City crew grapples with ice

by Mark Eisenlohr

You thought this winter has been hard on you and your family, consider the plight of the Department of Public Works employees for the city of Manistique.

At odd times of the night, they're working long hours to unfreeze water mains and service lines in the city so that you can have water.

According to Ray Linderoth, superintendent of DPW, the crew has had to contend with over 200 freeze-ups of water mains and service lines this year, which, he says, is the worst year since 1960.

Last year there were hardly any freeze-ups," says Linderoth. "This year, a long stretch of cold weather has driven the frost down so deep that it is freezing the lines.

"This is the worst year for freezing water since 1960," he says. Linderoth has been the superintendent since 1955 when he moved into the job.

Linderoth currently has 20 men working for him he says they "have all done a wonderful job keeping open the water and sewer lines."

Linderoth and his crew have been working overtime much of this year, only unfreezing water.

Sometimes, you know, you have to go twice a night," the 65-year-old superintendent says. "Like this morning we were out at 2 a.m."

Water and sewer pipes in much of the city are located about three feet below the surface of the ground level, well below the frost line.

Linderoth added that in most old towns, water and sewer pipes usually were laid close to the ground level.

Most of the freeze-ups this year have been in the service lines running from the main water line to the consumer, usually popping near the property lines.

"Snow on the ground acts as an insulator," says Linderoth. "Where the snow has been cleared from the roads is where we are having the freeze-ups."

Occasionally, Linderoth says, the freeze-up will continue on up to the house. But the DPW, because of the equipment it uses to unfreeze the water, will not go on the private property to do the job.

An arc-welder is used to melt the ice, a process that usually takes between five and 15 minutes. However, some frozen pipes have taken longer, he says.

"We are not allowed to go into the homes because of the equipment which could cause electrical problems," Linderoth said.

If the arc welder fails to melt the ice then steam is used, which Linderoth claims "is a crazy idea."

Workers unhook the service line from the main line and shoot the steam down through the pipes. Linderoth says that they have had to use the steam only in a few instances.

In addition to the frozen water pipes, the DPW has had to contend with two broken mains, one of which was on Maple Street.

This warm weather may be nice for most people and possibly for the DPW, but Linderoth says that it could create some problems.

"With the warm weather coming on, we wouldn't have to much trouble now," he says. "But with the warm air on top and the frost down below we may still see some problems."

Linderoth may not have to contend with the freeze-up problems in the future, however. The city is currently working on funds to replace most of the water and sewer lines in Manistique, placing them at six-foot depth whenever possible.

"The lines should be no less than six feet down, but we're going to have a rock problem," says Linderoth. "It's going to be a great expense getting through the rock."

"We'll hit the weak areas first with the new pipes, the places that really need it. Some dead end streets are only serviced by two-inch mains," says Linderoth. He added, "there will be a big improvement in water and sewer lines in Manistique."

Water and pipe service aren't the only things that the DPW is concerned with this year, either, says Linderoth.

"It's been a very hard year on machines due to the severe weather and the old equipment," he says. Linderoth added that the city has used 350 tons of salt on the roads and 200 yards of a chloride-sand mix.

"We used more than we anticipated and the city is now purchasing more to carry through the year," Linderoth said.

Carnival draws 2,000

Breeders may gain federal relief

Livestock farmers in Schoolcraft County may be eligible for federal relief in purchasing feed for livestock under an emergency livestock feed program approved by President Carter last week.

Governor William Milliken announced that he has been advised by President Carter that he has declared 13 Upper Peninsula counties eligible for the new federal emergency livestock feed program.

The program approval follows a request by Governor Milliken for an agriculture disaster declaration to help farmers recover from severe drought conditions experienced last summer.

According to El Hepker, MSU cooperative extension director, area crop producers have experienced and approximate 50 percent crop production loss because of the drought.

The program, the first such program authorized in the state of Michigan, would pay up to 50 percent of the daily feeding costs for a maximum of 10 pounds per animal per day.

Eligibility in the emergency feed program is based on the amount of feed production lost at the same rate of 10 pounds per day of the feeding period.

According to Hepker, hay prices have doubled in the last few years, with some reported instances of hay selling for three times the amount paid 5 years ago.

Hay currently sells for $80 per ton. Estimates indicated that over a two year period, the time most cattle are kept before being sold, the farmer would have approximately $400 in feeding costs for that animal.

Hepker said that farmers are currently getting about $275 for their cattle, including trucking and sales tax.

Part of the problem for the low return on cattle returns to the drought conditions and the shortage of feed for the animals.

"The market has been flooded with beef," said Hepker, who added that most farmers just cannot afford to feed the cattle and thus are selling them.

Hepker estimated that 1250 beef cattle have been disposed of from Schoolcraft County because of the shortage of feed. He added that 25 dairy cattle and 45 hogs were also shipped out for sale for the same reason.

Under the new program the farmer would be eligible for benefits through June 15 of this year.

In his application to President Carter, Milliken wrote, "Livestock operators are facing critical feed shortages due to feed crop losses of up to 75 percent. Farmers in the affected areas have already culled approximately 36,000 head of livestock because of the inability to pay for the high costs of feed transportation from other areas."

Problems may appear next year if the crop areas don't receive enough water again this summer. "We're hoping for moisture," said Hepker, "but we are also looking at alternatives. One of which is a faster maturing crop."

"We're trying to come up with a crop that uses the least amount of moisture with an early maturing time."

According to Hepker this would alleviate some of the problems by having the crop out of the ground before the end of summer, normally considered the driest part of the year.

He also indicated that such a crop would produce less per acre than a normal crop.

Marina planned for Seul Choix

by Mark Eisenlohr

If final working plans carry on as scheduled, then the Seul Choix Pointe grounds will have a new owner, a new tenant, and a much improved look about it.

According to Wells Bowers, Mueller Township supervisor, Mueller Township will lease the Seul Choix land from its future owners, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, to maintain the park and picnic facilities currently in operation and to improve those facilities at a later date.

Mueller Township currently is leasing the land from the United States Coast Guard which operates a lighthouse on the point.

Last August, the General Services Administration (GSA) of the federal government determined that the land was surplus and put it up for a disposal to interested groups.

Among those making application for the land were the DNR and Mueller Township, applying for the land for recreational purposes, and two colleges, which requested the land for educational needs.

According to Bowers, the two colleges were never really considered and it was just a matter of deciding between the DNR and the township.

Bowers said that the township was contacted about making an arrangement with the DNR by the GSA.

"We had orders from the General Services to contact the DNR and see if we could work something out," says Bowers.

As yet, final arrangements haven't been decided by the GSA and the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, the two agencies in charge of the disposal. But the preliminary agreement calls for the DNR to gain deed to the land, with Mueller Township leasing it from the department.

Mueller Township had sought the land to be deeded to the township and had drawn support from the late U.S. Sen. Phil Hart, U.S. Sen. Robert Griffin, U.S. Congressman Phil Ruppe and DNR Director Howard Tanner.

The DNR had sought the land as part of keeping with its own policy of acquiring Great Lakes access points.

Under the surplus land designation by the government, 6.1 acres of land as well as several buildings all went up for disposal. The buildings include a two story brick dwelling, a four bedroom, brick, ranch-type house, two brick oil houses, and a fog signal building.

A small rectangular parcel of land where the lighthouse sits and the coast guard office will be retained for the continued operation of the lighthouse. In addition, the government keeps the right for an unobstructed arc of visibility and easements for access and utility.

According to Bowers, the DNR will establish a marina at the point sometime within the next couple of years. At the same time, the township will be making improvements at the picnic site.

"At this time we only have four tables," Supervisor Bowers said. "However, if the people are there in the spring, then the township will be buying more."

The area currently has parking for 15 cars. However that may change as soon as the DNR begins its construction project.

"When the DNR put in their marina they will be making parking improvements and expanding the facilities," said Bowers, who added that those expanded facilities include chemical toilets, a missing necessity at the moment.

"When they put in their toilets, that will take care of all the facilities," said Bowers.

The township currently maintains a nature walk around the point which Bowers says "gets a surprising amount of use."

It isn't known when the DNR will begin construction on the marina, but before it does it must apply to the Corps of Engineers for a permit, which Bowers says is "just a formality."

The DNR is also considering having the area designated as a historic site, something that the township would like very much.

"I've been told that this is the last lighthouse in the Upper Peninsula of this type," says Bowers. "The DNR have already said that they will be seeking the designation."

If it is accepted as a historic site, then the township may become eligible for federal funds for the upkeep of the buildings and land.

The township has also considered opening a museum in one of the buildings featuring artifacts from early settlers in the area.

As yet, though, the final arrangements, have not been worked out between the respective government agencies and improvements and construction cannot be started until they have been completed.

But that, too, may be just a formality.

Schools acquire property

The Manistique Area School Board of Education held in a brief 30 minute meeting, Tuesday night, March 8 at the Manistique High School board room.

With little official action taken, the board spent much of its time reviewing agenda items and discussing possible action.

Superintendent Richard Bonifas told the board final arrangements have been made on the acquisition of property adjacent to the west side of the school. Bonifas also told the board that bids would be let for the removal and or demolition of the building and trees located on the property.

School officials currently are tabulating basic school supplies for the coming year. Bonifas asked the board for permission to initiate the orders for those items that are "Necessary, initial start-up" supplies to avoid a delay that was experienced at the start of the current school year.

Superintendent Bonifas also indicated to the board that he has invited the state police, city police and the juvenile officer to meet with the administrative staff, to receive some recommendations relative to the procedure the school will use in handling students apprehended passing marijuana, pills and other drugs.

Other action taken by the board, Tuesday night:

The board approved building and site bills totaling $15,602.33.

The board set aside until the March 22 meeting action to be taken on probationary teachers in the Manistique Area Schools.

Bonifas told the board that waiting until March 22 would give them a better idea on the budget as well as projected enrollment before deciding on any lay-offs. The teachers currently up for tenure include Deborah Butryn, Mary Ellen Debelak, Ann Hendricks, Susan Krupla, Michele Papineau, Patricia Slining, Mary Richey, Kelly Byrne, Paul Cappoferri, and Susan White.

ANITA MEFFER, 9, with her parents, John and Mrs. John Meffer, holds a 229-2 bowling tourney this month at Lakeside registration box for the annual drive's event. (Tribune Photo)

Anita makes progress, thanks to Bay Cliff

Anita put the coins in the vending machine and took out an orange pop. "That's such a simple action," said her father, John Meffer Jr. "But it's really something to see."

Meffer was talking about the progress in his nine-year-old daughter, who has had operations on both ears to aid a hearing problem she has lived with all her life. "She's progressed in our eyes," he added. "We can see it. And her teachers can see it."

Meffer said he and his wife Penny had no communication whatsoever with their daughter before she started attending Bay Cliff Health Camp nearly four years ago. There, speech therapists and counselors helped her speech development and physical coordination.

As the years passed, Anita's parents have noticed a dramatic improvement in her communication skills. "We learned a whole lot from camp to," Meffer said. "Especially how to teach her."

Today, Anita attends special education classes through the intermediate school district and is a happy, active and inquisitive child.

The seven-week camp, at which the Meffers again plan to enroll Anita this summer, is supported in part by the annual CBC drive.

Anita will be one of the poster persons for the local CBC's bowling tournament at Lakeside Lanes this month.

CAROL SCHWARTZ (LEFT) Orville Paradise, and Lois Price, 5th graders at Lakeside School, were some of the students making posters for CBC to be displayed in downtown stores. The 5th grad class at Lakeside undertook the project last Friday.

CBC draws near goal

"At this point in time, it looks like we're meeting our goals on schedule. I think we have a good shot at the $12,000 goal," said Mike Brooks, chairman of the CBC Committee, Wednesday following the regular Tuesday night meeting of the board. The business and industry drive has been completed, except for a few return calls, says Brooks. Manistique Pulp and Paper, Lakehead Pipeline, First National and State Savings Bank all received a hearty thank-you from the chairman on behalf of the committee for their contributions.

Brooks also said that the bowling tournament, cancelled last week, has been rescheduled for March 11 and 18. He also indicated that there will be a raffle for a bowling ball. Tickets are 50 cents. Tickets for the CBC-VFW Dance, March 12 at 8:30 p.m. at the VFW Hall are available at: Disco Discount, Faye's Beauty Shop, Beauty By Lucille, Maytag Furniture, Manistique TV Cable Co., & VFW Hall Mike Brooks Doug Carter, Dorothy Hoholik, and Darlene Welch. Music for the dance will be provided by the Derwings. Posters that are on display at the various businesses in Manistique were Manistique were made by the Lakeside 5th grade class.

Nine talent contestants have been lined up for the talent show on Palm Sunday. Numbers to call to donate talent are: 341-6673 and 341-2344. WTQI presents "What's Happening in CBC" on Wednesdays at 12:30 p.m. The March 9 program will feature another talent highlight.

First week qualifiers for the CBC bowling tournament are: Sunday night couples-Terry Chartier, 642; Oleta Newell, 620; Monday night ladies-Donna Bauman, 608; Joanne Zellar, 607; Pat Osterhow, 592; Barb Lenzi, 585; Irene Wickwever, 567; Tuesday night men-Larry Lalonde, 682; Randy Tallman, 640; Bruce Wallace, 646; Ken Wolke, 644; Carl Carlson, 641; Wednesday night ladies-Julie Smith, 676; Carol Erickson, 625; Ann Lander, 564; Betty Erickson, 563; Gloria Stankovich, 561; Lady Elks-Judy Nagel 601; Sylvia Raredon, 577; Thursday afternoon ladies-Ervy Brzezinski, 631; Janet Barbeau, 583; Thursday night men-Terry Seling, 739; Ron Asp, 686; Clyde Lyntis, 650; Thursday night ladies-Laurie Benish, 581; Marty Snyder, 579; Marilyn Yole, 559; Saturday night couples-Dorothy Jenerow, 583; Dan Anderson, 688; Elks Men, Clyde Chartier, 689; Toby Elmerman, 682; Jerry Wilson, 676; Marv Curran, 652 and Don Holmberg, 651.

Dan and Sue White named CHANGE 'Teachers of the Month'

Music department teachers Sue and Dan White have been selected to share "Teacher of the Month" honors by Citizens Helping Advance Needs Group for Education. Sue and Dan White both are graduates of Western Michigan University and hold Bachelor of Music degrees. The married couple majored in public school music and have since acquired graduate credits in specialized areas such as trombone, flute and clarinet. Sue is presently working on credits in vocal music. Dan taught three years and Sue taught two years in lower Michigan before joining the Manistique education system in 1974. As band director, Dan is responsible for the fifth and sixth grades and the junior and senior-high students. Sue teaches elementary vocal music at the Lakeside and Lincoln schools, and directs the Jr. and Sr. High choir. Change has this to say about the teachers: "While Sue and Dan work together as a team in that they are the music department, they like to recognize as individuals in their respective areas of choir and band."

"Dan said that last year the junior high band numbered 22 students and next year will have over sixty students participating, showing an encouraging growth that will carry over to the senior high band in a couple of years. "Dan related that the students he has are a great group to work with. The band has a variety of musical experiences with the marching band, the pep band, the Christmas concerts and music festivals. "Dan and Sue consider Manistique their home now and show it by contributing their music skills to the community. Sue directs the Emerald City Singers, of which Dan happens to be a member. Sue also played clarinet in the community concerts last summer and Dan was a member of a local brass quintet. "The people of Manistique area schools will have an opportunity to enjoy the fine music department when they present their winter concert this Thursday night, March 10, in the high school auditorium. "The special vocal group, 'The Naturals' that Sue has been working with will perform for the first time. "CHANGE welcomes your suggestions for "Teacher of the Month." Contact CHANGE at 341-6322.

When 'Madame X' lit the screen

"Ladies—Please remove your hats." For some reason when Lawrence Gorsche told me that his "Madame X" movie they used to show a slide at the beginning of each feature requesting ladies to remove their hats, it struck me as funny.

I suppose, though that it was quite a serious matter, considering fashions at the time. Mr. Gorsche had stopped in to relay some further information on the local movie business and to lend me some interesting pictures of the old Princess Theater and some of the men connected with it.

He also brought in some real-heat-to-goodness film from a silent movie feature. The film consisted of five short clips taken from various movies of that time. Two of the clips were tinted red and appears that the heroine is escaping from a fire.

The clips are too short to determine the plot thus determining the name of the features, but they are interesting just the same. Mr. Gorsche was a projectionist at the Princess Theater at one time, which explains how he came across the movie clips.

Film in those days was manually advanced through the projector and was a two-hand operation: one hand advancing the film, the other hand rewinding.

If the film would break in the middle of a feature the projectionist would slip in a slide that was kept handy. It requested: "One minute please."

The accompanying pictures are connected with the Princess Theater and its operation. In the picture of the building, owner Ed Cardin is standing in the doorway. The movie being shown at the time is billed as "Madame X" starring Dorothy Donnelly. "Special, 9 reels of features" (same, 10 cents) is what the sign on the side of the car reads. Mr. Gorsche said that the car would travel the streets with the band playing to advertise specials or coming attractions. Band members in the car are: Lewis Bouldis, Cliff Beaudette, Con Drezhall, Clarence McClaurin, George Hammill, John Bruckelmayer, Ed Cardin, Harvey Quick, George Bruckelmayer, and John Nich.

Mrs. Cecil Gonder of Cooks writes: "Everyone seems to be sending in old time stories. I would like to add one too. It happened about 38 years ago. My husband and I and two little girls were about five miles from Seney, in a lumber camp.

"My husband, John Newadov, took a job taking out timber for Mr. Frank Hartman, Sr. and I cooked for the 25 men at the time. "There was a family who lived on a small farm near Seney. There were five men in the family. One of the men got in trouble with a traveling salesman and the salesman shot the brother, then jumped a waiting train.

"Well, the other four brothers set down to play a game of cards. The one who lost was to catch the next train to Pike Lake and kill the salesman. Well, it was the youngest one who lost, so he had to go. "I don't know if he's in prison or not. "My first husband died and I am now (signed) Mrs. Cecil Gonder, Cooks, Mich."

Thank you, Mrs. Gonder. I had heard tales of Seney wildness. This is the first one, though, that I was able to relate in this column.

Because of possible libel action, I deleted the name of the family.

THIS PICTURE OF THE Princess advertising car must have been taken before the picture was taken at the corner of Cedar and Main Streets.

THE OLD PRINCESS THEATER at the time when Ed Cardin owned it, at the time showing "Madame X" starring Dorothy Donnelly and supported by the original Broadway cast from New York. The picture is billed as "The greatest mother play the world has ever known," and is a Pate Gold Roster Play. Matinee cost 15 cents and evening performances cost the theater-goer 25 cents.

Big Bay de Noc staff changes announced by Eleanor LaBette Several staff changes were announced at a recent special meeting of the Big Bay de Noc Board of Education.

The school board agreed to continue to employ Mrs. Marie Widits for one year, and to employ Tom Egan, and appointed Kent Peterson to represent the board at the annual intermediate school district general fund meeting.

At the board's regular Feb. 14 meeting, the board tabled the signing an addendum to the master teacher's contract awaiting further information.

The board also adopted Title IX sexual nondiscrimination policy. Mrs. Sally Gerometta was appointed Title IX director. Mrs. Gerometta also gave a brief report on Title IVA Indian education.

Other board developments: The board authorized the superintendent to sell all unused equipment by set minimum bid to be advertised through the school letter: 1 Trampoline, minimum bid $75 Sealed bids will be accepted. All bids must be in the superintendent's office no later than March 4 at 3:30 p.m.

As stated in a school newsletter the Big Bay de Noc School District has been faced with borrowing three times this school year: $49,000 in July, $120,000 in October, $60,000 in November. This has been brought about because of Big Bay's deficit of $32,900.00. However if the state should fail to pay the $26,016.00 state aid, Big Bay will be faced with requesting additional millage to maintain the same program for another school year or the alternative would be more drastic cuts in the present program.

School discipline and student behavior continue to be a prime concern of the school district. Committees to formulate policy have been meeting and will soon make their recommendations to the board. In order to reduce the frequency of tardiness and to instill good work and safety habits a system of after school assignments has been instituted. This program is meeting with limited success.

This spring all high school students will receive a booklet giving a course description and general outline of all courses offered through Big Bay. Graduation requirements as well as programming college prep, commercial, vocational, etc. will be included in the booklet. Scheduling will be done in an area concept set up in the gymnasium with different stations. Parents will be invited to participate and have input in the course selection.

Big Bay de Noc Concert and Cadet Bands participated in the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association Band Festival at Manistique High School on Mar. 5. Area High School Bands were playing all day.

A parent volunteer program was recently initiated in the elementary grades at Big Bay. After a training program of 10 hours which included instruction on the role of a tutor, child growth and development, motivation techniques reading skills and making and using games, the volunteers were then placed with individual students.

The parents involved in the program are: Mrs. Mary Sprague, Mrs. Iva Peterson, Mrs. Kay Albright, Mrs. Freda Scarpelli, Mrs. Kay Pellitteri, Mrs. Joyce Glenn, Mrs. Maria Tyda, Mrs. Hazel Hazen and Mrs. Shirley Richards. Mrs. Beulah Briggs and Mrs. Lynn Parkinson are volunteers who began working in school before the formal volunteer program was organized.

Coming Events: March 10-11-12: C.E.C. Conference March 11: Senior Movie March 15: Administration Workshop March 25: Band Solo Ensemble at Chbeygan.

Seafarer - Kincheloe trade?

Two political winds have been blowing between the U.P. and the Department of Defense these days. One is to keep the Air Force and the Kincheloe air base in, the other to keep the Navy and Seafarer out.

And paradoxically, the same factor that is used by the public in arguments to retain the air base is being employed by the Navy to get the low frequency maritime radio communications system into seven central U.P. counties: employment.

But the economic impact of Seafarer will be far smaller than that of Kincheloe, a major source of employment in Chippewa County. Using the Navy's own figures, appearing in a 11-volume draft communications system will create a boomlet that will taper off. The Navy says that nearly 600 jobs would be produced in the first year of constructing and operating a test facility. The next year of construction would provide about 1,100 jobs a month. During the third year of construction, about 2,600 jobs would be available in the summer and 850 during the winter. In the fourth year, there would be 800 jobs a month during winter, and 306 a month during spring.

However, the permanent Seafarer employment is estimated at 175 jobs. "Those jobs are expected to contribute another 245 employment opportunities, principally in the Marquette-Alger labor market," the Navy adds.

Meanwhile, Gov. Milliken says he has no evidence from the National Academy of Science on the human health effects of the communications project. The governor asked the academy to produce a report on the effects of the proposed system's radiation on human and animal life, as the report was not included in the environmental impact statement as the state requested.

Milliken says he expects to make a final decision by July on whether the Seafarer project will be constructed in Michigan, based on environmental impact and public opinion in the U.P. toward the system.

Let's hope that a federal "trade-off" won't be proposed instead to force the governor to accept the Navy system. To "compensate" the U.P. with Seafarer in exchange for the potential loss of Kincheloe will far from balance the peninsula's economy.

In a friendly saloon the other night, about a dozen women were gathered around several tables pushed together for a birthday party.

In a blatant protest against Anita Bryant, none of the women were drinking orange juice. They were drinking beer.

The saloon chanteuse was singing "The Man I Love" with piano on the piano. The birthday celebrators accompanied her with soft growling and humming that said: "Am!"

The women were all lesbians. They are probably not getting any papers. Not even if they promise to teach you a trade and station you in Honolulu.

It was Anita Bryant who first revealed homosexuals will soon be pictured on posters in front of post offices, pointing their fingers at passing heterosexuals and saying in purple print: "Gays Need You."

Miss Bryant made headlines recently when she formed a group called Save Our Children. Her purpose is to fight a Miami ordinance forbidding discrimination against gays.

"Homosexuals cannot reproduce, so they must recruit," she warned. "And to freshen their ranks, they must recruit the youth of America."

Forewarned is forearmed, especially in cases of forewarned foray. I cautioned my wife: "The birthday party is probably a sham. Let me know if you see one of them try to freshen her rank."

But nothing subversive happened. They just sat there pretending to be normal, drinking too much and talking too loud. They didn't even hand out pamphlets to passing American youths.

"Maybe these homosexuals are in the closet," my wife suggested. "Nonsense," I said. "They are not recruiting clothes hangers. They are recruiting kids to join the gay army, Anita Bryant wouldn't lie, any more than Kate Smith would lie."

In the interest of honest journalism, I decided to interview the accused. I approached one of the lesbians and asked if she had any enlistment papers in her purse.

"You're too old to join," she said, "even for clerical duty." About Anita Bryant's crusade to continue discrimination against homosexuals.

If It Fitz

By Jim Fitzgerald

"Certainly," she said. "If Anita has her way, there will soon be gay-only drinking lounges in bus stations. There are still many gays who do not want to parade their sexual preferences. They will refuse to drink gay water. Anita's crusade is no hug more than a plot to force them to drink orange juice."

I couldn't buy that. On the contrary, I pointed out that the gays may be hurting Anita more than she is hurting them. She claims there were plans to star her in a TV talk show but the idea was killed because of pressure applied by Miami gays.

Just last week a group called the Gay Activist Alliance announced it will boycott citrus products until Anita is fired off those orange juice stands.

"The blacklisting of Anita Bryant has begun," Anita told reporters. She said the gays had destroyed "the dream that I have had since I was a child - to entertain and present wholesome subjects of my fellow Americans."

My lesbian friends said she hoped this is true. "Have you ever seen Anita perform?" she asked. "She is relentlessly perky. She would use her TV show to recruit American youth into a perky army. She wants everyone to be saucy and sprightly and huddling innocently. This nation can no withstand that much innocent percolation. We are only just now beginning to recover from Davis Day."

"You are being facetious," I said, "and you are ignoring an important fact. Unlike homosexuals, perky people tend to reproduce. They do not have to recruit American youth to freshen their ranks. Anita Bryant has already freshened four children of her own, probably all perking."

"Even the most perky children must grow up into consenting adult faces and march off into the night."

But before she disappeared from sight, I'll swear I saw her freshen a rank. Be vigilant, Anita.

Declaration of War on G.M.

Back in the last week of November, it seemed like a simple enough thing to do. I've ordered a new car on several occasions over the past 12 years and it had never been a problem.

So when the Pontiac wagon began to shudder at the thought of yet another trip between Gladstone and Manistiquette, I decided to go shopping for a new car. The miles had begun to pile up on the faithful Pontiac so dealers weren't fighting with each other to take it in trade, but it wasn't too long before a deal was struck with my friendly Pontiac-Buick dealer. He had a soft spot in his heart for the Pontiac wagon since he had sold it to me four years earlier.

I ordered a new Buick Century. A good, solid General Motors car without too many goodies and hopefully with good gas mileage. The order was placed and I left the car dealers with hopes of a new car by the end of December or January.

The weeks passed without word of what was happening to "my car." In the Buick plans of Flm. Finally, when nothing had been heard by the end of December, the dealer got a hold of his Buick zone man to get the car preferred. Unless you get a car preferred, I found out, it could be built anytime within the next six months to a year that the whimsy struck the fine folks at G.M.

"No problem," the dealer was assured by his zone man. The car was preferred and the dealer began communicating with a computer located somewhere deep in the bowels of General Motors.

A computer printout said the car would be built about the middle of January. The next computer printout verified that the car had indeed been built and was going to be released for delivery on January 29. I was happy. It wouldn't be long now and I'd be driving "my new car." Right? Wrong?

Another computer printout arrived at the dealers giving a delivery date of February 4 for the car. February 3 came and passed. No car arrived. The days melted into weeks and still no car arrived.

An invoice on the car arrived from Buick. The dealer paid it. It seems that G.M. expects its dealers to pay for a car even though they may not have received the car. If the dealer doesn't pay for a car begins disgruntling nasty letters.

It is now the first week of March, one month after the car was shipped from Flm. Throughout this long ordeal of trying to buy a car I have remained relatively calm and patient. No more.

It's ridiculous! I could have carried the car piece by piece in a knapsack from Flm across the bridge to the U.P. faster than it is taking the corporate giant of the "free enterprise" system to do the job.

I have had! It is a declaration of war on General Motors, Marshall your forens General. Were going to find out which is stronger...the pen and press or the corporate computer.

Until "my car" is delivered, I intend to write letters, make phone calls, run columns and generally be a pain in your corporate backside. Run it up your flagpole and see if anyone salutes.

Coupons for seniors?

To the Editor: I recently read an article on store coupon discounts that are only available when spending $7.50, etc. at one time. The article stated that most older people don't spend that much at a time. Therefore, they cannot take advantage of the coupon discounts.

Wouldn't it be nice if stores allowed senior citizens these discounts without a purchase requirement? Chris Gerlach

March Madness: an explanation

March Madness, dear Virginia, is not to be trifled with. You're not to ask, young person, why I'm going to three or four games a week. Nor need you question why half the town is planning a near 200-mile round trip to Marquette just to watch 10 guys play keep-away with an undersized beach ball.

Let me explain. The dream of every schoolboy basketball player is to flip a 60-foot desperation shot at the buzzer and have it go in as fans roar and his team wins by one point.

March Madness is a form of spilling over community pride. All of a sudden, the whole season is just a warm-up and the local boys are laying every hing on the line for Mom, Dad, uncles, and cousins, not to mention alumni in other corners of the state.

And does the whole community scream hard? The opening tip-off, often ignored during the regular season between glances at the program and gulps of candy, becomes a titanic confrontation. Thereafter, the teams control the crowd's pulse rate with every bounce of the ball.

Any beyond community pride is regional pride. One year, the southwest corner of the state won three state titles. Detroit, Grand Rapids, the Saginaw Valley and the Upper Peninsula have their own special interest, too. That fuels the madness, too, because each area plays a slightly different brand of ball. After playing high school ball in northern lower Michigan and observing the prep game in an area north of Grand Rapids, one can see a difference in the style of play in the U.P.

The north woods players are better sharpshooters from long range than comparably sized schools downstate. And many of the good U.P. squads seem very-ready to launch the long pass that sparks an instant bucket on an unexpected fast break.

Downstate, the pace can be a bit more deliberate, and the defense slightly more physical. It's fun to generalize, isn't it?

Anyway, it's fun to see a solid team like Manistiquette hill in the state tournaments. So you scream hard, too, and maybe they'll bring home another trophy!

Excursion to Beaver Island possible

To the Editor: Put-in-Bay in Lake Erie. In fact, last week I met a fellow at the Monroe Boat Club, harbor two years ago. We tipped a marine to Bob for the hospitality shown.

I must tip my hat to the other members of the Yacht Club, because, surely Bob can't be doing it all alone.

It seems, that somewhere around Manistiquette, there must be someone who is spending more money than they will ever spend and would like to build these fellows a new club house and have their name burnt into a wood board over the main entrance. Let's face it, that harbor is a big part of the future of Manistiquette, and I can't see why rental for social gatherings and special dinners would not maintain it.

Manistiquette would be the proper port for an excursion service to Beaver Island from the west, providing that it would be publicized or in service before someone in Escanaba got the idea or investment first. The vessel would have to be of a special type. I have thought of this many times and have seen a couple vessels in my travels which, I thought, would fit this use but I walked away, thinking I was out of my mind.

There is a great future for the Manistiquette harbor but it will take time. The only remark that concerns me now is, "Will you have room for me when I get there?" You should have a base marine radio to confirm last minute transfers. Like Bob says, "You are on the lonesome side of the lake," and no one would want to run in from outside a Wiggins Point light course.

Now knowing that there would be room for him when he got there. Keep up the good work. There are a lot of eyes on you."

Two Mill Days Spawns Hopes That Springtime May Not Be Too Far Off

Could it be the first sign of spring? March, too late to be optimistic, but two days of bright sunshine have brought warming temperatures and melting snow, and as the snow piles go down, the hopes of spring-hungry residents go up.

Tuesday the mercury got all the way up to 40 degrees, and after a slow start the thermometer registered a respectable 38.

The warming trend has brought slush and water in the streets, but after three months of hard cold folks were just happy to think about the warmer days that are ahead.

Senior Citizens
by Eileen Males

March 21, 22, and 23 will be health screening days for all Senior Citizens 60 years or older residing in Schoolcraft County and will be held at the Senior Citizens Center, 823 Range Street. Extensive tests will be given such as blood pressure, vision, vital capacity, hearing and electro-cardiogram; urine testing for sugar, albumin, acetone and blood; blood testing for hemoglobin, uric acid, creatine, cholesterol and glucose; and a tuberculin test will also be given. These tests will be done under the auspices of Menominee-Delta-Schoolcraft Community Action Agency and are given without charge.

For an appointment, call 341-2021 and ask for Joan and she'll schedule you. You are responsible to keep your appointment. As these tests are given only by appointment basis, if you fail to show up you have taken this time away from a person who was turned away because all appointments will be filled.

It must have been a year or more since you were last screened by this agency to be eligible.

Governor Milliken and numerous influential governmental leaders will be in Escanaba on March 18. Our van will be taking people to attend an open hearing, so please feel free to call us so you can express your needs and concerns. It doesn't pay to sit by and grumble to others. Grumble to the people who can help; it may do some good. At least you have tried. Birthday greetings go out to: Anna Nye, Maurine Beaudoin, Grace Tennant, Emerald Cousino, Margaret LeDuc, Lloyd Carrothers, Edward Gray, Mary Salling, March 10; Frances Elliot, Raymond McCarney, Pearl Gronidine, George Frankovich, March 11; Beatrice Burleigh, Veronica Busch, Fern Carey, March 12; William Seymour, William Dennis, Fir-

Viola Steele, Edith Washburn, Beda Hough, Eleanor Wacker and Emma Tufnell brought in baked goods. Ethel Howland, Hazel Hughson, and Viola Richmire brought either bingo prizes or treats to the Tuesday Bingo-Poduck at the Towers. All these acts of kindness are deeply appreciated.

Scout Council
of U.P. fund drive

Robert Brebner, chairman of the "Spirit of '76" Development Fund, announced the Scout Council is nearing its goal of $150,000.

The U.P.-wide fund drive, was kicked off last summer to raise funds to provide a new council service center and office, plus improvements at Camp Hiawatha, the council's summer camp facilities in Alger County.

A total of $140,000 has been raised to date in cash and pledges.

"We still hope to hear from additional contributors, and expect to reach our goal shortly," Brebner said.

The Hiawathaland Council offices and leaders service center has been located in the old Chocolate Township School House in Harvey since 1965. The council executive board approved plans to secure new facilities as a result of the present building's age and condition.

In addition to a new service center improvements at Camp Hiawatha would include water-front improvements, caretakers facility, storage building, and water system repair.

There's no better mouser than a weasel

"OLD ONE-BY SEVEN"

When Forest Fire Aide Joe Kodanko looked up from his radio dispatcher duties a while back, he was amazed to see a weasel heading down the hallway, toting a bag of coyote feet recently removed from bountied animals. It took considerable chasing and mop-swinging to reclaim ownership and one has to wonder about the gall of that 1" X 7" snake-thief, except that old weasel isn't your average critter.

Last summer I started a weasel into dropping a dead chipmunk he was toting and by the time he realized he'd been bluffed out of his supper, I had my foot on the chippie's tail, firmly anchoring him to the sidewalk. In a second that weasel was back, had his teeth on the chipmunk, his front feet braced against my boot and glared me out of his rightful possession. Festy little devil.

Looking for chipmunks in a rock pile, a weasel can seemingly pop his head out of a dozen crannies simultaneously, to the complete bafflement of a boy and his eager slingshot. As many a red squirrel has had his mettle tested in the upper levels of a red pine, by a weasel who wasn't aware that he was supposed to be a ground level resident.

Light Side of Outside

There's no better mouser in a deer camp than a weasel. He's at least as capable as an old Tom cat and can come in through a knot-hole without bothering anybody. But don't leave a steak on the table or liver in the pan.

He's an extremely capable hunter and preys on anything he can catch or kill, from rabbits to sparrows, and although I am sure he didn't kill him, this winter I saw a weasel gnawing on an adult porcupine as though it could be demolished in a single sitting.

Times like that I am grateful that weasels don't weigh about 20 pounds...no telling who he would eat.

New DNR man

GREGG STOLL, 26, formerly of the Lansing DNR headquarters, began his duties as wildlife habitat biologist for the Grand Sable and Manistique River State Forests on Monday, March 7. Stoll, who is married and has one daughter, replaces Wayne Bronner, who is assuming a similar wildlife post at Rose Lake near Lansing.

A native of Grand Rapids, Stoll holds a bachelor of science and a master of science degrees in wildlife ecology from Michigan State University. The wildlife job in the local district is concerned mainly with deer management. (Tribune photo)

1976 net income increased by 25%

CHICAGO-Inland Steel Company has reported its 1976 net income increased 25 percent from a year earlier.

Net income totalled $104,045,000, or $5.20 per share, on the increased number of shares outstanding, as compared with $83,350,000, or $4.45 per share, in 1975.

Chairman Frederick G. Jaicks noted that 1976 earnings, while the second highest ever recorded, were "substantially short" of the $148,000,000 goal set in 1974.

Reflecting large expenditures for Inland's current expansion program, investment tax credits increased from $8,814,000 in 1975 to $20,591,000 in 1976.

Fourth quarter net income was $22,458,000 or $1.08 per share, up 95 percent from $11,532,000, or 80 cents per share, in the comparable 1975 period. The company earned $22,366,000, or $1.08 per share in the third quarter of 1976.

Consolidated sales in 1976 also were the second highest on record, totaling $2,388,217,000, a gain of 13 percent from $2,107,418,000 in 1975. Fourth quarter sales of $380,708,000 were 14 percent above the $307,611,000 registered in the comparable 1975 period.

Return on sales in 1976 was 4.5 percent compared with 4.0 percent a year earlier.

First adult bald eagle sighted at Seney

SENEY—Feb. 22 marked the first sighting in the new year of an adult bald eagle on Seney National Wildlife Refuge. The bird was observed near refuge headquarters. In 1976, the first sighting was on Feb. 21.

Refuge personnel are hopeful that this year will be as good as last year for raising young. In 1976 four eaglets were produced in two nests.

Although spring in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan is still several weeks away, eagles usually return to their nesting territories in late February or early March to begin the elaborate courtship and pre-nesting activities. Egg laying begins around mid-March with hatching following after 35 days of incubation.

Refuge Manager Jack Frye stated the refuge will be closed to all public use during disturbance to a minimum during the critical time of raising young.

Statewide fishing awards program underway

LANSING—A statewide fishing awards program with prizes up to $25,000 per person has been announced by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

Any angler who is registered for the even-known as Fisharama—will be paid $25,000 if he or she catches a world record fish in Michigan waters between March 1 and Dec. 31, 1977. If the angler lands a state record fish, MUCC will pay him or her $1,000.

In the past five years, according to the Department of Natural Resources, state fish records have been broken 26 times. Fisheries experts say world records for several species are entirely possible in Michigan.

Anyone who holds a Michigan sport fishing license may take part in Fisharama by paying a $1 entry fee. Entry forms are available at fishing license dealers throughout the state.

All proceeds from Fisharama will be used to help finance conservation programs carried by MUCC, a non-profit alliance of sportsman and conservationists.

Fish entered in Fisharama must be caught by lawful sport fishing methods and must be certified by the DNR's Fisheries Division.

The $1,000 and $25,000 prizes will be offered for each of 20 species. They are with current state records in parentheses:

- Lake sturgeon (193 pounds), Great Lakes muskie (67 pounds, 8 ounces), Lake trout (63 pounds), channel catfish (28 pounds, 8 ounces), flathead catfish (44 pounds, 2 ounces), chinook salmon (44 pounds, 2 ounces), brown trout (31 pounds, 8 ounces), rainbow trout, or steelhead (26 pounds, 8 ounces), walleye (17 pounds, 3 ounces), largemouth bass (11 pounds, 15 ounces), smallmouth bass (9 pounds, 4 ounces), brook trout (6 pounds, 1 ounce), black crappie (4 pounds, 2 ounces), yellow perch (3 pounds, 12 ounces), rock bass (3 pounds, 10 ounces), bluegill (2 pounds, 10 ounces), Atlantic salmon (22 pounds, one ounce), northern pike (39 pounds) and coho salmon (30 pounds, 8 ounces).

"Honestly We Do It Better"

HOW TO TELL THE GOOD GUYS FROM THE BAD GUYS.

Ask for identification.

Today many people are apprehensive about opening their doors to strangers. This is understandable. It makes good sense to be careful. You should be particularly careful to check the identity of anyone who wants to enter your home or business.

Sometimes fraudulent operators pose as WMPCO employees to gain admittance to homes and businesses. If a power company employe calls on you and you have reason to question his identity, ask to see his ID card. Check the color photograph and note the signature of company officers. If you still have doubts, before you let him in, call us. We can verify his identity and assure you that he has been sent for a legitimate reason.

Meter readers, servicemen and appliance repairmen are easy to recognize because they wear uniforms. However, not all of our employes wear uniforms, so a uniform is not enough for identification. Remember, all WMPCO employes do carry picture ID cards... and they don't mind having you ask to see their card.
