PAY FOR PARKING ON WRONG SIDE OF ROAD

There were four in a party arranged in the office of a local justice Monday for parking on the wrong side of M-12 in Ensign township, Clifford Chroge, Rudolph Arntsen, Oscar Nelson, and Frank Rubens all of Escanaba. They plead guilty and paid fines and costs amounting to $31.50 each.

Mrs. Matthews and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Matthews of Minneapolis will arrive yesterday to visit with C. Violet.

WE PASS THE PRIZE TO LUTHER LACOMB

The prize at the city's oldest resident, which we last week awarded to C. W. Lightfoot, must now be passed on to another. Luther LaComb tells us the distinction of the city's oldest residents, two brothers arrived in Gladstone on April 8, 1857, coming from Garden by boat as soon as the ice had moved out of the bay to permit travel on the water. That was five weeks before the arrival of Mr. Lightfoot. Mr. LaComb and his mother, Mrs. Anne LaComb, have resided here continuously since April 8, 1857 and can claim the distinction of the city's oldest residents. Mr. Lightfoot came May 14, 1857. Luther does not look much like an old pioneer, it must be admitted, but then he was a little fellow of about three years when his eyes first opened to the light of day in Gladstone. He says he can remember the trip by water. His father died some time ago and his two brothers now live in Detroit.

PINNED UNDER CAR NO ONE INJURED

Four local boys escaped with minor bruises and scratches when the Fiat truck they were driving in the vicinity of Flat Rock early Friday evening overturned pinning them underneath. The occupants of the car were Reginald Call, Donald Montgomery, Louis Murdoch, and Gordon Seger. The boys were on their way to the Flat Rock river at the time, with Reginald Call at the wheel, in an effort to dodge a puddle near the Flat Rock river bridge he lost control of the car, which completely turned over, pinning the boys underneath.

The car was quite badly damaged, one wheel and the windshield broken and the top entirely smashed. It was the property of M. I. Call.

INDUSTRY RECALLS DAYS OF SHIPMENT

WAR DEPARTMENT RECOMMENDS ABANDONMENT OF PROJECT FOR ONE DOCK HERE

The days of 49 years ago are recalled through a notice from the War Department, which notifies the public that the Department is considering the abandonment of the existing project for the harbor. First reading of the notice suggested that all hopes of this harbor coming into general use would have to be given up, but more careful reading and investigation disclosed the fact that the abandonment pertained to an appropriation made about 20 years ago for the dredging of the channel leading into the former Soo Line ore dock.

This appropriation was made about 1895 and was for $12,000. It took three years before the work was undertaken and in the meantime the dock had been abandoned by the Soo Line, as the iron ore shipments had been diverted to the St. Paul docks between here and Escanaba. The Federal government set about with the work and spent approximately $6,000 before it was made to realize that the channel was no longer needed. Last March Congress passed a law which provided for the abandonment of projects no longer needed. The notice was sent out from the offices of the United States Engineer at Milwaukee, and the paragraphs of local interest read as follows:

2. As a result of a preliminary investigation, undertaken in accordance with the above, the War Department is considering the advisability of recommending for abandonment the existing project for the Federal improvement of Gladstone Harbor, Mich.

The reason for its attitude is the project only provides for a channel leading to the dock. The channel has been completed and the ore dock has been abandoned.

3. All concerned are hereby notified that they have the privilege of submitting to the District Engineer, U. S. Engineer Office, 406 Federal Bldg., Milwaukee, Wis., within 30 days from the date of this notice, written arguments tending to show why the proposed abandonment should not be recommended.

CALLS MEETING OF BOOSTER DIRECTOR

Glenn W. Jackson, president of the Booster Club, has announced that the directors of the club will hold a meeting at the city hall next Tuesday night August 25, 1925. Those present will be J. M. Olson, Fred Mingay, Mrs. Max Neuvast, W. J. Mottel, Leonard Chapin, G. W. Jackson and any other of the members who are interested in the discussion of changing the purpose of the organization the nature of which will be taken up at the meeting.

An effort is being made to create interest in the Booster club and make it a civic organization of worth.

Honored At Farewell Party
Miss Bernice Swan was tendered a farewell party at her home on Wisconsin avenue Monday night. The Misses Emma Feldt and Mildred Campbell were the hostesses. The gathering was in honor of Miss Swan's departure for Evanston, Ill. where she will enter training for the nursing profession. She leaves the latter part of this month. Games, music and dancing were the diversions of the evening. About twenty friends were present. They presented Miss Swan with a beautiful silk parasol. A delicious midnight luncheon was served.

Gladstone, Michigan

Dear Sir:

About a year ago I received an accident policy with my subscription to your paper. At the time I had no idea I would ever have any use for it.

However, some time ago I was incapacitated for work through an automobile accident and put in a claim for three weeks' compensation.

It is a pleasure for me to state that my claim was settled in full with a check for $30.00 in the next mail.

This is what I call "service" with a capital "S".

This prompt and courteous treatment received from The Great American Casualty Company is certainly appreciated and cannot fail but make many warm friends and enthusiastic boosters for The Delta Reporter through whose thoughtfulness such protection is made possible.

Thanking you for the interest shown and wishing you the greatest success, I beg to remain

WARDEN POINTS TO BAN ON HUNTING ARMS

Charles Coon, deputy game warden, has requested that attention be directed to the new law which bans guns in hunting areas during open or closed season on game, without a permit from the conservation Department. Those who secure gun licenses only are permitted to carry hunting arms on their person. These carrying guns in hunting areas without such licenses are subject to arrest and conviction.

The duck hunting season opens on Sept. 15 and continues to Dec. 31. The same season also applies on other shore birds, Wilson and Jack Snipe, geese and brant ralls, plovers and yellow legs, coots and gallinules. There are many duck hunters in this section of the country who are already looking forward to the opening of the season.

HOLY NAME RALLY HERE AUGUST 30

ATTY J. O'HARA WILL SPEAK TO 1500 VISITING MEMBERS AND PRIESTS

One of the largest gatherings ever held in Gladstone will be the annual rally of the Holy Name Societies of the vicinity which will bring in the neighborhood of 1500 visiting members and priests here on Sunday August 30th.

The days event will begin at two in the afternoon with a parade through the principal streets of the city. The line of march follows: U. S. flag carried by reserves men, Escanaba city band, St. Annes, St. Joseph's and St. Patrick's of Escanaba, Manistique, Bark River, Cooks, and Missions, Flatrock, Foster City, Ferronville, Garden Fork, Perkins and Missions, Schaefer and the local society.

They will halt before the Parochial school where services will be held in the open air. The address of welcome will be given by Father Maier. The address of the day by Atty John O'Hara of Menominee. Benediction, renewal of the Holy name pledge to follow and the Starspangled Banner by the societies the concluding mass.

The entire program will last about two hours. Father Maier is the general chairman of the event. Carl Schenk is chairman of the committee in charge of the parade, and Jas McDevan will have charge of the traffic committee, to provide parking space, etc. for the cars of the visiting members.

The address by Attorney John O'Hara of Menominee will be a big feature of the day. Mr. O'Hara is a noted speaker, and has appeared in Escanaba and cities of the vicinity in the past, although this will be the first time local people have had the opportunity to hear him at home. Mr. O'Hara is known throughout the upper peninsula for his eloquence.

The Escanaba City Band has been engaged to play throughout the rally and will provide pleasing musical entertainment. The program will be free of charge and everyone is cordially invited to attend. It is probable that Manistique will be the scene of the rally next year. It was held in Escanaba in 1924.

The Holy Name Society was organized here about eighteen months ago by Rev. St. Maier and has been increasing in membership since that time, having recently reached the 150 mark.

ATTEND SURPRISE PARTY ON FORMER RESIDENT

About sixty local folks attended a surprise party on Mr. and Mrs. John Martin of Brampton held at his home there Sunday. The gathering was in the nature of a housewarming for Mr. and Mrs. Martin who moved to Brampton from here about a month ago. Games and outdoor amusements were enjoyed throughout the day. The guests of honor received a number of pretty and useful gifts.

VISITS DAUGHTER AFTER 15 YEARS

Mrs. E. Beaudry, a resident of Garden, is visiting at the home of her daughter Mrs. D. Dvorla, after having lived in this vicinity for the past fifteen years. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miraud motored there Sunday, and Mrs. Beaudry returned with them, a complete surprise to the Dvorla family. Mrs. Beaudry is 78 years of age and a little skeptical about car riding.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Minsky and daughter Ethel of Harbor Beach are visiting at the Fred Mingay home.

CHAUTAQUA WILL APPEAR AGAIN NEXT YEAR

PERFORMANCES A GREAT SUCCESS, BUT A FAILURE IN VIEW OF FINANCE

ENDS RUN HERE TUESDAY

The clever magic of Grand the great Magician was the brush closing entertainment of the Mutual Chautauqua which ended a five day engagement here Tuesday night. The performances were fairly well attended, and exceptionally fine. The musical numbers showed unusual ability, and are highly recommended. The lectures, "A Nation's Lights and Shadows," and "Houses Without Fronts," by Professor L. H. Beiler and "The Tragedy of Ignorance" by Dr. Frank L. Loveland met with hearty approval and applause.

Miss Doris Ewell directed junior work each day. A program of instruction, games, stories, etc. was followed, and proved very beneficial and enjoyable to the children in attendance.

The Chautauqua presented an opportunity to witness high class performances that should have been taken advantage of by more local people. From the standpoint of the entertainments, it was a 100 per cent success. However, from the standpoint of finance it did not succeed financially. Through a misunderstanding, much of the advertising material was not used, and no effort made to put the affair over before the last week. There was a deficit of about $700 on the $1,200 guarantee, and this was paid by the local committee that brought the Chautauqua here this year. J. P. Bushong, Jas. F. Jones, Glenn W. Jackson, C. A. Clark and W. W. Mottel.

The Chautauqua has been engaged to play here again next summer. It was necessary to secure a committee of fifteen to guarantee the company the cost of the performances. Those who have signed are G. R. Empton, W. L. Marble, J. T. Jones, G. W. Jackson, C. E. Hawkins, C. A. Clark, John M. Olson, E. J. Noreus, J. Mitchell, J. P. Clark, J. A. Starogun, J. N. Bushong, and J. P. Bushong.

It is hoped next year with proper advertisement and management before hand, to put it over satisfactorily, and make the Chautauqua its way. Their entertainments are of a brand that people in a small town very seldom have a chance to attend.

FORMER RESIDENT PASSES AWAY AT SAN.

Death relieved the sufferings of James Sayers at the Powers Sanatorium early Wednesday morning after five years battle with the white plague, tuberculosis. Mr. Sayers is well known to Gladstone people, having been a resident here for twenty-five years of his life, leaving about five years back to go to Arizona for his health, and entering the Powers Sanatorium three years ago.

Previously he was employed as foreman at the docks and also was a member of the Depot force.

The deceased was born in London, England, September 23, 1860 and was 65 years of age at the time of his death.

He came to this country while a youth, and lived with his parents in the vicinity of Charlevoix, Mich.

Funeral services will be in charge of the Masons, of which Mr. Sayers was a member, and held from the Masonic Temple at 3:15 o'clock with Rev. H. W. Colenso officiating. Interment was made in Fernwood cemetery.

Beautiful floral offerings adorned the casket while his remains lay in state at the Swenson Undertaking Parlor from the organizations of which he was a faithful member before his illness. F. & A. M., Eastern Stars, Royal Arch, and Knight Templars of Escanaba, Consistory of Manistique, Old Fellows and Masons of Gladstone.

His many friends mourn his death.

DRAFTZ STINGY IN THE PINCHES

WILSON DEFEATS COLTS 3 TO 1. GAME MAY BE PLAYED TO DENOTE EDGE

The former Milwaukee Brewer, Draftz, was in perfect form Sunday when the Colts journeyed to Wilson for a return game. The Colts lost 3 to 1. As the Colts defeated Wilson on the local grounds two weeks ago by the score of 4 to 3 they now have one apiece. There will be another game played in the near future, possibly on neutral grounds to decide the relative strength of the two teams. The sportsmanship between the two teams is of the very best but the Wilson grounds are not what one would call a baseball field. The team that is used to practicing on it knows where the swamp, the ditch and the wire fence is but the visiting team is not aware of it until the fielder runs or steps into one of them. This was the cause of three of the errors charged to the Colts but the real reason for the loss of the game was too much Draftz on the ball. Wilson scored in their half of the first when Beaudin singled and stole second. Benzie and J. Hanson struck out. Carrievan singled and stole second. Draftz was out at first. Two hits, one run.

was master of the last half. Only 12 men faced him in the last of the game and the most of his strike-outs were made then. Draftz got six of his ten in the first four innings.

Next Sunday the Colts will play the West Ends of Escanaba on the local grounds, and as they hold a 2 to 0 victory over the Wilson team the fans are promised a real treat. A large crowd is needed to help not only with the encouragement that may give at the same but also because of the financial condition of the club.

Box score table for Wilson vs Colts. Columns: AB, R, H, PO, A, E. Rows: COLTS, Wilson, Sobersky, Kuskerna, Hall, McParlan, Marchie, Thurston, Delaney, Rabideau.

Box score table for Wilson vs Colts. Columns: AB, R, H, PO, A, E. Rows: WILSON, Beaudin, Benzie, J. Hanson, Carrievan, Lawrence, G. Hanson, Flinn, H. Hanson.

The fielding of McParlan at third and a long running catch by Sobersky featured the game. No base hit for a hit batsman was given. Hall hit the only two base hit. Draftz struck out 10 and Delaney 8.

WHAT SAY, LETS GO

We have had our Old-Timers ball game and now Escanaba is preparing for theirs and Gladstone is soon to follow suit. They will play against their own local city teams as a benefit for them in their financial troubles. The fans will attend these games because of the respect they hold and the memories it brings back of the good old days gone by. But the equality of the playing is not there and does not make a fair and interesting game. It is after Escanaba and Gladstone have had their Old-Timers versus their city team games why not arrange a series of games just between the Old-Timers themselves. Let Gladstone play Rapid River and Escanaba play the county championship or any way about so as to bring the three teams in action in the different cities. The proceeds to be used for the same purpose as the other games are being played for. To make it more interesting, lets have Charlie Hamilton, John Mathy and Charlie Jaegers be the official referees. We are ready. What Say! Lets go!

KNOTTY PROBLEMS IN BASEBALL BY "Gravy"

When there are men on bases can a batsman go to first on a balk?

Rule 24, that if he has thrown the ball when the balk was committed. With a man on third, the batsman hit a ball in front of the plate in an attempted squeeze play. The ball bounded and hit the batsman. He was on his way to first. Is he out, and is the runner originally on third allowed to score on the play?

Rule 56, Sec. 12. If the ball was clearly out of the batsman's box at the time the ball hit him, he should have been declared out and the runner was obliged to return to third. If he was still occupying the batter's box when the ball hit him, it should have been ruled out.

Bases full and two out. The batsman is walked, forcing in the runner from third. He starts toward the home plate but when half way home he turns and goes to the bench. Catcher gets the ball, runs over and touches him. The runner then goes over and touches home plate. Does the run count?

Rule 54, Sec. 2. The run counts, it is good sportsmanship however for the runner to touch every base. There is no rule by which such a man can be put out as he is entitled to home without liability to be put out, therefore the run must count.

Is the pitching of the "emery" ball prohibited by the rules? Rule 39, Sec. 2. Yes, and not only the "emery" ball but the "shine" ball, "spit" ball and mild ball. Paragraph (4) of section 2 states that at no time during the progress of the game shall the pitcher be allowed to deface the ball in any manner, or to deliver what is called the shine ball, spit ball, mud ball or emery ball. For violation of this rule the umpire shall at once order the runner from the game." Rule 62, Sec. 1, gives the field umpire equal authority with the Umpire-in-Chief in ordering the pitcher out of the game.

Runner on third attempted to score and in a close play at the plate was touched with the ball by the catcher who then fell, severely hurt when the runner collided with him. The catcher dropped the ball in falling, after having touched the runner. Was the runner out?

Rule 56, Sec. 9. Although the ball must be held firmly by the fielder after having touched the runner, the runner is out if he deliberately knocks the ball out of the fielder's hands.

In a game at Wilson Sunday, in attempting to dodge a wild pitch, the ball hit his bat and went foul. The umpire called it a strike. Was the second strike on the batsman. Was he right?

Rule 35, Sec. 2. When a batsman attempts to dodge a presumably wild pitch and the ball accidentally hits his bat, it is not a strike as it was in the past, but a dead ball. This question was answered a few weeks ago in this column.

With a runner on second and two out the batsman hits a home run and goes all the way around. The first runner is out if he deliberately knocked there and the umpire calls him out. Does either run count? Rule 59, Sec. 13 and Rule 59. No. The runner was out from the inception of the play when he failed to touch third. The return of the ball to third was the completion.

NORMAL STUDENTS ON EDUCATIONAL TOUR

A class of 33 students from the Western State Normal school located at Kalamazoo touring in a large passenger bus and carrying all the necessary camping equipment stopped here for a short time Monday. The tour was at the instigation of a field biology trip and was headed by Dr. Leslie A. Kenover of the Normal College.

A short interview with Miss Margaret Thomas of Bangor, Mich. one of the students, revealed many interesting facts concerning the trip, its purpose and work. The students study botany, geology and zoology with Dr. Kenover as instructor. As a result of their work they will receive extension credits in their subjects on their return to Kalamazoo. Their trip thus far has been exceedingly interesting. The country through which they pass affords them every advantage in their studies. They can secure many valuable specimens. The trip brought them from Kalamazoo along the Lake Michigan shore, through the straits and on up to Munising and Marquette. They camp along the way, take turns at K. P. work and make it a real pleasure trip as well as a quest for knowledge. On returning they will skirt the shore of Lake Huron as far as Saginaw creek to Lansing and on to Kalamazoo. They expect to reach the college by August 29, their trip having taken three weeks.

PETTY THEVERY COMMITTED

During the past week there have been several cases of minor depredations committed by a number of boys of the town in the local gardens and orchards. The value of the articles stolen is very little but the damage that four or five boys can commit in a garden or orchard makes it much greater than they possibly realize. A one night raid by a party of boys can lay low the hard work of the whole summer. Many apple trees have already been stripped of all their fruit having been the apples were not fit to eat. Many of the branches have been broken down killing the growth of the trees and in many other ways doing things that has aroused the ire of the owners. At 11:30 Tuesday night three local boys equipped with flash lights started out on their tour of destruction. Unknown to them, their conversations had been overheard and Deputy Sheriff Smith followed them sleuth-like, like the famed Sherlock Holmes, with a pipe in his mouth and a magnifying glass in his hands. The tell-tale footprints led him to a beautiful apple tree where the three boys were reposing in apple-like fashion hanging on to the limbs of the tree with one hand while they devoured the fruit or filled their pockets with the other. They did not throw the apples at the sheriff as a monkey would have done with coconuts, but descending to the ground at his command and meekly followed the officer to their respective homes, the hour then being 12 o'clock.

DANCE SATURDAY NIGHT

The Legion-Auxiliary had a joint meeting Tuesday evening with a large attendance and completed all arrangements for the dance to be given this Saturday evening at the Alton grange hall. The proceeds from this dance will go toward the $5,000 endowment fund that the Legion is raising throughout the country. It is a very worthy cause and is certain to meet with a liberal support here. Tickets will be served by the Auxiliary. Tickets are $1.00 with LeDues orchestra playing. If you dance, buy a ticket and enjoy the evening and if you don't dance buy one anyway and have that good feeling that you have helped a worthy cause. Mrs. Alice D'Amour has been elected a delegate to attend the state convention at Bay City next month with Mrs. C. R. Johnson as alternate.

TOWER REPAIR MEN LEAVE

Neal Babcock, Harold Peter, Roy Wright and Arthur Moore of Wolfville, Mich. in the employ of the State Department of Conservation have completed the work of moving the fire tower from the place a short distance from the top of the waterfall hill to the hill at Farm Lake. It was quite a task to move the tower as it is its present location was not a very good one and the crossing at the Farm creek had to be repaired. The work was done in the different sections of the tower. The tower was removed from its cement base and a new base made with new rods set in. It is now in an ideal location for a commanding view of the surrounding country. The tower men left Tuesday for Northland where they will erect a new tower in that territory.

Miscellaneous Showers

Mrs. Warner Olson, formerly Miss Hilda Moberg was the guest of honor at a shower at the George Cole home on Michigan avenue Tuesday afternoon. Music and games were the chief diversion concluding with a delicious lunch. Mrs. Olson was presented with many useful articles.

JUVENILE VACATION GAMES

The Bulldogs defeated the Midgets on the local grounds last Saturday by the score of 21 to 2. On Wednesday the Bulldogs played the Belgiantones here and lost the score being 10-7. The Bulldogs are certain of second place in the league but cannot overcome the lead of the Tigers who have lost only one game, and that was to the Bulldogs. The league schedule ends Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Ryan, A. Armstrong and Miss Margaret Oberlie of Minneapolis spent Sunday at the Grandcamp home. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hall, Miss Gertrude and John Grandcamp motored to the Round-up at Chatham Saturday. They also motored to the Au Francaise where they enjoyed an hours relaxation.

ADDITIONAL RAPID RIVER NEWS ON PAGE EIGHT.

"DUCKY" DIDN'T CALL THE BET

The visit of "Ducky" Stewart at Gladstone last week recalls some of the old time Gladstone days. Five years ago in a game that "Ducky" was catching, the Raach came up to bat for Rapid. There were faster runners than Raach but none could get away from first base (or faster, nor slide into second base) without saying anything and never smiling. He was often called the "Indian" for this reason. Now for the story.

When Raach came to bat, "Ducky" started his line of chatter at him, trying to get his goat. All went well until "Ducky" said, "Why don't you quit the game, your legs are gone and you can't run anymore." Raach's straight line ended up in his pocket. "Ducky" said, "I'll run you a race around the bases, for a $5.00 bet, I'll slide into every base, you run standing up and if I don't beat you home the money is yours." "Ducky" didn't try for the 5 years.

WANT TO FURNISH GYM BY JAN. 1

BOARD HIRES JANITOR FOR MAONVILLE SCHOOL AND TALKS ATHLETIC FIELD

A meeting of the township board of education was held Monday evening in the gymnasium of the high school for the purpose of discussing several matters of importance that had to be taken care of before the opening of the different schools in the township. The absence of C. E. Hamilton, Secretary of the board, made it impossible to complete the more important matters. Another meeting will be called on some date before the schools open.

The meeting was called to order by President, O. A. Harris with George Bergman, O. H. Stevens and B. Buchman present. F. J. Gravelle was appointed temporary clerk of the meeting. On a motion by Mr. Bergman and supported by Mr. Buchman, the application of Mrs. William Ebbeson as janitor of the Maonville school was accepted, the salary to be $150.00 per month for the nine months of the school year. Mrs. Nygren was given the work of making out the schedule for the opening day and to be paid $25.00 for her services. After the opening of the school, the cleaning during the holidays or any other time necessary will be one of the duties of the janitor.

A motion was made and carried that Mr. Arnsen, the architect of the proposed gymnasium, be notified to develop the plans and specifications of the building to President Harris as soon as possible. The plans must be sent to the state department of Education for approval before the bids can be advertised for the work and it is the desire of the local school board to rush the matter as much as possible so that we may have the building ready for use by January 1st. The advertising and receiving of bids will be conducted through the school board with the president of the board as chairman. A discussion of an athletic field took up a little time but all the members were enthusiastic over the prospects of a large field for this purpose being leased and at the next meeting of the board the owner of the land will be present and a clear understanding will be arrived at between the interested parties.

RETURNS TO HIS WORK AFTER SHORT VACATION

Louis Buchman, Assistant Supt. of the Utah Copper Mine at Bingham, Utah, left Tuesday for the home after a two weeks visit here with his parents. The Chicago Tribune of Aug. 9, gave a colored picture of this mine and canyon with the city nestled down in the valley. Unlike the powder river that is a mile wide and a foot deep, this valley is a mile deep and a foot wide. The mine is an open copper mine with sixty-five steam shovels working at one time every day and night. The mountain side resembles a gigantic staircase with twelve steps, the steam shovels and trains being distributed equally on the different steps. The trains are loaded directly from the shovels and go to the smelter about twenty miles away. Quite prominent in the picture is the old deserted mine where the notorious Mexican, Lopez a number of years ago killed several officers who attempted to arrest him. It is believed that he was killed and fell back into the shaft but it has never been explored since and Lopez has never been heard from.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Y. Watts of Gary, Ind. are spending a two weeks vacation with Mrs. Watt's father, Alex La Framboise. Ed Lind, Samuel Barboe and Kenneth Lagerquist motored to Marysville Saturday evening where they spent a few enjoyable hours.

FIRE THREATENS CARLSON HOME

EARLY MORNING BLAZE DOES CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE BEFORE BEING CHECKED

A fire that threatened to destroy the residence of Carl O. Carlson was discovered at about 1 a. m. Tuesday morning by Mrs. Carlson when she heard the fire burning and crashing in the attic upstairs and all the children had motored to Gladstone earlier in the evening, returning about 11:30 o'clock.

When they left the home all the lights had been switched off but upon returning a light was noticed burning on the second floor. The rooms of the children are located there and they were a little skeptical about going up to bed so Mr. Carlson carried the bed clothing down and made beds on the lower floor for them. He returned to the attic and the fire had retired at about 12:30. Hardly before the parents fell into a sound sleep, a crashing of the fire was heard and upon investigation the upper rooms was found in a mass of flames.

Mr. Carlson carried the children out of the house and then rushed to the hall to give the alarm of fire. A good many heard the alarm and hurriedly dressing, were soon at the scene of the fire. The chemical truck kept the fire in check until the pumper was in readiness and then it was only a matter of a few minutes that the fire was under control. The headway the fire had made before the discovery and while Mr. Carlson was removing the children had given it such a start that the damage will be quite considerable. The roof was burned through in a number of places and the walls and partitions of the upper rooms were badly burned. The fire did not get beyond the upper portion of the house but water damaged the lower part to some extent.

The apprehension which the children felt upon returning from Gladstone was badly burned. Their rooms possibly saved them from personal harm as the fire was directly above their beds. There was a small amount of insurance carried on the home.

AN OLD RESIDENT RETURNS FOR A VISIT

Joseph Schultz of Salem, Ore. arrived Friday morning for a visit with his mother and friends. Mr. Schultz had lived here for thirty three years to his leaving thirteen years ago for the west. He was for many years located on the farm now known as the Harrison farm and is well remembered by all the old residents. Mr. Schultz has a very beautiful farm of 29 acres located only one half mile beyond the city limits, but with all the city conveniences of lights etc. There is about five acres timber on the land but the balance is all in fruit trees. He states that they have been suffering from the excessive dryness here this season as we have. Many of the old residents who here are located in Salem, the Wicklanders, James Callahan, August Schramm and others so by visiting one another often they always feel at home. Mr. Schultz finds much improvement in the town and does not look for the old town to ever die out.

Chats With The Editor J. A. Sturgeon

TIME WAS when Little Bay de Noc was recognized as Gladstone's greatest asset. It was an open lake port which this beautiful body of water provided that caused this site to be selected as a community center. And in the early days it was the bay which afforded the connecting link with other points. Shipping of grain, ore, coal and general merchandise in conjunction with the railroad, made Gladstone an important center and indicated the development of a large civic center. Gradually the water shipments dwindled until today but little remains. Gladstone has remained as a thriving community despite the let-up in lake shipping, but there is no denying the fact that its prosperity would be much greater today if the traffic had continued.

AT THE present time, Little Bay de Noc remains an unquestioned asset to this section. While there is but little shipping, its waters contain a plentiful supply of fish and the commercial fishing is rightfully listed as an important industry. It has been estimated that close to $100,000 a year revenue is derived by the fishermen active on the bay. In talking the other day with a group of the men who are in the fishing business, the subject drifted to the days when lake shipping was unquestionably one of the important activities in this community. The general consensus of opinion seemed to be that those days would never return. The thought seemed to prevail that even the present scarcity of pleasure boats would continue. Our conversation however is that the time will come when the traffic will be revived. The lower cost of transportation which the lakes afford cannot but encourage such a resumption. There should be less doubt relative to more general use of pleasure boats. Automobiles have served to detract attention from the pleasures of motor boating and yachting, but when the motorist has satisfied his craving for touring, it is only natural to presume that his attention will revert to the other. After all is said and done, auto travel does not begin to compare with yachting on a warm, sultry Sunday afternoon. We predict that it will not be too far distant, interest in Little Bay de Noc will be greater than it has been at any time in the past.

HENRY Ford once declared that the point of saturation in the automobile industry would never be reached until every family was provided with a car. There were those who scoffed at such an idea but Mr. Ford had faith in his convictions and planned his business accordingly. Each succeeding year sees a enormous growth in the Ford business, and at the same time other factories are turning out more and more cars. Now the Fords have taken over an immense territory and the expectations are that they will do with the flying machines what they have already done with the automobile. The belief is gradually growing that the time will come when the air will be dotted with flying machines. The planes will be used for commercial, travel and business purposes. Just how soon their general use will be adopted depends on how soon a machine can be perfected whose operation will be as simple and dependable as the motor car of today. Going back just 25 years ago, you will remember that the motorist who completed a 200 mile trip was regarded as a wonder. It took an expert to keep a auto operating in those days. Now a 200-mile trip is no stunt at all. People operating cars don't have to know anything about motors, other than to keep them supplied with gas, oil and water.

THE airplane that will revolutionize air travel will probably include a gyroscopic equipment which will permit travel up or down at the wish of the operator. Some of the inventive genius has already provided the gyroscope, an instrument which illustrates the laws of rotation. Some other genius will use that principle in perfecting an attachment which will cause the air machine to remain erect regardless of the speed at which it travels. It does not seem impossible that the invention should be such that it could hold the plane upright in the air, even when it was at a standstill. We have seen so many dreams realized, that it seems nothing is impossible. Certainly we must believe that at some time not too far in the future airplanes

AMERICAN automobile manufacturers are said to be perfecting a new small car, to weigh only 750 pounds, or just half of what the Ford weighs. The car is known in Europe as the "bug". Just as though we didn't have enough "bugs" now.

THE originator of anything deserves to succeed. And because he generally does, causes a mass of imitators who don't succeed and in falling prove themselves a nuisance, whether they intend it or not. Some fellow in Pennsylvania conceived the idea of sending ties through mail, without order. The recipient was informed of the wonderful quality of the six ties sent, which he could keep by sending the sum of one dollar in a self-addressed envelope also inclosed. He was told that the ties were of especially good quality and that they could be sold at the price asked only because of a direct sales method, factory to consumer. The idea was new and statistics showed that no less than $8 out of every 100 kept and paid for. The first about 15 per cent returned them, while the other five per cent never heard from. Because the idea was new, it went over big and soon the originator had made a fortune. It was when he went into the manufacturing business and commenced to tell others how they could also get rich. Someone in nearly every community decided to go into the business. There arose a great demand for mailing lists and ties began to travel back and forth. It was not unusual to hear of two parties sending each other a package of the "quality" ties. It was almost as common as the chain letter will. The Postal Department is being asked to take a hand in the business. The chances are that a ruling will be formulated whereby merchandise un-ordered and unsolicited may not be sent through the mails.

WE have heard much favorable comment about the chaquetau which completed a five-day run here last Tuesday. Those who attended some of the attractions were appreciative of the opportunity to enjoy some real talent. Very good, but the fact remains that the chaquetau was an undertaking that proved considerable of an expense to the men who sponsored. This is a matter little known and still less appreciated. The men who sponsored the chaquetau were actuated by a desire to provide for their townpeople, worthwhile, clean and wholesome entertainment. Had the people realized more fully the response would have been general enough to assure the financial success of the chaquetau. In Gladstone's case, the advertising and ticket sale with the result that the advance sale was small. We do not know whether there will be another chaquetau arranged for next year. The committee that sponsored the one of this year probably would little begrudge the expense they have been put to indicate that the attendance been such as to indicate that the people were more appreciative. The chaquetau was great and it is not too much to expect that it will be repeated. However, we feel that chaquetau, like any other business or amusement organization, should be allowed to take their own chances. They feel that their entertainment is worth the price they must charge to operate at a profit, then their organization should be left to sell it to the people of any community for what it is worth with out securing a guarantee from local committees. We feel that this is expecting too much and if a chaquetau cannot be secured on a more satisfactory basis, then we say pass it up. This also applies to the recent contests that are brought into town. There should be no guarantee other than that the local committees will work to make of them a success. Operating under such an agreement, there is every reason to believe that the attractions would be improved, if anything.

Members of August Mattson Post. No. 71 of Gladstone have informed that the quota of $800 has been set for them for the $5,000,000 endowment fund which the National Legion organization has set out to raise and the income from which will be used to take care of disabled veterans and war orphans, not otherwise provided for by the government. The amount set for Gladstone does not appear to be right, as the total for the nation makes the per capita 5 cents for each resident of the United States, taking the round figure of 100,000,000 as the population, while the per capita for Gladstone, also based on population, would be 16 cents. That basis should be changed by request, but that as it may, the fact remains that the money is wanted and seriously needed in a good cause and the former service men have agreed to try to raise it among themselves. At the meeting Monday night there was quite general agreement that the service men would do all they could to help their former buddies, without an effort to ask for help from those who did not see service. While $800 is not a large sum, still it will mean considerable if the burden is assumed entirely by the Legionnaires. In fact there are but 65 members in the local post and to raise that amount, each member must be assessed more than $12, while if the assessment was distributed city-wide the assessment would be less than a dollar on each wage earner. During the year it was not difficult to arouse the populace to a point where they desired to help the men who served in the ranks. It is no easy task now. The people forget that the maimed, crippled and orphaned, were made that way by the willingness of some to serve their country in war. Those who paid so dearly for their loyalty should not be made to suffer the further pangs of hunger and need for a comfortable home. The people may sometimes forget, but the other former service men who came out more fortunately than their buddies, remember. That is why the Gladstone Legionnaires are anxious to raise their quota of the national endowment fund.

FOR those who wish to combine a motor trip with a pleasant trip on Lake Superior, we recommend a trip to Munising where on Wednesday and Sunday until Sept. 15 boat trips may be made to Grand Island and Pictured Rocks at very small cost. Thanks to the accommodations provided through the courtesy of the Cleveland Club company, the boats leave Munising at 1:30 on those two days each week and excursionists are taken to the beautiful Pictured Rocks, a sight well worth seeing. While in Munising recently we heard residents and visitors speak in glowing terms of the desirability of the trip and the information is passed along for the benefit to others in this section.

WASHINGTON is turning rapidly almost overnight it seems in some cases, from a town of old homesteads and quiet, shaded streets to a bustling city where business holds the whip hand. In the north-west section of the city, business houses are taking the place of the old brick homes, which are either being destroyed or are being remodeled into office buildings along the south side. Residential sections are being rushed farther and farther away and even into the nearby Maryland and Virginia suburbs. Business development is not limited either to the residential sections as many of the streets which have been occupied solely by business houses for years are undergoing improvements and remodelings which are changing the whole appearance of the city. The big change will come, however, whenever Congress goes ahead with the government's great building program, contemplating the destruction of many of the old grimy buildings along the south side of Pennsylvania avenue and the erection of Government department buildings in one big group on the Mall.

THE EARLY SESSIONS of the debt funding negotiations between the United States and Belgium have moved into a deadlock over terms for paying the nearly half billion dollars which Belgium owes, but the best information from an agreement is still limited and will be reached by the end of the month. The biggest victory for the Belgians at the start was the obtaining from the American commissioners of the promise of a lengthy moratorium during which time they will be required to pay neither principal or interest. The granting of this concession to Belgium indicates that a similar policy will be followed in the case of Bolivia and France, despite the repeated denials of the Government that moratoriums were possible.

ACCUSTOMED TO parades and public demonstrations of all kinds, Washington saw something entirely new in the Ka Klux Klan parade, and is still trying to get at the meaning of the great outpouring of white-robed figures which marched down Pennsylvania avenue for nearly four hours. The parade was looked upon generally as a gesture of strength on the part of the organization, despite the fact that it was given out that the national officers did not stand sponsor for the affair and that it was of local origin. Opponents of the Klan sought unsuccessfully to stop the parade on the ground that riot and bloodshed would result, but the whole thing went off quietly and without excitement.

WITH NO LOCAL scandal of importance to attract its attention Washington has been keeping tab on the final round in Michigan e the Congressman Scott divorce case, which has now reached its conclusion. The Scotts were leading members of the Congress-Army Navy set in the Capital and several of their associates in this group were involved in the charges and counter-charges which they made in their bills for divorce. Stories of the trial, replete with tales of Congressional drinking bouts, smuggling of liquor and other indiscretions were read with interest in all social circles. Scott will be a member of the next Congress, but it is uncertain if he will return to Washington.

THE CHIEF PROBLEM now worrying officials of the District Government is the regulation of traffic. The regulations have become so complex that the directing officers themselves admit that they can't keep up with all the changes and amendments. Every day some new rule is promulgated traffic law violations on the part of motorists are becoming more numerous, and the municipal courts have found it necessary to keep open all night in order that the number of violators won't pile up during the day sessions. In spite of all these efforts reckless driving continues and deaths from auto accidents occur almost without abatement.

"Are you getting out of that course in salesmanship?"
"Not much, I'm afraid I'll never be one-tenth as good as a salesman as the man who sold me the course."

"Hello, Out of Bounds there," hailed the motorist.
"I'm lost."
"Haw, haw, that's a good one," guffawed the native. "To think one of you city fellows would get lost here in Cross Timbers!"

LOCALS SUFFER FIRST SHUT OUT

ESCANABA WON FROM GLADSTONE ON SUNDAY 2 TO 0 SCORE

Gladstone suffered its first shut out of the season when Escanaba blanked them in Sunday afternoon's game, 2 to 0. Hank Beyers, pitching his last game for the county, cut loose in great style, held the local slingers to three measly singles scattered through the first four innings, and won handily. Lefty Patten, premier southpaw, was on the mound for Gladstone and was effective, allowing but seven hits which with one error accounted for the visitors' two runs.

Escanaba scored its first run in the opening frame when Boyce doubled, went to third on a throw to get him at second and after Derwin grounded out, scored when Smith sent a loopy fly to center field. The second marker came in the fifth inning when Beyers came in with a single, went to second on Deslists sacrifice and scored on Boyce's second two-bagger. That was the only inning in which two hits came in any one frame.

There was a large crowd at the game and the playing on both sides was good. Escanaba pulled two double plays, one in the first inning being what proved to be the deciding break as it broke up the only scoring chance that Gladstone had. Jensen went to first after being hit by a pitched ball. He got to second on a passed ball on Koencke and remained there when Gervais Texas's lefter dropped safely. Both runners advanced on Knapp's infield out. With one out Williams tried to work the squeeze play. He sent a pop up towards third, Koencke lunged forward, but barely got the ball in his mitt and tagged Jensen who had been tearing in, believing that the hunt would drop safely. Koencke's great play broke up the scoring chance and gave Escanaba the edge the team needed to defeat the locals.

IS YOUR WORK HARD?

Many Gladstone Folks Have Found How to Make Work Easier

What is so hard as a day's work with an aching back?
Or sharp stabs of pain at every sudden twist or turn?
There is no peace from that aching ache.
No rest from the soreness, lameness and weakness.
Many folks have found relief through Doan's Pills. They are a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Gladstone people recommend Doan's Pills. Mrs. Chas. Hodges, 513 N. 11th St. says: "I had a constant weak feeling in the small of my back and when I stooped to do my housework, sharp pains darted across my kidneys. My kidneys acted irregularly, too. I used Doan's Pills and they drove the trouble away."

Base Ball Gossip

Escanaba and Gladstone have now played seven games together and the locals have won five of these. Two remain to be played and Gladstone will make every effort to gather these in, to set a new record for games played with Escanaba.

Sunday the strong and aggressive bunch from Munising will come here for a game, the third of the season between these two teams. Gladstone has won the two already played but there is no discounting the strength which the Munising team boasts and the locals realize that they must play tight ball to win tomorrow Saturday. Tuesday, the locals play a game at Trenary. Gladstone will have its full lineup, while Trenary will be strengthened for the encounter, probably one of the local pitchers being permitted to try for them. The battery will likely be Slattery for Gladstone and Patten for Trenary.

Kircher had another great day at second. He had three chances without an error. Kircher goes after everything that comes his way and he looks good in doing it too.

Gladstone played good ball but the pep and snap that has characterized the team's play in the past was missing. There were several reasons for this, chiefly that everybody seemed to think that Escanaba was due to win one. Not that anybody on the local camp wanted to see them do it but they just lacked the spirit that might have prevented them. Just watch the old snap come back in the game here Sunday with Munising.

Iron Mountain went into second place by playing a non-association game Sunday while the locals lost. The Ford Turners have but two association games on the schedule, Thursday, August 20 at Escanaba and Aug. 30 at home with Crystal Falls. They can clinch second place by winning both of the games. It is understood that two or three games have been scheduled with Marquette but these cannot be made to count as a rule adopted at the spring meeting limited the league games to those that were scheduled at the start of the season. Iron Mountain claims another game in its standings which was not scheduled with Crystal Falls. The league ruling also provided that not less than 10 games should be played to make a team eligible for honors. So far Iron Mountain has played but 11, with two to go. The fact that they have played fewer games is what gives them a chance to be as high as they are in the standing.

Gladstone fans were sorry to hear Sunday that both Beyers and Koencke were to leave the Escanaba lineup. They pulled out for their homes in Wisconsin after participating in the Escanaba victory over the locals. Local fans are now anxious to see what sort of a lineup Escanaba will have sent against Iron Mountain in their game this week.

Marquette has almost undisputed possession of first place. Ted Wolf's gang have played some of the best ball and they deserved the honor of finishing at the top. Their team was organized early in the season and it got away to a good start. Marquette was altogether too good a team for some of the weaker ones. It went up against that in one of the reasons this writer urged the post-season championship series, believing that games between the winner of the northern and southern groups would stir up baseball's interest to a point it has seldom reached. It looks now like either Iron Mountain or Gladstone against Marquette. Iron Mountain is the team the locals must head off if they are to participate in the proposed series.

FALSE ALARM BRINGS OUT FIRE DEPARTMENT

The Firemen were called to a supposed blaze about six o'clock Saturday night. The alarm was sent in from box 31. It was the case of another person mistaking the alarm box for a mail receptacle. This has happened for the third time at this particular box and is an expensive mistake for the city.

PENNANT SERIES APPROVED BY U.P. LEAGUE MANAGERS

CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES WILL BE PLAYED AFTER CLOSE OF REGULAR SCHEDULE

(Wednesday's Mining Journal)

Six managers, representing a majority of the teams entered in the Upper Peninsula Baseball association, have sent letters to Gene Short, secretary of the association, approving the idea of a championship series to be played at the end of the regular schedule between the teams of Groups 1 and 2 of the league standing highest in the percentage column.

Managers in accord with the suggestion are those representing Islepening, Munising, Crystal Falls, Escanaba, Gladstone and Marquette. It is of especial interest to learn that the Browns are in favor of the plan as there is no team in the association with more reason to expect the championship than the Wolfmen. That they are willing to risk, in a small series, the prize which they have practically won now for a long season's grind, speaks well for the team and the management.

Same Lineups

In accord with the suggestion of Theodore Wolf, Marquette manager, the teams playing in the championship series must use the same lineups insofar as it is possible that performed during the regular season.

Should the series be played, as now seems likely, dates and places will be decided by the managers of the two teams competing. Gene Short, secretary, said last night, that in choosing the place to represent each group only games appearing on the regular schedule will count. Official percentages will be announced by Mr. Short every Monday from now until the end of the season.

Reason for Series

At the first meeting of representatives of cities interested in the league it was decided that the team having the highest percentage would be declared champion, but at the second meeting, held to arrange a schedule, it was found advisable to divide the association into two groups, and at that time the suggestion was made that teams having the highest percentage in each group meet in a championship series when the regular schedule was played off.

No official action was taken at that time and the matter seemed to have dropped, when Joe Sturgeon, manager of the Gladstone team, asked that it be brought up again. Letters were sent to managers of the teams in the association August 13 asking them for their attitude. Six have answered to date and all have been in the affirmative.

GERVAIS LEADING IN TEAM BATTING

Chief Eddie Williams in bringing in runs leads with 14 to his credit in league games. Four players, Gervais, Knapp, Williams and Kircher, have appeared in all league games.

The first column in the table below gives the number of games played, second column times at bat, runs scored, hits and percentage in the order named:

SERVED GLADSTONE FOR MANY YEARS

Alexander Murker, aged 73 years, who came to Gladstone in the summer of 1887 when this community was just springing up as a promising boom town, died Tuesday night, August 18, from a complication of diseases brought on by old age. Deceased had not been in good health in the last seven years, since he suffered a stroke of paralysis.

Deceased was born Sept. 8, 1852 at Ridgely, Ont., Canada. He came from there to Newberry before he was married shortly before moving to Gladstone in 1887, where they had since made their home. Mrs. Murker preceded her husband in death by about one year. Only one son survives, Cliff Murker, shipping clerk at the Marble Arms plant in this city.

Funeral services are to be held this morning at 9:30 a. m. from the home of the son on Minnesota street, with Rev. Mr. Anthony Meengs of the Presbyterian church officiating.
Mr. Murker was well known throughout this city, especially in connection with his service as town marshal over a period of 15 years. He served in that capacity up to a short time before he suffered his stroke of paralysis. His death will be the source of regret to many.

F. MILLER ELECTED PRESIDENT OF SPORTSMEN

At a meeting of the local Sportsmen at the city hall Wednesday evening, Frank Miller was elected president of the organization with E. J. Norvus vice president, F. Marble, secretary and treasurer, Cap Fisher, C. Slining, A. Radandt, John A. Olson and Charles (Don compose the Board of directors. Floyd Marble was elected chairman of a committee to investigate the vicinity and make recommendations to the Department of Conservation for the closing of feeder streams, and deer yards. The streams will be closed indefinitely, and the deer yards for ten years. Mr. Marble will choose two other members to work with him on the proposition. They will report to the organization at a meeting before submitting their find to the Department. These territories will receive special protection from coyotes and wolves.

F. W. Marble gave a very interesting talk explaining the new gun law passed a year ago. It provides that no one shall be permitted to carry a gun into the woods during the open season unless they get special permission, which will be given free of charge. During the partridge season, no one will be allowed to hunt them with a high powered rifle, only a shotgun being permissible. One having a special permit to carry a gun in the woods, and violating provisions of the game law, will be fined twice as much. A loaded gun cannot be carried in a car, nor is anyone allowed to have cartridges in the magazine or chamber. Loaded guns found in cars will be confiscated and cars in which game is found that has been illegally killed will be destroyed. It is unlawful to have a headlight in your possession at any time.

WHY GIRLS PAY THEIR OWN WAY TO DANCES

"Hello Ruth, Where to in such a rush?"
"Oh, I'm hurrying home to get dressed for the dance at "Terraco" tonight. There's only a half hour till car time. Bye-Bye, June."
"Just a minute. Tell me, who with to

"The girls."
"Really Ruth, You don't mean to tell me you are going without a gentleman escort? That's something I wouldn't do."
"Oh pawaw, I got all over feeling that way about it, old dear. The 'Guys' in Gladstone and Escanaba who are gentlemen enough and generous enough to take girls to dances are so scarce one has to look for them with a microscope. And since I don't happen to be fortunate enough to be a personal friend of the young men in the vicinity, I go with my girl friends, I must dance "Along June".
While I do not think it is dignified for our young girls to "stare" dances on the other hand I cannot see why they should be censured for doing so. The world is "beas-brummeled" and "sheiks" of our community deserve all the harsh criticism as they are too "cheap" to take the girls to dances. I say "cheap", yet that adjective does not quite describe them, for they are conspicuous at all these functions, and they must pay the same admission they would pay if accompanied by a lady. It will always be an enigma to me why the young girls are not given the consideration of being taken to these affairs. While the boys attend alone they are always on hand for company when going home time comes.
This attitude on the part of the "sheiks" here and in our vicinity explains why formal dances, at which you are requested to come coupled are more often failures than successes. Alas, the days of chivalry and gallantry are gone forever.
"BABE."

The members of the P. D. F.'s who have been camping at Rodemehrer's cottage near Ford River returned here Saturday. Those attending were the Misses Fern Bolen, Margaret LaPine, Louise Clark, Jesse Brown, and Antoinette LaPine. They were chaperoned by Mrs. C. A. Clark. A pleasant camping party was enjoyed.

LEGION MEN TO HELP RAISE FUND

NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FOR ORPHANS AND CRIPPLED SET AT $800 FOR CITY

"At the meeting of the August Mattson Post held Monday night at the Legion Wassa hall, means of raising this city's share of the Legion Endowment fund was discussed. The Upper Peninsula headquarters have notified the local officers that this post would be expected to raise $800 as its share of the $5,000,000 endowment fund, the income from which will be used for the care of war orphans and those made helpless in war service.

The thought prevailed at the meeting that this amount could not be secured through solicitations from the citizens and business houses, so the Legionaires decided to do what they could to raise the amount among themselves. It was also thought the quota for this city had been placed altogether too high and Percy Cameron, Adjutant, was instructed to write headquarters for information as to how the amount had been arrived at.

"Among those made helpless by the ravages of war are many not receiving any government aid. It is to help these unfortunate ones that the fund is being raised, and it is receiving the attention of prominent men throughout the country.

STOLEN JEWELRY RETURNED AFTER YEAR

Remorse and a troubled conscience probably drove the thief who broke into the Peter Caron home at 408 Wisconsin avenue last September 13, and made off with a box of jewelry belonging to Miss Alice Caron to return it. At any rate it was found on the front porch steps, by Mr. Caron early last Tuesday morning. Everything remained the same as when the articles were stolen except for a missing $5 bill which was also in the box. It contained, pearls, a mesh bag, sapphire ring and a lavalliere with a diamond setting. The return was more than a surprise to Miss Caron, who had given up hope of ever finding the articles.

The robbery happened last September nearly a year ago, during a time when similar occurrences were going on in the vicinity.

The box has been turned over to the authorities, in the hope that it may lead to a clue to finding the thief, through the investigation of the finger prints on the box, although this is hardly possible, having passed through so many hands since.

HUGE CROWD IN ATTENDANCE AT FARMERS' MEET

1,700 PERSONS VISIT EXPERIMENTAL STATION AT CHATHAM SATURDAY

(Marquette Mining Journal)
Approximately 1,700 business men and farmers attended the seventh annual farmers' roundup at Chatham Saturday.

Starting at 8 in the morning and continuing until 4:30 in the afternoon there was something of interest and education to the host of visitors.

Chief among the numbers of the day's program were the poultry contests, dairy-cattle judging and the demonstration of the home-making projects for the women.

In the poultry contests, 18 hens were selected. They were placed in separate cages and contestants were given score cards on which to rate the birds. The winning contestant was awarded a pair of prize birds.

Dairy Cattle Judging
One of the features of the roundup which attracts as much interest as any is the dairy cattle judging contest. This is open to any farmer in the upper peninsula. Four cows of varying worth are led into a ring. Score-cards are passed out to those wishing to compete. The farmers then must number the cows in the order they place them and give reasons for their awards. This is the most important thing in the contest.

As Professor Reed who acts as master of the contest, said when he made his award, several of the men knew what cows should be ranked first, but were unable to clearly state why they made their choice. A pure-bred Holstein bull given by the experimental station was awarded to Edward Limbeck, of Treasury.

Many Women Present
It is estimated between 300 and 400 women were present at the demonstrations conducted by Mrs. J. G. Wells, Jr. The morning program was devoted to a demonstration of the so-called one-hour dress. The women were shown how to make the pattern and fit a modified kimono and blouse. This particular work was in charge of Miss Agnes Sorenson, extension specialist in clothing, with the Michigan State College. Miss Sorenson also gave "recipes" for fitting and clothing much the same as "recipes" for cooking.

Nutrition Clinic
The afternoon program was in the nature of a nutrition and health clinic. It was open to men and children as well as the women. Each person attending had a chance to be weighed and measured and to be scored on his health habits. The purpose of the clinic was to determine how healthy the persons were. Mrs. Martha J. Hunter, extension specialist, and Miss Jean Macintosh, Alger county nurse.

Marl Demonstration
Approximately 200 farmers gathered at the upper farm in the morning to watch Clifford Skivers and George Annundson conduct a marl-digging demonstration. Several of the men present, when they saw the marl and how it was handled, declared they were certain they had limited beds of the liming agent on their farms. They were asked to send samples in to Mr. Annundson at his Marquette office. The officials expressed the hope the farmers were right as it would mean a great deal to upper peninsula agriculture if beds of marl were to be found.

Names of prize winners in the various contests will be announced later. The round-up came to a close when a big dance was held in the hippodrome. Approximately 600 persons attended.

tion 9 to 11:30 for the last time today. During the two weeks time in which daily classes have been conducted in Rapid River, Masonville, Kipling, Buckeye and the local school, their roll has reached 476. This number includes 22 different faiths and 20 nationalities. Previous to the instructors coming here, schools were conducted with headquarters at Munising, Chatham, and Iron Mountain. The total number of children enrolled at all of these sessions is 1043.

The intention of the instruction is to develop the four-fold life of the child, the physical, mental, social, and spiritual. The instruction period has been so arranged to provide time for memory work, songs, craft work for the boys, sewing for the girls, bible study, calisthenics, recess and ending with a salute to Christianity, and the American flag.

The instructors are people from all parts of the country, who have made great sacrifices in many cases giving up vacations, to come here to do this work, with their expenses paid, and the rest gratis.

This fact is appreciated by local people, who have heartily endorsed the bible schools, and mothers, who were glad to have their children occupied in a worth while manner during these hours in the morning.

The famous All Stars, the team which grew out of the "Black Horse" and has been creating so much comment, added another scalp to their belt Wednesday night in a match with the Buckeye Store when they came out at the long end of a score 7-6 in a five inning game.

They played the Business Men's team last Thursday, but the game had to be called off after the 1st half of the third inning because of rain. At that time it stood 5-4 in favor of the "All Stars."

The game yesterday afternoon between the Soo Line and the Buckeye Store scored a victory for the Soo's 25-5. Other teams in this "Independent League" are the Round House and Soo Line Depot. As yet a schedule has not been drawn up.

These games are replacing the Kitten Ball matches which have not been creating much interest. Undoubtedly, later on when cold weather commences the indoor games will be a popular entertainment.

Mrs. Saburn of Detroit arrived Wednesday to visit with Mrs. Frank Royer. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Erickson of Superior arrived last night to visit at the John Larson home.

Congressman and Mrs. W. Frank James and children who have been visiting the latter's brother, Fred Minny, have left for Hancock, Mich. where they will remain until their return to Washington in the fall.

REDECORATING DRUG STORE
Work was commenced Wednesday on the repainting of the interior of Erickson VonTell drug store. H. E. Hite is in charge, assisted by A. Schradler. The exterior of the building will also be repainted the entire work to be completed by the latter part of the week.

REDECORATING DRUG STORE
Work was commenced Wednesday on the repainting of the interior of Erickson VonTell drug store. H. E. Hite is in charge, assisted by A. Schradler. The exterior of the building will also be repainted the entire work to be completed by the latter part of the week.

FAMOUS ALL STARS AGAIN VICTORIOUS
The Famous All Stars, the team which grew out of the "Black Horse" and has been creating so much comment, added another scalp to their belt Wednesday night in a match with the Buckeye Store when they came out at the long end of a score 7-6 in a five inning game.

They played the Business Men's team last Thursday, but the game had to be called off after the 1st half of the third inning because of rain. At that time it stood 5-4 in favor of the "All Stars."

The game yesterday afternoon between the Soo Line and the Buckeye Store scored a victory for the Soo's 25-5. Other teams in this "Independent League" are the Round House and Soo Line Depot. As yet a schedule has not been drawn up.

These games are replacing the Kitten Ball matches which have not been creating much interest. Undoubtedly, later on when cold weather commences the indoor games will be a popular entertainment.

More Owners, Day by Day Turn to This Better Oil

Learn the reasons for its superiority, no other oil has ever met with such success as Tempered. Owners of every make of car invariably prefer it, after thorough trial. Its benefits are definite. You can prove them for yourself. Carbon the great waster of your motor dollar, is largely checked through use of Tempered. Tempered oil holds less than a hundredth of the free carbon found in most other brands and Tempered Oil gives the biggest margin of protection to your motor. From 10 to 36 per cent, tests show, is the higher viscosity it holds in the withering blast of motor heat. Nearly half a million motorists have proved these facts to their own satisfaction. They know they save money and motor trouble, and they use no other oil.

Wadham's Tempered Motor Oil

Gives these advantages because it is produced by the exclusive Wadham's method of controlled heat refining. It is uncompounded, wholly distilled oil, and contains no cylinder stock. We guarantee it unreservedly for your car, your truck or tractor. We urge a thorough trial for we know that you will become a steady user. And we ask you to drain your crankcase before the first filling. Then you will learn its benefits. We have here scientifically correct weight for your motor.

CHAPTER VIII

The Vigil.
Sir James brushed past Julia and hurriedly bent over the fallen woman. "Hurry," he said sharply. "Something so suddenly must have given her a shock. Brandy—and quickly, or she'll slip through our fingers."
Julius hurried to the washstand. "Not there," said Tuppence over her shoulder. "In the tangle in the string room. Second door down the passage."

Between them Sir James and Tuppence lifted Mrs. Vandemeyer and carried her to the bed. The lawyer inquired her pulse.
"Touch and go," he muttered. "I wish that young fellow would hurry up with the brandy."

At that moment Julius re-entered the room, carrying a glass half full of the spirit which he handed to Sir James. While Tuppence lifted her hand the lawyer tried to force a little of the spirit between her closed lips. Finally the woman opened her eyes feebly. Tuppence held the glass to her lips.

"Drink this."
Mrs. Vandemeyer complied. The brandy brought the color back to her white cheeks, and she lay in a nervous fashion. She tried to sit up—then fell back with a gasp, her head to her side.

"It's my heart," she whispered. "I wasn't talk."
She lay back with closed eyes.
Sir James kept his finger on her wrist a minute longer, then withdrew it with a nod.
"She'll do now."

All three moved away, and stood together talking in low voices. One and all were conscious of a certain feeling of anticlimax. Clearly any scheme for cross-questioning the lady was out of the question for the moment. For the time being they were baffled, and could do nothing.

Tuppence related how Mrs. Vandemeyer had declared herself willing to disclose the identity of Mr. Brown, and how she had consented to discover and reveal to them the whereabouts of Jane Finn.

"Well," said Tuppence, with an attempt at cheerfulness, "we must wait, that's all. But I don't think we ought to leave the flat."

"What about leaving that bright boy of yours on guard?"
"Albert? And suppose she came round again and looked it. Albert couldn't stop her. She seemed very frightened of Mr. Brown. Said even words had been."

"Miss Tuppence is right," said Sir James quietly. "We must not leave the flat—only for Mrs. Vandemeyer's sake."

Julius stared at him.
"You think he'd get after her? Between now and tomorrow morning. How could he know, even?"
"We have a very formidable adversary. I believe, if we exercise all due care, that there is a very good chance of his being delivered into our hands. But we must neglect no precaution. We have an important witness, but she must be safeguarded. I would suggest that Miss Tuppence should go to bed, and that you and I, Mr. Hereshorn, should share the vigil."

Tuppence was about to protest, but happening to glance at the bed she saw Mrs. Vandemeyer, her eyes half-open, with such an expression of mingled fear and malice on her face that it quite froze the words on her lips.

For a moment she wrenched whether the faint and the closed attack had been a gigantic sham, but remembering the deadly pallor she could hardly credit the supposition. As she looked the expression disappeared as by magic, and Mrs. Vandemeyer lay inert and motionless as before. For a moment the girl glanced at the bed, but she dreamt it. But she determined nevertheless to be on the alert.

She hesitated a moment by the bed, but the intensity of the expression she had surprised had impressed her powerfully. Mrs. Vandemeyer lifted her head. She seemed to be struggling to speak. Tuppence bent over her.

"Don't leave—" she seemed unable to proceed, murmuring something that sounded like "sleepy."
Tuppence bent lower still. It was only a breath.

"Mr.—Brown—" The voice stopped. But the half-closed eyes seemed still to send an agonized message.
Moved by a sudden impulse, the girl laid quickly:
"I shan't leave the flat. I shall sit up all night."
A flash of relief shone before the lids descended once more. Apparently Mrs. Vandemeyer slept. But her words had awakened a new consciousness in Tuppence. What had she meant by that low murmur, "Mr.—

With the deference to your feelings, Miss Tuppence (and what as well, for that matter), I do not see how it is humanly possible for anyone to be in the flat without our knowledge."

The girl was a little comforted by his words. "Sitting up at night is always rather jumpy," she confessed.

"The hours draw on. With the first faint glimmerings of dawn, Sir James drew aside the curtains and, with the coming of the light, the dread and fancies of the past night returned abashed. Tuppence's spirits revived to the normal."

"Who's the other cup for?" inquired Julius.
"The prisoner, of course. Perhaps you'd both come, in case she springs on me, or anything. You see, we don't know what mood she'll wake up in."

Sir James and Julius accompanied her to the door.
"Where's the key? Oh, of course, I've got it myself."
She put it in the lock, and turned it, then paused.
"Supposing, after all, she's escaped?" she murmured in a whisper.

"Stupidly impossible," replied Julius reassuringly.
But Sir James said nothing.

Tuppence drew a long breath and entered. She heaved a sigh of relief as she saw that Mrs. Vandemeyer was lying on the bed.
"Good morning," she remarked cheerfully. "I've brought you some tea."

Mrs. Vandemeyer did not reply. Tuppence put down the cup on the table by the bed and went to dress up the blinds. When she turned, Mrs. Vandemeyer still lay without a movement. With a sudden fear clutching at her heart, Tuppence ran to the bed. The hand she lifted was cold as ice.

"Mrs. Vandemeyer would never speak now," she thought.
"And what now?" asked Julius thoughtfully.
"No," he said quietly. "There is still the chance that Doctor Hall may be able to tell us something. The chance is slight, but it must not be neglected. I think I ought to see the doctor at the Metropole. I should suggest that we call upon him there as soon as possible."

It was arranged that Tuppence and Julius should return to the flat, and call for Sir James in the car. This program was "faithfully" carried out, and a little after eleven they drew up before the Metropole. They asked for Doctor Hall, and a page-boy went in search of him. In a few minutes the little doctor came hurrying toward them.

"Can you spare us a few minutes, Doctor?" asked Sir James pleasantly. "Let me introduce you to Miss Cowley. Mr. Hereshorn, I think, you already know. Can we have a word with you in private?"
"Certainly, I think there is a room here where we shall be quite undisturbed."

He led the way, and the others followed him. They sat down, and the doctor looked inquiringly at Sir James.

"Doctor Hall, I am very anxious to see a certain young lady for the purpose of obtaining a statement from her. I have reason to believe that she has been at one time or another in your establishment at Bournemouth. I hope I am transgressing no professional etiquette in questioning you on the subject?"
"I suppose it is a matter of testimony."

Sir James hesitated a moment, then he replied: "Yes."
"I shall be pleased to give you any information in my power. What is the young lady's name? Mr. Hereshorn asks me if I remember."

He half turned to Julius.
"The name," said Sir James bluntly, "is really immaterial. She would be almost certainly dead by now under an assumed one. But I should like to know if you are acquainted with a Mrs. Vandemeyer?"
"Mrs. Vandemeyer of 200 South Andley Mansions? I know her slightly."

"Do you not know that Mrs. Vandemeyer is dead?"
"Dear, dear, I had no idea of it. When did it happen?"
"She took an overdose of chloral last night."

"Paraphrasing," he said, "I should not like to say myself. Anyhow, she was found dead this morning."

"Very sad. A singularly handsome woman. I presume she was a friend of yours? Since you are acquainted with all these details."
"I am acquainted with the details because—well, it was I who found her dead."

"Indeed," said the doctor, starting. "This is very sad news, but you will excuse me if I say that I do not see how it bears on the subject of your inquiry."
"It bears on it in this way. It is not a fact that Mrs. Vandemeyer committed a relative of hers to your charge?"
Julius leaned forward eagerly.
"That is the case," said the doctor quietly.

"Under the name of—"
"Jane Vandemeyer. I understood her to be a niece of Mrs. Vandemeyer's."
"And she came to you?"
"As far as I can remember in June or July of 1915."

"Was she a mental case?"
"She is perfectly sane. It is that which you must understand from Mrs. Vandemeyer that the girl had been with her on the Lusitania when that ill-fated ship was sunk, and had suffered a severe shock in consequence."
"We're on the right track, I think," Sir James looked round.

"As I said before, I'm a nut!" returned Julius.
The doctor looked at them all curiously.
"You spoke of wanting a statement from her," he said. "Supposing she is not able to give one?"
"What! You have just said that

"With the deference to your feelings, Miss Tuppence (and what as well, for that matter), I do not see how it is humanly possible for anyone to be in the flat without our knowledge."

The girl was a little comforted by his words. "Sitting up at night is always rather jumpy," she confessed.

"We're on the right track, I think," Sir James looked round.

"As I said before, I'm a nut!" returned Julius.
The doctor looked at them all curiously.
"You spoke of wanting a statement from her," he said. "Supposing she is not able to give one?"
"What! You have just said that any events prior to May 7, 1915, she will not be able to give it to you. Janet Vandemeyer is suffering from a complete loss of memory."

"What?"
"Quite so. An interesting case, a very interesting case. Not so uncommon, really, as you would think. There are several very well-known parallels. It's the first case of the kind that I've had under my own personal observation, and I must admit that I've found it of absorbing interest. There was something rather ghoulish in the little man's satisfaction."

"And she remembers nothing," said Sir James slowly.
"Nothing prior to May 7, 1915. After that date her memory is as good as yours or mine."
"Then the first thing she remembers?"
"In landing with the survivors. Everything before that is a blank. She did not know her own name, or where she had come from, or where she was. She couldn't even speak her own tongue."

"But surely all this is most unusual!" put in Julius.
"No, dear sir. Quite normal under the circumstances. Severe shock to the nervous system. Loss of memory proceeds nearly always on the same lines. I suggested a specialist, of course, but Mrs. Vandemeyer opposed the idea of publicity that might result from such a case."
"I can imagine she would," said Sir James grimly.

"I fell in with her views. There is a certain notoriety given to these cases. And the girl was very young—nineteen, I believe. It seemed a pity that her identity should be talked about—might damage her prospects. Besides, there is no special treatment to pursue in such cases. It is really a matter of waiting."

"Waiting?"
"It is, sooner or later, the memory will return—as suddenly as it went. But in all probability the girl will have entirely forgotten the intervening period, and will take up life where she left off—at the sinking of the Lusitania."

"And when do you expect this to happen?"
"The doctor shrugged his shoulders.
"Ah, that I cannot say. Sometimes it is a matter of months, sometimes years. I suggested to her to be as long as twenty years! Sometimes another shock does the trick. One restores what the other took away."
"Another shock, eh?" said Julius thoughtfully.

"Exactly. There was a case in Colorado—The little man in the color red on his forehead, mistily ecstatic."
Julius did not seem to be listening. He had begun to scribble on his own notes, and was frowning. Suddenly he came out of his brown study, and hit the table with a resounding bang with his fist, that everyone jumped, the doctor most of all.

Apparently Mrs. Vandemeyer slept, and looked under the bed. There was no other possible hiding place.

Mrs. Vandemeyer Was Dead.

was dead—must have been dead some hours. She had evidently died in her sleep. That isn't the cruellest luck," cried Julius in despair.

The lawyer was calmer, but there was a curious gleam in his eyes.
"If it is luck, he replied.
"You don't think—but, say, that's plumb impossible—no one could have got in there."
"No," admitted the lawyer. "I don't see how they could. And yet—she is on the point of betraying Mr. Brown, and she dies. It is only chance?"
"But how?"
"Yes, how! That is what we must find out. He stood there silently, gently stroking his chin. "We must find out," he said quietly, and Tuppence felt that if she was Mr. Brown she would not like the tone of those simple words.

Julius glanced went to the window. "The window's open," he remarked.
"Do you think—"
Tuppence shook her head.
"The balcony only goes along as far as the bedchamber. We were there."
"He might have slipped out," suggested Julius.

But Sir James interrupted him.
"Mr. Brown's methods are not so crude. In the meantime we must send for a doctor, but before we do so, is there anything in this room that might be of value to us?"
"Exactly," the three searched. A charred mass in the grate indicated that Mrs. Vandemeyer had been burning papers on the eve of her flight. Nothing of importance remained, though they searched the other rooms as well.

"There's that," said Tuppence suddenly, pointing to a small, old-fashioned safe left in the wall. "It's for jewelry, I believe, but there might be something else in it."
The key was in the lock, and Julius swung open the door, and searched inside. He was some time over the task.

"Well," said Tuppence impatiently. "There was a pause before Julius answered, then he withdrew his head and shut the door.
"Nothing," he said.

"Sure, Tuppence how could he be? This door's open to the hall. No one could have come in by the front door without our seeing and hearing him."

The Open Switch

Most of us understand that an electric motor will not run unless the current is turned on—unless the switch leading to it is closed. When the switch is open, power is off. Few of us know however, that there are similar switches within the body.

These "switches" are the movable spinal bones of the spinal column, which at times may press upon nerve trunks thereby cutting off the motive power directed from the brain to some organ. If the stoppage is partial, we have disease; if total, paralysis.

Some cases of paralysis are as simple as that. Others are not, but in the simple cases it is only necessary to reestablish the flow of vital energy by means of Chiropractic Spinal Adjustments, as is shown by this letter:

PARALYSIS COMPLETE ON ONE SIDE

"I had suffered for some time with severe head pains and dizzy spells. Although I had the best medical attention obtainable, I was unable to obtain relief, and finally I suffered a second stroke of paralysis. I had no use whatever of my left arm and leg. A chiropractor was then called to my home and I soon started to improve."

After being under his care for two months I was able to go to his office and walk upstairs for my adjustments. My health is improving and strength continues to return to my arm and leg.—J. W. Ryan, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 2117-B.

so I would have to be making more than just my own living. UNDECIDED. No Undecided, I will not advise you to go to school. After having placed myself in your position, I realize how you feel in the matter, and I cannot see how you would be benefited by attending high school as long as your attitude is such. I would not advise you to go to the city either, with the education you now have. There would be little more there for you than right in your home town, and there are many more there trying to get along with the same obstacles as you are facing.

With your eighth grade training, can't you get work in some little store at home? If you show yourself capable, and willing to learn, I believe it possible for you to develop into a better clerk than one with a high school education. I know of lots of girls who are clerking in stores, and have no more schooling than you have. Why don't you take a correspondence course during the winter months. It is my opinion that you wish to fit yourself for a better occupation, and this is the way for you to do it. Write and tell me what you are interested in, and I will advise you further.

Dear Mrs. Bivins—Reading your most interesting column, and seeming to be a person worthy of confidence as great as the one I am about ready to entrust to you, I feel that a woman of your worldly experience would be able to help in my great problem, that is also eating the heart of another. I am married, have (2) children who are attending the schools here. My husband and I are drifting apart, due to the fact that another man has entered my life. This man is married and not having any children, he has grown tired of his wife and it seems that fate has thrown us together. He has suggested leaving her and going to the city and that if I cared as much as he thought I did, I would follow shortly after. We could work in the city and later obtain divorces from our undesirable mates.

Mrs. Brantley please advise a poor despondent woman what you think would be the right step to take. Would you advise a divorce. Don't suggest my staying and living with a man that I no longer love. That is Brantley—my children will be well taken care of. I can picture you Mrs. Brantley as a woman with some past sorrow, one who has had worldly experience and that can advise both my affinity and myself what step would be the best to take. Will anxiously look forward to the next issue of the Reporter. Our fate hangs in your hands. Thank you. "Heartick" do you consider yourself a dutiful wife when you are even allowing such thoughts to enter your mind? Yours is but the passion of a moment, and I am sure you have not given it cool headed consideration. Think of your two children in the matter. You say they would be well cared for, but would they? Can any one else give them the attention of a mother? Then too, think what the separation from their mother would mean to them, if not to you. You should consider yourself above associating with a man "who has grown tired of his wife, and suggests going to the city." What would be "tolly" would be your succumbing to such a temptation. Put the matter entirely in your home, which must have greatly lessened under such conditions. Try to beautify your home and make your premises as attractive as possible and I am sure as time goes on you will grow to appreciate your home, and look back upon the present days as just a time of temptation that lots of folks are having to face, and your character will be just that much better for having come through the situation on the top. Read worth while books, and be inspired by them. I would suggest some of the poems of Edgar Guest. Remember "It takes a heap of 'Ivins' in a house to make it home." I would be pleased to hear from you again soon.

To 1 pound or 2 1/2 cups powdered sugar, use the juice of 1 lemon, white or 1 egg, and make into a smooth ball. Roll into a sheet 1/2 inch thick, sprinkle thickly with shredded coconut, put one-half upon the other and cut into bars.

Molasses Candy
Three cups yellow coffee sugar, 1 cup molasses, 1 cup water, 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar, butter size of walnut. Boil together until brittle when tried in water. Then turn quickly out on buttered plates. When cool, pull until white, and cut in squares.
Buttercups
Cook 2 cups molasses, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup boiling water, boil until brittle when tried in cold water. Pour on not buttered platter; pull when cool enough to handle, shape in a sheet 2 inches wide, cover with a layer of coconut, then with a layer of molasses candy, press together and cut in squares.

The Place of Milk in Our Diet
Few of us stop to think how dependent we are on the animal called "cow." We all start life with milk, and many of us continue its use throughout our existence. Whether we drink it and use it in our coffee and tea or not, everyone consumes milk in some way; with vegetables, in pastry, products coming from milk, butter, cheese, butter, milk, cream etc.
How many folks do you know that argue that they never drink milk and have no use for it whatever? But are they the healthiest after all? Next to bread, we would consider milk, "the staff of life." It is a noteworthy fact that children fed on milk are seldom puny and thin, while we often see pale faces, and haggard expressions on those who do not drink it. Let's consume more of it, this boon to good health.

Coconut Balls
Whip the whites of an egg stiff, stir in enough confectioner's sugar to make a smooth paste, afterward add sufficient coconut to readily roll with the hands. Knead until the coconut is thoroughly mixed with the sugar, make into little balls, and again roll in coconut.
Old-Fashioned Horehound Candy
1-4 square pressed horehound, 1 cup boiling water, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 1/4 teaspoon of cream of tartar. Pour water over horehound and let it stand 1 minute in covered dish, then strain into saucepan with sugar and cream of tartar. Remove sugar from sides of pan with a fondant, boil about 30 minutes, or until brittle, when dropped into cold water. Do not stir but skim if necessary. Pour into buttered pan. Mark in squares.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

By Mrs. Oscar Brantley of Detroit
If you have any momentous question regarding your person, your love affairs—any matter pertaining to the heart, write and ask for advice in the matter. It will be given you free of charge by Mrs. Oscar Brantley of Detroit, Michigan. Address your letters to The Delta Reporter, make them anonymous, if you choose not to have your name disclosed. Mrs. Brantley's answer to your query will appear in the following issue.

Mrs. Brantley, while not an elderly woman, has had considerable experience in life, and is capable of giving sound and valuable advice on any question you may have.
Mrs. Brantley—I am a girl from Rapid River, I suppose you have never heard of the place, (it isn't on the map). Anyway, it's about 8 miles from Gladstone, where the Reporter is published. To come to the point, I would like your suggestion regarding some way to clear my skin. I am troubled with facial eruptions, and would be much obliged if you would give me your advice in the matter. I have used several preparations without success, and I am about to give up hope.
Anxious.
Give up hope. Anxious? Never do that regardless of what comes or goes, and I don't only mean this concerning skin eruptions, I would suggest that you revise your diet. I think perhaps you are eating too much meat of a greasy nature, pork for instance, too much pastry, candy and confectionery goods. Are you not? Eat green vegetables now while they are in season, plenty of milk dishes, fruits and salads then look to your mode of living and see if you are getting the proper amount of exercise daily, out of door recreation and sleep. All these are concerned, I feel certain that you will meet with favorable results.

Mrs. Oscar Brantley—Dear Madam, There is a picnic spot near our town called Maywood Campers go there, and it is the scene of many nightly roasts and daytime picnics. We have to row over there across Bay de Noc, and by the time we get the fire started and the party going it is already a late hour. I seldom arrive home from such parties before one o'clock in the morning. My mother thinks this hour altogether too late to get home from any doings, and she does not favor these nightly roasts at Maywood. Do you think those parties are proper? There are usually eight or nine couples present. We have a big "feed" and sing songs etc. Also don't you think one o'clock alright to get home from a roast? If we came any earlier we wouldn't have any time to spend there. Please answer soon. I will be awaiting your reply next Friday. B. L. K.
Dear B. L. K.—Whatever your duties are next day, you cannot fulfill them to the best of your ability if you have arrived home at one o'clock that morning. I am not prejudiced against roasts and outdoor picnics at all. In fact, I prefer them to the ball room myself, although that of course is but a matter of taste. You have been rather indefinite in telling me about your particular parties.

Supposing you row to Maywood in 20 minutes. You can leave home at 7:00 and we will allow till 7:30 to arrive at your picnic site. By 8:00 you should have the fire started and your lunch prepared, then till nine to ponder over your "feed," and revive the campfire. From nine until one o'clock, four hours, I hardly believe "songs, etc." would amuse you for that length of time. No, you can see for yourself that these parties can be held and you can still go home before one o'clock. You should leave the camping site in time to reach your home by 11 or 11:30 at the very latest.

Dear Mrs. Brantley—I am confronted with the usual problem of the girl in the small town, no opportunities, and yet my parents do not want me to go to the "city" and to tell the truth, I do not really care to go although I know the advantages for me there would be greater. I would not hesitate to take the step regardless of my desire to stay with my parents. I have had only an eighth grade education. There is little I can do besides house work here, and I feel that if I were in a larger city, I could at least get a clerking job in some of the big department stores. Don't suggest my going to high school, because I am 20 years old, and could not possibly think of going there at my age when everyone in the class would be several years my junior. What do you think I should do? My parents need my help

Pasteurized milk is the better way to feed children. Pasteurized milk has everything needed in the diet. It is a complete mixed diet in itself. Think of the value of having one food which supplies all the necessary elements of a good mixed diet—and which at the same time can be used without special preparation.

WHAT OTHERS ARE THINKING

This week's question: TO WHAT EXTENT DO YOU CONSIDER TOURIST TRAFFIC A BOON TO GLADSTONE?

I think the money left here by the tourists is the biggest element in the tourist traffic. A goodly sum is left here every day and in neighboring villages. It is something that local people should ester to, because it is cash business. It isn't nearly as much trouble as your local business as a usual thing. In regard to charging a fee for the use of the park, I would not endorse the step. Tourist camps should be free of charge. Of course there are lots of places throughout the country charging, but when they are doing so, it ceases to be a public park. School Craft County tried it, and revoked the fee after seven days, in which time it was proved to them, that it was very unpopular. At the Fair Ground Park in Marquette the keeper refused to make collections that had been levied. H. H. Albin

In conversing with one tourist from Detroit the other day, he remarked to me that we have the prettiest and best equipped park of any city he had visited throughout Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, and other cities in our state. I certainly consider such a reputation a boon to Gladstone. Tourists going through help a town to a great extent. They stop for food, clothing, and the needs of their cars.

HENRY BREAUULT.

Tourist traffic is especially a benefit to a town when that town has a well equipped and inviting park as Gladstone can boast of. Travelers stop then, and we get the trade that otherwise would go to Escanaba, Manistique, the Sault, and other places in the vicinity. Tourist traffic means travel, and the exchange of ideas which benefits socially and financially. They are forced to purchase the necessities of life while they camp in the park. I do not believe a fee should be charged. By so doing, we would lose the purpose for which the park was made. If children tourist parks should be free throughout the country. To a certain extent the park would cease to be an asset to our town if a fee were charged. We would be in care of the campers while they sojourned here. If children molested them, or stole tires etc. we would have to take the responsibility upon ourselves.

PHIL HUPPY

Tourist traffic is a great help when in the gas and oil business, and I am of the opinion that it benefits the city in many other ways. It helps the merchant in all lines of business. It advertises a town, especially when the town has a good tourist resort like we have. It certainly has been a big step toward "putting Gladstone on the map." I think it would be alright to charge when the parties camp over night, but not for just a meal or a daytime stay.

JOHN P. STRAND.

Good roads please the tourist, and I think they are responsible for them coming even more than a well equipped park. As far as the money they spend as much as folks think they do. Tourists are not a class of people that do a lot of spending as a general rule.

Our roads should be improved here and in the vicinity. As they are tourist traffic is not helping them. We should build concrete roads. They would not be constantly needing repairs, and travel would not injure them.

I don't favor charging a fee for the use of the park. It is as much of a help to local people as to the tourist. There are lots of picnic parties there of home town folks, and we make more use of the accommodations than do the tourists.

MRS. A. C. REESE.

Tourists as a rule have plenty of money, and are prepared to spend it in every town in which they stop. A well equipped park is the big thing in getting them to stop. I think it would be a good idea to charge a small fee, just enough to cover the expenses of the park. It should not be made a money proposition, but I believe the upkeep of the park should come from the tourists. I know if I were touring, I would be glad to pay a small fee for the use of a park as well equipped as our local one.

I have observed that when a party of tourists camp at the park, they come in town, and patronize the business places. When they stay over night, they often stock up on groceries for the road.

L. W. STADE.

I think trade is the biggest asset of the tourist traffic. It gives the local restaurants added business. In passing them about, lunch hour, one can always see four or five tourists' cars parked in front. The larger the business of the restaurants, the greater that of the grocery stores. Another concern that thrives on tourist business is the gas and oil stations.

Through trade a town becomes prosperous, and that is what we need.

BLANCHE BERRY.

 "Station WAP. 8-6-25.

This message is sent from Etah, Greenland, less than twelve degrees from the North Pole. Temperature of water twenty eight degrees. It freezes at twenty seven our Little Johnsons have performed almost miracles. They have been the only means of towing our heavy raft often loaded with twelve tons moving our gasoline oil and supplies to shore, towing our planes with the rafts ashore to have wings mounted, moving planes from shore to moorings etc. Today I gave them a clean test when I towed two walrus I had shot and harpooned to harbor at one time, the bull walrus weighed twenty-five hundred pounds and the cow walrus fourteen hundred pounds. True we did not make much speed but with this enormous dead load that could not be helped though I knew Johnson's when I used them for my yacht Zenith, but appreciate them more in this fairland of ice in the Arctic.
