PITCHES MARQUETTE TO 4 TO 1 WIN OVER LOCALS, AIDED BY COSTLY ERRORS

The Bubs Kuhn that the Gladstone fans knew back in the days of 1922 was in his old form here last Sunday. Kuhn let the Gladstone batting attack down with five hits and the result was a 4 to 1 victory for Marquette. It was a pretty pitching battle that might have gone into extra innings but for the three costly errors by the locals, on each of which a run was scored.

Gladstone made the first score and it came in the third inning after two were out. Patten singled, the first hit of the game. He went all way around to third on a pretty double by Bovir Deslites was walked and Knapp was hit by a pitched ball, forcing in Patten. It was up to "Chief" Williams but he was thrown out after a good play by Smith, Marquette's shortstop. That proved to be all the scoring for Gladstone, although they threatened on several occasions after that.

Marquette did not get a hit off Patten until the fourth inning when two singles were wasted. Tebo hit the first ball pitched in the fifth for a home run over the left field wall. To patriotically observe Flag Day we must be in active accord with it stands for, namely, clean citizenship, observance and enforcement of our laws, also observance of and respect for the Sabbath.

Therefore, I, L. N. Bushong, request the people of Gladstone to display flags and otherwise properly observe the day.

THE EFFECT OF FOREST FIRES ON WILD LIFE

Second Prize By Miss Margaret Gravelle The effect of fires on the wild life of our forest regions is a subject worthy of grave consideration on the part of every person who feels the least interest in the welfare of wild life, the conservation of our forests, and the future prosperity of our country. This is indeed a momentous question and should claim the prime attention of the individual as well as that of professional foresters. The useful wild life of the forests includes a large variety of birds and animals, those hunted as game or for plumage and fur, occupants of the mountains, those found in importance, the multifarious insect life. Wild life is of recreational and tangibly economic value to man. The commercial importance of wild life is known in the welfare of the human race. The recreational value is shown by the many vacationists who find happiness and pleasure in the physical, mental and esthetic recreation which the wild life of the forests gives to them. Second only in importance to this direct service to man is the service which wild life renders to forest trees. The forests not only provide means of existence for wild life but they themselves depend upon these living things for their maintenance. It is a biological fact that animal life is an important factor in incorporating organic materials into the soil. In this respect animal life is of immediate and everlasting importance to the present and future welfare of our forest areas. Therefore the inter-relationship and interdependence of forests and living things is so important for, while wild life is a natural product of the forest it is also a necessity to the development of the forest itself. For a successful existence of any species of wild life certain features of environment are essential. Our North American deer seems a very typical example of wild life, and shows the direct influence of the conflagration hazard upon the animal itself and upon its environment. First, there must be a safe place for breeding, corresponding to the animals inherent powers of defence. What better place could be afforded than the quiet solitude of the forest, where there is every adaptation to the needs of the animal? Yet through the carelessness of a few, these natural breeding places are destroyed by fire and the gradual extinction of our native deer is becoming more and more evident. Second, there must be places of concealment and refuge from the oppression of enemies. Here again the natural harboring places is often destroyed by fire and extinction is again threatened in the killing of deer by predatory enemies. Third, there must be an adequate food supply, consisting, of course, with the powers of the animal to procure it. Once more a source of life is often destroyed by fire, and eventual extinction is again threatened. The deer is so admirably gifted by nature with powers of defence, structural powers for obtaining food and shelter, and many other favorable adaptations, but without the natural environment of the forest these adaptations are of little use. Therefore forest fires make the conditions of environment alarming. The native deer steadily diminishes and may eventually become extinct, all through the wanton carelessness which results in the repeated devastation of forest lands by fire. Thus forest fires, in destroying the deer, rob us of both their economic and recreational service. The latter is of the utmost importance since the hunting of deer or any other species of wild life is one of the ways in which nature calls forth the latent, but neglected powers of the human mechanism. Such a physical appeal and intellectual stimulus brings a joy and satisfaction not often found in the drab monotony of everyday life. The people are negligent of their own personal comfort and happiness when they are indifferent to the conservation of the deer. The people who have learned to find happiness in vigorous muscular activity, an esthetic appeal in the beautiful things of nature, a lively interest in the living things that move, exhibit color, and change form, can realize the vital necessity of a better protection of wild life. Only those people who have seen the suffering, the groaning, helplessness of these poor animals when the taunting red streamers fling themselves to the sky and the rolling clouds of dense smoke defy any struggle for escape, and who have seen the "how lowliness is the hand of man to stay the forces of nature when she asserts herself with all her might!" Tom--"So Grace sealed her engagement to you with a kiss, eh?" Jerry (still dazed)--"I think she cemented it and riveted it. She insisted on setting an early date for the wedding."--Linton Weekly.

(A Weekly Panorama of Events in the National Capital, by Peter Keegan for the Delta Reporter)

NAVAL OFFICIALS who were expecting to get large appropriations from the next Congress on the basis of threatened war in the Pacific are beginning to change their view. President Coolidge's address to the graduating class at the Naval Academy warning against any jungle war on the part of officers of the Navy Department. The President believes that the Navy should be a great instrument of peace as well as war and that its functions should be taken care of with the least possible outlay of federal funds. The navy's latest drive for funds is for the purpose of building additional fortifications in Hawaii. The reason given is that this American outpost should be made impregnable against capture by Japan in the event of hostilities in the Pacific.

THE GOVERNMENT'S largest war-time ship-building establishment—Hog Island in Pennsylvania—is to go to the scrap heap along with two hundred ships which the Shipping Board has decided to sell. Bids for both the ships and the Hog Island Yard are to be opened at once.

DISTURBANCES in China, in view of their similarity to the Boxer uprising, are causing considerable concern among officials here. American lives and interests are menaced by American warships and Marines but reports to the State Department indicate that the communistic influence, suspected to come from Russia, is playing a leading part in the trouble with the possibility that it will be difficult to quell. All of the powers, including the United States, which have representatives in China have united in formal demands that the Chinese authorities to extend every protection to foreigners. It appears from this distance, however, that the Chinese officials are having their hands full in even insuring protection for themselves.

WHILE HOPING there will be no strike in the anthracite coal fields this fall, Government officials are keeping a close watch on conditions in Pennsylvania, where the miners are understood to be preparing to ask a substantial wage increase at their next meeting. The latter part of this month. Every effort will be made by the Department of Labor and the Coal Commission to adjust any differences which might arise so that a shut down in the hard coal mines may be prevented.

SECRETARY OF THE NAVY Wilbur is in bad again with the President—this time because he is to get the President mixed up in a commercial moving picture being made at the United States Naval Academy. When the President heard about the plans he summoned the Naval Secretary and told him flatly that there was nothing doing—that he had no desire or inclination to be a movie star. To placate the movie people, with whom he had agreed to produce the picture, Wilbur has to go to Annapolis himself and pass out a dummy diploma to the movie actor taking the part of a graduating midshipman.

THE SEPARATION of Colonel George Harvey from the editorial staff of the Washington Post was marked by the Administration's quick turn down of his suggestion that debt-funding negotiations between the United States and France be held in London. Harvey made the suggestion in one of his editorials, and the understanding was that he was sending a balloon for the president. A different complexion was put on the situation, however, as soon as members of the American Debt Commission and the President had a chance to deny it. Harvey left the Post, which he had edited since his resignation as Ambassador to Great Britain, without announcing his future plans.

THE WORLD'S FIRST successful airplane will be placed in the National Museum here under an agreement being worked out between Orville Wright and officials of the Smithsonian Institution. Wright has balked against sending the plane here because the Museum already had the Langley plane designated as America's heavier-than-air machine. Langley made his flights in Virginia while connected with the Government here, but Wright insists that his brother and himself were the first to develop a real airplane which would carry passengers.

RATHER an unusual sentence was meted out by a judge in Port Collins, Ohio. When a man charged with exceeding the speed limit in the town admitted he did not know the law, Judge D. M. Free asked him if he did not take the local paper. When the man replied that he did not, the judge sentenced him to pay a six month's subscription. It is the kind of sentence from which the accused can be expected to derive the most benefit and he will, if he will take the time to read it. There is no investment so certain of bringing returns as subscribing for a publication, especially the local publication. It is a reflection upon anybody to admit that they do not read any newspaper. ANNOUNCEMENT that Senator FRANK P. Bohn of Newberry would be a candidate for Congress from the 11th District in 1926 will meet with widespread approval in this section. While it is not known at this time if there will be other candidates in the field, certain it is that Senator Bohn's record in the Michigan Legislature in the last two sessions entitles him to the primary consideration of the voters. In the Legislature, Dr. Bohn has made a record by working for worthwhile legislation and following it through to see that it was passed. The whole operation commences at the estate is there as the result of his work in the first session. At the last session, Dr. Bohn had much to do with the passage of the measure that will provide additional Primary Fund aid for Delta county and other counties where a low-assessed valuation made the school burden troublesome. The measure will also provide that there are many other accomplishments which we might relate, but we prefer to wait until such time as the election approaches. The people have until September, 1926, to consider Senator Bohn and his record.

THIS writer was among the 2,000 fight fans who went to see the Green-Yuse match at Marquette last Friday. We do not profess to be a fight fan but, looking back, we must admit some thrill in seeing two new records set. First, it was the first time a world champion was brought to the upper peninsula—and secondly, it happened to be warm in Marquette on that day. As a matter of fact, it was 102 in the shade. We may have heard at some time that it was the element that was getting the better of us but the official weather report provided the real reason. Never before, at least since the establishment of the weather bureau at Marquette 59 years ago, had it been so hot in Marquette. But to return to the fight. It was rather one-sided but the card on the whole was very much worth while and the promoters are to be admired for their nerve in arranging it. Nuss, who hails from Newberry, may be a game fighter, and in an open fight may be expected to hold his own with such a time as that of Harry Greb, but in the match the training, experience and cunning of the latter, proved altogether too much. The knock-out came in the fourth round, the only one in the round. The fighting had won the challenger's resistance to practically nil.

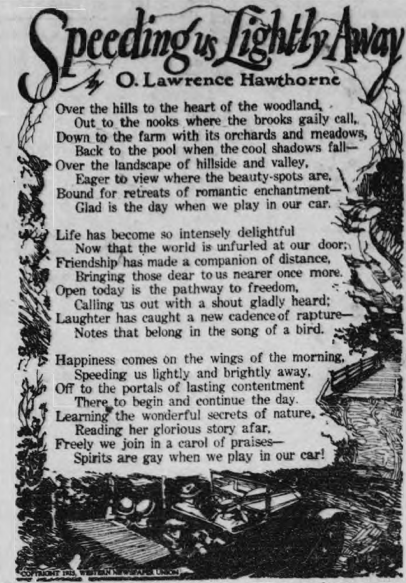

PRIZE-FIGHTING has its place. For one thing it illustrates the value of training and experience. Constantly doing a thing, and endeavoring to do it better each time, improves one's ability. In some lines of endeavor it is necessary to stick to it year after year. In prize-fighting you can't do it except at the cost of receiving a great deal of punishment and there are few who can stand that. Furthermore, to stand there through adversity, means the end of a prize-fighter's career. A boxer can take a beating and if he has the right stuff in him he can come back and be a success, even a champion. It has not been done. And it can be done in work or in business. But you can't slack up. You've got to be constantly on the lookout for opportunities to better yourself in whatever line of endeavor you follow. That's what makes champions.

FLAG DAY will be observed throughout the nation on next Sunday, June 14. It is nearly a century and a half since the Stars and Stripes were adopted as the National emblem. Our flag has been an inspiration to the worthy enterprises which America has undertaken since it won for itself the right to exist as a free nation. It is because we like to have our nation preserved in the lofty ideals which inspired its foundation that we like to pay respects to the Flag on the day which marks its adoption. A Flag may be a flag, but there is none to compare with the good Old Stars and Stripes. Think of that next Sunday.

SUPPORT THE TEAM

(Crystal Falls Diamond Drill) Crystal Falls has assembled what seems to be a good baseball team. It is probable that the team will not be as fortunate all through the year as it was last Sunday. It may end the season away down in the column. That is immaterial. The real point to consider is that the team has the material and the ambition to give Crystal Falls fans as good an article of ball as can be seen in any town of this class in the country.

But, the team must have support in order to do its best. That support consists of your attendance at the games it plays at home and your encouragement of good baseball by sportsmanlike action which includes the reception given visitors as well as our own boys.

People want clean baseball; they soon tire of the other kind. The game last Sunday was a model one in every way. The attendance was good considering the cold weather that predominated. The Iron Mountain management and team was all that could be asked, good ball players and sportsmen.

In this connection it may be remarked that from Mountain has shown a very kindly spirit to Crystal Falls and it is to be hoped that the number of games between the two teams may be increased for that's where the money is to be made.

Let's do our share to make baseball in Crystal Falls a clean and a paying sport by supporting our team.

Base Ball Gossip

A well-known golfer, asked what it was that had made him an outstanding player, replied, "Practice, more practice and still more of it." That is true and what is true in golf is equally true in baseball. What Gladstone's team needs is more practice.

After playing Crystal Falls on the local diamond next Sunday, Gladstone will be away for a return game there June 21. After that comes the game with the strong Munising aggregation.

Harry Potter, now captain of the Crystal Falls team, is one player who makes it unpleasant for the umpires.

The constant kicking has more than once made it unpleasant for the umpires. His work here with the Crystal Falls team will be watched with more than the usual interest.

Gervais gets credit for being the most effective batter against Babe's pitching. Lefty batted 1000, getting two singles and walking twice on his four trips to the plate. Bovin got the hardest hit, his slashing double in the third paying the way to Gladstone's only score.

The crowd at the Marquette game was made larger by delegations from Manistique, Escanaba and other outside points. Glad to have 'em.

Chief Williams hasn't found his old batting eye. There will be trouble for opposing pitchers when he does get down to business. The Chief went to work for Nebel Bros. on Tuesday. He says a little hard work will bring him around.

Vanderweghe made his first appearance as a pinch hitter in the 9th inning, batting for Kiecher. Van slammed one to the far corner of left field but it was high and Yanda pulled it down. It would have gone against or over the fence but for the strong wind.

Three home runs have been made by teams opposing Gladstone this year. And in each case, the batter was a former Manistique player. Vasau and McDonald hit homers for Escanaba and Sunday Benny Tebo did it for Marquette. It was the first time we saw him in the home run hitter roll.

Tommy Desilets is still there when it comes to fielding. He made several nice catches in Sunday's game, getting five put outs.

Dib Bovin doesn't claim to be a third baseman. But at that he makes a fairly good job of it. It happened Sunday that he got more than his share of hot ones.

Chief White is still trying to reduce Won't some good kind lady who has found the way, pass the food word along to the chief. The avoidpols is interfering with his catching ability.

double steal which the locals failed to break up. Father's control was not so good in the sixth and all the close ones were called against him. Kiecher fumbled Henne's grounder and Embloom sacrificed him to second. After Smith filed out, Tebo walked, Yanda was struck by a pitched ball, and Foye batted forcing in Henne.

Marquette made another, its last run in the eighth. Tebo doubled after two were out. He started to steal third and went all the way home when White threw over Bovin's head at third.

The crowd last Sunday was almost double that out for the Booter game. There were more than 700 paid admissions, which indicates that the fans are taking a renewed interest in baseball. And while the game was lost by the locals, still it provided some thrills and many of the fans were well pleased.

DO YOU KNOW?

Rules of etiquette all should know.

Table Service

When there is but one servant for general work, she does not always expect to do a great deal of waiting at table. Nevertheless, when there are guests, she should perform this duty willingly, and should be correctly unformed for the occasion. The maid stands at the left of the host to receive each plate after he has arranged the portions. She takes it, always one plate at a time, to each guest in turn, serving first hostess, the guest of honor, or the oldest person present, as a great-grand parent. The maid stands at the left of the person she is serving. After the plates are distributed, she passes the side dishes. She leaves the dining-room only for short intervals, returning to assist with second helpings, if any are desired, to replace empty bread plates, and to keep the glasses filled with water.

The careful hostess sometimes holds a brief conversation with the maid for the purpose of directing her, but only when absolutely necessary. All the details of serving the dinner or luncheon should be carefully agreed upon by the hostess and the maid before the guests are seated.

Guests do not talk to the maid except to give a courteous refusal for a second serving.

It is an attractive custom to serve the after-dinner coffee in the drawing-room.

The splendors of society life have been greatly modified within the last few years, but manners at table remain unchanged. Although a formal dinner may consist of not more than four courses, the host offers his arm to the lady who is to sit at his right, and leads the way to the dining-room. The question of precedence of the remainder of the guests is practically unimportant except in state and diplomatic circles. The older persons precede the younger, and married women precede the unmarried. A bride is always a guest of honor; and so is a judge, governor, soldier, clergyman or an important public official.

The hostess comes last in the procession to the dining-room. She is accompanied by the guest of honor, if a man, or by the most distinguished man present.

The covers for the host and hostess are opposite each other. The guest of honor, if a woman, is at the host's right hand. If the guest of honor is a man, he sits at the right of the hostess.

Some are noted for their attention to good form are careful not to drop their gloves, handkerchief or fan on the floor. It is an extremely awkward thing for a man to dive under a table to pick up the accessories of a woman's attire. If possible a woman will not attract a guest's attention to her loss but will indicate her need to a waiter who retrieves the lost article when she rises from the table.

The art of "tipping the table" is one to be cultivated by those who are particular about the fine points of etiquette. It consists in dividing one's attention between the guest on the right and the person on the left. To talk at length across the table, or to some interesting individual several covers distant is a breach of good manners.

For several years, the hostess has been served first, in order that she might decide by a glance if the various courses were coming on to her own satisfaction. Recently some prominent hostesses have ordered the guest of honor to be served first. This procedure, because it is an innovation, or revival, has frequently aroused the unspoken criticism of those who consider themselves arbiters of fashion. Like many other details of the mode, this one is apt to change from time to time.

Not less important than the appearance and cheerfulness of the company is the daintiness and elegance of the table. The decorations should be kept low that the guests may have no difficulty in seeing each other.

Next Issue, "In Public Places." Taken from McCall's Service Bulletins.

Hot Weather and Wash Day

Sweltering weather—steaming wash tubs and boilers—crying babies—a situation that is common in many homes during the summer season—a situation one could hardly recommend for keeping that schoolgirl complexion and disposition.

Most families in Gladstone have eliminated the unpleasantness of wash day by sending their soiled clothing to us. Experience has taught them that ours is the cheapest and most healthy way of solving this hitherto unpleasant weekly problem.

ROUGH DRY

Consists of washing and drying entire family wash, starching such articles as need starch, ironing all towels, bed and table linen.

DRY CLEANING

Dirt in your clothing is one of the greatest agencies of destruction. Suits, Cloaks or frocks that are frequently cleaned will give much longer wear. Bring them here—we know how.

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR THE CARE, CONTROL AND PROTECTION OF THE WATER SYSTEM OF THE CITY OF GLADSTONE, AND FOR THE TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF FURNISHING WATER SERVICE TO CUSTOMERS AND PROVIDING A PENALTY FOR THE VIOLATION OF SUCH RULES AND REGULATIONS.

The City of Gladstone Ordains:

tem, shall apply to the city clerk for a permit therefor and pay to the city clerk the sum of fifteen dollars. The city shall then lay a main and lay the pipe from such main to the property line of the person desiring such connection, furnishing a corporation cock and curb cock with necessary fittings, provided that the city manager or his duly authorized agent shall have the right to determine as to the time and place of tapping such water main.

Section 2. The person designated by the manager to tap any main shall report and record the exact location, number and size of taps inserted, together with the size and quality of the service pipe laid. The city mains shall always be tapped at the top or not more than an angle of 45 degrees therefrom and not in any case less than two feet from the bell or union of the pipe; nor shall the taps be placed less than two feet apart.

Section 3. In no case shall more than one dwelling house be supplied from the tap, except by procuring a written permit, signed by the city manager, and the owner or occupant of any building to which water is supplied shall not be allowed to furnish water to other persons or families without procuring a written permit signed by the city manager.

Section 4. Any persons, taking water from the city water system, shall not permit an unnecessary waste of water by reason of service pipes or fixtures connected therewith being out of repair or unprotected against frost or otherwise.

Section 5. Any person may apply to the city manager for permission to lay pipes and connect the city mains with fire hydrants or hose connections to be used only in case of fire, and the city manager, subject to the approval of the city commission, may grant a permit in writing to do so at the expense of such applicant under the condition that such installation shall be made under the direction of and to the satisfaction of the city manager or his duly authorized agent, provided that such permit shall be revocable at any time at the option of the city commission; further provided, that such pipe, so laid for such purpose, shall have installed, a gate valve of the kind and size in use by the City Water Department, at a point outside of the private property of the applicant.

Section 6. No drinking fountain shall be installed, connected with the city water system, or maintained except upon the issuance of a written permit signed by the city manager, which said permit shall be revocable at any time by the city commission.

Section 7. The city manager or his duly authorized representative shall have free access at proper hours of the day to all parts of every building or premises where water is delivered or consumed, to examine pipes and fixtures and to ascertain if there is any waste or any unlawful diversion of water.

Section 8. Any customer of the city water department shall be allowed to use water for the purpose of watering the lawns and gardens on the property owned or occupied by him from April 1st, to October 1st of each year from 6 to 9 a. m. and 4 to 8 p. m. on condition that he may use a single hose which shall not be larger than three-quarters of an inch and the nozzle or sprinkler used shall not allow more water to be withdrawn than would pass through a nozzle having an aperture of one-quarter inch; provided that any person desiring to use water for sprinkling without complying with the above mentioned conditions, may obtain a written permit to be issued by the city manager, in his discretion, under such conditions and upon the payment of such additional fees as he may determine reasonable and proper under the circumstances.

Section 9. It shall be unlawful for any person to withdraw water for sprinkling purposes during the time elapsing from the sounding of a fire alarm until the sounding of the signal indicating that the danger of fire has ceased, except for the purpose of extinguishing a fire.

Section 10. The city commission reserves the right to install a meter in the service pipe of any consumer and charge meter rates for such water service, in the event that it shall appear to the commission that more water has been withdrawn or is about to be withdrawn by such consumer than the flat rates established or to be established will fairly compensate the city for the probable amount of water to be withdrawn, or in the event that no flat rate shall have been provided for such service.

Section 11. It shall be unlawful for any person to withdraw water from any private service pipe connected with the city water system unless the compensation due the city shall have been paid in advance thereof to the city treasurer, for the balance of any current three months period, which said three months period shall begin on the first day of July, November, January and April of each year; provided that in the event of non-payment for such service within twenty-one days after the first day of any three months period, a penalty of twenty-five cents shall be added and in the event that such compensation and penalty shall not have been paid within thirty days after the beginning of such period, the city manager or his duly authorized agent may shut off said service without notice to any consumer as failing to pay; further provided that in the event that the water service shall have been shut off for non-payment of the water rates, the water shall not be turned on in any service pipe until there has been paid to the city treasurer a fee of two dollars for turning on such water and all charges for services in arrears heretofore furnished through such service pipe and the prepayment for services to be furnished to the end of the current three months period.

Section 12. The city reserves the right to stop the supply of water of any consumer without any preliminary notice to him for the violation of any of the provisions of this ordinance and no such service shall be restored except upon the payment of a fee of two dollars and upon the compliance with the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 13. Section 15. Flat rates shall be based upon the number of fixtures connected to any private service line for any current period; provided that in the event that any part of the service from such private service line shall have been cut off and sealed by the city manager or his duly authorized agent by the sealing of a shut-off fixture, then such rates shall be based upon the number of fixtures not so cut off.

Section 16. All flat rates charged for mains and drinking fountains are contingent upon such fixtures being equipped with self closing faucets or valve tanks maintained in good working condition. All fixtures from which water runs continuously shall be on a meter.

Section 17. Section 21. The city shall not be liable to any one for any failure or deficiency in the supply of water to consumers, whether occasioned by shutting off water for any purpose, including the making of repairs or connections or for any cause whatsoever.

Section 22. No person, except a city employee under the direction of the city manager, shall open or in any manner interfere with any gate valve, service pipe, fire hydrant, main, fixture or other property being a part of the water works system of the city, except by obtaining a permit in writing, signed by the city manager.

Section 23. The rates to be charged to consumers, other than those heretofore mentioned, shall be fixed by the city commission in accordance with the provisions of the city charter, which shall be placed on file in the office of the city clerk for public examination.

Section 24. Lightning Strikes Barn
 Iron River—A barn owned by Herman Holmes, about two miles from Caspian, was burned to the ground when a lightning bolt struck it. The total loss which is estimated at about $2,000 was not covered by insurance. Once struck by the bolt the flames gained steady progress, aided by about thirty boxes of hay which were stored in the barn. It had burned to the ground inside of an hour despite a down pour of rain. Calls were sent in to the Iron River and Caspian fire departments, but seeing the uselessness of combating the flames with no water facilities the trucks immediately returned to the fire stations.

Flop
 The customary young bride was paying her well known first visit to the grocer's. After spending half an hour putting gray hairs in the head of the long-suffering merchant, she finally came to the eggs. "Now, I'll need about a quart of these; are you sure they're fresh?" "Madame," replied the worn-out man, "these eggs are so fresh that they've already insulted two customers this morning."

SIMPLEX Flexies do "keep young feet young." Because they meet Nature's demands, leading foot specialists recommend them. Flexies let the child's foot rest squarely on its natural "3 points"—no rocking sidewise, which bows the plant legs in or out. Glove-smooth inside—no wrinkles, rough seams or nail-points. So flexible you can bend them with the fingers.

These health features—and Flexies' good looks—add nothing to the cost. Their long wear makes them actually more economical.

Miss Clara Olson and Elbert Olson from Sheboygan spent Sunday visiting

Since thrift is the topic now, you might repeat these sayings by Franklin to your little boy:

"Tis as truly folly for the poor to ape the rich as for the frog to swell in order to equal the ox."

"Pride breakfasted with plenty, dined with poverty and supped with infamy."

"Be industrious and free. Be frugal and free."

"Thrift is important, not that it means money saved or power to indulge your fancies, but because it means freedom."

"The man without a dollar is the slave of the dollar man."

UNCLE BEN SAYS:
 "One thing lots of folks don't seem to learn from experience, Nausea, is that Time can't be killed."

Stomach Nausea

Many persons have a good appetite one day and sickness at the sight of food the next. There is often belching of gas and a taste of bitter fluid. Frequently the tongue is coated. There may or may not be pain in the stomach. Headache and dizziness often accompany these symptoms.

The stomach, like every other part of the body, is dependent upon spinal nerves for strength and vigor. Adjustment of joints of the backbone which have become out of alignment at "stomach place" restore normal stomach strength. Digestion and all the processes of the stomach become normal when there is 100 per cent nervous energy.

SUFFERED 20 YEARS—WELL AGAIN

"Stomach trouble and nervous weakness were my ailment for twenty years. Four physicians in consultation advised an operation. I tried to avoid the knife by turning to a chiropractor and am happy to say that I am well in every respect." Rev. George E. Dewey, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 1080H.

LIED'S Pasteurized Milk

During the Hot Weather

Milk for the baby must be kept cold until just before feeding time; then it should be warmed to blood heat. It is dangerous to keep milk warm or tepid for over half an hour. Germs grow at a prodigious rate in warm milk. Lied's Milk is a safeguard to baby's health.
