FRANK GLOBICK OF THIS CITY WAS ON HIS WAY TO CAMP AT TIME

DEAD HERE YESTERDAY

Frank Globick, a well known jobber of the vicinity met his death when his car skidded and turned over near Blaney, 30 miles north of Manistique Monday.

The catastrophe occurred about ten o'clock Monday morning. Globick was with two men, and Mrs. Matt Orinyar, who he was taking to the State Lumber camp a little further north to employ. The storm of the night before had made the roads slippery, and travel dangerous. He was driving a Studebaker touring car. Striking the ditch, the car turned over once, throwing all but Globick out of danger. He was found planned under the seat dead. His head was severely cut by the windshield. His neck was broken, and face badly mutilated.

The other occupants escaped with but slight injuries. An inquest was conducted by Coroner N. F. Kofasov of Manistique, after which the body was removed to the Swenson Undertaking parlors of this city for preparation for burial.

The deceased had been making his home at the home of his brother Anthony Globick of this city, at the corner of Eleventh and Main. His remains were taken there and laid in state till Thursday at which time the funeral was held from the home. An Austrian Lodge of which Mr. Globick was a member took charge of the funeral. The headquarters of the organization is at Iron Mountain with members at Escanaba, and a local group who attended the funeral in a body. Burial was made in Fernwood cemetery.

PHEASANTS PLANTED BY STATE ARE PROTECTED

The uselessness of a law of any kind or a law, without any agency to enforce it, is shown in the recent planting back of Kipling of two crates of pheasants received from the state farm at Mason. The law decrees a closed season on these birds but reports are to the effect that the birds had not long been released when at least some of them were killed to provide some law-breaker with a good feed. There were 30 pheasants in the shipment received from the state and these were planted by Leonard Clapp in accordance with instructions from the Conservation Department. The birds are not very wild and consequently it requires little hunting skill to destroy them. It is impossible to keep some one on the watch for law-breakers but residents in the district back of Kipling, and those who frequent the fields and woods, are appealed to for protection for the birds. Let alone, it is believed that in time the numbers will multiply at which time hunting will be permitted. Violators of the law who are apprehended will be severely dealt with. Some of the offenders are known to be boys, but their age will not excuse them.

She explained the workings of such an organization, the things it is to do to make it a success, and its indispensability. She emphasized the important points in the organization and its success as depending on the personal activity of its officers and members.

The object of the organization, is to have both the school and the home work together for the good of the child. Where the association is organized, the Council which comes after the separate units have been formed, collaborates with the Board of Education in providing things that the school cannot and the school would otherwise be without. The meeting Monday was a continuation of a preliminary meeting held at Tuesday of last week at which Mr. Teague explained to a group of interested parents the object and purpose of such an organization. A standard constitution will be adopted and the association will become a member of both state and national organizations which in return sends out helps and literature that will be of assistance. It is set that to be a fault finding, institution, but to study each other's problems to that end of bringing co-operation between the school and the home.

SLEET STORM DOES CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE

The sleet storm of Sunday night was responsible for much havoc and devastation in the vicinity. Telephone poles and wires stretched across roads in several instances. It is reported that on M-1215 between Gladstone and Rapid River 12 telephone poles were blown down. Most of the damage fell on the Michigan Bell Telephone Company. The city workers were called out at one o'clock, and had completed their share of it by noon on Monday. Most of the trouble with which the city had to deal was with the high voltage wires. The shifting of telephone lines caused this disturbance. Up on still Tuesday many local telephone lines were out of order and the service not up to the usual standard.

BELL RINGERS TAKE AUDIENCE BY STORM

All the wealth of poetic fantasy and imagery of song which has been woven about the ringing of bells has failed to come up to the productions of the Scandinavian Bell Ringers who appeared at the Junior High school auditorium Saturday night under the auspices of the Swedish Mission church. Garbed in the attire of their native Swedish province, the five members of this organization, which is conceded to be one of the most proficient of its kind in the country, produced their melodies with rhythm and grace of movement. Classical and semi-classical selections vied for popularity on the program with humble American and Swedish folk songs which were played with spirit, and as skillfully as if rendered by a single musician on a more facile instrument. Numbers by local talent were given during the intermission of the bell ringers' selections. A crowd which filled the auditorium almost to capacity attended the performance. LOCALS MEET FIRST DEFEAT OF SEASON

The High School football team was scored on for the first time in this season in the clash with the Ishpeming "11" last Saturday on the Ishpeming field that ended in a score of 22-6. The locals were on the defensive throughout the first half and unable to gain ground. The period was marked by fumbles and all around sleepy playing on the part of Gladstone. Ishpeming made their first touchdown when Argall at R. End made a touchdown on a blocked Gladstone punt. Gladstone repeatedly fumbled, and completed only one pass for a small gain. Luoma scored for Ishpeming when he covered a blocked punt. Another point was made by the competitors on a pretty kick. Shortly before the end of the first half, Ishpeming made their second touchdown when MacDougall caught a pass, and ran for a good gain, followed by Argall for a short run to the goal posts. In the second half, the locals rallied, and played the Ishpeming men even. Nell Reese ran forty yards on the kick-off. A pass carried over by MacDougall netted Ishpeming their third touchdown. The locals were on the kick for the additional point making their score 22. Gladstone succeeded in making their only score on a touchdown on a pretty pass from Norvus to Fildes.

STATE APPEALED TO FOR RELIEF AGAINST WOLVES

HOUGHTON COUNTY FARMER SAYS HIS SHEEP ARE BEING DESTROYED

URGES MORE TRAPPERS

Declaring that wolves are making heavy inroads on his livestock, John Cassabine, owner of a large sheep ranch in Duncan township, Houghton county, has appealed to the state department of conservation for more protection, suggesting that a larger force of state trappers be employed. He writes as follows to the state department of conservation: "I regret very much to inform you that heavy inroads are being made upon my sheep by the presence of a great many predatory animals, mostly wolves and coyotes, at Kenton, in Duncan township. "During the regime of an organization perfected by Mr. Ligon and later extended and maintained by Mr. Deemer, now being transferred, this menace was reduced to a minimum and for the past four years I have been comparatively free from this trouble, but under existing conditions, my losses are piling up alarmingly. "Sam Bennett, the present state hunter, has a record of 50 wolves since the first of August. These wolves were destroyed by Mr. Bennett, working alone. This will give you some idea of the great number of wolves there are in my vicinity. "This menace strikes vitally at the heart of my business existence, and unless something is done, it will compel me to leave this country at a great loss. "I hope, therefore, that you will advise me by early mail that you have taken the necessary steps to relieve me of this predicament."

SNOW STORM PLAYS HAVOC WITH LINES

A heavy snow blast and wind storm sweeping through here early Monday morning did considerable damage to the telephone and electric lines, interrupting the telephone service all day Monday while the electric service was restored at noon of the same day.

The storm was the most severe ever experienced at this time of the year, breaking down a number of shade trees about town and sending most every one hurriedly to close their windows. A number of telephone poles were blown down between the German Lutheran church and the Pooch bridge. Several other poles fell near the Hamilton corner. The poles on the north side of the trunk line M-12 fell into the dangerous.

The new electric line being constructed from Masonville following M-12, suffered to some extent, a few poles being blown down but as this work is not completed, the electric current is still coming over the south-east route following the Soo line track. The break in the electric service was caused by a broken wire near Masonville. The telephone repair crew labored all day Monday re-stringing and splicing the tangled wires so that by Monday evening service was again restored.

A number of minor and near accidents have been reported by motorists returning from the dance at Moss Lake. The wet snow would cling to the windshield and headlights making the vision obscure and the driving very difficult.

CEMENT WORK AT TOWN HALL COMPLETED

Contractor Christiansen completed the cement work at the town hall on Wednesday working during the past two weeks under very unfavorable weather conditions. The cement floor presents a very creditable appearance and the south side has been made and a cement driveway made there so that the tractor may be kept inside of the hall. The tractor will be used during the winter for snow plowing and it is necessary that it be kept where it is warm and where it may be taken care of after each trip. The work of installing new windows and doors will now be rushed to completion now so that the fire trucks may be returned to their former places. They are at present kept in the large shed in the rear of the town hall but the cold nights make it a rather poor place to have them in case of fire.

A small room will be built in the northeast corner of the hall for the sleeping quarters of the night-watch, Charles Rabideau.

ANNUAL MEETING OF CREAMERY DIRECTORS

"40 HOURS" WELL ATTENDED

In spite of the inclement weather of Sunday and Monday evenings a well filled church listened to the very beautiful sermons delivered by Rev. Fr. Sebastian Mader of Gladstone on Sunday evening and Rev. Fr. Alphonse Couillard of Perkins on Monday evening. Rev. Fr. Stehlin of Escanaba, assisted at the services on Sunday evening and Rev. Fr. Mader returned to assist on Monday evening. Quite a number from Gladstone and Perkins attended the services both evenings. This is the first time in the history of the St. Charles church that Forty Hour Devotional services have been held and it is to be hoped now that it may be made an annual affair.

The altar was beautiful with its profusion of cut flowers and with the recent repairs made to the interior of the church, many praises of its beauty were heard. The repairs are now complete except for the stained glass windows that are expected at any time. The windows will beautify the church many times over. The lighting fixtures were used for the first time Sunday evening and are very beautiful.

Such was the message contained in a box of MI Lola cigars sent to Frank Gravelle immediately following the deciding game of the world series. With ten of his friends and base ball idols, Mr. Gravelle tuned in on the last game of the series receiving the game direct from the playing field. The reception of the last game was also the other six, clear and could be heard throughout the room. The final game is now history but to add insult to injury, salt to the wounds, or whatever figure of speech should be used is beyond Mr. Gravelle. He only regrets that he has not the figure of a Jack Dempsey for then no speech would be necessary. The cigars are being smoked but as the smoke curls upwards, bitter memories of that struggle come before him. But...

CHAPTER XVIII

A Supper Party at the "Savoy."
The supper party given by Mr. Julius Herbsheimer to a few friends on the evening of the 20th will long be remembered in catering circles. It took place in a private room, and Mr. Herbsheimer's orders were brief and forcible. He gave carte blanche—and when a millionaire gives carte blanche he usually gets it!

The list of guests was small and select. The American ambassador, Mr. Carter, who had taken the liberty, he said, of bringing an old friend, Sir William Bessborough, with him, Archdeacon Cowley, Dr. Hall, these two youthful adventurers, Miss Prudence Cowley and Mr. Thomas Bessborough, and last, but not least, as guest of honor, Miss Jane Finn.

To most people the 20th, the much-heralded "Labor Day," had passed much as any other day. Speeches were made in the Park and Trafalgar square. Straggling processions, straggling the "Red Flag," wandered through the streets in a more or less aimless manner. Newspapers which had hinted at a general strike, and the inauguration of a reign of terror, were forced to hide their diminished heads. The bold and more astute among them sought to prove that peace had been effected by following their councils. In the Sunday papers a brief notice of the sudden death of Sir James Peel Edgerton, the famous K. C., had appeared. Monday's paper dealt appreciatively with the dead man's career. The exact manner of his sudden death was never made public.

Tommy had been right in his forecast of the situation. It had been a one-man show. Deprived of their chief, the organization fell to pieces. Kramnick had made a precipitate return to Russia, leaving Bessborough on Sunday morning. The gang had fled from Astley Priory in a panic, leaving behind, in their haste, various damaging documents which compromised them hopelessly. With these papers of conspiracy in their hands, aided further by a small brown diary taken from the pocket of the dead man which had contained a full and damning resume of the whole plot, the government had called an eleventh-hour conference. The labor leaders were forced to recognize that they had been used as a cat's-paw. Certain concessions were made by the government, and were eagerly accepted. It was to be Peace, not War!

But the cabinet knew by how narrow a margin they had escaped utter disaster. And hence, on Mr. Carter's brain was the strange case which had taken place in the house in Soho the night before.

He had entered the small room to find that great man, the friend of a lifetime, dead—betrayed out of his own mouth. From the dead man's pocketbook he had retrieved the ill-famed draft treaty, and then and there, in the presence of the other three, it had been reduced to ashes.

England was awed!

And now, on the evening of the 20th, in a private room at the Savoy, Mr. Julius P. Herbsheimer was receiving his guests.

Soon the supper party was in full swing, and with one accord Tommy was called upon for a full and complete explanation.

"Tommy's been the goods this trip! And, instead of sitting there as dumb as a fish, let him brandish his blusher, and tell us all about it."

"Here! here!"

"There's nothing to tell," said Tommy, acutely uncomfortable. "I was as awful mad—right up to the time I found that photograph of Annetta, and realized that she was Jane Finn. Then I remembered how persistently she had shouted out that word 'Marsquerde'—and I thought of the pictures, and—well, that's that. Then of course I went over the whole thing to see where I'd made an ass of myself."

"Go on," said Mr. Carter, as Tommy showed signs of taking refuge in silence once more.

"That business about Mrs. Vandemeyer had worried me when Julius told me about it. On the face of it, it seemed that he or Sir James must have done the trick. But I didn't know which. Finding that photograph in the drawer, after that story of how it had been got from him by Inspector Brown, made me suspect Julius. Then I remembered that it was Sir James who had discovered the false Jane Finn. In the end, I couldn't make my my mind—and just decided to take no chances either way. I left a note for Julius in case he was Mr. Brown, saying I was off to the Argentine, and I dropped Sir James' letter with the offer of the job by the desk so that he would see it was genuine stuff. Then I wrote my letter to Mr. Carter and to Sir James. And then I got a hugus note from Tuppence—and I knew!"

"But how?"

Tommy took the note in question from his pocket and passed it round the table.

"It's her handwriting all right, but I knew it wasn't from her because of the signature. She'd never spell her name 'Tuppence,' but anyone who'd never seen it written might quite easily do so. Julius had seen it—he showed me a note of hers to him once—but Sir James hadn't! After that everything was plain sailing. I sent off Albert post-haste to Mr. Carter. I pretended to go away, but doubled back again. When Julius came bursting up in his car, I felt it wasn't part of Mr. Brown's plan—and that there would probably be trouble. Unless Sir James was actually caught in the act, so to speak, I knew Mr. Carter would never believe it at his on my unsupported word—"I didn't," interposed Mr. Carter, ruefully.

"That's why I sent the girls off to Sir James. I was sure they'd fetch up at the house in Soho sooner or later. I threatened Julius with the revolver, because I wanted Tuppence to repeat that to Sir James, so that he wouldn't worry about us. The moment the girls were out of sight I told Julius to drive his—ll for London, and as we went along I told him the whole story. We got to the Soho house in plenty of time and met Mr. Carter outside. After arranging things with him we went in and hid behind the curtain in the recess. The policeman had orders to say that they were asked, that no one had gone into the house. That's all."

And Tommy came to an abrupt halt. There was silence for a moment.

"By the way," said Julius suddenly, "you're all wrong about that photograph of Jane. It was taken from me, but I found it again."

"Where?" cried Tuppence.

"In that little safe on the wall in Mrs. Vandemeyer's bedroom."

"We all kept back something or other," said Tuppence, thoughtfully. "I suppose secret service work makes you like that?"

Mr. Carter rose to his feet.

"I will give you a toast. The John Venturo, which has so amply justified itself by success!"

It was drunk with acclamation.

"There's something more we want to hear," continued Mr. Carter. He looked at the American ambassador. "I speak for you also, I know. We'll ask Miss Jane Finn to tell us the story that only Miss Tuppence has heard so far—but before we do, so we'll drink her health. The health of one of the bravest of America's daughters, to whom we do the thanks and gratitude of two great countries!"

CHAPTER XIX

And After.

"That was a mighty good toast, Jane," said Mr. Herbsheimer, as he and his cousin were being driven back in the Belle-Noyce to the Ritz.

"The one to the John Venturo?"

"No—the one to you. There isn't another girl in the world who could have carried it through as you did. You were just wonderful!"

Jane shook her head.

"I don't feel wonderful. At heart I'm just tired and lonesome—and long for the my own country."

WRIGLEY'S
AFTER EVERY MEAL
THE FLAVOR LASTS
Probably one reason for the popularity of WRIGLEY'S is that it lasts so long and remains such great dividends for so small an outlay. It keeps teeth clean, breath sweet, appetite keen, digestion good. Fresh and full-flavored always in its wax-wrapped package.

"That brings me to something I wanted to say. I heard the ambassador telling you his wife hoped you would come to them at the embassy right away. That's good enough, but I've got another plan. Jane—I want you to marry me! Don't get scared and say no to me. You can't love me right away, of course, that's impossible. But I've loved you from the very moment I set eyes on your photo—and now I've seen you I'm simply crazy about you! If you'll only marry me, I won't worry you any—you shall take your own time. Maybe you'll never come to love me, and if that's the case I'll manage to set you free. But I want the right to look after you and take care of you."

"Oh, Julius!"

"Well, I don't want to hustle you, Jane, but there's no sense in waiting about. Don't be scared—I shan't expect you to love me all at once. But a small hand was slipped into his."

"I love you now, Julius," said Jane Finn. "I loved you the first moment in the car when the bullet grazed your cheek. . . ."

In the meantime the Young Adventurers were sitting bolt upright, very stiff and ill at ease, in a taxi.

They sat very straight and forebore to look at each other.

At last Tuppence made a desperate effort.

"Rather fun, wasn't it?"

"Rather," said Julius.

"Another silence."

"I like Julius," essayed Tuppence again.

Tommy was suddenly galvanised into life.

"It has been fun, hasn't it, Tommy? I do hope we shall have lots more adventures."

"You're insatiable, Tuppence. I've had quite enough adventures for the present."

"Well, shopping is almost as good," said Tuppence, dreamily. "Think of buying old furniture, and bright carpets, and futuristic silk curtains, and a polished dining table, and a divan with lots of cushions—"

"Hold hard," said Tommy. "What's all this for?"

"Possibly a house—but I think a flat."

"Whose flat?"

"You think I mind saying it, but I don't in the least." Ours so there!"

"You darling!" cried Tommy, his arms tightly round her. "I was determined to make you say it. I owe you something for the relentless way you've squashed me whenever I've tried to be sentimental."

Tuppence raised her face to his. The taxi proceeded on a course round the north side of Regent's park.

"You haven't really proposed now," pointed out Tuppence. "Not what our grandmothers would call a proposal. But after listening to a rotten one like Julius's, I'm inclined to let you off."

"You won't be able to get out of marrying me, so don't you think of it."

"What fun it will be," responded Tuppence. "Marriage is called all sorts of things, a haven, and a refuge, and a crowning glory, and a state of bondage, and I think more. But do you know what I look for?"

"What?"

"A sport!"

"And a d-d good sport, too," said Tommy.

[THE END.]

A Happy Marriage

A successful marriage is one where the wife is boss and doesn't know it. As the parting instructions were being given, the fresh young saleswoman picked up his bag and started on his initial trip. "Good luck to you," said his chief; "wire us important news."

The following day this message was received: "Reached here safely, good room with bath, feeling fine."

The manager wires back: "So glad, love and kisses, good bye."

WHAT OTHERS ARE THINKING

THIS WEEKS QUESTION WHAT IS YOUR OUTLOOK FOR THE BUSINESS CONDITIONS FOR THE WINTER?

O. H. ANDERSON
In my opinion, business conditions are improving. The last five weeks has seen a decided picking up, and a gradual increase in business. I think the situation this winter will be alright and money will not be as tight as it has been for some time past.

The business world has been poorly situated now for some time, and it is about time that things pick up. From all reports I have read regarding the condition, indications are that there is to be a change. All business houses feel the revived conditions already, more money is being invested and I think a live state of affairs is in store for all of us.

E. M. JOHNSON
As far as I can see, times are not improving. There's nothing promising in store. Last year we thought we were going to have a good winter, and we got fooled. We know the true situation now, and we didn't then. On account of the election, we all felt optimistic, but this fall, we haven't got anything to look forward to. Things may improve. We are hoping they do, and will earnestly welcome better conditions but I haven't seen any chance yet. Just from general observations, anyone will note that business is not upward bound just at present.

P. J. BAKER
I think times are going to be better from what I hear on all sides, and I surely hope so, as I think everyone does. In my business it makes little difference although most businesses are affected by the financial conditions of the country. For a long time, we have had a difficult situation with which to deal, and I earnestly hope we are in store for a loosening up of things. Folks seem to have money for their pleasures, cars, and etc., and when it comes to the downright necessities they are lacking.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Hill Oct. 19.

CITY COMPLETES STORM WATER DRAINS

The city street department has completed the construction of approximately 150 feet of storm water drains at the foot of Central Avenue to connect with the newly constructed basins at the corner of Montana and Central Avenue, and at the foot of 10th street near the Bay Shore Road.

These will solve the drainage problem which has been standing since the street pavement roadway was constructed several years ago. At the time of the road construction no provisions were made for taking care of the storm water in these intersections. With every rain, puddles of water gather and remain standing for some time. During the winter at these places, there is ice making travel dangerous.

THE DELTA

NEW MIX FILM IS SWIFT PHOTOPLAY OF NORTHWEST
Beautiful Yosemite Valley, in all its white blanketed splendor, is the principal background for the latest Tom Mix picture, "The Rainbow Trail," which opened its engagement at the Lyric theater. Against this panoramic vision is enacted one of the finest and most thrilling stories of the Northwest that it has ever been Mix' good fortune to put on the screen.

"The Rainbow Trail" by Zane Grey is the sequel to "Riders of the Purple Sage" and the same bloodthirsting action of the last Mix production is present even more emphatically in this one.

LEADING LADIES IN SUPPORTING CAST
Two well known leading ladies, one of whom has been starred in her own right and the other almost as well known, support Patsy Ruth Miller in the last Elmer Harris Production, "The Girl on the Stairs," which comes to the Community theater next Saturday. They are Arline Pretty and Shannon Day. The former has been starred or featured in several productions of worth, while the latter, whose screen career dates back only a few months, is already recognized as one of the foremost ingenue leads. "The Girl on the Stairs" is an original adaptation by Harris of Winston Bouie's magazine story of the same name and was directed under his personal supervision by William Worthington.

HEALTH FOLLOWS

THE LOWER NERVE UNDER THE MAGNIFYING GLASS IS PINCHED BY A MISALIGNED JOINT. PINCHED NERVES CANNOT TRANSMIT HEALTHFUL IMPULSES. CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTING REMOVES THE PRESSURE. THE UPPER NERVE IS FREE AS NATURE INTENDS.

Ages Make No Difference

Age makes no difference in the application of Chiropractic Spinal adjustments. The infant of seven days and the adult of seventy years alike respond to skillfully applied adjustments when defective nerve transmission causes disease.

In infancy, when most people think adjustments would be least effective, they actually accomplish the most. Conditions which seem all but absolutely hopeless yield readily, and diseases which often have after-effects leave without a trace.

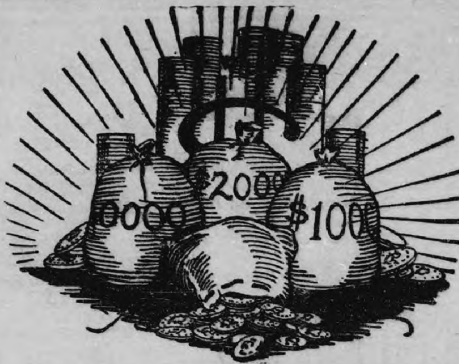

Interference with nerve transmission occurs as often in childhood as in maturity. In childhood the potentialities for evil are greater. That is why every ill of childhood should be brought promptly to the attention of your chiropractor.

A LITTLE CHILD MADE WELL
"Our little girl when three months old became abnormal in looks and actions. She began to lose weight and vitality, was pale and anemic and developed an abnormal shaped stomach. After five months of experimenting with one thing and another without any results, and our little one gradually withering away, we decided to try Chiropractic. Adjustments were started and our little girl showed a marked improvement from the start; she gained rapidly in every way. Little Louise now has health, and we have only the highest praise for Chiropractic."—W. C. Henderson, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 2086-K.

Memories—Rapid River

(Rapid River locals Oct. 21, 1926)
During the progress of the dance Tuesday an interruption occurred. Mrs. O'Connell, who lives across the way, appeared in her night dress, and asked assistance to extinguish a fire in her home. Headed by Dr. Gleason, the fire brigade crossed the street and extinguished the blaze, which had originated from the chimney, in a minute or two. The barn was small, although one gallant fireman was badly damaged by water.

The keys of Walter Dimmock are now in care of Deputy Sheriff Hill. Wm. McGee claims to have found them Saturday night by his gate, near which the murder occurred. The keys show no signs of having been in the weather over night, as they are bright, not rusty.

SCHOLARLY SQUIBBLES

Although 224 isn't such a favorable score, they tell us it was a good game, anyway. The few fans that attended report that the impending climate isn't at all tropical. We play Munster here this Saturday and as there are so few home games, a big turn out is expected.

The Senior Hi enjoyed their semi-monthly assembly very much last Wednesday. Mr. Strickland addressed the assembly, briefly reviewing the Teacher's Institute held at Houghton October 8 & 9.

The Public Speaking Class has been working on debates this week. They have organized two teams; the captains of the affirmatives being Charlotte Marble and George Prais, and those of the negatives, Anna Quarnstrom and Bob Noreus. The debates will take place sometime soon. These will be preliminary to the Inter-school debates. The question to be debated is the proposed Child Labor amendment.

The Whites have won and now it's up to the Purples to entertain at that long looked forward to party, for which plans are now under way, although nothing definite has been arrived at.

During the campaign, the ticket sellers discovered various types of people. Some of these are:

1. That's going to be away for the first number so do not think it would be practical to take advantage of the season ticket proposition.
2. That has always bought tickets before, but who has never been able to go.
3. That wasn't satisfied with last year's course.
4. That can't get anyone to take care of the children.
5. That will send the little boy or girl up, if they decide to buy.
6. That will "help us out" if the class seems to be going in the hole.
7. That will go, if "so and so" does.
8. That will not buy a season ticket but will (without a doubt) attend the numbers on single admission tickets.
9. That never goes to things like that—(and who probably never will).
10. That can get a better program on their radio, gratis.
11. That slams the door in their faces.
12. And last, but by no means least, the type that with enthusiastic loyalty and optimistic confidence supports us in our efforts to get something worth while before the community. We appreciate them! ! ! !

Two hikes have been held this week, both successful, to say the least. The Senior Hi Hikers went up the North Hill, Thursday night after school and cooked their supper. The Junior hikers brought in a little variety by taking a morning hike to Terrace Gardens Saturday.

The Juniors have finally formulated plans for their entertainment. So far, their inspirations have ranged from dramatic productions and matinees to ice cream socials and rummage sales.

Just now, the general idea seems to be that of a Junior Frolic or Boala. At least we hope this is final, for we positively refuse to give any more of our valuable space to their flimsy schemes. Nevertheless, the Boala promises to be a big success from every standpoint.

Our librarian, Miss Henderson was absent Friday on account of illness. Some of her able assistants, efficiently tended the library during her absence.

June Woodhall celebrated her birthday anniversary on Thursday of this week. We would suggest that you practice this latest hit on your piano to sing when any of your friends have a birthday.

Happy birthday to you
Happy birthday to you
Happy birthday dear June,
Happy birthday to you

Another interesting fact has come to our notice. Mr. Teague celebrated his birthday a week ago, Monday, Oct. 22.

It is hoped that some action will be taken on the suggestion which was put before the School Board recently to the effect that, either a railing be constructed around the platform in the assembly room or that the said platform be extended indefinitely. The motion arose, due to the fact, that members of the H. S. orchestra are becoming afraid that their leader will lose his equilibrium, with dangerous consequences.

"We all Make Mistakes
Some little thought and time is being devoted to the forming of effective plans which it is hoped will help provide some measure of protection to the poor defenseless man of today. Even in our own select school of well bred ladies and refined gentlemen, we have had a daring and dreadful example of the increasing brazenness of the flapper of this period. This incident, referred to, occurred only recently, when a previously well mannered young miss playfully tripped up the second flight in the Senior Hi building, at the top of which one of our instructors was standing facing in the opposite direction. The motive which moved the emboldened miss to playfully pinch her superior, almost causing the latter to collapse, is beyond us.

However we shall say this much in justice to the wayward sophomore which in her own explanation that is, that she has noticed a rather decided resemblance between Mr. Kell and the young man she had in mind on that occasion.

The intensive training which one of our prominent Seniors has received in two summers of the Citizen's Military Training Camp at Custer is becoming most apparent. A conclusive bit of evidence was brought into the limelight last week when George Prais wrote a test in Glee Club. Miss Ahlhaus had prepared a list of musical expressions and George, confounding with them his military terms decided M P (medium soft) stood for Military Police!

THEY HATE TO GIVE IN
"The C. & N. W. Ry. found the results of its cheap excursion from this peninsula to Milwaukee and Chicago sufficiently encouraging to prompt offering another. We don't hear how the Michigan Central excursion to Detroit "panned out." The railroads may as well get some of this money. They are up against automobile competition, and must give way with concessions. The above editorial item is taken from the last issue of the St. Ignace Republican-News. The railroads of the central west seem to have awakened to the fact that they have a real competitor in the transportation line, the automobile. The old, tired-in-the-wool railroad executives who have been sitting tight and letting the public get converted to the bus and auto are back numbers and will either have to give way to more up-to-date men or change their attitude. The Michigan Central and its two co-partners in the ferry at Mackinaw has been the greatest drawback to a closer relation between the two peninsulas by its attitude in not providing facilities for quicker and cheaper travel across the straits during the summer season. Now it seems the state ferries working overtime and adding new boats in order to take care of the traffic which the new accommodations have promoted and which the railroads have lost. The Republican-News is right; the railroads must wake up and concede something if they are going to compete with the auto.—Crystal Falls Diamond Drill.

Curtilment of the dairy improvement work in the Upper Peninsula is threatened by the need of competent cow testers, according to J. G. Wells, Dairy Specialist for the Michigan State College, who is located at Marquette. Thirteen associations are operating in the district, and within the next two months four or five new testers will be needed. The requirements of a tester as given by Mr. Wells, are that he be at least 18 years of age with older men preferred, that he have been raised on a farm and had farm experience in feeding cows, and that he must have studied agriculture in high school or an agricultural school. An excellent opportunity for farm experience is offered to young men, and a good salary is paid. Anyone interested in the work should get in touch with Mr. Wells.

 Report of Probate Judge in regard to Mothers Pension read.
 To the Honorable Chairman and Board of Supervisors, Delta County, Michigan, Oct. 10, 1925.
 Gentlemen—We herewith submit for your information, a list of the Mothers receiving allowances under the mothers Pension law, together with the number of children in each family.
 This report also gives the place of residence of each mother. The total number of mothers is 111; the total number of children is 289; the total number of mothers and children are 400. Payments are made every second or alternate Monday. The last payment, and as it stands at this date, was $1023.50.
 If it is of interest to the members of your board I might state, that the mothers and children and the amount paid are distributed as follows:
 City of Escanaba, number of mothers 65; number of children 138. Amount paid $527.00.
 City of Gladstone, number of mothers 18; number of children 45. Amount paid $141.50.
 In the townships, number of mothers 28; number of children 116. Amount paid $415.00.
 Before any allowance is made, each case is investigated by the County agent and the Supervisor of the township or the city poor commissioner of the city in which the mother may reside. As a rule, we do not grant to exceed the best recommendation. Investigations are also made by the same officers every six months and we are continuing having a report made every quarter.
 The State pays for the services of the County Agent and no charge is made for the investigations made by different supervisors, and City poor Commissioners. We make it a rule that unless these reports are made from the different cities and townships, the allowances are discontinued. We never have discontinued any allowance on account of lack of reports, because the supervisors and the City Poor Commissioners have always cooperated with us and made all investigations and reports promptly.
 If your Board could suggest some method by which a large percentage of these mothers could be furnished with the necessities of life, instead of cash a substantial saving would be made.
 It is my opinion the different supervisors of the township ought to receive some compensation for making the investigations and reports, because it requires considerable time and effort to do this work. I know of no way that they can receive compensation, except from their different townships, and I am sure they are entitled to it.
 The law provides that when an allowance is made, the Judge or Probate shall grant to the first child, not less than $3.00 per week and not more than $30.00 per week, and for each additional child, the Judge or Probate shall grant an allowance of $2.00 per week. You can see from this that if we made the allowances strictly in accordance with the Statute, we would be obliged to give that 289 children $1.81 per week, or $523,819 each week. As a matter of fact, our allowances average $1.81 per week per child for each child. If the mother is included $1.32 per week for each child and mother.

Yours truly,
 JUDG YELLAND.

GET RID OF THAT BACKACHE!

The constant aching of a bad back. The weariness, the tired feeling; Headaches, dizziness, nervousness. Are often signs of failing kidneys. And too serious to be neglected. Get rid of those troubles! Use Doan's Pills stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Hosts of people recommend Doan's. This is a Gladstone case. You can verify it.

John Erickson, prop. barber shop, Delta avenue, residence, 810 Dakota Ave. says: "I had a dull, nagging ache through the small of my back and when I bent over to pick up anything, sharp, cutting pains darted across my kidneys. My kidneys were weak and acted irregularly. I certainly felt miserable and all out of sorts. After using three boxes of Doan's Pills from Erickson & VonTell's Drug Store, I was soon fixed up in good shape."
