SEVEN CATTLE SHOT TO DEATH BY DESTROYERS

OFFICERS AND BLOODHOUND FAIL TO TRACE PERPETRATORS OF CRIME

The killing of seven cattle, valued at $900, the property of the Cleveland Cattle company, of Manistique, some time Tuesday, has occasioned a great deal of indignation and is one of the greatest mysteries by which county officials have been confronted for some time.

The seven steers were on a ranch six miles north of Isabella and despite the fact that Undersheriff Iverson, Motor cops Bourdellais and Bruce, and City Haberman and the bloodhound, from this city, spent the greater part of Wednesday in roving over the ground, there is no clue to the perpetrators of the outrage.

Sleuth Deliberately

That the work was done deliberately and in the full light of day, is fairly well established. Four of the carcasses had been ripped open with a hunting knife but no attempt had been made to remove the hides or take any portion of the meat.

Two 20-30 calibre rifle balls were found in two of the animals and six of them had been shot in the side, which does away with the theory that they may have been shot at night by headlights after deer. In that case the animals would have been shot in the head.

No Reason

No reason can be assigned for the slaughter of the animals. John W. Laurie, manager of the ranch, says he believes it was done by deer hunters who wanted practice. The rancher who parties are to be continued.

Killing cattle in the state of Michigan is a grave offense and it is hoped the perpetrators of this deed can be captured in order to make an example of them.

HISTORY OF THE C.C.I. COMPANY TO BE COMPILED

ITS PLACE IN ECONOMIC LIFE OF PENINSULA WILL BE SHOWN UP

Preliminary arrangements for the annual meeting of the Marquette County Historical society, January 11, 1921 have been made.

It is considered especially important that J. E. Jopling, his associates and the preparation of the historical account of the Cleveland Cliffs company and its subsidiaries for this meeting. This is being done with full approval and financial backing of the board of directors of the company. The place occupied by the Cleveland Cliffs company on the economic life of the upper peninsula is such that the society regards the preparation of its history as a matter of the utmost interest and concern.

While sufficient time is not available for the writing of an exhaustive treatise, even at the expense of the development of this great company will be a valuable contribution to the history of this region. It is pointed out by the secretary of the society, who has been greatly interested in securing Mr. Jopling's services in this connection. Mr. Jopling's knowledge of the history of the company and his access to its files and records insure a piece of historical work of high excellence.

In connection with the January meeting of the society, an exhibit of costumes and other relics of historic interest is being arranged.

When historical posters were provided by the historical society in connection with the Marquette county pageant, last July, it was thought desirable that sufficient copies should be printed to enable it to be turned over to the schools in order that their pupils might gain thereby greater familiarity with the history of the county. These posters are now being distributed directly to city schools, and through the agency of county commissioners of schools, Simon B. Anderson to the rural and village schools.

Weber Dredging Co Is Held Up Some

H. E. Weber, of the Weber Dredging company, stated yesterday that because of Harbor conditions at Marquette, he would be unable to get the dredge and scow he recently purchased from the Consolidated Lumber company, of Manistique, into that port before next spring. For that reason, opening of the work there will be postponed until that time. Mr. Weber stated he had two contracts in Marquette which will cover the better part of the summer.

BASKET BALL IS TO HOLD PLACE IN LEGION WORK

Team Organization To Be Discussed At Monday Meet

Now that the football season is closed, members of the American Legion are looking to other sports which will keep up interest in the physical side of their organization during the winter months. When the boys meet Monday night, the matter of a basketball team will be taken up and it is likely that a tentative organization will be perfected. The legion has a lot of splendid material for such a team, several of the members being experienced basketball men. It is too early to predict what sort of a team can be gotten together, but it is believed that it will show such strength that other teams representing legion posts in the upper peninsula will have to sit up and take notice. The football season proved conclusively that Gladstone had the making of a great team but the season ended before the men had fairly struck their stride.

By organizing early, it is believed that before the basketball season closes, a local team can center the sports of the peninsula on the work being done here.

The recent Armistice Day celebration went far toward convincing other U. P. towns that Gladstone has the men and the spirit and the nerve to step out and do things and the athletic relations between this city and other towns were greatly strengthened during the summer and fall.

WOODEN RUSSELL OF BRANCH PRISON DIES SUDDENLY

STRICKEN BY APOPLEXY WHILE ON HIS WAY TO THE STATE CAPITAL

James Russell, warden of the branch prison, and one of the organizers and first editor of The Daily Mining Journal, whose association with the newspaper extended over a period of forty years, died about 11:20 Tuesday night at Mackinac City, says The Mining Journal. His death followed a stroke of apoplexy which he suffered on the trip across the straits from St. Ignace.

He had left Marquette Tuesday afternoon for Lansing on business in connection with the branch prison. At the time of his departure he was seemingly in good health and spirits, and news of his sudden death found his family widely unprepared.

Mr. Russell's death had shown a material decline the past year, and was a matter of solicitude on the part of his family and friends. The weight of administration of the prison told heavily on him during the last months of his service, due to the increasing difficulty of the problems it presented. The last few weeks, in particular, the break in the commodities market, which caught the prison with a lot of high priced stock, and the general slackening of demand for its various products, caused him much concern. Members of his family had been urging that he should resign his post but he was eager to put the prison on a self-sustaining basis before he turned it over to his successor.

Members of the immediate family are Mrs. Katherine Russell, the widow, and Frank J. Russell, of Marquette, and Miss Frances Russell, Mrs. E. E. Charlton and Mrs. Percy D. Nagle, of New York.

Funeral services are to be held Friday.

NO RECOGNITION OF MEX REPUBLIC BY UNCLE SAMUEL

To Be Withheld Pending Adjustment of the Property Laws

Washington, D. C.—No recognition of the new government in Mexico by the United States will be withheld, it was said today at the state department, until Mexico has made clear the effect to be given to Article 27 of the Mexican constitution relating to property in Mexico.

Strong pressure for speedy recognition is being brought to bear on the department by some business and other interests, but a high official stated emphatically today that no cooperative, no group of corporations, and no group of individuals was going to deliver American recognition to Mexico.

It was made clear that the United States was not demanding as a preliminary to recognition repeal of Article 27, but it was stated that if operation of laws under that section were made retroactive, the American government could not accord recognition.

Thanksgiving Day PROCLAMATION

By The Governor

"Praise waltheth for thee, O God, in Zion; and unto thee shall the vow be performed.

"Therefore, I, Albert S. Sleeper, with thy good peace, and thy paths drop fatness; The pastures are clothed with flocks; the valleys also are covered over with corn; they shout for joy, they also sing."

Following the custom established by our fathers nearly three hundred years ago, it is entirely fitting that we should spend one day in the year as Thanksgiving Day.

We have gathered this year a most abundant harvest. We have enough to eat, our own people will be fed, and out of our abundance we shall seek to satisfy the world's hunger. For this and for other blessings, for peace at home and abroad, for the general uplift of content, for work to do and the will to do it, the people of Michigan may well give thanks and make solemn and public acknowledgement of their debt to the Most High.

Therefore, I, Albert S. Sleeper, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby join the President of the United States in designating

"Thursday, the twenty-first day of November next, as a day of 'Thanksgiving and prayer.'"

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State this fifteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty, and of the Commonwealth the eighty-fourth.

ALBERT S. SLEEPER, Governor.

DOG AND HIS LOSS OF LITTLE FRIEND

MOUNTS GUARD OVER BODY MANGLED BY AN AUTOMOBILE

New York—A big, non-descript dog, standing at bay and moaning over the mangled body of a small fox terrier that had been run over by an automobile on Broadway, caused a traffic blockade that lasted three hours. More than a thousand persons assembled and it was necessary to call police reserves to clear the street.

The smaller dog, Princess, was owned by Thomas J. O'Rourke, janitor of the apartment house, a stray walk that the O'Rourke children took one day last winter. Between her and the big dog, also a waif of the neighborhood, an almost human affection had developed.

The two were playing together in the street when the accident occurred. The big dog, seeming to understand what had happened, licked the little dog's face and whined over her. Then with difficulty, he picked her up in his teeth and carried her to a grass plot in the middle of the street, where he mounted guard over the body, snapping angrily at all who approached.

The crowd, which was breaking through the mourning, when a woman grasped his arm and begged that the dog be given to her to care.

The request was granted, but the big dog broke away from her and followed the motor truck which removed the body of his dead companion. About half an hour later, as if to announce the tragedy, he appeared at the O'Rourke home. The children grief-stricken for their pet, took him in and stated definitely that "they'd like to see anybody" take him away from them.

More Deer Licenses Are Received Today

Deputy City Clerk Habermann received the checks of Rosenblum's store at County Clerk A. J. Papp today. The season has less than a week to run and if you haven't got your deer yet, its time to get a license and get busy. It is in this time licenses have been sold in the clerk's office in this city.

Emco Traveling Man Killed in Accident Near Portland Ore

F. B. Houston, general sales manager for the Escanaba Manufacturing company, left yesterday for Portland, Ore. where he was summoned by a message announcing the death of C. F. Hulswit, a traveling salesman for the company, in charge of Pacific Coast territory.

Mr. Hulswit, as nearly as can be determined from the brief telegram, was killed in an automobile accident near Vesper, Wash. where a machine in which he was riding, skidded in a slippery mountain road and turned over. Another "Emco" salesman, W. A. Schmelius, was with Mr. Hulswit at the time of the accident but escaped injury. Mr. Hulswit had visited in Escanaba at various times and had made quite a number of friends in that city.

Forbes Charges Inefficiency In Wreck Of Widlar

Sault Ste. Marie.— Captain Arthur Forbes of the wrecked steamer Francis J. Widlar, issued a statement here tonight charging the Crisp Point and Vermillion coast guard stations with inefficiency and lack of cooperation in the effort to rescue the crew of the Widlar last Friday night when the vessel grounded at Parakee Shoals during a severe storm.

Rescue tugs had arrived at the scene of the wreck and taken off the crew, Captain Forbes declared, before any of the coast guard vessels came to their assistance. In response to the call for help, he said, the stations had replied that they could not get boats away immediately, owing to ice-covered launch ways.

Captain Forbes added that flares from his vessel had not been seen by the coast guard crews, while points further distant had observed them.

William Wolfe Dies After Long Illness

William M. Wolfe, for several years in charge of the barber shop now conducted by Zephir LaBombard, passed away in Newberry Tuesday night. Mr. Wolfe had been in failing health for the past year. A few months ago he sold his shop and sought outside work but his health was not equal to it and he had to give it up. About six weeks ago his condition became such that he was taken to Newberry hospital for treatment but did not respond satisfactorily and death came Tuesday evening.

He is survived by his widow and three children, in his wife, Louis Wolfe two brothers, Frank and Gordon and a sister, Mrs. R. C. Young, all of Rapid River also survive.

The body arrived here Wednesday evening from Newberry and will be taken to Rapid River tomorrow. Funeral services will be conducted Friday afternoon and burial made in the Rapid River cemetery.

LOCAL HUNTERS FILL LICENSES WITH NO TROUBLE

CHARLES BADGEROW RETURNS WITH ONE OF THE LARGEST BUCKS OF THE SEASON

Local hunters continue to come along with their licenses filled after but a few days in the woods. One of the largest bucks so far brought in was downed by Charles Badgerow. This was a 40-point buck weighing a trifle over 240 pounds and is one of the finest specimens seen here in a long time. Badgerow made his kill in the neighborhood of Ten-Mile Spur. Fire Crier Raddant, Jack Rodgers, Ole Rasmussen, Edward Miller and George Beteridge have also filled with their licenses filled.

Mayor Matt Miller and Louis Tariff came in yesterday, the Mayor with a spike horn buck weighing something under 100 pounds while Mr. Tariff got a nice big one. In the Mayor's case he shot according to a preconceived plan. He had been ordered by Mrs. Miller to get a small deer—she didn't want a big one—to the Mayor had to pass up shots at several big bucks.

"And this must be so, because," he told himself and can take any doubting friend right out in the woods and show them where all these big bucks jumped up.

Stories of hunting accidents have persisted here for several days. One story which was related with a wealth of detail was to the effect that a lower state hunter had been killed four miles east of Rapid River and had been taken to the Masonville station. The story could not be substantiated, but it gained circulation and grew as it traveled.

Returns From Ann Arbor

Mrs. Chas. Coon returned Monday night from Ann Arbor where she received medical treatment. Her health is considerably improved.

CONGRESS ASKED TO AID IN SAVING FORESTS OF U.S.

BILL WILL BE INTRODUCED FOR A BETTER PROGRAM IN FUTURE

Washington, Nov. 18.—When congress meets in December a bill will be introduced for a national forest program including better fire protection for the forests. "This step, following an agreement by all the industries interested, marks the first united move in this direction in this country," says Charles Lathrop, Park, president of the American Forestry Association, which announces the outline of features to be embodied in the proposed legislation. The plan calls for national appropriations of at least $11,000,000 a year.

The provisions of the proposed measure are two-fold—for a considerable extension of the federal aid and encouragement of systematic production of the several forested states to bring about adequate forest production and reproduction.

Asks Fire Protection

The program provides specifically through cooperation between the government, the states and owners of timberlands, for adequate protection against forest fires, for reforestation of denuded lands, for obtaining essential information in regard to timber and timberlands, for extension of the national forests and for other steps essential to continuous forest production on lands chiefly suitable for this purpose. The following legislation is proposed:

Authorizing the Secretary of Agriculture, after consulting appropriate local agencies, to approve an adequate policy for each state, covering fire protection, reforestation, cutting and removing of timber crops. Not less than $1,000,000 annually available for such cooperation with states.

A survey of forest resources, forest production and forest requirements of the nation.

Provision for studies and experiments in forest reproduction methods, wood utilization timber tests, wood preservation, and other steps to bring about the most effective use of the nation's forest resources.

Provision for a study of forest taxation to assist in developing tax laws which will encourage the conservation and growing of timber. Also of methods of insuring against forest losses by fire.

OCTOBER REPORT OF U.P. BUREAU

SUPERVISORS OF ALL COUNTIES MAKE APPROPRIATIONS FOR THE YEAR

Introduction—With the exception of the financial situation, the work of the Bureau during the month of October has been largely routine, consisting in sending out circulars, publicity and other descriptive and illustrative matter and attending to a rapidly increasing correspondence.

The boards of supervisors for the fifteen counties of Upper Michigan met last month, and, in every case, appropriations were granted for the Bureau. Though reductions were made in some cases, the average is well up and gratifying. This is the time of the year when the Bureau prepares to clean up a slate of all outstanding obligations and to formulate a financial program for the coming fiscal year.

Tourist Advertising

The recent arrangement whereby the Bureau allies its tourist department with the Lower Michigan Tourist and Inland Association, of Grand Rapids, will necessitate a decided change in our tourist advertising policy and program, since much of this work will now be done from the Grand Rapids office. As has already been announced, the Bureau has agreed to pay the sum of $7,000 per year for the benefit of the widespread advertising which the Lower Michigan association has contracted to put forth, thus relieving our organization of practically all paid tourist advertising which, in past years, has usually approximated the $7,000 mark. Further details of this arrangement may be had on request to the secretary in Grand Rapids.

During October, secretary manager delivered several addresses, reaching thousands of people with the message of Cleveland's advantages in the fur and manufacturing, and emphasizing the attractiveness of this region to the tourist. Three addresses were delivered before the annual meeting of the Upper Peninsula Educational Association, at Escanaba, and last week the secretaries addressed the latest Commercial club and the Lake Linden high school on a similar subject.

Spreading the Tidings

Publicity and advertising—Ten trade journals, and a generous sprinkling of upper Michigan newspapers—daily, semi-weekly and week-end—received publicity and illustrative material from the Bureau's publicity department last month. The several articles emphasized the same features which the secretary repeatedly brings out in his talks, namely: abundance in soil, timber, man-made scenery, waterways and water-power, as well as pointing out the present rate of increase in population throughout the region. The fact that six per cent wood-working concerns have been established in upper Michigan during the past few months has been emphasized strongly.

Conclusion: There is a decided and increasing tendency towards industrial progress throughout upper Michigan today. Commissioners are giving more attention to advertising their natural resources, and are being particularly strong upon the efficient development of the tourist trade. A definite assist to every community and the region in general. The larger industrial interests before the state are likewise exhibiting a keener interest in northern Michigan as the logical location for plants which utilize this section's natural resources.

Ben Cleaned Out The Henney Surces fully

Charlotte, Mich., Nov. 16. There was no fire in Ben Hoffman's poultry house in Maple Grove. Hoffman has discovered the most thorough house cleaning possible. Ben knew just how to fix the pesky vermin, so he went into the poultry house and after cleaning out the hen house he washed all the roosts with a 4 per cent solution of turpentine and kerosene oil. Probably that would have been sufficient to do the business, but Ben wanted to be real sure, so he treated the roosts and combed to the roosts. Then he went out of there and to wait fast, for the combination would be sure to kill any vermin that he had left. He had to save the rest of the fowls on the farm, while the hen roost went up in flames.

WAITING FOR US TO SET THE TABLE

A table twenty-four miles long is plainly an extension table and that is just the length that would seat all of the orphans now being fed by the Near East Relief. This table is set in sections all over the hills of Asia Minor, Syria, Armenia and Northern Persia. It is not in one place. The Turks who still keep the Armenians in a state of terror, do not allow it.

But there the table is, waiting on both sides with orphans—Syrian and

The Table Is Now 24 Miles Long

Assyrian, Greek and Armenian, Jew and Christian—all rescued from the fear of the Turk and under the care of American men and women.

Most of the children are cared for in 27 American supported orphanages. The best ceremony in receiving these war-torn, almost naked children is to clean them up. They are not only cleaned, but doted with soap and sent to hospitals and over 6,000 beds are kept full of the little sufferers.

But the children keep changing. Last year they were all this and nothing now it is the missionaries who are this. The orphans who have been from 60 months to a year in American care are well fed and well clothed.

Now all for a new Near East which surely must come out of all this when every child old enough is being taught a trade which will make him self supporting.

They are a happy lot, these little parvouses, even from their own state of bread they always carry a portion in a small bag about their necks—they fear the day of another killing machine drive into the desert.

They herd the sheep sent from America until snow flies—they remember their barefoot pain in the snows of last spring.

They cling to their new found friends. Every day often little waits that a plane in the orphanage and are told of the generous people of the United States. Soon the entrances will be crowded with children frozen out from their temporary summer quarters.

Then the table of the Near East Relief must be extended—long, many new leaves will be needed and America is asked to set the table.

NAVY IS GETTING MANY RECRUITS

RAPID ENLISTMENTS ENABLE SHIPS TO GET PRACTICE

Washington, D. C.—Recruiting for the navy is progressing so satisfactorily that officials believe it soon will be possible to send to sea a large number of vessels of all classes now carried on paper as part of the fleet, but actually laid up in navy yards for lack of crews.

Recruits are entering the service at a rate exceeding 2,200 a week and the training stations are daily sending large numbers of men to the fleets for the usual four months' training.

On Nov. 1 the navy was only 28,000 men short of the authorized strength of approximately 142,000 and it is believed of the department that the full strength will be reached before March 1st.

Needed Experienced Men

As a result of the shortage of experienced men it became necessary last winter and spring to place a large number of vessels entirely out of commission or to lay them up with greatly reduced crews.

Eighteen battleships are now with the Atlantic and Pacific fleets on training duty, however, while others have reduced crews. Thirteen of the older type are out of commission entirely.

Modern Divers Complete

No modern submarines are out of commission according to navy officials, but thirty six of the older types are without full crews. Thirteen have been experienced in training men for the submarine, due to the peculiar technical nature of the duty.

Of the fifty-five Eagle boats on the naval list, thirty-one are fully equipped and twenty-four are in reserve or loaned to the naval reserve force for training purposes. It is stated, with twenty-six cutters and gunboats in full commission and twenty-four in reduced commission or laid up.

MUST PROTECT FISH IN LAKE

MICHIGAN'S SUMMER RESORT IN DUSTRY MUST BE GIVEN IMPETUS

Letting Nov. 14, Michigan's summer resort industry, which attracts vacationists who spend $100,000,000 each season, and the state's fisheries, with earnings based on $25,000,000 yearly, will be destroyed unless adequate sanitary measures are taken to protect the fish life in the lakes and streams, declared Dr. R. M. Olin, state health commissioner, today.

"Lack of oxygen rather than fisherman's lack is the cause of the extermination of fish life in Michigan's inland lakes and streams," Dr. Olin says. "Industrial wastes and untreated city sewage reduce, in the process of decomposition, the supply of oxygen, and the fish smother in great numbers as they live in the Silliman and Saginaw, Pine and Raisin rivers, for example."

Sewer Idea Wrong

Until Michigan industries discard the notion that rivers and streams are public sewers, the extermination of fish life will continue, according to Dr. Olin. Nearly all the industrial wastes, such as oil from automobile factories, milk washings from condensaries and dairies, and best sugar retinas, are detrimental to the fish, he said. Even in the streams which appear to have enough oxygen to enable fish to live, the organic matter in the factory wastes and untreated city sewage may choke their gills and so prevent breathing.

"Though the pollution of streams may not kill the fish directly," said Dr. Olin in continuing, "they often become unpalatable as food after lying in filth for a short time." Large quantities of Michigan fish shipped out of the state were condemned for food last year by other states. The Great Lakes, as well as the inland bodies of water, are being affected by the insidious conditions of the rivers and streams which empty into them, and the fish are being driven farther and farther from the shore and beach.

Need Sanitary Laws

"To save her fish life Michigan must follow the example of Pennsylvania in providing and enforcing adequate sanitary laws. That the state's lakes and streams represent a real economic value is evidenced by the thousands of non-resident fishing licenses issued yearly to vacationists. Not only do these people stop coming to Michigan resorts if this form of recreation is not protected, but even Michigan residents will be forced to go to other states for their vacations and recreation."

SICKNESS OUTBREAKS BETRAY MOONSHINERS

STATE POLICE FIND CLUES IN ILLNESS DUE TO DRINKING POISONOUS STUFF

One of the things for which the State Police are constantly on the lookout is the outbreak of epidemics of illness due to poisonous liquors. It has been found that the opening of a new illicit still is usually followed by such sickness in the neighborhood and the health reports give valuable clues.

Many of the stills seized are crude affairs and metals are used in their construction which result in the formation of poisonous fumes in the liquor. Stills in which tin, zinc and lead are used are sure to produce liquid of a poisonous nature. Even where the stills are made of other metals, the ignorance of the amateur distillers often results in making the distilled spirits they produce very deleterious to health.

Among the raids which have resulted from liquor poisoning have been those near Gladstone where a number of moonshiners were found.

George Carpenter Will Remain At Home

George Carpenter, who is married with Jack D. Dinsmore for a boss, has been held in a hospital for a few days, but next year, let us hope, he will be able to return here until the end of the winter or early spring. He plans to remain in France until Promoters Richard O'Connell and Frank Brady, who are conducting the world's title bout, notify him to come to this country to complete the match. It is understood Carpenter plans to participate in a bout at Monte Carlo in March. This will be his only ring appearance prior to the bout against Dempsey, which will be held in this country, according to present plans.

"Thine is the Glory"

This painting, which hangs in National Headquarters of the American Red Cross, Washington, depicts the message of America's fighting men to America's womanhood as mobilized for service in the World War by this organization. It is the collaborative scientific and art creation of Major Joseph W. Mitchell, late of the General Staff, U. S. A., and Paul Moca, of the New York School of Art. The face of the central figure is a composite of the features of a thousand Red Cross workers selected for the purpose.

AROUND THE U.P.

Farmers Buy from Millers.
Eight carloads of flour and feed, ordered by the farm bureau in Delta County under orders from its members, are being delivered to the farmers. The shipment, one of the largest an upper peninsula county bureau has handled, is coming from a Minnesota mill.

Gets Marrying Germ.
The Rev. T. R. Easterday, study, veteran, 800 minister, was married to Miss Etta Long, a member of the household. The Rev. Easterday came to the 800 fifty-eight years ago, and has officiated at 2,900 weddings, and is eyed the "marrying paragon." The bride came to the 800 nine years ago from Leapor, Canada.

Big Fox Shipment.
A shipment of black foxes valued at $2,200 passed through the 800 on route west where they will be distributed. They came on the C. P. R. The city on this shipment was over $3,000. This precious shipment came from the Summerland fox farms on Pease, Island and is probably the most valuable shipment of live foxes ever shipped across the border at the 800. R. Graham Rodgers, owner of the farm, accompanied the shipment.

Hit Worker Arrested.
Gilbert Bann, employed as a fireman by one of the manufacturing plants at Wells, was arrested on assault and battery charges, preferred by four home-also employed at Wells. Home-also that Bann struck him on the head with an iron bar. Bann, it is understood, does not deny that he struck Home, but in his plea may explain that he will claim that Home provoked the assault.

County Commission.
County government by commission rather than by a board of supervisors, with centralized authority and business-like administration, will be advocated at the 800 by a committee of which W. E. Davidson is chairman. The committee was named previously by a resolution passed unanimously by the board at its October session. F. T. McDonald, mayor, author of the resolution, suggested in making it that it would be advisable to name members of the board on the committee which probably accounts for the fact that he, who has been actively promoted in the proposed reform, is not named.

FARM BOYS DRIFT TOWARD THE CITY

MICHIGAN CENSUS FIGURES SHOW RAPID TRANSITION FROM FARMING STATE

Announcement of the 1920 census figures for Michigan reveals the interesting fact that although the state as a whole gained approximately 857,000 in population, no less than 47 out of the 83 counties of Michigan actually showed declines.

The passing of the lumber industry at least in the lower peninsula, is clearly revealed in the census changes in the past decade, as on far, steadily drift from the agricultural districts to the great industrial centers. Population gains in seven industrial centers alone, Detroit, Lansing, Flint, Pontiac, Grand Rapids, Jackson and Muskegon, aggregate 840,896, approximately the entire gain of the state. Increases in the 29 other counties which showed gain were required to offset the losses in the 47 counties which did not hold their own.

Many of the population changes were sectional. Of the 24 lower Michigan counties north of the line drawn between Saginaw and Muskegon, only seven showed slight increases. These include Bay, Midland, Gladwin, Alcona, Crawford, Montmorency and Presque Isle counties. Figures such as those of the little town of Elk Rapids in Antrim county, which declined from 1,675 in 1910 to 1,445 this year, spell again the tragedy of the passing in the lumber industry.

The extent to which the agricultural calling has left the state is indicated by the population losses suffered by the purely agricultural counties. The total story of Michigan's increase from 2,810,172 in 1910 to 3,667,222 in 1920 as well as its transition from an agricultural and lumbering—common wealth to a great industrial state is told in the population figures. The figures of the counties of the upper peninsula are as follows:

	1910	1920
Alcona	5,862	7,475
Alcona	5,862	6,127
Baraga	2,438	2,472
Chippewa	30,909	30,108

A Good Cough Medicine for Children.
Mrs. J. W. Ehlert, Boston, Wis., showed to J. M. Ehlert, the merchant there, for a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and said she had bought a bottle of it at his store recently and was doing her children with it. "It is good that you wanted to keep on the treatment. You will find nothing better for cough and cold in children or for yourself. It keeps the cough loose, expels the mucus and soothes the inflamed system from the chest."

BRILLIANT EVENING SHOWS TO BE GIVEN AT INTERNATIONAL

No human holiday ever culminated in such spectacles as are furnished nightly to twentieth century audiences in the arena of the International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago from November 27th to December 1th. Here the constructive energy of the human race exemplifying confidence in individual and collective effort is paraded. All the world is reputed to love a lover, the intelligent audience of the present day appreciates the spectacular when combined with utility. What more magnificent beast for the arctic senses than a procession of aristocratic horses and cattle, accompanied by the strains of martial music. Equitainment has effectively supplanted motor competition as a means of diversion and the music term "Horse Shows" still applies to pleasure-seeking throngs. Man's most efficient servant is here displayed in every phase from drifter to high-stepping coacher, spirited driver, nimble rider. For lovers of the equine species it presents an unequalled opportunity.

Each season novelties are presented to the arena that might scarce through the International Exposition gates. Exhibits of human progress, and enthusiasm of the American mind, domestic science exhibits and lectures; and for the experienced agriculturalist and the man cherishing ambition to enjoy rural life there is the Grand Show in which every section of North America demonstrates actual and potential wealth-producing capacity.

No crowded event is the evening entertainment at the International Exposition in varied entertainment for a something to interest every body.

They Were Selling Farm Bureau Paint

During the recent membership campaign of the state farm bureau, near Lansing collectors found some men who were selling "farm bureau paint" according to the state farm bureau. It seems that there "ain't no such animal", since the state farm bureau issues a warning this week to its members that they should report any use of the name of the farm bureau by irresponsible parties and that before they buy anything in the name of the farm bureau they should call the matter to the attention of their local county agent. Instances of making use of the farm bureau to sell farm implements have also been discovered.

BISHOP CAME ALL PREPARED

Talleyrand's Costume for Visit to the "Wild West" Astonished Those Who Saw It.

Talleyrand, the witty Frenchman whose sharp and pointed moustache kept Paris either winking or laughing, once made a visit to America in the days before he laid aside the bishop's lawn and purple for the robes of a minister of state. And while in this country he made a visit into the Wild West, which in those days could be found in Ohio. A friend chanced upon him in New York and was invited to breakfast, and after the meal was concluded Talleyrand withdrew to his bedroom and donned the suit in which he proposed to adventure into the wilderness. Even in those days New York had begun to draw sartorial distinctions, and the friend, who was familiar with the modes of dress in this new country, was astonished almost to speechlessness when Talleyrand stepped from his bedroom clad in full dress of a backwoodsman of the century before. The bishop had thrown off his churchly garments for the fringe bockskin breeches and cowskin cap of the earliest of America's pioneers. Where and how he had achieved the costume was a mystery; yet he saw nothing ridiculous in it, and in fact delighted with it, and thus clad, departed for the wilds of America.

Congress Asked To Aid In Saving Forests Of U.S.

20 Million Appropriation

Provision for more rapid replanting of the vast areas of denuded lands within the national forests. Appropriation of $10,000,000 a year for five years for the purchase of lands, which should be added to the national forest system, whether or not on the headwaters of navigable streams as such purchases are now limited.

Authorizing the addition to national forests of lands now in other forms of government ownership but found chiefly suitable for permanent forest production.

The very great importance of this program and the suggestion outlined cannot be overestimated, said Mr. Pack. They affect every state in the Union and the business interests of every state which means that every man who wants to build a home who wants to get along, will be affected by this important legislation.

It so happens this suited move for a national forest policy, concludes Mr. Pack. "comes at an opportune time and its importance to the welfare of every citizen cannot be over-estimated. The plan ties up with water, power development and the coal situation. When we put the millions of waste power to work, the coal situation will begin to right itself. Water power development and reforestation should go hand in hand. We are at the door of great commercial development. Let us open that door."

Origin of "Canard"
The word canard as we see it has to do with ducks. A man who wanted to find how much he could make the public believe related in a convincing manner that he had been trying an experiment. He said he had secured twenty ducks, one of which he set in pieces and threw to the nearest, therefore the duck that was left had really eaten the whole nineteen, proving the insatiable quality of a duck's appetite. From this fraud of a story came the word canard, French for duck, as applied to a whole cloth fabrication.

NEWS OF THE MOVIES

"The Gray Wolf's Ghost"

When old Kooroto put the "Indian curse" on the Gutierrez family, he started something that furnished a lot of excitement three centuries later.

Harry West didn't know anything about the prophecy when he made love to Maruja, the Spanish beauty.

Perco, superstitious mayor-domo of the Gutierrez family, started out to get the "Orange" life-blood. After murdering Harry's father, he inaugurated a lynching bee with Harry as the main attraction, but just as they were about to swing Harry into another world, the "demon god of the big wolf" came shrieking through the valley.

A thrilling dramatization of "Maruja," HEN Harte's great story of early California days, starring H. B. Warner, famous actor of two continents will be shown at the Gladstone Theatre Saturday and Sunday.
