TO ACT ON SEWER THIS EVENING

COUNCIL WILL PROBABLY LET WISCONSIN SEWER CONTRACT TONIGHT

The city council will hold a regular meeting tonight and the principal business to come up will probably be the matter of letting the contract for the two extensions of the Wisconsin avenue sewer. Only one bid is in so far, that of George Nibel, who also has the contract for the Superior avenue sewer.

At the council meeting tonight the matter of a sewer disposal plant between Fourth and Fifth streets will also be discussed and some way may be found whereby the plant can be installed at an early date, this doing away with the sewage entering the bay.

Contractor Nibel reports that he now has a crop of sewer pipe on the road and as soon as this reaches the city the Superior avenue sewer will be commenced. It is improbable that the Wisconsin avenue sewer extensions will be completed this fall as it will take several weeks to get the pipe here.

The matter of the annual tax budget will also receive attention tonight. The meeting is the time limit for making up the budget expires the first meeting in October and the council will probably get some idea of the amount that will have to be raised for the various funds to run the city the coming year.

BIG COUNTY FAIR STARTS TOMORROW

ANNUAL PUMPKIN SHOW IS TO BE HUMMER ACCORDING TO OUTLOOK

The annual Northern Michigan State Fair opens at Escanaba tomorrow, the first day being given over principally to the entering of exhibits and getting the displays and attractions in shape.

The first real day of the fair will be Wednesday with the big day on Thursday. The weather today is not a promising outlook, but the weather bureau says that fair weather will predominate during the week.

The outlook for a monster exhibit of farm and garden crops is very encouraging and the prospects that all former records for these exhibits will be beaten. The two attractions are the best the management has ever secured and these will be the big drawing feature.

Thursday will be Gladstone day at the fair and this city will practically be deserted on that day as all the mills, factories, stores and offices will be closed on Thursday afternoon to give all a chance to attend.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the members and our friends of the Swedish Mission Church and the Salvation Army for the entertainment and party given presented us.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gustafson.

HUNTER BELIEVED OWNED

Green Bay, Wis.—Duck hunting season, which opened here Wednesday is believed to have claimed the life of Charles N. Dewey, 60 years old, of this city, whose unmarked corpse was found at the mouth of Duck creek last night. His coat, some games, fish pole, paddle and ammunition were found in the canoe.

HOLD BEAVER HEARING

John Baird, state game, fish and forest fire commissioner will conduct a hearing at Marquette September 22 on the advisability of closing the season on beaver.

The notices published as in the case of those announcing the "deer hearing" say that as a majority of the boards of supervisors of the counties of the upper peninsula have agreed a closed season on beaver to stop the animals from becoming extinct, the hearing has been set.

There is probably as much if not more unanimity of opinion on the necessity of a closed season on beaver than there was for the closed deer season. While it is expected that some opposition may be encountered from trappers, closing of the season is regarded as the probable result of the hearing.

WANTED—Good steady boy to deliver papers in Poughkeepsie.

Adopted by the Board of Education Sept. 1, 1920.

PROCLAMATION
WHEREAS, Thursday, September 23rd has been designated as "Gladstone Day" at the Northern State Fair, and whereas it is our desire to encourage said Northern State Fair and advertise the City of Gladstone, NOW THEREFORE, let every place of business be closed in Gladstone in the afternoon of that day, and every citizen who can attend the Northern State Fair at "Gladstone Day."
MATT J. MILLER, Mayor

DELTA DELEGATES TO SAGINAW MEET

WILL ENDORSE CANDIDACY OF SENATOR HARDING, IS OPINION TODAY

Arrived with the resolutions adopted by the republican convention in Saginaw last week, delegates directed to attend the state republican meeting at Saginaw will leave next Thursday September 23, to be present at the state gathering of republicans. The delegates chosen to represent Delta county are: Dr. W. A. Lemire, H. J. Eustach, C. W. Mallock, T. E. Strout, J. B. Fiechtel, Stora Johnson, A. J. Young, Judd Yelland, J. K. Hildebrandt, and C. A. Clark.

At the convention the question of endorsing the stand of Senator Harding will be the largest before the delegates.

Presidential electors will be chosen there and the November election. Several states are making plans for their convention at this time, also Massachusetts had annual convention today and endorsed Senator Harding's candidacy and condemned the League of Nations.

Delta county delegates will go to the Saginaw convention bound to fight the plans of the present Democratic administration to the letter.

That the state of Michigan will be hit by a republican landslide was manifest in the primary elections this year. In most sections of the state, the vote was nearly all for republican candidates, but little action having been taken by the democratic party.

HALF HOLIDAY

Both Gladstone and Escanaba will not be open for business Thursday afternoon, Sept. 23, Gladstone day at the Fair. Patrons are asked to regulate their banking business accordingly.

INTERESTING MEET AT POWERS LOCAL MAN CHOSEN TO OFFICE

The trustees of the Tuberculosis Sanitarium for Delta and Wisconsin counties met at Powers Saturday and it proved to be one of the most enthusiastic meetings ever held. The following officers were elected: Dr. Stanley S. Stephens, president; Henry Schwellenbach, spending secretary; H. R. Reade, Escanaba, vice president; and C. A. Clark, Gladstone, treasurer.

The plans for the building were inspected and will be settled upon this week. An endeavor will be made to put in the basement this fall and winter.

DUCK HUNTERS HOUR DETERMINED BY SUN

Duck hunting will under the supervision of the U. S. weather bureau as well as subject to the game department's wardens from the morning of September 16 to the evening of December 31, the end of the duck season.

The weather bureau will act as an adjunct in determining the exact time of sunrise and sunset, in the interim of which ducks, with the exception of wood ducks, may be legally shot under the provisions of act 275 of the Public Acts of 1911 as amended.

Section 1933, compiled law of 1915, fixes certain standards as the determining time by which the sunrise and sunset will be measured. The weather bureau gave 5-19 a. m. and 5-47 p. m. as the hours of sunrise and sunset on Thursday, the first day of the season.

State Game Commissioner Baird, in a telegram to The Reporter Tuesday, stated that the prohibition of duck shooting earlier than sunrise and later than sunset will be strictly enforced and he requests that every hunter take heed of the regulation and help to protect others concerning.

Manistique—At the Council meeting Monday night a resolution was presented by the Board of Education that the amount of $105,722 will be necessary for school expenses for the coming year and $17,000 for the Building Fund. The council thereupon authorized the city schools to certify said sum and the amount included in the annual tax levy.

BIG GAIN IN CALIFORNIA

GROWTH IN POPULATION PUTS STATE AHEAD OF INDIANA AND GEORGIA

Washington, Sept. 15.—California, the 22d population of which was announced today by the census bureau as 3,426,536, an increase of 1,048,987, or 44.1 per cent in the last ten years. The state's growth is larger both numerically and relatively than that of any state the 1920 population of which was thus far beyond announced and its numerical increase exceeds the combined increase of Massachusetts, Indiana and Georgia.

California, which ranked as twelfth state ten years ago, will now rank in tenth place or above. The numerical increase of the state is the largest in its history.

Tarns Car in Ditch; Avoids Hitting Caly

A seven passenger Studebaker driven by Neil Blaney, Jr., of Nahma, was badly damaged when it turned over in the ditch last night near the Buckeye addition.

Blaney with a companion was driving from Nahma to Escanaba, starting up a motor trip to Gary, Ind. According to his story, he turned out of the road to avoid hitting the calf, judged his distance and turned over in the ditch.

Neither he nor his companion was injured. They plan to resume their trip to Gary as soon as the car is repaired.

YOUNG MOTHER PASSES AWAY

MRS. WM. HATHWAY DIES AT ST. FRANCIS HOSPITAL FRIDAY MORNING

Mrs. William Hathway passed away at St. Francis hospital 1:15 o'clock Sunday morning after an illness of fifteen weeks. Her death came as a great relief to her long suffering but happy husband who has been in the hospital for several weeks. She was well known both here and at Escanaba, where she leaves a host of friends to mourn her loss. She was a member of Eastern Star of Escanaba and Lady Macarabee of this city.

The funeral services will be held at the home Thursday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. D. N. Dagle officiating. Interment will be made in Escanaba.

Northern State Fair Poultry Exhibits To Be Largest In Years

F. P. Davis, chairman of the Poultry Department at the Northern State Fair states that from indications already evident there will be a larger display of poultry at the fair than ever before.

A large number of farmers and poultry fanciers are taking great interest in exhibiting their poultry this year. It is the desire of the management of the fair that every person who has fancy fowls for exhibition should make arrangements for having same exhibited during the fair.

Large premiums are paid for first and second prizes of fancy stock and prizes are paid on individual birds. Let us make this the best exhibition of poultry ever shown at the Northern State Fair. For information communicate with F. P. Davis, Chairman Poultry Department, Escanaba, Mich.

LIGHTNING VISITS LUNDBERG FARM FOR SECOND TIME

The rain and electric storm of a couple of days ago varied with killing effect the farm of John Lundberg, a mile east Rapidview. A valuable Jersey cow and the most valued animal of the farm was struck and instantly killed by a bolt of lightning and the same bolt knocked a horse down but the animal soon recovered from the effect of the shock and is none the worse for the experience.

This is the second time in the past few weeks that the Lundberg farm has been visited. Only few weeks ago lightning killed a thoroughbred bull on the same farm but in a different corner of the pasture.

Minor Musings

One reason why adults do not wish children to have opinions is because these opinions are so often right and their own wrong.

BIG FIELD OF ENTIRES FOR THE FAIR IS CERTAIN

With three horses already in training at the Northern Michigan State Fair track here, the field of entries booked, the success of the county fair racing program next week is assured. Dr. W. J. Fergus, speed superintendent, optimistically yesterday that fully 20 horses will be assembled at the track here at the last of the week to compete in the racing programs of the fair.

The first race will be held on Wednesday, followed by the last programs on Thursday and Friday. The track at the fair grounds is being placed in the best possible condition and with a fair wind of hot horses and fair weather conditions, the breaking of the local track record is anticipated.

TAKE OVER CHURCH FOR SCHOOL ROOM

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH TO BE USED FOR SCHOOL HOUSE

The lack of school room has necessitated the board of education to take over the church building on 11th and Wisconsin streets and have it put in shape for school use. The difficulty by which the board is faced had to have immediate attention and this proposition seemed the best solution because of its convenience location.

It may be some time before the building can be put in shape. It is hoped to have the building ready for the installation of the school furniture which has been ordered and then school will be going very shortly.

YOUTHFUL CRIME IS ON INCREASE SAYS WARDEN

Addressing the Lions' club at Marquette Wednesday, James Russell, the warden of the Marquette branch prison, declared that serious crime against property by youthful offenders are on the increase in Michigan.

Prison statistics, the warden said, show that unprecedented numbers of young men between the ages of eighteen and twenty-four, especially in the large cities of the state, are working in organized gangs to perpetrate automobile thefts from their persons and from stores and factories. Their crimes are more serious in most cases because they use firearms in their banditry.

Mr. Russell declared that it is time for thinking people to face the facts and realize that crime is not decreasing, but increasing. All good citizens he said, must discharge themselves of the idea that crime is disappearing because saloons are gone. Every prison in the state, he pointed out, is overcrowded with convicts and the influx is increasing every day.

He cited interesting statistics relative to the population of the branch prison to illustrate the increase of crime among youthful men and to show how the seriousness of their deeds is directly reflected in the average length of sentences on the prison's books. Two years ago the majority of convicts brought into the institution were sentenced for minor offenses. Most of them were given terms ranging from one to five years.

Now, however, sentences of seven and a half, ten, fifteen, twenty and thirty years are much more common and the percentage of lifeers has increased. As the length of sentences has increased the average age of convicts has dropped.

The usual prison conditions are bringing with them a class of convicts that are of a more dangerous criminal type. The prisons are filling up with men who must be watched every minute after they get locked up. They are determined not to obey them and are ready to resort to anything, even murder, to gain freedom from confinement.

In analyzing facts in connection with the increasing crime wave in the state, the warden cited several specific cases to show the serious nature of offenses, character of offenders and determination on the part of judges in the larger cities to combat these conditions by harsh treatment of men convicted.

"Most of our crime," he said, "is in the industrial centers. The Marquette branch prison was built primarily for the care of convicts from upper peninsula counties, but today 90 per cent of the prison population comes from lower Michigan, largely from Detroit, Saginaw, Bay City, Grand Rapids and Flint.

CITIZENS COUNT GIVES ESCANABA POPULATION 14,598

RECOUNT GIVES CITY 1460 MORE RESIDENTS THAN GOV. CENSUS

The Census Figures Govt. Correct

Figures	Govt.	Correct
First ward	2,640	2,718
Second ward	3,640	3,542
Third ward	1,274	1,616
Fourth ward	1,887	2,164
Fifth ward	2,896	3,028
Sixth ward	2,973	3,228
Seventh ward	2,492	2,294

Totals 13,103 14,562 1,459

Escanaba has a total population of 14,562. An independent canvass of the population of the city, conducted by a committee of citizens and completed yesterday, showed that the government enumerators missed a total of 1,459 individuals in their count in this city.

The government census figures for Escanaba totaled but 13,103 showing a loss in the last ten years of 91. The corrected count recorded here Saturday showed a total population of 14,562 or a gain since 1910, of 1,368.

The government figures showed a loss for Escanaba in the last ten years of slightly over two per cent, while the corrected figures show a gain in the past decade of this city of better than 10 per cent.

A week's canvass, inaugurated last Monday and closing last night, covered every section of the municipality and was made possible through the cooperation of a large number of patriotic residents with clocking recreation and at 7:30 o'clock last night the last block enumerator's book was filed, making possible the assembling of the total in a few minutes later.

While the total population through the independent canvass that was undertaken was disappointing to many who had believed a total population of at least 17,000 would be shown, 1,459 residents were uncovered upon which a demand can be based for an official recount of the population here by the United States census department.

The canvass completed Saturday night demonstrated clearly two things: A large number of people who were counted by the government did not know they had been enumerated. Escanaba was not slighted by the census of 1910.

On the basis of answers to a questionnaire prepared by the citizens' committee, at the outset of the count early in last week, from the number who insisted their names were not included in the official enumeration, it appeared that the census figures would be boosted by at least 25 per cent. As soon as the ward totals began to be assembled, however, it was shown that many had been counted who did not know they had been included.

There are a host of people in Escanaba who will take oath that if Escanaba has a population of but 14,562 at this time, in 1910 the city's actual count must have been well below 12,104.

In the enumeration completed yesterday the First ward gained the smallest number of additions to the population list and the Third ward gained the greatest number. The Fifth, Sixth and Seventh wards failed to show differences in figures that had been anticipated for them, while the Second and Fourth wards gave returns close to what had been anticipated for them.

All of the data upon which Escanaba will demand a recount from the census department at Washington will be assembled Monday and will be placed in the hands of Congressman Frank D. Scott early next week.

ABOLISH SMALL SCHOOLS

The Michigan legislature of 1921 will be asked to increase the minimum school year to nine months and to provide for closing such schools as have less than 12 pupils and for providing transportation to some other school for the pupils in the closed district.

Who Cares? The news from Dan Arbor says applications for admission to the university are running 25 per cent above last year and that some good football men are included among the freshmen.

Whether any good students are in the lot is a matter of less importance. Detroit Free Press.

Society Notes

Election of Officers

The annual election of officers was held by the Senior Class Wednesday evening. The result of election is as follows: President—Howard Cameron. Vice President—Margaret Murray. Word was received of the recent marriage in Seattle of Miss Mildred Harvey to W. H. Jones of that city. Miss Harvey has been a frequent visitor at the Raymond home and during those visits made a host of friends here who extend their best wishes to the young couple.

Five Dance in Sight. A Latin Jazz orchestra of Ironwood will furnish the music for a big dance at the Gladstone theatre Wednesday night. The orchestra comes well recommended and no doubt a large crowd of dancers will be present.

Senior Party. Club members gave a very pleasant party at the Kindergarten Friday evening in honor of those Seniors who were members of the Enochslag Club of the high school last year. There were short interesting talks given, some musical numbers after which came dainty refreshments.

A large increase of membership is hoped for this year and applications will soon be rewarded in those eligible to join the club. A year of numerous social events is planned.

Eagles Old Time Party

Eagles Hall Friday night was crowded with a happy merrymaking crowd of old timers. All the good old dances, waltzes, two steps, quadrilles, etc. brought back the spirit of a few years back before the "Jazz" age. "Cap Fishers" calling of the old time square dance was the climax of most enjoyable affair. Everyone had a fine time.

Nanistigue—A furor of excitement has been caused by the rumor that a state geologist has made extensive examinations of the soils in the vicinity of Seal Creek Point in relation to the probable existence of oil in commercial quantities. A prominent citizen in that location states that the investigator spent several days in these investigations and stated that prospect for oil were strong enough to warrant test holes being sunk at several different points. It is further understood that the investigations were made at the request of companies of strong financial connections and that actual work may be started before the beginning of winter. As a result of these developments considerable property on or near the point will change hands within the next few days.

PYTHIANS TO TAKE IN CANDIDATES OF LESSER AGES AGAIN

In conformity with its general program and policy of expansion by which it proposed to carry the principles of the order into the fields of Pythian endeavor, the Knights of Pythians at the recent biennial convention of the Supreme Lodge at Minneapolis adopted an amendment to its organic law reducing the minimum age limit of membership in the order from 21 to 18 years, the effort of which will be to open the door of fraternalism to thousands of youths in the land whose hearts have felt the touch of ideal sympathy and who long to enlist under the banner of brotherhood achievement.

Since the order was founded, membership has been restricted to white male persons not less than 21 years of age and under 50, except that persons over 50 might be accepted, as members by dispensation. But not of the great World War many lessons came to a nature calculated to change the old order of things, not the least of which was the idea born of the tremendous struggle and was participated in by the best blood of the nation's young manhood that youths of 18, 19 and 20 years of age are fully capable of meeting responsibilities and discharging life's obligations with a fidelity equal to those of a few years ago.

The slacker with which the younger boys of the nation sprung to arms at the call of country in defense of its honor and for the preservation of its institutions affords incontrovertible proof that one does not necessarily have to be of legal age in order to be of real service in times of stress and need.

The Knights of Pythians in common with other fraternal organizations are not unmindful of the obligations and duties of the hour imposed. It proposes to perform its full share in the great work of reconstruction and rehabilitation, that civilization may flourish.

So—After the seven precincts in which Clark R. Ladd has asked for a recount in were disposed of, Henry A. Osborn, his opponent for the office of representative in the Chippewa district served a petition on Ladd asking for a recount in all of the remaining precincts. Ladd, with only four out of the seven precincts he asked for counted, stood time votes in the lead of his opponent. Ladd gained ten votes over his opponent.

specially recover from the shock to which it was subjected and that the blessings of peace afforded by sentimental adding place in the hearts of men. And in this magnificent endeavor it has invited boys and men of 18 years and over to enlist under the red colored banner of Pythian Knighthood in the movement designed to banish discontent and discord and make the world brighter and happier.

Up At Iron Mountain

By L. D. TUCKER
Upper Peninsula Development Bureau of Michigan. Marquette O Michigan

Up at Iron Mountain, Michigan, they're still trying to figure out just what the new Ford plant is going to mean to that particular community, and to upper Michigan generally. The more enthusiastic will paint a picture that will, frankly speaking knock you off your feet. And the predictions of even the most conservative are glowing enough.

A month ago the skeptics were saying "all of which may be true, but wait until they get started. There's lots of red tape ahead." They aren't saying it any more. For the impressive appearance of the steel frame-work which is already taking the definite shape of the huge power house which will operate the great body manufacturing plant has forever hushed the cynic. The Ford plant is going up, and mighty rapidly at that.

It is doubtful if any project ever begun in this region north of the straits has taken such definite shape in so short a time as the new Ford plant. A month ago we saw a great level field of 2,000 or more acres, stretching away across country, unbroken save for a pile of building material and possibly a portable house or two, here and there. Last week we saw a completed fallway spur from the main line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway into the site of the plant; we saw a huge skeleton of steel which actually seemed to grow as we watched; we saw the foundation and pillar-forms of what will very soon be a saw mill measuring 126 by 294 feet, and at that we were told that the work is only now fairly underway. We wonder what will happen when they really get into it.

The power plant, which is to grow out of that skeleton of steel, will measure 168 by forty feet. It will be all steel and concrete—fireproof throughout. It will supply the power which will saw and shape the lumber from Ford's 440,000 acres of hard-wood timber, stretching over seven counties throughout upper Michigan. Within another few days the wooden forms will be removed from 220 cement piers which form the base and foundation of the huge saw mill, east of the power plant. Work has also been started on the eight miles of track which will constitute the yard layout of the plant. One mile of track has already been laid and three more are graded and ready for the ties and rails. The system will entirely circumscribe the site of the plant, with spurs running into each building. And in addition, work will be started next week on the great water line to the plant from one of the several clear water lakes adjacent to Iron Mountain. Over 100 men will be employed on this job alone.

The peculiar feature of Ford's construction policy seems to be his method of keeping every department of the work at a comparatively equal basis of progress. By this I mean that it is apparent that the sawmill, power plant, yard layout and water mains will actually be completed at about the same time. And here another feature enters into the plan—the construction of dwelling houses for employees. It is anticipated that by November 1, ten of the Ford dwellings will be completed. Officials do not state, at present, to what extent this work will be carried out, but predict that on the basis of Ford's mammoth operations at Detroit, there will be a home for every married employee if he wants it. The Ford policy provides the sale of houses to employees at a figure much lower than could be secured within any corporate city limits through the usual real estate mediums.

There is no labor shortage at Iron Mountain, insofar as Ford is concerned. In fact the extreme runs exactly opposite—there is an over-abundance of it. And here, too, Ford has adopted a definite policy, and one which, it would seem, reflects considerable credit on the "Flivver King's" character in business. Thus far, he has accepted no help which can be proven to have come from either the lumber or mining companies throughout upper Michigan. An official of the company at Iron Mountain is responsible for this statement. Asked what had prompted a policy of this kind, the official replied: "Because these fellows save Mr. Ford excellent co-operation in the selection of this site, and he does not intend to injure their operations if he can help it."

And while all this is going on, the city of Iron Mountain is now calling it "city" since Ford came) hasn't lagged an inch in the excited flurry of anticipation and preparation. Real estate values which leaped at the news of the auto-king's opening are out of sight now. Cow barns and shoe-makers' shacks are commanding elegant prices, and we were told that there is not a foot of ground within the city limits which can be bought for anything that sounds like even a reasonable figure. Land agents are capitalizing the opportunity to open up "booms" in building lots just outside the limits, and scarehead advertising is a familiar site throughout that and neighboring communities. Land men, theater men, prospective shopkeepers and eagle-eyed delegates from every walk of life still throng in and out of the city—and most of them leave without having accompanied their purpose of "buying up."

There is talk of great blast furnaces—built up out of the extensive mineral rights purchased by Ford with the 440,000 acres of hard-wood timber. There are visions of a great chain of lumber camps, sawmills and warehouses, employing thousands of men and creating hundreds of small lumbering communities throughout the region in which the Ford timber is located. There is rumor of new railway lines, new boat routes and the disruption of every old method of manufacturing process and policy known to man. But, when you collar the man who is making the hardest and loudest, pin him down and ask him: "Now do you actually know just what this is going to mean to your town?" you get something like this: "Well, no, not exactly, but just wait, now, 'n' you'll see."

It is doubtful whether anyone but Ford and his immediate business associates know just what the future holds for upper Michigan. Residents of a number of small mining and lumbering villages willingly "swear" that they have seen Ford men "snooping" about these parts of state. Anyone of them will prove it to you by leading you to what they consider the best little site in the country, and doping it out for your particular benefit, that it is "perfectly natural for a man like Henry Ford to want a place like this."

The more conservative will venture the remark that there is a lot more to it than the plan at Iron Mountain. Further than that they would rather not say, but it is logical, after all, that with certain mineral rights whose productivity is pretty accurately established in his possession, a man as big in foresight as Henry Ford, and with his organization, is not going to let that mineral lie idle very long.

But, after all, we've got to fall back on the alibi of the guy that bolted the loudest: "Just you wait, 'n' you'll see."

It would be an important help if all the houses that are needed in the city had been built...

The high price of materials and labor is usually given as the reason that building has not kept pace with the demand...

Seven bad and selfish germs, in a dreadful fix...

Six fresh and frisky germs, very much alive...

Five active, hopeful germs, what an awful bore...

Four scared but plucky germs, anxious as could be...

Three wily, worried germs, nothing much to do...

Two homeless hopeless germs, out of their wits...

One lonesome, luckless germ, with no one to help...

LET MICHIGAN LEAD IN HEALTH

A state motto has marked for the people of Michigan the right and the obligation to be first in health matters.

The only first rank now held by Michigan among thirty states is first in death rate for its diptheria.

After a table had been compiled showing Michigan's place in the health line, Commissioner Olin called a conference of Bureau heads...

Attend the Fall. Your own welfare and the welfare of your family demand that you concern yourself with your health...

Write that if, instead of pointing out the old gentleman to his young nephew as the lad was writing out a check...

"Cause it is," said the father, a trifle vexed, "just the same as it is the abbreviation for cancer."

"Tuberculosis is caused by a living germ in the lungs. The body of a healthy person will resist its growth and may kill the germ...

THE WOODS UNKNOWN.

We deck the grave of him who came back again to sleep; But what of him unknown to fame...

He hears the sighing in his sleep of cedars by his door.

Fortunate. "Sure, it's Mike that's the lucky man."

He was just took out on an insurance policy for $10,000 and the very next day he fell off the bridge and got drowned in the river.

Last Night's Dreams - What They Mean

DO YOU DREAM OF ACTORS? SOMETIMES in our excursions into the unconscious we find ourselves in the company of actors or actresses...

As to how a man should treat an actress who has a married man tied to her as for a now with his wife...

Freud's dictum that every dream is the fulfillment of a wish is easy enough to accept with regard to the dreamer for all of us have, at some time, wished to meet actors and actresses and converse with them.

Write that if, instead of pointing out the old gentleman to his young nephew as the lad was writing out a check...

"Cause it is," said the father, a trifle vexed, "just the same as it is the abbreviation for cancer."

The Only National Bank in Gladstone

Some People Who Have the Cents to Save Have Not the Sense to Save

That sounds funny but its true. If you want to get ahead you must have not only the CENTS to save but the SENSE to save. Either is of little value without the other.

It takes both CENTS and SENSE to make dollars, but you will find that both bear interest when you put your money in a Savings Account at this bank. Why not begin TODAY?

The main thing that's wrong with the world is that there are so many unnecessary people in it. Everybody is a bore some time or other and it's important for him to know when that time comes.

If you are worried by small criticisms and small critics, it means that you are the same size as the critics. When a man arrives at the age where he would rather start than work, he's going down hill.

THE AGE OF SANITATION

Minimize the spread of germs is the watchword of science. The Nes-Lo process of Dry Cleaning is the superlative in Sanitary precaution. By this process your garments touch no other. That's something exclusive. Nes-Lo dry cleaning fluid neutralizes the odors—antimicrobial action eliminates the germs. That's a secret of the process. You'll learn to appreciate it. WE CALL AND DELIVER.

Why I Like This Bank

By a Woman Depositor

I take care of my husband's banking business, and thus have constant dealings with the Gladstone State Savings Bank.
I am busy. Ordinarily I like to conduct my business quickly, without talk. I can always do that there.
But there are other times when I need advice, and there I always get it. Also kindly help on matters with which I am not familiar.
I may come and go a dozen times without an interruption, and I always receive courteous treatment.
They shoulder all the little troubles which occur in banking business. I can never ask to much.
The atmosphere about the bank is friendly and attractive. Each visit is a pleasure. I cannot see what one could ask or hope for in a bank which this bank doesn't offer. I don't wonder that it grows.

RAPID RIVER

Pity the poor contractor. Also the poor public. Last week the NEWS had a few words to say in explanation of the seemingly unnecessary long delay around the construction of the new Days river concrete bridge. We are occasion to defend the contractor based on information received from that source and against the criticism of the public.

Last evening we met up with a bunch of auto fans and our peculiar attitude and athletic build alone prevented us from coming to grief in their hands. It appeared that our defence of the contractor was, in the opinion, uncalled for.

It is claimed that there is plenty of room for a temporary bridge with the detour of but a few feet but south of the building sight of the new bridge. Criticism became stronger following the recent heavy rain when the road in use became so badly cut up as to be almost impassable and through almost impossible during the congested traffic over the bad stretch.

However relief is in sight and further comment is unnecessary. For the past few days the contractors have been busy assembling long poles for stringers of these are being laid from bank to bank by the side of the bridge and within a few hours after its opening the bridge will be completed ready for the traffic. It will be a good improvement on a suitable approach which have been built of concrete and will stand and the letour I see that that each end is viable from the same point at the 86 is time eliminating the necessity of an approach.
