COURT TRIES NEW WAY OF DEALING WITH VIOLATORS

JUDGE PAROLE FIRST OFFENDERS WHO FACE STATE PRISON IF THEY REPEAT

JOHNSON AWARDED DAMAGES

Judge Richard C. Flannigan, in dealing with the 13 accused of selling or making moonshine, and who had already pleaded guilty at this term of court, announced that he would try another method of dealing with the offenders against the prohibition law. They were placed on parole on their promise not to engage in the still drink parlor business. If they do not quit the business and are brought before the court on a similar or any other criminal offense during the term of their parole, they understand that their sentence will be not less than six months in Jackson prison.

They are on parole for three years. They must report to Judge Flannigan on the first day of the January term of Delta county circuit court, giving an account of what they have done since accepting the parole under the conditions set forth by the court. Those paroled are: Frank Scanlon, Bert Walker, Frank Coffey, George Peppin, George R. Williams, Alfred Carlson, Ernest Ayyotte, Ray Seaman, Carl Gindson, Alvin Nygard, John LaValley, Arthur Hubert and Conrad Smith.

Two second offenders against the prohibition law, Joseph Oster and Gust Peterson, were each given six month sentences in the county jail. The court gave warning that other second offenders would be sent to state prison.

Joseph Badger, who was held 50 days in jail awaiting trial on a burglary charge, was given a suspended sentence. The case against George Cole was settled out of court. The manslaughter charge against James Christie was put over to the next term.

Arthur Johnson of Gladstone was awarded $300 damages against Lawrence Louis, in his civil suit brought for recovery of damages to his car in an accident with the Louis car on Nov. 2, 1924 at the Moss Lake intersection on M12. The case was brought over two days of the court's time, the jury bringing in its verdict late yesterday afternoon. Attorney Strom appeared for the plaintiff and Attorney Jackson for the defendant.

Another auto damage suit, J. H. Sloan of Masonville, against Joseph Gray of Gladstone, followed the Johnson-Louis trial, and the court announced that it would try the last jury case at this term, the rest of the jury cases being dismissed.

ALL SAINTS BAZAAR TO BE BIG EVENT

CHOP SUEY SUPPER WILL FEATURE FIRST EVENING'S ENTERTAINMENT

Plans are being forward for the annual Bazaar of the All Saints church to be held in the church basement on the evenings of November 2, 3 and 4, next Tuesday and Wednesday.

There will be a number of splendid booths, at which fancy work will be sold. Each ward is planning a booth. They will be elaborately decorated by the ladies in charge. The Girls' Sodality will also sponsor a booth. A parcel post sale will be one of the big features. Packages valued at 25c have been solicited in and outside of town, which unopened will be placed on sale. The fancy work deserves particular attention. The premiums to be given away, for which tickets have been sold, will be awarded to the lucky number holders each evening. J. A. Allo of Escanaba will be the speaker. The Grouse Orchestra, and Midnite Entertainers have been engaged to furnish music both evenings.

The captains of the different wards now at work on the preparations are First Ward, Mrs. A. Thivierge, Second Mrs. S. Sword, Third, Mrs. Thomas McGee, and Fourth, Mrs. LaBelle. It promises to be one of the largest and best Bazaars ever held here.

STUDY RUFFED GROUSE DISEASE

CORNELL UNIVERSITY ASKS SPORTSMEN TO SEND PARTRIDGE RIDGES FOR EXAMINATIONS

During the open season for ruffed grouse in Michigan which began October 23rd, sportsmen will have an opportunity to help in the investigation of diseases of the grouse which have resulted in alarming depletion of this bird during the past year.

The entire digestive tract of birds either shot or found dead should be preserved by sportsmen, and after treatment in formaldehyde, sent to Dr. A. A. Allen, Cornell University, Ithaca, New York by Parcel Post.

Michigan has been hard hit by this grouse disease and the Committee wants a large number of specimens from this state. The only way to see them is by co-operation of the sportsmen.

This investigation is being carried on over the entire grouse range, including the northern part of the United States and Canada. It is a very big undertaking but means everything to the preservation of the ruffed grouse and continuation of the splendid sport of shooting these birds in the years to come.

Mr. William B. Mershon, prominent sportsman and conservationist of this state, is a member of the Committee of the American Game Protective Association which is conducting this investigation. Mr. Mershon points out that Michigan is particularly interested and that as many specimens as possible should be collected and supplied to the scientists doing the laboratory work.

HALLOWE'EN FROLIC AT HIGH TONIGHT

Everything is in readiness for the Halloween Frolic to be held at the High School tonight.

It will open at 7:15 with a basket social. The ladies are to furnish the cats, in attractively decorated baskets if they would secure a partner to share their meal with. The baskets will be auctioned off, by some able voiced man.

All the side shows that go with a Carnival have been arranged. The Chamber of Horrors, and a Trip to Hades are examples. There will be plenty of other attractions of the kind which will be interesting to all.

The public is cordially invited to attend. Posters picturing the different spectacular features have been placed in many prominent places around town, and a good attendance is looked for.

J. P. Mallongree made a business trip to Foster City Sunday.

Our Reporter Observes...

THAT folks are putting up their storm windows, and in some cases doors and sheds to protect themselves from the wintry blasts soon to be forthcoming.

THAT the short partridge season makes the demand on the bird still greater, hunters in large numbers filling the woods Sunday for their share.

THAT parties are in vogue as one means of celebrating the Halloween season.

THAT we need a chicken pound similar to the Cow pound of days gone by to house the unruly hens that roam the yards unmolested.

THAT folks who are always wanting a voice in school matters should come to the front now and make their say in the Parent-Teachers' Association.

THAT new folks have become quite popular, so much so, that we don't take any special note of them anymore.

THAT the familiar cry wintry days is being our us as a challenge to make our smiles even broader, and to provide the necessary sunshine.

THAT we hear 'bout lots of folks 'putting up their stoves' and amusing themselves by trying to match stove pipes, and get the thing straight on the base.

HUNTERS, SAVE THE WOODS!

With the autumn hunting season getting under way in the Northwest and in the South, the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture, issues an appeal to all sportsmen to guard against forest fires.

Ordinarily, say forestry officials, a great number of devastating forest fires are caused each fall by hunters. These fires not only destroy valuable timber but also the better forms of game animals, and thereby defeat the plans of the hunters themselves.

INJURED TRAINMAN THREATENS CITY WITH $5,000 SUIT

ED MOORE SAYS ELECTRIC WIRES OVER 800 TRACKS WERE PLACED TOO LOW

Ed Moore, local trainman, who was hurt early in September while engaged as a switchman on the Cloverland track, has written a letter to the city in which he declares he may start a damage suit for $5,000, claiming negligence on the part of city workmen who placed an electric wire running to the Delta oil station. The letter was turned over to City Attorney Glenn W. Jackson at the Commission meeting held Monday night.

Mr. Moore states he was riding on top of a high box car when he was being run over the track across North Ninth street, late in the afternoon. The wire caught him and in falling to the ground he suffered injuries which have kept him in the hospital. After receiving treatment locally, he was sent to a hospital at Minneapolis for an operation.

The law requires that electric wires be strung 35 feet above the ground. The allegation is made that this particular wire was at least three feet below that point. The track is used only for switching purposes and the city's liability is involved in legal technicalities which can be determined only through court action, if the suit is pressed.

NOTE: The reason that a few of the students have 5 A's is because they are taking more than the prescribed curriculum of four studies. Especially in the Junior High School some students take both penmanship and spelling therefore those having 5

The School Calendar

The eighth grade English class has made an art gallery of the upper hall which is both educational and inspiring. Here is settled beyond a doubt, the differences between lie and lay, to and into, threw and through, among and between. It is interesting to know that these little words have often been a source of constant worry to our overburdened minds to say the least. Many artistic geniuses have here developed; this fact being illustrated by the original and imaginative drawing of Randolph Christiansen illustrating 'threw' and 'through' in which someone threw a very large bottle of castor oil at a cat who happened to be serenading the moon from a perch on some one's back fence. The pointers are of the whole, very good, and the English students are given the opportunity of displaying originality and artistic ability as well as a knowledge of the rules of grammar.

Little Dignity Chasers

Willie--When I get to heaven I am going to ask Shakespeare whether or not he wrote Hamlet. Teacher--No, Willie--Maybe he won't be there. Willie--Then you ask him. Frederick--Say, I can't get these arithmetic examples. Teacher-- said something about finding the greatest common divisor. Pa (in disgust) Great Scott! Haven't you found that yet? Why, they were hunting for it when I was a boy. A father after glancing over his boy's school report, said: 'My Boy, do you know that when George Washington was your age he was at the top of his class?' 'Yes dad' replied Tod, 'and when he was your age he was Commander in Chief of the Army.'

The 8th grade English class have written a number of Halloween stories from which three have been selected for publication. There were a large number of very good stories but space would permit the publication of only three. Mr. Miller (relating some of his own experiences) 'How did I get my education? Well, Dad used to take me across his knee every now and then and that made me smart.'

Miss Heberlein, in Geom.--Can you tell me where has my polygon? Wiscracker--Up the geometre. Soph.--Wonder how iron was first discovered. Frosh--I guess they smelt it.

Teacher--What do you mean by coming to school like that? Your hair is disgracedful. Stude--No comb, Ma'am. Teacher--Can't you use your father's comb? Stude--No hair, Ma'am.

8th Grade Announcement

Below is a list of grammatical errors heard and compiled by the Eighth grade English class during a ten day observation period. Since 'ain't' apparently heads the list, we shall make a school-wide campaign against it. If we feel we have fairly well under control, Don't be offended, then, Upper Classmen, if the 8th graders appear to be overbearing 'G' this concern. Don't give them an opportunity to list YOU among the offenders.

WAIT TILL I GET MY DREAM?

A chill and lonely October night found me starting a five mile journey homeward. I really regretted that I had allowed myself to go. Cousin George so loudly urged that I know that the penalty for yielding to such a whim was a long walk home at a late hour. The night was frightfully dark and the very atmosphere was one of a wild and impalpable nature. How I wished that I had decided to spend (Continued on Page 8)

IT IS said that the most antiquated judicial system outside of China is the United States army court martial. A high army officer, questioned by Congress on some matter in an investigation after the world war was asked if justice did not suffer under the army's strict system, remarked: "The main purpose of the court martial is to provide discipline, not to insure justice." And undoubtedly the system does provide discipline; not the discipline that causes one to do right because it is right, but to do it because he HAS to. And that is the kind of court martial William B. Mitchell must face because of his criticism of how the U. S. navy and air service was being handled. There have been few modifications of the system. It is modified after the British system, adopted hurriedly word for word when the Continental army was forced without rules of its own. These rules had been copied by the British from the regulations which governed the legions of Caesar. That gives one some idea of how great is the need for change.

THERE is this one big difference in our civilian and military courts of justice. In our courts, an accused person is presumed to be innocent until proven guilty; in the court-martial the accused is presumed to be guilty until proven innocent. And figures show that convictions are secured in 98 percent of the cases, and in only 5 percent of the trials are the findings disproved. The court that tries a man in the army is the judge of law as well as of fact. It conducts the trial as it pleases, unanswerable to no one. The time of war there are all too numerous cases of where these high-handed methods result in the roughest injustices to innocent parties. In the case of Col. Mitchell the President will review the findings of the court, and the public will be acquainted with the main particulars, and to a reasonable degree of justice may be expected. The Colonel may escape with a reprimand, or dismissal from the service.

THIS writer can never forget one court-martial that came to his attention in army camp. The sentence of 15 years in Leavenworth penitentiary can never be forgotten because of its unreasonableness. A rookie, drafted into service, refused to sign an application for the U. S. insurance. The clerk in charge told him he had to sign the application. He had been advised in civilian life that it was optional. Officers of higher rank were brought in to order the signing of the papers, but the rookie remained steadfast and refused. He was given a speedy trial, sentenced to 15 years, and that was that—army justice for the sake of enforcing discipline. Another time, a rookie felt that he was being imposed upon by the non-commissioned officers, and decided to refuse to obey their orders in order that his case might be brought to the attention of the officers. It was and he was court-martialed and sentenced to something like 15 years on the charge of disobeying a corporal who ordered him to sweep the floor. It fell to our lot to make out the necessary papers. The poor chap had several witnesses who intended to testify in his behalf and one of them did—but the lecture and threats he received were more than enough to close him up and scare away the others. The accused had no chance, for the court had determined him guilty before he was ever tried.

DELTA county has 71 more farms than it had five years ago. A preliminary announcement sent out by the U. S. Department of Commerce gives the result of the 1925 farm census for this county as a total of 1468 farms, as compared with 1385 in 1920. This serves to draw attention to the fact, important to this section, that our farms are not suffering from desertion, as reported from other sections of the country where the population is manufacturing urban centers of population. The census reports that 1413 of Delta's farms are run by their owners, another good sign. There are 49 tenants, six less than five years ago, while the number of managers remains the same, their being but eight. The report gives 1445 as the number of acres of land in farms. The cash value of this land is estimated at $2,641,235 and the value of the farm buildings $2,641,480. This represents some increase in value of the holdings, while there was a drop in the estimated value of the land. This is attributable to the recession of land values from the peak reached immediately following the war. There is plenty of good farm land in Delta county available at very low prices. Another census report five years from now should show another worthwhile increase in the number of farms.

COZARD is the name of a small town in Nebraska. While it has only 1220 inhabitants, still it is famous in its way and has been heard of on all sections of the country. That is because in Cozard there is a department store that has built up a business of $300,000.00 a year. Doing a retail business of that size is a distinction that has not been given another town. That is why Cozard has been talked of. Who built up such a business, you ask? The man's name is Fred W. Anderson. He started in 1906 with a capital of $2000. Cozard with a fine business ability, Mr. Anderson knew how to advertise. He now says, "I admit that advertising has done it. I admit that it was the only way we could have built a business and that any merchant or business man that wants to do more business must first and last advertise." Think of it. Starting with $2000 and in less than 20 years time, building a business to a third of a million dollars a year. The store that advertises can sell on a smaller margin of profit because it sells more goods with the same overhead expense.

THE 26th anniversary session of the International Live Stock Exposition will be held in Chicago Nov. 28 to Dec. 5. This exposition is generally looked upon as the "Supreme Court of the Agricultural Industry." Those who are anxious to better themselves in the farm business can benefit themselves very much by attending.

MICHIGAN HAS ANOTHER private bank in trouble. This time it is the Farmers' and Merchants Bank of Grand Lodge. It closed its doors last week after disclosures that Francis M. Hoag, cashier, had loaned more than $20,000 to Dana L. Reed, a recent inmate of Ionia reformatory operating as a Florida land dealer. It appears that Reed was able to give Hoag accurate information of money-making possibilities in Florida real estate. He secured loans without collateral, bought four expensive automobiles, maintained a suburban home in Detroit—and then pulled out, leaving Hoag to hold the bag. The loss is expected to run around $25,000, and fortunately in this case the stockholders and not the depositors will suffer. At each session of the Michigan legislature, there has been some agitation for the removal of the private bank licenses and always strong influence was brought to bear to obstruct any proposed legislation. The few private banks remaining are gradually eliminating themselves through financial difficulties, but depositors should be offered some measure of protection. Says the Charlotte Republican: "It is just one more exhibit of the hazard of the private bank."

CLEVELAND, Ohio, the largest city in the United States to adopt the city manager plan of government, is celebrating its 21st anniversary. Those who opposed the plan are now among the strongest boosters for the city manager.

THREE years of research and study have finally resulted in a standard code of signals and signal lights, and road signs, to be recommended for general use throughout the country. The code is now in the hands of the American Engineering Standards committee, which is to sponsor the movement for its national adoption. It is hardly necessary that public sentiment will readily favor the adoption of a standard code. As it is now, each state has a different system and the motorist is handicapped the instant he gets away from his own state. For instance, in Michigan you may use a spot light, but you must dim when approaching another car at night. In Wisconsin the spot light is barred and dimming is taboo. Each state has a different system of road signs. Everywhere is marked as a curve in Michigan. The standard code is recommended will differentiate in markings, curves, cross roads and inter-sections. The system to be recommended is so simple that it seems ridiculous that there should have been no variation in the various states. States also have other differences required in lighting signals. The standard code offers the solution and it is to be hoped its adoption will not long be delayed.

LEAVES on the pavement are as dangerous for the motorist as banana peels on the sidewalk are for the pedestrian. That is the warning of an automobile club in timely form, and deserves the attention of all motorists at this season of the year.

CONVENTION figures from Wash- ington show the cost of operating an acre on the milage basis, figuring wear, depreciation and supplies, to be 7 cents per acre.

A Good Name by O. Lawrence Hawthorne. Oh Lord of men, teach me to know Just what "a good name" signifies! Help me to understand its worth And let me never cease to prize Above all else that life affords— Yes, better far than wealth or fame— The reputation that is won Alone by him of worthy name. A fearless strength of character, The will to do some useful deed, The vision that conceives a way To satisfy another's need— On such as these a man's good name is built; his leadership depends On service to his fellow men And loyalty to humble friends.

WEATHER conditions favored the partridge Sunday, and the kill was small despite the large number of hunters in the woods for the opening day. The scarcity of the birds, compared with former seasons is not open to argument and it is safe to predict that next fall will witness a closed season in Michigan. There may be some argument as to the reason for the smaller flocks. Some say they have been eliminated by the hunters and again there is the possibility that the disease which appeared last season is responsible. We are inclined to the belief that the worms found in the birds were the source of real danger from which the birds suffered. It appears that these worms are not found in the birds killed this season, and if this is so, there is reason to hope that with one or more closed seasons the partridge will multiply and return to the important place which this wonderful game bird has always occupied in our woods. The legislature should not leave a closed season to the whim of the various counties. The ruling should be made to apply to all alike.

Next Tuesday night the youth of the city will play their usual pranks and it behooves all citizens to see that their gates are safe that evening. Joseph Shy, after long eluding the officers of justice, was arrested in the postoffice Thursday, on footlocker returning to town. It is likely he will be committed to some asylum, instead of prison. William (rough of Bay de Noe, was hauling bricks last Saturday. He was thrown from his seat and the wagon passed over his body. The lower portion of his body was paralyzed and on Monday he was taken to the Delta county hospital. An attempt was made Tuesday night to rob the saloon of Liquor 2 (Green). The burglars were not as skillful as the celebrated Raffes, and the glazier they made work Mr. Liquor, who went out to investigate. The robbers decamped, one through the yard and one over the roof. It is expected that they will soon be arrested. Henry Rosenbush opened his second floor Monday in the presence of a large crowd. The new department is commodious and relieves the congestion of the lower floor. W. F. Hammel was unable to hold his roller skate bee Thursday as the materials of destruction were not at hand.

MEMORIES Items of interest of Gladstone and its citizens of years gone by. 20 YEARS AGO (Gladstone Delta October 28, 1905) Roadmaster Crooks is already laying plans to increase his green house, as the thousand bulbs and three times that number of slips he will raise next spring demand more room. Last fall he was overjoyed to obtain a shack twelve feet by fourteen, and he is now dissatisfied with one more than six times the size. Feedmaster Skelzenger gives notice that he has received full commission, from the mayor and council, and will proceed to enforce the ordinance on the running of stock at large, without favor, so that it behooves all citizens, prominent or obscure, to keep their animals off the street, if they would avoid trouble. This is the last warning. Mr. Skelzenger remarks that he saw a similar question settled, when he was marshal of a city, in about a week, after which time no stock strayed at all. Repairs are being made on the old portion of the road house, its foundations are being strengthened, and the yard back of it has been smoothed off and furnished with walks. While fences in the west end are falling thick and fast, one sturdy citizen announces that his will remain until the stern hand of the law has seized all stray dogs, as they do more mischief than cows, when they break loose. The 500 Line wrecking car was called to Rhinelander Tuesday. A locomotive had gone into the turntable pit, and it took five hours to get it out. Elmer Beach will be at the Azo Factory afterwards until the first of the year, as he has consented to assist in the office. Mrs. R. P. Mason returned from Ann Arbor last Friday evening. Mrs. Goldstein returned from Chicago Tuesday morning. Escanaba was defeated by a score of 466 to 438 in the championship of the team is completely out of the championship contest this year.

Next Tuesday night the youth of the city will play their usual pranks and it behooves all citizens to see that their gates are safe that evening. Joseph Shy, after long eluding the officers of justice, was arrested in the postoffice Thursday, on footlocker returning to town. It is likely he will be committed to some asylum, instead of prison. 22 YEARS AGO (Gladstone Delta Oct. 24, 1903) Last Monday Miss Nelson took charge of the printing department of Nelsons Art Gallery. Business has been increasing at such a rate that Emil has been compelled to take his daughter into partnership with him. The carnival which is at the Gladstone theater tonight and tomorrow night will doubtless draw a large house. Much work has been done in preparation and everybody and his friends will want to see the result. Mrs. O. V. Karner and Mrs. Beal went to Minneapolis Monday evening and will return to the city Sunday morning. The steamer Lotus is running now on the new fall card, arriving here at 8:35 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. and leaving 10:45 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. Dr. E. J. Hudson has been in the city this week and in spite of the multiplicity demands made upon his leisure of which he had little, he was enabled to return the greetings of a considerable portion of his friends. There is a whole lot of them that he missed. City Clerk Narracong attended circuit court Wednesday and Thursday as a witness for the city. Mrs. A. H. Powell, who was a delegate from the Minnesota Chapter O. E. S. returned last Saturday from her attendance at the Grand Chapter. Last Friday the Board of Supervisors elected John P. Holm superintendent of the poor for the next three years. Robert F. Morrill was elected county treasurer to fill the vacancy. Deer are plentiful in the upper peninsula this fall and there will be a big slaughter at soon as the season opens. Present indications are that more licenses will be taken out in Houghton, Ontonagon and Keweenaw counties than ever before. Read the Ads in the Delta County Reporter.

Use Don's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. This Gladstone case is convincing. Mrs. Joseph Balanga, 630 Vourthe Ave., says: "I had a severe cold. Kidney trouble came on me and I suffered with a dull ache through the small of my back. When I straightened up or turned quickly, sharp stabbing pains darted across my kidneys. My kidneys were weak and acted far too often. I felt worn out and had no ambition to get about my household. After using Don's Pills from DeWitt's Drug Store, I was cured." 60c at all dealers. SCHOLARLY SQUIBBLES

Gladstone football fans were disappointed to hear that one of our top home games, was called off last Saturday when Munting wrote us that they would be unable to come, on account of heavy snow. This made the coach impassable. Principal C. C. Strickland and Coach Keil motor to Munting Friday hoping to persuade the Munting coach to change his plans. However the Munting coach held that it would be still impossible for them to play us as they had been unable to get out for practice last week. They forfeited the game, 1-0. The next game on our schedule is at Norway where we are expecting quite a struggle. This will be our last out of town game.

The Junior High assembly of last Wednesday was short. After a few songs two of the Senior High cheer leaders taught the Juniors some of our yells.

The principals and chorus of the operetta, "The Feast of the Red Corn" have been chosen and practices are now under way. This year's musical production is of a different nature than any featured here before. The cast includes only ladies.

The Girls Glee Club sang before a meeting of the Parent-Teachers association last Monday afternoon. The occasion for this meeting was a talk by Frances Hayes co-worker of the association. At the end of the meeting on Friday night, called to complete the organization of the club, the H. S. orchestra played two numbers. This is the first time that either have appeared in public.

The Junior Class has practically completed plans for the "Hallowe'en Frolic" to be held at the school Friday evening. The affair is to be public and a large crowd is expected.

FIREMEN'S JOB IS NOT A LAZY ONE

The fireman hasn't a lazy man's job, according to one on the fireman's force in Hillsdale, N. J. Even men of high rank, from the industrial class and mechanical fields with engineering degrees and by the way, the fireman interviewed at Hillsdale has had one year at Yale University. He says that their calling and have turned to the duties of a fireman.

"They also serve, who only stand and wait" might in a sense, be applied to the fireman as sometimes seen just sitting around—but they may be called upon for quick service within the next five minutes, jeopardizing themselves, risking all to save a child, an aged man or woman—someone trapped amidst smoke and flames—in general, humanity.

With the sound of the gong, firemen are ready to go through anything. The fire truck changes the way along the perhaps busy traffic-filled streets, and the firemen may soon be in an atmosphere filled with thick, black and suffocating smoke; perhaps they are crawling low under a line of hose just as a stream playing here and there about a blazing house with burning walls about to cave in. Then there is the possibility that some one may be trapped by flames several flights up; it is a fireman's duty to save that life and if humanly possible he does, only to complete this duty and return to that of grasping the hose and continuing to fight the maddening flames.

When the fire is finally under control, the fireman's job is not over, for there is hope to be rolled up, tools to be collected and upon returning to the fire house, the apparatus must be cleaned and made ready for another fire.

A new and rather unusual idea is being introduced into the American History class. The seniors are taking up the study of current events through the Literary Digest.

Irene Harrington proved herself to be an apt punster the other day in the Senior class of Domestic Science when the following word-play occurred:

Miss Harris—Now are there any questions any one should like to ask about any of the stitches I want on the sampler?

Irene—How do you do the davenport stitch?

Miss Harris—The what stitch? Irene (confused) Oh! I mean the couching stitch!

ORGANIZE HOME ROOM

Miss Mueller's home room has been organized, officers elected, colors chosen, and all that goes with it.

President, Fern Woodhall.
Secretary, Lois Hoover.

A program committee has been selected to provide some entertainment on alternate Wednesdays when the regular assemblies are not held. The colors are rose and gold in which the room is now decorated. For their motto, they have chosen a circle representing a clock. Encircling the upper half, are the letters G. H. S. and in the lower portion, the year in which they will graduate, 1929 to which the hands are pointing.

Teacher—"Yes, but what is a foraging party?"
Student—"Him, a wild party. I suppose."

Senior—"Yes, I read the 'Book of Job' last night. Was it good?"
Shly Freshman—"Was it good?"
If a foot points can Bessemer steal!

At the close of each day, there is a shift of other firemen coming on duty who perhaps have been out on inspection duty in some part of the city, which must now make out their reports. A fireman retires at night with one obstacle in his way for perfect rest—the fire gong. He is subject to call for duty at any hour.

"And when there is no fire" the reporter questions, "how does the fireman spend the day?"

"There is repair work" quickly returns the fireman "general supplies to be taken care of records kept, training exercising, and the daily rounds of cleaning and checking to see that all parts of the apparatus is intact."

HEART AND HOME PROBLEM

By Mrs. Oscar Branty of Detroit

Dear Mrs. Branty: I am a girl of 19, living in a small town, and my problem is this. There is nothing doing here at all, unless you belong to some set of the wild sort. They dance at road houses, drink, and all that goes with it. I want a good time too, but not that kind of a one. There are no dances no amusements here whatever. What can I do Mrs. Branty? There are quite a few in the same boat with me. I know these girls who associate with the rough crowd are enjoying themselves, and half of the time, I feel like joining them myself and having some fun for once anyway. You can't imagine how dead it is around here, I am sure, Mrs. Branty living in the big city of Detroit as you do where there must be plenty of places to go. I don't think the rough gang as bad as Most of them are girls that I have come to school with, and I know that at that time anyway they were alright and it don't seem to me that they could have changed so quick. Anyway they are having a good time, and I'm not, and I want something to do. I work in the town grocery, where all the gossip is collected, so I am in a position to know just about all that goes on in the place. Please tell me what I can do Mrs. Branty. There must be some remedy for my problem, I will anxiously await your answer. MAUD.

Why of course there's an answer for your problem Maud. When things are dead, be peppy yourself, and wake the other folks up. No Maud don't join that "tough gang." They are having their fun at the expense of their future, and sooner or later are going to regret their very deeds just as you will do, if you permit yourself to become one of their associates. You must create your amusements. Isn't that just what that "tough gang" is doing? If they didn't go out and look for their amusement, they would be minus it as you are, wouldn't they? That's the idea, but I don't mean to say that you should go in for the same pleasures that they do. Create your own. Maud, but make it of the clean kind. You say there are quite a few girls all in the same boat. Why not get together, in a club, one that will last, and forget about the jeers of the other crowd. Stick together. You can have regular meetings, and by each paying a small amount of dues have parties, dances, and a good time. You could give entertainments and invite the public at large. By charging a small admission, you could easily defray expenses. In that way, you would not only be creating amusement for yourselves, but for the town in general and I do believe that is exactly what is needed in your locality, someone to go ahead and do things like that. How about it Maud? You organize the Club. Even eight or ten girls would be sufficient to do lots of things. When you get it started, write to me again, and tell me how it is coming along, and I will probably have some more suggestions for you to work out. Don't let your thoughts dwell on the gloominess of your town, but set to work to change the situation. YOU start the ball a-rolling.

A CASE OF LIABILITY—BY M. B.

(A Weekly Panorama of Events in the National Capital, by Peter Keegan for the Delta Reporter.)

A TWOFOLD bid for popular favor was seen by many politicians as the main reason back of the sudden shifts in the War Department. Appointment of Dwight F. Davis as Secretary of War succeeding Weeks was regarded as a shrewd move toward holding the unstable Missouri vote in the Republican column. Harland MacNider, the new assistant secretary, a former commander of the American Legion, is extremely popular with the ex-servicemen. The administration is known to be anxious to obtain the aid of this powerful organization in its difficulties with Colonel William Mitchell. Both Davis and MacNider coming from middle western states, are regarded as potential elements of strength for President Coolidge's reported plans to again seek the Presidency in 1928.

THE PRESIDENT'S air board is likely to recommend drastic changes in the method of handling American aeronautics. Just what they will be is problematical. Many expect a separate Air Corps, similar to the Marine Corps, will be the solution but upon which others think the Board will urge more generous appropriations and a separate promotion list with control still vested in the War and Navy Departments. One thing appears certain; Secretary of Commerce Hoover will be finally given complete charge of commercial aviation, with authority to regulate that rising industry that its free growth will be encouraged.

A MOVEMENT for returning active prohibition enforcement to state and local agencies has been quietly launched in Washington. Although the problem is a ticklish one and few are willing to lead the fight in Congress, the Administration is studying a plan which would effectuate the problem to where it was before the Eighteenth amendment to the constitution was adopted and the Federal government assumed charge of enforcement. Supporters of the proposal believe that the nation as a whole would be better satisfied with local enforcement.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE is casting about for a means of solving the Federal Trade Commission problem which has been one of the sore points of the administration for many years. The majority of the Board have recently adopted a policy of friendliness toward "big business" which is bitterly opposed by the minority who claim trusts and giant mergers inimical to the public interest are being encouraged. Huston Thompson, leader of the minority commissioners has been covertly asked to resign. He is not expected to.

THE NAVY wants a bigger and better dirigible than the ill-fated Shenandoah. The line of testimony given the court of inquiry now investigating the crash is directed mainly at revealing the experience experts have acquired since the Shenandoah was completed. According to present plans the Navy will go before Congress with a plan for funds with which to build a dirigible two or possibly three times the size of the Shenandoah. This type, experts claim, would be better able to resist squalls.

A COALITION of Democrats and Progressive Republicans against the Mellon tax plan appeared a certainty today. Mellon would reduce income taxes of the wealthy and seek complete payment of the war debt within the next 25 years. The insurgents want payment deferred for 62 years, years, the average time allowed for foreign debt nations. They also will insist that single men be exempted up to $3,000 and married men $5,000. This proposal is opposed by Mellon.

A BRAND new experiment in raising children is now under way in the national capital. Mrs. Mable Walker Wilibrand, assistant attorney general, has adopted a two year old girl. With the aid of two friends, one a doctor and the other an expert in home economics, the foe of the wets proposes to put her views on child development into practice. Mrs. Wilibrand believes that a child of normal parents can reach a high level of intelligence by proper training. None of the three women have children of their own.

IT APPEARS probably that before Congress convenes, France will have agreed on a satisfactory method of paying off her $4,200,000,000 debt to the United States. The belief is general that the Paris government, now that an European security pact has been agreed upon, will find itself able to meet the terms demanded by the Treasury. The "stop gap" proposal of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon that France pay $40,000,000 annually for five years as interest and then again meet with the American commission, will very likely be rejected by the French legislature in favor of an immediate settlement. Mellon's proposal was made only after the agreement that the French debt commission would return without an agreement. France now needs a loan and the United States is the only market for her securities. She cannot secure a loan without contracting to repay the money she already has borrowed. As the security pact virtually eliminates the possibility of a new Franco-German war, for many years at least, the ability of France to pay her American debt has been increased.

COLONEL WILLIAM Mitchell is known to be highly displeased with the military court selected by Secretary of War Davis. The group of twelve high ranking generals who now have Mitchell's military fate in their hands are known to be "hard boiled", with small regard for subordinates who commit breaches of discipline. It is for this reason that War Department officials privately waver that Mitchell will be dismissed from the Army at the end of the court-martial. Friends of the "Flying colonel" however are enjoying the present situation for a number of reasons. President Coolidge must approve or disapprove the findings of a court-martial of this importance. Mitchell's charges against the War Department materialized the Administration economy program which is expected to further curtail Army appropriations. Congress is expected to give the Air Service more money and the regular army less. Many believe the President would hesitate to approve a summary dismissal of Mitchell from the Army.

SECRETARY OF STATE Kellogg has surprised many Washington politicians by his fearless treatment of a number of recent problems involving the admission to the United States of prominent foreigners. In barring Shap-urji Saklatvala, a Hindu member of the British parliament for Communist sympathies, Kellogg was hotly criticized by many leading Congressmen, including Senator Borah of Idaho. Then he repeated by refusing to permit Countess Karolyi of Hungary to enter the country. She also is accused of being a Communist and as such is liable to being barred. Kellogg was known in the Senate in past years as "Newman Nells". His friends now insist it should be "Peaceful Nells". Senator Borah has promised to lead a fight in Congress to amend the Immigration law so that the Secretary of State will have absolute power in such cases.

PARAGRAPHS CONCERNING MICHIGAN

(By Ed. A. Nowak)
Lansing—Saving suicides whose attempts to go to Michigan come fall, is the job held by Mrs. Mary Jason of Detroit. She shows most of the disappointed ones that life is worth living. Old folks turned out by the children for whom they sacrificed it are the hardest to console.

Detroit, fourth in population among American cities, now ranks second in the aggregate amount of federal tax collections, according to Thomas E. Johnson, superintendent of public instruction. On the basis of population Detroit has the greatest income and earning power of any large city in the world.

Detroit furthermore had $2,946 of property valuation for every inhabitant against $1,924 for New York. Her per capita income figure is $298.59 as against $193.4 for Philadelphia, $75.41 for Chicago and $68.53 for New York. Johnson says there are none of the New York and Chicago sweat shops for children in Detroit.

A fleet of 16 ocean-going carriers will provide weekly trans-Atlantic freight shipments in 1926 for Michigan. Sufficient contracts have been signed by Michigan shippers to insure the service. Detroit will be the port for the fleet.

Michigan in 1924 added $14 miles of surfaced highways to the nation's total. This gives the state 6,581 miles of such road to which will be added several hundred more miles this season.

More than 36,000 men and women in Michigan, employees of the Consumers Power company and the Detroit Edison firm, are owners of stock and other securities in those concerns.

The Motor Wheel Corporation of Lansing makes about 60 per cent of the auto wheels used in the country.

One Detroit cigar factory is producing 50,000,000 cigars annually. It recently doubled its output.

A $25,000,000 potato crop is predicted for Michigan this year while plans are going ahead for the greatest potato show ever staged in Michigan at Greenville Oct. 29-31.

Bay City's $3 principal manufacturers produced products with a total valuation of $36,285,000 for 1923 according to figures just released by the U. S. Census Bureau.

Bay City is given as one of the four cheapest cities in the nation from a tenants viewpoint, in which to live. Rents there are lower than in most other large cities.

Ford manufactures 20 per cent more left turners than right for repair purposes due to the habit drivers have of driving on the wrong side of the street.

It is planned to spend about $50,000 on a silver fur farm of 1,000 acres near Cheboygan recently purchased by Detroiters.

Michigan farmers to the number of 19,000 have installed radio sets and are listening in. The state ranks tenth in the nation in that respect.

Grand Rapids has an average number of wage earners totaling 24,823 while Flint has 28,910. The respective payrolls of the two cities are $32,669,200 and $48,745,800.

Lansing may be the site selected by a German firm for the manufacture of German automobiles.

POPULAR COUPLE UNITED IN MARRIAGE

Miss Geraldine DeVet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis DeVet of Kipling, became the bride of Walter Vanderweghe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vanderweghe of Minnesota avenue at a pretty church wedding yesterday morning. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. Maier at a nuptial high mass celebrated at nine o'clock at the All Saints church. The bride made a charming picture in tan canton crepe, heavily beaded. She wore a picture hat to match trimmed with apple blossoms and carried Coolidge roses. She was attended by a cousin Miss Cecelia Dewet. She wore a pretty dress of Nile green crepe, trimmed with white fur and hat to match. She had a corsage of white roses. Ernest DeHooghe acted as bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents at Kipling. The happy couple will make their home with the bride's parents at Kipling for the time being. Both are well known here. Mr. Vanderweghe is employed as cashier at the Coopers Co. office. They have the hearty congratulations and well wishes of their many friends.

Plates were laid for 65, relatives and close friends. A dinner and supper was also served. The home was beautifully decorated in autumn leaves, and made a pretty background for the scene.

ROCK NEWS

LILLIAN LARSON Correspondent

One of the saddest and most tragic ever to occur in Rock was the death of Leslie Bailey aged 23, when a tree which he was felling struck him on the back Friday morning. He was taken to St. Francis hospital immediately where he was found to have ten ribs broken, a dislocated shoulder, a punctured lung and bruises about the face.

Death relieved him of his suffering at 12:15 p. m. Friday with his grief stricken wife at his bedside.

The remains were brought to the Alto Funeral home to be prepared for burial and were taken to the home of his brother, Leo Bailey of Rock Saturday.

Funeral services were conducted from the home at 1 o'clock Monday and from the Swedish Finn church at 1:30 p. m. with Rev. E. G. C. Williams of Escanaba officiating.

Several hymns were rendered by the boys' and girls' quartet of the High School.

Interest was made in the Rock cemetery. In addition to his wife Mr. Bailey is survived by his parents, a son Malcolm, four brothers, Leo and Vernon of Rock, Lloyd of Defiance, Gordon of Escanaba and a sister Mrs. J. Kleiber of Rock. Those who carried the casket to and from the funeral were: Chester, Carl, Herbert Westlund, Leon Tromby, Archie Bannette, Clarence Larson and Michael Kirley. The bereaved family have the sympathy of a host of friends in the community.

"You may be deep, my boy, but its more important to be bright and broad."

The man or woman with a "cast-iron" stomach has no realization of the blessing enjoyed only the person who has been denied the joy of eating what pleased him is in a position to know what a perfect digestion really means. To subsist upon thin broth, or crackers and milk, while all around you the others of the family are enjoying such delicacies as steak and onions, ham and eggs, mince pie and strong coffee, is a form of torture worthy of Torquemada at his best.

Yet in most cases this is an entirely unnecessary torment for records show that approximately 85 per cent of digestive disorders yield readily to Chiropractic spinal adjustments. It is only necessary to strengthen the stomach by supplying more nerve energy, and adjustments accomplish this.

HE NOW EATS ANYTHING, AT ANY TIME

"Stomach disorders troubled me so much I was hardly able to eat anything. I used all kinds of prescriptions from my family physician and was finally advised to see a specialist. Instead I called a chiropractor. He thought he could help me and I started adjustments. That was thirty months ago. I noticed a change at once and in a short time I was able to eat almost anything placed before me. At this time I have no trouble at all, no matter what I eat or when."

Rock on business Tuesday. Charles Silvola and Arthur Ustula were Escanaba callers Monday. The A. Y. L. club held a meeting at the high school at 8:30 p. m. Monday. Plans were made for a Halloween party to be given Thursday evening at the high school. Mr. and Mrs. George Lusardi and Mrs. Cordelia Lusardi of Defiance attended the funeral of Leslie Bailey Monday.

Wanda Hawley in new photoplay. Wanda Hawley, blonde and delightful as ever, is the heroine of the second Frank Woods production, "Let Women Alone" coming to the Community theater. The story is an adaptation by Woods of a Saturday Evening Post story by Viola Brothers Shue, entitled "On the Shelf." It is a comedy-drama and is said to possess a wealth of good-natured humor and intense dramatic moments. The central characters are a breezy young insurance salesman, his mother and a feminine interior decorator. Miss Hawley is seen in the latter role, while Pat O'Malley appears as the salesman and Ethel Wales as his mother. The production was filmed under the direction of Paul Powell. Woods supervised.

Springtime Breaks up happy home. There seems to be some question as to just what is the dangerous age, but that Spring is its proper setting. In theory, John M. Stahl chose this romantic season as the background for his production, "The Dangerous Age," which is coming to the Lyric theater. Spring, according to good authorities, is the time at which little Dan Cupid is at his best, and then, too, the distributors of domestic bills are said to get in their most effective work. In "The Dangerous Age," a highly dramatic tale, the main victims of Spring's period of unrest are John and Mary, two regular, normal persons, who have been happily married for so long that they fall prey to the pings of Pan. The story is by Frances Irene Reels and Lewis S. Stone heads the all-star cast.

The night on the farm or even choose a companion for my hike. This, I thought, is the time of year when about and robins last from their haunts and infest the earth.

I tried to dismiss such tormenting and unreasonable thoughts. I hastened my pace and tried to walk, but my outward courage proved to be short-lived. Not one note could be forced out. My lips were dry and I was feeling out of breath.

The short cut was at hand and after the owner's deliberation I left the main road. It would be a short walk through a dense woods but it would save me possibly ten agonizing minutes.

I started the short cut at a lively gait and my heart throbbed with terror and fear. Was it possible that some one was following me? I thought that I heard the sound of foot steps, light but never-the-less, fleet, more so than my own.

I looked behind and then quickened my pace at least ten fold. What I could not see, I could not hear, I felt without personal experience.

A ghost, clothed as usual in white and was following me at a terrific rate of speed. It was tall with wavy, indented hair, his eyes, however stood out in great prominence and looked as deep and dark as well. I caught only a glance of it but its appearance became plainer and more clearly defined the more I thought of it. I will not try to describe my feelings for the next few moments for it is more than I can do. I felt a numbness and version of gloom flashed before me.

I did not slacken my pace all through the stretch of woods but I was assured I was being followed.

At last I came to a clearing and I could run no more. I thought to myself "Ghost or no ghost, I'm going to sit down," and down I dropped on a log which was in my path. Presently the ghost walked up beside me and sat down. He spoke up in a quick, "wasn't it?" I looked up quite surprised, but by no means fearfully and answered, "Yes, and as soon as I get my breath I'll continue." Very lucky it was for me that I fell off the log and found myself on my bedroom floor, thus finding it unnecessary to continue the walk into town.

AN ADVENTURE IN THE SMALL HOURS OF MORNING

One very warm day in June when it had been all of 90 degrees in the shade I was wishing that I had a nice cool place in which to sleep, for the approaching night gave no promise of relief from the heat.

At this particular time I had a boy friend visiting with me over the week end. He suggested our sleeping out in an old shack that a bunch of us boys had built during the winter months of the year before. I did not care about his suggestion but I finally gave in, and we soon arrived at our headquarters for the night.

The shack was entirely surrounded by high spruce trees and low underbrush. It was quite uncomfortable inside, especially the bunks which were only of boards and straw.

By a light from a lantern we read far into the night. Just as we were about to blow out the lantern and retire for the night we heard an unusual sound at the corner of the shack. We went on our tip-toes to the outside to see what could be causing such a noise. Just as we got around the corner a large woodchuck ran off into the woods.

We finally got back into bed safely and were sound asleep in a few minutes. I don't know how long we slept, but suddenly I was awakened from sleep by a noise, coming, it seemed, from outside the door. It sounded as though some one was pawing at the door with his hands. I listened until I heard a faint, "Hello, hello," I could not stand the suspense any longer so I awakened my boy friend, Clem. I asked him if he could hear the noise replied, "I sure do." We sat up in bed and looked at each other for we did not know what to do, and we could not talk.

So it made me feel worse than ever. said, "It must be a ghost at the door, wanting to get in and capture us." We then listened harder than ever. And the longer we listened the louder the noise became, so I then asked Clem to open the door.

He replied, "Let's see who it is there." But I told him that ghosts don't talk, so we will have to go to the door and open it. Clem then suggested that we both go since neither of us would go alone. So we both crawled out of bed and proceeded hand in hand to the door.

We made our way as quickly as was possible across the squeaky floor. As we got near the door we were undecided as to who was going to open it. I finally got courage enough to touch the door and, with trembling fingers, I gave it a quick jerk.

To our very great surprise the cause of our fright was only a large branch from a spruce tree that the wind kept moving back and forth. We were a little ashamed at being so frightened but much relieved to know that it was no more than a spruce bough. We hurried back to bed, never awakening until the next morning.

MORE KNOWLEDGE

Away up on a steep mountain there was a little log cabin where just three and a half years ago, Helen, Helen never had any friends, except her mother, who sometimes showed her pictures in a torn old book, and taught her how to read. Helen was but five years old and being not more than this she had never been to the village which was not far from the little mountain home. In fact no one from the family went very often, only going when they needed provisions or had to go on some other business. Helen had often wanted to go also but her mother told her that her time would come and that she would some day be old enough to go.

One day, after her father had gone down the mountain side with a load of stones for a road they were building, Helen's mother discovered he had forgotten the little bag of gold that he had washed, grain by grain, from the creek and had intended to take with him. She put it into Helen's hand and said, "Try to catch him at the bend of the road. Run as fast as you can through the woods. I can't leave the cabin alone. Quick, he will be angry when he comes home if you do not take it to him."

Helen shuddered. She always dreaded hearing her father come home from his day in the village, for he was always so cross, and more than once he had shouted at her for nothing at all and threatened to strike her. She took the bag of gold and held it tightly while she ran through the woods until she reached the bend. She waited for her father to come along but he did not appear.

Thinking that she must have missed him, she started walking to the village. When she arrived she did not know where to go for she had never been there before. She started walking down the street until she came to a very tall object very still along side of the road. Its face was very pale, it looked cross, at least that's what Helen thought. She knew it did not look like a human being so she decided it must be one of those things called a ghost which she had been reading about.

Terrified she ran back and then she saw a huge yellow object with very large eyes and four mammoth mouths. It had four legs but Helen thought it appeared as if it were walking on its knees. It crawled as it came down the street. It would also scream very loud once in a while. This creature opened its mouth and swallowed many people. When Helen saw this mammoth thing come down the street she was so frightened she knew not which way to turn, but she began running toward home and never stopped until she reached there, at four o'clock that afternoon. She opened the cabin door and shouted, "Oh, mother, I had to go way to the village, and when I came there, there was a big ting in the road and it stood very tall and was so angry and cross looking, that I looked as if it would eat me up. Then I began to run and a great big animal with many eyes that opened its big mouth and swallowed many people and crawled down the street on its knees was coming. I ran and I didn't stop until now."

Her mother was laughing as she said, "That tall object you saw was a statue of a great man and that which you thought was an animal, was a street car which people ride in." Then she told Helen all about the city. Mrs. Allen, thought Helen had been very frightened, was glad to have her child home safe after a day of worry wondering where she was.

PETITION TO LATE FOR IMPROVEMENT

The City Commission, with Mayor Pro Tem Hawkins presiding in the absence of Mayor I. N. Bushong, went through a batch of routine matters at the meeting held Monday night. It will be recalled that the sewer work on Dakota avenue between 12th and 13th streets, the work undertaken as soon as possible. The cost of $745.25 for the main sewer and $257.50 for the lateral was ordered spread on the tax roll against the property benefited by the improvement. The city's share of that amount is $88.70.

Another petition was received from property owners on block west, between 13th and 14th, also asking for sewer construction, and this petition was received and ordered placed on file for action next session. There is considerable legal red tape to adhere to in arranging special assessments for public improvements and the time left before winter was too short to permit action. Had this petition been received with that for the other block, considerable overhead expenses would have been saved in the way of engineering, advertising and legal costs.

Louis Creten was granted permission to construct a canopy in front of his Lyric Theater, subject to the approval of the city. The canopy, which will extend to the outside edge of the sidewalk, must be anchored in a way to assure safety to the public.

The Commissioner authorized the City Manager to place $5,000 of the city's current cash in certificates of deposit to draw the usual interest. A financial report submitted by City Manager Buechler on the subject, that there was $21,671.76 current cash on hand at the end of September. The budget appropriations remained sufficiently large to take care of departmental expense as estimated.

EXAMINATIONS HERE FOR R.R. POSTMASTER

Applications may be filed up to Nov. 4, next Tuesday for the civil service examination for postmaster of Rapid River. The examinations are to be conducted at the post-office at Gladstone. Postmaster Frank Gravelle's four-year term expired last August but he will remain in the office if there are no applicants for the position. According to the government notice sent out, "Applicants will be required to assemble in an examination room for scholastic tests and will also be rated on their education and business training and experience. The Civil Service Commission will make inquiry among representative local business and professional men and women concerning the experience, character and ability of each applicant, and will assign ratings upon the evidence secured and upon the work done in the examination room."

The Commission will certify to the Postmaster General the names of the highest three qualified candidates. If as many as three qualify and he will select one for nomination by the President. Confirmation by the Senate is the final action.

COME FROM CHICAGO FOR WEEK'S STAY AT CAMP

The call of the woods was beyond resistance of Mr. and Mrs. Sid Goldstein, who left their home in Chicago to spend a few days at their camp north of here with Postmaster and Mrs. Frank Miller. The party is spending the week at the camp, after which the Goldsteins plan on returning to Chicago, where Sid is now engaged in the real estate business. He has many friends in this vicinity who will be more than pleased to know that he is meeting with unusual success. He has been up here a few times since moving to Chicago but has had little time for visiting.

MORNING SESSION
Present: Supervisors Bruce, Burns, Bushong, Cameron, Geniesse, Green, Gustafson, Hall, Hawkins, Jacobs, Johnson, Judson, Kasten, Kessler, LaBelle, Lundgaard, Matson, Micka, Miller, McNally, Needham, Norden, Peterson, Robert, Rose, Shepeck and Hanrahan—27.
Report of Sanatorium Committee read.

October 13th, 1925
Board of Supervisors,
Escanaba, Michigan,
Gentlemen:
Your committee on the Delta-Tuberculosis Sanatorium submit the following report, together with estimated requirements for the coming fiscal year.

ESTIMATED MAINTENANCE EXPENSE FOR THE YEAR 1926
Administration $ 4710.00
Care of Patients 10285.00
Culinary 19700.00
Domestic 4280.00
Agricultural, Engineering, Building and Grounds 15387.78

Total $45372.78
As you will note from the Audit report attached the Sanatorium does receive some outside income from pay patients and from the state. This has been estimated at $13,272.78, making the net amount to be divided between Delta and Menominee Counties to be $40,000, or $20,000 for each County.

For the first time since the institution was established Menominee County will have more free day patients than Delta with the result there will be an additional refund to Delta County on account of overpayment last year on Free Day Patients, which was estimated at $1787.71 but which the audit actually showed to be but $1586.15 making a net credit of $191.56. Deducting this amount from the amount requested to be levied makes a net amount of $19,808.44.

Your committee wished to again commend the members of the Board of Trustees for the careful and painstaking manner in which they are handling this institution. It is a great credit to the two counties co-operating in its maintenance and of material benefit to the Welfare of the people of the two counties.

Your attention is also directed to the fact that each year they have either materially reduced the amount of levy required or, if maintained on the same level as the preceding year, they have added greatly to the assets of the institution. Starting with an initial annual appropriation of about $42,000 for each county this has now been reduced to the present amount requested.

Delta-Tuberculosis Sanatorium Committee.

Request of Auditing Committee read.

Your auditing committee recommends that the auditor we procure be instructed to audit all accounts of present Justices holding office beginning from the time of the date of the Bond under which they are working and if when this is completed it appears to the Auditor that discrepancies might have existed during the incumbency of former Justices then our committee be authorized to instruct the Auditor to proceed further providing it appears there could be a recovery made on the part of the county.

Moved by Supervisor Lundgaard supported by Supervisor Hall, that the request be received and the Board of Supervisors instruct the Auditing Committee to have the request carried out. Motion carried.

Communication from the County Treasurer read.
Escanaba, Michigan, October 12th, 1925.
To the Honorable Board of Supervisors,
Escanaba, Michigan.

Gentlemen:
In regards to the suggestion of the State Auditors that this office issue a fourth copy of the delinquent tax receipts in making our report to the various townships at the end of each quarter.

While this would relieve this office of considerable work it would increase the work of the township officers and as many of them do not have the advantage of adding machines, we are quite willing to continue as we have been doing for the benefit of the townships.

In regard to the suggestion as to Justice Court Costs (Game Warden Fees) it would be of much advantage if the Justice of the Peace of the County would issue their reports to this office so we could verify the bills rendered by the Department of Conservation and keep a separate account of the Game Warden Fees.

Respectfully,
Mary McCall, County Treasurer
Moved by Supervisor Miller supported by Supervisor Green, that the communication be accepted and filed and that the Prosecuting Attorney, notify each Justice in the County of the request of State Auditors. Motion carried.

The Finance Committee requested that surplus funds be transferred from the various departments to a current Expense Account on account of short-ages in other departments.

THE VALLEY OF VOICES BY GEORGE MARSH

Author of 'TOLLERS OF THE TRAIL' and 'THE WHIPLS OF THE WOLF'.

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I—With David, half-breed guide, Brent Steele, the American Museum of Natural History, is traveling in northern Canada...

CHAPTER II—Steele hears the 'Widigo'... David and Michel, St. Onge's boys, leave the camp...

CHAPTER III—Hearing her violin playing, Steele rallies the Delia... sacrificing a brilliant musical career to comfort her father...

CHAPTER III—As the days passed at Wallingford, and the dove voice failed to break upon the crisp September nights...

"Did you hear that foot?" Steele asked St. Onge, standing near him on the beach.

"This thing has ruined him as a hunter," replied the factor. "He will never recover from it."

"I think I'll run upstream to the riffles this morning and catch some dove for supper and the young man as they returned to the trade-house."

Later, a second canoe quietly left the post, but when the boat reached the riffles, a mile above the occupant did not stop to fish but continued upstream following the shore.

When the flash from the paddles of the craft above ceased, and the spot on the river which was the canoe moved to the shore, the boat following also turned in, and was hidden and hidden in the alders. Then the premonition of Tete-Boule attained a partial fulfillment...

Before sunset a safe return to the post of Tete-Boule and his partner was heralded with joy, although they had failed in their hunt. But it was well after dark before the second canoe said adieu to the stony beach.

"You had no luck this afternoon, monsieur, you caught nothing," laughed St. Onge as Steele appeared for supper.

"As a matter of fact, Colonel, I went hunting, but the game was too tame for sport."

St. Onge's black brows lifted. "You are cryptic, monsieur."

"Well, to confess, I caught a 'Widigo'." "I was interested to see how much hunting your men would really do—and I found out."

"You followed Tete-Boule's canoe?" "Yes, I watched them for a few hours, but as they showed no sign of taking to the bush, I traveled over to these ponds Michel told me about. Tomorrow, if you have a man who will help me pack the meat, I'll get a 'Widigo'."

"And Tete-Boule never left the river?" "Not while I watched him."

"The factor shrugged significantly. 'He's bush shy' now and will not hunt. But what is there to do?"

"Have you thought that he might be shamming to avoid work? Is he lazy?" "No, he always was a good packer and hunter. It's the 'Widigo'."

scared to death," suggested Steele with a laugh. "Has she not reason, monsieur?" protested Denise. "But we have not been here, she said, since we were in the woods. And I miss it."

"You fear to come here now—because in this thing? He welcomed the opportunity to put the question directly.

The dark eyes flinched like his. "Is there not good reason, monsieur, for fear in a woman? After the fair cause—and that night?"

"Natural as had been her reply, Steele intuitively sensed that she was despondent to avoid his inevitable questioning was willing to have him believe that she, too, was a victim of the general superstition. But she had betrayed herself the morning her father shot her half-brother Harlan. Well, the day was young and he feared to press her then for an explanation of what she patently desired to avoid. So with a chagrin assent to her question, he nodded the subject.

"Yes, one to have gay music today, unadmittedly. You remember, you promised we should be merry."

"Yes, today the violin shall sing of joy; it is too beautiful here to be stowed in my dreams," she cried, radiant with surprise. "Always, as they pass, I stand here calling to them to lend me wings to follow—follow into the south. I try to lure them back with my violin—but no, they pass. So I send them down the wind to a sad quick-step—my own voyage, my farewell—until spring vires them north."

She had risen, and her eyes, shining with emotion, her face, vivid with the color of her thoughts, strangely stirred the man who listened. The lines of her straight body, from shoulders to trim feet, held his eyes.

"And this message—is it a secret?" "A secret, monsieur? What secret can a woman cherish in these forests?"

Her reply had been spontaneous, innocent of subterfuge; then, in his lifted eyebrows and humorous curl of lip, she caught the reflection of the double implication of her question, and her face flushed to the temples.

"Have you ever leaped to journey south with the passing breeze?" he quickly asked, gallantly covering her embarrassment. "As you play them down the glades, do you not wish to

"This beautiful morning, monsieur, Charlotte and I go to wave an adieu to the summer which passed."

"Charlotte is to be married," he replied, "and I am to be married. It is a charming of you, mademoiselle, she said archly. 'Of course, it is not for ladies to demand the presence of cavaliers.'"

"Take me, oh fair lady, as thy knight!" he begged. "Laggard though you are, you may escort me to each town, where Charlotte and I go to play the spring nozze, and to wave a bon voyage to the last of the green."

"It is charming of you, mademoiselle, she said archly. 'Of course, it is not for ladies to demand the presence of cavaliers.'"

"The 'Widigo' may strike in the day or night, monsieur. Who knows? If it is well you go armed." And he used a Mammoth to the Amercan, who took it, mystified, irritated, that the man to whom he had offered his services should withhold his con-

Led by the girl, hardly recognizable in her sudden metamorphosis from a creature of reserve and aloofness to one quick with life, vibrant to the music of the sunset September hills, they took the trail to an isolated ridge that a mile back from the river. The Watch tower was aptly named, for unlike most of the high land of the country, the hill was capped by a bare brown rock commanding a little valley studded with a chain of miniature lakes. Beyond, a sweep of rolling forest faded into the haze of the southern horizon.

"Is it no beautiful—my valley, monsieur?" she asked with a wide sweep of her arm. "Beautiful!" he repeated. "And you come here often?"

"Yes—that is, we used to come here; but lately—" She caught her breath sharply, then continued, "This valley, monsieur, I call my 'Val de l'Amour.' It is enchanting to watch the spring slowly sweep it with its magic light in, here and there, the soft green of the young birch leaves, the silver of poplar, and balm of gilead; then rich that brook with the red of the willow buds. And the first flowers of the forest—betula, purple and pink and white; violets and wood anemone and trillium—"

She paused, the dark eyes grew wistful—a little throaty, as she continued: "Once there was no terror in these green forests; once we searched, unafraid, for the 'Widigo.' For the flower treasures they possessed. Come and find us? They called, and daily we sought them and brought them home to transplant in our garden, but now—"

"But now," he repeated, wondering if he were, at last, to know—to be sure a share in her secret. "And she eluded him. 'Charlotte and I often come here to dream and play away the day—that is, I did,' she said. 'Now Charlotte at times was bored, oh so bored! Was it not so, Charlotte?'"

"Yes, ah, yes!" mumbled the Ojibwa woman, who sat on a rock apart from the two, her restless eyes sweeping the scrub below them. "Charlotte is not bored now; she's Schafer, Mich. October 3, 1925. To the Honorable Board of Supervisors, Escanaba, Michigan.

Gentlemen: I wish to present my application for appointment as County School Examiner, at the October meeting of the Board of Supervisors.

If my work has been satisfactory in the past, I respectfully solicit your support. Very truly yours, JAMES A. KENNY Moved by Supervisor Bruce supported by Supervisor Miller, that the Board of Supervisors appoint J. A. Kenney as a candidate for County School Examiner for the next two years. Motion carried by acclamation.

Communication from Gerald J. Cleary read. The Honorable Members of the Board of Supervisors of Delta County, Escanaba, Mich.

Gentlemen: I wish to present my application for the vacancy which will exist on the Poor Commission, upon the resignation of Mr. Fred Olmsted, who has notified me that he does not intend again to become a candidate.

In as much as it is my understanding, that the appointee at this time, will act as secretary of the Poor Commission, and will perform the same duties as performed by Mr. Olmsted, the Board would no doubt, like to know in what way an applicant would consider himself qualified.

In order to present to you gentlemen, my qualifications for economically, efficiently and capably handling this position, I engaged, in up to a short time ago.

For three years, I acted as Secretary of the American Legion Post of this city, and administered, what might be called, an Emergency Relief Fund, to care for the families of disabled soldiers, their widows and orphans. This fund amounted to approximately $7,000.00.

In handling this work, it was necessary to make careful investigations of conditions which existed in connection with the various cases that came to my attention. In approximately the same way that similar investigations are carried on, by the Superintendent of Poor or the Probate Judge.

While a great many families were taken care of during this period, nevertheless, by rigid economy and careful buying, I was enabled to make the fund last for three years. In cases this fund had not existed, the work which was carried on by myself, would necessarily had to have been done by the Superintendent of Poor, the City Poor Commissioner, or by the township Supervisors.

If you gentlemen honor me by electing me to this position, assure you that I will give my full time, thought and ability to administer this office just as economically as possible. Respectfully yours, GERALD J. CLEARY

Moved by Supervisor Cameron supported by Supervisor Needham, that the communication be received and the Board proceed to elect a member of the Poor Commission. Motion carried.

Supervisor Burns nominated Gerald J. Cleary and Supervisor Cameron nominated F. M. Olmsted, Supervisor Matson, nominated N. J. LaPine and Supervisor Norden nominated Thomas Jones.

Moved by Supervisor Cameron supported by Supervisor Needham, that the first ballot be informal. Moved by Supervisor Miller supported by Supervisor Johnson, that the Chairman appoint two tellers. Motion carried.

The Chairman appointed, Supervisors Bruce and Jacobs as tellers. The result of the informal ballot was F. M. Olmsted 6, N. J. LaPine 7, G. J. Cleary 8, Thomas Jones 5. Total 27 votes cast.

STOMACH REMEDY A FAST SELLER

DARE'S MENTHA PEPSIN

Six Thousand Bottles Sold in One New Jersey Town Last Year. G. E. Dehlin Declares Money Back if One Bottle Doesn't Make Any Stomach Sufferer Rejoice.

At last the way has been found to combine Pepsin with other corrective stomach agents so that it will do the most good in the shortest possible time.

Why bother with slow actors when one deserts of this splendid and pleasant remedy will cause gas, bloating, heaviness, acidity, heartburn or any upset condition of the stomach to speedily vanish.

And why should any man or woman suffer another hour with indigestion or any stomach misery when the remedy that acts almost instantly can be easily procured?

But there is more to say about this remarkable remedy—something that will interest thousands of despondent people.

Dare's Mentha Pepsin not only quickly relieves stomach distress, but it also conquers stubborn indigestion, dyspepsia and gastritis, and puts an end to dizziness, nervousness, headaches, sleeplessness and despondency which distressing troubles are nearly always caused by chronic stomach disturbance.

Dare's Mentha Pepsin is pleasant to take, has a delightfully refreshing taste and after it has put your stomach in a clean and healthy condition, just notice how much better you look and feel, for besides correcting stomach disorders this supremely good remedy that G. E. Dehlin and druggists everywhere guarantee, is a fine tonic that builds you up and makes

WHAT OTHERS ARE THINKING

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION:
Do you think Delta county should have a closed season on partridge?
SAM ROSENBLUM—
The season ought to be closed for a while at least, as the situation is now. If the people would leave the birds alone while the season is closed, we wouldn't have to do away with partridge hunting for any definite time. I think that the people living right there in the woods, having nothing to keep them from getting all the partridge they want, are not in want of them at all. If these folks would leave them alone, we wouldn't be finding their numbers small at any time. As it is now I think we should close the season for a while.

STEVE GORANOWSKI—
I would advocate a short season for the partridge, but I do not think it necessary to close it entirely for any definite length of time. I do not think their numbers are as small as most folks believe and therefore the closed season not necessary. Of course the birds need protection, but that should be given by rightly enforcing the law prohibiting their hunting out of season. The lessening of their numbers is not due to the over hunting of the bird, but to weather conditions, etc., that determine their numbers for the year.

JOSEPH GRAWLEY—
I think the season should be closed for a time to protect the partridge, I would say, from three to five years. They're constantly decreasing in numbers, and it's up to us to protect them if we are looking for any future partridge hunting. Many of the other counties now have taken this step, and Delta will probably be in line with them soon.

J. W. NEVILLE—
Yes, close the season. We should have partridge hunting restricted for at least two years. After such a time we'd all be able to get out and get our share. As it is now, a few folks are getting all they want, the year round. The partridge has been decreasing in numbers for some time. The only solution of the problem is the closed season. We ought to protect the bird.

The Misses Bina Davis and Marie Kimber returned Tuesday from Grand Rapids where they attended the State Convention of the churches of the Latter Day Saints. They represented the local parish there. The meetings lasted two days.

County Golf Links Assured
Crystal Falls—The members of the Iron River Lions' Club and the Crystal Falls Rotary club have gone so far with the proposed golf links for Iron county that they have agreed to pay for preliminary plans and estimates. The expenditure will be met by contributions from members of the two clubs who have put themselves back of the proposition. The golf links, if the proposal materializes, will be a public ground open to any person who is willing to pay the fee. The grounds will be put in shape for golf purposes by a county golf club with an initiation fee of $100, the fee to be used to construct the links.
