REPORT from Lansing has it that upper peninsula legislators, just who is not stated definitely, will again bring up that old bugaboo, a lower automobile license fee for motorists of this section.

MEMORIES

Items of interest in Gladstone and its vicinity of years gone by.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

The Gladstone Delta, November 21, 1908. Gladstone's defeat of Marquette Saturday afternoon by a score of 14 to 9 was something of a surprise to the men from the north.

The first hunting accident of the season here was not serious. Lee Carpenter, aged 15, rested the muzzle of a .22 calibre rifle on his foot; the unloaded gun was discharged and the bullet went straight thru.

Wilford & Sons have adopted as their trademark the Delta, a blue triangle, for their flints and the word "Delta" in red, enclosed.

Ninety licenses were issued in town this morning before 10 o'clock. It is evident, however, that the number will be slightly diminished below last year's.

Woodenware Camp 8 has been a center for Gladstone hunters lately. Among those who were there Sunday were W. A. Miller, William Cramb, Charles Walt, etc.

The Lotus now omits one trip to the head of the bay, going no farther north than Gladstone at noon.

ago about the death of Roy Kline, formerly of Gladstone, is not true. Funeral services over the body of Olaf P. Scott were conducted from the home and Methodist Church Wednesday.

Miss Helen Subesky teacher at the Fourth Ward school entertained the fifth grade at the home of Mrs. James Estrick, Friday evening.

The guests were Marcella Vandansel, Iva Miller, Evelyn Olson, Junnet Kanney, Viola Masterson, Hilda Nelson, Cecilia Weddell, Bernice Shaw, Blanche Avery, Bernice Moore, Lucene Fisher, Margie Kennedy, Estlin Reide, Elizabeth Kalline, Lillian Raiche and Kathleen Neville.

Mrs. K. F. McDonald died today at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. D. McDonald after a two months illness. The body will be taken to Cheboygan for burial.

Harold Swanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Swanson of this city, died at Superior Wis., on Thursday of this week.

Peter Peterson, Soren Johnson, Sid Goldstein and Frank Miller are at Camp Ho Ho Hunting.

The fire department responded to a call Friday night from the home of Peter Caron to a chimney fire.

HOPES FOR HARVEST ON RETURN SHOWING OF "HUNCHBACK"

The management of the Rialto Theater, announcing another showing of the big super-picture, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," which is to begin Wednesday night, is confident that the new film production will occasion even greater results than the first showing.

The general opinion of the great Hugo masterpiece, expressed on all sides after the local premier left no room to doubt that it was hailed as a film drama that would "live," and repeated presentations have not seemed to dim the alurement of the mammoth movie in the eyes of theater-goers, according to John Vogt, manager of the Rialto.

MENOU FILM SURPASSES FAMOUS STAGE PLAY

What was lost in the stage play has been amply made up in the screen production of that celebrated Sardou drama, "Captain Ferral," throughout and the plot is particularly gripping.

In the supporting cast are Evelyn Brent, Nora Lane, Raoul Paval, Frank Leigh, Claude King, Margaret Burt and William Collier, Jr.

The Legislature that will convene in January can set one record aimed at but never attained by previous sessions—that is completing its deliberations and enactments within a reasonable time and then adjourning.

Every legislator goes to Lansing with the same thought in mind, to put through some impressive piece of legislation bearing his name, making it forever one to be conjured with.

WHENEVER something special is demanded in the way of laws, there is every reason why a special session should be called. It is not important enough to warrant such a call, it can wait until the subsequent regular convening.

EVERYTHING that goes up must come down again. That is an old truth that must be borne in mind relative to the wild orgy of stock market operations that have sent quotations upward, continually upward, furnishing a temptation hard to resist by those anxious to get in on easy profits.

THE big talk in the next session will revolve around the criminal code enacted last session. Gov. Green and leaders are generally agreed that it should be strengthened rather than weakened.

THE Norway Current says that Norway and Hamtramck were the only Michigan cities to vote for Gov. Smith and the Democratic party, according to the Chicago Tribune poll.

THE prohibitionists were expected to herald Hoover's election as a victory for their cause. Let them explain the New York and Wisconsin vote. Overwhelmingly against prohibition, yet they voted for the Republican ticket.

CHICAGO furnishes an illuminating example of the value of shore line property. Miles and miles of such property that at one time was of no use and hard to look upon have been reclaimed through filling in and in another year what has been an eye sore will have been converted into beautiful park property.

THE present high water levels give weight to Chicago's argument favoring its withdrawal through the Chicago river drainage canal of a great volume of water from Lake Michigan.

A. H. MANN DREAMED HIS RAILROAD CAREER

"Speed is one feature that has not changed. Some passenger trains attain the speed of eighty miles per hour. The Soo Line trains run between fifty-five and sixty," Mr. Mann said. "Freight service has greatly improved, and shipments are handled with greater speed and efficiency."

Passenger travel has fallen off greatly since the advent of the automobile. Trains were crowded in the earlier days because they presented almost the only opportunity to get from place to place.

"Now we are doing not over five percent of the travel by train that was done then," Mr. Mann said. "Not over ten percent of all travel is done on trains. The division here has 350,000 miles in passenger revenue, and before automobile travel, it paid three and four times that much."

When asked if he thought airplanes would finally displace train passenger travel, Mr. Mann shook his head. "Although the railroads will lose much in passenger travel as soon as air travel becomes more popular, it will never replace trains," he expressed himself. "We will never be able to handle all the mail by airplane, and on freight for long hauls, we will be able to compete with anybody. Passenger trains too, I believe will keep on running."

Gladstone had been a railroad center from the early days of the city, but it became a division point April 1, 1924, for the purpose of giving more supervision in this territory. Mr. Mann succeeded W. H. Corbett when he came here, Mr. Corbett going to Superior, Wis. in a similar capacity. This division has 553 miles of railroad. The mileage of the entire Soo Line system is 4,263.

Transportation Costs Reduced
Through the use of more powerful and larger trains and other improvements that have been made, the cost of transportation has been cut in half," Mr. Mann stated. "The public is directly benefited by the progress railroads have made in equipping themselves with handle larger trains to the extent that within the last four year period they have reduced the cost of handling freight 15c per thousand gross tons miles, on a year's business on the Gladstone division, as an example. This means a reduction of $20,000 in fuel and $90,000 in other transportation expense, including wages etc."

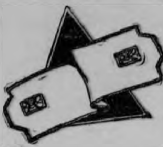

Mr. Mann recalls many amusing experiences in his varied career. When soldiers were traveling considerably at the outset of the war, many of them caused amusement because of their lack of knowledge of train life. Many had never seen a sleeping car before. The change when they came back was interesting. They had learned by experience, and were a different class of travelers.

Knows Railroad Life
He has seen railroad life in all its forms, men starting from the bottom and after years and years some attaining their goal, others not, the horrors of wrecks and accidents that cost lives. Hazards are less now than in the early days.

There are 742 employees at the Gladstone Division point including 370 train and engine men with a total earnings for one year of $1,904,719. M. J. Magoon is the chief dispatcher and M. Mathison assistant chief. There are six truck dispatchers, Chancery Brown, Fred Cowen, Edger Farnow, M. W. Kincher, H. J. Freeman and A. A. Aashe. Mr. Aashe came here from Superior a few months ago. The duties of a train dispatcher are very exacting, and upon him rests serious responsibility.

Mr. Mann has truly "lived" from the ranks, from the menial duties of a station helper to telegraph operator, train dispatcher, trainmaster, and finally division point head. Hard work has deserved promotion, and he isn't through working yet by a long ways.

Inside Out

A Weekly Panorama of Events in the National Capital by Peter Krasig, Special Correspondent for the Delta Reporter.

CALVIN COOLIDGE, who next month will celebrate the presidential jubilee, did more (of at least one thing) than any chief executive of the nation has secured—the very advertised northwest by choosing this ever-popular playground as the summer capital.

THE MOST skilled Washington reporters can't "smoke out" Mr. Coolidge when it comes to finding out what he plans to do after he leaves the White House next March. The present favorite conversation pastime in Washington is guessing about Mr. Coolidge. Ever since he hastened from Vermont to take over the duties imposed by President Harding's death, Mr. Coolidge has been shadowed by a huge question mark. For six years the nation at large has been wondering about Mr. Coolidge. He received little name of the White House starting six years ago with "What will Coolidge do about Harding's death?"

WHAT OF THE Democratic party? The decision of Al Smith's defeat has done much to discourage a Smith candidacy for '32. It must be remembered, however, that the Democratic national committee is in the hands of Smith's friends and that they are not very much concerned with the political fortunes of anyone but Al Smith. We may see Al a candidate again in 1932. It is the possible emergence this year and of his later success that no one else will rise to lead the party.

THERE WILL likely be some activity on tariff revision in the short session of the "old Congress," opening December, closing March. Pressure in certain quarters is being brought to bear upon this matter. Certain Republican leaders do not believe that they can get off these demands. If no tariff revision is made in the short session, a special session may be forced. Industries are well organized and have obtained promises of their Representatives and Senators to support bills for immediate tariff revision.

OFFICIAL WASHINGTON feels that Hoover acted wisely when he decided to tour South America prior to his inauguration. The feeling is that this visit will strengthen the friendship existing between the two nations. Our business men are turning more and more to South American markets and the nations of that continent are gradually growing to the size of the world powers.

WHO WILL President-Elect Herbert Hoover place in his Cabinet? That is the question that is going the rounds here now. Most Washingtonians feel that Mr. Hoover will spring a few surprises when he announces his Cabinet appointments. Hoover talks but little, and as yet one guess is as good as another. All cabinet talk should be regarded as highly speculative, except perhaps Andrew W. Mellon. Mr. Mellon as Secretary of the Treasury is the only bit of speculation that should be taken seriously at this stage of the game. It is agreed on the inner circles here that Mr. Mellon will continue in the post that he held thru the Harding and Coolidge administrations. Mr. Ogden L. Mills will likely continue as Under-Secretary and, many believe, be Mr. Wm. J. Donovan, mentioned here as Mr. Hoover's choice as Attorney General. Can't have two Cabinet members from same state, so this is only a guess.

HOOPER'S ADVISERS here claim that William Jardine will be continued as Secretary of Agriculture at least a while. He has displayed a great loyalty to Mr. Hoover, and Hoover is certain to retain him, in the opinion of those very close to the President. It is very close to the President's will that in this case, Hoover will later

UPPER PENINSULA

Wait More Police SAULT STE. MARIE—Two additional policemen may be added to the police department January 1. The question will be settled definitely at the next regular meeting of the commission, November 19. Chief of Police Herbert L. White, at the request of that body, covered the entire commission. The regular night and outlined the duties of his department, the amount of work being done, and told the commission of the handiwork under which the police department is now working with seven patrolmen.

Calvin Gets License IRON RIVER—The only non-resident license sold to date has been obtained by Charles K. Galin, of Chicago, chairman of the Cook county Republican party. Galin has been at the hotel at Sault Ste. Marie for the past several days. He is a good business man—there's no denying that fact and there'll be very little "weak timber" in his Cabinet of other departments.

To Meet in Ironwood IRONWOOD—The Upper Peninsula Medical society will hold its annual convention in Ironwood in August, 1929, it was announced at a recent meeting of the Goshic County Medical society. It is expected that practically every physician of the upper peninsula will come to Ironwood for the meeting. Clinics will be held and speakers of national reputation will discuss medical and surgical questions during the convention.

Auto Drivers Held SAULT STE. MARIE—Norman Hampton, Lassadowne avenue and Earl Harrison, both Ontario, are facing charges of reckless driving growing out of two automobile accidents when Antonio Gardner, River Indian and Mrs. Ella Orchard, 313 North street, Sault Ste. Marie, were badly injured. Bail for each man was fixed at $2,000. Leasing was hit on the Garden River road by Hampton. It was claimed that Hampton was speeding

THE PIANO OF THE FUTURE New York City—The first double-banked piano has made its appearance in this country. The invention of Emanuel Moor, of Switzerland, and introduced into America by Chickering is now on exhibit at Ampico Hall. Prominent musicians have called it the piano of the future. It can do what no other piano has ever done. What one plays singly, the double-tiered keyboard with pedals, doubles the octave. It is like two men playing and will make possible more difficult compositions than have ever been played.

New X-Ray Equipment SAULT STE. MARIE—The best X-Ray equipment available will be installed in the War Memorial hospital within the next two weeks at a cost of about $1,500. Decision to purchase the equipment was reached at the monthly meeting of the hospital board. With the installation of the new equipment the hospital will be in a position to handle nearly every kind of X-ray case and thus conform to the requirements of the American College of Surgeons. In October 14 X-ray cases were handled.

Muskrat Trapping Industry POPULAR IN MICHIGAN Lansing—Michigan's muskrat trapping industry has been an important one in past years, without anyone knowing to what extent it was being carried on. Previous to the issuing of licenses this fall, few persons have ever realized that more than 20,000 citizens plan to trap muskrats on land where they do not live. The office force of the department of conservation knows better than anyone else just how great the demand was for permits, as all applications were made to the main office.

FRUIT MEN TO TALK NEW ORCHARD WAYS East Lansing—Problems uppermost in the minds of progressive fruit growers of Michigan will be death with by horticulture specialists and leaders in the industry during the three-day program of the Michigan Horticultural Society in its 28th annual meeting at Grand Rapids, Dec. 4, 5, and 6. Through research investigations of recent years, W. C. Dutton, of the M. S. C. horticultural department, has developed a procedure for better finish and color. Burkhardt, of Traverse City prominent cherry grower and canner will tell of his experiences with bees in his cherry orchard. He has moved bees into his orchard at blossom time for many years and has obtained exceptionally good results. A discussion of "The Facts on Orchard Heating" will be given by F. C. Wells, superintendent of the Graham Horticultural Experiment Station at Grand Rapids. HUNTING FIRST WEEK WAS SUCCESSFUL

The first week of the deer hunting season which opened November 15 has been a successful one to many of the local hunters and a number of the lower peninsula hunters who are camping along the Whitefish valley have fared as well. One car left Tuesday for the western part of the state with their quota of deer and others are preparing to leave in a few days. Where there are four or five hunters together in camp, two or three have been successful and delay in getting away is caused only by the desire to have all their license. A number of the hunters have also taken up trapping as a sideline having procured the necessary traps and traps. A half dozen muskrat or mink will pay the expense of the trip or made into a neck piece or collar will make a beautiful gift.

The male members of the school faculty were two thirds successful in their week end hunt. Supt. L. C. Wolfe and Prin. J. Miller had a little difficulty in filling their license Sunday but H. E. Nelson returned empty handed to await another week when he hopes for better results. The men left late Friday evening after the basketball game and returned Sunday afternoon. They hunted in the vicinity of the Hoo Hoo camp on the Haymeadow. C. E. Hamilton and son John had little difficulty filling their license. The camp but Harry Rouse of Wyandotte who has been hunting here for several years has yet to get his.

A lost hunter from the Roy Bergman camp stumbled into the Ross camp Friday evening about 7 o'clock wild-eyed and exhausted. He had several hours aimless wandering through the woods and swamps. Darkness overtaking him several miles from his own camp he became lost. After nearly three hours of tramping through marshes and over ridges he found a road which took him in a short time to the Ross camp. After resting and having a warm meal served he was directed to the right road and returned to his own camp as he knew the men would be looking for him.

The light fall of snow Saturday night was beneficial to the hunters in their quest of the game during the next two days. It proved good tracking snow and with a high and colder weather promising better results are expected by the still unsuccessful ones.

GLADSTONE YOUNG WOMAN BRIDE OF HARRY SHERWOOD

Miss Elizabeth Firth of Gladstone daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Firth residents of the village a number of years ago, and Harry M. Sherwood son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Sherwood, were united in marriage Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the parsonage of Alice Memorial Episcopal church, Gladstone, by Rev. H. W. Colenso.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Knutson of Gladstone. A wedding reception and 6 o'clock dinner followed the ceremony and the young couple received the best wishes of many of their friends who called in the evening.

The bride resided here a number of years ago when her father was employed as a filer in the lumber mill. She attended the local school and will be remembered by many of her former school-mates. The groom is an expert mechanic in the employ of the Bonz Mfg. Co. at Masonville.

The young couple will make their home here.

LOCALS WIN THREE GAMES STRAIGHT

The high school basketball team annexed their third consecutive game last Friday night when they defeated the Rock River township high school of Eten on the local gym floor by the score of 21 to 5. The big boys from the north were not a match for the Nelsonites at any stage of the game succumbing to the aggressive attacks of the locals from the first toss-up.

Trotter was high pointer for the locals with six field goals. Young followed with three successful throws. Several of the reserves were thrown into the game and performed in good style.

The score:

Rock River	5	FG FT PF
Young	21	3 11 1
Caswell	1	1 1
Nelson	1	1 1
Trotter	6
Kirch	1

Totals: 10 1
Eten: 5 1
Tunter: 1 1
Lamm: 1 1
Anderson: 1 1
O'Leary: 1 1
Johnson: 1 1

Substitutes: Rushford for Young; Sloan for Trotter; R. Miller for Caswell; Robertson for Nelson.

Referee: Rayfield Carlson of Marquette State College.

LEGION AUXILIARY TO GIVE CARD PARTY

The Ladies Auxiliary to the American Legion will give a card party in the high school gym Tuesday evening, December 4. Bridge and Five Hundred will be played and prize given to the best scores. This will be the first public card party of the season and a large crowd is expected.

LOST HUNTER HAS HARROWING EXPERIENCE

Starting out from the Holmaner camp on the Haymeadow Saturday afternoon for a short hunt in the vicinity of Bishop lake, "Shorty" Morris of Cassopolis, Mich. became lost as night came on and wandered to the east of Peterson's lake over the plains, hills and through the marshes circling to the south and around the headwaters of the Bill's creek, across the big marsh known as the Wicklander marsh going then in a north and westerly direction until he fell exhausted about 4 o'clock Sunday morning.

A heavy, wet snow had been falling all night and the marshes were full of water. Morris was not able to see as well as all his matches so he was unable to build a fire. He fell exhausted near a large upturned root and was huddled there only a short time when he saw an automobile light coming towards him. A party of Gladstone hunters were on their way to their camp and Morris called to them. They responded to his calling but he was unable to move. The men had to carry him to their car. The upturned root was only a short distance from a trail and only about 40 rods from the camp. Morris had come to the Bill's creek near the Roberts and Westling camps. With daylight he would have been able to find his way out from there if his condition would be good enough for further traveling. He was completely exhausted and suffering from his night's exposure.

Morris was taken by the men who found him to his own camp on the Haymeadow where his party had been conducting an all night search for him. Roy C. Bergman, a former local boy, now a veterinary surgeon located at Cassopolis, was the leader of the party having come up here for the past several years during the hunting season. Morris was confined to bed all day Sunday but on Monday was up and insisted on more hunting. He went out hunting again on Tuesday but was unsuccessful and left for his home Wednesday. His experience was a harrowing one and for a man of his age being past 50 it is surprising it did not have more serious results. It did not dampen his enthusiasm for hunting but pressure of business compelled him to leave for home before filling his license.

PILGRIM HOUSEWIVES DIDN'T HAVE THIS Washing Comfort

Life to them meant work, drudgery—but the world has moved on, changed, since those fitful days of 1620. The modern housewife has many demands upon her time, and her energies. Don't let her spend her time at the wash tub. Social life demands that she keep young, be looking her best. The drudgery of washing makes for old age and wrinkles.

The Escanaba Steam Laundry can relieve you of this burden of a weekly wash day at such small cost that you will be surprised. Let us, and time for the things you like to do be a part of your life.

HAVE WE NO PUBLIC-SPIRITED CITIZENS?

The twelfth annual Red Cross drive is being conducted this week throughout the nation. It is for a most worthy cause and its membership is expected to run into the millions. The membership fee is $1.00 for one year and the member receives a small Red Cross button and membership card. The satisfaction of being a member is not weighed by the small contribution made or by the button. It is a great satisfaction that comes from within having done a little bit in relieving the sufferings in the disasters throughout the world.

In the selection of chairmen for the townships of the county in conducting this drive, every township but Masonville was favored with a local chairman for this work. Why Masonville township, which is one of the largest in the county in area and in population, should be annexed to some other city in this drive beyond explanation by local people. Have we no public spirited citizen who would accept this chairmanship? We have an American Legion and a hard working Legion Auxiliary. Would not any of their officers or members take charge of this drive in the township? Masonville township was patriotic enough during the World War to send 10 per cent of its entire population to the colors and was in every drive conducted during the war but in the first through county Red Cross drive since the war Masonville township is relegated to the back seat.

This may seem to many to be a trivial affair but the success of the drive locally depends upon a closer contact between the chairman and the prospective members than is possible under the present arrangements. When the southern part of Illinois was torn apart swept three years ago, Masonville and Rapid River contributed nearly $150,000 to the sufferers through auto appeals for help. No county drive was made but local people made the drive with very little effort.

The theatre has had its ups and downs but at no time was it a very successful venture. The building was not all that could be desired as a theatre building. The machinery will remain in the building as it will be out of the way of the other work.

Why Not Put the Half-Billion to Work?

Six thousand lives lost—a half-billion in property destroyed by fire every year! What a tragic, needless sacrifice!

Every owner pays a share of the annual half-billion loss—whether he has a fire or not. He pays it in insurance, taxes and depreciation.

Most of this loss occurs in structures of comparatively small size; common sense has forced fire-safe construction of new large buildings.

Sound financing will not always permit making a small structure completely fire-proof. But a small increase in cost will yield a large increase in fire-safety.

Competent architects say that a fire-safe first floor of reinforced concrete will increase the cost of the average dwelling about two per cent—and even less in larger structures. Statistics indicate that at least thirty per cent of residential fires start in basements. A first floor of reinforced concrete will effectually protect the upper structure against a basement fire.

Single dwellings, small apartment houses, stores, hotels, factories, warehouses, theatres, and churches can have the fire-hazard reduced to minor proportions by employing reinforced concrete for first floors, stair enclosures and other vital locations. The additional cost is surprisingly low—and the reduced fire-risk only one of the benefits.

Why not put the half-billion to work?

"En Passant"

Observations and Comment by Alice Fox
ONE CITED deer hunter who invaded our north woods didn't know a thing about the wide open spaces. He wandered into one of our stumps to reach his supply of soft collars and got a snapper bow tie. This was his first deer hunt, so that explains why he needed such a complete hunting accession. He just didn't want to give the deer a bad impression on his first time out—looking his best—you know.
But he didn't have to worry. He probably wouldn't get far enough away from the pancake griddle and the sheet iron stove to get a good aim.
THE GUYS WHO ARE still waiting for their new Fords are about the only ones who occasionally say "It won't be long now."
THERE WAS A TIME in the early days of the Marble Arms Manufacturing Company when the factory called a shut down entire deer hunting season, and the entire force beat it for the woods. The employees were all enthusiastic sportsmen, and deer hunting season couldn't mean anything else but just that. Now, though, there are many deer hunters among them, the demand for their services to outfit the mob of deer hunters who invade our woods each year is so great that the season couldn't be accommodated with a shut down. Many of them are out of a few days yet, even though they can't make it one call holiday.
WE'VE ALL READ THE declaration that "Want Ads Pay," but a personal experience is more convincing such as one local woman had recently. Her dog carried off her slipper, and she was just about to class that pair of shoes among her losses when an ad in the Reporter brought it back.
And that's only one incident of service. Try it out yourself some time. But you don't have to wait until you lose a slipper. Your "wants" are served just as readily.

that old rhyme could be changed to read. Even with the Christmas season a month off, the spirit of it is in every household already. There's secret's afloat, and plans of little surprises that are shared. And it's your plans of bringing joy to others that makes the greatest happiness for you, and puts that Christmas spirit in the very air a whole month ahead of time.

CHICAGOAN WINS WORLD'S FAIR POSTER CONTEST

A DETROIT MAN THOUGHT he solved the problem of his wife's seat driving when he rigged up the rear seat with a fence post with a steering wheel attached, and a set of brakes and shafts. He says she didn't drive from the back seat any more after that.
No doubt. There probably wasn't room for her in the back seat with all that junk back there.
NATION'S BEST ENTERED AT CHICAGO STOCK SHOW
From New York to California, and from Manitoba to the Mexican border, the choicest of horses, cattle, sheep, and swine will be assembled for the opening of the 29th International Live Stock Exposition in Chicago on December 1.
Secretary-Manager B. H. Heide announces that the total number of entries, both of live stock and in the grain and hay department, are the largest ever received. Upon this he bases the opinion that the coming exposition, scheduled December 1 to 8, will surpass those that have gone before it in the quantity of its exhibits and in their quality as well, entries for the most prominent state fair winners on last fall's circuits having been received.
According to the secretary's figures, there are several hundred more entered in the individual live stock classes than at any time before. Shorthorns lead there, last year's line up by nearly 100 heads, with a total of 642. "White Faces" will number 422, and the Aberdeen Angus breed will be represented by 346 choice individuals. Hampshires head the swine breeds for numbers, with 334, and the Chester-Whites are second with 212. A total of 1440 will take part in this division of the show.

CHAPTER XX—Continued There was an awed hush of envy and admiration. The defeated bidder, glared angrily. "In cash," queried Buckwell beaming triumphantly. The winner nodded complacently, then summoning the manager gave him instructions in an undertone. The manager crossed the room and, throwing aside a heavy curtain of magnificent silk, exposed to view the heavy steel doors of an enormous heavy vault which he proceeded to open, disclosing a scene beyond the wildest stretch of the imagination. The massive doors swung back and several attendants lined up and stood guard over the precious contents. The manager went inside and proceeded to select the purchase price from the wealth of gold and rare jewels that were within. Pearls, diamonds and other precious stones, a host of stacks of gold bullion, filled the vast interior. The scene beggared description. Even Buckwell was amazed at the richness of the contents displayed before him. His eyes sparkled with greed as the manager came out of the vault and placed an armful of precious gems on the table beside him. Dolores was seized with hopeless terror. There was no possible way for her to evade Buckwell or escape from the clutches of the lusty crated Chinaman who eyed her with the pride of possession. But she vowed that she would kill herself rather than permit anyone to come near her again.

She looked around for some means of taking her own life. Stairways, doors, windows and curtained recesses were all guarded. She empty handed and alone in a great room full of alien men. Buckwell stood behind the huge chandelier, carefully examining the jewels by its brilliant light. He was absorbed in his task. Dolores noticed his preoccupation and slipped away toward an alcove she had not noticed before. A waiting attendant barred her way. She opened another door and still another with the same result. Buckwell quietly observed her vain attempts to escape. "And now, my dear," he said with a leering smile. "Who is there to aid you? Where is your young suitor? Why doesn't he come to your rescue? You are the last of the vanquished. Who is there to avenger you?" he was contemptuously cruel.

Dolores backed away from him in loathing horror. There was no possible way out! In calm resignation she lifted her head proudly and stared at him with all the fierce pride of her ancestors. "You forget, Senior Buckwell! There is a way. There is ONE who will help me." And raising her tear dimmed eyes to Heaven she prayed, "Our Father who art in heaven, Hallowed be Thy Name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth—

Buckwell's mocking smile vanished. He moved uncomfortably. His roving glance shifted uneasily. His eyes were as still as death. All eyes were turned upon the heinous young girl as she prayed to her Heavenly Father for the aid that no one on earth could or would give. Dolores finished her prayer and stood with bowed head, waiting—waiting—

The feast of desire went on. Suddenly the floor beneath her rocked. The walls shook. The heavy chandelier began to sway perilously. The men eyed each other in fearful consternation. They were paralyzed with fear. The swaying chandelier swung in a wider arc and with a fearful ringing, rending tearing sound, broke from the ceiling and crashed down—down upon the pallid terror stricken face of Chris Buckwell.

but more than her tired body could manage. The shock of the last few hours had been too much for her tortured nerves, and with a sob of anguish she slipped to her knees. The thought of Terry, crushed, her for a moment and she wondered if he had been able to escape. With renewed energy she struggled forward. "Dear Father, in Heaven," she prayed, "give me strength to find him."

COUGHS STOPPED ALMOST INSTANTLY

These was something more terrifying about this disaster, in the dark labyrinth of San Francisco's underground dens that was far greater than the panic on the streets above. It was the fear of the unknown mingled with the terror of the unknown. Dolores crawled painfully to her knees from where she had been hurled by the terrified Chinamen. The dull gleam of a lamp, that through some miracle had continued to burn cast flickering shadows that danced grotesquely across the littered floor. The once gorgeous banquet hall of the pleasure loving Chinamen was a shambles. Silken draperies had been torn from the walls and trampled under foot, tables were overturned, chairs were broken. Here and there still forms, pinned by death taken beams, lay strewed like huge gorgeous butterflies. Other Chinamen besides Buckwell had come to meet their ancestors. What had happened Dolores did not know. She had prayed for deliverance and wondered if this was the only answer God could give to her prayer. Some catastrophe had wrought a havoc that her bewildered brain could not grasp. Dazedly she arose to her feet and groped blindly across the room where the dim rays of the lamp faintly outlined a half open door. It was a violent effort

HUNTERS ASKED TO HELP SOLVE DUCK FOOD PROBLEM

Lansing—Duck hunters are being asked to forward to the Department of Conservation, some division, the "crop" and "cizzards" of the birds which they shoot. The contents of their organs will be examined in connection with the duck-food survey which the same division is making and will help answer the question, "What do wild ducks eat in Michigan?"

When this question is answered, real progress can be made in the planting of suitable vegetables to increase the supply of duck food in countless lakes and marshes. Sportsmen sending in such crops and "cizzards" are asked to keep them chilled until they can be sent by parcel post. Stomachs of the different duck species should be kept together and should be labeled so as to show the species, and where, when and by whom the ducks were shot.

If hunters are in doubt as to correct name of any of the ducks which they shoot, and if they will send in a wing of the unknown bird, it will be identified by the Game Division Department of Conservation, Lansing.

FRENCH INVENTOR WORKING ON TELEVISION IMPROVEMENTS
Paris, France.—Dr. Karolas, inventor of the famous "Karolas cell," well known for his work on television, is shown here with his latest development in this line, as a apparatus which the learned doctor can use to transmit pictures over a long distance by either radio or cable. The principle of the apparatus is much the same as that of other television inventions, that is, the "scanning" of the object or film by a small dot of light. The film in this particular case will require transmission of approximately 10,000 dots per picture. The pictures are to follow each other so rapidly as to produce the motion picture effect.

ROBOT ENTERS THE PULPIT

DEATH COMES TO MRS. I. N. BUSHONG

eleven months old, and was born at East Canton, Pa. Surviving her are her husband, Isaac N. Bushong, two daughters, Mrs. G. A. Vradenburg, and Mrs. Carlton Reade of Toledo, and one son, J. Paul Bushong of this city. Three sisters and one brother are also living. Mrs. Louise Watt of Pittsburg, Pa., Mrs. Avery Sicketts of Baltimore, Md., and Mrs. John Roberts of Princess Anne, Md., and T. M. Watt of Canton, Pa. Six grand children also survive. Mrs.

Mary Alice Bushong, a student at Downer College at Milwaukee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bushong arrived here to attend the funeral.

Funeral On Tuesday
The service was held Tuesday afternoon from the home at 805 Wisconsin. Rev. H. W. Coleman of the Methodist Church officiated, and gave a brief sermon as part of the impressive ceremony. Two beautiful hymns were sung by Attorney G. R. Empton, J. F. Richardson, Mrs. Ed. Foster and Miss Ethel Empton, with Miss Alwyn Empton playing the piano accompaniment. The hymns were "All Blessed the life when he died," and "Abide with me." The room where the casket lay was banked with beautiful flowers as silent mementos of the esteem and respect in which Mrs. Bushong was held.

At five o'clock the body was removed from the home to a private car of the C. & N. W. in which the relatives and close friends accompanied the body to Leipsic, Ohio for burial. Pallbearers were Attorney G. R. Empton, J. F. Richardson, John M. Olson, W. S. Skelenger, E. A. D'Amour, W. L. Marble, Dr. A. H. Miller, and R. J. Rieley.

Those who accompanied the body were Mr. Bushong, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Bushong and daughter Alice, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Vradenburg of Toledo, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Staple, Attorney G. R. Empton, George Nicholson of Manistawic and Rev. Coleman who conducted the service at Leipsic.

The Coopers Company closed operations Monday and Tuesday in respect for Mr. Bushong's sorrow, the Buckeye Store closed at noon the day of the funeral and the flag in the city floated at half mast throughout the day.

Her death leaves a vacancy in civic life that will not easily be filled, and has brought sadness to a community that will ever respect her memory.

Ponderous German Verbs

The ponderous use of the divided German verb is a characteristic of their mental processes as is one of their great mistakes. In fact, it reminds one of Big Bertha shooting at Paris. It also seems to be the thing which is most embedded in their way of thinking. I knew a German who had lived 40 years in America and had practically forgotten all his German. But to the end of his days he would get off such an expression as this: "As long as I live in this town the more I find by Jimmy Christmas, out" and that kind "out" latched with all the force of a projectile which had been carefully aimed and had carried a long distance. Henry C. Emery in Harper's Magazine.

Artful Dodger

"Excuse me, sir," said the elegantly-turned-out gentleman, "but is this Mr. Robinson's office?" "No. It is not," came the snappy reply from an individual seated behind a rolltop desk. "Much obliged," muttered the intruder and departed, leaving the door wide open, and a gale blew in on the frail man. "Hi, you!" he bawled, "Come back and shut my door!" Smilingly the other re-entered the office. From his bag he produced a mechanical appliance. "Here, sir," he said, "is the very latest type of door-closer on the market. Closes your door without a bang, and is guaranteed for ten years."—Answers.

Well, we don't either. He looks like a lodge member the way he's decorated out in his badge and emblems, and 'twas a rumor aloft that he hails from the Morning Star Lodge of Escanaba. However, to date he's unidentified and we'll have to file him away without a name unless we hear mighty soon.

OLD GAME IN NEW GUISE (Norway Current)
The "necktie game" has broken out in a new guise. It's Christmas cards now. The Current received a gaudily decorated box of Christmas cards through the mail this week which was offered us for one dollar. The sender requested the cards be returned if we did not desire to keep them. Return postage was guaranteed. Well, we are not going to send 'em a dollar for their collection of chromes, one return the cards either unless we receive a dollar for re-wrapping the package. We do not order the goods and if they want them they can come and get them for pay or for sending them back

We advise any of our readers who have received a similar package to take like action. This is the surest and quickest way to put these crafters out of business. And if you want Christmas cards you can secure much better value by calling on your local merchants, or even at The Current Office.

A Two Dollar Dinner For Six

- Baked Spinach Savory Meat Baked Potatoes
Rolls and Butter Pumpkin Pie Red and White Salad
Demi-tasse

Six people can dine very well on food prepared for two dollars, as witness the above menu. Recipes for preparing the foods are:

Savory Meat: Shred one pound of lamb, beef or pork and brown in its own fat in a frying pan. Add one cup of chopped celery and onion tops, one tablespoon minced onion and one tablespoon salt. Cover and cook about ten minutes. Add two tablespoons flour and two tablespoons butter mixed together and two cups canned, strained tomato juice. Stir until the mixture is thick and bubbling, then serve.
Baked Spinach: Open a can of spinach and put a layer in a greased baking dish; sprinkle with grated cheese, cover with spinach and repeat until both ingredients are used up. Have cheese on top. Bake in a moderate oven for fifteen minutes, then put under broiler flame to brown the cheese on top. It will cost about one cup cheese.
Red and White Salad: Mix one cup mayonnaise, one-half cup canned peas, one-half cup canned corn, one-half cup canned carrots and one-half cup canned beans with one-half cup canned cranberry sauce together with enough mayonnaise to moisten. Serve in glass cups.
Pumpkin Pie: Mix two cups canned pumpkin, one and one-eighth cups sugar, one teaspoon salt, one and one-half teaspoons ginger and one teaspoon cinnamon. Stir in three well-beaten egg yolks and two cups milk. Fold in three stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into a pie-pan lined with pastry and bake for 45-50 minutes in a temperature of 450 degrees F., reducing it at the end of that time to 325 degrees and baking until done—about thirty minutes.
Total costs for the foods are: Savory meat, 60 cents; baked potatoes, 4 cents; rolls and butter, 15 cents; red and white salad, 25 cents; pumpkin pie, 35 cents; coffee, 8 cents; total $1.96. The remaining four cents will go for incidentals such as spices, condiments, and fuel.
