FIRST ACCIDENT OF DEER SEASON TO DETROIT MAN

DRESSED IN OLIVE DRAB AND MISTAKEN FOR DEER BY COMPANION

What was probably the first hunting accident of the season occurred Saturday afternoon when William Rife, of Detroit, was mistaken for a deer by H. A. Van Aukon, hunting jeweler, and shot through the hip. He is at the Munising hospital, where he will probably be confined for two or three months, but it is not thought that the injury will have any more serious effect.

Rife, an ex-soldier, was dressed in olive drab. He was following a fresh deer trail, the same animal that Van Aukon, accompanied by Jack Lindquist and Howard Gattis, of Chatham, had been tracking. When the accident occurred, Rife was bending over behind a clump of bushes, only his hip showing. Van Aukon mistook him for the deer they were tracking, and fired. The bullet entered Rife's left hip, shattering the bone, and emerged from the right leg. No vital organs were touched.

Keep Out of O. D.
"Saturday's accident is a warning to all hunters, particularly ex-service men, not to wear olive-drab in the woods," said a Gladstone hunter today. "The convenience and adaptability of army clothing is far outweighed by the danger attendant upon wearing it. If one must wear it, at least let him have it dyed a color sufficiently conspicuous to prevent the wearer from being the victim of some over-zealous hunter. All garments of fur, or fur trimmed, are open to the same objection. On the other hand, the large amount of khaki that undoubtedly is being worn this fall makes it doubly imperative for the hunter to make sure what he is shooting at before he pulls the trigger."

COOPERAGE CO NOT LAYING OFF

WILL NOT SUSPEND OPERATIONS IN ANY DEPARTMENT UNLESS FORCED

Up to tonight the Northwestern Cooperage company has taken no action similar to that of the I. Steinhilber and the Bay de Noc lumber companies, in suspending work in certain departments of their mills.

Will "Hang On"
"Our market is far from satisfactory but we do not want to suspend any departments unless we are absolutely forced to it," Mr. L. N. Busbong explained this afternoon. "It is possible that we may have to suspend as a measure of protection, but if it can be avoided we will not do so."

Mr. Busbong explained that the company's storage warehouses were being filled up and he was hopeful that a change in market conditions would come soon so that material could be disposed of. "We are just going into the winter," he stated, "and if we could suspend now, it would work a hardship on quite a lot of our people. We want to avoid this if possible and for that reason are going to hang on a while longer to see which way the market turns. However, if conditions do not improve materially, it is possible we may have to suspend operations in some departments."

Consider Men
It was indicated that if this came to pass many men as possible would be used in making repairs and worked in other capacities.

The present market conditions do not affect the Cleveland Cliff's plant at Kipling as much as the lumber industry. It was stated yesterday by an official of that company. They are laying off a few men who are not needed now, but there is nothing unusual about that.

Child Welfare Club Practically Decided On Visiting Nurse

The Child Welfare Club, which has been doing such noble work for infants and children of this and surrounding communities has decided to extend the scope of its influence some what and has arranged to establish a visiting nurse here for duty in this city and Brampton township.

This worthy and helpful organization has been in quest of a visiting nurse, who possesses the necessary qualifications for the past several months and the one who has virtually been decided upon comes very highly recommended.

The work of a visiting nurse is badly needed in the community, not only for the preservation of the health of the public in general, but to check up the splendidly efficient work being done in the Gladstone public schools.

It goes almost without saying that the extension of its activities, will receive the heartiest co-operation on the part of the public and as the entire community will benefit from this latest manifestation of enterprise on the part of the club, some really fine results are anticipated.

HUNTERS SWARM INTO WOODS AND MEET SUCCESS

NEARLY SIX THOUSAND MEN FROM LOWER PENINSULA ARE AFTER DEER

If every hunter going into the Ashtabula and George Burt, Bert Reese and Jay LaBram, the deer are doing woods this season, has the same luck for a terrific slaughter. The boys left Gladstone Saturday and Sunday night returned with their licenses filled.

The author is claimed to be ideal for the sport this year, the snowfall making things just right for tracking and still not being deep enough to interfere with traveling freely.

Deputy City Clerk Habermann has sold nearly 250 licenses so far this season and it is a fair presumption that by the time this is read, all of the owners of these licenses are in camp, many of them undoubtedly already having their deer.

Lo's Deer
Hunting is expected to be especially good this year and local sportsmen left with a feeling of confidence that they would be able to get a deer before the short season ended.

Reports from other sections of the peninsula indicate that more than the usual number of hunters have come into the country from the lower peninsula, and quite a number from out of the state.

Lower Michigan Hunters
It is estimated that up to the opening of the season Saturday morning, more than 5,500 men had crossed the straits headed for the hunting grounds of the upper peninsula. So great were their numbers that train schedules were rather badly "shot" as a result of the frequent stops to let them drop off at some favorite spot leading to a camp.

Because of the shortened season it is assumed that all of the lower peninsula men who love the sport, are already on the ground, whereas last season they divided the period, some coming during the first ten days and others preferring to wait until later.

Manistique to Vote On Better Water at Election Next Month

That the matter of improving water service of Manistique is not permanently deferred was manifested at the council meeting last Monday night when in compliance with a resolution of the Board of Public Works, it was decided to hold a special election for the purpose of voting a bond for the city for $27,000 to improve the water supply.

The day set for the election is the second Tuesday in December which falls upon the fourteenth. The board of public works held a special meeting Monday afternoon and adopted a resolution asking the council to bring the matter before the public at an early date, whereupon, the council passed the resolution unanimously.

Civic League Meet
The Women's Civic League of this city will meet tomorrow night at the home of Mrs. Esther Jacobs. The regular business meeting will be held and also an election of officers. All members are urged to be present.

Miss Josephine Rosenblum is visiting with friends in Manistique.

THE AMERICAN SPIRIT OF 1920

WAGES ARE CUT

Calumet And Hecla Announces Reduction to Take Place Beginning Tuesday Nov. 16 Because of Market Conditions

The Calumet and Hecla Mining company has announced a reduction of fifteen per cent in all salaries and wages and the suspension of operations at the White Pine, LaSalle, Osceola Consolidated and the Osceola Branch of the C. & H. effective Tuesday, November 16. Forces at other mines of the company not affected by the suspension will be reduced also, according to the announcement.

The announcement as posted at the various mines follows:
"Beginning with Tuesday, November 16th, there will be a reduction of fifteen per cent in all salaries and wages."
"The White Pine, LaSalle, Osceola Consolidated and the Osceola branch of the Calumet & Hecla will be closed down and there will be a reduction in the forces at the other mines."
"It is with regret we make the above announcement as we realize the hardships it will impose on so many employees, but conditions in the copper mining industry, the low price for the metal, the limited market, the excess of current production over consumption, the excess of cost over selling price and the inability to reduce costs materially because of the very high price of coal and other supplies, together with the uncertainties of the future are such as to make any other procedure impossible."
"By James MacNaughton, General Manager."

HUNTING PARTY CHASES DEER FROM ROAD WHILE TRYING TO REACH CAMP

Four men with four guns, four miles from camp at four o'clock Saturday afternoon were forced to halt, cease and delay their journey in an automobile, all because of the curiosity of a female deer with a decided penchant for thorough investigation.

Emanuel and Nels Swanson, Eric Lindahl and John Nelson with Olaf Carlson at the wheel were heading into the Oster settlement when a deer calmly walked into the road, leisurely surveyed the oncoming machine and continued to stand there until the car came to a halt.

There was a hurried scramble among luggage in the bottom of the car to dig up a gun and get some shells into it. All the while the deer kept stiring up the situation, and just as one of the party was almost ready to begin to get set for a shot, that aggravating file bounded lightly across the ditch and went crashing away through the brush, to be revealed to this hunting party no more.

But—and this is the main point—they returned Sunday night with a nice big buck and that helped some.

Peter Darrion returned yesterday from Canada where he visited his daughter.

FLOYD DABNEY NEARLY WALKS INTO SET GUN

ANOTHER STEP WOULD HAVE MEANT SUDDEN DEATH TO GLADSTONE MAN

Floyd Dabney, son of Frank Dabney of this city, had a very narrow escape from death through the planting of a "setgun" by some unknown party, Saturday.

Mr. Dabney left early Saturday morning for the Oster neighborhood and was tramping sturdily through the woods when his eye caught a piece of string stretched out across a runway just as he was about to set his foot in a position which would have caught the string. Instinct prompted him to swerve and he missed the string.

An examination developed that the string led to a mouse trap attached to the stock of a gun in such a way that a slight pull on the string would have sprung the trap and fired the gun.

In Deadly Position
The gun was fixed in a clump of bushes in a position to catch any object from two to four feet high and had Mr. Dabney been in front of the gun when it was discharged he would have been blown to pieces.

The gun was a 12-gauge shotgun loaded with buckshot and the mouse-trap was so delicately adjusted that it would require but a very slight pull on the string to release it.

Mr. Dabney brought the gun back to Gladstone with him and the matter will be reported to the proper authorities. The setting of a gun in the woods at any time is regarded as one of the gravest crimes by which woods men are menaced, but it is particularly dangerous when practiced during the hunting season, especially this year when the season is so short and the woods are sheltering to many hunters, many of them amateurs.

Hunters Indignant
News of the finding of the "set gun" stirred up the greatest indignation among the real, true sportsmen in this city and as they realize that every man who goes into the woods is subjected to danger from this practice every man is keeping a sharp lookout for information that may lead to the capture of the guilty party.

Incidentally, Mr. Dabney did not become so frightened by his experience that he forgot to get a deer. He brought his kill back with him Saturday night and is believed to be one of the first men to return with his license filled.

Small Fire
The home of A. Clark was the scene of a small blaze about 7 o'clock Saturday evening, caused from an overheated pipe which had been temporarily run through a partition while a heating plant is being installed at the Clark home. No great damage was done, although the fire had gotten into the studding before the arrival of the chemical truck.

PLENTY OF COAL

Soft Coal Situation is Said to Be Very Encouraging and Price May Show Drop Soon

Washington, Nov. 15.—Continued improvement in the soft coal situation was noted in a review issued today by the National Coal Association, which predicted a production of more than 12,000,000 tons for the week ending yesterday. The association said that it had no reports of any immediate shortage.

Great manufacturing plants in dire need of coal in the fall now have an ample supply, the report asserted. "Public utilities have had their immediate wants filled while many have been able to provide stocks for the winter," it added.

Decreased prices have resulted as a consequence of the improved situation the report declared, adding that "in many places the decline had been from 25 to 50 per cent."

Equal Distribution
Washington, Nov. 15.—Measures to uncover alleged violations of the law in distributing of coal cars are to be taken soon by the interstate commerce commission. Orders calling for an investigation of alleged discrimination in redistribution of cars were entered Nov. 3, but officials explained today that the press of other business had prevented the beginning of the inquiry.

CARD PARTY TO RAISE FUNDS FOR PURCHASE OF SOME IRISH BONDS

A card party is to be given in the Parish hall Wednesday evening for the purpose of raising funds to assist in the purchase of "Irish bonds" which are now being disposed of in this city in order to help Ireland in her struggle for freedom and recognition.

Funds raised in this manner are to be used in "specific out" donations made by citizens who do not feel able to take an entire bond by themselves. In this way, through the activities of the various societies at work in the city, it is expected that a number of bonds can be purchased by pooling the funds.

Known as the Irish bond-certificates, the bonds will be issued from national headquarters of the American Commission on Irish Independence to individual subscribers, and will be signed by President de Valera, and one of the clerks of Dan Eireann, the Irish national assembly. All that part of the loan which was to have been raised in Ireland has been raised, although many were rationed for their part in raising it. The scripts offered in this country are in denominations of $10, $25, $50, $100, $500, $1,000 and up. "Orders" are taken by the local committees and the bonds issued from the American headquarters. Repayment of principal and payment of interest, is conditional upon recognition of the Irish republic, and withdrawal of British military supervision.

LAKE STEAMER A TOTAL WRECK NO LIVES LOST

THE FRANCIS J. WIDLAR COMES TO GRIEF ON THE PANCAKE SHOALS

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 15.—The Becker line steamer, Francis J. Widlar, is wrecked on Pancake shoals, ten miles northeast of Whitefish Bay, said Captain Arthur Forbes of Ash-tabula, Ohio, in command, has been taken aboard the steamer Livingstone, due here tomorrow, according to a wireless from Captain Forbes to the Canadian Snow wireless station last night.

Captain Forbes asked that an attempt be made to take off the remainder of the crew. It is assumed that a part of the crew was taken aboard the Livingstone. The Widlar is a complete wreck, the message said. Captain Forbes' message said:

Is Total Wreck
"Just boarded steamer Livingstone. I want you to send word to the Crystal Point life saving station to take off the remainder of the crew of the steamer Widlar off Pancake shoals. The Widlar is a total wreck. Please do this at once."

The steamer Livingstone is down-bound and will not arrive here until morning. A wireless was received saying that the tug Iowa sent today to Pancake shoals in search of the Widlar now is lying alongside the Livingstone. Captain Root of the Great Lakes Towing company here, has instructed the tug to proceed to Whitefish Point and press the life saving crew into service if the Iowa is unable to take off the remainder of the crew.

Telegraph and telephone communications to the Crystal Point station cannot be obtained because office connections are closed.

It is believed here that Captain Forbes and some of his crew went to the channel in a small boat from their wrecked vessel so that they might communicate with a passing vessel. The captain's message does not lead to the belief here that there has been loss of life.

RAILROAD MEN HOLD BIG MEET

SOCIAL FEATURE ENJOYED BY WIVES AND FAMILIES OF THE MEMBERS

One of the largest and most enthusiastic meetings held here in some time by members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers was held Sunday in the Eagle hall.

The affair was in the nature of a combination business and social meeting. The first session was called about 9 o'clock in the morning when the routine business was transacted and a number of matters of much importance to the membership came up for consideration.

Fine Dinner Served
At 1 o'clock the ladies and other members of the families of the men were invited in to a big feed which was served up in the regular meeting place. This part of the program was hugely enjoyed and it was followed by several hours of entertainment in the afternoon, music and singing being the chief forms of entertainment.

Brook Jones, general chairman of the organization from Minneapolis, was present and addressed the men in the regular meeting. Several impromptu addresses were also made during the afternoon by various members of the Brotherhood.

Out of Town Guests
Civic and industrial unity and better citizenship were subjects receiving much attention at the meeting, which proved one of the most enjoyable as well as most profitable held here for several months.

Mr. Weber will be open for all sorts of dredging jobs as soon as the new outfit arrives, which is expected to be this week.

Bob Bonlet after a short visit here and at Rock will leave tonight for his home in Minneapolis.

EARLY EGYPTIANS AND MUSIC

Bands of Slaves Furnished Sweet Sounds for Their Masters Many Centuries Before Christ.

We hear more of music in the land of the pharaohs at the beginning of the nineteenth century, about 1350 B. C., when the power of Egypt, which had been steadily mounting during the eighteenth dynasty, had reached its height under Rameses II. Passing down the crowded streets, where through the open shop fronts, we may see the artisans in thousands at work at their laborious daily tasks, let us go in quest of music. We may traverse the busy streets of Thebes or Heliopolis in vain, and it is not till the shades of evening fall and the entertainments of the wealthy begin that we discover the existence of music in Egypt at all. We have to penetrate some brilliantly lighted ball room of guests and attendant slaves, and at the far end of the luxuriant room we shall see a band of men and women playing on their instruments amid all the clatter of the dishes and the chatter of the guests. They are all slaves, and before each piece they play they do obeisance to the master of the house. The business of these slaves is to attend the banquets of the great and play and sing for the amusement of the company. We find them constantly represented in sculpture in groups of four, two to eight persons—some women and some men—playing on various instruments, as the harp, pipe, flute, etc.

LUMBER MILLS SUSPEND FOR A BETTER MARKET

CONDITIONS FORCE LAYING OFF OF A LARGE NUMBER OF MEN

Announcement was made Saturday night by both the I. Stephenson company, of Wells, and the Bay de Noe Lumber company, of Nahma, of an indefinite suspension of work in certain departments of the industry. The suspension, it is said, will affect approximately 300 men.

Both concerns announce that they have been operating until their storage houses are filled and as they have found practically no market for their goods, they have decided to shut things down until such a time as conditions seem to warrant a resumption of full activity.

So far as has been learned, this suspension will not affect the woods operations of either company. Saturday morning three carloads of sleighs and woods equipment which had been brought down for repairs during the summer, were shipped out by the I. S. company from Wells. The Bay de Noe company states it will be able to use a good many of the men laid off from the mill, in making repairs and in working other departments of the business.

The close down at Wells is in the flooring plant and about 100 persons are affected. No predictions have been made as to a time for resumption of work.

Get That Wolf!

"Get that wolf!" is the order under which H. P. Williams, of Custer, one of the most experienced hunters in South Dakota, is working for the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture.

"That wolf" is a wicked veteran with the cunning of a criminal human and with an account of $25,000 charged against him for cattle and sheep destroyed in the six or seven years of his depredations.

This big cat has had defied all efforts of local hunters. One of the tactics credited to him is that, after making a kill of a fat calf or steer and eating his fill he makes a long trail from his kill and back tracks on a parallel line a few rods away. He then lies in wait at a point convenient to the sheltering timber.

When the hunters trail him with dogs he watches them from his cover safely to leeward, to avoid his scent being carried. As the pack comes the scent he quietly slips into the woodland and makes his getaway.

Stock raisers had all decided that it would be necessary to board the old "varmint" for the rest of his natural life, or until he died from overeating; but the Biological Survey is determined not to be defeated by a wolf, and Williams promises to bring in the marauder before another season is ended.

CHRISTMAS SEALS TO BE PUSHED VIGOROUSLY BEGINNING NEXT MONTH

Lansing, Nov. 15.—The news that "Christy" Mathewson, the idol of scores of millions of baseball fans, has fallen a victim to tuberculosis and is now being treated for that disease in a New York sanatorium has shocked large masses of people into an acute realization of the fact that the white plague is no respecter of persons.

Some of the world's greatest men have had their careers cut short by tuberculosis, the most familiar of all to the average person being perhaps the lovable Robert Louis Stevenson.

But men like Stevenson were indoor persons who were supposed to have contracted the disease because of too much poring over books and burning of midnight oil. It is a popular notion that the outdoor man, like a base ball player, is practically immune.

And the man of outdoor habits has much the best of the chances, the Michigan Anti-tuberculosis association declares, but he is not immune. The great forest tracts that tuberculosis is almost always contracted in childhood and lies dormant till the time when conditions for its development are favorable. The outdoor man usually builds up a strong constitution that keeps the disease at bay; but he sometimes has periods of illness when his vitality is depleted, and then he is in danger like anybody else who has the germs in his body.

To bring commensurate information before the public, the attention of the people of the state is one of the functions of the Michigan Anti-tuberculosis Association. Such information is the best safeguard against the disease and counteracts the masses of misinformation that are constantly being spread by nostrum vendors. The state association expects to increase its efforts against the disease in 1921 and to finance this work the annual Christmas Seal sale is open December 1st and last till December 31st, during which time the association expects to sell 20,000,000 seals.

BIG LIVE STOCK SHOW IS CLIMAX OF FAIRS

Now that the State Fair circuit has been completed and the live stock shows of lesser magnitude announced for the current season have terminated with success in every instance, the industry is preparing for the greatest event of the year—the International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago during the first week of December. After such a successful display season of domestic animal life in every section of the United States, magnitude and interest are assured at this event.

The live stock industry is now recuperating after the stress of war period operations all over the world, the international character of the Chicago event giving it trans-Atlantic and antipodean importance. An unusually large representation is promised by Great Britain, France, Italy, Canada, Argentina, Australia and other countries—all potential markets for pure-bred cattle, hogs and sheep produced in the United States. Breeding problems will be elucidated and the new feature inaugurated last year under the auspices of the Chicago Board of Trade—a grain and hay exhibit—will be on a vastly greater scale. All the breeds will be represented in the arena, the entire aggregation constituting the greatest assemblage of pure-bred live stock ever assembled for competitive purposes.

Novelties have been provided for the evening entertainment, which has always been a popular feature of the exposition.

Sugar Beet Dept Planned By Bureau

Plans for the formation of a sugar beet department of the Michigan State Farm Bureau which will represent the interests of the 12,000 sugar beet growers of the state, most of whom are members of the farm bureau, are being perfected by a committee of five appointed by representatives of 23 counties, according to the state farm bureau.

At a recent meeting of this committee, December 16 was set as the time for submitting of its report to the representatives of the sugar beet counties, when a plan of organizing the interests of the growers is expected to be adopted.

MR. PORCUPINE

ONE morning Bob Rabbit and Tim Hare were running through the woods when Bob spotted Mr. Porcupine sitting in the doorway at his home.

"There is old Mr. Hedgehog," he said in a whisper to Tim Hare. "Better not let him see you because he can throw one of those sharp quills he carries under his long coarse hair."

But Mr. Porcupine heard Bob Rabbit, for his ears are very keen and he at once retorted, but before Tim and Bob had time to run he spoke to them and dropped his quills out of sight.

"Come here," he called. "I won't hurt you. I want to explain a few things to you youngsters so you will am and if you could hear the story from some animal that has tried to harm him. I guess he would tell you a very different story if he ever tried the same thing on me.

"I do not throw my quills at an enemy as many think, but I can easily let an enemy carry away as many as he likes so deeply buried in him that they have to be drawn out.

"Now, Mr. Hedgehog uses his quills to defend himself, but he cannot sound as I can, and look at my tail. Why, you should see me use that when an enemy tries to attack me."

Mr. Porcupine suddenly dropped his head, arched his back and planted his feet firmly with all his quills or spines erect and swung around his club-like tail with many more spines, so swiftly that Tim Hare and Bob Rabbit ran.

When they were at some distance from Mr. Porcupine's house they peeped out from behind a tree where they had taken refuge.

"Did you ever see your friend, Mr. Hedgehog, do that?" called Mr. Porcupine, looking very calm again.

"He is not a friend of ours," answered Bob Rabbit. "I just thought you had two names and that Hedgehog was one of them."

"Well, I have only one name and don't you let me hear you call me by any other," said Mr. Porcupine, walking toward them.

"You will never hear us call you anything," called Bob and Tim as they scampered off through the woods.

"I know why he was so angry," said Tim Hare, when they were safe in their part of the woods. "Mr. Hedgehog is the little fellow that rolls up like a ball when he is scared and Mr. Porcupine thinks he is a coward for not fighting as he does."

"Well, they both have very sharp quills and I think Mr. Porcupine is very fussy," said Bob Rabbit. "But I will not get near enough to call him anything again. I can tell you that."

never call a Porcupine a Hedgehog again. It just makes me bristle when I hear that name.

"But we thought you were Mr. Hedgehog," said Bob Rabbit, keeping at a distance, in spite of Mr. Porcupine's promise.

"Yes, I know, and so do many others think that is my name," said Mr. Porcupine, "but if you listen I will tell you the difference."

"In the first place we are in no way related, although Mr. H. has quills, but he eats nuts and many things which I would scorn.

NINE YEAR OLD GEORGE DESOTELL HAS ADVENTURS

KEYS POLICE OF TWO CITIES GUESSING FOR SEVERAL HOURS TODAY

The spirit of C. Colombo, Adventurer burns brightly in the breast of nine year-old George Desotell of this city. George apparently has a burning curiosity to explore the great, wide spaces of earth, he would know of his own knowledge what lies hidden beyond the range of his present habitation.

Wherefore while he was strolling idly about in an alley back of the Mike's store this forenoon, he thought him of a far off land he had heard mentioned as Es-Koh-Kin-Ah, which being freely translated means Sister City to Gladstone. The fact that Olson & Anderson like a black pony attached to a delivery wagon happened to be standing in the alley at the exact moment George's thought was born, made all conditions right, so he climbed aboard the wagon and started on his career of discovery.

Horde Is Missed A few minutes later, the rig was missed. It was at first thought the horse had merely strayed away and search of the adjacent streets and alleys was made without avail.

Plainly the matter was reported to the police and travelers from Escanaba mentioned having seen a rig answering that description on the road between Gladstone and Escanaba.

Chief Danielson notified the Escanaba

naba police and himself started from this end of the line. The two forces came together at the St. Paul docks where George, proudly perched up on the high seat was playfully joggling Black Beauty back toward Gladstone.

Back to Nature He was on the grand halling sign of the order of Public Protectors and then explained enigmatically. It appears the youngster had come as far as the beginning of the parcel street in Escanaba, given the town the face over from that angle and decided that it wasn't worth his while. He didn't think he was going to find anything new there so he started the return trip, which was accomplished under escort.

George hadn't any idea of doing anything wrong. He simply didn't happen to be in school and time hung heavily on his hands. So he filled them with a pair of lines and sallied forth in search of adventure. They let George do it. And George did.

Splitting Bank Accounts

Now and then we find a man who injures his own credit through failure to appreciate the right relationship and the mutual interest between a customer and his bank.

A bank can not loan money the way a grocer sells beans. The bank must limit its loans, keep its assets liquid and sustain cash reserves.

Each loan requires most careful consideration from many standpoints.

Often special provision must be made to accommodate a customer, and when a bank extends a line of credit it does so with expectation of the customer's cooperation and support.

The fact that he is a depositor has a bearing on the credit and accommodation he receives. In loaning money to him the bank forges other investments, and in working with him to promote his business it has a right to expect his loyal patronage.

But an occasional customer thinks that buying the use of money is just like buying cigars. After receiving liberal accommodation from one bank, given in consideration not only of his responsibility but also of his future business, he may suddenly decide to split his account or to turn the remainder of his business over to another institution.

First thing you know he is trying to borrow from two banks without keeping a substantial account in either. Not knowing what loans he may have elsewhere, neither bank knows to any certainty where he stands.

The result is that he does not stand well with either and loses more than half of the credit he formerly possessed. The success of our bank is due in no small measure to the kind of co-operation we give our customers. The value of this team-work a good many successful people can attest.

But a bank's wholehearted co-operation can only be extended to loyal customers who use the bank's service on a fair reciprocal basis. Unless a person has unusually large reserves, it is folly to scatter his banking business. When he divides his account he simply subtracts from his credit

SETTLERS TAKE BIG RISK WITH SMALL CAPITAL

FAILURE SEEN FOR MANY IN THE NORTHERN PART OF WISCONSIN.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 15.—Settlers buying land in upper Wisconsin with less than $2000 to start with are facing a serious risk, Prof. Richard T. Day, head of the economics department of the University of Wisconsin, and D. H. Hibbard, of the agriculture economics department, point out in a bulletin to be issued shortly by the Agricultural Experiment station. They declare that the average settler in that section has with not far from $500 capital.

After getting on the land the development stage requires an available capital of at least $2,500, the bulletin says. In this period comes the erection of permanent buildings, the breeding of a good dairy herd and the accumulation of farm machinery.

Credit for these improvements can be obtained in Wisconsin at lower rates than in any state west of the Michigan mountains, the writers declare. The average rate in Wisconsin is not more than one per cent more than the state average, the bulletin says, and these mortgage loans are for an average of four and nine-tenths years.

It quotes the opinion of experienced farmers and land agents, that small dairy farmers with a clear crop in rotation is the safest method of agriculture in the section. Giving the opinion of a prominent land company, the bulletin says:

Cattle second investment. "The fact standing out most clearly is that the settlers with no cows or few cows, were almost always drifting except the well. The farmer who depends the best farming policy from the start has by the fourth year accumulated a herd of perhaps ten head of cattle. Without cattle the farm clear cannot be put back into operation which to make out a bare existence but paying for the farm or making any substantial improvements is out of the question."

The bulletin says that those farmers who use a vicious circle. They have no basis of credit until they change their policy and their money when their policy is upon the most fertile to clear land with less than fifty dollars capital.

In order to have a true picture, the land observations were made in various sections supplemented by testimony of county agents, bankers, real estate dealers, successful farmers, settlers, merchants, selling to settlers and editors, the writers explain.

The county agents, they say, declared that a majority of the settlers were unable to judge farm values, that land is being sold for agricultural purposes that ought not to be added for such purposes, that small dairy farming with some such crop as corn in rotation is the safest type of farming in upper Wisconsin. The agents, it is said, were as the chief cause of failure of settlers as lack of capital and credit, lack of knowledge of land clearing, wife dissatisfaction, failure to appreciate the length of time it takes to develop a farm on cut-over land and lack of ability on the part of the settler.

Report Many Failures. The number of failures, county agents report, vary from two per cent in one county, to seventy-five per cent in another.

Real estate men report that about half of the settlers were native and half foreign born; that about 90 per cent had had experience as farmers; that the average capital possessed by each was slightly over $500 and that the minimum payment demanded for an acre was from $100 to $200.

Farmers say the chief causes of failure in their opinion are: Land sharks, high-priced land, lack of credit and difficulty in land clearing. They estimate, according to the bulletin, that where a settler has no clearing to begin with it takes from two to five years to get enough land cleared on which to make a living and many per cent report that they cannot get as much credit as they need.

Funeral of Child. Impressive funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, 1229 Wisconsin avenue, for their little son, Grant Sampson Brown, two months of age, who passed away after a brief illness last Thursday night. Services were conducted by Rev. D. D. Nagle, pastor of the Methodist church, and were largely attended. Interment was made in Fernwood cemetery.

The Friend, Indeed

By ROSE TRAVIS

The prettiest girl in Woodville was waiting in a garden hammock for Willis Thorpe. He came down the steps of the house a decidedly grave and somewhat settled expression upon his honest, open face.

Amy Robbins clasped her hands nervously as Thorpe shook his head rather gloomily and sighed. "I don't measure up to your father's requirements, Amy," he observed, "which means no engagement allowed, and therefore our marriage indefinitely postponed. Plainly, he thinks my prospects do not justify our union until I have a permanent position and something saved up."

"But oh! Willis, we could live on so little!" exclaimed Amy. "That would not be justice to my dear, No, he is right, but I have certain ideas in view I told him nothing about. I have learned that a careful preserve officer is to be appointed for this district and that I would like to see beyond your father's restrictions. I am going to try and get it. I don't want the matter stirred up for fear you will be crowded out soon to be offered. If they did I would be crowded out in the rush. I have some good letters to men of note and influence at my disposal. I am going to put in two weeks down these pulling wires and trying to land the appointment."

"Oh! Willis, do hope you get it!" "I understand that Senator Rosette could have a good deal to say about it, but I haven't as yet found anybody who knows him."

"I shall be so lonely while you are gone." "Well, there is your bosom friend, Carrie Trevor, to comfort you and that new prospective beau of hers, Martin Hood, will act as cavalier for you both when occasion requires."

"Oh! I shall stay strictly at home and just think of you all of the time," declared Amy loyally. Thorpe fortified himself with his letters of introduction and commendation and a few hundred dollars he had saved, and left for the state capital the next day. Political tactics were something foreign to his experience, but he was keen witted and in a day or two was quite posted as to the mysteries and manipulation of lobbying and the like. He felt himself fortunate when one day he was introduced to a man named Seth Prier. The go-between who brought about this apparently important acquaintance assured Thorpe that the fine dinner he bought him and a sum of money he loaned him comprised well deserved consideration.

"Price will fit you out, sure. He understands all the ropes and always lands his clients," declared the man. "Just follow his orders, tip him a couple of hundred for his help and you've bought a splendid position cheap."

There was a week of hopeful anticipation, of many promises of duty variety and activity for Thorpe. Then one day an honest man informed him that he was wasting both time and money for Prier to do real influence, and was deceiving him.

Thorpe was disappointed, almost discouraged. Then his aunt wrote him a letter that upset him greatly. She was naturally strict and a trouble maker, as he well knew, and also injected a poison into a certain dark imagination she made that aroused Thorpe's jealousy and caused him no little unhappiness.

"That young fellow, Martin Hood, whom everybody supposed was the special beau of Carrie Trevor, is showing a great deal more attention to Amy than to his supposed lady love. You had better be getting home, Willis, if you do not wish to lose Amy, for they are together nearly all of the time."

Thorpe was pretty gloomy all the way home on the train, divided between every side of the disappointment and over Amy. It was twilight as he passed the Robbins home. Thorpe caught sight of two familiar figures there in the garden—Amy and young Hood. She held his hand and was looking up into his face as if betokening the deepest emotion. If they were really friends, they acted as though very dear to one another.

Hood was all excitement, as though greatly pleased with something. He peered Amy on the arm familiarly. "Fardon me for intruding," Thorpe spoke harshly, "but it appears to me that some explanation is due me right here and now."

"To his acquaintance, instead of embarrassment at detection, confusion over untimely discovery, "the guilty couple" ran towards him all smiles and content.

"Oh, Willis!" chirped Amy gayly, "such news?" "Congratulations me upon my success," cried Hood, extending his hand. "Just think, Willis," muttered Amy, "after you were gone I feared that Mr. Hood was a nephew of Senator Rosette."

"And just an hour since I received this," and Hood waved an envelope. "It is a letter from my uncle and he grants my request. Your position is safe and I am glad to have been instrumental in securing the happiness of the best friend of my fiancée, Carrie Trevor."

And then Willis Thorpe eagerly grasped the extended hand of this grand friend, and kissed Amy with the ardor of a young man more deeply in love with her than ever.

FOX INDUSTRY PROVES PUZZLE TO MANY WHO HAVE COME INTO GAME

Muskegon, Mich.—With arrangements nearly complete for holding the first national convention of silver foxes in America, to be held here December 8, 9 and 10, many questions are being asked of fox breeders regarding the feeding of the animals. The most common one is: "Why is horse flesh the best food for foxes?"

The answer is negative, according to fox raisers, but it is as good as high priced beef steak for feeding and is cheaper. The supply appears to be inexhaustible. Farmers and city owners offer a continuous and increasing number of old work animals that have outlived their usefulness. The horses bring $10 to $20 each.

Foxes are not scavengers, however, it is pointed out, and they are most particular about their food. Careful breeders take the utmost pains in cooking preserving and handling the fox food. One Muskegon county fox farm operated a refrigerator plant. The foxes do not live entirely on a meat diet. Dog biscuits, a preparation of whole wheat, meat scraps and other ingredients, are eaten readily by the foxes. They also eat cereals, stale bread, milk and rice. Their diet is similar to that of a well-bred dog.

One New England breeder uses pigeons as the basic source of his fox food supply. He has a special building for the birds and raises them in great numbers. They are killed, cleaned and cooked before being fed to the foxes. All fanciers plan to feed a certain per cent of raw meat, but the tendency is to get away from this practice as far as possible, as the foxes appear to be less restless when raised on a more "domestic" diet.

FIRST AID WORK IS BEING PUSHED

Two phases of the Red Cross work that are being pushed under the peace program and the organization are first aid and life saving—two principals with which every person should have at least the fundamentals, for there is no telling at what time they will prove of vital need.

In the central division, in particular, is this work being carried on extensively and interested. More chapters have taken up this line of work and the number of schools which have adopted courses in first aid is increasing with considerable rapidity. During the last few months the Bureau of first aid has been instrumental in introducing courses in the normal schools in each of the states, with the result that several hundred teachers now are prepared to act as instructors. In several instances enough interest has been aroused in the normal schools to have work continued throughout the year.

Swimming Activities Grow. Swimming activities have been exceptionally well carried on, particularly at Muskegon, Mich., where, under the auspices of the Chicago chapter, more than 400 boys were taught swimming life saving and elementary first aid under expert instructors. Ludington, Mich., also employed a permanent teacher for swimming and life saving and accident prevention attendance in the classes. Many applications have been received from chapters throughout the division for the use of a swimming teacher, but unfortunately, up to the present time there have not been enough teachers to meet the demand.

Milwaukee Chapter Busy. Milwaukee chapter has carried on an exceptionally active campaign, both in first aid and life saving work, and reports a large number of graduates. This chapter also has pushed the advanced work in the instruction of first aid and has pupils at present awaiting their medals, which have been issued to them from Washington.

Many private institutions which have no connection whatever with the Red Cross have been ordering first aid supplies through the division office. These institutions undoubtedly, in a very short time, will be brought under the jurisdiction of the Red Cross chapters.

AROUND THE U.P.

Murley Men Escape

Delivery of three prisoners in the Iron county jail at Hurley, the third day of the week, under the administration of Sheriff Mike White, was effected the other day. The prisoners who escaped are: John Cahill, held on a charge of forgery and pandering, his alleged wife, Betsy Cahill, who was recently sentenced to a prison term for forgery, John Wright held for threatening the life of Judge Gruff Thomas, of municipal court; Steve Kinney, held for the larceny of goods valued at approximately $100. That assistance was given from the outside, some one sawing a bar in the window of the cell occupied by the men, is the belief of jail attendants, as there was no evidence of the jail delivery having been the work of the men in the jail it was reported by Wright, one of the three men who escaped, was to be given a hearing in municipal court.

Will Condemn Property

The Ironwood council has authorized the city attorney to draw and present at the next meeting of the city council resolutions empowering him to commence condemnation proceedings for acquiring property in Block 34, the site for the new municipal memorial building. The action was taken when Alderman Best reported to the council that some options which had been procured on property for the proposed municipal memorial building site were too high. Mr. Best reported that options had been obtained on all the necessary property with the exception of that owned by George Brewer, who was willing to vacate his property providing the city construct him a home on a site suitable to himself and his wife.

Court Fight Over Bonds

An action has been started against Iron county by Paul Kolinsky and Martin Sheer of Gogebic county and their attorney Leonard Deiderichs of Iron River to compel the county to pay to the complainants bounty for something like fourteen wolves that the board of supervisors refused to allow. This action brings to the front a controversy that has been smoldering on several months between the county, the state, and these complainants. Its final disposition will undoubtedly clear up questions about the honesty of the claims. The state has entered actively into this case and will contest it to the limit if developments indicate that the complainants have been dishonest in their claims to bounty which they have been filing with the counties of Iron, Gogebic, Ontonagon and Houghton for over a year.

New Election Ordered

The Manitowish council has passed a resolution to hold a special election December 14 to submit to the voters the decision as to bonding for $57,000 for extending and improving the city water system and also installing a new pumping system in place of the present one, which is nearly worn out and liable to leave the city without water at almost any time. The bonding proposition was submitted to the voters at the general election and lost by only eighteen votes, as it requires a two-thirds majority.

Arrest Coal Dealer

With a warrant served for the arrest of B. A. Morgan, coal dealer of Ironwood, City Attorney H. M. Norris will make a test case of the ordinance passed September 11, 1919, which relates to the measurements of wood and weighing of coal. The question has arisen whether Mr. Morgan is required to weigh coal under the direction of city authorities after having had his scales tested and found correct by the city scaler of weights and measure.

New School at Channing

The progressive little town of Channing is to have a modern school building as soon as the bonds can be sold and men can do the work. At a recent election held in the Sapola township school district, of which Channing is a part, it was voted to issue $75,000 worth of bonds for the erection of the new building. The vote was more than two to one in favor of the bonds. The bonds will be issued in denominations of $5,000 each one falling due each year. Channing has outgrown its present school accommodations and the citizens are anticipating a rapid growth during the coming year.

Kicked by Horse

Harold Nault, the three-and-half year old son of Mrs. and Mrs. Harold Nault, of Hardwood, died at the Iron Mountain hospital from the effects of a kick from a horse. The child was playing in the yard at the family home at the time of the accident, the mother being absent at church. No one witnessed the accident but the supposition is that the child wandered under the heels of the animal and was kicked in the head. An examination established that the base and vault of the skull had been fractured. An operation was performed and every endeavor was made to save the life, but the injuries were beyond skill and the child died.

Boy Seriously Wounded

While hunting rabbits with a boy friend several miles south of Wakefield, Gogebic county, Myrtle Demoski, the seventeen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Demoski, accidentally shot himself, causing serious injury to his right arm. According to the story told by the boy, he had been resting and was just standing up, as he arose he took hold of his shot gun by the barrel and in drawing it along the trigger probably came in contact with some obstruction and the gun discharged, the shot tearing away the lower part of the arm and fracturing the bone and elbow joint. He was taken by his companion, to the Wakefield hospital where the wound was given immediate attention.

FAMOUS OLD GERMAN CASTLE

Schloss Elitz, Built in the Twelfth Century, the Center of Some Famous Legends.

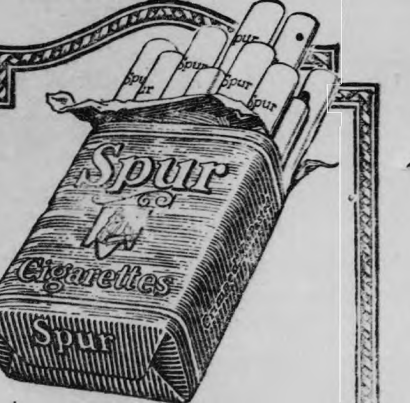

The Schloss Elitz, famous old castle on the River Moselle, destroyed by fire recently was the only castle of the scores along the Moselle that had never been captured by storm, never surrendered and never despoiled. It was built early in the twelfth century, and the territory it governed became famous because of the "peace of Elitz," a peace that was regulated by an oath taken by all subjects of the ruler, and by his own family. The oath provided that anyone who killed or injured anyone else should be banished forever. Guests were obliged to take the oath upon entering the castle, and were governed by it as long as they stayed in the territory.

The castle had four chateaux, one each for four branches of the family, and these divided the castle house itself. Many legends grew from the old walls, the best known being that of Agnes, a beautiful girl who refused to wed with a rival lord, and when the lover appeared at the castle gates with an army to seize her she demanded a place in the heart of the girl. Her armor is still shown at the castle with the hole in the breast where the arrow entered.

Bornes's Housing Problem. Housekeeping in Bornes has its complications. As a rule a large number of families live under one roof. On an average there are 40, but instances have been known in which as many as 400 persons were living together in a single community house. The houses are constructed on piles, with ladders leading to the outer uncovered veranda, which runs the entire length of the house. The veranda is used more or less as a public highway. Anyone passing through the village may climb up the ladder at one end, walk along it and climb down the other end in the most casual manner. Just back of it lies a covered portion of the house, and here most of the work is carried on. Opening from the veranda is a series of doors leading into separate rooms, one belonging to each family. Here the Dyaks do their cooking, eating and sleeping, except that unmarried girls usually sleep in a loft vacated from the rooms, while the boys occupy the inner veranda.

HEMPHILL EXPLAINS ORGANIZATION OF NEAR EAST RELIEF

Prominent New York Banker Says Aim Is 100% Relief of Starving Peoples.

"Just what is the Near East Relief? In the question that many people are asking whose interests have been awakened to the terrible conditions existing in the Levant today," says Alexander J. Hemphill, President of the Guarantee Trust Company and well known New York banker and financier. "In precise facts, the Near East Relief is a body incorporated by act of Congress the object of which is to provide relief and to assist in the repatriation, rehabilitation and re-establishment of suffering and dependent people of the Near East and adjacent areas; to provide for the care of orphans and widows and to promote the social, economic and industrial well-fare of those who have been rendered destitute or dependent, directly or indirectly, by the vicissitudes of war, the cruelties of men or other causes beyond their control."

100 Per Cent Relief.
"The aim of the organization is 100 per cent relief, the relief which parts those aided on a self-supporting basis which instills in them a confidence for the future, places in their hands the means with which to begin life anew and in their hearts the courage to go on. Work, that is the prescription subscribed and provided by those loyal men and women who have journeyed into perilous places for the sake of their fellow men; to make these people independent for the future, to encourage the hithering life of national pride."

"There are 82,291 workers employed in the industrial establishments of the Near East Relief, where wool is furnished for the women to spin and weave, and all the girls who are strong enough are washing wool, sewing, felting, grinding and sifting wheat, tailoring and learning to make lace. The big problem is to make these women independent."
"About 360 American men and women, Near East Relief workers, are now in the field, including 26 eminent physicians and surgeons, 76 nurses, 10 dentists, 15 industrial experts, 10 agriculturalists, 12 bacteriologists, 100 relief workers, 25 supply and transport workers, 10 teachers, 20 administrators, 24 secretaries, 7 engineers and 45 army officers."

Where Money Goes.
"Funds for relief purposes are distributed in two ways: First, the vast relief centers are authorized by the Executive Committee to draw sight drafts on New York for specific amounts each month; second, by supplies purchased in America, the major portion of which are shipped to the committee warehouses at Beirut and the remainder either to Beyrout or Hama."
"The relief is rapidly expanding and meeting the situation, but the future depends on the continuation of American support."

According to Mr. Hemphill, the need for American help to see the destitute peoples of the Near East through the crisis of present conditions is greater now than ever before on account of the necessity as to the future, the treachery of the Turkish government and the danger of bolshevism from Russia, which threatens to engulf the whole of Armenia.

Who Direct the Work.
Mr. Hemphill is the Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Near East Relief. Other members are Dr. James T. Barton, Secretary of the Foreign Department of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions; Elliott M. Buckley, banker, of Bonney Trust & Co., New York; Judge Abraham L. Ribick, former United States Ambassador to Turkey; Harold A. Tracy, a well known New York editor; Robert Hoover; William B. Miller, one of the Secretaries of the Interchurch World Movement; Henry Thurgood, United States Ambassador in Mexico; Edgar Brinton of the American Relief Administration; Charles V. W. Lewis, who is Secretary of the Near East Relief; and Dr. W. H. White, who is the medical director of the Near East Relief.

Crying For Bread

New East Relief Workers Distributing Bread to Newly Arrived Armenian Refugees in Constantinople.

The Constantinople district of the Near East Relief is wonderfully organized. All the bakeries which formerly supplied the Turkish army, under German management, have been taken over by the Near East Relief, and 20,000 loaves of bread are baked and distributed daily. Placed side by side, these loaves would make a line 250 miles long for the five months that the Near East Relief has operated its consolidated bakeries in Constantinople, alone.

The Near East Relief, with offices in every state, is asking for funds to go on with this work.

CATHOLICS WELCOME STATE SUPERVISION OF THEIR SCHOOLS

Any attempt to submit the so-called anti-protestant school amendment to the people within the next two years will be met with a concerted effort by Michigan Catholics to prevent the proposed bill from again becoming an issue at the polls.
This was asserted in a recent address by the Rev. Father Thomas R. Carey, spiritual director of the Detroit diocesan union of the Holy Name society, who said:
"We shall forestall such a movement by placing all Catholic schools in Michigan under the strictest state supervision and by compelling all teachers' examinations."

Welcome Supervision.
The Rt. Rev. Bishop E. D. Kelly, bishop of the Grand Rapids diocese, in commenting on the statement made by Father Carey said:
"We would welcome supervision of the Catholic parochial schools of the state if it were inaugurated by the school men of this state—persons who have principally at heart educational interests in Michigan. We would want such supervision to be intelligent and according to recognized educational standards."
"We have had university supervision of Catholic schools in Michigan for 28 years. St. Thomas' school in Ann Arbor has been on the accredited list of the U. S. M. for that length of time. We have felt that this university supervision was a little keener than state supervision would be."

Only a Cold.
Are you ill? It is often answered: "Oh, it's only a cold," as if a cold was a matter of little consequence, but people are beginning to learn that a common cold is a matter not to be trifled with, that some of the most serious diseases start with a cold. As soon as the first indication of a cold appears take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Remember that the sooner you get rid of your cold the less the danger, and this remedy will help you to throw it off.

Groesbeck's Life An Inspiration To Men of Ambition

Detroit, Mich.—From a saw mill to the governor's chair is, in brief, the life history of Alex J. Groesbeck, the next governor of Michigan.
Mr. Groesbeck, a Detroit, was born November 7, 1872, in Warren township, Macomb county. His father Louis Groesbeck, was Dutch-French ancestry and his mother was of French ancestry. He received a common school education at Mt. Clemens and at Wallaceburg, Ont., where he resided with his parents for two years. Between the ages of 15 and 17 he was employed in a saw mill. Then he began his study of law and with a firm in Port Huron.

Mr. Groesbeck entered the law department of the University of Michigan in 1892, graduating the following year. After that he practiced law in Detroit. He was elected attorney general in 1916 and was reelected in 1918 by a plurality of 125,654.

Nature Looking In.
I don't know anything sweeter than this looking in of nature through all the cracks in the walls and floors of our cities. You can hear in a million tones of hoarse cack on a square mile or two of earth which was green once. The trees look down from the hillsides and ask one another as they stand on treetops: "What are those people about?" And the small birds at their feet look up and whisper back: "We shall go and see." So the small birds peck themselves up in the best possible bundles and wait until the wind stirs them at night and whispers: "Come with me." Then they go with into the great city—one in a cleft in the pavement, one to a spout on the roof, one to a seam in the marble over a rich man's house and one to the grave without a stone where nothing but the moon is buried—and there they grow looking up from between the less trodden pavements, looking down on the comeliness of men from muddy roofs, looking out through the country's tallings, as Oliver Wendell Holmes.

George Jermaine Has Fine Record Against The Cincinnati Reds

George Jermaine, Escanaba boy, who pitched during the latter part of the season at Chillicothe, O., held the Cincinnati Reds to one run and three hits in five innings of an exhibition game last month, sending citizens from Ohio newspapermen. Jermaine says he has had offers from Three-Eve and Central League managers for his services next season.

A summary of the newspaper account of George's work in the five innings he opposed the Reds will be of interest to many fans.
In the first inning he threw Rath out on a ground ball. Deubert singled but Jermaine caught him off first. Roush lined out in Jermaine's hands.
In the second inning Duneson grounded out. Kopf singled. Bresler was safe on an error. With two on, Wingo flied out and Jermaine whiffed Eller.
Third—from walked, started out. Deubert grounded and Groh scored on a passed ball. George fanned Roush.
Fourth—Duneson and Kopf grounded out. Deubert flied.
Fifth—Wingo and Eller grounded out, both to Jermaine. Groh doubled and Rath grounded out.
In the sixth inning Cincinnati scored sufficient runs to win, 4 to 2.

REPUTED TO LIVE CENTURIES

Holy Men in India Believed by the Natives to be More Than 1,000 Years Old.

Hundreds of Hindus believe that Rishi's and Sadhus, aged 1,000 years or more, are still alive. They do not care to appear before the public. They are living in some Himalayan caves, practicing yoga. About a 1,000-year-old Sadhu has recently been seen by anybody there is no record; but many people will tell you that Sadhus 500 years old or more are still to be seen. Baba Bhakuraj is a renowned Sadhu. He has more than thousands of disciples, among whom several are Europeans. His disciples claim that he is more than 200 years old, but he does not appear to be over 60. He is a power in India.

A Sadhu of greater repute is Baba Sachchidananda Bharaji. He is the Guru of the Nepal rishis. He well remembers the famous battle of Panipat, which took place in 1526 A. D. He has also met Garung, the famous preacher of "Bhakti" (religion of adoration love); Shrinaji, the founder of the Mahatma power; and other distinguished Indians. He has thousands of disciples in different parts of India. (Questioned as to how he attained such an age, he has said that moderation in diet, regular habits, and practice of "brahmacharya" are the secrets of long life.)

"Well, they are all confined to their beds," replied the visitor.

STATE POLICE WILL HAVE HARD RIGHT

TWENTY-FIVE COUNTY BOARDS HAVE CONDEMNED ORGANIZATION IN THIS STATE

Marquette county remains as one of only three counties in Michigan to go on record favoring continued maintenance of the state police. The others are Kalamazoo and Jackson.

Twenty-five counties are on record urging the abolishing of the constabulary, which means that if the state legislature gives much weight to the action of the supervisors of those counties, the state police will have to fight to prevent their being ruled out of existence.

The movement against the constabulary began last November when the supervisors of Emmet county passed a resolution declaring the organization an unnecessary and extravagant arm of the state's government. A copy of the resolution was sent to the Marquette county board of supervisors with a request that a similar resolution be passed there.

Was Endorsed There

The matter was taken up at the November meeting of the board, last year, but the sentiment expressed by the supervisors was quite opposite to that coming from Emmet county. Marquette county supervisors said they believed the constabulary had done valuable work here in the enforcement of prohibition and other laws. The county clerk was instructed to write a letter to the Emmet county board to that effect, which was done.

This year the movement was again started by Emmet county. Requests for the passage of resolutions condemning the state police were sent to every county in the state. Twenty-five county boards have voted with Emmet. Two have endorsed the constabulary. Wayne county supervisors passed resolutions in October condemning the state troopers and immediately afterward voted to reconsider the matter. The question may again be brought before Marquette county board this month.

The following counties have urged the abolishing of the constabulary: Berrien, Calhoun, Cheboygan, Clare, Clinton, Emmet, Grant, Hillsdale, Ingham, Kent, Lake, Leape, Lenawee, Mackinac, Macomb, Manistee, Mason, Missaukee, Oceana, Ontonagon, Oshtemo, Sanilac, St. Clair, Van Buren and Washtenaw.

BETTER HAVE A CARE ABOUT TRANSPORTING WET GOODS IN STATE

Michigan men who have private stocks of liquor under lock and key or in storage somewhere out of the state had better hold off celebrating the decision of the United States supreme court relative to the transportation of such liquor.

The supreme court's decision is based on the Volstead law. Michigan, however, passed a liquor law of its own long before the Volstead act was heard of and the state law will hold good, according to reports from Lansing.

Myron H. Walker, district attorney, who prosecutes all cases of federal prohibition law violation arising in the western judicial district of the state, including the upper peninsula, has received no official word from Washington relative to the decision.

"State laws stand side by side with federal laws in full force and effect," said Mr. Walker. The state law reads: "It shall be unlawful for any person directly or indirectly, by himself, by his agent, clerk or employe, to * * * transport * * * any vinous, malt brewed, fermented, spirituous or intoxicating liquors; or any mixed liquor or beverages any part of which is intoxicating, * * * on or after the first day of May 1918, except as herein otherwise provided."

TURKEYS WILL BE HIGHER THIS YEAR

DUCKS AND GEESSE ALSO SHOW INCREASE IN PRICE ON EARLY ESTIMATES

Higher prices on ducks, geese, and turkeys this season are predicted by local meat dealers. Although no definite prices have yet been received, advices indicate that wholesale prices will be advanced about five cents a pound over those which prevailed last year. Turkeys will probably retail in the neighborhood of 60 to 62 cents; ducks about 48 cents, and geese about 45 or 46 cents. No difficulty is anticipated in securing an adequate supply.

Armour & Company's warehouse here will be supplied from the killing and dressing station at Duluth. This station draws on Minnesota, Iowa, and the two Dakotas for its supply of fowls. Buyers report that they hope to be able to fill any and all orders and the long pleasant fall, it is believed, has added materially to the weight and quality of the birds. Usually, the turkeys secured at Thanksgiving are inferior to those received later in the year and it is hoped that the pleasant weather may have aided their development.

A large proportion of the turkeys shipped from the Chicago packing houses are grown in Texas. This state it is claimed, produces more turkeys for market than the rest of the country put together. Other Gladstone dealers are ordering turkeys from smaller houses, situated chiefly in Wisconsin. While the prices quoted by them are slightly lower, the element of uncertainty is present in the supply.

But, despite high prices, it is expected that there will be plenty of the birds received for all Gladstone to celebrate the Thanksgiving rites a week from next Thursday.

Wanted Mixed Audience

The young mother was a bit puzzled by her young hopeful's insistence that the cook be present when she said her prayers.

"Why, Violet, are you tired of mother?" was her reproachful query.

"No, mums," answered her daughter loyally, "but I want Annie to be around while I'm sayin' them, cause that night I prayed for ice cream for dessert, and we had bread pudding." American Legion Weekly.

TRY RUBBER HEELS

and you'll be surprised at the improvement in your ability to walk long distances in your health generally. Used leather heels, without realising, prove a constant strain to the nervous system. Rubber heels, on the other hand, soothe the system. You can not only walk a trifle but do harder and better work when you wear them.
