making plans to expand their facilities sharply to help meet the doubling of enrollments, expected to reach 7 million by 1970.

The three-year measure authorizes annually $180 million in grants to four-year colleges, $120 million in loans for the same institutions, $50 million in grants for public junior colleges, and $25 million the first year plus $60 million each the second and third for grants to graduate schools. The programs would be on a matching basis.

Restrictions The grants would be limited to buildings to be used for instruction of research in the natural and physical sciences, engineering, mathematics, and modern foreign languages, and for libraries.

These restrictions were written in because many legislators felt that across-the-board grants were unconstitutional under the First Amendment to the Constitution prohibiting Congress from making any law respecting an establishment of religion.

Mrs. Oswald Admirer Of Slain Chief

DALLAS (AP)—The housewife who sheltered the family of President Kennedy's accused assassin says Marina Oswald was a great admirer of the nation's chief executive.

Mrs. Ruth Paine, who took Russian-born Mrs. Lee Harvey Oswald into her home at nearby Irving for two months, told about the Oswalds' family life in an interview Tuesday with newsmen Wes Wise of Dallas station KRLL-TV.

On the day of the assassination, Mrs. Paine said she arose before Mrs. Oswald and her children, turned on the television set so they could watch Kennedy's arrival, and took her own young daughter to the dentist.

"I left the television on for Marina," Mrs. Paine said, "because I knew of the great admiration she had for the President."

Mrs. Paine said Mrs. Oswald came to live with her Sept. 24 because Oswald was out of work and worried about their new baby, expected in about a month.

Mrs. Oswald now is held in protective custody of the U. S. Secret Service at an undisclosed spot.

Mrs. Paine said when they learned a hidden rifleman had killed the President, Mrs. Oswald was almost overcome with grief and remarked how "awful" it will be for Mrs. Kennedy to raise those two little children without a father.

Mrs. Paine said she and her husband met the Oswalds at a party before the Oswalds left Dallas to live briefly in New Orleans.

U-M Researcher Babysitter For 100,000 Trees

EAST LANSING (AP)—A forestry researcher at Michigan State University is babysitting with 100,000 Scotch pine trees from the U.S. and 21 foreign countries in hopes of giving a boost to Michigan's $3 million annual Christmas tree industry.

The trees are planted on plots of land in 39 separate localities in this country and Canada. The study is aimed at improving Michigan's Scotch pines — the state's most popular Christmas tree.

The southern half of Lower Michigan was alerted to expect heavy snow tonight.

An accumulation of four inches or more of snow was forecast over the south half of the state.

mercury tumbled from 4 above to 10 below in a few hours.

The sleet-freezing rain belt extended from parts of the Texas Panhandle northeastward across west and north Oklahoma and southeast Kansas into southwest and south-central Missouri. But as the cold air advanced, the sleet and rain changed to snow in many areas.

Similar conditions were reported many parts of the North Central region.

Snow Belt The heavy snow belt covered areas from southern Colorado and northern New Mexico into central Nebraska and central Kansas. One to three inches of snow were indicated in much of the Midwest.

Rainfall in Southern sections ranged up to more than two inches in parts of Arkansas, northern Mississippi, Tennessee and Texas.

Clear Skies In the West, skies were mostly clear with temperatures near seasonal levels.

BOOP-BOOP-A-DOOP GIRL:

Helen Kane Eyes Comeback

NEW YORK (AP)—Remember when Helen Kane sang boop-boop-a-doop back in 1928?

Well, the onetime voice of Betty Boop in the movie cartoons is living in an apartment in the Jackson Heights section of New York City now, hoping for a comeback.

"I feel fine now, thank you," said Miss Kane, who has had four operations for cancer in the past seven years, the last one Dec. 6.

She says she's finishing a book about her career, wants to do some television, and has had some offers for a movie about her life.

Piping Voice She still speaks in that piping voice that sounds as if she's suppressing a laugh.

Miss Kane, who made 14 movies for Paramount, saw one of them on television not long ago.

"I was the peppy one, I was the flapper," she said. "There I was, looking about 16, laughing, and jumping on and off horses."

Her last movie was "Heads Up," with Buddy Rogers in 1932.

First Big Success Miss Kane's first big success was with Paul Ash, an orchestra leader, at New York's Paramount Theater in 1928. She'd already done dramatic stock, appeared in night clubs with the four Marx brothers and in Schubert revues.

After 10 auditions for Ash, they let her sing one song in the show.

"Then they put in more songs. After the fourth day they put my name in lights. I used to sit in a coffee shop across the street and look at it."

Wed 35 Years Miss Kane has been married for 35 years to Dan Healy, who was her leading man in "Good Boy," the show in which she sang "I Want to be Loved by You" (boop-boop-a-doop).

"He's a very talented young man," said Miss Kane, and added: "I'm not near that age. Don't put down any fancy age for me. It's not that long ago."

were imminent.

Gang Of 7 To 9 Sinatra Sr. said "a gang of seven to nine" kidnapers was involved.

He said he paid them off in small bills, left at a pickup point on Wilshire Boulevard in West Los Angeles. He said "no deal was made" to protect the abductors after the payoff.

"They're on their own now," Sinatra said.

Bel-Air Patrolman George C. Jones said he found Frank Jr. "walking along my beat on Roscomare Road," not far from Mrs. Sinatra's home.

Patrol Service Jones said he was driving along the darkened road when someone yelled "Hey!"

"I looked through the rear-view mirror," Jones said, "and saw someone back there. . . so I backed up."

"He was wearing a blindfold, hanging around his neck. . . I rolled down the window and this kid asked me, 'Can you drive me to Nimes Road?'"

"Well, they (Mrs. Sinatra and her two daughters) live at 700 Nimes Rd. They're customers (of the patrol service)."

Set Free Jones said young Sinatra told him he talked one of his captors into letting him go before another returned from the pickup point with the money.

Jones said the boy told him he had been blindfolded since his abduction. "He never saw any place or any of the guys who kidnaped him," the patrolman said, "but thinks there were three. He said he thought they were a bunch of amateurs, the way they operated."

Sinatra Sr., who flew here from Reno Tuesday night after being contacted about a ransom, said he had talked to his son twice while the boy was being held — once on Monday and again about 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Rode In Trunks "They wouldn't let me talk with him long," the father said. "I asked him if he was comfortable and he said he was okay."

"But you know they took him away without any socks. He just had a T-shirt and a parka. That's about as cruel as anything I can think of."

"I don't know if he was kidding me, but he mentioned riding around in a lot of trunks. I think he meant they transferred him in the trunk of a car."

Dr. Rex Kennamer emerged from the Sinatra house at 5:15 a.m. to discuss Frankie Jr.'s condition with reporters.

'In Good Shape' "The boy is in good shape; he's not injured in any way," said the Beverly Hills physician.

Community Holiday Creche To Be Set Up Here On Dec. 17th

Marquette's Community Creche will be presented this year on Tuesday, Dec. 17, marking the 11th consecutive year that city groups and individuals have cooperated to present the Nativity Scene at Christmas.

Coupled with the presentation of the 1962 creche will be a community caroling at 7:15 p.m., under direction of William G. Saari, elementary music supervisor in the Marquette Public Schools.

Robert D. MacDonald and his double brass quartet will be on hand to accompany the carolers, according to Mrs. Charles Bur, chairman of this year's community sing.

'Outstanding Event'

Mrs. Bur, who also was chairman of the first community sing conducted in connection with the opening of the creche, said today that the committee in charge of 1963 plans has been working diligently to make the sing at the creche an outstanding event again this season.

"I hope that everyone in the community, as well as the surrounding area, will plan to attend the sing at the Montgomery Ward gas station, corner of Front and Bluff Sts.," she stated.

Began By Woman's Club

The community creche has been displayed in the window of that station since its inception in 1952, under the leadership of the Marquette Woman's Club.

Initiating a "Put Christ back into Christmas" movement in December 1951, the club, then headed by Mrs. Ernest Sharron, appointed a committee to make preliminary plans for a creche.

Mrs. Caroline Stone acted as the first chairman of the committee, assisted by Mrs. Bur, Mrs. Gunther C. Meyland, Mrs. Fred Saunders, Mrs. Harry Culber and Mrs. Sharron.

Aided by the Marquette Chamber of Commerce, the committee sent invitations to clergymen, civic and fraternal organizations, business and industrial representatives and individuals to attend a session in the Union National Bank lounge.

"The response was tremendous," Mrs. Sharron recalls. "That February 1952 meeting attracted 75 persons representing 42 organizations."

At that time, a decision was made to purchase figures for the Nativity Scene and, with cooperation from the entire community, the first Christmas Creche was unveiled Dec. 15, 1952, in the window of what was then the Dixon Buick garage.

Mrs. Paul Praised

Mrs. Sharron noted that the late Mrs. Carroll Paul "will be long remembered for her untiring efforts in setting up the creche," both the first year and in succeeding seasons.

The Marquette Woman's Club continued its interest in the project under the leadership of presidents who succeeded Mrs. Sharron. They included Mrs. Culver, Mrs. W. L. Casler, Mrs. John Osterberg, Mrs. Louise Theriault, Mrs. C. W. Dupras, who acted as community sing chairman in December 1956, and the current president, Mrs. R. L. Balconi.

New Figures Added

In the past decade, several figures have been added to the original setting of the creche, through the cooperative efforts of the Woman's Club, chamber of commerce, churches, retail merchants and community citizens, in general.

Serving on the present advisory committee for the Community Creche are the following: Ernest L. Pearce, Ben E. Knauss, Melvin R. Melby and Mrs. Ernest Sharron.

The committee in charge of this year's creche includes Mrs. Sharron as general chairman, Mrs. Bur as sing chairman; and Mrs. Franz Menze and Mrs. Dupras of the Marquette Woman's Club.

Among others assisting with the project are Mr. and Mrs. Kenyon Boyer, Miss Olive G. Fox, the Anderson Sign Co., J & H Electric, Flanigan Brothers Storage Co., City Manager Thomas Moore, James S. Engle, and Franz Menze.

Mrs. Sharron commented on the "wonderful cooperation" given by Franz Menze in donating two of his men to work, sometimes a half day, to erect the creche, and also Flanigan Brother Storage Co., which takes the figures up to the station, unpacks them, and returns for them after Christmas and stores them until next year.

She said "without their excellent cooperation, the creche could not be what it is today."

Motorist Injured, Two Others Issued Tickets In Five Area Traffic Mishaps

One motorist was injured, two other drivers were given tickets and seven vehicles were involved in five area traffic mishaps reported this morning by city and state police.

Another motorist was ticketed in a wreck in the western section of Marquette County (see story on Page 15). Reports on this area's collisions follow:

1. At 9:25 yesterday morning an automobile being driven east on W. Hewitt Ave. by Thomas L. Baldini, 19, of 209 Brown Ave., Negaunee, smashed into a car operated by Luther O. Gant, 75, of 1020 N. Front St., who was traveling south on N. Front St.

The impact forced Gant's car to the left side of Front St. where it struck a vehicle owned by Forrest L. Coleman, Pine Village, which was parked on the east side, facing north.

Gant complained of soreness of both knees and sought his own treatment, city police said.

Baldini, who had failed to stop for the stop sign, told officers he had been looking at the "no parking" signs and didn't see the stop sign.

Stop Sign Violation

Extensive damage resulted to the front end of Baldini's car, a 1963 fourdoor sedan; to the front end of Coleman's automobile, a 1955 fourdoor sedan, and to both sides of Gant's car, a 1961 fourdoor, ing in the 100 block of W. Spring St. City police said a semi-trailer, operated by Robert Balles, 40, Hoboken, N. J., and being towed out of the Spring St. parking lot by a truck, smashed into the Soo Line Railroad Co. "island" signal.

City police said the truck in front of him prevented Balles from seeing the signal, and he cut too sharply in making the turn.

The base of the signal, the flashing red light and the sign were damaged. Considerable damage also occurred to the left side of the semi-trailer.

4. At 3:30 yesterday afternoon a car operated by James E. Bellant, 25, of 214 Mesnard St., struck a concrete boulevard light pole in the 100 block of Rock St.

City police said Bellant had been driving west on Rock St. and had attempted to make a left turn into a driveway to turn around. In doing so his car began to slide, and struck the light pole.

The globe on the pole shook loose and broke. The right rear fender of his 1960 two-door sedan was damaged.

5. In a mishap which occurred at 1:15 Monday afternoon but which was not reported until yesterday, a car being driven west on M-28 by William D. Hamor, 23, Marquette, went out of control on the icy roadway, traveled over to the left (south) side and smashed into the ditch, striking some trees.

The wreck occurred near the Sand River area in Chocolay Township and resulted in the left rear of Hamor's 1955 coach being damaged. The car was driven from the scene under its own power.

Cliffs Ridge Readies For Influx Of Skiers; Improvements Noted

Cars and buses from Chicago and Milwaukee will soon begin to come into the area bound for Marquette's major attraction for the winter tourist, Cliffs Ridge.

On "good average" skiing weekends, between 600 and 800 skiers a day will be on the slopes at Cliffs Ridge. But only half of the skiers will be visitors to this area.

"Based on our ticket sales, 50 per cent of the people who ski Cliffs Ridge are Marquette area residents, 30 per cent are members of organized ski clubs and 20 per cent are individuals who drive here to ski," Robert B. Brebner, president of Cliffs Ridge, Inc., said.

Foremost aims at Cliffs Ridge are to continue to develop the local skier, to make accommodations even more attractive to local skiers and to stimulate additional interest in skiing among Northern Michigan University students, Brebner said.

"All future developments at Cliffs Ridge will depend not only on the acceptance we can gain from the out-of-state skiing market, but on area residents' cooperation and utilization of our facilities," Brebner stated.

"We're looking forward to increased cooperation from people in the community who are directly affected by skiers' money."

Cliffs Ridge is becoming more and more competitive and now ranks mid-way among the six or seven other facilities in the Upper Peninsula which attract skiers from outside their areas, he noted.

To put the name of Cliffs Ridge before the skiing public and to make personal contact with out-of-state skiers, Cliffs Ridge was represented at two ski shows last month. "The Marquette Chamber of Commerce assisted us in our efforts by helping us set up a booth at the Chicago Ski Show and at the same time a Cliffs Ridge group set up a booth at a Milwaukee show," he said. "We're in a good position to attract skiers. We have a fine hill with usually adequate snow, ample facilities in the area for lodging and meals and we're conveniently located close to Marquette."

Target date for the opening of the season at Cliffs Ridge, depending on temperatures, is this Saturday.

Capacity for snow making is expected to be improved by 30 per cent because of a cooler, now being installed, which will reduce the temperature of compressed air. Compressed air is combined with water and shot through a nozzle to make artificial snow.

Pipes, which carry the compressed air up the hill, have been relocated this year to facilitate snowmaking and allow the snow machines to cover a larger area. New nozzles, to make greater quantities of snow in less time, have been purchased.

Another improvement at Cliffs Ridge this year is the installation of a cafe counter on the second level of the chalet.

Based on topographical maps and substantiated by an aneroid barometer, Cliffs Ridge has a developed skiing area which provides a vertical drop of 442 feet and a maximum potential of a 600 foot vertical drop.

To utilize Cliffs Ridge's potential, the full vertical drop can and will be developed, Brebner said.

Hearing On Hospital Bid For Rezoning Continued To Jan. 6 Commission Meeting

A public hearing on a request for St. Luke's Hospital for a zoning change in the hospital area will be continued at a special city commission meeting Monday, Jan. 6.

The hearing was opened at this week's commission meeting. Mayor C. Fred Rydholm adjourned it to the special January meeting in view of questions and objections from seven persons who own homes in the hospital area.

At the Jan. 6 hearing, the St. Luke's Hospital board of trustees will present its building plans and an explanation of the uses it contemplates for the property proposed for rezoning.

The St. Luke's board has requested a change from single family residence to general residence zoning in connection with its master plan for expansion. (Hospital buildings are prohibited in single family zoning but allowed in general residence zoning.)

St. Luke's requested the rezoning on the block on which the hospital is situated plus three lots for which the hospital recently obtained options (1115 Lee St., 1111 Lee St., and 605 W. College Ave.).

Need Room For Expansion

The area recommended for consideration for rezoning and the area under consideration by the city commission, is larger by two lots. It is bounded on the north by W. Kave Ave., on the east by Hebard Ct., on the south by W. Magnetic St., and on the west by the west lot lines of lots 110, 107, 62 and 59 in College Heights.

Don M. Pearce, representing the St. Luke's board, said: "Although the board hasn't seen the architect's preliminary plans, we intend to erect additional buildings on the hospital block and use the remaining property for parking space. We're asking for the zoning change so that we can use this property at a later date. We've used up all our property now for building and we need elbow room that can be used in the future."

"We don't want to harm the neighborhood, but we want to provide the best possible hospital facilities for the community."

Objections Listed

There were several objections raised by persons whose homes are near the area proposed for rezoning. They wanted to know what guarantee they had that tall buildings would not be erected close to their homes.

"A large building in a residential area wouldn't be very nice," Mrs. Ernest T. Sharon, 609 W. College Ave., said.

"We were given the impression that if we don't sell our home, we'll be surrounded by tall buildings and have a lot of traffic in front of our home. Everyone would like to know what the building plan is," Mrs. Lieveilyn Bonamie, 500 W. Magnetic St., said.

Must Enter Residential Area

Max Putters, consultant here for Vilican-Leman and Associates, Southfield, the area planning firm, said that there is no way that St. Luke's can expand without entering a residential area. "Its plans should reflect beyond the hospital's immediate needs," he said.

Putters explained that the larger area recommended for rezoning is a square area which is contiguous with Northern Michigan University property.

Provides Parking

"With a larger site for expansion, the traffic nuisance in the neighborhood would be reduced because the hospital could provide for off-street parking," he added.

Mayor Rydholm stated: "We

Pay Raises Proposed For State

LANSING (AP) — Pay raises for state workers averaging slightly more than 3 per cent and costing about $6.5 million a year have been recommended in a staff study prepared for the State Civil Service Commission.

About 32,000 classified employees would be affected. Any wage hike authorized would become effective next July.

Public Hearing

The commission, meanwhile, announced a public hearing on the recommendation for next Tuesday. A commission decision is expected next Wednesday.

Under the new state constitution, any pay raise ordered by the commission can be adjusted by the legislature or vetoed by a two-thirds majority of both houses.

The commission previously had the final say in the matter although the legislature could force cuts in state agency staffs by reducing their appropriations.

The last general pay adjustment for state workers was a 4 per cent raise effective at the start of the fiscal year this past

July.

The proposed adjustments would give most state workers an increase of between 3 and 4 per cent; give no increases for medical doctors or psychiatrists who received special mid-year adjustments a few months ago; provide most institution service workers with a 2 per cent increase, and give special adjustments of from 6 to 10 per cent to a few classes such as clinical psychologists and community planning specialists.

Availability Of Property, Fuel, Water Factors In City's Steam Plant Site

Availability of property, fuel and cooling water were factors in the recommendation that the city's steam electric generating plant be located on the Standard Oil Co. bulk plant property.

J. Bryan Sims and Associates, Grand Haven, consulting engineering firm for the city, said that advantageous factors of the Standard Oil site can be expected to result in lower operating costs for the steam plant.

The Standard Oil property, at the foot of E. Hampton St., has been purchased by the city commission as the site for the $3,775,000 steam plant.

Seek Additional Property
Construction of the steam plant, which will be financed through light and power department revenue bonds, will start next spring.

Sims said that the Standard Oil Co. site, while not exceptionally large, can be developed in connection with adjacent city-owned waterfront property. He noted that the property was immediately available at a reasonable price.

Fuel can be available by both rail and water delivery, with the possibility of lower operating costs and dependability of deliveries, Sims said.

Lower initial costs will result because of a previously constructed dock which can be utilized under the planned construction, the consulting engineer said.

Plentiful lower temperature cooling water which is not corrosive to equipment is available and also will result in a lower cost of operation, he said.

Near Center Of Land
He also noted that the property is near the center of the city's present and future electric load.

In addition, Sims said: "The site offers opportunity for the city to improve the appearance and utility of the waterfront by providing an additional dock which will encourage cruise and other vessels to visit Marquette."

"The site offers an opportunity to provide a very desirable recreational facility to a section of the community where little work of this nature has previously been done."

Discounts Other Site
Commenting on one of the sites considered for the steam plant, the city's diesel plant on the Dead River, Sims said:

"The new plant will be a base load plant. The Dead River site is far away from the heaviest electric load center. Locating the steam plant there would result in higher electric losses."

If the steam plant were located at the diesel plant, advantages gained from a reduction in overhead supervision would not offset the disadvantages of the site, Sims said.

He said that the disadvantages of locating the steam plant at the diesel plant include a limited cooling water supply, the availability of fuel by rail or truck only, with the possibility of increased operating cost; and that river cooling water is at higher temperatures than lake water and is likely to be more corrosive to equipment than lake water.

Other sites considered and excerpts from Sims' report follow:

Presque Isle Park — Property is restricted by deed to the city to be used for recreation only; nearby privately owned docks might not be available; site is not near the center of the electric load, with resulting increased electric transmission losses.

Near Spear coal dock — Property not available and area is too small.

Cliffs Dow Chemical Co. plant — Marine development would be too expensive and location would probably involve the sale of steam at low cost in order to be competitive with the company's own self-generation plant; would involve a substantially higher investment with questioned ability to pay proper return.

See Line Railroad Co. property at the foot of Baraga Ave. — Property too small and available for lease only; existing expensive improvements owned by Gustafson Oil Co., the Spear company and others would have to be acquired and removed.

Stock Mart Operation Explained

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The headlines say: Stocks Hit New High. Trading Volume Soars. Customers Accounts Frozen When Brokerage House Is Suspended. Profit Taking Clips Prices.

And yet most of the stocks directly involved may never have been seen or handled by their actual owners.

Most of the 17 million Americans who own stocks may have theirs in safety deposit boxes, to be sure. But the shares that change ownership over and over in stock exchange trading may never travel further than from one brokerage house's vault to another's. And they make up only a small percentage of the total outstanding, and tucked away.

A customer opens a brokerage account much as he does a bank account. He must deposit enough money to cover both the costs of the stocks in which he wants to trade and the cost of commissions for buying and selling—fixed by the exchanges and determined by the price and amount of stocks traded—and the charge for credit should the customer want to buy on margin.

Come customers pay for their stocks and sock them away.

National Foundation Group Readies For Drive

An Upper Peninsula planning meeting for the upcoming National Foundation drive was held recently in Marquette. Among those attending were, from left, Richard Brunvand, campaign director for Chippewa County; Andrew McCormick, Houghton campaign chairman; Don Ellis, Marquette County drive chairman; A. C. Bennett, Ironwood, Gogebic County director for the National Foundation drive, and Robert Cook, Marquette, state representative for the foundation. In wheelchair is Mrs. Jane Ahlborn, Munising, mothers march chairman for Alger County. The National Foundation raises funds for the fight against crippling birth defects, arthritis and polio. (Mining Journal photo.)

Many leave them with the broker as part of their account without even seeing them.

Brokers say up to 90 per cent charge. Individual brokerage of the orders to buy or sell are received by phone from customers with accounts. Usually phone orders involve selling stock held in the broker's vault in the customer's name, or the buying of stocks to be placed there.

Two Types Of Accounts

There are two chief types of brokerage house accounts.

• An individual investor buys stock for cash. They must be promptly paid for in full—either out of his account, or by actual currency or check.

• Traders buy on margin, as set by federal and stock exchange regulations. The federal rule at present is that 70 per cent must be settled in cash, with the broker lending the extra 30 per cent at a specified houses often require more cash than the legal limit. If the price of the stock should fall enough to jeopardize the margin, the broker may call for more cash, or if necessary he will sell the stock to protect the 30 per cent credit involved—and the hapless speculator gets what's left.

Buying or selling on the exchanges is done this way: The brokerage house phones the customer's order to buy, say, to its trader on the floor, who seeks out another broker with an order to sell the same stock. They try to get together on a mutually agreeable price. Normally, the stock is delivered within four trading days.

Ex-Sawyer SAC Head Given Medal

Col. William B. Kyes, former commander of the 410th Bombardment Wing at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, has been awarded the Legion of Merit. One of the higher awards given an Air Force member, the award was for meritorious service during his service as commander of the Sawyer Strategic Air Command organization.

Lt. Gen. David Wade, commander of Second Air Force, made the formal presentation.

Col. Kyes is now commander of the 11th Strategic Aerospace Wing at Altus AFB, Okla. He went there in late February of this year after serving there two and a half years.

'Outstanding Leadership'
According to the officials at Altus, the medal was presented for his "outstanding leadership in every phase of the . . . wing's mission."

"Largely through his personal attention to detail and leadership by example, the 410th Bombardment Wing became combat ready prior to the prescribed target date and was the most effective unit in the 40th Air Division throughout his tenure as commander."

"Although the combat crews came from diversified resources, Colonel Kyes molded them into a hardworking team, high in morale and dedicated to the wing mission."

'Devotion To Duty'
The citation added that "his devotion to duty, attention to welfare of his men, and unusually keen grasp of the command mission, pinpointed him as a truly outstanding Air Force leader. He possesses that element of leadership which inspires others to put forth the maximum effort."

Kyes, a native of Alma, Mich., received the Legion of Merit for the period from July 12, 1960 to Feb. 27, 1963.

Essential First Step
Miss Casey said, "Because a new state aid law is the essential first step to better public library service, a new proposal will be introduced in the 1964 Legislature to authorize grants to systems of libraries."

"Passage of new library legislation would require an increase in state aid. Our request for $1 million in state aid would extend library service to 200,000 persons now without it and lay the basis for development of new patterns of cooperation among libraries."

Referring to $956,128 in the budget earmarked for the State Library, Law Library, the U.P. branch in Escanaba and the Library for the Blind, Miss Casey said the increase—some $235,000 over this year's appropriation—is necessary to meet the increased demands for materials and services from public libraries, government, education and general public.

"Passage of new library legislation would require an increase in state aid. Our request for $1 million in state aid would extend library service to 200,000 persons now without it and lay the basis for development of new patterns of cooperation among libraries."

Referring to $956,128 in the budget earmarked for the State Library, Law Library, the U.P. branch in Escanaba and the Library for the Blind, Miss Casey said the increase—some $235,000 over this year's appropriation—is necessary to meet the increased demands for materials and services from public libraries, government, education and general public.

He asked landowners or operators who desire to know about the recreational-business potential on their land to request a copy of an agriculture information booklet, "Rural Recreation Enterprises for Profit" at his office in the federal building here or at the offices of other agencies of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The publication lists and describes ways of getting started in the recreation business to take advantage of the increasing demand for recreational facilities.

The publication points out the opportunities for income from vacation farms, picnic and sports areas, fishing waters, camping or shooting preserves and cottage sites.

It includes a discussion of legal and business angles and information on obtaining financial assistance from public agencies, such as the department of agriculture.

NEW CHEVELLE!

BY CHEVROLET

The kind of go—6 or V8—you'd expect from one of Chevy's great highway performers. Come on down and drive it.

The kind of comfort you'd expect in a large interior. Come on down and sit in it.

The kind of fresh styling—inside and out—that makes it the year's smartest surprise. Come down and stare at it.

New Chevelle Malibu Sport Coupe

Now—Chevy spirit in a new kind of car!

We built this one to do a lot more than just stand around looking beautiful. Held its weight down in the 3,000-pound range. Then built four lusty engines for it—two sixes and two V8's—with output all the way up to 220 horses*!

And if that combination of modest weight and potent power makes you think this is one frisky car, you've got the right idea.

You've also got a car with lots of room for legs, hips, shoulders, hats and luggage. Yet its 115-inch wheelbase keeps it highly maneuverable in traffic and very easy to park.

With its Full Coil suspension and snug insulation, it's got a ride that reminds you of the Jet-smooth kind the way it muffles noise and cushions you from bumps.

And the fine hand of Body by Fisher craftsmen shows up beneath this one's suave good looks, too. Just listen to the solid thunk of a door-closing or look at the smooth metalwork. You'll see what we mean.

Sound good so far? There's more. Like the fact that Chevelle comes in three series with eleven models—convertibles, sport coupes, sedans, wagons, even Super Sport models with front bucket seats. Like the fact that (and see if this isn't one of the nicest surprises of all) the new Chevelle comes at an easy-to-take price!

Like to hear more? The listening's wonderful at your Chevrolet dealer's—and so's the driving.

President And Congress

President Lyndon Johnson's first address to Congress called for passage of civil rights legislation as a memorial to the late President Kennedy. President Johnson, as the former majority leader of the Senate and a historically astute organizer of its strength for his purposes, knew the odds against any quick passage of the civil rights bill which President Kennedy had been urging since the Negroes took to the streets to try to force integration in the South.

There was no chance for the bill this year and there's not much chance for any early passage of the bill in a form which will be strongly influential in giving Negroes full citizenship in the South. The very day that President Johnson called for quick action by Congress to enact the civil rights bill, leaders of Congress gave him public lip service in agreeing that they should have quick action, but they added their interpretation of what he had said as meaning that the bill should have careful scrutiny.

The hypocrisy of this position should be known to American voters if they are going to have self-government that is responsive to their wishes. It isn't now.

All the states elect congressmen and senators to represent them in Congress and send them away with the feeling that the majority will be to prevail there in the government of America. This is a naive view which Americans appear to have held for many years. Hans Christian Andersen's fairy tales are nearer the truth.

Congressmen do not vote as Republicans or Democrats, but as members of one of the power blocs in the House or Senate, either that of the President's group, or that of the House or Senate's own establishment, like that which Sen. Lyndon Johnson led in the Senate before he was elected Vice President.

When the late President Kennedy was using a political hammer to beat the Republicans on the head for defeating his legislation in Congress, he was mindful that the Democrats have a crushing majority in the Senate—67 to 33 over the Republicans—and also a big majority in the House. But these Democratic majorities weren't available to the Democratic President because many of the Democrats were members of the establishment. It includes most of the Southerners, but also numbers most conservative Republicans and some conservative Democrats who don't hail from Dixie.

Because of this case-hardened political situation and Congress' organization on the committee system, Southerners in Congress representing less than one sixth of the voting population of the nation dominate both Houses of Congress.

The President may propose bills until the cows come home, but unless the establishment wants them passed they are held up interminably in committee or emerge so emasculated that their usefulness is gone.

The real reason that America has a "do nothing" Congress at this time is not because it is incapable of action due to indecision or competitive deliberations, but because the Southerners (who elect only Democrats to office and thus give long tenure to their congressmen and senators and groove them into committee seniority and legislation control) are fighting the civil rights movement.

They're not fighting it openly, but covertly, and their strategy is to hang up all legislation in order to jam civil rights. That gives them extra bargaining power.

This is a dangerous policy, of course, because eventually the American people are going to wake up to the fact that while they aren't barred from voting, like so many Southern Negroes, their vote doesn't count for much because the Southern Democrats in Congress control all legislation and the majority of the country can get legislation only if the Dixie minority wants it.

There is nothing illegal about this process. The Southern Democrats who head the establishments have been wily politicians and have achieved great power over the national fate. Their continuance in power depends upon the present method of organizing Congress, and they'll fight any rules change to the death, and they're in an entrenched position.

But their flaunting of the national will becomes increasingly apparent and nourishes the demand that Congress represent all America. The solution is not to lose our national respect for Congress because it serves such selfish ends, but to make it bring to a vote within a reasonable time legislation demanded by the nation.

Straits Ferry Service

I am writing regarding the request of the Mackinac Transportation Co. to the Interstate Commerce Commission to abandon ferry service across the Straits of Mackinac on Dec. 31.

Newspaper articles and TV and radio reports have presented the railroads' side of this matter. I should like to let people know the other side of the story.

The Mackinac Transportation Co. and the railroads which own it (New York Central, Pennsylvania and Soo Line) have known since last April that the boiler pressure on the Chief Wawatam was cut from 185 pounds to 130. After stalling and holding meetings since April, the railroads are using the matter of the repair of the Chief Wawatam as an excuse to quit.

Up until about two weeks ago the Manitowish shipyard in Wisconsin was going ahead with plans to repair the Chief Wawatam. Then a meeting was held, the decision was made to abandon and the shipyard was notified to drop everything.

Newspaper articles, TV and radio releases are saying the Chief Wawatam has to be repaired by Dec. 31 or the steamboat inspectors will pick up the boat's operating certificate.

This is simply not true. The Chief Wawatam has a certificate to operate until May 24, 1964, with 130 pounds boiler pressure. While it is true that the Chief cannot break heavy ice with 130 pounds pressure, it is also true that if the Mackinac Transportation Co. will show intent to repair, the inspectors will allow some leeway in pressure and the boat can continue to operate.

The railroads are saying that alternate routes are available. This is true, but the railroads are not saying that the Ann Arbor ferry between Frankfort and Manistique was not operated for about 45 days early this year because they could not break the ice. The Mackinac water route is eight miles, compared to 70 to 80 miles and longer on Lake Michigan.

The railroads are saying it would cost $1,000,000 to repair the Chief and to charter another ferry. The Chief can be repaired while in service; no other ferry would be needed and the cost would be much less than $1,000,000, perhaps half the figure.

'After All, We Are Old Friends!'

Presidential Succession

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—John W. McCormack, 71-year-old speaker of the House, has just about put the finish on any chance of making it impossible for him to move up to the presidency.

If President Johnson should die then, under present law, next in line to succeed him are McCormack of Massachusetts and 86-year-old Carl Hayden of Arizona, president pro tempore of the Senate. Both are Democrats.

Only Three Laws

In American history there have been only three laws controlling succession to the presidency: The first in 1792, the next in 1886, the last in 1947.

The founding fathers, when they put the Constitution together, ducked the problem of saying who should assume the presidency if the President and Vice President died. They left it to Congress.

Garfield's Assassination

Congress passed its first act in this field in 1792. It put the Senate's president pro tempore and the speaker of the House next in succession behind the Vice President.

It stayed that way undisturbed until President Garfield's assassination in 1881. At the time he was shot, it happened that the House had not chosen a speaker and the Senate had no president pro tempore. For five years there was discussion and debate.

Cabinet Put In Line

Then in 1886 Congress changed the law, eliminating the two congressional officers and putting the President's cabinet in line of succession, starting with the secretary of state. Another 59 years passed and in April 1945, President Franklin D. Roosevelt died. Vice President Harry S. Truman became president. If Truman had died then, under the 1886 law, his successor would have been Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius Jr.

Truman Wanted Change

On June 19, 1945, eight days before he accepted Stettinius' resignation, Truman asked Congress to change the 1886 law. He wanted the cabinet taken out of direct line of succession. He argued that under the 1886 law a president, since he picks his own cabinet, could name his own successor. "I do not believe," he said, "that in a democracy this power should rest with the Chief Executive."

Return To 1792 Act

He said he thought that, as far as possible, the office of President should be filled by an elected officer, not an appointed one. So he asked Congress to abolish the 1886 act and return to the 1792 act, but with a switch.

Instead of making the Senate's president pro tempore next in line, Truman said the speaker of the House should come behind the Vice President and then the Senate's president pro tempore.

Not Everyone Agreed

Truman said he considered this more democratic because the speaker of the House and all House members have to be elected every two years while senators face the voters only every six. Not everyone agreed with him.

For instance, Edward S. Corwin, the constitutional authority, wrote: "The caliber of our speakers, in the main, has been somewhat below what the presidency requires and deserves. If speakers are compared with our secretaries of state, the result is decidedly in favor of the secretaries."

Democrats Ignored Truman

There was some irony in what followed. Truman had made his request to a Congress run by his own Democrats. They ignored him. He didn't get action until the Republicans took control of Congress in 1947.

They changed the law, making it a kind of combination of the 1886 and 1792 laws, for this was the result, still in effect: Doubly Ironic

Next in line behind the Vice President are the speaker of the House, the Senate's president pro tempore, and the Cabinet starting with the secretary of state.

This was doubly ironic, for when the Republicans passed this act, two Republicans were in line of succession to Democratic Truman if he died, since there was no vice president then: Speaker of the House Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts and Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, president pro tempore of the Senate.

Close-Up Glimpse

On Nov. 27 the nation got a close-up glimpse of the two elderly men—McCormack and Hayden—who are in the line of presidential succession if Johnson dies. On that day Johnson addressed a joint session of Congress on television and McCormack and Hayden were sitting right behind him.

In the past week there was increased discussion about the presidential succession. And former President Eisenhower, writing in the Saturday Evening Post, suggested the 1947 law be changed back to the 1886

McCormack's View

In short, he thinks the secretary of state and the other cabinet members should be directly behind the Vice President, not the two congressional officers.

But over the weekend McCormack said he favors the present law "not because I'm in it but because I feel it's the best way of solving the problem."

In House 35 Years

In view of this statement Congress isn't likely to change the law to eliminate McCormack and Hayden, particularly the House and particularly McCormack.

He's been a member of the House 35 years. The Democrats who run the House elected him speaker. They're not likely to do anything which might be considered an affront to him.

Whirligig

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON—Whatever kind of civil rights bill Congress finally passes, it will not give the Negro everything he wants. For example, the provision barring discriminations almost certainly will be watered down and the fair employment practices section faces rough going.

It is devoutly to be hoped, therefore, that the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, one of the more articulate of the Negro leaders, will carry out his pledge to barnstorm the country next year in a campaign to push Negro registration.

It is not this peevish contention that everything the Negro is asking for is his constitutional privilege, but in a democracy the only place any minority can be an influence is at the polls.

Social Rights

There is, it says here, a sharp difference between civil rights and social rights. No administration ever will succeed in forcing a white Southerner to sit down to dinner with a Negro. But however a Southerner may feel about socializing with a black man he has no legal standing when he interferes with the Negro's constitutional right to vote.

Undoubtedly, it is more dramatic to go ranging about the country bemoaning the shameful plight of the Negro who is turned away from restaurants and hotels and even gasoline stations. Such discrimination not only is an insult to a man's dignity but, more practically, it is a bloody inconvenience and sometimes an economic hardship. But it is a fact of life that cannot be overcome until the Negro's voice is heard louder and more clearly across the land.

Votes Count

Demanding the right to sit down next to a white man in a restaurant is unrealistic at this time; it is putting the cart before the horse. For if the Negro wins his constitutional right to vote in the South, he will no longer have to plead for equality in the corner lunchroom. He will elect politicians sworn to give him that right, if not the white man's acceptance of it.

Consider the situation in 11 Southern states: Although Negroes represent 20 per cent of the population in that region, they comprise only 12 per cent of the voters. In Mississippi, Negroes represent 42 per cent of the population and only 5.3 per cent of the voters; in Alabama, 30 per cent of the population is Negro and only 8 per cent of the voters are black. And yet, something can be done about it. As a result of intensive campaigns in Texas, that state now has a larger percentage of Negro voters (14.9) than Negro residents, (12 per cent). And in Tennessee, with a population 16 per cent Negro, the voting list is 13.3 per cent black.

Plum And Bitter Pill

By JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON—Almost unnoticed, President Johnson has already pulled out a pretty big plum from the squalid congressional pudding—in which the plums are so few and far between that most Jack Horners would be hopelessly discouraged.

By his agreement to give Sen. Harry F. Byrd an advance peek at the 1964 budget, the President has persuaded the reluctant Virginian to accelerate the Senate Finance Committee's languid contemplation of the tax reduction bill. If all goes well, therefore, the committee majority favoring the bill will finally get the chance to send it to the Senate floor early in January.

Everyone Ought To Be Thankful

Thus the odds are now quite strong that the tax bill will become law at least two months earlier than anyone had previously hoped or thought possible. And this prospect of much earlier action on the tax bill is a real plum, for which everyone ought to be thankful.

The plum-plucking was only possible, however, because President Johnson has also had to swallow a bitter pill. Beginning with his admirable speech to the joint session of Congress, the new President has gone all out to get the House and Senate votes on the civil rights bill within a reasonable time. But in this he seems to have failed.

Precisely because the civil rights bill is unlikely to reach the Senate until late in January, if by that time, there is a time gap for Senate action on the tax bill if Sen. Byrd keeps his promise. But this is an inadequate consolation for the delay of the civil rights bill, which President Johnson fears will never pass the Senate at all if it gets there later than Feb. 1.

Most Powerful Congressional Anachronism

The cause of the delay, of course, is the most powerful and least endearing of all the powerful and unendearing congressional anachronisms, the chairman of the House Rules Committee, Rep. Howard Smith of Virginia.

Smith means to sit on the civil rights bill as long as possible. And his two constant allies, the House Republican leader, Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana, and the senior Republican Rules Committee member, Rep. Clarence Brown of Ohio, do not mean to obstruct Smith's obstructionism.

Even on the House Rules Committee, which is not normally noted for its progressivism, there is a majority for the civil rights bill. Halleck and Brown agreed with Rep. Smith that they will not interfere with his "degenerate and futile filibuster," as Walter Lippmann has accurately described this kind of purposeful delay in committee. But if and when the bill comes to a committee vote, all the Republican members will vote for it. This will provide a sure majority.

Pretty Hopeless Tactic

A petition to discharge the rules committee and bring the civil rights bill to the House floor has meanwhile been presented by Reps. Emmanuel Celler of New York and Richard Bolling of Missouri. President Johnson has ordered full White House support for the petition.

But this is a pretty hopeless tactic, for 213 members' names are needed to pry the civil rights bill from the antiquated talons of Rep. Smith. With no Southerners to help, the Democrats can hardly muster more than 160 petition signers.

Among the Republicans, Rep. John Lindsay of New York has been talking bravely of collecting 60 signatures—which would be more than enough. But if Lindsay can do this against the opposition of Republican leader Halleck, it will be the biggest surprise in recent congressional history.

Vicious, Obstinate Filibuster

Finally, if and when the civil rights bill reaches the Senate, it will of course touch off a vicious and obstinate filibuster. It can hardly pass the Senate unless cloture is voted. On this point, the Senate Republican leader has told President Johnson what he told President Kennedy, that he is "for seven-eighths of the bill."

Being translated, this means that most of the Republicans will support cloture in the end. But they will only do so in the end, after a fruitless waste of many weeks to give the filibusters time to make a show.

Worse still, the eighth of the bill which Dirksen and the other middle-ground Republicans do not favor includes the sections on public accommodations and the Fair Employment Practices Commission. These sections may have to be jettisoned or gravely diluted in order to secure cloture.

Danger Of Nation-Wide Revolt

The public accommodations section, particularly, has meanwhile become a symbol and touchstone of white America's willingness to accord equal rights to Negro America. Thus there is considerable danger that even after the interminable, needless and inexcusable delays now in prospect, a satisfactory civil rights bill will not be voted.

If this sort of thing goes on much longer, there will also be considerable danger of a nation-wide revolt against the persistent and increasing congressional abuse of the legislative power, which is reaching the stage of ugly parody.

Singer's Success Story

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—In a day when weeping over one's sad childhood and knocking one's parents is something of a national pastime, Diahann Carroll is a refreshing surprise.

This talented Negro singing star credits her success largely to the inspiration and faith shown by her father, a subway motorman, and her mother, a nurse who works with disturbed children.

Happy Childhood

"I had an exceptionally happy childhood and very loving parents," she said.

"What my parents had to give me was love and security and the feeling they were 100 per cent behind me in anything I wanted to try.

Built-In Confidence

"That security they gave me in my early years built in me the confidence later to go out and knock down doors. I never let setbacks throw me into a depression.

"When I think now of all the things my father and mother did for me when I was too young to appreciate them, I get excited about them all over again."

Never Finished College

Miss Carroll paused then at a memory, and shook her head in regret.

"My mother used to say, 'All we ask is that you get a college education.' And the one thing they wanted of me I never did. I never finished college."

Started Singing At 6

Diahann started singing at 6, at 10 won a Metropolitan Opera scholarship. She was studying sociology at New York University when she quit to appear in an all-Negro revue.

The revue never got off the ground, but it brought Diahann to the attention of showman Lou Walters who arranged for her to appear on a television show.

A Television Favorite

Since then she has become a video favorite, appeared in a couple of movies, starred in a couple of Broadway musicals and become one of the top-paid warblers on the nation's supper club circuit. Her recordings also sell well.

Her father and mother, although quietly proud of her success, seek no part of the golden shower that fame has brought her. They prefer to go on independently doing their own jobs, as before.

Diahann, who is divorced from Monte Kay, a theatrical performer, lives in a modest midtown apartment with her daughter, Suzanne Ottilie Kay, who is 3.

35-CENT THINKING

Originally someone thought that some 35-cent diodes, made for hi-fi sets, would do to use in the electronic control system of the Ranger, an intended moonshot spacecraft.

But within one day of shipping the robot to Cape Kennedy it was learned that such diodes were not reliable under conditions of weightlessness, which a spacecraft encounters.

Due to flaking of a gold paste, minute particles might float in the tiny glass tubes and cause unintended short circuits.

Sometimes human thinking can be rather like that. Impulses, prejudices, bits of haphazard information that were good enough in meeting casual situations, become not good enough under more exacting and rigorous conditions.

Also, Dallas L. Ray, 410th Organizational Maintenance Squadron (OMS); Charles N. Snow, 410th Armament and Electronics Maintenance Squadron (AEMS) and, Charles C. Trout, 46th Air Refueling Squadron (ARS) Sergeant has been reassigned to Little Rock AFB, Ark.

New 'Tech' Sergeants
New technical sergeants include James C. Beatty and Harlin E. Martin, both OMS; Edward E. Burns, 69th Munitions Maintenance Squadron; Edward Clifford and Maynard C. Rodell, both AMMS; Roger E. Hemme and Henry R. Holder, HSS.

Water Levels Declining On Great Lakes

DETROIT (AP)—Lakes Michigan and Huron are expected to plunge by next month to the lowest levels since the Army Corps of Engineers began keeping data on the Great Lakes in 1860.

All five lakes are below 1950-1962 average levels, as well as those for the last 10 years.

None is expected to start rising before the end of February, and six months hence it is predicted all still will be below both the long-term and 10-year averages.

The Corps of Engineers blames primarily a series of years of below normal precipitation in the Great Lakes basin. Below - average levels have prevailed continuously on all except Ontario since the beginning of 1962. Lakes Michigan and Huron, which are joined by the Straits of Mackinac between Michigan's two peninsulas and constantly have similar levels, are expected to begin rising in mid-February, but it is predicted they will be 2.6 feet below the long-term average at the beginning of June.

These two lakes are expected to dip this month below their all-time December low set in 1933—a foot below the so-called Low Water Datum Line from which channel depths are measured. By February, it is predicted, they will have fallen below the all-time low set in February, 1926. That was 1.2 feet below Low Water Datum.

A December decline of 4.5 inches, almost twice normal for the month, is predicted on the basis of below normal precipitation thus far and a forecast of below normal by the U.S. Weather Bureau for the rest of the month.

Lake Erie sagged below its Low Water Datum Line in November and is expected to fall another .2 of a foot before it begins spring rise in March. A rise of a foot is predicted by the end of May, but even then Erie is expected to be about a foot and a half below the long - term and 10-year averages.

Lake Superior
Levels on Lakes Superior and Ontario are somewhat controllable by compensating gates at their outflows into the St. Marys and St. Lawrence Rivers.

But both of them currently are below both their long - term and 10-year average depths and neither is expected to reach either level over the next six months. Superior is expected to drop .4 of a foot below Low Water Datum in March and Ontario to hit that line in February.

Great Lakes shipping virtually has ended for the season and the continuing fall thus will have no immediate appreciable effect upon it, slow spring rise, however, could. For every inch lost in depth, ship operators measure cargo losses in tons.

The bridge's traffic engineers insisted that the discount begin at a figure above current usage so they would not be approving a rate reduction to any bridge user under existing circumstances. Schneider Transport & Storage, Inc., hauling wood pulp into Cheboygan is the bridge's largest customer. Its monthly billing averages about $4,000, and it has on a few occasions gone over $5,000, so the traffic engineers set the rate reduction to begin at $6,000.

Ferry Service Proposal
The prospective closing of the Soo Line Railroad's ferry service over the Straits of Mackinac via the Mackinac Transportation Co.'s ferry Chief Wawatam may change the traffic pattern and bring usage of the discount and might also influence revision of the bridge rate structure.

The bridge has lost heavy volume traffic in cement and aggregates to the ferry during U. P. road construction because the discount wasn't in effect yet.

This newspaper has arranged to make it available to all its readers at the very reasonable rate of $2. It will not be sold through bookstores.

To Have 100 Pages

Since the President's murder Nov. 22 there have been thousands of stories and pictures, with memories piling on memories. The AP's 100-page book will bring together the best of these in a permanent record of living history.

It will include color as well as black and white photographs—some already classics, some published for the first time.

The moving narrative will trace in detail the events to the instant of the tragedy — Lee Oswald's full history, the last happy moments of the Kennedy Texas tour and the last sad journey to Arlington. It will cover the President's death at the hospital, the transfer of power to President Johnson and how the word reached the other Kennedys, the nation and the world.

By Famous Writers
The story will be told by famous AP byline writers who witnessed a and recorded the four days of tragedy. And there will be words and deeds of many others who found themselves suddenly, somehow, playing roles on the stage of history.

The whole story — concise, complete, lavishly illustrated—will appear in this one book.

New Toll Discount For Straits Span Goes Unused

Growing public interest in cheaper transportation across the Straits of Mackinac to enlarge the market for wood in the eastern Upper Peninsula has brought a review of the Mackinac Bridge toll policy affecting the situation.

Lawrence Rubin, executive secretary of the Mackinac Bridge Authority, said that since last July 1 the bridge has offered discounts for volume use. The posted discount begins with monthly volumes of $6,000 or more, and the discount rate is 50 per cent. Any single company, hauler or carrier would pay only half the toll on his business over $6,000.

Largest Customer
The discount was ordered to encourage volume use of the bridge, but it was started at a point above any current volume of use of the bridge by a trucker, and no one has used it yet. The bridge's traffic engineers insisted that the discount begin at a figure above current usage so they would not be approving a rate reduction to any bridge user under existing circumstances. The prospective closing of the Soo Line Railroad's ferry service over the Straits of Mackinac via the Mackinac Transportation Co.'s ferry Chief Wawatam may change the traffic pattern and bring usage of the discount and might also influence revision of the bridge rate structure.

Fire — Calls, two furnaces, one car cushion, one fireplace. Incinerator complaint investigated.

Use Tax Hit By Timber Producers

IRON MOUNTAIN — Escanaba was chosen as the site for the 1964 Lake States Logging Congress by the directors of the Timber Producers Association of Michigan and Wisconsin at their meeting here.

Fred Fox, Iron Mountain, newly-elected president conducted the meeting, assisted by D. J. Massoglia, Calumet, executive secretary.

Marquette Loses Bid — Other communities bidding for the 1964 Logging Congress, sponsored annually by the association, were Marquette and Eagle River, Wausau and Ashland, Wis.

Directors went on record to ask all other organizations connected with the wood industry to join with them in an all inclusive wood demonstration show in Escanaba in September 1964.

Tax Called Unfair — A committee was formed to demonstrate overall field operations for representatives of the Michigan Department of Revenue in conjunction with the request by the association of the repeal of the use tax as it applies to loaders attached to logging trucks.

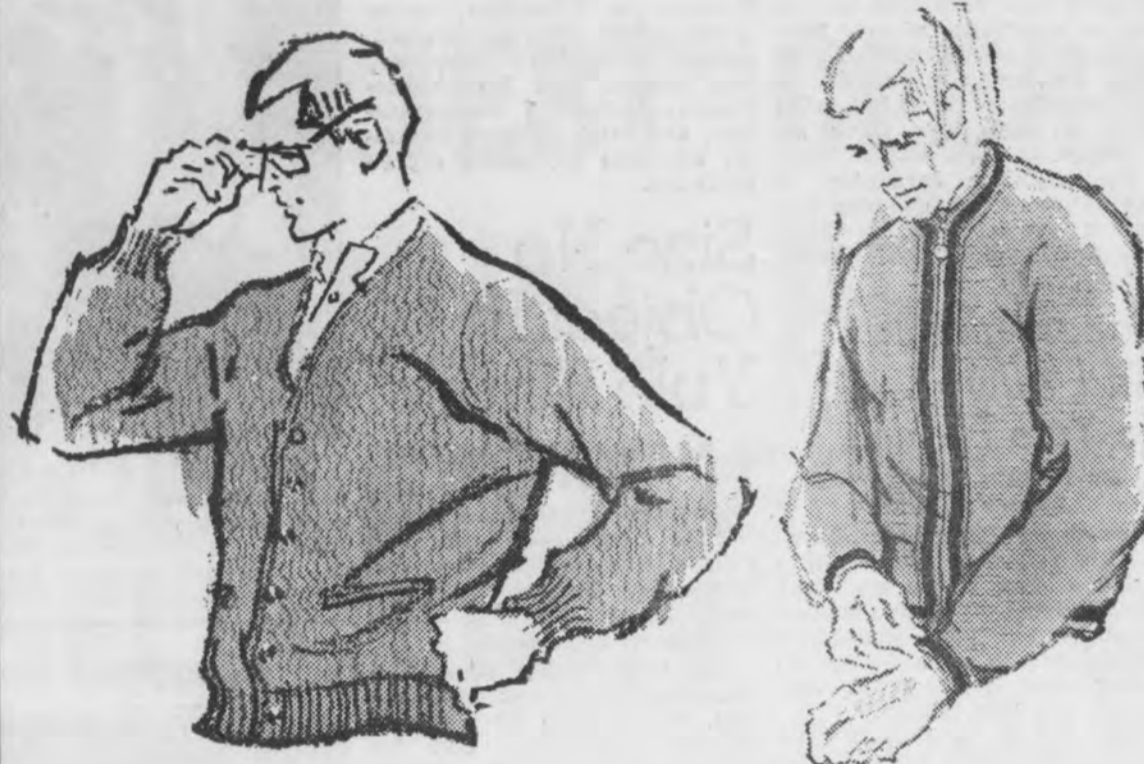

Actual operations will be demonstrated and movies will be taken to illustrate the unfairness of the use tax on loaders.

Much of the session was given over to the discussion of wage and hour, and ways and means of assisting producers and small companies in a highly competitive era. It was suggested that a series of meetings be held in different sections of the two states to implement and inform members of what is new and new methods in the industry.

E. A. Fairbanks To Assist At Jehovah Meets

Edwards A. Fairbanks, 28, of 911 Lee St., Marquette, has been appointed to serve as an assistant to Harry Hardin of Wausauke, Wis., at the three-day assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses to be held at Iron River, Dec. 20-22.

Hardin will be in charge of the cafeteria.

Fairbanks isn't a newcomer to conventions of Jehovah's Witnesses. "I would estimate that I have attended and taken part in some 35 conventions," he stated. "Some have been local and small, but others very large." The international gathering in New York City in 1953 had an attendance of over 250,000 from 123 lands on the final day. Fairbanks estimates he has traveled some 13,000 miles going to and from these assemblies.

Fairbanks, a carpenter, is the father of two children and is the overseer of the Bible study activity of the Marquette congregation.

Dazzling Hats Add Allure To Yule Evening

By HELEN HENNESSY Women's Editor

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK — If you want to make a man sit up and take notice during the festive holiday evening, top your glamorous ensemble with a hat — an alluring eye catching hat that makes you look beautiful.

The variety in evening hats is dazzling. There are delicate, drifting mists of ostrich feathers in a myriad of pale colors for elegant occasions.

Turbans Chic A turban of handsome brocade is chic with a slim, black dinner dress. And a pert flowerly wiglet adds charm to any evening costume.

A filmy black feather spray, sparkling with jet and sequins is sure-fire holiday man-bait. It will practically insure that second date.

Since the return of the soft, natural hairdo, hats are becoming more and more popular for all occasions. And you can do a frivolous evening chapeau without fear of harming a hair on your head.

Treat yourself to that extra touch of glamor for the holiday party season. These outrageously flattering feminine frippery will make you feel that you're off on an exciting adventure.

Outshine Yule Glitter With Special Makeup

By ALICIA HART Newspaper Enterprise Beauty Editor

Look as cheery and glittering as the gifts you give this holiday season by adding special touches to your make-up.

Aviatrix - beauty specialist Jacqueline Cochran suggests you start your personal glamor by making up your eyes perils with a gleaming eye shadow with a slight pearl finish.

If you are fortunate enough to have a tawny complexion, look for a shade as green as holly leaf. Amethyst or sapphire colors complement those with blue eyes. If in doubt, brown and gray are good for almost everyone and whatever the color, use an eye liner in a deeper pearlized shade or in dark brown or black.

Select Right Base Selecting the right foundation to bring out the natural highlights of your own skin is just as vital during the gala holidays as having the right trimmings to accompany the festive turkey.

Miss Cochran points out that the brown-haired woman with an olive skin should select a foundation with a golden cast. Pale beauties look well in a base which intensifies the deeper tones of the skin and a

If a sour cream sauce for meat or poultry is too pale, remember you can always add a few drops of brown gravy seasoning.

Creamed chipped beef makes a nice changeover on a Sunday brunch menu. Use four ounces of the beef to two cups of medium cream sauce.

The new, casual, country attitude toward dressing makes unmatched separates an important part of the fashion scene.

Vests are getting great play in velvet, tweed, suede, wool and even shiny satin. They are mated to panel front or softly gathered skirts in any material that is different from that of the vest. Jackets become the third party.

With all this imaginative mixing, blouses are receiving attention they haven't enjoyed for years. Nearly everything you buy for daytime wear this winter will need a good-looking blouse to carry out the spirit of the sportive splurge.

Chanel can probably be credited with starting this whole trend years ago. Sportive is her signature, and she has never deviated from it.

Cotton Good Choice Cotton is one good choice of fabric for the all-important blouse. If your costume needs a delicate touch, fine lawn will be ideal. For a sportier effect choose a silky men's wear striped broadcloth. And you'll enjoy the easy-care qualities of a solid color broadcloth turtle-neck blouse to wear with any jacket that is collarless.

The word for the season is mix. If it's dyed to match it's not new. Your blouse is the one indispensable required to pull the whole lovely unmatched look together.

Size No Object In Yule Finery

By HELEN HENNESSY Women's Editor

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK — Santa will visit a well-dressed crew this Christmas. Fashions for the small fry are as cute as the youngsters themselves.

The A-line dress, because it is comfortable as well as attractive, continues to be the most popular silhouette. But for parties, there are long (or as long as you can get from the shoulders to hips in size 3) velvet bodices, with eyelet or organdy flouncing out from hip to hem.

Fireside fashions for the nursery set are as smart as mom's at-home wear.

Long shifts in printed cotton or corduroy transform the saucier tomboy into a gracious miniature "hostess." For play hours around the Christmas tree there are stretch or quilted pants, teamed with colorful A-line tops of no-iron cotton for easy care.

And when it's time to dream of sugar plums, that, too, can be done in sleepwear that's brighter and prettier than ever.

Even those comfortable brushed knit cotton sleepers have been dressed up with smocking and ruffles.

Holiday finery, it seems, won't be restricted to the adults this year. No one will be too small to get into the act.

St. Michael's Group Plans Breakfast, Sale

St. Jude's Circle of St. Michael's Church will hold a breakfast and bake sale after Masses Sunday.

Christmas breads, cookies, candy and aprons will be sold.

Meetings

The Northern Queen Rebekah lodge will meet Friday at 8 p. m. in the Odd Fellows Hall. This will be a visitation meeting for District 38 with a Christmas party and a 50 cent exchange of gifts.

typical brunette can usually take a rosy base.

For the final touch — lipstick — coral is for the brownhaired; pinks for you with blonde or dark tresses, true reds for brunettes and perhaps the shade of ripe kumquats for the tittian-haired.

Top off your personal gift-wrapping with a scent to match your mood. We turned to a Frenchman, Robert Ricci of Nina Ricci, for his advice on fragrances.

He says if you feel daring, dab on a geranium-based scent. Red rose fragrance heightens that lovely and affectionate aura while honeysuckle is for the whimsical.

And, keep in mind that pretties in packages — perfumes and colognes, scented soap, an electric shaver, a sunlamp, a box of false eyelashes or eyebrows are a pleasing under-the-tree finds for women of all ages.

Constitution States Women Equal With Men

By JOY MILLER AP Women's Editor

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the U.S. Constitution, women enjoy equal rights under the law with men.

In real life, though, men's rights seem just a little more equal.

When it was drawing up its recent report, the President's Commission on the Status of Women was concerned about achieving greater recognition of women's rights. These methods had been proposed:

1. Test cases that could be taken to the Supreme Court.

2. A constitutional amendment. (It would say, in part: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged . . . on account of sex.")

3. Action by state legislatures to eliminate discriminatory state laws.

Doesn't See Need The commission doesn't see the need now for the constitutional amendment. The 5th and 14th amendments, says the commission, embody equality of rights for men and women.

(These due process of law amendments phrase it "any person," and even the hardest misogynist would admit a woman is a person.)

But the commission wants clarification. The test cases could do the job.

Says the commission: "Early and definitive court pronouncement, particularly by the U.S. Supreme Court, is urgently needed with regard to the validity under the 5th and 14th amendments of laws and official practices discriminating against women, to the end that the principle of equality becomes firmly established in constitutional doctrine."

"Accordingly, interested groups shall give high priority to bringing under court review cases involving laws and practices which discriminate against women."

The commission also recommended that the United States asset leadership, particularly in the United Nations, in securing equal rights for women internationally. This country traditionally has abstained in U.N. human rights matters.

State Level But it's at the state level where the most action should be taken to eliminate injustices to women under the law: particularly in the areas of jury service and personal and property rights of married women.

In 3 states — Mississippi, Alabama and South Carolina — women can't serve on state court juries. In 26 states and the District of Columbia women called for jury service may claim exemptions not available to men.

As for federal juries, women weren't eligible to serve on them until the Civil Rights Act

Medical Auxiliary Hears Mrs. Wilson

A firm philosophy, provided as a guide for children, and the need for love and fair play as basic requirements for a secure, happy home, were stressed at a recent meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Marquette-Alger County Medical Society.

A recording of an address given by a psychiatrist of the Army Medical Corps on "Brainwashing — the Ultimate Weapon" was played. It concerned actions and reactions of prisoners of war in the Korean conflict and certain moral weaknesses evidenced by young American men in captivity.

Mrs. George Wilson spoke on the discipline defined as "an internationalized system of values" and stressed the need to develop in ourselves and in our children a philosophy of life which includes logic, epistemology, politics, history, metaphysics and religion. "Every one needs a working, thinking philosophy which can hold the human spirit intact and make it productive," she said.

Mrs. Thomas Mudge followed with a discussion on the need to express love in the home in relationships with children, not only to talk honestly and fair play, but also to practice such qualities, setting an example being more effective than spoken rules. "We must not be spectators in this life," said Mrs. Mudge, "but must participate at the highest level of service." She concluded by urging all women to read widely in the areas of personal relationships and mental processes.

The program was in charge of the mental health chairman, Mrs. James Carter.

Has To Face Facts But after the honeymoon is over she may have to face these facts:

● Single women enjoy equality of legal treatment with men in respect to property and contract law.

● Married women, over much broader legal ranges, are denied such equality.

Some of the legal restrictions states should remove, says the commission, are on the rights of married women to:

● Contact, convey or own real or personal property

● Engage in business

● Act as surety or fiduciary

● Receive and control their own earnings

● Dispose of their own property.

Suggestions for modernization of state laws include:

● Entitlement of a wife to a substantial portion of her husband's earnings and the goods they purchase, including sharing in their management.

● Equal and joint guardianship of children during the marriage.

● Husband's retention of primary responsibility for support of wife and minor children but with the wife's having legal responsibility to help support herself and their children within her means to do so.

Two-Way Street Since citizenship is a two-way street, the commission would like women to exert themselves too; such as taking advantage of their right to vote and hold public office.

Women voters outnumber men by nearly four million, but more men often are on registration lists and go to the polls.

Urges the commission: "Women should be encouraged to seek elective and appointive posts at local, state and national levels and in all three branches of government."

BACK TO BACK Few take the time to give much care to the back. But, with fashion designers baring backs and exposing more shoulders, it is essential that these areas get a fair share of beauty treatment. When bathing use a back brush or a stimulating loofah sponge.

Smooth a cream or lotion over your shoulders to rid them of any rough spots.

Unmatched Separates Big In Fashion Scene

By HELEN HENNESSY Women's Editor

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK — This year fashion togetherness goes separate ways. The all-in-one look has been replaced with the layered look. Everything starts with two parts and adds up to three and four.

The new, casual, country attitude toward dressing makes unmatched separates an important part of the fashion scene.

Vests are getting great play in velvet, tweed, suede, wool and even shiny satin. They are mated to panel front or softly gathered skirts in any material that is different from that of the vest. Jackets become the third party.

With all this imaginative mixing, blouses are receiving attention they haven't enjoyed for years. Nearly everything you buy for daytime wear this winter will need a good-looking blouse to carry out the spirit of the sportive splurge.

Chanel can probably be credited with starting this whole trend years ago. Sportive is her signature, and she has never deviated from it.

Cotton Good Choice Cotton is one good choice of fabric for the all-important blouse. If your costume needs a delicate touch, fine lawn will be ideal. For a sportier effect choose a silky men's wear striped broadcloth. And you'll enjoy the easy-care qualities of a solid color broadcloth turtle-neck blouse to wear with any jacket that is collarless.

The word for the season is mix. If it's dyed to match it's not new. Your blouse is the one indispensable required to pull the whole lovely unmatched look together.

Wesley Choirs To Present Christmas Concert Sunday

ISHPEMING — Adult and youth choirs of Wesley Methodist Church will present a Christmas concert at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 15, in the church sanctuary.

The service will open with organ preludes played by the church organist, Paul Bennett. Following the singing of the professional hymn, "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks," and the invocation, the youth choir, under the direction of Robert Hampton, will sing three anthems, "Echo Carol," "Cradle Hymn" and "White Shepherds Watched." The youth choir also will give a choric reading, "Our Brother Is Born."

The adult choir, under the direction of Arthur Hammar, will sing "O Guiding Star, O Glorious Light," "Silent Are the Meadows" and "Glory to the King of Kings," with Wilfred Garrett taking a solo part in the last number.

After the offertory, youth and adult choirs will sing two anthems, "All Beautiful the March of Days" and "And There Were Shepherds."

Choir members and their families will be guests at a coffee hour given by the Rev. and Mrs. Eric Hammar and the Rev. Cecil Lutey following the service.

Ike May Pick GOP Candidate

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The political upheaval caused by the assassination of President Kennedy may project former President Eisenhower actively into the search for a 1964 GOP presidential nominee.

Eisenhower has disclaimed any desire to become a kingmaker. But associates who have talked to him since Kennedy's death say the former president recognizes that the Republican situation has changed so rapidly as to invite efforts to get the kind of moderate candidate he believes can win.

Dinners
Eisenhower has opposed public discussion of political matters at this time. He was reported to have suggested it might be well for Republicans to preserve an air of bipartisanship longer into the new year than they had planned by postponing a series of scheduled Jan. 29 closed-circuit television fund-raising dinners.

With his treasury bare, however, national chairman William E. Miller ruled that the dinners will go on as scheduled. Eisenhower, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon are to be among the speakers.

2-Man Contest
Before Kennedy's death, the Republican nomination scramble was developing rapidly into a two-man contest between Goldwater and Rockefeller. It was a poorly kept secret that Eisenhower didn't view this prospect with any enthusiasm, but there wasn't much he could do about it.

The death of Kennedy and the elevation of Lyndon B. Johnson to the presidency changed things. Goldwater supporters had figured their man had a chance of beating Kennedy by carrying the South and some of the more conservative states in the Midwest and West. Now he would be facing a Texas president with an image more conservative than Kennedy's.

Doubt Exists
If Goldwater decides to get into the race—and there now is some doubt that he will — it probably would take him time to work up the same head of steam against Johnson that he maintained in flailing away at Kennedy's policies.

The substitution of Johnson for Kennedy weakened Goldwater's position in the South, where he was strongest. Ordinarily the Democratic change in good condition either by removing snow or by plowing it to the side and by sanding many of the streets throughout the city.

The relatively light eight-inch fall posed no real hardship for householders, but it did create a problem for police when children rushed to nearby hills to ride their sleds.

"Now that there is sufficient snow for sleigh riding and cardboard riding by children, we must be fully aware of the many dangers," Police Chief Frank Sarvello said.

He urged parents "to take their youngsters aside and explain what serious consequences may develop because of disregard for everyday traffic."

Parents are asked to keep their children off all hills throughout the city until such time as designated hills are posted.

Areas to be posted are: Oak St., north of Ely; Fifth and Empire; Jopling St., west of Hickory; Excelsior, Adam, Ridge and Fifth Sts. All of these riding hills are for one block only.

Sarvello urges drivers to exercise "extreme caution" when approaching these particular areas.

Death Takes A.D. Ferzacca In Munising

MUNISING — Adaldo D. Ferzacca, 58, of 312 1/2 Elm Ave., Munising, died at 10 a.m. Tuesday in Munising Memorial Hospital following an illness of several years.

Mr. Ferzacca was born March 12, 1905, in Iron Mountain, where he graduated from high school. He came to Munising in 1955 to work at the Kimberly-Clark Corp.'s Munising mill. He worked in the company's plant in Neshanic Wis., from 1960 to June, 1963, when he returned to Munising. At the time of his death he was an industrial engineer and superintendent at the local mill.

He was a member of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Munising.

In his earlier years, he was a professional musician and had played in many name bands throughout the country.

Survivors include his wife, Lenore; two sons, Michael and Thomas at home; five brothers, Faust L. (Frosty) of Marquette; Louis of Detroit; Attilio of Rochester, Mich.; Wilfred of Chicago and William of St. Louis, Mo.; two sisters, Mrs. George Mason of St. Clair Shores and Miss Pauline Ferzacca of Flint, and many nieces and nephews.

The body was removed to the Bowerman - Halifax Funeral Home, where friends may call beginning at 9 a. m. Thursday. Services will be held Friday at 10 a.m. in Sacred Heart Church, with the Rev. Emil Beyer officiating. Interment will be made in the Maple Grove vault, Munising, until spring, when the body will be transferred to the Iron Mountain Cemetery.

The parish rosary will be recited at the funeral home at 8 Thursday night.

BARAGA — Members of the Baraga American Legion Auxiliary will hold a Christmas party at the Legion hall at 6:30 Thursday night. Supper will be served by the committee in charge, with Selma Dompier as chairman.

There will be an exchange of 50-cent gifts. Members also are asked to bring a 25-cent wrapped gift for games and also an article of food for the Christmas basket project for a needy family.

There will be a display of stuffed toys which members are making for children at the Newberry State Hospital. The chairman requests that anyone wishing to donate old nylons to be used in stuffing the toys to bring them to the Legion hall. The next meeting of the sewing committee will be held Friday afternoon at 1 at the hall and anyone who can assist in working on this project will be welcome.

A report on the gift shop program, for which the unit contributed $50 worth of gifts for the Iron Mountain VA Hospital gift shop, will be presented. The unit also furnished approximately 100 favors on Thanksgiving for patients at the rest home.

Any women eligible to join the Auxiliary, either through membership of their son, husband, father or brother in the American Legion or wartime service of a deceased relative, are invited to attend the Christmas dinner.

State Police Ticket Driver In Mishap

ISHPEMING — An automobile was wrecked and its driver was ticketed as a result of a traffic mishap at 8:55 last night on U.S. 41, about 1.4 miles west of M-95 in Humboldt Township.

State police from Marquette said Joe Verville, 38, Champion, was driving east on U.S. 41 and had just crossed a railroad crossing on a curve to the left when his car went out of control.

The vehicle skidded across the roadway, traveling over to the north (left) side, where it struck a group of small trees and a rock bluff.

Extensive damage resulted to the front end of Verville's car, a 1957 station wagon, which had to be towed from the scene by a wrecker.

State police issued Verville two summonses, one for violation of the basic speed law and the other for not having a valid operator's license.

Two Charges Cost Him $63

NEGAUNEE — Bruce Johnson, Route 1, Negaunee, who was arrested by city police on a reckless driving charge, entered a guilty plea when he was arraigned before Judge William Haupt in Negaunee Municipal Court.

Four other drivers ticketed by local officers for violations of the state motor vehicle code also entered guilty pleas. Paying fines and costs amounting to $8.70 apiece were George Liska of Manitowoc, Wis., charged with failure to stop in an assured clear distance ahead; William Tonge of National Mine, ticketed for improper lane usage; George Nolte of Sawyer AFB, arrested for violation of the basic speed law, and Sam Ramsey of Sawyer AFB, failure to observe a stop sign.

Alger Board Favors 'Rocks' Lakeshore Area; Opposes Early Deer Season Opening

MUNISING — The Alger County Board of Supervisors passed two resolutions at a regular meeting last night regarding the Pictured Rocks national park bill and the early opening of deer season in the Upper Peninsula.

In the first, the board went on record favoring establishment of the park, rescinding a previous resolution in which it opposed the bill. The action was taken following a study of an economic report on the effect a park area would have on Alger County.

Also recommended was that the park be provided with a third entrance at Melstrand to service tourists, fire security and logging operations.

Copies of the resolution are to be sent to Senator Hart and MacNamara and Congressmen Knox and Bennett.

In the second resolution the survivors went on record opposing the early opening of the regular deer hunting season in the Upper Peninsula.

They urged the Legislature to move the opening back to the former date of Nov. 15. Their reason for this action was the unusual warm weather encountered in the early opening.

The next regular meeting of the board will be held Jan. 14.

Munising Memorial Hospital Hires Physical Therapist

MUNISING — The Munising Memorial Hospital has engaged the services of a registered physical therapist for the first time. It was announced today by Richard Wagner, administrator.

Although the hospital has been providing limited physical therapy services since the new building was occupied in 1961, these services were essentially applications of heat without exercise or specific treatments.

The employment of a registered physical therapist has been made possible through a grant from the Kellogg Foundation, Wagner said. The therapist, David Sliter, joined the staff Dec. 2 and has assumed responsibilities for the physical therapy department. Sliter is a native of Troy, N. Y. In 1962 he received a Bachelor of Science degree with a certificate in physical therapy from Sargent College of Boston University.

As an undergraduate, he was affiliated with the Massachusetts General Hospital, U. S. Public Health Service, and Liberty Mutual Rehabilitation Center of Boston; the Veterans Hospital of West Roxbury, Mass., and the New York State Rehabilitation Center at West Haverstraw, N. Y. Extracurricular activities included membership in the Physical Therapy Club, president of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity, chairman of the president's council and university at home committee member for the president of Boston University.

During the previous 17 months, he has been employed with the New York State Rehabilitation Hospital at West Haverstraw. While there, aside from his regular duties as a staff therapist, he was involved with lecturing and teaching in the student and inservice programs.

Sliter enjoys hunting, fishing and skiing.

City Hockey League Begins Schedule At Palestra Tomorrow

Hockey, anyone? As a spectator sport, hockey is said to be second to none; but it is also said that there is no hockey to watch in the U. P., save for Michigan Tech's Huskies.

Pressed for more specific statements, the average hockey enthusiasts might allow that there is a Marquette Hockey League, but that it seldom affords the kind of games he likes to watch.

Nothing Less Than Pro

In short, there are a great many hockey lovers who will rather than enjoy what kind and quality there is to watch, look at nothing less than professional or collegiate hockey, in the somewhat misguided belief that a city league cannot provide the excitement for which pro and college hockey are well-known and enjoyed.

City leagues in any sport are rarely formed for the same reasons that motivate a professional club in its formation and existence. . . they are based on the common desire of a number of players to continue participation in the sport they love, and financial considerations usually go only as far as a typical and chronic worry that the league may end up owing somebody at the end of the season.

For this reason, one cannot expect to see anything but a bunch of hardheaded men of all occupations playing the game the best they know how, with a frequent rivalry which compares nicely to that of professional and collegiate competition.

Foolish

It is therefore foolish for a lover of hockey, or any other sport, to turn down the opportunity to watch a city league in action, particularly if he can do so at a fraction of the cost of admission to a professional sports event.

And there are inherent advantages to local leagues. . . it is easy to know the players to an extent almost impossible in professional play, and one can always be certain that what rivalry exists has its basis in enthusiasm for the game and deeply-felt pride, rather than in concern for financial gain.

The Marquette Industrial Hockey League begins play tomorrow, with two games at the Palestra. The schedule runs through Feb. 22, and includes some 40 games, most of which will be well worth watching.

Give yourself a break, hockey fan. . . go and watch 'em. The schedule follows:

Nats Take 71-42 Blow From Eben

EBEN — National Mine's Nats took a heavy beating from the Eben Eagles last night, coming out on the short end of a 71-42 stick despite a last-period attempt to catch up.

The Eagles kept a tight press on the visitors throughout the first three periods, outscoring them in every period save the last, when the press was discarded and substitutes used. The change of defense and personnel allowed the Nats to dump in 25 points, but the Eben lead had been built too high for the National Mine effort to have a significant effect on the final score.

The schedule follows:
Andy Freberg, playing another brilliant game, dumped in 26 points for the Eagles in helping toward the victory which gives Eben an enviable 6-1 record. Freberg was also outstanding as a floor player, leading the fast break throughout the game. He hasn't scored less than 12 points in any game thus far in the season, and boasts a 33 per cent shooting average for the seven games played.

Comets Deal Nahma First Loss, 77-71

TRENNARY — The Comets of Trennary ascended still higher last night, in handing tough Nahma its first loss of the season, 77-71.

Despite a 37-point par performance by Nahma's amazing Emerald winning streak to six games, and gave Champion its second loss in five encounters. The Emeralds shot 53 per cent in the first half of the field to take a 47-24 halftime lead, but the Indians responded well enough to give them a pretty even fight throughout the second half. St. Paul came out with a 47 per cent overall shooting average, while Champion sported a 37 per cent showing at game's end.

The Emerald win was earned despite fine performances by two Champion sophomores, Danielson and Boback, who dumped in 20 and 21 points respectively.

First-Month Play Shows Turnover In U.P. Cage Leaders

By JAMES E. TRETHERWEY Of The Journal Staff
A big turnover in Upper Peninsula high school basketball league champions is indicated by results of the first month's competition.

Only three of last year's title winners headed their circuits through last weekend. Hermansville, where Coach Don Hill continues to compile an impressive record, is atop the Big Nine in a fierce struggle with Powers and Carney; Mass., which has substituted a strong defense for its one-time all-out point attack, is moving unnoted in the Porcupine Mountains, and Nahma is bidding for another crown in the Central U.P. League.

As Expected
Twenty schools have won all their conference starts to date, making it unlikely that any team will win in a walkaway. Most of the races are going about as expected, however, with Baraga of the Copper Country, Ironwood of the Michigan-Wisconsin and Kingsford of the Menominee Range providing early-season surprises.

Crystal Falls and Niagara, Wis., were expected to battle it out for the Menominee Range throne, but both have split their two league games to date and trail Kingsford by one and one-half games. The Flivvers, who have one of the best balanced attacks in the Peninsula, are 3-0 in Range play, followed by Iron Mountain (2-0) and Stambaugh (1-0).

Solidly In First
Big Nine teams seem unable to shake Hill's Hermansville hoopers loose from the No. 1 spot in the Big Nine. The Redskins won the title outright in 1961 and 1962, sharing it with Powers in between those years.
