Chou Says Red Chinese Believe In Coexistence With Capitalist Nations

PARIS (AP) — Softening Peking's strident tone, Premier Chou En-lai said Monday night Chinese Communists believe in peaceful coexistence with capitalist nations and don't think another world war is inevitable.

In an interview broadcast by the French government television service, Chou said the United States and not Red China is putting obstacles in the way of peaceful coexistence—lacked the Soviet leader unceasingly. Declines To Answer Chou declined to answer a question about the Peking-Moscow conflict or to explain why Red China refused to sign the limited nuclear test-ban agreement.

World Hopes For Peaceful Year In 1964

The new year starts at midnight tonight with world leaders expressing hope that it will be a peaceful one.

The celebration will range from the solemnity of prayer to the whoopee-making noises of revelers.

In Italy, they'll throw junk from windows and doors to symbolize removing old and undesired things to make way for the new. It's illegal, but it's also traditional.

He Claims Innocence In Kidnap

LOS ANGELES (AP)—John Irwin, one of three men accused of kidnaping Frank Sinatra Jr., says he "went along to make sure no one got hurt."

Irwin, 42, talked with newsman briefly Monday after a federal judge reduced his bail from $50,000 to $30,000.

He said he was innocent of any part in the kidnaping of young Sinatra at Lake Tahoe. The young singer was kidnaped from a Staterite, Calif., motel Dec. 8. Three days later he was returned to his parents in Los Angeles for a $240,000 ransom.

Irwin said he spent only about $31 of the $48,000 in ransom money he received.

2 Sentenced In Obscene Book Case

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Bonds totaling $85,000 were posted today by two Californians sentenced here on obscene literature convictions.

Defense Counsel George Cook said Wallace De Ortega Maxey and Sanford E. Aday would return to their homes on the West Coast pending appeal of their case.

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Denouncing both, a federal judge Monday sentenced Californians Wallace De Ortega Maxey and Sanford E. Aday to long prison terms and heavy fines on their obscene literature convictions.

U. S. District Judge Noel P. Fox sentenced Maxey, 52, to 15 years and a fine of $19,000. He gave Aday, 43, a 25-year sentence and a fine of $25,000.

Maxey and Aday, executives of West Coast News, Inc., of Fresno, Calif., were convicted by a jury of distributing an obscene book, a federal violation. The book was called "Sex Life of a Cop."

Judge Fox said the two defendants "commercialized and exploited the sale of erotic materials which clearly appealed to prurient interests."

Maxey, president of the Fresno company, and Aday, secretary, were convicted Dec. 12 on five counts of the 18-count indictment charging transportation of obscene books into Michigan by U. S. mails and common interstate carrier.

"Purveyors Of Filth" U. S. District Atty. George E. Hill (former Marquette County prosecutor), prosecutor in a five-week trial, said the case would stand as a precedent in a government attack on obscenity. He called Maxey and Aday "purveyors of filth."

Hill said the defendants were "criminals with a history of perversion."

He might find it desirable, too, to have a session with French President Charles de Gaulle.

At the moment he does not think special effort on his part would accomplish anything.

Domestic Problem Domestic problems which seem destined to dominate the President's 1964 schedule include civil rights legislation, a bill to cut federal taxes, a shakeup in the worldwide foreign aid program, and a reorganization of the U. S. role in the Atlantic Alliance for Progress in Latin America.

Johnson has to find some way to make the latter two programs more appealing to Congress.

Heritage Of Difficulties In international affairs Johnson has taken on a heritage of difficulties, in spite of—or some officials say because of—the improvement in Washington-Moscow relations.

Chou said longtime commercial relations between China and France can be expanded if France will "normalize" relations with Peking—in other words, if France grants diplomatic recognition to the Red Chinese.

The main concourse of New York's Grand Central terminal—normally the scene of hurrying train commuters—has been converted into a balloon-filled ballroom for a New Year's Eve charity dance.

Japan's Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda and Soviet Premier Khrushchev exchanged New Year's greetings.

"I hope people of the world will make further efforts in 1964 toward realization of world peace and security of mankind," Ikeda said.

Khrushchev expressed a desire for closer ties between the two nations and for peace in the Far East.

West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard told President Johnson in a telegram he hoped the new year "will bring us closer to our mutual goals."

Premier Einar Gerhardsen of Norway, in a New Year's radio address to his people, said President Johnson "wants lessening of tensions and disarmament, under international control."

The premier, a Socialist, added: "He also wants a peaceful world where the resources are used rationally to the benefit of the whole human race."

In the United States, churches scheduled "watch night" services New Year's Eve to pause for reflection and rededication.

Hoopla, Hijinks Hoopla and hijinks were on tap elsewhere, and the revelers will pay up to $35 per person in commercial night spots.

AP NEWS ANALYSIS: Cold War Tension Expected To Decline

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER WASHINGTON (AP) — Cold war tensions between Russia and the West should continue to decline in 1964. But the new year is expected to bring a sharpening of the conflict between Russia and Communist China with an unpredictable impact on world affairs.

Officials of the new administration of President Johnson are optimistic about the outlook for East-West efforts to strengthen peace.

Summit Meet If initial probings go well, particularly in disarmament negotiations, a meeting between Johnson and Soviet Premier Khrushchev stands high on the list of international possibilities even though it will be a U. S. presidential election year.

Political observers here think it possible that Johnson, who presently has no summit plans, would find a summit session useful for dramatizing his declared interest in seeking more peaceful East-West relations.

Will Go Anywhere Johnson already has said he would go anywhere anytime he felt a meeting with another world leader would have constructive results.

Death

Former Bulgarian diplomat Ivan Asen Christof Georgiev, above, was sentenced today to death by a firing squad on charges of spying for the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency.

There is no appeal from the sentence, which was given by Bulgaria's supreme court after a six-day trial. Georgiev pleaded guilty. He was found guilty of spying while he was counselor of Bulgaria's U. N. delegation between 1956 and 1961 and later as an official of various government agencies until he was arrested last September.

Georgiev confessed he had earned $200,000 for his espionage and said he spent the money on "several mistresses in Bulgaria and abroad."

Long Session Reaches End In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has ended its longest peacetime session with fair warning that when it returns to work in eight days it faces "some of the most difficult decisions which this or any Congress is likely to be required to reach."

Thus Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield let his colleagues know, if they didn't already, that the drawn-out 1963 session of the 88th Congress was "just a beginning."

The battles over civil rights legislation and tax reduction had been only postponed and still lay ahead, although Democratic leaders express confidence both measures will be enacted.

Adjournment Monday came as an anticlimax after the false starts, angry words and pre-dawn session during the holiday rush when the drive to close up shop was blocked by the foreign aid appropriation bill.

The Senate completed action on the battered $3 billion measure Monday including the provision giving the President discretionary authority to approve government guarantees of credit for private commodity sales to the Soviet bloc.

Arjournment With this out of the way the Senate adjourned at 2:19 p.m. and the House made it official at 2:51 p.m. after a one-minute session.

It then became a time for year-end stock taking, of balancing the debits and credits of the 1963 Congress which has been described by critics as a "do-nothing" session and by Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen as a "stop, look and listen" Congress.

Its leaders rank its chief accomplishments—all gained after long struggles—as the ratification of the limited nuclear test-ban treaty and enactment of three major education bills.

Education Bills With the test-ban treaty, Mansfield told his colleagues Monday, "we have kindled a flicker of light which may yet illuminate the way to a reasoned peace, a peace which the world must find if there is to be a civilized world at all."

Although nothing was done in the field of general aid for public grade and high schools—caught up in a controversy over aid for parochial schools—Congress passed:

A $1.2 billion college construction aid bill.

Omnibus Measure A $1.56 billion omnibus measure increasing funds for vocational education and orienting the program toward modern job opportunities, extending impacted areas aid two years, and boosting student loan funds as part of a one-year extension of the National Defense Education Act.

A $231 million medical education bill containing grant funds to help build new schools and loan money for medical and dental students.

News In Brief

JACKSON — State police, aided by a tracking dog, Monday captured two convicts who walked away from a trusty division of Southern Michigan Prison. The two were identified as Gerald Gilroy, 22, sentenced to one to five years for carrying concealed weapons, and Ross Young, 20, serving a one and one-half to two-year term for auto theft. Both had been sentenced from Macomb County.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Injuries suffered when flames and smoke swept through the Roosevelt Hotel claimed the life of a 22nd person today. Cause of Sunday's tragic blaze still was undetermined. The latest victim was Mrs. Josephine Dupre, 35, of Atlanta. Her husband, Walter, 36, died in the fire.

MIAMI, Fla. — "Voluntary savings" take 20 million pesos monthly from Cuban pay checks, the anti-Castro Revolutionary Workers Federation said today. The exile organization said pressure is put on workers to make ample deposits in the government savings system. It quoted a recently arrived refugee, Arnaldo Machado, as saying there is so much red tape that workers can't withdraw deposits.

WASHINGTON — Every paper—"even the doodles"—from John F. Kennedy's political life as senator and President has been saved, his secretary for a decade said today. "I never threw anything away," Mrs. Evelyn Lincoln said in an interview.

WINDSOR, Ont. — Two men escaped unharmed Monday when their single-engine trainer coasted between two supports of the International Bridge and crashed landed in the ice near the Canadian shore of the Detroit River. The pilot, Air Force 2nd Lt. George H. Lyddane, 23, of White Plains, N.Y., and his passenger, Joseph Kerwin, 23, of Warren, Mich., scrambled from the plane and across the ice to shore as the aircraft sank in 20 feet of water.

British Man Buffer Zone

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—British troops stood guard in a neutral buffer zone between the Greek and Turkish Cypriot sectors of Nicosia today, and the capital of Cyprus enjoyed its first 24 hours without shooting after nine days of communal violence.

In the Greek Cypriot sector, government and business offices and shops reopened.

Greek and Turkish Cypriot representatives continued negotiations Monday with the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Deputy Secretary Roswell L. Gilpatrick.

McNamara had a chance to talk about it afterward. The top forces didn't, although the White House had billed them for a news conference.

McNamara told reporters all the loose ends aren't pulled together yet, but that the new defense budget will be about $51 billion—a billion less than the spending estimate for the present fiscal year ending June 30.

"This $1 billion savings," he said, "can be made without in any way reducing the defenses of this nation. As a matter of fact, I believe that the budget that will be submitted to the Congress will yield defenses superior to those in any other time in our history in peacetime."

The Joint Chiefs of Staff will have an opportunity to speak later before congressional appropriations committees.

U. S. Smokers Puff Cigarettes At Record Pace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans puffed away at a record pace this year, smoking an estimated 523 billion cigarettes.

The Agriculture Department, reporting the estimate today, said cigarette output and consumption reached new highs for the seventh straight year and increased almost 3 per cent over 1962.

The department said most factors indicate a further increase in cigarette smoking in 1964. It added, however, that it is not now possible to judge how an impending report on smoking and health by an advisory committee of the surgeon general may affect tobacco consumption.

DETROIT (AP) — A man who apparently goes in for catchy slogans robbed a branch of the Detroit Bank and Trust Co. of $346 today, FBI agents reported.

Agents said the man, who displayed no weapon, fled in a car.

Canvassers Reject Anti-Tax Petitions

LANSING (AP) — The Board of State Canvassers, acting on the basis of an attorney general's opinion, today rejected anti-city income tax petitions submitted by the Vigilance Tax Committee.

On a 3-0 vote, the board ruled some $3,000 of the 248,000 names on the documents were invalid because they were collected too early.

B47 Wing Slated To Exit Japan

TOKYO (AP)—The U. S. Air Force is going to transfer 3,500 men and 78 planes—including its last operational B47 bombardment wing—from Japan to the United States.

This major realignment of U. S. air strength was confirmed today by Lt. Gen. Maurice A. Preston, commander of U. S. forces in Japan and the U. S. Embassy. Neither would give any details.

Will Honor Pledge An informed source disclosed the United States is negotiating additional Air Force withdrawals but has assured the Japanese it will honor its pledge under the U. S. - Japan security treaty to defend Japan from attack.

A U. S. Embassy spokesman said the Japanese government agreed to the withdrawals in recognition of the need for "the most efficient use" of military resources to meet the United States' global commitments.

NO PAPER

The Mining Journal will not be published on Jan. 1, New Year's Day. Publication will resume on Jan. 2.

In Washington, a Pentagon spokesman also declined to elaborate on the realignment.

An informed source in Japan gave these details: The initial withdrawals are expected to be completed by next fall. Some 2,000 U. S. dependents also will be returned home and about 2,400 Japanese employees at U. S. bases are expected to lose their jobs.

No reductions are planned in Army, Navy or Marine personnel who comprise 20,200 men. Total U. S. military strength in Japan is 46,000 men. With them are 54,000 dependents and 3,900 American civilian employees.

Planes to be withdrawn are 48 B47s, 14 F100 tactical fighters and 16 C134 troop transports.

This will mean the deactivation of the 5th Air Force's B57 wing, last of the big bombers still operational in the U. S. Air Force. The 5th Air Force with headquarters at Fuchū Air Base outside of Tokyo, is the bulwark of U. S. air strength in Japan.

F105s The job of the big bombers will be taken over by F105s, high-speed fighter-bombers capable of delivering nuclear weapons. Three squadrons of F105s were recently assigned to Japan, although no nuclear weapons are believed stationed in the country.

by its "hostile political policy in regard to China" and particularly its "occupation" of Formosa.

'Friendly Feelings' "The Chinese people," Chou said, "have friendly feelings toward the American people, but we oppose the policy of aggression and of war of the American government."

He repeated Peking's perennial demand for withdrawal of American forces from Formosa and the Formosa Strait.

The interview was taped in Rabat, where Chou today ended a 4-day visit to Morocco. He interrupted his African tour and flew to Albania, Peking's chief ally in the bitter ideological dispute with the Soviet Union. After visiting there, Chou will return to Africa to tour Tunisia, Ghana, Mali, Guinea and possibly countries in east Africa.

The communique said: "The two parties have pronounced themselves in favor of peaceful coexistence among countries of different social systems and for large international cooperation based on equality and mutual advantage."

Filing Period For City Post Begins Jan. 6

Nominating petitions for the offices of city commissioner and supervisor will be accepted beginning Monday, Jan. 6. Petitions must be filed with City Clerk Everett H. Kent. The filing period extends to Monday, Jan. 20. It closes at 5 p.m., Jan. 20.

Set By Charter

Marquette City Charter regulates the filing period, setting this time between the first and third Mondays of January.

This probably will be the last year that the city will elect city officials in the spring, since a referendum is expected to be placed on the ballot in April, changing the date of the city election to coincide with the state elections in the fall.

Major provisions of the new State Constitution go into effect Jan. 1, and one of these is the elimination of the biennial spring election.

Three members of the Marquette City Commission and three elective supervisors from Marquette on the county board of supervisors will be chosen by the voters on Monday, April 6.

Adopted In 1954

The city has, since adoption of the charter in 1954, elected three commissioners and three supervisors in every even-numbered year and two commissioners and two supervisors in each odd-numbered year.

Next April the terms of Mayor C. Fred Rydholm and Commissioners Elmer K. Carlson and Steve A. E. Johnson will expire. Rydholm, who also served as mayor in 1959, will not be eligible for re-election in 1964 because he has served three consecutive terms as a commissioner.

This means that at least one new commissioner will be elected. Neither Carlson nor Johnson has publicly announced as to whether he will seek re-election.

Big Vote Getter

Rydholm was appointed to the commission in 1957 and led the field of candidates in each of the three elections in which he was chosen since then.

Carlson is completing his second term as commissioner and Johnson, appointed to fill a vacancy in 1959, was first elected in 1961, and hence may, if he chooses to run and is successful, serve two more consecutive terms.

(The charter does not prohibit a former commissioner from seeking the office again after a lapse of one year, but since the new charter has been adopted no former commissioner has done so.)

Other members of the commission are James R. Smith and Joseph Fine, whose current terms expire in April 1965.

No Supervisors Limit

For supervisors, however, there is no limitation in the charter as to the number of consecutive terms.

This spring the terms of Supervisors Howard J. Larson, Howard B. Morrison and Richard C. Hammerschmidt will expire. None has announced whether he will seek re-election.

Four Drivers Ticketed In Three Accidents In City

Four motorists were given tickets and six vehicles were damaged, but no one was injured in three traffic accidents which occurred in Marquette yesterday.

1. At 4:30 p.m. an automobile being driven north on S. Fifth St. and being turned left onto Baraga Ave. by Ariel Esparza, 24, of 603 W. Washington St., went out of control and smashed into a car owned by Robert J. Smith, 317 S. Fifth St., which was parked on the south side of the street, facing east.

Car Not Under Control

Extensive damage resulted to the left front of Smith's car, a 1961 four-door sedan, which had to be towed from the scene by a wrecker. The left front of Esparza's 1964 four-door sedan was damaged, and his car was driven from the scene.

Esparza was issued a summons by city police for failing to have his car under control.

2. A pickup truck being driven south on Northrup St. and being turned left onto W. College Ave. by Karl G. Peterson, 28, of 1501 Norway St., was involved in a collision with a car operated by Robert N. Berryman, 19, of 1721 Kiddah Ave., at 2 p.m.

Right-of-Way Violation

Peterson told city police his vision was obscured by two parked cars, east of the intersection. The right rear fender of Berryman's 1963 two-door sedan and the left fender of Peterson's 1963 pickup were damaged. Both vehicles were driven from the scene.

City police issued Peterson two summonses, one for a right-of-way violation and the other for having an expired operator's license, and ticketed Berryman for not having an operator's license on his person.

Larson, a former county board chairman and vice chairman, has one of the longest periods of continuous service on the board.

Morrison, appointed to the board in November 1959 to fill a vacancy, was elected by wide margins in 1960 and 1962.

Hammerschmidt, a former mayor and city commissioner, won on slips for supervisor in the municipal election in 1961, after there were only two candidates for three positions, a situation resulting from the death of Bernard L. York.

All elective positions in the city are for two-year periods, and if the number of candidates for commissioner is more than twice the openings, a primary must be held.

Various Possibilities

Thus this year if there are seven or more candidates for commissioner, a primary election must be held, and it will take place on the third Monday of February, or the 17th.

If, on the other hand, there are six or less candidates for commissioner, there will be no primary. The number of candidates for supervisor has no bearing on the requirement for a primary.

Should a primary be held, the six candidates receiving the highest number of votes will be declared nominated, and their names will appear on the ballot for the spring election.

The other elective supervisors from Marquette are Charles T. Beaudry and E. Kenneth Goldsworthy, whose terms extend to April 1965.

The city also has five appointive supervisors. These are the city commissioners, who serve under self-appointment, in accordance with the city charter.

There are 44 members on the county board, with Marquette and Ishpeming having 10 each, Negaunee five and each of the 19 townships one each.

Between 25-50 Names

Kent reminded persons interested in filing nominating petitions that the petitions must include signatures of not less than 25 nor more than 50 registered voters.

A voter may sign not more than three petitions for commissioner and not more than three for supervisors during the coming filing period, since that is the number to be elected for each office.

In the event of a primary election, the candidates not among the top six are eliminated, unless they choose to run on slips in April.

Compensation Noted

Each city commissioner receives $5 compensation for each regular and special meeting attended, this amount not to exceed $300 in any fiscal year. The mayor, in addition, receives $100 extra.

Any qualified elector may be a candidate for a city position. Any person who has voted in any election in Marquette in the past two years is eligible to vote in the election. Persons in doubt as to their registration status may check with the clerk by phone (CA 6-8451).

Voter registrations may be made during regular office hours in the city hall.

Auto Plants In Best Year Since 1955

DETROIT (AP)—U.S. auto plants will wind up 1963 this week with greater production of cars and trucks than in any calendar year since 1955.

The 1963 output will hit an estimated 9,100,000 units—less than one per cent behind the all-time high of 9,188,000 set in 1955.

Auto makers were confident until a few weeks ago that they would surpass that 1955 record. But then a series of local-level work disputes broke out, primarily in General Motors and Ford plants, and thousands of planned units were lost.

Judge Dembowski Sworn In For Third Term

Edward H. Dembowski (left) is sworn into office as municipal judge for his third consecutive six-year term by City Clerk Everett H. Kent. The brief ceremony took place this morning in the court chamber of the city hall. Judge Dembowski actually has been the city's only municipal judge since the adoption of the new charter. He was elected to a full term in 1951, and he was re-elected again in 1957 and last spring without opposition. — (Mining Journal photo.)

Dorias Curry Named Deputy Director Of Conservation Dept.

Dorias J. Curry of Marquette, regional director of the Michigan Department of Conservation since 1948, today was appointed deputy director of the department in charge of field operations.

In his new capacity, Curry will have charge of all of the department's field operations throughout Michigan. His headquarters will be in Lansing.

Other Appointments

Curry, 57, is one of three new deputy directors whose appointments were announced in Lansing at noon today by Conservation Director Gerald E. Eddy.

The others are Gaylord A. Walker, 54, Lansing, deputy director for services, and Ralph A. McMullen, 46, Lansing, deputy director for staff. Walker now is chief deputy director and McMullen is assistant chief of the game division.

Native Of Trout Creek

All three appointments are effective Jan. 12.

The three positions are new in the department and are in line with organizational recommendations made by Gov. Romney's 21-member conservation study committee in a report the committee filed earlier this month after eight months of studying department operations.

A native of Trout Creek, Curry graduated from high school there and attended Northern Michigan University before starting his long career with the conservation department as a towerman in April 1925. He was promoted successively to fire warden, conservation officer, assistant district supervisor, district supervisor, asstant regional supervisor and regional supervisor before becoming regional director on Jan. 1, 1948.

As regional director, Curry has been in charge of all department operations in the Upper Peninsula for the past 16 years.

He and his wife, Juanita, reside at 807 W. College Ave. They have one son, Robert, who resides in Ann Arbor and is employed as an engineer by the Michigan Highway Department.

Farm Tax Reports Due, Nyquist Says

Several Marquette County potato growers have not filed reports or paid 1961, 1962 and 1963 assessments to the Michigan Potato Industry Council, reports Melvin N. Nyquist, Marquette, county extension director.

According to state law, potato growers must pay an assessment each year per acre of potatoes grown. The growers must file a report listing the total number of acres grown and pay the assessment to the Potato Growers Council.

Growers who do not wish to participate also can file a claim for a refund of the amount paid.

Deductible Expense

Delinquent accounts for 1961 and 1962 have been turned over to county prosecuting attorneys and court action already has been taken in several counties.

The assessment paid to the Michigan Potato Industry Council is a legitimate business expense and is deductible from the federal income tax.

Concerning income tax, Nyquist said, the qualifications for farm returns are that if at least two-thirds of a person's gross returns are from farming, he can file a farm income tax return.

In most cases farmers who operate on a calendar year basis must file the return and pay the tax by Feb. 15. Farmers who file an estimate of the tax due must pay the estimated tax by Jan. 15 and will file a complete tax return by April 15.

Richard T. Hartwig, Marquette, agricultural economics specialist, and Nyquist will be at these meetings, at 10 a.m. in the Chocoley Town Hall and at 1:30 p.m. in the Ewing Town Hall in Rock.

Temperature Mild For New Year

Mild weather is expected to prevail for the start of the new year in this area, although it will be still quite cold tonight.

Meteorologist Fred Mueller said the cold wave eased up somewhat today when a wind shift occurred, to the south, from the west, resulting in milder air coming into this area.

The low reading here this morning was 4 above zero, but it was below zero in the outlying areas and in most other sections of the Upper Peninsula. The county airport and Calumet had -7, Escanaba -6 and Sault Ste. Marie -5.

Yesterday was the second day of subzero weather here this season, the day's minimum being -2. High was 16, for a mean temperature of 7, which was 14 degrees below normal. For the month it's averaged 5.1 degrees a day below normal in Marquette.

There also were three days this month when it was down to zero.

Below Freezing Since 24th

Marquette still had an 11-inch snow depth this morning, but yesterday no precipitation occurred, and it was only the fourth day in December that there was no precipitation. (The others were the 3rd, 6th and 23rd.)

Mueller said it was expected to be in the low 20s here this afternoon, with tonight's minimum being 10 or 15 above zero. Tomorrow it'll be in the high 20s and Thursday a little warmer.

It hasn't been above freezing in Marquette since the 24th, when it was 35.

Intermittent light snow is expected in the area tomorrow, with a chance of light snow Thursday.

Mrs. Gant, 1020 N. Front St., has been on the Marquette Planning Commission since 1953 and has held several offices on the city board, in addition to serving as chairman of the city and Marquette and Chocolay Townships.

She received a plaque and a standing ovation from the chamber board of directors at a meeting yesterday in the Chalet Restaurant.

"Beyond Call"

"Mrs. Gant has worked beyond the call of duty in this community," Chamber President Harlan Larson said. "The award was proposed for her because of her willingness to assume civic responsibility, her devotion to any task requested of her and the leadership she gives to every task she undertakes."

Partial Distribution Approved From Will Of Ellen K. Russell

Partial distribution from the will of Mrs. Frank J. Russell Sr., the former Ellen Kennedy Shiras, who died Jan. 13, 1963, was announced today by the executor of the estate.

Sizeable amounts have been made available to the Shiras Institute and to Northern Michigan University, it was stated.

Final Amounts Noted

The amounts were approved in a judgment signed yesterday by Circuit Judge Ernest W. Brown of Iron Mountain. They include $75,000 for the Shiras Institute and $100,000 for Northern Michigan University.

Final amounts from the estate will approximate $100,000 for the Shiras Institute and $140,000 for Northern Michigan University, the executor added. The amount for Northern was designated for the university's board of governors, to be used for scholarship purposes.

Also pending are grants from the will to St. Luke's Hospital of Marquette and to the Northern Michigan Children's Clinic of Marquette and/or the Bay Cliff Health Camp in Big Bay. A grant also will be made to St. Mary's Hospital of Marquette.

Pioneer Family

Mrs. Russell was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Shiras III and a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter White, famous pioneers of Marquette, and of U. S. Supreme Court Justice George Shiras Jr. She was born in Marquette.

The Shiras Institute was founded by her parents on Sept. 20, 1937, with the institute's trust funds being designated solely for the benefit of the public "in the fields of beautification, recreation and cultural activities in Marquette and in Upper Michigan."

The bulk of Mrs. Russell's estate was left to charity and schools.

Gov. Romney Summarizes His First Year In Office

LANSING (AP)—Emphasis in Michigan government in 1964 will be on "meeting the needs of the people, continuing a program of fiscal integrity, and further implementation of the new constitution."

So says Gov. George Romney in a "What Ahead For '64" report, summarizing his first year in office.

"The coming year will challenge all of us as citizens, as political party members or as public officials to carry forward on this thrust toward the future," said Romney.

He indicated special stress in 1964 will be placed on expanding educational institutions for an increase in college students and new facilities for mental health.

Fiscal Integrity

But the Governor added "nothing has a firmer commitment from me than fiscal integrity."

Glum Year Seen For Farmers

EAST LANSING (AP)—Agricultural economists at Michigan State University foresee a glum future for Michigan farmers in the coming year.

"Both cash receipts from marketings and government payments will be down," said John Ferris. "One of the major factors in the projected decline is the prospect of lower prices on the 1964 wheat crop."

"Farm production expenses will continue their upward trend during 1964, putting a further 'squeeze' on Michigan farmers," he said. "The result will be less net farm income for Michigan farmers than during the past two years."

Art Mauch said the failure of the 1963 wheat referendum may have been "a turning point in farm legislation."

He said an increasingly urban congress will not forever tolerate high farm price supports on unlimited production, and said if farmers refuse controls, the only way to reduce budget expenditures is by low-and said the proposed 1964-65 state budget will be "prudent but progressive."

"We will not spend more than we have," he said.

Aides to the Governor say his proposed budget for the 1964-65 fiscal year will be a record figure—somewhere above this year's $550 million.

'A Crucial Year'

Romney repeated that no broad program of state fiscal reform will be sought in 1964.

But areas other than education and mental health in which action will be attempted were listed as welfare, public health, youth problems and traffic safety.

Regarding the new constitution—on which implementation was begun in a 1963 special legislative session—the Governor termed 1964 "A Crucial Year."

'Priceless Experience'

He said the transition period immediately after Jan. 1 is vital to finishing up the work of effecting the new document, the adoption of which "was without a doubt the most important single accomplishment of 1963."

In personal notes, the 56-year-old Governor termed his first year "a priceless experience."

There were some pitfalls and drawbacks that he hadn't expected, he said, adding:

"During my life, I have worked hard and long at various times, but as Governor, I have worked harder and longer without a break than ever before."

Satisfactions, Drawbacks

"I enjoy it. I have found many satisfactions as well as many drawbacks. It is a rewarding, stimulating and challenging experience. The experience has provided me with a greater appreciation of public officials of both parties and the jobs they do, the responsibilities they carry."

"By the same token, it has sharpened my insight into the potential for good that accompanies public office, and has forced the regrettable recognition that in too many cases the potential is not realized as fully as it should be."

Romney also said his experience has re-emphasized the need for "less narrow, blind partisanship that ignores merit in favor of personal party gain."

Question For 1964

One question is naturally foremost in our minds today: "What will the new year bring?"

What will it bring the world, our nation, our communities, our families and ourselves as individuals?

The question is natural because we so often seem to think of the future as an unfolding of events that remain hidden until the appointed hour for them to occur.

Perhaps that is why many are fascinated by those to claim to be able to peer beyond the veil of the future; why there are probably more fortune tellers in the 20th century than at any previous time; why, when something happens, people so often say, "Ah, yes, it was fated."

On the other hand, we may be thoroughly rationalistic and take little comfort from a view that has everything foreordained, foredoomed. Yet there may still be the tendency to wonder: "What will the new year bring?"

The question should be: "What do I intend to bring to the new year?"

This is more than a mere cataloging of Robert O. Lampi, a former resident of Eagle River in the Copper Country, recently was honored at a program in Pahokee, Fla., where he has been high school band director the last 23 years. Pahokee Mayor Duncan Padgett said the contribution made to the musical life of the community by Lampi's efforts during those 23 years "merited much greater recognition than the city could show him."

Billy Wells of Los Angeles, Michigan State University grid star after his Menominee High School years, was a Christmas guest of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boyle of Bark River, going from there to Chicago for the National Football League championship game between the Bears and Giants. Wells, a musician who played pro ball with the Washington Redskins and Pittsburgh Steelers, hadn't seen a pro football game in several years, but has maintained his interest in the sport.

A cluster of stone ruins on a rocky point overlooking the St. Marys River has aroused speculation that the search for the "lost city" of Carleville may be over. On the other hand, say archeologists and historians who have seen the site, the ruins may be the remains of a French mission or a fur trading post. Still another possibility is that the walls once protected a fort built by the English to halt American shipping on the river and to establish a foothold in the Upper Peninsula. The center of the mystery is a series of two-foot-thick limestone walls which outline a building that was 48 feet wide and 82 feet long at its largest point when it was intact. The ruins are a few hundred yards south of Raber Point and about 11 miles north of DeTour. The nearest road is three miles away across rugged, densely wooded terrain. The crumbled walls, it is thought, may have been part of the main building in the vanished village of Carleville. Area residents can produce maps and other evidence that such a community once was a bustling lumber town established in the Raber Point area in 1853 by Guy H. Carleton.

Appointment of William Ayers as assistant administrator of War Memorial Hospital, Sault Ste. Marie, effective Jan. 1, was announced by Dr. Kenneth J. Shoultice, administrator. Ayers has held the position of comptroller at the hospital since Dec. 10, 1961. Active in athletics, he also is serving his first year as basketball coach at Sault Lorette High School.

The electric light and power commission is now about to set itself to the task of planning for the improvements at the station in real earnest. The past several months have been given over to the collection of data and various information necessary before any definite steps could be taken. At last, however, these preliminaries are pretty well out of the way. At a meeting this week it was decided to at once open correspondence with a number of well known hydraulic engineers, with the purpose of coming to terms with one of them for his services in connection with the plans for the proposed enlargement of the plant.

resolutions having to do with personal habits or attitudes towards those around us. It involves more than a code of personal ethical behavior, good though that is.

It has to do with the very purpose of our existence, whatever we may conceive that purpose to be. It is the difference between a negative acceptance of whatever comes and a positive determination to shape the future closer to the heart's desire.

This positive outlook should function both in our most immediate and closest relationships, right on up to our duties as citizens of local and national communities.

The question was stated in another way by the late President Kennedy in his inaugural address:

"Ask not what your country can do for you; ask what you can do for your country."

This is a question we should ask ourselves regularly, and especially on this first day of a brand new year.

"What do we intend to make of 1964?"

Our Cigarette Bill

What are residents of Marquette County likely to do about their smoking, in view of the new barrage of reports to the effect that cigarette smoking shortens a person's life?

On the basis of their reaction several years ago, when similar announcements were made linking smoking with lung cancer and heart disease — not very much.

The figures show that they are puffing away at a greater rate than ever. Per smoker, local consumption is about seven per cent higher than it was 10 years ago. The data comes from national statistics compiled by the Department of Agriculture and from area reports issued by the tobacco industry.

There was considerable anxiety some years ago among smokers when the first statements about the health hazard came out. This anxiety was removed to a large extent by prompt action on the part of tobacco manufacturers. They were on the market quickly with filter cigarettes. Since then, the use of cigarettes has risen sharply. In Marquette County, some 7,448,000 packs were consumed in the past year.

This was at the rate of 192 packs per year for every local resident over the age of 14. It was lower than in most parts of the United States, the average being 201 packs per year.

Except for 1953, when cigarette consumption dropped somewhat following the first lung cancer report, there has been a continuous rise in sales. This year, it is estimated, over 523 billion cigarettes will be sold in the United States.

How much do Marquette County residents spend annually for whatever satisfaction it is that they get out of cigarette smoking? The answer is — more than they realize. Last year, it amounted to $2,145,000, or approximately $55 per smoker. Taking into account the 70 million smokers in the country, some $8 billion a year is spent for cigarettes and other tobacco products.

Most public health authorities feel that the case against smoking has been clearly proved. The tobacco industry, on the other hand, argues that the evidence is only statistical and doesn't constitute proof.

The armed forces of the United States are intended to safeguard a social order founded on the premise that all men are created equal. A Boy And His Dog

The National Whirligig News Behind The News

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — All agitated claims to the contrary notwithstanding, the nation's biggest New Year's Day happenings occurred 101 years ago, on Jan. 1, 1863. It was caused by a possibly illegal document called the Emancipation Proclamation and it afflicted almost the entire South.

Actually, Jan. 1, 1863, was the date of which the proclamation went into effect. President Lincoln had signed the document and made its contents public on Sept. 22, 1862, and at that time had given the South 100 days to free the slaves itself. When the South sat on its hands, the proclamation went into effect on the afternoon of Jan. 1.

No Northern Slaves Freed
When the proclamation was announced in September, stocks known as West Virginia, which later became a state. No slave in the North nor in the border states was affected, since the proclamation was a military measure, a punitive step, against the South.

Constitutionally Questioned
As a result, the Democrats argued that the ukase had no legal force and emancipated no one. They claimed that as President, Lincoln could issue no such declaration, and as commander-in-chief of the armed forces he could issue orders concerning only the territory within his military lines. But the Supreme Court was never asked to rule on it.

The proclamation was Lincoln living up to a pledge he had made—that he meant to save the Union as best he could, by preserving slavery, by destroying it, or by destroying part and preserving part. Lincoln was never an Abolitionist and, indeed, was on the record as saying he did not believe blacks were equal to whites, but the proclamation was a necessary act of war against the South because of the urgency of crippling the cotton trade and of preventing intervention by England and France.

Won Europeans
Until the proclamation, many influential men in both England and France argued that the Southern cause was morally entitled to help. But once the North's struggle was converted to a crusade against slavery, public opinion in Europe made intervention impossible.

Even before the proclamation, Lincoln and the Congress had acted to abolish slavery in sections other than in the South. A joint resolution passed by Congress on April 10, 1861, urged that the United States cooperate with any state which would adopt gradual abolition by paying for the slaves freed. As a result, the slaves in the District of Columbia were freed on April 19 of that year and the slaves in the territories on June 19.

Contradictory Situation
But most members aren't eager to bare all. They take the stand that, unless the personal income affairs of every citizen are a matter of public record, there is no sound reason Congress members should be singled out.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., is one of those who has provided a statement of his finances. But, in saying he would back a bill to require similar disclosures by all members of Congress, Hart pointed to a contradictory situation.

"If a man reveals himself to have much investment wealth, one of two conclusions is possible: He has much personal interest to protect and is therefore suspect, or he will act objectively because he can be independently of moneyed pressure groups."

"If, on the other hand, he reveals that he has little or no wealth, again two contradictory conclusions can be drawn: He will act objectively because he has no personal wealth to protect, or he will be particularly susceptible to moneyed pressure groups."

In the end, Hart said, the decision would still seem to rest on the public's opinion of a man's integrity.

Congressional Pay Raise

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility that Congress might vote itself a pay raise next year seems to be growing weaker.

The chance that Congress will require its members to disclose all their financial sources looks even slimmer—slim to point of no chance in sight.

Notoriously Nervous
There has been considerable agitation for a pay raise, from $22,500 a year to $32,500. But congressmen are notoriously nervous about raising their pay during an election year, and that's what 1964 is. Also, Congress' job performance this year has been widely criticized.

Already there has been a revival, on a small scale, of the "Bundles for Congress" campaign that infuriated and alarmed a good many of the senators and representatives in the 1940s.

Satirical Campaign
In that satirical campaign, taxpayers sent packages of second-hand clothes to members of Congress who were complaining about how hard up they were and how much they needed a raise.

Last month a bundle of old clothes from the "Senior Citizens of Tioga County, Sabinsville, Pa." arrived at the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee, which had approved the pay raise bill.

The donors said they hoped the gift "will help tide you over."

HIGHWAY SAFETY

"Driving license revoked" has a very final sound to it, which would readily lead one to suppose that the offender would never operate an automobile again, at least not until he had satisfied authorities that he could be trusted.

But in the United States until recently this has meant only that he could go into a neighboring state, obtain a license there and drive wherever he pleased. Now, however, most of the states, through a national driver register service of the United States Bureau of Public Roads, are putting some effective obstacles in the way of this practice.

The center of the service is an electronic computer to which 46 states have furnished data on 385,000 persons whose right to drive has been canceled for conviction either of drunken driving or involvement in traffic fatalities. In three million electronic "searches" more than 32,000 applicants have been spotted and kept off the roads because of inclusion in this list.

Two other states soon will participate in the submission and use of data for this purpose, leaving only Delaware and Massachusetts yet to cooperate. The objectives of this service warrant full participation and active use by every one of the 50 states. — Christian Science Monitor

The 88th Congress

By WALTER LIPPMANN

By and large, the critics of the 88th Congress are those who have been the advocates of the chief Kennedy measures. The apologists for the Congress are the opponents of those measures. But is that all there is to it? Is there no issue of principle at stake in the way the Congress has behaved?

An apologist for the Congress has told us that "it may be assumed that Congress, in its fashion, reflects the will of the country to go slowly."

Fundamental Issue Of Principle
This amounts to saying that the proper way to assert the will of the country to go slowly is not to debate the legislation, amend it and vote for or against it, but to prevent the elected representatives of the people from expressing the people's will.

There is here a fundamental issue of principle. Consider the tax bill which was proposed by the President in July 1962 and 18 months later is still in Sen. Byrd's committee. On what ground of principle can that delay be justified?

If the bill is a bad bill which will unbalance still more the budget, then why not bring it to the floor and defeat it? Is the answer to this question that Congress might not defeat it and therefore it is patriotic and wise to smother the bill off-stage in the committee?

Paralyzed By Furtive Filibuster
It cannot be denied, I believe, that the 88th Congress has been paralyzed by a furtive filibuster in the committee, by what may fairly be described as a conspiracy to suspend representative government.

That is not the whole of the bad job done by the 88th Congress.

In addition to setting up a manipulated blockade of the greater part of the President's program, this Congress has gone even further than the last Congress in attempting to usurp the President's constitutional power to conduct our foreign relations.

I am not referring to the cut in the appropriations bill for foreign aid. For it is the indisputable right of the legislature to refuse to grant money asked for by the executive.

Invasion Of President's Prerogative
What the legislature has no right to do is to lay down iron-clad injunctions and prohibitions as to how the President shall conduct relations with the outer world. This is an invasion of the President's prerogative. Yet that is what Sen. Mundt and Rep. Halleck have wanted to do in the case of trade with Communist countries.

If the President of the United States is effectively prohibited from making trade arrangements with countries on the other side of the iron curtain, he is limited and stultified as is no other head of government in the non-Communist world.

The Constitution never intended that the Congress should not only advise and consent, but that it should also manage and conduct our foreign policy.

Thus we see on the one hand a refusal to legislate, which is the function of the legislature, and on the other hand the attempt to administer, which is the function of the executive. This has been a bad Congress, and the country needs and deserves to have a better one than it has had.

Civil Rights Legislation

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The honest but discouraging word is that no one has any accurate idea when civil rights reform legislation will emerge from Congress in 1964 or what will be in it if it is passed. There is a long, hard fight ahead.

There was considerable jubilation among liberals in Washington when Judge Howard Smith of Virginia, chairman of the House Rules Committee, finally said he would open hearings Jan. 9 on the bill approved by the House Judiciary Committee.

Albert More Optimistic
Smith is personally opposed to this bill. He has requests from a score of other congressmen who want to testify against it and he expects more. There will be some witnesses for the bill, too. Hearings may run through January.

House majority leader Carl Albert, D-Okla., is more optimistic. He thinks the hearings might run two weeks and that the House will pass a bill by the end of January.

Either way, and assuming that the bill eventually passes the House, it will then have to clear the Senate. And no one can write a timetable on that action.

Republican House whip Leslie Arends of Illinois speaks for many in Congress when he says that President Johnson will have to work out some kind of compromise with the Southerners to get a bill through the Senate.

The imponderable question is, What compromise?

If it is a compromise that satisfies the Southern Senators, it won't satisfy the Negroes or the leaders of nearly a hundred church, labor and civic organizations working actively for a new deal on civil rights.

Skilled Parliamentarians
Senate segregationists include the most skilled parliamentarians in Congress. They can be counted on to use again every delaying tactic in the book of rules to dam up or water down the provisions of whatever bill the House passes.

Civil rights leaders took a terrible beating in the Congress in recent weeks. They had deluged congressmen with letters and telegrams, phone calls and personal visits to get 218 signatures on a discharge petition. This was to bypass Rules Committee consideration of the bill and bring it directly to the House floor for debate and a vote.

They failed by approximately 60 signatures. They wanted Congress to stay in session during the Christmas holidays just to consider civil rights. They failed on that, too.

Christmas Boycotts
But there was no retaliation. The "Christmas boycotts" which some of the more aggressive Negro leaders had advocated were not called. On the whole, civil rights leaders have acted responsibly and respectfully. They may not do so indefinitely.

It may take another March on Washington far less peaceful than the first one, with active lobbying, picketing and demonstrations in other cities, to convince Congress that the weak, compromise civil rights bill will not be enough.

On the other side of the argument, there are some things to be said in defense of both Democrats and Republicans who did not sign the petition for discharge.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., anti-civil rights leader in many previous battles, jumped on House GOP leader Charles Halleck of Indiana for his revision of the original House bill to make it more workable legislation. But if Halleck had not done this, the bill would have been loaded with extremist provisions that certain its defeat.

Also, Judge Smith may not have been too dilatory in bringing the final House Judiciary Committee bill before his Rules Committee.

As Rep. Jerry Ford, R-Mich., points out, it took the Kennedy administration 29 months — January 1961 to June 1963 — to send its civil rights proposals to Congress.

It took four months more, to Oct. 29, for the House Judiciary Committee to draft the bill it finally approved. It took another month, to Nov. 21, to get Part I of the Judiciary Committee report on the bill to House members and two weeks more, to Dec. 4, to get Part II distributed.

In the rush of last-minute business to adjourn Congress, there just wasn't time to give this controversial legislation any consideration at all.

THE SPORTING LIFE

Six members of the Senate Anti-trust Subcommittee are introducing legislation that's intended to clarify the application of the antitrust laws to professional team sports. And it's about time.

For as it is now, the laws—designed to prevent such practices as monopolizing the services of players—apply in pretty fuzzy and harassing ways to football, basketball and hockey. Baseball enjoys a clear-cut exemption. Sen. Hart says the new measure would put all pro sports on an equal footing so far as the antitrust laws are concerned.

It's too bad, though, that the subcommittee isn't going a little farther, because a similar imbalance exists in another area. The antitrust laws apply to business in pretty fuzzy and harassing ways while labor unions enjoy a clear-cut exemption. A bill putting both union and industry teams on an equal footing would be a really sporting thing to pass. —Wall Street Journal

A FAMOUS RETORT

Amelita Galli-Curci, who died at La Jolla, Cal., at 81, was widely known in her day even among those Americans who cared little if at all for grand opera. For she was a coloratura soprano and her name was accepted as a synonym for vocal acrobatics in the higher register. It must have been 40 years ago that some Big Ten college sports writer left Red Grange, the Galloping Ghost of the University of Illinois, off an all-conference football team. The sportswriter noted, "All Grange can do is run."

Whereupon the sports editor of the Daily Illini shouted in the largest type at his command, "All Galli-Curci can do is sing!" —Decatur Herald

Area's Holiday Celebrations Reach Gala Climax Tonight

It won't be long before the "old year" becomes the "new year" in Marquette, as this 365th day of 1963 will be in its waning moments by the time most persons are reading this.

Celebrations to the holiday period in the Marquette area, as elsewhere, will reach its climax tonight in gala New Year's Eve parties and friendly get-togethers, as this night is most often regarded as the gayest of the year.

After tonight, of course, comes the routine and challenge of the new year. College students will be packing their clothes and preparing for the return to classes next Monday. Prep students, likewise, will begin brushing up on homework—which undoubtedly will continue neglected until after tomorrow.

Classes Resume Monday
Unlike last year, when classes resumed at varying times for schools and colleges in this area, since New Year's came in a Tuesday, all area school classes will begin on the same day—Monday in 1964.
But getting back to tonight. Most lodges will have special New Year's Eve parties on tap for the celebration. Most persons who aren't members of these groups will get together with friends, while many will "make the rounds" or pick out some favorite spot for the big event.

At the same time, Chief of Police George G. Johnson notes that because of the New Year's holiday, the usual late hour closing for Dec. 31 will prevail. The Michigan Liquor Control Commission permits the sale of spirits until 4 a.m., with places of business ordered to be closed by 4:30 a.m.

However, Chief Johnson warned that the extension of time for table top licenses does not apply to package (SDM and SDD) dealers.
And while tonight will be a night of rousing cheer and enjoyment for most persons, tomorrow will be a much quieter one, with most persons being content simply to sit down to a big dinner and then relax before the television set for the traditional "bowl" games.

One thing is certain, come what may, after tonight's gala tributes with the use of Robert Burns' "Auld Lang Syne," Thursday will be a day of business.

City Water Gallonage On Increase

Water department pumpage was up two million gallons last week after customers were notified to let water run when danger of service line freeze-ups is evident, City Manager Thomas Moore stated in his weekly report on municipal department activities.

Last week 15,524,000 gallons of water were pumped and during the previous week pumpage totaled 13,373,000 gallons.
Excerpts from the reports of other municipal departments follow:

Assessor—Prepared personal property statements and recorded changes in real property ownership on the tax and assessment rolls.

Public works—Major portion of the time was spent on plowing, scraping and widening streets, plowing walks, snow removal, cleaning intersections, sanding and salting streets and walks and shoveling cross walks.

Fire—Calls, one chimney, one heating appliance, one electrical transformer, one house. Repairs to the rear room and tower room of the No. 2 station were completed.

Police—Arrests, misdemeanors 7, traffic 100, accidents 20. Investigations, traffic or parking complaints 48, accidents 34.

Parks and recreation—Continued winter maintenance at Presque Isle Park and the Palestra. Skating rinks and Mt. Mesnard ski tow were opened.

Finance—Processed checks for approved bills payable.

Clerk—Issued one city license, nine dog licenses, two new registrations, one cancellation of registration and sent out 261 notices of cancellation of registration.

Court—Handled 16 traffic violations, five misdemeanors, one felony and three civil cases. The violations bureau handled 41 meter and 54 restricted parking violations.

Health—Minor treatments 2, complaints with assistance

Motor Sleds Not Allowed, Police Say

Police officers will ticket persons who drive motorized sleds on city streets and sidewalks, Traffic Sgt. Michael Dooley said today.
"Snow sleds are non-titled vehicles. This means that a person can't obtain a license to operate a motorized sled on a street or sidewalk," Sgt. Dooley said.

In addition to being illegal, it's dangerous to drive a snow sled on a street, because they're hard for motorists to see, Dooley noted.
The police department has received several complaints from motorists already this winter, he said.
"There's a place for snow sleds, but it's not on city streets and sidewalks," Dooley stated.

Four Fined, One Charge Dismissed

Four persons paid a total of $40 in fines and costs and another was found not guilty in municipal court yesterday before Judge Edward H. Dembowski. All had been ticketed by city police.

Walter G. Hampton, Howell, paid a $15 fine. He was ticketed Dec. 20 for driving to the left of the centerline, following an accident on U.S. 41 South.

Robert A. White, Alberta, Canada, was ordered to pay a $6.30 fine and $3.70 costs for driving at an excessive speed for conditions. He was issued the summons Dec. 17 following an accident on the U.S. 41 bypass near the south exit on Front St.

For running a stop sign, Dean G. Krieg, 430 W. Washington St., paid a $6.30 fine and $3.70 costs. State police ticketed him Dec. 26 at the corner of U.S. 41-S. Front St. and Hampton St.

Harold J. Koski, 327 Blemhuber, Marquette, pleaded not guilty to a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way. He was ticketed following an accident Dec. 19 at the corner of Adams and Jackson Sts. The court found him not guilty and ruled the accident due to hazardous driving conditions.

For speeding, Russell W. Patient, Route 1, Box 662, Marquette, was ordered to pay a $5 fine. He was ticketed by state police Nov. 24 for driving 55 miles an hour in a 45 MPH zone on U.S. 41, in the city limits.

Light and power—Continued work on substation at No. 3 plant and completed installation of street lights which had been removed on S. Front St. for bypass construction. Water received at the hydro-electric plants was less than the previous week and more than the same week last year and 12.65 feet from the top of the dam. The total system's kilowatt hour load was 7.2 per cent higher than during the same week last year.

Engineer—Studied preliminary plan and cost estimate submitted by the county road commission for improvement of County Road 553 from Carp River to Pioneer Road.

Ven. Stevenson Tells Why He Declined U.P. Position

Why does a man turn down a chance to be bishop?
Especially after he has been elected?

Such a man is the Venerable Theodore Stevenson of Bethlehem, Pa., who has declined the job as bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Northern Michigan.

He has been elected Nov. 19 to succeed the Rt. Rev. Herman R. Page who retires next spring.

Climate Not Reason
Mr. Stevenson said in a telephone interview his decision came after he visited Menominee, seat of the diocese in the Upper Peninsula.

But, he said, there was nothing about the climate or diocese that affected his decision. Yet, Pennsylvania attracts him, as it now does Detroit Suffragan Bishop DeWitt.

"I gave it a lot of thought and prayer and I just didn't feel called to be bishop of Northern Michigan," he said.

Asked if he liked the urban work of Bethlehem more than serving a vast rural diocese, he said: "Well, maybe the other side of the coin is that I feel called to what I am doing here."

He was born in Bethlehem 48 years ago and has served all of his life there, except for four years as a chaplain.

Kidnap Top Hollywood News Story

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—This has been another year of trial and tragedy for Hollywood.

There was death in the 1963 news as more famous figures disappeared from the Hollywood scene. Crime also figured in the headlines with a bizarre kidnaping.

But the news wasn't all bad. Famous weddings seemed to outweigh divorces—a reversal of the usual trend. And at year's end the outlook for the film industry was generally bullish. Lively, commercial attractions appeared to be sparking a renewal of interest in moviegoing on the part of the American public.

Here is how the year's top news stories appeared to this reporter:

1. The Frank Sinatra Jr. kidnaping. Reading like something out of a Sinatra movie, it was the leading Hollywood story of 1963 and peraps the decade.

2. Elizabeth Taylor-Richard Burton. Their romance was beginning to rival "Young Dr. Malone" for longevity of soap operatics. Sybil Burton's Mexican divorce made Eddie Fisher the "odd man out," but that problem faced solution at year's end.

3. Dick Powell-Jack Carson deaths. Coming within 24 hours, the deaths of the two fine performers underlined the continuing loss of Hollywood's great names and the cruelty of cancer.

4. Eric Johnston's death. The passing of the film industry's statesman seemed to signal a change of eras. Five months later his post as head of the producers' organization remained unfilled.

5. The Academy Awards. Os-

Carr To End 50 Years Of State Service

LANSING (AP)—Chief Justice Leland Carr is spending his last day in office emptying out the ast rollout desk in the State Capitol quarters of the supreme court justices.

A lot of legal issues were decided on that battered, oak-top desk during his 18 years on the state's highest court—an estimated 4,800 cases. Carr wrote 100 controlling opinions, plus more than 100 dissents. In addition to handling thousands of routine matters, a fellow member of the court estimated.

13 Years On Bench
Carr, now 80, will be stepping out of judicial robes after 43 years on the bench and 50 years in state service.

He is prevented from running again by a 1955 constitutional amendment forbidding judges over 70 from seeking re-election.

He will be succeeded by Paul Adams of Sault Ste. Marie, a Democrat, and former state supreme court justice and attorney general.

Definite Plans
Carr said he had no definite plans except to take a rest after one of the busiest years ever faced by the supreme court.

After that, he said, he might go into private law practice or legal consulting work.

Born on a farm near Pinckney, Carr first joined state service as an assistant attorney general in 1913. He was appointed to the Ingham County Circuit Court in 1921 and to the supreme court in 1945 following his work as a one-man grand juror investigating legislative graft and bribery.

Reporter Finds Sauna Relaxing Way To Get Beauty Treatment

By MARY WHITE
Of The Journal Staff

Ninety-nine out of 100 Finnish girls have clean, clear complexions. They don't need to use expensive face creams and soaps, though. They take saunas.

What's more, a sauna is just as relaxing as being poked and rubbed and twisted in a beauty salon. And it doesn't cost a whole week's salary either.

That's why a girl who has a Finnish friend in the Upper Peninsula is just as lucky as the girl whose father owns a famous New York beauty salon.

Even more lucky is the Finnish girl, whose forefathers invented the sauna. Every Finnish girl in the north country has a relative who has a sauna, if she doesn't have a sauna in her basement or at her father's camp.

Great For The Figure

A sauna in the basement is handy for a weekly steam bath, but a trip out to camp in mid-winter for a Saturday afternoon sauna makes a girl feel as healthy as if she's just spent two weeks at a health resort.

First of all, she's probably got to snowshoe a ways into camp. Great for the figure.

While the sauna stove heats up, she can get in some extra exercise with a snowshoe excursion around the camp. A novice on the big flat baskets is smart if she doesn't snowshoe off by herself, because once she falls down, she may not get up.

Shedding Inhibitions

A swimsuit is not the proper attire for a sauna, and a girl has to get rid of the same inhibitions she had to get rid of in the shower rooms after her high school gym class.

If there's a mixed company, this means that the other half of the mixture has to wait its turn for a sauna. The girl's first rule comes in with its use a 1 handiness, because it gives the women priming time afterwards while the men folks are in the sauna.

A girl's hair presents its usual problem... The logical thing for a girl to do is put her hair in rollers before she goes into the sauna, but the Finnish girl enjoys a sauna with a pall of water poured over her head and her hair streaming down, just as much as the real girl athlete likes to swim without a swimming cap.

Doorway To Relaxation

If she's taking a basement sauna or if she's at a camp which is wired for electricity, there's no sweat, figuratively speaking, with a few minutes under a hair dryer after the sauna.

Inside the little sauna building, there's a dressing room, an antechamber where it's warm enough so that a girl's skin to peel off her bulky knits. Once peeled, she walks through the doorway to relaxation and pretty skin.

The heat reaches out to grab her, but she hasn't seen anything yet. The sauna room, which smells like French perfume if it's cedar-walled, has a quaint little stove with rocks on top and wooden benches stacked up like shelves on the wall.

Somebody throws a pall of cold water on the Lake Superior stones on the stove and the mercury in the thermometer on the wall jacks-in-the-boxes up to 175 or so.

When the wave of invisible dry steam slaps the face, the first impulse is to hit the floor. But the Finnish girl moves up to the top shelf.

As the pores open, the only way for a girl to survive is to keep putting cold, wet washcloths on her face. Meanwhile, a good scrub scours her skin cleaner than a cleansing cream treatment.

About the time that the heat gets so bad that the non-Finnish girl decides that if this is for the sake of beauty, she'd rather wear a mask, everyone escapes to the dressing room. There's a craving for liquids after a sauna, and the good Finnish host will have provided bottles of pop.

Who Needs Tranquilizers?

Now, the old timers' way to end a sauna is to take a cold shower, run and jump in the lake in the summer, or roll in a snowbank in the winter. The Finns say it closes the pores.

Actually, a person doesn't feel the cold, even of a snowbank, after a sauna. However, a way to ease into the proper end of a sauna is to throw on a bathrobe, hop on a toboggan, whisk down a hill and dump into the snow.

After that, and a hot, nourishing paste, who needs tranquilizers? Who needs goosy face creams? Who needs beauty treatments? Not the girl who can take a sauna.

First Lady Conducts Ranch Tour

By FRANCES LEWINE

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — Lady Bird Johnson says life at the LBJ Ranch is colorful, but it doesn't seem like home since her husband got to the White House.

Things have changed so "I hardly recognize my own home," the First Lady said as she conducted a guided bus tour of the Johnson's 4438-acre ranch Friday.

Chuck Wagon Barbecue

A huge portrait of West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard hung from the balcony of the 100-year-old stone and frame house, and West German Republic flags fluttered along the driveway. Erhard arrived Saturday.

The tree-lined banks of the calm Pedernales River swarmed with 200 reporters and photographers whom President Johnson had invited to a chuckwagon Western barbecue that turned into an informal press conference.

Professional Style

Mrs. Johnson met the arriving busloads of press, hopped aboard, took up a microphone and in professional style launched a tour of the Johnson spread.

Breezily introducing herself — "I'm Lady Bird Johnson, you all" — she pointed to a newly constructed small, white Secret Service sentry box and said:

Running Commentary

"This little thing is one of the changes and I hope the neighbors don't mind it."

The First Lady gave a running commentary that ranged from ranch livestock to Johnson family history.

Wipe Out Yuletide Stains

By KAY SHERWOOD
Women's Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Along with the holiday joys goes the not-so-convivial aftermath of cleaning up.

Although the best advice from home economists is to treat stains promptly, some nights I'm just too weary to bother. It does help, though, to have remedies on hand.

A new trick to me but an old one to a friend of mine helps keep wine stains from setting. When someone spills wine, invite them to douse the stain thoroughly with plain salt. I don't know the chemical explanation, but this treatment does seem to prevent the stains from setting and, when I tried it, they washed right out of the cloth.

Lipstick stains on napkins or guest towels may or may not wash out. One handy aid in an emergency is petroleum jelly. Squeeze a bit on the stain and let it soften before laundering. If soft drinks have been spilled, sponge with cool water or equal parts of alcohol and water, then rub petroleum jelly over the spot. Let it stand for at least a half hour (or longer), rinse and launder as usual.

Hot water and soap will remove most food stains. But, if I find an unusually greasy spot, I spot-clean it first with a cleaning solvent. Incidentally, a good cleaning solvent which I use for all kinds of oily or greasy stains is one made by a national professional rug-cleaning service.

Delicate stemware is usually washed by hand, in our house. If a liqueur has dried in the bottom of a tiny glass, soak in soap and warm water, then swab with a cotton-tipped swab. Swabs are also effective in reaching stains in cut glassware and silver.

If you enjoy a fruit drink that is not too sweet, try pineapple-grapefruit juice.

Dressing Dining Tables A Creative Endeavor

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

For many homemakers, setting the table is not just a chore preceding dinner but a creative endeavor. I know several gals who delight in creating different artistic effects with table appointments, often for the enjoyment of a foursome or simply the family.

The hobby is hard on cupboard space, one young homemaker warns me. She says she is constantly on the lookout for the color, texture or shape in accessories you think you need — and the result is a kitchen cupboard brimming with "props."

Art Form

To give recognition to this art form, a national promotion was held through department stores to find the best-dressed tables. Under the auspices of the Table Fashion Institute, the 10 top winners will tour the country this fall and winter.

The two mentioned here were selected because I thought they could give some of us who are not so gifted a few adaptable ideas. The centerpiece, for example, can be duplicated by a Florist Telegraph Delivery floral arranger. This national outfit supplied the winners with thems and have passed the formulas around.

One table selected had an Oriental accent. It comes from southern California and makes good use of seasonal flowers (a thought, if you're dreaming of holiday parties).

Blocks View

For this, you start with a well-polished table. Set with pastel linen mats and napkins, add traditional flatware and green-banded china. The places are set on either side of the centerpiece which defies traditional rules and rises high enough to block some of the guests' views of each other.

Pale yellow spider mums and tiny cattails in a triangular arrangement are placed in a low dark dish and filled in at the base with green succulent plants. As a finishing touch, the designer nestled a jade figure in the leaves.

4 Hurt In Head-On Collision On M-28

NEGAUNEE — Four persons were injured in a head-on collision which occurred at 8 last night on Highway M-28 between Negaunee and Ishpeming, approximately half a mile west of the Jackson Recreation Park.

The accident involved a car being driven west by Paul Francis Dodendorf, 23, of 513 Prince St., Negaunee, and a vehicle being driven west by Henry H. Pepin, 2220 12th Ave. N., Escanaba. Riding with Dodendorf was his brother, Leo J., 34, also of 513 Prince St., while Earl Richard Tyran, Route 1, Escanaba, was a passenger in the Pepin car.

All four were taken by ambulance to Bell Memorial Hospital, Ishpeming. Pepin sustained facial and head cuts and bruises and possible chest injuries, while Tyran is the most severely injured. He suffered severe facial and head injuries — the extent of which has not been announced — and his condition was listed by hospital authorities as critical.

Both cars — a 1960 convertible and a 1964 sedan — were demolished and had to be taken away by wreckers. Police are keeping the accident open for investigation and hoped to be able to talk to the injured men later today.

A Eulogy To Dear Mother Lammi

In your long and fruitful years, You have had to endure The indignities of selfishness Heaped upon you that you so ill deserved But, in your wisdom You knew that this was a part of life That must be played out.

Mother Lammi, you also knew That within the breast of each of your children There was a deep seated respect And, even more impressive A great love of and for you.

Mother Lammi, you have not left us in sorrow But, with a sense of pride And real happiness That we were privileged To have been a part of your dear self.

We know that God has reserved A very special place in His Heaven For your beautiful and wonderful soul. Thank you, Mother Lammi.

Your grateful son-in-law

New Year's Eve Dance At School May Be Cancelled

ISHPEMING — There's a strong possibility that a scheduled New Year's Eve dance for Ishpeming's teen-agers will not be held because of a chaperone shortage. The Ishpeming Youth Council has been seeking chaperones for weeks, but no parents have yet consented to fill the role. Harold Kellow, president of the youth council, said: "If chaperones cannot be found by 6 tonight, the youth activities at the Ishpeming High School gymnasium would be cancelled in abiding by the by-laws of the organization." Anyone desiring to serve as chaperone is asked to phone Mrs. William Manty, HU 6-8874, by 6 this evening.

Dear Abby... By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I know plenty of women who have nothing on their minds but money, but my husband is the only man I know who thinks about business and money night and day. He even DREAMS about money. All night long I can hear him buying and selling stocks in his sleep. Is this normal?

ROSE

DEAR ROSE: It's normal. Be glad your husband is preoccupied with "figures" of a business nature. Count your blessings while he's counting his shares. And don't sell him short.

DEAR ABBY: One day last week I went into my garage to do a little work, and there I found two neighbor children playing INSIDE an old refrigerator I had stored there. They were three and four year olds. When I think of the tragedy that might have occurred if that refrigerator door had accidentally slammed shut on those little tots, my blood runs cold. I gave them a long lecture on how they had no business in my garage (the door was closed), and then I gave them a few whacks on the behinds so they'd remember it. The next thing I knew, I got a call from one of their mothers telling me it was against the law to lay hands on another person's child and I would be hearing from her lawyer. Who is crazy?

GOOD NEIGHBOR

DEAR NEIGHBOR: I am not a lawyer, so I can't tell you who broke what law. Neither am I a doctor, so I can't tell you who is crazy either. But I can tell you that you should have kept your garage door LOCKED, or stored the "attractive" nuisance elsewhere.

DEAR ABBY: We had a very fine photographer take our children's picture in color, so I suggested to my husband that we have them made up and give them to his parents as a gift. (Nicely framed, of course.) My husband said that giving a picture as a present is in very poor taste. I say he is wrong. He told me to write to you for your opinion.

MRS. C.

DEAR MRS. C.: A picture can't go out and buy himself. I have yet to see grandparents who didn't appreciate pictures of their grandchildren.

DEAR ABBY: I never knew love songs were out of place at a wedding ceremony. "Oh, Promise Me" and "Because" were sung at our wedding 26 years ago. Had I known what the future held in store for me I would have requested, "I Can't Give You Anything But Love, Baby."

BROKE BUT HAPPY

HAPPY NEW YEAR TO ALL MY READERS!
