LARGEST CLASS GRADUATED AT LOCAL SCHOOL

DR. PRESTON BRADLEY SPEAKER AT COMMENCEMENT WED. NIGHT

STRESSES JOY OF LIVING

The largest class ever graduated from the Gladstone High School received their diplomas at the exercises held in the Junior High Auditorium Wednesday evening. There were 42 in the class and all received diplomas. The class was presented to the Board of Education by Principal C. C. Strickland. Dr. James Mitchell, President of the Board, presented the Diplomas to the class.

Dr. Preston Bradley of the People's Church of Chicago, delivered the address of the evening. His subject was on life, the mere joy of living and appreciating beauty, culture and the things that make life worth while. He emphasized the great stage in which the people of today are living, what the next fifty years will bring, forth and the part of the youth of today will play in that period. Dr. Bradley completely won his audience with his bits of humor and pathos. In comparing the young people of today with the youth of the last generation, he said that the only difference was speed. "You didn't have a tin lizzie, but the old mare and the buggy got there just the same." His sound advice to both parents and pupils was greatly appreciated.

Thursday night he delivered the Commencement address at Escanaba and will speak tonight at Manistowick. Several musical numbers were rendered; a violin solo by Mrs. Blackwell and selections by a Glee Club chorus. "The Gift of Memory" the Paegeant presented on Class Night, Tuesday evening, greatly pleased the audience. The class prophecy, history, will, poem and numbers given by the Glee Club chorus were well received.

"Reflections on Educational Problems" was the subject on which Rev. Father Matern spoke Sunday night at the Baccalaureate Services. He discussed present day questions relating to education in a very able manner, which proved very instructive to the large audience in attendance.

MISS L. DUMAS WILL OPEN BEAUTY SHOPPE

Miss Lucille has completed all plans to open a Beauty Shoppe at her home on Delta Avenue the forepart of next week.

For the time being she will confine her work to the following, Round curl French curl, Shampoo, Facials, Hair Tinting and Vanity Toilets.

Late when, probably in the course of two weeks, Miss Dumas will have full equipment to give manuels and manicures. Her hours will be from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M.

Miss Dumas has had experience in this line and is in a position to serve the public, and earnestly solicits your patronage.

TO SEND LETTER TELLING OF WORK

BOOSTER CLUB MEMBERS ARE TO BE ASKED TO RENEW THEIR MEMBERSHIP

At the meeting of the directors of the Booster Club Saturday at the City Hall, it was decided to solicit the members to renew their subscriptions for the current year, on the basis of at least $2.00 per member. Those who did not pay the first years assessment of $5 will be asked to do so at this time.

A permanent attendant will be provided at the bath house (off the Tourist Park) so as to keep it open for the public during the summer months. Ben Noel is in temporary charge.

A form letter will be mailed to all those who signed as members the first year. This will include a statement of all money received and the disposal of same.

Practically all the money in the treasury last year was used for the purpose of building the Bath House and completing the Tourist park. President Jackson plans to hold a meeting in the course of the next two weeks at which time the summer's program will be outlined.

RADIO ADDRESSES ON "AMERICAN CITIZENSHIP"

A series of addresses on "American Citizenship" are being broadcasted each Tuesday from the American Telegraph and Telephone company station in New York City. The first address was sent over the wires Tuesday last 2 by Hon. John W. Davis, last Tuesday there was an address on the subject by Charles Evans Hughes and each Tuesday until July 7 other addresses will be given by Ethel Root, Nicholas Murray Butler, Bishop Cook of the Episcopal church, Bishop Wilson of the Methodist church and a Cardinal of the Roman Catholic to be named later.

This work is being done under the auspices of the American Bar association in the interest of good citizenship.

FIRE DEPARTMENT TO TWO SMALL FIRES

The Fire Department was called to the residence of Joseph Beady, on Central Avenue last Friday to take care of a small blaze caused from over heated tar. Chemicals were used. No damage resulted.

A somewhat serious chimney fire occurred Saturday at the home of Joe McCauley at the corner of Seventh and Minnesota Avenue. Although the flames had gained some headway, the firemen soon had the situation in control with the aid of chemicals.

RESUME BOWLING IN SEPT.
Bowling will be resumed again in September according to an announcement by Manager L. Gordon this week. The games close a week ago.

During the summer, improvements will be made in the arrangements of the alleys.

It is planned to have the teams continue with scheduled games as during the past season. The women will have special hours for bowling as heretofore.

Lawrence Weinsartner left Tuesday for a visit at Rhineland after a three-week visit here and at Manitowick. From Rhineland he will go west to Montana where he is attending the university.

WILL BE TRIED ON SERIOUS CHARGE

CIRCUS HANGER-ON ARRESTED FOR CRIMINAL ASSAULT ON 12-YEAR OLD BOY

Donald Fisk, a laborer brought into Gladstone by the Gollmer circus, was arrested early Monday afternoon on a statutory charge for an assault on Ernest Doneau, 12 years of age. When Ernest Monday afternoon, the man arrested Monday afternoon, the man demanded an examination which was set for Thursday afternoon. In the meantime he was remanded to the county jail under $5,000 bond.

At the hearing yesterday afternoon the evidence, including a certificate from a local physician, was found sufficient to hold the accused for trial at the July 20 term of court under $5000 bond.

Young Doneau, who lives in the Skelton Road section, was homebound with several other boys after looking over the ponies and few other animals under the show tents. He was called back by Fisk, it is alleged, and offered a dime which he accepted. Fisk enticed the lad to a brush pile where the attack is said to have been made. The boy said afterward that he was told to "keep his mouth shut or he'd get killed." But he was noticed coming towards 8th street crying and when questioned, admitted having been mistreated. He was brought to the office of Justice Hupy where he was made to tell his story and a warrant charging sodomy, was sworn out for Fisk.

The latter has admitted having a brother who "broke out" of Jackson state prison. He says his home is in the district near Alma, Mich. He claimed to have some money coming from the circus, but an examination of the pay roll showed that he had been paid for the two weeks he put in with them.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S MEET POSTPONED

The usual meeting of the Young People's Organization of the Swedish Mission Church to be held in the Church Parlor Friday has been postponed according to an announcement made during the week. The next meeting will take place in two weeks, as per usual.

ATTENDS HARDWARE CONVENTION

Henry Blackwell left this morning for Philadelphia where he will attend the meeting of the National Hardware Dealers' association. Mr. Blackwell is a member of the executive committee. He will visit at the national capital before returning home about June 28.

COLENOZZO ADDRESSES ROTARY

Rev. Harry Colenozzo gave a very interesting talk on Central and Labor at the regular Monday noon luncheon of the Rotarians. He emphasized the need of a better understanding between employer and employee. His discussion made the meeting a very enjoyable and instructive one for the members.

PREPARING FOR FIREMEN'S TOURNEY

Under the direction of William Hellp, the Volunteer Firemen held their first practice at the City Hall Tuesday evening, for the Annual Tournament at Lake Linden on July 15, 16 and 17.

The contests there deal with fire fighting in the main. The following representatives will go from the local volunteers: Roger Smith, William McCormick, Clarence Class, Ed. Poltras, Ed. Miller, Johnson Burroughs, Frank Nelson Wilbur Gimmond and William Hellp.

Either Fire Chief Randall or Geo. Pease will go with the team to receive instructions regarding the handling of fires.

HAULING GARBAGE AWAY FROM ALLEYS

As a result of the survey of the alleys of the city made by the girls of the Community Civics Class under the direction of their instructor, M. C. Wagner, the city has begun the work of hauling the garbage away.

Some of the alleys were in a very deplorable condition while other property owners are to be congratulated upon the neat appearance of their premises.

The conditions were reported to the proper city authorities and the cleanup process is following.

The law which the boys of the Civics Class have been making around the Junior High School Building has been completed. This work was done as a requirement of the course during the regular class period under Mr. Wagner. It has greatly improved the appearance of the school grounds and the boys are to be complimented for their accomplishment.

GERMAINE FAMILY TO MAKE TOUR TO WEST

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Germaine and family will leave Sunday on a two month tour. They will visit relatives at LaCrosse, Wisconsin, going from there to Western States on the Yellowstone Trail. They will go through Washington and other points near the coast. The trip will be made in their Ford Touring Car with which last summer they motored to the Atlantic Coast going through New Jersey and other states, in this car, claiming a record miles all car trouble.

ROTARIANS TO MEET WITH ESCANABA CLUB MONDAY

The local Rotary Club will be entertained by the Escanaba Rotarians at Escanaba Monday noon. They will listen to an address by D. Handy, Chairman of the Utility Commission. He will speak on Public Utility.

Rev. H. W. Colenozzo will speak at the Methodist Church of Nahmo Tuesday evening.

BOB LAFOLLETTE DIED YESTERDAY

SENATOR FROM WISCONSIN VIC-TIM OF BRONCHIAL TROUBLE

Senator Robert M. LaFollette, senior senator from Wisconsin, died yesterday, June 18, at 1:30 in the afternoon. He had been suffering from chronic bronchial catarrh and a nervous breakdown and his condition has been regarded as serious for several days. Death occurred at the home at Washington, D. C.

Senator LaFollette's political career is colorful. On many occasions he was the center of some agitation or another. He was bitterly attacked for his stand against the war with Germany, and it was this record that was used against him as a candidate for President on the Independent Progressive ticket in the last general election.

The LaFollette home is at Madison, Wis. Surviving are the widow and two sons, all of whom were active in the last presidential campaign.

FOUR CARS DAMAGED IN SAME ACCIDENT

Four automobiles were mixed up in an accident that occurred on the highway near Brampton about 10:20 Wednesday night. A Ford touring driven by Albert Westrope sidwiped one driven by Dr. Stelwagen of this city. Westrope's car is said to have continued going and into a car from the Lambers garage of the city and another driven by Andrew Apostle of Escanaba. All cars received some damage, Westrope's nose cut and another man had his hand injured.

Our Reporter Observes--

THAT many of our local college students have arrived for the summer.

THAT "spring cleanups" are in evidence in many yards of the city. Lots of folks are palating their homes, remodeling and making repairs.

THAT there are many "student" parading around with a stack of books and a satisfied grin.

THAT Escanaba, Rapid River and other neighboring towns are preparing for a big celebration on July 4. What's Gladstone going to do?

THAT the Commencement Exercises of our high school recalled to the mind of one Graduate of the Class of '13, who is still a resident or "home town", the night when he received his Diploma, in the Old Opera House. The Class Prophecy was being read by Blanche Prasser and Ruth Hammond dressed as witches. The stage was darkened except for the glare of light made by the powders and chemicals. The girls threw into a large cauldron in the center of the stage as they foretold the future of each graduate who walked across the platform garbed in the attire of his vocation in full dress of a red light. The program was proceeding splendidly, and much to the satisfaction of the audience when manganese thrown into the cauldron blazed high. Sparks flew to the floor by table and flames followed. The situation was taken care of by the "fellows" a fire class, with little damage resulting.

SISTERS LEFT TUESDAY

Sisters Rosella, Arcadius, Mercedes, Agnes Joseph, Rancie Agnes, Constance left Tuesday morning for the other house at Concordia, Kansas. They will visit there for a short time before going to Omaha, Nebraska where they will enter the Creighton College for the summer course of study.

EAGLES HOLD MEET

The regular meeting of the local Erie of Eagles will be held in the Hall tonight. A discussion of business matters will occupy the main part of the evening. All members are requested to be present.

C. C. Strickland, Principal at the High School and Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Wagner will leave tonight for Chicago. Mr. Wagner and Mr. Strickland will attend the University of Chicago during the summer term.

WELFARE STATION WILL BE OPENED HERE NEXT WEEK

TRAINED NURSE TO KEEP RECORD OF HEALTH OF INFANTS BROUGHT TO CLINIC

COMPLETE WORK THIS WEEK

Work of the Child's Welfare Club Health Station, which has been in progress for several days, is expected to be completed this week and the station will be opened to the public some time the forepart of next week. The new quarters are on the second floor, over the Fire Hall, and will be in charge of Miss Mathilda Melvin, trained in child welfare work, who came here from Winnipeg, Can., to work under the direction of the local club.

Health clinics for infants and children of pre-school age will be conducted at regular intervals to be announced later. A record will be kept of all babies brought for examination and the mothers advised as to the state of the child's health. Miss Melvin is experienced in the work and under her care, much good will be secured for those who would probably neglect to consult a physician for minor ailments to which children are subject.

There will be no charge in connection with the work at the health station, it being a part of the welfare work undertaken by the Child's Welfare club.

ADDRESS OF JUDGE YELLAND AT MEETING

"Child Welfare and Child Labor" was the subject of Judge Judd Yelland's address before the members of the Child's Welfare Club at their regular meeting Monday evening at the Kindergarten. The experience Judge Yelland has had with children in the past many years has been fortunate. Judge Yelland has handled this subject to perfection. He emphasized the fact that state institutions for children are the "wrong course," praised individual welfare clubs but stated that the State Department was not cooperating with the civic institutions. He concluded with a discussion of the moral issue.

Mrs. F. D. Springer was Chairman of the committee in charge. Her co-workers were the Messingens, C. Sinclair, Skellenger, A. Swenson, State Swenson and Pettit. Several musical selections pleased the audience. A vocal solo by Noble Swenson accompanied by Evonema Eason, piano Solo, Miss Elsie Wolfe, vocal solo by Mrs. H. Skoquist, accompanied by Miss Artrig Skoquist, and Michigan My Michigan by the Assembly.

HIGHWAY 12-15 TO BE OPENED ABOUT JULY 4

It is expected that the highway between Gladstone and Kipping, which has been under construction since spring, will be opened to traffic in time for July 4. Nebel Bros., contractors for the state, finished pouring concrete on the stretch this week. A short cut has been made just north of the Coopers property and this stretch will be the last to be opened up.

SAWMILL CLOSED AT 5:30 FRIDAY

LACK OF SPRING RAINS PREVENTS FLOATING LOGS DOWN TO LOCAL MILL

The Collins Land and Lumber Company closed for an indefinite period at 5:30 last Friday, for the first time in the history of their plant here. This step has been anticipated by local people for some time, it being a well known fact that the summer drive of logs is stalled on the Whitefish because of the lack of rain.

Other means of bringing the logs down have been investigated, but with the conclusion that they are impractical. One method suggested was that of damming up the river in places, and releasing the water as needed as the logs floated down.

Their discontinuing operations will ordinarily through the neighborhood of sixty employees out of work, however, a great portion of these have been given work handling lumber, and other duties in the yards.

This situation does not affect the planing and lath mills, there being sufficient material to keep them in operation.

The Lumber Industry is the important product and occupation of Rapid River. The closing Friday marked the first time in the history of the Collins Land and Lumber Company that such a step has been necessary. It is hoped by local people that conditions will soon warrant a reopening.

MORRIS AND BARBEAU CARS IN COLLISION

A Ford driven by Aleck Morris collided with Levi Barbeau Dodge in front of the latter's home Sunday morning. Mr. Barbeau was driving out of his yard and struck the Ford which was going toward Rapid.

The front of the Dodge was damaged to some extent, although the loss of the Ford was much greater. The two front fenders were entirely destroyed, and the radiator damaged considerably.

BERGMAN SAYS HIS COLTS NOT FOR SALE

G. A. Bergman has been approached several times in the past two weeks by parties who wanted to know if he wanted to get rid of his Colts. George had to stand for a great deal of gas, especially from Sam Viets. However, those who saw the team in action Sunday now have a better idea of the possibilities of the youngsters that are being developed. Viets can't buy the Colts for the very good reason that Bergman won't sell.

Several games are scheduled ahead, as follows: June 21 at Nahma, June 23 at Trenary, July 4 Cooks here, July 5 Trenary here, July 12 at Cooks.

PLAIN LINEN TOWELING with colored borders makes excellent and serviceable luncheon doilies, much more easily laundered than table-cloths.

SOME HOUSEKEEPERS do not realize that rubarb may be very easily kept for winter use. Simply wash, cut into convenient lengths, and pack tightly in a fruit jar; fill the jar to overflowing with hot heavy syrup made of twice as much sugar as water and cook until it forms a thread. Add just rubber and lid and without seal. In hot water bath for fifteen minutes in a hot water bath. Then seal.

Quality Groceries

Mrs. Housewife is regarded as a very thorough shopper. And she usually gets what she's after even if it takes lays of effort. That part applies to GROCERY STORES where FOOD quality is as essential as price.

We welcome every housewife to do her shopping here, knowing whatever she may purchase she is getting the fullest measure of value in every respect—choicest food with the minimum of price.

Come anytime. We know you'll like the service here.

Just Like New--- That's What You'll Say

That's often the expression that follows the dry cleaning of a garment, which has been sent to our establishment. Not once or twice—but hundreds of times. And many is the time when a Suit, Wrap or Frock was returned to the owner after it was once destined for the rag bag.

Let's show you how we can save your last years clothes, restore them to their prestine beauty—and make you happy for another season.

Our dry cleaning process is thorough. It does the work efficiently—and best of all it saves you money.

GOSH IT'S HOT
That is what you'll hear men say to each other when they're merely walking in the street under the sun's hot ray.

And probably at home the wives or servants of those very men are working over a hot wash tub or steaming boiler. The more considerate men however insist on sending the laundry to us and the wisest housewives do it because they know good laundry work.

I think I don't need glasses yet, but really it may be
That I am blind and cannot see what's right in front of me."
If Pa should speed the car a bit some rigs to hurry past
Ma whippers: "Do be careful now. You're driving much too fast."
And all the time she's pointing the dangers of the street
And keeps him posted on the roads where trolley cars he'll meet.
Last night when we got safely home, Pa sighed and said "My dear, I'm sure we've all enjoyed the drive you gave us from the rear!"

MA AND THE AUTO
Before we take an auto ride Pa says to Ma: My dear:
Now just remember I don't need suggestions from the real.
If you will just sit still back there and hold in check your fright.
I'll take you where you want to go and get you back all right.
Remember that my hearing's good and also I'm not blind.
And I can drive this car without suggestions from behind.
Ma promises that she'll keep still, then off we zappy start.
But soon she notices ahead a peddler and his cart.
"You'd better toot your horn," says she, "so 'at him know we're near; He might turn out and Pa replies: "Just shriek at him my dear."
And then he adds: "some day, some sly will make a lot of dough."
By putting horns on tonneau seats for women folks to blow."

A little farther on Ma cries: "He signalled for a turn"
And Pa says: "Did he?" in a tone that's hot enough to burn.
Oh, there's a boy on roller skates, cries Ma, now do go slow.

Here and Now

By O. Lawrence Hawthorne

I hear men talk so much about Some great, uncertain day When happiness at last will drive Their miseries away.

They live in hope of better things Tomorrow, in a land Where all is rapturous and gay And comforting and grand.

But oh, how foolish is the plan How tragic is the fate Of those who so delude themselves Until it is too late!

Contentment sets no future time To bless the lives of men, For happiness is here and now And never there and then!

SCHOLARLY SQUIBBLES

SENIORS SOLLICQUY ON GRADUATION NIGHT We soon shall leave Not that we grieve Our parting but with a sense Of last companionship Do we go.

Yet, they have passed too quickly, And with regret are left Those memories made by friendly rells. The class bell our knell of future marks.

Other lates it now must hark The daily going to and fro. With jolly justinas and vociferous hellos As past. Our cast Is now of sterner stuff.

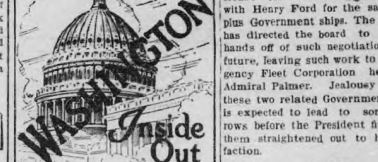

In deeper channels must we thrust Our lust for knowledge. Life holds for us a lustrous share In life solely to our care. And keep. If we fall to meet What life demands of us.

But rather, trust That we can make the grade. Fate will sometime do us good And if we would be great We should make the best of fate. So let us leave our school With a faith.

(A Weekly Panorama of Events in the National Capital, By Peter Keegan for The Delta Reporter.)

AMONG POLITICIANS in Washington President Coolidge's trip to Minnesota to deliver an address at the Norse-American celebration is taken to mean that he will be a candidate for President in 1928 and that the 2400 mile journey to Minneapolis and return was for the purpose of putting the presidential fences in order in that part of the country. The President was immensely pleased by the hearty reception which he received in Minnesota, especially in view of the fact that the last time he was there before he was howled down in an attempt to make a campaign speech. At that time he was running for Vice-President with Harding and the Northwest was then getting into the control of the Farm-Labor party, which had slight respect for the red-headed Massachusetts Governor who undertook to explain New England Republican principles to them.

THE DEMOCRATS have succeeded in discharging the $280,000 debt left from the last campaign. Credit for the achievement is being given to Clem Shaver, the Democratic National Chairman. The underwriting of the debt makes it possible for the Congressional campaign without financial embarrassments, aside from collecting the funds then needed.

DESPITE THE reported intention of the Administration to shut off private credit in this country to foreign nations which do not make arrangements to pay their war debts, a like amount is now being ready to ask for $100,000,000 and it is understood that France, the biggest of the American debtors, is also planning to ask the Morgan company to double the $100,000,000 to extend to the French Government a year ago in connection with the Italian loan. The official charge was made here in the National Committee that part of the arrangements for the borrowing was made by Frank W. Storns, personal friend and advisor of the President.

WORKERS digging 15 feet in the ground at Flint unearthed a walnut tree that is supposed to have been here since the last glacial age. Some day, too, a radio searcher may find on the surface of the earth a walnut tree that has been there since the last lumbering era.

CHAIRMAN O'CONNOR of the Shipping Board has received a round about call down from the White House for conducting negotiations with Henry Ford for the sale of surplus Government ships. The President has directed the board to keep its hands off of such negotiations in the future, leaving such work to the Emergency Fleet Corporation headed by Admiral Palmer. The two related Government units is expected to lead to some lively rows before the President finally gets them straightened out to his satisfaction.

THE END HAS about been reached in making sweeping reductions in Government expenditures, such as have been in order for the past five years. Federal expenses have been dropping off steadily since the war, part of this being a natural reduction from the abnormal expenditures necessary at that time. Preliminary estimates of expenditures for next year now indicate that operating expenses will be greater beginning in July 1st, 1924, than they have been during the present fiscal year. The Budget Bureau is still working, however, to keep the cost of government at the lowest possible figure, the Coolidge policy being not to spend a nickel that can be saved. A large surplus in the Treasury is again expected at the end of this month, and it will be upon this that the Administration will base its tax reduction program in the next Congress.

A Gratiſied Ambition

By G. P. WILSON

(© 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)
EVE since I was a child I have always wanted to be a Greek god...

At first I dreamed of a big, curly-haired lover as handsome as a Greek god...

A month ago or so, I inherited an estate in Texas. An uncle of mine departed this life and left me all his worldly possessions...

"You and I have been friends for a long time, Sally," I began, "and I know you won't betray a confidence..."

"I've inherited an estate in Texas," I announced dramatically. "Uncle Jasper left it to me."

"Huh," grunted Sally, plainly disappointed. "Thought you'd heard some scandal."

Ten minutes after she'd gone, Hank Hawkins came in and tried to sell me an automobile on credit.

That night, while I was sitting on the porch of my modest little cottage, Judge Henderson stopped to see me.

"I am a man of few words, Mr. nerva," he said. "I believe in coming to the point at once..."

"Oh, Judge," I murmured breathlessly. "Wouldn't you like to come over to my house and be my wife?"

"I think I'm a little over-romanced," he said. "But I want to be made love to first..."

"That's all foolishness," he laughed, drawing me closer to him. "If there's any doubt about your mind, I'm going to you!"

"I'm the only living heir," I informed him and he brightened up perceptibly.

The next morning I received a letter from the judge; a regular love letter that thrilled me to the very bottom of my soul.

The judge wrote me every day, came to see me every night, gave me a diamond ring, more or less gold, and acted the part of an infatuated avian.

For two weeks I lived an ideal existence, basking in the sunlight of the judge's affections and then my castles blew up. When the judge came to see me that night I knew something was wrong.

"I don't think a woman of your age would try to mislead an old man like me," he began, without even saying good evening. "I'm surprised."

"What do you mean?" I asked, being bold and brazen. "You told me you were a rich woman."

"I'm sorry you feel that way about it," he declared. "It's all been a mistake. If you will give me back my ring—it was my first wife's and has been the engagement ring of all my other wives—I'll be glad."

"I won't give anything back to you," I cried, as mad as I have ever been in my life. "And if you don't leave at once, I'll scratch your old eyes out."

He took me at my word and left hurriedly. As he left, nervousness passed out of my life and I realized that one of my ambitions would never be gratified. But I'm going to be the most talked-of woman in my town. I'll say I am. My breach of promise suit against Judge Henderson will certainly do that for me.

WHEN SWEET ALICE GOT HER SURPRISE

Adventure Cured Elephant of Pet Hobby.

Elephants, though the wisest and most ponderous of animals, are among the most prankish. "No one is ever able to tell what they're going to do, or when they're going to do it," says Mr. Courtney Lisle Cooper in his delightful circus "Lions 'n' Tigers 'n' Everything."

Alice was a gay young thing of forty-five summers and seven tons avoirdupois. Her hobby was stepping on tin cans. She loved to feel them squish under her feet.

It was the noon hour. The parade of the circus was in full swing. At one of the five-gallon cans that once had contained pie apples, Alice spotted them; she glanced toward her keeper; he was busy and not looking.

Quietly Alice sneaked from her place and set her foot on a can and another. She squashed satisfactorily and gave out delicious rattle of apple. She investigated further with another can. The stuff, as she sensitive tip of her trunk explored the depths for nuts and castles as good as it smelt.

Not does the well-bred man or woman ever claim the right of way in a crowd. The public is not responsible for any person's delay, even be it to catch a train.

DO YOU KNOW? Rules of etiquette all should know.

IN PUBLIC PLACES

From McCall's Service Bulletins
The ways of crowds are strikingly free and easy and therefore the person who stands out from the average and appears distinguished.

A man meeting a woman on the street should not speak with her, but turns and walks by her side.

Most men prefer to walk on the curb side of the sidewalk when accompanying a woman, but if the turns and crossings are frequent, he will not dodge from side to side of the woman at every block.

Only one unaccompanied to consider the rights of others will pass between two persons who are in conversation unless they are carefully blocking a public path.

To ask a woman companion's consent to light a cigar is not a nicety but a necessity of good form. Only an invalid a narrow-minded woman ever refuses the permission or argues the point.

Confidential matters never should be carelessly discussed in public. To "buttonhole" a man in the street, or to see a man in the center of his exit to a toilet, who approaches a man's ear to exhibit a deplorable ignorance of good manners.

Loitering on the street is an inexcusable breach of etiquette. Nor does the well-bred man or woman ever claim the right of way in a crowd.

Criticism of strangers or joking about them, staring and pointing are inexcusable social offenses. It is equally bad form to turn and survey an audience deliberately for a length of time, or to turn on the street to watch a passerby.

The Russian Loan

The loan that Russia expects England to make her led Mayor Hilary Howe to say at a Nashville luncheon.

"Russia reminds me of the Funk family. The Funk family owed the grocer $27, and so he told them he wouldn't let them have any more groceries till they made a payment on account. So Mrs. Funk promised to give him $5 on Saturday night, and he said that then, but not till then, the usual relations would be resumed."

"Well, a couple of days passed, and on the evening of a meeting, Fanny Funk turned up at the grocery with an enormous market basket on her arm. Mrs. Grocer, who piped, 'noon says will ye let her have two pounds of coffee and a slice of ham and half a pound of swiss cheese and three boxes of sardines out of the five-spot she promised ye for Saturday night?'"

Keen "Movie" Patron

Speaking of devotees of the silver screen, William K. Hall, of Bath, Maine, has missed only six performances in all the theaters since film productions were introduced in Bath back in 1907, says the Boston Globe.

He has had 100 per cent record as far as the Opera house, which opened in 1913, is concerned. During the prosperous days of the shipping boom, there were three theaters in the city, and Mr. Hall usually attended three shows a day. He claims to be the champion of Bath, the possible champion of Maine and the possible champion of New England.

Her Favorite Bible Story

Mother had been reading a Bible story to Marjory every night before bedtime. One night she asked, "Well, Marjory, what story shall I read tonight?"

"Oh, mother," Marjory answered, "I want you to read me that one about the ten girls who went out to meet the bridegroom and ran out of gasoline!"

—Everybody's Magazine.

It May Be So

"Do you ever electrify your audience?" was asked of a popular pulpist orator.

"I don't it," was the reply. "My opinion is that when a man comes prepared to put a quarter in the box he does not raise his contribution."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Quasi Effect of Tar

White road contractors were squinting tar on Millburn avenue, Maplewood, N. J., Fanny, the prize hen of H. M. Reeve, was treated to a bath of the black stuff. Mr. Reeve gave this rest-laying hen a bath in hard and this restored her white color, but the next day he reported that she had laid a coal-thick egg.

GLADSTONE STAGES BATTING RALLY IN EIGHTH THAT NETS FOUR RUNS

You hear ball players talk about "breaks." They'll say you've got to get the breaks to win ball games. And then there are other ball players who put it another way. They say you've got to MAKE the breaks to win. Gladstone went through seven and a half innings in last Sunday's game without getting or making any breaks. They make one "break" in their turn at bat in the eighth. It netted them four runs and resulted in a 5 to 2 win against Harry Potter's Crystal Falls crew in the ball toss.

Until the rally in that eventful inning, the game had been a pitching battle between Sammy Hagen for Crystal Falls and Lefty Patten for the locals. Patten pitched better, but errors, one on a wild pitch in the fourth, had allowed the visitors to score two tallies on a single hit. In the meantime the locals had scored but once, in the third when Deslets walked, went to second on a bunt throw to first and scored on a single by Bovin.

The score stood 2 to 1 against the locals when the eighth opened. Chief Jimmy White opened up with a single. Johnson bunted and both runners beat out the play. Patten also bunted and White was forced at third. Lord Ackley, substitute, was sent in to bat for Kircher. He hit the first pitch for a single over first and scored Johnson with the tying run. Patten went to third and Ackley to second on the throw home. Deslets bunted and squeezed in the winning run. Patten beating the throw home and Ackley going to third. He scored a moment later on a sacrifice fly by Bovin. Williams singled and brought Deslets around with the fourth run of the inning. That was all the scoring, and it was enough.

Patten retired the visitors in order in the ninth. His pitching throughout was brilliant. The visitors got three hits and only one of these was clean. And he struck out ten. The locals played head-up baseball except in the fourth. In that inning Miller, first up, was safe on Knapp's fumble of his grounder. Lada bunted and Patten threw to center field in trying for a double play. Simmers fouled to White and V. Johnson walked, filling the bases. Potter forced out one runner but Becker singled two runs across. That was all and after that the visitors never had a chance, getting only 3 men on base, only one of whom got as far as second.

WHITE LEADS IN BATTING AVERAGE

HAS FOR FOUR GAMES WHILE TWO RECRUITS REST ON TOP OF LIST

"Chief" James White Gladstone's catcher, has the best batting average among the regulars who have played in the four games this season. Lloyd Ackley has 1000 as the result for his entry once as a pinch hitter and Walter Vanderwege has one hit in two trials for an average of 500. Among the regulars, Lefty Gervais is second with .333 and Williams third with .286. The team average is .253 and the batters line up as follows:

TRACK TEAM AND DIRECTORS GUESTS

The mother of the Track men were hostesses at a Banquet given in the Methodist Church Parlors at 6:30 Friday evening. Decorations were in purple and white, the High School colors. The Misses Georgia Zino, Anita Rosenblum, June Woodhall, Ruth Noreus and Helen Erickson served.

Rev. Colenso as toastmaster, called on C. H. Teague, Coach Kiel, Anthony Meeners, M. C. Wagner, Captain Fillmore and retiring Coach Gordon for talks. The subjects of clean athletics, athletics in relation to school work were well discussed, and proved both interesting and instructive to the party present.

Base Ball Gossip

Gladstone plays a return game at Crystal Falls next Sunday, June 28th. Munising comes to Gladstone for the first game of the season between these two teams. The Munising game will probably draw the largest game of the season.

Miller, Crystal Falls short stop, played a fine game for the visitors. He smothered a rally for the locals in the second inning when he jumped up to get G. Johnson's liner and doubled Gervais at third. The hit looked good for two runs as White was on second at the time. In the fourth he pitched another good play when he doubled Williams at second.

Except for the rally in the eighth of Sunday's game, Gladstone sluggers haven't been coming through with men on bases. There'll be trouble for opposing pitchers when they get started.

The usual "loyal" bunch of fans witnessed the game from on top of box cars. These are the same fellows who come around and give advice about how to run the ball team. There were at least 100 fans who saw the game from over the fence. Among these there are probably some who cannot afford to pay to see the game. To these the management offers passes if they admit they cannot pay. Gladstone has always been known for the loyal fans it harbored and surely we don't want to have visiting teams advertise the fact that it now has so many "cheap" fans.

The Escanaba management had entered into a gentlemen's agreement not to book games at Escanaba when Gladstone was playing at home. Gladstone had already altered its schedule so as not to conflict with Escanaba. But they disregarded the agreement scheduling Oconto at Escanaba Sunday. The only date on which they can cross up the locals is June 28. A gentlemen's agreement means nothing unless it is entered into by gentlemen. Let the Escanaba manager speak for himself.

"Bubs" Kuhn beat Houghton Sunday, giving Marquette five wins for the season and undisputed possession of first place. Bubs pitched all five, two of them on successive days.

Bert Bowman former star hurler for Marquette, now at Alma, will be given a try-out with the Detroit club. Bert has been setting a mighty fast pace at school. Another upper peninsula pitcher, Gunderson of Crystal Falls, has been signed up by Indianapolis.

"Chief" Williams, Gladstone's new right fielder, was one of the heaviest hitters in the old Wisconsin state league circuit as well as a great fielder. "Firpo" Smith, Marquette's shortstop, was a teammate of Williams at Green Bay when that city was a spoke in the Badger wheel—Marquette Mining Journal.

HONORED FOR TRACK VICTORIES

Medals have been received from Menominee by C. Strickland for the records made there at the Upper Peninsula Track meet by members of the local team.

Pole Vault, second place, by Irving Fillmore.
 High Hurdles, second place.
 Discus, second place, both by Gordon Seeger.

120 High Hurdles, first
 Low Hurdles, second, both by Bob Noreus.
 Kenneth Forbes, who has assisted Mr. Strickland in Athletic circles, was presented with a purple and white sweater in behalf of the school.

Chief White was forced into the ditch Tuesday afternoon returning to Gladstone from St. Francis Hospital where his wife is confined. A truck got over the left hand side and White turned off the road. The Heslip Ford car which he was driving turned over slowly, the windows, fenders and top being damaged.

On Frank Day, members of the senior class of the Sandusky High school "appeared in school garbed in unique and ridiculous costumes." One boy wearing pants with legs so small that they looked as if he couldn't fall through them, was greeted with peals of laughter.

ALL OUT OF SORTS?

So Was This Gladstone Woman Who Tells Her Experience

All too often women accept their pains and aches as natural to their sex. They fail to realize that weak kidneys are often to blame for that backache, those headaches, dizzy spells and that tired, depressed feeling. Thousands have found new health and strength by helping the weakened kidneys with Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. This Gladstone case is one of many:

Mrs. Z. LaBumard, 722 Superior Ave., says: "I had a dull, nagging ache through the small of my back which hurt me constantly. The muscles in my back and limbs were lame and sore. My kidneys didn't act right and I felt run down and all out of sorts. I used Doan's Pills and they drove the trouble away."
 Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mrs. LaBumard had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Perfect Food for Little Folks
You don't have to encourage children to eat ice-cream—it is their natural food—their tastes crave for it because their systems require it. Ice cream is 100 per cent nourishment—not a deleterious or harmful food in it—and every element it contains is pure food. And it's not only food but it's also cooling, refreshing and thoroughly enjoyable. That is why it is as popular and healthful for the older folks as it is for the youngsters. Naturally the purest Ice Cream is the best. Naturally the ice cream that contains the tastiest flavors and ingredients in the most likable. When you order ice cream order that which you'll enjoy the most—it's called RODMAN'S.

He Wanted Revenge
By ORVILLE LEONARD

HIRSHAN VAN WART was dying—dying of a broken heart. He had been a success. Another of those cursed attacks, brought on by news that had caused the blood to surfeit his face and send him into the depths of the big easy chair which he rarely left. For Van Wart was forever getting phone messages that sent an arrow of pain into his face. And, though Hiram Van Wart's tone and manner were not nice, he was usually obeyed instantly and with deference for he had a very large bank account.

Of his many interests and valuable holdings, the apple of his eye was the beautiful estate in the middle of which he now sat. It had acres of hill and dale, streams, waterfalls, forests and gardens rolled about him. When he and his boyhood companion, Jake, went to work, foggy and played hooky in these very woods he now owned they had both sworn to them some day. Van Wart and Jake had grown up together, and about the same time had gone to the city and worked hard. Van Wart had made his pile first and then, quietly—quietly by trade—had bought up all that wonderful bit of unimproved land. Jake had not found it out for some time, for he had been occupied in amassing a far greater fortune than his old schoolmate, but he had concluded that he had saved enough millions to test awhile his thoughts turned to Dutch corners, and he went out there to see Hiram Van Wart. Hiram sneered at him. "Beat you to it, Jake."

"Yes, Hiram," Jake had answered evenly, "but when we were boys we were going to get rich and lay it together—member?" "Just a boy's dream, Jake."

"All right, Hiram, I'm disappointed, but that's all right. You don't tell you what I'd like. There is a little patch of heavy woodland where the Dutch Corners road and the French town pike come together—about ten acres of it. You could get fifty thousand dollars for the whole thousand acres, I know, but I'll give you five thousand for that ten-acre wedge—want to put up a little shack in the old home place. It has been the dream of my life to settle down here when I get enough."

"Nonsense in Dutch do I sell, Jake," said Van Wart, smiling disagreeably, for success had made him like that. "Jacob Lont had left him without further words, but since that day no big deal of Van Wart's no cunning, deep scheme of his but had been fought—often thwarted, often put through after tremendous and needless expense. And Van Wart had traced his enemy to Jacob Lont. And now, as he lay back, gasping for breath, all these things racing through his mind, the phone jingled. A sharp, businesslike voice spoke over the wire: "Mr. Van Wart, the new suburban railroad is going to cut off about ten acres of your land at Dutch Corners road and Frenchtown pike. Can't go round it. Road's miles away yet, but the lines have been run. At what price you hold it?"

"Wart sold," growled Van Wart. "Then condemnation proceedings will be started in thirty days, the voice was crisp and cold, and you won't get more than a hundred acre for it!" Van Wart slammed the receiver on the hook. Slowly he put out his hand and again to see what was the matter. Jacob Lont's number in the city. After a long wait the firm voice came over the wire: "Jacob Lont talking."

"Hello, Jake! This is Hiram Van Wart. To realize in Jake and I want to part friends with you. Doc says I can't live two weeks. If you want that ten-acre corner and will put through the deal now you can have it for five thousand dollars. I'll sign the papers up to give you possession tomorrow."

"Sorry to hear about you, Hiram, I'll be out tomorrow with a certified check, Lont promised yesterday—" "G. by."

Then Van Wart rested a moment with closed eyes, before he called a number: "Come over now, Sharpe. Want to make a new will. Doc gives me two weeks at most."

Two minutes later a high-powered car raced up the driveway. Van Wart's lawyer alighted, accompanied by a notary.

"Lo, Sharpe! Took you a long time. Van Wart is waiting for you here in the safe. Stands as is—everything goes to Jacob Lont—old boyhood friend—good money he can take care of you that change into this place with every stick on it, goes to the Dutch Corners Lunatic asylum, except ten acres on the corner of Dutch Corners road and Frenchtown pike. The selling of that ten-acre tract tomorrow to Lont. And, Sharpe, and Van Wart glared at the lawyer, "see that you make that deed tight!"

The next day Van Wart closed his eyes and decided to have his telephone disconnected on the morrow—for his phone was done.

AMERICAN TOWN NOT IN SECOND PLACE
Can Well Bear Companion With Those of England.

This nation was established by common people, and other common people have come over in millions to reproduce the original settlers and their descendants; therefore it is hardly strange that common traits stick to so many of our people. Most writers in McNaught's Monthly, admitting this with all due humility, may we not still contend that our American masses will compare favorably in all such essential points as usefulness, sobriety, intelligence, and generosity with the masses of Great Britain or any other country? In reply to frequent criticisms of the awful fatness and dullness of American life, may we not as well as a chautauque lecturer or at Coberly heard of at a Sunday school picnic will stand companion as to alertness and capacity for intelligent enjoyment with a similar gathering in any land? Critics urge our monotony and colorlessness of life in our small towns, forgetting that they are comparing the amenities of these towns with those of great cities where they themselves live. Instead of making comparison of the grayness of rustic villages in France or England, Gopher Prairie is a paradise of intellectual and social activity beside the red brick towns of similar size in the old world.

The English concede us a point in the superiority of our sanitary plumbing, and add a number of other things that help to contribute to comfort and physical well being. Do not such things add in fixing the color of life? Our housewives think nothing of getting as much ice as they want to preserve foods in summer; the average Englishwoman can scarcely obtain ice at all, and when she wishes to keep a little bit of milk of cream in warm weather she is forced to use a chemical preservative. We have fly screens to protect us in summer time in England, and the flies find out such new-fangled barriers to keep them out, and so they hold conventions and mass meetings on the table. I have found English village inn-keepers whose praise have been sung so eloquently by Christopher Murray, to be almost unbearably infested with flies in summer.

Our women folk buy bread neatly wrapped in wax paper; in England I have seen bare loaves tossed around on the sidewalks like loose bricks. Some of us deliver our doors carefully wrapped; in London I observed a butcher boy on a bicycle unwrapped by a passing horse, and the unwrapped loaf in his delivery basket in front pitched out onto the pavement. Unconcernedly he replaced the meat in his basket and went his way.

I do not wish to cry down English life and English people—we have much to learn from them, but I do wish to make the point that ugliness is not peculiarly an American shortcoming. We have some artists at work, but the English have others of their own, and so far as I know they are not struggling harder than we to escape.

His Intelligence
"I've got to admire Constable Slack-putter's zeal," said Mayor Numbers of Pounia, "but I can't say much for his judgment."

"Has he been using it lately?" asked a visitor from Allegash.

"Yes, a feller who thought he was in a hurry hopped out of his automobile yesterday at the top of Tom Turtle hill, and left it with its engine running. A kid came along and gave it a push to see what would happen, and it ran away downhill going faster and faster every minute. Slack ran out in front of it, waving his hat and hollering, 'Whoa!' The doctor says he's ort to be all right in about a month."—Kansas City Star.

Teddy Misplaced
The young woman had just returned to her rural home from several years in the big city. She was exhibiting the contents of her trunk, to the admiration and amazement of her mother, who had bought her clothes for 40 years in the general store, and "And these," said the daughter, holding up a delicate sliver garment, "are teddies."

"Teddies? You don't say, young ones are certainly different from what they used to be."—Akron Times.

Of Corsets Wrong, Dear
A man in England was telling his little niece about bird migration, and the child asked if the robin went away in winter. "No," said her uncle, the robin just puts on a new red waistcoat and stays."

The little one looked puzzled. "That can't be right, Uncle Tom," she said. "I've seen heaps of pictures of robins with red waistcoats, but never one with stays."—Boston Transcript.

Agin the Law!
"I see," remarked Farmer Jessup to his neighbor, "that they've just passed a law agin Candy tipples."

"Wal, how, ain't that lucky?" said the latter. "I was wonderin' yesterday how I was goid to get rid of that patch of mine."—Everybody's Magazine.

Shopping
"It's so hard to find what you want when you're shopping."

"Isn't it, though? Especially if you don't know what you want."—Everybody's Magazine.

Travelers in Africa
Make Slow Progress

All over central Africa the tasteless travelers pack animals of any kind are impossible, except for a very few, though increasing, arteries motor roads are unknown, so when one travels, one travels on one's feet, and one's baggage goes on the heads of porters.

Various paternal governments have laid down that these loads shall not exceed 50 pounds in weight, and one of the things to remember about central Africa travel—"bafala," as it is called—is that one's horse should be of such size that when filled with ordinary things they will turn the scale at about that weight.

Another thing to remember is never to be in a hurry. The African porter is sure, but he is amazingly slow. Three miles per hour is the accepted pace and 15 miles a day about the limit on a journey lasting any length of time.

To the man accustomed to be rushed the same distance in half an hour this may seem unutterably tedious; but it has its compensations—the start through the magical freshness of an African dawn; the endless succession of fascinating sights; the herd of hartebeeste or zebra galloping away in alarm, here a native village with laughing, chattering women and solemn masked children; the grayness of the fresh tracks of elephants churning across the tracks; the arrival in camp and the pleasant surprise at a battered deck chair while the cook prepares that finest of meals—meat one has shot one's self; the long dreamlike nights of perfect sleep.

And above all, the African is reliable; he does not go on a strike; but, being merely a poor, ignorant savage, serves his master, with loyalty and ability for the wages heaped upon in the first instance.—Exchange.

Veteran Looks Back

The editor of the bright Gladstone Journal is Alex Fleming, and he remembers as follows:

"Almost 50 years ago the writer, a freckle-faced, spindling kid, started on the downward road as printer's devil in the Palmyra Spectator office. Three years later he was a journeyman printer in the old Haunbald Courier office, and in 1872 printer, reporter and editor. For more than 50 years he has been a writer on the Missouri press, and as to service is the oldest active editor in the state. He has had the double honor of having been called 'the boy editor' and now the dean of the active fraternity. It has been a work of love and we've never regretted that we 'took the trade.' We've had our ups and downs, mostly down, but never out. Not one do we recall living who was in the printing game in 1870. If we see get the Journal where we will not have to be editor, printer and devil—the entire works—we hope to hammer out a few chapters about the people and things of other days."—Atlanta Constitution.

Wheat of High Grade
Wheat grown under ordinary conditions on the experimental farm of Dr. Seager Wheeler in Saskatchewan, Canada, bears heads of grain containing 12 rows of kernels. Other strains of wheat are said to ripen within 30 days after the shoots appear above ground, and grades with both hollow and solid stems of yellow and purple have been reared without any special efforts of cultivation. Where berries as large as navy beans are also reported to have been developed on the tract, and specimens have been raised on which the heads ripen while the stalks are still green. It is believed that of 60 sturdy and fruitful species under cultivation, many will be found to resist plant diseases as well as stand up against heavy storms common to that region.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

The Tables Turned
"But we were only 15 minutes getting here," he expostulated the passenger.

"I don't give a hang about that," marred the taxi driver. "The meter says we've come 20 miles. Now, you fork over."

"All right," assented the passenger, paying. "Now get ready to come with me for driving 80 miles an hour. I'm a speed cop."—American Legion Weekly.

BRONCHIAL ASTHMA

Bronchial asthma only differs from other forms in the fact that it appears localized in the chest rather than higher up. There is a spasmodic struggle for breath that often amounts to real agony. The breath is short and painful.

The cause is pressure upon spinal nerves in the dorsal, or upper back between the shoulders, and adjusting at this point is the only means of getting at and removing the nerve pressure which is the cause of this disease. Those suffering from this ailment frequently have a humped curve in the back-bone in the neck and upper shoulder region. Adjustments have been responsible for the restoration of thousands who thought themselves doomed to a life time of suffering from this disease.

CAPITALIZING THE TOURIST TRAFFIC

EDITOR OF NEWBERRY NEWS COMMENTS ON TOURIST CONDITIONS

(Newberry News)
The editor of the News in company with his daughter Ruth and J. L. Richardson, our local shoe merchant, made an auto tour through the lower part of the state last week and one of the strongest impressions of our trip was the growing importance of the tourist and resort business and the need of a wider dissemination of information concerning the advantages offered by the upper peninsula as a playground for the people from the crowded centers in the lower part of Michigan.

The ignorance of the average business man and otherwise well informed person concerning the northern part of Michigan is astounding. Graveling is looked upon as being the farthest point north where civilized persons reside. From them you come from across the straits, and they look at you with pitying awe as coming from a region near the arctic circle and inhabited only by Indians, lumberjacks and miners.

A recent meeting of the Michigan Press association offered a prize for the best editorial on "Selling Michigan to Michigan People," the prize going to the editor of the Cheboygan Democrat and which we reprinted in our columns. It isn't editorials that are needed, however, but better planned information, and here is where our upper peninsula communities are woefully lacking in neglecting to grasp the opportunity knocking at their doors.

Leaving Newberry Sunday morning we, enjoyed a pleasant run over good roads to St Ignace where we arrived in time for breakfast and to take the 12 o'clock ferry over the straits.

Continuing our journey from Mackinac City we traveled a delightful M-11, known as the West Michigan Pike or Dixie Highway to Traverse City where we stopped for the night. Our old friend, Dr. Campbell, was out of the city so we missed the anticipated pleasure of a visit with him.

Traverse City is in the heart of the resort section and is one of the most beautiful spots in Michigan. Nature of course has done her share, but her citizens have been alive to make the most of their opportunities, and the resort and tourist business contributes not a little to the prosperity of this region.

Continuing our journey the next day we found this route most delightful and interesting, passing through Ludington, Manistee, Muskegon, Grand Haven and arriving in Grand Rapids in the evening.

Grand Haven makes considerable pretensions as a summer resort and possess a fine bathing beach. The weather was a little cool, however, and our eyesight was not affected by a glimpse of any bathing beauties. This city is a favorite resort for the people of Grand Rapids who flock there in great numbers, a fine concrete highway connecting the two cities, affords a striking example of the extremes to which people will go in their search for the open places and to escape the heat of the crowded cities.

Near Grand Haven is a series of sand dunes fronting on Lake Michigan many of them entirely barren and others covered with a scrubby second growth and coarse grass. These spots have been seized upon as a site for pretentious summer homes, built close to the beach with nothing but sand in front of them or located high on the sand mountains surrounded by a jungle of second growth. To a northern man used to our virgin forests and beautiful inland lakes, it is most uninviting.

At Grand Rapids the editor attended a two day session of the Masonic Grand Lodge, and was royally entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Barber. Mrs. Barber is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Richardson of Newberry, and Mr. Barber was formerly principal in the schools at Sault Ste. Marie.

Leaving Grand Rapids Thursday afternoon we drove over routes 16, 21 and 48 to Saginaw. This route lies through one of the richest and finely developed farming sections in the state and was something of a revelation to us. At Saginaw we enjoyed a pleasant visit with our former townsmen, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Reid who are very pleasantly situated and have a lovely home. Mr. Reid is conducting a chain of drug stores and is prospering abundantly.

Just before leaving Saginaw Friday morning we experienced a most happy and pleasant surprise, standing on a street corner, waiting for a break in the traffic, our attention was attracted by the hooting of an automobile horn and looking around there was our old friend, L. P. Koepfgen. He insisted that we accompany him to Bay City for lunch, which we were happy to do, and spent several pleasant hours with him reciting old Newberry reminiscences.

Leaving Bay City in the evening we drove over M-10 to Standish and thence over M-74 to its intersection with M-14 which was recommended to us as being the shortest route. M-74 is mostly a detour and passes through a state forest reserve. It was dark when we passed through this stretch but we glimpsed many evidences of growing pine and other conifers. The road winds and twists in every direction, as sand plain roads have a habit of doing, but it was not bad going.

There is a distinct line of demarcation between the Saginaw valley and the pine lands in the northern part of the southern peninsula. To the south lies rich and prosperous farming community; to the north, long reaches of barren cutover land, deserted farms, with here and there a struggling community bearing a most depressed appearance. Roscommon county is about the worst of the lot. With the exception of Higgins and Houghton lakes, the entire county if put up at state tax sale would bring few bidders.

At Grayling where we stopped for the night, there is a well appointed inn, but it is unfortunate in having poor location, the railway yards being almost directly across the street, where cars are shunted back and forth all through the night. We arose after a fitful slumber, nursing a crouch and feeling as though we had slept in a boiler factory.

Our journey north from Grayling was uneventful. Nearing Cheboygan we again got into the resort country, beautiful lakes lined with attractive summer homes.

At Mackinac City the state ferry was loaded almost to capacity and the purser informed us that they had been doing a capacity business all day. Only one ferry left in operation at this time, but the other is ready to go in operation at a moment's notice. The state ferry is one of the best moves the state has made to provide rapid communication between the two peninsulas. The boats are staunch ones and the accommodations are splendid in every way. The bill creating this service was introduced by our own Senator F. P. Bohm.

St. Ignace is taking on a new lease of life and making a united effort to attract the tourists. The town is being improved, new buildings are going up and others being remodeled and every effort being made to make the stay of the tourist pleasant and to induce him to come again.

The state has constructed a new dock on the Mackinac side of the straits. It is entirely of concrete, and cars can be loaded or unloaded on either side.

Returning to the subject of the tourist business. People from the cities are buying lots on lakes all over the lower peninsula. Summer cottages are going up and thus the taxable property is being increased. Entire communities are dependent on this business for their prosperity. Once a city man gets a cottage he tries to occupy it. It proves that instead of the family coming out for a couple of weeks they spend the entire summer there the husband sunning up over the good roads for the week ends. And then there is the lure of the fishing and hunting in the fall. Once a man gets this bug he is hooked.

One has only to make a trip thru the lake region of the lower peninsula to appreciate what a valuable asset we have in our virgin timber, our incomparable lakes and streams and our fishing and hunting. We haven't been sufficiently converted to the practical side of this conservation business. Some day the upper penin-

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vallin, both 62 years of age, recently celebrated sixty years of married life. They have lived in this vicinity for the past 42 years, and have seen Gladstone from its infancy. For twenty years, they have conducted a Confectionery Store on Delta avenue, and are well known among both adults and children. Six children are located in this city and Escanaba. Mrs. P. L. Burt, George and Napoleon Vallin here, Mrs. Jos. Gagon, Joseph and Amos Vallin of Escanaba.

sula will wake up to the fact that if she wants to sell herself to the rest of Michigan she must not only have something to sell, but she must make an intelligent and a united effort to advertise her wares. The resort sections of the lower peninsula spend great sums of money every year in advertising the upper peninsula must do the same.

 Four very attractive numbers have been arranged for the Lyceum Program next year. There will be five as heretofore, the other one to be secured at a later date.
 The Charles Cox company will present a program featuring songs and sketches, "bubbling over with clean nonsense and sparkling fun, with here and there a vocal or dramatic selection of a more serious character."

 Miss Edna Means, a purr-suitful reader will give a group of readings entitled "From the Passing Crowd."
 Miss Means comes very well recommended as a leader in her act.
 A novelty attraction of classical and popular selections will be Sols Marinba Band, popular Central American players. Through many seasons of successful appearance together they have developed their ensemble playing to perfection.
 The Advance Male Quartet will present a diversified program, portions of which will be in Scottish costume. Their appearance is a distinct event on any Lyceum course and sure to please.

CARL NELSON FINED FOR ASSAULT AND BATTERY
 Carl Nelson of Escanaba was Tuesday afternoon of $10 and costs of $4.50 by Justice Phil Hupp after pleading guilty to a charge of assault and battery preferred against him by Antonio J. Alach, and placed on parole for a period of 30 days during which time he must report weekly to Sheriff Jos. Carnay. Nelson was given an alternative of 10 days in the county jail. The charges were the result of Nelson striking the other man, who he claimed had made a date with his wife who lives with her parents in this city. Nelson admitted that he had been contributing towards the support of his wife.

You Must Read It!
The Secret Adversary
 BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

One of those enchanting stories which lift the reader out of the realm of romantic, breath-taking adventure. Here we find two innocents, a young man and young woman, who, being without occupation and with limited funds, decide to hire out for any sort of reckless work. Unexpectedly they find an avenue in the secret service of their government and are set to work on a tremendously big case. Their chief finds that their selection was a stroke of genius, for their innocence renders them unsuspected, while their daring and native shrewdness makes them extremely valuable as detectives.

EDITOR SAYS DETGUR COULD BE IMPROVED

Tom Conlin editor of the Crystal Falls Diamond Drill, is one of the boys who goes out into the world to learn what is going on and then tells his readers about it. He has just concluded a trip to southern Michigan and we are reprinting that portion of his article which deals with his experience in going over the detour between Gladstone and Rapid River. Incidentally, Mr. Conlin's editorials about detours in general and his views are probably shared by tourists and travelers in general. Here's what he says about detour:

"When he got to Gladstone we were detour between Gladstone and Kipling. A concrete street is being laid on the trunk line in that part of the city. It was out all night pulling cars out of that hole; better go around via Brantford" was the advice of a garage man and we followed his advice, only to find that the longer detour was nearly as aggravating as the shorter one.

Com. Vanderbilt is reported to have exclaimed once, "The people be d--d" and that expression cost the railroads of the country much trouble, so much that business in general has discarded that maxim for the better one, "The people be pleased."

"The only fellow who seems to have neglected to profit by experience of Com. Vanderbilt and his school are the fellows who select the detours when main highways are under construction. They seem to have preserved that leaf from Com. Vanderbilt's note book and practice the precept it teaches to the nth degree."

"It has been our experience that the county authorities are the worst offenders in this matter. The state has been punched up so much that there is a different attitude apparent in their handling of detours so that the public may expect some relief next Jan. when the state takes over all work on state trunk lines."

"The trouble with the detour is that the fellow who marks it out goes away and leaves it and the heavy traffic on suddenly shows upon the earth soon makes it impassible. There are four miles on the Brampton detour that "Dick" Mason ought to be ashamed of if he is responsible for it. A few hundred dollars spent upon it during the time it is used would allow people to pass over it with comfort--not speed, people don't expect to travel over a detour as rapidly as over the main line. It looked to us as if there hadn't been a dollar spent on this four mile since traffic was turned upon it."

MRS. McDONALD REPRESENTS FORESTERS AT CONVENTION

Mrs. J. D. McDonald left by motor for Marquette Wednesday to represent the Sacred Heart Court of this city at the state convention there Friday and Saturday.

Delegates for the National Convention to be held at Cleveland the first part of August will be chosen at this state meet. Michigan is allowed seven representatives, two of which will be from the Cleveland District.

BAND WILL MEET

The Junior Mission Band of the Swedish Lutheran Church will hold a regular meeting at the Church Parlors Saturday afternoon. All members are requested to be present.
