Jail Life Ends After 64 Years

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Richard Honeck, 84, had his first real look at life outside prison walls today after 64 years spent in Illinois penitentiaries.

The sprightly old man took a tour of San Francisco, which he said "I'm told is one of the most beautiful cities in the world. Just think, I'll be spending the rest of my days here."

Prison authorities believe Honeck just finished serving the longest sentence of any man alive in the United States. He was released Friday first into the custody of an Associated Press reporter, and then turned over to a niece, 62-year-old Mrs. Clara Orth of nearby San Leandro, Calif.

Greeted By Niece He walked out the gates of Menard Penitentiary, an old brownstone prison near Chester, Ill., on the Mississippi River shortly after noon (CST).

A few hours later he was greeted at San Francisco's International Airport by his beaming niece.

They embraced, kissed and she said, "This will be the happiest Christmas I've ever had and I'm sure it will be for Uncle Richard, too." He grinned and nodded agreement.

His first hours of prison were spent in a bewildering series of press conferences, automobile trips and finally a ride from St. Louis to San Francisco on a jet airliner.

Amazed At Progress And, the old man was visibly amazed at the progress that had passed him by while he sat behind prison bars.

During the car trip from Chester to St. Louis, Honeck said, "Why, we must be going 35 miles an hour." The driver, Warren Ross Randolph, answered, "Actually, Richard, we're going 65."

Later, on the jet, Honeck remarked, "I traveled faster in that car today than I ever had in my life and now we're going almost 10 times that fast—and six miles up in the air, too."

Murdered Teacher Honeck went to prison for murdering a former school teacher four years before the first airplane was flown. Before Friday, the only planes he had ever seen were those that flew above Illinois prisons.

"I remember the first one I ever saw," he said on the plane. "It was in 1910. The craft was an old cloth-covered biplane and it had the name 'Vin Fiz' painted on it. It certainly was a flimsy thing compared to this beautiful airplane."

Honeck had become the nation's forgotten prisoner. He had been eligible for parole since 1949, but because he had no known living relatives, the Illinois Parole and Pardon Board had given little consideration to his release.

Then Mrs. Orth read an Associated Press story about her uncle's long imprisonment. She flew to Menard, visited him and assured the parole board that she would care for him should she free him into her custody.

'Reborn' "This certainly has been the most exciting day of my life," he said. "It has been an unforgettable excursion and just the finest and most wonderful thing that has ever happened to me. "I feel like I have been reborn."

Blind Man Tries To Rob Bank

DETROIT (AP) — The blind man showed the judge a battered tin cup and said "I tried standing on street corners to get a few cents, but the police kept moving me on."

Walter Raleigh Sain II, 42, was trying to explain why he and his wife, Lewanda, 19, tried to rob a downtown bank Friday.

"I was desperate," Sain told U.S. District Judge Wade H. McCree. "Our wedding rings are in a layaway and so is a coat for Lewanda. She also needs more winter clothes and we're almost out of food."

Sain, who has been blind 24 years, said he gets $103 a month from the Aid to the Blind Association, but that he and his wife, who is six months pregnant, have been turned down for welfare.

"What can a man do when everyone says 'no' to him?" Sain asked the judge.

With Christmas only a few days away, Sain went to the downtown main office of the Detroit Bank and Trust Co. The blind man said that after his wife escorted him to the bank he sent her to a drug store to get a prescription filled for his ulcerated right foot.

Sain said he entered the bank and held out a paper bag to one of the tellers.

"I didn't have a gun and all I asked for was not more than $50," he said. "The teller said, 'Just a minute,' and the next thing I knew the bank guard had his hand on my shoulder. So here I am."

FBI agents disputed Sain's account. According to the FBI, Sain handed the teller a paper bag with a note reading:

"This man is truly blind. We got his wife in the car. Do not press the alarm. There are four of us. Two is in the bank and we got a fool to get what we want. Put all the money in the bag."

The FBI said the teller called the police and while they were waiting for the officers to arrive, a woman—who identified herself as Sain's sister—entered the bank. They quoted her as saying she saw Sain inside and wondered if he was in trouble.

Later, however, the FBI said she and Sain admitted she was his wife and that their story was a hoax.

At their arraignment, Judge McCree asked the blind man and his wife: "Can I depend on you to be back here Jan. 15 for examination?"

Envelope When they said yes, McCree said: "All right, I'm going to let you go home for Christmas under $1,000 personal bond."

Outside the courtroom, the judge handed Sain an envelope and said: "Here's a little something to tide you over Christmas at least."

Inside the envelope was $85 raised by the judge's staff. Lewanda cried, and so did her husband as he held out his hand to thank the judge.

U. S. Eyes Observer Posts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration intends to work out a plan for a system of international observation posts that would be set up in Communist and Western countries to guard against the danger of surprise attack.

After consultation with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Allies on details of the proposed system, the plan is expected to be presented at the 17-nation disarmament conference due to meet at Geneva Jan. 21.

Worthwhile Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a news conference Friday that despite serious difficulties in the way of agreement with Moscow, "there may be some interest on the other side in these observation posts, and we think it would be worthwhile... to work out a system and see what it looks like."

Rusk said the NATO Allies in a conference at Paris earlier this week were in general agreement that the Western powers should keep trying to find ways of easing tensions between the Soviet bloc and the West.

Unifying Element The Western nations do not feel he said that the limited nuclear test-ban treaty made last summer represents "end of the trail" for East-West accords.

After an hour's meeting with President Johnson at the White House Friday morning, Rusk held a news conference at the State Department in the afternoon.

Rusk said the tragedy of President John F. Kennedy's assassination had worked as a kind of unifying element in the NATO meeting and he added that European officials had displayed great confidence in Johnson's leadership and were pleased by the way he had taken hold of his responsibilities as President.

Rusk made plain that in his view the chief result of the NATO Council session he had attended in Paris was the development of a broad consensus to continue probing for agreements with the Soviet Union. In this connection he emphasized the possibility of progress on measures to provide safeguards against surprise attack.

This is an idea which has been discussed frequently in the East-West meetings. Soviet Premier Khrushchev spoke favorably of the proposal last summer after the limited nuclear test-ban treaty had been signed.

Political Questions The Russians however, have linked the observation-post suggestion with other possible measures such as the creation of nuclear-free zones in Central Europe and a limit on Eastern and Western forces in Central Europe.

Rusk said these are political questions which create "some real difficulties." He obviously regards the link suggested by the Russians as a potential barrier to accord.

Revenge Sweet, But She's On Trial Now LISBON (AP) — Revenge may be sweet, but it has brought widow Almeida to trial on a murder charge.

Quintaes ate the cake and police report today he died of the poison.

NEW YORK (AP)—Ralph J. Cordiner, 63, stepping down as board chairman of the giant General Electric Co., says his biggest job was getting across to GE's 300,000 employees the vision of a new business era.

"You can't fool the troops," said Cordiner in an interview Friday.

"The leader of a corporation has to have vision. He has to be a believer and to get it across to others, just like Billy Graham."

This trim, erect man with thinning white hair led the "troops" who by year's end will have made and sold about $5 billion worth of products ranging from electric egg beaters to power plant equipment and jet aircraft engines. GE is the world's largest manufacturer of electrical goods.

CHRISTMAS GIFT FOR AFRICAN FARMER: He Wants To Buy Wife For $90

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Dr. Ian Schneideman wants to buy a wife to give to an impoverished African for Christmas — and he has found a bargain for $90.

He is trying to raise the money for a gift to a widowed Ugandan farmer with a 4-year-old son who

Winter Season Debuts Sunday

(By the Associated Press) The three-month winter season starts Sunday morning but wintery weather — cold, snow and strong winds—today continued to plague most of the eastern two-thirds of the nation.

The frigid zone extended from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast and from the Canadian border to near the Gulf Coast. Sub-zero cold stung most of the Midwest and sections of the northeast.

Weather Bureau officials said there appeared no major relief immediately from the siege of unseasonable low temperatures during the last 10 days of autumn.

The season's longest spell of cold and snowy weather was blamed for at least 30 deaths. The core of the cold air was centered in the eastern Dakotas, areas fed by a huge mass of arctic air in Canada. The mercury dropped to -24 in Grand Forks, N.D., -24 in Fargo, N.D., and -23 in Huron, S.D. High readings Friday in sections of the Dakotas ranged from 10 to 20 degrees below zero.

Update New York also reported sub-zero readings, including -19 in Watertown after earlier dropping to 26 below; -8 in Massena, -7 in Utica, -6 in Albany and Glens Falls and zero in Syracuse, Rochester and Binghamton.

State police Trooper William Hodges, investigating the accident, was at the hospital.

Guards Get Spirit Of Christmas

BERLIN (AP) — Tough Communist border guards have been relaxing with unexpected Christmas spirit the last three days as they watched West Berliners file into East Berlin for tearful reunions with relatives.

"We're human too," said one guard, explaining relaxations of several border restrictions.

Today the guards at the Oberbaum Bridge suddenly raised the barrier an hour ahead of schedule at 6 a.m. to allow about 50 West Berliners to get a head start on their visits.

To the West Berliners, the guards have represented symbols of hatred. Friends have been machine-gunned to death by the guards as they tried to escape from the Communist sector into West Berlin.

National Mourning To End On Sunday WASHINGTON (AP) — National mourning for President John F. Kennedy ends at sundown Sunday, with the transition from sorrow to the joy of Christmas.

As darkness envelops the capitol, a torch will be borne from the late President's grave at Arlington National Cemetery to the Lincoln Memorial. There it will set aglow thousands of candles as President Johnson joins in a memorial service for the President.

Government Orders Seizure Of Dog Pills DETROIT (AP) — The government ordered seizure Friday of a pill advertised as helpful to ailments of cats and dogs.

U.S. Atty. Lawrence Gubow identified the product as "Hickory's Three-Way Dog Tone Tabs" and said it was distributed by Hickory Labs Inc. of Addison. Gubow said the pill fails to give benefits "in the manner advertised."

The distributor could not be reached for comment immediately.

Conferees Reach Compromise On Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new compromise on credit restrictions for proposed sales to Communist nations was reached today by Senate-House conferees anxious to push through a $3 billion foreign aid bill and adjourn Congress.

The conferees took only 10 minutes to make minor changes in the rider which snagged adjournment plans at dawn after a all-night session.

Rep. Otto Passman, D-Ia., floor manager for the controversial bill, said he would carry this back to the House for a second test shortly after noon.

'National Interest' Involved is use of the government's Export-Import Bank to finance proposed sales of U.S. wheat to Soviet Russia.

The House voted for an arbitrary ban on government credit for any Communist deals after the Senate twice rejected such proposals.

The new compromise would permit President Johnson to approve such sales if he found this in "the national interest" and reported each deal to Congress within 30 days.

This differed only slightly from a similar proposal defeated early today in the House by a vote of 141 to 136. The new plan puts a time limit on the presidential reports. It also would send them to the House and Senate rather than the Appropriations and Foreign Relations committees, as the earlier compromise had provided.

Passman refused to predict whether the House would accept this new version but it was known that Democratic leaders in both House and Senate had been calling on holiday-bound absent members to return.

Passman told newsmen that he would support the new compromise even though he detested the idea of voting $3 billion to defeat communism and then permitting use of government funds to aid communism. Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., spokesman for the Senate conferees, emerged smiling and confident. He said the House had suggested the minor change in the original provision.

In rejecting the earlier compromise, the House voted to send it back to the committee with instructions to restate the outright ban it had voted originally.

Man Threatens To Kill Johnson

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A self-proclaimed social psychiatrist and avowed member of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee is due for psychiatric tests in the wake of his arrest on a charge of threatening to kill President Johnson.

Robert Beaty Fennell, 29, formerly of Sioux City, Iowa, was charged by the Secret Service Friday after police in nearby Berkeley found a note in his pocket which reportedly concluded:

"My immediate goal: The assassination of President Johnson."

Fennell was found loitering on a Berkeley street corner Thursday night.

Ex-Mental Patient Secret Servicemen said the note also stated, "unless Americans accept their political responsibility and abolish the office of LEADER we shall continue to abolish leaders."

Fennell spent nearly four months in a Cherokee, Iowa, mental hospital in 1959, said federal officers. He picked the Sioux City Municipal Auditorium in October in support of racial intermarriage and free travel to Cuba.

Fennell told newsmen at his arraignment Friday that he was trying to re-enlist in the Air Force as a radar technician. He said he thought the notes were insufficient reason for his arrest.

McLary "I write lost of things — and tear them up." He was transferred to San Francisco County Jail in lieu of $5,000 bail and a hearing was set for Jan. 3 following the order for psychiatric tests.

Meanwhile, in Fort Worth, Tex., Russell McLary was freed on $2,500 bail after his arrest Thursday on a charge of threatening President Kennedy the day before the President was assassinated in nearby Dallas.

McLary, according to a Secret Service complaint, said he would be waiting with a gun to shoot the President when he neared Dallas' Trade Mart. The President didn't get that far.

Denial McLary denied distributing anti-Kennedy literature and said his shooting threat was said in a joking manner. He denied knowing accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, another avowed member of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee.

LIZ, BURTON WAIT: Eddie Holds Out For More Money

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor and Eddie Fisher are ready to dissolve their union, but a wage dispute is apparently holding up progress of bargaining talks, says the raven-haired, violet-eyed actress.

"It looks now as if Richard (Burton) and I won't be married until well into January 1964," she said Friday.

Bottleneck She said the bottleneck to her impending divorce from Fisher is a dispute over his cut of her cut of the gross from the film "Cleopatra." When she began the film she and Fisher were partners in a production company and he is said to be entitled to half her profits from the film. It has been estimated that she may gross from $2 to $6 million.

One legal source said she has offered $1 million to Fisher to hurry the divorce proceedings along, but that he is holding out for more.

She Wants It Legal Despite Miss Taylor's and Burton's avowed intentions to wed "as soon as possible—and the sooner the better," she stresses that she's not in that big a hurry.

"I want this marriage to be thoroughly legal," she said. And she says a quickie Mexican divorce in Cuernavaca or Juarez won't do. This will be her fifth marriage.

Burton is not so patient. "The sooner we get the bloody thing over, the better. Elizabeth and I are going back to Hollywood before I start my rehearsals with 'Hamlet.' That would be late January at the earliest," he said.

"But only as man and wife," was Miss Taylor's reminder.

With this requirement in mind, she is taking her time with the divorce proceedings, now being thrashed out in New York by her lawyers and Fisher's. Reminded that Fisher once said he would do anything she wants, Miss Taylor said, "I wish he would tell that to his lawyers instead of me."

Meanwhile, back at Gringo Gulch, while the divorce action brewed in New York, Miss Taylor and Burton continued life as usual—together, as they have been since they met on the set of "Cleopatra" in 1961.

Two Ticketed, Six Vehicles Involved In City Accidents

Two motorists were issued tickets and six vehicles were involved, but no one was hurt, in three traffic mishaps which occurred in Marquette yesterday and early today.

There also were three other minor accidents in which minor damage resulted, no one was hurt and no tickets were issued, with icy conditions being blamed, in part.

State Police Report
State police from the Marquette post investigated three mishaps yesterday, one of which occurred in Humboldt Township (see story in Ishpeming section). State police said the other two were minor mishaps, one in Richmond Township and one in Sands Township.

Considerable difficulty was being experienced on County Road 553 in Sands Township yesterday, state police reported, with around 20 cars having gone off the highway, but little or no damage resulted in these incidents.

Reports on the three principal accidents in the city follow:

1. At 12:45 this morning a car being driven south on N. Fourth St. and being turned left onto W. Hewitt Ave. by Lawrence F. Mahan, 20, of 312 W. Crescent St., struck an automobile owned by Howard B. Lehwald, 501 E. Arch St.

Drunk Driving Count
Lehwald's car was parked on the south side of the street, facing east.

The left taillight and trunk of Lehwald's automobile, a 1963 two door sedan, and the right front of Mahan's 1955 station wagon were damaged.

City police arrested Mahan on a charge of drunk driving.

2. An automobile being driven north on Presque Isle Ave. by Thomas G. Kubond, 29, of 1933 Van Evers Ave., was involved in a collision with an oncoming vehicle operated by Edward P. McDonnell, 53, of 301 W. Kaye Ave.

City police said the mishap occurred when McDonnell attempted to make a left turn onto Waldo St. in front of Kubond.

Right-Of-Way Violation
The cars were stuck together and had to be pulled apart by a wrecker. The left front of Kubond's 1955 fourdoor sedan and the right front of McDonnell's 1962 twodoor sedan were damaged.

City police issued McDonnell a summons for failing to yield the right-of-way to oncoming traffic.

3. At 2:55 yesterday afternoon a semi-trailer being driven south on East Ave. and being turned into a private driveway in the Brewery Location by Eugene J. Menucci, 36, Mounted Route, Orchard St., slid out of control when he applied the brakes and struck a parked vehicle owned by Roland Meade, Chocolay Shores.

Straits Rail Service Gets Extension

The railroad car ferry across the Straits of Mackinac will continue in operation at least through May 24, 1964.

Gov. Romney made that announcement in Lansing yesterday, stating: "The Public Service Commission talked to the Coast Guard about the matter, and the Coast Guard extended the date by which the company has to improve its ferry or suspend operations."

The deadline originally was set at Dec. 31, 1963. The Mackinac Transit Co. was under orders to have major repairs made to its car ferry, the Chiefawatam, by then or suspend operations.

The ferry is the only direct rail line between the Upper and Lower Peninsulas, and Northern Michigan residents feared the adverse economic effects that discontinuance of the car ferry service would have on the region.

St. Mary's Board Honors DeFant, Hears Harden Talk

"Community leaders are men who listen to different points of view but are not afraid to stand up and be counted when matters of great principle are involved."

So stated Northern Michigan University President Edgar L. Harden in a speech before the medical staff, lay advisory board and sisters of St. Mary's Hospital.

The dinner meeting, at the Holy Family Home, was sponsored by the sisters of St. Mary's Hospital, the Third Order of St. Francis, in appreciation for the efforts put forth during the year by the medical staff and lay advisory board of the hospital.

No Subsidy Asked, Pilots Group Says

No subsidy, but a different operating arrangement has been asked of the Marquette County Board of Supervisors on behalf of Northern Airmotive, a pilots group in the area stated today.

Through a misunderstanding, it was reported that a subsidy had been asked for the Northern firm, which operates at the Marquette County Airport in Negaunee Township.

Edward Johnson of Negaunee, representing the aircraft pilots of the area, said Northern Airmotive could continue to operate at the airport if it was able to manage and operate the facility, utilizing the existing field, maintenance equipment and buildings for an annual sum of $12,000 and all fuel sales receipts and hangar storage incomes.

He said the firm has James McNamara as its mechanic, and said he is one of three qualified plane mechanics in the Upper Peninsula.

Would Carry Insurance In its request, the pilots group said Northern Airmotive would, if the arrangement was agreed upon, carry hanger keepers insurance and airport liability, covering any ground equipment operating on the airport, fuel trucks, snow plows etc.

The group's request has been referred to the county board's parks and airport committee for a study and report back to the board.

Daughter Of City Residents Gets Degree At Wayne

A former Marquette resident, Mrs. Virginia Price of Goleta, Calif., was awarded a bachelor of arts degree at Wayne State University's midyear commencement exercises this week.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn G. Potter, 523 Pine St.

A total of 1,284 candidates received degrees in the commencement exercises Sunday in Detroit's Cobo Hall.

Dr. Clarence B. Hilberry, WSU president, conferred 812 undergraduate and 410 graduate and 53 doctoral degrees.

Debater For NMU Given High Rating

An award of "superior" was received by a member of the Northern Michigan University debate team at the debate tournament held at the Navy Pier branch of the University of Illinois in Chicago.

Richard Wendt, Marquette sophomore, competing with 280 speakers from 63 schools, received the award by compiling a total of 133 of a possible 160 points.

The NMU negative team, comprised of Wendt and Vince Romano, Detroit freshman who participated in his second college tournament, placed ninth among the 70 teams entered.

The team defeated Illinois State Normal University, North Central Michigan College and Amundsen College, and lost to University of Illinois, Wabash College and Oshkosh State College.

Another New Team

Another new NMU team comprised of Barbara Montagna, Marquette freshman, and Dale Tahtinen, Baraga freshman, defeating Bradley University and Elmhurst College, but lost to Marquette University, Western Michigan University, Ripon College and Grinnell College.

The NMU debate team will not attend additional tournaments until the beginning of the new semester in February.

Tentative plans include participation at tournaments at Eau Claire State College, Iowa State University, Central Michigan University, Wayne State University and the Pi Kappa Delta Province tournament at Grove City College.

Legion To Host 5,000 Children Here Tomorrow

Marquette's American Legion Post is prepared to host approximately 5,000 youngsters at its Christmas party tomorrow afternoon at the National Guard Armory.

The party is scheduled from 2 to 5:30 p.m., but children and their parents are invited to be at the Armory a half hour before the arrival of Santa Claus by sleigh.

The first Legion children's Christmas party in 1961 was attended by 1,708 children from Marquette. Last year invitations were extended to all children in Marquette County and there was a total attendance of 2,507.

For All U.P. Kids

This year children from the entire Upper Peninsula have been invited. Any child who is accompanied by a parent or guardian may attend.

The party will begin with an invocation delivered by the Rev. Vincent Olette, assistant pastor of St. Peter's Cathedral.

Refreshments, including soft drinks, candy and cookies, will be given to children. Santa's helpers will assist in the distribution of refreshments under a 25-foot Christmas tree.

Miss Michigan, Miss Kathy McLaughlin of Ishpeming, will appear under the sponsorship of the Pepsi-Cola Co. of Marquette.

State Legion Head Here

Also in attendance will be C. Oscar Hammond, Detroit, the Michigan Commander of the American Legion.

Entertainers at the party will include Darby O'Six and Wolfgang Sauerbraten from WLUC-TV, James Boerner at the electric organ and dancing elves.

Also present will be the Ahmed Shrine Temple clown troupe.

A 12-piece orchestra will play Christmas tunes. The orchestra is provided by Local 218, American Federation of Musicians, in accordance with

County Over Budget In 11th Month

Marquette County's budget expenditures for the first 11 months of this year were over the budget allowances by a $1,162.85 margin.

County Controller Robert H. DeRoche of Marquette said expenditures for the January to December period amounted to $335,410.81, while the total budget allowance, plus refunds and income during this period, came to $334,247.96.

The year's budget was $287,127.50, but the refunds and income increased this amount by $69,820.67. The unexpended balance at the start of this month was $21,537.36.

Three accounts, public safety, public buildings and state agencies, were in the red for the period, with one account, special appropriations, remaining unchanged. The other five accounts operated in the black.

DeRoche listed the condition of each of the accounts (except for the special appropriations account for $7,525) and their amounts over or under the budget during this period as follows:

Judiciary — (Circuit and justice courts, prosecuting attorney and probate judge) — $758.94 under the budget and $5,713.11 unexpended balance.

Legislative — (Supervisors and county clerk) — $102.94 under and $2,425.86 unexpended.

Finance — (County treasurer) — $3,346.88 under and $4,346.88 unspent.

Public safety — (Sheriff's department, jail, medical examiners, dog wardens, county physician, mine inspector and civil defense) — $914.07 over and $4,323.84 unspent.

Public records — (Register of deeds, elections and statistics) — $4,349.30 under and $5,182.63 unspent.

Public buildings — (Courthouse and jail) — $58.26 over and $1,401.74 unexpended.

General — (Controller, tax department, tax commission, agriculture and extension and miscellaneous) — $1,872.86 under and $4,561.41 unspent.

State agencies — (Welfare agent, bureau of social aid and state institutions and public charges) — $10,621.44 over for the period and $6,537.36 over for the year.

Firemen Called Out Two Times

Marquette's fire department was summoned twice, yesterday and during the night, but no damage was reported.

At 10:05 yesterday morning firemen extinguished a chimney blaze at the residence of Clarence Bourdage, 310 W. Hawley St. They used a half-inch water line to put out the flames.

Three firemen responded to the call in the No. 2 (1,000-gallon) pumper and they returned to the station at 10:32 a.m.

The other call turned out to be a needless one. Firemen were informed by neighbors at 1:30 this morning that there was a blaze in the Arthur Poppe residence at 621 High St.

There was no one home at the time and there was no fire. The reflection from the oil furnace in the basement window led some neighbors to believe there was a blaze, firemen said.

Three firemen also responded to this call with the No. 2 pumper and returned to the station at 1:45 a.m.

Commission Eyes Revised Remap Plan

LANSING (AP) — Rival Republicans and Democrats on the Legislative Apportionment Commission made a giant step toward agreement as both laid their plans on the table Friday.

The commission, composed of four Republicans and four Democrats, must reshuffle the present state House and Senate seats, as required by the new constitution.

If no agreement is reached, the issue will be settled by the courts.

There was a total surplus of 28,340 cords of miscellaneous hardwoods with the largest surpluses in Baraga, Marquette, Alger, Iron and Delta Counties.

The report on hardwoods showed surpluses of beech and soft maple in Luce, Schoolcraft, Baraga, Iron and Marquette and of hard maple and yellow birch in Luce, Mackinac, Baraga, Iron, Marquette and Gogebic.

Industry Told Of Surplus U.P. Wood

The Michigan Department of Conservation, trying to market surplus timber in the Upper Peninsula, has made a compilation of known surpluses which shows that 219,000 cords were available on seven large U.P. land ownerships alone in 1962.

The area reported is one third of the forest land of the Upper Peninsula and the amount of uncut surplus on it is available annually.

The compilation by the forestry division of the department this year was reported to the quarterly meeting of the Upper Peninsula Escanaba Area Problems in Escanaba recently by George N. Semmens, secretary of the Forestry Committee of UPFAP and a member of the staff of the Hiawatha National Forest.

Breakdown By Counties

It showed that the aspen, paper birch, balsam of gilead combination was the greatest category of wood surplus in the Upper Peninsula, with a total volume of 101,310 cords. All 15 counties of the U.P. had a surplus of these woods, ranging from a low of 230 cords in little Keweenaw to 13,380 cords in Chippewa and 20,880 cords in Mackinac, both in the eastern U.P.'s wood surplus area.

Delta and Menominee Counties, which move large quantities of aspen to market, still had surpluses of 2,050 and 2,270 cords, respectively, on the big ownerships reported.

The next greatest surplus species was cedar, with 58,510 cords reported unmarketable. The surplus was greatest in Chippewa, 9,340 cords; Baraga, 8,360; Marquette, 8,510; Alger, 7,000, and Mackinac, 5,000; but all counties but Houghton and Keweenaw in the Copper Country reported big ownership surplus of cedar. This wood is not pulped like most other species.

There was a total surplus of 28,340 cords of miscellaneous hardwoods with the largest surpluses in Baraga, Marquette, Alger, Iron and Delta Counties.

The report on hardwoods showed surpluses of beech and soft maple in Luce, Schoolcraft, Baraga, Iron and Marquette and of hard maple and yellow birch in Luce, Mackinac, Baraga, Iron, Marquette and Gogebic.

Enclosure Made For Skating Rink

A new hockey board encloses the ice skating rink at the Silver Creek Elementary School in Chocoma Township.

The rink is maintained and supervised by the Chocoma Lions Club. The club also maintains and supervises an ice rink located at the Beaver Grove School.

Both rinks are lighted and are open to hockey playing Tuesday and Thursday evenings and to public skating at other times.

The rinks are each 200 feet by 85 feet.

The four-foot hockey board at the Silver Creek rink was purchased from the Marquette Hockey Association. Victor Matson was chairman of the project.

The Lions Club also has purchased a skate sharpening machine which is available at Shaw's Service Station.

County Over Budget In 11th Month

Marquette County's budget expenditures for the first 11 months of this year were over the budget allowances by a $1,162.85 margin.

County Controller Robert H. DeRoche of Marquette said expenditures for the January to December period amounted to $335,410.81, while the total budget allowance, plus refunds and income during this period, came to $334,247.96.

The year's budget was $287,127.50, but the refunds and income increased this amount by $69,820.67. The unexpended balance at the start of this month was $21,537.36.

Three accounts, public safety, public buildings and state agencies, were in the red for the period, with one account, special appropriations, remaining unchanged. The other five accounts operated in the black.

DeRoche listed the condition of each of the accounts (except for the special appropriations account for $7,525) and their amounts over or under the budget during this period as follows:

Judiciary — (Circuit and justice courts, prosecuting attorney and probate judge) — $758.94 under the budget and $5,713.11 unexpended balance.

Legislative — (Supervisors and county clerk) — $102.94 under and $2,425.86 unexpended.

Finance — (County treasurer) — $3,346.88 under and $4,346.88 unspent.

Public safety — (Sheriff's department, jail, medical examiners, dog wardens, county physician, mine inspector and civil defense) — $914.07 over and $4,323.84 unspent.

Public records — (Register of deeds, elections and statistics) — $4,349.30 under and $5,182.63 unspent.

Public buildings — (Courthouse and jail) — $58.26 over and $1,401.74 unexpended.

General — (Controller, tax department, tax commission, agriculture and extension and miscellaneous) — $1,872.86 under and $4,561.41 unspent.

State agencies — (Welfare agent, bureau of social aid and state institutions and public charges) — $10,621.44 over for the period and $6,537.36 over for the year.

Firemen Called Out Two Times

Marquette's fire department was summoned twice, yesterday and during the night, but no damage was reported.

At 10:05 yesterday morning firemen extinguished a chimney blaze at the residence of Clarence Bourdage, 310 W. Hawley St. They used a half-inch water line to put out the flames.

Three firemen responded to the call in the No. 2 (1,000-gallon) pumper and they returned to the station at 10:32 a.m.

The other call turned out to be a needless one. Firemen were informed by neighbors at 1:30 this morning that there was a blaze in the Arthur Poppe residence at 621 High St.

There was no one home at the time and there was no fire. The reflection from the oil furnace in the basement window led some neighbors to believe there was a blaze, firemen said.

Three firemen also responded to this call with the No. 2 pumper and returned to the station at 1:45 a.m.

Commission Eyes Revised Remap Plan

LANSING (AP) — Rival Republicans and Democrats on the Legislative Apportionment Commission made a giant step toward agreement as both laid their plans on the table Friday.

The commission, composed of four Republicans and four Democrats, must reshuffle the present state House and Senate seats, as required by the new constitution.

If no agreement is reached, the issue will be settled by the courts.

City officials plan to begin this spring on a project to replace Marquette's open dump, shown above, with a sanitary landfill. Truck at right in picture is partially hidden by smoke, one of the major complaints from residents near the dump. City Manager Thomas Moore said a start on the landfill would be within the city's budget limitations.—(Mining Journal photo.)

Work On Sanitary Landfill To Begin Here Next Spring

City Manager Thomas Moore says the city can start this spring to build a sanitary landfill which will be within the city's budget limitations. "That's the best news we've had in a long time," Mayor C. Fred Rydholm said.

City department heads have been working on plans for a long range program for a sanitary landfill to replace the city's open dump.

Moore said that he will report to the commission in a few weeks on plans for instituting the landfill.

"It won't be a fantastic, impossible plan," Moore said. "We feel it's time to get rid of the dump and we'll be able to tell you how and when we can get to work."

Previous plans for a landfill have been "like jumping into a cold lake without taking a sauna first," Moore said.

"We think that previous plans for a landfill were too grandiose. The plan we have won't be elaborate. But we feel it's important to get started, regardless of how humble the start is."

Moore said he was not in favor of recommending that the commission adopt an extra charge for use of the landfill.

"I fully anticipate that we get started within our budget limitations," he said.

One of the previous plans for a landfill included a fee of $1.50 per month per family. Commissioner Elmer K. Carlson said: "Now is the time to make plans for the landfill. Previously, the proposal has been brought up to the commission in June after the budget had been adopted."

The possibility of having a sanitary landfill here has been under study for several years. However, previous estimates of the cost ran upwards of $50,000 over the cost of operating the city dump.

Use of the landfill will be a decided forward step in the city's health program, since by burying all refuse, the rat problem would be eliminated.

Also, the dangerous fly and bug problem at the city dump will be practically done away with with the inauguration of the sanitary landfill.

The sanitary landfill system has been strongly endorsed by the Marquette Health Council and by the Michigan Department of Health.

Fast For Christmas Vigil Noted

Regulations concerning the law of fast and abstinence for the Vigil of Christmas were explained today by the Most Rev. Thomas L. Noa, D.D., bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Marquette.

The vigil itself is to be a day of complete fast and abstinence for Catholics of the diocese, he said.

However, in accordance with a Papal decree issued four years ago, Catholics have the choice of observing the Christmas Vigil on either Dec. 23 or Dec. 24. Hence, a Catholic may choose to observe the vigil on either Monday (the 23rd) or Tuesday (the 24th), to fulfill his obligation.

Fasting pertains to the restriction on the amount of food consumed (only one full meal, but two other meals sufficient to maintain strength) and the prohibition of eating between meals. Catholics between the age of 21 and 59 are bound to the law of fast.

Abstinence concerns the prohibition of meat. This law applies to all Catholics who have reached the age of reason.

Exceptions are granted, it was noted, in the event of sickness.

Ember days, observed this week, did not require the past restrictions on fasting and abstinence (aside from the usual Friday restriction), due to the dispensation granted earlier this year.

City, NMU Cooperate On Planning

Northern Michigan University and Marquette city officials will continue to plan together to "solve problems and take advantage of opportunities involving growth and expansion," representatives of both groups said today.

"The university and the city can help one another by working together on matters of mutual concern," said City Manager Thomas Moore, following a meeting at which Northern officials and city commissioners exchanged views and information. Moore said he and the commissioners "appreciated this kind of exchange which helps to build strong and productive relationships."

'Long-Range Growth'
Dr. Edgar L. Harden, president of Northern, said the university "has been pleased with the high level of cooperation on the part of the city manager and the commission."

"As we look to the future of the university, we are encouraged by the kind of university-community relationship which enables us to grow together, solving the problems of growth so that greater service and opportunities are available to all."

Discussing future developments, Mayor C. Fred Rydholm said "we look forward to a continuation of these joint ef-orts in the long-range growth and progress of the university and the community."

In 1935 the back of the dollar bill was redesigned with the engraving of both sides of the Great Seal of the United States.

New Mining Project

The iron and steel industry this week gave Marquette County a wonderful Christmas present that will inject new prosperity on the Marquette Range for years to come. The present came in the form of an announcement in Lansing by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. and McLouth Steel Co. that they will construct a multi-million dollar iron ore pelletizing plant on the Marquette Range, the first time this will have been done commercially in the United States. Open pit ores have been pelletized for the past several years, but the CCI-McLouth project, which will cost a total of about $15,000,000, will mark a breakthrough for this kind of treatment of underground ores. The project has many ramifications.

It means that the 350 men now employed at the Mather Mine, which will be the source of the ore, will continue to be employed there. And it means that an additional 400 new jobs — and possibly more — will be created. If the Mather ore could not be agglomerated and pelletized, there is no doubt that the mine would have to be shut down within a few years.

Another ramification of the project is its effect on tax rates in Marquette County. At present, the Mather Mine is taxed on an ad valorem (according to property value) basis. Under legislation passed this year, a specific tax will be levied against the Mather, based on the amount of ore produced. During 1964, when construction of the pelletizing plant begins, however, the mine will be taxed 75 per cent on the ad valorem basis and 25 per cent under the specific levy. The following year, the two taxes will be applied on a 50-50 basis. In the third year, the mine will be removed completely from the ad valorem rolls and covered entirely by the specific tax.

The specific tax was designed to ease the burden on industry and encourage investment in projects like the one announced by CCI and McLouth. This means that governmental units in which these projects are located would receive less taxes under the specific rate than they would under the ad valorem rate — at the start, at least. However, if the specific tax plan had not been adopted, the Mather Mine soon would cease production, and the governmental units would receive practically no taxes whatever from that source. Moreover, company officials indicated that the Mather Mine production should reach such proportions in a few years that the amount of taxes paid under the specific levy could approximate that now being paid under the ad valorem levy. (Plans call for boosting Mather production from the present 700,000 tons per year to 2,400,000 tons by 1966.) The specific tax is not new in Michigan. Specific taxes have been levied against open pit iron ore mines and pelletizing plants in the Upper Peninsula from the start.

Another ramification of the Mather project is its contribution to the cause of conservation of our natural resources. In the past, the leaner ores in the Mather property could not be utilized and were wasted. By upgrading these ores through agglomeration and pelletizing, however, these minerals now will be utilized as well as the direct shipping ores.

A final ramification of the Mather project is its dramatization of the concept of economic cooperation in a democratic society. The Mather project is becoming a reality simply because so many diverse groups were willing to work together to bring it about to the mutual advantage of all. Before the project could take shape, enabling legislation in the form of a new tax structure had to be provided. Management, labor, the communities involved, the Marquette County Economic Study Committee and the Legislature teamed to pave the way for the project. So effective was this teamwork, in fact, that the specific tax proposal was passed by both houses of the Legislature without a dissenting vote and was promptly signed into law by Gov. Romney.

Certainly, CCI and McLouth, joint partners in the agglomerating and pelletizing plant, and Bethlehem Steel Corp., joint owner with CCI of the Mather Mine, will profit handsomely from this new project. But just as certainly, the entire Marquette Range will profit — and for many years to come.

Peninsula Perambulator

Complete loss of mining property valuations can be expected by Crystal Falls Township, according to Supervisor John Penttila. He said he was advised by State Geologist Harry Hardenberg that such valuations in that township will be dropped in 1964. This year mining properties in Crystal Falls Township were valued at $1,115,000. "We regret such action very much," Penttila said, "but we feel that it will not work any undue hardship on the township, since valuations have been dropping drastically the last several years."

Charles J. Cochran, a Kincheloe Air Force Base airman, was seriously burned in a fire in his home in Sault Ste. Marie. Fire department officials said the fire apparently was caused by Cochran smoking in bed. Cochran jumped through a bedroom window in an attempt to escape the flames, going to the house next door. Unable to raise anyone, he laid down on a couch on the front porch, where he was discovered by firemen and taken to War Memorial Hospital. Richard E. Crimm, also of Kincheloe AFB, who had been sleeping in the house, was awakened by smoke and called firemen.

Action, not study, is needed to assist the Upper Peninsula with its problems, according to the Sault Ste. Marie Chamber of Commerce, whose board of directors sent telegrams with this recommendation to President Lyndon Johnson and Senators McNamara and Hart. "We respectfully suggest that the economic problems of the Upper Peninsula have been thoroughly studied and re-studied and any effort to assist this area should be in the direction of implementing recommendations stemming from scores of studies undertaken over the past 15 years," the telegrams stated. "Comprehensive data covering all aspects of economic potential is available, but unfortunately funds are lacking to put into motion comprehensive measures to revitalize the economy of the Upper Peninsula. We are encouraged to revitalize the economy of the Upper Peninsula. We are encouraged by your interest in focusing attention on the needs of this area, but we urge, however, that money be made available for implementation and not further study. We are further convinced that the economic future of the eastern part of the Upper Peninsula can be effectively tied to a closer working relationship with the Algoma Steel Corp., Ltd., of Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario. The opportunity for industrial development using Algoma Steel products should be thoroughly investigated."

Editor: As a member of the National Rifle Association and as a person who enjoys shooting, I would like to commend you on your editorial of Dec. 16.

If, through further anti-gun legislation, the honest, law-abiding citizens continue to be restricted by these non-effective laws, we will no longer be a "nation of riflemen," and some day we may find ourselves in the same situation as England did at Dunkirk.

'We Have Seen His Star'

The National Whirligig News Behind The News

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — It is a pleasure to report, after a survey of some weary parents, that none of their kids will find under the Christmas tree a gift certificate entitling him to a free seance with a psychiatrist.

Instead, parents this year seem to have bucked the modern theory of giving kids only what is good for them. Mostly, the loot already bought is stuff kids could have fun with. This comes out a healthy trend against a trend, it seems to me. I agree that kids are dangerous and that if you don't watch them they'll turn out to be almost as no-good as adults, but of late years some of our more intellectual mamas and papas have been overdoing things at Christmas time. Psychology-Oriented

They have been loading down their offspring with "toys" designed to improve their character and intelligence. They pass over electric trains with the sneer they'll intoxicate the kids with power. Show 'em a Teddy bear and they'll kick it away with the snarl they don't want any of their tads storing up false affection for a plaything. Suggest a pair of boxing gloves and they're horrified—they don't want their kids to turn bloodthirsty.

So they go for broke with practically incoherent sentences designed to test the child's IQ. They give them portfolios of Old Masters, with a big space under each picture for a critique by the poor kid on style and shading. They tuck under the tree make-it-yourself kits that would stump an engineering professor at MIT.

Back To The Kids

As a result a lot of kids with high-browed parents sneak out of the house as early as possible on Christmas morning and try to wheedle, or slug, a chance to hug some other kid's pet dog or ride his bike.

This year, the gifts look as if they were designed for kids. There are some real fancy electric trains and some mechanical jobs that give a boy a chance to try out his new screwdriver. There are plenty of bikes, lots of Teddy bears, some dump trucks, jigsaw puzzles that can be put together even by kids without Ph.D.'s, and some punching bags.

Fun Gifts
The book situation also is improved. Boys of seven are getting books with big prints and colored pictures about medieval knights and pirates, not "Nietzsche Made Easy" or "Little Kapital for Beginners." Little girls are getting a flock of "Oz" books and such and not a collection of lectures on how to set a formal table for 17 people, including the ambassador from Outer Muggwump.

There are good tales of adventure like "Treasure Island" and "Kidnapped," and the original, non-movie "Peter Pan" and some old-fashioned bedtime stories about rabbits and beavers and amiable skunks.

Four Main Kinds
The one with the crooked stem and the lion carved on the bowl was bought in the mountains and dropped into a stream the day you caught that five-pound bass.

The yellow-stemmed pipe with the broken bit was given to you by your son on a Christmas long ago.

The pipe smoker is aided in his avocation by thoughtful merchandisers who provide all kinds of chemicals and tools for cleaning, and issue dire warnings against the use of knives or other simple objects for operating on pipes.

RIGHT VS. LICENSE

Among the many questions raised by the assassination of President Kennedy is, where does the public's "right to know" end and Peeping Tomism begin?

For with our wonderful ability to catch and transmit the sight and sound of news events, we seem at times dangerously close to becoming a nation of Peeping Toms.

We must, for instance, have a camera trained on the face of the wife of an astronaut at the very moment he is being launched into space, quite possibly to his death.

To some, who may have weak imaginations or who doubt that people they haven't seen in the flesh are quite real, this may be emotionally satisfying. To others, it is a gross invasion of privacy and commercial degrading of human dignity, even if done by consent.

After the assassination, millions of television viewers were treated to a reporter prying into the sorrow of the widow and children of a policeman and supposedly being edified by listening to such questions as "What are your plans now?" "Do you want to be a policeman when you grow up, son?"

More tragically, this alleged public demand to be in on everything, to be right there as it happens, resulted, first, in the trial without jury of the accused assassin and, second, in his death.

Sometimes, as in the case of a president's funeral, our ability to participate remotely by electronic means is a moving experience for which we are humbly grateful. And future generations will thank us for preserving such a moving moment in history.

There is, however, a line between the legitimate right of the public to be informed — which is one of the rocks upon which a democracy must be based — and voyeurism.

The blurring of this line can only result in a general cheapening of all that we value. — from Mountain News

Tackling Trade Issues

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Plans are now shaping up for the world's largest and most important international conference. This is the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, scheduled for Geneva, Switzerland, March 23 to June 16, 1964. From 1,500 to 2,000 delegates and trade experts will attend.

To Come From 120 Countries

They will come from 120 countries — all the U. N. members including the Communist bloc countries as well as West Germany, Switzerland, Korea and others not yet members, but cooperating with U. N. specialized agencies. But not Red China.

While the United States, with one vote, could be overwhelmed at such a conference, it is obvious that nothing will be agreed to that the western nations, controlling 70 per cent of world trade, do not approve.

The U. S. delegation of about 50, including clerical help, will have Undersecretary of State George Ball as its senior official, with G. Griffith Johnson, assistant secretary of state for economic affairs, as its active head.

The delegation will include two senators, two congressmen and four representatives of private business interests yet to be selected.

Congress Refused To Ratify Charter

At a December meeting in New York, American business leaders will be given a briefing and a chance to express their views on U. S. government trade policy papers now in preparation.

Nobody knows for sure what may come out of the Geneva conference. It is not expected to produce another International Trade Organization Charter like the one drafted at Havana in 1947-8, which the U. S. Congress refused to ratify.

A new United Nations specialized agency on trade has been suggested, separate or under the U. N. Economic and Social Council.

Another idea is to let special sessions of the General Assembly, held every two years, review existing world trade patterns and recommend actions to improve them.

The six working committees into which the conference will be divided to cover its agenda after about two weeks of general debate include: International organizations, commodity problems and price levels, state trading, expanded manufacturing for developing countries, foreign aid for trade development, and development of "invisible exports" — services to the new nations.

Special Problem Presented

The Geneva conference will have nothing to do with liberalizing East-West trade as a result of the opening provided by Communist bloc purchases of free world surplus wheat.

It is not expected that there will be any immediate reorganization of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade — GATT — in which rates are agreed to by free world countries.

The preferential trade relations now being given by the European Common Market countries to their former colonies present a special problem. This has bothered other Asian, African and Latin American countries.

The United States also has its chickens to fry with the Common Market. An American position in opposition to dividing up the world into regional areas behind trade barriers may therefore be expected.

Most Frequent Wish

From the American point of view, the principal work of the Geneva conference should be to improve the trade, economies and balance of payments positions of the new nations.

Their most frequent wish is that all their troubles are the fault of the developed nations, which import raw materials — now in oversupply — at reduced prices while charging more and more for the industrial equipment they export.

The other side of this argument is that the developing countries don't do as much for themselves as they should. They don't use private enterprise enough and their state-controlled economies don't have adequate planning. They don't develop export industries, don't diversify their economies, don't control inflation or fiscal affairs.

Soviet Russia and the Communist satellites which strongly supported calling of this conference, apparently want to use it to set up a new International Trade Organization.

Johnson News Conferences

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says he will decide when and how to hold news conferences according to "what comes naturally."

What has come naturally to him so far is something between the news conferences of Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman and those of Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and John F. Kennedy.

Before Live Cameras

Roosevelt and Truman met with newsmen — far oftener than Eisenhower and Kennedy — in their offices but what they said could seldom be quoted directly.

Eisenhower and Kennedy held their conferences in full view of cameras — in Kennedy's case, before live television cameras — and what they said was the public record.

Nothing Promised

Johnson, like Roosevelt and Truman, has his office, without benefit of television or radio, but, like Eisenhower and Kennedy, what he has said so far has been directly attributed to him.

When the mood seizes him, Johnson may meet the press before live television cameras. He has foreclosed nothing, promised nothing specific.

Coffee Sessions

Asked what kind of conferences he planned to hold, he said: "Maybe it will be a meeting of this kind today; maybe a televised meeting tomorrow; with maybe a coffee session the next day."

His first news conference, Dec. 8, was a coffee session. If he keeps up his present pace, two conferences in 10 days, he will outdistance Eisenhower and Kennedy and be more in the Roosevelt-Truman tradition.

Yearly Averages

Roosevelt held 998 conferences in 12 years, an average of 83 a year; Truman, 324 conferences in almost eight years, averaging 41 a year; Eisenhower, 198 conferences in eight years, averaging 24; and Kennedy, 64 in just under three years, an average of 21 a year.

While the Eisenhower-Kennedy conferences were televised, Eisenhower's could not be released until after the conference. Kennedy's were live.

Instantly Public

Reporters rushing to a phone after an Eisenhower conference could not quote him directly. Permission for this was given only after White House aides went over the transcript of the President's remarks for errors.

Kennedy's statements, since they were on television as he gave them, instantly were public property.

Great Advantage

The appearance of Eisenhower and Kennedy on television had a great public advantage.

All the people of the nation could watch their President in action and form their own judgments. But the meetings with the press had a couple of disadvantages. In the first place, they were huge affairs.

Thus they included newsmen with questions of a minor nature and of interest to only one locality, and perhaps a small one. Sometimes they were the kind that could have been answered by a call to a White House aide.

Short And Pointed

The transcript of the much smaller Johnson conferences, without the benefit of television, shows the reporters were able to concentrate on questions of national and international interest. The questions were short and pointed.

Because Johnson went to real length Wednesday to answer some of the questions, there was only time to ask him 20. Kennedy used to average between 25 and 30 questions and answers in about the same time.

HATE PEDDLERS

The decision to hold a public hearing early in January on the sources and distribution of "hate" literature in Milwaukee is wise.

Many pamphlets and newspapers vilifying minority groups are being distributed here. A majority of them seem to originate with Southern extremists, either individuals or groups. They play on prejudice and ignorance. Sometimes secrecy is part of their technique. They pretend to be telling their recipients things that are not generally known — things that cannot be learned from the daily press or radio or TV.

Exposing these carriers of hate to public view will be healthy. They can thrive only so long as they are conspiratorial and under cover. Part of their appeal is the mystery surrounding their origin and channels of distribution. These should be exposed as far as possible. — Milwaukee Sentinel

DREAMS MADE OF POISON

A world expert on sleep, Dr. William C. Dement, neurophysiologist at Stanford University's school of medicine, revealed the other day that his experiments indicate that a naturally created toxin from the central nervous system is the source of dreams. He theorized that it was the body's effort to clear the nervous system of the poison that initiated dreams. Now will some expert please come up with an antidote for those noxious nightmares, particularly the ones we've been having lately about all post-Christmas bills? — Milwaukee Journal

Sawyer's Two Helicopters Flown Over 1,000 Hours With Accident-Free Record

A milestone — and a probable record — were set at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base recently when members of Detachment 23, Central Air Rescue Service (MATS), flew the two HH-43B helicopters assigned to the unit over the 1,000-hour flying mark.

The 2,000 total hours of flying time have been accident-free.

The detachment has had the two "Huskies" since March 1960. The jet-turbine powered "choppers" carry a crew of two pilots.

According to Capt. N. D. Dunham, detachment commander and a native of Marquette, none of the other 16 detachments in the Central Air Rescue Service has approached the 1,000-hour mark on their aircraft. He said records are currently being screened, and from early indications, the flying hour mark is probably an Air Force record.

He added that "the achievement of 1,000 hours aloft by each of our assigned aircraft on the same day is a record for all of Air Rescue Service."

Motto Cited
"That others may live" is the motto of the Air Rescue Service, and to fulfill the motto, men of the local detachment are on alert around the clock.

Their primary mission is to respond to in-flight emergencies by airborne aircraft, but they also have responded many times to requests for assistance by civilian officials in the local area for humanitarian missions for which the helicopter is uniquely suited.

Dunham said that if a pilot of one of the aircraft assigned to Sawyer has trouble while in flight, he would notify the control tower here by radio.

The control tower then signals the ready room of the rescue unit, and within three minutes, the "Huskies" with two pilots, a medical technician and two firefighters is airborne.

Attached beneath the helicopter is a fire suppression kit. In case of a crash landing or fire, he said, the fire suppres-

Myers' Warning: Don't Let Yule Joys Go Up In Smoke

Area residents who are doing "that something extra" for the Christmas period were cautioned today about "not letting the holiday joys go up in smoke."

The warning came from Marquette Fire Chief John W. Myers and Francis Dighera, chief of the Negaunee Fire Department and president of the Marquette County Fire Fighters Association.

They warned that holiday fires can "bring death, serious injury and extensive property damage — all of which are unnecessary and preventable."

They said most holiday season fires can be traced to one of three causes: Overloaded electrical circuits, smoking and dry Christmas trees.

Because of the increased use of home appliances today, heavy demands are made on circuits, they said. Thus, the electricity required to handle Christmas

January Crash Recalled
Last January, when two pilots of a disabled T-33 trainer were forced to bail out five miles south of here, the helicopter was on the scene awaiting their descent. The elapsed time from the pilots' ejection until they were returned to Sawyer was 10 minutes.

AIC Ray K. Jonas is the ground crew chief on one of the helicopters, and has been with it since it arrived here. SSgt. Jan Gale was the other crew chief, and recently was reassigned.

lighting may be just enough to overload the wiring.

"Don't tamper with fuses, which protect the home from fire due to shorted or overloaded circuits. When you replace a fuse, be sure the new one is the same size — not larger," they advised.

'Don't Have Bare Wires'
"Another point to remember about Christmas lighting: Be sure there are no bare wires. Replace them or cover bare spots with friction tape."

"If you are in any doubt about your home's wiring, have a qualified electrician check it. This may save you grief later."

Christmas trees can add cheer to the home, but they also can be dangerous.

'Get Fresh Tree'
"Be sure you buy a fresh tree and set it in water to keep it fresh as long as possible. Also, keep it away from fireplaces, stoves, radiators and electrical outlets. Use only fireproof ornaments," the chief said.

"For smokers in your family, place ash trays near every chair.

"Lastly, remember that Christmas means many flammable wrappings. Remove them as soon as the presents are opened."

Members of the Marquette branch of the American Association of University Women enjoyed a Christmas buffet recently at the home of Mrs. Richard Sonderegger, 328 E. Ridge St.

Guests at the supper were members of the Officer's Wives Choral Group from K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base.

The individual members of the choral group were introduced by their director, Mrs. Nina Ring. They presented five numbers: "The Little Drummer Boy" by Katherine Davis, "Sleigh Ride" by Leroy Anderson, "Carol of the Bells" by Leontovich-Wilhouisky, "The Night before Christmas" by Clement Moore and "The Twelve Days of Christmas," an old English carol. Members of the choral group and AAUW members then joined in group carol singing.

New Members Received
New members of the Marquette branch of AAUW were introduced by Mrs. K. Charles Wright, membership chairman. New members include Mrs. John K. Albers, Mrs. Godfrey G. Agriesti, Miss Jeanne Bingham, Mrs. E. E. Burns, Mrs. Robert J. ### Speech, Hearing Unit At NMU Holds Installation

Twenty-seven Northern Michigan University students have been installed as members of the newly organized Gamma Xi chapter of Sigma Alpha Eta at ceremonies held in the Union National Bank lounge.

Sigma Alpha Eta is the national speech and hearing fraternity, whose objectives are: to create and stimulate an interest among college students in the field of speech and hearing rehabilitation; to encourage professional growth by providing learning experiences not offered in the formal course of study; to foster a spirit of unity by coordinating the interests and efforts of persons with a common goal, by offering opportunities for social and professional fellowship, and by providing situations in which students and faculty may work together as a team to advance the profession as a whole.

It is also designed to inspire high planes of achievement in academic and clinical activities; and to aid in building wholesome public relations with other college departments and with local organizations interested in knowing about the field of speech and hearing.

Homemaking Tips

Like flavored milk? Add a tablespoon of molasses and a teaspoon of powdered instant coffee to a cup of milk and whirl together in an electric blender. Use light or dark molasses to suit your own taste.

You can prepare the speediest of sweet sauces by heating caramels with light or heavy cream. Serve over ice cream, pudding or cake, or use in a caramel milk shake.

To prepare loin veal chops for stuffing, place the chops on a cutting board. With a sharp knife split in half to the bone to create a "pocket" to hold the stuffing. After the chops are stuffed, toothpicks can be used to hold ends together.

Ever use the carcass of a roast chicken for making broth? If you try this, add a little monosodium glutamate for flavor.

Leftover creamed vegetables may thicken up after storing in the refrigerator. In this case, just dilute with a little milk before reheating.

Various cuts of boneless veal—shank, neck, breast or shoulder—are suitable for stewing.

For a realistic investment in your family's safety, install a MINNEAPOLIS HONEYWELL fire alarm system.

Historical Unit's Open House Set

At a special meeting of the board of directors of the Marquette County Historical Society presided over by President Richard Sonderegger, it was decided that, because of the death of Kenyon Boyer, who was managing director of the society, the annual open house, usually held New Year's Day, has been postponed until Sunday afternoon, Feb. 9.

The event will be held in the museum from 2 to 5 p.m. It is expected that the popular annual party will return to its usual Jan. 1 date in 1965.

Annual Business Meeting
The annual business meeting of the society will be held in the auditorium of the Peter White Library Saturday, Jan. 11, from 3 to 5 p.m. There will be a guest speaker.

Following this meeting, refreshments will be served in the museum. This is an open meeting, and all friends of the society are invited.

Rankin New Secretary
The following appointments, effective Jan. 1, were made by Sonderegger, with the approval of the board: Ernest H. Rankin, executive secretary; Esther B. Bystrom, assistant secretary and treasurer, and Florence M. Kane, curator of photographs, manuscripts and associated materials.

Further announcements concerning the annual business meeting and open house will be made at a later date.

Except for the transactions of necessary business, the museum will remain closed until Jan. 2, at which time it will return to its normal schedule.

Negaunee Group Receives Future Nurses Chapter

NEGAUNEE — Announcement has been made by the National League for Nursing, New York City, that a charter has been granted to the Amanda Williams Future Nurses Chapter of Negaunee High School.

Through its charter, the local unit takes its place among more than 1,400 high school groups exploring careers in nursing in the United States to achieve national status. The Negaunee group is named in honor of Mrs. Amanda Williams, who retired in 1961 after serving as school nurse here for many years. It was granted a national charter on recommendation of Supt. Robert E. Northey.

As a charter unit, the Amanda Williams Chapter will participate in a national youth program to help the nation meet future nursing needs. Club activities are designed to enable members to explore career opportunities in nursing and other health fields. Nurses and student nurses discuss the profession with members and answer questions. Field trips to nursing schools, hospitals and other community health agencies expand career horizons. To date members of the Negaunee chapter have visited the Veterans Hospital at Iron Mountain, K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base Hospital and the Newberry State Hospital.

Community projects help members gain insight into

German Couple Reunited For Day In East Berlin

EDITOR'S NOTE: Few of the separations caused by the Berlin wall are more tragic than that of husband and wife. The following story a West Berlin husband tells of his reunion with his wife after being separated by the Red wall for 2½ years. In order not to jeopardize return visits, he has used a pen name.

By GUSTAV BAUER
Written for
The Associated Press

BERLIN (AP)—I wanted to go back, just for a last kiss. I can't quite grasp it. I should have expected it. The East Berlin police wouldn't let my wife and me stay together last night—after not being able to see each other for 2½ years.

The day went so quickly. We had so much to tell each other. But at the midnight deadline I had to go back to West Berlin. I stayed in East Berlin.

We wanted one more kiss goodbye—just once again. That wasn't even allowed. It's hard to understand. The Vopos (peoples police) don't have to be that strict and bureaucratic.

I had showed the Vopos my pass. I was already beyond their barrier. "Gusti, Gusti," my wife called. I wanted to go back, just for a last kiss. But the Vopos said to Anne Maria: "Go away. You cannot pass through."

On Saturday I'll see Anne again. This time I'll take along a present for her. Yesterday everything was so unplanned. I didn't bring anything for her. I didn't even write that I was coming.

At 7 o'clock I was already at her house near the East Berlin city hall. But she was working—on the early shift. She works at the post office and they start at 5 a.m. there. I immediately called her boss and he gave her the day off.

At 10 o'clock, just as my feet were beginning to freeze from standing on the cold pavement, she came. She was all confused. She nearly got run over by a street car in her excitement. She ran to me and I can't describe how it felt to have her in my arms.

We were together again for the first time in 2½ years. Married in 1961.

I am a pensioned army man and not so young—58 to be exact. And I'm my second wife and I've known her for 25 years. I knew her even before my first wife was killed by a wartime bomb attack.

We were married in the summer of 1961. I wanted her to

Miracle in a Manger

On the holy night, the Christ child was born to an unknown carpenter and his wife in Bethlehem. No palace physician attended the Prince of Peace — perhaps a mid-wife or a serving maid. No fine linens were prepared for the mother; no crib for the Babe—just the straw and the manger were theirs. No royal salute was fired to announce His arrival — only the braying of the animals in their stalls was heard. Never was royalty greeted with less pomp and circumstance. Why? Because man could not raise himself to God! So God sent His Son to light up our hearts and minds with His Divine Presence. His living Spirit brightened the most ordinary and commonplace tasks of the day. If He could, so hallow that stable, can He not hallow our homes, our places of work, the whole of our lives? Of course! Consider again and again the miracle of His birth. Be in church on Christmas to welcome anew the Christ child in your heart.

Many Homes Decorated In Ishpeming

ISHPEMING — Judges in the home lighting contest, to be conducted between Christmas and New Year's, will have a difficult task of selecting winners because of the unusually good results achieved by residents in decorating their homes.

Judges named to pick this year's winners are Jack Boase, the Rev. Ray Miklethun, the Rev. Thomas Ruppe, Miss Anna Asgaard, Mrs. Val Pontill and Mrs. Henry Boberg.

The Hematite Business and Professional Women's Club is handling details for the event.

Mrs. Carmen Waters, assisted by Mrs. Edith Broad, will coordinate plans for the contest, which will cover the Greater Ishpeming area and Ishpeming Township.

Sponsors of the lighting contest, the Retail Division of the Ishpeming Chamber of Commerce and the Upper Peninsula Power Co., offer $100 in prizes to home owners who display the most unusual and most attractive scenes appropriate for this time of year.

City's Ice Rink Ready For Monday

ISHPEMING — Ishpeming's big ice rink at the playgrounds will be open Monday, Dec. 23.

The 50-by-150-foot rink, which is located on the tennis courts, will be open from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. on weekends and holidays and on school days from 3 p.m. until 9 p.m.

City workers have been flooding the rink this week.

An attendant will be on duty daily.

The city also announced that four neighborhood rinks would be in operation soon. They are located in Cleveland Location, on S. Pine St., near Vicary's Grocery, in the Seventh Addition and in the area just west of the Birchview School.

City crews will work on these rinks next week and finish them, providing weather conditions permit.

Negaunee's Rinks Ready For Tonight

NEGAUNEE — Despite the pressure of keeping streets and highways open, and the snow removal program that has been carried on constantly during the past week, municipal public works department personnel completed preliminary work and flooding of two major ice rinks, which will open for the first time tonight.

Superintendent Arthur Anderson announced this morning that the Arena rink on Hungerford Ave., across from the Negaunee athletic field, and the Jackson Recreation Park rink on the County Road will be available for skating tonight.

"We make every effort each year to have the rinks open for the holidays, in order that this time of recreation will be available to students during the Christmas vacation, and youngsters who receive skates as gifts will not be disappointed," Anderson said. "However, this year opening of the rinks has been a little more of a problem than usual, because temperatures were not cold enough for flooding until recently, and during the past week or 10 days the battle to keep ahead of the snow has kept most of our personnel and equipment occupied."

Preparations of other neighborhood rinks, which are operated during the winter, will be completed as rapidly as possible.

Sunday School Songs, Services In Grace Church

GWINN — Sunday School children of Grace Lutheran Church will present a Christmas program at two different times Dec. 22. The pre-school children, kindergarten, grades one, two and three will render Christmas songs at the regular morning worship services at 10:15. Grades four to nine will present "A Candlelight Service" in the evening, beginning at 7.

The candlelight service, arranged by Audrey C. Anderson, will include a Sunday School choir, reader, lightbearer and 12 girls as candlebearers. Only candlelight will be used for the service.

The message of the service is especially appropriate for this time of year as it proclaims the real purpose of Christ's coming into the world.

The public is invited to both services. Candy will be given the children after the services.

Home Lost In National Mine Fire

ISHPEMING — The two-story frame home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Armstrong of National Mine was destroyed by fire Wednesday. Most of the contents also were lost.

The Ishpeming Fire Department, which remained at the scene for several hours, estimated the fire had been burning for more than an hour before it was notified.

When they reached the Armstrong home in a department truck, firemen were hampered by low water pressure. They immediately called for another truck.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong, who were not at home at the time but arrived after the firemen, are staying with a relative in National Mine.

Firemen expressed belief that the blaze may have started in the basement of the home.

Negaunee Native To Retire From U.P. Highway Post

CRYSTAL FALLS — Irving T. Field, the State Highway Department's district bridge engineer for the western half of the Upper Peninsula, will retire Jan. 11 after almost 23 years of service.

As district bridge engineer, Field has been responsible for all bridge maintenance and construction projects in nine western U. P. counties.

Field started with the department in 1936 as an instrumentman on a field survey crew. He was assigned to various projects in the western Upper Peninsula until his transfer to Lansing in 1942 as a bridge engineer. He was re-assigned to the Jackson district office in 1956 and was named district bridge engineer at Crystal Falls in 1959.

Field, who will be 69 in January, is a native of the U. P. He was born at Negaunee in 1895 and attended Michigan College of Mining and Technology, Houghton.

After two years with the 5th U. S. Engineers during World War I, Field, in 1919, joined the Iron County Road Commission as assistant engineer for road and bridge surveys, plans and construction.

In 1935, he left the road commission to serve briefly as city engineer for Crystal Falls.

Field is a registered civil engineer and is a member of the National Society and Michigan Society of Professional Engineers.

Redmen Take 5th Win, 67-62, From Manistique

MANISTIQUE — The Redmen of Marquette Gravaeret took their fifth win last night in defeating Manistique, 67-62, mostly on the strength of Bruce Forstrom's shooting and rebounding.

Marquette stayed on the short end of small Manistique leads throughout the first three quarters, coming behind in the final stanza with a great improvement in shooting accuracy and volume to take the victory.

Forstrom dumped in only one field goal in the entire first half, gaining another 10 points on free throws before the intermission. The remainder of his 31-point high total for the game came in the second half, as he found the range to contribute 19 field goals and three charity tosses to the winning cause.

Gwinn Rebounds To Hand Negaunee Mild 65-56 Upsets

NEGAUNEE — Bouncing back from a nine-point halftime deficit, the Gwinn Model Towners staged a mild upset here last night when they defeated the Negaunee Miners, 65-56, at Memorial Gymnasium.

Trailing 35-26 at the intermission, the Model Towners, with the start of the third quarter switched from a zone to a pressing defense that completely upset the Maize and Blue. They caught the Miners with three minutes to go in the period at 39-all on a rebound tip-in by Dan Purple and then moved out in front to stay on a bucket by Ray Moffatt.

Spread Built
By the end of the quarter, Gwinn held a six-point spread, 40-43, the most damaging blow being a long-one-hander from beyond center court by Dave Copley that just beat the buzzer.

Carlson paced Negaunee with 14, followed by Luoma with 10. Bright spots in the setback for Coach Bob Herman were the offensive performances of Doug Maki and Korppinen, who combined to give the Miners some out-court shooting that was good for eight field goals.

Jim Carlson opened the scoring with a jump shot from the pivot, and after John Fallon tied the count at two-all, Negaunee moved ahead again on two more buckets by Carlson. The Miners led throughout the remainder of the first quarter, holding an 18-14 advantage at the end of the period.

Carlson and Gunnar Korppinen, who came off the bench to hit on three shots from out-court in five attempts, paced the Negaunee attack in the second stanza in which Coach Bob Herman's club increased its lead to nine points, 35-26 by the intermission.

Tide Changes
Then the tide changed as Coach Gerry Erickson sent his team into a full court press with the start of the third period. Negaunee connected on only two of 14 field goal attempts in the eight-minute span as the Miners were outscored 23-8.

MSU Singed In Friday Hoop Action
Michigan State was scorched by California in the Sun Devil Classic at Tempe, Ariz., 78-68, Friday night. All that remains for the Spartans is a consolation match with the Oklahoma Sooners today.

State trailed by only one point, 35-36, at the half but fell before the slow but accurate shooting of the Golden Bears.

High scorers for the Michigan delegation were Pete Gent and Fred Thomann, who had 14 points each. Dan Wolthers led the California attack with 21.

The loss was the second in a row for State, which won its first four games — scoring at least 100 points in each of the first three.

Ferris Insult
In the only other game involving Michigan basketball teams, Ferris State added insult to injury by putting in its second string against the Detroit Institute of Technology for the final quarter and still winning 94-47.

Carter Floors Griffith With Vicious Left Hook

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "No welterweight has any business in the ring with me," Rubin (Hurricane) Carter said before his scheduled 10-round fight with welterweight champion Emile Griffith Friday night.

A crowd of 5,436 and a nationwide television audience found out it was no idle boast when they saw the No. 2 ranked middleweight stop Griffith in the first round in what could rank as the upset of the year.

The quick ending and the fact that the favored Griffith had never been knocked out before gave added weight to the upset.

Griffith went to Carter at the opening bell. Carter said "I expected him to come in because he got pride."

Dixie Dandies Were To Play Today In Frigid Philadelphia

(By the Associated Press)
North Carolina State and Mississippi State, a pair of Dixie dandies, tried to warm up frost-bitten Philadelphia today in what would be the luckless Liberty Bowl's last stand.

The Mississippi State football team went into the Liberty Bowl game this afternoon prepared for frigid Philadelphia weather. Quarterback Sonny Fisher, left, and Coach Paul Davis take a look at a uniform innovation for today's game with North Carolina State... long underwear. (NEA Telephoto.)

While the East's sole survivor among major post-season grid classics struggled to escape a permanent deep-freeze, there was sunny sailing for two other early bowl arrivals in the Southland.

Royals Keep Trying To Catch Celts

(By the Associated Press)
Chasing the runaway Boston Celtics may be a nightmare for the Cincinnati Royals, but Oscar Robertson and Co. haven't given up the ghost.

The Philadelphia bowl has been a red-ink operation for five years. Adding to Dudley's woes this year was the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People displeasure over the invitation to Mississippi.

The Royals gained a half-length in their phantom pursuit of Boston's Eastern kinglypins Friday night with a 103-96 decision over Baltimore in one of two National Basketball Association pairings.

At Miami, George Mira and Jack Concannon matched missiles in the North-South all-star tilt. At Houston, Baylor's aerial artist Don Trull collided with LSU's punishing defense in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

Michigan State was scorched by California in the Sun Devil Classic at Tempe, Ariz., 78-68, Friday night. All that remains for the Spartans is a consolation match with the Oklahoma Sooners today.

Baseball is exempt from the antitrust laws under a 1922 decision of the Supreme Court, but the other three sports are not.

State trailed by only one point, 35-36, at the half but fell before the slow but accurate shooting of the Golden Bears.

Under the bill, agreements with respect to player drafts, reserve clauses and territorial franchises would be exempt from antitrust regulations in recognition of what Hart called the unique character of professional sports.

L'Anse Will Play In Pine Tournay

L'ANSE — The Hornets of L'Anse High School will compete in the second annual White Pine holiday basketball tournament, along with six Porcupine Mountains Conference teams and Doelle of the Mid-Peninsula Conference.

Joining Hart in offering the measure were Sens. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., Edward V. Long, D-Mo., and Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb.

All schools will play at least two games in the event, scheduled for Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week, Dec. 26-28.

Washington (AP) — Legislation to clarify the application of antitrust laws to professional team sports was proposed Monday by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and five other members of the Senate Antitrust Subcommittee.

Four games are scheduled for the first day's sessions, as follows: Doelle vs. White Pine, 4 p.m.; Mass vs. Ewen, 5:30; L'Anse vs. Bergland, 8; Marenisco vs. Trout Creek, 9:30.

Final AFL Play Sunday

(By the Associated Press)
The San Diego Chargers are a short stride from the American Football League's Western Division title but they'll have to tame a Denver Bronco hex to get home free.

On Friday, the losers of the first two games will clash at 4 p.m., then the losers of Thursday night's games will meet at 5:30. Winners' bracket contests are set for 8 and 9 that night.

San Diego, back on top in the West after a dismal 1963 finish, can lock up the decision crown by either beating or tying last-place Denver Sunday as the AFL makes its final regular-season go-round. Sid Gillman's club, however, hasn't been able to corral the Broncos since one-time Gillman aide Jack Faulkner took over the Denver coaching reins last year.

Saturday's schedule lists three games. The winners of Friday's losers' bracket contests will swing into action at 6, a consolation game in the winners' division will start at 7:30, then the championship affair will begin at 9.

Oakland's tenacious Raiders will play host to Houston and the West Coast Cinderella entry will be looking for Denver's whammy to hold up. The Raiders, a game off the pace, can force a sectional playoff if they get by the Oilers and San Diego tumbler.

New York's Jets visit Kansas City in the other season finale while Boston and Buffalo, having completed their schedules last weekend, take a breather before untangling their Eastern Division deadlock Saturday, Dec. 28.

The rival National Football League, its season finished, awaits the title playoff between New York and Chicago, at Chicago, Dec. 29.

Royals Now 3-4 After 82-80 Upset Of Holy Name Team

ESCANABA — The Royals of Marquette Bishop Baraga pulled one of the most surprising upsets in an evening of upsets all across the U.P. last night as a last-second pass interception and bucket by John Brami gave the Royals a hard-fought 82-80 victory over Escanaba Holy Name's Eskymoos. Bishop Baraga held the lead early in the first quarter, mainly on their first nine attempts. Holy Name regained the lead at the end of the period and maintained it until about three minutes remained on the clock for the game. Back 'n Forth

The lead seesawed for the remaining minutes, with both teams missing chances to build a lead that would last. Holy Name had the ball with the score tied at 80-80 and seven seconds remaining when Brami made the second of two steals in the final minutes. He dribbled downcourt and canned a 12-foot jump shot to ice the decision for the Royals.

MICHIGAMME — Suffering from a height disadvantage and the continued loss of injured Jim Innerreber, the Michigamme Eagles gave up a 75-54 game to visiting Garden last night.

The taller Garden roundballers completely controlled the boards and looked impressive in floor play and ball handling, shooting at a better clip than the Eagles.

Chicago Offense Matches That Of Pittsburgh, Says Giant Expert Robustelli

NEW YORK (AP)—Andy Robustelli, the player-coach responsible for the New York Giants' defense, says the Chicago Bears and the Pittsburgh Steelers rate about the same offensively.

ceptationally quick wrists: he's tall enough to look over almost everybody's head and really snap off the short pass. Bukich has the strongest arm in football for the long bomb when they need him. He's the understudy but Rudy is a good pro quarterback."

Nothing To Rile
It was evident from Robustelli's appraisal and the comments of Coach Allie Sherman that the Giants have no intention of saying anything fiery that would rile up the big Bears.

"The Bears have a lot better offense than a lot of people give them credit for," said Sherman. "They definitely move if the ball good and can hurt you if you're not on your toes at all times."

Lake Trout Program Looks Good

Latest studies give United States and Canadian conservation agencies another solid vote of confidence behind their joint efforts to whip the sea lamprey and rebuild lake trout populations in the upper Great Lakes.

Good survival and growth is continuing to show up among lake trout in Lake Superior as the result of lamprey control and fish plantings in recent years, according to reports made during the December meeting of the Great Lakes Fishery Commission in Ottawa, Ontario. Also, catches of adult sea lamprey remained relatively low in 26 streams along the south shore of Lake Superior where electrical barriers are in operation.

Lake Michigan Results

Although up somewhat from 1962, this year's lamprey take is still 79 per cent below the average catch of these eel-like predators during the 1957-61 period.

Barrier operations and commercial catches underline the combined effectiveness of lamprey control and fish plantings in Lake Michigan. Through September of this year, commercial operators had taken 26,000 pounds of lake trout in these waters, their highest total since 1949. A year ago, they had netted only 325 pounds from Lake Michigan.

Scarring Rate Decline

Lamprey catches declined 55 per cent from last year in two of three Lake Michigan streams in the Upper Peninsula where barriers are in use. The reduction was recorded in the Bark and Sturgeon River which were chemically treated. In the untreated Cedar River in Menominee County, there was a 12 per cent jump in the number of lampreys captured.

Lake trout studies show a drop in the number of lamprey-scarred fish caught in Lake Superior. They reveal also a continued improvement in the average size of lake trout, which has increased from 2.5 to 3.4 pounds during the last five years.

Lake Superior Catches

The Bureau of Commercial Fisheries reported that lake trout 29 to 32 inches long were more abundant this year; those in the 25 to 28-inch group made smaller gains. Fewer fish were available from 1962 to grow into the 21 to 24-inch category this year. Lake trout less than 21 inches long were more numerous in 1963, virtually all of them being hatchery fish.

As expected, hatchery-reared fish again accounted for a larger per cent of lake trout catches in Michigan's Superior waters. East of the Keweenaw Peninsula, hatchery fish made up almost 55 per cent in 1959. Among the undersized fish, the hatchery figure climbed from less than three per cent in 1959 to 94 per cent this fall.

In Wisconsin waters, there also has been a marked increase in the abundance of juvenile lake trout in Superior, due almost entirely to large plantings of hatchery fish.

Signs of Spawning

Fisheries officials are particularly encouraged by signs of lake trout spawning in most areas along the Michigan shore of Superior from Grand Marais westward. This fall's spawning run was the largest since 1958 in Wisconsin's waters, and there is good reason to expect that next year will see another large increase of spawning fish in these and other parts of Lake Superior.

The lake trout restoration program is coordinated by the Great Lakes Fishery Commission, Federal, Canadian and state agencies, including the Michigan Department of Conservation, are cooperating in the long-range effort.

UNDERWATER EXPERT

The river otter can stay under water for a quarter of a mile without coming up for air.

START WITHOUT SCALES

Newly hatched fish do not have scales. These emerge later from under the skin.

'Peace On Earth...'

This is the season for counting our blessings instead of grumbling about what might have been. It's a time when the words "peace on earth" take on renewed meaning. This quiet woodland scene seems to whisper those words, softly urging man's continued good will in managing Michigan's natural resources. Wrapped in its wintry best, it also sends out season greetings, reminding each of us of nature's great gifts which provide water, food, fuel, fiber and recreation the year around.

Last-Minute Tips Offered For Gifts For Sportsmen

By BOB VOGES
A. P. Outdoor Writer

Any wife looking for a last-minute Christmas present for her husband should have an easy time—if he's a hunter or a fisherman.

There's nothing an outdoorsman likes better than a gift associated with his favorite sport.

He may not be able to fish or hunt the year round, but he still likes to read about it.

Newspaper Subscription

One thing he would appreciate is a subscription to the daily or weekly newspaper covering the area where he spends most of his time in the field.

Another gesture, sure to be highly appreciated, would be a gift certificate or check for his fishing license and trout stamp.

Brimley 1st In U.P. In Camp Total

Brimley State Park led all others in the Upper Peninsula in the number of campers accommodated this year.

Norman E. Roeske, manager of the park in Chippewa County, said 6,753 camp permits were issued for the year at Brimley. Only two other state parks out of the 64 in Michigan issued more permits. They are the Holland State Park, with 7,171 campers, and Waterloo Recreation Area near Chelsea, with 7,036 camping permits.

Even though camping space at the Brimley park was expanded last summer, park officials were forced to turn away 758 camping families who wanted to stay at the park. The park was enlarged last season from 96 campsites to 206 with funds obtained from the motor vehicle permit program.

The parks division of the conservation department has requested funds for construction of a new shelter building and picnic area expansion at Brimley next year and a new campground loop for 1965.

Total attendance at the Brimley park this year was 80,408 visitors.

GUNS OF AMERICA

Blunderbuss

While the blunderbuss is usually pictured with a Pilgrim, it is believed not to have been brought to America until the middle of the 17th Century. Developed in Europe in mid-1600's, its name derives from Dutch "Donderbucse" or thundergun. Short barrel and flaring muzzle often thought to scatter the shot, but tests show that the shot charge is not influenced by the muzzle flare.

Deer Season Opening

Dear Sir:

Talk about a bunch of cry-babies, silk sops and what no! For years the U. P. (and Alger County) fought for a Saturday deer opening season. Now that they have it, they don't like it.

Sure, the past two seasons, (the first week) were a little warm, but to many it was pretty darn nice. No sitting in one spot for hours with hand warmers, coffee bottles (and other warmer-uppers) trying to keep from freezing. As to the spoilage of bucks, every man who hunts around here could either take his deer to a locker plant or take it home and butcher it. Simple as that. And, besides, who says the weather is going to be warm like that every year?

Another thing, with a Saturday opening, it gives the hunters here three full weekends of hunting. It's pretty good when the Lower Michigan hunter comes up here to hunt and becomes dissatisfied, so right away they want to change the laws for them, and the local hunter has nothing to say.

By the way, did the board of supervisors put any notices of this in the local papers asking for the opinions of the real hunters, those in this area? No. The majority of hunters here are very much in favor of the Saturday opening, but a lot of motel owners and business men who sit back and make the profit off the Lower Michigan boys are not. What do they care about the local hunter? He's not their bread and butter. If you favor the season the way it is, write and let the board of supervisors know about it.

When the Legislature receives those resolutions from the Alger and Marquette County Board of Supervisors I wouldn't blame if they cut the season in these two counties to 1 week or even have a closed season altogether.

Stiffer Laws Sought For 'Repeaters'

Pressure is mounting in Michigan for stiffer penalties for chronic violators of conservation laws.

Directors of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, meeting in Detroit, voted in favor of legislation which would impose more severe penalties on persons who repeatedly violate hunting and fishing laws.

Gov. Romney's special conservation study committee, in its report released earlier this month, urged establishment of a special enforcement detachment for the conservation department to seek out the repeat violators and those who commercialize fish and game illegally.

And the Lake County Conservation Club of downtown Baldwin has compiled a list of more than 75 names of men who have been arrested and convicted in conservation cases at least four times — and many of them more often than that. The club plans to use the list in connection with its drive for legislation to cover chronic violators.

One family on the list has more than 40 arrests on its record, 26 of them for conservation law violations.

Herbert Favors Cutback In Department Functions

By BOB VOGES
AP Outdoor Writer

Dr. Paul Herbert, chief of research for the Department of Economic Expansion, would like to see the State Conservation Department shorn of some of its present functions.

Herbert, a member of Gov. George Romney's citizens committee which studied the department, submitted a separate report containing his recommendations.

Question of Financing

He agreed in the main with the report filed by the full committee. But he said the main report did not face head-on on the question of how the conservation obligations of the state can be met with the least expense to the taxpayers.

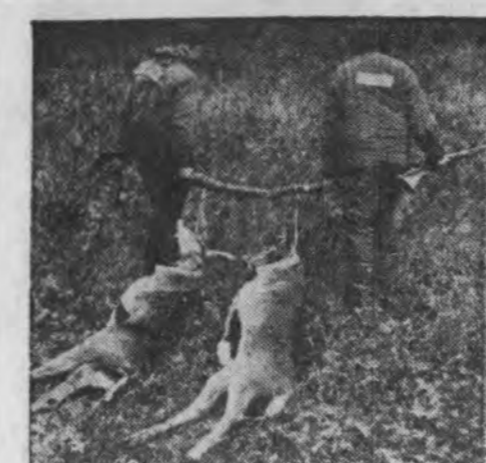

The report accepts all of the activities now carried on by the department and even adds others, Herbert said.

Cites Five Areas

There is no possibility sufficient funds will be available to carry on all the practices recommended, he said. Some present department activities, he contended, could be carried on more efficiently by other state agencies.

Herbert recommended elimination or curtailment in at least five areas of present department activities. He listed these as:

Research — Research except for that necessary to aid day-to-day operations of the department should be eliminated. Research is the function of colleges, universities and other research agencies.

Firearm deer hunters, turning out in what may have been record numbers, took home more than 100,000 whitetails, a kill figure topped only by two other November gun seasons in Michigan.

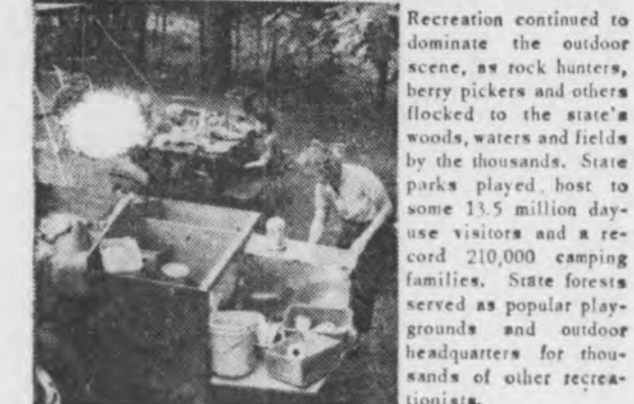

By year's end, there were strong signs that pulpwood production, the state's biggest forest-based industry, had hit a new peak in Michigan, surpassing the previous all-time harvest of 1,256,000 cords. This marked the fifth straight year that pulpwood output, spurred by new and expanded operations in the Lower Peninsula, had gone over 1,000,000 cords.

The long, dry summer of 1963 transformed Michigan into a veritable tinderbox by mid-October, prompting Governor Romney to issue a statewide no-smoking, no-burning edict. A safety-conscious public lived up to the letter of his emergency order to hold fire damage down during the critical fall period.

Fish, forestry, and game improvement activities gained much-needed impetus to meet outdoor demands, and hundreds of unemployed men found new jobs as a result of a $1.6 million Accelerated Public Works Program, co-financed by state and federal funds.

Recreation continued to dominate the outdoor scene, as rock hunters, berry pickers and others flocked to the state's woods, waters and fields by the thousands. State parks played host to some 13.5 million day-use visitors and a record 210,000 camping families. State forests served as popular playgrounds and outdoor headquarters for thousands of other recreationists.

Progress, Problems Shown In State's '63 Conservation Report

Use of natural resources set several new records and challenged a number of others. Long-overdue gains were made in fish, forestry and some improvement programs. Some problems lingered on to be shouldered by the year ahead.

That, briefly, was the kind of year 1963 was for conservation in Michigan — something old and something new in the way of progress and problems.

Outdoor Recreation

Once again, recreation commanded the outdoor scene, touching off another pell-mell rush for leisure-time facilities throughout the state's waters and fields. Some 13.5 million day-use visitors and a record 210,000 camping families streamed into state parks during the year. Thousands of others made a beeline to state forests to shake the stresses of a workaday world.

In early December after nine months of intensive investigations, Gov. Romney's special conservation study committee recommended sweeping changes in the conservation department's operations, including a complete overhauling of its organizational structure, to better gear the agency's programs to present and future demands.

APW Projects

Michigan sportsmen saw license fees earning double their money's worth during 1963, as hundreds of jobless men went back to work in distressed areas of the state as a result of the conservation department's participation in a $1.6 million Accelerated Public Works program, co-financed by state and federal funds.

By year's end, projects were well under way to improve fish and game habitat, develop campgrounds for sportsmen and recreationists, provide new public fishing sites and improve timber stands on state forest lands.

Hunting And Fishing

Michigan fielded more than 2,000,000 hunters, archers and anglers during the 1963 seasons to hold its place among the fishing popularity.

For firearm deer hunters, it was the third best year on record, with an estimated 114,500 whitetails in their take-home kill. Although their total bag was down from the 1962 harvest of nearly 550,000 birds, ruffed grouse hunters had another good season. It appeared that woodcock gunners took more than 118,500 timber doodles to eclipse their nationwide record of the year before.

Deer, Elk Problems

As the year wore on and conservation department field studies ground out additional information, it became increasingly clear that the time was near for controlling Southern Michigan's deer population and the elk herd of the northern Lower Peninsula.

Deer-collisions became routine news in many parts of the southern farmbelt, with the highway toll rising sharply. The 1,640 whitetails in this part of the state. The fast-growing herd's damage to agricultural crops continued to run high in certain areas, totaling upwards of $300,000 throughout the region.

A progress report on the department's elk research study revealed that these animals are already causing more damage to their range in the Pigeon River than previously was thought. The threat of even greater overbrowsing in future years was forecast by field studies which showed that the herd, numbering an estimated 3,000 animals, is expanding at an annual rate of 14 to 15 per cent, virtually doubling its size every five years.

Prolonged dry weather produced an explosive wild fire threat by mid-October, forcing Gov. Romney to issue a statewide no-smoking, no-burning order. His emergency proclamation met with stout public support which held fire damage to a minimum during the critical fall period. For the year, wild fire losses covered more than 8,400 acres, some 2,200 above the 1962 figure.

An outbreak of botulism poisoning from smoked fish in October paralyzed the entire Great Lakes commercial fishing industry and threw a scare into some sport fishermen as well. State and federal authorities quickly took steps to make future sales of smoked fish safe from botulism, emphasizing that the problem did not apply to fresh, frozen or commercially canned fish from the Great Lakes area.

Lake Trout Program

Conservation officials of the United States and Canada received a solid vote of confidence in December when they reviewed results of their joint efforts to whip the sea lamprey and rebuild fishery fortunes of the Great Lakes.

Quick Shots

At least 74 deer were killed by cars on Upper Peninsula highways during November, according to a tabulation kept by the Negaunee regional office of the conservation department.

Bounties were paid in the Upper Peninsula last month on 655 animals, according to B. A. Stephansky, Marquette, regional field administration supervisor for the conservation department. The total included 393 coyotes, 67 bobcats and 195 foxes.

Gene Hornbeck, former resident of Norway, Mich., who frequently contributed outdoor stories and photos to Northern Michigan Outdoors, is the author of an article in Outdoor Nebraska magazine describing Ted Williams' first sharp-tailed grouse hunt. Hornbeck accompanied the former Boston Red Sox star on a hunting trip in Nebraska's Sand Hills this fall. Hornbeck is now a photographer for the Nebraska Game, Forestation and Parks Commission.

Anglers Told Of Teal Lake Ice Fishing Rules

Officers of the Negaunee Rod and Gun Club reminded fishermen to abide by three proposals that were submitted to the Negaunee City Council in regard to ice fishing on Teal Lake.

The proposals, which were adopted by the council, call for:

1. Portable shelters to be removed after each day of fishing (the shelters must not be left on the shore of the lake, but must be taken away from the lake).
2. No fishing on the east end of the lake (the boundary is where the water pipe flows in on the south side of the lake).
3. No littering.

The lake, source of Negaunee's drinking water supply, "is open to ice fishing only because of the efforts of sportsmen and will be kept open only by their actions," club officers said.

Isle Royale Wolf Story Published

Moose killed on Isle Royale by timber wolves are nearly all either calves or decrepit oldsters, according to Durward L. Allen, a biologist on the faculty of Purdue University.

Writing in the January issue of Field & Stream, Allen said studies that Purdue and the National Park Service have made on Isle Royale since 1958 indicates that about a third of the moose killed by wolves are calves and that the bulk of the adults are about 10 years old.

"A high percentage of old moose killed show signs of serious ailments—lumpy jaw, tapeworm cysts in lung and liver, bone marrow depleted of fat and heavy infestations of winter ticks," Allen said. "Moose in the 1-to-6 age class are nearly secure from wolf predation—only one of the 85 kills (examined by biologists) was within these age limits. Obviously the wolves are eliminating mainly decrepit animals from the herd."

Biologists and a bush pilot along with a park ranger or naturalist, spend several weeks at Isle Royale National Park every winter studying the relationship between wolves and moose and between moose and beaver, which compete with one another for food.

The island in Lake Superior has an estimated 21 to 23 wolves and about 600 moose at the end of winter. The wolves are believed to have come to Isle Royale from the Canadian mainland, a distance of 18 miles, by crossing on the ice in the winter of 1948-49. The biological team knows of only one wolf pup that was reared on the island since the study was undertaken five years ago.

Allen's three-page article is illustrated with eight color photos and a map of Isle Royale.

A second person has been arrested in connection with the killing of 14 wing-clipped Canada geese released last spring in a remote spot in the eastern Upper Peninsula in hopes of establishing a goose colony there. He is William Hinds, 38, of Kalkaska. Bail of $250 was not posted, and Hinds was placed in the custody of a U. S. marshal.

Earlier this year, Bennie Long of Paradise was prosecuted and fined for participating in the killing of the birds, which were released by the conservation department. The geese were reared at the department's game farm at downstate Mason.

A warrant has been issued for a third man being sought in connection with the case. It is understood that he also is a resident of the northern Lower Peninsula.

Meanwhile, the Michigan United Conservation Clubs was continuing its drive among its member organizations to replace the geese that were killed.
