Rockefeller Ends Attacks On Goldwater

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is abandoning attacks on Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., in his GOP presidential nomination drive. The New York governor, only announced candidate for the nomination, resumes campaigning with a Jan. 3 Portsmouth, N.H., speech after a month's political moratorium following the assassination of President John F. Federal Job Cut Ordered By Johnson

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson is keeping tabs on national and international problems while vacationing at his ranch here.

The President's guest today was former Gov. Buford Ellington of Tennessee. Johnson said he wanted to "get his counsel on a number of national problems." These were not specified, and there was speculation that the Democratic politician may be in line for a federal post.

Johnson also was keeping in touch with the explosive situation in Cyprus, where fighting has erupted between Turks and Greeks. Developments on the island prompted two or three telephone conferences Wednesday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Orders Federal Job Cut The pressure of official business during the holiday stay at the LBJ ranch was evidenced, too, by a new directive in which Johnson ordered a cutback in federal jobs within the next 18 months.

In ordering a cut in the federal pay roll, Johnson told agency heads: "Even though nothing like this has happened in the last decade, I am still unconvinced that we are getting the maximum possible output per employee. I believe we can do better."

He said every department and agency would get personnel ceilings which "are not to be exceeded without my explicit approval."

Up 133,000 Since '61 Pay rolls are to be cut, if only slightly, in two stages—by next June 30 and by June 30, 1965. He noted that the number of federal employees had grown by 133,000 since 1961.

The Turkish government ordered two jet fighters to make warning flights over Cyprus Christmas Day after accusing Greek Cypriots of massacring Turkish Cypriots in communal fighting that has been raging since last Saturday.

More British Troops Sent To Cyprus; Crisis Worsens

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Britain ordered more troops to Cyprus today as a conflict between the Greek Cypriot and Turkish minority threatened to embroil NATO allies Greece and Turkey in open conflict. Greece asked for an extraordinary session in Paris of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's permanent council to discuss the crisis. Informed sources in Paris said the council met secretly Wednesday. The Cyprus government already has sent a complaint to the United Nations.

The Turkish government ordered two jet fighters to make warning flights over Cyprus Christmas Day after accusing Greek Cypriots of massacring Turkish Cypriots in communal fighting that has been raging since last Saturday.

Then as the fighting died down to sporadic firing, the office of President Makarios, leader of the Greek Cypriot community, asserted six Turkish navy vessels had taken up positions off Cyprus. President Cemal Gursel of Turkey also expressed grave concern, accused the Greek Cypriots of a massacre, and appealed to President Johnson and other world leaders to intervene.

Peace Elusive Goal: Border Guards Slay Youth; Viet Fighting Continues

(By the Associated Press) Christians observed their 19th Christmas since World War II with prayers and rejoicing despite fresh signs that universal peace remains an elusive goal.

Communist border guards shot and killed an East German youth trying to escape over the Berlin wall while Red loudspeakers played Christmas music for more than 65,000 West Berliners pouring through the barrier into East Berlin.

Less than 200 miles from the land of Christ's birth, Greeks and Turks threatened to renew their civil war on the Mediterranean island of Cyprus. Two Turkish jet fighters buzzed the island providing additional fuel for what appeared to be an international crisis in the making.

In Cairo, the Egyptian Arab world had warmly received President Gamal Abdel Nasser's plans for an Arab summit meeting to consider ways of preventing Israel from diverting waters of the Jordan River.

Along the icy truce line dividing North and South Korea, U.S. soldiers hoisted a huge electric sign toward the Communists saying "Merry Christmas." The Reds replied with Christmas carols and propaganda over their loudspeakers.

With much of the United States covered with snow, Americans at home enjoyed a white Christmas. But near Johnson City, Tex., where President Johnson spent Christmas with his family at the LBJ Ranch, the temperatures were in the '70s.

Holiday Death Toll On Roads Hits 302; 21 Killed In State

(By the Associated Press) The nation's heavy Christmas holiday traffic killed more than 300 persons.

The toll was 302 for the 48-hour period from midnight Monday to midnight Christmas Day (local time). Fatalities were heaviest during the actual holiday, Wednesday, Tuesday's toll at midnight, EST, had reached 83, and by midnight on the West Coast it was 100. More than two-thirds of the deaths were counted on Christmas Day.

Adverse driving conditions in many localities apparently contributed to the high number of deaths.

The number of fatalities Christmas Day was far above the average of traffic deaths during the first 10 months this year and during last year's record toll of 40,900. The 10-month total was 35,170, an average of about 115 deaths daily compared to last year's daily average of 112.

The holiday deaths compared with a total of 170 highway fatalities counted by the Associated Press during a 48-hour non-holiday period from 12:01 a.m. Tuesday, Dec. 10, to 12:01 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 12.

The last time Christmas occurred on a Wednesday, in 1957, there were 225 traffic deaths in a 30-hour period, from 6 p.m. Christmas Eve to midnight Christmas.

Governor To Talk At Power Firm's Dedicated Event

Gov. George W. Romney has accepted an invitation to deliver the main address at the dedication ceremonies for the Upper Peninsula Generating Co.'s unit No. 3 at the Presque Isle Station in Marquette.

Gov. Romney's talk will follow a 12:30 p.m. luncheon meeting on Friday, Feb. 7.

Announcement of the program was made jointly today by H. Stuart Harrison, Cleveland, president of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co., and John H. Warden, Houghton, chairman of the board of the Upper Peninsula Power Co. and president of the U.P. Generating Co. Jointly Owned.

The Upper Peninsula Generating Co. is owned jointly by Upper Peninsula Power Co., which is the operator, and by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co.

The addition of Unit No. 3 doubles the size and capability of this electric generating station, which was constructed in 1955.

Half of the capacity of this new unit will go to operate the huge new Empire iron ore beneficiation and pelletizing plant of Cleveland-Cliffs and its partners, near Negaunee.

The beneficiation of iron ore in the Upper Peninsula has meant the rejuvenation of the iron ore industry, a vital element in the economy of the state.

Half of the capacity of the new unit is dedicated to serve the electric energy requirements of other economic expansion taking place in the territory of Upper Peninsula Power Co. and supplements the generation at the John H. Warden Station in L'Anse, the Escanaba Station and the company's hydro and diesel plants.

An open house will be held on Saturday, Feb. 8, at which time the company will provide, for the public, conducted tours of the new electric generating station.

City Approves Third Year Of Area Planning Study

Marquette's city commission has approved the third year contract of the area planning study under the so-called "Section 701" study of the Area Redevelopment Administration Act.

City Manager Thomas Moore had recommended the approval of the third year contract, especially, he said, "in view of the fact that something should be done very soon about our parking problem in Marquette."

Cost for the third year contract is $23,000. However, Marquette's share of the cost is $4,500. The balance of the local cost is borne by Marquette and Chocolay Townships, who share in the study. Overall expense locally is $6,226, with the federal government paying for the rest.

Moore said the portion of the city's share will be included in next year's fiscal budget.

Townships To Participate

Both of the participating townships have notified city officials that they plan to participate in the third year contract.

Work is being done locally by Max Putters, who is associated with the firm of Vilcan-Leman and Associates, Southfield.

Marquette Man Winner Of New Car In City Merchants' Event

Edward Butler, 117 Champion St., was the winner of the new 1964 Ford sedan given away by the Marquette Chamber of Commerce's retail merchants division in the Christmas shopping promotion contest. Coupons for entering the contest were available from merchants without charge and more than 300,000 tickets filled this cement mixer, owned by Marquette Concrete Corp., in which the entries were mixed. Shown making the drawing is Clifton Wagner, chairman of the retail merchants division. Looking on are James Braddock (left) and Ellwood A. Mattson, who acted as the judges. Several hundred persons watched the drawing. The winner's name was on the first slip chosen. (Persons under 18 were not eligible.) — (Mining Journal photo.)

Peninsula's Development Planning Unprecedented

By JEAN WORTH
Journal Special Correspondence

ESCANABA — Counties of the Upper Peninsula reported general progress in development of economic plans in a report of delegates at the quarterly meeting of the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Problems, here recently to President Lynn Sandberg of L'Anse.

Steve Kakuk of Stephenson said Menominee County has helped promote the R. J. Enstrom Co., which now has a federally approved helicopter for manufacturing and is engaged in financing the switch from experimental development and prototype preparation to commercial production. Menominee County's Planning Commission has also devoted itself to promotion of agricultural enterprise and tourism, with special emphasis in the latter field on the development of Shanty Lakes west of Stephenson as a tourist attraction as well as an outdoor play area for residents. The chain of lakes is the county's best inland layout for water skiing, said Kakuk.

Bob Ray, Gogebic County delegate to UPCAP, said Gogebic, with federal aid has hired the professional consultants, William & Works, and with their aid completed its continuing economic plan and had it accepted in Washington. Five hundred copies of the continuing Overall Economic Development Plan and 1,500 summaries were made available to the public.

The 11 committees of the Gogebic Planning Commission are working on their assignments. Needs Described

The commission describes its needs as capital, both private and government; a professional planner; better communications between federal, state and local agencies and overcoming of sectionalism of its communities and the apathy of its people and their resistance to change. Federal funds are sought for the second phase of the economic recovery program which plans to provide a Gogebic

Range water supply and to impound water near the Copper Peak ski flying hill to create a recreational complex, consolidation of the county's school systems and creation of a regional college.

Top Priority
Supervisor Frank Mead of Burt Township, Grand Marais, the Alger delegate to UPCAP, said its top priority has been given to promotion of the proposed Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore from Munising to Grand Marais. "The whole county has come out for the park," said Mead. "The board of supervisors is for it and 90 per cent of Alger's people are for it. It would create 350 jobs and be worth a million dollars a year in publicity to the U. P."

"We need 10 places like it in the U. P. for our tourism," said Harold Dettman, Mackinac Island delegate. "Mackinac Island isn't enough."

Testing Stone
Mayor Harold Vanlerberghe of Escanaba said Delta County has launched its Bay de Noc Community College and has Michigan Tech testing stone to be quarried on the Garden Peninsula to create a new construction materials industry.

The new Delta County Jail is under construction, and a federal project to cut a channel to the Kipling oil terminal and create a turning basin has been approved by the House-Senate conference committee in Congress.

Industrial Brochure
Dettman said the Mackinac County Planning would recommend to the Jan. 2 meeting of the Mackinac County Board of Supervisors that a professional planning firm be hired to plan county development under the Federal 701 program. Plans will be prepared, he said, for several new townships.

In St. Ignace Industrial Development Corp. has been created and has prepared an industrial brochure. "There are now 150 industrial development corporations in Michigan, all bidding for the same things," said Dettman.

Building Two Marinas
"We are building two marina with Accelerated Public Works money — the St. Ignace Marina was $48,000 over the estimated price, and the Michigan Waterways Commission is going to provide the additional funds. The second marina is at Hessel."

Mackinac's new medical care facility will open in January. It adjoins the hospital, adding 39 beds to the hospital's 19 beds, and will be administered by the hospital head and sell the hospital's meals and laundry services (it's entitled to surplus foods) and buy its heat from the hospital. The joint project was assisted by Federal Hill-Burton Act (hospital aid) funds.

Greatest Impediment
Mackinac is also working on retention of the Mackinac Transportation Co. railroad ferry services between St. Ignace and Mackinaw City, which is threatened with discontinuance because the ferry Chief Watwam needs boiler repairs to pass Coast Guard safety standards.

"Our greatest impediment in Mackinac County in planning and development," said Dettman, "is distance. The county is 125 miles long."

Harbor Development
Donald Munro, delegate of Ontonagon County and treasurer of UPCAP, said that the Ontonagon County Planning Commission's top priority project for the past three years has been Ontonagon harbor development. A $75,000 item for planning an Army Corps of Engineers development project was struck from an appropriations bill in a House-Senate conference recently, said Munro, dashing hopes that the planning could be done in 1964 and the work in 1965.

"Ontonagon County is blessed with a small unemployment problem," said Munro. "White Pine Copper Co. is providing employment for persons living in seven Upper Peninsula counties and three in Wisconsin. White Pine and Hoerner Boxes (the paper mill at Ontonagon) would increase their employment if this harbor were developed so they could receive coal and ship paper and copper. To say that we're depressed by defeat of this harbor appropriation is putting it mildly."

Edward Jacobs of the Iron

County Planning Commission said that it had just completed an education study which showed that one school district for the county would be ideal. Also developed was a proposal for two school districts for the county, which now has six. A single high school would top the single district plan.

The Iron County Board of Supervisors has appropriated $10,000 and set up a committee to create a county tax department in 1964. Citizens committees also are being formed to draw from citizens organizations personnel for the accomplishment of civic projects.

"The problem now is to coordinate the work of study groups which started before the Iron County Planning Commission was organized," said Jacobs.

Large Ore Body
Kenneth Dorman said Houghton County has not organized a planning commission yet, but that a steering committee for this purpose has been created with William Veaser as temporary chairman. Dorman said that the Calumet & Hecla opening of the Kingston Lode looked like a major economic benefit to the Copper Country as the ore was producing 39 pounds of copper to the ton and the ore body was large.

He said that Michigan Tech was working to attract students through the offering of instruction in special scientific techniques and that this held much promise for the development of the university at Houghton.

Training Schools
Dorman urged that the U. P. counties restrict themselves to employment of a few consulting firms to aid them with their economic planning as such a concentration could affect some economies and efficiencies.

Sandberg said Baraga County had brought schools, industry and government into coordinated planning and that a significant result had been the training schools for workers. Cooks and bakers and lumber graders schools have been held and a lumber technicians school and a sawmill operators school is planned at the Ford Forestry Center of Michigan Tech at Alberta.

County developments underway include building of parks and boat shelters, trailer and campgrounds, timber stand im-

Two Vehicles Damaged In U.S. 41 Crash

Two cars were damaged in a mishap at 3:20 Tuesday afternoon, 7 of a mile west of the west city limits, on U.S. 41, state police reported today.

State police blamed the mishap on blowing snow and a very slippery road.

Two automobiles were being driven west in the right lane, following a snow plow, which was being driven in the left lane, when the first driver, Fleda Mae Minzey, 54, Cornell, attempted to pass the plow on the right, state police said.

Both Vehicles Driven Away
At the same time the driver of the snow plow started to move into the right lane, forcing the drivers of the two cars to apply their brakes suddenly, officers said.

The Minzey car was struck in the rear by the second vehicle, being driven by Elaine Keto, 42, National Mine.

Damage resulted to the rear of the Minzey vehicle, a 1959 station wagon, and to the front of the Keto car, a 1958 sedan. Both vehicles were driven from the scene under their own power.

Another New Show Gets Few Laughs

NEW YORK (AP) — A perennial journalistic device particularly loved by television is the "man on the street interview." Allen Funt, the indefatigable practical joker of "Candid Camera," has now attempted to turn the device into a comedy program.

"Tell It to the Camera" as the show is called, made its debut as a midseason replacement on CBS Wednesday night and proved something less than a barrel of laughs.

Funt crews in such spots as New York and Washington inviting the public to face their cameras and tell the world about their pet peeves, favorite food, their own opinion of their looks and other concerns.

Most of the respondents were self-conscious, smirking and thoroughly unimaginative. But there were a few surprise spots here and there.

One woman announced that her pet gripe was "coat hangers, because they tangled up like a nest of snakes."

provement work on state and federal forests, extension of telephone service and creation of new fishing and recreation sites.

"Our company (Celotex Corp. at L'Anse) has extended and improved its plant effluent disposal, we have a new nursing home, a new wing on the hospital, and we plan new schools at L'Anse and Baraga, and a county road program.

E. O. George Elected To GMF Board

Edwin O. George, vice president of the Detroit Edison Co., is the new president of the Greater Michigan Foundation, elected by the foundation's board of governors to succeed Dan Gerber of Fremont.

George is well known in the Upper Peninsula through his work in connection with Operation Action—U. P. and his long-standing interest in the economic development and progress of the Upper Peninsula.

Dr. Edgar L. Harden, president of Northern Michigan University and co-chairman of Operation Action with Walker Cisler, president of Detroit Edison, said "the Greater Michigan Foundation is fortunate to have the leadership of Mr. George who has demonstrated in so many ways his state-wide interests in the economic strength and vitality of Michigan."

Chartered In 1960
Gerber, president of Gerber Products Co., said of his successor, "I don't know of anyone who is more dedicated to Michigan than Ed George or works with more enthusiasm and ability for Michigan's progress."

The Greater Michigan Foundation, which sponsors Michigan Week, was chartered in 1960 as a charitable-educational foundation to represent all interests of the state in programs for youth development and the improvement of life in Michigan. George was general chairman of Michigan Week in 1962.

60-Member Board
Included on the foundation's 60-member board of governors are representatives of agriculture, business, education, government, industry, labor, religion and civic groups.

Michigan Week, begun in 1954, has grown into a year-around activity. Its programs are carried out mainly through

Huge Boost In College Aid Urged

LANSING (AP)—More money "beyond precedent" is needed for higher education next year, the experts agree.

This means the Governor and 16 regional chairmen and 83 county chairmen with the help of thousands of volunteer committee members. The 11th annual Michigan Week will be held May 17-23.

the Legislature will be faced again with the facts given by schoolmen, urging more dollars.

Gov. George Romney already has indicated he plans to recommend a healthy boost. How the unpredictable Legislature will go along with it is anybody's guess.

25-Million Hike
The Citizens Committee on Higher Education, appointed by Romney, said an appropriation of not less than $135 million is needed for the 1964-65 fiscal year. This would be more than $25 million above the current appropriation.

Former congressman Alvin Bentley of Owosso, who headed the blue ribbon panel, said in submitting the report:

"We have set forth what we feel are the needs of higher education in the coming year. It is the responsibility of others to fit these programs to the overall budget and to reconcile them to the present and anticipated fiscal picture of the state.

'Of Sobering Proportions'
"Both the enrollment figures and the corresponding dollar figures are, of course, beyond all precedent in history, and they are of sobering proportions."

The committee report was keyed on the needs of the ten four-year, state-supported, degree-granting institutions. Enrollment in these institutions is expected to increase from 118,500 students in 1962 to 204,000 by 1970.

The private institution also are getting the tidal wave of new students, said the report, adding:

"In terms of present and immediate problems of state government, the load which will fall upon the state-supported four-year school must be emphasized."

Even More Suggested
Although recommending the $135 million figure, the committee said state appropriations of $147 million would be needed to bring Michigan colleges and universities up to the level of eight other comparable highly-industrialized states. Even with this increase, the report said, Michigan would not regain its former standing of money appropriated per student.

The report was needed, the committee said.

"To alert Michigan citizenry to the staggering implications of the rising tide of enrollments and of preparing them for the fact that state appropriations for higher education must rise more sharply than most people may yet imagine."

Non-Driver Has Vivid Imagination
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Grace Cole described a Japanese-made automobile in such glowing terms — "smooth Oriental beauty with solid Occidental practicality" — that she won a trip to Japan as a prize.

Then, she said she'd never driven the auto she described. But the trip included use of one of the cars while in Japan, with a chauffeur to drive it.

Santa, Reindeer Really 'Atop' This Residence Here

House, Chimney Blazes Bring Out City Firemen

Marquette's fire department was called out three times during the holiday period, including one call early this morning for a blaze in a residence. However, no major damage resulted from any of the calls. Reports follow:

1. At 1:57 this morning firemen were summoned to the residence of Frank O. Paull where a blaze in the fireplace overheated the brick wall in the back of the fireplace, igniting the frame section and the two-by-four pieces of lumber in the wall.

This resulted in the flames burning through a built-in alcove wall, burning the shelving and books in the alcove.

Paull used a pail of water to smother the flames and firemen used a pressurized water extinguisher to finish putting out the blaze.

Six Firemen Respond There was no estimate of the damage, which firemen said was confined to the fireplace area, and the loss was covered by insurance.

Only one out of five recently questioned now look for a recession in the next two years.

The findings on the reaction to the assassination of President Kennedy, the Center concludes, "are particularly reassuring because unfavorable events often are generalized and thus may cast a shadow over quite unrelated expectations. Furthermore, uncertainty about the future may induce consumers to postpone some of their plans. It appears that the recent tragic news has not shaken people's confidence in the favorable trend of economic developments."

Use Booster Hose Firemen used the booster hose off the service truck to put out the blaze, which they said was caused by a dirty chimney. There was no damage. Seven firemen answered the alarm in the No. 2 pumper and service truck. They returned to the station at 8:05 a. m.

Firemen said the odor was caused by an overheated transformer in the oil burning furnace. Nothing was used, with a service man called to repair the unit. The building is owned by Joseph Fine, Marquette. Four firemen answered the call in the No. 4 pumper and they returned to the station at 12:20 p. m.

Financial Scene: Confidence Prevails In U.S. Economy

By SAM DAWSON NEW YORK (AP) — The strong fiber of confidence is the hallmark of this year's Christmas-New Year's observance. Rising above national tragedy in its political institutions, in the strength of its economy, in the prospects for continuing prosperity. This fundamentally unshaken confidence shows up in many ways. Hit Record Highs Following a drop immediately after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, the stock market rose to record highs, as expressed in the popular stock averages. Its current movements are the normal ones of switching stocks for year-end income tax purposes, for profit-taking, for establishing losses. Many leading business firms have predicted that 1964 will see them scaling new heights in sales and profits. More to the point, perhaps, many have announced plans for extensive spending for expanded activities—a dollar and cents translation of their faith in economic strength. Consumer Confidence Consumer confidence, after only momentary hesitancy at the time of the tragedy, has shown up in freer spending in the stores for holiday goods, and in the continued impressive spending for big ticket items like autos. Home builders insist that prospects for 1964 are undimmed. Surveys of consumer attitudes also show most Americans still convinced that good times will continue for awhile at least. And one survey in progress at the time reports the President's assassination made a few of those questioned uncertain of the future but left the majority unshaken in the belief that economic development would be favorable. U-M Reports The Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan reports its latest testing of consumer opinion shows a trend toward greater confidence and optimism than last spring when many expressed uneasiness about the basic health of the business upswing. Only one out of five recently questioned now look for a recession in the next two years. "The findings on the reaction to the assassination of President Kennedy," the Center concludes, "are particularly reassuring because unfavorable events often are generalized and thus may cast a shadow over quite unrelated expectations. Furthermore, uncertainty about the future may induce consumers to postpone some of their plans. It appears that the recent tragic news has not shaken people's confidence in the favorable trend of economic developments."

A modern neighborhood service station opens this week at the corner of Lincoln Ave. and W. Magnetic St. The station, Campbell's 66 Service Station, owned by Horrigan Oil Co. of Marquette, and operated by Dick Campbell, 910 Bluff St.

Mystery Shrouds Ruins Found In DeTour Region

DETOUR—A cluster of stone ruins on a rocky point overlooking the St. Marys River has aroused speculation that the search for the "lost city" of Carletonville may be over. On the other hand, say archaeologists and historians who have seen the site, the ruins may be the remains of a French mission or a fur trading post.

University expansions," Campbell said. Construction Feature He added that the station was designed to blend in with and complement the modern residential development in northwest Marquette. An unusual construction feature is a canopy which extends over the station's two pump islands. Supported by three steel pylons, the canopy will protect customers from the elements.

Despite the passage of time, the clearings are well defined, indicating that they had been so thoroughly worked or trampled that no tree roots remained to spring back into life. Hunter speculated that the northern clearing possibly was a grazing and working area and that the western clearing may have been a garden site. The ruins are on a 58-acre tract of land owned by Linton Schopp, DeTour grocery owner. Schopp said he knew nothing about the history of the ruins but would gladly grant digging permission to any qualified archaeological group.

Federal Funds Sought For U.P. Alcoholism Project

By JEAN WORTH Special Journal Correspondence

The Upper Peninsula Alcoholism Education Project has progressed to the point of an application to the National Institute of Mental Health for funds. The total request is about $85,000 for a three-year program. Meanwhile, efforts are being made by the sponsoring State Board of Alcoholism to find a person with the qualifications needed to head the program, which was reviewed in an Escanaba meeting Sept. 30 by 35 U.P. educators, clergy, welfare officials and others.

Question Of Wording Ralph Daniel, executive director of the State Board of Alcoholism, Lansing, said that the State Department of Administration had raised a question about the wording of the 1963-64 legislative appropriation bill which it had interpreted as meaning that the State Board of Alcoholism could not accept a federal grant for the project.

Wide Use Shown Built into the southeast corner of the new addition is a large fireplace and masonry area, possibly baking ovens. Mortar in the ruins is made of burned lime, similar to that at Fort St. Joseph, while the limestone is like that found on Drummond Island to the south.

Steering Committee A U.P. steering committee representing these agencies would work with the full time educator-administrator-coordinator to coordinate these services as they relate to alcoholics. A research consultant would develop a plan to study existing methods of handling alcoholics and a follow-up study.

Higher speed limits on 100 upstate New York highways have reduced by more than half the number of motorists traveling at illegal speeds. On one road where the limit was raised from 35 to 45 miles an hour, the speed at which a majority drove actually declined.

by operating such programs. Almost all its services depend on local groups taking action, and in most cases the local groups must initially provide half of the expenses and eventually all of the cost of alcoholism programs. Upper Peninsula Picture In 10 years of operation, the board has not found a local group in the Upper Peninsula with the interest and resources to establish a continuing program. (It has been difficult for the Upper Peninsula to marshal sufficient support for its mental health program in child guidance.)

The U.P. population of about 305,000 on the Jelinek formula would give an estimated 11,000 alcoholics. Ten Alcoholics Anonymous groups, with an estimated total membership of 100 people, constitute the major source of treatment at present. The state mental hospital at Newberry accepts alcoholics, but there is no special therapy other than routine hospital services and an institution AA group, said the SBA.

Alcoholics and their families are for the most part hidden in the early stages or not recognized as sick people or as families with a treatable problem. Many are unemployed and on relief, but with high rates in both problem areas, alcoholism, as a cause, is often overlooked. The alcoholics who come to attention of employers, clergymen, law enforcement, welfare and health agencies are likely to be advanced cases that have gone unnoticed for many years.

The U.P. project aims at creating a public understanding of alcoholism and promoting early help-seeking from local resources and acceptance of the early stage alcoholic as a basically normal person who is unable to drink normally and who, therefore, should abstain.

The educator-coordinator to be hired could come from a background of public health, education or social work. He should be familiar with the

Roberts Elected To NMU Honorary Forensics Group

Prof. Forest A. Roberts, head of Northern Michigan University's speech department, was elected to honorary membership in Pi Kappa Delta, national honor forensics, at a recent ceremony held on the NMU campus by the Kappa Chapter. Five Northern students, including two from Marquette, were initiated into the chapter while four members were elevated to higher degrees. Initiated were Vince Romano, Detroit freshman; Jay Johnson, Bessemer junior; Dale Tah-tinen, Baraga freshman; and freshman Barbara Montagna and sophomore Marylu Kinville, both of Marquette.

more, was elevated to the degree of proficiency, order of debate. Rosemary LaRoche Arnstad, Calumet junior, Dawn Linna, Ishpeming senior, and Allen Pearman, Marquette senior, were raised to the degree of honor, order of debate. The selection of Roberts for honorary membership was "in recognition of his continuing service and devotion to forensics in the Upper Peninsula." A member of Northern's faculty for 35 years, Roberts attended Lamona Junior College, Iowa, before receiving his bachelor's degree from the State University of Iowa. He also holds the distinction of being the youngest person ever to receive a master's degree from SU.

Active in civic and theatrical organizations, Roberts is a former coordinator of the U.P. Debate League which now boasts 23 member schools. While serving in this capacity, he traveled throughout the U.P. organizing and judging debates. The director of all forensic activities at Northern between 1928 and 1942, a period which saw NMU debaters win several state championships in addition to other awards, Roberts also was active in dramatic activities and is credited with helping to organize the Marquette Community Theater.

Characterized by his colleagues as "a man wholly devoted to his work both with mind and heart," Roberts, who is a life member of the National Education Association and Michigan Education Association, currently is serving a three-year term on the NEA Board of Directors.

Allen Pearman, president of the Kappa Chapter, Pi Kappa Delta, said, "we consider it an honor and a pleasure to have Prof. Roberts as a member of our chapter. He has consistently demonstrated his support for the ideals of Pi Kappa Delta by his many years of work in the field of forensics."

He also holds the distinction of being the youngest person ever to receive a master's degree from SU. Active in civic and theatrical organizations, Roberts is a former coordinator of the U.P. Debate League which now

Mission Theory Established in the Raber Point area in 1853 by Guy H. Carleton, the village contained a large sawmill, a dock, store and several other buildings before exhaustion of timber forced it into oblivion. Lewis Beeson, executive director of the Michigan Historical Commission, suggests that the ruins may be from an old French mission. Although emphasizing that thorough studies will be necessary before the ruins are identified conclusively, Beeson notes that the word "mission" appears in the Raber Point area on an old French map of the region. Such a mission would have to predate the 1760s when French occupation of the Mackinac country ended, according to students of the area's history. Fur Trade Noted William Hunter, a University of Toronto archeology student and an assistant director of excavation at the ruins of Fort St. Joseph across the river, says the walls might have housed a fur trading post in the early 1800s. Three firms—the Northwest Co., Mackinac Co. and American Fur Co.—were competing for the area's fur trade and may have set up a post in the region, Hunter said. Military Angle The theory that the site may have been occupied by a secret British fort has no known documentary support and, some advocates admit, is based more on a sense of what "should have been" than fact. Supporters point to the proximity of Fort St. Joseph and theorize that the British may have set up a secret block-house to be ready to prey on American shipping along the St. Marys River if another war should break out after the War of 1812.

County Home Rule Group Holding Meetings In State

The effort to authorize counties to meet modern needs under the new Michigan Constitution is under way with a Governor's Commission on County Home Rule holding meetings to prepare proposals for the Legislature in the new year.

Charles Folio of Escanaba, Upper Peninsula director of extension services for the University of Michigan and a long time advocate of county home rule, which he advocated ardently in the Constitutional Convention, is the U. P. representative on the commission. It held a meeting in Detroit this week and has scheduled another for Lansing Dec. 27-28.

Hodge Chairman
Horace Hodge, Bay City assessor, is chairman of the commission. Its members include D. Hale Brake, former state treasurer and Constitutional Convention member and long-time advocate of strong local government.

The commission is reported to be for county home rule in the proportions of 8 to 2, and prevailing opinion in the group as revealed by its public hearings is for broad permissive legislation to allow counties that want to draw up new charters to do so.

Cities Covered Since 1911
County governments are subdivisions of the state government, and to allow them complete liberty of organization might be chaotic, but the County Home Rule Commission's opinion is that with certain restrictions counties could be allowed enough difference of organization so that such diverse situations as those in tiny Keweenaw County and those in populous Wayne (Detroit) County could be contended with effectively. (Keweenaw had 2,417 population in the 1960 census, Wayne 2,666,000.)

Michigan cities have had home rule since 1911 under authority of the Constitution of 1908. Foes of county home rule who say it would be chaotic are answered by proponents who point to its outstanding success in city government with city manager administrations.

Mixed Function
City government in its present form in Michigan has no executive with overall powers, as do city, state and federal governments and school systems. County boards of supervisors have a mixed function at present of policy making, legislation and administration, and political scientists say that it is surprising that it works as well as it does with no top executive and elected county officials who are not accountable to the county board except for certain budget controls.

Under the new constitution, county home rule could be instituted by vote of the electors on proposal by the county board of supervisors, or by petition of five per cent of electors.

Three Motorists Pay Fines Here

Three persons, charged by city police, were ordered to pay a total of $30 in fines and costs by Judge Edward H. Dembowski in city court this week.

Fines of $6.30 and costs of $3.70 were paid by each of the following:

Dan A. Francisco, 121 W. Crescent St., ticketed for failure to yield the right-of-way, following an accident Sunday at the corner of N. Sixth and W. Michigan Sts.; Donald M. Koski, 1016 Pine St., ticketed, for failure to have his motor vehicle under control, following an accident Dec. 13 at the intersection of N. Seventh St. and W. College Ave., and Edward P. McDonnell, 301 W. Kaye Ave., ticketed, for failure to yield to oncoming traffic, following an accident Saturday on Presque Isle Ave.

Aid To Doctors

In the event of serious traffic and other accidents, it often is a problem for emergency medical personnel to sort through the victim's wallet or other personal belongings in an attempt to determine whether the individual carries identification indicating his blood type.

There is a simple solution to this problem. A team of experts appointed by the American Medical Association should determine where on the human body a tattoo mark should be placed indicating the blood type of the individual. This identification should indicate whether the individual is diabetic or allergic to certain anti-biotic drugs. All of this data could be indicated by a simple code in which the first digit stands for blood type; the second digit, diabetic condition, if any; the third digit, allergies, etc.

The tattooing could be done in very small print in order to save space and avoid disfigurement of the body. (Possibly the tattoo serial numbers could appear under the armpit.) A simple magnifying glass, which would be carried in all police cars and be readily available in all hospitals or other emergency units, would bring the necessary data into sharp focus, thereby enabling the attending physician or other qualified persons to reach an immediate decision that could mean the difference between life and death.

NMU Television

The Northern Michigan University television station, WNMR-TV, has started broadcasting, and the early accomplishments of this educational station are encouraging.

Residents of the Marquette area have received WNMR programming on Channel 3 through the cooperation of the Iron Range Cable Corp. The "World Today" series, made available to the public through this arrangement, has prompted much favorable comment.

WNMR-TV is an outgrowth of the university's belief that television has great value as a teaching aid and as an educational service to the public. Thus, the station provides closed-circuit programming for classroom use and public programming for off-campus viewers.

The station is located in the former Lee Hall ballroom, which has been transformed into a television studio containing stationary and portable equipment.

The "World Today," a program devoted to discussion of vital issues, has dealt with such topics as "Berlin," "The Viet Nam Crisis," "Religion and the Public Schools," "700 Million Chinese" and "The Bible and Contemporary Man." Northern Michigan University faculty members serving as panelists have given these programs a liveliness and timeliness which have sparked considerable interest among adults and students alike. The "World Today" series is a weekly program and will continue to be telecast on a regularly scheduled basis.

WNMR-TV has made an auspicious debut. The university has long-range plans for television as a means of facilitating instruction and sharing the resources of the university with residents in this area and the Upper Peninsula.

We look forward to more programs of the kind now being telecast by WNMR, and we wish the station and the university success in this new and stimulating venture.

Christmas Creche

Dear Sir:

We of the Marquette Woman's Club want to take this opportunity to thank each and every one who in any way helped make the annual sing and the unveiling of the Christmas creche a success.

We particularly want to thank your paper for its publicity; Mr. Saari for leading the sing; the brass section for its wonderful rendition of the traditional Christmas music; Flanagan Brothers for transporting and storage; the Montgomery Ward service station for the use of its window for the creche and anyone else who had anything to do with this event, especially those who braved the cold and snow to come and sing.

60 Years Ago

—Marquette—

The electric lights went out last night, a few minutes after 9, suddenly and without warning, plunging stores full of Christmas shoppers into deep darkness, while the proprietors and clerks said things under the breath that would not bear public repetition. The rope, drive, with an almost human perversity, had chosen one of the most inopportune times in the whole year to break down. In the business houses there was a hasty scramble to turn on the gas, dig up kerosene lamps, buy candles, in fact, to resort to any old expedient to get a temporary supply of light. The makeshifts were, in most instances, unsatisfactory, and merchants and shoppers spent a weird tour, until the light was turned on again, about 10 o'clock.

—Ishpeming—

Ishpeming and Negaunee Elks will give a minstrel entertainment some time in February. It will be the first amateur show at the new theater. There will be some 30 or more well known entertainers in the company.

30 Years Ago

—Marquette—

Santa Claus came to Marquette accompanied by a heavy snowstorm and a subzero wave that broke Yuletide weather records here.

Rates, schedules and other subjects of importance and value to truck lines of Upper Michigan will be discussed at a meeting here tomorrow, it was stated by William D. Cochran of the Cochran Freight Lines, Iron Mountain, who is secretary of the Upper Michigan Interim Freight Carriers' Association.

—Ishpeming—

Although coming here in the wake of a subzero cold wave, Santa Claus warmed more hearts and homes in Ishpeming today than he has in a number of years, judging from the holiday buying rush which took place last Friday and Saturday.

Mining executives in Marquette County are interested in a statement by Prof. E. W. Davis of the University of Minnesota that the future of ore mining in America lies in the development of low grade ore.

A church Christmas program will be given by the Sunday school in the Salvation Army Hall at 7:30 Tuesday night.

Results of the first month's matches in the Negaunee Cribbage League series show that the Elks, with 18,353 points, are holding a 25-point lead over the Legion and Firemen, who are tied for second honors with 18,098.

The Odd Fellows are trailing with a total of 17,970 for December.

Another week of court activities brought no changes in Negaunee's basketball league as the Cubs, in Class C, and Harvard and Princeton, in Class B, continued their uninterrupted drive for honors. No games were held in Class A as the gym was being used by the Scouts.

The National Whirligig News Behind The News

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — In politics, the man who is both strong and wise grows a little every day, and yet it does not seem improper or unfair to recall an appraisal of President Lyndon Baines Johnson offered in June 1959, a year before he battled John F. Kennedy for the Democratic nomination.

President Johnson has grown, of course. But what he had to say about himself in 1959 may suggest how and why he traveled to the eminence he enjoys today. For example, the lead I wrote then can stand unedited by events:

"Fresh from a long talk with Lyndon Baines Johnson, a visitor is left with a complex picture of a proud, tough and sensitive man who seems honestly baffled by what people say about him."

Johnson is still proud, tough and sensitive and he has a right to be baffled about what people say about him when the issue of civil rights is discussed. Pundits, especially those to the left of center, continue to insist that Johnson doesn't have his Texas heart in the job of freeing the Negro, but the record demolishes their claims. Ever since the 1960 campaign, he has been one of the loudest voices in the administration in behalf of the Negro, and he has not shrunk from alienating many of his own Texans by his stand.

In that interview, Johnson expressed hurt at the charges that he had veered to the right since his youthful New-Dealish days in the House. He insisted that his basic philosophy had not changed since his days as a protégé of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt. Nor could he understand why some people said that he was hungry for power, although he wielded tremendous power as majority leader of the Senate.

"I don't have much time to think about it," he said, "but as leader of the Senate all I try to do is accomplish the greatest good for the greatest number."

Satisfied, He Said
His pride in his job then was enormous and heartwarming. Asked where he wanted to go, he replied swiftly, "I want to go right where I am. I have a place in this government picture and I like it and I hope I'm worthy of it."

To this reporter at the time, Lyndon Johnson was a friendly, likeable man who wanted people to be at ease with him. He wanted to be liked and he wanted the public to have a picture of him that was attractive and he was annoyed by certain comments and news stories he felt gave a false picture of him. "They say I won't wear anything but $200 suits," he said, "Well, this one I'm wearing cost $80. They say I wear nothing but gold cufflinks. Well, I'm wearing black ones today. I've had these shoes resoled three times. No-body ever mentions that."

Reasonable, He Repeats
In 1959, Johnson was deeply conscious of the heart attack that felled him in 1955, but he insisted he worked harder than he did before his illness, and, indeed, his legislative day usually ran from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. He would not discuss the possibility of running for President except to say he saw no reason why his health should bar him from an job, including the presidency.

The Lyndon Johnson of 1959 disliked being tied down to specifics when discussing his political philosophy. He preferred to talk in aphorisms like, "I try to be fair to everybody," and "I try to be reasonable." That word "reasonable" still pops up often in Johnson's conversations because he feels it is the key to success in practicing that art of the possible called politics.

At the time, as a man whose job often required the courage to compromise, Lyndon Johnson's definition of "reasonable" seemed to his interviewer to imply getting along with as many diverse viewpoints as he could manage. Today, as President of the United States, Johnson will still try to be "reasonable," but he will find it a lot harder to manage.

Few shoppers will want to dispute this. (NEA)

A Debt Is Owed

By JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON — In the last three years, the true shape of the world we live in has been radically changed by a new fact, which very few people know about even today.

The fact is that we now KNOW the true nature of the power balance between this country and the Soviet Union. Despite its closed society, the Soviet Union is now open to inspection — in the most literal sense. We could only guess before; but since August 1960, we have KNOWN.

This is a change incalculably profound and far-reaching. It is also an incalculable gain for the United States. And this needs to be pointed out now because the man to whom this change and gain are largely owed is now leaving the public service, uncelebrated, unrewarded, almost unthanked.

If any member of the general public recalls the name of Richard M. Bissell, it will probably be because of the Bay of Pigs. Before that fiasco, Bissell was due to succeed Allen Dulles as director of the Central Intelligence Agency. But someone had to take the rap for this sorry failure, for which everybody from President Kennedy on down had a share of blame; and Bissell was chief among those who took the rap. Another job followed — a fairly big job, but one which is now ending for reasons which are not especially how the closed Soviet society ceased to be closed for ly relevant. All that is relevant, at the moment, is to record all practical purposes.

This remarkable story began in the summer of 1954 when one of President Eisenhower's numerous special advisory committees, the Killian Committee on Surprise Attack, suggested building a reconnaissance plane of the type of the U-2. Such a plane had already been proposed to the Air Force by the brilliant Kelly Johnson of Lockheed Aviation, but the idea had been turned down flat.

Three-Star Team Formed
By the intricate, half-accidental processes familiar in government, the Killian Committee recommendation brought together a three-star team, composed of Kelly Johnson, the famous E. H. Land of the Polaroid Co. and Bissell from the CIA, who was the friend of both the others.

In record time, these three built the U-2 through from concept to reality. The strange new aircraft was thereupon assigned to the CIA. Bissell thus became commander of an independent U-2 air force, in addition to his other duties.

So much is fairly well-known to informed persons. What is not well-known (and would not be discussed in this space if the main facts had not already been published elsewhere) is the second chapter of the story that opened with the U-2.

Plane's Success Very Great
Because the intervals between U-2 flights were unavoidably long, and for other technical reasons as well, the U-2 did no more than open a small chink in the Iron Curtain. Contrary to what many imagine, the U-2 did not really replace guesses about the Soviet Union with true knowledge.

Yet the new plane's success was very great, all the same. And this success in turn directed attention to the reconnaissance satellite project previously initiated by the Air Force Research and Development Command.

From this public project, until then rather languidly prosecuted, a chunk was quickly cut off, as it were. The chunk was strictly classified, but amply financed. And an all-out secret effort to build a workable reconnaissance satellite began.

Main Credit Given To Bissell
This time Lt. Gen. Bernard Schriever of the Research and Development Command worked with Bissell. Brig. Gen. Oswald Ritland was Bissell's day-to-day partner. "Din" Land again lent a hand. And other things might be mentioned.

Yet in the official Air Force account of this matter, the main credit for the success of the reconnaissance satellite is nonetheless given to Bissell. August 1960, when the first of the new "birds" with seeing, remembering eyes made its successful flight, is a date that will be remembered in history books.

It is a date with much bearing, to begin with, on the silly controversy about the missile gap. Until we KNEW the Soviets had not deployed the intercontinental ballistic missiles which they were entirely capable of producing, the only safe course was to assume that the Soviets were indeed producing and deploying these ultimate weapons. Their failure to do so was in fact a gigantic error.

But after August 1960, we began to KNOW that the ICBMs were not there; and this in turn changed the entire strategic aspect of the world by the time President Kennedy took office. No historian or analyst can compute what this true knowledge has since been worth, in the desperate days of the second Cuban crisis, for instance, or much earlier, when Khrushchev at Vienna threatened a big war over Berlin.

Such, then, is the debt owed to Dick Bissell. As he happens to be this reporter's oldest friend, the debt is here acknowledged with pride. But every thinking American will surely wish to say, "Thank you and good luck," to this exceptional public servant who is now returning to private life.

Ghost Writers

By J. W. DAVIS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson can do more things than most people. He is a ball of fire, a one-man gang. But he can't find time to write his own speeches, all by himself.

Honorable Antecedents
The President's associates have disclosed that Theodore C. Sorensen, who also was speech writer for President John F. Kennedy on occasion, helped Johnson write his first address to Congress.

This is no slam at Johnson. The business of a presidential ghost writer has ancient and honorable antecedents. For example, Alexander Hamilton had a ghostly hand in the writing of George Washington's famous farewell address.

Helped On 'Profiles'
A president who pays attention to his main job just doesn't have time to make the research and do the word-polishing that a speech requires.

Lots of other public officials, and men in private enterprise too, have turned to ghosts to help them with their speeches, and their other writing. Sorensen helped in the research for the book "Profiles of Courage" which Kennedy wrote before he became president.

Another Example
Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona provides another example. After paying thanks to a long list of those for whose help he was grateful, Goldwater said he did the first draft of his book "Why Not Victory?", but added:

"The way I look at it, polishing my prose is not something on which I can spend a lot of time, as enjoyable as that is. For the proper expression of the result of that labor, I, for one, depend on those I have mentioned — helpers, ghosts, call them what you will. They are an indispensable part of politics and writing."

Comment On Teamwork
Sorensen once said of his teamwork with Kennedy:

"I know so well what he wants to say and how he would say it that he and I can't tell where he leaves off and I leave on."

Incidentally, as for tools of the trade, a visitor to Sorensen's office noted these books on his desk: "A Treasury of Great Speeches," Bartlett's "Familiar Quotations" and "10,000 Jokes and Stories." More Than Just Style

A speech has to have more than just style. It has to be delivered well.

As Gen. Hugh (Iron Pants) Johnson of the Franklin D. Roosevelt era said:

"No ghost writer ever permanently made a political silk purse out of an oratorical sow's ear."

IF THE POWER QUITS
At the annual meeting of the Great Electric Co-operative, Manager Lewis Brown answered a query as to what would happen if our electricity were knocked out by war or some other calamity.

"Well," said Brown, "the farmer's first clue would be when he awakened in a cold house. The oil furnace stopped operating in the night. Upon getting out of bed to check the furnace, he would have to stumble around finding candles or a lantern light."
There would be no toast or hot coffee for breakfast, and no water in the tap because the motor on the electric pump had also failed. Everything in the refrigerator, meanwhile, would be starting to spoil. The cows would have to be milked by hand and the old pitchfork would have to be warmed up because the barn cleaner didn't work.
One could go on endlessly, not only on the farm but in the city, where the panic and pandemonium would actually be worse.
It is true that electricity is our slave, but no more so than we are slaves to electricity. In grandfather's time there would have been little if any inconvenience when the wires stopped humming. Today it would become a matter of life and death. — Boscobel Dial

MAN VERSUS PIGEON

Should the confrontation between people and pigeons escalate into a hot war, New Yorkers will have the dubious consolation of knowing that they outnumber their feathered foes — there are 7.5 million city dwellers in the city compared with 8 million pigeons roosting there. — The Economist, London

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of an employee who arrives at her job promptly at 9 a.m., but spends the first half hour of her working day fixing herself coffee? (She sends out for donuts or rolls because she hasn't as yet had her breakfast.) There is a coffee-break at 10 in which she participates. No one has the nerve to report her to the office manager because she is a nice person otherwise and we don't want to start trouble.

DEAR CO-WORKERS: If she's so naive that she doesn't know she is chiseling the company, and incurring the resentment of her co-workers to boot, somebody should tell her. If she knows and doesn't care, it's only a matter of time before the office manager finds out. All offices have a little birdie, which sings occasionally.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think it is right for my mother-in-law to walk into our bedroom when we are in bed? She has done this several times. We live in a house trailer in our in-law's yard, and she does my washing for me. I don't have a place to wash so I offered to take my things to her place and do it myself, but my mother-in-law insists on doing it herself. It is really a big help to me because I have a pair of twins two years old who take a lot of my time. Well, she walks into our bedroom to get clothes and I want to know if I should tell her not to, or should my husband tell her, since it's his mother? WALKED IN ON DEAR WALKED: It isn't necessary for anyone to tell her. Gather the clothes together the night before wash day and take them to your mother-in-law's house.

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorced man of 44. I have been practically married for the past two years (all but the legal formalities) to a very wonderful woman who is 29, and is also a divorcee. Neither of us has children. Abby, I love this woman and have been begging her to marry me for almost as long as I have known her, but she insists that she does not want the responsibilities of marriage. She says she loves me, and wishes to continue our relationship as it is, free of legal commitments. I want a conventional life, complete with wife and family. She does not. How can I get her to change her mind?

WANTS A WIFE DEAR WANTS: I doubt if you can. Start looking for a conventional woman — this time in a more conventional way. What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to

Honesty Pays Off For Santa Claus

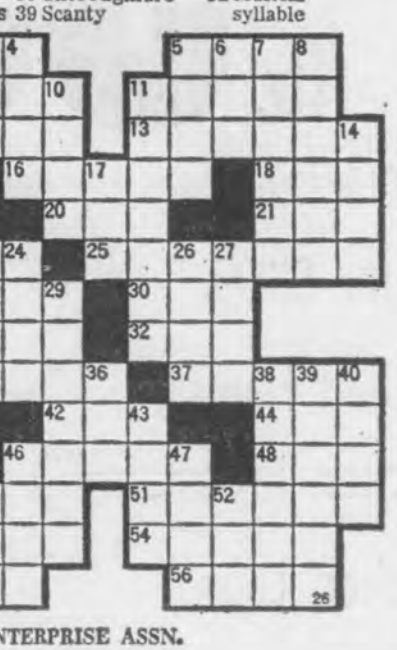

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A young shopping center Santa Claus, who recently returned a wallet containing $43 in Christmas savings to the woman who had lost it in a parking lot, received $100 from a Philadelphia man.

Walter Cooley, 19, Louisville, said the letter from Harold F. Miller, Philadelphia, contained a money order and a note praising Miller's honesty which read: "If I had a son, I'd like him to be like you."

Four Area Students Get MSU Degrees

Four area students, including two from Marquette County, were among 1,254 students awarded degrees from Michigan State University at fall term commencement exercises recently.

The graduates included 90 doctoral candidates, 394 master's degree candidates and 762 bachelor's candidates.

Graduates from this area and their degrees were Vito Ferrone, 719 Pine St., Marquette, doctor of philosophy in education; Sandra L. Gribbon, 100 Mass St., Negaunee, bachelor of arts in humanities; Elwood E. Carl, 310 Birch St., Munising, B.A. in elementary education; and Jane Eilola, Route 1, Box 28, Pelkie, B.A. in social sciences.

Miss Eilola graduated from MSU with high honors, school officials noted.

State Demos Eye Ferency For 1964

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Democrats, faced with the probability of a wide-open battle for the primary nomination for Governor, may find a surprise compromise candidate in the running — State Chairman Zolton Ferency.

The latest speculation is a direct aftermath of the Nov. 22 assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Ferency supporters contend their man has just the touch of color and hard-hitting enthusiasm that might now be needed to balance the 1964 Democratic ticket in Michigan.

Johnson, Hart Lack 'Image' It is a foregone conclusion, they say, that President Johnson and Sen. Philip Hart will be the other two candidates at the top of the ticket, and neither of them can provide the dynamic image Kennedy would have presented.

Ferency himself isn't talking publicly, but it was learned he has been urged to run and is thinking over the suggestion seriously.

Ferency became state chairman last spring in a showdown battle at the state convention in Grand Rapids with John (Joe) Collins, who had served as chairman when former Gov. John Swainson was in office.

Swainson, however, backed Ferency's candidacy and with the help of labor delegates, won out despite support for Collins from national committeeman Rep. Neil Staebler, Sen. Patrick McNamara and most other top Democratic leaders in the state.

Williams Silent The split between the Swainson and Staebler forces appears likely to spill over into a clash in the primary.

There has been some speculation that former Gov. G. Mennen Williams might return to run again for the office he held for an unprecedented 12 years, but Williams has remained silent on the possibility.

With Williams in the running, probably all of the potential candidates would step down and present a united front against the Republicans.

If Williams does not choose to run, however, then Ferency may be put forth as a compromise candidate in the event of a standoff between Staebler and Swainson.

Bail Denied In Obscene Book Case

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Two California men convicted Dec. 12 on five counts of transporting obscene books into West Michigan have failed in a final bid to be released on bail pending sentence.

Application for bail on behalf of Wallace De Ortega Maxey, president of West Coast News, Inc. of Fresno, Calif., and Sanford E. Aday, corporation secretary, was denied by U.S. Supreme Court Justice Potter Stewart.

Justice Stewart denied the application without prejudice, but said it would be subject to review if the defendants were not sentenced within a reasonable time.

U.S. Atty. George E. Hill said here that the men would appear Monday for sentence before U.S. District Court Judge Noel P. Fox, who presided at their trial and originally revoked their $10,000 bonds pending sentence.

The men and their corporation were convicted after a trial that began Oct. 29 on an 18-count grand jury indictment returned here in 1960. An appeal to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati, in a defense effort to have bail set, was denied Dec. 19.

In 1962, an hour's factory work would buy 9.2 quarts of milk, compared with 5.7 quarts in 1942 and 4.1 quarts in 1932.

Steel Industry Slugged Out Gains During 1963

By BOB VOELKER
PITTSBURGH (AP) — The steel industry slugged out some notable gains in 1963. New advances are forecast for 1964.
 Aided by a bustling national economy, steelmakers in 1963:
 1 — Pushed through two waves of price increases.
 2 — Rebounded from dismal profits in 1962.
 3 — Notched the first 100 million ton-plus production year since 1957.
 4 — Stepped up an already heavy flow of investment dollars for new plants and equipment.
 5 — Maintained a somewhat rosy relationship with the United Steelworkers Union.
 But not all was well. Foreign producers continued to carve new inroads into American markets and hit a new high in exports to this country.
Cherished Accomplishment
 Price boosts, particularly the first one in the spring, got the biggest steel headlines of 1963 and were probably the most cherished accomplishment in the minds of steelmen.
 Wheeling Steel Corp., 11th biggest producer, started it rolling April 10 with increases of $6 a ton on plate and a few other selected items in strong and growing demand.
Eyes On Washington
 All eyes in the industry turned to Washington.
 The question was: Would President John F. Kennedy oppose the increase as he did the across-the-board hikes the year before?
 Nearly 48 tense hours later, Kennedy announced he would fight an across-the-board increase but would keep hands off selective price hikes.

 The gates were open.
 Another small producer made selective increases April 14; two more companies, including third-ranked Republic, followed suit April 15; and the following day, four major producers, including No. 1 U.S. Steel Corp., joined the parade.
 It was estimated the increases covered 35 per cent of all steel shipments.
Another Selective Affair
 In late September and early October, another wave of price boosts swept the industry. Again it was a selective affair, covering mainly small diameter pipe and steel bar in wide use.
 The two increases covered an estimated 70 per cent of all steel shipments.
 The profit picture brightened considerably in 1963 with several companies reporting earnings gains of from 25 per cent to over 100 per cent in the first nine months.
Earnings, Production
 A survey of companies producing 93 per cent of the nation's steel showed an earnings increase of $121 million in the first nine months, jumping from $418 million to $539 million. U.S. Steel earned $149.6 million in the period, compared to $122.8 million in the similar period of 1962.
 As for production, 1963 was the best steel year since 1957 when 112 million tons were poured. With late-year figures still to be tabulated, it appeared the year's total would approach 108 million tons, compared to 98.8 million tons in 1962.
Good Weather Helped
 The good showing was attributed to healthy demands from makers of autos, appliances and railroad equipment and strong activity in the construction industry which was aided by six extra weeks of good weather in early and middle fall.
 The nation's mill operated at an average of about 70 per cent of estimated capacity during the year.
High And Low
 Fear of labor contract trouble in the spring drove production steadily upward to the year's peak of 2.62 million tons in the week ended May 25. That was 85.5 per cent of rated capacity.
 Contract agreement was reached June 20 and production went on a sharp decline, reaching the year's low of 58 per cent of capacity in early August. The year finished on a general upswing.
Labor's Gains
 Most steel people feel production in the year ahead will at least equal the 1963 total and perhaps inch a bit higher. One source said it may go as high as 112 million tons.
 On the labor scene, steel workers won an extended vacation program in a 21-month contract. It cost the companies an estimated 8 cents per hour per year of the contract.
 The agreement, the first reached in the industry without a strike or a threat of a strike, reportedly amounted to an increase of less than 2 per cent.

Lakonia

"Fire spreading up. Prepare evacuation on ship." It was 11:30 p.m.
Final Call For Help
 At 22 minutes after midnight Kalogridis sent out the final, anguished call: "SOS from Lakonia last time. I cannot stay any more in the wireless station. We are leaving the ship. Please immediate assistance. Please help."
 Then he dashed to the lifeboat deck, already crowded with passengers and crew milling about in pajamas and anything they had thrown on. Some women still wore their jewels and evening gowns.
 Whether the confusion merited the name of panic—as some passengers claimed—was a matter of dispute. There were contrasting reports of heroism and hectic scrambling.
Saves Children
 The swimming pool attendant tied a rope to his feet, had himself lowered head downward and pulled several children from smoke-filled cabins.
 Buchanan and his wife got fill an election promise.

Same As Before
 By reimposing the tolls, the government insures that they will be considered by Canadian and U. S. toll experts as part of their current review of charges on the St. Lawrence Seaway.
 The tolls will be the same as before they were suspended July 18, 1962—two cents a ton on the gross registered tonnage of a ship, plus two cents for every ton of bulk cargo and five cents for every ton of general cargo. Not affected.
 Seaway tolls on the Montreal-Lake Ontario portion of the international route are not affected.
 McIlraith said the government feels that users of the all-Canadian Welland Canal between Lake Ontario and Lake Erie should contribute to its operation and maintenance.

the sea drama. First on the scene, she picked up 475 survivors.
 As dawn broke Monday, the Atlantic waters were crowded with rescue ships. The Lakonia was a drifting, burning ghost ship, a magnet for salvage tugs.
 The British aircraft carrier Centaur put an engineer board by helicopter. He found the quarterdeck and two decks below burned away, and the superstructure caved in amidships. But the hull seemed sound and the ship ready for a refit.
89 Dead, 42 Missing
 The Lakonia's owners announced today that 896 persons were known to have been saved from the disaster, 89 were known dead and 42 still were not accounted for. This added to 1,027, in contrast to previous reports that said 1,036 were aboard the ship.
 A spokesman for the line said some crew members had not turned up for the sailing from Southampton Dec. 19.

One Injured, Two Drivers Ticketed In Area Crashes

ISHPEMING — Three vehicles were damaged, one person was injured and two drivers were arrested for reckless driving as a result of mishaps in Republic Township, state police from the Marquette post reported today.

At 7:15 yesterday morning, one car was damaged in a crashup on County Road LE, 7 of a mile south of County Road 601.

The driver, Ronald Nyback, 20, Republic, was arrested for reckless driving in the left hand. He also complained of a sore back.

Nyback, driving a 1953 two-door sedan on County Road LE, told state police he met another car which forced his vehicle off to the right of the slippery road. Nyback's car struck several small trees, resulting in damages to the front and right side.

Car Towed Away
The automobile had to be towed away by wrecker and state police arrested Nyback for reckless driving.

James Dobson, 22, Channing, was arrested for reckless driving following an accident Tuesday at 3:30 p. m. on County Road LAB, 200 feet west of the Michigamme River Bridge.

State police said that Dobson's car struck a 1960 sedan being driven east on the county road by Dolphus Vadnais, 55, Republic.

Drove Across Centerline
Dobson, traveling west, drove across the centerline and in front of the Vadnais car, state police said.

Damaged resulted to the right front of the Vadnais car, which was driven away, and to the right front of Dobson's 1957 coach, which had to be removed by wrecker.

Car Ferry To Continue To May 24

CHICAGO (AP) — The Mackinac Transportation Co. said today it will continue its railroad car ferry service between Upper and Lower Michigan until May 24.

It previously announced plans to abandon the run because it considered it uneconomical to spend money on repairs to the S.S. Chief Wawatam to bring it up to Coast Guard specifications.

Minor Repairs Due
After a re-inspection, the company said, the Coast Guard granted permission to continue operation until May 24, the date the Wawatam's certificate expires. Minor repairs to the vessel are being made.

The company reported that 11-month operation in 1963 has resulted in a deficit of $192,000, continuing a trend of several years.

The company said it will apply to the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to abandon the service.

The United States meat and poultry industry plants employ 308,500 persons.

They're people who fill highway litter barrels with household garbage.

Highway Commissioner Henry Ward says the extra cost is running into thousands of dollars a year because the barrels must be emptied daily instead of weekly.
